IT'S A MAN'S WORLD—Sidelined for the moment, this little girl looks on patiently as Mountainside Little Leaguers formally launch their season in ceremonies at the field behind the Deerfield School. The boys had to wait a week, as the ceremonies were rained out the previous Saturday. The young lady may have to wait a little longer, but some day they'll pay a lot more attention to her.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! The PTA Fair is coming to town

With Saturday only two days away, the Mountainside PTA issued the following statement to remind residents that the annual fair is on that date and that everyone is welcome to attend:

"On Saturday, the Mountainside PTA will hold its annual fair. As usual, it will highlight a year that has already produced many other earlier activities.

"There will be many things to see and do. Then there will be a house. For the stamp and coin collectors, there will be a booth, and who knows, you might come across a stamp or two that you need for your collection. Also coins that you have been hunting and have been unable to unearth. Books for those that like to read. Candy and balloons for the kiddies. Rides, games, prizes, amusements and grab bags for the children. Let's not forget the goldfish which may start an interesting hobby for a youngster. Refreshments for everyone, young and younger.

"Then, of course, there will be lovely aprons for sale and delicious cakes to buy, baked by the very talented women of Mountainside.

"Among other things there will be a booth for jewelry, for make-up and to top off the fair, the two shows featuring our live animal act.

"If your heart is young, and you want to spend an enjoyable and satisfying afternoon, bring a child or two or three or more, and do come to the fair!

"Remember the date—May 11, 11 a.m. to noon to 5 p.m.—Place—Beechwood School. And remember—there will be a crossing guard on duty at Wood Valley and New Providence roads.

"Wood Acres Drive will be one way as an entrance to the fair, and there will be additional parking at the Presbyterian Church. Parking will be allowed on the righthand side of Wood Acres, only. There will be no parking on the school grounds."

PROFILE -- Mrs. Joseph R. Kane

This reporter had come to interview a woman who has spent the better part of her life in the service of others. Knowing our purpose, Marjorie Mills Kane, wasted no time, after the amenities of welcoming us, by starting right in relating "How it all began."

"Although we were in the middle of a depression, all one needed in the town of Yonkers, where I was born and grew up, was a college education to get a job," she begins, "and at an early age, I became obsessed with that determination."

Mrs. Kane, who recently was appointed to a five-year term on the Union County Welfare Board, as secretary-treasurer, is no newcomer to the field of social and welfare work. Upon graduation from Roosevelt High School in Yonkers, she thought she might like to be a teacher. "So," she continued, as she led this reporter to a comfortable chair in her delightful home, "I entered Douglass College where I studied English literature. However, upon graduation with a B.A. in my hand, the best I could get was a job as salesgirl in a department store, and there I hid my time."

"Then came the call from the Yonkers Department of Public Welfare. Social service case workers were needed desperately and I had been right all along — all one needed was a college degree, not even experience. They took me on immediately and I worked

Lourdes' students pay visit to library

Our Lady of Lourdes fourth grade class visited the Mountainside Public Library last Thursday for a library lesson and book talk. Thirty-two children attended. Sister Marion Frances and Mrs. John Crilly accompanied the group. A program on "Find It Yourself," with instructions on the arrangement of books and the Dewey Decimal System, was given the children. This was followed by practice in finding books on the shelves.

"Let's look it up," an introduction to the catalog, was followed by a period of looking up subjects being studied in the catalog. "Book Bait," a selection of books popular with fourth grade readers, was presented by Mrs. Helen M. Kelly, children's librarian. This was followed by a story.

Doctor prescribes careers in health for young people

By proclamation of Gov. Richard Hughes, this week has been designated as "Health Careers Week" throughout New Jersey.

The week was endorsed by Dr. E. Milton Staub, medical director-administrator of the Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside, which was one of the pioneering hospitals in the state to institute annual health career workshops and observation programs for interested counselors, high school and junior high school students.

In discussing health careers, Dr. Staub stated: the role of the physician comes naturally to mind, as do the nurse, the x-ray and laboratory technician. However, these are only a few of the opportunities which are rapidly demanding services in the health field. The social services will need more members than will be available for several decades hence. With a greater provision of medical services to all people, the social service worker of necessity is an important part of this functional team. For example, he is consulted often by the anesthesiologist, and, at times works closely with a pharmaceutical company in testing drug reactions.

"The pharmacist, no longer a mere dispenser of drugs, is an important part of this functional team. For example, he is consulted often by the anesthesiologist, and, at times works closely with a pharmaceutical company in testing drug reactions.

"No discussion of a health career is complete without the inclusion of those workers in the field of the therapist: physical therapy, communication therapy (speech), occupational therapy and recreational therapy. These are but a few of the health careers which are rapidly expanding and which makes each such an exciting field in which to be employed. The financial remuneration in all of these fields are competitive and often higher than in industry. This is because these people must be specially trained and there is likely to be a shortage for many years to come. What better place to work than in a career where you can help others while helping yourself?"

Little Leaguers off to good start

Getting off to a good start, Mountainside's Little Leaguers have been fighting to win some closely played games in their three leagues, according to an announcement this week.

In the American League, scores for the opening games May 1, Orioles, 4-Indians, 3; May 2, Twins, 13-Yankees, 1; May 4, Senators, 7-Red Sox, 6.

National League: May 1, Cardinals, 10-Cubs, 2; May 2, Braves, 21-Pirates, 6; May 3, Cubs, 16-Giants, 0; May 4, Dodgers, 10-Cardinals, 3.

Major League: May 1 Mountainside, 19-Blue Stars, 2; May 2, Chiefs, 10-Elks, 2; May 3, Pioneers, 6-Mountainers, 1; May 4, Blue Stars, 7 - Mustangs, 5.

meeting last week at the Mountainside Borough Hall.

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. told the Echo that a group of more than 18 persons, which included representatives from the three Mountainside churches and Temple Emanu - El of Westfield, the Police Department, the Borough Council, the PTA, the Board of Education and interested laymen, came together to investigate the symptoms and problems of why "some children in the community act as they do," and to discuss possible methods of coping with the situation.

The mayor also stated that the record of Mountainside youngsters had been examined compared with that of surrounding communities, and the panel was satisfied that "our kids are not going to hell in a basket." "Rather," continued the mayor, "we found sufficient evidence that while only a small minority are involved, parents and the community should be more concerned with every activity in which all youngsters are engaged.

"FOR INSTANCE," he continued, "the consensus is that signs of possible future delinquency can be detected early in a child's life by teachers, social workers and Board of Health nurses. If we tie us with these groups, thus having a communication between these people and parents, we feel we can prevent difficulties before they have had a chance to materialize.

"Of course, our investigations are in an infant stage, but we believe that a concerted effort on everyone's part to channel energies into constructive channels, will result to the good of the youngsters themselves and, in the final analysis, make for a better community."

He reiterated that he was of the belief that no one person or agency could do the job alone—it was imperative that agencies and parents work together — and said that more meetings must be held before a direct and meaningful program can be instituted.

"But," concluded the mayor, "we sense that from the meeting feeling we had made our first step in the right direction—that is, by meeting with various and interested groups, and we intend to keep on working until some concrete program can be outlined and put into practice."

Faculty gets set for 'Show to Go'

A ghostly cloud hangs over Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, as the faculty rehearses for Troy's "All Because of Agatha" to be presented Friday and Saturday evenings, May 17 and 18 according to an announcement this week.

The spirit of Mrs. Judy Rindone as Agatha pervades the atmosphere as she attempts to scare Ken Meeks and Mrs. Isabelle Gundaker (who play the O'Haras) out of their new home. "The riotous cavorting which results between the maid (Mrs. Sam Lincoln), and her boy friend (Mr. Art Winters); Dr. Randolph (Mr. Jan Lucas) and Aunt Theima (Mrs. Roseb Janoff) makes for an hilarious evening," the spokesman added.

Cliff Robinson is directing the play. Mrs. Ruth Perry is producer, and Mrs. Carol Foreman is stage manager. Others behind the scenes are: set and design, William Alderson; scenery, Dan Gomula; props, JoAnn Hoag; Diane Gots will take charge of costumes and Mrs. Cam Rohm, make-up. Tickets will be under the direction of Vicki Sibilla, and Mrs. Esther Jenius will be in charge of the programs. Mrs. Arlene Church is in charge of ushers, and Mrs. Luella Fish, refreshments.

Red Cross to offer summer training in swimming, boating

The American Red Cross is again offering advanced training in water safety and small craft operation at several summer camps in the northeastern United States.

Information may be obtained by calling the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter, 321 Elm st., Westfield, 232-7090.

Samuel T. Ingram Jr., assistant regional manager, Red Cross Eastern Area, reported that Red Cross aquatic schools will be open to men and women 18 and over who are interested in improving their proficiency in swimming, lifesaving and first aid, or to qualify as Red Cross volunteer instructors in these fields.

No previous training is necessary for students desiring to become first aid instructors, said Ingram, but candidates for water safety instructor must possess a current Red Cross senior lifesaving certificate or be able to perform various swimming strokes proficiently.

In addition, persons who are now authorized water safety instructors may enroll in such electives as handicapped swimming, synchronized swimming, canoeing, boating or sailing, depending on individual needs and qualifications. Not all electives are offered at all camps.

The Red Cross small craft schools will be open to men and women 18 and over who have completed a Red Cross senior lifesaving course. Training courses in first aid and water safety are not offered; however, students will receive instructor training in canoeing, boating and sailing. The boating courses include rowing and outboard boating.

All schools, whether aquatic or small craft are essentially short-term leadership training schools. For this reason the training is intensive, and outstanding water safety instructors are in charge, Ingram pointed out. All courses include a daily schedule of classes, sessions for instruction, practice, and practice teaching. Provisions are also made for a well-rounded recreation program.

"What our students learn at these unique water safety schools," said Ingram, "may some day spell the difference between life and death for some of the northeast's expanding legion of water sports devotees." He suggests that interested parties contact their local American Red Cross chapters for full details and application forms.

Red Cross aquatic schools will be held at Camp Hanover, Richmond, Va., June 6-16; Camp Kiwanee, Hanson, Mass., June 9-19; Camp Bearwood, Colchester, Conn., June 12-22; Camp Muskingum, Carrollton, Ohio, June 13-23; Camp Indian, Trails, Milford, Pa., June 13-23; Camp Tevya, Brookline, N.H., June 16-26; the Elms Camp, Hammondsport, N.Y., Aug. 15-25.

Two small craft schools will be located at the Elms Camp, Hammondsport, N.Y., June 11-21; and Camp O-At-Ka, East Sebago, Maine, June 13-23.

Women finding more jobs, higher pay Douglass official cites wider opportunities

The young woman who graduates from college today may choose her career from a wider variety of professions and earn a higher salary than ever before in history.

This is in sharp contrast to the limited professional opportunities which were available to the woman graduate of 50 years ago, says Miss Helen V. Knowles, director of the Douglass College Placement Bureau.

Miss Knowles noted that the first graduates of the New Jersey College for Women, as the college was then called, were quite limited in their choice of careers.

The 1922 NJC graduate generally had to enter one of the "women's professions," such as teaching, nursing, secretarial, library or social work. Marriage usually meant the end of her professional career.

"Today there is still a great demand for women in those fields, but there is also a variety of additional opportunities," Miss Knowles said.

There is great demand for mathematicians, scientists and government and social workers. Women also are finding jobs in publishing, public relations, insurance, banking, retailing, home economics, business and the Armed Forces.

"The Douglass Placement Bureau's philosophy is that our most important function is to counsel each girl so that she can be her own employment agency," Miss Knowles said. "Of course we refer girls to many jobs."

"We interview every girl who registers, some several times, to determine her interests, to suggest possible job fields, to give her assistance in writing letters and resumes and to encourage her to use our services, particularly our extensive vocational library," the director explained.

BESIDES ASSISTING new graduates, the bureau aids alumnae. A number of alumnae have returned after 20 years to find out what jobs are open to them and to see if they require any retraining, Miss Knowles said.

About 95 percent of Douglass seniors register with the office. They receive advice and information about job resources, job-hunting techniques, job referral and recruitment by business and graduate schools.

Last year, about one-third of those employed went into teaching. An employment survey of the Class of 1957 shows that the median salary for teaching was $5,800 and for non-teaching fields, $6,100.

"Salaries go up every year," Miss Knowles said. Among the highest salaried fields at the present are mathematics and science, with the top graduate earning $8,500 to start.

Among positions which have been held by Douglass graduates are curator of the Montclair Art Museum, supervisor of consumer publicity for the National Biscuit Co., public relations coordinator for the Museum of the City of New York, junior planner for the New Jersey State Department of Conservation, technical writer for American Cyanamid, tax technician for the Internal Revenue Bureau and assistant editor for the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

Many girls go into social work for public agencies and into government jobs on the federal, state and city level, Miss Knowles said.

A large percentage of the graduates work after marriage. Of the Class of 1967, 34 percent are married and of these 71 percent are employed. Many women now return to their careers after their children are in school.

Part of Douglass College's 50th anniversary celebration will be a major career conference on Oct. 29 and 30.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheelan, County Home Economist

PREPARE A SURPRISE FOR MOTHER'S DAY

Surprise mother on Mother's Day with a special dessert treat.

Fig something a little special yourself for your mother is an excellent way to say Thank You for all the many ways she has helped you throughout the year.

A suggestion, prepare Apricot Nest Cake. It can be used as a coffee cake for breakfast or for dessert after dinner. A topping of apricots, brown sugar, flaked coconut and slivered almonds creates a unique flavor to this recipe. It is also easy to prepare.

APRICOT NEST CAKE

- Fruit Layer:
  - 1/4 cup soft margarine
  - 1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
  - 9 to 12 well drained canned apricot halves
  - 1/3 cup flaked coconut
  - 1/3 cup slivered almonds or chopped nuts
- Spread soft margarine over bottom of 9 x 9 x 2 inch baking pan; coat sides with margarine. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Arrange apricot halves cut side up over sugar. Sprinkle with coconut and nuts.

Cake Batter:

- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup soft margarine
- 3/4 cup milk

Mix together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in soft margarine until mixture is fine even crumb. Beat together eggs and milk; add to flour mixture and stir until smooth. Spoon over apricots in prepared pan. Bake in 350 degrees F. oven 40 to 45 minutes, until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Invert on serving plate and serve warm or cooled.

YIELD: 9 to 12 servings.

Ancient art crafts shown in exhibition

Candlesticks, cigarette boxes, salt and pepper sets, glove and jewelry boxes and paper weights, hand decorated and finished by Mrs. Rosemarie Hilse of Virginia avenue, Mountainide, are on exhibition in the window of the Barrett and Crain Realty office in Westfield. It was announced this week.

The technique used by Mrs. Hilse in her articles is known as pyrography, woodburning, painting and heat etching, and is reportedly becoming a lost art. Mrs. Hilse, who learned the technique from a friend, stated that the design is first hand drawn on the wood. The dark portions are burned into the wood line for line, and then the color is hand-painted between the burned lines. The whole design is protected with seven coats of varnish and wax. No two pieces are ever exactly alike. Usually, either original floral or Pennsylvania Dutch designs are used.

Originally, this art-craft was known as "hot poker painting," and early work was done with pointed pokers heated in a fireplace. Mrs. Hilse uses the benzine vapor outfit which was perfected in the 1800's, whereby a platinum point is heated to a red-hot temperature, permitting burning so that place.

Borough official: Children should take pill for polio

"There may be children in Mountainide who are unprotected against polio. If parents or guardians know of such unprotected children, they should make sure they are immunized." This was the advice today of Charles Dotto, health officer of Mountainide.

Dotto said, "Despite widespread community campaigns to eradicate polio in this country, there were still 15 cases of paralytic polio reported in the United States in the first three months of 1968. None was reported in New Jersey.

"Infants are being added to the population in all our communities, including Mountainide," Dotto continued, "and unless their parents make sure they are protected, they could become victims of polio.

"The availability of a pill that can be taken my mouth and that protects against all three strains of polio makes it easy to assure protection without pain. But young children cannot do it by themselves. They must have someone act in their behalf. I urge parents of young children to make sure their children are protected against polio. Mountainide and New Jersey have been free of reported cases of polio in 1966 and in 1967 and thus far in 1968, and we want to keep it that way."

there for five years, loving every minute of it, and there I found my niche," she added. Just before the outbreak of World War II, Mrs. Kane joined with some old college friends to rent a bungalow for the summer at the shore. She laughingly tells of how some bachelors down the road, who had also rented a house, decided to ask the girls for a date. "My husband Joe," she relates, "later told me the boys flipped a coin and he picked me, much to his chagrin, because he told the other boys, 'How come I have to go with that girl—she is dull—always has her head stuck in a book.'"

But the romance flourished and in 1938, Marjorie and Joseph Kane were married and the couple moved to Elizabeth. Shortly thereafter, her husband, who had attended Forham Law School and was graduated from Rutgers Law School, entered the U. S. Air Corps. Upon graduation as a lieutenant from O.C.S., he was appointed a legal officer in the Air Corps.

AT HOME, Marjorie, never one to remain idle, became a volunteer in the home service department of what is now known as the Eastern Union County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The department served as a liaison agency between branches of the military forces and their families, and her duties lay in counseling families of servicemen. Since the war, she has continued to serve in the volunteer services department of the Red Cross as chairman and as vice-chairman of the board of directors. She also serves on the social planning committee of the board on the United Community Services of Eastern Union County. And as though these activities were not enough, she finds time and love to give to the more than 100 children at the Egenolf Day Nursery in Elizabeth, where she is a nursery board member and assistant treasurer. She served as president of the Egenolf board in 1957-58, and in the 10 years that have elapsed, her interest has never waned. When the board established a development committee recently, to enable the nursery to keep abreast of community planning projects, Mrs. Kane was named chairman.

Home and husband, social service work and the love of children would appear to be a "big order" for any one person, but Marjorie Kane still manages to find time for sewing, "which I enjoy," she says, and gardening. She is a past president of the Elizabeth Garden Club, serves on the board and has won many prizes for her floral arrangements.

Of her present work on the Union County Welfare Board, Mrs. Kane says that "while it is time-consuming, it is very interesting, in that it is public assistance as opposed to private assistance. I feel I can use my experience in private assistance to help in my job as policy maker and in the fund-raising end of it. My deep interest is in getting through to what we call the hard core. I try to visit all of the private organizations, at least once a month in an advisory capacity, which is good, because then I can bring back what I learn and with a broader scope to work with, an exchange of ideas can be discussed.

"One must be open minded," she goes on, "because preconceived personal notions have no place when one is dealing with the hard core. One must be prepared for disappointment and use every intelligent tactic, patience, maturity and understanding if one hopes to accomplish the task."

The couple moved to Mountainide 15 years ago. They reside at 21 Whipplowwill way.

COMPLAINTS EXAGGERATE PROBLEM OF AUTO INSURANCE CANCELLATIONS

"I have read and heard a great deal lately about auto insurance cancellations," a reader reports. "Just how serious is this problem?"

Complaints of automobile insurance cancellations generally exaggerate the problem. In Virginia, a study of policies written during a three-month period in 1966 shows that only 2.4 per cent were cancelled, and almost half of these were cancelled because the policyholder failed to pay his premium. A Wisconsin study showed that about one half of one per cent of automobile insurance policies were cancelled by companies in mid-term.

A survey of the 11 leading companies providing auto insurance in Maryland showed that only 1.4 per cent of the policies in force were cancelled, on an annual basis. In Washington State, a study covering an average of 1,600,000 drivers indicated that the number of auto insurance policies cancelled represented less than one per cent of the policies in force.

A large segment of the automobile insurance industry recently announced plans to reduce voluntarily to two the number of reasons for which companies may cancel private passenger automobile insurance policies—the non-payment of premiums and suspension of license or registration of the policyholder or a member of his household who operates the car involved.

Mosquitoes prefer deer

Humans only second choice

You may find this to be rather small consolation, but many New Jersey mosquitoes don't bite people unless they're really hungry. They would much rather feast on white-tailed deer, ring-necked pheasants or big fat bullfrogs.

Some mosquito species, in fact, limit their diet to laughing gulls, Louisiana herons, snowy egrets and other avian hosts, scorning mammals and reptiles if at all possible.

Still, other species would live on frogs exclusively if they could, while those which prefer reptile blood might enjoy terrapin but would settle for blacksnake if necessary.

In the wild, humans are quite far down the list of hosts preferred by mammal-sucking species. Deer tops this category.

This information—not at all trivial—is the result of background research aimed basically at "breaking" the mysteries of Eastern encephalitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness, which took the lives of 21 persons in New Jersey in 1959.

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY'S COLLEGE of Agriculture and Environmental Science is studying the feeding patterns of the state's 52 mosquito species and the New Jersey Department of Health is testing animals as possible virus carriers.

Rutgers has been working on this for more than a decade. Wayne J. Crans of Glen Gardner, a research specialist in the Department of Entomology and Economic Zoology, who has been carrying the ball in recent years, has written his Ph.D. thesis on the subject.

"If the Department of Health knows what animals carry the virus, and we find out which mosquitoes feed on those animals, we will be well on our way to controlling the disease," Dr. Crans points out.

"Eastern encephalitis, which used to be known as Eastern equine encephalitis, is essentially a disease of birds. The word equine was dropped from the name some time ago. Horses and humans contact it only accidentally."

But how do horses and humans get it at all when birds carry the virus, and we find out which mosquitoes feed on those animals, we will be well on our way to controlling the disease," Dr. Crans says. "Under unusual circumstances when no bird is available and a man is, the mosquito will feed on the man. Then, if the mosquito happens to be carrying the virus, the man is vulnerable."

"OF COURSE IT works the other way, too. A mosquito which normally feeds on mammals may bite a virus-carrying bird if that's the only way it can get a meal. Later the same mosquito may find a person to feed on, then that person may become infected."

Standard blood-typing techniques are used in the College's mosquito laboratory to find what kind of animals the mosquitoes caught by researchers have fed upon. The lab's freezer contains blood samples from nearly every possible mosquito host, including Dr. Crans himself.

"Eastern encephalitis is our main target, but we're learning other interesting things along the way," Dr. Crans says. "For instance, our work has uncovered a disease in frogs which appears related to dog heartworm and possibly even to the tropical disease of humans, elephantiasis. We have every indication that mosquitoes transmit this disease to frogs."

Springfield board to offer resolution on school districts

Two measures said to be aimed at heading off or modifying any state-mandated reorganization of local school districts are among the 10 resolutions to be introduced for delegate action at the annual meeting of the State Federation of District Boards of Education, to be held Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m., at the State House Assembly Chamber, Trenton.

A resolution sponsored by the Dunellen Board of Education would endorse re-determination of school district boundaries only by mutual agreement of local communities. A second resolution, proposed by the Springfield Board of Education, would seek a legal procedure by which regional school districts could be dissolved and abolished.

In addition to these, delegates will vote on proposals seeking changes in state aid formulas, in board member election and appointment, and in regulations affecting employee sick leave and teacher absence.

The delegates, representing New Jersey's 594 local school districts and more than 4,600 school board members, will also elect new officers.

Owners of pets are reminded of deadline in story contest

The second annual short story contest for Be Kind to Animals Week, which is being observed this week, is being conducted by the New Jersey Branch of the Humane Society of the United States, Don R. Maxfield, executive director, has announced.

Prizes of $50, $25 and $10 are being offered for the three best entries of 500 words or less. All entries must be submitted to the society's office at 1140 E. Jersey st., Elizabeth, N.J., 07201, and must be postmarked no later than Tuesday. The winners will be announced at the branch's annual meeting on May 18 at Stouffer's Restaurant, Short Hills Mall.

Maxfield said that entries must relate a true life story about an animal that has been a family pet.
Last year's winner was Wallace B. Dixon of 1023 Thompson ave., Roselle, whose entry was entitled, "No More Pets and No More Heartaches."

DIXON'S STORY FOLLOWS:

Most of my life I've had pets of every description, and I've loved them all. Every so often there would be an unfortunate incident and I would go into my act, "No more pets and no more heartaches."

Late last summer despite every effort of our veterinarian, my dog Jet passed away. I was heartbroken and lonesome, as Jet had been my constant companion since I retired with a disability eight years ago.

It's funny how a person with so many swell neighbors, relatives and friends could miss a mutt so much, but he was the best dog I ever had. One thing was certain, "No more pets and no more heartaches."

While sitting on my porch and reviewing my vow, the dirtiest, most neglected creature I have ever seen struggled up the walk, licked my hand and without formal introduction, adopted me.

Walking healthful ---not on Parkway

Walking or jogging is not good for anyone on the Garden State Parkway.

The New Jersey Highway Authority, operators of the Parkway, this week took note of increasing pedestrian perils on the 173-mile road and urged motorists to stay put in their cars--disabled or not--for surer safety.

The Parkway officials called special attention to the dangers in walking to a service area along the high-speed road for gasoline rather than waiting for a State Police patrol or staff car to arrive with help.

Recognizing that personal injuries and at least one death have resulted from such walking expeditions on the Parkway, the Authority has asked the contract operators of its service stations not to sell gasoline to motorists away from their cars and to notify State Police instead.

Parkway regulations prohibit its entry or use by pedestrians, except on sidewalks, footpaths, or in areas specifically designated for such purpose. Violators are subject to fines up to $200 and imprisonment.

"WALKING IS DEFINITELY not recommended on the Parkway and in fact is discouraged for drivers whose cars run out of gas," said Dr. John B. Townsend, the Authority's vice chairman and a practicing physician in Ocean City. "Motorists should await the arrival of a police patrol and service truck whenever they have a vehicle disablement."

Cars parked on the roadside in such emergency must be well off the pavement, and so should their occupants.

Two of the three traffic deaths on the Parkway during the first quarter this year were pedestrians, one of whom was walking for gasoline.

In the past six years on the Parkway, a total of 20 pedestrians were killed. Three such traffic deaths occurred last year, when pedestrians were involved in 17 accidents on the Parkway.

A neighbor watching the drama inquired, "Where did he come from?" And all that I could reply was one word "Heaven."

My new Jet is a male "All-American" roger. He may have come from "Heaven" but he has become an advanced student in raising "Hell."

Our lawn and garden will never be the same due to the treasures that he buries and uncovers. He steals everything that he can carry and generally waits until we are dressed for church or an occasion to jump into the nearest pool of water or mud puddle.

ON THE OTHER HAND his obedience and affectionate nature overshadow any puppy mischief that he may dream up. Most of my pleasures have their little drawbacks, the garden with its weeds and bugs, the car and its repairs and expense, TV with the commercials and even the "Old Homestead" with its taxes, etc. So what if I do find a bone hidden in my shoe now and then? So far none of them have been greasy.

There are 11 gasoline station areas along the Parkway with signs in advance of them to alert motorists to their vehicles' possible need of fuel.

For those motorists who run out of gas between stations or have other vehicle disablements, the Parkway is patrolled 24 hours a day by a State Police detachment whose Troopers can summon emergency service from 15 qualified, radio-equipped garages nearby the superhighway stretches.

A total of 38,750 emergency service aids were rendered motorists on the Parkway last year, with empty gasoline tanks accounting for 5,591 of the help missions.

Mobile printers to assist rural literacy programs

A mobile printing unit, built in the Netherlands for use in the literacy projects of developing nations, was recently displayed at Unesco Headquarters in Paris. In an example of bilateral aid stimulated by Unesco's world literacy campaign, the Netherlands government will donate five of these units—the first two to Iran and Indonesia, the next three (still to be built) to Pakistan, Kenya and Colombia. The Netherlands has also offered, through Unesco, five fellowships for the training of experts who will evaluate the effectiveness of the units.

The 30-foot vehicles, in effect travelling presses, will serve to decentralize the printing for the newly literate.

The muscle power that turned the old brace and bit may have been free... but it wasn't easy. So now you pay for the speed and convenience of an electric drill. It's probably just one of the many new ways you've put electricity to work in your home in recent years. But thanks to this increased usage, and to rate reductions, the average unit cost of electricity has actually gone down 45% in the last 25 years. Compare that with a 120% increase in the cost of living, and you'll realize that electricity is still your best bargain.

Concert scheduled by 3 youth groups at Newark May 19

The second annual Spring Festival of Music, performed by the three youth training organizations of the New Jersey Symphony, will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 19, at Newark's Symphony Hall.

The concert will mark the culmination of a full year of study and practice by some 250 musicians from schools throughout Northern New Jersey.

The participating training groups, each under the supervision and guidance of professional musicians from the New Jersey Symphony, are:

The New Jersey Symphony Junior Orchestra, under the direction of Frank Socozza, concertmaster of the New Jersey Symphony.

The New Jersey Symphony Preparatory Orchestra, directed by Vincent Scelba, first desk cellist of the New Jersey Symphony.

The New Jersey Symphony Boys Chorus, directed by James R. McCarthy, choral director of the New Jersey Symphony.

A fourth training organization, established only a few weeks ago, and now directed by the Symphony's personnel manager, Sador Janett, is expected to perform in next year's Spring Festival.

The first portion of the May 19 concert will be by the Prep Orchestra. It will open with "A Grand Grand Overture" by Malcolm Arnold.

That will be followed by Beethoven's Symphony No. 1 in C Major; "La Vie Parisienne" on themes by Offenbach and arranged by Dorati; and Sinfonia No. 1 by Vivaldi.

THE SECOND PORTION of the concert will be a performance of Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of Carols" by the Boys Chorus.

The Junior Orchestra will play Frescobaldi's "Toccatina" and Symphony No. 4 in G Major by Dvorak.

The finale, which will be under the baton of the New Jersey Symphony's Music Director, Kenneth Schermerhorn, will be "The Heavens are Telling" from Haydn's "The Creation," and will be performed jointly by the three youth organizations.

Schermerhorn's appearance will be his final one at Symphony Hall before leaving this summer to become music director of the Milwaukee Symphony.

The youth training programs are part of the New Jersey Symphony's statewide music education program, among the foremost of its kind in the nation.

In addition to the training organizations, the Symphony this year will reach more than 170,000 students throughout New Jersey via concerts by the full orchestra or presentations by one of the Symphony's four chamber ensembles.

Annual antiques show

The 14th Annual Antiques Show will open at the Bishop James Methodist Church in Basking Ridge, on Wednesday at noon.

New Jersey exhibitors will be joined by others from Florida, Maine and Pennsylvania. Their displays will range from formal European and primitive American furniture to all accessories, including Oriental pieces, china and glassware, prints, toys, pewter and brass and some fine silver and jewelry.

Cut out this picture and leave it on your parents' pillow.

(They might take the hint.)

We admit it. A Royal typewriter isn't the same as getting a trip abroad. But you can put in your bid for that as a post-college kind of thing.

Meanwhile, nothing, but absolutely nothing, is going to be a bigger help to you than a Royal.

Face facts, friends. College doesn't have that old personal touch. Your professors don't always know all your endearing qualities. They're only interested in neat work. Well thought out neat work.

Well thought out TYPED neat work. Besides, Royal typewriters aren't just for working on. Even love poems are perfectly acceptable typed. (Especially if you have shaky handwriting.)

Letters only take about four minutes to write with a Royal at your finger tips. And you've never heard of a Handwritten Great American Novel.

Forget that Royal typewriters are fantastically accepted by The Establishment.

You're smart enough to realize a typewriter can be groovy, too.

Want to bet your parents will leap at the chance to buy you a Royal? Try them. (Royals and parents.)

By the way, congratulations. You'll love college, a lot.

Dungan calls for college expansion

The Department of Higher Education this week issued a newsletter declaring that New Jersey will need 83,000 additional college undergraduate spaces by 1975 "if we are to meet our responsibilities to our youth."

The illustrated newsletter says the state's higher education crisis will continue and worsen "unless the people of New Jersey make a massive investment now" in new college facilities.

In calling for immediate action, the newsletter notes that it takes up to four years from the time funds become available to open a new facility.

Higher Education Chancellor Ralph A. Dungan said the newsletter was issued to alert the public to the needs in advance of the Board of Higher Education's facilities plan, which is to be released shortly.

THE FACILITIES PLAN will cite specific needs for graduate and medical school spaces as well as for undergraduate spaces and will contain cost estimates.

"It is absolutely essential," Chancellor Dungan said, "that the public has as much background information as possible on the crisis in higher education."

"As the newsletter points out, our college students of the coming decade are already in our elementary and secondary schools. In the years ahead, they will be seeking college opportunities in increasing numbers. It is our

Jersey PBA chief backs crime plan

Detective John J. Heffernan of Maplewood, president of the New Jersey State Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, Inc., this week lauded Governor Richard J. Hughes' $5 million program aimed at improving law enforcement and deterring civil disturbances.

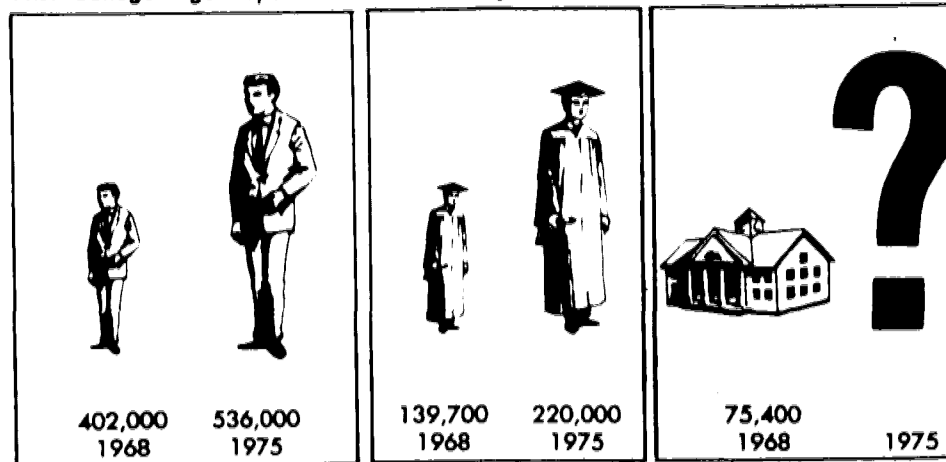

Heffernan said the 16,000-member organization he heads approves the Governor's efforts to remove causes of social unrest "while recognizing that no progress, social or otherwise, can be achieved unless law and order are maintained."

The Governor's program includes a wide range of specific proposals, including better police communication services, additional state police, funds to permit attendance at college by police officers, enlargement of the state police laboratory and provision to pay half the cost of training police cadet programs.

Heffernan said his organization will urge State Legislators to support the Governor's proposals "as steps in the right direction of giving law enforcement officers the tools to perform their duties in the most efficient manner."

He added, "The tragic events of last summer make it abundantly clear that law enforcement agencies must be equipped to handle any emergency. Violence, fomented by a handful of criminals, cannot be permitted to stand in the way of resolution of society's problems, whatever their nature. Unless law and order are maintained, then none of us shall have rights."

responsibility to be ready for them."

One illustration in the newsletter shows that the number of New Jersey college students will increase from 139,700 today to an estimated 220,000 in 1975.

The newsletter notes that currently 75,000 or 54 percent of New Jersey's students—or nearly six out of 10—are attending out-of-state institutions. Only Alaska exports a higher percentage.

THE NEWSLETTER ALSO cites the high cost of a college education to New Jersey students, who, according to a conservative estimate, pay an average of $400 a year more in tuition and fees alone than students from other states. The New Jersey average cost is higher because so many New Jersey students attend out-of-state institutions, where they must pay room, board and travel costs as well as higher tuition.

"Many of our young men and women, because they cannot afford to go out-of-state, are denied college opportunities, and out-of-state doors are closing even on those who can afford the rising cost," the newsletter states.

It quotes a national report (issued by the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges) listing New Jersey first among the seven states that are having the hardest time finding college spaces for their youth.

"One thing is clear," the Department's newsletter says, "other states will not do for us what we should be doing for ourselves."

THE NEWSLETTER ALSO contains charts showing that while New Jersey is seventh richest in per capita personal income it spends less per capita on higher education than any other state and taxes at a lower percentage than almost any other state.

"The time has come to file away the studies of the past and get to work on the plans for the future, transforming them into classroom buildings, libraries, laboratories and other facilities," the newsletter declares.

"In December 1965," the newsletter continues, "the Citizens Committee for Higher Education issued 'A Call to Action.' Now, almost three years later, this is the time for action."

Copies of the newsletter and of the upcoming facilities plan of the Board of Higher Education (when released) may be obtained by writing to the New Jersey Department of Higher Education, 225 West State Street, Trenton, New Jersey, 08625.

Final performance for conductor set

Kenneth Schermerhorn will make his final appearance with the New Jersey Symphony as its Music Director on Friday evening, May 31, when he conducts the orchestra in first of the series of three concerts on the Mall at Short Hills.

Henry P. Becton, president of the Symphony, said that the other two concerts, on the succeeding Friday evenings of June 7 and 14, will be directed by Frank Socozza, the Symphony's concertmaster and associate conductor.

The concerts, to be free to the public, are being sponsored jointly by the CIBA Corporation, the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and the Merchants Association of the Mall at Short Hills.

New musical to debut tonight at NSC

The Newark State College Theater for the Performing Arts in Union will be the scene, starting tonight, for a showcase production of a new musical slated for a future Off-Broadway opening.

Director J. Laurence Lowenstein, who has earned a reputation for bringing original material to the college theater, will stage a production of "The Draft Dodger," a comedy with music, at 8:30 p.m., today, tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. Mothers of Newark State students will be admitted free to the Sunday performance as a Mother's Day gift from the college.

Composer for the production is Jack Urbont, who won acclaim in 1961 for his score in the off-Broadway success "All for Love" and has written scores for television programs, such as "Mission Impossible" and "Maunx."

Lyrics were written by John Meyer, whose song, "I'm in Love with Mr. Clean," has been recorded by Jane Connell. He has also written material for Gloria de Haven, Julie Wilson and Kaye Ballard. He collaborated with Madison

Avenue copywriter Steve Gordon in writing the book for "Draft Dodger."

THE TRIO HAS had several production offers already for "Draft Dodger" but will reserve its decision concerning sale of the property until after the Newark State showcase, which will be viewed by New York producers and other theater people.

Lowenstein described the experience of working with new material as the excitement of professional theater. The authors attended every rehearsal, revising entire scenes as they were developed by the student cast. At Lowenstein's suggestion two new songs were introduced into the script.

The comedy has been described as a "musical evasion" that pokes fun of everything, breaking with tradition in an era when there are few traditions left to break. A peace march in which hawks and doves are both targets for satire will move across ramps through the audience, and a new kind of music that bridges the gap between traditional and rock musicals will be performed.

Lowenstein is director of the semi-professional Community Theater of Deal and is a resident of that community. He studied acting under Uta Hagen at the Herbert Berghof Studio in New York City and worked with the Kenneth Later Agency in New York City, where his clients included Alfred Drake, George Jessel and Joan Roberts. A member of the English faculty for three years, he has directed Billy Liar, Fantastiks, Total Sweet Success, A Bullet for Billy the Kid, Career, Light Up the Sky and Glass Menagerie at the college.

LEADING ROLES WILL be performed by three Newark State students and one professional actor. Glenn Lewis of Rahway, a sophomore, is appearing in his fifth straight lead at Newark State and has performed at Deal Summer Theater. He is a member of the "Intruders," a vocal rock group.

Georgia Howell of Rahway, a junior, is performing her first lead at Newark State. Described as a pint-sized Lionel Merman, she starred in a WFW performance of "Bye Bye Birdie" in Rahway last summer.

Claire Denman of Elizabeth, who has been this year's Miss Newark State College, a college senior, she is a veteran star performer in Lowenstein productions.

Elliot Coker of Newark City appears at Newark State as a guest performer. He is a member of Open Theatre, Actor's Equity and SAG and has appeared in films, on stage and TV, where he was featured in "Hawk."

Other students appearing in the production include Daniel Frolich of 116 East Fourth ave., Roselle, and Barry Morgen of 550 Exeter rd., Linden.

Technical director, stage manager and set designer is Glenn J. Roberts of 2557 Burns pl., Union.

NSC establishes scholarship fund honoring Dr. King

A scholarship fund to aid students from economically and socially deprived urban backgrounds in Northern New Jersey has been established at Newark State College, Union, as a memorial to the late Martin Luther King, Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, president of the college, announced this week.

"Recognition of the international stature of Dr. King is so important that I feel every college and university in America should see that some memorial is established at this time. I consider the Martin Luther King Memorial Scholarship Fund a fitting and timely tribute," Dr. Wilkins said.

The fund will aid students from urban areas near the college who plan to teach but can receive little or no financial assistance from their families. Many need to supplant earnings lost because they enter college instead of taking jobs.

The idea for the fund was developed by Dr. Herbert Samenfeld, dean of students, and John C. Harvud, chairman of the board of directors of the Inter-Act Foundation of New York City and former director of the anti-poverty program in Plainfield. It will be administered by Mrs. Clare Davies of Union, financial aid counselor at the college.

BECAUSE THE FINANCIAL aid office will distribute and handle other details of the fund, no part of any contribution will be used for administrative expenses. It was pointed out. All of the money will be used for direct aid to students for college expenses such as tuition, fees, books, transportation and living costs. The amount of aid a student will receive will be determined by need.

Tuition at Newark State is $150 a year. Contributions can provide full tuition, partial tuition or tuition plus other expenses. Checks should be made out to the Martin Luther King Scholarship Fund and mailed to Mrs. Davies at the college.

Attends welfare council

The Jewish Family Service Agency of Eastern Union County was represented by its Executive Director, Miss Adele Aronowitz, at the Annual Meeting of New Jersey Welfare Council held recently in Asbury Park.

Higher education agency bill pushed

A bill calling for the establishment of a Higher Education Agency in Union County to contract for educational services from Union College, Cranford, and the Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, was introduced this week Union County's seven-man Assembly delegation.

The Higher Education Agency would qualify Union County for additional state financial aid for higher educational purposes and would make use of the existing higher educational institutions, Republican Assemblyman said.

The co-sponsors with Assemblyman Irwin are: Assemblymen Henry F. Gavan of Linden and Joseph J. Higgins of Elizabeth, Democrats of District 9A; Herbert J. Hellman of Union, and Herbert H. Kiehn of Rahway, Republicans of District 9B, and Peter J. McDonough of Plainfield and Hugo M. Pfaltz of Summit, Republicans of District 9C.

Freeholder Director Edward H. Tiller of Garwood, a Republican, said the plan for a Higher Education Agency was worked out by the Union County Board of Freeholders and officials of Union College and the Union County Technical Institute in a series of meetings held over the past six months.

"WE ENTHUSIASTICALLY ENDORSE the concept of Higher Education Agency to make use of the existing higher educational facilities in our county: Union College and the Union County Technical Institute," Tiller said. "We believe this plan will effect substantial economies, avoid duplication, and promote efficiency. I'm very happy about the whole thing. We all see eye-to-eye on this, as it provides greater opportunities for our students at the least possible cost to our taxpayers."

Sen. Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union, leader of the Union County Senate delegation, will handle the bill in the Senate. It also has the support of Senators Nicholas S. LaCorte of Elizabeth, and Francis X. McDermott of Westfield.

"This legislation provides a good solution to some of Union County's educational problems at the least possible cost to the local property taxpayer by making use of the existing Union College and Union County Technical Institute, which are currently providing many Union County students with an excellent academic and technical foundation for their chosen careers," Sen. Rinaldo said.

The Union County Board of Freeholders is scheduled to pass a resolution, tonight endorsing the bill and urging its adoption by the Legislature and Gov. Richard J. Hughes.

May meeting planned by One Parent group

The Union County Chapter of the Catholic One Parent Organization, COPO, will hold its next regular meeting on May 15 at 8:30 p.m. at the Westwood Lounge, 438 North ave., Garwood. Dancing and refreshments will follow the brief business meeting.

All widows and widowers are eligible to join this group which is affiliated with the Family Life Apostolate in Newark. Further information, is available from Maurice Doyle at 245-1087 or Mrs. Ruth Mangan at 245-3918.

STAINLESS NAILS

Kingfish Day at UC today

Kingfish Levinsky Day will be celebrated today by the students at Union College, Cranford, as radio personality Jean Shepard makes his annual visit.

His visit will be sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega fraternity and "The Paper," daily student newspaper at Union College. Shepard will speak at 1 p.m. in the theatre of the Campus Center. The program will be open to the public. Tickets are $3.99 for students and $1.50 for all other persons.

This will be the seventh consecutive year Shepard has visited the Union College campus to observe Kingfish Levinsky Day and to pan Mary Martin. Kingfish Levinsky, for the uninitiated and those not up on their important American holidays, was a gladiator of the first order until he ran into (really away from) a youngster known as the Brown Bomber, alias Joe Louis. Our hero (Levinsky, that is) was knocked from his pedestal and was never heard from again. Shepard, who has been described as a radio personality, philosopher, wit, egotist, intellectual, and humorist, is heard every evening, Monday through Friday, from 10:15 to 11 p.m. on WOR in programs of informal conversations, verbal essays.

Mom can offer family gift of longer life

The woman in the kitchen is in the important position of being able to reduce her family's risk of heart disease. Beginning on Mother's Day when gifts and messages of love are flowing her way, the Union County Heart Association suggests that she, too, can give a gift -- the gift of better health and longer life to her loved ones through improved dietary habits.

This will call for some changes in daily meal planning. The aim should be to cut down on foods rich in animal (saturated) fats and cholesterol, which increase the level of cholesterol in the blood. High blood cholesterol has been linked to development of atherosclerosis, the disease which underlies most heart attacks, the association said.

To achieve this aim, the housewife can serve more meals of fish, chicken, veal and turkey and less beef, lamb, pork and ham. She can replace whole milk with skim milk, and hard cheese with these products made from skim milk. She also can cut down on the use of eggs, which are very high in cholesterol.

Instead of using butter for a spread, the housewife can serve the soft margarines that are rich in polyunsaturated fats, the association said.

Similarly, rather than use lard and other solid cooking fats, she can substitute the polyunsaturated vegetable oils. The latter can be used, for example, to brown lean meats, or to fry fish and poultry; in cream sauces and soups made with skim milk; for making hot breads, pie crust and cakes; for making cocktail snacks and, in cooking dehydrated potatoes and other prepared foods which call for the addition of fats.

To round out her daily selection of foods for a balanced diet, the housewife also should include vegetables, fruit, breads, and cereals. In this way she can maintain good nutrition for her family, and at the same time help them to adopt new eating habits that are designed to protect their hearts.

The earlier the homemaker puts these dietary recommendations into practice, the greater the assurance of many more happy Mother's Days for all the family, the association added.

Science classes at NSC use gamma ray machine

A gamma ray machine that brings procedures of a nuclear laboratory into the classroom is now a functional teaching device in biology and chemistry classes at Newark State College, Union, Dr. Herman I. Lepp, chairman of the Science Department, announced this week.

The $3,875 machine, known as the Gammator-50, was a gift last fall from its manufacturer, Radiation Machinery Corporation of Parsippany, but its use has been delayed as the college awaited licensing from the Atomic Energy Commission to operate it.

The long-awaited license was delivered last week by Milton Packin, president of Radiation, at a ceremony attended by John Kean, chairman of Newark State's Board of Trustees, Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, president of the college, and members of the Science Department.

Dr. Lepp said that experiments in the irradiation of a wide variety of tissue, cultures and specimens have produced considerable enthusiasm among students and faculty. Items irradiated so far have included strawberries, black-eyed peas, tadpoles and bacon.

Gamma irradiation can be used to pasteurize food products, sterilize surgical supplies, inhibit sprout growth on produce such as potatoes and onions, accelerate vegetable growth and perform other services.

Classroom experiments can permit students to observe genetic effects of radiation on bacteria, molds, yeast, protozoa, fruit flies, chicken and frog embryos or other forms of cell tissue and to determine lethal doses on insects, bacteria, fungi and molds.

A NEW COURSE in radiation science is being developed around the use of the Gammator, Dr. Lepp said, but this will not be ready for at least a year. Meanwhile the device will not lie idle. In addition to biology and chemistry classes, genetics, anatomy and physiology classes will utilize the facility.

The Gammator has been specifically designed for use in high school and college laboratories. It is 36 inches high, weighs 1,700 pounds and contains pellets of Cesium-137 that will continue to serve as a source of radiation for 30 years.

Special protective features make it safe for classroom use, Dr. Lepp explained. Designed by Brookhaven National Laboratory (AEC) personnel, it meets all Atomic Energy Commission and state health regulations for teenagers and adults.

The radioactive material is contained within two concentric capsules which are locked within a holder tube by a shielding plug. Material to be irradiated is placed in a plastic cup on a turntable in the center of the instrument and is rotated into position within range of the radioactive particles.

Two faculty professors, Dr. Duane E. Linden, and Mrs. Amelia L. Smith of the Science Department, who have studied extensively in the area of radiation science, have been appointed to supervise the use of the Gammator.

"Soon this instrument will be in high schools throughout the United States," Dr. Lepp said. "We plan to turn out science teachers who are able to use it in their classrooms. Radiation has been termed the 'science of the 70's.' We're getting ready for it now," he said.

Three bookmobiles on safari Popular in East Africa villages

By RICHARD GREENOUGH
Books on marriage, divorce, social health, the African housewife and her home, community development, as well as folk stories, educational and literacy primers and pocket dictionaries are popular reading in East Africa.

They made up most of the 35,000 books sold in villages in Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania from October, 1966, to June, 1967, by three mobile bookshop vans - bookmobiles - presented to the East African

Trust program, a campaign is now under way in the five Nordic countries - Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland and Iceland - for raising funds to provide material most needed for adult literacy campaigns in Tanzania: both the government's established national campaign and the recently launched Unesco experimental pilot project. First on the list of material needed are four book vans to radiate from the four experimental centers in the pilot project area. Unesco's Gift Coupon Program is raising funds for these vans as well as other material needed in connection with the literacy activities. (UNESCO FEATURES)

Plan party May 19 to honor RFK

A cocktail party in honor of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will be held at the Hotel Denmark House, New Brunswick, Sunday, May 19, at 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Doris Fleming, chairman of the committee on arrangements, announced that the cocktail party will follow the Urban Affairs Conference scheduled at 10:30 a.m. at the Hotel Denmark House.

Paving work on Parkway

The Garden State Parkway this week underwent another in a series of face-lifting operations to build up its pavement worn down by millions of vehicles over the years. Chairman Sylvester C. Smith Jr. of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Parkway, said the seasonal pavement restoration project has started ahead of schedule this year in the effort to provide additional segments of smoother, sturdier riding surface before summer.

Do you know the seven warning signals of cancer?

1. Unexplained weight change.
2. A lump or swelling in any part of the body.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or change in voice.
6. Persistent cough or sputum.
7. Change in wart or mole.

HOWEVER, FOR THE MOMENT one problem remains unsolved. As in most rural communities, money is usually in short supply except at the beginning of each month and it is at this time that the mobile libraries' sales reach their peak. The problem is how to arrange that all safaris shall visit all villages at the beginning of the month.

Reports on the first eight months of operation of the project have shown that the need for a book distribution program in the more remote areas of East Africa is both real and urgent. In this connection, in addition to the specific Swedish Funds in Common Services Organization by the Swedish Government. This is part of a $3.2 million, five-year, Swedish Trust Fund program for the education of African women, for which Unesco acts as executing agency.

The three bookmobiles - manned by a salesman and a driver, are specially equipped for them to sleep in, as visits are most often made to remote bush villages - are based on Nairobi, Kampala and Dar-es-Salaam. During the eight months period, the teams made safaris of 5,230, 8,521 and 12,025 miles and sold 8,314, 9,057, and 18,037 books in these three countries. The safaris - the word, though often associated with big game hunting expeditions, actually means any kind of trip, even from village to village - were generally in the range of 1,000 miles and lasted about three weeks. In all, each team averaged about 140 days on their book-selling expeditions.

IN ADDITION to the educational books, which are in great demand throughout East Africa, the vans carry a wide range of reading matter made up of some 250 different titles. Of these, the most popular are the informative or self-help publications. These include such titles as: "The Work of an African Chief"; "Know Yourself"; "Marriage and Divorce"; "Civics for Kenya Schools"; "The African Housewife and Her Home"; "Democracy in Africa"; English readers and Swahili pocket dictionaries; school essays and letters; adult literacy primer and reader and folk stories.

Judging by the interest they have generated so far, these bookmobiles will, the authorities hope, play an increasingly important part in the various national adult literacy campaigns organized in each country, especially where follow-up reading material for new literates is concerned.

Before the first safaris started the wide scheme was advertised through press, radio and television in all three countries and, most important, by personal messages to each village chief, village school, training and community development center. Each book van's itinerary is sent in advance along the route to be travelled and, in addition, when arriving at a scheduled stopping place, the van circles the area first using its public address system to make sure its presence is known.

It was recognized from the beginning that the success of the project depended in large measure upon the ability of individuals to take action in their selection and training. Each salesman submits monthly reports to the Literacy Bureau's head office in Nairobi where they are screened for suggestions and comments which can improve future safaris. These include possible changes in routes, changes in books - more of one title of texts dealing with a particular subject, less of another.

Marian Anderson and Van Cliburn will head the list of artists who will perform during the summer, which will include also Philippe Entremont, Janos Starker, Gold and Fildale, Guimara Novaes, Gina Bachauer, Mieczyslaw Horszowski and Eugene Istomin. In the inaugural performance, Miss Anderson will narrate Aaron Copland's "Portrait of Lincoln" in a program she will share with Gold and Fildale.

Tuition aid supported

A tuition aid program for New Jersey students attending colleges and universities in New Jersey has been endorsed by the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in New Jersey at its annual meeting.

The association, comprised of 15 fully accredited independent institutions of higher learning, adopted a resolution calling upon the State Legislature to enact Senate Bill 423, which would establish a tuition aid plan for New Jersey students. The resolution called for implementing the plan by September, 1969.

According to the resolution, "the need for a college education for more and more of our young people is ever increasing" and "today's critical problems at home and abroad require more highly trained and more concerned citizens."

New festival of music set

A $500,000 music festival will be held this summer in the historic Allamuchy mountain range in northern New Jersey, it was announced this week. Set in the restored hamlet of Waterloo Village, originally founded as Andover Forge in the 1700s, the site is at the edge of Morris County.

Led by the first Negro appointed music director of an orchestra in the United States, Henry Lewis, the New Jersey Symphony will be the festival's home orchestra in a ten week season which will commence Saturday, June 29 and continue through Labor Day.

Marian Anderson and Van Cliburn will head the list of artists who will perform during the summer, which will include also Philippe Entremont, Janos Starker, Gold and Fildale, Guimara Novaes, Gina Bachauer, Mieczyslaw Horszowski and Eugene Istomin. In the inaugural performance, Miss Anderson will narrate Aaron Copland's "Portrait of Lincoln" in a program she will share with Gold and Fildale.

Ask Amy By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: After reading your (much looked forward to) column on unsolicited mail, I have this to offer and results can be obtained as to religious mail. Just write back that it causes you much anxiety and would they please take your name and address off their mailing list.

Recently, our mail carrier trotted the steps with the mail which only contained the ever lasting coupons for sweepstakes, discounts, etc. and with no forwarding address, I returned it all in another envelope to the only address marked in the corner space where the stamp is: Permit No. — and the name of the city and state. As usual, I discarded the accumulated coupons hoping that the prices will come down instead.

M.G.K. (Cleveland, Ohio)

Dear Amy: Concerning "junk" mail, one way to stop a great deal of it is to get Congress to pass a bill raising the postal rates for bulk mail. The public has just had a postal rate increase of about 20 percent. Apply this same percentage to bulk mailers and they'll be driven out of business.

L.W. (Phila., Pa.)

Dear Amy: I'm writing in regards to the lady's complaint of "junk" mail. You asked for solutions as to what your readers do. Well, I might have a solution, I do not receive too much "junk" mail but I know where they get the names. I have a telephone job soliciting, and many people tell me to get a new "sucker" list, I thank them and hang up, but for their information and that of your readers, there is no "sucker" list. The companies obtain names and addresses and telephone numbers from City Directories and published Telephone Directories. The only way to avoid these calls and mail is not to have a listed number and not to fill in any information for the city directory.

I have a "pre-schooler" so a work-at-home telephone job is what I must do. It is not as easy as it sounds. Sitting at the phone for hours at a stretch isn't all peaches and cream, but I try to do a good job. The company I work for is a reputable one and many take advantage of their services. Many do not and they say to me "Not at this time, thank you." How much nicer that is to hear instead of "Oh, brother, you again!"

M.S. (Cleveland, Ohio)

Dear Amy: About "junk" mail: send the latest unwanted mail with your full name and address and ask for the desired results to: Postmaster General, Washington, D.C.

D.K.M. (Cleveland, Ohio)

Dear Amy: I had a similar experience with a magazine outfit as "H.L.M." When my contract with them expired, they continued to send me magazines. I wrote them that I didn't want any more magazines sent to me, but they ignored my letters. I also sent the magazines back to them, but that didn't do any good. So, I went to see a lawyer and he told me that I should write to the company and tell them that if they didn't stop sending me the magazines, my lawyer would take action. This put a stop to the trouble!

Untroubled Now (Lyon, Ill.)

Dear Amy: I have no ideas on how to stop "junk" mail from being delivered to my home. I just throw it away without opening it. But I often think that if the cost of this mode of advertising were returned to the consumer in the form of cheaper prices on the products that the companies are trying to sell, their products WOULD sell. In most instances the mail concerns itself with name brands, and the housewife, when shopping would buy this self-same product if the price were less than its competition.
