OPERATION HEAD START: Four of those involved in Mountainside's own "Head Start" program which will bring 19 underprivileged youngsters from the port area of Elizabeth into borough homes are pictured above. Cynthia Bilder, 14, (left) and Carolyn Berry, also 14, have been working each Saturday morning in the port area with such children. The Rev. Elmer Talcott, pastor of Community Presbyterian Church, is one of the strongest supporters of the project as is Mrs. Joe Juncker, community and social chairman for the church. Mrs. Juncker and her husband will have two of the Elizabeth children living with them this summer.

Operation Head Start Opens Hearts Residents Welcome Underprivileged Youngsters

A warm-hearted program aimed at broadening the horizons of underprivileged youngsters will be carried out this summer in many Mountainside homes. Under the program, 19 children of various ethnic backgrounds who live in the port section of Elizabeth, will live five weeks with borough families.

They will not be considered house guests. Hopefully, the program director, Mrs. Donna Moros says, they will truly be members of the families, subject to family discipline, sharing the pleasures and responsibilities of family living, and (most important of all) the joyful recipients of family love.

For the whole program, an outgrowth of a social outreach community project that has been carried out for the past six months in Greystone Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth, is based on the firm conviction that love can be learned, that only those who love them can open to underprivileged children the doors of opportunity, cultural advancement and social betterment.

Mountainside became involved in the program mainly through nine teenage borough girls who have been working on Saturday mornings in the Greystone Church in remedial sessions for second- and third-grade students in the slum areas of Elizabeth. The girls' work closely with the children, one or two at a time, trying to help them understand their school books. The parlance of books used on their grade levels in the public school is often unintelligible to children who understand only "slum" English or the language of their parents' home country. The girls' job here is to help the children comprehend and, even more important, to become something of a parent figure to the small ones, the majority of whom come from deprived and broken homes.

Through the home visitation the girls see another way of life, a sub-culture to which their suburban backgrounds have never exposed them, yet they have learned to appreciate the people with whom they work, to respect the individual worth of each one.

"They don't look down their noses at anyone," Mrs. Moros says proudly.

Cindy, who brings her guitar to play for the children, is thrilled at the vast potential she sees in the children, she finds them so uninhibitedly creative.

Councilman William McCurley, Cindy's step-father, enlisted first as a Saturday-morning chauffeur, was first appalled at the conditions under which the children live. Now he comes regularly every Saturday to help out and finds the children as enchanting as the teenagers do.

Susan is improving her high school Spanish, particularly in a social and enrichment program held every Sunday afternoon and attended by an average of 35 Spanish-speaking children for pre-school age through the sixth grade.

And Lynn, who went to work after a year of college, has found her life's work. Lynn hasn't missed a Saturday, Mrs. Moros reports, and she has been a "joy" with the children. She will quit her job to work full time this summer at Greystone and in the fall will go to college to major in social work.

"This is two-way — the girls benefit almost as much as the children. They (the children) need so much but they give just as much. "Once you get past the wariness they have with outsiders, once they learn to love and trust you — oh, they're just so lovable, so darling," Mrs. Moros' voice trails off and she shakes her head to indicate that she cannot find the words to express what she means.

KIWANIS TO LEND EDUCATIONAL AID TO NEEDY YOUTH

The Mountainside Kiwanis Club is currently making plans to establish a student loan fund to aid needy students to acquire advanced education. A progress report on the project was presented by the president, Walter Young, at a recent meeting in Mountainside Inn.

Jeff Bohne and Donald Bogasian, both members of the Key Club at Governor Livingston Regional High School, were guests at the meeting.

The club is participating in the planning sessions currently being held on a borough-wide basis for the redevelopment of the borough library, Daniel Blitwise reported.

A film on national parks, "Turn The Wheels West," was shown by John Foster.

NOT ALL OF THE 19 children are yet placed in Mountainside homes but Mrs. Moros is confident that they will be. The whole community is "HEAD START"

$100 Share Plan Is Discarded By Library Officials Committee Will Seek Action From Council To Finance Project

Plans to raise $60,000 on a volunteer basis alone for the construction of a new library in Mountainside have been discarded. The library redevelopment committee will instead ask the Borough Council to take the necessary steps to raise the funds either by a bond issue or taxation.

Gene Simpson, chairman of the library redevelopment committee, stated this week that his committee has decided that it is not feasible to raise that amount on a volunteer basis. He and his co-chairman, Harry Devlin, who is also vice-president of the Library Trustees, will present that finding at the June 15 meeting of the board.

Some weeks ago Simpson announced plans for raising $60,000 for the construction of the library by selling $100 "shares" in the proposed new facility to borough residents. The "shares" were not to be redeemable in cash but "in the future of Mountainside's children," Simpson said at that time.

Simpson indicated that the decision to discard the "share" plan was reached last week at the second borough-wide meeting attended by representatives of various civic organizations. Consensus at the public meeting seemed to favor either a bond issue or general taxation to spread the financial burden among present and future residents.

Those attending last week's session had been informed at a previous meeting of the proposed "share" plan. They were instructed at that time by Simpson and Devlin to carry the information back to their organizations and to return with a report of the members' response to the plan.

The decision to seek another means of fund-raising was based on their reports.

Strong support indicated the strong support within their organizations for a new library. Strong assurances were given that the organizations and their individual members would not only support an official move to erect such a facility but would raise money for additional furnishings and supplies for the proposed building.

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr., who attended the meeting, indicated his firm backing of the project. He also said that he knew of no opposition to the library among the members of the Borough Council.

Next step for the redevelopment committee, Simpson said, is to present its request to the Library Trustees who will then ask the Borough Council to move on the plan.

Simpson said that he is discouraged by the discarding of the volunteer plan and indicated that it should make no appreciable change in the timetable for the construction of the new facility. Although he gave no timetable, several of those attending the meeting reported that there was some possibility of having the ground-breaking this year and completion of the building in 1966.

Simpson said only that Mayor Wilhelms is "cognizant of the problem and anxious to do something about it." He also said that in his opinion things "look very good."

The library is presently housed in the basement of Echobrook School.

Spain Is Top Vote Getter In Light Primary Balloting; Borough Favors Sandman

Only 728 Mountainside Republicans and 64 borough Democrats went to the polls Tuesday to cast their ballots in the primary election. The light vote — less than half of the 1,669 who voted in last year's hotly contested Republican primary and four less than the 68 Democrats who voted last year — was attributed to public lethargy after the long holiday weekend.

Local Republicans choice for the nomination for governor was Charles W. Sandman Jr., who ran as a Regular Republican Against the Sales Tax. Sandman tallied 340 votes here, 10 more than his party-backed opponent Wayne Dumont Jr. Four years ago Dumont collected only 368 votes locally as compared to the 1,183 ballots cast here for the late James P. Mitchell, successful candidate for the GOP gubernatorial nomination that year.

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms, who was unopposed in his bid for the mayoralty nomination on the GOP ticket, collected a total of 579 votes. His running mates, B. Dean Spain and Wilfred H. Brandt, who are seeking seats on the Borough Council, received 591 votes and 563 votes, respectively. Both Spain and Brandt are newcomers to local politics.

Joseph Stypa, Council candidate, led the Democratic ticket with 55 votes. Jules Rose, the other Council aspirant, and William C. Seeds, Democratic mayoralty candidate, received 54 votes each.

The only contest on either ticket on the local level was in District II where incumbent County Committeeman, Hedley Weeks topped Dr. Peter Butler by a count of 123 to 110. Butler, one of six candidates seeking three nominations for Coroner, was top man in that division in the borough, collecting 377 votes, 49 more than Anamaria Cunningham, runner-up on the borough level.

Albert J. Benninger, a Mountainside resident and a longtime political power on the county and state level, collected 521 votes in the borough in his bid to retain his post as male member of the GOP State Committee. Irene T. Griffin captured 373 votes locally, leading her opponent Barbara B. Claman by 101 votes in the borough balloting.

Governor Richard J. Hughes received 58 Democratic votes locally and William J. Clark, who ran as a Labor Vanguard Democrat, only three.

Nicholas S. John, LaCorte, who is currently serving as Borough Attorney in Mountainside, received 584 votes in his bid to retain his seat in the State Assembly on the GOP side.

As a semi-blywoman — Mildred Barry Hughes and William P. Hourihan, both candidates for the Democratic nominations for State Senator, received 47 and 57 votes respectively. State Senator Nelson Stampler, who ran for renomination on the GOP ticket, collected 633 votes and Peter J. McDonough, aspirant for the other GOP nomination for State Senator, 610.

Raymond Moore, Matthew J. Rinaldo and J. Andrew Stemmer, Republican organization candidates, led the GOP candidates for Union County Freeholder seats in the local voting. Leading the Democratic ticket on the Freeholder spot in the borough were Hugh Caldwell, Arthur C. Fried and William J. Ahern Jr.

Will Vacate Offices In Annex Of School

The Mountainside Board of Education announced this week that it plans to vacate its office and the office of the School Superintendent, Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, by the opening of the fall semester to provide space for a school library in Echobrook School and space for special teachers.

The Board of Education office will be used as a school library, according to the announced plan, and Dr. Hanigan's office as the room for special classes. Rented quarters must be obtained for the board's office and the superintendent's office, Dr. Edward Nolan, publicity chairman of the board, stated. The offices are presently located in the annex of Echobrook School.

The plan is aimed at strengthening the educational program at Echobrook School in addition to providing space for the special teachers.

Echobrook School, which has approximately 260 children enrolled in its classes from the kindergarten through the fifth grade, presently has a small library in a portion of a room on the second floor of the main building. The accommodations there were described by Dr. Nolan as inadequate.

Not An Addition
The master plan, released in April by the borough's Planning Board, recommended the vacation of Echobrook School because of its "obsolete functional design," its location along Rt. 22 and its inability to achieve optimum operational size.

The Board of Education subsequently announced that it would be happy to vacate Echobrook, providing adequate new facilities were obtainable. The educational board's statement stressed the facilities must be separate, not an addition to either Deerfield or Beechwood Schools, the other public schools in the borough.

The full text of the board's statement on the planned changes in the present facilities follows:

"The Board of Education is considering a plan to strengthen the educational process at Echobrook School to provide space for special teachers — remedial reading, speech and psychologist — to work with children needing special instruction. The office of the Superintendent of Schools in the Echobrook School annex would be used for this purpose.

"Under this plan, the present office of the Board of Education would be used as a school library room for the Echobrook children. Books relating to the school curriculum would be made available to teachers and children so that independent study and beginning research may be started.

"Because of the lack of available space at any of the other schools — the offices of the Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Education would have to be moved to rented quarters when they can be located."

Highway Stretch Getting New Look

The Mountainside stretch of Rt. 22, currently being resurfaced by the N. J. Highway Department, is undergoing several improvements, improvements which will eventually facilitate the flow of traffic through the borough. Currently, however, traffic is considerably slowed in some areas due to the construction work, a condition that may have been a factor in keeping the borough almost accident-free during the Memorial Day weekend.

The turn-around at Sheffield st. and Mountain ave. is being widened and a barrier curb will be constructed between the westbound lane of Rt. 22 and Mountain ave. at the intersection of Sheffield st. and Mountain ave. According to Borough Engineer Robert Koser, this barrier will provide two streams of traffic feeding gradually into the highway while preventing pedestrians from crossing at that point. No Major Accidents On Holiday Weekend

Holiday traffic over Memorial Day weekend brought only one minor accident to Mountainside. The accident, occurred Saturday at 2:05 a.m. when John F. Walsh of North Plainfield ran into a utility pole on the westbound lane of Rt. 22 near Lawrence ave. Walsh told police he fell asleep while driving.

The complete front end of his car was demolished and it was towed away on police order.

No accidents occurred in the borough, according to Det. Sgt. James Herrick, on Sunday or Monday.

R. A. Bullock of Fords and Stephen J. Ladden of Plainfield were involved in an accident last Thursday in the eastbound lane of Rt. 22, Bullock, who was driving a car owned by Julia Beaudieu of Fords, told police he was driving west in the slow lane and when he attempted to turn at Chapel Circle that Ladden cut him short.

David F. Quinlan of Plainfield and Charles H. Klein of Scotch Plains also were involved in a collision last Thursday. Quinlan's car was towed away from the scene of the accident which occurred on Rt. 22 near the rest area. Quinlan told police he stopped because the car in front of him stopped and that he was hit in the rear by the vehicle driven by Klein. Klein said papers in his car were flying around and he took his eye off the road "for a second" at the time the accident happened.

ECHO PROFILE — Mrs. Walter Klute

During these pleasant spring months, Mrs. Walter Klute of Dogwood way, Mountainside, has been enjoying the fruits of last year's labors — she has been visiting the rhododendron display in Watchung Reservation.

Secretary of the Union County Rhododendron Committee, a branch of the N.J. Rhododendron Society, she is a frequent visitor to the breathlessly beautiful rhododendron gardens in the reservation. The rhododendron gardens have been supported since 1960 by the Union County committee and Mrs. Klute has been serving as secretary of that dedicated group since 1961.

As secretary, in addition to performing the usual duties assigned to that position, she is largely responsible for the mailings that go out in connection with the group's fall rhododendron sale, an annual project that helps the group finance the garden's expansion.

One hundred varieties of the evergreen shrubs were planted the first year, Mrs. Klute reports. Approximately 50 have been added each year and now approximately 300 of the broad-leaved, flowering plants beautify the four-acre tract. Now the largest such display garden in the eastern part of the country, the gardens, which begin blooming in mid-April, draw hundreds of visitors daily. Many of the visitors, Mrs. Klute notes, carry little writing pads to jot down the identification of the plants which are grouped according to their general species.

"That's what we hope for — to have people not only enjoying the beauty but from the gardens learning to classify the plants in their own yards. . . we see it more and more all the time."

Map For Wasch Work Of Pascale

A map submitted last week to the Borough Council by Milton Wasch, owner of a tract of land in the Nottingham way area, was reported in last week's issue as being similar to one submitted to Wasch by Robert Muirhead, spokesman for residents in that area.

Mrs. Muirhead said Tuesday that the map was prepared by Bernard (Bob) Pascale of 1647 Nottingham way, and submitted by her husband to Wasch, Irving Silverlight, attorney for Wasch, attributed the map to Muirhead.

Muirhead and Pascale are two of a score of residents in the Nottingham way area who have been protesting Wasch's original plans which, they claimed, would peninsulaize their street by the construction of a road which would connect with Nottingham way and run directly in the rear of their back yards. Pascale's map, which proved acceptable to the council, is (Continued on Page 4)

Englishman Writes On First Aid Squad

The Springfield First Aid Squad has received a letter from Englishman praising the "splendid voluntary work" of the local emergency workers. The letter was written by A. A. King, of 16 Broad St., St. Albans, England, who was a recent visitor in Springfield.

The text of the letter follows: "While visiting Springfield recently, I was afforded the opportunity of meeting members of your town's First Aid Ambulance Squad and of acquainting myself with the splendid voluntary work being done by the organization.

"As a resident citizen of Trinidad and Tobago in the West Indies, I wish to say how greatly impressed I was with the commendable service offered by the First Aid Squad, which, I was told on enquiring, is available for the benefit of all residents of Springfield.

"As such, the First Aid Squad is an organization of which not only I am proud but also the people of your town. I trust that the squad will continue to receive the necessary support, not only financial but otherwise in the form of increased membership, which it so rightly deserves from the entire community."

Plan 2 Study Groups For AAUW Next Fall

Mrs. Harold Tulchin, new president of AAUW, Mountainside Branch, announced this week that two study groups will be conducted by this organization in the fall. Subjects will be:

Lutheran Church Notes Ordination Of Former Vicar

Redeemer Lutheran Church of Westfield last Sunday shared in the ordination of its former vicar, the Rev. R. John Perling, who served the congregation in 1963-64. The red stole used at Lutheran ordinations was presented to the candidate for the ministry by the Altar Guild of Redeemer Church and used in the rite for the first time last Sunday as the symbol of the yoke of Christ and the office of the pastor. The stole was the workmanship of Altar Guild members.

The 1965 graduate of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, was ordained at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Hazlewood, Mo. The local Lutheran congregation included prayers in both morning services in recognition of the ordination of its former co-worker and for the success of Pastor and Mrs. Perling.

The newly-ordained pastor has accepted the call as missionary-at-large of the Southern California District to serve the double parish at 29 Palms and Yucca Valley, Cal. The two communities are located about 25 miles from Palm Springs and about 100 miles east of Los Angeles.

Bucknell Degree To Borough Girl

Miss Patricia McGovern of Mountainside is among the approximately 450 seniors scheduled to receive degrees Sunday at the 115th annual commencement exercises at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

Miss McGovern, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. McGovern of 1494 Fox trail, is a candidate for a bachelor of science degree.

A graduate of Governor Livingston Regional High School, she has been on the dean's list throughout her college career and was recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity. She is also a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, national scholastic sorority for freshman women, and Phi Sigma, national biological fraternity. She has served as head resident in one of the women's residence halls during the past year and as president of Theta Kappa Chi Sorority.

Mrs. Raymond Herrgott, Mrs. Robert Ruff, Mrs. J. N. Foster and Mrs. Leon Spitz were winners at the May meeting of the Mountainside Women's Duplicate Bridge group. The ladies met at the Elks Lodge in Mountainside.

Students Receive Certificates For Thrifty Records

Twenty-one eighth-grade students from Central Union County schools were honored last week for their exceptional thrift records in the school's savings program conducted by Westfield Federal Savings and Loan Association.

In a special ceremony at the institution's main office in Westfield, twelve youngsters from Garwood, six from Mountainside and three from Scotch Plains, received merit certificates for eight years of continuous thrift through grammar school. In addition, each one was given an American College Dictionary.

The ceremony was conducted by H. Kenneth Mathis, vice-president of Westfield Federal, who, in congratulating the children and their parents, said a successful school thrift education program requires the combined cooperation of the parents, the school and the savings institution.

He said "Thrift is not 'penny-pinchin', but the wise use of money...the apportionment of one's income among the three S's—Saving, Security, and Sharing—which leads to good citizenship, security, freedom from want and pride of ownership."

The awards were presented to the Mountainside children by Mrs. Elaine Weibel, a teacher in the Mountainside system, and Mrs. Helen B. Hicks, director of school savings at Westfield Federal.

Westfield Federal has been sponsoring school savings in Central Union County since 1954.

Services On Radio

Westfield's Redeemer Lutheran Church has arranged for the broadcast of its services over station WERA of Plainfield, 1590, during the month of June, according to the Rev. Walter A. Reuning, pastor.

The 11 a. m. service will be broadcast. The 8:30 a. m. service will be held as usual without broadcast.

Operation Head Start Opens Hearts
Residents Welcome Underprivileged Youngsters

(Continued from Page 1) helping. People of all faiths have offered to take the children. The P. T. A. has been trying to help find additional homes. Others, who for various reasons cannot participate that fully, have made donations of clothes and money. The clothes will be used for the small guests and their companions in their home area. The money, for the most part, will go to pay the tuition for summer school classes. For all of the children have been registered for Mountainside's Summer School and most of them will be taking the enrichment courses.

MISS SUSANNE BENZ

MISS DONNA DOLBIER

Where possible, the children have been placed in homes where there are children of their own age and sex, "so they'll have a buddy," Mrs. Moros explains.

Their visits will coincide with the operation of the Summer School which opens on June 28. The small visitors will spend the weekdays in Mountainside, many of them will go back to their own homes for the weekends but only if that fits in with the plans of the host family.

More homes are needed for the children who range in age from pre-school through the sixth grade. More clothing is needed, "for any size child," Mrs. Moros says with unconscious pathos.

And more love and generosity can help them develop the proper social attitudes, only warm-hearted sincerity and spiritual awareness can help them rise above their pockets of poverty and release their vast creative potential, she insists.

SLATE INSTALLED BY SISTERHOOD OF AREA TEMPLE

New officers of the Sisterhood of Temple Emanu-El were installed at a candlelight ceremony held recently in the Westfield temple.

Rabbi Bernard Honan, spiritual leader, conducted the installation service for the following officers: president, Mrs. Arthur Sommerfield; vice-presidents, Mrs. Bernie Heller, Mrs. Charles Azen and Mrs. Alex Gold; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Duatman; financial secretary, Mrs. Irving Kuntz; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Louis Kessler; recording secretary, Mrs. Sidney Koorse.

Also: chaplain, Mrs. I. A. Kalish; auditor, Mrs. Irving Sedwin; three year trustee, Mrs. Francis Lehr; two year trustee, Mrs. Samuel Lerman; one year trustees, Mrs. Warren Victor, Mrs. Seymour Kreuger and Mrs. Sidney Spector.

Two To Receive Lasell Diplomas

Two Mountainside residents, Miss Susanne M. Benz and Miss Donna Dolbier, will be awarded the Associate in Science degree at commencement exercises scheduled Sunday at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale, Mass.

Miss Benz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benz of 328 Old Tote rd. and Miss Dolbier the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dolbier of 1627 Larkspur dr. Both are enrolled in the executive secretarial curriculum at Lasell and both are 1963 graduates of Governor Livingston Regional High School.

Two Receive Awards For Sports At Pingry

Two Mountainside residents were among the students at Pingry School, Hillside, who received athletic awards at a recent presentation ceremony held at the school.

Orlin Johnson of 1031 Sunny Slope dr. received an award for junior varsity baseball; Arthur Kurz of 10: High Point dr. was given an award for varsity lacrosse.

Birthday Surprise

will be held June 12 in Community Presbyterian Church. The younger Elizabeth children will be brought for overnight visits early this month to help ease them into their new situation and to help their summer sponsors to understand their needs.

And, hopefully, Mrs. Moros says, near the end of June, all 19 of them will come for their five-week stay.

"That is if we find homes for them all," she adds wistfully "I'd hate to disappoint any of them."

BOROUGH RESIDENTS who are interested in helping to avert such disappointments are urged to leave a message at Community Presbyterian Church, where Mrs. Moros serves as director of Christian Education, or to call the Rev. Elmer Talcott, pastor of the Community Presbyterian Church, or Rev. Francis Carden, assistant pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

These already signed-up temporary parents are: Mr. and Mrs. Robert LeFrank Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Moriarty, the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Brackbill, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Juncker, Dr. and Mrs. Lee Hanigan, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Biosi. The Junckers are taking two guests.

The pastor of Community Presbyterian, who points out that many Mountainside families were once members of the Greystone Church, and that the organizing minister of Community Presbyterian was once pastor of Greystone, reminds parents that their own children will benefit from the summer program.

"We are not concerned alone with the enrichment of the children who will be our guests but equally grateful for the opportunity of enrichment for our own children who will be introduced to aspects of a different culture and minds that are fertile in imagination.

Most of these children, though young, are bi-lingual, a cultural achievement that few of our own children can boast," he adds.

Elizabethtown Sees Little Likelihood Of Water Restrictions

The president of the Elizabethtown Water Company, which serves this community, has assured residents that there is little likelihood of the imposition of restrictions on water usage this summer.

In a letter to mayors of communities served by his firm, Robert W. Kean Jr. said that there are no restrictions at present, nor does the company believe any will be required this summer. "Water supplies for your community appear to be completely adequate to meet all demands this summer and in the future," Kean wrote in the letter.

Kean said his letter had been prompted by the publicity surrounding the shortages of water in other metropolitan areas in the state and in the company services Union, Kenilworth, the Roselles, Linden and Mountainside.

Explaining why Elizabethtown "seems to be the only oasis in the midst of an area plagued with shortages," Kean said that Elizabethtown obtains its water from the Raritan and Delaware Rivers, augmented by wells. The rivers supply ample amounts of water for eight months of the year. During the summer months, when the rivers run somewhat lower, the company obtains additional supplies from the Round Valley-Spruce Run reservoir system. Spruce Run, Kean noted, is already at 100 per cent of capacity.

Stating that Elizabethtown

has planned ahead to meet water needs, Kean said the utility "should be able to continue delivering water to our customers without any difficulty. We also anticipate being able to help other water systems which may face shortages this summer."

The future outlook is good, according to Kean's report. He said the state's recent decision to release all of the water from the Round Valley-Spruce Run complex into the Raritan River means that "our water supplies will be ample for many years to come." At the same time, he added, the company will continue to expand its filtration and transmission capabilities to meet future demands. "This year," he said, "we are spending more than $3 million on additions. Plans are already on the drawing boards for our 1966 construction program."

Kean also disclosed that Elizabethtown has been meeting with officials from Newark and Elizabeth and state water agencies to discuss possible solutions to water shortage problems in those communities.

Dessert Planning

The Woman's Mission Society of the First Baptist Church of Westfield will meet June 10 at 1 p. m. at the church for a dessert planning meeting. The theme of the program will be "Give Us This Day," and plans will be made for the 1965-66 circle meetings. Mrs. Lewis Hampton, new president, will preside. Dessert will be served by the circle leaders.

ECHO PROFILE

rhododendron sale. Although the peak bloom is usually reached in late May.

More people are beginning to make memorial gifts to the rhododendron gardens, Mrs. Klute says. A memorial gift particularly appropriate, she points out, since many of the shrubs will live over 100 years and many others close to 200 years. It is a beautiful thought, she feels, — every spring for all those years the memorial flower will bloom bringing pleasure to the living.

The planting and maintenance are carried out by the Union County Park Commission but the Rhododendron Committee, which has about a dozen active members, supplies the plants and decides the arrangements. The gardens are open to the public at all times and without charge.

MRS. KLUTE ACQUIRED HER INTEREST IN RHODODENDRONS THROUGH HER HUSBAND, AN ENGINEER WITH BELL LABORATORIES IN MURRAY HILL.

"He's the expert," she says, pointing to the beautiful specimens in their own yard which her husband planted and tends. "He'd like to put more in, but we couldn't without taking down some of the trees — and that I couldn't do."

A quiet, soft-spoken woman, Mrs. Klute confesses that she is something of a non-joiner. Only when something seems very important to her does she allow herself to become involved in organizational activity. But she is very civic-minded.

A bookish person who treasures her privacy, she serves as a volunteer two mornings a week in the Mountainside Library, a chore she has been doing since she, her husband and their only son, Stephen, moved to Mountainside from Westfield in 1931.

When Stephen, now preparing for graduation from Union Junior College, was about six years old, she became deeply involved in the P. T. A.-sponsored Safety Committee in Westfield. She headed the group for assistance since moving to Mountainside. She helped write Westfield's bicycle ordinance which established license and rules for bicycle traffic. That ordinance, still in effect in Westfield, has been used as a model by other communities.

The Klutes usually spend their summers in North Carolina. Some years ago, with an eye on the distant retirement days, they purchased the site, a peninsula whose three shorelines offer a variety of water sports. Although the location intrigued them, the Klutes' main reason for purchasing the land was because of its mild winters, a condition which their careful weather study of different areas verified. However, she says laughingly, since they purchased the land the weather conditions have changed — last winter in their North Carolina location was more severe than in Mountainside. All of which, she says with a rueful laugh, proves that nothing is certain.

But rough winters or not, they still enjoy their summers in North Carolina although this year they expect to stay closer to home, spending some time at the New Jersey shore and some in Long Island with relatives.

"And," she says very definitely as though impressing the thought in her own mind, "and lots of time around here — getting some work done."

And in August she will begin her mailings for the annual

On Tuesday, awards will be presented to outstanding lodges, councils and members for achievements during the preceding year. Special action also will be taken on resolutions covering such subjects as civil rights, integration, anti-Semitism in Russia and the Israel-Arab problem.

Exhibit Outlines Nursery School

A display of materials and equipment used at the Christoper Academy, a Montessori method nursery in Westfield, is on display in the windows of the Westfield office of Barrett and Crain Inc., Mountainside. Westfield realtors.

Charcoal sketches of the children at work with their unusual materials are included in the display. Also in the exhibit are housekeeping tools, colorful geometric shapes, beads, sandpaper letters and numerals and many other objects used in teaching science, mathematics and art.

Other articles include frames with zippers, buttons, shoelaces, snap fasteners, hooks and eyes, shoe polish and polishing cloths, all used to help the small fry become self-sufficient.

The American Montessori Society explains that its education method is aimed at introducing children at an early age to the joy of learning. It provides a framework in which intellectual and social discipline will go hand in hand.

Several watercolors, executed by Mrs. Leslyn Ash, are also displayed. The exhibit was arranged by Mrs. Hazel Ward.

Silverlight presented a map, based on Pascale's proposal, to the Borough Council last Tuesday, saying it was acceptable to his client. The Council recommended the subdivision application to the Planning Board to whom Wasch's application was originally submitted last January.

The Council indicated that it would request the Planning Board to schedule a special session to reconsider the revised application.

Mrs. Zweiger, president of the Consumers League of New Jersey, will speak on "The Expanded Program for Services to New Jersey Migrants Under the Anti-Poverty Program." The National Consumers League made its first study of migrants in 1935 and was instrumental in the passage of the Migrant Labor Act in 1943. Mrs. Zweiger has published studies on the migrant labor problem, is a former migrant chairman for the United Church Women of New Jersey.

Miss Carolyn Wyatt of Westfield has been selected by the United Church Women and the Westfield Council of Churches to serve in the migrant worker program. A fund has been established with an immediate goal of $500, to pay for the services of Miss Wyatt and another young woman, both of whom will be assigned to a migrant labor camp.

Contributions to the fund may be mailed to Mrs. Earl J. Belcher of Westfield, treasurer of the United Church Women, or Herbert R. Welch of Westfield, treasurer of the Westfield Council of Churches. Checks should be made out to either of the treasurers with the words "Migrant Fund" written in the lower left corner of the check.

Blind Father Of Two Gets Rutgers Degree

Blinded in an accident that had him near death five years ago, Walter G. Jacobs, husband, father-of-three and cabinet maker, before long will become degree holder and graduate student research assistant at Rutgers University.

Jacobs, 26, will receive a bachelor of science degree in ceramics at the State University's 199th anniversary commencement Wednesday. Later this summer, he'll begin studies on the graduate level.

Jacobs attained the college diploma using study techniques quite different from those of fellow students. While his sighted classmates took notes — or doodled — Jacobs used a portable tape recorder to catch the lecturer's words. At home, he'd edit the tapes and put the condensed version of the lecture on storage tape.

"The editing can be difficult," said Jacobs in an interview at his table in the ceramics laboratory of the College of Engineering. "A 75-minute lecture usually can be trimmed to 50 minutes, which isn't much of a reduction. Some lectures are so 'meaty' that there's virtually no excess."

Two evenings before an examination, Jacobs sits down, plays the edited recordings and types the highlights. The morning before the exam, his wife, Judy, reads the notes to him.

That the system works is evidenced by Jacobs' record in the spring semester of his junior year. That term he carried 20 credits, a heavy work load, and achieved a grade average of 1.4. At Rutgers, 1.0 is a perfect mark.

He was named to the Dean's List for outstanding academic achievement.

A graduate of both Woodbridge High School and Rutgers Prep, Jacobs holds the New Jersey Ceramics Society Leroy Allison Memorial Scholarship and is vice president of the Ceramics Club and a member of the ceramics engineering honorary society.

The path which leads from an explosion-wrecked laboratory in Colorado to a diploma line in Rutgers Stadium began on Sept. 20, 1960. Jacobs, then a student at Denver University, was working part-time in the laboratory of a small industrial firm.

He was alone in the laboratory when chemicals on the shelf in front of him exploded. The blast filled the air with flying glass and metal. "They told me afterward that the laboratory's walls were pock-marked with fragments, except for a 'shadow' where I had been standing," Jacobs recalled.

Fortunately, there was another man in the building who heard the explosion and quickly phoned for help.

"I must have been a pretty sight. They later treated him for shock."

An ambulance rushed Jacobs to Denver General Hospital in 13 minutes — it is normally a half hour's drive — and 12 minutes after arrival, he was on the operating table. For the next six and a half hours, 18 doctors worked shifts in the operating room, fighting to save his life.

"I woke up three days later, blind and filled with glass fragments, but alive," Jacobs remembers. "They did a great job. That is, all except one who had filled out a DOA (dead on arrival) tag for me."

At the time of the accident, the Jacobs had been married about seven months and Judy was expecting their first child. When he was able to leave the hospital, they came East to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Jacobs of (125 Minna Ave.) Avenel, and began rebuilding.

Today, Jacobs has completed three years of intensive study at Rutgers and is looking forward to work as a graduate in thin film applications, an area he has been working in as an undergraduate.

Jeanne, who was expected when the accident occurred, is a bright four-year-old with two sisters, Jannet, 2, and Janice, 8 months.

Jacobs' philosophy of child-rearing is based on love and discipline.

"I try to be firm and consistent. I feel that discipline breeds respect and respect breeds love," he explained.

Not busy enough as father and student, Jacobs, who is blessed with an exceptional sense of spatial relations and experienced in working with tools, does cabinet making as an added source of income and has built a one-room structure for studying adjacent to the family quarters in the married students' housing area on Rutgers' University Heights campus.

Jacobs has hope for sight. He has light perception in one eye and there is the possibility of regaining some vision. He'll undergo a laser beam operation this summer and then face a second operation possibly in another year or two.

His accident has made him far more safety conscious than the average undergraduate.

Around the lab, I'm a bug on the subject. I know how important it can be. Before the accident, I had ordered safety glasses, which would have protected my eyes. I was supposed to pick up the glasses on a Friday. The accident happened the Tuesday before."

TOGETHERNESS — Walter G. Jacobs and his wife Judy show some of his study techniques and two of his incentive-givers in their University Heights kitchen. Jacob, who will graduate from Rutgers Wednesday, lost his sight in a laboratory accident in Denver five years ago. He uses tape recordings and typewriter (and wife) while preparing for examinations. The Jacobs' children are Jannet, 2, on mother's lap and smiling Jeanne, 4. A third daughter, Janice, 8 months, is out of camera range.

On Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, all children and adults will pay a 40-cent fee.

During the season, free instruction in swimming and Red Cross Life-Saving classes are offered at both pools. In addition, AAU championships, and various exhibitions have been scheduled, the commission added.

For That 'Inexpensive' Vacation Try A Safari To Mozambique

You don't have to be a millionaire to go on a safari for big game in Africa nowadays. That's the considered opinion of J. J. Mascuch, inventor of the Maschuch-Millburn, who has shot all the African big five - elephant, rhinoceros, lion, Cape water buffalo and leopard - on several safaris in Kenya, Tanganyika and Portuguese East Africa.

end of my safaris in Nairobi or Mozambique that chaps who spent a lot less than I did had just as fine trophies, although not in such great quantity. So, by inquiring around I found that any fellow with a reasonably good income can have at least one big game safari during his lifetime," he said.

SAFARI SUCCESS - J.J. Mascuch of Millburn, who is president of Breeze Corporations, Inc., Union, checks over big game he caught on a recent African safari. The inventor-sportsman claims that the cost of a safari is now within the reach of many people.

TO THIS must be added the cost of guns, clothing, photographic equipment, medical equipment, liquor, tobacco, and soft drinks.

"The reason it costs more in Kenya and Tanganyika is that these English-speaking countries primarily are interested in conserving their game," Mascuch said. "Consequently demand for safaris is brisk, and these governments are under little pressure to cut license fees. Also the safari companies who keep the pro-

Utility Services Study Report Published

A comprehensive study of utility services in New Jersey has been completed by the Division of State and Regional Planning of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

The 82-page report contains an analysis of water distribution, sewerage systems, gas, electric and telephone service and underground utilities as well as a section of the aesthetic ramifications of utilities. The study describes the basic problems of providing utility services as they relate to State-wide development. An inventory of the types and extent of utility services found in the State is shown on the 15 maps contained in the report.

The study concludes that in general, electric, gas and telephone utility services have been developed and will be able to keep pace with the state's growth. The study notes, however, that sewerage systems are becoming a serious problem because of rapid development occurring in areas without adequate facilities for sewage treatment. It calls for improvements in the distribution of water in certain parts of the state.

The report recommends that intermunicipal cooperation is the best method of resolving problems of utility services since it is becoming virtually impossible for the local municipality to solve many types of utility problems alone. Through intermunicipal cooperation, as well as state and county technical and financial assistance, the utility service problems of the future can be solved.

The study is a part of the New Jersey Statewide Planning Program, the object of which is the formulation of a statewide development plan. Copies of this report are available at a charge of $2. They may be obtained by contacting the New Jersey Division of State and Regional Planning, Post Office Box 1978, Trenton.

Commentary on a recent National Editorial Association Study Mission Around South America

PERU'S VIEWS

Cuzco may be a headache — but it never was a bore. The town of Cuzco in the Peruvian Andes, is 11,200 feet high, and that elevation will give a headache, of one sort or another, and of one duration or another, to almost every tourist in the world.

But it is worth it. Cuzco and its accompanying trip to the Inca ruins of Machu Picchu, is both spectacularly beautiful and fascinatingly peculiar. It is a trip which includes some of the most unusual transportation ever devised for one short period, and some of the most lavish scenery ever packed into one short day.

We began the Cuzco journey from Lima, Peru. But we flew from Santiago, Chile, to Lima in the first place, and it was a three-hour night jet flight which was beautiful in itself. Both Santiago and Lima were handsome sights at night from the air, but there was nothing unusual about the flight. The next morning, however, when we left the same airport for Cuzco, there was definitely something unusual.

IT IS A TWO-HOUR flight on a DC-4 from Lima to Cuzco, and while it began sanely enough and we were offered the usual breakfast — one-half hour later the breakfast was snatched from us and we were offered instead, umbilical cords with tiporillo ends, to chew on for the remaining hour and a half.

Actually, of course, it was a case of oxygen tubes, plugged into the walls of the plane with wooden-tipped ends, (not masks) which you either placed in your mouth, nostril, or held directly in front of your nose to breathe the oxygen in order to stay healthy. We were flying over the Andes at 25,000 feet or more in a plane without pressure, and at 25,000 feet or more, you either have a pressurized plane — or you breathe oxygen out of a tube — or, you quietly pass out. There is no other choice.

So there we were, tied to the plane by a tube for an hour and a half, and it was an experience. I tried not using the tube, and it too was an experience. Yes it was. Things just didn't seem right. There is no explaining the feeling, except it was uncomfortable and alarming, so before the experience became too drastic, I went back to the tube, in a hurry.

That was the first strange ride. Cuzco, even at 11,200 feet, is surrounded by mountains rising above it, and in order to go to Machu Picchu, the Inca ruins some 68 miles away, you must get over those. Which brought on the second unusual ride. It was a train. Only it wasn't a train. It was a bus. Only it wasn't a bus. It was a carril. A WHAT? A bus on railroad tracks, naturally! Don't all tracks have buses and don't all buses have tracks? The Peruvians face things squarely and call it a carril — car-rail — sometimes also an auto-rail — and let it go at that. Of the vintage of circa 1930, the cars seat about 50 and run on diesel fuel. Generally three are in a row for the trip.

Strange as this vehicle was, it further surprised us with its behavior. In order to get over the aforementioned mountains, the car-rail did four lengthy switch-backs in which we went forward and backward both. When we left the Cuzco station we went forward of course, but about five miles later, we went backward for five miles; then forward, then backward, then forward. Each time was a distance of four to six miles and at a higher level until we were finally over the ridge.

To top it all, the number of the car in which our participating National Editorial Association Study Mission members were seated, was "54." The further we went into the depths of the Andes, the more we felt empathy with "Car 54. Where Are You?" Yes, WHERE???

BUT THE SCENERY was fantastic. In the U. S. we have a magnificent rock in Yosemite National Park called "El Capitan" which we make much of, but here in the Andes, there were hundreds of El Capitan's. We were literally saturated with scenery. The Andes are so high that clouds are almost always playing among the peaks and on the day we went to Machu Picchu it was also rainy, so our viewing was hampered, but it was beautiful just the same.

It is a three-hour car-rail trip to Machu Picchu from Cuzco through the wilds of Peru and during it, a white-clad boy came around with candy bars, Nestle included, and then cheese and Coke. Car 54 were you in the U. S. or Peru?

At any rate, once we were over the ridge at Cuzco, we dropped down gradually to a valley which is, by legend, a mysterious and sacred Inca valley, but which is, by viewing, a lush and tropical valley. Further on, the mountains crept closer and we followed the path of the raging, muddy Urubamba River and we were to longer in the tropical wonderland. We were, instead, in an awesome, wild, mountainous wonderland. We passed only occasionally, little huts with thatched roofs, and about three "railroad stations." These structures seemed to be white-washed concrete, or perhaps adobe, and appeared to be homes as well. Perhaps some dozen small huts were almost always clustered near-by. There were no real-looking villages, though, or towns or cities; no billboards, no highways, no nothing. Car 54 where WERE you?

work that it does. Some of the way and it is called Huayna Picchu (young peak). Except for wild vegetation, there seems to be nothing on Huayna Picchu but clouds. Ah! But when the clouds roll away, there at its summit and almost on its very peak, are terraces where the Incas grew corn and other products! Why in such an inaccessible, remote place, we wondered? After all, there were more than 40 terrace levels on the slopes of Machu Picchu where everyone lived, which were handier to say the least.

Our guide said the reason was that the Incas, besides being sun worshippers, lacked fertilizing know-how, and believed the sun would bring good crops. So the closer to the sun the better. But one man in our group had his own theory. "That was Siberia," he said. "That's where the bad boys were sent."

AS FOR THE HISTORY of Machu Picchu, briefly it is believed that the Incas began occupying it about 500 years ago and that it was a city of about 1,000 with an added 4,000 workers at times, and was a fortress. Inca history is obscure or legendary, since they had no written language, so the facts are not on record, but from the structures left at Machu Picchu, it appears that the city was self-sustaining with food from the terraces, and water from "the Aqueduct," an extraordinary work of human ingenuity to carry and distribute water at such heights. It also contained blocks are larger than a man and fit so perfectly, and without any type of mortar, that a knife blade cannot be inserted between them.

Looking from the heights of Machu Picchu (old peak) at about 8,000 feet, there is an even higher peak directly across the such marvels as the fountain, the Palace of the Inca, the Military Tower, the Sacred Plaza, The Temple, the Three Windows, and the amazing accurate Incahuatana or Sundial.

The city was reached in those days by a wide stone road winding through the "heights", with remarkably engineered, large hanging bridges over each abyss, some of which still remain today. Being so extremely inaccessible (particularly from the lower section from the Urubamba Canyon, where we had come from with the help of modern equipment) and hidden in the dense Andean vegetation, Machu Picchu became the refuge of the last Incas when they fled from the Spaniards. Pizarro, as he conquered and claimed the Inca, Capital of Cuzco in 1534.

And he never found Machu Picchu. No one ever found Machu Picchu—until 1911.

Yet someone had ceased to exist. No one knows why either, even today. For 400 years it lay empty and hidden in the savage and desolate summit of the almost unapproachable mountain, and then in 1911 an American archeologist, Hiram Bingham, discovered and explored "the lost city." Today tourists can go to it with "comparative" ease, and see the remains of the structures, and be ON the majestic mountain that is Machu Picchu—and that is slightly remarkable when you remember its history and location. (But then, there is Car 54.)

AT LEAST AFTER three hours we were at Machu Picchu. The car-rail reached a bigger hut by the raging river in the wilderness, and it was our terminal "railroad station." "Now," the guide said, "we must go five miles more to get to Machu Picchu and for that we take a car."

Good news for the man who's over 40 and concerned about his health

When you're over 40 you begin to realize that good health may not always be yours. If you're wise you make the necessary adjustments—you enjoy life, but you don't overtax yourself.

Life insurance suddenly becomes more important, too. You want to make sure that all the gaps are plugged, now.

But uncertain health could make life insurance difficult to buy—more costly. Who can help you? I think Manufacturers Life probably can. We believe life insurance should be available to as wide a group of people as possible—including people with coronaries, high blood pressure, or ulcers, for example—at lowest possible cost. In fact, our company was the first to offer life insurance to men and women with diabetes.

If you are under 80 and worried about your life insurance because you are worried about your health, give me a call. I'll review your present insurance and show you how Manufacturers Life may be able to plug any gaps there are in it—without placing you under any obligation.

Park Pool Filled From Own Wells

To relieve the minds of concerned citizens, Harold Scott, manager of the swimming pool at Olympic Park, has announced that the four million gallons of water that fill the pool do not come from public sources but from deep artesian wells drilled on the Irvington-Maplewood amusement park property 40 years ago.

A new, free circus will start at the park on Monday, succeeding the show which is currently featuring the Aerial Winters trapeze troupe. Jeanine Pivoteau, French aerialist, heads the new bill which will include Pete Ivanov and Co., comedy gymnasts, and Allen's three Alaskan bruin bears.

Jack Bilby is again broadcasting his radio "Summer Showcase" on Friday evenings in the Olympic Park Music Grove. On Mondays, all rides are half price, Scott said.

DRIVERS CAN ESCAPE
Drivers and passengers can escape from an automobile that has plunged into deep water, according to the Motor Club of America's safety director. Most autos will float for three to ten minutes before total submer-sion.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

My husband not long ago suffered a serious illness. Now that he is recuperating, his doctor said that he could live to a ripe old age if he stops smoking and watches his diet.

I am very careful at home to prepare for him only what he is allowed to eat. But what good is it when he goes out to eat, he orders what he shouldn't. Also, he continues to smoke like a chimney.

I am beside myself as I love him so much, but he just won't listen.

A Loving Wife

Dear Wife:
Your husband is a big boy now. If he wants to indulge himself in those things that are harmful to him, there is nothing you can do about it. Some people have to learn the hard way... and he's one of them. Don't nag him. Just hope for the best.

Dear Amy:

I'm 14 and a freshman in high school. My problem is with my mother and my best friend. Mom doesn't like Carmen (not her real name) nor has she ever given me a reason why.

Carmen is a sweet girl. She will listen to me and I trust her to the point that I confide in her about everything. Her father and mother do not come from the background my parents come from, but they are real nice people.

Carmen is allowed to date a little but I don't demand that of my parents. I really like her but my mother says she will never encourage my friendship with Carmen.

How can I make my mother understand that I like Carmen?

and would like her to always be my best friend?
J. S.

Dear J. S.:

You cannot make mother understand anything she does not care to... so don't push the issue.

You should be permitted to make friends of your own choosing so long as they are decent, respectable young people. For parents to veto a friendship because of THEIR concept of standards seems rather snobbish and overbearing to me.

PERSONAL TO MIXED UP: Intimacy, not sanctified by a marriage license, is WRONG no matter what a boy tells you. A girl who gets needs a mother. Please tell your father so.

PERSONAL TO SELF-CONSCIOUS: What someone else may suggest to alleviate excessive perspiration may not help you. Since you have tried everything except a doctor, I suggest you do.

Dear Curious:
I heard that your birthday is on May 30th and that you will be 30 years old. Is that true? Just sign me...

OUR DEADLINE
Is noon Friday for organization, club, social, church news.

WEEDER'S DIGEST

GARDEN REPORTER BY YOUR RUTGERS

SPRUCE TREES DRYING OUT

If you have a spruce tree that's dead or dying, you're not alone.

Rutgers specialists have been looking at such trees in many parts of the state, and finding no disease or insect to blame for the decline.

In some areas pines and hemlocks are also hard hit.

Insufficient moisture is the cause. Unless you keep weather records, you may not realize how dry it's been since 1960.

But record keeping is part of the job of Dr. Lawrence Ranieri, U.S. Weather Bureau meteorologist stationed at the Rutgers College of Agriculture.

He says figures from a weather station at the Canoe Brook Country Club in Essex County are typical.

They show moisture was 2.2 inches below normal in 1960, 5.3 below in 1961; 5 inches in 1962; 11.8 inches in 1963, and 9.1 below last year.

Dismal Prospect

So far this year, January, March and April were moisture-deficient.

Not a pleasant picture, especially if you're trying to make things grow in a community that has no water to spare to keep plants alive.

The months ahead could be dry ones, too, so you may want to plan now to try to save prized specimens. Rutgers specialists have advised that you can use waste rinse water from the "kitchen-or-laundry" to save plants.

By the way, a taxus, boxwood or holly that seems to be in trouble may not be. It's normal for these to drop their old leaves at this season.

REALTOR OF THE WEEK

Joseph Carr Believes In Planning; Plans To Meet Area's Growing Needs

Joseph J. Carr believes in planning. He is chairman of the planning board in his hometown of North Plainfield. He has worked with several of New Jersey's leading builders in the planning of Union County home communities. Some years ago Carr and his partner, James A. Brown, established a real estate office in Scotch Plains to service the expanding western Union County area.

Now careful planning is responsible for the new Carr & Brown office in rural Liberty Corner in Basking Ridge near the intersection of two interstate highways currently under construction, Routes 78 and 287. In fact, the office is only minutes away from two interchanges of these highways.

"We're planning to meet the growing needs of Somerset County," Carr explained. "The advent of the new road system will undoubtedly bring about a development of this area comparable to the growth of Monmouth and Ocean Counties as a result of the Garden State Parkway."

"Not that we expect this growth to parallel that of other areas of the state; certainly not the type of high density growth of some communities — zoning of three acres is not uncommon here," he added, "but growth is bound to occur". For example, a shopping center is planned for a tract across the street from the Carr & Brown office — the first commercial development of any consequence for Liberty Corner in 250 years. "These are only the early stages. We look for tremendous activity within two or three years. We're taking the same approach a developer would take; we want to be here when the people come." The Carr & Brown office is staffed with three full-time salespeople. Joseph Carr was born in Newark, graduating from West Side High School in 1940. He attended Newark State Teachers College before entering the service and served with the combat engineers in the Pacific theatre of operations. After the war he was engaged in personal work and attended Rutgers University, receiving a B.S. degree.

Moving to North Plainfield in 1950, Carr bought a home from Walter Koster, Mountaineer realtor. Not only did Koster sell him a home but a new career as well. Carr soon found himself working for the realtor as a salesman. The firm of Carr & Brown was established in 1954.

Carr is a member of the Plainfield Board of Realtors and received that organization's Community Service Award in 1964. He is also a member of the Society of Residential Appraisers, the Somerset County Officials Association and the Elks. Sports are Carr's hobby and he coaches a Pony League baseball team. He resides in North Plainfield with his wife and two sons. Joe Carr's plans for the boys are not definite but for the moment he is concentrating on making his 17-year-old a good southpaw pitcher.

Sammy Smith, looking like a lecherous Cordell Hull inhabits the play with an atmosphere of the hey-day of burlesque. Even his shuffle is salacious. Daniel Ocko is Lyman, the procurer, and he joins Pseudolus, Hysterium and Senex in the show-stopper "Everybody Ought to Have a Maid!"

Mr. Guilford has also directed this mad plot and has quoted extensively from the original production by George Abbott. With such a start he has boned it down to immaculate facts and moves his dozen and a half characters around a confined stage with the precision of an automated Hal Roach comedy.

View From The State House

By GOV. RICHARD J. HUGHES

A short time ago, I felt it my solemn responsibility to conditionally veto Senate Bill No. 81, the so-called Conflicts of Interests Bill. The alleged purpose of this Bill was to undertake to define and prohibit conflicts between the official obligations and the private interests of the members, officers and employees of the legislative and executive branches of government. This measure was merely a repetition of an earlier Senate bill which would have reserved to each House of the Legislature the exclusive power to hear and determine all charges of impropriety against its own members. It constituted a nullification of the basic intent of the law, and I was constrained to return the bill to the Senate with recommendations designed to provide the assurance of a full and fair hearing on such charges by an impartial body.

It is my hope that the conscience of the Senate will move it to pass a realistic conflicts measure. To accept Senate Bill No. 81 as a "first step" or as a "half loaf" would, I fear, remove from public view for the foreseeable future the question of a meaningful conflicts of interest law. I think it is to the advantage of the people of this State that public insistence be maintained on behalf of a law that has meaning and effect.

I have proposed that the State House Commission be empowered, as an appropriate independent tribunal composed of responsible members of the executive and legislative branches, to adjudicate all complaints involving alleged violations by members, officers and employees of both branches. This suggestion was offered as a possible compromise between the criminal sanctions preferred by the Assembly and the illusory deterrent of secret self-examination long advocated by the Senate. The proposal deferred to the ultimate right of each House to judge the qualifications of its own members, for it would have constituted the State House Commission only as a fact-finding body with no authority to impose any penalties upon members and employees of the Legislature.

The paramount aim of such an approach is not to punish the Legislature but to maintain public confidence in the governmental process by assuring certain and impartial enforcement of a conflicts law in broad daylight. I strongly feel that to sign any conflicts law without such an assurance would be to deceive the people of New Jersey and to fail in my responsibilities as Governor.

Senator Williams Reports

By Sen. Harrison A. Williams

WASHINGTON — Senate passage last week of the "Older Americans Act" will mean a real shot in the arm to the New Jersey Division on Aging.

The Division has attempted to establish and operate a meaningful program for the senior citizens in our state on a pathetically small budget. This year's budget is less than $120,000.

The Older Americans Act authorizes a total of $13 million in grants to the states over the next two years for community planning and coordination, demonstration programs and training of special personnel.

New Jersey's share of this money would amount to $129,400 in fiscal 1966 and $207,900 in fiscal 1967, more than doubling the financial resources available to the Division on Aging.

The Older Americans Act also authorizes $4.5 million in grants over the next two years to public or private non-profit agencies for demonstration and evaluation projects relating to the needs of older persons and for training of personnel to carry out these projects.

And private groups in New Jersey would be eligible for some of this money.

The bill also provides for creation of an Administration on Aging within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and for establishment of a 16-member Advisory Committee on Older Americans at the federal level.

What all this means is that new national attention will be focused on realizing the potential of the retirement years for millions of Americans and renewed vigor will be brought to state programs.

All this is assuming that we are successful in ironing out slight differences between the Senate and House versions of the bills and the President signs the legislation — and that the full amount authorized is appropriated.

There will be little difficulty

I am quite sure, in reconciling the differences between the House and Senate versions. And I feel certain the President will sign the bill.

But appropriation bills are less predictable and it's possible we won't get the full amount authorized.

I am a co-sponsor of the Older Americans Act. And I believe it to be social legislation of major significance.

We have done a great deal at the federal level to meet some of the severe problems of the elderly. But we have done little on the positive side of the ledger toward making the so-called "golden years" really golden.

This legislation will help us to develop programs to make the retirement years more meaningful, productive and pleasant.

It will help provide opportunities for suitable employment and volunteer community work. Development of recreation programs and facilities suited to older persons will be stimulated.

It will help our senior citizens to enjoy their retirement years free of besetting financial worries, in good housing and in good physical and mental health.

And it will contribute to the freedom, independence and exercise of initiative which mature people find essential to a happy life.

Cut UJC Tuition 50% For County Students

Union County residents will be eligible for financial grants under a tuition aid plan established last week by the Board of Trustees of Union Junior College, Cranford.

Under the new plan, the tuition for all fulltime students from Union County attending Union Junior College will be reduced by $200 per semester, a 50 per cent reduction from the present tuition of $400 a semester.

Dr. Kenneth C. Mc Kay, UJC president, said the new plan will go into effect in September. Between 350 and 400 students are expected to benefit from the new program this fall.

The Union County Board of Freeholders appropriated $80,000 in April to institute the tuition aid plan, which was recommended by an Advisory Committee appointed by the freeholders.

The freeholders made the appropriation under provisions of New Jersey's County College legislation, adopted in 1962. This plan will mark the first implementation of this legislation, Dr. MacKay reported.

"This plan has the effect of providing a $400 a year scholarship for each Union County student attending Union Junior College on a fulltime basis. We are confident this program will make a college education possible for hundreds of Union County residents who otherwise would be denied the benefits of higher education," Dr. Mc Kay said.

The UJC president said the tuition aid plan is the most economical and most efficient way for Union County to help alleviate the critical shortage of college facilities for Union County residents.

Union Junior College, which was founded in 1933, is a two-year community college, annually transfers 85 per cent of
