School board OKs remedial project for Lourdes children

Safety talks to be given for PTA unit

Chief, others to discuss hazards to youngsters

"Safety in Mountainside," a 10-minute film, will be presented at the monthly meeting of the borough PTA tonight at 8:15 at the Beechwood School. The film shows Mountainside students walking, riding and bicycling to and from school.

Following the film, the PTA will host a panel of citizens who will examine ways in which borough streets can be made safer for children. Among the topics to be discussed are sidewalks, one-way streets and banning of bicycles on Central Avenue. Members of the panel have chosen specific areas for their talks. Chief of Police Christian Fritz will speak on the need for more respect for law and higher authority. Chief Fritz was guest speaker recently at a meeting of the PTA executive board, at which time he spoke on various aspects of safety for children in the streets. He pointed out that safety is a team effort involving police, teachers and parents and that it is the obligation of parents to teach their children safe practices and make them aware of road hazards.

At tonight's meeting, he will introduce Mrs. A. G. Weiler, who will tell of her experiences as a school crossing guard. Mrs. Weiler is of the opinion the majority of parents in Mountainside are cooperative but that there are some safety offenders. Mrs. H. M. Tulchin will discuss the fact that children, because of their actions, often cause their own hazards, thus necessitating constant reminders regarding safe practices.

The president of the Rescue Squad, J.M. Farley, will speak on the advisability of presenting the problem to the student council for examination and recommendations. Along these lines, the PTA has already shown the film on safety to the student council.

The Rev. Elmer A. Telcott, pastor of the Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside, will comment on the moral obligation citizens have to rectify the unsafe conditions which exist in town.

Robert Youngmans, a practicing attorney in Westfield, will speak on the research he has done regarding the question of "who bears the cost of installing sidewalks in Mountainside."

A question and answer period will follow, with William Gutman acting as moderator. It is hoped that a motion will be introduced as a result of the meeting which will enable the PTA to assign a committee to investigate any action voted on by the audience, a spokesman commented.

A social hour to follow is planned.

Pacemaker Club to be Beth Israel tea dance guests

Newark Beth Israel Hospital will play host to the Pacemaker Club, composed of persons whose hearts are kept beating in rhythm by an electronic device implanted near the heart, at a pre-Thanksgiving tea dance next Wednesday, from 4 to 6 p.m. The event will be held in the physician's dining room.

Two residents of Mountainside have undergone pacemaker implantation surgery.

About 100 members of the club are expected to attend the dance. A four-man combo will provide the music, supplied by the Marty Ames musical organization through courtesy of Local 16 of the American Federation of Musicians.

The event is a significant development in the rehabilitation of cardiac patients following pacemaker implantation surgery. Despite their well-functioning battery-powered pacemaker devices, many patients become psychological cripples, fearing to lead active lives.

The Newark Beth Israel Hospital is the only institution in this area which conducts regular pacemaker clinical sessions, concerning itself with the follow-up and after-care of pacemaker patients. Its institute most recently developed a plastic capsule/one-centimeter-long, containing a platinum electrode. That electrode almost doubles the useable life of the standard pacemaker. This means that patients may now be able to get five years uninterrupted use from their pacemaker batteries and may not have to face surgery every two or two-and-a-half years for battery replacement.

Holiday deadline

Careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday news deadline is advised for the Nov. 23 issue, which will be printed a day early to avoid conflict with the Thanksgiving holiday. All organizational, social or other news items for the issue of Nov. 23 should be submitted to this office by tomorrow.

Mountainside Music Group plans dance for teens at local school

A teen-age dance under the auspices of the Mountainside Music Association, will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. on Wednesday at the Deerfield School, Wood Acres road, Mountainside. Music will be provided by the Blue Underground and gift certificates donated by more than five Westfield merchants will be awarded.

Psychedelic posters advertising the dance, which were painted by Mrs. Louise Maas, past president—Mrs. Peg Olson and Mrs. Mona Grubel and Mrs. Arline Nash, will be hung in store windows in Mountainside and at Governor Livingston Regional High School. Mrs. Louis Maas, vice-president, is dance chair-

LSD is discussed at joint meeting of Lions, Kiwanians

Capt. Frank Burr of the Cranford Police Department was guest speaker at the combined dinner meeting of the Lions and Kiwanis clubs of Mountainside, which was held Tuesday night at the Mountainside Inn.

Capt. Burr's topic was LSD and other drugs and their dangerous aftermaths. Introduced by Joseph Almasy, president of the Lions Club, Capt. Burr told the more than 50 guests that parents must be constantly aware of the temptations of their children to experiment with these drugs. He said, "The best of children in order to be one of the gang or because they feel daring and sophisticated will often try LSD in the spirit of adventure when it is offered to them."

He warned of the physical and psychological effects of a "bad trip," saying "with even one dose of LSD, adverse reactions could occur at any time over the coming years. He also said parents should watch for changes in behavior patterns, a flushed face or a youngster in the state of shock, and when noted, should take their child for immediate medical attention. George Bliwise, president of the Kiwanis Club, was co-host.

2 borough youths academy nominees

Rep. Florence P. Dwyer this week announced her nomination of two young men from Mountainside to compete for appointments to U.S. service academies.

Joseph H. Parent of 1467 Woodacre dr. was among 12 nominees who will compete for the two appointments from the 12th Congressional District to attend the Naval Academy at Annapolis, starting next summer. John G. Ingman of 170 Locust ave. is among Rep. Dwyer's 10 nominees seeking the 10 appointments from New Jersey to study at the Merchant Marine Academy at King's Point, N.Y.

Rep. Dwyer stated that her nominations were made on the basis of competitive examinations given last summer, and of preliminary physical examinations.

Plan spaghetti dinner

The CYO of Our Lady of Lourdes Parish in Mountainside will sponsor a spaghetti dinner for parish members tomorrow. Dinner will be served from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30. Admission for adults will be $2; for children, $1. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Musicians will perform in 'Pathways' program

Seven musicians will play in the Pathways in Music concert on Sunday, at 8 p.m., at the Community Presbyterian Church at Deer Path and Meetinghouse lane, Mountainside.

The performers are: Timothy Nolen, baritone; James Scott, flutist; James Reginald Wilson, harpsichordist, and the Pathways Quartet, which includes Irving Nussbaum and Margaret Graves, violinists; Stanley Hoffman, violist, and Alan Scott, cellist. The program will feature compositions by Bach, Barber, Dvorak, Le Clair and Legawic.

Miss Graves, violinist, studied here and abroad with Michael Press, Misha Placido and Georges Enesco. A resident of Staten Island, Miss Graves is first violinist in the Richmond String Quartet and is a faculty member of Notre Dame College and Wagner College.

Nussbaum, violinist, was a student of Louis Persinger at the Juilliard School of Music. After his debut recital in New York, Nussbaum played for several seasons in the Cleveland Orchestra under George Szell. He now lives in Cranford and is active in many local musical organizations including the Colonial-Little Symphony Orchestra, which he serves as concert master.

Hoffman, a Juilliard graduate, studied with Mischa Mischakoff and Szymon Goldberg and was a violinist in the New York Philharmonic Orchestra from 1961 to 1964. Hoffman now devotes himself chiefly to chamber music for violin and viola, and has organized and performed in many concerts of new or seldom-played chamber works in New York.

Scott, cellist, was educated at Northwestern University and the University of Illinois. Formerly a member of the Houston Symphony Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski, Dr. Scott is now an "assistant" professor of music at Jersey City State College and teaches privately in his Westfield home.

Nolen, baritone, graduated from Trenton State College. A familiar figure to New Jersey opera audiences, he has appeared in leading roles with the Opera Theater of New Jersey, the Chatham Opera Players, the Ridgewood Village Opera Society and at the State Cultural Center at Trenton.

Scott, flutist, is a graduate of Oberlin College of Music and Peabody Conservatory. He is now a member of the faculty of the music department at Douglas College.

Wilson, harpsichordist and pianist, is a native of Canada and an authority on Canadian

Joint program deferred until funds are available

Approval for 11 children from Our Lady of Lourdes-parochial school to join with three youngsters from the Beechwood School for remedial and special supplementary instruction, when funds become available, was voted by the Board of Education unanimously Tuesday night at the Beechwood School.

A move to postpone any action on the matter until February, when funds for the project might be provided, was defeated by a vote of five to two, with Walter Rupp and Grant Lennox in the minority.

In other business, board members voted to require that all pupils in local schools be immunized against measles by September of 1968, unless their physicians advise against inoculation in individual cases. Local school board are permitted by state law to require the immunization, but this policy is not mandatory.

The board approved continuing its present policy of renting educational films from the Union County Audio-Visual Center, at a cost of some 50 cents per child, rather than purchasing the movies. It also authorized renewal of contracts to rent buildings for meeting purposes until a permanent site is acquired. Approval was also voted for a new sewer installation for the Echobrook School and for additional fire detection equipment to comply with state regulations.

Robert Britton, president, stated he was aware of the need for remedial reading and sympathized that no funds were available at this time for these needs, but said that it was the taxpayers' money and the present budget could not possibly support the proposal for special classes.

Dr. Levin Hanigan, superintendent of schools, made a motion to appoint Linda Slove to the substitute list and engage Andrew Ray as audio-visual coordinator. The motion was approved. Dr. Hanigan said a good representation of Mountainside teachers attended the teachers convention held recently at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Mark Fine of 330 Rolling Rock rd. questioned whether or not public education was "one unto itself" and whether it was wise for the board to go on record as demanding local control in many matters which could affect inter-community projects at a later date.

Britton said the Mountainside Board of Education will go on record as supporting

Band members plan candy bar drive kick-off

Mayor Frederick J. Wilhelms of Mountainside has proclaimed this week "Highlander Band Week" and was the first customer in the band's annual candy bar sale.

All members of the Governor Livingston Regional High School Highlander Band and the Highlander Girl Pipers plan to ring doorbells on Saturday, offering the candy bars as part of their fund-raising program.

The Band Parents Organization of the high school will direct the drive, and proceeds will be used to send members of the band on a three-day exchange concert program with a school in a nearby state.

The out-of-town band will visit Governor Livingston on March 22, 23 and 24, with a combined concert scheduled for March 23 at 8 p.m. The Highlander Band and the Highlander Girl Pipers will return the visit the weekend of April 4.

In recent years, the band has exchanged visits with Fairfax, Va. and Warwick, R.I. If the results of this year's fund raising activities equal those of last year, the Band Parents Organization plans to establish a college scholarship fund for a deserving band member.

Seniors accept bid to aid in fund drive of March of Dimes

The Senior Citizens Club of Mountainside has accepted the responsibility of addressing envelopes to all residents of the community for the United County Chapter of the National Foundation, March of Dimes, in the foundation's drive for elimination of birth defects. A work session of the project was recently held by the club at the Community Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Everett Perkins stated that all envelopes which were not addressed at the meeting will be finished at informal meetings at various members' homes, and the project will be finished before Dec. 1.

Mrs. Perkins is in charge of the project, assisted by Mrs. Agnes Anderson and Mrs. Esther Cohen.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held on Dec. 13, at the Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside. A pre-holiday party is planned.

Speed-up of mails sought in petitions circulated by club

Petitions are being circulated by the Mountainside Women's Club in its community improvement program to speed up the mail in the borough. All members are involved in a house-to-house effort to obtain signatures. In the first week of soliciting several streets, the response has been "very encouraging," according to Mrs. H. Loring Banfield, publicity chairman.

The committee has reminded all borough residents to expect to be approached "as their consideration in signing the petitions will help the club in its endeavor."

Mrs. Banfield said the club believes if the project is successful in its mission, local merchants will realize an increase in business, because residents who now find it necessary to use post offices other than the Mountainside branch, now tend to do their shopping in stores in that vicinity.

As one of its fund-raising projects, the club will hold a card party at Koo's Brothers in Rahway at 1 p.m. tomorrow.

The executive board met recently, with Mrs. William Sawyer and Mrs. Glenn Rupp as co-hostesses.

Postpone decision on tower variance

The Board of Adjustment of Mountainside reserved decision on an application by the Elizabethtown Water and Gas Co., seeking a variance to erect a water and observation tower on county park property adjacent to Prospect Avenue, following a hearing Monday night at Borough Hall.

Thomas J. Ricciardi, chairman of the board, announced a special meeting will be held tomorrow night to hear other applications which were held over.

In discussion, the board said sections of the Water Company's application were contrary to the zoning laws, and further study was required.

Representing the company were Chester Ring, company engineer, who described the project, Robert Schaefer, Union County Park Commission engineer, who stated the commission approved the site as the most desirable location for such a project, and Russell Fleming Jr., attorney.

Prospect Avenue residents voiced their opposition to the project, maintaining that their street would be used as a throughfare, that "undesirable people" would come into the area and that properties would be devaluated.

Chamber appoints local man to post

Sanford Galinkin of Mountainside, was appointed treasurer by the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce at the recent monthly meeting of the Chamber's board of directors. Galinkin is a CPA and is the head of Galinkin & Co., a Westfield accounting firm. He and his wife Natalie reside at 1570 Brookside road with their two children, Richard and Barbara.

Edward Walsh, editor of the Suburban News, Westfield, was named president of the 265-member organization. He succeeded Horace K. Corbin Jr. Before ascending to the presidency, Walsh served as secretary and public relations director. He has also served on the board of directors for the past three years. Jack Cohen was re-elected vice-president, and Robert Miller named secretary to succeed Walsh.

Named to honor roll

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. — Amy Nolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Nolan of Mountainside, N.J., has been named to the honor roll for the first marking period at Mary A. Burnham School, a preparatory school for girls.

Associate chosen in Esso Research

Roy L. Mathiasen of 220 Apple Tree lane, Mountainside, has been named an engineering associate in Esso Research and Engineering Company's technical information division. A crude oil expert, he is in charge of crude assay information for the company, which is the principal scientific affiliate of the worldwide Esso organization.

An employee for 32 years, Mathiasen started his career as an engineer and specialized for many years in thermal cracking pilot plant operations and distillation work in the former Process Research Division.

From 1955 to 1961 he was a member of the Jersey Standard committee that published the Distillation Technical Manual and the Crude Assay Manual, both basic company manuals today. Mathiasen received a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering in 1931 from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Ancient island to be restored into a major tourist attraction

by TED MORELLO UNESCO FEATURES

Archaeology is restoring life to a sleepy Persian Gulf island whose intermittent bursts of vitality from the Bronze Age through Alexander the Great's time and into the Islamic period have been disclosed by recent excavations.

The island is Failaka, a low-lying bit of desert that belongs to the State of Kuwait. Some seven and one half miles long and three miles wide, it lies 13 miles out of the Gulf from Kuwait City and less than 50 miles south of the Tigris-Euphrates estuary.

The discovery that it is rich in hitherto unsuspected archaeological sites has prompted the Kuwait government to budget an initial $4 million to restore the island to its ancient beauty and to transform it into a recreational spot that it was in Hellenic times.

The island's past and future were outlined by Kuwait's Under-Secretary for Culture, Salah Shehab, and Imran Abdo, Failaka's superintendent of antiquities, in interviews during my recent visit there.

Abdo explained that Failaka's archaeological past came to light in 1937 with the accidental discovery of a stone tablet inscribed to Artemis and Poseidon. But it was not until 1958, three years before Kuwait became independent, that scientific excavation was started by the Department of Antiquities and two Danish archaeologists. Among early finds were a head of Alexander and a bust of Aristotle, both sculptured in stone.

Abdo said it became clear soon afterwards that Failaka was inhabited almost continuously from at least the Early Bronze Age through the Hellenistic and Islamic periods. He said that from the earliest times, the island provided a haven from storms and served as a supply station for ships plying between Mesopotamia and Persian Gulf ports, India and East Africa. There was also a lively trade in pearls, which the islanders have dredged up from the Gulf since time immemorial.

The most prominent mention of Failaka occurs in the chronicle of Alexander's campaign written by Arrian in the second century of the Christian era. The Greek historian records that after Alexander's return to Babylon from India his fleet admiral, Nearchus, discovered Failaka and named it "Ikaros" after the Aegean island.

The Kuwait-Danish archaeological data, currently being prepared for publication, discloses that Nearchus' discovery soon led to the establishment of a Hellenistic colony on Failaka. Of three mounds excavated so far, one contained a Hellenistic rest house and another a walled and moated Greek town radiating from a central, temple-topped acropolis.

The third excavation exposed a Bronze Age settlement of the Dimund-culture, which Abdo described as "a forgotten civilization" that flourished as early as 3000-2500 B.C. Failaka's new archaeological museum exhibits grinding stones, pottery, statuettes, clay grain-storage jars and other artifacts from the Early, Middle and Late Bronze Ages, as well as antiquities from the Hellenistic and Islamic periods. The most curious finds consist of more than 400 circular stone seals, some of them 5000 years old. Delicately incised, they range from the size of a shilling up to five inches in diameter, the largest of the type ever found, Abdo said.

'Student Health Career Day' slated at Children's Hospital

Students from 33 high schools and junior high schools in Union, Essex and Morris counties have been invited to attend the sixth annual "Student Health Career Day" to be held next Tuesday at Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, Union College, Cranford, and also been invited to send student delegates to the program which is scheduled to open at 2:30

Any 'quadrupeds' now in residence have stable status

All is stable in Mountainside stables. A decision to amend Article 9, "Animals and Manure" of the Sanitary Code to read: "No person shall own, harbor or keep quadruped ruminants (horses, colts, ponies) within the limits of the borough" was approved by the Board of Health at a meeting on Monday night.

However, the board stressed the decision was intended to prevent new residents from bringing such animals into the community. It ruled that present residents who now own or house these animals will be permitted to keep them.

The plumbing code continues to ban installation of garbage disposal units in order not to deplete or exceed the allowed water quota. The sanitary code was approved to prohibit the burning of leaves, garbage or waste.

A resident of Deer Path commented that water pollution was a greater menace. He said that the problem of open burning of leaves was not that great in a community such as Mountainside, and that all air pollution problems should be handled by the state and federal governments.

Dr. Henry Langheinz, board president, stated the sanitation men would remove leaves from the curbs during October and November, provided they are packed in cardboard boxes and sealed to prevent debris from flying away. He also said a slight fee could be charged in the future to insure the removal of leaves.

In other business, routine reports were made by the public health nurse, Board of Health officer and the plumbing inspector.

p.m. with a tour of the hospital. The "health career" seminar will start at 3.

Heads of the various departments in the hospital will conduct the seminar. Speakers will include the social service director, Mrs. Natalie P. Fenton; the director of nursing service, Elizabeth Richard, R.N.; the D.L. director, Mrs. Alice Calloway, R.N.; the director of physical therapy, Victoria Pretmer, R.N. and R.P.T.; director of communication, J. Joan Sheppard; director of in-hospital training, Mrs. Lea L. Tudor, R.N.; the teacher of the hospital classes, Mrs. Judith Thompson; director of recreational therapy, Belle Watson, and the records librarian, Grace Hallett. Each will describe her services to the patients in the hospital which limits its in-patient care to children with long-term illnesses.

D. E. Milton Staub, administrator and medical director, and Mrs. Charles Anderson, president of the hospital's board of managers, will welcome the students.

Mrs. Edward L. Swan Jr. of Westfield, a member of the hospital's Senior Auxiliary, is general chairman of "Health Career Day." Serving on the committee is Mrs. Franklin Hoffer of Mountainside.

Later in the school year, students who have a special interest in one specific field will be invited to attend a formal instructional program in that field. At that time they will be given work demonstrations in the field of their specific interest, including physical therapy, recreational therapy, medicine, nursing, laboratory work, social service, speech therapy and medical records.

Mrs. Rupp named college counselor

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. — Mrs. Nancy Farrar Rupp, a former resident of Mountainside, N.J., is an assistant resident counselor at Pine Manor Junior College in Chestnut Hill. The wife of George E. Rupp, a graduate student at Harvard University, Mrs. Rupp is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Farrar, of 796 Mountain ave., Berkeley Heights, N.J.

Mrs. Rupp, who is a native of Ohio, graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, N.J., and then from Trenton State College, where she received the bachelor of arts in English in 1964. She has studied at Dundee College in Scotland as an exchange student and has pursued graduate studies in English at Southern Connecticut College in New Haven, Conn. From 1965 until 1967, she was a teacher at Branford (Conn.) Junior High School.

Mrs. Rupp joined the resident counseling staff at Pine Manor in September at the opening of the college's 57th academic year. The Rupp family has a home on campus in a faculty apartment in Southwest, a new residential building, in which 38 of Pine Manor's 402 students live.

Will dismiss charges in pedestrian death

Charges of causing death by motor vehicle filed against a Mountainside youth, following the death of a woman pedestrian on Rt. 22 in Union Oct. 5, will be dismissed, Judge George L. Lombardi announced in Union Municipal Court Monday following a preliminary examination.

Judge Lombardi said the case against Clifford A. Bird will be dismissed on Nov. 27 unless there is objection from the county prosecutor's office.

Bird and Elton Johnson, 22, of Plainfield were charged with causing death by motor vehicle after an accident in which Mrs. Helen Callahan, 61, of Belmont, Mass., was killed while she was walking along the highway. Johnson has been bound over for action by the Union County Grand Jury.

Mountainside Dell moved into a tie for first place with Air Con in Mountainside Men's with a sweep victory over the former leaders, Drewettes Nursery. Air Con won a pair from Mountainside Plumbing and Heating when Chet Johnson made eight consecutive strikes before a stubborn four-pin cost him his chance for a perfect game. Chet set a high individual season game mark of 268. Bob Coleman pitched in with a 200 to win the game.

Owens Flying A Service scored over Wilhelm Construction, with Ray Ayres' 202 leading the winners.

Blitwise Liquors took a pair from Mountainside Luncheonette, led by games of 223 by Marty Meade, 212 by Tony Ventmiglia and 209 by Ernie Schwarte. Jack Brown had a 224 for the losers to avoid the shut-out. Other two game victories were notched by Satellite Diner, Benninger Tansey, Mountainside PBA and Chrones Tavern. PBA's victory was its first of the season.

Other high individual games were rolled by Mike Gillespie, 223; Leon Friedman and Werner Schon, 209, and Bart Masella, 201.

High individual scores were rolled the previous week by John Egldio, 232; Ed Mullin, 226; and 200; Ray Ayres, 216; Fred Buschmann and Bill Grabinsky, 212; Bud Clevenger, 205; Frank Stonka, 204, and Werner Schon, 203.

Total standings of the teams are: Air Con, 25; Mountainside Dell, 25; Mountainside Plumbing & Heating, 23; Mountainside Luncheonette, 22; Owens Flying A, 20; Wilhelm Construction, 19; Satellite Diner, 19; Westfield National Bank, 109; Fugmann Fuel Oil, 18; Blitwise Liquors, 18; Chrones Tavern, 16.5; Mountainside Drug, 15; Villani Lift Truck Service, 15; Drewettes Nursery, 13.5; Benninger Tansey Agency, 13, and Mountainside PBA, 7.

Cub Scouts slate annual Pinewood Derby tomorrow

The annual Pinewood-Derby of Cub Scout Pack 70, Mountainside, will be held tomorrow, at 7:30 p.m. in the Echobrook School. Racing cars contrived from a block of wood and two sets of wheels emerge in new forms in the hands of Cubs eager to test the speed of their creations. Prizes will be awarded to the fastest car in each den, and one of these will become grand champion. A prize for the best design will also be awarded.

Star candy salesmen were honored at the October pack meeting. Den winners awarded Cub Scout knives for their efforts were: Mark Kelly, Bobby Maddox, George Esparza, John Rice, James Moschella and Richard Strus. Pack champion salesman Peter Witmer, who sold and delivered 171 boxes of Halloween candy won a pair of leather moccasins as a prize.

An overnight campout at the Camporee area in Watching Reservation was recently held for nine Webelos, 10-year-old Cub Scouts, in which fathers participated. This is the first year Cubs have been permitted overnight excursions. Highlights of the trip included food, fun and warm fires.

School board

PROFILE--Joseph Almasy

JOSEPH ALMASY

Joseph Almasy of 1120 Sylvan la., Mountainside, while modestly disclaiming any credit for participation in community affairs, was nevertheless, instrumental, as president of the local Lions Club, in passing a resolution recently made by the club to subsidize the Mountainside Youth Employment Service, which was on the verge of bankruptcy.

Almasy believes very deeply in what he calls "the need for an employment agency for our young people particularly since we do not have a shopping center in the community. Although we have activities for the younger children, those in the 14-to-20-year-old age group are often at loose ends, and it is good for them to have something to do.

Our high school is in Berkeley Heights, and this means the older children have to be driven there. This precludes some from enjoying the social and recreational programs at the school." He also said many college students take advantage of the employment services to find summer jobs.

A native of Newark, he lived for many years in Union before moving to Mountainside six years ago. A graduate of Central High School, Newark, he attended Newark College of Engineering and the RCA Institute. He was engaged in his own business before joining Air Reduction Co., Union, 16 years ago. He is employed there as planning engineer.

He is an active member of the American Society for Metals, and the Warrenbrook Country Club, Warren Township, but finds time in his busy schedule for service in the local Lions Club.

A veteran of World War II, he served as a petty officer in the Coast Guard and was a sonar man stationed for a time in Okinawa.

His hobbies include golf and bowling, and although no longer a resident of Union, he still bowls with the Livingston School PTA league there. However, he claims his first love is duplicate bridge. Almasy organizes, with his wife, in a Mountainside group which plays at the Westfield YMCA.

He is married to the former Olga Skell of Newark. The couple have a 17-year-old daughter who is a senior at Governor Livingston High School, Berkeley Heights. The family attends St. John's Lutheran Church in Summit, N.J.

Four are enrolled as UC freshmen

Four Mountainside residents, Barbara C. Daddario, Henry M. Wolklin, George E. P. Schlotzka and Paul C. Winget, are among the 413 students who launched their college careers this semester in the day session at Union College, formerly the Union Junior College, Cranford.

Miss Daddario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Daddario of 1161 Blazer, Wolklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Wolklin of 332 Old Grove rd., and Schlotzka, son of George E. Schlotzka of 1270 Wood Valley rd., are all majoring in liberal arts. Winget, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Winget of 1227 Cedar ave., is majoring in business administration.

Miss Daddario, Wolklin and Winget are all graduates of Governor Livingston Regional High School, Schlotzka, the son also of the late Mrs. Schlotzka, is an alumnus of Ilion High School, Ilion, N.Y.

Regional officials serve on state-wide committee

Four members of the Union County Regional High School District staff have been named to the state wide committee to develop a master plan in vocational education. The appointees include John Cullen, Board of Education member from Clark; Dr. Warren Davis, superintendent of the regional system; Robert Hough, principal of the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, and Dr. Donald Merachnik, director of special services.

This committee is charged with developing future plans for vocational education in New Jersey.

Ardrey addresses Overlook seminar on cancer nursing

Robert Ardrey, associate administrator of Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, was one of the principal speakers at an all-day seminar Tuesday at Overlook Hospital, Summit. The seminar presented several speakers, each one an authority in one of the specialized fields of "Nursing Care for the Cancer Patient."

Ardrey, who underwent surgery in the early 1950s for cancer of the larynx, discussed the seminar topic from the patient's angle, explaining the psychological needs of the cancer patient. He also discussed the Esophageal Speech Clinic in Elizabeth General Hospital, Elizabeth, which he founded. Ardrey still directs and teaches at the clinic, through which about 160 people in Union County have been taught the technique of esophageal speech.

One of only 41 qualified laryngectomized instructors in the world, Ardrey has received the State Cancer Society's silver bowl in recognition of his outstanding service. He is currently serving on a 12-member statewide committee in charge of planning the first "Rehabilitation Day" sponsored by the state Cancer Society.

Overlook opens drive to modernize two wings

Overlook Hospital, Summit, will open its fall fund-raising campaign this week with a 1967 goal of $850,000 in a major program to air-condition and modernize wings added in 1953.

"These are now the oldest original wings of the hospital and badly in need of renovation and updating," commented Robert E. Heinlein, Overlook's director.

"Air-conditioning has become a practical necessity today. The healthful benefits of air-conditioning and more cheerful surroundings are conducive to faster recovery from a medical standpoint, as well from a viewpoint of physical comfort," he explained.

Overlook's Admissions Office is constantly faced with requests for accommodations in the newer wings - and there is great disappointment when they are not available, he said.

In addition to air-conditioning, the wings will have improved lighting and redecorating, plus renovation of existing first floor areas for other needed purposes. This six-floor double-wing section of the hospital contains some 245 patient accommodations, plus nursing stations, treatment rooms, corridors and solariums - comparable to a good size hotel in physical expanse.

A major medical advance to be made possible through the renovation is a new Cardiorespiratory Laboratory, to be located on the first floor. This rapidly developing field of medicine will have its own highly specialized equipment and staff, offering new services of direct bearing on many illnesses, particularly emphysema, asthma and post-operative complications.

In the mail campaign this week friends of the hospital will receive a folder showing the new Overlook, both exterior and interior views, plus letters pointing up the hospital's current needs.

Renovations have already been made for the Union County Psychiatric Clinic's headquarters, currently housed at Overlook's old Morris Avenue entrance.

New personnel offices to handle the employment and records of Overlook's 1100 employees are another phase of the planning, along with classrooms for the hospital's active in-service nursing education program.

Rotarians celebrate "Foundation Week"

The Rotary Club of Mountainside celebrated "Rotary Foundation Week," Nov. 12-18, at the meeting Monday night at the Chi Am Chateau, Mountainside, according to Jim Capone, president.

W. Floyd Taylor, past president, explained the origin and history of the Rotary Foundation. Supported by more than 12,900 Rotary clubs in 134 countries, the Foundation has awarded more than 2,400 graduate fellowships since 1947, when the program for graduate study began. Capone reported that more than 450 persons throughout the world receive awards each year.

'Take Her, She's Mine,' hits regional high stage this week

The Broadway hit, "Take Her, She's Mine," by Phoebe and Henry Ephron will be presented at Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights tomorrow and Saturday, at 8:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Directed by Mrs. Diane Schaub, drama teacher at Governor Livingston, "Take Her She's Mine" is a comedy of a young girl from California away from home for the first time to attend an Eastern college. Parental reactions to this situation provide the basis for many humorous episodes.

The cast is headed by Toni Toland as the college-bound daughter, with Jane Mitchell and Glen Sullivan portraying her harassed parents. Other cast members are Mike Powers, Steve Schlurf, Rhona Tuchscher, Judy Reich, Carolyn Sikorski, Dennis Boutsikaris, Harold Shepard, David Ranz, Steve Kammerer, William O'Day, Dan Seaman, Bill Oland, Arthur Bunde, Kevin Saville, Hillarie Stone, Stacy Hudgins, Kevin Knotts, Robert Szuba, and Richard Bilangi.

Barbara Sacharow is student director, with the following committees assisting in the backstage duties: make-up committee: Sue Mass, chairman; Lisa Mass, Gail Gorham, Cathy Sullivan, Paula Welch, Janet Strickel, Linda Borwick, Susan Barcklow, Doris Carlick, Teri Feld, Ellen Agee and Monda Schicho.

Property committee: Cindy Blair, chairman; Pat Fulshaw, Linda Walkler, Ginger Herbert, Sharon Harold, Patti Timpanaro, Linda Regele, Kath Weldener, Nancy Parent, Joanne Holcombe, Judy Lockwood, Jane Topps, Bob Cardone, Jill Handkins, Ruth Ann Johnstone, Laurie Rhoades, Carol Surgens and Bob Carter.

Costume committee: Pat Haynes, Wendy Saville, Debbie Closson, Darcy Stoud, Pam Sullivan, Barbara Siegel, Barbara Pitzer, Laura Thame, Debbie Le Grange, Bobbie Thompson, and Phoebe Bronson.

Thomas Hansen, John Powers and George Bartlett will handle lighting and sound effects. The publicity committee is Jackie Miller, Betsy Macko, Jane Topps and Larry Best. Carol Surgens designed the program.

Mountainside man exhibits paintings

Two professional artists' paintings are on exhibit for two months at the Suburban Trust Co., Scotch Plains Branch, and may be viewed during banking hours, according to Mrs. A.D. Green, coordinator of loan shows for the Westfield Art Association. Five paintings are by J. Alan Rockmore of Wildhedge lane, Mountainside, and three by Mrs. Hope Pflaffe, of Westfield.

Rockmore is chief art director of the New York advertising firm of Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell and Bayle, and is an artist in oils in his spare time. His paintings have been shown widely and he had a one-man show last spring in the Tomasulo Gallery at Union College, Cranford. His paintings are: "Easton, Pennsylvania," "Chicken Farm," "Crossroads," "Bethlehem, Pennsylvania" and "Sunflowers."

Completes training as Marine recruit

Marine Private Howard G. Messmer, son of Mr. Howard H. Messmer of 239 Apple Tree lane, Mountainside, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C. He will now undergo two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

Attend evening session at college in Cranford

Three Mountainside residents, Paul G. Bodnar, Lynn M. Colarusso and Mrs. Elsa K. White, are among 206 students who launched their college careers this semester in the evening session at Union College (formerly Union Junior College), Cranford.

Bodnar, a graduate of Governor Livingston Regional High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bodnar of 1124 Sylvan lane. He is majoring in business administration. An alumna of Mount St. Mary's Academy, North Plainfield, Miss Colarusso is a liberal arts major. She is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph Colarusso of 279 Ravens wood and the late Mr. Colarusso.

Mrs. White, a graduate of Baxtin High School, Elizabeth, is enrolled as a non-degree student. She lives at 1491 Fox trail.

WEEKLY SPORTS FEATURE

by GARY LESSING, Manager SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE

We didn't recognize one of our regular customers when he walked in the other afternoon. We didn't know him until he started to speak; then upon closer examination we were suddenly aware that it was our old friend Bernie, and the reason why we did the double take was because of the new hair-do he was sporting. Actually, it was a whole new head of hair. He looked terrific.

"Today's emphasis on youth really forced my hand, or my head, to compete in the business world and society," he said. He then let us in on some statistics which we found fascinating and which we talk about in today's column as a change from a sports topic. Said Bernie:

"Hairpieces date back to the ancient days of Greece, Rome and Egypt. King Louis the 13th of France was bald at 23 and as soon as he started wearing a hairpiece, the action gave the green light for all baldheaded men in the kingdom to do likewise. Paris of the 17th Century was a good business year for wigmakers.

"In the 'U.S.' wigs for men started appearing in early 1900, but they were poorly made and looked worse on men's heads than the Yul-Brunner-type scalp. Things are different now, and many toupees wearers show no hint of being other than owners of lovely locks. Hairpieces range from about $20 to $1,000.

"My piece," said Bernie, "is made of hair taken from the heads of 18-year-old Italian maidens. An impression was made of my scalp, then 20,000 strands of hair were selected and cut to match what little hair I had left."

"Now," he said, "I'd like you to match some snow tires to my new car." We did so with pleasure, and we'll do so for all visitors to our shop.

Don't fret about the shape of your hair, we won't. Our business is to give you the best tires and the best deal in the State. So stop in now, we're open daily 9 to 5, Saturdays to 4 and our phone number and address is: MU 8-5620; SOMERSET TIRE SERVICE, Rt. 22 at Springfield rd., UNION.

A FEMININE LOOK ...At AFRICA 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Twenty-sixth in A Series
THE PEOPLE IN RHODESIA
There were not only outstanding experiences in Rhodesia, there were also outstanding people.

There was Ian Smith, the star; there were exceptionally helpful government men and women; there were several groups of bright and shiny African school children with voices like angels, and so on and so on.

One of the most beautiful women I have ever met was sitting behind a desk being secretary-receptionist and Girl Friday for the little airport staff at Victoria Falls where you can get small planes for sightseeing over the falls. She was as lovely in spirit as she was of body and that was the thing that was so special. Her name was Mrs. Pat Ryan and she was a widow with five children.

When she spoke of Rhodesia she lit up like a Christmas tree. She felt no fear or apprehension over the black man, but only sad puzzlement over the world's disapproval of Rhodesia. "Why, the Africans come to us for security," Mrs. Ryan said. "We are happy here," she added. "All we want is to be left alone."

It was also in Rhodesia that we met five of the most charming children in all the world. But they were not Rhodesians. They were OURS. They were the children of the equally nice U.S. Vice Consul-General and Mrs. Stephen Gebelt. He is from California, she is from New Jersey, and the five delights, Cecelia, Claire, Catherine, Andrew and Michael, were born in various parts of the globe depending upon where father was stationed.

We were invited to the Gebelt home for a cocktail reception one evening and the children all were there. What wonderful ambassadors those children must be! They were so delightful to be with, I quite deserted the party and went with them on a sightseeing tour of the house, the vegetable garden, the flowers, THE CAT, and it was a pleasure.

But the tiniest little lady—she couldn't have been more than four—handed me a surprise. As I stood listening to the Consul-General giving a talk about Rhodesia, she noticed that my glass was empty. Very quietly she tipped up to me, and very politely so she would not disturb her father's speech or the guests, she whispered, "I have noticed your glass has not been filled. May I get you a martini?"

Now I ask you. How more considerate could one be at four!

AND THEN THERE WAS "HAPPY." Lawrence A. Hautz was such a happy looking man there is just no other name for him. He was an exuberant happy, though not a serene, rocking chair happy. I cannot picture him sitting down nor talking slowly. It was thunder and lightning for Mr. Hautz.

This energetic strap of a man was also an American. He formerly lived in Milwaukee and came to Africa in 1954. He started with a 100-acre tract near Salisbury which was then a city of 100,000 (Now it is 313,000). His tract contained a hill, a mosquito infested swamp, huge granite boulders and ant hills 12 feet high and 50 to 60 feet in circumference; and, no water, no electricity, no telephone and no shelter.

Today he has a house with a pool, a motel, a Caltex gas station, a school for African children, a snake farm and—a Cadillac.

When he and Mrs. Hautz built the motel "It was the first in this part of the world," Mr. Hautz said. Surprisingly enough, according to Mr. H., it was the first motel or hotel where every bedroom—and there are 30—had its own private bath. "Then we built the first snake park in this region too," Mr. Hautz adds. After that a Caltex service station, a tea garden, a ten-acre vegetable garden, an African store, a small village of African houses each with its own fireplace and electricity, one large building with baths, toilets and showers with water-borne sewage facilities and a french drain.

"We built two miles of internal roads, sunk five drilled wells (called boreholes over here) and laid two and a half miles of two and a half inch plastic pipe interconnecting one galvanized tank reservoir of 6,000 gallons, one cement circular reservoir of 30,000 gallons and another circular cement reservoir of 75,000 gallons."

"The malarial swamp was converted to a lake holding four million gallons of water by a dam. Fish were introduced and this wiped out the anophelae mosquitoes so there is no malaria in the immediate vicinity. Checks later showed that the Africans were taking more than two tons of fish with cane poles each year. This is very important because of the usually protein deficient diet."

"More than 5,000 flowering trees line the nine terraces and the roads and fences. They include five different colors in bougainville, Jacaranda trees, flame trees, flamboyants, Australian flame trees, various acacias, double and single poinsettias, gardenias, double and single hibiscus, hydrangeas, diplodemas, Christ thorn, pride of India, and the tree to heaven. In addition, 200 citrus including orange, lemon, lime and grapefruit; 12 avocado trees, grapevines, grenadilla vines, 50 paw paw trees, four lichee nut trees, a banana grove, 20 mango trees and a few odds and ends. We have a bee house—eight hives active, 20 capacity, one thousand pounds pure honey each year. In the beginning, we made and fired over 400,000 bricks. In back of the dam is a grove of flowering gum trees that drink up the excess moisture and diffuse it into the air through the leaves. Our natural humidifier."

THE HOME OF AN ASIATIC in Rhodesia. This house, and many others like it, are to be seen very near Salisbury. Many of the lots seem to be two or three acres in size.

"We started a school for the 28 African kids, with one blind teacher, on the property. Now it has grown to 270 students and three teachers. Some of the kids walk ten miles to learn. It is free. The acapella choir they formed themselves is as good as any I've heard. The only one that's better is the famous Vienna Boy's Choir that visited us three years ago. Last year an American lady tourist from New York was impressed with Carrots, the smartest in our school. She asked about his further education (he had reached Standard 6, our limit). I told her that he came from poor parents and the cost of further education at a government school would be $150. She paid this and Carrots went to a government school of 1300 African students. Coming from an unaided farm school, we did not expect much, but Carrots was the top student of all the 1,300 at the end of the first year. This was a great and pleasant surprise to all of us and makes us feel it is all worthwhile."

"We met some of those children and visited in the classroom, and what a wonderful group they were. The very good acapella choir sang several songs for us and one of the songs still rings in my ear:

"You can get white milk from a dark-skinned cow
But the color doesn't bother me anyhow."

AS I SANK INTO BED in the integrated hotel in Salisbury that night, I thought about Mr. Hautz and how happy he seemed working in his Rhodesian haven. Mrs. Ryan must have been right when she said "We are happy here."

Train symbolizes tuberculosis fight on Christmas seal

A million and a half New Jersey residents were asked to hop aboard the Christmas Seal train this week as the New Jersey Tuberculosis and Health Association opened its 61st annual campaign.

Named Honorary Conductor of the train which is the design of this year's Christmas Seal is Charles Marshall Keen of Clinton. He is a conductor for the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad.

In ceremonies opening the campaign at the Erie-Lackawanna Terminal in Hoboken, Mrs. Benjamin P. Galanti of Lodi, president of the TB Association, said "this is the first time the state TB Association has named an honorary chairman. By tradition and practice, a conductor is the head of the train and we are pleased to have a veteran like Mr. Keen act as Honorary Conductor of New Jersey's Christmas Seal train, a gaily colored old-fashioned Victorian train chugging back and forth across the sheet of Seals. In asking New Jersey residents to hop aboard, Mr. Keen is giving the go-ahead signal for everyone to use the Christmas Seal train on their holiday letters, cards, and packages."

Mrs. Galanti said that funds raised in the campaign are used in a statewide program to eradicate tuberculosis and to control other respiratory diseases.

"Last year alone, 1,592 new active cases of TB were reported to the State Department of Health. There are almost 14,000 cases on the TB case register."

"It is vitally important that we commit more funds toward medical research and public and professional education programs against chronic bronchitis, emphysema, and other diseases which hinder breathing," Mrs. Galanti said. "Doctors, nurses, and therapists who treat and rehabilitate TB and respiratory disease patients in our own communities will have their work supported by Christmas Seal Programs."

Indian newspapers get press agency

A promising chapter in the history of Indian journalism started recently with the opening of the Samachar Bharati, a multilingual news agency.

Already it is serving 45 subscribers in eight states with news in Hindi, Marathi and Gujarati, three of the 14 major Indian languages, and before the end of the year it expects to span 14 states.

About four-fifths of the 570 newspapers published more than once a week in India have circulations ranging from 2,000 to 20,000; many of them cannot afford to subscribe to news then translate -- the two main all-India news agencies, the Press Trust of India (PTI) and the United News of India (UNI), which are in English only, and so they rely on the radio for most of their news.

Samachar Bharati, a non-profit concern partly supported by Government loans, hopes to improve the quality of the small press, to cure its inferiority complex and to help the growth of Indian languages by giving currency to the new vocabulary evolved to meet technical requirements. -- UNESCO FEATURES

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
Some time ago I read in your column letters about nail biting. I meant to save that column for future use, but the paper was destroyed before I could clip the column out. Would you kindly print it again. I teach an advanced class of high I.Q. students who make a full course meal of their nails (disgusting, isn't it?) and I want to take the column to class.

Mrs. Turner

Dear Mrs. Turner:
You bet!

Dear Amy:
Tell the nail biters to go to a doctor who specializes in hypnosis. Under hypnosis, I was told I would never bite my nails again and when I woke up, I never did. That was 5 years ago. It cost me 25 dollars but it was worth it. Not Ashamed

Dear Amy:
I used to bite my nails until I met my wife. She got me out of the habit by making me drop a dollar in her piggy bank every time she saw me put my fingers in my mouth. I had to marry her to get my money back...but she cured me!

Dear Amy:
I am 35 and have finally given up this habit of nail biting. I tried everything recommended by friends and my doctor. Nothing helped! I no longer called it a habit. I called it my "hobby." My solution: I made a Novena to St. Jude, the helper of desperate and hopeless cases. Amy, I no longer bite my nails! I wish "Will" the best of luck and am enclosing a St. Jude Novena leaflet. I thank you for your wonderful hours you have given me. God bless you!

Mrs. J. V. H.

Dear Amy:
This is in regard to "Will" and his fingernail problem. Evidently this gentleman is frustrated, bored and full of false anxieties. He probably has a distorted view of life and is beset with other problems of personal hygiene besides mutilated fingernails. No amount of pepper, vinegar or other strange medications will cure him of nail chewing. But a change in his way of thinking will! He should overhaul his attitude toward life, and make up his mind that he is as good, or possibly better, than the next man. He should be more aggressive in everything he does, without being belligerent. That breeds confidence. With confidence comes the knowledge and certainty that he can whip any problem that comes his way. His contempt for himself and his nail biting will turn to an attitude of quiet self-assurance, and that will be the end to nail biting and other signs of anxiety. In addition, may I strongly suggest that this gentleman take to reading the bible and placing all his problems on the capable shoulders of The Lord. With such assistance he can't possibly lose!

Mrs. Barna

Dear Amy:
I read in the paper about the young man who has the habit of biting his nails. I had that problem with some girls in my class who really wanted to break the habit. Finally they bought artificial nails and wore them until their nails grew.

A Teacher

Dear Amy:
The only solution for nail biters is mine. It's the only sure cure. For 35 years I bit my nails until they bled. But finally I stopped. The secret? Have all the teeth extracted. When I had to have dentures, it was bad enough learning to chew food. Let alone fingernails. I now have strong, lovely nails. If I so much as put my fingers near my mouth now, my husband threatens to hide my lowers!

Maurice Samuel discusses Mid-East war Sunday

Maurice Samuel, prize-winning author and lecturer, will discuss the Arab-Israeli war and efforts to establish lasting peace in the Middle East when he opens the 1967-1968 debate-lecture series of Congregation Beth Shalom, Union, Sunday night.

The Samuel lecture, entitled "The Six-Day War and Its Aftermath," will begin at 8 p.m. in Bardsy Hall, Vauxhall road and Plane street.

Samuel won the Saturday Review of Literature award in 1944 and, most recently, Jewish Heritage's 1967 award for excellence in literature. In between were the Frank L. Weil award in 1952 and the Stephen Weiss award in 1955.

His best known work is "The World of Shalom Aleichem," published in 1943, which brought to life the vanished civilization of Eastern Europe. Published last year was his "Blood Accusation—The Strange Story of the Beiliss Case," which, like many of his earlier books, dealt with anti-Semitism or Zionism.

The lecture series was arranged by the synagogue's adult education committee headed by Mrs. Louis Gollin. Rabbi Elvin I. Kose will introduce the speaker.

MAURICE SAMUEL

last 20 years, against Dr. Morten Siegel, director of the department of education of the United Synagogue of America.

Series tickets, at $6 per person, can be reserved by calling MU 6-6773, or can be purchased at the door. Individual lecture tickets are priced at $2.50. Tickets for college students are $1.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheelan, County Home Economist

FLAVOR VARIETY FOR TURKEY STUFFING

Add a new flavor to your Thanksgiving menu by the stuffing you use.

Some individuals prefer a dry, crumbly stuffing while others prefer a more moist texture. Whatever the texture preferred in your family, you can still have variety by the seasonings and ingredients added to a basic stuffing recipe.

Herbs and spices, vegetables, fruits, nuts, meats, and fish are broad categories of flavorings or foods that will add that special touch. A teaspoon of sage, thyme, and marjoram offer a pleasing addition to a stuffing recipe in the herb and spice category.

Cooked and chopped mushrooms or sauteed chives and green peppers are suggestions for the vegetable category.

For fruits, try seedless raisins, chopped, uncooked dried prunes and apricots, or chopped cranberries.

Cooked and chopped chestnuts or chopped pecans, walnuts, or Brazil nuts add a rich flavor to the stuffing typical for the harvest season.

As far as meats are concerned, try the giblets cooked and chopped, cooked sausage, meat, or crumbled fried bacon.

COOKED OYSTERS LEAD the ingredient addition for stuffings in the fish category.

When stuffing your turkey, fill the cavity lightly. The stuffing will expand during roasting because it absorbs some of the juices from the bird. Always place the stuffing in the bird immediately before it is to be roasted.

Cooking the stuffing in a separate pan is becoming a popular method. Its advantages are that it is easier to handle; the turkey will roast in a shorter amount of time; and it is easier to serve.

To moisten stuffing cooked separately, add broth made from simmering the giblets and neck or occasionally add drippings from the turkey while it is roasting. It will take about an hour for the stuffing to become piping hot when it is cooked separately.

14-18 LB. BIRD

BASIC STUFFING WITH VARIATIONS

- 4 cups diced celery
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 4 quarts dry bread cubes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1-1/2 teaspoons poultry seasoning
- 1/2 teaspoon sage
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- Hot broth or water

Cook celery and onion in butter or margarine over medium heat until onion is transparent but not brown; stir occasionally. Combine with bread cubes and seasoning and toss lightly. Add enough broth to moisten as desired.

GIBLET: -- Add chopped, cooked giblets; use giblet broth as liquid.

RAISIN: -- Add two cups seedless raisins; one cup chopped nuts also if desired.

CHESTNUT: -- Add four cups boiled chestnuts, chopped. Use milk for liquid.

MUSHROOM: -- Add two 6-oz. cans broiled, sliced mushrooms, drained. Or cook two cups sliced, fresh mushrooms in part of the butter.

B'nai B'rith leader to deliver address at awards dinner

Benjamin R. Epstein, national director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, one of the nation's leading human relations organizations, will deliver the keynote address at the Americanism Award Dinner to be held at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark, Nov. 29, honoring Robert D. Lilley, president of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

Epstein, co-author with Arnold Forster of "The Troublemakers," "Cross Currents," "Some of My Best Friends," "Danger on the Right" and "Radical Right: Report on the John Birch Society and its Allies," has had a long and active role in the fight against bigotry and prejudice.

While studying in Germany in 1934 on a Fellowship Grant from the Institute of International Education, he was eye-witness to the workings of the Hitler dictatorship that was responsible for the slaughter of millions of people and provoked World War II. He has been in the forefront of the fight against injustice ever since.

Epstein has been with the Anti-Defamation League for more than 25 years, 21 of them as national director, and was elected a national commissioner of the ADL in 1956.

Journalism award for traffic safety

Suburban Publishing Co., which publishes this newspaper and seven others in Union and Essex Counties, this week was named one of the recipients of the Motor Club of America's Companies Journalism Award for its contribution to the cause of highway safety.

The award was instituted in 1965 for the purpose of recognizing newspapers in New Jersey which contributed significantly to the cause of traffic safety. Thirty New Jersey weekly and daily newspapers were honored.

MORE FIRES IN WINTER

The winter months are the worst for fire losses, according to the Insurance Information Institute. Although other factors are involved, this is mainly the result of heating hazards.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

PARENTAL GUIDANCE

Many parents of teenagers are frustrated. They read about the escapades of the younger generation and are at a loss many times as to what their role as parents really is.

The mass media record incidents of drug abuse, sex orgies, rebellious tendencies, demonstrations, and mob action.

The records show that young people are involved in these incidents, but it must be pointed out that not all young people are involved.

To say that all teenagers are delinquent is a fallacy. Parents must be careful not to think of their teenagers in such a negative way.

WHAT SHOULD A parent do? He should establish limitations for the teenager. This should not be a boundary to inhibit the activity of a young person, but should be the kind of limitation that permits freedom but which designates responsibility on the part of both parent and child.

This limitation offers guidance and direction.

Young people really expect this of their parents.

Teenagers want freedom, but they also want the assurance of parental interest and guidance.

It is as if the young person is travelling down the road of life's experiences wanting to be left alone but at the same time looking back over his shoulder for direction and guidance.

Christmas Clubs set new record in savings

Nearly two billion dollars is starting on its way to 15,400,000 Christmas Shoppers -- members of Christmas Clubs in 10,000 banks and savings institutions throughout the United States, Christmas Club, a corporation, announced.

The exact amount, $1,987,984,000, represents an average of $129 per member -- the highest ever recorded. It is roughly equal to $10 for each man, woman, and child in the nation, the corporation said.

CHECKUP IN ORDER

One out of every six building fires in the United States results from faulty wiring or appliances, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

Helen A. Kocerha, Cranford teacher, is wed in Newark

Miss Helen Anna Kocerha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kocerha of 656 Passaic ave., Kenilworth, was married Saturday to Richard Thomas Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jones of Clark.

Msgr. Michael Dudick officiated at the double-ring ceremony and nuptial mass in St. George's Byzantine Catholic Church, Newark. A reception followed at Thom's Restaurant, Newark.

Miss Lorraine Kocerha served as maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Miss Deborah Seery, Miss Arlene Muzyka and Mrs. Nick Tumlinaro.

John L. Jones served as best man for his father. Ushers included Richard Smolenski, Edward Seery and Robert Jones.

Mrs. Jones, who was graduated from Newark State College, Union, teaches in the Cranford school system.

Her husband is a sales representative for National Cash Register Co., Newark.

Medical Society Women schedule dinner-dance

The Women's Auxiliary to the Union County Medical Society will hold a dinner-dance, "An Evening in Rome," Saturday, at the Lynn Caterers in Elizabeth.

An on-premise contest will be held and proceeds will benefit the American Medical Association Education and Research Foundation, nurses scholarships, and the medical student loan fund.

President of the Auxiliary is Mrs. Edmund Jenkins of Kenilworth.

American War Dads Auxiliary to hold Christmas dinner party

The American War Dads Auxiliary of Union, Chapter 1, will sponsor a Christmas dinner party at Patricia Murphy's in Yonkers, N.Y., Dec. 17. It was announced recently at the group's regular monthly meeting, held at the home of Mrs. John Wolf of Garwood, Mrs. Alfred Stein, president, presided. The public is invited to join the Christmas party and reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Stein at MU 6-0340. A chartered bus will leave at 3:30 p.m. from the municipal parking lot, Morris and Grandview avenues.

At the monthly meeting, Mrs. Lucine Lawrence read the auxiliary's opening prayer. The finance committee, headed by Mrs. Frank Daniel, discussed several projects for the near future.

The membership has been invited to attend Pearl Harbor Day Memorial services, Sunday morning, Dec. 10 at the Memorial Park, Stuyvesant and Wewanna avenues.

The membership will join the chapter members for an annual Christmas party, sponsored by the chapter, on the evening of Dec. 13 at the American Legion Hall. Auxiliary members will be in charge of the Christmas party buffet supper.

Mrs. Daniel and Mrs. Stein, the auxiliary's VAVS deputy and representative, respectively, will attend the VAVS monthly meeting, Monday night at Lyons Veterans Hospital. Mrs. Paul Brandt, hospital chairman, will accompany the representatives.

Mrs. Daniel and Mrs. Stein have been appointed by the VAVS officials to serve on the hospital patients' Christmas party refreshment committee on the evening of gift distribution. Auxiliary representatives attended Veteran's Day church services in St. Michael's Church, last Sunday morning.

The president appointed chairmanships at a recent meeting: Mrs. Daniel, finance chairman; Mrs. John Wolf, servicemen and women activities; Mrs. Stein, publicity; Mrs. Lucine Lawrence, publicity scrap book; Mrs. Michael Canonic, membership; Mrs. Stanley Cichowski, Americanism chairman; Mrs. Lawrence, Gold-Star Mothers; Mrs. Paul Brandt, hospital; Mrs. Jean Plais, United Nations, and Mrs. Joseph Leuser, civil defense.

A resume of the National Auxiliary convention of the American War Dads Auxiliary, held Sept. 28, 29, 30 and Oct. 1 in Minneapolis, Minn., was given by Mrs. Stein, who had served as the group's representative. Mrs. Stein reported that Mrs. Joseph Leuser, who served as alternate delegate, participated in the memorial services.

It was announced that Mrs. Stein was re-elected National Council Woman of the Eastern Seaboard.

The auxiliary will meet on the evening of Dec. 11 at the home of Mrs. Stein, 595 Caldwell ave. Christmas will be observed at the December meeting, and the annual holiday party will be planned for the January meeting, which will be held on the second week of January.

Nemesek participating in rod-custom car show

Bill Nemesek of 435 Crawford ter., Union, is among the exhibitors taking part in the sixth annual National Rod and Custom Car which opens today and continues through Sunday at the New York City Coliseum.

The novel custom car which he has entered in the show is a 1955 Chevrolet, exhibit officials said. They reported that the show will be open from 6 to 11 p.m. today and tomorrow, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday and 1 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

Suburban Women will roll bandages at member's home

The welfare department of the Suburban Women's Club of Union will roll bandages for muscular dystrophy patients at the home of Mrs. William Boone today from 1:30 to 4 p.m. and after 8 o'clock in the evening.

The club held its monthly meeting Friday at the Machinist Hall, Union. Mrs. Louis Stanacker presided. Mrs. Norman Schmitz, Mrs. Ralph Monson, Mrs. William Boone and Mrs. Charles Ellis were hostesses for the evening.

The club's country store auction following the meeting was reportedly successful, under the auctioneering of Andrew Kasinko and John Yuknas.

Mrs. Curtis Spillane announced that there will be a Suburban Women's Club night at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, Feb. 14, 1968. "The Odd Couple" will be staged at that time. Tickets will be available from Mrs. Spillane.

The American home department held a meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. James Murtha to prepare box cookies to be sent to Air Force servicemen stationed on the East Coast for Christmas.

120 guests attend Y Halloween party

One hundred and twenty guests attended the annual Family Halloween Party held recently at the Five Points YMCA in Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Rorden, Mrs. James Sexton and Mrs. Jean Capolupo decorated the "Y" gym and created a haunted house entrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrick awarded prizes to the following: Funniest, Michael Just as a hobo; most frightening, Carol Carollo, as a monkey and most original, Steven Grezzen as a reindeer.

The program for the evening also included games for all the children, and crafts for the younger ones attending. Color cartoons and cider and donuts ended the family program.

Plentiful foods for holidays

The holiday season is quickly approaching and with it comes an appropriate list of plentiful foods for November, reports Anne L. Sheelen, County Home economist.

The United States Department of Agriculture recently announced that turkey will be the feature of the month. Also in supply will be pork, dry split peas, potatoes and broiler-fryers.

Marketing of fresh turkeys is in good supply as are the storage stocks. From now until Thanksgiving watch the price of turkey in the market.

If it is specially priced in the beginning of the month, it may be wise to purchase your turkey early and keep it in your freezer until the holiday.

Pork production is averaging about 12 per cent higher this year than a year ago. Because the animals are slaughtered at a young age, pork is usually always tender. For safety, however, pork must be thoroughly cooked. The meat should be white with no pink color showing when it is ready to be eaten.

Dry split peas will also be an economical choice. Use these dry peas in your menu plans since they contribute both protein and variety to your meals.

Potatoes are expected to be in greater supply this year than they were last year. The fall harvest is expected to be 15 per cent above average. Potatoes have a place in the diet even for those who are counting calories. A medium size potato contains about 80 calories. It is not the potato, therefore, that contains the calories, but the butter, sour cream and gravy served with it. Cutting down on these extras will cut down on the calories.

Broiler-fryers are now currently at the lowest price in 1967. These chickens lend great versatility to your plans because they can be prepared in so many different ways. Look through your favorite cook book to see how you can serve them in a new way.

Christmas Seal features old time train

The traditional forerunner of the holiday season—the 1967 Christmas Seal—arrived in Union County this week to coincide with the opening of the annual drive to stamp out tuberculosis and other respiratory disease.

Dr. Stephen M. Ayres of Westfield, chairman of the Union County campaign, said that the local Christmas Seal drive is being conducted by the TB-Respiratory Disease Association of Central New Jersey, a tri-county organization which also serves Monmouth and Hudson counties. Approximately one million sheets of seals have been circulated.

The three-county effort, the first undertaken by the TB-Respiratory Disease Association which operates from its headquarters at 12 Baldwin Ave., Jersey City, is the result of a merger of the Union, Monmouth and Hudson organizations a few weeks ago. A. A. Vondera of Kenilworth is president of the association's board of directors.

Different from any other seal in the 61-year history of the Christmas Seal, this year's entry features a 10-unit Victorian train, complete with rococo engine and caboose and flat cars loaded with presents, Christmas trees, candy canes and a special sleigh carrying Santa.

The Christmas Seal Campaign train also has a conductor. Charles M. Kean, a 27-year employee of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad, has been named honorary chairman of the local and state campaigns.

"The Christmas Seal, identified with tuberculosis for the past 60 years, is now enlisted in the fight against emphysema, chronic bronchitis, asthma and air pollution," Dr. Ayres said.

Tuberculosis, despite reports that it is no longer prevalent in the state or the nation, is still a serious problem. For example, there are more than 3,150 people in the area the association serves being treated for tuberculosis, and on a national basis more than 350,000 people are known to have the disease, he said.

"Emphysema," said Vondera, "is another respiratory disease which is rising rapidly as a cause of crippling and death, and it is second among disabilities for which workers are awarded Social Security benefits."

The money derived from the Christmas Seal Campaign, Ayres and Vondera announced, will be spent by the TB-Respiratory Disease Association to pave the way for treatment and rehabilitation of citizens in the three-county area who are disabled by respiratory disease.

Union County residents who use the Christmas Seal on their holiday mail will not only be supporting the fight to eradicate tuberculosis and other respiratory disease, but they will be contributing to the continuing crusade of preventing respiratory disease and promoting good health.

If you don't receive a package of Christmas Seals in the mail this week, you are invited to call the TB-Respiratory Disease Association at 333-3080. Get on the right track and hop aboard the 1967 Christmas Seal Special by answering your Christmas Seal letter today.

Oberlin alumni to hold annual pot-luck dinner

The Oberlin College Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey will hold its annual pot-luck dinner meeting on Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Stanley Congregational Church in Chatham.

Speaker for the evening will be Edward Tobias, director of the Oberlin Alumni Association, whose topic, "Bridging the Generation Gap," will be illustrated by a film about the present student body at Oberlin, produced and directed entirely by students.

Holiday Deadline

Careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday news deadline is advised for the Nov. 23 issue, which will be printed a day early to avoid conflict with the Thanksgiving holiday. All organizational, social or other news items for the issue of Nov. 23 should be submitted to this office by tomorrow.

Period set aside to aid retarded children units

The period of Nov. 12 to 23 has been proclaimed by Governor Hughes as Retarded Children's Weeks throughout New Jersey and set aside as a time for citizens to offer special support to the 18 local Units of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children.

Henry W. Gould, association president, urged this week that all concerned residents arrange visits to NJARC Unit programs and to special classes in public and parochial school systems.

MOVING? Find a reputable Mover in the Want Ad Section.

There are a lot of good cars you can get for $3400. This is two of them!

If you don't happen to need two cars, there's only one thing that you need less. One car that costs as much as two cars.

Unless you want to pay a lot of money for a lot of horsepower that you'll never use. There's only one state in the country where you can go faster than a Volkswagen—Nevada. (No speed limit—there're big gamblers out there.)

The only extra horsepower you really need is for all those power gadgets. Which you need to drive a car that size. Which has to be that size to hold all those horses.

All of which also makes the average car cost almost as much to run as two Volkswagens. Considering a VW gets as much as 27 miles to a gallon of gas.

But if you're still not sold on the idea of two bugs for the price of one beast, why not take advantage of this special introductory offer: one Volkswagen for half the price of two.

Variety of scenes shown in 'Bible'

The variety of scenes within the Abraham sequence in "The Bible," which continues on screen at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair, challenged Dino De Laurentis, producer, and John Huston, director to a variety of cinematic techniques.

The wastelands of the Sahara Desert provided the settings for the camel caravan and the battle scene; while the ruins of the destroyed city of Sodom were reconstructed on the lava-strewn slopes of Mount Etna, a still active volcano in Sicily.

The makeup department had to take George Scott (Abraham) and Ava Gardner (Sarah) through 50 years of aging. Peter O'Toole played all three of the Angels of the Lord who appear to Abraham.

'Bonnie and Clyde' is Art's attraction

"Bonnie and Clyde," the motion picture version of the story of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker and their bank robbing spree of the 1930's, opened yesterday at the Art Theater, Irvington Center. The picture, photographed in color and directed by Arthur Penn, stars Warren Beatty, Faye Dunaway, Michael J. Pollard, Gene Hackman and Estelle Parsons.

"Woman Times Seven" is the associate feature at the Art. Vittorio De Sica serves as director. The cast is headed by Shirley MacLaine, Alan Arkin, Rossano Brazzi, Michael Caine, Vittorio Gassman and Peter Sellers.

Carrington is director of 'The Student Prince'

"The Student Prince," Sigmund Romberg's operetta, opened Tuesday night at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn. The show will run through Dec. 17. Frank Carrington, producer-director of the Paper Mill Playhouse, who directed seven productions of "The Student Prince" throughout the playhouse's history, directs this production too.

Harry Danner, lyric tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Studio, plays the title role, with Barbara Meister co-starring as Kathie.

Appearing in show

Scott A. Fox of 611 Colonial Ave., Union, will appear in the Newark Academy Drama Club variety show, Showcase '67, tomorrow and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Academy, South Orange avenue, Livingston. He will perform in the Austrian peasant dance and the Cha Cha routine and, as a member of the Newark Academy Singers, will sing several numbers from South Pacific.

ON DEAN'S LIST
Miss Paulette Ricciardi of 956 Johnson pl., and Miss Beverly Robinson of 216 Crawford ter., both of Union, are among those named to the dean's list of the Berkeley School, East Orange, for the summer term. Miss Ricciardi is a 1967 graduate of Irvington High School; Miss Robinson, 1967 graduate of Union High School.

Buffy Sainte-Marie to appear in concert at NSC next month

Folk singer Buffy Sainte-Marie will appear in a concert at the Newark State College Theatre for the Performing Arts in Union, at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 9. The dark-haired singer and composer is of North American Indian descent and a member of the Cree tribe.

Tickets are now on sale in Union at the information and services desk in the College Center on the Morris avenue campus, at the Town and Campus Restaurant, 1040 Morris ave., and at Jahn's 2031 Morris ave. They are also on sale in Elizabeth at the Record Wagon, 303 Morris ave., and The Record Rack, 11 Broad St. Tickets are $1.50.

After less than three years of professional exposure Miss Sainte-Marie is considered one of the most influential young concert artists in America. She has written more than 200 songs, many of which are included in the repertoires of leading international artists. Her first record album, "It's My Way," has been followed by two others, "Many a Mile" and "Little Wheel, Spin and Spin."

Although she holds a degree in Oriental philosophy and education from the University of Massachusetts, where she was voted one of the 10 most outstanding seniors in her graduating class, Miss Sainte-Marie sings and composes with the spontaneity of genuine folk art. As a child she taught herself to play the guitar and developed a unique style of singing and playing. She is said to have devised 32 ways of tuning her instrument so that pitch relationships are seldom the same twice in a row.

She has made hundreds of appearances in leading concert halls, folk clubs, and television programs in the United States, Canada and Great Britain. In the past year she has been seen on the Andy Williams Show, the Merv Griffin Show, the Mike Douglas Show, Bruce Morris's Music Power and the documentary, "A Nation of Immigrants," as well as several of her own half hour specials.

Guest artists at ballet gala
Violet Verdy and Paul Sutherland are scheduled to appear as guest artists at the Symphony Hall performance which the Garden State Ballet will present Thursday, Nov. 30, as part of the "Cinderella Ball" festivities.

Miss Verdy and Sutherland will dance the solo roles in the premiere of choreographer Henry Amus's new work, "Cinderella Waltz," as the climax of the second annual ballet ball.

Miss Verdy previously danced with Fred Danielli's Garden State Ballet in last season's premiere of the "Nutcracker."

Weeder's Digest

Lawns are showing a sort of patchwork pattern again this fall. Some are a real green green while others are sort of dull and drab. Maybe you can call it a bleached green.

If you fertilized your lawn earlier this fall you're probably enjoying the results because your lawn surely is greener than one that was not fertilized.

And if your lawn is pale and you wish you had fertilized earlier, hop to it now as the next best thing.

A Rutgers lawn specialist, Henry W. Indyk, says this is the thing to do. He suggests 10 to 15 pounds of a 10-6-4 fertilizer (50 percent organic) to 1,000 square feet.

In addition, it will stimulate grass growth for a more vigorous and dense lawn that will resist weed invasion next year.

And remember, he reminds you, that fertilizer is no substitute for lime. The benefits from each differ.

The lawns you admire most are the result of proper and adequate use of both fertilizer and lime.

You can spread lime now and right on into winter so that it will be in the soil and ready to help your grasses jump off to a speedy start next spring.

Says teacher unions are here to stay New Rutgers dean calls them inevitable

"Teacher power," the unionization of teachers, may be a disconcerting subject for many leaders in education, but Dr. Milton Schwebel, the new dean of Rutgers University's Graduate School of Education, sees the movement as an inevitable development.

"Anyone who thinks he can stop teachers from unionizing is out of touch with history or deluding himself," says Dr. Schwebel. "Those who oppose it are only fighting a delaying action and wasting energy and money in the fight."

Dr. Schwebel feels that the move of teachers into organized labor must be recognized as part of the tide of history. And he feels that the move promises to strengthen American education.

"School people who have been docile and allowed themselves to be third-rate citizens for so long have finally come to life," he says.

Referring to a survey of men teachers in Oregon, which showed them to be uninformed in the community and extremely conservative, as an example of what the teacher has been, Dr. Schwebel says that the new teacher should be an active counter force to those who would weaken education.

SUPERINTENDENTS AND PRINCIPALS who oppose unionization are boxing themselves in. They are taking positions which only create a wider gap between themselves and the teachers. Instead, they should join forces with the teachers groups and community groups that are willing to fight for the kinds of schools we need and the budgets good education demands.

In his opinion unions can be a positive force especially when they are concerned with professional issues in addition to the "pork chop" variety.

Commenting on schools and the struggle to achieve equal opportunity, Dr. Schwebel says the changes in education have been minimal.

"Until recently money has been spent primarily at pre-school and drop-out levels. We weren't touching the basic educational structure, and we hardly are now."

"We've got to guard against a buckshot approach—a little here and a little there. Maybe that satisfies political needs; it doesn't meet the educational ones."

Dr. Schwebel says that only a comprehensive plan will have an impact.

"There is no mystery as to what the children in the deprived areas need. Are the communities prepared to give it to them?"

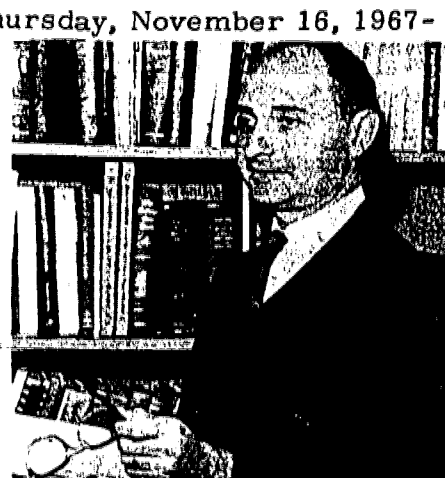

Dr. Schwebel, who moved into the dean's office at the Graduate School of Education in September, received his formal education at Union College (B.A.), State University of New York, Albany (M.A.), and Columbia University (Ph.D.), but he attributes his social concern to living through the 1930's.

"THE GREAT DEPRESSION, racial injustice and the series of international blunders which inexorably led to World War II caused many young people to become interested in the social sciences and humanities as a way of understanding the problems of our times."

"One of our problems in dealing with poverty is the human failing of shortsightedness. We are too much oriented to contemporary times and have no historical view. It is like looking at part of a river and not recognizing it for the whole that it is," he says.

"The conditions which have led to Black Power won't be solved by hiring more police. The Negro rebellion is not just of the moment. It is part of a history which has seen other groups take a stand. It is different in many ways, of course, but still similar to the position of the teachers and the students, too, who have come to the point where they feel they too must take a stand."

BOOSTS TEACHER UNIONIZATION — Dr. Milton Schwebel, recently named dean of Rutgers University's Graduate School of Education, says the unionization of teachers will strengthen American education.

DEATH NOTICES

Are good looks enough to sell a new phone?

We're not banking on it. That's why the Trimline® phone is packed with practical new ideas—like pushbuttons that come to you.

The lighted Touch-Tone® pushbuttons are right in the palm of your hand when you pick up the phone. And just beneath them, another new idea—the recall-button—that lets you make a second call without first reaching to hang up. Just press the recall button... and you've got a dial tone.

You can put a Trimline phone in handy new locations—on the side of a kitchen cabinet, or under a counter—because you don't need to see the base-to-dial buttons are in the handset.

A new Trimline phone costs just pennies a day—and there's no extra charge for color. It's available in wall and table models, with either a standard dial or the new Touch-Tone pushbuttons that let you "dial" twice as fast. And the additional Touch-Tone charge covers all phones on your line.

Just call your Telephone Business Office to order the new Trimline phone. It's the only telephone ever to be selected for the permanent design collection in New York's Museum of Modern Art. Looks alone might not sell a new phone. But they sure don't hurt.

Hayden, Stone's Oceanography Report selects 17 favorably situated Companies: 10 for investment portfolios 7 for aggressive growth potentials

Hayden, Stone recently conducted the first in a series of Government-industry forums to explore the background, problems, economics and investment opportunities in rapidly changing or new or emerging fields. This initial forum dealt with Oceanography, the science concerned with 70% of the world's area, from whose depths may come food to feed the hungry, such essentials as oil, gas, metals, chemicals—and water itself.

Now Hayden, Stone's Research Department has prepared a 21-page report on the investment significance of Oceanography—a report based directly on the findings of this forum and on the Department's own careful research evaluations. It reviews the industries now active in this important new field and selects 10 companies for investment purposes and 7 for aggressive growth potentials.
