May 8 set for decision on problem

'Careful study' slated, says Board president

Mountainside's eighth graders received, reprieve Tuesday night when the Union County Regional School Board, District 1, deferred action on the proposal that would send them to Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, in September for their four years of high school. A decision is scheduled for Avery Ward, of Kenilworth, president of the regional body, assured the approximately 600 at the meeting that a careful study of the problem and of the alternatives presented by officials and parents of Mountainside and Carwood the two communities that would be effected by the proposal) would be made by the board before any final action is taken. He promised that a decision would be forthcoming at a public meeting of the school board on Monday, May 8.

A suggestion made by Maxor Edward Tiller of Garwood that an outside consultant be hired for the study was dismissed by Ward on the basis of lack of time.

-Mayor Frederick Willielms Jr. of Mountainside and Mayor Tiller emphasized that residents of their communities resented having their students being treated as "gypsies" and "nomads" because they do not have regional high schools located within their geo-graphical borders. Mayor Wilhelms said that the board's proposal to shift the approximately 175 Mountainside students in the upcoming freshman class to Jonathan Dayton because of overcrowding in Governor Livingston Regional High School was entirely devoid of compassion.

"MAYOR WILHELMS' COMMENTS, a mem orandum from the borough's Board of Education, presented by the president Robert Brit-ton, and a statement from the Stateing Committee of the Mountainside PTA read by Gene Simpson, all stressed the identification of Mountainaide children with the 'Mountainaide-Berkeley Heights High School."

A statement from the Garwood Board of Education, read by Mayor Tiller, offered spjections to the proposed switch of Garwood students from Clark Regional High School to David Brearley High School, Kenliworth, but said "notwithstanding the objections" that board would accept the decision if assurances would be given that educational opportunities at Brearley would be at least equal to those in Clark High and that "Garwood students will be permanently assigned to David Brearley High School."

This stress on identification of communi-ties and students with one particular school in the regional system reflects a change in philosophy in the regional school system, President Ward pointed out, a change of which the regional board has been unaware.

Ward said that in previous years students in the six communities in the regional system have been shifted "not just to one school but to three "---or to whichever school had empty seats available. In the 1967-68 school year there will be enough seats in the regional system to accommodate all the students but they are not always located in the schools to which the upcoming freshmen have "become Heretofore we have planned overall building programs---it seems we must now change our thinking and plan for space in particular ouldings for particular students from particular communities," Ward com-

Dems delay picking slate

Mountainside Democrats have delayed selecting candidates for the mayoralty and Borough Council on the assumption that the primary will be postponed until September, as recommended by Gov. Richard Hughes to the state legislature. The legislature is expected to act on that proposal today.

William Seeds, chairman of Mountainside's Democratic Municipal Committee, said earlier this week that no attempt would be made to file candidates before April 27, the deadline if the May primary holds.

The governor's move to postpone the primary is probably based on the belief that the state Superior Court will not have rendered a decision on the three cases now before it 'protesting the splitting of Union County into three districts, Seeds indicated. The decisions will undoubtedly be handed down before Septem-

The Republican ticket on the local level still holds. That ticket includes the three outgoing incumbents, Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr., Councilman Charles Irwin and Councilman Donald Robertson, Councilman Irwin, who made an unsuccessful bid to obtain one of the two Republican nominations for Assembly in District 9C, said the post-ponement of the primary will have no effect on his decision to seek re-election to the local governing body.

Ditzel said the prolonged cold weather had prevented progress on the underground plumb-ing work needed for the showers and other sanitary facilities. That plumbing was completed by the end of last week and workers were scheduled to begin pouring the slabs for the shower room floor and the surrounding deck area this week. All critical materials needed to complete the work have been delivered to the job site, Ditzel said,
''May 30 (Memorial Day) is a rather ambi-

opportunity to run free classified ads for student summer help.

The campaign is the third undertaken by Suburban Publishing Co., which has received a "Certificate of Appreciation" from the President and Vice President Hubert Humphrey and letters of commendation from Humphrey and Governor Richard J. Hughes for its past cooperation in the program.

Robert H. Brumell, advertising director, said students who took advantage of the free ad opportunity last year received excellent results. He said that out of 198 who answered queries in a follow-up survey, 118, or 61 percent, received responses and 46, or 23 percent, found summer jobs.

Letters explaining the offer have been sent to all high school principals and superinten-dents and special forms will be made available at the schools. A clip-out form also appears in this newspaper today.

Classified Manager Frank Sollows gave the following tips on wording to students submitting

I. Try to stress what you can offer, not just the fact that you are available for work. 2. Point out qualities and skills that you possess that are different rather than "willing to do anything," or "willing worker."

3. Word your ad simply and clearly, stressing chief points in the first few words, as these are the ones that catch the reader's eye. 4. Since the ads will appear in several com-munities, it is a good idea to mention your town or neighborhood, particularly in ads for baby sitters, to facilitate the spotting of your ad by a prospective employer.

The rules for submitting ads: 1. Offer applies only to young people cur-rently in high school or college.

2. Ads must not exceed 25 words in length. 3. All ads must be typewritten or printed.

4. Only one ad per student, pleasel
5. Ads should be submitted in person or mailed to SUBURBAN PUBLISHING CORP. 1291 Stuyvesant ave., Union.

6. No ads will be accepted by telephone.
7. Most ads will be printed as united. Most ads will be printed as written. However, the publisher reserves the right to re-word if necessary for clarity and to reject an ad for any reason.

Seeks to construct building for offices

An application of Mindowawkin Holding Co., operators of the Mindowaskin Swim Club in Mountainside, for a variance to erect an office building on a portion of its property at 1020-1024 Springfield ave., will be considered at the May 8 meeting of the Board of Adjustments. The application was on the agenda at the April meeting but was postponed because of lack of time. The zoning board did approve the application of Edward Reilly Jr. for permission to build a garage and porch addition on his property at 1321 Stony Brook lane. The variance was necessary because of side yard and area violations.

The board also deferred decision on the applications of John Sinak of Scotch Plains to build a one-family house at 302 Meeting House lane and Anthony Pools Inc. for a sales office at 1376 Rt. 22.

The application of Frank Stroup to build a one-family house on Mary Allen way was referred to the Planning Board for a recom-

Board endorses code for students

The code of behavior and dress, approved by the Student Council of Deerfield School and the Parent-Teachers Association was formally endorsed at the April meeting of Mountainside's Board of Education.

Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, School Superintendent, explained that observance of the code is volumtary. Only 12 of the 500 families involved had not signed the slips sent home with the students asking their support of the code, Dr. Hanigan said.

The code applies only to the sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

Promoted in Korea

The Signal Corps of the Army has promoted Paul Maceluch from the rank of Private First Class to that of Specialist Fourth Class according to word received by young Maceluch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Maceluch, of 36 Harding ter., Irvington. He is stationed at Camp Casey in Korea.

Maceluch, 20, began his service in February, 1966. He is a graduate of Irvington High School and was employed by Western Electric in Newark. The signalman, before entering the service, enjoyed his membership in the Irvington Garden Club, being one of its most active members as well as one of its youngest.

"I have just bought my first boat. How do I go about having it insured?" a read-It's as important for you to insure your boat as it is to insure your car. Without such insurance -- especially liability coverage -- you could suffer serious financial loss.

Some property damage coverage for boats and liability protection for the boat owner are included in homeowners package policies. Outboard motorboats of 24 horsepower or less, inboards of 50 horsepower or less and sailboats less than 26 feet long are covered at no extra premiums. Additional premiums are charged for bigger Boat owners without homeowners policies may buy personal liability coverage separately. The homeowners policies also provide up to $500 of insurance against loss to a boat, motor, trailer or accessories resulting from fire, theft, vandalism and other perils. Loss caused by windstorm or hail is not covered if the boat is left out in the open, with the exception of cances and rowboats. However, many boat owners need more than $500 coverage against damage to their craft. For this, several specific watercraft policies are available. These policies vary in the number of perils

Some policies, for example, exclude collision coverage while the boat is being used for water skiing unless there are at least two persons in the boat.

Because of the variety of coverage: available, the insurance information insti-tute suggests that boat owners contact their independent agent or broker to find the policy best suited to their needs. . . . . .

825 families sign for pool

The maximum of 825 families, the great malority of whom were members last year, have signed up for the 1967 season for Mountainside's municipal pool, according to William Ditzel, chairman of the Recreation Commission. About 20 families are on the waiting list, Ditzel said.

Membership fees were due last week, Ditzel pointed out. A few families, while indicating they are continuing as members, have not yet paid their dues in full. The pool chairman re-minds them that the 'deadline is past - dues must be in or we will have to go to the waiting list for replacements," He urged all those interested in holding on to their memberships to make sure their dues are paid in full.

Memorial Day, as previously announced, is still the target date for the opening of the pool on a weekend and holiday basis. The pool will not open full time until after the close of the

The shower house, now under construction, may not be entirely completed by that date. However, this will not delay the opening date if the shower and bathroom facilities are completed, Ditzel said.

Music coordinator attends workshop on Kodaly method

Aden Lewis, music coordinator for Mountainside schools, attended a music education workshop held last Friday at Newark State College, Union, under the direction of Professor Doris Englehardt.

The workshop included a demonstration of an American adaptation of the teaching methods used in Hungary, many of which were de-veloped by the famed Hungarian composer, Zoltan Kodaly, The NSC workshop used methods adapted from the Kodaly system by Mary I. Richards who studied the method in Hungary. Professor Englehardt will study in Hungary this summer.

Lewis pointed out after the meeting that the Richards' adaptation of the Kodaly method has been employed in the music education department of the Mountainside schools for the past three years. According to a recent evaluation which he conducted, Lewis estimates that the children studying under this method are "at least two years ahead of the point where they would have been without it."

The Kodaly method stresses the use of charts, hand and arm signals and other body movements. It has been used for the past two years in a pilot program in the demonstration school on Newark State's campus and has been introduced in some other schools in the area this year.

Mountainside schools were the first in New Jersey to employ this method, Lewis stated.

Scout troops busy with many projects

Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 195, who are working on "My Community" badge, recently visited the Mountainside Rescue Squad Building where they were given a lecture and demonstration of equipment by Charles Shomo, captain of the Rescue Squad. They also learned something about the community newspaper when a newspaper representative visited a Scout meeting and showed slides demonstratine the process in printing a paper.

Another group in this troop is interested in the "Troop Dramatics" badge. They have been holding tryouts for a play which will be given at the Court of Awards.

The troop as a whole is busy making plans for an overnight encampment at Blue Heron May, Troop 195 is under the leadership of Mrs. William Sells, Mrs. Kenneth Geiger and Mrs. Leslie Figular.

Camp Blue Heron in Sparta will also be used for week-end camping by the girls of Junior Scout Troop 557. Led by Mrs. Robert Osbahr, Mrs. Paul Smith and Mrs. Bernard Lauhoff, this troop is preparing for an April week-end at Heron.

VIEWS ON REGIONAL SHIFT (The following is a copy of a letter sent to the Regional School Board.)

Yesterday evening, a large number of residents of the borough of Mountainside met for a general discussion of the problems created by the proposed re-alignment of students within the Union County Regional High School

It certainly need not be emphasized that the announcement at such a late date of an issue so important to many, foremost to those in-volved, has created high sentiments. Despite of this, the attending citizens demonstrated quite clearly their determination to face the problem and to help solve both the immediate issue in a fashion acceptable to all and to participate actively in finding a permanent

In the following, I am summarizing my impressions of the meeting which I hope will help you come to a decision this coming April 18, a decision which we expect would distribute the burden caused by the immediate problem as uniformly as possible amongst all member communities. Whereas the communities of Kenilworth, Berkeley Heights, Springfield, Mountainside, Garwood and Clark mutually share the decided benefits of the regional high school system, they must equally be prepared to share any temporary burdens. As a citizen of the borough of Mountainside, I can assure you that we are certainly willing to do our part, but we also have a right to expect the other communities who benefit from this system to make some sacrifices.

From the figures presented by Dr. Davis, the movement of the present Mountainside and Baltusrol Top 8th graders would keep the enrollment at the Gov. Livingston High School within the capacity of this school. However, since 118 additional pupils are projected for 1968-1969 Gov. Livingston will again be next year well over capacity. requiring additional movements. It follows that the problem cannot be resolved by this expedient, resulting a.o. in a splitting of communities, divisions of allegiance, loss of friendship and the like for our children.

Dr. Davis further pointed out quite candidly the problem which would have to be faced if the move suggested by the board would not be carried out. To the majority present, these problems seemed not to be unsurmountable and certainly of lesser consequence than making "gypsy-children" out of our present eighth graders.

From the many comments and suggestions presented, I would like to quote those which found either unanimous support or - in my opinion - appear to be workable solutions.

1. To solve the problem by moving the eighth graders from Mountainside was unanimously not considered an acceptable solution in the form presented. 2. If any such movements had to be made, these were to be restricted to the freshmanclasses only with the guarantee of returning these children to the schools of their community at the start of their sophomore year. 3. To adopt 2. (above) only if all plans fail to find a workable solution to the problems of over-capacity at the Gov. Livingston / Arthur L. Johnson High Schools. To this respect, one suggestion made appears extremely noteworthy and should be thoroughly considered. According to Dr. Davis, in order to create space it would become necessary to cancel several advanced science classes in case the Mountainside pupils were not moved to Jonathan Dayton, It was suggested that these advanced science classes be held at Jonathan Dayton and that, if these classes were timed properly, the participants (all older children) could easily be bussed to these classes with a minimum of disruption. This is done in many large universities where the individual facilities are spread rather far apart. Whereas such a method is undoubtedly an inconvenience, it is of far lesser consequence than creating a "gypsy" group within a community.

4. To expedite as quickly as possible all matters related to a permanent solution to the problem, thus getting back to normal operation within a minimum of time. If additional help would make such a task easier this should present no problem.

SPRINGFIELD ANSWERS The furore aroused in the last two weeks by proposals to realign sending districts within the Regional High School Districts is a perfect example of one of the major problems faced by any regional school system.

Whenever there are any painful decisions to be made, people tend to think in terms of their own communities; few are able to see the full picture in the perspective of what is best for the entire district.

Usually, special interests tend to cancel each other out, and the central administration can act for the good of the entire district. Sometimes, of course, problems defy solution. The physical plant of the region's parent school, Jonathan Dayton in Springfield, has continued to age while primary attention was going to the bright, new facilities at Gov. Livingston, A.L. Johnson and David Brearley.

Now that Dayton appears likely once again to house scholars from the upper split-level of the Regional District, however, the repairs already under way will no doubt be intensi-

Insularity, of course, tends to erect fences which are opaque on both sides. Last December, when PTA leaders and citizens of Springfield were pressing vigorously for higher faculty standards, and salaries, for Jonathan Dayton and the entire regional system, there was no sign of support from Mountainside or any of the other communities.

Now, the citizens of Mountainside have joined in an appeal to protect their children from what they apparently regard as the lower "academic, moral and social' standards of Springfield. The people of Springfield can possibly be forgiven if they fail to sympathize.

One further note might be in order, Educational experts from a variety of ivory towers seem to agree that segregation on the basis of income or academic interests is just as unhealthy, for both sides, as segregation on any

Senator CLIFFORD P. CASE Reports

Careful study has convinced me that the proposals of the Governor's task force on the "Central New Jersey Expressway" and the Garden State Parkway are uneven and unfair in their impact upon great numbers of highway users and fail to meet essential traffic needs of a large area of the state.

Just for one example, I can see no justice in having the Parkway Authority take over the segments of free public highway which it has been using without cost from the beginning and exclude local traffic from those segments unless it pays tolls, while at the same time the same Parkway Authority uses 24.5 million dollars of its own funds for the construction of a substantial part of a new express road between Trenton and the Shore which will be entirely toll free.

I have advised the Governor that I cannot support his proposals in their present form. I've also told him that I shall be glad to cooperate with him and his associates in the effort to correct the defects and inadequacies of those proposals.

Since it began, the Parkway has been using, at no cost to it, some 20 miles of highway theretofore constructed with state and Federal funds as a part of the state's free highway system. Fourteen miles of this constitute the way are in Ocean and Cape May Counties. Moreover, adequate Moreover, these state-owned sections Parkway between Rt. 22 and the Raritan River. Moreover, these state-owned sections of the Parkway have ever since been maintained and policed by the state at no cost to the Parkway.

IT IS NOW PROPOSED that the Parkway buy these segments of roadway from the state, after which it will charge tolls to local riders.

The purchase price to be paid by the Parkway, to the state has not been determined; it is clearly contemplated, however, to be not more than the original cost of these segments of roadway, as opposed to what it would now cost to replace them.

It seems fair to suggest that if the Parkway is not willing to pay the state enough money for these segments of road to permit the state to build substantially equivalent replacement roads for free highway use, then the state should say to the Parkway, "Very well, we'll take back the segments of public highway you have been using as part of the Parkway and let you build new parkway sections to take their

Not only is the amount proposed to be paid for taking over these sections of public highway for exclusive Parkway use inadequate. The state proposes to use only half of this inadequate amount in improvements to other local public roads in the areas affected. Inquiry into the specific improvements so planned indicates they will not even begin to provide adequate alternative transportation to those who will be excluded from the free use of the segments of public highway now used by the Parkway.

The proposals' unfairness to present local users of the public highway segments of the Parkway is sharply increased by the fact, already mentioned, that at the same time as they are compelled to pay tolls or leave the Parkway for wholly inadequate local roads, the Parkway Authority is spending 24.5 million dollars in building an important segment of a new toll free expressway between Trenton and the Shore.

I FULLY APPRECIATE the need to relieve the congestion, and reduce the hazards thereby created, on the Middlesex-Union County stretch of public road now included in the Garden State Parkway. But, if local traffic is to be removed from this section, there must, at the same time, be created an adequate alternative for such local traffic.

The people of Middlesex and Union are equally entitled, with all other citizens of New Jersey, to adequate through highways. The urgency of their particular need is demonstrated by the already extreme congestion, both on the Parkway an on such other highways as exist in this most populous and highly industrialized area of the state. Clearly this need should be of the highest priority and not be largely neglected as it would be by the

Moreover, adequate highways in the Union-Middlesex area need not, and should not, delay construction of an express road between Tregton and the Shore, a road which has been long promised and still does not exist.

The logical and most economical way to provide this road would be by having Rt. 33 continue directly into Trenton instead of taking its present diversionary jog down Route 130 and making it a dualized, multi-lane, limitedaccess highway throughout. If this were done, the need for the entirely new toll-free expressway, proposed to be built in part by the state highway department and in part, as indicated above, with Parkway funds, would be elimi-

The savings here would more than adequately provide for the present urgent needs of high-way users in the Union-Middlesex area and eliminating the congestion on the sections of public highway which are now used by the Parkway in its passage through those counties. understand that it would cost the Parkway Authority 24.5 million dollars for the segment the Trenton-Shore expressway proposed to be built by it and would cost the state high way department 48.5 million dollars to build the remainder of this new expressway.

I repeat: the legitimate needs of the state and all its highway users can and should be met without injustice or unfairness to any particular section. I will cooperate whole heartedly to that end. But I cannot cooperate in a plan which I think is both inadequate and unfair.

PROFILE---Mrs. Jean Beierle

Mrs. Jean Beierle will have three oil paintings --- two still lifes and a seascape---in art exhibit which opens this Saturday in the borough's business center. Many of the paintings, all done by members of the adult art classes sponsored by the Mountainside Music Association, will be offered for sale. Asked if any of hers can be purchased, Mrs. Belerie looked frankly astonished, then amused, as if the very idea of anyone paying money for one of the paintings she does "just for fun" was ludicrous.

That attitude is typical of her -- simple, forthright with no attempts at pretensions She was astonished that anyone had pointed out her work as particularly good, unabashedly flattered that she should be considered de-serving of special attention. She is flattered also that two of her paintings now hang in the homes of friends---'one of them right in the living room, over the fireplace," her voice splinters into a small shriek of surprise. She also enjoys the further distinction of being the only person who has not missed a single class of the three ten-week MMA-sponsored courses conducted by George

Christy, as art teacher in the borough schools. even get there 15-minutes early so I can have my easel set up so I won't waste a minute of the class," she confesses with a

ALTHOUGH SHE SHRUGS off any complimentary remarks on her talent, she has been interested in painting ever since school days. She attended Arts High School in Newark and evening classes in the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts. She met her husband, Joseph, (who is, she says, the real artist in the family) while attending the latter school. 'He used to pick me up in his old convertible," she remembers, "and give me a ride home. However, they were not married until many years later. With characteristic frankness, she says that delay was due to many reasons

---economic problems, family responsibilities and "we took turns liking each other --when he liked me I didn't like him and when I liked him he didn't like-me. Eventually we wound up liking each other at the same time." Mrs. Beierle was the oldest of nine children of Polish-born parents, Both she and her husband, whose parents were born in Germany, grew up in the Ironbound section of "We both had responsibilities at homewhere we grew up the kids went to work and brought their pay home to the families, there was no talk of 'my money' --kids just knew they had to help out and none of us questioned it." Childless themselves, looking back they feel that the stern but loving discipline administered in their homes was an excellent preparation for life.

"My father was the boss. When he gave an order, he gave it only once. He was a good, kind father but he was the head of the house; no one questioned his decisions." Mrs. Beierle thinks that's still a good arrangement --- 'a man should be the head of the house," she insists.

She herself defers to her husband in most things; much of that deference springs naturally from her admiration of her husband's undeniable talents.

A versatile artist and craftsman, Joe Beierle won crafts awards way back in the mid-1930's. One of his prize-winning creations, a faithful reproduction of a stage-coach, with moving wheels, an operable brake and other mobile parts, is on display on a wall-hanging breakfront which he made. To make room in their kitchen for a new refrigerator, Beierle tore out one wall, rebuilt cabinets and made new closets, individually designed to accommodate his wife's serving dishes and other long. We love every inch of it," Mrs. Beierle

They bought their lot, a pleasantly-treed spacious piece of property, in 1949 for $2,000. "Then all our money was gone and we started saving for our house. We had agreed that we would not get married until we had our own home to move into," they recall. Three years later they moved into their own home. They did much of the decorating themselves. Joe, a driver for Ballantine Brew-ery in Newark, does all the repair jobs around the house. He also uses his fertile imagination to create unusual effects in the decoration. He designed a Spanish-style headboard for a bed from a series of round curtain

He is also a painter. For years he stuck mainly to sketching and working with char-coal, However his wife's work in oils sparked his own interest and he has completed several oils, all with a western theme. A cowboy buff, he has hand-carved guns, gun cases, horses and other items.

THE BEIERLES ARE well-known in their neighborhood, "They're the people who like kids so much," one Bridle path resident says. Their lawn is a gathering place for the neighborhood kids. Impromptu art classes, conducted by Joe, are held there on many spring and summer days. The kids bring record players over to play their latest ear-splitting acquisitions for "Joe and Jean." And Joe's always ready for a softball game.

Because he works on a shift schedule, he is often around during hours when the 9-to-5 men are not. Joe enjoys the games as much as the children, his wife says. And he knows what kids like. Many summer evenings he puts the top of their old convertible down, piles it with boys and girls, hot and weary after a fast game, and takes them to the ice-cream stand for treats. His involvement with the children almost got him into trouble with the shop steward at his place of employment. Without his knowledge, one of the girls sent a letter to the company suggesting that perhaps Joe's hours could be changed to allow more time for the neighborhood games. The shop steward; thinking Joe was aware of the request, demanded, with more than a hint of belligerence, Joe was "looking for special favors.

He obviously didn't know Beierle very well, Jean and Joe Beierle don't look for "special favors." They try instead to do them.

School's role in society expanding, so is need for top-flight teachers

This is the twelfth in a series of weekly columns written by members of the staff of Glassboro State College. The views expressed are those of the writers, in this case, Don Bagin, associate professor of communications.

It's new. It's exciting, it's full of opportunities. Challenges unlimited. Feeling of satisfaction and contribution. Salary going up. Wide range of positions open.

Does the above sound like an adprepared for an excellent company by a Madison Avenue

The ad could be used to describe some of the positions available in the education field. Seldom do educators use such language when describing the new positions available in their

The schools' role in society is expanding, The country sees more and more each day the importance of education. Thus, the scope of schools is increasing. And it takes topflight people to provide the leadership needed to guide the changing face of education in the modern world.

There was a time, not so long ago, when schools were for kids alone. Schools were open from early morning to mid-or late afternoon. five days a week and forgotten the rest of the time, Six-year olds went to school So did those up to about 18, if they weren't needed to work full time before that.

Teachers, in many cases, taught from one textbook and concerned themselves with making sure their student attendance records were correct. Many hours were spent keeping detailed records and doing other clerical work.

But education is changing, More people are going to school. Just look at adult schools, the Head Start programs, and the community colleges, if you're not sure,

And these schools, as well as modern changes in education, are offering plenty of challenges and satisfactions in the educational

This is Teaching Career Month. And there are many good classroom teachers needed. But their responsibilities might differ from the classroom teachers of yesteryear. Their facilities will be much improved too in most cases. Salaries will be improved too. For the public is recognizing that the vital part of an ducational program is the people running it. Most of them are classroom teachers. To attract and keep top-notch people in the schools, districts will have to pay well enough to make educational careers financially attractive. No longer does being dedicated mean one has to have holes in the living room rug. Today's and tomorrow's teachers will have teaching aid unknown not too many years ago. Equipment being designed and manufactured often allows teachers to make effective use of their talents to get across to more kids than ever before.

In addition to more available equipment, some schools are offering teachers the help of aides in the classroom. This relieves teachers of non-professional responsibilities. Also, the computer and automatic data processing world has reached education, freeing teachers of the time-consuming responsibilities of keeping clerical records,

Teachers are getting more time to teach in many schools. This will increase as more schools recognize that teachers can use whatever time is made available for the advantage Much has been written on the satisfactions of teaching -- on the feeling that you have in some way improved the lives of others. And many people will be attracted to teaching for this reason.

However, there are many other careers in education which others might like to consider. School librarians, directors of adult edu-cation, community college personnel and educational researchers are needed. Let's consider one of these.

The image of the school librarian is rapidly changing. No longer do people who know the important role played by such people think of the librarian as a single female whose contribution to the school is to teach students to be quiet.

The school librarian (or the person responsible for the instructional materials center) is now frequently involved in planning programs for certain classes. Working with teachers and department heads, the librarian is part of the instructional program. A good school librarian is at the hub of the school's learning activities. And such a person is in

There are plenty of satisfying careers in education,

They offer much. And as society continues to realize that it is its education system which improves that society, salaries will continue

It has been truly said that when the nation's economy sneezes the textile industry comes down with pneumonia, Now, after a five year period of unprecedented prosperity, the economy appears to have a sniffle or two-and the textile industry is once again bedridden. Earnings of most major textile concerns declined significantly in the December quarter, and at year end the industry's overall position had deteriorated markedly from the boom conditions of ealy 1966.

The year - end position of rising inventories, declining backlogs, falling prices and production outbacks are rooted in two basic actors: A decline in overall demand (particularly from industrial users and in home fur-nishings) aggravated by a flood of cotton, synthetic fiber and fabric imports.

At the same time, industry capacity (particularly in synthetics) has risen rapidly in response to the strong prior growth indemand and over $4-billion in capital spending since 1961. Thus, the industry found itself in a position of expanded capacity and heightened competition when demand fell off--and with wages and other expenses rising, profit margins were squeezed hard as prices and unit sales deter-

Gains from apparel and military business were primarily responsible for the 5.5 percent increase in 1966 textile dollar sales. Without this stimulus, 1967 sales probably will be level at about $20,5-billion. Earnings will be hit harder, since expenses continue to rise and the industry's pricing position has deteriorated significantly from a year ago.

Restoration of the percent investment credit should help, but mostly in 1958 since many programs already have been cut back. Assuming institution of the six percent tax surcharge I look for an overall decline of roughly 15 percent in industry earnings in 1967. Comparisons in the first half of the year probably will be poorest, since these will be against peak results of 1966. Now, of course, the situation is quite dif-ferent; but on a longer term basis of a year or more, there is valid reason to believe that rextile demand again will rise substantially, For instance, personal income continues to increase (even through the present economic pause) and it is increasingly channeled into the 15-34 age group -- which is growing most strongly and is most particularly interested in acquiring apparel, automobiles, homes and furnishings.

At the same time, the larger concerns in the textile industry have made massive strides in modernizing plant, diversifying into varying segments of the industry, and developing sophisticated research and marketing organizations. I see no reason why the trend to consolidation within the industry should not continue; and it might accelerate in the current - out period. The emerging concerns should post strong growth in sales and earnings over the next five years.

trad trends found in modern home furnishings

Mad, Mod and Trad is the newest bag of trend-setting home furnishings styles now appearing in retail stores after having been previewed by retailers during the recent International Home Furnishings Market at the American Furniture Mart, Chicago.

There is just enough Mad to put sizzle in home furnishings styles, a great advantage these days when so many younger people are making their influence felt in home decorating

You can easily identify Mad by its kinetic relationship to current apparel fashions, its visual trademark is op and pop artiness, like polka dots and geometrics on furniture. At its most smashing, ultra urbane, it presides in black-and-white, but at its most adventuresome it goes color crazy. So do believe your eyes when the next time you sail in on your local furniture store and are gaily greeted by a polka-dotted chair ensembled with a widly wavy geometric sofa.

Mod becomes the conservative cousin of Mad. if you want a comparison. It is likely to have such stable materials as aluminum or steel, shiny - or satin-finished, combined with distinctive woods in low-key, oil-type finishes and glass, and rough textured fabrics alternating with velvets on deep-cushioned, weltand uncluttered but definitely not stark. It is now the category to watch. Designers show signs of having been stirred by the spirit of '76 (1976!). They appear no longer apologetic about stepping on prologues from design's past. You can be sure that the modern you choose now will age gracefully because its own traditions have taken firm root.

Trad (a "cool" abbreviation for traditional) comprises just about all familiar style periods predating what is now designated as modern. In this category are the popular design elements from early, colonial and federal America, as well as those from Italy, France, Spain and England. Years of reproducing and refining continue to provide a wide range of choices for varied modes of living and decorating while also satisfying the "collector" instinct. If a single influence is dominant among the latest home furnishings designs, it may well be that of universal urbanization. The City Look appears to be the means of expressing the better, more affluent life everywhere.

But style boundaries are unrestrictive. In fact, they are unmarked. Designers, through their new offerings, give you the freedom of mixing styles and periods. For example, this design daring may put an Italian style case on French legs, or a linen-fold application on a modern case or table.

This license also encourages lavish blending in a room of pure-line modern pieces with antiques or reproductions from any design period. It is freedom inspired by a wideworldliness, of kinship with the international city, to be applied with equal ease in the suburban house and the highrise in town.

Further supporting the "worldly mixer" decree is a wide choice of feature_pieces, offered separately but also incorporated frequently in a collection. Here is the helpful answer for those seeking to give high tone to a room or area, with a library table, a hall chest, a wine cellar, a deck, a gentle-man's chest, or an armoire in any conceivable style from William and Mary to modern.

"KITCHEN TRIANGLE" IS TIME-SAVER suggested by many kitchen-planning experts. Modern work-saving appliances, such as a no-front refrigerator-freezer, electric range and automatic dishwasher, are set at three points of a triangle, in basic kitchen designs, as shown. For other wanted effects on modern sofas and chairs, there are covers in natural or simulated leathers, matted felts, suede prints, glen plaids, and more checks and linens.

When not completely upholstered, a number of the sofas and chairs gain extra richness from wrap-arounds executed in rare rosewood or other luxury wood outlines.

Ottomans now come in an extravagant number of sizes. The larger ones even outgrow their chair companionship, supply generous seating when company overflows. And when the proportions get really ambitious, you may even find them tagged as a "harem" lounge.

Fabrics on traditional sofas come in an embarrassment of choices, aimed to accommodate every conceivable decorating intent or scheme. Abounding are silks, satins, damasks, matelasses, moires, taffetas, linens, exquisite chintzes, in addition to velvets, corduroys, leathers and other popular coverings.

Today's popular styles, according to a recent wood industry tabulation, are ranked in the following order: modern; the combination of Early American, American Colonial and Federal; Italian; French (more formal than provincial); English, and Spanish. Walnut is rated the most widely used furniture wood, However, pecan is closing ranks as a runner-up, with cherry and maple also figuring prominently in new stylings. Oak, mahogany and butternut are among other fine domestic cabinet woods you may choose from in a wide range of styles to suit your personal home decorating preferences.

ciently improve an undersized, obsolete kitch-en, it may be best to start a new kitchen from scratch in another room. That's what the owners of a 30-year-old farmhouse did with beautiful success.

The original kitchen suffered from cramped quarters, poor layout, small windows and narrow entrances. By applying the magic touch of imagination, and with the use of modern wood windows and doors, they transformed an old-fashioned, little-used porch into a spacious kitchen of streamlined efficiency.

The old kitchen was turned into a guest room. To preserve the architectural style and outdoor look of the porch, the new kitchen was styled with a country flavor. The sloping roof line was retained, and the original rafters were encased in pine and treated to a dark, glossy staining. Screens that had enclosed the porch were replaced with handsome ponderosa pine casement windows. By using two types of stock wood windows -- floor-to-ceiling sliding windows in the dining area of the kitchen, and over-the-counter casements in the kitchen proper -- the room gained sev-

One extra special item seldom given but sure to be welcomed by ninety-nine out of every one hundred persons is a chair. They can be even better given in pairs.

A chair is so rarely thought of in gift terms. But you can think of anyone who couldn't use another carefully selected chair in his or her home'? A special chair of ones own appeals to almost any man or woman, including parents, golden-agers, newlyweds, reenagers, and careerists.

It is easy to pick gift chairs from today's wide selection of styles, types and prices. Variety ranges from dainty boudoir chairs to all-purpose pull-ups Don't overlook the deep, com-fortable recliners that take a load off their heart when oldsters lean way back with their feet off the ground.

And it so happens that chair or two for mom or dad also makes a wonderful gift for the entire family. They always do.

One of the reasons that furniture makes such a good gift item at this time is that new furniture is a good investment, and not just for the returns in more plesant living. In these days of rising prices, and services rising constantby, furniture prices have remained fairly stable.

Color for illumination

Colors are major factors in illumination. They have a significant bearing on sight.
And it is well to remember that the right colors seldom cost more than wrong ones. Most important, it is color inthe surroundings that have a psychological power for good or bad. They bring about basic sensations which influence emotions and are responsible for the building of behavior patterns.

Interior decorator finds patrons loyal over two decades

A small-store venture in a low-rent district has blossomed into a major interior decorating business within a span of two decades—Zarro and Associates at 224 Rahway Ave., Elizabeth.

The firm, which currently occupies 20,000 square feet of display and operating space, still serves customers who first came to the shop when it was opened.

Three full-time designers are on duty, in addition to Carl Zarro, the founder, and a skilled and well-equipped workroom staff.
The first Zarro facility disappeared at the beginning of the Washington ave, urban renewal project, but, even prior to that public response to quality and service by the firm required get distribution are the prime services. Those who have moved from the city still return to Zarro for service, with patrons ranging from White Plains to Philadelphia. Zarro attributes this loyalty to his ability to offer unique and distinctive furnishings and materials, to artistic and practical knowledge of his designers and to the integrity of craftsmanship in his workrooms.

Good carpet installation seen key to maintenance, long life

Eugene F. Brehm, president of the Brehm's Inc., a carpet cleaning firm with outlets in Westfield and Elizabeth, said this week that good carpet installation is as important to homeowners as good dressmaking is to a wo-

Because of this, Brehm said, his firm's installers are all factory trained, and all installation work is carefully inspected before finally approved. "Good installation assures long life and easy maintenance, and Brehm's will be here tomorrow to service the carpet you buy today.
Of that you can be sure," the company presi-

Brehm's has been in business for 31 years, and the firm's president estimated that it is the largest independent carpet cleaning firm in the state. Brehm said that the firm is experienced in caring for all types of carpet fibers. The company's factory trained servicemen are uniformed and bonded, and use the Bigelow 'Karpet Kare' method developed by Bigelow Rugs and Carpets, one of the country's largest carpet manufacturing firms.

According to Brehm, the Bigelow method allows for the cleaning of carpets right in the home with "a minimum of inconvenience." "Only the best qualified service firms are authorized to use this world-famous carpet-cleaning method." Brehm said. He said the method completely restores textures, patterns and colors, making them "like new."

Another feature of the "Karpet Kare" method, Brehm said, is the "Soil Retardant Action." A soil fighting ingredient is left in the carpet as it is being cleaned. The ingredient is in the form of small powder particles which absorb soil, and which are then removed with

Because wall-to-wall carpeting represents an important investment to the homeowner, Brehm's uses every precaution to insure long and satisfactory wear," Brehm said.

In addition to the firm's rug cleaning plants, it also has two carpet showrooms, one at 333 N. Broad st., Elizabeth, and one at 234 E. Broad st., Westfield. Leading carpet lines in the country are in stock, Brehm said. These include: Karastan, Bigelow, Masland, Mohawk, Coronet and others.

Baroque fashions coming into style

America is believed to be a Baroque period in its decorating tastes. What is it? This style originated in the late 16th century and is characterized by sweeping flattened curves, exaggerated scale, and a general effect of opulence, often created by the use of rich, fantastic and exotic motifs.

Test chairs and sofas for comfort before buying. Don't be fooled into thinking that any upholstered piece of furniture is automatically comfortable. The angle of the back is very important---so is the dept of the seat. Sit in any chair a good five minutes before you decide to buy it. Take your husband along and fit him to his chair.

Furnishings today show improvement over good old days

Every once in a while you hear someone say they long for the "good old days." Not so the American housewife with savvy. She understands that furniture and other home furnishings currently available to her in retail furniture stores is better styled and better made than their counterparts were even a generation ago. And as for the "good old days, if they every did exist, Duncan Phyfic just never had it so good.

Quietly, and without the fanfare that accompanies each new "widget" or flash of chrome on new automobiles, the furniture industry through use of advanced new materials and because of modern, efficient new factories with tools and machinery old time cabinetmakers never even dreamed of, is producing great quantities of furniture destined to become the heirlooms of tomorrow.

Many of the world's top designers, archi-tects, and even sculptors and artists have helped create today's furniture for American households.

Some of the features you can easily check are the durable alcohol and cigarette-resistant finishes, non-tarnishable brass and other metal finishes for hardware, drawers opening smoothly on non-stick center drawer guides, durable plastic table surfaces and beautifully finished, functionally partitioned drawers and re-arrangeable shelves. Improvements in coverings for upholstered furniture are readily seen because they are on the outside. But they are matched by construction improvements that cannot be seen by the naked eye.

Survey reveals plans for remodeling

1,195 families interviewed in Channel study

Fifty-four percent of New Jerseyans living in homes 10 years or older plan to do some remodeling within 12 months; more than half will do all or part of the work themselves; the rationals for remodeling is a strong de-sire to remain in the same neighborhood and kitchens and recreation rooms are the No. 1 remodeling targets.

These were among some 5,000 facts un-covered in a 13 month, 1195 home study of home owners' intentions and material preferences conducted by the Market Research Department of Channel Lumber Company, one of the nation's largest chains of retail stores catering to the do-it-yourself market, According to Al Viscito, marketing direc-tor for the 10-store firm, the study, undertaken in order to provide information on con-sumer preferences for Channel's new product development division, got underway in March 1966, and was completed recently after more than 1,000 families had been questioned.

We found out many things which will help us develop and introduce new products over the next five years," said Viscito, "including rooms, which type of materials and what added facilities people will want."

Primary in the mind's of these homeowners were (in order of frequency) better kitchens with more storage space, addition of a room or enclosed patho/porch and extensive re-modeling of the family room or "rec" room.
"It is most intersting to note," said Vis-cito, "that the decision to remodel or add a room is almost always based on the family's desire to remain in the neighborhood. 'While the statistical breakdown which our Marketing Department completed covers more than 175 pages, we have condensed major findings which are of most interest to home owners." These are:

Regarding the respondents: nine out of 10 lived in a single-family house, about half in a home 10 years old or older; median family size was 3.1 persons; median age of household heads was 45 years; median income was Regarding present homes: 73 percent had three or more bedrooms; 50 percent had two or more baths; median valuation of $22,000. Past home improvement activities: 50 per cent did some major remodeling in the past three years; kitchen remodeling and room additions were most frequently mentioned.

Home improvement plans: 54 percent plan to improve their homes in the next 12 months; •kitchens will be the center of interest; nearly half of these families plan to utilize do-ityourself in whole or part; about a third will finance part of the expenditure; home beauti-fication and increased space are important

Regarding attitudes; generally the decision to remodel is based on a desire to remain the same neighborhood; given a windfall of one month's pay, 40 percent reported a de-sire to save it; if spent it would be for home improvement; delegates preferred soft pastel colors and combination of wood paneling, paint and/or paper in interior decorating; spring and summer seasons are the favorite times for home improvements: decisions regarding home improvement are usuall made jointly by hus-

Regarding present kitchens; lack of well-arranged cabinet and storage space was the most frequent complaint; 68 percent felt their present kitchen was big enough in square footage; nearly half reported that sound control was very important in the kitchen; 90 percent were willing to pay for washable acoustical tile; the object of remodeling usually for more storage, more convenience and efficiency; 86 percent prefer plastic laminate counter tops; 76 percent like full-height wall cabinets; 69 percent prefer vinyl tile floor coverings.

Regarding preferences in dens and recreation rooms: 82 percent perfer a recreation room separated from other living quarters; 87 percent prefer wood paneling; 45 percent prefer vinyl tile floor covering: 74 percent prefer acoustical tile ceilings; 52 percent would like a refrigerator in the den; they want a den-recreation room for informal and family entertaining activities with opinion divided on style and design; wood paneling is preferred; appearance, ease of maintenance, and sound proofing were cited; 50 percent did not feel it necessary to use the same material on all walls; 67 percent placed a great deal of importance on acoustics; 50 percent rated durability of floors; walls and ceilings as of "prime importance." painting and putting on ceiling tile are most likely to be do-

Interiors: textured finishes over smooth monolithic walls; paint over wallpaper or plastic and vinyl coatings; wood paneled walls over conventional; permanent walls over room dividers; changing family needs or changes in family composition are the main reasons for remodeling; there appears to be a slight decrease in interest in early American design with a comparable increase in traditional sound conditioning is of importance and insulation is very important; wood paneling or the effect of wood paneling is a highly desirable feature; recreation room or den are the rooms in which paneling is preferred. 77 percent wanted to select their own hardware: a 15 by 16-foot master bedroom would be ideal; 12 by 13 feet would do for other

Add-a-room: the biggest advantage of adding a room rather than moving is lower cost and being able to stay in their present location; added rooms are mostly likely to be family or utility rooms; more storage space is needed in bedrooms, kitchen; in-formation is needed on how additions can fit onto a house and retailer should provide this data; 48 percent are interested in suspended, acoustical-type ceilings for one or more

What's New For The Home This Spring

MORE CABINETS IN THE KITCHEN can be created by using "wasted," dust-catching space above kitchen wall cabinets. These have lumber sides and tops, with doors of woodgrained hardboard inserted in metal tracks.

For homeowner: spring is clean-up, fix-up season

certain directions, but the advent of the vernal season just naturally turns the homeowner's thoughts in the direction of "Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Light-Up and Fix-Up" needs. This is the time to check the home, repair the damage inflicted by time and Old Man Winter, and plan "Fix-Up" projects to improve home beauty and comfort.

In the "Clean-Up" sector, Mom traditionally takes charge of the room-to-room cleaning job. Dad and the kids can assist in special projects such as cellar, attic and garage clean-up campaigns. Now is a good time, too, to call in specialized help for big projects from rug cleaning to furnace cleaning. Check draperies and slipcovers for "spring clean-ing" or replacement.

Outdoors, Dad can supervise the "Clean-Up" of lawn and garden, including removal and/or replacement of plants and trees. Here again, the youngsters can help. Dad will probably want to assign some outdoor chores on a permanent basis.

The "Paint-Up" phase demands a thorough check-up both indoors and out, Perhaps paint touch-ups will do in some areas, but others will require a complete repainting, perhaps on a do-it-yourself basis. For the bigger jobs, it's wise to call in a professional.

"Paint-Up" really means "brighten-up" and protect"---so it involves more than paint. ndoors, wallpaper and paneling, flooring and floor coverings are part of the picture.

Outdoors, the home exterior may need refurbishing, and if so, the possibilities are many, from a new paint job to residing with one of the wealth of new sidings available. The "Light-Up" side of the spring home overhaul demands both family effort and, probably, professional help. Increasing use of appliances and entertainment equipment means that an electric wiring check-up is in order. in most homes. Be sure to let a professional do this job. In some cases, new lighting fixtures can be installed on a do-it-yourself basis. Such projects can be planned now, along with the addition of new lamps for good lighting and de-

Both repairs and remodeling come under the heading of "Fix-Up" jobs.

First, check home exterior for needed repairs in potential trouble areas. Examine foundations for cracked masonry and groundholes; inspect roof for warped, loose or missing shingles; check gutters and downspouts for clogged passages, weather-worn parts; and check chimney area for loose bricks or stones, missing mortar.

Indoors, heating and plumbing systems may need professional check-ups. Check walls and ceilings for cracks and bulges, floors for needed repairs or refinishing. Inspect doors and windows for air leakage, and make them weather-tight.

Repair needs may suggest a "Fix-Up" remodeling project. For instance if a furnace check-up reveals that a replacement will be necessary in the near future, now may be the time to consider installing a central heatingair conditioning system.

Facts on kitchen equipment help in plans for remodeling

A few facts about kitchen equipment can help the homeowner make the right decisions when he starts to think about remodeling, representatives of a Springfield plumbing supply company pointed out.

The spokesmen for Community Plumbing Supply Co. at 201 West Rt. 22, Springfield, noted that many appliances and other pieces of equipment come in standard sizes.

Most stoves, dishwashers and standard size sinks require 25 inches of depth, Most of the stock size cabinets, both in wood and metal, take that space. It is advisable to place the sink in front of a window to provide more light. The stove, whether built-in, slip-in or free standing, should be against an outside wall.

This will help the installation of direct venting.

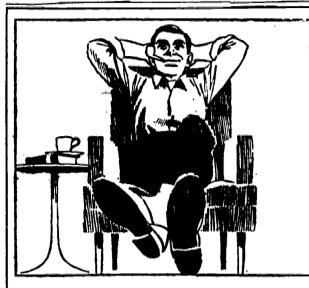

Free standing and slip-in ranges come in different widths. A built in oven and drop in range require a minimum of 60 inches. A sink needs at least 24 inches of space, a double since requires more, depending on the size.

'If you keep these facts in mind, it will en-the higher cost of special construction," the plumbing company spokesmen said, "A good place to come with your kitchen planning is the Community Plumbing Supply Co. at 201 W, Route 22, Springfield, N. J. There you can see various styles of cabinets, counters and appliances on display. They have been helping home owners with such problems for almost a quarter of a century, "You will also be able to see the different types of sinks in white and colored porcelain, and also in stainless steel. A visit to their showroom and a talk with either Mr. Kay or Norman Star will certainly be of help to you."

Passover begins Monday; festival's meaning explained

Passover, the greatest and most ancient of all Jewish festivals, will be celebrated by Jews all over the world beginning next Monday at sundown, Rabbi Charles A. Kroloff, spiritual leader of Temple Emanu-El, Westfield, this week offers some comments on the history and meaning of Passover, the festival of redemption.

"For more than two thousand years, Passover," Rabbi Kroloff stated, "has been considered by Jews everywhere to be the great holiday, the festival of redemption. It is also the Jewish holiday which is richest in symbolism; for no other holiday in the Jewish calendar abounds in so many ancient and meaningful ritualistic objects, foods, and ceremonies, all of which are intimately bound up with the nomadic origins of the Jewish people and their later development as a people who, very early in human history, trans-formed the ancient nature festivals into holidays with deep moral and religious signifi-

"Passover was originally a spring festival at the dawn of history when Jews were still nomadic shepherds in the wilderness. As time went by, however, it became an historic and national holiday, commemorating the deliverance of the Jewish people from their bondage in Egypt. For Jews today, it mirrors a hope for freedom and equality for all mankind,

"This particular holiday abounds, too, in traditional ritual which is highly dramatic in content; in remote parts of the world such as the Caucasus and Morocco, the departure from Egypt is actually re-enacted at one point in the ceremony," Rabbi Kroloff continued. Jews everywhere celebrate Passover with a ceremonial meal called the Seder (which FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH 170 ELM ST., WESTFIELD REV. WILLIAM K. COBER, PASTOR

REV. JAMES FOWLER, MINISTER Sunday--9:30 a.m., Bible School. 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m., worship services. Sermon for Sunday: "The Indwelling Spirit." Wednesday -- 8 p.m., mid-week service.

means Order of Service) which takes place in most homes and in some synagogues. During the Seder, the story of the Exodus is recited, songs and ceremonial prayers are performed, and the symbolical foods of Passover are eaten. The most important Passover food is Matzot, unleavened bread, called by Jews the Bread of Affliction, It is unleavened as a reminder of the haste with which the Jewish people fled from Egypt (there was no time to allow the bread to rise). Its thinness, too, is a reminder of the meagerness of the fare of the dispossessed, the poor, and the outcasts of society. This is a time ought to be especially sensitive to the plight of our fellowman, whether he be the Negro, still relegated to second-class position in our society, or the peoples of the under-developed areas of Asia and Africa who have still not obtained their freedom.

"DURING THE CEREMONY Jews also eat 'bitter herbs,' which recall the bitterness of the years of oppression under Pharaoh, A sprig of parsley on the table is a survival of the prehistoric days when Passover was a festival of spring. A roasted shank bone serves as an emblem of the paschal lamb; and the 'charoset, a mixture of apples, nuts, raisins, cinnamon and wine, is a symbol of the mortar from which the Israelites made bricks for the Egyptian Pharaohs during their slavery, Each person present must drink four cups of wine; the wine is intended to recall the four divine promises of redemption made by God to the children of larael, and to remind Jews that, despite the bitterness of exile, there is sweet-ness in the word of God and His teachings. The Last Supper of the New Testament was probably a Seder meal, and the Passover matzot and wine were precursors of the communion water and wine.

The Passover Seder ceremony follows a special Hebrew prayer book, the 'Haggadah,' which retells the story of the Exodus in prayer, song and parable. Many of the beautifully illuminated Haggadahs in use today by modern Jews date back to the Middle Ages.

The ceremony is one which strongly emphasizes the participation of young children in Jewish ceremonial and communal life, for it is the youngest child who asks the 'Four Questions, the answers to which explain the difference between Passover night and all other nights, and the meaning of this holiday for the Jewish people.
"The Seder," Rabbi Kroloff concluded, "has survived in the Jewish home through every exigency of history. It persists down to the present as an emblem and promise of free-

Every week there is an astonishing per centage of mail from young girls who have indulged in premarital relations, who are contemplating indulging and those who are al-ready pregnant. I'm the shoulder they cry on, and sadder letters you have never read.

Usk Umy

I make no excuses for them even though many are nice girls; some are not, But I chose the following few letters for this column in the hopes that from the experiences of others and heeding their plight, my teen readers can save themselves a peck of trouble.

It may be presumptuous of me to think that I can help every mother's child in one short column, but if I can reach just one, I will consider my efforts well rewarded.

Dear Amy: I need some advice desperately, I am only seventeen years old and I'm going to have a

Amy, I hope you will print this letter, for it may keep just one girl from making the same foolish mistake that I made. In Desperate Trouble

(Kentucky)

Dear Amy: I am a girl of 16 and I'm going with a guy Well, my problem is that he says if I give in to him, he will love me more, but I know this is false because I read somewhere that when a girl gives in to a guy, it will ruin her self-respect with others and make her look cheap.

He is respected by everyone and we plan on getting married after we are out of school. Could you please help me decide what I should do?

A Girl (Missouri)

Dear Amy:

I'm a girl who had made that "big mis-take" but I realized it before I got into trouble. I'm wondering now how I can tell other girls just what a big mistake it is to "give in" to the guy just because they are going steady or engaged,
I went with this fellow for 13 months, and we just didn't have anything left, Maybe we did love each other at one time, but now can see that I lost him the quickest way any girl can lose a guy: No respecti

YMCA Fun Club registration data, periods announced

The Five Points YMCA Summer Fun Club has announced that it is acception registra-tion by parents of children for the "Y" summer program at Five Points. Registration is limited to children going into the first grade in the fall through the fourth grade.

There will be four periods, starting July 3, of two weeks each. The program will end on Aug. 25. Children may attend for two, four, six or eight weeks. The program will be conducted under the Five Points YMCA's oak trees. The activities will be conducted Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The program will include both swimming instruction and swimming for fun in the whalemobile. Also being planned are nature lore, outdoor cooking, group singing, quiet games, creative crafts, athletics, special events and dramatics. The program has been developed on the premise that "camping is a creative, educational experience in cooperative group living in the out-of-doors."

The YMCA pointed out that registration will be limited and that parents should register their children early to avoid disappointment.

Auto Club official opposing toll plan

Governor Richard J. Hughes' plan to impose tolls on the Union-Middlesex section of the Garden State Parkway has drawn opposition from a former State Assemblyman who re-called that "Governor Alfred E. Driscoll was 'sold' on the idea that surplus funds from the Parkway would be used for a system of muchneeded feeder roads."

The opposition came in the current issue of the New Jersey Autoist, monthly publica-tion of the 40,000-member New Jersey Auto-Club-AAA, by the editor and secretary trustee, William Litvany of Bloomfield.

'The surplus funds were not used for the purpose Gov. Driscoli honestly envisioned," said Litvany. He also reported federal opposition to Gov. Hughes' plan to have the state repay the federal government its $14 milinvestment in the section of the highway, establish tolls, and with these funds widen the Parkway and create a Central New Jersey Expressway.

The Governor drew only lukewarm support," wrote Litvany, "from Senator Williams, none from Senator Case, and skeptical questions from federal officials," He noted that the Parkway's Bonding Council 'has submitted the opinion that the Authority could not help finance a competing roadway system at the risk of the authority's bondholders."

Savings bank reaches $100 million in assets

Harmonia Savings Bank has become the first savings bank in Union County to reach $100 million in total assets, Joseph P. O'Hara, president, reported this week. A surge of more than $5 million in the first quarter increased the bank's assets above the 100 million dollar milestone.

O'Hara noted that it took over 77 years from Jan. 1, 1851, to December, 1928, for the bank to reach its first $25 million in assets. It reached $50 million in June, 1957; $75 million in December, 1964, and $100 million in March, O'Hara stated Harmonia has over $93 million in deposits and has granted over $77 million in mortgage loans.

3-day Scout-O-Rama opens tomorrow; special times slated for handicapped

Mentally and physically handicapped children, orphans and children from underprivileged areas will be the guests of Union Council, Boy Scouts of America, at a special show-ing of the blennial Scout-O-Rama being conducted this weekend at the Elizabeth Armory, will act as guides and assistants.

1171 Magnolia Avenue,
According to Victor W. Clark, executive vice president of the Clark State Bank and Trust Company and chairman of the event, the doors of the Armory will be opened from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday for the special guests. Ramped side entrances will be open to accomodate children in wheelchairs and special service units of the Explorer Scouts

"We wanted to make sure that everyone had a chance to see the show," Clark ex-to attend during regular hours, the scouts felt that a special time should be set up for the less fortunate children who otherwise might not have the opportunity to see the show. invitations have gone out to hospitals and other institutions, he said,

Regularly scheduled admission times for the three-day Scout-O-Rama are: tomorrow,

7-10 p.m.; Saturday, 2-5 and 7-10 p.m., and Sunday, 2-5 p.m. Tickets for the show, which is open to the public, may be purchased from a local scout unit or at the door.

NINETY-NINE SCOUT units representing Clark, Cranford, Elizabeth, Hillside, Kenilworth, Linden, Rahway, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield, Union and Winfield will demonstrate their scouting skills during the show.

Booth themes range from a futuristic concept of scouting in the year 2078, being presented by Rahway Troop 47 to a nostalgic look back to the days when Indians roamed free on the Western plains — complete with dancing and pageantry -- being presented by the Order of the Arrow, scouting's honor campers' society. In all, more than 5,000 scouts will participate.

Adult Swedish film, 'Loving Couples,' is currently on screen at Ormont

"Loving Couples," the new Swedish film which came to the Ormont Theater, East Orange, last week, is a bold, frankly-shocking tale of three women, their lives and loves in a background setting of demoralizing aristocrasy during World War I.

Mai Zetterling, Swedish actress, makes her initial attempt at directing in "Loving and in rather complicated flashbacks, telling the reasons behind the various sexual behaviors of the three your women, she brings forth patterns of unusual depth. She also, however, leaves absolutely little to the imagination. There are moments when a viewer squirms with embarassment to scenes that evidently should have been left out of the film entirely.

The cast, selected from Sweden's cream of the crop, includes Harriet Andersson, Gunnel Lindblom and Gia Petre, all of whom are ex-cellent. And the English dubbing is equally

A panel discussion on 'Babysitting' set by Extension group

Do you "sit" for your grandchildren? Or do you use a babysitter for your children? Each year more and more parents are depending upon reliable, responsible baby-sitters to look after their children at one time or another. As mothers become grandmothers (younger with each progressing generation) the job of baby-sitting becomes allocated not only to girl and boy teenagers but to grandmothers as well.

To help parents and baby-sitters learn more about their responsibilities towards one another, a meeting, "Parents' and Baby-sitters' Responsibilities," open to all Union County residents, will be conducted Thursday, April 27, in the Union County Extension Service Home Economics auditorium, 7 Bridge st., Elizabeth, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Registra-tion will be from 9:15 to 9:30 a.m.

A panel discussion of the film "The Babysitter" will examine such questions as "What should a baby-sitter's job be expected to include?" "Can a baby-sitter expect to invite a friend over to keep them company?" "Whose responsibility is it if an accident occurs?" Panel members will include Mrs. Monroe Spiegel and Mrs. Laurence May of Linden, and Linden High School teenagers, Michael Micek and Regina Bartus. The mothers will represent the viewpoints of the mother hiring baby-sitter and the mother of a teenage baby-sitter, respectively. The teenagers will represent their own respective groups' viewpoint from personal experiences. Mrs. Joseph Grygotis and Mrs. Leonard Tandul of Linden, will aid Mabel Stolte, Extension Home Economist, in conducting the Resource material offered at this program will be made available free to any organization church, women's club, school PTA or PTO or scout group interested.

Miss Stolte has reported that one girl scout troop in Union is already making plans to use the materials for a troop course next

Sheelen, County Home "little furs" economist. The meal away from home for the working man, the school child, or the working woman needs to be a combination of appealing and nutri-tious foods which are packed to maintain their quality. Guidelines for achieving perfection in the carried lunch include several suggestions. The lunch that is packed is only as tasty and fresh as the ingredients selected. Always choose food items that will result in a variety of color, flavor, and texture. These foods should be at their peak of perfection and wrapped in materials that will help them to maintain it. Crisp celery and carrots will quickly lose their crispness if they are not protected. Consider the person for whom the lunch is being packed. The contents of a lunch for a working man will vary from those for a school child or a working woman. Portion sizes, as well as kinds of food, need to be adjusted to suit the person. This method will help to eliminate waste of excess food or hunger from not enough. Be aware of the nutritional needs of the individual. Lunch should supply about one third of the nutrients required good protein source, a fruit or vegetable product, a grain product, and a dairy food. Pack a special treat in the carried lunch. Perhaps a new sandwich spread, a special in-season fruit, a homemade muffin, or a dessert treat would be suitable. Such a surprise helps to add variety and to make the day brighter. In this center, include wrapping materials, plactic spoons and forks, vacuum bottles and any other equipment needed to prepare the ingredients. #### FOR THE BIRDS

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER, professor, Union Junior College

More years ago than I like to admit to I spent summers on my grandmother's farm.
As a little shaver I had to go to bed early, often before the sun disappeared behind the edge of the earth. I used to lie awake and listen to the birds singing their twilight songs. As dusk deepened, the symphony ceased and almost at full dark the screech owl that lived in the barn began to hoot, It was an eerie sound. Sometimes I crawled down to the end of the bed where there was a window and looked out Once in a great many evenings I would see him swoop on some unsuspecting mouse and make a meal of him.

Look as I would, I could never see the mice myself and I never ceased to wonder how the owl knew where the little rodents were. While browsing in the college library the other night, I found the answer.

If you study the anatomy of an owl, you are faced with a great deal of evidence, all telling us that owls must have extremely exceptional hearing. The next question that occurred to Roger S. Payne and William H. Drury, Jr., was "why?" While the two were at the Louise Ayer Hatheway School of Conservation Education in Massachusetts, they decided to try and find the answer. The first requirement was an owl. This need was satisfied by the donation of a tame barn owl by Dr. Winthrop W. Harrington, It has been hand raised from the age of a few days and was exceptionally tame. With apologies to A.A. Milne, he was named WOL.

WOL's instinct told him how to hunt and pounce, but he didn't know what to hunt or pounce on. He would peer at a picture in a newspaper lying on the floor, glide down on silent wings and sink his talons in it. So the first task was to teach WOL how to hunt and capture living prey, as he would if he had been brought up in the wild.

The late Mrs. Hatheway had raised Welsh terriers and had left behind a kennel about 25 by 20 feet, empty except for a seven-foothigh perch, a bathing trough and a table where WOL was fed. It soon became known as "WOL's House." The first time WOL saw a live mouse, he flew to the floor near it but only captured it after a chase, part inflight and part running

Spofford chairman of scout fund drive

Gavin Spofford, executive vice-president of the Summit-Elizabeth Bank, has accepted the general chairmanship of the Union Council Boy Scout $500,000 Camp Development Program, it was announced this week by John J. Radigan, director of personnel relations at Merck, Inc. and president of the Council's executive board.

In announcing Spofford's acceptance, the Council President said he felt the camp development program had the best possible leadership. "Spofford is a very busy man and he can ask for the best efforts of the busiest men in our communities with com-plete justification," Radigan said, Radigan said local Scouts had not asked for capital funds since Camp Winnebago Scout Reservation opened in 1941 and that space requirements had now peaked. "To raise $500,000 in this area, it will be necessary to enlist support of the most capable civic leaders in our communities," he pointed out.

In accepting the leadership, Spofford said: "I am complimented by the trust and confidence the Board places in me. If this Development program is to succeed, it will require a level of participation higher than anything we have ever done before in this area. Camping is a vital part of a quality Scouting program and we cannot adequately serve the boy population of the 1960's and 1970's with camp area designed for a boy population of Breaking the cigarette habit is a matter for the whole family to work on, with all members helping one another to stick by their decision to quit smoking, the leaflet concludes.

SAFETY TIPS FOR BABY-SITTERS AND PARENTS

Your one basic motive as a parent in employing a babysitter is to protect your children from accidents. This requires a businesslike attitude on both your part and the baby-

Parents' Responsibilities: Pertinent facts related to safety should be part of the in-formation written down and left for the babysitter. These include the location of emergency devices such as fire extinguishers and fire exits, medicines, fuse boxes, flash lights or candles. In addition leave the telephone humbers of the doctor, fire department, police epartment and a friend or neighbor, if you are going to be as far away as a half-hour's Safety Pointers For Baby-Sitters: The most important single factor for you, the baby-litter, to remember is to give full attention to your charges. You may not be able to inticipate every danger but, by being on the job, you can prevent serious consequences. Eyen when the children are asleep, you should not let yourself be completely distracted from your job.

Falls have been a major source of injury to babies and young children. Falls from bed, tables, high chairs, sofas and scattered toys are among the most common. Side rails on cribs and play pens, the straps on bath tables and high chairs and safety gates at stairs and doors are important safety devices for young children. If these are not available, take the young child with you even though you intend to only be gone for a minute. Creepers and toddlers require even more watching than babies, Items such as scissors. razor baldes, needles, pins, detergents, cleaning materials and medicines (especially candy pills) should be kept out of the reach of toddlers. Young children should be protected from all cooking and heating equipment. They should be guided away from electric switches and gas valves. Unused switches and outlets should be covered and small appliances and cords kent out of toddler's reach. First aid is part of the baby-sitters' responsibility. Many communities offer first aid courses that may be taken by any age babysitter. These include the schools, scouts and the Red Cross units. A small first-aid book is an important part of any sitter's

Consider the Sitter's Safety: Sitters are always admonished to admit no strangers, no matter who they may claim to be and keep all doors locked. It is also unwise, when strangers phone, to give information about the parwhereabouts or when they are expected home. To further protect the sitter, it is a national custom to escort the sitter home after a night's job. The escort should be expected to be a good driver. If for some reason this might not be true, the sitter should call a member of her family, or if an adult, call a taxi. tion, which is located at the same site, the camp provides accommodations and programs especially designed for youngsters from eight to 18 years of age.

Younger children are housed in cabins accommodating 10 campers and two counselors and equipped with spring beds and airfoam matresses. A bath house provides hot and cold showers and washing facilities at all times.

Boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 16 have an opportunity for outpost camping. Twelve campers and two counselors live and plan their program together. The campers are housed in a new type of camp building, a Dien Dome, which resembles the Eskimo igloo in

For boys and girls 16 and 18, there is a Counselor-in-Training Unit, which provides leadership training for future counselors. The program will feature campcraft skills, outdoor

The staff is supplemented with resource personnel from the Department of Conservation and Economic Development, plus a seasonal staff of other camping leaders. Jacqueline Russell, who will be joining the permanent school faculty in September, will be program director.

The health and safety of campers are well provided for at Camp Wapalanne. A camp nurse is in attendance at all times in a well-equipped infirmary. The water supply comes from a flowing well which is tested regularly. Other sanitation provisions are far above minimum health standards. Qualified water-front per-

Secretaries group to present awards at annual luncheon Postell gets

John T. Cunningham, historian and author of several books on New Jersey history, will speak at an Executives Luncheon sponsored by the Union County Chapter of the National Secretaries Association next Thursday, at the Suburban Golf Club in Union.

The secretaries' bosses are guests at the luncheon, which is one of the several activities planned by the Chapter to commemorate the 16th annual National Secretaries Week, April 23-29, a spokesman said.

Also on the luncheon program will be the formal presentation of the Chapter's 1967 Secretary of the Year award to Mrs. Gertrude F. Moren of Elizabeth. Mrs. Moren is assistant treasurer and assistant secretary of the C. H. Winans Company of Roselle, and secretary to the Bauer family, including George W. Bauer, president of Winans and chairman of the board of Union County Trust Company.

Two $250 scholarships will be presented at the luncheon to Miss Ann Romano of Summit High School and Miss Anita Steiner of Union High School. The Chapter awards scholar ships annually to two Union County high school seniors planning to continue their secretarial training at a business school. Both winners this year plan to attend the Berkeley School in

MISS STEINER, DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Steiner of 1659 Porter rd., Union, and a senior at Union High School, hopes to become a bilingual or executive secretary.

Among her high school activities are German Club, Student Council, Business Club, Folk Dance, yearbook staff, Masterwork Chorus, Leaders Club, hockey and volleyball.

Other events scheduled by the Union County Chapter during Secretaries Week include: Sunday Brunch, Johnny Murphy's Brass Horn, Elizabeth, April 23; tour of the new Elizabeth-town Gas Company building, April 24; and a Chapter Birthday Party, April 28. The purpose of Secretaries Week, sponsored by the National Secretaries Association (International), is to honor all secretaries, recognizing their role in the function of business, industry, government, and education.

NSA, one of the largest organizations of businesswomen with more than 25,000 members in 580 chapters throughout the world, seeks to elevate the standards of the secretarial profession by uniting for their mutual benefit women who are or have been engaged in ?

A FEMININE LOOK ...At AFRICA 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries

By TRUDINA HOWARD III

Second in A Series THE SONG OF AFRICA
"White Man Go Home" still seems to be the main theme song in Africa today—with an added little combo somewhere playing "Oh Give Me Something To Remember You By" before you do.

The trouble with the tunes is that the white man may be just as much at home in Africa as the black man by the right of having been born there, as well as his father before him, and his father before that, and he may have considerable investment there-but suddenly he is off key. Even in the nomenclature of the continent a white man, no matter how many generations his family has dwelt there, is called a "European" and the black man alone is an "African.

While many Africans admit there is room for both black and white, a need for both a right for both, and many are friendly indeed, and even while the great majority of the black men don't even know about the struggle because they are deep in the bush happily living their lives out not even knowing that there are such things as 'countries,' the tune still flutters through the land.

Only now there seems to be still another discordant note developing. The theme has always been there but it seems to be swelling to greater proportions. It is not called "Indian Love Call" but quite the opposite. For hundreds of years the indians of India and not North America, called "Asians," have migrated to Africa, particularly to the east coast, settling there and developing small businesses. The increase in their population and the increase in their business prowess, not increased their popularity with the Africans and the situation between the two races is testy to say the least. So now there is a second song: "Asians go home."

IN THE THREE STUDY MISSIONS to Africa, I have seen 19 countries and it seems to me that there are three Africas. There is the Africa north of the Sahara which borders Mediterranean and the Red Sea and is mainly Arab or of a race not considered Negro; there are the southern countries such South Africa, Portuguese Angola and Mozambique and Rhodesia which were colonized by white people from Europe the way the U.S. and which are still under their rule; and there are the rest of the countries in between which are populated by the Negro race and the white settlers and which are the new independent countries (or on their way) ruled by Africans. The exception of course, is Liberia which has always been independent under black rule.

Africa sometimes is divided geographically into two parts: north of the Sahara and south of the Sahara. The Arab north is frequently referred to as the "couscous belt", particularly the north west, or the "Maghreb." The southern side is frequently called "Black Africa" and it is this part where the color question is such a problem and where the new nations are emerging.

The Republic of South Africa, the territory of South West Africa, Angola, Mozambique and Rhodesia in this Black Africa are special problems in colonialism and Ethiopia and the Somaliland areas are mainly of the Hamitic family of peoples and are not considered Negro nations although they back the independence line and are pro-African. The remainder of the nations, between the "white" southern tip and the Hamites, consist mainly of the new black African states.

IN THESE NEWLY DEVELOPED countries he government leaders are black Africans. and for the most part they are sharp, welleducated, patriotic, good-humored and charm-ing. The trouble is there are not enough

The trouble also is, that some, out of the few well-educated Africans that there are, are militant and aggressive.

But the vast majority of black Africans are not well-educated or highly trained or even informed. The average John Doe of Africa vary often has not much incentive to be more either. There is a saying in Africa that if an African can do somethingor sit down, he will sit down. But he prefers to lie down.

The hot climate however, and the tribal environment are conducive to making life vary simple for the African. He is happy in his village and he has his place. Why should he want the stresses and hazards of "civiliza-tion"? When and if he does come out of the and must be trained. This is precisely the point that South Africa and Rhodesia make.

THE SIT-DOWNERS. This is not the way to become an exceptional one. These youngsters are playing cards on a schoolday Tuesday morning on the Island of Goree, a 20-minute ride from Dakar. At right is a young African who IS out of the bush and lives in the city of Dakar. Senegal. He will get a primary education no matter what he says, but will he be among the exceptional ones and go further? He has the opportunity.

The African must be educated up to the level of the white man -the white man must not come down--but it takes time!

And that brings up a question often asked bout Africa: Is it ready for independence? But who is to say about that. Education is of course a main point. But new nations themselves always think they are ready, and old ones always think they are not. Anyway, many African nations already have independence. The real point is, will they make a success of it? Some look as though they will, Kenya for instance, some seem as though they may not, Nigeria perhaps for one. But again, who is to say.

One truth seems to stand out however, It looks as though the ones who have had colonialism to start with, might succeed a little easier. Those little "somethings" the British left, or the French -- like railways, roads, communication systems, hospitals, schools-are helpful little souvenirs to have around. The white man's investment "somethings"-such as rubber investments, oil, auto-motive, even Coke and other big business ventures -- are desired little remembrances it was quite noticeable to us on the study mission, that Liberia and Ethiopia which have always been independent, seemed less advanced than the countries which have had colonialism. Even so, the new nations have several problems in facing self-rule whether colonized or not. The common hazards, it seems to me, are education, lack of trained man-power, lack of capital, the tribal system-and burry.

THE TRIBAL SYSTEM, for instance, makes nationalism very hard to come by. In the first place, it must be remembered that there are many natives in the back country in Africa who know nothing beyond their own village. Many tribes are so far in the hinterlands that they know nothing of the outside world. They do not know where boundaries are, what the names are. They sometimes do not even know what land they are on, or whose. To them, they are on it. It is theirs. That is all that matters.

But it is not only this ignorance that is a handicap, it is the tribal system itself. As understand it, a man's first allegiance is to his tribe and that supercedes anything else. So, even if he knows where he is located and knows all the names, tribal influences, rules, traditions and loyalties are so strong and inflexible he must follow them first regardless of national demands. And differ. The consequence is conflict. A Negro schoolteacher from Buffalo, New York, who was spending a few years in the bush teaching children, told us that the first thing the natives asked him was what tribe he belonged to. When he said he was an American from New York state, they asked "Yes, but what tribe?" He said he had a difficult time trying to explain that he was an American first, a New Yorker next and not a tribesman at all. "In fact," he added, "I do not think they understand it yet."

WATCH YOUR STEP UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., (UPI) -- Palls outrank every other home accident in fre-Penn State safety experts say, Falls on stairs or steps account for most of the accidents and experts advise a few common precautions, such as handrails and good tread on stair pads, could prevent many of them.

As a matter of fact, one sometimes gets the feeling that a black African may not really be concerned whether he is a Zambian or Malawian or a Tanzanian, just so long as he is a member of a tribe in a place ruled by black Africans, Perhaps the cry of independence is not so much for the glory of a Zambia or a Malawi as it is for the glory of the black man without the white man, Independence would smell as sweet by any country's name.

Independence is like a tidal wave and the melody lingers on, Next: More of the same.

`67 business outlook

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) -- The business outlook for 1967 is a big question mark, says a survey by the University of Dayton, but it concludes an optimistic note. After citing declines for the first two months of the year in auto sales, new machine tool orders and aluminum production for civilian use, as well as gyrating stock prices, the survey says "1962 fooled everyone and 1967 could do it again."

An intra-county radio communications system is expected to be "operational by June," it was announced this week by Union County Freeholder Frank T. Cuchie. The system, suggested six years a, o by Freeholder Thomas O'Brien, will connect the 22 municipalites in Union County for immediate transmission of emergency crime reports anywhere in the

The installation of equipment to begin operations is now awaiting approval from the Federal Communications Commission, According to Cuchie, the radio network will be a dualsystem operating on two frequencies, one connecting the 22 municipalities and the other connecting the sherriff's and prosecutor's offices in the Elizabeth Court House.

The system, if it is approved, "will be the first true county network in the state," accordhas the job of installing the equipment, A radio network in Morris County has been in effect for years, he added, but it operates like an answering service and not as a hotline communications system.

According to Cuchie, the project is the result of two years of active planning at a total cost to the county of about $65,000. "Very few countles in the country have it," he said. A HOOK-UP WITH the state police is also under consideration, It's approval would mean that reports made to the Scotch Plains barracks could then be carried statewide over their broadcast network.

Cuchie said the state police hook-up has not yet been confirmed but "we're confident that they're going to approve it," he said. He stressed that the county radio would carry only hotline or emergency calls and would not be an unnecessary burden to state operations. Bidding on the project opened last October and the contract was awarded to General Electric for $58,000, Knapp Radio Co. at 1601 Rt. 22. Union, was selected to install and maintain equipment as an authorized GE dealer, The equipment includes transmitters and re-ceivers for the 22 base stations (the 22 municipalities) and the Elizabeth Court House. A monitor will also be installed at the Union County Park Commission's police barracks and repeat antenna to clear the Watchung range will be placed in Mountainside.

Antennae have already been installed at County Park headquarters and at police headquarters in several municipalities, including Union, Mountainside, Berkeley Heights, Garwood, Roselle, Roselle Park and others.

Other equipment will be installed upon notice from the FCC.
