Local resident re-elected head of county parks

John G. Walsh of Mountainside was re-elected president of the Union County Park Commission at the annual meeting of the commission on Tuesday. Walsh was originally appointed to the park commission on Nov. 16, 1965, by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders to succeed Gilbert G. Roessner of Summit.

He served as assistant treasurer in 1966, vice-president in 1967, and was named president of the park board in August upon the resignation of Frank Scott Jr. of Elizabeth. Commissioner Walsh has been a resident of Elizabeth and Roselle schools. He also attended Union Junior College and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He is president of Plastic Extruded Products Company of Elizabeth. At the present time, Commissioner Walsh is a member of the Zoning Board of Adjustment of Mountainside. He was a member of the Union County Shade Tree Commission and served as president of that organization in 1964.

As an active member of the National Recreation and Parks Association, Commissioner Walsh serves as a member of the board of directors of the commissioners-board members branch of the national organization and is a member of the legislative and policy committee.

Open (green) house slated Sunday as Children's Hospital 'grows'

It might snow Sunday, but it will be a green and leafy summer day at Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside. Sunday afternoon, the hospital will hold open house in its newly built greenhouse which was erected this fall for the benefit of the young hospital patients.

The greenhouse is the latest, and most ambitious activity of the horticultural therapy program conducted at Children's Specialized Hospital by the New Jersey Division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, including the Morristown, Short Hills, and Summit chapters.

Some 30 branches of the Federated Garden Clubs of North Jersey provided the contributions that made the greenhouse possible. Members of the Garden Clubs will participate in the open house ceremonies.

The Farm and Garden Association has spent the last three summers supervising the children's gardening activities in a hospital flower and vegetable garden. In the winter, association members teach classes in flower arranging and corsage-making.

"The children's delight in these activities led us to expand by building the greenhouse," says Mrs. Edmund A. Staub, Summit, chairman of the horticultural therapy program. "Gardening gives these young people, all of whom are physically handicapped, a chance to learn manual skills and muscular coordination."

"In addition, the greenhouse will make possible the teaching of gardening techniques to adult out-patients at the hospital, thus equipping them for jobs in commercial nurseries and greenhouses."

The 17 by 20 foot greenhouse is attached to the crafts room at Children's Specialized Hospital, and is stocked with plants and seedlings donated by local florists. Ground-breaking ceremonies for the greenhouse were held at the hospital in late October.

Sunday's open house, scheduled to begin at 2 p.m., will be followed by a tour of the

VFW post issues safety message to local motorists

Mountainside Memorial Post 10136, Veterans of Foreign Wars, this week issued the following driving safety message:

"When autumn leaves start to fall -- watch out! Wet leaves can be slick as ice. Drive slower after a rain, especially in the curb lane and when turning corners.

"Slippery streets can mean skids. If you feel a skid starting, don't jam on the brakes. Take your foot off the gas and steer in the direction your rear wheels are sliding until you regain control. And to keep yourself from sliding, always have your safety belt buckled. Every time, everywhere you drive. Get the safety habit.

"Headlights help you see and be seen. Turn them on whenever daylight falls. Better have your headlights checked and adjusted now to be ready for the long winter nights and the extra hours of darkness that come with winter rain, fog, and snow.

"Driving with the car heater on and windows shut tight can be cozy but cuts down sound from outside. Keep your radio turned low so you can hear ambulance sirens, police whistles, car horns or other warnings. Roll one window down a little when driving at expressway speeds. And be sure your brakes and tires are in safe driving condition so you can stop when you do hear a warning. Get the safety habit."

Mail call still resounds after article in the Echo

The average soldier can't wait for mail call, but a Marine Corps burn patient at Brooke General Hospital, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., has received more than 2,000 letters in just the last two weeks, and the latest stack contained a personal letter from the First Lady along with an autographed photo of her and the President.

"I just couldn't believe it," said Corp. Paul J. Kozak Jr., 20, of Mountainside, "that Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson had actually written to me."

Kozak had been in Vietnam 12 months when he was critically burned on Sept. 19, when his truck hit a land mine about 25 miles south of Da Nang, and the gas tank exploded. He suffered second and third degree burns over nearly 80 percent of his body.

"I jumped into a rice paddy," said Kozak, recalling an action which probably saved his life. He received emergency treatment at a station hospital in Da Nang and was flown to the U.S. Army Hospital in Yokohama, Japan, where he remained until Sept. 30, when he was flown to the U.S. Army Surgical Research Unit at Brooke Army Medical Center.

"I had not been home in over 15 months, and I guess my morale was pretty low, knowing I was going to be hospitalized for quite some time," says Corp. Kozak.

"But when my home town paper, the Mountainside Echo, carried an account of what happened, mail began pouring in from well-wishers."

"I'LL READ EVERY BIT of it," said Kozak, "but I'm afraid I'd never be able to answer it all."

The multitude of letters range from grade-schoolers to grandmothers, and they cover a variety of subjects as well. "One very cute young lady, who enclosed a picture, wanted to arrange a date for some time in the future," said Kozak, "but my girl friend didn't think that was such a good idea."

Another sample, although the spelling is not the best, came from what he guessed to be a six-year-old boy, "Dear Paul, I hop you get better, your frean, Mark."

A letter from the Police Department closed with what could be construed as an ominous note, "We'll be waiting for your return."

Sgt. First Class Johnny B. Page, wardmaster for the research unit, who flew to Japan and attended to Kozak on his flight from Japan to the Army's famed burn treatment and study center, says, "Paul is doing fine now, and although he did not make it home in time for Thanksgiving, he has hopes of spending Christmas at home with his family."

His mother, Mrs. Catherine Kozak, and his sister, Mrs. Kathleen Blumetti, live at 148 Sunrise parkway in Mountainside.

Kozak attended Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights prior to entering the Marine Corps. In Vietnam, he was attached to the 11th Co., 2nd Brigade, (Blue Dragon) Republic of Korea Marine Corps, and was scheduled to rotate back to the U.S. within three weeks of the day he was wounded.

MAIL CALL DELUXE -- Marine Corporal Paul J. Kozak Jr. of Mountainside tries to catch up on letters from home, sent after the Mountainside Echo recently reported that he had been seriously wounded by a land mine in Vietnam on Sept. 19 and faced a long hospital stay.

Board postpones conversion plans

Another round in the continuing struggle between the Union County Board of Freeholders and the borough over the use of the former Nike Missile base in the Watchung Reservation is over.

Last week the county board postponed further action on converting the site to a civil defense and fire and police training facility.

The freeholders aborted their quest to develop the site in view of other more pressing issues, including the expansion of county jail facilities and the purchase of the Arthur Venneri Co. property in Westfield for additional space for county agencies.

The question of the county's impending decision cropped up at the most recent session of borough council on Nov. 19, at that time, Mayor Frederick Wilhelm said the council would "strongly resist any attempts by the Board of Freeholders to bypass the rights of the people and of the municipality."

This week, Mayor Wilhelm affirmed the position of the borough and said the council would continue to watch over the Board of Freeholders for future attempts at converting the Nike site.

In specific terms, the borough is opposed to the county's "method of operation" in securing the use of the land and, problems represented by the fire and police training facilities which would ostensibly include oil and chemical fire pits, a shooting range, loudspeakers and other irritants.

IN A LARGER SENSE, though, the real rub is the issue of home rule, a cherished institution in New Jersey.

Wary of a precedent-setting judgment in this case, borough officials are carefully weighing the legal points involved and attempting to anticipate any maneuvers the county might make.

"The Board of Freeholders apparently have decided they are a super agency, larger than the municipality, and not subject" to borough procedures, Mayor Wilhelm said this week. "We never said we didn't want the Nike site developed under any conditions," the mayor continued, "but we want them to follow the usual procedures and come before our Board of Adjustment so that the local board can make a ruling" on the proposed use of the land.

The Board of Adjustment, the mayor said, would insure the welfare of the residents of the borough would be safeguarded or could, in fact, flatly turn the county down.

Should the county find a way to initially circumvent the local governing body, it would, Mayor Wilhelm said, eventually be required to obtain a building permit for construction on the site. "Our building inspector would naturally turn it down," the mayor said, "and they would have to come before the Board of Adjustment for a variance anyway."

However, the council has also considered other courses the county could use to abrogate the jurisdiction of the municipality. The land on which the Nike site stands is owned

PROFILE-- Arthur R. Taylor

Next Tuesday, Arthur R. Taylor of 1505 Coles rd., Mountainside, will have dinner with Secretary of State Dean Rusk followed by an off-the-record chat on foreign policy.

It will be at the Harold Pratt House, an old brownstone on E. 68th st. in New York City and home of the prestigious Council on Foreign Relations.

It will be the first function for Taylor, a vice-president of the First Boston Corporation, as one of the newest members of the 375-member council, which lists on its rolls Dean Acheson, Ted Sorenson, David Rockefeller, Arthur Dean, Allen Dulles, Bill Moyers and Roger Blough.

The council elects new members twice a year in groups of five. Taylor's election this year reflects "a decided attempt" on the part of the council to lower its median age level.

Taylor is 33. He is a young man to whom success has come early in life. At 30 he was made a vice-president of the First Boston Corp., an investment firm, and was already well known at the highest levels of international finance.

HIS ELECTION to the Council on Foreign Relations is, Taylor said, "an extension of my work with the First Boston Corp.," which has seen him involved in the financing of the governments of Japan, Australia, Iceland, Canada, Venezuela, Trinidad and Tobago and of the European Coal and Steel Commission, an arm of the Common Market.

Membership in the Council on Foreign Relations, which was founded in 1920, attracts "people in international business with a large stake in foreign policy," Taylor said.

"It's also a good forum for persons who formulate foreign policy to sound out others who are well informed," Taylor continued. "You can't be in international business without being up to date on foreign affairs."

"With me, it's a hobby as well as a business," Taylor said. "It started when I was a member of the political science faculty at Brown University 10 years ago."

Taylor graduated from Brown with a BA degree in European history and an MA in American history. He met his wife, Sandy, there. She was attending Pembroke, the women's affiliate of the Ivy League school.

WHILE WORKING ON his master's, Taylor was a graduate assistant in the political science department. His thesis subject brought him to New York to "interview a lot of old Wall Street types" for a paper on Samuel Insull, a utility magnate in the '20s.

Taylor liked the business community and was asked to stop around again if he ever wanted a job. Finally, Taylor said, "one cold gray morning in Providence I decided I'd had it with the academic world and took one of them up on it." The company was the First Boston Corp.

After next Tuesday's session with Secretary Rusk, Taylor expects to meet others of equal importance. "It's very rare that ranking

Christmas tea set by Leaders Club

The holiday season will begin for the students of Gov. Livingston Regional High School with the annual mother-daughter Christmas tea sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association Wednesday from 3:15 to 5 p.m. in the girls' gym.

Under the direction of the Leaders' Club and advisor Doris Anderson, the girls are preparing entertainment based on the story, "How Mrs. Santa Claus Saved Christmas," with Gail Van Blaricum as Mrs. Santa Claus and Dale Bress as her gift-distributing husband Janet Townsend is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Eileen Bubrick and Ellen Cross are general chairmen for the event, with Lisa Altomare as chairman of the refreshment committee; Debbie Stuart, chairman of invitations; Dale Bress, chairman of decorations, and Betty Raymond, in charge of clean-up.

Members of the GAA have been working during their study hall time preparing the decorations and the hand-painted invitations to be sent to each Gov. Livingston girl and her mother. The Leaders' Club will also bake cookies and desserts to be served at the tea.

...for some of the members of the commission. "One of the things we ought to try," Taylor said, "is to spread ourselves out more." Now, Taylor indicated, members and scholars are delving into many related areas and creating a lot of reinforcements to some hackneyed attitudes. "We have to find out how to make our efforts more meaningful to more people," Taylor said. "Generally speaking the American people are not interested in foreign policy except in broad terms of peace and leave the nuances of the matter up to the professional." Taylor is preparing for Tuesday's meeting with Secretary Kissinger. "I'll be talking with him on Vietnam, naturally, and also about what kind of legacy the Johnson administration has left-- what immediate foreign policy decisions will have to be made by the new administration." Asked if he'll be at all in case among such notable figures, Taylor laughed, "I'll walk my usual route until I get told to shut up."

Taylor may soon do a more serious job of planning for some of the members of the commission. "One of the things we ought to try," Taylor said, "is to spread ourselves out more." Now, Taylor indicated, members and scholars are delving into many related areas and creating a lot of reinforcements to some hackneyed attitudes. "We have to find out how to make our efforts by the Union County Park Commission, The Board of Freeholders, Mayor Wilhelm's explained, controls "the money the Park Commission spends, so they might be in a position to assert some undue influence over the Park Commission."

"I FIND IT HARD to believe though that the Park Commission could be dissuaded from pursuing its traditionally guarded role as a recreational agency," the mayor said.

He added, "if they try to get around us this is possibly the way they would try to do it." If this was allowed to come about, the mayor pointed out, "we will have lost control," a precedent would have been set and the borough's heritage of home rule would be jeopardized.

In another legal complication, the Nike site was leased by the federal government for 25 years about 10 years ago, leaving around 15 years to go before control of the land fully reverts back to the Park Commission.

The issue is laying fallow at the moment and may be, as Mayor Wilhelm suggests, "apparently dead."

Money is another hurdle the county must surmount before plans can go any further. The board originally allocated $230,000 for the project; received bids in the $380,000 range, and is now predicting the cost of the facility would be $425,000.

Like the Nike missile concept itself, the idea of a CD and fire and police department training center might soon be phased out.

In the meantime, Mayor Wilhelm said, the borough will stand by and wait "until they take the overt action of coming to us for a building permit," and then swing hard, right in the nose cone.

When not traveling on business, which at one time kept him away from home four to five months a year, Taylor looks for some real action right at home where his three daughters, Martha, 6, Ann, 4, and Sara, three months, and the family puppy, Yukula, a 150-pound Pyrenees Mountain Dog, await him.

The family enjoys walks in the Watching Reservation and bicycling. The family moved here two years ago from Westfield, Taylor is originally from Ruhwary.

Taylor said he would enjoy entering Mountainside politics at a time when he is doing less traveling. With Martha entering first grade here next year, though, he has become quite interested in the school system.

But with those far away places with strange sounding names calling and the Council on Foreign Relations beckoning with its rather knurled finger, it looks like Taylor is one step beyond.

bral palsy, orthopedic conditions, accident disabilities and other long-term ailments. Both adults and children are cared for on an out-patient basis.

THE UROLOGY CLINIC of Children's Specialized Hospital marked its 1,000 patient visit this week, after five years of helping handicapped children throughout central New Jersey.

The clinic, unique in this area, treats all types of pediatric genital-urinary problems resulting from birth defects, spinal cord injuries, accidents, and long-term illnesses.

Its treatment and training procedures enable its young patients to attend regular schools and participate in normal life, according to Dr. Arthur T. Willetts, a urology specialist and a member of the consulting staff of Children's Specialized Hospital.

"In addition to helping the children," says Dr. Willetts, "the work of the clinic greatly eases the parents' burden of constant care."

Dr. Willetts, who has been associated with the Clinic since its founding five years ago, is assisted at the twice-a-month sessions by Dr. Robert R. White III and Dr. Joseph S. Ritter, both of Summit and both urology specialists on the hospital's medical staff. Clinic nursing services are supervised by Mrs. Loraine D. Wickware.

The urology clinic was formed in 1962 to meet the need for out-patient treatment of genital-urinary handicaps in New Jersey children. Its work was originally sponsored in whole by the Plainfield Junior League, which still plays an active part in supporting the clinic.

THE SENIOR AUXILIARY TO the board of managers of Children's Specialized Hospital inaugurated its Christmas season early this year at a meeting held last week, at the home of Mrs. O.H. Havens, 11 Kimball circle, Westfield.

The sale of the Senior Auxiliary's Christmas cards enabled the group to vote a gift of $3,500 to Children's Specialized Hospital, an increase of $1,000 over last year's gift. Mrs. Walter Eckhart, chairman of the staff and child service committee, exhibited samples of ceramics made by young hospital patients under the guidance of Auxiliary members.

The meeting ended with a program of Christmas music under the direction of Elizabeth Ingalls. Mrs. Ellen-Mae Forsberg, contract soloist with the Westfield Presbyterian Church and the Westfield Musical Club, sang.

The Senior Auxiliary was organized in 1909. According to Mrs. Charles W. Anderson, president of the board of managers, "The Auxiliary has a long and impressive history of helpfulness in obtaining financial support and in volunteering their own services for our young patients."

From October, 1967, through September, 1968, members of the Senior Auxiliary contributed 4,770 hours of volunteer work in such activities as the arts and crafts, child feeding, motor corps, health careers, and pool supervision programs.

THE WESTFIELD TWIG OF the Senior Auxiliary will meet Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. W. Lohn, 788 Knollwood ter., Westfield. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. John Cunningham, Westfield, and Mrs. Helmut Peters, Mountainside.

The Westfield Senior Auxiliary Twig was organized in 1960 as a volunteer organization to aid and support Children's Specialized Hospital. From October, 1967 through September 1968, its members contributed over 1,200 hours of volunteer services for the benefit of the hospital's young patients.

This past week, three members of the Westfield Twig, Mrs. Stephen Cullinane, Mrs. Fred Townsend and Mrs. Helmut Peters, completed a six-week nurses aid course in voluntary bed-care. The course, sponsored by Children's Specialized Hospital, was directed by Mrs. Lea Tudor, the hospital's director of in-service education.

Those interested in volunteering their services to the hospital through the Westfield Senior Auxiliary Twig were asked to call Mrs. W. Lohn, Westfield, 232-2286.

Highlanders win, 14-12, to finish season at 7-1-1

BY BILL LOVETT

Craig Marks' extra points provided the margin of victory on Thanksgiving as Gov. Livingston edged Watchung Hills, 14-12, in Regional's final game of the season. It gave the Highlanders a finishing mark of 7-1-1.

As in almost every game this year, the defense won for the Highlanders. In fact, all of the Regional scores were by players normally on the defensive team.

Watchung Hills jumped out in front early in the contest after recovering a Highlander fumble on the Regional 37. Operating out of a shotgun formation, the Warriors' (Eugene Ruggerio passed 15 yards to Ken Brenn) and 15 yards to John Baker, with the pass to Baker carrying to the one. A penalty set the Warriors back to the six, but Rick Aldrich swept around left and untouched behind great blocking for six points. The PAT attempt was low.

An interception by Marty Rollison in the second quarter halted a Warrior drive at the Highlander 25. Three plays later, at the 40, Regional quarterback John Piccirillo passed to John McElginn, who slithered past three Warrior tacklers and sprinted the rest of the way down the sideline for a 60 yard TD play. Marks converted to put Livingston ahead, 7-6.

With Regional defenders still unable to stop the shotgun, Watchung Hills came back with a drive that carried to the Livingston 14. Here, it was halted on downs by the defense, but Regional fumbled three plays later at the three.

Quarterback Ruggerio three times sent Rick Aldrich into the line trying for the goal and three times Craig Marks and Co. stopped Aldrich, giving him but one yard. On fourth down Joe Wise was stopped one foot short of the goal in what has to be the key series of the game.

Regional increased its lead to 14-6 midway through the third quarter on passes by Piccirillo. Starting from the Warrior 42 he hit Jeff Burdette for eight yards and then fired deep to John Adriance. It was Adriance's first reception ever, and it was good for 34 yards and a touchdown. Marks again converted.

The Warriors were down, but not out. John Sexton, who throws a harder pass, was inserted at quarterback and he passed on nearly every play. With 5:30 left in the contest, Sexton hit Joe Wise for a 50-yard six-pointer.

Watchung Hills had one more chance to pull out the game, but Doug Rau intercepted a pass, which by that time had become a commonplace occurrence for him, to clinch the victory. There is only one way to describe the performance of Rau--fantastic. He picked off four passes, several coming during crucial situations.

Ken Kowowski, Craig Marks, Mike Hiotis and Ed Painter all showed the defensive tenacity that has become a tradition with Highlander teams.

The 1968 Gov. Livingston football season can be summed up as a triumph. The team could not retain the Watchung Conference title, but the triumph is that it could come back from an 0-1-1 start and finish the year 7-1-1, with seven straight wins.

Chances for aid are Perry good

If you suffer an injury or become ill and require first aid while on the Union College campus in Cranford, the chances are three-out-of-eight you'll be given assistance by a Perry.

The eight-man first aid squad at Union College includes Frederick J. Perry of Cranford, and William J. Perry and Chester Perry, both of 120 Sheridan Ave., Roselle Park, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Perry.

Frederick Perry received his first aid training with the Cranford Police Department and in the Army, while William Perry learned his first aid while an M.P. in the Army. Chester Perry was a first aider as a security officer in the Air Force.

All members of the First Aid Squad have completed Red Cross first aid courses, and several serve with first aid and rescue squads in their home towns.

Juan M. Palau of Elizabeth, was a medic in the Army, and David J. Fitzgibbons of Summit, was a medical corpsman in the Navy. Other members of the Union College First Aid Squad are: Louis A. Ditzel of Cranford, Wayne P. Hess of Hillside and Donald T. Ross of Elizabeth.

Research tops cancer budget Gets 37 cents of each dollar

A breakdown of how the funds raised by the American Cancer Society are budgeted reveals that about 37 cents of each dollar goes to finance scientific research projects, according to Raymond J. Donahue, president of the Union County chapter of the American Cancer Society. The Cancer Society, which raises funds through its annual crusade against cancer campaign in April and from bequests and legacies, allocated more than $18 million to research in 1967, he said.

This broad area of cancer research, Donahue explained, includes financing of all special projects dealing with investigation into how cancer starts, how it can be halted or even reversed or prevented. "It is only through this intensive research into all phases of cancer will answers to these questions be discovered," he said.

Research investments undertaken by the American Cancer Society have helped develop procedures like the famous "Pap" test, credited with saving thousands of lives from uterine cancer.

Another 15 percent of each dollar is budgeted for public health education in which every means is employed to persuade the public to seek treatment at the earliest possible indication of the presence of cancer. This includes the "double protection" of an annual checkup and of knowing and acting on cancer's warning signals. Education and instruction of doctors and nurses to the latest developments in cancer detection and treatment take another 9 percent out of each dollar raised.

Other allocations are for service for cancer patients, involving easing and lightening the many burdens which cancer places on its victims. Donahue pointed out, with such services receiving approximately 17 percent. The field of public information received 4 percent.

Costs of administration of the organization are 8 percent and fund raising is budgeted at 8 percent. This meets the uniform accounting standards of the National Health Council, an organization made up of leading voluntary health agencies.

The combination of science, medicine and education is succeeding in saving more lives each year from cancer. "The dollars you give to the Cancer Crusade, Donahue said "goes to fight cancer."

Christmas trees again on sale at Five Points YMCA

The Five Points YMCA of Union is again conducting its Christmas tree sale. Trees are on sale on the YMCA grounds, 718 Salem rd., from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., every day.

Howard Merrick, branch executive, said the balsam trees were ordered in August from the Y's Men's Club of St. John, New Brunswick, Canada. There are various sizes from 6 to 12 feet tall. Scotch pines have also been ordered again this year and include some larger sizes seven to eight feet as well as those five to seven feet in height, Merrick reported. Door wreaths are also available.

The experiment last year of the YMCA providing free chemically treated cards proved successful. These treated cards make the trees fire resistant and prevent the needles from dropping. Directions for their use are printed directly on the card and are given free with each tree sold, Merrick said.

The sale is conducted by volunteers and all proceeds will help the YMCA program. The sales tax is included in the purchase price. The Committee responsible for administering the sale this year includes Joseph Anderson, Robert Glazer, Rich Basilefski and Warren Rorden.

Youth members of the YMCA are selling advance tickets toward the purchase price of trees.

City Federal opens new office

City Federal Savings and Loan Association will open its new Cranford office on South Avenue at the corner of Walnut Avenue at 9:30 a.m. this Saturday.

A brief ribbon-cutting ceremony featuring Cranford Mayor Edward Gill and representatives of the Federal Home Loan Bank of New York will officially open the new building. City Federal, which has 11 other offices in Union, Morris and Essex Counties, has been operating temporarily in a near-by air-supported structure since 1964.

According to Mr. Everett C. Sherbourne, President of the $200 million institution, opening day will feature a personal appearance by Miss America, Debbie Bryant of Kansas. The bank has also arranged for a clown and cartoonist group and will provide free balloons and a Penny Party for children. During the opening day celebration, a variety of free gifts for new accounts will also be given.

Assemblymen plan to sponsor tax bill

Two Union County Assemblymen this week joined a legislative movement aimed at the ultimate repeal of the New Jersey Retail Cross Receipts Tax.

Assemblymen Herbert J. Hellmann of Union and Herbert H. Kiehn of Rahway said they plan to co-sponsor re-introduction of Assembly Bill 88 during the 1969 legislative session. A-88, initiated early this year, calls for the repeal of the 1966 legislation which provides for a special tax to be levied against all retail stores with a gross annual volume in excess of $150,000. The measure failed to reach the floor during the 1968 session and thus must be re-introduced next year.

"This is an extremely discriminatory tax," Hellmann and Kiehn said, "and should be abolished as rapidly as possible."

"Under the existing provisions of this law (Chapter 133 of the 1966 Assembly Bill 853), even the merchant who is losing money must pay a tax based on his gross receipts," they explained.

"That is the equivalent of levying an income tax against a man who doesn't make any income. And that's pretty ridiculous."

'Messiah' concert to benefit college

The Central New Jersey Chapter of the Valparaiso University Guild will sponsor the presentation of Handel's "Messiah," sung by the Scotch Plains Community Choir under the direction of Harry G. Gettlein, on Sunday at 4 p.m. in Redeemer Lutheran Church, Clark and Cowperthwaite place, Westfield.

Dr. Wright guest of honor at ACLU cocktail party

Dr. Nathan Wright Jr., executive director of the Department of Urban Work, Episcopal Diocese of Newark, will be the guest of honor at a book and author cocktail party Saturday, Dec. 14.

The party will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the United Auto Workers Hall, 16 Commerce dr., Cranford, according to Newton J. Burkett Jr., chairman of the Union County Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union of New Jersey, which is sponsoring the affair.

Dr. Wright, who has been chairman of the Conferences on Black Power in Newark and Philadelphia for two years, will autograph copies of the three books he has written—"Black Power and Urban Unrest," "Ready to Riot" and "Let's Work Together." He will also discuss some of the urban problems that prompted him to write the books.

Mrs. Robert Chasnov of Westfield is serving as coordinator for the affair. Others on her committee include: Gene Rabols and Newton J. Burkett Jr., Elizabeth; Jacques Sichel, Union; Marvin J. Heiler and Mrs. M. Zisman, Springfield; Robert J. Anderson, Cranford; Ira Gash, Berkeley Heights; Richard Ament, Summit; Morton Bluestone, Hillside; Charles Winetsky, Linden; Rev. John R. Miller, Fanwood; and Richard Samuel, Alexander Ross, Mrs. D.W. Berreman, Judith W. Wilcox, Robert Chesnov and Julius Jackson, all of Westfield.

Scholarship established

Alpha Sigma Mu, veterans fraternity at Union College, has established a $250 scholarship for a student attending Union College, it was reported by Mrs. Paul W. Selby, financial aid officer. The funds for the scholarship were raised at a largely-attended dance sponsored by the fraternity. Mrs. Selby said the recipient of the scholarship will be selected by the faculty Scholarship Committee.

FOR THE BIRDS

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER, professor, Union Junior College

Sometime between Friday, Dec. 20, and Wednesday, Jan. 1, if you chance to see me cutting across your lower 40, please don't get out the shotgun. Along with thousands of birders all over the North American continent, I'll be participating in the 69th annual Christmas Bird Count.

Last winter 839 circles of land and water, 15 miles in diameter, were searched and their avian population carefully tallied. This is a total area of almost 150,000 square miles, over 19 times the size of New Jersey.

The whole idea got its start in 1900 when 25 parties went out during the winter holiday season and counted birds. In 1909, the number of counts had risen to 145. Over the years the number of counts has continued to increase markedly. In 1959, 572 tallies were made and during the last 9 years, 267 more were added.

In last year's count, all 50 states were represented in the final compilation along with the District of Columbia. The prize for the greatest number of counts goes to, where else, Texas with 58 tallies. The high 10 states also included New York, California, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wisconsin, Ontario (Canada), Florida, Illinois and Michigan. Twenty-four counts were made in New Jersey, taking in areas from the Delaware River to the Atlantic Ocean and from the New York border to the tip of Cape May.

 TWENTY OF THE counts over the continent reported 150 or more species. California was not only tops with nine such lists, but produced eight of the 12 counts above 160. San Diego found 209 species to establish a new national record for Christmas Bird Counts. Florida was second with six counts above 150, but due to unprecedented hot weather that continued right up to Christmas only two of the lists were above 160. Texas had two counts above 150 and Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia had one each. The Cape May, New Jersey, group almost broke into the magic circle with 145 species.

Skid likely when tires lose contact

It is easy to lose control of your car momentarily on wet pavement. The resulting skid can be a terrifying experience, and if you're lucky that's all it will be.

Few drivers are aware that a car's wheels can actually lose contact with a wet road, points out Joseph A. Ayares, New Jersey director of the Allstate Motor Club. This phenomenon, known as "hydroplaning," is the cause of many skids and crashes.

"As your car rolls along on wet pavement a layer of water builds up ahead of the front tires," Ayares explains. "When the tire treads no longer can disperse this water, your wheels are lifted up in much the same way as water lifts a skier."

"The danger of hydroplaning is always present on wet or slushy roads. You can drive along for miles on the verge of a skid without being aware of it. A nerve-shattering skid, or a crash, can be brought about by sudden acceleration, braking or a strong gust of wind," Ayares warns.

"Hydroplaning occurs at virtually all speed ranges, depending on conditions. As you increase the speed of your car, the chances of hydroplaning become greater. Speeds in excess of 50 mph on wet pavement are considered to be in the 'extreme danger zone'."

Eggplant, exotic addition to menu, is available now

By ANNE L. SHEELEN
County Home Economist
Eggplant is one of the most exotic of all vegetables. In appearance, taste and history, include it in your menu plans while it is available.

Although the eggplant has had many names throughout history, its modern name is derived from its shape. Its origin is believed to be from ancient Oriental areas.

Eggplants are harvested by hand because it is necessary to cut the heavy stems in order to avoid damaging the plants. Shortly after harvesting, they are refrigerated at temperatures between 45 degrees and 50 degrees F. Lower temperatures could result in chilling and the creation of soft and spongy spots.

When purchasing eggplants, look for a firm, smooth deep purple skin. Avoid those having bronze or greenish streaks, for they are of poor quality. Avoid also ones which have brown spots with cracked skin across the spots because this is an indication of a storage disease.

An eggplant of medium size, about three to four inches in diameter, is usually a wise choice. It should be firm, heavy for its size, and free from blemishes, cuts or insect damage.

Eggplants should be stored as quickly as possible in the vegetable compartment of your refrigerator. For top quality, use within one week.

Use eggplant as a basis for a main dish or as a vegetable accompaniment to a meal in your menu plans.

GROUND BEEF AND EGGPLANT CASSEROLE
12 slices of eggplant, 1/2 inch thick
Boiling salted water
2 pounds ground beef
3 tablespoons olive oil or bacon fat
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1/2 teaspoon oregano
2 cups canned tomato sauce
1 1/2 cups grated Cheddar cheese

Preheat oven to 300 degrees F. Cook the peeled eggplant slices in boiling salted water until tender, about five minutes. Brown the meat in two tablespoons of the oil, stirring occasionally. Cook the onion and green pepper in the remaining oil until the vegetables are wilted. Combine the meat and vegetables in the skillet and stir in the flour, salt, pepper and oregano. Add the tomato sauce and cook until thickened. Arrange half the eggplant slices in a shallow, two-quart buttered baking dish. Mix over them half the meat mixture and half the cheese. Repeat the layers and bake, uncovered, for thirty minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

FRIED EGGPLANT
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 cup packaged dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1 medium eggplant (about 1 lb.)
Salad oil or shortening for frying

In a shallow dish, mix eggs, salt and pepper. Combine crumbs and cheese on waxed paper. Cut unpeeled eggplant, crosswise, into 1/8-inch slices. Dip in egg, then in crumb mixture, coating completely. Meanwhile, heat salad oil (at least 1/4 inch) slowly in large, heavy skillet. Sauté eggplant until golden-brown—about 3 minutes on each side. Drain on paper towels.

O'Connell, Eberly sing it like it was---at Flagship

By BEA SMITH

There's a wonderful holiday show (now through Dec. 10) at Larry Dixon's Flagship Dinner Theater on Route 22 in Union these evenings. And the show is even more wonderful and especially nostalgic for those people who were romantically inclined back in the 40's, when the Big Bands were the thing and the singers, who came with the orchestras, such as Helen O'Connell and Bob Eberly (stars of the Jimmy Dorsey era) "THE GREATEST!" Remember "Tangerine," "Amapola,"

"Green Eyes," "Maria Elena," "Blue Champagne," "I Don't Want to Set the World on Fire?" Remember...the dimple-checked Miss O'Connell, blonde and shapely...then and now; and the handsome Eberly, with the soothing voice...then and now.

The singing team of O'Connell and Eberly has a lot to offer the diners and dancers at the Flagship. They even manage to bring their audience up to date with some of the new songs such as "Going Out of My Head" by Miss O'Connell.

The team mentions the wild, new dances of today, but things weren't all that quiet back in the 40's. How about those wild jitterbug dances? They may very well compare with what goes on--on the dance floor today, adds Miss O'Connell and Eberly.

But this reviewer will settle for all that the O'Connell Eberly team has to offer---and more. Encore, team---and bravo!

'The Queen' begins run at Art Theater

"The Queen," documentary film about the selection of a queen in a transvestite beauty contest, came to the Art Theater, Irvington Center, yesterday. Jack Dorshow, Crystal Harlow and other beauty queens from the "transvestite world" are featured. The picture was filmed in color and directed by Frank Simon.

"Circle of Love," starring Jane Fonda, and produced and directed by her husband, Roger Vadim, is the associate film at the Art.

Bellevue to hold 'Star!' premiere

The Bellevue Theater in Upper Montclair will be closed until Wednesday evening, Dec. 18, and will reopen with the exclusive premiere of the new motion picture film, "Star!" During the closing time, the Bellevue box office will remain open for the purchase of "Star!" tickets, Monday through Saturday from 12 noon to 9:30 p.m., and on Sunday from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. Information and reservations may be obtained by calling 744-1455.

During this time, the showplace will undergo extensive renovations and refurbishing throughout its interior, including the front and main lobbies, as well as all seating areas. Various innovations and repairs will be made in the theater's projection department in order to offer high quality film presentation and stereophonic sound system to the audience at all times, and the Bellevue's crystal-clear film projection.

"Star!", which stars Julie Andrews, is a musical film based on the life and times of Gertrude Lawrence, the famous Broadway star. Directed by Robert Wise and produced by Saul Chaplin, the film also stars Richard Crenna, Michael Craig and Daniel Massey. The opening night performance (Dec. 18) will be a benefit show for the Montclair Community Hospital. Tickets may be purchased by call 744-7300.

Scuba classes to begin tonight

Instruction in one of America's fastest-growing sports, diving, will begin at 7:30 p.m., today, at the YMCA of Eastern Union County, 135 Madison ave., Elizabeth.

Open to persons 16 years of age and over, the 10-week course covers all phases of scuba diving in both classroom and pool lessons. It is conducted by certified diving instructor James J. Foran, who is Deputy Chief of the Hillside Fire Department.

Course applicants need not be residents of Union County, but they must either join or be members of the YMCA. Air tanks and regulators may be rented for the course; the student must furnish his own mask, snorkel and flippers, a spokesman said.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the "Y" or James Foran at 352-2812.

Ask Amy

By

Dear Amy:
Recently my niece was married. My sister (her mother) invited the family over a few days before the wedding, to see the gifts my niece received. Among the gifts, in an envelope, were three books of green trailing stamps. I remarked to my sister that they must have been put there by mistake and that she should put them away. She said, "No, Claire, that was a wedding gift!"

I was in shock to think that anyone would give such a gift. What do you think?
Claire

Dear Amy:
Now I'm sure I have heard everything! But it does fit in the category (as usual as it may seem) of anything the newlyweds can use or enjoy.

Dear Amy:
My children sent me a gorgeous poinsettia plant for the holidays. I would like to keep it alive; but I don't know how to care for it. It looks like it's dying, and I need advice.

Mrs. J.J.W.

Dear Mrs. J.J.W.:
My plant expert is on vacation, and I'm as green as grass on poinsettias. So I'm throwing it open to my green thumb readers. I'll print their replies as soon as they arrive...sit tight.

Dear Amy:
I have known a certain girl for 12 years now. We are both high school where we seldom see each other. I like her very much and I'm wondering if she likes me. I can't ask her friends because we both travel in different circles.

She is very clever in school and maintains high grades with ease, while I can barely make it through Study Hall. And when I do see her at school, she is usually with a boy who also has high grades.

Do you think she dislikes me because I don't happen to have much talent for school-work?
Failure

Dear Failure:
Yes, it could be. Sharpen your mind or look for a new girl.

Dear Amy:
I have a very good friend of Japanese descent whom I have known all my life as he has lived on the family property since I was a child.

Recently there was a death in my family (after a long illness), and in my troubles, he took over all the responsibilities, and there wasn't a thing that he didn't do in his quiet but efficient way.

I would like to repay him in some way for all his kindness, but I don't want to hurt his feelings in any way since I feel he is quite sensitive. I have thought of handing him a check, but I wish you could suggest some better way to express my debt to him.

Dear Amy:
I checked on money in any way, shape or form is, in my opinion, improper... unless the death man in question is in dire need of money.

If this is not the case, I suggest you give him a personal gift in the form of anything that you know he would wear, use or enjoy.

Nuclear energy offers 'junkless civilization'

The enormous potential of nuclear energy could be used "to completely recycle all our materials and water so that we could have an endless supply of raw material and a virtually junkless civilization."

Have New Utopia? Not according to Glen T. Seaborg, Nobel Prize winner and chairman of the United States Atomic Energy Commission. Dr. Seaborg, contributing to a recent issue of the "Unesco Courier," writes on "Nuclear Energy and Our Future" and opens up exciting prospects. In the 21st century, Dr. Seaborg, says, most of the energy used by mankind will come from the atom. "By far the most important contribution the atom will make to the world of tomorrow," he states, "will result from the combination of very cheap electricity and heat for use in manufacturing processes..."

Dr. Seaborg cites a study made last year at the AEC's Oak Ridge Laboratories on locating nuclear agro-industrial complexes in arid areas such as desert coastal plains. Nuclear power could be used to tap deep underground water resources beneath many such areas, and nuclear explosions could create vast subterranean reservoirs on the spot to guard against evaporation. Nuclear irradiation of food crops might greatly reduce the 20% annual loss caused by pests and spoilage throughout the world - an important consideration on a planet which will double its population by the year 2,000. Multiple-purpose plants could be set up to desalt water, generate electricity, produce fertilizers and process foods - all simultaneously.

"I think (the future) might well be one far beyond that which you or I could dare to imagine today," Dr. Seaborg concludes.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

THE HOLIDAY
The holiday season is fast approaching. Most everyone has started, at least, to give thought to Christmas gifts to special persons.

It is a wonderful part of the Christmas, the exchange of gifts, the little remembrances. Yet it is not the most important part. Far more important is the religious aspect, the real reason why we have the Christmas.

This holiday season, give something to yourself...something that will last and endure beyond the jingle bells and after the pretty wrappings have since disappeared.

Get into the real spirit of Christmas. Recognize the true meaning of Christianity. Find the faith and the strength to put God first. Do good works, in God's name. Invite the world to share in your happiness, to follow your lead.

Put God first and your life will be a beacon, a blazing trail that others will see and some will follow. You will know the meaning of Christmas all year long.

League meets Monday

A regular meeting of the Hemodialysis League For the Care of Individual Kidney Machine Patients was held Monday at 8 p.m. at 1143 Clinton ave., Irvington. The newly organized League is in the process of arranging for many programs which will assist the patient. Appointments may be set up, for the convenience of the donor, by contacting Mrs. Gertrude Albaum at 923-3550. The majority of hemodialysis patients requires two 10-hour treatments a week. CLOTHES CARE COMMENTS

by SAM MANN
(Diamond Cleaners)

THANKSGIVING CLEAN-UP
Putting the house to rights after a big family Thanksgiving dinner can be easier than you think. For example: Remove candle wax from wooden table tops by using a thin-bladed knife with a paper towel folded over the blade to minimize scratching. Gently scrape off the wax then moisten a paper towel with nonflammable dry-cleaning fluid and wipe away any remaining smudges. Wax or polish the area.
Give carpet care high priority. Scrape off any surface accumulation with a dull knife. For sticky stains, sponge with a solution of 1 teaspoon mild dishwashing detergent plus 1 teaspoon of white vinegar in a cup of lukewarm water. Blot, rather than rub, and stroke from the outer edges to keep the stain localized. Do not soak. Instead, repeat the application several times, if necessary.
For major carpet cleaning, may I suggest you call in a professional, such as DIAMOND CLEANERS. Wall-to-wall carpeting will be cleaned beautifully and quickly right in your own home, with a minimum of disorder and confusion. Just call for service at your convenience.

U.S. Savings dividend largest in its history

William F. Eckler, president of the United States Savings Bank, announced this week that the bank has declared its regular quarterly dividend for the current three-month period ending Dec. 1. The 26th consecutive dividend, it is the largest ever declared by the United States Savings Bank and amounts to more than $2,480,000. Together with the last three previous quarterly dividends declared it gives the bank's 89,000 savings depositors a total of more than $9,673,000 for the past year. Compared with $8,800,000 for the similar period a year ago, the increase is $853,000 or 9.67 per cent.

The United States Savings Bank is the second largest mutual savings bank in New Jersey.

Flower & Garden Show Theme is 'Leisure Living'

"Enjoy Leisure Living in Your Own Backyard" — this is the invitation being extended to all New Jersey garden enthusiasts by the 1968 New Jersey Flower & Garden Show, largest exhibit of its kind in the state.

The state's first official sign of spring will take place once again in the National Guard Armory, Morristown, running from Friday, March 14, through Thursday, March 20.

Advance planning for the show, built around the "Leisure Living" theme, indicates the most exciting array of exhibits and demonstrations ever, with model gardens of every variety, a profusion of unusual flower arrangements, lawn care and preparation clinics and representative exhibits from such commercial firms as nurseries, seed and chemical suppliers, florists and those from related gardening fields.

L. K. Christensen of Wood-Ridge, president of the New Jersey Flower & Garden Show, predicted the annual show "will be the greatest in our history. We will be presenting a marvelous array of new ideas and products to make life in our own backyard easier and more beautiful. The gardening way of life is a must for so many New Jerseyans and we intend to enhance it even more with the wonderful ideas planted throughout our show."

Among the many exhibitors who will be at the Morristown Armory will be the four major associations who co-sponsor the show: the New Jersey State Florists Association, New Jersey Association of Nurserymen, New Jersey Plant and Flower Growers' Association and North Jersey Metropolitan Nurserymen's Association.

Both Rutgers University School of Agriculture and the New Jersey Department of Agriculture, chief consultants for the show, will be well represented among the exhibitors.

As usual, the Garden Club of New Jersey will hold its major competition during the show, with participation by members from the 175 affiliated clubs throughout the state.

"Our show this coming year," Christensen emphasized, "will appeal to everyone who enjoys casual relaxation at home, to the garden variety lawn-and-shrubber as well as the serious horticulturist. The emphasis is on leisure living and we are looking forward to the many thousands of visitors who will be seeking new ideas and ways to attain it."

Mr. and Mrs. Lee De Geronimo change heating fuels and become the 500,000th Gas Heat customer
of Public Service

Congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Lee DeGeronimo, 39 Gurley Road, Edison. Your decision to switch to Gas Heat made your home our 500,000th Gas Heat installation! Yes, that's how many happy customers in our service area now enjoy the dependable, carefree comfort that Gas Heat gives you.

A free home heating survey told Mr. and Mrs. DeGeronimo how economical Gas Heat would be, and how easy the conversion is. They liked Public Service's unconditional guarantee of satisfaction, too. What a fine decision for Mr. and Mrs. DeGeronimo — and for Public Service Electric and Gas Company.

This important milestone dramatizes our continuing awareness of the need for comforts that gas can provide in the home and industry. As the demand for these comforts continues to grow we will be sure that we are always able to meet this demand.

Changes in benefits outlined for veterans and dependents

Thursday, December 5, 1968

Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development has urged veterans and their dependents to become more fully aware of the recent changes in veterans' benefits affecting them. These changes help provide for the growing needs that have resulted from both the increased number of veterans and their dependents and the returning servicemen from the Vietnam conflict. Eligible veterans and their dependents will be furnished information on these changes through the department's Division of Veterans Services headquartered in Trenton or its 16 field offices located throughout the state. According to Anthony J.

Volpe, director of the Division of Veterans Services, state legislation now provides minor widows of New Jersey's veterans to benefit from a major change in the VA policy relating to insurance payments. Serviceman's Life Insurance Program is being administered by private companies who may now pay minor widows the proceeds of her deceased husband's GI insurance. Previously a minor widow was informed by the insurance carrier and the military that a guardian had to be appointed to receive insurance benefits which created many personal problems to her. It was recommended to Governor Richard J. Hughes and Commissioner Roe by the Division of Veterans Services that this minor widow's act supplement sub-title 3 of Title 17 of the revised statutes concerning insurance contracts be amended to provide youthful widows of deceased servicemen who died in military service the eligibility to receive directly from insurance companies the proceeds of the benefits from the GI husband's insurance contracts. Upon passage of this bill by the state Senate and General Assembly, Governor Hughes signed it into law on Oct. 7. Veterans receiving non-service connected disability pensions and widows receiving non-service connected death widow pensions will receive a new income questionnaire regarding their income for the coming year. The state Division of Veterans Services headquarters in Trenton or its field offices may be contacted for assistance in completing this new income questionnaire. These are held offices at 115 East Jersey St., Elizabeth and 20 Washington Pl., Newark.

4-day convention of Realtors set in Atlantic City next week

A special seminar on the real property tax credit and tax abatement, a broker-cession table, a tax forum, a multiple listing session, the computer in real estate, the Make America Better program and other discussion meetings will highlight the 52d Annual Convention of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards to be held at the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall Hotel, Atlantic City, Dec. 11 through 14.

Adelaide Shaffer Campbell, president of the 2,900 Realtor member NJAREB, said many other social and professional questions will be covered as well as work sessions for members and their staffs. The NJAREB Convention is the largest meeting of its type east of the Mississippi.

This year's convention chairman, Frank J. Citta, reports over 2,600 Realtors, associates, families and guests will make this four day meeting the greatest in the Association's 52-year history.

Property taxes will be one of the major topics of discussion and emphasis will be placed on seeking ways and means to help alleviate the New Jersey homeowner's inordinate tax burden.

Various other facets of real estate will be reported upon under the theme of "Up, Up and Away" -- all reflecting the Realtor's role in the fast changing socio-economic climate of this dynamic State. President Campbell says the convention stimulates actions and thoughts of Realtors in fulfilling their service to the public.

Thursday the Community Service Award Luncheon, sponsored by NJAREB and Franklin Capital Corporation, will be held. Each of 35 individual Boards throughout the State has nominated a Realtor who has done the most for his community. All of these will be honored at the luncheon and the grand winner will receive a plaque designating him Realtor of the Year.

Among the featured speakers at the convention will be Dr. Thomas S. Haggai, Hugo H. Loewenstein, Dr. Ralph G. Nichols, Dr. W. Heartsill Wilson, Edmund G. Harding, Fred A. Palmer and William K. Magel, James M. Perry, a senior editor of the National Observer, a weekly publication of Dow Jones & Co., will be one of the featured speakers on Saturday morning, Dec. 14. He has covered national affairs and national politics for the Observer since 1962 and will talk about his experiences during the 1968 Presidential election campaign.

A major speaker and the main guest at the Convention will be National Association of Real Estate Boards President, Lyn E. Davis of Dallas, Texas. Davis has been a grassroots Realtor since he started in business in 1939.

Handel's 'Messiah' at Newark State

Sapara in tomorrow night's performance

The 11th annual performance of Handel's Messiah at Newark State College, Union, will be held at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in the theater for the performing arts.

Singers from communities throughout Northern New Jersey join Newark State students each year in this traditional holiday concert. This year's performance will include 185 voices.

The event will mark the 50th Messiah performance sung under the direction of Jack Platt, chairman of the Music Department. In 1938 as a high school music teacher in Cumberland, Md., he organized a community chorus, which sang his first presentation of the Messiah. During World War II he led performances of the Messiah involving United States servicemen and local women in Richmond, Va., and Paris, France.

Soloists this year are Miss Margaret Kahl, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, soprano; Miss Althea Anne Burt, a professional singer in the Washington, D.C., area, contralto; Robert Shiesley of the Julliard Opera Theater in New York City, baritone, and Donald Sapara of Roselle Park, a student at Newark State and soloist at First Presbyterian Church and Trinity Church in South Orange, tenor.

Miss Kahl, a member of the Metropolitan Opera since 1965, has appeared in oratorio and operatic performances throughout the United States and in Mexico. She has been soloist with leading symphony orchestras, including the New York Philharmonic with Leonard Bernstein conducting at Carnegie Hall and the Boston Symphony at Tanglewood, and has toured as a soloist with the Robert Shaw Chorale.

She was a soloist under the baton of Thomas Dunn for the 1963 Mid-Summer Festival at Lincoln Center and appeared that December with the Concert Artists' Guild Award Concert at Town Hall. She won acclaim as Leonora in a concert performance of Beethoven's "Fidelio" with the New Haven Opera Society under the direction of Gustav Meier and as soloist at the Long Island Festival Concerts.

Miss Burt has appeared in Washington, D.C., with the American Light Opera Company in "Kiss Me Kate," "Show Boat" and "Pajama Game," and with the St. Mark Players in "Lost in the Stars." She holds a B.S. degree in music education from Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., and an M.A. degree in voice from Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C. She is now a music teacher in Prince George's County, Md.

Shiesley, as a member of the Julliard Opera Theater, has performed leading roles in two American premieres, "Mines of Sulphur" and "Ormindo," and roles in "Le Nozze di Figaro" and "The Rape of Lucretia." He will sing the role of Figaro in "The Barber of Seville" next month.

Last summer he was a soloist in the Mozart-

Handel Festival at Philharmonic Hall and appeared at the Aspen Music Festival. He has sung in a program of contemporary Spanish music at Carnegie Recital Hall and appeared at the Dartmouth Congregation of the Arts Festival. He holds an M.A. degree in music from the University of Washington in Seattle and has served as an apprentice with the Santa Fe Opera Company.

Penn sextet will play in W. Orange

A rapidly improving University of Pennsylvania hockey team will play in the North Jersey area next week. The Red and Blue will take on Bowdoin, Saturday, Dec. 14, at 6 p.m. at the South Mountain Arena, West Orange. Coach Jim Salfi will be fielding a team looking for revenge -- Bowdoin beat the Quakers 9-2 last year.

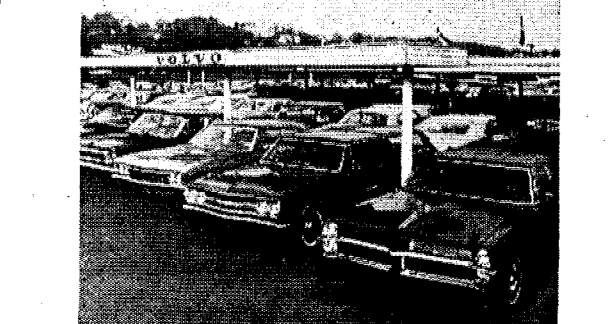

Penn. returns seven lettermen from last year's team that faced competition in the rugged Ivy League for the first time. In addition, Salfi will have several very promising sophomores from a freshman team that compiled a fine 12-5 mark.

Heading the returnees is captain Glen Foreman, Sudbury, Ontario, who has moved to a wing spot after playing defense for two years. Penn's two top scorers from last year are also back, giving the Quakers an improved scoring punch. Junior Howard Mooney, Guelph, Ontario, led the Quakers with 31 points on 13 goals and 18 assists. Wing Dan Pierce, Sudbury, Ontario, had 24 points on 13 goals and 11 assists.

Two high-powered scorers from the freshman first line move up and give to Quakers some more potential scoring power. Wing Tom Davis, St. Catharines, Ontario, scored 51 points on 30 goals and 21 assists while Larry Bader, Minnetonka, Minn., had 51 points on 19 goals and 32 assists.

"I feel we're going to have a much better offensive team this year and our defense will get a better break with some of the pressure coming off them," Salfi explains.
