HOME FOR THE HOLIDAY—Robert A. Camporine of Mountainside is able to recover at home with his wife, left, with follow-up treatment mapped out by the visiting nurse-home care service of Overlook Hospital, checking his running intravenous solution of penicillin are Shirley Smith, rear, of the Westfield Branch of the Visiting Nurse and Home Health Services, and Mrs. Dana Mathewson, home care coordinator for Overlook.

Overlook's new home care program getting patients out of hospital sooner

Home or hospital for Christmas? There's only one answer to that, if a choice is possible, and Robert A. Camporine Jr. of 491 Summit rd. in Mountainside can attest to a broad new program at Overlook Hospital that is getting patients home sooner by delivering follow-up nursing and medical care to complete their recovery.

Called visiting nurse home care service of Overlook Hospital, this pioneering program is aimed to keep hospital costs down to the patient, at the same time returning him sooner to the happier environment of home and family, under the direction of his personal physician.

"It's a great program," commented Camporine, who is an engineer with Carratt Callahan Co. of Livingston. "I feel fine—and am I glad to be home for Christmas! Best present in the world!"

Camporine, after four weeks of hospitalization at Overlook, where he was treated for sub-acute endocarditis, an infection of the lining of the heart, is one of the first known patients to go home on continuous intravenous therapy—a solution of penicillin dripping into his bloodstream through a vein in his arm.

Overlook's visiting nurse home care team has made this possible—through careful instruction to Camporine and his wife on intravenous technique and measurement, plus daily follow-up visits from the visiting nurses to change the IV solution bottle, which is mixed daily at the hospital for delivery to him.

THE HOME CARE PROGRAM at Overlook was made possible by the merger of the local VNA with the hospital, which enabled the broader services of the hospital to be incorporated into their program.

Available to home care patients are such para-medical specialties as speech, physical and occupational therapy, diet and medical social counselling, home health aides, and coordination with other community agencies such as SAGE Homemaker Service and Meals on Wheels, where required.

If the patient lives outside the Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights area covered by the Overlook VN-HCS, the hospital often makes arrangements for nursing care through the local area visiting nurses, depending on the patient's needs. In Camporine's case, the daily calls are being made by the Westfield Branch of the Visiting Nurse and Health Services, Elizabeth.

Other cases who are happily at home under the VN-HCS program include a tracheotomy patient in Berkeley Heights, who receives instruction from an inhalation therapist on the use of suction equipment to keep his airway clear, the use of a nebulizer to provide proper humidity to the trachea (the tube from throat to lungs, which in this case has been opened surgically because of obstructed breathing).

A stroke patient has had home arrangements made for continued treatment by a physical therapist, an occupational therapist, speech therapist and the visiting nurses. Still completely paralyzed in the left side when leaving Overlook after a three-week stay, this patient is now walking, dressing, bathing and resuming most of the activities of daily living under her own power—thanks to this continuity of care.

Another diabetic patient, released early from the hospital with a varicose ulcer of the leg, is being treated at home with daily dressing changes, diet counselling and provision of other helpful equipment.

The visiting nurse home care service of Overlook Hospital has brought similar services to 368 patients so far in 1968. Total number of home visits including nursing and all the types of service provided (speech, physical, occupational, and diet therapy; home health aides and equipment service) has totalled 8,745.

Catholic Youth unit plans four ski trips

Four ski trips are being planned for this winter by the Catholic Youth Organization of Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Mountainside.

Three of them will be Friday night trips to Great Gorge, Macfee, according to Mrs. William Kaplan of 1445 Orchard rd., Mountainside. They are scheduled for Dec. 27, Jan. 11 and Jan. 31.

The fourth will be a weekend trip to Killington, Vt., Feb. 14, 15 and 16, Mrs. Kaplan said. She said young people must be in high school to be eligible for the trips. Those interested in further information or in registering may call her at 232-1928, she added.

Holiday deadlines

Careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday news deadline is advised for material for the next two issues, dated Dec. 26 and Jan. 2, which will go to press early because of the Christmas and New Year's holidays. All organizational, social and other material for the Dec. 26 issue should be submitted by tomorrow, Dec. 20. All material for the Jan. issue should be submitted by next Friday, Dec. 27.

Storm sewer construction near top of 1969 priorities

The Mountainside Borough Council set the second phase of its storm sewer construction program in motion Tuesday night, passing two resolutions which will be forwarded to the Union County Board of Freeholders.

The program began in 1967—the first phase, concentrating in the Summit road area, costing approximately $125,000.

The resolutions Tuesday night request the county board to contribute $3,000 for a Nomahegan Brook storm drainage project and to reconstruct a Central avenue bridge.

The Nomahegan Brook project, recommended by borough engineer Robert Koser, would require work in the Hidden Circle and Story Brook drainage sections.

The Central avenue bridge would be replaced with a span which would allow a larger culvert under the bridge to prevent flooding there.

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. did not indicate what other projects would be initiated in 1969, but said this year was spent planning future improvements.

Councilman Robert Ruggiero said that the newly formed traffic safety advisory committee would make its first report at the next scheduled meeting of the Borough Council.

uled meeting of the Borough Council.

FORMED LATE LAST MONTH out following protests against the state's proposal to increase the speed in Deer path to 50 miles-per-hour, the committee has involved itself with safety throughout the borough, especially in school areas.

George Crane has been elected chairman of the committee. Other members are Russ Cardoni, Robert Muirhead, Louis Borchert, borough engineer Robert Koser, safety officer Joseph Mazur, and Councilman Ruggiero and John Hechtle.

The committee was to meet again last night to discuss further recommendations for borough-wide traffic safety.

In other business, the names of new officers in the borough volunteer fire department were announced. They are Ronald Huter, chief; Henry Porter, first assistant chief, and Joseph Hershey, second assistant chief. Terms are for one year.

It was also announced that there will be a no parking restriction, effective immediately on Mountain avenue in front of the National State Bank of Westfield.

The no parking resolution was adopted by the Union County Board of Freeholders at its most recent meeting after the Borough Council had proposed the ban. Mountain avenue is a county road.

IT WAS ALSO made known that the borough had received half of $10,375 of the federal assistance funds applied for under the May-June 1968 flood disaster rehabilitation program.

The money is for borough-wide storm repairs, which included damage to sewers and the borough sanitary sewerage meter.

Also at the meeting, a communication from borough attorney Charles Irwin gave final local legal approval to the revision and compilation of the ordinances of the borough, which were effective Nov. 26.

The organizational meeting of the borough will be Jan. 6 at 8 p.m. in the Beechwood School. Incumbent councilmen William Brandt and John Hechtle will be sworn in at that time to three-year terms.

Mayor Wilhelms closed the rather short meeting Tuesday night with season's greetings from the council to borough residents, and a plea for safe driving during the holidays.

Piano classes tune up youthful local scholars

Group piano classes are being presented for the first time this year at the Deerfield Elementary School to small groups of approximately 40 children in grades three and four, as an integral part and expansion of the instrumental program. They are being taught by Mrs. Jean Prehluda, who also teaches piano privately in Westfield. Two new pianos have been donated by the Mountainside Music Association to Deerfield School for these classes.

An MMA spokesman declared: "The program in session is being most enthusiastically received by both students and their parents who are urged to attend their children's weekly lessons. Through the medium of piano instruction, the children learn to enjoy music, to read and play in all keys, to play in ensembles and to accompany songs.

"Class instruction helps promote a feeling of self-confidence in playing for others. The friendly competition stimulates a high quality of work and cooperation within the group. This, in turn, helps the children establish a regular practice routine and a greater sense of achievement and success."

Sixty-six children are being taught on the same basis at the Beechwood and Echobrook schools by Mrs. Dorothy Hake. This program was introduced in these two schools last year as a pilot program for third grade beginners.

Regional schools look at the future for Mountainside

Problems involving the assignment of students from Mountainside were discussed briefly by Avery Ward, president of the Regional High School District Board of Education, at the board meeting Tuesday night at Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights.

Ward's comments came in response to several questions from Mountainside residents. He noted that a proposed bond issue for additional high school construction was rejected last spring by voters in the six-town district.

Since then, Ward noted, the board had engaged Dr. Henry Rissetto of Columbia University at a fee of $24,000 to conduct an "in-depth study" of how the board can best meet its future needs. Dr. Rissetto has not yet presented any conclusions, Ward added, but the board expects some findings in January and a final report in February.

The board will then examine the recommendations and present them to the public in the form of a referendum "hopefully, next spring," Ward said. Completion of the buildings would take up to two years after approval of the referendum, depending on the work required at any one school.

The year's Mountainside freshmen, now at Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield, will transfer to Gov. Livingston as sophomores, as previously planned. Ward added that this year's eighth graders from Mountainside would also spend their freshman year at Dayton, then continue at Gov. Livingston.

He noted that a decision as to the future of this year's seventh graders from Mountainside

Tranquilizer drugs can help heart patients, doctor reports

NEW YORK -- The fears of heart attack patients and those who are coronary-prone can be overcome with the aid of tranquilizer-antidepressant drugs, a cardiologist reports.

Dr. J. Campbell Howard Jr. of Mountainside, medical director of Schering Laboratories, presented his recommendations at a symposium on "Advances in Coronary Heart Disease," sponsored by the American Academy of Cardiology and St. Barnabas Hospital of New York.

Patients suffering from angina pectoris can especially be helped with psychotherapeutic drugs, he said. In most of these cases, either the emotion that triggers the attack or the pain itself sets up a cycle where the heart must beat faster and work harder. This further increases the heart's need for more oxygen and blood.

If the coronary vessels are partially blocked by fatty deposits, as in arteriosclerosis, the circulation is unable to cope with the increased demands of the heart, and angina results. In many instances, the cycle can be interrupted by the use of mental health (psychotropic) drugs to block the emotional trigger portion of the cycle -- or the fear response to the pain, he said.

In these patients, Dr. Howard explained, anxiety and depression often co-exist. Although one, such as anxiety, may be more apparent, both should be treated. Here he described how a drug such as Etrafon, a combination of Trilafon (perphenazine), a tranquilizer, and amitriptyline hydrochloride, an antidepressant, can be used in relieving emotional states marked by anxiety and depression.

Dr. Howard also discussed the specific uses of additional mental health drugs including PROFESSIONAL CONFERENCE -- Two especially important young patients of the urology clinic of Children's Specialized Hospital, Westfield-Mountainside, discuss the clinic's meaning to them with three participating doctors. Young Freddy was the first patient when the Clinic opened its doors five years ago. Celeste's visit at the clinic last week marked its 1,000th patient treatment. The urology clinic, unique in this area, helps central New Jersey children handicapped by genital-urinary problems. It is staffed by (left to right), Dr. Arthur T. Willetts, consulting urology specialist, and Dr. Joseph S. Ritter and Dr. Robert R. White III, both urology specialists on the medical staff of Children's Specialized Hospital. Dr. Willetts has been associated with the clinic since its founding.

'AND WE WANT' -- Donna and Donald Rinaldi, three-and-a-half-year-old twins of 379 Forest Hill way, Mountainside, outline their Christmas needs to Santa Claus, over 21, of the North Pole, at his local headquarters at the First State Bank of Union.

CREAM SKIMMERS
During the last decade, non-whites have begun to skim off more of the cream of American prosperity. A U.S. Department of Labor study reveals that, whereas in 1960 2-1/2 times as many white as non-white families had a yearly income of more than $7,000, the ratio had been reduced to 2 to 1 by 1966.

Church societies plan New Year's Eve party

A New Year's Eve party will be held by the Holy Name and Rosary-Altar Societies of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 31, in the church auditorium.
Music will be provided by Lefty and the Dominos. Hot hors-d'oeuvres will be served in addition to a buffet supper at 12:30 a.m. The party is open to the public. Table reservations may be made and tickets obtained by calling Rudy Krzejcik at 232-9024 or Jim Kelerk at 232-1281.

Girl Scouts deck tree with mittens

The Girl Scouts of Mountainside began the holiday season with a carol sing and mitten tree held at Our Lady of Lourdes on Dec. 11. More than 250 Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior Scouts and their leaders took part. Each troop went caroling through Mountainside and met at the church for a group sing. At that time, a Christmas tree and fireplace were decorated with mittens, which will be distributed to institutions in the area.
After refreshments, senior scout Diane White led the group in a number of Girl Scout songs. The evening's program was planned by the Mountainside Girl Scout Service Team with the assistance of Mrs. G. L. Sutton of Central avenue.

Regional schools

would have to be reached quite soon.
"The board will consider suggestions from Mountainside residents, as it will from any community in the district," Ward added. He commented that the board is planning to utilize portable classrooms in the near future at Gov. Livingston.
Dr. Warren Davis, superintendent of schools, noted that the portable classrooms can solve only a portion of a school's overcrowding problems, even on a short-term basis.
He mentioned that severe shortages of cafeteria space and of science facilities are imminent at Gov. Livingston, for example, and that these shortages would be aggravated, rather than alleviated, by use of portable classrooms.
The board announced that its annual budget hearing will be held Thursday evening, Jan. 23, at Dayton Regional, Edwin Little of Berkeley Heights, board member in charge of faculty relations, reported that negotiations were well under way with the Regional Teachers' Association, but he declined to predict when there would be a final agreement on salaries and other matters for the next school year.

Home care

Overlook Hospital has developed a specialized team, increasing the number of visiting nurses to six on housecalls, plus the VN director, Mrs. Adele Crossett. A new position of home care coordinator is filled by Mrs. Dana Mathewson, who works with Overlook's doctors to locate in-patients suitable for home care, then coordinates their programs.
Another new post of medical co-ordinator is handled by Dr. Milton Lane of Union, who weekly directs meetings to review current and upcoming cases with the visiting nurses and the other specialists involved.
Many of the services provided by the visiting nurse home care service are covered by Medicare and other health insurance plans. Application for such coverage, however, must be ascertained before the patient leaves the hospital. This necessitates considerable paperwork and telephone arrangement, as does coordination of the entire program for each patient.
Christmas is certainly brighter for all these patients who otherwise would have been confined to a hospital bed over their holiday, an Overlook spokesman added.

Newest members officially welcomed by Westfield Twig

Four new members were officially welcomed last week to the Westfield Senior Auxiliary Twig to the board of managers of Children's Specialized Hospital, Westfield-Mountainside. Mrs. W. Carl Winning, president, presided. The highlight of the meeting was the reading of a Christmas message to Isabelle Watson, Recreational Therapist at Children's Specialized Hospital.
Mrs. Charles W. Anderson, president of the board of managers and guest of honor, spoke on the appreciation of Children's Specialized Hospital for the many activities of the volunteers. She mentioned numerous current projects, including the recently opened greenhouse on the hospital grounds.
The next meeting of the Westfield Senior Auxiliary Twig will be held Feb. 11 at the home of Mrs. S. A. Cullinane, 604 Pennington dr., Westfield.
Those interested in joining were asked to call Mrs. W. John at Westfield, 232-2288.

broke out between students of the two schools following the final buzzer.
The game was an extremely close one and, before the Blue Devils finished off Regional in the final period, it was anyone's game. The difference was Westfield center Tom Scott, who tossed in 36 points, blocked at least four shots and dominated both offensive and defensive boards.
After leading 19-9, at the first quarter, (Scott scored the first seven points) Westfield's lead evaporated until it led by only a single point, 26-25, with time running out in the half. Then Scott made a three-point play and Westfield never again trailed.
Highlander guard Jeff Burdette led a fourth-quarter rally to within three points of the Devils but he fouled out late in the contest and the margin grew to 12 points.
Earlier that evening, the Westfield junior varsity overwhelmed Regional, 49-37. The Livingston JV's were beaten by sheer size. Looking back on the varsity game, three players dominated statistics: Scott and Kevin Kane of Westfield and Burdette.

BURDETTE IS AGAIN the leader, play-maker and top shooter for Regional this year. He finished the game with 17 points and several assists. Other Highlanders to score included: Eric Wichelhaus nine points; Rich Weiss seven; John Adriance seven; John McElgunn six; Wayne Heiber four; Doug Rau one and Mike Rugon one.
Besides Scott, Kane (13 points) was outstanding for Westfield. A demon on the offensive boards Kane, who is 6-2, can stuff a shot with ease.
After the game's finish, tempers exploded, and scattered fist fights between students of both schools broke out. According to one player, the Regional players had to be given a police escort to their bus. Tension soon subsided though, as local police broke up the crowd milling around Westfield High School.
Although the game was marked down as a loss, it was a moral victory for Livingston. The Gov. Livingston basketball team has never been a power in the Watchung Conference, but this year could be different.

An indication of this came in the Westfield contest. Last year, in its two battles with the Blue Devils, Regional was literally pushed off the court. This season, they gave nearly the same Westfield quizlet all it could handle before losing.
Regional has two games this week—at Hillside tomorrow and at home to Watchung next Monday. Hillside will be led by Mike Levinson, who scored 19 points in his team's opening game with Scotch Plains. Watchung Hills will be paced by Harden, who tossed in 16 points in his team's first contest.
Both games are against foes who lost last week by more than 25 points. Regional should win both of them.

Research For Health

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH

Epilepsy
The young man's body stiffened, his arms began to thrash about, the people around him shifted uneasily. As he began to fall forward off the bus seat, an alert Navy corpsman caught him. Cradling his head, the medic quickly eased the man to the floor and protected him during his seizure.

In a few minutes the young man regained consciousness and said, "This never happened to me before." The sailor suggested that he see a doctor.

Among Tom, the brain specialist (neurologist) ordered electrical recordings of his brain waves. Then the doctors prescribed special drugs for him which they expected would prevent his convulsions if taken faithfully. Thanks to modern medicine, Tom now lives comfortably without seizures.

"Epilepsy" refers to a group of disorders which have the common characteristic of sudden, repeated electrical overactivity of an area of the brain. It can result from many different diseases which affect the brain. Often, no cause can be found.

Part of the problem in finding the causes of epilepsy is the intricate nature of the brain's function. Science has ushered in a new era in the study of nerve cell activity underlying normal and abnormal brain function. Use of instruments makes possible detection of changes from the normal internal electrical patterns in the brain.

One such instrument, the electroencephalograph (EEG), makes a record of shifts of electrical energy in groups of brain cells. With the EEG it is possible to make recordings through the scalp without discomfort to the patient. In nearly all epilepsy patients, unusual electrical patterns appear in the EEG record.

In the majority of epilepsy patients in which these electrical abnormalities are well localized, the EEG can assist the doctor in determining the specific area of the brain within which the electrical "storm" originated.

Now research has developed a fine electrode so thin it can record the electrical activity of a single brain cell. The micro-electrode helps researchers understand basic functions of the various brain structures.

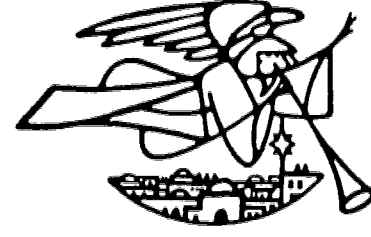

This technical advance increases the accuracy of drug tests on animal with experimentally-produced epilepsy. These drugs, which doctors help reduce seizures, can then be safely used to treat epilepsy patients.

Fever is the most common cause of seizures in babies. A recent discovery which may help prevent some infant seizures is that some of these convulsions result from alteration of the body's ability to regulate its mineral and water balance. When physicians correct these changed balances, they can reduce the chances of repeated seizures in children.

New hope for the epilepsy patient stems from the long efforts of physicians and research scientists.

Minor furniture repairs take little time or effort

Minor repairs on wooden furniture can often be made without great expense and with a little time and effort, says the county home economist. The most prevalent need is repair of scratches. Although refinishing may be the only solution to the complete removal of a scratch, many things can be used to hide scratches and make them less noticeable.

Because of many types of finishes on different kinds of wood, different repairs may be required. On medium to light toned finishes, the scratch marks may be rubbed with paste or cream wax to hide them. Or the scratch can be rubbed with rottenstone and oil and then rewaxed to cover the marks.

On finishes of definite color, such as red, brown, or yellow, wax sticks in the proper wood tone can be used to fill and color the scratch marks. Rub the filler in well with a finger and repeat as needed.

Liquid scratch removers are easy to use. Just apply the liquid with a soft cloth, let dry and then wax.

Unroasted nut meats, such as Brazil, black walnuts, or butternuts, can do wonders for scratches on darker woods. The oil of the nut provides enough coloring to hide a scratch.

Iodine, shoe polish, or mercurochrome can be used on matching colored woods to impart enough color to mask a scratch.

Plastic putties are available in wood tones and are generally more satisfactory for filling larger dents or scratches. Plastic putties or wood fillers are also good to use to repair loose drawer pulls or door hinges. Remove the pull or hinge and fill the holes with a filler and allow to dry thoroughly. When the screws are replaced, the filled hole will be new and tight.

A little warm oil applied to paper stuck to a wooden surface will soon correct the problem. The oil will not mar the surface and will quickly dissolve the paper.

White marks resulting from heat or moisture can easily be removed by rubbing the surface with a mixture of pumice powder and clear oil; wipe and rub with a dry woolen cloth and re wax or polish if desired.

FAMILY POT LUCK BY HELEN HALE

Pecan pies are in season. And, they're not as difficult to prepare as you might believe. Here's a good recipe: Beat 3 eggs slightly. Mix in 1 cup dark corn syrup, 2 tablespoons melted margarine, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/8 teaspoon salt and 1 cup pecans. Pour into unbaked 9-inch pastry shell. Bake in 400 degrees F. oven for 15 minutes, reset oven temperature control at 350 degrees F, and continue baking 30 to 35 minutes.

For a quick and seasonal dessert, bake your favorite rice pudding in a square pan. Top with canned cherry pie just before serving.

Want something different? Try corn burgers. You'll need 1-1/2 lbs. ground beef; 1/2 cup bread crumbs; 2/3 cup evaporated milk; 1 beaten egg; 2 tbs. A.1. Sauce; 1 tsp. salt; 1/4 tsp. pepper; 1 tsp. powdered mustard; 1/2 cup whole kernel corn. Mix all ingredients. Shape into 6 patties and broil 5-6 minutes on each side.

Margarine Pastry (For 9-inch pastry shell) 1-1/3 cups sifted flour 1/3 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup margarine 2 tablespoons cold water Combine flour and salt in mixing bowl. Blend in margarine with pastry blender or 2 knives until mixture is very well blended and fine crumbs form. (Do not be afraid of over-mixing.) Sprinkle water over mixture while tossing to blend well. Press dough firmly into balls with hands. (If mixture seems crumbly, work with hands until it will hold together.) Flatten dough slightly and roll out to 12-inch circle on lightly floured board or cloth. Fit loosely into 9-inch pie pan. Trim 1/2 inch beyond rim of pan, if necessary. Flute edge. Fill and bake as required for particular filling.

Annual dinner set by state's bankers

The New Jersey Bankers' Association will hold its annual Farmers and Bankers Dinner on Tuesday, Jan. 28, at the Greenbrier Restaurant, North Brunswick, it was announced by Raymond W. Bauer, president of the association and president of the Union County Trust Co., Elizabeth. The January meeting will mark the 22nd year NJBA has conducted the farmers and bankers dinner.

Featured speaker at the dinner will be Dr. Charles A. Russell, associate professor of communication arts at Cornell University. Professor Russell's topic for the evening will be "Astronauts, Mini-skirts, and Interest."

More than 350 farmers and bankers are expected to attend the dinner, which is one of the prime attractions during New Jersey's Farm Week festivities. Clarence D. McCormick, chairman, NJBA Committee on Agriculture, and executive vice-president and cashier of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, Bridgeton, will preside.

One more chance this Saturday to bag that deer

Holders of New Jersey special deer permits will have one more chance to bring home a whitetail this Saturday, according to a committee report A. Roe of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

A total of 9,292 permits have been issued to licensed hunters selected by computer from over 27,000 applicants. Additional permits have been sent to farmers who applied to hunt their own land within the permit area.

Each permit holder may bag one deer of either sex, regardless of whether he got a deer during the regular firearm or archery season. Only a shotgun loaded with buckshot may be used, and the deer must be taken in the county or on the particular farm for which the permit was issued.

Each deer must be tagged immediately with the transportation tag attached to the special permit. This tag is valid only this Saturday and must be exchanged for a possession tag at a State Checking Station before 7 p.m. There will be 14 stations in the nine counties, and the hunter may go to whichever is most convenient.

The small game season, including fox and woodchuck, will be closed statewide on the day of the special hunt, and snow hunting will be closed on the nights of Dec. 20 and 21. Licensed semi-wild and commercial preserves will be open, but hunters may seek only licensed species, carry only birdshot and hunt only on preserve lands; waterfowl season will be open, but hunters will be checked for Federal Duck Stamps and possession of birdshot only. Anyone else carrying a weapon in the woods and fields will be subject to prosecution for hunting out of season.

Small game and raccoon seasons will re-open on Monday.

Permit quotas for the special deer hunt were determined by the State Fish and Game Council, based on scientific information gathered by State Wildlife Biologists. State Fish and Game Director Lester G. MacNamara said, "This season is in keeping with our successful management policy of providing maximum recreational use of New Jersey's deer herd consistent with maintenance of this valuable natural resource."

Volunteers brighten Yule for veterans

Three area volunteers will help bring cheer on Christmas Gift Night at the Lyons Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mrs. Alfred Stein of Union, representing the American War Dads Auxiliary, Edward Demstia of Roselle, a representative of the Polish Legion of American Volunteers, and Roger Remington of Irvington, a member of the Air Raid Wardens and its Auxiliary, Zone 8 Inc., will participate with other volunteers from around the state on Monday to bring the spirit of the season to the hospitalized veterans.

This holiday occasion represents almost six months work by the Veterans Administration Voluntary Service Committee which this year comprises over 60 service and civic organizations.

Several months ago, appropriate sample items were procured and each of the 1,800 patients selected items which they wished for Christmas. This program was entirely financed by the participating organizations.

In addition to procuring, more than 400 volunteers wrapped these gifts on Dec. 11, in preparation for Gift Night. Parties will be held on each ward of the hospital and refreshments and musical units will be provided.

ADDED HAZARD

High snowbanks are an added hazard for wintertime drivers in certain areas, notes the New Jersey State Safety Council. An especially sharp look-out must be kept when approaching an intersection, or approaching from a private driveway, where banks of piled-high snow block the view. Slow down for such spots!

1969 hunting, fishing licenses on sale

New Jersey 1969 hunting and fishing licenses are now available from agents throughout the state, according to Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. Trout stamps and free Compendiums of 1969 Fish Laws are also available.

Delivery of licenses are scheduled for collection this weekend to agents including major sporting goods stores, department stores dealing in outdoor equipment and most municipal clerks. Earlier distribution would be impractical, as sale of current licenses usually is substantial up to the beginning of deer season, Roe said.

"A license makes an excellent Christmas gift for a sportsman. It is something which will furnish the hunter or angler virtually unlimited recreational enjoyment through the entire year. The license is needed for pursuit of these outdoor sports, and it is something the sportsman does not already have. There is no problem about size or style, other than knowing the recipient's preference for hunting, angling or trout fishing," Roe said.

Shoemaker Holly tree on Parkway is lighted

The 305-year-old Shoemaker Holly tree in the middle of the Garden State Parkway at Palermo was lighted last week for the holiday season.

Vice Chairman John B. Townsend of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the toll road, gave the signal for the annual lighting of the celebrated tree, 23 miles from the Parkway's southern end at Cape May. The Parkway runs 173 miles from the N.J.-N.Y. border in the north.

Early license purchasers are able to enjoy winter hunting opportunities for many species. Many hunters regard January hunting for quail, grouse and rabbit as some of the best of the year. Anglers can participate in the unusual sport of ice fishing. Licenses remain valid for the full gamut of spring, summer and fall fishing and 1969 fall and winter hunting seasons, Roe pointed out.

"New Jersey Outdoors," the official State Fish and Game publication, is an additional gift for the outdoor enthusiast. "Pointers about places, techniques and regulations will add to success in the field, and stories will help recapture sporting enjoyment during hours spent indoors," Roe said. Subscriptions, priced at $2 for a year (12 issues) or $5 for three years, may be obtained from the Division of Fish and Game, Box 1809, Trenton 08625. A gift card will be sent on request.

Teacher tests set at Montclair State

Montclair State College has been designated as a test center for administering the National Teacher Examinations on Feb. 1, Richard Taubold, assistant director of students, announced this week.

College seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require applicants to submit their scores on the National Teacher Examinations along with their other credentials are eligible to take the tests. Last year more than 98,000 candidates took the examinations, which are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service of Princeton.

At the one-day session, a candidate may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional education and general education, and one of the 15 teaching area examinations which are designed to evaluate his understanding of the subject matter and methods applicable to the area he may be assigned to teach.

Holiday deadlines
Careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday news deadline is urged for the issues of Dec. 26 and Jan. 2, which will be printed early to avoid conflict with the Christmas and New Year's holidays. All organizational and social news for the Dec. 26 issue should be submitted by Dec. 20, and all material for the Jan. 2 issue, by Dec. 27.

Policy resolutions adopted, Realtors wind up convention

The New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards, at its 52nd annual convention in Atlantic City last week, adopted a broad range of policy resolutions.

These included the following 10 resolutions presented to the Realtors by Association President Adelaide Shaffer Campbell:

—Urges action before June 18, 1969 on the selection of a fourth metropolitan airport of intercontinental capacity to be located in the McGuire-Lakeland area.

—Urges the Governor and the Legislature to direct maximum efforts to achieve prudent fiscal economy with no new taxes without demonstrable necessity and elimination or merging of overlapping and duplicating agencies.

—Urges the Legislature to immediately prepare legislation to study the inequitable, burdensome and confiscatory taxes assessed against real estate. The Realtors suggest a greater portion of the sales tax revenue be returned to the local level for direct relief to real estate.

—Urges Commission established by the State of New Jersey to review and revise codes and practices to update zoning and planning laws. The Association asks elimination of the unnecessary long and costly procedures in obtaining minor subdivision approvals from local planning boards.

—Urges all appropriate agencies of the state government, municipal governing bodies, the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards and all citizens to cooperate in adopting all reasonable means to reduce to a minimum all causes of water and air pollution. The continued and alarming increase in air and water pollution throughout New Jersey poses a serious threat to health and the economic well-being of our inhabitants and is a menace to our natural recreational facilities.

—Congratulates the New Jersey Legislature for its untiring efforts leading to the final passage of SCR-41 which is a giant step forward clearance of titles on thousands of acres of meadowlands. NJAREB urges all New Jersey voters to support and vote for proposed amendments to the Constitution at the next general election. This amendment defines State ownership of tidelands and confirms and ratifies private ownership of meadowlands. An affirmative vote will stimulate development of this vast area and result in increased tax rates and added employment opportunities.

—Asks the Department of Transportation and the Legislature to adopt as a part of its priority policy the immediate improvement and continuance of short-haul commuter service so vital to our citizens and the State's economic progress.

—Favors legislation requiring fingerprinting and photographing of all real estate licensees and issuance of pocket cards containing said prints and photos, license number and date of issue.

—Congratulates the 1968 Legislature for its creation of the Fire and Extended Coverage Insurance Underwriting Association and urges the same mandatory feature to include property liability insurance.

—Urges the Legislature to repeal the Unincorporated Business Tax—one of the most regressive forms of taxation devised because it ignores the ability to pay. Rather than based on profits it taxes all businesses at the same rate.

Approval renewed for B'nai B'rith

Joel Goldberg, executive director of the B'nai B'rith Vocational Service of Northern New Jersey with offices at 1767 Morris Ave., Union, and 555 Cedar Lane, Teaneck, announces that his agency has been reapproved by the American Board on Counseling Services for the years 1968-1970.

"This approval is the end result of a rather rigorous investigation of counseling practices undertaken by the American Board on Counseling Services, the certifying arm of the American Personnel and Guidance Association. Nationwide there are only four hundred counseling facilities which carry such an approval," Goldberg said.

"B'nai B'rith Vocational Service is a non-profit, non-sectarian agency. The office maintains one of the most complete vocational and educational libraries in the State. The library is open to the public from 9 to 5, Monday through Friday. For further information contact 687-7422," he added.

WORN BLADES
Winter's slush and grime reduce visibility, creating a serious traffic hazard, according to the New Jersey State Safety Council. Too many cars have worn and streaking windshield wipers. Replacement blades are quick and inexpensive, but they can be real life-savers.

Undergraduate forgotten at library

Rutgers system geared for advanced scholar

The new director of Rutgers University's sprawling library system is a youngish activist with the intriguing idea that an effective modern academic library is much more than a large collection of books.

As Roy L. Kidman sees it, one of the major problems for a university library system, and one central to the entire educational process, is how to keep some sort of balance between serving the research needs of advanced scholars and those of the undergraduates.

Tall, lean and articulate at 43, Kidman expanded on this problem in an interview in his office at the university's main library on College Avenue here.

"On the one hand," said Kidman, "the library at any major university has to make available to scholars, graduate students and other researchers original materials in great depth. On the other, the university library must serve the entirely different needs of the undergraduate."

SOMEHOW, HE SUGGESTED, the needs of the undergraduate usually seem to get lost in the shuffle. And most prominent among those needs, Kidman emphasized, are separate undergraduate libraries where all sorts of audio-visual learning devices are readily available.

"Even in a highly selective college where the academic potential of virtually every student is at least fairly high there are slow readers and we've got to get the information to them in any way we can," Kidman said.

The library director noted that Dr. Warren L. Susman's recent study, "The Reconstruction of An American College," pointed out that Rutgers College, the men's undergraduate college in New Brunswick, has no library of its own. And as a matter of fact, among the 22 libraries in the State University's system, there is only one, at Douglass College, which is intended primarily for undergraduates.

But relief is on the way.

The new library for the Kilmer Area Campus was planned and designed long before Kidman arrived on the Rutgers Campus last July from the University of California at Riverside, but the general plan has his enthusiastic support.

And, in fact, Kidman would like to see an expansion and extension of its principal features at other libraries in the State University.

The opening of the Kilmer Area Library will mark the entry of the Rutgers library system into the important and growing field of audio-visual services. Space has been provided for the use of recordings, films, film strips and tapes and other accessories in this field.

This will permit wide experimentation in the newest methods of acquiring and disseminating knowledge.

"We are trying to identify the needs of the college undergraduate," Kidman said. "We are putting together a book collection which we think will meet his academic needs and also lead him into some sort of intellectual foraging for himself, but at the same time we have to consider how the learning process works."

"IT SEEMS, SUPERFICIALLY anyway," he continued, "that a good deal of the learning in college takes place with a book in the library. But we don't know if this is the most effective way of learning."

Kidman cited the familiar case in the learning process of the football player who is furnished with a film of his next opponent, where he can study his every move over and over.

The Rutgers librarian pointed out that films or other audio-visual techniques might prove equally useful to the man studying physiology or the theater, where there are problems of visual dynamics to be solved. He also said that one of the things the library is eager to experiment with is the coordination of all these materials in the Kilmer Area Library.

"We hope to get faculty members who are interested to select and coordinate all the materials they think would be useful. This cannot be decided by the library. The faculty has to decide. The library doesn't just buy books, it buys books to meet academic needs, and it must go through the same process with audio-visual materials."

Kidman also said that he would like to see some specialists in educational psychology develop some evaluation of the qualitative effectiveness of the use of these kinds of materials.

"I am not an educational psychologist," Kidman said. "I am an academic person and that is why I am an academic librarian."

As an academic librarian Kidman is very much aware that after all is said and done, and despite its emphasis on audio-visual materials, the heart of any library is in its printed materials.

Thursday, December 19, 1968

He noted that it is why the Rutgers library system orders about 10,000 additional volumes a month.

Crime up 19 pct. for first 9 months of '68, FBI says

The FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, a compilation of statistics submitted voluntarily by local and state police agencies, discloses that for the first nine months of 1968 crime in the United States increased 19 percent over the corresponding period of 1967. The figures were released this week by Attorney General Ramsey Clark.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover pointed out that violent crimes as a group increased 21 percent nationally. When viewed individually, these crimes showed a 32 percent increase in robbery, 17 percent in forcible rape, 15 percent in murder, and 13 percent in aggravated assault. Each category of the more voluminous property crimes recorded increases with thefts over $50 in value up 23 percent, auto thefts up 22 percent, and burglary up 16 percent. As a group, the property crimes registered a 19 percent rise.

According to the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, the large core metropolitan cities of over 250,000 population showed an average 21 percent increase. The suburban communities recorded a 19 percent increase, while rural areas rose 13 percent. Regionally, the crime trends ranged from an overall increase of 25 percent in the northeastern states to a 16 percent rise in the north central states. The southern states registered a 17 percent increase during the nine-month period and the western states 19 percent. Each region recorded increases in all crime classifications.

Hoover called attention to the continuing sharp upward trend of robbery offenses on a nationwide basis and, particularly, to a 37 percent increase in armed robbery. He disclosed street robbery, which makes up over one-half of all robbery offenses, increased 37 percent, service station robbery 31 percent, business house robbery 28 percent, chain store robbery 20 percent, and robbery of residences 19 percent.

He also noted that firearms were used to commit 65 percent of all murders during the nine-month period January through September, 1968. Firearms were used to commit 23 percent of all aggravated assaults and the use of a firearm in serious assaults rose 26 percent during the nine-month period, 1968 over 1967.

Area residents share large Howard dividend

The Swuyesant Village Branch of the Howard Savings Institution has completed the crediting of its Dec. 1 record dividend of $397,744 to its more than 8,878 depositors, mostly Irvington and Union residents. The total of the last four quarterly dividends was in excess of $1,480,000, according to John Burke, branch manager.

The bank has been in operation since 1965 and now has deposits in excess of $34 million. In addition, the bank has rented 871 safe deposit boxes and more than 1,370 people maintain their checking accounts here with a combined balance in excess of $600,000.

Parkway to renew campaign to screen 'unsightly' posters

The Garden State Parkway this week again backed the call for removal of advertising signs posted along the road with notice that it intends to continue screening out the unsightly signs.

Chairman Sylvester C. Smith, Jr., of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Parkway, said personal letters have gone out—some a second time since 1966—to 70 owners of distracting commercial signs asking for their voluntary removal from the view of motorists on the scenic road.

Some 90 offensive signs, or more than half the original inventoried number, have been taken down since the Authority first appealed to owners directly two years ago. Four have been screened out by special plantings, but others have sprung up in the same time. In his latest letter to the sign owners, Commissioner Smith noted: "In this sincere effort to preserve the Parkway as a scenic and safe superhighway, we intend to continue our program of screening out signs by special plantings. Obviously we prefer not to take such steps, but in the absence of any voluntary removal of signs we will pursue that course again this spring."

The Chairman said a great number of motorists who have urged action against the postings support the Authority's conviction that "such commercial signs along the Parkway route represent a real detriment to its serviceability and safety—let alone its scenery."

He added that the garish postings on abutting property "distract from the Parkway's natural attractiveness, from its own traffic and safety signs, and generally from the task at hand of driving with full awareness on a high-speed roadway."

State may ask courts to curb building unless pollution levels are reduced

Unless prompt action is taken to reduce pollution levels in northern New Jersey waterways, the State Department of Health will seek court action to further restrict the area's building activities.

This warning was issued last week by Richard J. Sullivan, Director of the Department of Health's Division of Clean Air and Water, at a Water Resources Management Conference in Hoboken cosponsored by the New Jersey Society of Professional Engineers and Stevens Institute of Technology.

Estimating the cost of an adequate pollution control program at one billion dollars, Sullivan said, "Unless a vast corrective effort is undertaken to eliminate pollution from our streams, bays, lakes, estuaries and coastal waters, further restrictions on building and recreational activities are a certainty. Steps to control pollution must be taken. The question is whether they will result from the initiative of local government or from state enforcement measures."

"This past summer, the public read about the red tide off our seashore areas, about beach closings and the gross pollution of northern New Jersey's rivers," he continued. "We are ready to make an orderly scientific attack on water pollution. But we need help. We must have the understanding of the people and money to build large waste treatment facilities."

SULLIVAN OUTLINED the danger to water supplies and the loss of commercial and sport fishing areas due to polluted water. He pointed out that New Jersey already faces serious pollution problems that are having a "substantial impact on the state economy," and urged the assembled local officials and engineers to take corrective action before more damage is done.

The Conference, hosted by the Engineer-

Society's Conservation of Natural Resources Committee, was attended by government officials and industrial executives. They were brought together to jointly consider and evaluate pending, proposed and possible programs for the management of the water resources in New Jersey's metropolitan counties—Bergen, Essex, Hudson, Morris, Passaic and Union.

Other featured speakers at the meeting were: —Fred J. Elmiger, project review chief of the Hudson River Valley Commission of New York, who described that commission's achievements in conserving the Hudson Valley.

—Dr. Arthur Lesser, Jr., chairman of the Department of Economics of Engineering and Management Science, Stevens Institute of Technology, who discussed "The Potential of Industrial Growth Along the Passaic River." —Kenneth H. Walker, director of the North Atlantic Water Quality Management Center, Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, who spoke on "The Federal Government's Role in Water Resources Management in Metropolitan New Jersey."

The Conservation of Natural Resources Committee plans to sponsor a similar public seminar dealing with the problems of air pollution at Rutgers University in the spring.

RETOOLING

The Federal-State public employment service is constantly retooling its machinery to improve employment opportunities for Indian citizens, particularly those 380,000 individuals who live on or near trust land or reservations.

Food Stamp expands downward

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman this week announced a liberalization of the Food Stamp Program which will improve benefits to more than 500,000 persons.

Families with net incomes under $70 a month who take part in the Food Stamp Program can get more food for less cash starting February 1, or soon afterward.

"This will move the lowest-income families in the Food Stamp Program closer to the goal of a fully-adequate low-cost diet—as close as we can get them with the funds and authority now available," the Secretary said. "It will also make it easier for more families to take part."

For example, a family of four with a monthly income of less than $20 in a Northern State now pays $2 and gets $52 worth of food stamp coupons. After the program changes, they will pay $2 and get $60 worth of food stamp coupons.

Christmas date: It's only a guess

Is Christmas really the date of Christ's birth?

Scholars don't know. For more than 300 years Christians observed His birthday on varying dates. Midway in the Fourth Century, Bishop Liberius and the Christians of Rome began to celebrate His birthday on December 25.

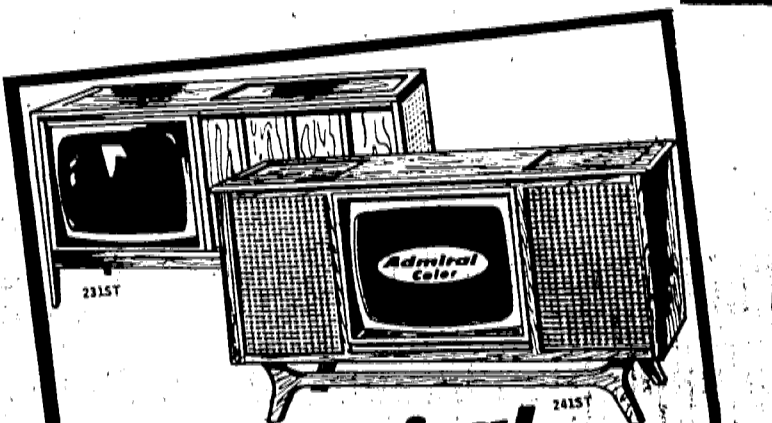

World Book Encyclopedia says Liberius probably adopted this date because people already observed it as the Feast of Saturn, celebrating the birthday of the sun. Christmas honored Christ, instead of Saturn, as the Light of the World.

The Christians of Egypt celebrated Christmas on January 6, and many members of the Eastern Orthodox Church still observe this date.

Air pollution hearing set

A public hearing on matters relating to air pollution control in New Jersey will be conducted by the New Jersey Clean Air Council in two sessions scheduled for Feb. 5 and March 26 and 27, Stephen P. Lichtenstein, chairman of the council, announced.

The sessions will be held at 9:30 a.m. in the Labor Education Center, Rutgers, Ryker's Lane, New Brunswick. Lichtenstein will chair the meetings.

The hearing is arranged in two parts. Part I (Feb. 5) will be a meeting in which representatives of federal, state and local governments will provide comprehensive status reports. The nature of these reports are: state - air pollution sources, controls and administration; federal - authority of the federal government and operation of air quality regions; local - problems of local controls, including their scope and effectiveness.

Part II (March 26 and 27) will provide an opportunity for those interested in air pollution to speak and to convey information and opinions to the council.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

I am 16 years old and I have a problem. At the age of 13, I began drinking at an unchaperoned party, and it has become progressively worse -- so bad in fact that I often have blackouts. Each week I consume approximately two fifths of hard liquor, and please don't tell me to quit for I am hooked and I enjoy drinking.

I'm an only child, and both my parents work so I am left alone most of the time. Luckily, I have a 21 year old boy-friend, and he can get liquor cheap -- cheap in money but not in dignity.

The problem is this guy. He expects more and more in payment for my booze. He's got me trapped and he knows I can't stop. He has threatened not to give me any more stuff if I don't give him what he wants.

Hung Up
Dear Hung Up:
Your enjoyable "problem" is more serious than you think. Whether you realize it or not, you are killing yourself slowly, but surely. A person has to be big enough to admit they are an alcoholic (which you have done) then seek help to conquer the booze before it conquers them.

Please tell your parents, your clergyman or any other adult who can lead you in the right direction to properly trained people who can help you. Good luck!

Dear Amy:

You have helped me so many times that I am writing again, but now my problem concerns dinner guests. Some people like their tea strong; some like it weak. How do I go about serving them? Does this also go for coffee?

Mrs. J. D.

Dear Mrs. J.D.:

When serving finicky guests tea, let them brew their own with tea bags. Coffee, my dear, is a different story. One never changes one's "brew" to please anyone. Friendships have grown on the strength of one's coffee, but I have never heard of strained friendships on these grounds.

Dear Amy:
My wife and I (supposedly my wife) have been living together for three years. I'm madly in love with her, but she doesn't feel the same about me. She refused to marry me because she says that she wouldn't be free to leave me when the spirit moved her. What can I do?

Mr. D. W.
This woman represents the perfect utopia for a man so inclined to pick up her tabs... no strings attached. But you made the mistake of falling in love with her! Since your inclinations are at the opposite ends of morality, the void can never be bridged. She was honest with you; now be honest with yourself and get off the "brass-ringed marriage-ground" and find a woman who wants to share the sanctity of love, marriage, home and a family.

Dear Amy:
I have been bedridden for 2 years. I have two lovely children, ages five and six. During my illness my mother-in-law has been taking care of the children. Also, during this period, my mother-in-law has encouraged my children to come to her with their problems and even to call her mother.

I am able now to fulfill my obligations as a housewife and mother and I would like her to leave. She has her own apartment. I have discussed this with my husband, but he refuses to voice an opinion. My children prefer her to me. I appreciate her taking care of my children, but now I want my children's love back.
Ex-Mother

Dear Ex-Mother:
There is not enough gratitude or money in the world to repay your mother-in-law for her unselfish devotion to you and your family.

Treat her kindly! But tell her that you are ready to take over now and that she can finally go home and live her own life. A woman as wonderful as she can't help but understand and she will probably thank God. You haven't lost the love of your children. As time goes by, you shall see.

50 N. J. children to appear in 'Nutcracker' performances

DRUMMER BOY -- Eleven-year-old Raymond K. Menendez of Elizabeth will be making his second appearance in the Garden State Ballet's annual production of "The Nutcracker." He is shown in the Christmas party scene in Act I. Raymond is a student at the Newark Ballet Academy, the official school of the Garden State Ballet, on a special scholarship for boys.

In addition to being a time of school vacations, presents and snow, December is "Nutcracker" season for more than 50 children in New Jersey who are spending the entire month preparing for a full production of the Tchaikovsky ballet on the stage of Newark's Symphony Hall on Saturday, Dec. 28.

The third annual presentation, produced by the Garden State Ballet and the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, will be performed at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The youngsters will join the full professional company of the Garden State Ballet and guest soloists Violette Verdy, a prima ballerina of the New York City Ballet as the Sugar Plum Fairy and Reyes Fernandez, a premiere dancer of the American Ballet Theatre as her Cavalier, Henry Lewis, new music director of the New Jersey Symphony, will conduct this year's performances of the "Nutcracker" which include two student performances Jan. 3.

Williams picks 10 for service school

WASHINGTON-U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-NJ) this week named eight New Jersey high school seniors and two other New Jersey residents now attending military academies, as his nominees to the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy.

The ten young men named will compete with the other candidates nominated by the New Jersey Congressional delegation for the ten vacancies open to the Garden State.

Senator Williams pointed out that this week's announcement involves only Merchant Marine Academy nominees, and that he will make his customary appointments to the Army, Navy, and Air Force academies at a later date.

Named by Senator Williams were applicants from River Edge, Pompton Plains, Westfield, New Brunswick, Wood-Ridge, Dumont, West Trenton, Plainfield, Palmyra, and Chatham.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

THE NEAR HOUR
We are nearing the end of a year which has seen new achievements in the world of modern medicine but, as we close out the final days of the year 1968 the eyes and the thoughts of mankind are turned back to the early and the greatest wonder recorded among the events of life upon earth -- the miracle of Bethlehem.

This is the time of year when Christians look to their faith with a mixture of joy and anticipation.

This is the time of year when many shut out the sounds of the world and seek again to hear the word of God.

As we come nearer to that holy Day, the heartbeat may quicken. Some small thing -- a trinket, a rose, or a bough of greenery -- is enough to call forth memories of holidays come and gone.

How great it shall be for each and every man can only be decided by the manner in which that individual turns his eyes toward Bethlehem and reaches with outstretched arms to find the true meaning of the holiday that we call the Christmas.

Public Notice
PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the following ordinance, introduced on November 11, 1968 was approved and adopted on final and public hearing at a meeting of the Board of Health of the Borough of Mountaintide held on December 9, 1968:

AN ORDINANCE TO FIX SALARIES OF CERTAIN OFFICIALS AND EMPLOYEES OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE BOROUGH OF MOUNTAINSIDE.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am 16 years old and I haven't been out with a girl yet. All my buddies date quite frequently and they think that there is something very peculiar about me just because I would rather hang around with the guys at the bowling alley than go out with girls. My buddies are always getting a hard time from their girlfriends. I don't think I should go through that kind of grief. So I think I should stay the way I am despite the pressure I get urging me to go out with girls. What do you think?"

OUR REPLY: We don't think that you should go out with girls just to please your buddies. We also think you are approaching the age when you should begin to show a healthy interest in the opposite sex. You haven't seen any grief at all to match what would be yours one day if you suddenly realized that you were past middle-age and had done little in your lifetime but hang around a bowling alley with the boys. Widen your interests. Don't think you have to jump into the girl-dating bit in a big hurry. Just begin to look around you and you'll realize that girls aren't all grief. Far from it. And, buddy, you may be on a one-way street if you continue to stay with the bowling alley boys and exclude everything else.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

Teach good driving when you give that bicycle, AAA advises

Parents who are giving their youngsters bicycles this holiday season should also give them a "good driving" program to follow, says Stewart Nadel, safety director of the New Jersey Auto Club, AAA. Bicycle driving in good health requires, and it also requires preparation for young people who will soon drive cars, Nadel says, but it's only healthful if children know enough about traffic and driving to help prevent injuries. Last year, 10,000 bicycle accidents caused 300 deaths and $4,000 injuries in the United States last year, and that three of every five riders killed were under age 15.

A booklet of rules for a driver can be picked up at the office of the AAA Club at 100 Park St. in Newark, and at 100 Park St. in Westfield, Fairfield, Trenton, and other cities.

Parents can help their children by teaching them to: --Ride only in safe places, away from traffic wherever possible. --Always yield the right of way to pedestrians.

--Ride only one on a bike. --Wear light-colored clothing that can be easily seen in daylight, and with reflective light material at night. --Have a good headlight and taillight if they must ride after dark, and check the batteries often. (It's better to limit bike riding to daylight hours.) --Keep the bicycle in good condition.

Museum to close during holidays

Three exhibitions are on view: William S. Horton, American Impressionist; Influence of the Academy; Christmas Story in Art. A gallery talk on the Christmas Story exhibition will be given by Elsie W. Dillon on Sunday, at 3:30 p.m.

'The Star!' bows at the Bellevue

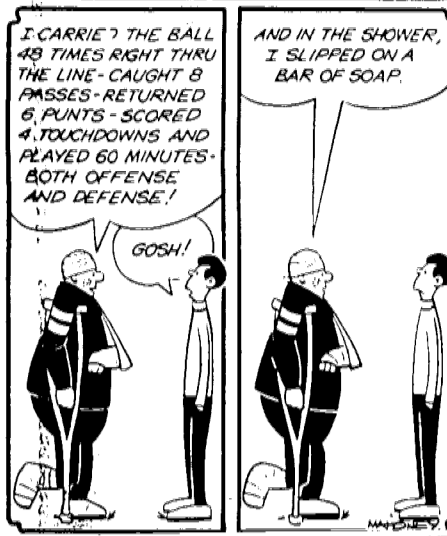

Julie Andrews plays the title role of Gertrude Lawrence in "The Star!", film biography in color with music, which had its New Jersey premiere yesterday at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair.

Miss Andrews sings and dances in bright musical comedy numbers and lavish clothes and settings.

Paul Mantee, son of actor Raymond Mantee, is seen as Noel Coward. The supporting cast includes Richard Crenna, Michael Craig and Robert Reed.

Academy Award-winner, Robert Wise, who directed Miss Andrews in "The Sound of Music," directed "The Star."

'Two of Us' now at Art, plus 'Elvira Madigan'

"The Two of Us," French film drama, starring Michel Simon and Alain Cohen, opened yesterday at the Art Theater, Irvington Center. The picture, which tells a story of a growing love between an old man and a Jewish boy, was directed by Claude Berri.

The associate film at the Art is "Elvira Madigan," a Swedish drama about an officer who runs off with a circus star. Based on a real-life affair that made headlines in Sweden, the film stars Pia Degermark and Tommy Berggren and was directed by Bo Widerberg in color.

Peter Sellers film to open at Ormont

The Ormont Theater, East Orange, is featuring a special holiday show, "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas," starring Peter Sellers, Leigh Taylor-Young, Jo Van Fleet, Joyce Van Patten, David Arkin and Herbert Edelman, starts tomorrow.

Sellers plays a middle-class lawyer who leaves his wedding ceremony to become a hippie with a beautiful young playmate. Hy Averback directed the picture in color.

Real cool show at the Flagship through Dec. 29

There's real cool entertainment at the Flagship on Rt. 22 in Union the so evenings through Dec. 29. In fact, it's pretty cool—inside and out—but it's more fun inside, when a viewer can sit back in the warmth and watch the "Ice Sparkles" skaters and dancers do their thing to music and song.

Larry Dixon's presentation of the ice revue with dancing and comedy on skates, is headed by talented Lou Folds and Heather Holden. Miss Belden, a tall, attractive young woman, who comes from England, was with the European edition of "Holiday on Ice," which ran for six years in Chicago. The ice stage at the Flagship is small, and she whirls around it as if she were at Madison Square Garden.

The other skater-entertainers are equally good. They include the Adagio team, Darlene Gilbert, Bill Griffin and the Acrobatic Marvel on skates, Florence Rae.

Johnny Christopher, a young singer, who makes his American bow on the Union stage, shows potential as a show business personality. As an extra added attraction, there are Hawaiian dancers. They cool the ice.

The Theatre Seen

'CABARET' RE-VISITED

BY ROBERT LYONS

The first thing you might see entering "Cabaret" is yourself. A cross-eyed mirror hangs on a stage reflecting back to the bright, alert theatrical audience, a blurred, assembling, night club mob.

Everything starts with a sign lowered, then lit, spelling "Cabaret." A wind-up doll master-of-ceremonies slithers to the stage apron to welcome you in five or six languages, then single-handedly brings on the cast and set in a stunning opening.

"Cabaret" is 1929 Berlin in a last, gasping fling, sensing the darkness of a decade that lasted fifteen years. Two love stories personalize the play. Sally Bowles, an amoral English cafe singer and Cliff Bradshaw, a young American writer, are one pair. Fraulein Schneider, a Jewish house operator, and Herr Schultz, a rooming fruit store owner, are the second.

Anita Gillette and Larry Kert are Sally and Cliff. George Voskovec is now Herr Schultz and Lotte Lenya has returned as Fraulein Schneider. Martin Ross is the Historic, paid piper M.C., getting us lost, moneyless, taxless, hatless, coatless, and addressless in the Berlin dawn.

The music, costumes, and sets vividly criticize the times. What makes "Cabaret" brilliant is that the entertainment is not softened. That foil mirror states we will accept with a jaded excitement all that happens.

In movies the routine is to try repeating or copying a success. In the theatre it's the opposite. Producers are saying "Let's not do another Cabaret." A wise tribute. It's been done.

Union Catholic parents set New Year's dance

The parents guild of Union Catholic Boys' High School will hold a New Year's Eve Dance in the School on Tuesday, Dec. 31, from 10 p.m. to 3 a.m. Music will be by the Suburbans. Dress will be semi-formal. Tickets will be $15 per couple which will include a buffet supper.

Requests for reservation may be made through Edward Stonacy 698-3523, at 1218 Schmidt ave., Union.

GORDON MACRAE — Actor-singer from East Orange will make his first appearance at the Meadowbrook Dinner Theater, Cedar Grove, on New Year's Eve. Appearing with MacRae, will be a new group of singers and dancers.

Prof in warning on 'Big Brother'

Well before the "1984" era of Big Brother, electronic snooping by governments is already posing "sinister threats" to the privacy of people everywhere, a United Nations conference has been warned.

Cautioning against the spreading use of computerized citizen-data banks, Lord Ritchie-Calder, Edinburgh University professor of international studies, told a conference sponsored by the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO):

"To me, human rights means that every individual has a right to his identity and his personality. Instead, we are ceasing to be people and becoming statistics."

radios make great gifts

but RCA makes them better

The YOSEMITE — Model RLC40 — FM/AM table radio. Dramatic vertical style. Solid state design plus big 6" oval speaker. AFC. Continuous tone control. Built-in antennas.

The ROCKETTE — Model RLG11 — Operates on One-9-volt battery. Built-in antenna. Direct drive tuning. Battery included.

Radio is RCA's first name. If you are giving a radio for Christmas why not give the best. For example, there is a little solid state nine volt transistor with carrying loop that fits into pocket or purse. It has a big sound for its little size. Then again, there is a FM/AM clock radio for the person who'd like to wake up to a gentle buzz or buzzing jazz. Whichever. It's the Spitsbergen. And of course it's a reliable clock too. Or perhaps you'd like to give the Yosemite. It's a moderately priced (aren't they all?) radio that adds a dramatic contemporary flair to any rooms decor. And it sounds bigger than it looks. As a matter of fact if you're looking for the appeal of a fine antique...or for a world of listening on a 6-band model the newest look in sound comes from RCA. So go ahead, give someone a radio for Christmas. But make sure it's from RCA. Because RCA makes radios a little better than anyone else. They should, they've been making them a little longer than anyone else. And that's saying a lot.

State museum exhibiting Waugh marine paintings

The New Jersey State Museum in Trenton is currently exhibiting marine paintings by New Jersey-born Frederick J. Waugh. "Painting by Frederick J. Waugh (1861-1940) from the collection of Edwin A. Ulrich."

In addition to the many, varied seascapes, Waugh's art—oils, watercolors, pencil drawings—includes examples of landscapes, art nouveau and samples of the camouflage he did for the Navy during World War I, some never previously exhibited.

Waugh and his family spent many years in Europe, most of them in England. Then, after several years in Montclair, he moved to a farmhouse in Kent, Conn., and enjoyed his last 13 years in Provincetown, Mass., where he befriended the Portuguese fisherman and donated money and time to building an Episcopal church.

A member of a large family of artists, Waugh painted his seascapes from memory. He spent hours, even days, studying the sea, then returned to his studio in New Jersey or Connecticut— even the Provincetown studio where he painted seascapes did not face the sea—to design large and numerous marine canvases which even today have tremendous appeal.

At the height of his popularity in the 1930's, Waugh won the First Prize Popular Award at the Carnegie Institute International Exhibition for five consecutive years.

On exhibition at the Museum are selections from the extensive Waugh Collection of Edwin A. Ulrich, of Hyde Park, New York. The Ulrich Collection includes photographic memorabilia, some of which is also on display. Of particular interest is the artist's Provincetown studio that was built of weathered timbers from old shipwrecks.

Museum hours are 9 to 5, Monday through Saturday; 2 to 5 Sunday. The Museum is closed Christmas and New Year's day.

Encephalitis isn't new in N.J., speaker says

Martin Goldfield, director of laboratories with the State Department of Health, told members of the Pesticide Association of New Jersey last week that encephalitis has plagued this state for at least 70 years.

Speaking at the third annual meeting of the Pesticide Association at the Rutgers University Labor Education Center, Dr. Goldfield said, "As far back as the turn of the century, New Jersey has experienced recurrent outbreaks of a disease of horses 'forage poison'."

This disease was actually equine encephalitis, he went on to say.

His discussion of the mosquito-borne encephalitis problem in New Jersey was part of a day-long program featuring various state officials and Rutgers University researchers.

Dr. Goldfield stated that the recent human encephalitis outbreak had resulted in "a lot of misinformation." He traced the history of encephalitis in New Jersey and stated, "Eastern encephalitis is new only because it is newly recognized. Encephalitis has been in New Jersey probably as long as man has lived here."

Do you rate high as family shopping agent?

By CAROLYN L. YUKINS, Senior County Home Economist

With the number of shopping days until Christmas dwindling fast, how you rate as the shopping agent for your family should be of importance to you. In addition to food shopping, homemakers usually have the job of shopping for most of the clothing, home furnishings and services for the family all year around.

To become proficient at the job of shopping, you need to know how the market operates. All stores are not the same, and as a shopper, you need to know what type of store you are dealing with and what kind and type of services go along with the merchandise.

At one time it was relatively safe to say you usually get what you pay for. However, this statement is less true today largely because of the competitive market and the cost of production.

In the clothing area it is possible to find two exact items at different prices. But before you make a final choice, decide what is included in the two varying prices.

One price may include only three sizes and one choice of color and you must pay cash for the purchase; while the other price includes a good choice of sizes, variety of colors, salesperson's help, delivery, charge accounts and boxing.

The job of being a shopper for the family is a responsible one and how well you do your job may make the difference in how money is spent in relation to family needs.

Begin drive for safety on bikes

Parents who are giving their youngsters bicycles this holiday season should also give them a "good driving" program to follow, suggests C. Stewart Mead, Safety Director of the New Jersey Auto Club, AAA.

Bicycle driving is good, healthy exercise, and it's also good preparation for young people who will soon drive cars, Mead said. But it's only healthy if children know enough about traffic and driving to keep from being injured.

He said parents should know that bicycle accidents caused 700 deaths and 34,000 injuries in the United States last year, and that three of every five riders killed were under age 15.

A booklet of rules for safe riding can be picked up at the offices of the AAA Club at 1 Hanover Road in Florham Park, 32 Park pl. in Newark and 6 Elm Street in Westfield. Briefly, parents can help their children by teaching them:

- *Ride only in safe places, away from traffic wherever possible.
- *Always yield the right of way to pedestrians.
- *Ride only one on a bike.
- *Wear light-colored clothing that can be easily seen in daylight, and will reflect headlight beams at night.

One price makes exchange or money refund most difficult, if not impossible; while another price for the same item may include special order, if necessary, and easy refund if you are not satisfied.

You, as a shopper, can decide which price and which store will best fill your needs for a particular item.

Often clothing items look the same or are even advertised as the same as higher priced garments. It takes knowledge, experience and alertness to know whether a $3.95 shirt is identical to the $7.50 one sold elsewhere or that a $3.95 shirt has not been marked up to $7.50; or that a sales item is really the well-known brand with just the labels removed.

'Nutcracker' to be given in Newark

Two public performances of Tschakowsky's ballet "The Nutcracker" will be given by the New Jersey Symphony and the Garden State Ballet at Symphony Hall, Newark, on Saturday, Dec. 28, at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Henry Lewis, music director of the New Jersey Symphony, will direct this year's "Nutcracker" production. This will be Lewis' first appearance with the orchestra at Symphony Hall.

Violette Verdy, aprima ballerina of the New York City Ballet, will dance the role of the Sugar Plum Fairy and of the Snow Queen. The male lead will again be danced by Royce Fernandez, a premier danseur of the American Ballet Theater.

A cast of more than 100 in "The Nutcracker" will include both professional dancers of the company and several dozen young people from locations throughout New Jersey who fill the children's parts. Many of them earned their parts in special auditions held for "The Nutcracker" last spring.

This holiday performance, now in its third year, has played to a total of more than 25,000 people, including 10,000 students. This year two student performances are slated in addition to the Dec. 28 public date. They will take place at Symphony Hall on the morning and afternoon of Jan. 3.

Tickets for the public performances, or reservations for the student performances, are available through the office of the New Jersey Symphony at 624-8203.

Steven Institute gets $600,000 Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, has received a $600,000 grant from the United States Office of Education to be used in the construction of a chemistry and chemical engineering building.

'Garden State' set as theme of March N. J. flower show

A formal tribute to "New Jersey -- The Garden State" will be the theme of the Standard Flower Show sponsored by the Garden Club of New Jersey during the 1969 annual New Jersey Flower & Garden Show. The state's largest and most successful salute to its flower and plant growers will be held March 14-20 at the National Guard Armory in Morristown.

For the third consecutive year, the Garden Club has decided to divide its competition into two complete shows, in order to accommodate the nearly 1,000 entries from every area of the state expected to exhibit.

The first show will be staged from Friday, March 14, through Monday, March 17, with the second show Tuesday, March 18, through Thursday, March 20.

The Garden Club, with a total membership of 7,500 women throughout New Jersey, expects entries from most of its 175 affiliated Garden Clubs as members compete in 24 different categories for point awards and ribbons.

Tricolor and Awards of Distinction will be made in the first division of the show, which contains five classes for fresh cut plant material and three others for dried or treated plant material.

The interpretive design classes have been called "Historical Sites," "Mountains," "Pine Barrens," "Goldfinch," "Super Highways," "Industries," "Shore Line" and "Educational System."

The second division of the Show, devoted to horticulture, includes sections in Potted Plants (Ivy, Succulents and Cacti, Ferns and Orchids), Begonias (Res, Fibrous Rooted and Rhizomes), Amaryllis, Hyacinths, Tulips and Narcissi (Daffodils, Lily of the Valley and Crocus).

The remaining four classes are devoted to the Junior Division, with entries in fresh plants, cacti or succulents, small house plants and plants grown from seeds discarded in the kitchen or from fruit or vegetable tops.

Each of the divisions will have accredited judging and awards. Design, distinction, technique, originality, interpretation and freshness of concept will be among the factors considered in judging.

The New Jersey & Garden Show, founded three years ago, has quickly become the largest exhibition of its kind ever held in the Garden State. A non-profit exhibition, it is sponsored by the New Jersey State Florists Association, the New Jersey Association of Nurserymen, the New Jersey Plant & Flower Growers' Association and the North Jersey Metropolitan Nurserymen's Association.

Both the New Jersey Department of Agriculture and the Rutgers College of Agriculture assist in the conduct of the show.

Contracts totaling $4 million awarded for work at airport

Construction contracts for the elevated roadway system and covered parking areas for the new passenger terminals now being built at Newark Airport have been awarded by the Commissioners of the Port of New York Authority. The work will be done under two contracts, totaling $4,425,000, according to an announcement by Chairman James C. Kellogg, III, following the monthly meeting of the bi-state agency.

Elevation of the entire roadway system permits the parking areas to extend beneath the road structure and part of the terminal buildings, providing some under-cover parking space and permitting pedestrian access from the parking areas to the building without crossing or interfering with vehicular traffic.

Kentville-Newrate Products Company, Inc. of Kenil, and New Enterprise Stone and Lime Company of New Enterprise, Pa., a joint venture, will manufacture and furnish prestressed concrete box beams for the basic roadway structure under a $1,150,000 contract, Cayuga Construction Corporation of New York City will assemble the concrete beams and pave the roadways under a $4,275,000 contract which also includes paving the auto parking areas beneath the roadways and terminal buildings.

Two new passenger terminals are now under construction in a 425-acre area in the center of the airport. A third ultimately will be added. The terminal area features a unique two-level, express and local roadway system that will enable vehicles to drive directly to or from one terminal while bypassing local traffic at the other two. Departing air passengers will use the upper level, and arriving air passengers the lower. The express roadway, on the lower level, will be physically separated from the arrivals road.

Construction of the first two passenger terminals began in October, 1967. Erection of steel for the first building, is now 80 percent complete and steel erection for the second will begin in the near future. When completed in 1970, the basic structures of the two buildings will be turned over to the airlines for interior finishing. Tishman Realty and Construction Company, Inc. of New York City is serving as consultant-general contractor for the Port Authority on the superstructures of the first buildings.

The redevelopment program also includes construction of a new 8,200-foot Runway 4L-22R, extensions of the two existing runways, new aircraft fuel storage and distribution facilities, new hangar areas and expanded cargo facilities.

Drew's ensemble in concert tonight

The newly-formed University Performing Ensemble at Drew University, Madison, will play its first public concert tonight with a diverse program ranging from classical to avant garde selections.

Contemporary works such as Mayumi's "Meta Music"—which, Shechtman says "must be seen to be experienced"—and Shechtman's own composition, "Dialectic," will be accompanied by two narrative choruses.

The choruses, placed to surround the audience with sound, will narrate selections from E. E. Cummings and Friedrich Nietzsche.

Other works featured in the concert will include Haydn's "Trio for Guitar, Cello, and Violin," Alan Hovhaness' "Divertimento," and selections from Renaissance and baroque composers.

The concert, which, like most Drew events, is free and open to the public, begins at 8:30 p.m. in Drew's Bowne Lecture Hall.

Holiday deadlines

Careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday news deadline is urged for the issues of Dec. 26 and Jan. 2, which will be printed early to avoid conflict with the Christmas and New Year's holidays. Keep safe distance

Rear-end collisions are a far too common type of accident in winter months, warns the New Jersey State Safety Council. It takes three to 12 times as far to stop on snow or ice as on dry pavement. Keeping a safe following distance is the first step toward preventing this needless mishap. For extra insurance use snow tires or studded tires for ordinary slippery conditions, and use reinforced tire chains for severe snow and ice conditions.

Island candidate for independence

Napoleon's exile island of St. Helena has become a candidate for nationhood. The United Nations Decolonization Committee has recommended eventual independence for the dot of British territory in the South Atlantic.

Napoleon died in exile on the 47-square-mile island in 1821, six years after his final defeat at Waterloo. Today, St. Helena has a population of 4,700.
