Board tables action on bid by swim club

Variance being sought for new office building

The Mountainside Zoning Board of Adjustment this week voted to continue a hearing on the application of Mindowaskin Holding Co., 1020-1024 Springfield ave., for a use variance which would permit the construction of an office building on land at that address. The board, which met last Monday, will consider the application at the next regular meeting.

The Mindowaskin Holding Co., which owns and operates a swim club during the summer months, plans to build an office building for keeping records. Approximately 350 families are now members of the club, a number which is fixed and will not be affected by any new construction, a spokesman said. The land is in an industrial zone.

Several members of the public stayed until late Monday evening, when the board discussed the company's application. Joseph Coviello, legal counsel for the board, said that the office building violates the zoning ordinance in the proposed parking plans, which allow cars to park between the street curb and the building line.

However, the board appeared to be more concerned with the additional cars that will be using the parking area and borough roads, as well as the design, which calls for the use of a wide driveway for both in-going and out-going cars.

Answers to questions about the safety of the design were given to the board by Edward L. Cyr, Cyr, who is traffic engineer for the city of Newark and traffic consultant for the township of Springfield, presented the results of a traffic count on Springfield avenue and discussed the advantages of the wide, angular driveway.

According to Cyr, the traffic that will be generated by the offices, estimated at about 40 cars, will be light in comparison to traffic already being carried on Springfield avenue.

AL PAGANO of 163 Sunrise pkwy., Mountainside, who lives near the Mindowaskin Pool, asked Cyr if the wide driveway to be used for cars going in two directions would not be dangerous.

Cyr answered that the one driveway would be far safer than two driveways, or two points at which traffic would be turning in and out between the parking lot and Springfield avenue. The driveway, which would be 40 feet wide, would give cars ample turning room and vision, Cyr said.

Cyr also answered questions by the board on the design of the driveway and declared that the proposed design was more than adequate. Others who asked questions about the plans were Rocco Gentile of 315 Glen rd., and Victor Spolarich of 1035 Rutgers rd., both of Mountainside, and Frank Cardinal of 266 Milltown rd., Springfield.

The spokesman for Mindowaskin also suggested that the new building would improve the appearance of the land. The land, which is now unimproved, tends to collect refuse during the months when it is not in use, he said. They further stated that this problem would be alleviated after the construction.

THE BOARD ALSO reserved decision on an application by the Elizabethtown Water Co. to build a water tower and observatory on property in Mountainside owned by the Union County Park Commission. Further study will be given to the application.

According to Thomas Ricciardi, chairman of the board, the variance is needed because of the proposed height of the water tower, some 98 feet, and because of the use of an observatory, which would also be erected.

A spokesman for the Elizabethtown Water Co. explained that the observatory was recommended by the Park Commission and would constitute approximately 10 feet of the 98-foot structure. It would be used as a public observatory and supervised by the Park Commission, he said.

The 88 feet of the water tower would assure at least 35 to 45 pounds of water pressure to the area at all times, the spokesman said. It would store a half a million gallons of water.

The proposed site is the best, he contended, because the tower would be screened by trees. Adjoining the Prospect avenue section, it is also one of the highest points in Union County, he said. He added that the tower would be

Rehearsals begin for PTA Chorus

The Union County PTA Chorus will open its 12th season shortly, the director, Aden Lewis, announced this week. Lewis, who is music-coordinator-in-the-Mountainside-School system, urges "all women who like to sing" to be on hand for the group's first rehearsal next Thursday. Auditions are not required and chorus members do not have to be able to read music, Lewis stated.

Next Thursday's rehearsal will open at 3 p.m. in the all-purpose room of Beechwood School, Woodacres dr., Mountainside. Rehearsals, which will run for one hour, will continue each Thursday through January at the same time and place.

In past years, the PTA Chorus has appeared at the State PTA convention in Atlantic City, the Founders' Day Dinner in Elizabethtown and many benefit affairs throughout Union County. Mrs. Frederick Wilhelms-Jr., wife of the mayor of Mountainside, has choreographed the chorus shows for many years.

DEMOCRATIC WRITE-IN CANDIDATES, John Medevielle, standing, and Robert Sacharow, study voting lists in preparation for the campaign they will shortly launch in their bids to obtain seats on the Borough Council in the November election. (Echo photo by Bob Baxter)

Democrats name ticket; 'concentrate resources'

The nomination of Robert R. Sacharow and John E. Medevielle as the Democratic candidates for Borough Council through write-in votes in Tuesday's primary was halted this week by Karl Heinze, president of the Mountainside Democratic Club.

Heinze, one of four Democrats who made unsuccessful bids last year for seats on the local governing body, said the nomination of Sacharow and Medevielle "gives the voters of Mountainside the opportunity to vote for two-party representation on the Borough Council in November."

The Democrats' failure to place a mayorality candidate on the ballot to oppose Republican Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. in the general election was defined by Heinze as a move to "concentrate our resources." He elaborated on this stand by explaining that Democratic leaders have generally felt that the fact that four seats instead of the normal two were at stake in last November's election weakened the party's bid for election. (The resignation of two members of the all-Republican Council threw the two extra seats into the 1966 contest.)

"Even those traditionally Republican voters who were interested in getting two-party representation in the borough were worried about placing a Democratic majority on the Council. The Republicans used that threat successfully," Heinze stated.

Bagpipers march in opening parade of beauty pageant

The Highlander Girl Pipers of Governor Livingston Regional High School marched in the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City last week for the second consecutive year.

The Mountainside and Berkeley Heights bagpipers were invited to return and participate in the pageant after taking part in the event for the first time last year.

They marched in the opening parade along the Boardwalk last Tuesday, taking part in the ceremonies with other bands from New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland and with the contestants seeking the Miss America title.

Before the parade, the girls saw a demonstration by the Blue Angels, the Navy stunt flyers.

The 24 band members, who traveled to Atlantic City by school bus, were accompanied by Forrest Bartlett, music director at the high school, and New Jersey Bell Telephone Company officials who serve as instructors for the band. They are Robert C. Harrison, bagpipe instructor, and Frank Mulraney, drum instructor.

5 votes cast for Mytelka in mayoral

Irwin gets 415 votes in bid for Assembly

The Democratic party will run two candidates for Borough Council in the November election as a result of Tuesday's primary vote, Robert Sacharow of 1500 Force dr., who collected 29 write-in votes Tuesday, and John E. Medevielle, who garnered 27 write-ins, have agreed to accept the nominations. They will run against the Republican candidates Councilman Donald Robertson, who received 421 votes Tuesday, and Louis N. Parent, who tallied 417.

The Democrats, who had not filed any candidates for the primary, still have no official candidate to oppose GOP Mayor Frederick Wilhelms in the general election despite a light rash of write-in votes for that post on the Democrat line. Donald Mytelka of New Providence rd., who with five votes topped a field of four write-in Democratic candidates, could not be reached Tuesday night for comment. However his wife stated that she "doubts if he will run—he doesn't have the time."

William Seeds, who opposed Mayor Wilhelms in the 1965 election, and Joseph Stypa, who came within 20 votes of capturing a seat on the Borough Council that same year, and Mrs. Eli Hoffman, wife of a former Democratic candidate, were the other "write-ins." Mayor Wilhelms ran up a total of 417 votes on the GOP ticket.

GOP Councilman Charles J. Irwin, running unopposed as the party-approved candidate for the Assemblyman-at-large seat, received 415 votes in the borough. He will run against Democrat Everett C. Latimore of Plainfield in the general election.

Borough voters on both sides of the political fence cast the most votes for the state senatorial candidates. GOP aspirants Francis X. McDermott, Matthew J. Rinaldo and Nicholas S. La Corte, each collected well over 400 votes. The party-approved Democratic senatorial hopefuls, Mildred Barry Hughes, James J. Kinneally Sr. and Lester Weiner, received close to 40 each.

SACHAROW and Medevielle must officially accept the nominations on or before next Tuesday in the County Clerk's office in the Elizabethtown Court House in order to have their names placed on the November ballot.

A graduate of Rutgers University, Sacharow established his own general insurance agency, Robert A. Sacharow Agency, two years ago. He was previously employed by the Prudential Insurance Co. and was for several years one of that firm's leading agents. The Sacharows, who have two daughters, Barbara, 16, and Randi 10, moved to Mountainside about 11 years ago from Irvington.

Medevielle, an alumnus of Cornell University's School of Hotel Administration, is em-

Frost recovering from auto accident

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Frost of 374 Old Tote rd., Mountainside, were listed in "satisfactory condition" at Overlook Hospital, Summit, at press time Tuesday. Frost and his wife, Muriel, were taken to the Summit hospital last Friday night by the borough's Rescue Squad after they were injured in a one-car accident on Central ave.

According to the police report, Frost, who suffered facial cuts and complained of chest pains, was unable to give a statement on the accident in which his car hit a mailbox and a tree at 392 Central ave. His wife also had facial cuts and was in deep shock, the police report showed.

The complete front end and windshield of Frost's car was demolished in the accident. The car was towed to E and H Sunoco on Rt. 22.

Work at Deerfield site causing traffic problem

Site preparation for the addition at Deerfield School is tying-up traffic at opening and closing hours and presents safety problems because of the lack of parking and drive-in facilities caused by the work. Robert Britton, president of the board, publicly thanked the borough's Police Department Tuesday night for its help in dealing with "bad traffic conditions." He also expressed thanks to the chauffeuring parents who cooperate by dropping their children at Central ave. rather than attempting to drive in through School dr., the access road. Britton promised that once the actual construction starts that "conditions should improve."

The board president also indicated that construction is "proceeding on schedule" despite a slight delay in the start of the work and that the building should be ready for occupancy by the previously announced target date of September, 1968.

The construction also caused the board to vote itself into a new meeting place. The meeting, usually held in the all-purpose room of Deerfield School, will be shifted to Beechwood School next month and continue there monthly until construction work is completed.

About eight parents from different sections of the community complained at the meeting about the hazards of their small children walking to school, particularly on the main thoroughfares which do not have sidewalks. Abe Suckno, chairman of the board's safety committee, said these hazards and other safety problems were part of a "package deal" which the board is currently putting together. He declined to outline those plans but it is believed the final plans will include a campaign aimed at having sidewalks installed on the main access roads to the borough schools.

At the August meeting of the school board, William Blunno, vice-president, confirmed a report that the board has been seriously considering pushing for sidewalks. The safety problems caused by the lack of sidewalks forces the school board to maintain a broad bus policy which provides transportation for about 750 grammar school children in the borough.

Borough fire chief attends convention

Chief Theodore M. Byk of the Mountainside Fire Department is in San Francisco attending the 94th Annual Conference of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, which is holding major discussions on the fireman's role during a civil disturbance and a proposed resolution which calls for outlawing untreated wood shingle and shake roofing materials.

All attending fire chiefs will take part in the discussions on civil disorder, since so many smaller fire departments have reciprocal agreements with metropolitan departments to aid each other where major fires cannot be contained.

The resolution on untreated wood roofing materials was introduced because a growing number of fire chiefs have viewed with alarm the increased use of this material. Many cities and counties throughout the country have outlawed wood roofs because they consider them to be a fire hazard.

The chiefs will have an opportunity to see a demonstration which compares the fire retardant qualities of fire rated asphalt roofing with the more combustible untreated wood materials.

CHOW LINE -- The PTA of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, began its activities for the year with a luncheon in the school cafeteria last week for teachers and other staff members. Mrs. Joseph Cognetti and Mrs. Peter Weidenbacher are Mountainside members of the hospitality committee. Mrs. Lyle Brown is PTA president.

ON THE BOARDWALK--The Highlander Girl Pipers' Band of Governor Livingston Regional High School marches along the Boardwalk in Atlantic City in the parade which opened the Miss America ceremonies last week. This was the second consecutive year that the all-girl bagpipers' band was invited to participate in the Miss America program.

Admission to the exhibits and to the Trailside Nature and Science Center is free.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 21, at 4 p.m. each day, Donald W. Mayer, director of Trailside and Miss Irma H. The lectures will be illustrated with color slides.

Governor praises Y-Indian Guides

This week has been proclaimed Y-Indian Guide Week by Gov. Richard J. Hughes, who commended the YMCA Indian Guides for the organization's "many activities designed to strengthen family ties."

Howard Merrick, branch executive of the Five Points YMCA, said that the Guides, largest father and son organization in the United States, is for first and second grade school-boys and their fathers. The organization brings fathers and sons closer together through the study of Indian lore, Merrick said.

100 attend leader training session of Union County Junior Achievement

One hundred executives representing 30 business and industrial organizations attended the 17th executive leadership training session of Junior Achievement of Union County. The executives will serve as advisers to the 30 junior companies which begin operations early next month.

Fred A. Westphal, manager of the Humble Oil & Refining Company's Bayway Refinery and a member of the local Junior Achievement's board of directors, addressed the group. He said that industry's Junior Achievement volunteer advisers and sponsoring firms "are performing an unselfish and invaluable community service."

"The job of guiding and directing the energies and abilities of our young people into positive, constructive channels is a most worthy endeavor and our entire community is deeply grateful to you," Westphal said. He added, "Junior Achievement's learn-by-doing technique teaches our young boys and girls the values, motivations and rewards of the American free competitive enterprise system, the system which has given Americans the highest standard of living in the world."

Westphal said that the struggle between communism and capitalism "is not so much physical as it is a struggle for the youthful mind. Freedom is the only climate in which capitalism can flourish and our young people, who will be the managers, consumers, voters and community leaders of the future must understand that only under a free, competitive economy are they free to develop themselves to the fullest extent of their capabilities and desires."

Other speakers were Arnold Mailman, CPA, of the Union County Chapter, New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants, who spoke on fiscal practices and procedures and preparation and maintenance of financial records; Walter J. Fesuk, who spoke on teen-age psychology and the motivation of young people and Louis C. Millone, field director, Invest in America National Council, Inc., who spoke on free enterprise and other traditional American values.

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT OPERATIONS and procedures were discussed by J. Kenneth Roden, executive vice president, Junior Achievement of Union County, Inc.

Present at the day-long session were representatives from: Alcoa Welding Products Division; American Can Co.; American Cyanamid Co.; Arthur Andersen & Co.; Austin Co.; Bishop Industries, Inc.; Bristol Myers Co.; Barry Biscuit Division of Quaker Oats Co.; Chevron Oil Co.; Enjay Chemical Co.; FMC Corp.; GM Assembly Division of General Motors Corp.; General Aniline & Film Corp.; General

SPORTY NEWCOMER -- American Motors' 1968 Javelin sports hardtop is the newest U.S. entrant in the sports car field. It is offered in two models, standard and the specially-equipped SST shown here.

American Motors' sprightly Javelin goes on display at Richards Rambler

Richard V. Crosta, president of Richards Rambler, 595 Chestnut st., Union, announces the arrival of the Javelin, American Motors' strikingly different specialty automobile.

The Javelin, classed as a two-door sports hardtop, represents a radical advance in American Motors styling. Its styling is characterized by the long hood and short, fast-line rear deck.

"Slightly more than 189 inches long on a 109-inch wheel base, Javelin provides full-comfort seating for four passengers.

The Javelin is available in two models, Javelin and Javelin SST. Exterior and interior trim and equipment variations distinguish the models.

"We fully expect the Javelin to be the outstanding new car in 1968," says Crosta. "It is an entirely new product offering with styling and performance characteristics designed to appeal to the non-average buyer looking for a car with a difference at a reasonable price."

YOUR Independent AGENT

WISE EMPLOYER PROTECTS HIMSELF AGAINST EMBEZZLEMENT AND THEFT

"A competitor of mine was practically forced out of business because a trusted employee embezzled thousands of dollars from him last year," a thoughtful businessman writes. "What can I do to protect my company against a similar disaster?"

Studies show that losses which involve fraud, forgery, embezzlement and theft by employees account for more than double the losses resulting from theft or burglary by "persons unknown."

There is a wide variety of fidelity bonds and dishonesty insurance policies which can protect your company.

An "individual bond" can be written to cover a certain person for a stated amount. A "schedule bond" is used when there are several bondable employees who are listed either by name or by position. In one case, the bond applies to the named individual; in the other, the bond applies to a designated position and covers anyone occupying that position. A "blanket bond" can be written to cover all employees.

A comprehensive "3D policy" can be written which covers loss of money, securities or other property caused by the dishonest act of any officer or employee. It can cover such losses on your premises, caused by actual destruction, disappearance or illegal removal, or losses off your premises, while money or securities are in the hands of a messenger. It also covers loss through forgery or alteration of checks and other specified notes and documents.

The businessman can protect himself by properly using fidelity bonds, supplementing internal control with an independent audit and, through proper management, influencing efficient and honest employee performance.

We, your independent agent can help you determine what type and how much honesty insurance or fidelity bond coverage your firm requires.

PROFILE--Louis R. Munch

The end of the summer is usually a nostalgic time marking as it does the close of the easy-living vacation days--It is a time for reminiscing, for looking back, for reviewing past pleasures before reluctantly getting back to serious pursuits.

The close of summer, 1967, is even more than ordinarily poignant for Louis R. Munch of 1417 Orchard rd. This summer was for him a return to his beginnings, a pilgrimage to his birthplace, a quiet village in Alsace-Lorraine that still maintains the measured pace of his boyhood.

"There are some changes--they have electricity now and running water and piped drainage--but it is still so much the same. The school I went to still stands, the village church is just the same, my family still lives the close, home-centered life I always knew. The leave-taking was so hurting--I don't know if I could go through it again--" his eyes were dry but his voice trembled with tears.

The visit to his birthplace, Kaltenhouse, a quaint community on the French side of the Rhine, came at the end of a six-week tour of Europe. Munch, accompanied by his wife, his daughter, Mrs. George (Anna Marie) Callahan, and his grandson, Kevin Callahan, spent the last 10 days of their trip at Kaltenhouse.

"WE SAVED THE best for the last," said Munch.

Munch, now associated with Cross County Realty of Mountain Side, came to this country in 1928 when he was 21 years old. A trained baker, he went in business with his brother, who had preceded him to this country, in 1932, right in the depths of the great depression.

A year later he took a bride, the former Anna Marie Strobel of Newark, and returned to Alsace-Lorraine, "to show off my bride." That was his last trip to Europe until this year. He had not seen his sister in the intervening years until he met her again this summer in an emotion-choked reunion at her home.

His daughter, her face soft with remembrance, took up the story for him at that point.

"The children of my father's nephew met us before we got to the village. They brought us bouquets of flowers and, speaking in French, they said 'we welcome you to our village.'" It was obvious that the quaint ceremony touched her. It also made a big impression on her 11-year-old son, Kevin, who says the stay at Kaltenhouse was the "very, very best time of all," (that was in a trip that included stops in 12 countries.)

THERE WAS NO television in their host home but no one, least of all Kevin, missed it--"We had music every night, we played and sang and it was just like old times," Munch explained.

Mrs. Callahan was impressed with their hostess' attention to the niceties of living.

"Each night the table was set so beautifully, the napkins were arranged in different decorative shapes each evening, flowers were used so exquisitely. They are quite poor but they do things with such grace," she commented.

Munch confesses that it was touching to him to see the quick and close friendships his grandson made with his Alsatian cousins. He was touched at meeting again, "certainly for the last time," he sighed, a 92-year-old aunt who is still active as a nun. The visit to the grave of his parents (his mother was killed after World War II when a mine exploded as she was picking berries) was a reading experience, invoking as it did memories of his 1933 visit when both his parents were strong and vigorous and warmly welcoming to his young bride.

He treasures the two bottles of "kirsch," a liquor used sparingly in coffee, which his sister slipped into his luggage before the leaving.

The rest of his trip--to England, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Liechtenstein, Switzerland, Italy, France, Austria, France and Monaco (where he lost $1.75 at the gaming tables, "enough to buy one diaper for Princess Grace's baby") was interesting and exciting for him, especially seen with young Kevin. Kevin still jumps with excitement when he describes the trip, calling frequently on "Pop-Pop" to confirm his statements. They seemed to agree on most of the wonders but "Pop-Pop" did not share his grandson's enthusiasm for the wonders of London's Carnaby street.

ALL OF THEM agree that the trip home, on the S.S. France (they flew to Europe) was a wonderful ending to the trip--the French cooking was superb even though Kevin still thinks his grandma is the best cook in the world.

The Munch family moved to Mountain Side in 1947, one year before the head of the family sold his own establishment which bore the very appropriate title of Munch Bakeshop. He had established his own business in Newark in 1935.

The bakery business was a lucrative one but a demanding one. Munch recalls that he worked seven days a week, often for 20 hours a day in his own shop. He found the transition to the real estate field "quite a change of pace, enjoyable but you don't make the same money."

A warm sensitive man, deeply devoted to his family and home, Munch felt he made a good exchange--"I had so much more time with my wife, my daughter and my son."

HIS SON, LOUIS R. III, was unable to take the trip with them because he is currently studying toward his doctorate at Springfield College, Springfield, Mass.

He hasn't baked since he gave up the business, Munch reported. His daughter corrected him to remind him that he had made her wedding cake.

"No, I did not bake," he said precisely, "I only decorated it."

A member of the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Munch has been active for many years in the Heart Fund and other drives.

"I'm always out collecting for something," he said with a chuckle, "neighbors see me coming and they run to get their pocket-books."

Heinze urged "all the people of Mountain Side who feel strongly about the benefits of two-party representation" to vote in the Nov. election for Sacharow, a graduate of Rutgers University and head of his own general insurance agency; and Medevielle, an alumnus of Cornell University, presently employed as director of food services in the Elizabeth school system.

The Mountain Side Democratic Club and the Democratic Committee members of the Democratic Municipal Committee have "pledged to make every effort to wage a constructive, hard-fought campaign on their behalf," Heinze said. "We will bring to the attention of Mountain Side voters the need for greater progress which the long-entrenched administration seems reluctant to provide. We will also see that the issues are fairly presented to the electorate."

by GARY LESSING, Manager SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE

"He was a man who could see farther into the future of auto design than any other person, and he had the courage to work in the grand manner."

This was the way fellow car designer spoke of Harry Miller, the man who worked for major car firms but who was never liked by the Detroit manufacturers. The reason was quite simple: while their cars were offering the public engines which had 0.25 HP per cubic inch, Miller's were pushing 2.75.

At a time when the Motor City was glutted with war contracts, with cost-plus arrangements which gave every machine shop owner the opportunity to get rich fast, Miller was employed on petty jobs. He was old, he wasn't wanted. He didn't conform.

A prized photo in a racing buff's shop shows the four greats standing together at the 1923 Indianapolis 500, Louis Chevrolet, the Duessenberg brothers, Fred and Augie, and Harry Miller.

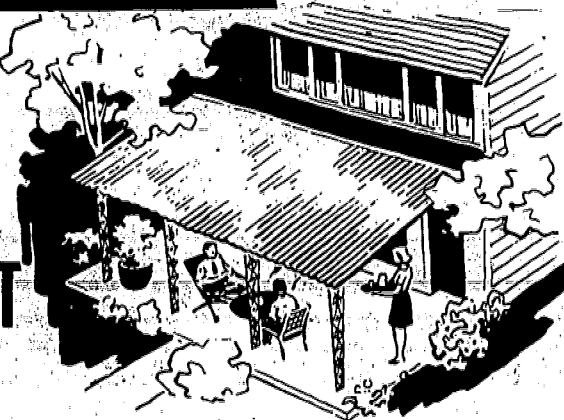

We wonder how many today would recall his great contributions to the auto industry.

There's never a lapse of memory when one tries to recall the name of the tire company that put more winning tires on Indianapolis cars than any other: FIRESTONE, of course. And here at SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE we've got a complete line of these superb tires.

2 discussions on sex education scheduled by Extension Service

The first of two meetings on the subject of sex education and its implications in our daily lives will be held next Wednesday, Sept. 20, at the Elizabethtown Gas Company Auditorium, 1 Elizabeth Plaza (on Jersey street across from Goerke's in Elizabeth). Registration will be from 9:15 to 9:30 a.m. Andrew Anderson, Rutgers' new associate specialist in human relations, will lead the discussions. The meetings are being sponsored by the Union County Home Economics Extension Service.

The morning meeting will start promptly at 9:30 and end at 11:30 a.m. for those parents who must attend to children at home. Excerpts of a film, filmstrip and records available to the public will be shown. Anderson will discuss the selection and use of each type of resource. A buzz session will conclude the morning meeting.

From 12:15 to 2:00 p.m., films and records displayed will be replayed completely upon request. Coffee will be provided by the Elizabethtown Gas Company. Participants have been asked to bring a sandwich.

The meeting has been planned with the cooperation of the Union County P.T.A.-Parent and Family Life Education Chairman, Mrs. Leonard Tandul of Linden.

"If you would like to learn more about the numerous sex education teachings available to individuals, to church, scout, neighborhood, Y.M.C.A. and to Y.M.H.A. groups, this meeting -- and another scheduled Oct. 24 on the religious implications -- are two you can't afford to miss," says Miss Mabel G. Stolte, Union County Home Economist.

Sees sex misconcepts produced by today's advertising, culture

By MABEL G. STOLTE,
County Home Economist

Silence is criminal. Ignorance is not bliss! Your children must be taught the facts about sex and taught the truth.

Today's advertising, as promoted in our culture, is producing many misconcepts of sex. This has been noted by such outstanding authorities as E.F. Mohr, superintendent of the purity department of the International Sunday School Association, and Dr. J. C. Wilkie, a practicing physician, TV personality and active in family counseling in Cincinnati, Ohio, during the past 17 years.

Union County's place in this picture can be directly viewed in light of state statistics. According to the New Jersey State Department of Health, the number of illegitimate births and VD cases reported in Union County in 1965 ranked seventh from the highest of the 21 counties.

Who should teach the facts? This question is open to many heated debates. The church is greatly concerned and so is your school. Many leading authorities, such as Elizabeth Force of the American Health Association, agree that home speaks the first word. Community resources can only supplement the example you set in your own home.

What are the facts you should teach? As parents you have two tasks of prime importance pertaining to your children's sex education:

-- The first task, your responsibility as parents, from the time your children are born is to set an example by the life you live and your daily attitude. You will thus, provide a continual sharpening of your children's image of love based upon devotion, selflessness, and shared values of what is most important.

-- The second task is helping your adolescents accept their masculine or feminine roles with confidence.

-- During this adolescent stage your next greatest feat is to give your young people the independence they crave. At the same time you must satisfy their lingering need for you to set reasonable limits upon behavior. Your children must learn to recognize and accept adult responsibilities and consequences of their actions before you give them free reign.

Many parents are finding themselves in need of on-the-job training. Their own background of education was lacking or inadequate.

Realizing this need for training many religious groups and educational institutions such as Rutgers Cooperative Extension Service, public and private schools, backed by the New Jersey State Board of Education, are making a real effort to help parents gain competence in teaching their children the social and psychological aspects of sex. Books, films and records have been made available to PTA and church groups for the purpose of background for discussion groups.

Persons interested in learning more about this subject may attend a joint Extension-PTA meeting next Wednesday, Sept. 20 at the Elizabethtown Gas Company Auditorium in Elizabeth at 9:15 a.m.

When we talk about recreation, it means more than "play money" to New Jersey

Vacationers come from all over the country to enjoy New Jersey's famed resort areas and cultural facilities. And so do industries. It's an accepted fact that business locates in areas where there are abundant and varied recreational facilities for their employees.

Public Service has been conducting national advertising campaigns to be sure that America's business community is fully aware of the good life to be found in the Garden State. We feel it's an important function because when a firm moves into our state, new jobs immediately open up, "new" money circulates and New Jersey's entire economy is stimulated. It's as simple as that.

Bellevue to open 'Bible' Sept. 27

The completion of "The Bible" marks the culmination of five years of creative planning and effort. Despite the nearly unsurmountable obstacles, producer Dino De Laurentis' spectacular film finally reached the screen.

"The Bible" will have an exclusive New Jersey opening with reserved - seats only throughout its run, Wednesday, Sept. 27, at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair.

Directed by John Huston, and covering the first 22 chapters of "Genesis," "The Bible" is the first film to tell, in continuous sequence, the stories of The Creation, Adam and Eve, Cain and Abel, Noah and the Flood, The Tower of Babel, The Destruction of Sodom and The Saga of Abraham.

In writing the screenplay, poet-playwright Christopher Fry was advised on theological considerations by leading representatives of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths.

Among the leading stars in the international cast are Richard Harris, John Huston, Peter O'Toole, Ava Gardner, Michael Parks, Ulla Berglyd, Stephen Boyd, George C. Scott, Zoe Sallis, Gabrielle Ferzetti and Eleanora Rossi Drago.

Case plans examination for academy candidates

U.S. Senator Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) this week announced plans to hold a Civil Service examination Saturday, Nov. 4, to assist him in selecting his nominees for the United States Naval, Military and Merchant Marine Academies for the classes entering next summer. The Air Force Academy has advised Senator Case that under its present schedule, he will not have an appointment available at the Air Force Academy until 1969, his office said. In the event that a vacancy occurs and the senator has an opportunity to make an appointment in 1968, it will be announced.

The same method will be used in filling the one vacancy Sen. Case has available at the West Point Military Academy in 1968. Six candidates will be nominated for the vacancy, with the Academic Board of the Military Academy making the final selection.

NSC expecting 3,200 students today

A record 3,200 students, 100 more than last year, is expected at Newark State College in Union today as classes resume for the new term, according to Dr. Eugene C. Wilkins, president.

The number of teachers also is expected to reach a record high. There will be 46 new faculty members, bringing the total faculty to the 300 mark, 15 more than last year.

The size of the enrollment will make it necessary to make use of classroom space in the YM-YWHA building on Green lane for the third consecutive year. Eighteen classrooms in the Y will be used by the college this year.

Three buildings now under construction on the campus, at a total cost of approximately $3.8 million, are expected to be ready for the second semester of this school year.

They are a four-story classroom building which will house 18 classrooms, five laboratories, four seminar rooms, four lecture rooms, a computer room, student and faculty lounges and faculty offices; a three-story library, which will have space for 1,000 students and house 150,000 volumes, and a new dining room.

THE START OF this school year will mark the second year that NSC, once exclusively a teacher training institution, is operating as a "multi-purpose" college. About 100 liberal arts students will be enrolled this year, double the number accepted last year when the program was begun.

In the teacher training program, a music major course will be offered for the first time this year, with an enrollment of about 30.

General elementary education remains the most popular program at Newark State, drawing an enrollment of about 40 percent of the total student body. About 78 percent of the students on campus are women.

The college reported that one foreign student had been accepted this year. She is Miss Lorna Parker, 21, of Panama, a sophomore who has transferred from Canal Zone College at La Boca. Miss Parker, whose father teaches English at Rainbow City High School in the Canal Zone, will major in science. She plans to teach biology or work in biological research after graduation.

Freshmen at Newark State arrived on the campus over the weekend for an orientation period which started Monday and continued until yesterday.

ON DISPLAY -- Lithograph by Renoir (at left) and etching by Giacometti are among 200 original works of art from the Rubinstein and other collections on display in the Carriage House of the Springfield House Restaurant, Route 22, Springfield, Graphics, including a Rembrandt etching which is the property of Fine Art International of New York, are also being shown. School children have been invited in the afternoon today and tomorrow.

Surrogate Kanane to head campaign

Surrogate Mary E. Kanane has been named chairman of the Mc Dermott-Rinaldo-LaCorte for state senator campaign. Miss Kanane, who lives at 912 Lakeside ave., Union, will coordinate the activities of committees working in all 21 Union County communities for the election of the three Republican candidates.

A Union County native, Miss Kanane has been active in civic, religious and political activities for many years. She has been Union County surrogate since 1963, when she became the first woman in the county's history to win election to the post. Prior to that, she had been a member of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, to which she was elected in 1959 and reelected in 1962.

In announcing her acceptance of the county chairmanship, Miss Kanane said she was "motivated by a deep conviction that the people of Union County want and need the talents of Assemblyman Frank X. McDermott, Matthew J. Rinaldo and Nicholas S. La Corte in the State Senate. These are outstanding individuals who can make great contributions to return proper representation to Union County. They offer Union County voters the opportunity of selecting state senators who can be excellent legislators."

State's share of federal aid shortchanged, says Rinaldo

Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union, Republican state senatorial candidate, today called for the creation of the office of "state grantsman" to help New Jersey get a fairer share of federal aid.

"New Jersey taxpayers send $1.63 to Washington for each $1.00 returned to us in the form of aid," he declared. "This puts us dead last among our sister states and imposes an unfair burden on New Jersey taxpayers, who are forced to make up the difference." New Jersey taxpayers Rinaldo added, gave $495.1 million in 1966 in order for the state to realize only $270.5 million in federal aid, according to figures supplied by the Treasury Department and the Tax Foundation.

"It may well be that New Jersey's rank of seventh in per capita income has a bearing on our last place position as a recipient of federal aid. However, it is obvious that the Democratic Administration in Trenton has failed to take full advantage of its contacts with the administration in Washington. As a result, our citizens are being short-changed on aid from the Capitol."

Rinaldo said "the very nature and complexity of Federal aid programs demands the presence of full-time specialists to help New Jersey find available federal aid programs and the ways in which we can qualify for a larger slice of the $17.2 billion pie for 1968 and the higher expenditures that are almost certain to follow in the years to come."

"Certainly, New Jersey cannot expect to break even in this give-and-take with Washington, but we should attempt to reduce the great disparity that puts our citizens and taxpayers at such a disadvantage."

Rinaldo said he would push for the creation of the office of "grantsman" after his election in November. "In addition, I will press the governor to use his influence in Washington to get a better deal for New Jersey taxpayers, something that he has failed to do," he concluded.
