TYPING'S A BREEZE — youngsters enrolled in the typing course in Mountainside's Summer School find the touch system easy to master, especially so since they use electric typewriters and zip along in rhythm to music played on records which are coordinated with the lessons. Thirty-three children attend the two classes which are conducted by Mrs. Ruth Keeler. (Echo photo by Pam Darley)

Any 9-year-old can type Educators' theory proven here

Educators believe that any child with a maturity level of a nine-year-old can learn to type. Thirty-three Mountainside youngsters are giving ample proof of that theory in the two electric typing classes now being conducted in the summer sessions at Beechwood School.

Several of the youngsters have just completed the fourth grade. They have no trouble keeping up with their older classmates, many of whom will enter the eighth grade in the fall. Even the smaller ones have no trouble stretching their fingers to span the keyboard of the streamlined electric machines.

The youngsters offer many reasons for taking the enrichment course, some of them sophisticated and farsighted ("it will help me to prepare my reports when I'm in college"), others practical—"to cover up my bad handwriting." One girl said she made up her mind to enroll during the regular school year after it took her seven-and-one-half hours to type a report by the hunt-and-peck system. However, the great majority gave paternal praise as the main motivation—"my mother (or my father) told me it would help me in my school work."

Whatever the reasons, all the youngsters are concentrating on mastering the keyboard, the teacher, Mrs. Ruth Keeler, reports. Each class runs for 90 minutes, which allows time enough to cover three of the total of 70 lessons in the course in each session. Mrs. Keeler is confident that the youngsters will have learned the entire keyboard by the end of the five-week course. The concentrated daily drill, which begins with an intensified review of the previous day's lesson, is done to the accompaniment of musical records which are coordinated with the text-book. Weekly tests are given to test the students' progress and "winners' games," designed to break the routine and increase word power, are strategically interpolated at the end of each drill.

School body signs contracts Friday for school addition

The Board of Education is scheduled to sign contracts totaling $721,900 for the construction of the addition to Deerfield School tomorrow afternoon. Board officials will meet with representatives of the successful contracting firms and the architects, Elsass and Miller, between 3 and 4 o'clock in the administration offices on Rt. 22. Date for ground-breaking will be set at that time.

The general construction contract in the amount of $428,653 was awarded to Caldwell Construction Co., of Caldwell, at a special meeting last week. Others awarded contracts at the same time were: Park Steel and Iron Co. of Belleville, $47,715 for plumbing work; Boro Plumbing and Heating Co. of South River, $101,760 for heating and ventilating; George E. Scholes Co., Inc., of Elizabeth, $118,154 for electric work; Herbert L. Farkas Co. of Newark, $9,847 for special equipment and Royal School Laboratories of Richmond, Va., for science equipment.

To keep total costs within the $845,000 authorized in last October's referendum, the board had to approve four alternate provisions to the basic specifications in the general construction contract. Three alternate provisions in other construction contracts, eliminate various proposals for special equipment items and reject all bids on equipment for new kitchen facilities.

The $845,000 figure must also cover special equipment, architect's and engineering fees, $15,000 for purchase of land at the site, the board's share of printing plans and specifications and other items.

1967 construction tops $500,000

New construction in Mountainside during the first six months of 1967 amounted to $578,656, according to figures supplied earlier this week by office of the building inspector, Chester Johnson.

One-family homes represented $228,000 of that figure and new industrial construction amounted to $195,000. Residential additions added up to $45,156, commercial additions to $90,000 and business alterations to $20,000.

Playground opening set for Monday

Program at Echobrook runs through Aug. 18

The annual summer playground program, sponsored by the borough's Recreation Commission, kicks off next Monday at 9 a.m. at Echobrook School and its playing field. Sessions will run daily, Mondays through Fridays, Aug. 18 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The playground will close each day from noon to 1 p.m. for a lunch period. The playground will be closed on rainy days.

The summer recreation program is open to all borough children from those entering the first grade in September through high school. Registration can be made on opening day.

Paul C. Ney, a teacher in Thomas Jefferson High School, Elizabeth, will serve as athletic director, and Miss Kathy Barry, an art teacher in the Scotch Plains-Fanwood School system, will be director of arts and crafts. They will be assisted by two teenagers, Marge Lambert and Jerry Kortina. This will be the third summer recreation program.

Among the special events planned for this summer is a repetition of the "balloon launch" which proved so popular when it was introduced last year. Children will launch helium-filled balloons tagged with their names and addresses, requesting the finders of the balloons to notify the senders. Prizes will be awarded to the launchers with the farthest recovery spot reported.

Another addition to the playground program will be the municipal tennis courts which were recently constructed adjacent to the municipal pool. The courts, which are open to all borough residents, will be available to those attending the playground sessions.

Other special events planned for this summer include a day's excursion to the Turtleback Zoo in West Orange, a bicycle safety rodeo, a costume parade, "hat day," a peanut hunt, a scavenger hunt and a watermelon-eating contest. Tournaments will be scheduled for no-knock, horseshoes and four-square.

The athletic program will include baseball, basketball, badminton, tetherball, volleyball, touch football and table tennis. An "Olympic Day" will feature track meets, skill tests and other athletic contests.

Ceramics, papier mache, jewelry and leather crafts are planned for the arts and crafts program. Other art projects planned are mosaics, lanyards, stitchery, wood and plaster sculpture, papier mache animals, pot holders, sketching, painting and pastels.

Adjusters to give decision Monday on Wilson case

The Board of Adjustment is expected to render a decision next Monday night on the application of A. A. Wilson for a variance which would allow him to construct a two-story office building on the front three acres of his property on Rt. 22. The board chairman, Thomas Ricciardi, said Monday that the zoning board was scheduled to meet last night in caucus to review the testimony presented by Wilson on June 12. Ricciardi indicated that, unless further testimony is presented Monday night, that the decision will be handed down at that time.

Wilson is asking for permission to use slightly over three acres of the property for the proposed building; this is in excess of the variance he now holds for two-and-one-half acres on the property at 1350 Rt. 22.

The office building, which would cost between $600,000 and $700,000, already has a prospective tenant, the Honeywell Co., now located on Rt. 22 in Union. Thomas Buhl of Westfield, who represented Honeywell at the June meeting, told the board that his company plans to take a 20-year lease on the building. About 200 employees would work out of the building; Buhl testified, but the majority would be out in the field with only about 60 or 70 in the office during the day.

Wilson's lawyer, Nicholas DeMiro of Verona, asked the board to take a 1966 court decision into consideration in studying his client's new application. In that decision, Judge Milton Feller granted Wilson the right to demolish the building then standing on the property and to build a retail store with insurance and real estate offices on the front two-and-a-half acres. Judge Feller at that time upheld that part of the board's decision which denied Wilson permission to erect a 150-garden apartment on the rear portion (approximately 10 acres) of the property.

Linda's staying home!! Takes 'vacation' from hospital

Linda Clark, the Mountainside child who was paralyzed Oct. 30, 1965, as the result of a freak accident in the playground of Echobrook Park, went home last Friday from Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, for a lengthy stay at her Mountainside home. The "vacation" at home is expected to be a prelude to her final release from the hospital.

Linda, who is making continued progress toward what is hoped will be complete recovery, was met at the hospital by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Clark of 154 Walnut st., and her brother, Walton. Her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clark of Westfield, were hosts to the family at a "welcome-home" dinner party Friday night. Another frantically happy member of the welcoming committee was the family dog, "Suzy," whose lineage is "part-Beagle and all-American."

According to Mrs. Clark and Dr. E. Milton Staub, administrator and medical director of Children's Specialized Hospital, Linda will spend between two and four weeks at home, coming to the hospital each week for check-up at the out-patient department. Mrs. Clark, who has been instructed by Mrs. Lorraine Pretzner, the head therapist, will give Linda two one-hour sessions of physical therapy a day.

Linda herself will exercise in the wooden walker that her father has made for her; it is an exact duplicate of the walker used in the hospital's therapy room. The Richard McDoyells, the Clark's good friends and neighbors, have put their built-in pool at Linda's disposal. The 12-year-old hopes to relearn her swimming skill in regular sessions in the pool.

In anticipation of Linda's final release from the hospital, her parents have requested and received from the borough permission to construct a two-room addition to their one-story home. The planned addition will include a ramp for Linda's wheelchair, which she manages by herself, the walker and other equipment needed to continue the intensive rehabilitation program worked out by the hospital staff.

Miss Pretzner and other members of the hospital staff said it was possible to arrange for Linda's vacation at home because of the "intelligent cooperation" of her parents and because her mother has become so adept at conducting the physical therapy routine. Her instruction started some months ago, before Linda started spending weekends at home.

Linda took another giant step toward a return to her regular routine in April when she started attending regular classes one day a week at Deerfield School. Now ready to enter the seventh grade, she has kept at her grade level through attendance at regular classes conducted in the hospital by the borough's school system.

"WONDERFULLY WELL," is the way Dr. Staub describes Linda's progress. He feels there is every reason to believe that the child will eventually recover completely.

"She operates her own wheelchair, she takes a few steps. She continues to show steady improvement. She has not once since she started recovering reached a plateau and stayed there. For that reason and because of Linda's amazing courage and determination, we can look for good and continued improvement," he said Friday.

Linda's courage has seen her through many crises since her spinal chord was crushed in the freak accident. Dr. Staub and medical men (Continued on page 3)

Orphan of storm on recovery list

One orphan of the storm (the June 25 one; that is) is just about completely recovered, thanks to the tender ministrations of Eugene Rogers of 278 Summit rd., Mountainside.

The storm washed the wail, a baby robin, and two of his siblings out of their nest on Rogers' property. The other two were killed in the fall. Rogers picked the survivor up on a shovel, in accordance with instructions given by the Trailside Museum. (Trailside holds the theory that a mother bird will not return to her babies if they have been touched by humans.)

However, Rogers, who is retired from Esso Research Inc., didn't feel lumber enough to replace the baby bird in his nest. Instead, he lined a flower-pot with straw and other materials, placed the storm refugee in it and hung it from the tree. He fed the bird chopped meat and eggs and worms—and by the end of the week his guest would open his mouth for feedings the minute he saw Rogers approaching.

A few days after the storm, the mother bird returned and joined the feeding brigade. Rogers is hoping his potted (and overfed) guest will learn to fly before he gets too heavy for his hanging home to bear.

Diving show at pool stars five champs

Grubel's weekend win cancels tennis match

Five present and past state champion divers participated in a diving demonstration presented Tuesday, July 4, in connection with the dedication ceremonies of the new facilities at the Mountainside municipal pool.

An exhibition tennis match which was scheduled the same day on the new municipal tennis courts, which are adjacent to the pool site, was cancelled. According to William Ditzel, chairman of the Recreation Commission, a leading amateur player, Sy Grubel of Mountainside, who was to play in the match, was unable to attend. Grubel made the semifinals in a match held last weekend in Connecticut and so was detained in that state for further competition, Ditzel said.

A Mountainside teenager, Rob Collins, and one of the lifeguards at the pool, Terry Gass of Westfield, and Donald Matz of Westfield, a life guard at Mindowaskin Swim Club, performed a series of basic and advanced dives. William Cant, swim coach at Westfield High School and the Westfield YMCA served as commentator at the demonstration, describing the different positions for the dives and methods of executing them.

Cant's 12-year-old son, Bruce, who a few years ago was state diving champion in the age 10-and-under division, and Steve Schramm of Watchung, a 10-year-old who competes in AAU meets under the aegis of the Westfield "V," also participated in the demonstration.

Gass, now a student at Ohio University, was state champion when at Westfield High Mutz took first place last year for Westfield High in the group A state diving competitions. Collins, a life guard at the Berkeley Heights pool, has won many diving honors and represented Governor Livingston Regional High School in the state class B competition this year.

The diving exhibit was arranged by Collins' father, Richard Collins, a member of the Recreation Committee and the pool committee.

MAYOR FREDERICK Wilhelm Jr. presided at the dedication ceremonies for the new facilities—the bathhouse, the tennis courts, the shuffleboard court and other facilities. Ditzel, Collins, and Harold Nelson, also a member of the Recreation Commission and the pool committee, took part in the ceremonies.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Elmer Talcott, pastor of Community Presbyterian Church. Members of one of the borough's Boy Scout Troops conducted the flag raising rite.

The Olympic-sized swimming pool was opened in mid-July of last year. Family membership, which is limited to 825, is now at capacity with a few names still left on the waiting list. Individual and senior citizen memberships bring the total up somewhat.

The push for a municipal pool started in 1964. Difficulties establishing the ownership of the "present" site (which was eventually traced to the state) delayed the project somewhat.

Although the tennis courts are located next to the pool site they are borough-owned and open to any resident, not just pool members. Registration cards for the courts may be obtained at Borough Hall or in the office of the pool.

Board to swear in two new members Tuesday evening

Two newly appointed members of Mountainside's Board of Education, Mrs. Gloria Johnson of 1358 Birch Hill rd. and Donald Jeka of 298 Bridle path, will be sworn in next Tuesday night's meeting. The board secretary, John McDonough, will conduct the ceremonies.

Mrs. Johnson will succeed Mrs. Mary Rosenquest of Timberline rd. Mrs. Rosenquest and her family are moving to Connecticut. Krebs is moving to Illinois.

The two new appointees have both agreed to run in next February's school election. Mrs. Johnson for the full three-year term and Jeka for Krebs' two-year unexpired term. There will be two other board seats at stake in that election. The terms of the board president, Robert Britton, and Walter Rupp, veteran member, expire next January. Neither has indicated as yet if they will seek reelection.

A resident of Mountainside for 15 years, Mrs. Johnson has previously served on the borough's Recreation Commission and as vice-president of the Mountainside Little League. She has also served on the building committee of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, as adult advisor to the parish's CYO and is currently active in the borough's Inter-Faith Dialogue.

A graduate of the University of Illinois, she is a director of the Hexacon Electrical Co., Roselle Park, and a free lance artist. She has three sons, Douglas, 17, who will enter Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y., in the fall; David, who will be a freshman in St. Benedict's Preparatory School, Newark, in September, and Ronald, who will be in eighth grade in Deerfield school.

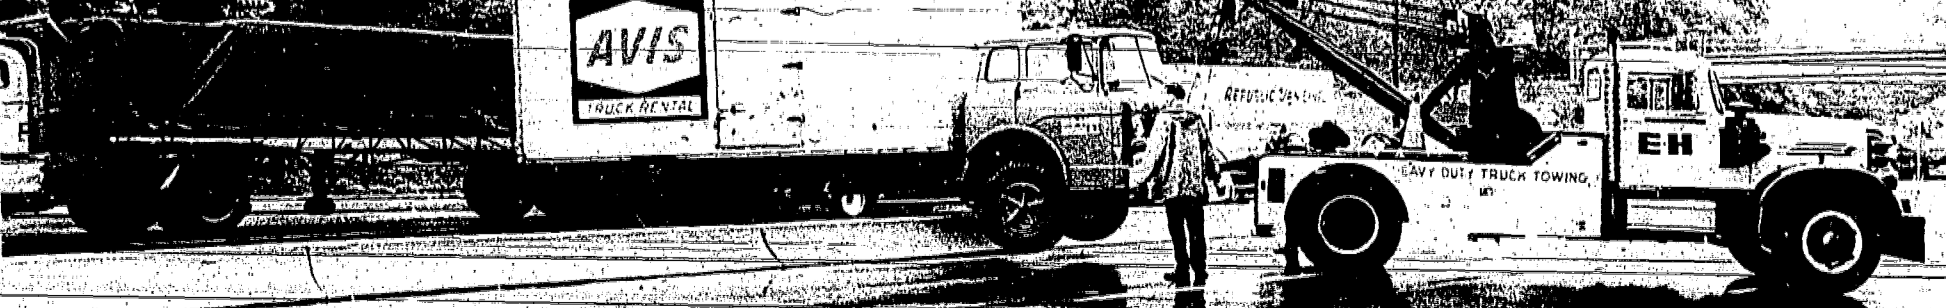

Jeka, an account supervisor for Bursen Marsteller Associates, a New York public relations firm, moved to Mountainside four years ago from Clifton. He holds a degree in journalism from the University of Miami in Miami, Fla.

He and his wife, the former Yvonne Kimbel of Newark, have two children, Donald, who will be in the second grade next fall, and Paul, 4, who will enter Kindergarten. Jeka is a deacon at Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside.

Senior citizens to meet; new members welcome

The newly organized Senior Citizens Club of Mountainside will meet July 19 at 2 p.m. in the assembly room of the Community Presbyterian Church, Deer path and Meeting House lane. All senior citizens of the borough are invited to attend.

Eighteen club members and four guests attended a pot-luck supper held recently at the home of Mrs. W. F. Finnan, Wyoming dr.

OOPS, MY ERROR! Elton T. Cantro of Brooklyn surveys the rented truck he was driving when it jumped the divider on Rt. 22 near New Providence rd. last Friday morning. Cantro told police the truck slid when he put on the brakes for the stop light at the intersection, pulled to the left and jumped the center aisle. Traffic was tied up on the highway until the vehicle was towed away. (Echo photo by Bob Baxter)

PROFILE--Mrs. Gloria Johnson

Mrs. Gloria Johnson of 1358 Birch Hill rd. has more than 1300 reasons for accepting her recent appointment to Mountainside's Board of Education. There are over 1300 children enrolled in the borough's public grammar schools and everyone of them is an excellent reason why she, like any other public spirited citizen, should be interested in maintaining and improving an excellent school system, she believes.

"There are probably scores of people better qualified than I," she explained one day last week, "but I was asked to do it and I accepted."

"By that acceptance," she added, she has in effect, declared herself a candidate for one of the four seats on the school board that will be open in next February's election.

"It would be silly," she pointed out, "to accept the appointment without planning to continue come election time." She added hastily, "that's as the situation is now--barring any unexpected contingencies."

A widow with three young sons, Mrs. Johnson is used to allowing wide margins for unexpected contingencies.

All three of her sons--Douglass who will enter Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y., in the fall, David who was graduated this month from Deerfield School and Ronald who will be an eighth grader at Deerfield in September--have gone through the borough school system.

"Their mother says her appointment gives her the opportunity to 'hopefully contribute to the school system and to the town of Mountainside in which we're firmly entrenched.'"

The new board member and her husband, Robert A. Johnson, who died 11 years ago, moved to Mountainside 16 years ago. They were married in 1948, shortly after they were graduated from the University of Illinois.

Mrs. Johnson, who was graduated summa cum laude with a degree in fine arts, worked for a few years after their marriage as a designer for Lippincott and Margallies, an industrial designing firm in New York City. Her husband who grew up in Roselle Park, was a partner in Hexacon Electric Co., Roselle Park. The firm has been incorporated since his death and Mrs. Johnson is a member of the board of directors.

OVER THE YEARS, she has worked as a freelance designer, as assistant set designer for theatrical productions, designed custom-made furniture, painted professionally and in 1962 was Mrs. New Jersey, the first widow to be named to such an honor. She quickly brushes aside any references to past accomplishments and instead describes with the delight of a neophyte recent attainments in different fields.

"My paintings are selling in goodly number," she confided with frank glee. Her work, which has been exhibited in state and national shows, has been selling widely. One of her paintings decorates the office of Mayor Thomas Dun of Elizabeth. Many of her commissioned works, brokerage offices in Newark.

Although she still does some industrial designing, she is shifting more and more toward fine art.

"You aren't always facing that deadly dead-line," she points out, "and the work is so much more satisfying."

Lately she has been using acrylics, the new plastic paints, both alone and in combination with oils or water colors. She is delighted with the luminous quality of the acrylics and the subtle light effects they give.

"New materials, new tools, they're so exciting," she enthused.

A member of the Community Players of Westfield, the energetic new school board member is now in the process of combining her two interests--art and drama--in a new career lecturing on art. She is now in the process of setting up her speaking schedule for next year.

Modestly, she admits that her name will be included in the fall edition of "Who's Who in American Women."

BUT MOUNTAIN SIDE'S NEWEST addition to the who's who list drops her reticence when she discusses her children. Despite her creative work and her varied interest, her children have always come first with her. Keenly aware of the need to fill both parental roles, she has in the past served as assistant manager and vice-president of the borough's Little League.

She has served on the adult advisory committee of the Catholic Youth Organization at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, as a den mother during Ronald's years as a Cub Scout and on the board of directors of the Mindowaskin Swim Club, which she and the boys joined some years ago. They spend their vacations together in Spain, sailing, waterskiing and swimming, and this year's trip will be extended to include a visit to EXPO '67 in Montreal.

She's hoping that her oldest son, Douglass, who was valedictorian of this year's graduating class at St. Benedict's Preparatory School, Newark, will be able to join them on the trek. Doug, who is only 17, is following in the footsteps of his engineering father. Winner of three awards at the graduation (two for science and one for academic excellence), he is working this summer with Motorola. His duties have already included two pleasant chores--he monitored the walkie-talkie equipment used to flash the scores to the computer system used at the national open golf championship at Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield, and at the Cleveland Open. (Motorola sent him to Cleveland by plane for that last stint.)

DAVID, WHO HAS inherited his mother's artistic interests, is taking courses in developmental reading and creative arts at Governor Livingston Regional High School this summer.

A sports fan, he is the family champion in water skiing. Ronald, who will shortly leave for a stay at Camp Sabattis, Boy Scout camp in New York State, is on the Mindowaskin Swim Team and, with Pat Ricciardi as his team mate, came in first recently in the regional Boy Scout's big canoe race.

A member of the building committee which was set up several years ago to work for the construction of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mrs. Johnson was active this past year in the inter-faith dialogues which were conducted among Protestant, Catholic and Jewish residents of the borough.

Asked for an opinion on the success of the dialogues, she answered simply: "the purpose of the inter-faith movement is simply to open doors. Just by coming together, meeting and talking, we are opening doors."

Temple holds services

Sabbath Services will continue every Friday at 8 p.m. during the summer months at Temple Emanu-El, Westfield. Services are conducted by members of the religious committee of the temple without music and sermon.

Rutgers professor takes podium with Vietnam speaker

Sevnuir Zenchelsky, a professor at Rutgers University and chairman of New Jersey State, will introduce Tran Van Dinh, former Acting Ambassador of Vietnam, when he speaks in the Park Hotel Annex, Plainfield, next Wednesday night. The program, sponsored by Westfield Area FACT and Plainfield SAFE, is open to the public.

Van Dinh will speak on "The Third Choice in Vietnam." Professor Zenchelsky anticipates a lively question and answer period after Van Dinh's speech, particularly in view of the current political maneuvering in preparation for the September elections in South Vietnam. Van Dinh is expected to discuss the opposition of non-communist elements in Vietnam to the present South Vietnamese government.

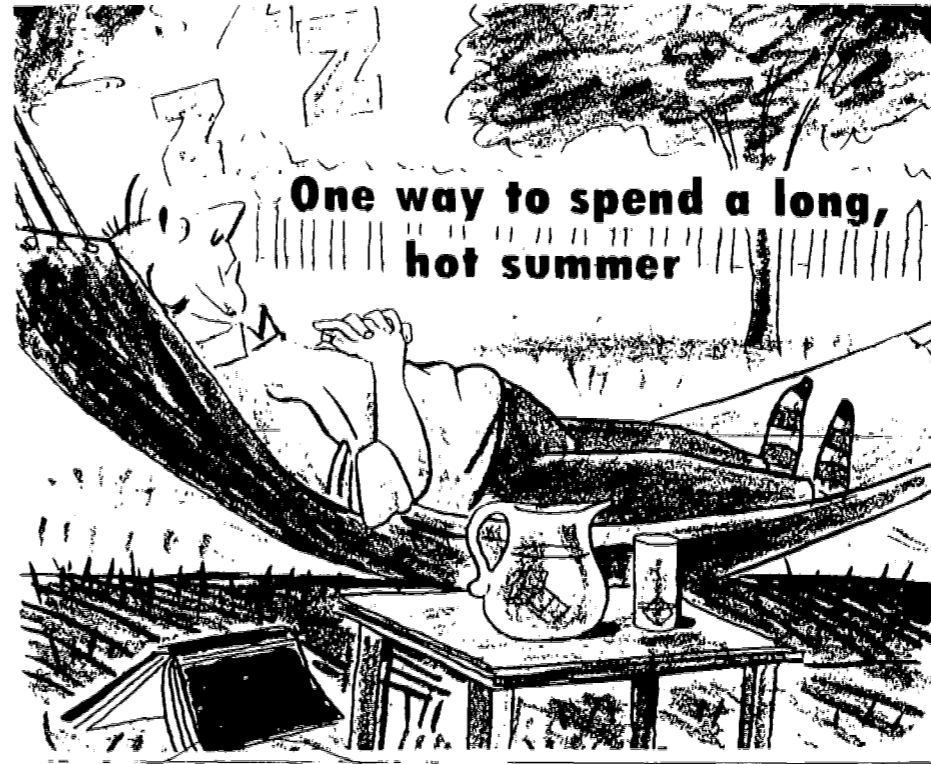

Dr. Zenchelsky is an executive board member of the Universities Committee on Problems of War and Peace and the newly organized N. J. Political Alliance for Peace and Human Rights.

Mrs. Eli Hoffman of Mountainside is among the area coordinators who arranged the appearance of Van Dinh, now U.S. representative of the Vietnamese Overseas Buddhist Association.

An exhibit of original art objects on peace will be on display at the meeting. A selection of recent publications on Vietnam and Buddhist viewpoints, including Van Dinh's book, "No Passenger on the River," will be on exhibit also.

Appointed to dean's list at Muhlenberg College

Barbara J. Harris, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter D. Harris of Mountainside has been named to the dean's list for the spring semester at Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa. To qualify for Muhlenberg's dean's list, a student must have a grade average of 3.5 on a 4.0 point scale with no grade lower than "C."

One way to spend a long, hot summer

High schools start summer sessions

Summer school began at the four regional high schools last week with an enrollment almost one-third the size of the regular school enrollment. The Arthur L. Johnson school, Clark, had 554 of whom quite a number were tuition students from neighboring communities. This was also the case in the other three schools.

The total of 1462 included in addition to the Johnson enrollment, 365 at Governor Livingston, Berkeley Heights; 305 at Jonathan Dayton, Springfield, and 238 at David Brearley, Kenilworth.

Of the total in attendance, approximately half are taking advanced or enrichment courses; the rest are in review or make-up work.

Warning on rabies in bats issued by health officer

A warning on the danger of rabies-carrying bats was issued this week by Charles F. Dotto, Mountainside's Health Officer. Saying that it has been brought to his attention that at least one child brought a bat to a borough school, Dotto emphasized the very real danger of contracting rabies from bats.

He pointed to a news release from the State Department of Health which states that four bats have been found to be rabid in the department's laboratory this year. The department's records show that rabies in bats has been increasing in New Jersey since 1960.

Dotto also relayed advice from Dr. Oscar Sussman, chief of the state department's veterinary public health program, which urges people not to touch bats and calls for parents to caution their children on the dangers. Local police or the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals should be called if a bat which acts sick or lazy is seen in a public area.

If it becomes necessary to handle a bat (for example, if it has bitten a human or a dog or cat) use tongs or some similar instrument to keep it away from the body.

A BAT in a biting incident should be placed in a glass jar or can with a top that screws on. Care should be exercised in putting it in the container and also so that the container, if glass, will not get broken. Tiny openings should be punched in the metal top of the container. The openings should not be greater than one-eighth of an inch in diameter. The local health department should be consulted about having the bat tested for rabies.

If a person is bitten by a bat, the wound should be washed promptly with plenty of hot, soapy water. A physician should be consulted promptly. The State Department of Health recommends treatment against rabies of any person bitten by a bat. Sussman said bat bites are tiny, almost needle point, and people may be tempted to disregard them. "One must not disregard them," he said, "because one's life could be in danger."

Dogs and cats should be immunized against rabies once a year to maintain their protective immunity. Dogs and cats are likely to pounce on or play with a bat they find on the ground or in a low place. If they should chance on a rabid bat, chances of infection would be strong unless the dog or cat already had immunity to the disease.

"In brief," Dr. Sussman advises, "don't fool around with bats. They are dangerous. If you have a dog or a cat, have it immunized against rabies every year. Many municipalities hold immunization clinics every year to foster this type of protection."

The Mountainside Board of Health holds a clinic every Spring.

Reports on confab of state druggists

Col. Jacob Eisen, a member of Mountainside's Board of Health, attended the 19th annual convention of the N. J. Pharmaceutical Association held recently in Atlantic City. Col. Eisen, who lives at 1155 Corrinne ter., participated in discussions on drug safety, adverse drug reaction reporting, and control systems and new developments in this field.

According to Eisen, a major report at the convention showed how the pharmacist and community hospital could cooperate in improving health care for the sick and preventing adverse reactions to drugs. Poison prevention, accident prevention and emergency care of the sick were also discussed.

Eisen said that "the implementation of these ideas should lead to better health care for a lot of citizens in New Jersey in the years ahead."

June meeting to register protests against the extension of the existing variance. Wilson and the borough have been engaged in various litigation over the use of the property for about 12 years.

In response to DeMiro's request that the 1966 court decision be taken into consideration on the new application, the zoning board's attorney, Joseph Coviello, said the present application "would have to rise or fall" on evidence and testimony presented in this case.

The present matter plan for the borough, which has been approved by the Planning Board, calls for the rezoning of the entire Wilson tract and the Corrinne ter. tract from residential to preferred restricted commercial. An attempt by the Borough Council in the fall of 1965 to implement that portion of the master plan by ordinance, drew about 300 objecting residents to a public hearing that ran for six hours. The Council then dropped the ordinance without taking final action.

at the Warm Springs Foundation in Georgia, where Linda was cared for from April to July of last year, said it was amazing that anyone could survive such an injury. While she was in Overlook Hospital, where she stayed from the day of the accident until the transfer to Warm Springs, Linda went through many ordeals with a stoic courage.

"She's a wonderful little girl," Miss Pretner and Mrs. Ruth Williams, the head nurse, said after bidding her goodbye last Friday. "And she was a happy, excited little girl."

Seated in the family's station wagon, she looked as though she had the world on a string. Her mother was teary-eyed, but just as happy--happy and grateful.

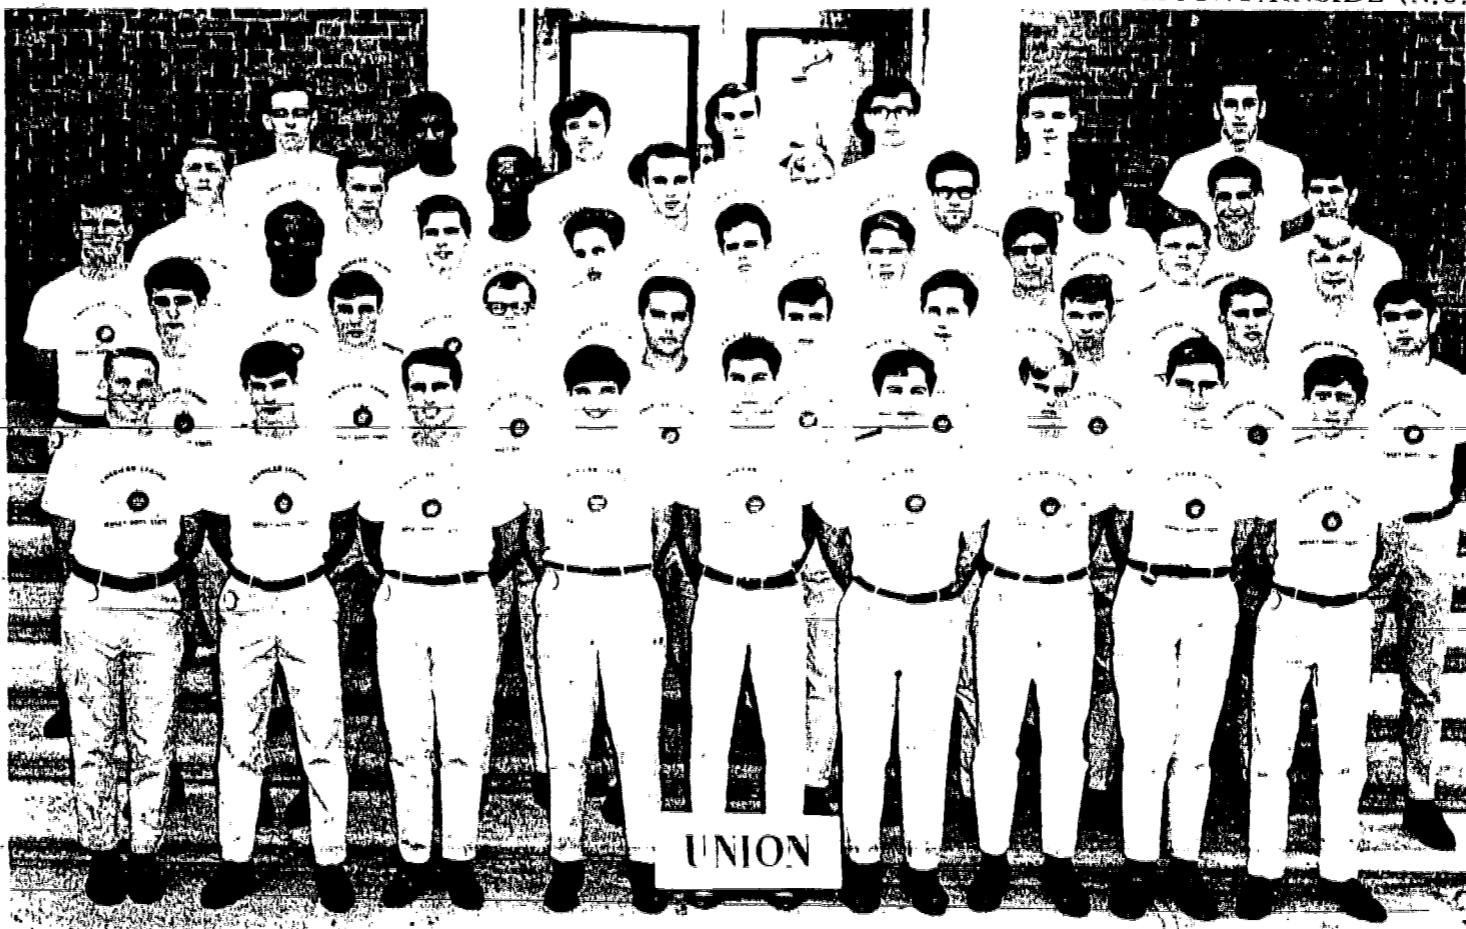

"So very grateful," she said, "to the hospital and the wonderful members of the staff. They have been so good, so kind to Linda."

Her gratitude extended to the whole community, to all the people who contributed so generously to the fund drive for Linda which was organized in December, 1965, by Police Chief Christian Fritz and James Debie, proprietor of the Mountainside Deli. The fund reached over $28,000 within a few months.

"We can never thank everyone enough," Mrs. Clark said feelingly. "The accident was so bad--if we had to worry about money for Linda's care--we can't begin to express our thanks, there are no words to cover all we feel."

The Equitable's leading agents from its Metropolitan Division participated in the three-day institute.

GOP candidate assists in suit for commuters

Kenneth White, of Plainfield, a candidate for a Republican Assembly nomination from District 9C which includes Mountainside and eight other municipalities, last Thursday, attended a New York tax suit filing in behalf of commuters which White said "could benefit the economy of Union County by several million dollars a year."

The suit was brought in U.S. District Court in Manhattan by the American Commuters Association, of which White is a vice-president, against the State of New York, the claim being that the state's non-resident income taxes are unconstitutional. ACA principals included Bernard Mitzner, of Middletown, president, and O. John Rogge, of New York, former U.S. Assistant Attorney General, counsel. Mountainside has a number of commuters who are members of the ACA.

"Our position," White said, "is that commuters to another state who pay substantially the same income taxes to that state as its own residents should be entitled to substantially the same benefits."

"Actually, however, New Jersey residents working in New York receive relatively few benefits from that state. For the past five years, an average of 75 per cent of New York State expenditures were not available to non-residents. These expenditures provided benefits in such fields as education, social welfare, health, mental hygiene and housing."

"At present New Jersey residents pay a total of $88 million in income taxes to New York State and New York City. This works out to an average of about $400 per commuting taxpayer. All Union County residents who work in New York, whether or not they are members of the ACA, would of course benefit along with other New Jerseyans if this income tax burden were removed," White said.

White stated that the ACA is "very hopeful" about its legal case and expects the matter eventually will wind up in the U.S. Supreme Court. Meanwhile the ACA will need more funds to cover legal costs than have so far been received in dues from the nearly 2,000 ACA members.

New York State has the usual 60-day period to answer yesterday's filing, and presumably will obtain a further 60-day extension, so that an initial reply to the suit could be made near the end of October.

Playgrounds

to be held during the last week of the summer program. A puppet show, written by the children and featuring marionettes and a stage constructed by the children, will also be presented at the end-of-the-season program.

According to Miss Barry, formal art activities will be held in the morning with the children divided into groups according to age and interest. Informal art projects will be carried out in the afternoon hours.

There will be a story hour each day. The activities for the coming week and the time scheduling will appear each Friday in the weekly addition of the playground newspaper.

The summer program was shifted to Echobrook School this year because of the construction of the addition to Deerfield School which is expected to start within the next 10 days.

Miss Barry said she feels the shift to Echobrook, which is next to the municipal pool, will boost attendance at the playground sessions since children who are members will be able to join in many of the activities.

SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE'S Weekly Feature By GARY LESSING, Manager

'Way back in 1938 A.D., the baseball world was startled by the feat of a young 22-year-old rookie named Johnny Vander Meer who pitched two no-hitters in a row.

It was twenty-nine years ago this month that he achieved his great no-hit pitching exploit. On June 11 of that year, he first beat the former Boston Braves for his Cincinnati Reds. Four days later, fans crowded into Ebbets Field in Brooklyn to watch No-Hit Johnny in action, and to see if his past performance might have been a fluke.

As we all know, it was no fluke, for Vander Meer repeated his amazing act, moving down the former Brooklyn Dodgers by the score of 6-0.

We wonder how many of our readers can name the last two batters in this game. Here's a couple of hints: the next to last batter played with the Newark Bears before moving up to Brooklyn, and is the father of a current backfield star with the New York Football Giants; the last batter is presently manager of the Chicago Cubs.

Did you name Ernie Koy and Leo Durocher? How about naming the best auto tires on the market today? Here's a hint: the name is spelled F-I-R-E-S-T-O-N-E, and you'll find a full line of these fine FIRESTONE Tires at SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE, Rt. 22, at Springfield Rd., UNION. Open daily 9-9, Saturdays to 4, our phone number is MU 8-5620.

K of C elects Donnelly as Kennedy Navigator

Wilbur N. Donnelly of Union has been elected Faithful Navigator of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus of Union.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

During these warm, sunny summer days and evenings, television and movie-viewing can be a positive and pleasurable experience for the family. To make it a satisfying and worthwhile experience, you, the parents, must however take the initiative and time to guide your youngsters in their choices and join them in watching.

Careful selection of the programs your youngsters view can provide informative and understanding experiences. Characters portrayed often serve as models for future behavior. You may suddenly see your youngster imitate a pattern of speech or behavior that was portrayed a week or a day ago in a movie or TV program. They decide when it is an appropriate response for the situation. And, if properly selected it may be good!

Your children may become emotionally involved in what they see. Thus, they can experience just as if they themselves were there, the fear or joy, the humor or sorrow of the character being portrayed. Remember, your children can obtain a wealth of understanding of everyday life in this manner if, you the parents, again help select the program.

Better still, share the experience with your children. Even listening while working in an adjoining room can make it possible to discuss how each of you interpreted what you saw.

Science fiction is one means through which your children can separate the real from the "make believe". Here again, parent-child discussions can be an important tool to help provide a sense of security and guidance in making final judgments.

TV and movies can thus be positive and pleasurable experiences for you and your youngsters.

Other officers elected are: Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis X. Coyle, Springfield, faithful friar; John R. Murphy, Union, faithful captain; John J. Gorman, Hillside, faithful pilot; Charles J. Spingola, Kenilworth, faithful admiral; John J. Guider, Union, faithful comptroller; Frank Rebel, Springfield, faithful purser; Joseph Leonardis, Hillside, faithful scribe; Frederick Fuchs, Kenilworth, faithful inner sentinel; and Michael J. Reilly, Union, faithful outer sentinel.

Elected as trustees are: Past Faithful Navigator George J. Sheridan Sr., Union, Harold R. Livingston, Hillside, and Edward E. Kennedy, Springfield.

Delegates to the Biennial Convention are Donnelly, Spingola, and Murphy. Alternates are Gorman, Guidera, and Rebel.

Donnelly, the newly elected Navigator, is a charter member of Union Council 4504, Knights of Columbus. He has served as treasurer of Union Council in 1959-60, president of Columbian Club 1963-64, director of Columbian Club and its building manager 1963-64. He is a charter member of the Kennedy General Assembly and has served as Faithful Comptroller and Faithful Pilot prior to his election. He is a member of Anchor Club 53 and the N. J. Communications Workers of America.

The new Navigator resides with his wife Dorothy and three daughters on Lafayette ave., Union.

Named to state board

A trustee of Union Junior College, Cranford, Dr. William H. McLean of Short Hills, has been appointed to the State Board of Higher Education by Gov. Richard J. Hughes. Dr. McLean, secretary of Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, will represent the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in New Jersey.

ADJUST SPEED

Too many drivers are heading for tragedy because they drive too fast for prevailing conditions. Speed must be adjusted to road, weather and traffic conditions, particularly during light drizzles and at night.

PASSES GAVEL — Outgoing Faithful Navigator Charles L. Spingola of John F. Kennedy General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, Union, passes the gavel to his successor, Wilbur N. Donnelly, Spingola was elected Faithful Admiral of the group.

Rinaldo supporting plan to consolidate 3 state authorities

Republican State Senatorial candidate Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union this week called for the consolidation of all three highway authorities in the state. Rinaldo noted that D. Louis Tonti, director of the authority operating the Garden State Parkway, recently went on record as favoring such a plan.

Rinaldo said "the costly duplication and overlapping inherent in the maintenance of three bodies — the Highway Authority (which operates the Parkway), the New Jersey Turnpike Authority and the Atlantic City Expressway — is a luxury this tax-weary state can ill afford."

"Common sense — a commodity that seems to be missing in the make-up of the Hughes Administration in Trenton — tells us that one authority could effect economies that three bodies cannot hope to achieve. A combined purchasing program alone would save untold hundreds of thousands of dollars, perhaps even millions."

The Union County Republican said implementation of his suggestion would be "a logical step in the right direction. There simply can be no justification for the continued existence of three separate staffs whose duties and responsibilities are essentially parallel. New Jersey should be put back on the road toward economy in government. Combining these three authorities into one would take us a few giant steps down that road. In the process, we would realize a far more effective administration of our toll roads — and at far less cost."

Rinaldo also called his suggestion a "logical extension of my philosophy that economies can be effected in government, by the application of common sense and a sincere desire to achieve economy. New Jersey has suffered under the yoke of extravagant state government for too long. It's time for a change to economy."

MISS DANCE — Jan Weber, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wisniewski of 1436 Vauxhall rd., Union, was recently named Miss Dance of the New York City Chapter in the Dance Masters of America contest. She will compete on Aug. 3 with girls from about 20 other states for the title of "Miss Dance of America" and a $1,000 scholarship to the school of her choice.

A FEMININE LOOK ...At AFRICA 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Thirteenth in A Series THE MEN OF 'LA GHANA' Kwame Nkrumah, the exiled ex-president of Ghana, is not the only man from that country to have made world news...

A MAN OF GHANA -- Alex Quaison-Sackey who once was president of the UN General Assembly in New York. He is ambassador under Nkrumah and is again looked upon favorably and may again be active politically.

AT A PRESS CONFERENCE and reception in Ghana early this year, the host spoke of Quaison-Sackey when I put several questions to him about the ex-ambassador...

Our host too, had a cane and we were told it was an identification item. Tribal perhaps. While city people in Ghana are generally Moslem or Christian, most of the people are of some tribal faith and polygamy is widely practiced...

AND seems to be looked upon with favor. Perhaps HE will be Ghana's second president. Actually, when we asked who could be president and if anyone was being groomed for the task, the answer was no...

WHILE GAY OLD NKUMAH, the 58-year-old, U.S. educated, one-and-only president of Ghana so far, is blamed for much of Ghana's woes, there are those who say, 'ah, he was just a typical politician and not really so bad, and there are two big things Ghana now has that were built during his time that are real assets!'

Nkrumah seems to have made off with a goodly amount of the economic growth and changed his politics drastically, and Black Star Square does not often fill its 100,000 seats and State House -- woefully stands empty.

But it is the man-made harbor at Tema and the Volta River Dam that are the two big successes. On one of the days our group was taken to see the harbor and the dam but I did not go...

Briefly, Tema is a large, active, busy man-made harbor 12 miles down the coast from Accra which was largely only on the drawing boards seven years ago, according to Frank Pfeiffer, a fellow traveler and publisher from New Mexico...

ANOTHER ENJOYABLE AFTERNOON in Ghana, and opposite from this modern, giant efficiency, was the quaint, intimate, inefficient native market in Accra. That was a colorful, cheerful, noisy, rambling, eye-filling delight...

I would never have suspected Africa of that. Strange piles of pink sponge in cone shapes were stacked in great piles in front of several stalls, and believe it or not we asked, 'What is it?' for we really didn't believe our suspicions...

OUTDOOR LIVING ROOM FOR YOU? Is your back yard just a pleasant place to be or is it an outdoor living room that's the result of at least as much planning as you put into your indoor living room?

EASIER THAN YOU THINK For example, he said, he has built a little patio and waterfall at his place to show how well such an attraction can be used in an outdoor living room. Most of his customers seem surprised and delighted. Then he explains how easy it would be for them to do something similar...

A METHOD OF TRANSPORTATION in Ghana--The only way to carry bundles in Africa. A native in Accra, Ghana, carries a load of material through the market. The woman at left is carrying plates.

County cancer group names Reid new executive director

The appointment of Alan L. Reid of Westfield as executive director of the Union-County Chapter of the American Cancer Society was announced yesterday by Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, chapter president.

Reid, former administrative assistant with the Valley Stream House in West Orange, has assumed his duties which will include organizing and directing the activities of more than 10,000 volunteers during the annual financial and educational Cancer Crusades. An alumnus of Colgate University, Reid did graduate work at the University of Chicago in business administration and was employed in that field in Massachusetts before joining the West Orange social agency with primary duties in fund-raising.

Reid succeeds Thomas H. Barnett, who resigned to become development associate with the Masterwork Music and Art Foundation in Morristown.

Dr. Wilkins, who is president of Newark State College in Union, said he and the chapter's executive board were fortunate "in obtaining the talents of a man with Reid's organizational ability and background in social service."

"We are confident," Dr. Wilkins said, "that Mr. Reid's efforts will help the chapter grow in services and educational programming and will result in the collection of much-needed additional funds for the Cancer Society's vast, nationwide research program."

"With a most dedicated group of volunteers continuing on the job, the Union County Chapter will continue to be a leader in bringing the story of the American Cancer Society to the people."

Fourteen regular workers sewed 3,000 dressings and 5,650 dressings were furnished to the patients. Volunteers made 300 bed pads and distributed 480. They borrowed occasional dressings from units in Roselle Park, Elizabeth and Kenilworth. Volunteers are currently offering service to patients including an eight year old boy.

Mrs. Hildebrandt announced that there has been generous support from the public in supply lines for the dressings by depositing worn sheets, cases, table linens, hampers, supplied for that purpose and located at each of the local post offices and at the Morey LaRue Laundry and the Diamond Cleaners, which wash and press materials delivered by Mrs. Edward G. ... of the Volunteers.

Dressings may be obtained by any Union resident upon request. Local doctors refer patients to the Volunteer Service, it was reported, although most patients are brought to the attention of the volunteers by visiting nurses.

A collective birthday luncheon was held at the last meeting, June 28, at the Veterans' Home. Mrs. Theodore Hubert served as hostess. Miss Ruth Yates of Columbus, O. was a guest of honor.

Rustic setting, 'big city' mood At 'Mitty's' on Montauk Highway

By PAT BAIRD With more New Jerseyans than ever seeking the more secluded beaches of Long Island as their vacation spot, there's a good chance of passing "Mitty's General Store" on the Montauk highway (Route 27) in Watermill, N.Y. But don't stop in for sarsaparilla and vanilla wafers. Owner Tom Ward doesn't have any. You may not see any penny candy or cracker barrels, but what you will see are people like the Mammás and the Pappás, the Tóvín' Spoonful, Joey Heatherton, George Hamilton and Glamour cover girl, Ali McGraw, to name just a few.

around the corner. The setting is rustic, but the mood is a 'big city' as the big city clubs. The bar, the bands, the crowds and the fashions are all there, along with many well known entertainers who go there to be entertained.

Mitty's is a young enterprise. Ward, fellow Englishman, maitre d' Tony Hughes and head bartender Ray Ford from Garden City, L.I., along with all of the waiters and handmaids are all in their 20's. Because of this the atmosphere is youthful but the clientele cover every age category.

In years past the general store theme had been dropped and Mitty's, established 1963, became something of a private club. However, Ward has managed to keep the best of both worlds. There may be hex signs on the walls but not a checkered tablecloth is sight. The waiters wear blue jeans, but the black and white striped canopy is still on the ceiling. You can go there wearing anything from crepe culottes to levis; silk shirts to madras jackets and still be appropriately dressed. You can sit around the dance floor in the barn-like back room with a party of 20 or choose the leather-bound booths in the canopied cocktail lounge.

Mitty's only historical significance is that it was the first discotheque on eastern Long Island, but it is still a sight worth seeing.

40 'Years' cited by Millburn star

Sam Levine, who stars in "The Impossible Years," which opened Tuesday at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, celebrated his 40th anniversary on Broadway on April 27. He recreates his role in the Paper Mill production of the Bob Fisher-Arthur Marx comedy, which will run for four weeks. Levine's four decades in the Broadway theater began in 1927 in a play, "Wall Street" in which he had five lines.

Among his theatrical achievements were "Guys and Dolls," "Margin For Error," "The Devil's Advocate," "Make A Million," "Heartbreak House," "Light Up the Sky," "Street Scene," "Room Service" and "Dinner at Eight."

Keep checking to see if someone is following too closely, warns the Allstate Motor Club. If so, pull over to the right and signal the driver to pass you.

'Endless Summer' set in fourth Ormont week

Bruce Brown, 28, who wrote the script for "The Endless Summer," photographed teenage surfers, Michael Hynson and Robert August, who followed summer around the globe in search of the perfect wave, also produced and directed the film.

"The Endless Summer," which starts its fourth week at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, was photographed in Senegal, Ghana, Nigeria, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Tahiti and Hawaii, as the camera followed the boys 35,000 miles.

SOUND SUITS BRUSSELS (UPI) - Claims for more than 4 million francs ($80,000) were entered in 1965 and 1966 at the Belgian Ministry of Defense for alleged damage caused by air force jets crashing the sound barrier. Mink farmers alone want 3 million francs, claiming their animals, particularly sensitive to sudden noises, get in murderous frenzies and destroy each other and their young when shocked. Dog owners claimed 100,000 francs.

Baird Puppeteers on Sanford screen

One of the most popular puppeteers, Bill and Cora Baird fulfilled three-ply functions for producer-director Robert Wise's "The Sound of Music," which started its third week at the newly-renovated Sanford Theater, Irvington, yesterday.

In adapting the Rodgers and Hammerstein stage musical for 20th Century Fox, Ernest Lehman wrote in a special puppet sequence. The Bairds, who have traveled throughout the world with their own puppet show, were called in by Wise to create a new set of puppets for "The Sound of Music" to teach members of the cast how to operate the marionettes, and to work behind the scenes themselves for part of the number.

'A Woman' is held on Art Theater screen

"I, a Woman," English-dubbed Danish film, began its second week at the Art Theater, Irvington Center, yesterday.

The adult film, which concentrates on sexual exploitations, concerns a girl who convicts with a series of men. Essy Persson has the title role in the film. Mac Ahlbert directed.

'Long Day's Journey' on stage in Middlesex

Eugene O'Neill's stage drama, "Long Day's Journey Into Night" will play its last three performances, tonight, tomorrow and Saturday at 8:40 at the Foothill Playhouse, Middlesex. An original script, "Spectacular Rendezvous," by John J. D. Sheehan, will be staged beginning July 26 for an eight night, two-week run. Sheehan has been with the playhouse for eight years both on the boards and behind the scenes.

Reservations for both plays may be made by writing to the Playhouse on Birchwood ave., Middlesex, or by calling the box office at 356-0462.

'Prix' starts 16th week

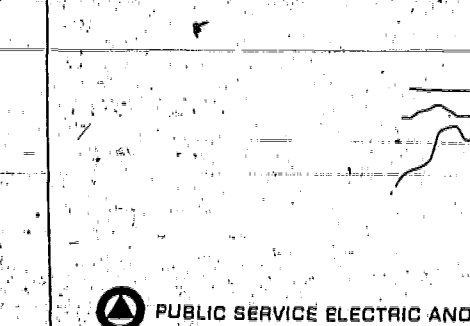

"Grand Prix," starring James Garner, Yves Montand and Eva Marie Saint, started its 16th week yesterday on the Cinerama screen at the Clairidge Theater, Montclair. Photographed in Cinerama and color, the picture takes a viewer on a wild race-car adventure in Europe.

DRIVE-IN EGGERY DENTON, Tex. (UPI) - The rural custom of going directly to the chicken house for eggs is returning. But you don't have to take a basket or take the eggs from the nest. Mrs. Jane Rosales, operator of an 18,000-hen farm, offers cleaned, graded and packaged eggs at a drive-in window in her chicken house.

When we talk about Megalopolis, it spells "money" to New Jersey

MEGALOPOLIS? It's an urbanized, highly industrialized strip of land that extends from Boston to Washington. New Jersey is right in the center of this belt of buying power... and Public Service has been letting America's business community know about it.

We advertise across the nation to attract new industry to the Garden State, because when a firm moves into our state, new jobs immediately become available and New Jersey's entire economy is stimulated. It's all part of our job to serve the people of New Jersey.
