Welfare Work Not $$ Alone Director Deals With Human Problems

By RITA ZEISS
Mrs. Fern Hyde, who serves as Mountainside's welfare director, is well aware that many borough residents are surprised to learn that the borough has such an employee. She is equally aware that many others are surprised to find that there is a necessity for such an official since they, like most people, equate "welfare" only with material need.

Welfare work, she explains, deals with many phases of human problems. Financial need, particularly among the materially endowed community such as Mountainside, is a very small portion of it.

Her department's report for 1964 reflects that picture. Although she dealt with only two active (meaning financial need) cases and dispersed only $576.20 of the borough funds, she handled 17 service cases in that year. The service cases, she reports, included many varied tasks from helping find nursing homes for the aged and ill to the heartbreaking chore of identifying a young boy who was hospitalized after becoming ill through using drugs.

The welfare department phone (AD 3-8237) is installed in her home and is available no matter when it rings, day or night, she answers it. And when Fern Hyde says she answers it she does not mean just picking up the phone. She means answering the call for help, attempting to meet the need, the cry from a lonely older person who needs emotional support, the summons from a couple embroiled in a marital problem, the plea from a disturbed juvenile in trouble.

Mrs. Hyde, who did graduate work in sociology in the New York School of Social Work of Columbia University, never brushes off a call by saying the borough does not provide the service needed. Understandably, there are many social service needs that cannot be met with borough funds but Mrs. Hyde can and does provide the direction, advises the caller on what services are available and, more often than not, helps him follow through on her advice. "Fern Hyde is the greatest." Many local people who have either availed themselves of her help or who know people whom she has assisted say that almost prayerfully.

She has visited with older callers, given them the emotional support that they were really seeking, she has sat down with married couples, and, by supplying a sympathetic ear and a word or two of advice, helped them find the answer to their own problem. She has found homes for abandoned children, homemakers for homes where the mother is ill, aid for the emotionally or mentally disturbed. And last New Year's Day she

Newcomers' Gift Gives Momentum To Library Drive

The Mountainside Newcomers Club has donated $10 to be used to help start a fund for the construction of a new library in the borough. Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, library director, reported this week the gift was given in the name of Harry Devlin, vice-president of the Library Trustees, who with Sidney Mele, president of the board, has been speaking at meetings of various organizations on the need for a new library in the borough.

Devlin, Mele and Gene Simpson, who was appointed to the board Jan. 2 by Mayor Frederick Wilhelm Jr., met last week in a caucus session with the Borough Council to discuss the possibility of obtaining a portion of borough-owned land on the northwest corner of Rt. 22 and New Providence rd. as a site for the library.

Mele described himself as "greatly encouraged" by the discussion but said he could give no details on the meeting at this time.

At last week's meeting of the Library Trustees, Mele said the first step in starting a move to erect a new library was to secure from the Borough Council as assurance that body "would back up the movement."

The move toward that goal has gained momentum recently through the enthusiasm engendered by members of the Newcomers, the Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women, the Concord Estates Association and other civic and fraternal groups within the borough.

Open discussion was held at the February meeting of the Library Trustees on plans for organizing a borough-wide group to be known as Friends of the Library to assist in raising funds and enlisting community support for the project.

The trustees made it clear at that session that they preferred to have the hoped-for facility constructed as a separate unit and not as a part of any future complex of borough buildings. It was also brought out at the meeting that the Board of Education had informed the Library Trustees of the plan.

arranged a funeral for one of the community's lonely charges.

And she does all of it with a warm compassion, a friendly consideration that never demeans the person whom she is assisting. There is no condescension when she speaks of the people with whom she deals, only a rich and deep concern for the hurt and the troubled, a reaching out to assist in healing the invisible wounds.

It is perhaps this outgoing quality that drew Fern Hyde into another and earlier career, a career she was busily engaged in when other girls her age were occupied with dolls and jump ropes.

Back in the days when vaudeville was still popular, Mrs. Hyde, who was then Fern Carter, was with the Keith-Prospect troupe on the Keith-Prospect Circuit. She and another girl, Lorette Curran, did a sister act with songs and dances that set their fat "bologna" curls bouncing and their starched skirts swirling. She still remembers the period with pleasure—she found it strictly fun, fun on the stage, fun dining out with the troupe, fun living in the convivial atmosphere of stage life.

She had a brush with social services workers in those days when she was playing at Proctor's in Newark. A case worker from the Children's Aid Society came to inquire why the children were on the stage instead of in school where they belonged. Years later when Fern, now an accredited social worker went to work

Hartung Resigns From Planners; Served 17 Years

'Personal' Reasons Given By Former Councilman, Mayor

Albert E. Hartung, who has served on Mountainside's Planning Board since 1948, resigned from that body at Tuesday night's meeting. Hartung, who gave "personal" reasons for his resignation, said that he took the action with regret since he had "enjoyed" serving on the board.

Robert Garret, who this year succeeded Hartung as chairman of the Planning Board, expressed his regret at the resignation and asked Hartung how he "could leave us at this time." Garret's remark referred to the board's work on the master plan, rough drafts of which were distributed by Garret to the members of the board at the close of the meeting. Hartung, who said his resignation was effective immediately, did not accept a copy.

A resident of Mountainside since 1935, Hartung served on the Borough Council from 1945 to 1960 and as mayor during 1960 and 1961.

At the suggestion of Councilman William McCurley, the Borough Council's representative to the board, Hartung said he would notify Mayor Frederick Wilhelm Jr. by letter of his resignation.

Stormy Meeting

Hartung's action came at the end of a long and stormy meeting during which Irwin J. Silverlight, attorney for Milton Wasch, demanded that the board take action on his client's application for approval of a subdivision in a portion of a tract of land between Nottingham way and Rt. 22. Silverlight claimed his client had submitted most of the data requested by the Planning Board at the January meeting, and had, as the board suggested, attempted to purchase a piece of land from an adjoining property owner, William J. Finnegan. The attempt was unsuccessful.

Hartung and Silverlight clashed over many points, including the size of the buffer zone the builder was required to erect and the size of the lots. In presenting his client's case, Silverlight introduced Grant Lennox, engineer advisor for Wasch, who claimed that "excessive" improvements of the property required by the board would run the costs up to an average of $5,000 per lot. If the tract is subdivided into six lots as Wasch's application asked, it was brought out during the discussion that Lennox served as Mountainside's borough engineer.

Heart Fund Lags; Drive Extended

Mountainside's house-to-house drive, conducted last Sunday for the benefit of the Union County Heart Fund, fell far short of the local goal set for the borough. Mrs. Ruth Keuler, local chairman of the drive, said the drive will be extended to mid-March in an attempt to reach the financial target.

Mrs. Keuler, who said no estimate of the amount collected was available at press time, attributed the failure of the door-bell-ringing drive to several factors, principally the lack of coordination between the workers involved in the project.

Community Pool 'Pretty Certain' But Summer Completion Not Likely

ALL SET FOR a day on the ski slopes are, left to right, Richard Pettit, James Debbie and Michael Bartlett. The boys will be among a group of teenagers who will head for Milton on March 6 for a day of skiing at the "Snow Bowl." The trip is sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside. (P.S. Snow-making machines guarantee excellent skiing.)

Budget Provides Funds For Land, Ditzel Reports

Time Element, Other Problems Rule Out Opening In Summer

A community pool is in the offering for Mountainside residents but at the present time it looks as though the planned facility will not be ready for use this summer.

Councilman William Ditzel, the Borough Council's representative to the recreation committee, said this week that it "looks pretty certain" that the pool will be constructed on a four-and-a-half acre tract fronting on Rt. 22 and adjoining the playing field of the Echobrook School.

The Councilman based this opinion on the time element which he felt would rule out completion of construction by the summer and the necessity of re-writing the present pool ordinance to permit a community pool to be built within the borough boundaries. The present ordinance prohibits swim clubs in the borough, Ditzel said.

The Councilman said that the 1965 municipal budget provides money for the purchase of the pool site. He also stated that within the next few weeks he will request the Borough Council to hire professional engineering help to continue the planning for the project.

Option Secured
"We," Ditzel said (meaning the pool committee created by the recreation committee), "have gone as far as we can on this. It's about time to get professional help."

Last Dec. 4, the borough secured a 180-day option on the tract suggested as a site for the pool from the owners, the Child Service Association of Newark. The agreement offered a purchase price of $8,500, a figure which Mayor Frederick Wilhelm Jr. said at that time was "a beginning offer." Ditzel said the option, which expires early in June, is renewable for another six months.

The Council's action in taking the option "was in line with a recommendation submitted by Ditzel at the Oct. 20 meeting that a municipal pool be constructed. Ditzel's recommendation was based on the results of a borough-wide survey conducted under the supervision of the recreation committee.

Six-hundred and fifty families voted in favor of a pool in a post card questionnaire conducted by the pool committee. Four-hundred and fifteen voted against it.

A petition opposing the pool was submitted last fall to the recreation committee signed by 45 residents, representing 14 families in the area of the site involved in the option with the Child Service Association.

The possible establishment of a community pool "awoke a lot of citizen reaction, both pro and con, since it was first brought up for public discussion early last summer."

A citizens' committee, headed by Herbert Ross, gathered more than 300 signatures in support of such a facility. That group adopted for their slogan "Let's Swim and Dive in '65."

Ground Breaking Slated For '7-11' In Early March

Ground for the "7-11" general store which will be located at 921 Mountain ave., Mountainside, will be broken within the next two weeks. Target date for completion of the building, which will cost an estimated $55,000, is set for mid-June.

The one-story building, which will be of colonial design will be constructed with used bricks. A roofed portico will be built in front of the doorway to allow patrons of the store to drive directly to the entrance in rainy weather. Parking space will be provided in front of the building and trees and shrubs will be planted between the parking lot and the street. The woods in back of the planned structure will not be disturbed.

The Mountainside store is one of more than 75 such establishments that the Southland Corp. of Dallas, Tex., plans to build in New Jersey. The stores, which carry foods, electric light bulbs, small tools and other items which the average family is apt to run out of or need in a hurry, derive their name, "7-11", from the hours they are open — from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m., seven days a week.

The Mountainside store will employ a manager and two assistants who will staff the establishment.

Area Library Set Up

The Plainfield Public Library has been officially designated as the area library for nearby communities, including Mountainside, by the State Library Board. Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, director of the Mountainside Library, explained that this means that borough residents may use the Plainfield collection in the library building after referral by the local library. It does not mean that Mountainside readers may borrow books, Mrs. Hoffarth added.

ECHO PROFILE -- SIDNEY C. MELE

Sidney C. Mele, president of the trustees of the Free Public Library of Mountainside, rather reluctantly accepted a one-year appointment to that board back in 1961 when the library was in the process of becoming a borough-operated facility. It had previously been run by a group of dedicated citizens who operated under the title of the Mountainside Public Library Association.

The next year, again at the urging of the then mayor, Albert Hartung, Mele accepted a five-year appointment to the board, an appointment he planned to quietly relinquish after the flurry and the confusion of the transitional period had abated.

His reluctance was not due to a lack of interest but a lack of time. Since moving with his wife, Dorothy, and daughter, Judith (Judy), in 1953 to their present home at 275 Pembroke rd., he had become involved in working with many organizations. He was serving as president of Temple Emanu-El, Westfield, a director of the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross, a member of the N. J. Council of American Hebrew Congregations and regional chairman of the National Institute of Diaper Services.

In addition his position as head of the products division of Associated Baby Services was time-consuming and required quite a bit of travelling.

However the library had become a cause too close to his heart. He found he could not give up working for it. He had become deeply involved in its problems while serving on the Library Study Commission, a group formed preceding the formal adoption of the facility by the borough.

At Christian Science services this Sunday, the Bible lesson on "Christ Jesus" will include the promise recorded in Mark (16): "And these signs shall follow them that believe: In my name shall they cast out devils; . . . They shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover."

Also to be considered is a related passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Jesus established in the Christian era the precedent for all Christian-ity, theology, and healing. Christians are under as direct orders now, as they were then, to be Christlike, to possess the Christ-spirit, to follow the Christ-example, and to heal the sick as well as the sinning" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 138).

Thomas To Retire From Esso As Senior Research Scientist

Robert M. Thomas, 58, 1455 Woodacres dr., Mountainside, will retire Monday as a senior research associate in the Chemical Research Division, Esso Research and Engineering Co. Thomas is co-inventor of butyl rubber.

Thomas has worked in New Jersey 35 years. He began at the Bayway plant of the research firm as a student engineer in 1929. Eight years later, he and Dr. William J. Sparks of Westfield discovered the new synthetic rubber which was to influence the nation's economy and way of living.

The retiring engineer was born in El Paso, Tex. His family subsequently moved to Arizona and New Mexico. Thomas has lived on Indian reservations where his mother taught.

The family moved to Virginia when Thomas was in high school. He attended Virginia Polytechnic Institute and graduated in 1929.

In 1930, Thomas was among 12 engineers named to establish the Chemicals Research Division. An early project in which Dr. Sparks participated was to find a combination of substances with rubber-like properties that would vulcanize. In 1937, on an exploratory basis, the pair discovered butyl rubber.

At first, the discovery was considered little more than an interesting laboratory curiosity. Market development of the product did not begin for several years. At first, butyl rubber was insoluble, leather-like, and difficult to process and vulcanize.

With much development, a recipe for quality butyl was developed. A butyl plant was established at Baton Rouge, La., six days before the bombardment of Pearl Harbor. Thomas worked there from 1943 until 1948.

Thomas returned to New Jersey in 1948 to head Esso Research's rubber laboratories. In 1950, he was named assistant director in charge of exploratory research. He retires as a senior research associate.

Thomas plans to travel with his wife to Florida and the Southwest next month. The couple will visit their son, Blaine, an instructor of English in Beaumont, Tex. Another son, Stuart, is an engineer employed by Esso Research.

The Thomases also plan to take a trip to Spain in the near future.

Church Chuckles by CARTWRIGHT

"I found out I could be a much better Christian by getting away from the whole lousy human race!"

Mrs. Dwyer Seeks Constituents' Views

WASHINGTON — Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-6th Dist.) this week mailed to a cross-section of Union County residents her eighth consecutive annual Congressional Questionnaire.

The questionnaire was sent to all those who are on the congresswoman's regular mailing list and to several thousand additional persons chosen to assure a well-balanced and representative sample of the County.

Mrs. Dwyer, however, invited all interested persons in Union County to participate.

"Your generous response in the past to this request for your opinions on issues of public importance has given me a better insight into the views and values of my constituents, and has enabled me to represent you more effectively," she wrote in a letter accompanying the questionnaire.

Those persons who do not receive the questionnaire through the mails, or who desire additional copies, may obtain them by writing or phoning Congresswoman Dwyer's district office, 280 N. Broad st., Elizabeth (tel. ELizabeth 5-0400), or her Washington office, 1631 House Office Bldg., Washington (tel. CApitol 5-5361).

The 1965 questionnaire includes such subjects as the U.S. position in Vietnam; what's wrong, if anything, with foreign aid; expansion of social security benefits; further tax cuts; and compulsory arbitration of labor disputes.

A unique feature of the poll this year is a section providing respondents with four alternatives in ranking the degree of importance of a variety of problems and proposals, thereby making possible an added depth and precision to their replies. Mrs. Dwyer also asks constituents to rate President Johnson's handling of foreign and national affairs.

Gross Receives Education Grant

Frank J. Gross of 565 Woodland ave., Mountainside has been named a recipient of an educational award granted by American Cyanamid Company.

A research chemist at the company's Bound Brook installation, he has been on a leave of absence to advance his education at Rutgers and will continue his graduate studies there in preparation for his doctorate.

Under the direction of Dr. Donald B. Denney, associate professor of chemistry at the university, Gross is studying organophosphorus chemistry. He holds the B.A. degree in chemistry and the M.S. degree in organic chemistry from Rutgers. The latter was completed after four years of evening school sessions under Cyanamid's Educational Assistance Plan. He has been with the company since 1957. Mr. and Mrs. Gross have a daughter, Beth Anne.

Grant Lennox Heads Largest USMCR Unit

Recent change of command ceremonies saw leadership of Port Newark's Sixth Transport Battalion, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, pass into the hands of Lieutenant Colonel Grant H. Lennox of Mountainside. Battalion colors were passed to Colonel Lennox by the outgoing commanding officer, Lieutenant Colonel John E. Scanlon, with the new skipper assuming command of New Jersey's largest Marine Corps Reserve Unit.

Colonel Lennox earned a Marine Corps commission in 1944 along with an engineering degree at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Then, after completion of officer training courses at Camp Lejeune, N. C., he joined the First Engineer Battalion in time to participate in the final major offensive of the Pacific War, the Easter Sunday 1945 landing on Okinawa. At the end of the war shortly thereafter, the young officer returned home to commence a career of civil engineering and land surveying practice with offices in Springfield and Lake Hopatcong.

Colonel Lennox brings to his new assignment more than 20 years of continuous Marine Corps activity, having participated in Reserve unit training at all times when not on active duty.

This year's series of COPE (Christian Opportunities Provide Enlightenment) will include two courses for parents of teenagers, "A Profile of Junior High Youth" and "A Profile of Senior High Youth."

Mrs. Arline Nash, a psychiatric social worker now serving as school psychologist for the Berkeley Heights school system, and Milton Falch, who has been associated with the Child Guidance Clinic of East Orange, will conduct the sessions which will run on consecutive Sundays from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

Beauty Contest To Be Sponsored By Area Jaycees

April 1 has been set as the deadline for submitting names of candidates for the Miss Union County Pageant, a preliminary contest to the Miss America competition. The county contest will be held May 8 at the Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School auditorium. It is sponsored by the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Jaycees.

The individual or organization that nominates the winner will also receive a prize, the pageant committee has announced. Nominations may be submitted to Robert Schmitt, 2002 Mapleview ct., Scotch Plains, or Ronald Brown, 2482 Hill rd., Westfield, entries committee co-chairmen.

Ten girls will compete in the county pageant. They will be picked from the candidates who are nominated. The county winner will compete with other local winners for the title of Miss New Jersey.

Contest rules state that a contestant must be a resident of the county or a student at a college in the county; she must be single and have never been married; she must be a high school senior or graduate; she must be between 18 and 28 by Sept. 1; she must make a three minute presentation of a particular talent.

Women Will Join At Baptist Church For Prayer Day

The 79th annual World Day of Prayer will unite women of Mountainside with other Protestant women in the Westfield area on March 5, the first Friday of Lent, in a service scheduled at 1 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Westfield.

The service, the same one which will be used by United Church Women throughout the world, was written by Jesse Jai McNeil, the first Negro to receive the citation "Layman of the Year" from the Detroit Council of Churches. Mrs. McNeil has served as a member of the National Board of Managers of the United Church Women since 1957.

Two other services are also scheduled on the World Day of Prayer. A "Youth Watch" for students of junior highs and senior highs will open at 7 a.m. in the Bethel Baptist Church of Westfield and a prayer-study group will meet at 8:15 p.m. in the First Baptist Church. The sanctuary of the First Baptist will be open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for prayers and meditation.

Developer Builds On Clark Tract

Fifteen one-family houses will be erected in the near future on the Scheder-Clark tract, a piece of land that adjoins the property line of Deerfield School and runs from Cherry Hill rd. to Summit rd. The developer's map, which was approved at last week's meeting of the Mountainside Borough Council, calls for the construction of a road in the tract.

The plans were approved subject to the builder, Codan Development Inc., posting security in the amount of $60,000 as a guarantee for satisfactory installation of streets, curbs, a storm sewer system and other improvements. The builder was also required to pay a $1,280 sewer fee.

Curtiss On Dean's List

Arthur M. Curtiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Curtiss of 1067 Sunny Slope dr., Mountainside, has been named to the dean's list for the fall term at Springfield College, Springfield, Mass. Curtiss is a junior at Springfield.

Full Speed Ahead For Safer Rt. 22

Leaders of the Essex-Union-Somerset Traffic Safety Council met with Henry P. Wester of Mountainside, council president, last week at Newark Police Headquarters to plan for renewed efforts to reduce the death and injury toll on Rt. 22.

Springfield Township Committeeman Robert G. Planer was named to the Safety Council's board of directors. He will serve on the enforcement and safety development committee.

Committeeman James C. Conlon of Union, also a board member, will serve on the education and publications committee. Both Conlon and Planer are police commissioners in their towns. Planer takes over the Safety Council seat held last year by former Mayor Robert D. Herd-grove.

The Springfield official will work with Newark Police Director Dominick Spina on plans to present the annual safety award this spring to "an outstanding public servant who has made major contributions to safety in the state."

The Safety Council this year will put continued pressure on the State Highway Department, Wester said, for applying a rule to require trucks to keep to the right on Rt. 22. He also called for stopping up of State Police supervision of the highway, "which has been successfully administered in 1964."

Noting that repaving is scheduled for this year for the stretch from Hillside through North Plainfield to correct "hazardous surface deterioration," Wester called on Highway Commissioner Dwight R. G. Palmer to improve the design and increase the height of Rt. 22 center dividers.

He noted that repaving in Hillside had lowered the height of the dividers by four inches, making it easier for vehicles to careen into the path of oncoming traffic.

Stricter measures are contemplated, Wester said, in criticizing Palmer and the Highway Department in general for "their apathy to major problems, and their brushing off of minor ones to obscure corners of the department, without result." He added that a special committee will be named to "take this long-standing problem to our legislators."

Name Borough Girl 'Miss Congeniality'

MISS CORINNE S. TINO

Miss Corinne Suzanne Tino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmine Tino of 307 Cherry Hill rd., Mountainside, was named "Miss Congeniality" in the Miss North Miami Pageant of 1965 held earlier this month at the Florida city. The Tino family spends the winter in Keystone Point, North Miami.

Corinne was one of 18 contestants in the contest, a preliminary to the Miss America contest, which ran for four evenings. Entrants were judged on the basis of talent and beauty.

Among the awards Mountainside's "Miss Congeniality" won were a Miss America trophy and charm bracelet, a $200 participation scholarship fund, a week-end for two in a Miami Beach Hotel and dinners and shows in numerous restaurants and theatres.

A senior at Governor Livingston High School, Berkeley Heights, Miss Tino attends North Miami Senior High School while in Florida. She plans to enter Miami Dade Junior College in Miami next September to prepare for a career in the fashion world.

The Tinos have a son, Sal, 13, a student at Deerfield School, Mountainside.

General contractor for the building is Martin W. Cin Vincent Inc. of Westfield. Plans for the building were submitted to the owners, Mr. and Mrs. R. Barrett Jr. of Westfield, by the Southland Corp.'s architect, Barrett is president of the firm of Barrett and Crain, realtors of Mountainside and Westfield.

The Southland Corp. now operates approximately 1,500 stores throughout the country, the great majority of which are located in Texas, Florida, Virginia, Long Island and New Jersey.

The stores were founded in the 1930's by John Thompson, father of the present president of Southland, from an idea that grew from his experiences while running a small ice house in Texas. When he found his customers looking for small items after regular closing hours for stores in the area, he developed the idea of establishing a chain of stores which would carry only such items. He secured backing from a Texan oilman and the "7-11" chain gradually spread through the country.

ECHO PROFILE

He had learned to respect and admire the people associated with it — H. W. Moore, who was then the president, Library Director Emily Hoffarth, whom Mele said has done a fantastic job, Dr. Levin Hanigan, Superintendent of Schools who serves on the Library Board — all the people who had given so generously of their time, their talents and their interest. The library had become for him a cause, a cause which he wanted to serve.

"When something is as important as this (the growth of the library)," he says in soft, measured tones that are typical of this quietly, effective man, "you do something about it."

Mountainside residents, adult and children, are "readers," he says. They keep the library volume moving. This, Mele points out with a quiet chuckle, is good not just because it proves residents appreciate the service but there would not be room in the present facilities in the basement of Echobrook School to accommodate all the books if they were all in at the same time.

MELE ACQUIRED A love of books early in life. He and Dorothy, who met while they were both students in James Madison High School in Brooklyn, postponed their marriage so Sidney could enter Lehigh University where he majored in biology. They postponed it again after his graduation so he could take a year of advanced study in Germany. They were married in 1934 when Mele joined Associated Baby Services.

They moved around the country during his first years with the firm and have warm memories of many happy homes in many different areas but best of all are their memories of New Orleans, a "fantastic" town where they lived for two years. During World War II his career was interrupted while he served for 46 months in the U.S. Army. Assigned to the transportation corps in charge of overseas supply for the European theatre, he rose to the rank of major and received the Legion of Merit.

He was assigned to New Jersey as head of the products division of Associated Baby Services in 1953. They then moved to Union where they lived until 1953 when they bought their present home.

And the Meles, who enjoyed all their homes in so many different spots, find their Mountainside home the best of all. They feel that their neighbors are "the best in the world." There is an air of quiet contentment in their house, a house which is somewhat quieter than in previous years now that Judy is away at college.

Her parents glow when they talk of Judy. She is, her father says proudly, on the dean's list at Penn State where she is a junior, majoring in sociology. A painting of Judy when she was a dreamy-eyed pre-schooler hangs in their living room. An unusual still life hangs over the fireplace. The family pet, an overfriendly black-poodle who answers to the apt name of "Petty," is the self-appointed greeter of guests.

When they get a "little too lonesome for Judy, the Meles drive up to see her — "it's only about a five hour trip on a Sunday," her father points out reasonably.

Mele served for many years as president of the Pembroke Civic Association, an organization which he and Dorothy joined in 1953. He is also an active member of the Mountainside Kiwanis Club and the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of B'nai B'rith.

These last few months he and Harry Devlin, vice-president of the Library Board, have been visiting at meetings of many other organizations in the borough, explaining to the members the need for a new library building.

They have found the response "overwhelming," people are asking "what can we do to help," or "how can we get the ball rolling." The "ball," Mele hopes optimistically, will get rolling soon and he doesn't doubt that Mountainside residents will make sure that it reaches the goal.

New Building Leased In Industrial Park

Esmond-Jersey Co., Inc., a division of Hostachem Corp. has leased a new building at 1061 Bristol rd., Mountainside, in the Industrial Park, it was announced by Louis Schlesinger Co., Newark realtors.

The realtors are represented by their vice president, Henry L. Marzell, a resident of Mountainside.

OUR DEADLINE is noon Friday for organization, social, church news.

Welfare Director

"We remembered each other," Fern says with a wide grin, "and I told her 'See, we don't turn out all bad.'"

The decision to leave show business was made when Fern was 15. Ready to graduate from high school, she was at the point where she had to decide if she wanted to stay in show business or go to college. She chose college and was graduated "cum laude" from Beaver College in Pennsylvania.

Her theatrical bent gets indulged these days through the shows put on by the Mountainside Music Association. Fern Hyde is always one of the show stoppers.

She served for eight years as supervisor of the Public Welfare Department of Newark. She found the social field work, she says, "home for me as a person." She still serves on the board of directors of the Children's Service Association, the successor of the Children's Aid Society.

Fern and her husband Tom, and their two daughters, Valerie and Andrea, moved to their present home at 1308 Wood Valley rd. 15 years ago this June when Andrea was an infant. Valerie, now 18, is a senior at Governor Livingston High School and has received early acceptance at Syracuse University. Andrea and a friend (with their guides) perform rather regularly at folk-singing events. Their son, Brad, is now a vigorous and very vocal tenor.

Fern accepted the position of borough welfare director in 1961. She refuses to attempt to estimate how many hours she puts in on the job for which she is paid the munificent sum of $500 yearly.

"In a job like this, you don't count the hours. You do it because it has meaning and value — not for money."

The trustees last week appointed Mrs. Hoffarth, Mele and Simpson as delegates to a conference scheduled March 5 and 6 in the Molly Pitcher Inn, Red Bank, under the sponsorship of the Public Library Trustees. The sessions will study methods of obtaining funds from local, state and federal sources for construction of libraries.

Mayor Wilhelms, Mele and Devlin were delegated to attend a meeting slated March 23 in Newark at which James A. Bryant, library consultant, will lead discussions on selecting and working with an architect, and the presenting of preliminary library plans.

Reservations End Sunday For CYO's Skiing Outing

Reservations for the day of skiing sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside, close this Sunday. Young people of high school age interested in joining the outing on March 6 to the Snow Bowl in Milton may make their reservations on or before Sunday with Mrs. William Kaplan, AD 2-1928, or Ed Lewicki, AD 2-9384.

A bus will leave the church grounds on Central ave. at 8 a. m. Return time will be around 6 p. m.

Mr. Kaplan pointed out that the day's outing will provide many of the young people an opportunity to their first run down a ski slope under the direction of competent instructors. The skiing is guaranteed to be good since the Snow Bowl manufactures its own snow.

The fee of $10.50 covers ski rental, instruction, ski low and use of the slopes. For teenagers who own their own equipment the fee is $6.

A great number of young people have already signed up for the trip. It was reported that accommodations will be arranged for all those who make their reservations on or before this Sunday, the announcement said.

Lutheran Ladies Meet In Prayer

"Wings of Prayer For East Asia" will be the theme of the service observing the Women's Day of Prayer scheduled March 5 at 1:30 p. m. in Redeemer Lutheran Church, Clark st. and Cooperthwaite pl., Westfield. Delegations representing seven neighboring Lutheran congregations of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League will take part in the service.

Redeemer's pastor, Rev. Walter A. Reuning, will conduct the service assisted by Vicar C. Clifford Flanigan. This prayer service has become an annual event for Lutheran women on the first Friday in Lent.

Midweek Lenten services will begin next week on Ash Wednesday at Redeemer Lutheran, with Pastor Reuning preaching on "The Dark Road Through Infinite Sorrow," the first in a series of seven Lenten sermons on "The Dark Road to Triumph."

There will be two services each Wednesday evening during Lent, one at 7 o'clock and one at 8 o'clock. The earlier service is arranged for families with children; the later is for adults.

Baptist Church Plans Ash Wednesday Rite

A special service of penitence and pardon will be held at the First Baptist Church of Westfield on Ash Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the chapel. The service will include the liturgy of confession and forgiveness and the assurance of pardon. Special music will be provided by a quartet composed of Betty Kittleson, Lois Wehrum, Donald Bleeker and Ernest Johnson.

The service is open to the public and is part of the day-long observance throughout which the church will be open for meditation. A noon service will be conducted for business people and shoppers.

Action Postponed

After a long and rather heated discussion the board postponed action until the next public meeting despite Silverlight's demand that "action, affirmative or negative, be taken now."

A group of residents from the Nottingham way and Robin Hood rd. area were at the meeting. Only one of them, Edward Seltzer of 288 Robin Hood rd., voiced any protest. This was in sharp contrast to last month's meeting at which several residents protested that the erection of the road, defined in the map Wasch had submitted to the board, would make a "peninsula" of Nottingham way.

Festivities, which will include a treasure hunt, a costume identification contest and a Charleston contest, will begin at 8:30. Punch and hot and cold hors d'oeuvres will be served at that time. A professionally catered buffet will be served later in the evening.

The party committee announced that costumes are preferred but optional.

Krueger, who is Peace Corps chairman for Union County, said the display unit was constructed for the Corps by City Federal. It features a map of the world showing all areas served by the Peace Corps and portrays the various activities undertaken by Corps volunteers.

The unit is supplemented by descriptive booklets and application forms which are placed at all tellers' windows.

When no one can get to work... an amazing number of telephone operators do.

They'll walk for miles when nothing on wheels can move.

Why do they do it? Because they know they're needed. They know the whole community is depending on them for telephone service. Especially in times of emergency.

At the phone company, we call their attitude the "spirit of service." Maybe it sounds old-fashioned. But it's real. And we're proud of it. Just as we're proud of all the operators who help make phone service something you can always rely on.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

Brighten up your mid winter days; serve carrots on your menus! They not only offer cheerful color, but lots of vitamin A — a good item to help ward off infections. Carrots, furthermore, are low in cost and can be used in a wide variety of ways. What could bring more satisfaction to the budget minded and busy housewife?

More than 1.5 billion pounds of fresh carrots are grown commercially in the United States each year. Each pound yields about 48,000 I.U. of carotene or pro-vitamin A. A mathematically minded person has figured out that last year's carrot crop was big enough to supply everyone in America with the equivalent of an adult allowance of vitamin A every day for three months. It also provides some of many other nutrients.

All in all, the carrot is a wonderful vegetable; certainly it should be rated among "convenience foods." The sweet and tender, well-scrubbed carrots which reach our produce counters all year around do not actually need paring or scraping. Wash them, brushing well with a vegetable brush, cut off the top and bottom and slice. Chill and eat raw if you want the very last unit of vitamin A, or cook until just crisp — tender in no more boiling water than is needed to keep them from sticking. A scant teaspoon of sugar, along with salt, butter or margarine, enhances the flavor of carrots. Also onions, celery leaves, chives, parsley, green peppers, grated orange peel and spices such as nutmeg, ginger, cloves, sweet basil and white pepper are good flavorings.

Do you ever bake carrots? They are delicious arranged in a casserole with two tablespoons of water and one of butter, sprinkled with salt and pepper, covered tightly and baked for 35-40 minutes at 350 degrees. You may also mash well cooked carrots and flavor with grated orange rind and fresh orange juice.

Carrot bread and carrot pie are other unusual carrot recipes. Carrot bread spread with cream cheese is delicious. But even the everyday use of carrots as a vegetable offers endless possibilities. Slice carrot pennies or quarter them lengthwise and halve the sticks. Season them with grated cheese. Combine chives or parsley or sprinkle cubed cooked carrots with peas or with several vegetables. And always keep them on hand to give color and flavor to soups and stews.

Fresh Carrot Bread

- 2/3 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 large eggs
- 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup finely grated carrots
- 1 cup seedless raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Place butter or margarine in mixing bowl. Gradually blend in sugar. Beat in eggs. Sift together flour, baking powder, cinnamon and salt and gradually add to the mixture. Mix carrots, raisins and nuts and stir into batter. Turn into well-greased, lightly floured 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) one hour. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Turn out onto wire rack to finish cooling. Make the bread the day before it is to be served. Store in tightly closed box. YIELD one loaf cake.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: I have been bedridden for two years. I have two lovely children, ages five and six. During my illness my mother-in-law has been taking care of the children. Also, during this period, my mother-in-law has encouraged my children to come to her with their problems and even to call her mother.

I am able now to fulfill my obligations as a housewife and mother and I would like her to leave. She has her own apartment. I have discussed this with my husband, but he refuses to voice an opinion. My children prefer her to me. I appreciate her taking care of my children, but now I want my children's love back.

Dear Ex-mother: There is not enough gratitude or money in the world to repay your mother-in-law for her unselfish devotion to you and your family.

Treat her kindly! But tell her that you are ready to take over now and that she can finally go home and live her own life. A woman as wonderful as she can't help but understand and she will probably thank God. You haven't lost the love of your children. As time goes by, you shall see.

Dear Amy: How should a girl treat a boy? Like a friend and call him stupid? Like a mother and be polite to him? Like a brother and hit him? Like an idol and be shy to him, or be forward and act up to him? I find it impossible to be natural to a boy so how should I act?

Dear Help: Until you can act normally and naturally in a boy's company, stick with the girls, honey child. You are not yet ready for the opposite sex.

Dear Amy: I'm writing to a pen pal and I've never seen him — only through photos — and I like the way he looks. It seems we both have the same likes and dislikes. In his last letter he told me he is in love with me and that he wants me to believe this and that that I should soon expect an engagement ring.

I immediately wrote him back and told him that I would refuse to accept the ring until I saw him in person. Now he won't write to me, and I'm beginning to miss his letters. I haven't had much experience with boys so I don't know how I can get him to write again or whether I should accept the ring?

Dear Mary: Don't accept the ring! It's one thing to correspond with a fellow on a purely platonic basis, however, if it gets to the point where you become serious, you should arrange to meet. In my opinion, there is something wrong with a guy who wants to give a girl a ring via the mails without having seen her. It's time you dated some boys in the flesh if you really to find out what they're really like!

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

By PHYLLIS GREER

Specialist in Human Relations at Rutgers of fostering desirable traits of maturity. Young people need authority. They need guidelines because they really do not want to run wild. They seek authority with affection, as a sign their parents do care what happens to them. Unfortunately teenagers often reject the authority by not listening. They resent authority used alone, and struggle against it. This struggle, perhaps caused by too strict or unfair authority, can lead to an unwholesome attitude toward all school and community authority. Teenagers are almost grown up but not quite. Parents need to realize young people are no longer "children to be protected" and that the terrific drive for independence is part of the natural process of growing up. A change of approach, from parental authority to talking things over, may solve many disputes before the danger point.

'You Have To Have A Lot Of Love' To Work With The Mentally Retarded

By MARIAN BROWN
 "You have to have a lot of love to give to do this kind of work," Miss Allison Scott said as she embraced a very small six-year-old who had thrown his arms around her when she entered his classroom. The little boy looked up at her and smiled. It was a radiant smile that told her of a devotion he could not put into words, because he is mentally retarded and has not learned to talk.

The child is one of 53 children enrolled at the Harry W. Kohler Day Care Center in Winfield Park, a facility of the Union County Unit of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children. The Center was located until last fall in Roselle, where it was called the Nancy Luzon School.

Miss Scott is the teacher for a group of 16 young women who are learning to teach and work with the mentally retarded under the federal Manpower Development and Training Act. They will be child care center technicians when they complete their 27-week course with Miss Scott.

Dumont and Mountain Lakes. The trainees at the Kohler Center help the regular teachers and attend daily two-hour classroom sessions with Miss Scott to acquire the academic background they need for this very specialized work. They study normal motor, social, intellectual and emotional patterns of child growth and development; and then they study medical and psychological concepts of mental retardation and learn to identify performance at various levels of intelligence.

They study first aid, nutrition and health care and learn to stimulate and assist the development of language and social skills. They learn techniques of teaching retarded youngsters to eat without assistance and to dress themselves. They even develop work skills for many of the older children. Trainees are given legal information as it applies to their work, experience conferring with parents, instruction on transportation procedures, record keeping and discipline.

The program operates on a $61,000 grant from the U. S. Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Trainees are first screened by the State Employment Service, where they are given preference and ability tests. They are then interviewed by Dr. LaCrosse, who takes them to one of the centers to judge their reaction to the children and the kind of work they will be doing. Only those who react positively to these youngsters and indicate that they really want to work with them are selected for the training program.

Miss Scott is very enthusiastic about her group of trainees. "I have a wonderful group," she said. She counsels them on their own adjustment to their work and encourages them to discuss their problems as they arise. Miss Scott has a B. S. degree and an R. N. from Hampton Institute in Virginia and has completed graduate study in personnel and guidance at Seton Hall University. She has taught nursing at St. Mary's and St. Michael's Hospitals and psychiatric nursing at Overbrook Hospital.

A LOT OF LOVE — The six-year-old youngster above shows Miss Allison Scott how he feels about her in the only way he knows how. A pupil at the Harry W. Kohler Day Care Center in Winfield Park, he is mentally retarded and cannot talk, but he is happy and secure, because he knows his teachers love him, too. Miss Scott is in charge of trainees learning to work with the mentally retarded. (Photo by Marian Brown)

DR. LA CROSSE SAID the program will help to satisfy a need in the field of mental retardation, because there is a shortage of workers in this area.

Miss Scott said the program also satisfies a need for the trainees, because many of them had been looking for work which would give them a sense of purpose. They have had a high school education or its equivalent, but the jobs they held previously did not fulfill their need to make what they consider a valid contribution to society.

The federal grant pays the salaries of the program director and his assistant, the trainees and vocational counselors. It also pays for books, travel, field trips and lecturers. The State Employment Service pays for the screening and trainee allowances.

The other trainers in the program are Miss Phyllis Cohen, who works at the Bergen-Passaic Unit and Miss Carol Reidel, who works at the Morris, Essex and Somerset Unit. Dr. La Crosse's assistant is Mrs. Lillian Shapiro. Trainers and trainees all report to Newark State College for regular briefing sessions.

There are two programs at the Kohler Center — a day care program for young children and an independent living program for older boys and girls. Mrs. Betty McGee is the Center's director.

The younger children must be taught general muscular control and eye and hand coordination, Mrs. McGee said. A schedule of daily exercises involving creeping, crawling, jumping, marching, skipping and walking a balance board is designed to develop muscle control and improve body mechanics. Later fine coordination exercises are introduced. These include finger plays, zipping, buttoning, pasting and working puzzles.

THIS IS THE WAY — Youth is shown how to handle carpentry tools by worker. It is one of the ways in which the mentally retarded learn skills.

THE INDEPENDENT LIVING program is conducted for teenage youngsters and is pre-vocational in design. These children learn simple carpentry, refinishing furniture, sewing, painting and doll and drum making. Hygiene and grooming are stressed with all the children.

Mrs. McGee said the center is very fortunate to have the services of Arthur Scott, a retired carpenter, who teaches the older class to work with tools and wood. He volunteers his help because he is a very good man who loves children, she said.

The girls in the older group are taught to serve lunch and to clean up afterward and dry dishes. They take obvious pride in doing these jobs well and smile happily when they are praised for their accomplishments. And they are as openly responsive to love as the younger children.

"Hello, Miss Scott," one of the older girls called as Miss Scott entered the door of her room. "I missed you yesterday."

"I missed you, too," Miss Scott said. "Where were you?"

"It was my day off, the girl said, "and I missed you all day."

Miss Scott explained that the girl meant she had been absent. "Well, I'm glad you're here today," she said.

The girl put both her hands to her mouth and giggled happily.

U. S. Government Publication Aids Deaf Persons

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 25 — Did you know . . . "Of the millions of Americans with a hearing loss, about 200,000 cannot hear even the loudest speech well enough to understand it."

"Probably about three million persons have major hearing defects. "About one million American children, including some who are too young to be in school, have a significant handicap in hearing."

The above quoted passages are from a new 30-page booklet published by the U. S. Government, "Hearing Loss — Hope Through Research." The publication touches on many phases of hearing disorders:

"When is deafness inherited?" "Advancing age and hearing loss." "Selecting a hearing aid." "Where to Go For Help."

It points up the fact that deaf persons today have many sources of help available to them, recommending that they not wait for help to come to them but rather seek out the expert assistance that awaits their call.

Persons who are troubled with a hearing problem and would like to receive, free, a copy of this U. S. Government publication may have one by simply writing, today, to: "Better Hearing," 1902 Good Hope Rd., Washington (S-E) D. C. 20020.

Daniel R. Murray, formerly principal of the Edward V. Walton School and assistant superintendent of the Springfield public schools, was guest of honor at the Walton PTA Founders' Day program last week. He was presented with an inscribed wall clock in appreciation for his "many years of devoted service" to the PTA.

Mrs. Milan Urban, Founder's Day chairman, paid tribute to past PTA presidents. She presented courtesies to Mrs. Joseph Bender, Mrs. William Franklin Jr., Mrs. Isadore Yablonsky and Mrs. Wilbur Getter.

Mr. William Hannah highlighted the program with an explanation of "modern mathematics." Staff Writer Is Cast In New York Drama

Allen Goorwitz, staff writer for this newspaper, will leave tomorrow to devote full time to acting activities with two theater companies in New York City.

Goorwitz, who has studied acting since 1963 in Manhattan at the Anthony Mannino Studio, was notified this week that he has been cast in three featured roles of the Equity Library Theatre production of "Lorenzaccio," the 16th Century tragedy by Alfred de Musset.

He goes into rehearsal starting Wednesday and will be seen in the roles of A Bourgeois, An Exile and Soldier No. 5. The five-act play will have a limited-engagement run, March 12-21, at the Equity Library Theatre, Riverside drive and W. 103rd st., New York City.

In addition, Goorwitz will be working as press representative for Theatre Thirteen, the production company of Metropolitan-Duane Methodist Church, W. 13th st. and Seventh ave., New York City.

He also is one of three male understudies for the company's production of "The Lower Depths," a four-act drama by Maxim Gorky, which opens tonight at 8:30 at the church. The play will run tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday nights, and next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 4-6.

Goorwitz began work for the Suburban Publishing Corporation group of weekly newspapers in the fall of 1961. He worked in its editorial and advertising departments before leaving in January, 1963, to assume an editorial staff position with the Linden Leader. When that newspaper was purchased last July by the Suburban Publishing Corp., he returned as an editorial staff member.

A January, 1957, graduate of Weequahic High School, Newark, he also attended Upsala College, East Orange, and has studied playwriting at the Seven Arts Center, New York City.

Last December, he toured in the cast of "Emil And The Detectives," a children's theater production of the Pocket Players of New York City.

He performed last summer with the cast of a topical humor revue, "The Third Ear," in New York and is co-author of "Look Who's Talking," a book of satire of current affairs published in 1963.

The actor-writer, 25, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Goorwitz of Newark. He is a veteran of the U.S. Army.

Activity Is Uraed For Chiropodists

Chiropodists will be urged to participate in community life in a talk on the topic, "The Doctor and Public Affairs," by Dr. David M. Tapper of Somerville before the Eastern Division of the New Jersey Chiropodists Society Tuesday night. The division will meet in the White Laboratories in Galloping Hill rd., Kenilworth.

Dr. Donald A. Fisher of Roselle will be in charge of the program, and Dr. Ben Markowitz of Newark is division chairman. The division included chiropodists in Essex and Union counties.

The health field, Dr. Tapper advises, offers the chiropodist the widest opportunity to use his talents. He can be useful in such areas as the prevention and control of cancer, diabetes, cerebral palsy or muscular dystrophy.

Marylawn Concert To Be Held March 7

Marylawn of the Oranges will hold its eighth annual benefit concert on March 7 at 4 p.m. in the high school auditorium, 445 Scotland rd., South Orange. Proceeds from the concert will benefit the Building Fund.

Jerome Hines, basso, Metropolitan Opera star, again will head the list of artists scheduled to appear in the concert. His wife Lucia Evangelista Hines will be among the entertainers.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schneider of Maplewood and Mr. and Mrs. Samneu Sosnicky of Newark, general chairmen, prepared the program. Tickets may be obtained at the school or by calling SO 2-9222.

A supper party honoring the artists will be held at Mayfair Farms, following the concert. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Gallagher will serve as chairmen.

Honorary chairmen, planning the concert are Dr. and Mrs. Arthur J. D'Alessandro and coordinator will be Miss Lyn Riker.

Among the committee members assisting the general chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Ritter, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Gizzi, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schoettly, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Flood and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Russomanno, all of Newark; and Dr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Cracz of Irvington.

Montclair Museum Slates 3 Exhibitions

Three new exhibitions will be on view at the Montclair Art Museum during the month of March.

"Traditional Folk Arts of Japan," a display of objects including Sagara dolls, lacquered boxes, wine decanters, women's kimonos, men's work coats, and stenciled-for-dyeing-fabrics will be shown through March 21. Publish Book On News Laws

"Newspaper Publication Laws of New Jersey," the first volume of its kind to be published in 25 years, is being offered by the New Jersey Press Association.

Compiled by Morgan R. Seiffert, New Brunswick lawyer and author of newspaper laws, the 236-page volume provides a fingertip handy reference to all New Jersey Statutes which refer to every phase of printing, publishing, advertising, editing, reporting and all other branches of newspaper activity.

The volume is in loose-leaf form. It is the intent of the New Jersey Press Association to provide subscribers with amendments and new laws enacted during subsequent years.

Fully and completely indexed, the contents are up to date as of January, 1965. The contents include answers to questions pertaining to libel, prohibited publication, privilege, proof of publication, requirements for publication of legal notices, etc.

Most of the statutes are printed in incomplete form, just as they appear in the Revised Statutes of New Jersey. In some instances part of the language not directly concerned with publication has been deleted. Reference for all publication laws are listed in the index.

Final arrangements will be made for the annual husbands' night affair to be held Monday evening, March 15, at the Belmont Hotel.

The now traditional Easter Monday egg rolling on the lawn of the White House was introduced by Dolly Madison, according to New Standard Encyclopedia.

Reddy automatically keeps our system tied together

Everyone knows that violent storms and lightning can sometimes play havoc with electrical facilities. If a pole or a circuit is damaged, your entire neighborhood may go without power. However, to combat such power failures, Public Service has been rebuilding its lines to improve resistance to storms. As one example, automatic switches which isolate trouble are being installed throughout our service area. If necessary, they switch to alternate sources of power.

Just as Reddy ties our wires together, these switches automatically permit you to continue to get power during storm conditions. The use of storm-proof construction is another way Public Service makes certain you have dependable electric service.

REALTOR OF THE WEEK Boyle Company Of Elizabeth Marking 60th Anniversary

The Boyle Company, realtors with offices in Elizabeth and Chatham, is celebrating its 60th year in business. The company was founded by the late Michael W. Boyle and the late William A. Boyle Sr., grandfather and father of its present president, William A. Boyle Jr. The firm was active in the development of South Elizabeth and the Elmore section of Elizabeth together with the Townley section of Union. William A. Boyle Sr. was well known as an appraiser throughout New Jersey. After 50 years in the same location on Julian pl. across from the Central Railroad Station in Elizabeth, the company moved in 1956 to its present quarters, a remodeled colonial-style house, at 355 Jersey ave. In 1963 the Chatham office was established.

The Boyle Company now has more than 40 employees and has departments covering almost every phase of the real estate brokerage, industrial and commercial, management, land and investment departments. Boyle Associates, which is the insurance branch of the company, and Boyle Mortgage Service are wholly owned affiliates. The firm is very active in the Morris County area at the present time, handling such tracts as Cromwell Hills and Bradwahl in Morris Township, Chatham Lane in Chatham Township and Puddingstone Heights in Parsippany-Troy Hills. Other tracts represented by the Boyle Company are Winwood in Berkeley Heights and Cornwall in Westfield.

William A. Boyle Jr. has been an officer in both local and state real estate associations and is a member of the board of managers of St. Elizabeth's Hospital. He resides in Roselle Park with his wife, the former Helen Roelle of Roselle Park, and their two sons.

INCOME TAX REPORTS

IRS Gives Hints On Forms Checks for income tax refunds have already been mailed to many New Jersey taxpayers who filed their Federal income tax returns early in January, according to the District Director of the Internal Revenue Service. Several thousand returns are being returned to taxpayers for correction and completion. Other refunds are being delayed because the returns were improperly prepared or because they had errors in arithmetic. The errors in many of these returns are relatively minor but no returns can be processed by the Internal Revenue's computers unless they are complete in every respect. "Your income tax returns must be properly and legibly identified. Your name, address and social security number should be typed or carefully printed. Dashes should not be used on name or address lines," a spokesman said. "The blocks labeled Filing Status and Exemptions which are directly below the name and address block on the regular income tax form 1040 must be completely filled-out. The information contained in these blocks is essential. It determines the particular tax table to be used in figuring the amount of mathematical check. In addition, "If supplementary schedules are used to report pension, annuity, profit-sharing, partner's share, business or farm income or gains or losses from sales or exchanges or property, they should be securely attached to Form 1040. These supplementary schedules are not tax returns by themselves. They must be filed with a completed Form 1040 and appropriate attachments based on the schedules to the basic income tax form," said the spokesman. Pruning Time For Apples During any mild day from now until blossom time you can prune your apple tree. But wait until the temperature is above freezing for the good of the tree and your own comfort. Why prune a tree, anyway? As Ernest G. Christ, extension fruit specialist says, pruning helps produce attractive, high quality fruit. It invigorates the tree, prevents it from over-bearing, increases fruit size, and helps in the control of insects and diseases. Pruning helps a tree establish its basic framework during its early years.

WEEDER'S DIGEST

By Your Rutgers Garden Reporter Old Ones Especially And what about an older tree? Mr. Christ says that as an apple tree goes into full production, you must prune more so that your tree has all the young, vigorous productive wood it needs. Also, you must prune to keep the tree from growing too big. You can't afford to overlook this one if you're trying to grow a standard-size apple tree on a small property. If you're not sure where to begin, get Mr. Christ's full advice in his new free Rutgers bulletin, "How to Prune Young and Bearing Apple Trees." It's full of diagrams with the parts to be pruned shown in red, so it's hard to go wrong. Ask your county agricultural agent or write to Garden Reporter, College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

FROM TORTILLAS TO COMPOTES

Peace Corps Offers Latin American Culinary Cruise Of Recipes

A Peace Corps culinary cruise of Latin American recipes has been described and noted by the more than 7,000 Americans who have served in 46 countries of Latin America, Asia and Africa, since the Corps' inception in 1961.

Among the specialties of the cruise are Guacamole found in Guatemala. Guacamole is an avocado spread which makes a delectable hors d'oeuvre when used on Tortillas from Costa Rica.

To serve eight persons Guacamole:

- 2 large ripe avocados
- 1 medium-sized onion, grated
- 3 cloves garlic
- 1 heaping tablespoon mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Few drops Worcestershire sauce

Few drops Tobacco sauce

Peel the avocados, remove the seeds and mash. Add lemon juice, mashed garlic cloves, mayonnaise, Worcestershire sauce, tobacco and salt to taste. Mix together all the ingredients and chill.

To serve eight persons Tortillas:

- 2 cups corn meal
- 2 cups boiling water
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 4 tablespoons cooking oil

Mix corn meal and water together, stirring vigorously. Add salt and oil and cook mixture over low flame until well-thickened.

Form small balls of two tablespoons each of the mixture. Flatten the balls with a rolling pin. Then cook the tortillas over a low flame in a frying pan and turn them when they are light brown in color.

For an unusual appetizer, Volunteers in Uruguay recommend meat-filled pastries called Empanadas.

To serve eight persons Empanadas: (Freeze leftovers for another festive night).

Dough:

- 5 cups flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup soft butter

Put flour mixed with paprika and salt on a board and make a well in the center. Put the butter in the well and add enough water to make a fairly stiff dough. Knead it for a few minutes and let it stand while you prepare the filling.

Filling:

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 large onion, finely chopped
- 1 small tomato, finely chopped
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1 pound ground lean meat
- 1 1/2 teaspoon flour
- 1/2 cup beef stock
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/2 teaspoon chili pepper
- 1 hard-boiled egg, chopped
- 1/3 cup seedless raisins

Melt butter in frying pan. Add onions and saute until golden brown. Add paprika, tomato, meat, flour, stock, cumin, chili pepper and salt. Cook over medium heat for five minutes.

Make dough balls the size of an egg and roll them out thin in the form of a circle. In the center of each round place one tablespoon of the filling, a teaspoon of the chopped egg, one-half teaspoon of green olives and a few raisins. Moisten the edges of the rounds and fold over the mixture, pressing firmly. Make a design along the edges as for pastry. This part of the recipe can be prepared ahead of time. When you are ready to serve, merely bake the Empanadas in a hot oven (400 degrees F) for 15 minutes or fry in deep fat and drain on paper.

For the main course, we move on to Bolivia, where Peace Corps volunteers enjoy the creative dish Arroz con Pollo. Spanish in origin, Arroz con Pollo is defined as chicken with rice — with any favorite ingredients that you may wish to add.

To serve eight persons Arroz con Pollo:

- 2 chickens, 4 pounds each, cut into parts
- 6 carrots, cut into cubes
- 6 stalks of celery, cut into cubes
- 3 large onions, cut into small wedges
- 3 cloves garlic, skinned, seeded and cubed
- 2 green peppers, diced
- 1/2 pound large fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 6 hard-boiled eggs, cut into quarters
- 1/2 cup parsley sprigs
- 4 tablespoons capers
- 2 pimientos, cut into thin strips

Place the chicken, carrots, celery, onions, garlic, tomatoes and green peppers into a large pot with enough water to cover. Heat to boiling point and cook until tender (approximately 90 minutes).

During the last half hour, prepare the rice by placing it in a large skillet over a medium flame. Moisten it with cooking oil to prevent sticking, and stir frequently. Add the mushrooms. The rice and mushrooms are finished when they color a warm brown.

After the chicken is done, allow it to cool. Then remove the meat from the bones and dice it into large pieces. Add the chicken, a cup of its stock, the vegetables with which the chicken was cooked, the white wine, the black olives and salt and pepper to the rice and heat over a low flame.

Then transfer the Arroz con Pollo to a serving platter. To garnish, attractively arrange the pimientos, capers, almonds and coconut on the top of the mixture. Form a border around the dish with sprigs of parsley and hard-boiled egg wedges, sprinkled gently with vinegar.

Accompany this main course with a salad of romaine, Boston and endive lettuce with a simple dressing of wine vinegar and olive oil. This arrangement will provide appropriate contrast in taste to the appetite-delight of Arroz con Pollo.

For a cooling finish to our Latin American feast, Peace Corps Volunteers in Jamaica suggest a chilled fresh-fruit compote of bananas, pineapples, strawberries and kumquats marinated in your favorite liqueur and garnished with whipped cream and vanilla wafers.
