Burned-Out School Board Moves To Bank Basement.

DITZEL COMMENDED

Retiring Member Lauded By Council

WILLIAM DITZEL

Councilman William Ditzel, who completed four years on Mountainside's Borough Council last week, was commended by the 1966 Council at his last official meeting on New Year's Day. Ditzel was also presented with a plaque and a scroll in appreciation of his "outstanding service for the past four years."

Councilman Gilbert Pittenger, who made the presentation on behalf of the Council, expressed his own and the Council's deep regret at Ditzel's leaving. Mayor Frederick Wilhelmus Jr., at the organizational meeting of the new Council, cited Ditzel on the "outstanding job" he had done and said he would "personally miss him on his retirement."

One of the first official acts of the 1966 Council was to appoint Ditzel to a two-year term on the recreation commission.

Lennox, Biunno, Wroblewski File For Board Seats

Three candidates have filed for the two seats on Mountainside's Board of Education which will be at stake in the Feb. 8 election.

John Wroblewski, who placed fourth in a six-way race for three spots on the school board last February, Grant H. Lennox, a member of the engineering firm of Arthur Lennox and Sons which served as the borough's engineers on a part-time basis from 1941 until 1963, and William Biunno, vice-president of the York Savings and Loan Association of Newark, entered their candidates' petitions before the deadline date last Thursday.

Wroblewski, who also ran unsuccessfully as a Democratic candidate for Borough Council last fall, is principal of Morton Street School, Newark. A graduate of Jersey City College, he also holds bachelor and master degrees from Montclair State College and did graduate work at Seton Hall and the University of Wisconsin. He and his wife and two children attend Our Lady of Lourdes Church. They live on Saddle Brook rd.

Lennox, whose firm is based in Springfield, is a graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y., and a licensed professional engineer and land surveyor. A lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve, he was on active duty during World War II and the Korean conflict. A Mountainside resident since 1949, he served for six years as Cubmaster of Pack 177 and is a charter member of Community Presbyterian Church. He is a member and past president of the Springfield Rotary and a member of Atlas Lodge, F.&A.M., of Westfield. He and Mrs. Lennox have three children. The oldest, Arthur, is now attending Rensselaer Institute. They reside at 303 Garrett rd.

Biunno, now serving on the board of trustees of the Union County Regional Adult School, attended John Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., for two years and received his degree in business administration from Upsala College, East Orange. He holds a graduate diploma from the American Savings and Loan Institute and is presently on the board of governors of the Garden State Chapter of the American Savings and Loan Institute. He is a member also of the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

The new Council gave commendations to two outgoing members of borough boards, Richard Locke and former Mayor Eugene Rau. Locke, who announced in mid-December that he would not accept another term on the library board, was also presented with a plaque by Sidney Mele, president of the library trustees, in recognition of his four years of service on the library board and his previous service with the Friends of the Library.

Rau resigned recently from the recreation commission. Mrs. Madeline Johnson was appointed by Mayor Wilhelmus to Locke's seat on the library board. Richard Collins was re-appointed for a two-year term to the recreation commission and Walter Christoffers was named to fill the one-year unexpired term of Mrs. Jean Ott, who resigned recently for health reasons.

John Dyer, a veteran member of the Planning Board, was re-appointed to a four-year term on that body. William Gutman and John Walsh were re-appointed to the board of adjustments, both for three-year terms.

Dr. John P. Fenton and Dr. Henry Langheinz were re-named to three-year terms on the Board of Health. Mrs. Doris Carson, Mrs. Marguerite Becker and Everett Parkins were re-appointed to the Department of Welfare. Mrs. Walter Koster retained her chair on the Shade Tree Commission for another three years.

Walter Vreeland was named again to his post as head of Civil Defense for one year.

Borough Engineer Robert Koser was appointed for a two-year term to the Board of Tax Assessors and Herman Honecker, Joseph Kordys and George Gelsenhainer were re-named to the appeals committee of the building department.

Yule Card Money Benefits Hospital

A mobile operating lamp for use in the minor surgery room has been presented to Children's Specialized Hospital of Mountainside.

Funds for the lamp were contributed by employees of the materials management division of Merck Chemical Manufacturing Division of Merck and Co., Inc., Rahway. Instead of exchanging Christmas cards, the employees pooled their money to buy the gift. The custom of donating a gift to some institution in lieu of sending holiday cards was started a few years ago.

Mrs. A. A. Christian of 307 Garrett rd., Mountainside, is among the employees donating toward the gift.

Greeley's Fifth Born On New Year's Day

Mrs. Robert Greeley, mother of Mountainside's first baby of the new year, is due to arrive home today with her new son, Drew Peter. Her three other sons, Robert Jr., 9, Paul, 8, and Danny, 1 1/2, will be on hand to greet them enthusiastically but the Greeleys' only daughter, Patricia, 5, hasn't made her mind up yet if she'll be on the reception committee.

Patricia had counted on a baby sister — she felt she had plenty of brothers. Her maternal grandmother reports that she dissolved into tears when she heard the new baby was another brother and threatened to pack up and leave home.

Drew Peter was born 5:01 a.m. in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, one of 17 babies in Union County to be born on the first day of 1966.

The Greeleys moved to their home at 1173 Ridge dr. about two years ago.

FLAMES DESTROYED OFFICES of Mountainside's Board of Education, located in the Beminger building on Rt. 22. Firemen are shown battling the blaze which broke out Monday morning in the brick and frame building. The office of U.S. Senator Harrison P. Williams, located in the basement, suffered smoke and water damage.

Flames Destroy Education Offices On State Highway

Superintendent Says
Filed Records Okay
But Machines Ruined

The offices of Mountainside's Board of Education and School Superintendent have been moved temporarily to the basement of the Mountainside branch of the National Bank of Westfield.

The school board's offices were gutted last Monday when a fire broke out in the two-story professional building on Rt. 22 in which they were located. The office of U. S. Senator Harrison P. Williams, located in the basement of the building, suffered less damage but the building, its roof collapsed, is untenable.

Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, school superintendent, and John McDonough, secretary of the Board of Education, said Tuesday that most of the office records can be salvaged even though most of the files which contained them were badly seared by the fire. Some of the office furniture, although badly damaged by smoke and water, can be used again after refinishing, Hanigan said. However the typewriters and other office machines were completely ruined.

Fire Chief Henry Porter said Tuesday that he felt the fire was caused by defective wiring. A passing motorist reported the fire to Police Headquarters about 7:30 a.m. Monday. The roof collapsed about an hour later.

Eastbound traffic on the highway was backed up for three miles until about 8:30 a.m. About 30 members of the borough's Fire Department, a volunteer outfit, turned out during the eight hours the department was fighting the fire.

Leading the fight, under Chief Porter, were Assistant Chiefs Theodore Byk and Joseph Hershey, Captains Robert Butler and Ronald Huter and Lieutenants Bruce Geiger and Harry Smith. Many of the men who had already come out of town to work returned to help battle the blaze.

The Board of Education moved into the building last June from Echobrook School to expand its office space and to allow room to establish a school library and special services' office in the school.

Other offices located in the building, owned by Albert Benninger, Union County State Republican Committeeman, were those of Utek Corp., G. W. Birchall Co., Hall and Fuhs, Inc. and F. E. Herstein and Associates.

Benninger said Tuesday that no estimate of the damage could be given at this time. Repairs on the building will start as promptly as possible after insurance adjustments are determined, he said.

Summer Target For Library Construction

MAYOR FREDERICK WILHELMUS JR., Councilman Wilfred Brandt and Councilman E. Dean Spahn, left to right, are sworn into municipal office by Borough Clerk Elmer Hoffarth, right. Wilhelmus was sworn in for a two-year term and Brandt and Spahn for three-year terms. The ceremonies were held New Year's Day in Echobrook School.

Goals For '66 Set By Mayor; Prime Projects Outlined

Construction of Mountainside's new library will begin. If the borough's application for federal aid receives early approval, before the summer of this year, Mayor Frederick Wilhelmus Jr. announced at the annual organizational meeting of the Borough Council last Saturday.

He also announced that work to correct the storm drainage problems will begin in 1966 in the Summit rd. area. Improvements in four other sectors of the borough will follow under a four-year program, he said.

Efforts to purchase the four-acre tract adjacent to the playing field of Echobrook School from the State Highway Department are "nearing completion," he said, adding that he expects "to be able to announce a significant development on this subject shortly."

Need Continues

The need for improved Borough Hall facilities will continue under study, the mayor stated. However he has recommended to Borough Council that no action be taken in this area until it is determined if Echobrook School (which the Board of Education has declared obsolete and which it plans to vacate) will be available for borough use.

These projected borough improvements are within the borough's capacity to pay, Mayor Wilhelmus reported, stating that the "financial condition of the borough continues to be excellent."

Application for federal aid for library construction will be made before Jan. 15, the deadline for such filing, Mayor Wilhelmus said. This means that cost estimates will be submitted to the Library Trustees by the architects, Elsasner and Miller, sometime this week to the Borough Council.

The Council will pass a resolution showing intent to finance the project. Such action was postponed at the last meeting of the Council, pending the receipt of the cost estimates.

ECHO PROFILE — Henry E. Porter

Henry E. Porter was re-elected chief of Mountainside's Fire Department last month. That means that "Doc," as he has been known since boyhood days in Calonsville, Md., can look forward to another year of little sleep, rushed meals and 24-hour duty, seven days a week.

And, surprisingly enough, he does look forward to it. He grumbles a little, complains a trifle about the bite that department business takes from his off-duty hours from his full-time job with Hertz Corp., but it is obvious that he enjoys the rush and the bustle, that the fire department is one of the main interests of his life.

His wife, with an indulgent air of patient forbearing, not only makes it possible for him to give so much without complaining about the demands of the fire department, but serves as a sort of stenographer for the Fire Chief, typing the myriad of reports he must make out, filing the torrents of papers that come to his desk.

She recently moved his "office" to one of the rooms on the second floor of their home at 297 Timberline rd. Before, she says, his "office" was all over the house — "papers piled everywhere."

Porter joined the department almost 10 years ago. He became interested in the volunteer firefighters' work as the result of a work party which he attended with his neighbor and friend, Ronald Farrell, on the old Little League diamond then located near Echobrook School.

One of the fire engines was standing by, Porter talked to the men and developed a keen interest in joining. He has held every office on the department since that time. A mechanic with Hertz Truck Rental Corp., he works nights and conse-

Spain will head the buildings and grounds committee and the building committee. Stilwell will serve as chairman of the fire department and Civil Defense.

The check includes $155 donated from Student Council funds; the balance was collected from students in Echobrook, Beechwood and Deerfield Schools.

'Amahl' Performance Tonight To Give Clark Fund Hefty Hike

The Linda Clark Fund Drive scored over $10,000 in the third week of its operation, a figure that is expected to get a hefty boost tonight when the chorus of the Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside, presents "Amahl and the Night-Visitors" in the auditorium of Governor Livingston Regional High School. Proceeds of the production, scheduled to open at 8:30, will go to the fund.

Louise Armstrong, a professional singer, heads the cast which is directed by Paul Kuefer, music director of the church. "Amahl" was presented Dec. 19 in the church. The group volunteered to repeat the show for the benefit of the fund which was established to help pay the hospital expenses of 10-year-old Linda.

The Clark child, a fifth grader in Echobrook School, has been in Overlook Hospital since Oct. 30 when she was critically injured in a freak accident in Echo Lake Park. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Clark of 154 Walnut st.

Tallied receipts of the fund added up to $10,200, Elmer Hoffarth, treasurer, reported earlier this week, and donations are still coming in. A sizeable portion of that total, $2,620, was collected by Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. by personal solicitation among his business associates and out-of-town friends.

Among the contributors during the past week was State Senator Nelson Stangler, who sent $25, and the First Methodist Church of Westfield, $100. Linda's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clark, are members of the Methodist Church.

Canisters have been placed in all commercial establishments in the borough. Those who wish to contribute may send donations to Elmer Hoffarth at the Borough Hall, Rt. 22, Mountainside. Checks should be made out to the Linda Clark Fund Drive.

Mayor Projects

(Continued from Page 1) and codifying of all borough ordinances. This endeavor will not be one of changing the philosophy of the ordinances but making them current with state statutes, removing conflicts, duplications and ambiguities.

Implementation of the master plan will continue under the study of the Council and the Planning Board, he said. Every reasonable effort will be made, Wilhelms stated, "to maintain Mountainside as a residential community consistent with sound planning."

Improvement of safety conditions on Rt. 22 will be sought. At the Borough Council's request, the State Highway Department is considering an improvement at the intersection of New Providence rd.

Reviewing the accomplishments of 1965, Mayor Wilhelms cited the adoption of the master plan, progress on plans for storm drainage work, improvements in the interests of pedestrian and traffic safety, including the elimination of the Lawrence ave. and Rt. 22 crossing (which has dramatically reduced the accident rate at this point, he said.) widening of Rt. 22 at two locations to provide safer bus stop facilities, completion of improvements at Sheffield st., Central ave. and Evergreen ct., intersections with Rt. 22; intensive surveillance by the Police Department which has resulted in safer traffic conditions, adoptions of two maintenance ordinances, the inoperable vehicle and unkempt property ordinances; extension of the sanitary sewer system to include Hillside ave. This extension leaves only a few isolated sections without sanitary sewers, the mayor stated.

Wilhelms also pointed to the fact that Mountainside has the fifth lowest tax rate in Union County.

The mayor's speech was delivered near the close of the meeting at which he, Councilman B. Dean Spain and Councilman Wilfred Brandt were sworn in to office by Borough Clerk Elmer Hoffarth.

Rev. Robert Mignard, pastor of Mountainside Union Chapel, gave the invocation.

ECHO PROFILE

During the first six years of their residence in Mountainside, "Doc," a capable man with all kinds of tools, carried out several big "do-it-yourself" jobs in their new home. He built the two rooms in the rear, added a room on the second floor, 12B and their son panelled the fireplace wall of the living room, recessing the hearth from the wall, widening the doorway into the pleasant dining room.

"That," he says with a deep chuckle, "was before I joined the department."

They recently had a room in the rear of their house re-done (by a carpenter) to serve as a television room. "Doc" himself is doing (or supposed to be doing) the finishing touches.

"The doors," Mrs. Porter points out, "are still not on the cabinets. I wonder when they'll get done."

gather, decorating the tree that stands in the preface window.

But his mind is never far from the Fire Department. He's always on the alert for the call that comes through on the pherotron radio (one of which is installed in the home of each fireman). Meals are often on the run — or not at all if an alarm comes in as they sit down to a meal.

"How do you keep a steak hot?" How can a steak taste tender and appetizing when it's been standing for a couple of hours," Mrs. Porter asks.

But it is obvious she has only asked a rhetorical question — she doesn't expect an answer.

And Chief Porter, with a cheerful grin, makes no attempt to offer one. That's the Fire Department's way of life — all schedules, all plans can — and are changed instantaneously if an alarm comes through. It becomes a way of life — hectic, but acceptable.

Fine Hillside Man $50 On Glue Sniff Count

Ralph A. Tolarico of Hillside was fined $50 in Mountainside's Municipal Court last week on a glue-sniffing charge. He also had his driving privileges revoked for three months by Magistrate Jacob Bauer on the same charge.

Tolarico was arrested Dec. 22 in Echo Lake Park by Patrolman Richard Mannix of the Union County Park Police.

Helps Build System Of Computer Control

Harry F. Moore of 4324 Birch Hill rd., Mountainside, is among a team of scientists who are primarily responsible for development of the world's largest computer control system for petroleum refining.

The system, which will be installed next summer in Fawley, England, was developed for the Esso Research and Engineering Company and the Esso Petroleum Company, Limited, of the United Kingdom.

Planning Body Okays Muirhead's Addition

An addition to the present building of Muirhead Instrument Co. on Sheffield st., Mountainside, was approved at the December meeting of the Planning Board.

An application from Herbert Keller to subdivide a lot on the corner of New Providence rd. and Coles ave. was denied. Keller was referred to the Board of Adjustment since the proposed subdivision would make the lots under the required minimum size.

Families With New Pets Given Tips On Care And Treatment

If the new addition to your family this Christmas is a puppy or kitten, the Humane Society has some tips on animal psychology that may speed the adjustment to your household.

1. Leave the pet with its mother at least three months.

2. If one of a litter may have an inferiority complex, extra care and attention can be given.

3. Teaching a pet is very harmful.

1. Teach the pet a few simple tricks if at all possible. It gives them confidence.
  2. Exclude the pet in circumstances when possible. It impresses their mental capacities.
  3. "The best way to break a bad habit is to prevent it."
  4. Consistent and regular punishment is always best. If and when correction is needed, a teaspoon of cool water splashed in the face of a barking puppy will help train the puppy to refrain from needless and useless barking which often produces negative reaction to the pet.
  5. Teach the children how to care for the pet, and then hold them responsible for its care.
  6. Don't be over-indulgent with the pet.
  7. Make the pet feel wanted.
  8. Avoid frustrating the pet.
  9. Pets are very jealous of humans and other pets. If there is another pet in the family it may take as much as three months for adjustment to be made—with a little more contact each day—perhaps none for the first week or two. (You may also substitute "small children" for "another pet," Maxfield states).
  10. If the family expects to take the pet on automobile trips, they should begin when the pet is very young.
- For further information about the care of pets, The Humane Society of the United States, New Jersey Branch, Inc. invites you to write to them at 1140 East Jersey St., Elizabeth.

Four year old Bill and his mother stopped in at his aunt's house the day before Christmas. Being intrigued by the newly wrapped gifts under the tree, he volunteered, "I can help you unwrap those packages if you want me to."

A couple was about to celebrate its 25th wedding anniversary. The groom wrapped up a bottle of silver polish and tucked a $100 bill into the box. He was telling his wife's best friend about it. She exclaimed, "Oh, take the bill out of the box. Both of you are to use the polish for a year or two."

Mayors Outline Goals For Year

A campaign to develop greater state awareness of municipal problems, and the encouragement of additional citizen participation in local government, were highlighted as major 1966 goals by the New Jersey Conference of Mayors in its annual statement issued this week.

"New Jersey municipalities, caught in a financial vise, are being squeezed by rising costs, coupled with demands for more municipal services, and by public insistence for relief of spiraling property taxes," Mayor Walter Zipolpe of Woodbridge, president of the New Jersey Conference, said in the statement.

Registration To Start

The Rutgers New Brunswick Extension Center announced this week that registration begins Monday and will continue through Feb. 3 for its spring term which opens Feb. 7.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From Carolyn Yuknus, County Home Economist

MUSHROOMS ADD APPEAL TO THE MENU

Do you take advantage of mushrooms and the versatility they can add to your menu? Mushrooms make ordinary soups and sauces exciting; turn meat and fish into a gourmet delight; add flavor to popular vegetables and salads; and, are a hit at a party when used in a dip or for dunking.

When choosing them in the market, the size you select is a matter of preference and their intended use in the menu. If they are to be used in combination, decide on the smaller ones; if they are to be featured "on their own," pick the larger ones.

Brown spots frequently appear on mushrooms, but do not affect their quality. However, they should be firm and dry-not. One that is dried out will be tough.

When preparing mushrooms, there are four general rules to follow: don't peel them; wash them lightly; never soak them; and, cook them 10 minutes or less.

The way in which you cut them depends upon your preference. They can be cut crosswise into slices, cut from round side down through the stems into slices, or the stems removed from the caps and left whole.

Teletype Stations In Operation Now For CD Hook-Up

Teletype equipment purchased during 1965 by the Union County Office of Civil Defense and Disaster Control are now linked between the various municipal civil defense headquarters and the county office, it was announced this week.

Dr. Jack R. Karel, deputy coordinator, said the various items were obtained at a markedly reduced cost from a large supplier and from the Federal Surplus Program.

If bought at regular retail prices, he said, the equipment would have cost approximately $80,000. It was purchased for $960.

Municipal radio-teletype stations now in contact with county headquarters include Kenilworth, Mountainside, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield and Union.

Each teletype station consists of a teletype transmitter, receiver, tape-maker, reperforator and tape distributor.

Record Consumption In 1965 Listed For Area Water Users

Customers of the Elizabethtown Water Co. used a record high of 33.8 billion gallons of water during 1965, the company announced this week.

Last year's consumption of water was 19.8 per cent above 1964 and 39 per cent higher than 1963.

December was the biggest month in Elizabethtown's history when a daily average of 110.5 million gallons was pumped to customers. This was 42.8 per cent above December, 1964.

Unlike many municipalities, the 31 communities in Union, Middlesex, Somerset and Mercer counties served by Elizabethtown had no water restrictions in 1965.

Elizabethtown supplies and pumping facilities were sufficient to meet all demands from customers and no difficulties in 1965 are anticipated.

A large part of the increased use in 1965 came from service to Elizabethtown and Newark to aid these cities.

Elizabethtown Water is presently pumping up to 25 million gallons daily to Newark through a new 48 inch pipeline running from Linden to the Newark-Elizabethtown border. In addition, the City of Elizabethtown is receiving an average of 13 million gallons daily.

The Elizabethtown Water carried out an extensive expansion program during 1965 and plans to construct additional new pipelines, pumping stations and filtration facilities in 1966.

Last year 8,000 feet of new 60 inch main was put in place to increase flow capacity from the company's Bound Brook filter plant. Two additional filters were installed and the capacity of both the high lift and low lift pumping facilities was increased.

New diesel pumps were also added so that the company can meet minimum water demands in case of power failures.

Telemetry controls at Elizabethtown's Netherwood control center were enlarged in 1965 so that almost all of the pumps, wells and storage tanks can be operated by remote control. The installation at Netherwood is one of the most modern water dispatch centers in the nation.

Elizabethtown Water is presently pumping up to 25 million gallons daily to Newark through a new 48 inch pipeline running from Linden to the Newark-Elizabethtown border. In addition, the City of Elizabethtown is receiving an average of 13 million gallons daily.

The Elizabethtown Water carried out an extensive expansion program during 1965 and plans to construct additional new pipelines, pumping stations and filtration facilities in 1966.

Last year 8,000 feet of new 60 inch main was put in place to increase flow capacity from the company's Bound Brook filter plant. Two additional filters were installed and the capacity of both the high lift and low lift pumping facilities was increased.

New diesel pumps were also added so that the company can meet minimum water demands in case of power failures.

Telemetry controls at Elizabethtown's Netherwood control center were enlarged in 1965 so that almost all of the pumps, wells and storage tanks can be operated by remote control. The installation at Netherwood is one of the most modern water dispatch centers in the nation.

Jaycees Searching For County Beauty

The search is on for Miss Union County, 1966. The title will be awarded on April 30 at the annual pageant sponsored by the Scotch Plains-Fairwood Jaycees. Co-chairmen of this year's event are Robert Schildt of Scotch Plains and Ronald Brown of Westfield.

Winner of the Miss Union County contest, in addition to receiving various local awards, will qualify for participation in the Miss New Jersey pageant which will be held in Wildwood in June.

According to the co-chairmen, members of the entries committee will interview each entrant in the local contest and will select ten finalists. Single high school graduates between the ages of 18 and 28 are eligible.

Contestants must perform in the fine arts or deliver a three-minute talk on pursuing a chosen professional career. "The committee," the chairmen said, "wishes to stress that fine art talent is not a prerequisite."

Further information concerning the pageant and eligibility may be obtained by contacting of $3.50 an hour.

Post Office Job Exams Planned

EIGHTH OLDEST AMERICAN COLLEGE

Rutgers Kicks Off Year-Long Bicentennial Celebration

Rutgers inaugurated this year's bicentennial celebration of its founding two centuries ago as Queen's College with a ceremonial ringing of the bell in Historic Old Queens and the signing of a proclamation by Governor Richard J. Hughes.

The proclamation celebrated citizens of New Jersey that on Nov. 10, 1776, Gov. William Franklin of the Province of New Jersey in the name of King George III granted a charter to Queen's College, the eighth college founded in colonial America.

Almost a century after its founding, Rutgers in 1864 became the Land-Grant College of New Jersey. All units of the institution, the proclamation recalled, became the State University of New Jersey in 1935.

Rutgers is the only university in the United States founded in colonial times that is also a land-grant college and a state university.

The Bicentennial Year was announced at midnight on Dec. 31 with the pealing of the bell given to the University in 1825 by Colonel Henry Rutgers, the colonial philanthropist for whom the school was named in the same year.

The bell ringing ushered in a year which promises to be a critical one for Rutgers and public education in New Jersey. Two citizens committees and Gov. Hughes have called for the greatest expansion of public education in the history of the Garden State. It could amount to the expenditure of as much as $427 million on capital construction for higher education by 1975 and a great increase in enrollment at Rutgers and other institutions in the public higher education system.

THE YEARLONG CELEBRATION will feature in February the Bicentennial Rutgers Concert Series, which will run through April. The concert series in the gymnasium on the Rutgers College campus will open Feb. 7 with the appearance of the American pianist Byron Janis. He will be followed Feb. 16 by the Philadelphia Orchestra, Eugene Osaenda conducting.

and the University Choir. F. Austin Walter, director, The Norwegian Festival Orchestra, Olvin Fjeldstad conducting, will appear March 2. The London Symphony, Istvan Keztesz conducting, and the University Choir will perform April 1 and the American bass Jerome Hines will appear April 22.

A number of nationally prominent speakers are expected to take part in a series of student conferences March 18 through March 20.

The highlight of the Bicentennial year from the standpoint of student participation will be Student Bicentennial Week, April 17-23, when undergraduates on each campus will be responsible for one day's program each.

During this period there will be several showings of the special Rutgers film, which it is hoped will be seen throughout the year by a wide audience through commercial television, alumni groups, educational organizations, labor unions, civic and community parties. The film shows what is going on at Rutgers today, how and why.

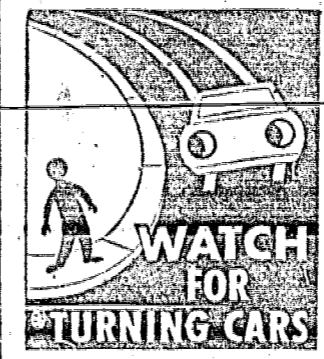

The big day for Rutgers seniors will be commencement on June 1.

In the fall, two football weekends stand out. The entire West Point cadet corps will make its first appearance in New Brunswick on Oct. 15 when the Scarlet Knights meet Army in a football game at Rutgers Stadium. On the next weekend, Alumni Homecoming, Rutgers will take on the Columbia Lions in football and there will be an exhibition crew race between Rutgers and Columbia on the Raritan. But the most colorful event of the yearlong celebration will be the Bicentennial Convention.

Universities from throughout the world will be represented and standards of the various colleges and divisions of the University will lead an air of pageantry to the event.

The celebration will culminate on Charter Day, Nov. 10, with "Rutgers Night Around the World." Rutgers alumni will gather at Rutgers clubs wherever they exist and view a filmstrip of the University.

The World Of Outer Space

From the Sperry Memorial Observatory
Union Junior College, Cranford
Amateur Astronomers, Inc.

BY E. T. PEARSON
Amateur Astronomers, Inc.

Step out of your home at midnight to observe the sky. It is as bright as twilight, studded with thousands of magnificent sparkling jewels. The velvety blackness of the familiar earth night sky has disappeared, and the hazy band of the Milky Way has been supplanted by a hemisphere filled with very many, very bright stars. Where do you live? From the description, it must be on a planet of a sun in a globular star cluster.

Star clusters are aggregations of stars which had their birthplace within a single volume of cosmic gas and dust, and so share a common motion through space. There are two types, called galactic or open, and globular.

Galactic clusters are relatively nearby, and some of their brighter stars are easily visible. The Seven Sisters in the Pleiades cluster is an example. The globular clusters are far away and mostly invisible to the naked eye. If seen at all, they look like hazy or diffuse stars. But to the owner of even a small telescope, views of either type can be breathtaking, particularly if enhanced by a knowledge of them. The open clusters can best be seen in low power wide field views: the Double Cluster in Perseus seen in a 50 power wide field eyepiece is spectacular. Globular clusters require more magnification to resolve individual stars, and the larger the telescope aperture the more satisfactory the view.

Galactic clusters are located in the principal plan of our Milky Way galaxy. Each contains some hundreds of stars within a maximum cluster diameter of about 20-light-years, or 120 trillion miles, astronomically a short distance. About 500 open clusters are known, all within 20,000 light years of the Sun.

Globular clusters appear to be a discrete structural unit, and studies of their distance from us and the evolution of their component stars has added considerably to our knowledge of the universe. Slightly more than one hundred globular clusters are scattered like blueberries in a nearby spherical muffin of space and below the principal plane of our galaxy. This principal plane is about 100,000 light years in diameter but only 10,000 light years thick, so the hundred clusters are very widely separated in an immense volume of space. All are more than 20,000 light years distant from the Sun.

The globulars are assemblages of many tens of thousands of stars, compacted within spatial diameters of a few hundred light years. Total magnitude of a cluster may equal a million suns, but because of their distances from earth apparent visual magnitudes are quite faint.

The brightest and best known cluster at our latitude is called M 13, in the constellation Hercules. It is composed of probably a half million stars within a linear diameter of 160 light years. At its distance of 36,000 light years from the Sun, the cluster covers an area of sky about two-thirds the size of the full moon, with an apparent magnitude about six.

The numbers of stars and the spatial dimensions of this cluster compute to a probability of half a light year average separation between stars, compared to an average separation of about seven light years for the stars in the neighborhood of our Sun. Anyone living on a planet in the cluster would see a sky full of a hundred times as many stars as are visible to the naked eye from Earth, and the brightest ones would be points of light shining as brightly as our full moon, magnitude - 11. A star as bright as Sirius—the brightest star in our sky—would be barely visible to the naked eye there, because the starlight would make night as bright as our twilight.

Photographs have shown several hundred clusters surrounding the disc of the Andromeda galaxy, in the same spherical halo relationship shown by the globular clusters of Milky Way galaxy. Studies of variable stars in the Andromeda globulars have helped to determine the two million light year distance to that neighboring island universe.

WORLD-WIDE TOTAL ANNOUNCED

Increase In Number Of Telephones Hits 11.5 Million

More telephones were added to the worldwide communications network in 1964 than in any other year in history. The world's telephones increased by a record-breaking 11,500,000. On January 1, 1965, there were 182,500,000 telephones in the world — 96.6 per cent of them within reach of New Jersey Bell Telephone Company customers.

Telephone statistics for 1964 have just been released by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in its publication, "The World's Telephones." All data are for Jan. 1, 1965. It takes a full year to compile the material.

New Jersey Bell registered a gain of 157,399 phones in 1964, second highest in its history. (But last year, 1965, the Company topped all previous records by adding some 187,000 phones to its state-wide network.)

Canada was still the world's "talkiest" country, with 622.8 telephone conversations for every Canadian. But New Jersey Bell customers were on the phone even more frequently — in 1964, they each made 720 calls, well above the United States national average of 591, which was second only to Canada.

Atlantic City held third place behind White Plains, N. Y., and Washington, D. C., in the ratio of telephones to people. Atlantic City had 76 for every 100 persons, while Washington, D. C. had 89.8 and White Plains 76.3. The top foreign city, Stockholm, Sweden, had a ratio of 72.2 phones per 100 population.

Use Of Herbs Suggested To Add Flavor To Meals

Herbs, when used with discretion, will add zest and flavor to your menu, according to County Home Economist Anne L. Sheelan.

The use of herbs in food preparation is an old-fashioned method of seasoning that has been revived within recent years, the home economist said.

She said general pointers for using herbs include the following: If you are a novice with this adventure, select two or three of the better known varieties, such as thyme, marjoram and sage. Become an expert in the use of these, and then stock your shelves with others.

The strength of fresh, dried, and powdered herbs varies. Avoid too many herb flavored dishes in one meal. Keep in mind that a balance of flavor, color and texture are the mark of an appetizing menu.

For best retention of their true flavor, herbs should be kept covered in a dry, cool place. Long storage will also cause their flavor to fade.

The home economist suggested these herb and meat combinations:

Dried herb leaves are four times stronger than the same measure of fresh leaves. A powdered herb is two times stronger than the same measure of crumbled dried leaves.

The purpose of using herbs is to enhance flavor, not to overpower it. About 1/4 teaspoon of a dried herb will be suitable for a meat dish that serves four.

12 Teachers Get Grants For Grad Economics Class

Frank Pitt, president of First State Bank, and Benjamin Romano, president of Union Township Chamber of Commerce, this week announced the recipients of the third annual contemporary Economics Scholarships.

The scholarship provides tuition and registration fees at Newark State College for a graduate course in economics under the Field Service Division supervised by Charles J. Long-acre.

The 20 Union Township teachers and schools they represent are: John Pollock, Robert Hassard, Union High; Marion Murrill, Goldie Kaufman, Alice Creed, Margaret Wisman, David Powell, Frank Gargano and Anthony Saparito from Burnet Junior High; Leonard Bueck and James McNally from Kawamech Junior High; Gertrude Breitenbach from Franklin; Helene Maculinski, Anthony Martino and Lillian Heffler from Jefferson; Philomena Nicastro and Matilda Mente from Livingston; Claudia Harvey and Ramona Orlas from Washington; Gertrude Andiorio from Special Services.

The selection of recipients was directed by Laurence Holland, assistant superintendent of schools.

Dr. Sidney Simon, professor of economics at Rutgers, Newark, will teach the course using the facilities of Union High. The Center for Economic Education at Montclair State College, under the leadership of Dr. Sydney Kronish and field director Ray Ast, will direct curriculum development. Michael Yessenko, social studies teacher at Union High, will serve as curriculum coordinator.

The course will begin the first Monday in February and will conclude every Monday through May.

OUTLOOK FOR '66: PRICES OF FOODS TO CLIMB HIGHER

Higher retail food prices is the expected outlook for 1966, County Home Economist Anne L. Sheelan reported this week.

Production of pork is 20 percent down since mid-October from a year-ago level. Because of this reduction, prices have been pushing upward for the past several months. Larger supplies, however, are expected during the last half of 1966.

The home economist said there are adequate supplies of beef, but the cost is expected to be a bit higher than in 1965.

Lamb supplies have been declining for the past five years, but there are indications that this trend is stopping. Increase in supply will be noticed about a year from now, which means a continuation of high lamb prices throughout 1966.

Large supplies of broilers with favorable prices to the consumer is the most positive outlook for the first part of 1966. Turkeys should also be a wise buy and easily available.

Cabbage, potatoes and onions are plentiful and should show reasonable prices on the market. Canned vegetables indicate a decrease in production while frozen vegetables show an increase.

Citrus fruits, with the exception of tangerines and limes, have an increased supply. Frozen concentrate orange juice, as was evidenced during the last half of 1965, is in good supply with correspondingly low prices, according to the home economist.

Price increases will be noticed in canned peaches, pears, fruit cocktail and cherries. Production of all of these is considerably lower than last year.

Use this information to review your menus and make changes that will be necessary to keep within your food budget, the home economist suggested.

She urged substituting poultry for pork or trying a less tender cut of beef and using care in its preparation. Citrus fruits more generously this year to take advantage of their lower prices, she added.

ALUMINUM FOIL HELPS PROTECT TOPS OF STOVES

Even if you're the most careful cook, you occasionally have kettles boil over and fat splatter on the stove burners. You'll find household aluminum foil can be a boon in reducing top burner cleaning.

The bright, shiny reflector pans on the electric surface units help keep the burners working efficiently.

Mrs. Cleo M. Cottrell, extension home management-family economics specialist at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, Rutgers University, says that if the reflector pans have become dull through long use or if you want to protect new ones, line the pans with aluminum foil.

Sets of prepackaged foil liners are available or you can make your own. If you make your own, be sure the foil conforms exactly to the shape of the burner pan.

Cut the opening for the center with care. Tuck the edge of the foil underneath the openings. Make certain that none of the foil touches the electric heating unit. The foil liner can be wiped off occasionally and is easily replaced when badly soiled.

The often forgotten tray underneath the surface burners of either a gas or electric range can be lined quickly with aluminum foil, the New Jersey State University specialist says.

When a major boil-over happens, no messy cleaning or scouring is necessary. Just wipe off the liner or put in a new one.

Golden Gloves Tourney Opens Tomorrow; 51 Fighters Called

Lightweights and welterweights will dominate the opening card of the seven-week New Jersey Golden Gloves tournament tomorrow night in the Elizabeth Ellis auditorium.

The tournament committee has summoned 21 of the 135-pounders and 27 of the 147-pounders. It is expected that the novice boxers will engage in about 20 bouts.

More than 150 amateur fighters reported for the tournament registration and screening last Sunday. The field is made up predominantly of novices, many of whom will be making their first Golden Gloves appearance. The tournament is being staged in Elizabeth for the eighth straight year.

Fifteen heavyweights and eight light heavyweights are entered and will make their first appearances at a later date.

The list of eligibles for tomorrow night's first show includes 17 boxers from the Trenton PAL — nine 135-pounders and eight 147-pounders. The Trenton boys are schooled in boxing fundamentals by Detective Ed Silvergrade, PAL director.

Al Carlinella of Linden, who won his first bout by a knockout and then was outpointed in his second showing last year, is among the lightweights called for tomorrow.

Action will start at 8:30 p.m., with Joe Lavista, chairman of the New Jersey AAU boxing committee, handling the matches.

Wit, Fun And Laughs All In A Row -- That's 'Mary, Mary' At Paper Mill

By WILLIAM H. BRUCKER
Whatever was enigmatically entangled about Mary, Mary who kept her cookie shells all in a row is hardly the case with "Mary, Mary," a nifty, highly polished, packed-with-laughs opus that opened the winter season of plays at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn. 'Twas a happy play with Betsy Palmer. What could be better?

'CASANOVA' FILM; SPY SPOOF, PLAY TOGETHER AT ART.

Marcello Mastroianni, who has garnered the romantic inclination of some of Europe's most seductive screen sheiks in past decades, is presenting his alluring self in similar capacities to a newer international favorite, Yvonne Littlewood's "Casanova '70," Italian film satire on sex, which opened this week at the Art Theatre, Irvington Center, in its original uncut version.

The associate film at the Art is a spy spoof called "Agent 834," starring Dirk Bogarde.

This one by Jean Kerr is constantly and consistently funny and could very well have received a double record as well as a box office record at the venerable playhouse. It remains short of fate, because the humor germinates from just a slight exaggeration of moments in our daily lives. It is not just a witty play, because there we look for a level of delicacy and brittleness to loft the lines like an air stream.

But it is a play that has all the lines and wise cracks to shake an audience from its seat, to flash fire-cracker fun between the eyes and sparkle the senses into a euphoria that sends everyone home with a lift that is often rare in play-going these days.

Miss Kerr often calls on elements in her own life for hooks and plays in "Please Don't Eat the Daisies." There is obvious reference to her large brood of children. In "King of Hearts" she examined a cursed newspaper cartoonist who returns to humanity with the help of a wife.

In "Mary, Mary" she equally examines the book publishing business, but does place her couple of protagonists in the final days of an intercollegiate divorce. Bob McKellaway, a gray-flannelled exec, is shell shocked from the thunderous barbs with which his wife, wondrous Mary, bombards him. Mary suffers from perception, an intelligent disease of coming to the core of a situation with computer speed and exciting its most comic elements to verbally flaccid any antagonist. Bob contends with this for years, until his humbling becomes perception-motivated and he decides, so as to keep himself vertical rather than horizontal, that he must look again for a new life's partner.

His dilemma is that with his present salary he can hardly keep himself and his alimony going, much less take on a new wife. As his attorney states, "It isn't that you can't support a wife — you'd be ill advised to buy a canary." Mary helps to unravel her former husbands' accounting problems, meets his affianced Tiffany Richards, becomes emotionally involved with Dirk Winston, a movie star who is writing his autobiography, engenders jealousy in Bob, and finally decides to take Bob for what he is as he must take her for herself.

What can anyone write about Betsy Palmer, but wondrous, wondrous. I can't even decide whom I love more, Betsy or Mary. Miss Palmer brings such radiant health that she seems to transmute and revivify a role. She is Betsy and Mary and more progressions geometrical.

Scott McKay as Bob is also fine, but a trifle too agitated for me. When he relaxed to a mere simmer he was more believable. Explosive, staccato articulation is not necessarily from the index of Stanislawsky. This mannerism could very well have been set down by the direction of Barry Nelson, who originated the role and gave the definitive performance. Yet McKay is an acute actor and has a long line of Donald Cook roles ahead of him.

Richard Clarke is the charming movie star, Paul McGrath, is a fine lawyer who seems to have many of the lines, and Jane Zachary has the old Betsy Von Furstenberg part of Tiffany, a leader in the cult that seeks to replace tea and lemon with dried apricots as a cure-all. "Mary, Mary," is for all, everyone, anyone.

REIGNING AWARDS — Nino Castelnuovo and Catherine Deneuve head cast of "The Umbrellas of Cherbourg," the new attraction at the Castle Theater, Irvington Center. Film, which is told completely in song and presented in color, won the Best Foreign Film of 1965 award by the Critics Circle of the Foreign Language Press, in addition to five international awards including Grand Prix, Cannes Film Festival; Best Female Acting Award for Miss Deneuve, French Film Academy; Prix Luis Delluc, French Critics Award, and First Prize, French Film Commission for Superior Technique.

Here's Why Industrial Parks in New Jersey Offer You the Perfect Plant Site
New Jersey has a great number of made-to-order industrial parks—specialized, well-planned areas that provide industry with everything it needs to succeed: heavy-duty roadways and rail lines, all utilities, help in building and financing, local community cooperation. The list is endless... and it's important to get it right on the spot. But look at the case itself first: the market. New Jersey sits right in the middle of Megalopolis, the most concentrated area of wealth and influence in the world. It is served by the nation's two largest seaports. It has the highest ratio of scientists and technicians. Eighty-five of America's 100 largest industrial firms are here. And, of great importance, New Jersey offers a "pre-emptive" choice of places to visit and things to do.

Skiers And Snow Bunnies Offered Variety Of Activities

New Jersey will provide a variety of opportunities for skiers this winter, according to the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Center of one of the greatest concentrations of ski enthusiasts in the nation, the Garden State, hopes to solve problems in logistics for skiers who lack time to get to major northern areas every weekend.

The Trailside Ski Club in Mountaintop recently held its first pre-season dry run for novices and experienced skiers under the direction of Ron Finne, a certified Canadian ski instructor.

Informal skiing is held in many other county parks and areas throughout the state, including the Galloping Hill

Golf Course at Union and a local hill area with a rope tow near Peapack along Rt. 206.

In addition to the developed ski areas in the north, portions of the State, new mechanical devices and practice slopes are being developed in southern New Jersey. Most ambitious of the new projects is a county park which will stretch for 24 miles along both sides of the Metedeoconk River at Lakewood. Plans for this winter recreational facility are now being developed.

The new park is to be devoted almost exclusively to winter sports activities and would round out the long planned objectives to create year-round vacation opportunities using the fine ocean beaches in summer and the lake, river and ski areas in the pine woodlands around Lakewood in winter.

Among the plans for the riverside park are a practice ski slope along the south bank of the river, which will be suitable for children and beginners, as well as experienced skiers who want to keep their ski legs in trim even when they can't get to the mountains.

Lakewood already has two indoor ice skating rinks and two outdoor ice skating rinks, in addition to Lake Carasajo. A new man-made lake will be created in the county park. This will not present a construction problem since the area was formerly occupied by an artificial lake known as Lake Sheanandoh. A new dam and spillway will be built to impound the waters of the swiftly flowing Metedeoconk River.

Lakewood's long standing reputation as a winter resort is the foundation on which the new all year recreational program is being built. Miles of trails through the pine woods provide a perfect layout for hikers of all ages. The horse-drawn carryalls, long a part of the Lakewood scene, operate the year round and are replaced by sleighs when there is snow on the ground.

Two heated indoor swimming pools are always open and available to visitors, and the variety of Lakewood hotels and motels furnish accommodations for groups and individuals, in addition to entertainment programs in the hotel night clubs.

Skiers from New Jersey and the nearby Philadelphia and New York metropolitan areas recently discovered a sizable natural hill in the Forked River area near the Garden State Parkway. Although no commercial facilities were available, the fact that skiers discovered it for themselves has led to official interest in the site by local county and town authorities.

Northern and western portions of the State have several developed ski areas, including High Point Ski Way adjoining High Point State Park on the north side of Route 23 with two rope tows, a 500 foot beginners' slope and a 1,100 foot intermediate slope, and the Jug Mountain ski area five miles west of Clinton on old Rt. 22 with a 1,200 foot rope tow. There is snow making equipment at Jug Town, ski rental facilities and a ski school. The slopes are lighted for night skiing.

A 1,700 foot slope, 250 feet wide, is located in Rockaway Township two miles south of the village of Newfoundland on Green Pond rd. There are four trails and two rope tows, night skiing and a snow making machine, as well as a ski jump with a 40 foot tower and a ski shop and rental equipment.

Winter sports fans also find facilities for their favorite recreation at Succasunna, which, in addition to the nearby skiing facilities, offers sleigh rides, ice skating and horseback riding.

Additional local facilities are being planned in various parts of the State, and many of these are expected to be ready for use during the coming winter.

Additional information on winter sports and recreation in New Jersey is available free from the State Promotion Section, Department of Conservation and Economic Development, P. O. Box 1889, Trenton, N. J., 08625.

WHERE YOUR DOLLAR WORKS HARDER... GROWS BIGGER!

WEEDER'S DIGEST

'SPITTING HOLLY'
Mrs. J. S. asked for advice about her 12-inch holly plant, growing well on her kitchen window-sill.

"I've never known a house plant to spit all over the window before," she writes.
And then she explained that her plant's leaves tend to drip a sticky substance, and there are tiny drops of what seems to be sap on the leaves.

I called two specialists into a huddle, sort of, and both Don Lacey, home horticulture specialist, and Dr. Louis Vasary, entomologist, said the trouble sounds like aphids or maybe scale insects.
Aphid Honeydew
Aphids are those numerous and leather shoe, little editors that drop the "mean" off a "mean" and another time in summer. Then, perhaps, I target a newly written and polished and never an old hand with no letter. Or so it seems.

Anyway, that's one for aphids on a house plant (and this holly seems to qualify) is to drink it upside down in a pall of malathion solution. If the two teaspoonfuls of the 57 percent concentration is not enough, repeat it.

Vasary suggests:
To keep the sap from falling into the soil, cut a cardboard disk with a slot in it to fit around the base of the plant and hold the soil in with that when you upend it without getting chilled.

Melathion spray doesn't smell pretty, but you can live with your plant after it dries.

A FEMININE LOOK

Contributing to a recent National Newspaper Association Study Mission to the British Isles and Scandinavia

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Eleventh in a Series
NORWAY
Roast reindeer, lamb, herring, peas, carrots, cauliflower, boiled parsley potatoes and gravy served with red wine and bread.

It was a dinner given by the Norwegian Embassy in New York for members of the National Newspaper Association Study Mission who were touring Scandinavia and Great Britain late this summer, and it was delicious enough to make life jump the impossible-looking Holmanollen ski jump located in Oslo — if there was snow.

Oslo, in September however, looked nothing like Christmas time. It was about 60 or 65 which is warm in Norway, trees and flowers were in bloom, and a Cadillac with New Jersey plates on, and not a sleigh with bells on, was parked in front of a hotel.

It was not only un-Christmasy — it was downright un-Norwegian.

The dinner, however, was very Norwegian. Reindeer is raised for food in Norway as beef is in the United States, and it tastes much like pot roast and not as strong as venison. Lingonberries are small round crimson berries, sometimes called mountain cranberries, and like cranberries, generally they are not as good raw as cooked. The peas and carrots and cauliflower tasted like peas and carrots and cauliflower but the cauliflower was a new experience. These berries grow only at over and a half thousand feet or over and are white in color with a greenish tint and thereby comes the name. But they look like enemy raspberries. They almost taste like it too. It is a shame to say it, for the Norwegians are proud of the cloudberry and offer it as a special treat. A batch of enemy cloudberry must have been picked by mistake.

After the dinner two fine actors recited several "sea" selections for the entertainment of the company and then some of us walked back to the hotel. It was approximately six blocks away and approximately ten o'clock at night, but the streets were still crowded with people and the shop windows were still brightly lit. Almost like Christmas?

The people were as friendly as Santa Claus anyway. Several times we needed directions, and the people we asked gave them with great care and concern and politeness. We were almost privately piloted several times.

THE AFTERNOON previous to the sumptuous dinner party the shipowners had invited the men ONLY to a briefing and luncheon, and when some of the writing women commented on the exclusion of the women, one shipbuilder apologetically exclaimed, "Oh, we never thought of it! We thought the women would want to go to the frizor."

The frizor or frizer is a beauty shop.

So after some of us got frizzed an others got briefed, we went on a tour of the town. Oslo is a good-looking city. It is not a large, bustling city but more of a large, sedate town. It has lots of trees, hills, parks, modern buildings — and a fjord. Or so they say.

Our itinerary showed no trip to a fjord during our stay in Norway and many members of our group felt there should be. But then someone said that Oslo was ON a fjord so that seemed to make it allright.

The fjord at Oslo however, looked like no fjord ever seen in the movies. It looked like a bay. But that is what "fjord" means in Norwegian. It seems a fjord doesn't necessarily have to have steep, cliff-like sides. Just the movie ones do. So we saw a fjord but not a movie fjord. Norway does have many of the movie type too but they are further north and on the west coast.

THERE IS A BUILDING in Oslo that makes up for it though. It is the steep-cliff-like sleekly modern building that houses the Design Center. It towers 17 stories and on top is a club-room and observation "verandah" all around. From the verandah you can see all sides of the city and it is a worthy view. The many-fingered fjord-bay lies to one side but seems to be everywhere, and in one of the fingers, lingers the King's yacht. Mountains are on another side and on one of them projects the famous Holmanollen championship ski jump — and "projects" is the right word. It looks unbelievable. It must be Norway's secret missile to shoot men to the moon. Certainly it could never land them safely on earth. The people quite probably tell you that the jump means the jump dance, and believe me, the kind should be proud. It is fearful looking.

Now, on another one of the mountains there is what people like a genuine fallen slab of concrete. THAT, we were told, is a very modern apartment house. It does not jut up from the ground but follows the contour of the mountain which gives it the "fallen" look. All of its outside walls and steps are heated to prevent ice and snow accumulation for Oslo has five months of darkness during the year and a severe winter. We were hosted at the Design Center by the Norwegian Export Council and SAS and it began with an inspection of the exhibit of Norwegian industrial and export products, which at the time consisted predominantly of handicrafts. Then we proceeded to the 17th floor club-room and observation verandah where excellent champagne, the magnificent view and a full moon were on hand.

All this was followed by cold-pickled eggs, lingonberries, scallop omelet, salmon, meatballs, sardines, tiny shrimp, etc. at a "Smorbrød" type dinner several floors lower.

Norway may be cold in weather, but it certainly was warm in hospitality and spirit. Just like Christmas.

become good friends and are helpful to each other. However, there is one thing that she does which I find very annoying. I usually use two washers on Monday. One for the white clothes and one for colored clothes, and she knows it. She comes down to the laundry room with a few pieces of colored clothes and says, "It's a shame to spend a quarter to wash these few things. I'll just throw them in with yours."

I can't stand having anyone wash their clothes with mine friend or no friend. How can I handle this situation without hurting her feelings?

Dear Amy:
I have a very dear girlfriend who's ready for a nervous breakdown because she's worried about her house and her boyfriend.

Dear Friend:
His threats are as phony as he, but tell your girlfriend to total the hours he labored on her house, pay him by check marked "PAID IN FULL" and wash her hands of the entire matter ... and him.

Dear Amy:
I'm 15 and want to start to use a little rouge on my cheeks, but my mother says, "No, it's not proper."

Dear Fran:
Hold on to the guy you've got. I doubt that anyone else would want you!

Dear Amy:
Once I wrote to you about the washing machine situation in the apartment building I live in. Your answer gave me the nerve to assert myself.

Dear Amy:
Now I have another problem with the washing machines again — and another neighbor. We have

ANTI-POVERTY PROGRAM

Consult Older Poor, State Urges

Immediate, direct and widespread involvement of the older poor in community action programs was recommended strongly this week by John C. Bullitt, director of the New Jersey Office of Economic Opportunity.

Bullitt said that through community action the older poor can no longer be invisible and no longer silent.

"The older poor are available for consultation almost everywhere we go. I am sure that as the result of candid discussion with them, we will abandon some pet schemes that seemed perfect to us when we were not poor, and we will substitute plans to modify others," he said.

Bullitt used as the springboard for his remarks some conclusions developed here recently in a broad conference on community action programs and the older poor. The conference, sponsored by the State Office, was the first public consideration in the nation of the needs of the older poor in the context of the economic opportunity program.

The conference emphasized, for one thing, that there is a large gap in program planning that has, to a considerable extent, kept persons over 45 out of the anti-poverty effort.

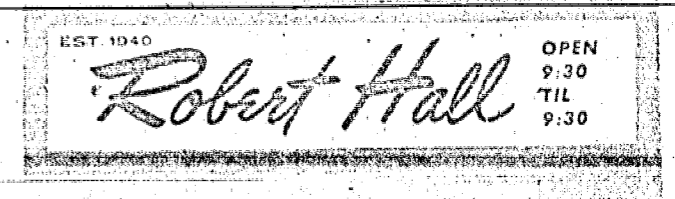

"The conference uncovered the feeling that many who direct the day-to-day activities of community action programs are inexperienced in working with older people and, perhaps, are unaware of existing resources and their potentialities.

"At the same time many of those who have been working with older poor for a long while — and generally in the same communities — often don't understand the new mission of the community action program," Bullitt said.

ANOTHER POINT Bullitt stressed is that there is a danger of launching a great deal of "unsolicited and unwanted" program effort, unless the distinction between the older poor and other older groups — older workers and the aging, for example — is carefully drawn and understood.

A substantial amount of the million or more dollars currently invested in CAP program development work in New Jersey should be directed toward the needs of the older poor as soon as possible.

He added that the winners of the state-wide competition are afforded an opportunity to present their work at the national meeting the following fall.
