PROFILE -- Joseph F. Durkin

(NOTE: This is another in a series of profiles on candidates for county and national office.)

Joseph F. Durkin enjoys reading local history. He knows the standard width of kings' roads throughout the county, how the 21 municipalities in Union County got their names and how many "chains" made up a mile in Colonial times.

If anyone in the area has the statistics of local history available at his fingertips, it's Durkin. For almost five years he has served as register, the man who is custodian of land records and anything related to land records in Union County.

This November Durkin will face Joseph P. Kania, the Democratic standard-bearer, in his efforts for another five-year term in office.

Durkin, a Republican, had the distinction of being appointed police commissioner in his native Elizabeth by then Mayor Steven J. Berick, a Democrat. He served as head of the department in 1957 and 1958. From 1952 until 1954 he was Republican city chairman in Elizabeth.

The register said that in 1963, when the county GOP screening committee was meeting to pick its nominees, he suggested someone from Elizabeth run on the county ticket. Durkin said he hoped he would be chosen to run for freeholder, but instead, he accepted the register nomination. "I said I'd go as a sacrifice candidate," Durkin stated, in the race against incumbent James Delaney, Durkin won by a few thousand votes.

DURKIN IS PLEASED with the record he has made in his five years as register and openly invites citizens to "look at it, I'm running on my record," Durkin says. He claims he is "running the best recording office in the United States." To back up this statement Durkin says he has received complimentary letters from various title searchers on the efficiency of the Court House office. The incumbent said that under Delaney's administration the register's office lost $40,000 in 1963. The next year, when Durkin took over the office, the loss was cut to $20,000. Now, according to Durkin, the register's office is the largest single revenue-producing office in county government. In 1967, more than $50,000 was collected in fees.

This year, however, will probably be the biggest in the office's history. Durkin expects about $250,000 in revenue. He explained that of this, $200,000 is from the realty transfer tax that previously went to the state government and now is being turned over to the county.

Space is the major problem the register has to cope with. "If we were still using the larger bound books," Durkin said, "we would have run out of space three years ago."

The state still requires the counties to keep hard-bound volumes of land transactions. In order to save space, Durkin reduced the size of the books. Looking to the future, however, the register has already had the department microfilm all necessary records. While state law requires the "hard books," Durkin is "confident" that in the future microfilm will be acceptable and the books can be done away with.

"WHEN WE WENT into microfilm we saved 75 percent of our storage space and reduced costs of bound volumes by 75 percent. We saved $1,000 per shelf," he said, Durkin added there are "thousands of shelves." Duplicates of all records are stored on microfilm beneath Iron Mountain near Hudson, N.Y. Space there, Durkin said, is rented by the cubic foot. "If the microfilm program approval by the state comes through," he

Classes to begin on Sept. 4 at Governor Livingston High

Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, will hold its first full day of school for all students on Wednesday, Sept. 4. This is one day earlier in the week than has been the case in prior years. The special orientation meeting for all incoming ninth grade students will also occur one day earlier in the week than has been the case before.

On Tuesday, Sept. 3, all incoming ninth grade students were asked to report to the high school by 12:30 p.m. Special bus runs for ninth graders will be made only in Berkeley Heights since all ninth graders from Mountainside will attend the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield during the 1968-69 school year.

All ninth grade students will receive home-room and classroom assignments at the orientation sessions on Tuesday afternoon.

All students enrolled at Gov. Livingston are to report to the school by 8:20 a.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 4, for the first official day of the new school year. The bus runs for the first full day of school on Wednesday, Sept. 4 will be published in local newspapers during the last week of August. These routes will be in effect for the balance of the year.

Cafeteria lunches will be served on Wednesday, Sept. 4, and school will be dismissed at the usual time of 3:04 p.m.

Students who will be enrolled at the Governor Livingston Regional High School for the first time and who have not been registered previously at the school's guidance office were advised to register at that office prior to August 30.

Mayor opposed to portions of plan for Watchung road

Route would boost traffic jam in area

Asks for further details of preliminary program

Mayor Frederick J. Wilhelm Jr. last week expressed opposition to at least one aspect of a proposal by the Union County Planning Board to build a county road from Mountainside through the Watchung Reservation.

Mayor Wilhelm told the Echo that he favored one part of the plan, which called for construction of a new road across the Reservation and along Ackerman road to New Providence road, but that other aspects of the proposal would be harmful to the borough.

The mayor stated that he and the borough planning board had met with two representatives from the Union County Planning Board and the "first facet, which would include the return of Deer path and Coles avenue, county roads, to the community was acceptable."

However, he continued, the proposal of the Union County Planning Board to construct a road from Rt. 78, which would run through the reservation in the vicinity of the Trailside Museum into New Providence road would "worsen the traffic situation at New Providence road and we objected to that feature of their proposal."

The mayor said, "I want to make it clear that the proposal does not appear desirable. We were viewing it in its preliminary stages and would like to know more about the plan before we can draw conclusions. Too, since the Union County Planning Board must obtain permission from the Union County Park Commission, which it is doubtful they will, we are not too concerned at this point."

The Watchung road construction is part of the over-all plan of the Union County Planning Board which recommends the addition of 15 miles to the county road system to provide easier access to remote or rapidly developing sections of the county.

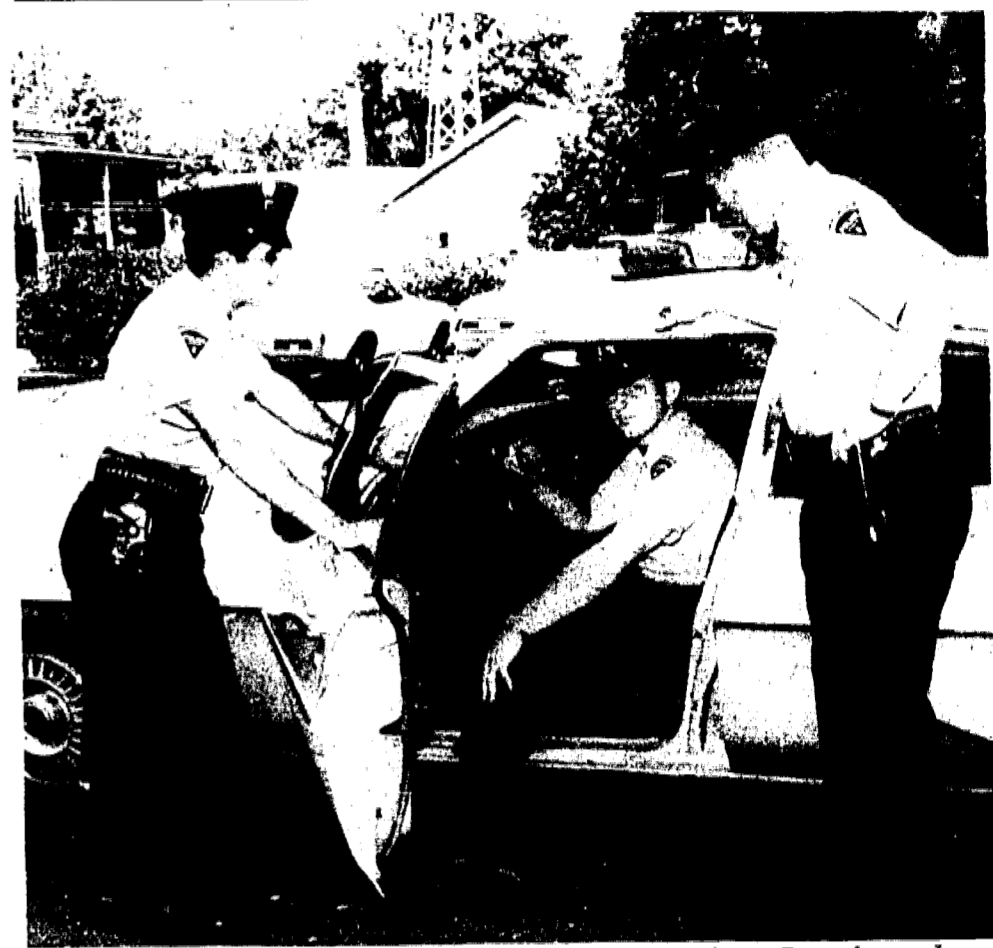

The proposal, which the Planning Board feels would also provide a connecting link between Rt. 78 and various communities, took more than a year to complete and is designed to serve as a temporary guide to the freeholders in setting future priority for county road work until an over-all county master plan is prepared. The freeholders appropriate the funds for all construction of county roads.

LOOKING AT THE ROAD as a means of access between Mountainside and Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, a spokesman for the Regional High School Board of Education declined comment on the county proposal until the board could obtain more details on the exact route to be used.

He noted, however, that the road as suggested does not appear to be the one previously suggested by the regional school board. That one would have followed a more westerly route, closer to Scotch Plains.

High school buses from Mountainside now pass through the Watchung Reservation along Park drive, near the Trailside Museum.

New borough patrolmen all saw service overseas

By PAT DONALDSON
Three new policemen have been appointed to the Mountainside Police department within the past few months, Chief Christian F. Fritz has announced. All served overseas in the armed forces. They are Jose Pires, Jack Yerick and Frederick W. Ahlholm.

Pires, 24, one of the youngest men to join the department was born in Elizabeth. He was graduated from Thomas Edison Vocational High School in Elizabeth and attended Rutgers University evening classes for a year. In 1965 he entered the United States Army and served for one year as a military policeman in South Vietnam. He was discharged with the rank of SP/4 in 1967. He was awarded the Good Conduct and Vietnamese campaign medals, in addition to other decorations.

Upon return to civilian life, Pires joined the S E & M Vernon company where he was employed as a stock assembler. He passed his examination for the Mountainside Police Department and was graduated from the Police Training Academy at Union College in Cranford, which is sponsored by the Union County Police Chiefs' Association. Unmarried, Pires resides in Roselle with his parents.

Yerick, 28, was born in Newark, and his family moved to Union while he was still a child. He was graduated from Union High School in 1958 and, upon graduation, joined the U.S. Air Force. After training he was assigned to the 804th Combat Support Group at Hunter Air Force Base in Georgia.

He was then sent to the Arctic where he served in a special duty group at Thule Air Force Base in Greenland. Yerick was in charge of two power generating installations. Transferred to the 8th Air Force Headquarters in Massachusetts, he served as a training instructor in the 814th Combat Support Group. Taking advantage of his free time while in Massachusetts, he attended the Springfield Trade School in Springfield, Mass. He was discharged from the Service in 1962.

Yerick, who passed his test to enter the police department with a score of 96, was also graduated from the Police Training Academy. Councilman Robert Ruggiero, police commissioner, read a letter at the last Borough Council meeting, from the director of the police academy, which stated that Yerick had been an outstanding student and had indeed, been of immeasurable value to him personally.

He is married to the former Lorraine J. Bourgeois of Holyoke, Mass. The couple reside with their daughter, Robin Lynn, who will enter Deerfield School in September, at 1226 Beech ave., Mountainside.

Ahlholm, 27, who was named a probationary patrolman by the mayor and council last month, was also born in Newark. He lived for a time in Irvington and Hillsdale before moving with his family to Union. He was graduated from Union High School in 1959. Upon graduation, he entered the U.S. Army and served in Korea for 13 months. While in Korea he

Library reports records popular

The Music Room at the new Mountainside Public Library building, equipped with gifts from the Mountainside Music Association, has proved a popular attraction, according to the library staff.

Records available in the collection include opera, ballet music, concertos, jazz, folk music, show tunes and instrumental music.

A "Living Language Series" includes recordings in Japanese, Spanish, Hebrew, French, German, Italian and Russian. Library officials said records for children will be added in the near future.

Teeners to present worship folk music

During the Sunday School period from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. this Sunday at Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Springfield, several teenagers will present a program of folk music for worship. Participants will include David Beno, Henry Freudenberger, Ted O'Connell, Martin Lissy and Karen Parker.

The program will include "Sons of God," "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," "Clap Your Hands" and "Here We Are." Everyone in attendance will receive a copy of the words. After the quintet sings a composition, the audience in the Fellowship Hall will be asked to join the singing.

The session is a trial run in preparation for the possible inclusion of contemporary music in regular worship services later in the year, a church spokesman said.

POINT OF DISCUSSION—Social studies teachers in the Union County Regional High School District took part in a recent summer curriculum workshop on American history at David Brearley Regional, Kenilworth, under the direction of Pauline Keith, coordinator of

Mountainside firm appoints controller

Lyon G. Mariette has joined Systemetrics, Inc., of Mountainside as controller, it was announced by George Switlyk, chairman of the company.

Switlyk said, Mariette will have the responsibility of managing and supervising all financial activities for the company.

Mariette was previously controller-office manager of Customline Control Products, Inc., where he directed and supervised the company's financial operations. After completing his obligations in the U.S. Army in 1948, Mariette attended Lehigh University, where he graduated in 1951 with a BS degree in business administration. He resides in Kearny, N.J.

New roads

After replies are received from the municipalities involved in the plan and the suggestions have been discussed and acted upon by the board, a public hearing will be conducted. After the board votes on the road plan, it will be sent to the Board of Freeholders for implementation.

The Planning Board, in its introduction to the interim road plan, said its objectives are "to provide all county population centers with efficient primary road access to and from the existing and proposed freeways" and "to provide primary roads between all municipalities and all major job centers." The plan recommends that some municipal streets be added to the county road system and that some county roads be returned to municipal jurisdiction.

Addition of 27 miles of municipal roads to the county system is proposed in the plan. The county would return 21 miles of roads which, if the plan is developed, would serve only as collector roads for the county system. The plan recommends that eight miles of county roads be realigned to complete the primary road system. The net result, the report stated, would be to increase the county system from 155 miles to 170 miles.

The interim plan, when finally adopted by the Planning Board, will serve as a guide to the Board of Freeholders until such time as a transportation plan is drawn up as part of Union County's first master plan.

Municipal judge fines offenders

Two Mountainside residents were arraigned before Judge Jacob R. Bauer in Municipal Court last week for permitting their dogs to bark so as to disturb the comfort and rest of the complaining witnesses, and contrary to the borough ordinance.

They are: Violet Kingstone of 238 South Fork rd., who was fined $25 by Judge Bauer on a complaint by Thomas Lauston of 1464 Rt. 22. Eugene Barry of Rodman Lane had the charge by the complaining witness, Richard Kapke of Westover Lane, dismissed for lack of evidence.

In traffic cases: William Spindler of Passaic was fined $205 for driving while on the revoked list. Mary Mailloux of Rahway was fined $105 for obtaining a license during the period of suspension. Nancy Miranda of Newark was fined $20 for failing to keep to the right, and Marguerite Pucault of East Orange was fined $10 for parking in a prohibited area.

Truck accident ties up Rt. 22

The collapse of the steering wheel on a tractor trailer on Rt. 22, Mountainside, last Thursday morning at 7:30 resulted in injuries to the driver, total damage to the tractor and extensive damage to the left side of the trailer, according to the Mountainside police department.

Police said the vehicle, owned by the Central Union Cartage Co., of Indianapolis, and driven by Joseph Steja, 56, of Lyndhurst, was traveling eastward on Rt. 22, when the steering wheel went out of control between New Providence road and Parkway. The cab of the vehicle overturned, injuring the driver, who was taken to Overlook Hospital by the Mountainside Rescue Squad. He is reported in satisfactory condition.

Traffic was tied up for several hours on Rt. 22 until the overturned vehicle had been towed away. Patrolman Jack Verick investigated, and no summonses were issued.

Husband-wife team charged by police with petty larceny

Det. Sgt. Jerome Rice of the Mountainside Police department, alerted by a teletype alarm last Friday night, arrested a husband-and-wife team who, police stated, had been rifling gas stations in South Bound Brook, Scotch Plains and Mountainside.

Arrested were George and Melinda Podolski of the Garfield Apartments in Edison. They were charged with petty larceny and released on $200 bail each.

Det. Rice said that one member of the team would engage the gas station attendant in conversation while the other would go into the station and empty the register. Attendants at a station in Bound Brook alerted the police after discovering their loss and provided a description of the car.

Mountainside police broadcast the description to patrol cars. A car matching the description was spotted at the Sunoco station on Rt. 22. Dispatched to the scene, Det. Rice, accompanied by Patrolman Jack Verick, arrested the couple. Police said that upon checking the car, they found $175 in cash and checks which allegedly had just been taken from the Sunoco station.

Upon the release of the couple on bail, they were taken into custody by Scotch Plains police. Bound Brook, Rice said, has filed a detainer with Mountainside police, seeking custody of the pair after their trial in Mountainside next Wednesday.

served seven months in special services and six months as a military policeman.

Before being appointed to the Mountainside police force, he was employed as a driver by the United Parcel Service. He is scheduled, after his probationary period, to attend the Police Training Academy, after which it is expected he will be appointed to the force as a permanent police officer. He is married to the former Elaine Dunbar of Union, the couple are the parents of three small children, Frederick, Jeffrey and Cynthia. The family resides at 355 Princeton ave., Hillside.

said, "we'll probably expand space at Iron Mountain and get a vault." The vault would cost about $1,100 a year. Currently, four cabinets hold microfilm records for the register's office.

Space in the Court House for land transaction records will run out, Durkin says, in another seven years. If micro-film records are approved and bound records will no longer be required, the crisis in space will become non-existent.

Durkin blames the "paper explosion" for the current storage problems. "Today, everyone wants four or five copies of everything." With micro-film, copies for title searchers or anyone else wanting duplications of county records can be made directly from the film rather than the large volumes lining the title-searching room in the Court House.

Statistics have been important to Durkin ever since he attended school. After graduation from Sacred Heart High School in Elizabeth and two years at Newark College of Engineering, Durkin went to work as director of safety at Elastic Stop Nut in Union. After serving with the U.S. Coast Guard during World War II, he was supervisor of safety engineering at the Maryland American General Group of Insurance Companies. In both positions, he was responsible for collecting data on accidents.

His interest in safety led him to be cited by the Coast Guard in 1953 for outstanding services in the field of marine safety. In the past, he has taught classes on small craft seamanship at Elizabeth's Thomas Jefferson High School and at Westfield High School. The courses were part of the adult evening divisions at both schools.

He has served on the engineering advisory committees of the Association of Surety and Casualty Companies, the National Fire Protection Association and the New Jersey Safety Council. He is also a member of the American Society of Safety Engineers.

Of his numerous organizations, two above all get much of his spare-time attention: New Jersey League for Hearing - Handicapped Children and the Bruce Street School PTA in Newark. Durkin's youngest son, John, 13, is a student at Bruce Street School and is deaf.

Durkin and his wife, the former Mary Stashinsky of Geraldville, Pa., have four other children. Thomas, 27, lives in Plainfield with his wife, Dennis, 25; James, 17, and Mary Patricia, 15, live at the Durkin home on Wyoming avenue in Elizabeth. Mr. and Mrs. Durkin also have two grandchildren.

Durkin, who serves as legislative chairman for the Hearing Handicapped League, is also a member of the Elizabeth PAL advisory board. When he served as police commissioner in Elizabeth, the local PBA voted him to a life membership in the state organization.

APARTMENT VACANT? Rent it F-A-S-T with a low-cost classified. Call 686-7700 before you forget!

He is also a past president of the Holy Name Society of Immaculate Conception Church, Elizabeth. Other memberships include Elizabeth E.P.S., Elizabeth Council 253, Knights of Columbus, and the Holy Name Society at St. Genevieve's Church in Elizabeth, where he is a communicant. He is also on the board of directors of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, where he swims and plays tennis.

WORKING WITH underprivileged youth is one of his innovations at the register's office in the Court House. The office works closely with the Union County anti-poverty agency in providing training for youth. The enrichment program co-sponsored by the register's office and the Neighborhood Youth Corps provides training in office procedures, office machine servicing and micro-filming. Durkin hopes that one of the youths who once served in the office under this program will come back as a full-time employee when he is discharged from the military service next month.

The register's office provides Durkin with facilities for studying local history, which has always interested him. Available in the files are the original land grants for the various municipalities in Union County.

Children on tour in the Court House benefit by Durkin's interest in local history. After he became register in 1964, he went to work preparing a booklet on the county's history. Since then, more than 8,000 copies have been distributed to school children visiting the Court House and in response to requests from area school systems.

DO YOU USE A POWER MOWER? BE CAREFUL! CHECK INSURANCE!
"I was cutting the narrow part of my lawn with a power mower," the insurance executive told us. "Instead of flipping the handle over before changing direction, I began swinging the machine from side to side, and forgot to move back. I'm OK now, but I lost part of my big toe and broke the bone. These days I'm a weather forecaster."

Our friend's experience is worth thinking about, now that some power mowers are made to be ridden.
Be most careful to avoid overturning on steep slopes and when changing direction. Don't allow anyone to ride with you. Borrow a leaf from our friend's book, and wear safety shoes or high work shoes. Mower blades all extend beyond their safety housing at some point.

Also, do not lift or clean a running mower. Never pull the machine toward you. Keep hands or feet away from the blade until it comes to a full stop. And mow only when you have enough daylight.
For the sake of family and friends, inspect the lawn ahead of your mower. Rake stones, branches, clothespins or metal objects. Whirling blades can throw small objects a long way at dangerous speeds.

As to insurance coverage, a homeowner's policy or comprehensive general liability policy protects the owner of a power mower -- up to the policy limits -- against liability arising from an injury to a visitor, a neighbor or a stranger, or physical damage to someone else's property.

The homeowner's policy also provides for medical payments for minor injuries to guests who are visiting your home.
If you have hired someone to use the power mower once or twice a week, or if a regular employee uses it in the course of his duties around your place of business, better check with us regarding Workmen's compensation laws.

2 tapirs spell double trouble Seek names for dynamic duo

Can you come up with names for the pair of South American Tapirs at the Turtle Back Zoo in the South Mountain Reservation, West Orange?

The zoo attendants are too irritated by the extra-bright tapirs to bother naming them. So Richard Ryan, zoo director, is appealing to the public for names.

"The trouble with tapirs," Ryan says, "is the fact that they are too clever for their own good. Although they look stupid, they are very intelligent animals. They're bored with the zoo routine, and their only amusement is to make the attendant's lives as miserable as possible."

Among the tapirs' favorite tricks is using their noses to unlatch the door of their pen. The zoo regulates their pen temperatures, but if the tapirs feel it's too hot or too cold they leave, slamming the door behind them. The attendant has to come running and shut them up again.

The attendant also has to come running when the tapirs' water pouring out of the tapirs' faucet. The animals have learned to push the faucets around with their noses until the water gushes out. They have not bothered to learn to shut the faucets off, since they rightly figure that some attendant will take care of that job.

But the tapirs' worst habit is grabbing the attendant's hose between their teeth and turning the spray back on the helpless man. The daily hosing down of the tapirs' cages is fraught with danger—from the attendant's point of view.

From the tapirs' point of view, it's the high spot of a ho-hum day.

The two tapirs arrived at the Turtle Back Zoo in January, 1967, when they were about nine months old. Their native home is the swampy lowlands of South America, and their usual food is the leaves and stems of soft plants. They're a little over three feet high and dark brown in color. (Baby tapirs have white spots which fade as they get older.)

"They really deserve names of their own, but the attendants will only refer to them as 'those animals.' So we hope someone can think of two names for two very playful personalities."

Send your suggestion for their names to Richard Ryan, Turtle Back Zoo, 560 Northfield Ave., West Orange.

Or better yet, visit the zoo and drop your suggestion in the box on the cage next to the tapir's cage.

'Coffee and a kiss' for safety Happy sendoff for drivers

Prominent New Jersey women, 500 civic, professional, business and service club leaders are being invited to attend the first state-wide Women's Traffic Safety Forum to be held on Tuesday, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Trenton Artillery Armory on Eggers Crossing Road, off Route 206, Lawrence Township.

State Division of Motor Vehicles Director June Strelecki is the hostess and will serve as moderator of the first state traffic safety symposium. Motor Vehicle Division specialists will speak on particular traffic safety problems, raise questions for discussion and debate and offer suggestions to bring the traffic safety message, through these representatives, to the local level.

"Coffee and a Kiss" is the theme of the forum stressing that safe driving attitudes begin with pleasantness in the home. The lady of the house will be reminded of her responsibility to top off a cup of breakfast coffee with a kiss, a happy sendoff for the drivers in her family.

The day's agenda will also include talks on school buses, school crossing guards, municipal planning, to alleviate traffic congestion, pending motor vehicle legislation and a short film on traffic problems. A wide selection of informative brochures, provided by the state's major companies, such as New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, Allstate Insurance Company, and AAA, will be made available.

Instant coffee samples will be distributed by Maxwell House Hoboken, Aviana Airlines, celebrating its fiftieth year in December, is flying packets of Columbian coffee to the forum for each attendant, and an Aviana hostess will give flight bags as door prizes. HERSHEY is providing the chocolate kisses.

Travel clothes and the latest motorcycle styles will be modeled during the buffet luncheon.

BEFORE PAINTING
Your vacuum cleaner can make your painting job easier and more successful in a number of ways. Vacuuming is the easiest way to remove dust and dirt from walls before painting. Another use is to remove sanding and bits of steel wool from surfaces that you have made smoother.

State to provide local debt advice

The New Jersey Department of Community Affairs has created a debt management team to help New Jersey communities issue municipal bonds at the lowest possible rates of interest.

The team, which is based in the department's Division of Local Finance, will advise communities in ways to improve the marketability and credit ratings of municipal bonds. It also will serve as a liaison between municipalities and banks and underwriting agencies in determining the most economical bond financing arrangements.

All of the foregoing work shall be shown on the plan for said work and in accordance with the specifications therefor, both of which were prepared by the Township Engineer and both of which said plans and specifications are on file in the Clerk's office of the Township of Union in the County of Union and in the office of the Township Engineer. The time and mode of said payment as authorized by said Engineer and set forth on said plan and specifications are hereby adopted as the time and mode of said payment.

Section 3. The sum of $85,000.00 is hereby appropriated to the payment of the cost of said improvement. The foregoing sum of $85,000.00 includes the sum of $70,000.00 heretofore authorized by an ordinance adopted on April 9, 1968.

Section 4. Said improvement shall be undertaken as a local improvement and the cost thereof not borne by the Township shall be assessed upon the lands and real estate upon the line and in the vicinity of said improvement which may be benefited by said improvement as provided in Chapter 56 of Title 40 of the Revised Statutes of New Jersey. All assessments levied for said improvement shall be made as nearly as may be in proportion to and not in excess of the peculiar benefits, advantage or increase in value which the respective lots and parcels of real estate shall be deemed to receive by reason of such improvement. The total amount of assessments so levied shall not exceed the cost of said improvement. The portion of such cost, if any, which shall not be so assessed shall be paid by the Township as in the case of a general improvement which is to be paid for by general taxation. Such portion of the cost, if any, shall be in addition to the contribution, if any, of the Township heretofore provided.

Section 5. It is hereby determined and stated that (1) the Township will contribute no part of the cost of said purpose there being expected that the special assessments levied therefor will equal $85,000.00 and (2) no special assessments for such purpose have been levied or confirmed and (3) such special assessments may be paid in final annual installments.

Section 6. It is hereby determined and stated that (1) the making of such improvement (heretofore referred to as "purpose") is not a current expense of said Township and (2) it is necessary to finance said purpose by the issuance of obligations of said Township pursuant to the Local Bond Law of New Jersey and (3) the estimated cost of said purpose is $85,000.00 and (4) $5,000.00 of said sum is to be provided by the down payment heretofore appropriated to finance said purpose, and (5) the estimated maximum amount of bonds or notes necessary to be issued for said purpose is $80,000.00 and (6) the cost of such purpose, as heretofore stated, includes the aggregate amount of $17,000.00 which is estimated to be necessary to finance the cost of such purpose, including architect's fees, accounting, engineering and inspection costs, legal expenses and other expenses, including interest on said obligations to the extent permitted by Section 40A-20-20 of the Local Bond Law. The foregoing sum of $85,000.00 includes the sum of $70,000.00 heretofore authorized by an ordinance adopted on April 9, 1968.

Section 7. It is hereby determined and stated that moneys exceeding $5,000.00 appropriated for down payments on capital improvements or for the capital improvement fund in budgets heretofore adopted for said Township are now available to finance said purpose. The sum of $5,000.00 is hereby appropriated from such moneys to the payment of the cost of said purpose. The foregoing sum of $5,000.00 includes the sum of $3,500.00 heretofore authorized by an ordinance adopted on April 9, 1968.

Section 8. To finance said purpose, bonds of said Township of an aggregate principal amount not exceeding $80,000.00 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to said Local Bond Law. Said bonds shall bear interest at a rate which shall not exceed six percentum (6%) per annum, shall not exceed six percentum (6%) per annum, All matters with respect to said bonds not determined by this ordinance shall be determined by resolutions to be hereafter adopted. If the aggregate amount of outstanding bonds and notes issued pursuant to this ordinance at any time exceeds the sum first mentioned in this section, the moneys raised by the issuance of said bonds shall, not less than the amount of such excess, be applied to the payment of such notes and to the redemption of the same. The foregoing sum of $90,000.00 includes the sum of $65,000.00 heretofore authorized by an ordinance adopted April 9, 1968.

Section 10. It is hereby determined and stated that the period of usefulness of said bonds, according to its reasonable life is a period of twenty years computed from the date of said bonds.

Parkway's Arts Center going by 'numbers'

The popularity of the Garden State Arts Center has prompted the posting of a Garden State Parkway exit number for it — although there is really no exit from the toll road at that point.

So many motorists headed for the Parkway's roadside showplace in Telegraph Hill Park have insisted upon getting an exact exit number to reach the site that the New Jersey Highway Authority has now posted the numerals 116 on signs at the turnoff.

Cliburn features Waterloo concert

Van Cliburn will be the soloist with the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra at the Waterloo Village Music Festival concert Saturday evening in a performance of the Piano Concerto No. 3 by Rachmaninoff.

Henry Lewis, the Symphony's music director, will conduct the program which includes Mozart's Overture to "La Clemenza di Tito" and Brahms' Symphony No. 2. Concert time is 8:30 p.m.

The concert is the eighth in a series of ten Saturday evening performances given by the Symphony as the Waterloo Festival's regular orchestra. All are directed by Lewis.

The programs take place in the 2,000-seat tent-theater at Waterloo Village, a restored early-American village in Waterloo, Morris County. Additional seating is available on the lawns outside the tent.

The Symphony's program for the following Saturday, Aug. 24, includes Ravel's "Le Tombeau de Couperin," and Piano Concerto in G, and Debussy's "Le Mer." Philippe Entremont will be the soloist.

Tickets may be obtained by telephoning the festival offices at 347-0900.

Restaurant offers honeymoon trips

Joseph Ciriaco, owner of Ciro's Restaurant, Echo Plaza, Route 22, Springfield, has announced that wedding banquets at his restaurant will include a paid honeymoon to Florida for seven days and six nights. The couple will have its choice of 48 luxury hotels and motels, such as the Diplomat, to choose from, with first-class accommodations including round-trip plane fare at no extra charge.

To be eligible, Ciriaco says, the banquet party should include a minimum of 150 guests.

'Dolittle' is held for eighth week

Arthur P. Jacobs, producer of "Doctor Dolittle," which began its eighth week yesterday at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Merion, says that the film had the largest starting budget in the history of 20th Century-Fox Studio.

In addition to obtaining top stars to perform in the picture, such as Rex Harrison, Samantha Eggar, Anthony Newley and Richard Attenborough, Jacobs also assigned Leslie Bricusse to write the scenario, music and lyrics. Bricusse had collaborated with Newley on the book and music for "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off."

When a detailed outline had been written, several of the completed songs were prepared as "demonstration" records with full orchestral backing in order to provide the potential cast with the true flavor of the film. This, claims Jacobs, was an expensive procedure, but it worked.

Art Theater's features held over for a week

The Art Theater, Irvington Center, is holding its two major film attractions for another week. They are "Bedazzled" and "Blow-Up." "Bedazzled," which stars Raquel Welch, Peter Cook, Dudley Moore and Eleanor Bron, was directed by Stanley Donen.

Practical course in human relations Rutgers students in work-study program

Rutgers College student David Hill has been spending his mornings this summer taking an academic course in German, but in the afternoon he is getting a practical course in human relations in Perth Amboy.

Dave is one of 135 Rutgers students working for various agencies throughout New Jersey under the State University's work-study program administered by its student aid office. He is assigned to the 4-H program of the Middlesex County Extension Service for 10 weeks during the summer.

Dave has organized and now supervises seven 4-H clubs in an inner-city area of Perth Amboy. The clubs have a combined membership of about 60 children.

Activities range from an electricity club for boys to a cooking club for girls, and Dave has a hand in almost all of them, giving the program at least 15 hours of his time each week.

Dave's boss, County Agent Thomas R. Angotti, said the program attempts to provide an educational and social experience for the children in addition to helping to keep the long, hot summer cool.

The 20-year old student is a native of Northeast Harbor, Maine, who, while attending Rutgers, lives at 45 Stone St., this city. An English major, he will enroll as a junior in September.

HE ENTERED the program, he says, "because I like to work with people, especially children, and this has certainly broadened my experience."

It also helps him pay for his college education. And this is the main reason the federal government funds the program, according to Rutgers assistant student aid director Thomas T. Wadlington.

But Wadlington said the program actually has a "double-barreled" purpose. "On the one hand it helps a student get through college, and on the other it puts manpower in areas where it is needed most," he said.

Under the work-study arrangement Rutgers pays 85 per cent of the salaries from a federal grant received earlier this year and the employing agency pays the remaining 15 per cent and provides on-the-job supervision. The State University has been in the program since 1965, providing part- and full-time jobs for students throughout the year.

There are 17 other students working in 13 county units of the Agricultural Extension Service, performing such tasks as setting up and conducting a course in sanitary conditions in the home and organizing a neighborhood clean-up campaign.

Other areas of employment in New Brunswick include the Shade Tree Commission, Parks Department, Planning Department, city engineer's office, comptroller's office and the deputy administrator's office.

HELPING HAND—Rutgers junior David Hill helps two Perth Amboy girls make jewelry boxes in sewing club he supervises for Middlesex County 4-H. The Club is one of seven Dave organized and now counsels in summer job he acquired through Rutgers work-study program. The girls are Doris Jones, at left, and Debra Falneil.

Thursday, August 15, 1968

Fifty other youths are employed by the city of New Brunswick, including the Recreation Department where they are supervising recreation programs and overhauling the city's recently-acquired Circle Line cruise boat in preparation for summer and fall activities. They also work in the Neighborhood Conservation and Improvement Department keeping check on housing standards, and in the Police Department as clerks permitting patrolmen to return to the beat.

Veterans urged to seek aid now

P.M. Nugent, manager, New Jersey Veterans Administration Regional Office, Newark, urges veterans to apply now for their Veterans Administration Certificate of Eligibility and avoid the fall rush.

So the VA advises veterans who plan to enter school this fall under the G.I. Bill.

Veterans already in training under the G.I. Bill who plan to change programs or schools this fall must obtain new Certificates of Eligibility from the VA.

The principal advantage to the veteran of heading advice to apply now is that he can be certain that his G.I. Bill education allowance will be dated from the day school begins. If he fails to apply for the certificate until after school has started there may be a delay in payment of his allowance, according to the VA.

To obtain a Certificate of Eligibility, a veteran planning to enter school or training for the first time under the G.I. Bill should get in touch with the Veterans Administration Regional Office, 20 Washington Pl., Newark. Telephone area code 201-645-2150 through 2153.

A veteran who requires another certificate because of a change in program or school should contact the VA regional office which maintains his records on file.

A veteran who is not changing programs or schools need not obtain another certificate.

CLOTHES CARE COMMENTS

by SAM MANN
(Diamond Cleaners)

FUME FADING

Have you ever pressed a dress or blouse and watched the color change as your iron touched it? Such changes are caused by what we call "fume fading"...from gases in the air made by furnaces, industrial smoke and similar smog. Rayons are particularly susceptible to this, with blue turning pink, brown to red, purple to pink, grey to pink and dark colors to light colors and vice-versa.

Sometimes fume fading can only be seen after the heat of your iron hits it.

The solution? It is almost impossible to do anything about a fabric which shows signs of such fume fading. Instead, it's a good idea to watch your labels on any rayon garments you may buy. They should indicate that the fabric has been treated with an anti-fume-fading finish.

And remember, to keep any garment looking smart and new longer, it's a good idea to rely on Diamond Cleaners care. You can be sure of personal attention to all important details, including minor mending where needed.

Barkside has the rings

When laying 2x4 - inch deck boards flat, greatest serviceability is obtained if the "bark side" of the planks is used as the wearing surface. To determine which is the bark side, look at the growth rings on the ends of the planks and turn them so they make an arc with ends down, curve at the top—like a rainbow.

182 are book 'detectives' Reading program at library

The Mountainside Public Library is the "scene of the crime" for book detectives tracking down good books to read this summer, according to Mrs. Helen M. Kelly, children's librarian.

Mrs. Kelly said that 182 children have registered for the "Book Detectives" reading program. Using clues provided in graded reading lists, 76 boys and girls have completed 10 books each. Detective figures, bearing their names, appear on the bulletin board. Twenty-eight "super sleuths" have completed 20 books, and magnifying glasses have been added to their figures.

Some of the most popular books from the reading lists are "Chitty-Chitty-Bang-Bang," from the "mixed up" files of Mrs. Basil E. Frankweiler, "The Borrowers," "Henry Huggins," the "Mrs. Piggie Wiggle" books and the "Miss Pickerell" books.

Baseball stories have been in demand and also easy-reading biographies. Mystery and detective stories such as "Emil and the Detectives," "The Horse Without a Head," and the "Encyclopedia Brown" stories are in great demand, Mrs. Kelly stated.

Bette Tuthill of Mountainside, a summer substitute who attends Ashland College, Ohio, has been in charge of keeping the records and posting the detective figures for the reading program.

A FEMINEE LOOK AT SOME MID-EUROPEAN CITIES: 1968

(Commentary on a Study Mission to Germany, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Greece)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Seventh in A Series

THE WALL
The Ugly East German Thing, the thing-of-a-kind called "The Wall," is 34 miles of Communist-inflicted heartbreak all around the modern non-Communist city of West Berlin. Eight miles of this wall go through the heart of what was once simply Berlin, dividing it into two half-cities, West Berlin and East Berlin, and it is a hard wall of one sort or another. At the beginning, this wall was a mish-mosh of new concrete-type blocks made of compressed rubber, old concrete blocks, old bricks, new bricks, old stone, new stone, old stone houses, old stone walls, cemetery walls, etc., all linked together to make for eight miles of solid wall separating

West Berlin and East Berlin. The remainder of West Berlin is encircled with a continuation of barbed wire coiled high all around the city's perimeter making 20 miles of ugly wire wall. Accompanying this wire wall is also a broad strip that looks like a road, but it is called the "Death Strip," that is a little stretch of land that is continually lighted, and on direct firing range for 15,000 guards in 208 watch towers which are manned 24 hours a day.

SINCE "THE DAY THE WALL WENT UP" on August 13, 1961, however, there have been many "advancements." The Wall has been improved and the system of obstacles is so elaborated that it is almost impossible to escape. The eight-mile mish-mosh stone wall has been largely replaced by a uniform new concrete wall with a rolling pipe on the top so no one can get a hand-hold. Where there is no roll-top as yet there is broken glass and barbed wire to keep eager hands from grasping the top. Then, beyond The Wall a sophisticated system of obstacles has been added to make, in fact, a series of walls.

To leave East Berlin now and defect to West Berlin through the city, a man must first manage a high wire fence with spikes, then an alarm fence, then police dogs, then a dirt stretch with concealed trip devices that fire flares or alarms, then the 15,000 guards in the 208 towers which are on a connecting high speed road with each tower in sight of two other towers, then the Death Strip, and lastly, The Wall itself which is 15 feet of concrete in the new sections. This newly designed wall will eventually go all around the city with all the accompanying series of obstacles. As of now, The Wall of stone is only through the center of the city where East and West Berlin adjoin and the barbed wire fence and Death Strip go around the rest of West Berlin.

As has previously been mentioned, 30,000 East Berliners a month were defecting to West Berlin before the wall, and 3,000 a day just before the wall. In the entire year of 1967, however, only a little over 500 managed to get through, and how they did it, I will never know. Some guards themselves have escaped. I've thought they are carefully screened, some 500 have defected to the West since 1968.

EAST BERLIN IS GUARDED mainly by East Germans who give tacky little problems to travelers going back and forth through the checkpoints, packing on them with small harassments and "kid stuff" bickerings, but the Russians who guard East German borders do not give trouble, we were told.

There are seven crossings through The Wall, which the Soviets made sure to set back enough so that they are entirely within East Berlin. One crossing only is for foreigners or tourists and that is Check Point Charlie. Charlie is not named for someone, it is simply for "C," third in the series of crossings. There is Check Point Alpha, Check Point Bravo and Check Point Charlie, etc. Tourists may go through if armed with passport and money declaration. A search of the bus in which they are traveling is also made, but if walking, there is no search. However, if a passport is lost, watch out. The penalty is detention . . . reportedly five to six weeks in jail or until proof of identity and new passport can be obtained.

The military are supposed to have the right to come and go freely although sometimes isolated officers have been banned, or the men harassed. There are 6,000 U.S. men in West Berlin, 3,500 British and 2,000 French. According to our informants in West Berlin, the U.S. usually makes a point of sending a group of military personnel to East Berlin each day "to keep them used to us." Anyway, the East Berliners have no anti-American feelings, we were told.

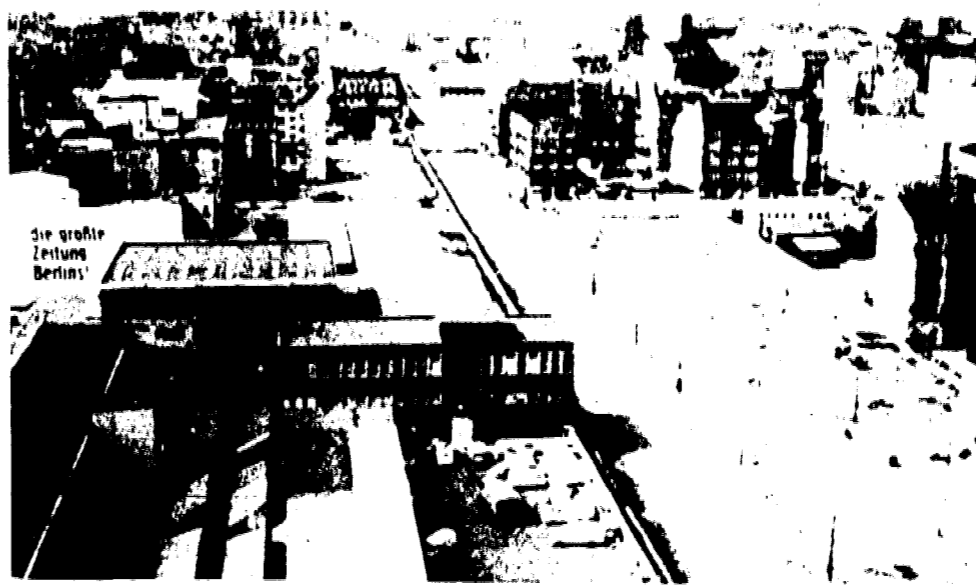

As for the citizens themselves, they too can cross over but only under very special conditions. East Berliners can go over to West Berlin but only with special screening and special passes and they must return to East Berlin each night. These are very few, however, and are mostly professors. West Berliners may work in East Berlin, but these are very few also.

There seems to be one small exception to all the stringent rules, though. At night when the sociable hour is high and the orchestras are playing in the East Berlin nightclubs, there seems to be no great complexity about foreigners crossing into East Berlin for the fun, and then coming back out again. At least according to one of our group that seemed to be true. She went with her date to East Berlin and danced until dawn and had no trouble at all.

WHILE THE CHECKPOINTS SERVE for crossing to and from the cities of East and West Berlin, there are four routes that serve to bring foreigners and West Berliners and supplies in and out of West Berlin over the long 110 miles of East Germany in which West Berlin is situated to the free world. There is a prescribed air route, a railroad route, a canal, and the Autobahn for cars.

In the case of the air route, only one airline from each of the occupying forces may enter—Pan Am for the U.S., BOAC for Britain and Air France for France. At Tempelhof airport, which is unbelievably situated in the heart of West Berlin, there were 81,000 flights in 1967. The East-West Access Road (or the continuation of Unter Den Linden Avenue of East Berlin), running from the Brandenburg Gate to the Victory Statue in West Berlin, was used as an emergency strip during the airlift, and even now, arriving at Tempelhof is almost like landing on that street, for the airport is so "tight in."

On the Autobahn, 13,000 military vehicles a year pass over it, let alone the civilian

THE WALL AND ITS 'EXCESS-ORIES' as viewed from the top of the Axel Springer building in West Berlin. The Springer building butts up against The Wall, the road-like area is the Death Strip, then comes the dirt stretch with its concealed trip devices, then there are the police dogs, then an alarm fence and then a high wire fence with spikes, making in all, six sets of obstacles to hurdle.

AN OLD SECTION OF THE WALL in Berlin—Here The Wall is not the 15 feet of concrete of which the new sections consist, but old stone and concrete. Barbed wire and broken glass are on the top. Beyond it are the other series of obstacles and one of the guard towers. The buildings are in East Berlin and the gentleman in the foreground is in West Berlin and was our tour director for the study mission, Edwin Schwinn, editor-manager of the American Press Magazine, Chicago.

cars. The canal and railroad are used for supplies. Up until recently there was little trouble with any of the access routes to West Berlin, but in recent months the Soviets have tried various types of little restrictions to harass travelers.

Our military spokesmen said most of the delays were more annoying than alarming and that the Soviets tried "selective objections" such as picking on groups who were members of certain political groups, etc. In recent weeks they have suddenly demanded passports instead of mere passes from selected groups, but again, according to a friend in West Berlin, it has not particularly alarmed the people there.

WHY DID THE WALL GET BUILT in the first place? Some people ask, and why was it allowed by the Allied Powers? The only answer, and a feeble one at that, seems to be that in the suddenness of its appearance, surprise and shock took everyone off guard and left them inert. Too late the reactions came and too late the answers.

At first, the eight miles that is now a wall, didn't look like a wall. The East Berlin Communists claimed they were building barracks installations at various crossings to control fleeing East Germans and prevent loss of manpower. The West Berliners didn't see the 20,000 tough boys imported from East German areas to build the wall either, and one grim morning in that August of 1961 the West Berliners awoke to find that what had once been a row of lots-of-things, had suddenly been connected together and become a hard, continuous, heart-breaking wall. Looking around they found that all around the rest of their city a spool of barbed wire had been unspun, hemming them in.

At any rate, the wall stood, and was allowed to stand, and is still being built. How is it possible? To stand before it and realize this, and to look at it, is enough to make your blood run cold.

But it HAS been a success for East Berlin and the Soviets. It has kept its people and its work force in, and consequently East Berlin looks better and is more affluent than it has ever been since the war. On the other hand, The Wall's impression on much of the world has not been for the good.

One picture is worth a thousand words sometimes, and the Communists have built themselves an ugly picture for all the world to look at.

The Allied Forces shame is that it was built.

Teachers to study dope use problems at state workshop

TEACHERS—Secondary school and college teachers will add to their understanding of the problems of drug abuse at a five-day workshop to be conducted by the State Department of Education at The Fiedde School, Hightstown. The workshop will begin Monday, Aug. 26.

The workshop is planned as part of a state-wide program to train teachers to give instruction in drug abuse. It is the direct result of legislation and a $50,000 appropriation passed by the state legislature and signed by the governor this spring.

The teachers will be given basic information on many aspects of drug abuse, particularly as it affects the young. Included will be facts on recognition of the symptoms of drug use, treatment and rehabilitation programs, legal aspects of drugs and the extent of drug use in the state and the nation. The information will help teachers plan and put into effect anti-drug courses in their schools.

Arranged by the Department of Education's Office of Health, Safety and Physical Education, the workshop will be directed by Dr. Gilbert M. Shimmel, professor of health education at Columbia University.

More than 20 drug experts, educational consultants and law enforcement officials will be among the speakers taking part in the program.

The opening session will begin with welcoming remarks by Gov. Richard J. Hughes and Dr. Carl L. Marburger, state commissioner of education, and the charge-to-the-teachers by State Sen. Frank X. McDermott.

Dr. Everett Hibel, director of Health, Safety and Physical Education in the State Education Department, will preside at the opening session of the conference.

LIGHT UP FOR SAFETY

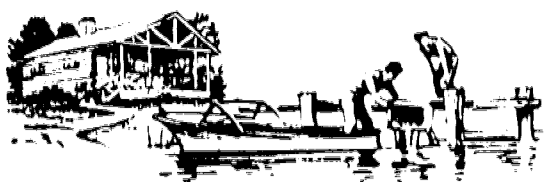

Accidents don't have to happen. Especially the kind that happen at home after dark. Good lighting is one of the most important—and least expensive—ways you can insure your family's protection. For example, a post lantern like this, which also adds large measures of beauty and gaiety to your home, can be kept lighted all night at an average cost of under two cents. And that's plenty of protection for so little.

Our Certified Residential Lighting Consultant will be glad to give you cost-free help in planning interior and exterior lighting for your home. Simply call the Public Service office that is nearest to you.
