THE OLD AND THE NEW — Members of the Mountainside Rescue Squad are proud of their 1962 fully-equipped Cadillac ambulance. But they were also proud of the old Meteor hearse (inset) which served as the squad's first ambulance when the group formed in 1923. Mrs. John Roll is shown wearing official Rescue Squad uniform beside the ambulance in a picture to point up the squad's current recruitment drive for daytime workers.

Will Not Dispose Of Property, Land — School Board

The Board of Education, in a letter sent this week to Gilbert Pittenger, chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee of the Borough Council, said with reference to the future use of Echobrook School the Board has a written policy that it will not dispose of or sell any of its property or land.

The letter was read at a meeting of the Borough Council Tuesday. Pittenger said later that he had never requested the use of Echobrook School, as was reported by this paper last week. Asked why the letter stating the position of the School Board had been called for if use of the school for municipal purposes had not been requested, he did not comment.

The letter begins: "In response to your verbal request made at a meeting held Wednesday, July 8, in the Council meeting room this letter will confirm certain statements presented at that meeting by the Mountainside Board of Education."

This meeting had been attended by the Building and Grounds Committee of the Council, the Board of Education and the Library Board of Trustees. Pittenger said, but the parties involved did nothing but sit down and discuss local common problems," he added.

The rest of the Board of Education letter follows:

"An additional class must be established at the Echobrook School this coming September (Continued on Page 7)

Mountainside Rescue Squad Member Shortage Is Critical

by MARIAN BROWN
A window display poster distributed locally reads: "Residents of Mountainside, we need you. Unless we can gain new members for daytime duty, ambulance service for you and your children will be discontinued."

For information call Ronnie Mays, president, AD 1-1520, or Joanne De Sena, AD 2-1263.

Mrs. De Sena, who is the squad's publicity chairman, said that the 21-member group has no difficulty finding persons who are available for night call but that members are urgently needed for day duty.

The squad is on call 24 hours a day to administer first aid at the scene of an accident, assist in home emergencies and provide hospital transportation. Squad members are on call each day, and four members each night, so that Mountainside is never without the squad's protection. Some 20 to 30 calls are answered every month.

Execute Agreement For Storm Drainage

An agreement with the Community Facilities Administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency of Washington that will provide a $22,500 advance on an interest-free loan for an improved storm drainage program for the borough was executed by the Borough Council Tuesday.

The advance will cover preliminary plans by Elson T. Kilham Associates of Millburn, the consulting firm that made the storm drainage survey upon which federal approval for the loan was based. They are expected to begin work in about 30 days.

Plans will be submitted to the Community Facilities Administration for approval. Recommendations will be incorporated, and the plans resubmitted.

Herrgott has said that in order to avoid losing too much time the Summit rd. area would probably be tackled separately.

Van Allen, Long Head Committee

Clyde Van Allen and John Long have been named by the Pambrook Civic Association to form a committee to draft an information sheet supporting that group's opposition to construction of garden or high rise apartments in the borough that will be mailed to all residents, according to Harry Swenson, president of the association.

They are also in charge of having additional petitions printed requesting the Borough Council to submit the question to voters at a referendum to be included on the ballot at the Nov. 3 general election. Some 15 petitions are now being circulated, and the stepped-up effort would increase the number to about 100, Swenson said.

To place the issue on the ballot of the Borough Council must present it to the Union County Board of Elections 40 days before the election.

The issue arose out of predictions that planning consultants Herbert H. Smith Associates might recommend construction of multiple-unit dwellings in the borough. The firm has been contracted to analyze the borough's present and future development prior to development of a master plan by the Planning Board.

Feasibility Of Borough Swim Pool To Be Determined By Questionnaire

Recreation Unit Study Under Way On Ditzel Request

Availability Of Land Is Stumbling Block; Committee Formed

The Recreation Commission, which was formed last week, is studying the feasibility of a public swimming pool in the borough. The study is being conducted by a committee headed by William Ditzel, Recreation Commissioner.

A study of the proposal by the Recreation Commissioner, and such a study is under way. He said that the land available for the purpose is limited.

Three sites are being considered. The first is a property adjacent to the Deerfield School, owned by the Board of Education and would be insufficient for this purpose anyway. There are three possible sites for construction of a pool, but they are in residential areas, he said. These are at the top of New Providence rd., State Highway Department property east of Echobrook School, and off Rte. 20 near the Deerfield School.

NOT A DINOSAUR! — Youngsters clustered around Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, Mountainside librarian, open their eyes in astonishment as they listen to a story about a girl who had a dinosaur for a pet. Story hour is held at 11 a.m. Wednesdays. Judith Mele, a junior at Pennsylvania State University and a member of the library's summer staff, sits with youngsters as she waits for her turn to read. Dinosaurs Are Uncertain Pets But Books Become Lifelong Friends

By MARIAN BROWN
"Have you ever thought what it would be like to have a dinosaur for a pet?" Mrs. Emily Hoffarth asked the circle of youngsters who clustered around her.

They sat on the grass behind the Echobrook School, their eyes wide with imagination, as the librarian prepared to read from the book in her hand.

"This is the story of a little girl who really had a pet dinosaur," she said, watching the children purse their lips knowingly, signs of sophisticated thinking through the wide eyes.

The children come at 11 every Wednesday morning for story hour at the library. Some are new to the program, and some have come for several summers. They sit very quietly, although no apparent effort is made to keep them still. When story time is half over they run to the fountain for a drink and return quickly to the story circle, slipping softly into the grass.

THE NEXT STORY was read by Judith Mele, Pennsylvania State University junior, who is working in the library for the summer. Attentively, they listened to the fairy tale about how the sea got salty. And because today's world, only half-believes in fairy tales, a dinosaur.

Teen Recreation To Be Enlarged

The Recreation Commission will hold special meetings August 6 and 20 to discuss expansion of its winter teen program, according to Richard F. Collins, president.

A series of special monthly programs will be held that will include speakers of interest to teen-agers in the hope of drawing more older youngsters into the program.

Teen dances and hootenannies have been held two Fridays a month at Deerfield School. The new program would bring the number of scheduled teen events to three a month, Collins said.

The Recreation Commission's teen program is open to all Mountainside youngsters in grades six through 12.

AMBULANCE

Besides meetings and clinics, the building is used for first aid instruction by Capt. John Keuler and other certified first aid instructors.

The squad has three officers: president, Ronnie Mays; secretary, Mrs. Beverly Steinberg; and treasurer, Gordon Batten.

Capt. Keuler, a charter member, oversees the squad's operations and maintains responsibility for the ambulance, supplies, equipment, records, the new member training program, drills and liaison between the squad and civic groups.

Library Need Called Critical, Council Urged To Take Action

Sidney C. Mele, chairman of the Library Board of Trustees, informed the Borough Council Tuesday that the library is in a critical financial situation.

Mele said that the library is in a critical financial situation because the Board of Education will not fund the Echobrook School now occupied by the municipal library. "It is imperative that the Borough Council take action to provide continuous and expanding library services for the residents of Mountainside."

He said that the situation is critical. It is a question of survival. He estimated future space requirements at 6,000 square feet.

His complete letter follows: "On June 30 the Building Committee of the Board of Education met with trustees of the Free Public Library of Mountainside. The trustees were informed that due to the unexpected rise in school population the Board of Education will need the space occupied by the municipal library. They stated that the Echobrook School will not be available for municipal use in the foreseeable future.

"At present the library occupies three rooms in the basement upper room, 887 sq. ft.; lower room, 462 sq. ft.; work room, 539 sq. ft.—a total of 1,886 sq. ft. There are 852 linear feet of shelving in house 13,080 books.

"The trustees expressed their concern that it is imperative that the Borough Council take action to provide continuous and expanding library services for the residents of Mountainside.

"In October 1963, we instituted a new charging system since then there have been 2,050 books circulated during 1963. The public depends on the library as a reference source embracing a wide area of topics, now continuing. (Continued on Page 7)

Accuses Local GOP Of Intra-Party Strife

Joseph Stypa, Democratic candidate for a Borough Council seat, has charged that "Mountainside is suffering from intra-party strife."

In a prepared newspaper release this week, he also charged that although he had been appointed to the Storm Drainage Committee, when the appointments were announced at the June Council meeting his name was not among them.

"Mountainside is suffering from intra-party strife," he said. "It is time for the incumbent party to consider the needs of the borough first and foremost. People are not interested in the internal problems of the local Republican party. They are, however, interested in seeing the borough's government conducted properly. There are many pressing problems in the borough, and these cannot be solved without leadership."

He said that he and Jules Rose, the other Democratic candidate for a Borough Council seat, said at a recent meeting, "The Council has had ample opportunity to appoint an interim mayor, and this appointment should be made without further delay."

He said that "several months ago (he) accepted an appointment to the borough's Storm Drainage Committee." When he questioned the Mayor and Council about the fact that his name was not mentioned as one of the appointees, he was told that because a storm ditch abutted his property, he was not qualified to hold a position in this committee, the release states.

"The drainage ditch was there when my appointment was made," he said, "and was there not a fatal drawback? However, now it is in reality the only change in circumstances was my subsequent announcement that he was a candidate for councilman on the Democratic ticket. Besides the bitter discourtesy in not advising me beforehand of the formal appointment of others to the vacancies, it appears to me that (Continued on Page 7)

ECHO PROFILE - Albert E. Hartung

Planning Board Chairman Albert E. Hartung retired June 1, and so far he likes his new life. There is time to putter around his spacious yard at 184 New Providence rd., time to anticipate the arrival of the Hartungs' first grandchild, expected in September, and time to contemplate a trip to Europe next year.

But best of all, there is time to money over to Borough Hall and keep himself abreast of what's going on.

He's been at the center of action in Mountainside since 1946 when he was elected to the Borough Council. In 1960 at the suggestion of former Mayor Joseph Komich, he ran for the spot of Mountainside's chief executive, defeating Bill Heimo for the post.

He's been a member of the Planning Board since 1949, first as a Council representative, then as mayor, and finally as a Council appointee. The Planning Board is comprised of nine members, four of them appointed, the mayor, the borough engineer and one member each from the Borough Council, Board of Adjustment and Board of Education.

Current project of the Board is development of a master plan, which will begin as soon as Herbert Smith Associates of Trenton, community planning consultants, submits its final report, which is expected to contain recommendations.

THE FIRM has already submitted five reports and stirred up a flurry of protest over statistics suggesting the advisability of garden or high rise apartments for future development in the borough.

Overlook Nearing Limit Of Its Capacity

The highest patient occupancy in the 58-year history of Overlook Hospital was reported at the executive committee meeting of the board of trustees this week — an average of 130 patients a day for the month of June. In more patients per day than ever before. The patient census for the month came to 11,115.

The medical-surgical area of the hospital had the highest occupancy with 98.9 percent for the month. For the year to date, occupancy in medical-surgical has run 92.7 percent, seriously above the American Hospital Association's recommended occupancy of 85.7 percent.
Maternity also hit an all-time high with an average occupancy of 90.4 percent in June.
"Average this high means that the hospital is running at full capacity without enough room for any major emergency situations or mass casualties. The hospital is forced to cancel minor elective surgery to make room for critical cases," commented Robert E. Heinlein, Overlook director.
Solutions in one wing have already been converted to patient rooms, with bathroom facilities added, and the remaining

Region Board Studies Change In Policy On Tuition Reciprocity

Negotiation of a reciprocity agreement with the Warren County Regional Board of Education is under the proposed agreement. At the present time the policy is that when a student from a family outside the school district attends the school in the district in which the student resides, the district in which the student resides is authorized to negotiate with other districts on reciprocity agreements.

Such an agreement would permit Watching seniors to complete their school year at their home school without the payment of tuition should the senior's family move to the regional district. A Union County student would remain in the Warren County Regional Board system if he desired a district for tuition.

Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of schools of the Union district, said the reciprocity agreement could be a "good educational policy" if adopted. Any student having completed his senior year in high school and designated as a senior, or in his final year of high school, would be eligible for reciprocity. Where no reciprocity agreement was involved, the senior wishing to remain in the Union Regional district would have to pay tuition for one-half the

Official OK Nears For Nike Site Use By School Board

The former Nike missile site in the Watchung Reservation, which has been requested of the Federal Government by the Regional Board of Education for construction of a direct line television transmitting station for the school system, is still property of the U. S. Government, according to Dr. Warren M. Davis, regional superintendent of schools.

Dr. Davis said this week that the board had learned that a report from the office of Representative Florence P. Dwyer last week indicated that the land would be turned over for school use.

A check with the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, through its New York office, Dr. Davis said, produced the information that if a legislator had been notified that the land would be turned over to the board, the board would be officially notified shortly.

"As far as we are concerned," Dr. Davis said, "we don't know anything more this week than we did last or a month ago. The property has to be turned over to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare by the U. S. General Services Administration before it can be awarded to us and so far, we have been notified by no one."

The parcel of more than six acres adjacent to the Governor Livingston Regional High School, straddling the Berkeley Heights-Summit line, contains a tall concrete tower in line of vision with most of the schools in the county.

Details of the project have not been developed, Dr. Davis said last week, but plans are under way for closed-circuit television teaching techniques that would provide a new dimension for the intricate educational system of the regional schools.

Plans are also being developed for use of the site for biology classes, for tennis courts, an outdoor basketball court and a baseball field, particularly on land now owned by the schools and presently on land the district hopes to acquire from the government.

Buildings on the site other than the tower would be removed if the land is acquired, Dr. Davis said.

Teacher Attends Biology Institute

Marjane Parrish of 946 Savitt in Union is attending the fourth Biology Institute for high school teachers of biology at the Rutgers University Summer Session. Miss Parrish is a teacher at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield. She holds an A.B. degree from Wilson College.

The six-week institute, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, will run through Aug. 7. Dr. Paul G. Pearson, associate professor of zoology at Rutgers, is directing the program.

The prime objective of this institute is to give high school teachers of biology experience in depth in the philosophies, procedures and materials incorporated in the new biological sciences curriculum study. Considerable emphasis is being placed on laboratory and field trials of these new materials and methods.

Table Ordinance, Architect Will Head New Building Group

An ordinance amending the present law regulating carnivals, fairs and bazaars, scheduled for final reading at Tuesday night Mountainide Borough Council meeting, was tabled as five other ordinances were introduced and three passed on the reading.

The ordinance regarding carnivals, fairs and bazaars was tabled upon a request by Andrew L. Mooney, of 124 New Providence rd. on the grounds that Councilman Albert Daniels, who moved the ordinance, and Councilman Henry Westler, who seconded it, were not present for questioning.

Mooney said that representatives from 12 organizations had met with the Laws and Rules Committee of Borough Council twice in response to a request by the Council that they submit recommendations concerning provisions of the ordinance. He said that Our Lady of Lourdes Church had made a study of the question and subsequently recommended that fairs, bazaars and carnivals be permitted to remain open for three days. The amending ordinance would limit their duration to two days.

Mooney said he wants to ask Daniels and Westler how they arrived at their decision. Council passed on final reading ordinance to authorize the purchase of a truck and mechanical tamper for the Department of Public Works for approximately $3,500 to replace an older truck. To authorize preparation of a survey of space requirements for borough facilities and retain an architect at an estimated sum of $3,000, and an amending ordinance to fix salaries for borough employees.

Introduced were ordinance to establish a fire prevention code, authorizing the purchase of an emerging reporting system and an ordinance amending an existing ordinance for oil burning equipment. The fire prevention ordinance would regulate the storage and handling of flammable liquids and the manufacturing, processing, blending or redning of flammable liquids. It also sets a $50 fee for installation of storage tanks. If the bureau of fire prevention is established, it will operate under the supervision of the fire chief and the Fire Committee of Borough Council, who will appoint the members of the bureau. Appointments will be for a one-year period and the bureau will be responsible for making annual reports to the mayor and council. The emergency reporting system for fire department use, will be operated by frequency-modulated receivers. The ordinance also authorizes $6,000 from the capital account fund for purchase of the equipment. The ordinance amending the law governing oil-burning equipment has been written to include regulations for space heating units.

Howard L. McMurray, AIA, of 268 Meeting House Lane, Mountainide, has been elected president of the New Jersey Institute of Building and Construction.

HOWARD L. McMURRAY

A meeting of the board of directors of the New Jersey Institute of Building and Construction, Inc. (IBAC) was convened by McMurray as the first step in the organization of the industry organization. He called the meeting of representatives of local organizations in January 1963. The idea was accepted by groups doing building work and other related work. McMurray is a member of the American Institute of Architects and past president of the New Jersey Society of Architects. He is also past president of Rotary of Union.

Dems' Candidate Pushes Council On Naming Mayor

Julius Rose, Democratic candidate for a Borough Council seat, asked the Borough Council Tuesday when it intends to appoint a mayor. Raymond Herrgott, Council president, said that he too would like to know. "I'm sorry I cannot give you an answer," he said. "I have requested the Council to take action." Councilman Gilbert Pittenger reminded Rose that the position has been vacant only three weeks. "The Council is working very hard to find a replacement," he said. "We want a mayor, too. Each and everyone of us is doing his duty to ease the burden on Mr. Herrgott." Rose said that the Council has had seven weeks since it was informed by former Mayor Orlin Johnson that he would resign. Herrgott has been serving in the dual capacity of mayor and Council president. The Council has met with the Republican Municipal Committee to find a replacement suitable to both bodies in the hope that someone could be found whom the GOP would endorse to run for the post in the Nov. 3 general election. A meeting between the two groups to continue discussions on the subject was canceled recently by Walter Duda, chairman of the Municipal Committee, on the ground that vacation schedules interfered. Herrgott said this week that he has not heard from the local GOP regarding another date for a conference.

Borough GI Promoted At Base In Colorado

Louis M. Eisen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Eisen of 1155 Corrinne ter., Mountainide is serving in the U. S. Army at Fort Carson, Colorado, and was promoted recently to private first class. A member of the B Company, 5th Signal Battalion, Eisen had returned to his post from war games on the Mojave Desert. He is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and has attended Ricker College in Maine. His father is a member of the Mountainide Board of Health and a retired lieutenant colonel of the Medical Service Corps.

Dividers Planned For Intersections With Highway 22

Rights of way are being obtained by the Borough Council for property on Sheffield rd., Hergeberg rd. and Central ave. in preparation for the construction of the State Highway Department of central islands and gradual road access at the intersections of these streets with Route 22 according to Raymond Herrgott, Borough Council president and chairman of the Public Works Department. Herrgott said that the work is expected to start work of the westbound lane before beginning a resurfacing project that will extend from Mountainide Union, to a point 800 feet west of New Providence rd. The resurfacing is expected to be completed before the end of the year, Herrgott said. The Sheffield rd. divider will prevent trucks from turning on to that street. Included in this portion of the project will be a deceleration lane from Mountainide ave. Springfield and an acceleration lane on the highway.

All Stars Enter First Competition

The Mountainide Little League All Stars will face their first competition in the District 9 Tournament at 6 p.m. tomorrow. The team will face the winners of the Mountainide-Garwood contest scheduled to be played today. Some 15 boys make up the team which drew a bye in the first game of the competition earlier in the week. The boys are drawn from the squads of the Blue Stars, Chiefs, Elks, Mountaineers, Mustangs and Pioneers. Bob Della Valle is the lone representative of the Blue Stars. Members of the Chiefs' squad are: Guy Groves, Russ Podmayor and Jeff Williams. Representing the Elks are: Frank Dwyer, Richard Freer, J.J. Freedman and Mike Weiborn, while Gary Farrell, Doug Rau and Guy Stragis are regular members of the Mountaineers. Eddie Cazzar, Bill Ruff and Tom Gete have played the season with the Mustangs and Mike Strain has been playing with the Pioneers.

Mrs. Johnson Takes First Place In Borough Seal Design Contest

Mrs. Gloria S. Johnson of 1358 Birch Hill rd. has been awarded first place in her design by Donald McDougall, chairman of the Mountainide Terecentenary Committee. Second place went to Mrs. Robert G. Horner, of 1873 Brookside rd. Presentations took place Tuesday at Echobrook School. Mrs. Johnson's entry was a green and beige seal containing a design of mountains, a family grouping and a locust tree. "The seal and design were most beautifully done," McDougall said, and the content typified the borough. McDougall said that Mrs. Johnson is a free lance industrial designer and has exhibited many of her paintings at state shows. Her local endeavors include the recreation commission and the service on the board of trustees of the Mountainide Swim Club. Mrs. Johnson is the mother of three sons: Douglas, 14; David, 11; and Ronald, 9.

Extension Conducts Neighbor-To-Neighbor Program Throughout County

By RITA ZEISS — The Union County Home Economics Extension Service is a rather long and formal title for an organization that operates, as this one does, in a woman-to-woman, neighbor-to-neighbor fashion. Staffed by three professionals, headed by Mrs. Mary W. Armstrong, County Home Agent, the Service, assisted by its 42-member council and its 128 volunteer leaders, bring to women throughout the county a full range program of interest to the homemaker and the family.

A job methods training course, cooking and nutrition classes, lectures on "buymanship," sewing lessons, human relations discussions which center around family problems, all these and many other sessions are included in the program which is offered at no charge to all county residents.

In describing the work of the Extension Service, which is financed by county, state and federal funds as an off-campus educational activity of Rutgers, the State University, Mrs. Armstrong points out that the Service aims at providing a "cradle to the grave" program designed to help county residents find a fuller life; more complete understanding of their own problems and a deeper awareness of the "richness of life."

Her description of the program gets enthusiastic endorsement from the Council members who represent their communities on the lay advisory board.

Mrs. Michael Permon of 1735 Stuyvesant ave., Union, currently serving on the human relations committee, has lavish praise for all the program and in particular for the work of her committee which brings reassurance to young parents worried about their offspring, and parental understanding of the child of school age level, provides guide lines for direction of the adolescent, workshops on "total family" life and guidance and encouragement for the mature individual.

Mrs. Permon, like Mrs. Frank Pitt of Forest dr., Union, and Mrs. William G. Stankos of 1509 Fox trail, Mountainside, Mrs. Robert Coulter of 460 East Clay ave., Roselle Park, and Mrs. Michael Talas of 1147 Bassnell st., Union, all became interested in the Extension Council through their work with the local PTA's.

Mrs. Stankos, who taught for 15 years in Connecticut Farms School, Union, has been on the Council for two years and served on the foods committee this past year. She was introduced to the Council's work over 25 years ago by Mrs. Frank Stuedie, formerly of Union and Roselle Park, and finds the program "fascinating." She joined a tour last fall of houses where kitchens had been remodelled in accordance with the work simplification tips supplied by Mrs. Armstrong.

She is equally enthusiastic about the sewing classes conducted by Mrs. Carolyn Yukins, Associate Home Agent. The sewing course, she says, better than any commercial course offered and she should know. She went the full course from beginners to the course on making slipovers and draperies.

Mrs. Bernard J. Domeski of 418 Park pl., Roselle Park, who was introduced to Extension through her work with the Cho Chun, is also delighted with the sewing classes. She has made most of her own clothes for many years but when her genneta gown were born she suddenly realized that she did not know how to sew for the girls. Her Extension courses on sewing for children gave her the confidence to do it.

Mrs. Domeski who is currently serving as Council treasurer finds that the county program helps her keep abreast of changes in home making and thinks it a shame that all residents don't have a variety of the excellent services offered.

The third scope of the program is that of the PTA's. Mrs. Coulter, a member here since the Council's inception, has a wide range of interests. In addition to the special workshops, she has been instrumental in the past in planning an Extension-sponsored tour of the Lincoln Center in New York City. Last spring the planned week trip to Washington, D.C., next fall when Extension members and other interested county residents will spend a week in the nation's capital at rates to suit the most budget-minded.

There was so much to absorb without even realizing that it was worth the time and effort, she says, to enjoy very much that "learning" and "unlearning."

Members of the Extension Council serve a two-year mission. They try through meetings and church groups and informal meetings, to put the knowledge they have gained in the program but even more important, they serve as the "back bone" of the Service, bringing back the professional staff to the county and the needs of the community.

At conferences held three times a year, the Extension Council meets to discuss the work of the county and the needs of the community. Mrs. Armstrong, the Extension Assistant Home Agent, has one meeting on the program in every year. The Extension Council is a group of people who are interested in the work of the Extension Service and who are willing to help in any way they can.

(Continued from Page 6) to accommodate an increase in the enrollment of fourth and fifth grade pupils. This additional class will have to be held in the room now used for receipt, storage and processing of text books and library books for the entire school system. There is no other appropriate space to transfer this operation. Lack of space contributes to other unsatisfactory conditions existing in the Edinboro School, for example, the basement music room, the undersized library room, the absence of personal facilities for adults, etc. All of these detract from the effectiveness of the educational efforts at the Edinboro School. It appears to the Board that these conditions should be remedied up to now because they no longer be considered temporary high. The School Board's report, which relates to the current year, shows that the school is to use full facilities of Edinboro School, on its own site for the indefinite future. The Board's recommendation that the best solution to the book-space problem is to relocate the present building. In this connection, the Council may wish to consider construction of a new building at a new site, or the possible sound, long-range solution for all parties involved. With further reference to the use of Edinboro School, the Board has a strong feeling that it will not dispose of the school property or any other property of the Board at this time in view of the certain long range educational needs of Mountainside. We, of course, would like to discuss our and your long range building plans to assure consistency and maximum educational benefits to the community. The Council approved a plan reading an ordinance authorizing the preparation of a study of space requirements for the school facilities and that the proposed location of the school be an architect and to appropriate and provide money for that purpose. The estimated amount of money to be raised by the school is $3,000, appropriated from capital accounts funds. Pittenger said he will be immediately to interview architects and hopes to make a selection within two weeks. A committee made by the Long Range Planning Committee, a lay committee, will be utilized, he said.

The estimated amount of money to be raised by the school is $3,000, appropriated from capital accounts funds. Pittenger said he will be immediately to interview architects and hopes to make a selection within two weeks. A committee made by the Long Range Planning Committee, a lay committee, will be utilized, he said.

to accommodate an increase in the enrollment of fourth and fifth grade pupils. This additional class will have to be held in the room now used for receipt, storage and processing of text books and library books for the entire school system. There is no other appropriate space to transfer this operation. Lack of space contributes to other unsatisfactory conditions existing in the Edinboro School, for example, the basement music room, the undersized library room, the absence of personal facilities for adults, etc. All of these detract from the effectiveness of the educational efforts at the Edinboro School. It appears to the Board that these conditions should be remedied up to now because they no longer be considered temporary high. The School Board's report, which relates to the current year, shows that the school is to use full facilities of Edinboro School, on its own site for the indefinite future. The Board's recommendation that the best solution to the book-space problem is to relocate the present building. In this connection, the Council may wish to consider construction of a new building at a new site, or the possible sound, long-range solution for all parties involved. With further reference to the use of Edinboro School, the Board has a strong feeling that it will not dispose of the school property or any other property of the Board at this time in view of the certain long range educational needs of Mountainside. We, of course, would like to discuss our and your long range building plans to assure consistency and maximum educational benefits to the community. The Council approved a plan reading an ordinance authorizing the preparation of a study of space requirements for the school facilities and that the proposed location of the school be an architect and to appropriate and provide money for that purpose. The estimated amount of money to be raised by the school is $3,000, appropriated from capital accounts funds. Pittenger said he will be immediately to interview architects and hopes to make a selection within two weeks. A committee made by the Long Range Planning Committee, a lay committee, will be utilized, he said.

No dollar so protected ever lost to a saver.

30th Anniversary salute to the FSLIC
Safeguarding "Growth Dollars" for 35 Million Americans

Congress created the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation in 1934. It clearly intended to make certain that no person ever need be deprived of his life-time savings. The FSLIC has performed perfectly in carrying out its pledge: safety of your savings insured up to $10,000.

Insured Savings and Loan associations proudly display the emblem of FSLIC Insurance. Working with this permanent federal agency, we give insured savings the best conditions in which to grow. Complete freedom from fluctuations in value. Re-investment in top-quality home loans to local families. Bountiful earnings compounded often.

Give your growth dollars greater profit-power by putting them to work here. Open one or more insured accounts to fit your needs. You'll find the rewards excellent, the safety record unblemished.
