Two incumbents on school board bid for reelection

With the Jan. 2 deadline approaching for candidates to file for election to the Mountainside Board of Education, the only two who have indicated plans to run are the two incumbents whose terms will expire, Grant H. Lennox and William J. Blunno. Lennox is president of the school board, and Blunno is vice-president.

The local school board election will be held on Feb. 11. John M. McDonough, board secretary, reported that Lennox and Blunno are the only potential candidates who had obtained petitions to seek election, but they had not yet filed the petitions.

Noting that the Board of Education office on Rt. 22 would be closed during the Christmas vacation, except for next Monday, McDonough said that residents who wish to obtain or file petitions can arrange to do so by calling him at his home, 353-0412.

All candidates filing petitions must meet the requirements as prescribed in the New Jersey School Law:

1. Candidate must be a citizen and resident of the territory contained in the district for at least two years.
2. Candidate shall have been a resident of the school district for at least two years immediately preceding his becoming a member of the Board of Education.
3. He shall be able to read and write.
4. He shall not be directly or indirectly interested in any contract with or claim against the board.

5. He must be 21 years of age to qualify for office.

If any citizen is not already registered in the permanent registry lists, he may do so at the office of the local municipal clerk or at the office of the County Board of Elections, Rahway Avenue, Elizabeth, by Jan. 2 to vote in the school board election. The office hours of the County Board of Elections are 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Monday through Friday.

If anyone has changed his address, he must notify the municipal clerk or the County Board of Elections at least 40 days prior to the election. This may be done by mail.

The secretary of the Board of Education will not be able to register voters; such registration must be done by the local municipal clerk or by the County Board of Elections.

If anyone has any questions concerning his voting status, he may call the secretary of the local Board of Education.

The position which the names of candidates will have upon the annual school election ballot or voting machine will be determined by the secretary of the Board of Education by conducting a drawing.

The drawing will take place at 8 p.m. Jan. 3, the day following the last day for filing nominating petitions for the annual school election, at the regular meeting place of the Board of Education in the multi-purpose room of the Deerfield School, Central Avenue, Mountainside.

Any legal voter of the district has the privilege of witnessing the drawing.

PROFILE -- George Crane

With two children in school and another entering next fall, George Crane, chairman of the recently-formed Mountainside Safety Advisory Committee, has a vital interest in the protection of borough students, in his words, "from themselves."

"About a year ago," Crane said, "I saw a film at a PTA meeting which showed some of the wild things kids did on their way to and from school. Since then I've been caught up in the problem. These kids are on the brink of injury--just by their number alone," Crane said.

"My work with the committee," Crane explained, "is to keep the group together, steer them and organize them." Crane said he accepted the job after Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. asked him if he would be willing to carry the idea on after it was initiated.

"I don't see this as a borough institution," Crane said. "We'll probably disband after we finish our work."

The project ahead of the committee is formidable. It has already defined six "critical safety areas" within the borough which include the areas around Deerfield, Beechwood and Echbrook schools, Deer Path, the entrance to the municipal pool and the intersection of Charles street and Summit road.

THE COMMITTEE WAS generated by the state's proposal to increase the speed limit in Deer Path and incorporates a study group formed last year by the Mountainside PTA for traffic safety.

Jersey mobile industrial training unit will spend month in Regional District

A month-long, experimental visit by the state's new mobile industrial training unit was approved last week by the Regional High School District Board of Education. The Regional District is one of only 10, in the state selected for tests of the new unit.

The unit will be located on the grounds of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, for the month of February. Although remaining in Springfield for the entire month, the unit will be used by students from all four regional high schools. Besides Dayton, they are Gov. Livingston School, Berkeley Heights, David Brearley, Kenilworth and A. L. Johnson, Clark.

The following description of the operations of the industrial training unit was prepared by Dr. Warren Davis, regional superintendent of schools.

THE MOBILE INDUSTRIAL training unit is a pilot project sponsored by the state of New Jersey, Department of Education, funded by the division of vocational education.

It is designed to provide exposure, training and evaluation for students with special needs (those having academic, socio-economic or other handicaps), adults and school dropouts.

By operating on the philosophy of exposure, training and evaluation, a transition is provided for students from school to the world of work. This transition is brought about by the learning of new skills and good work habits and by the development of positive attitudes and values essential for a more productive and happier life.

The mobile unit is a trailer 60 feet long and 10 feet wide, and contains its own air conditioning and heating system. The unit can be moved throughout the state and be put into operation in one day. It contains a complete conveyor system and equipment including a time clock, automatic tape dispensers, quality control scales and a built-in AM/FM radio and intercom system. The same area is converted into a classroom within 15 minutes for general instructions.

The classroom is equipped with all types of instructional materials such as closed circuit TV, a movie projector, screens, record players, film strip and slide projectors, blackboards, bulletin boards, calculating machines for solving work production problems and other classroom equipment. In addition to the work-

Consultant gives progress report

In a committee meeting of the Union County Regional Board of Education last week, Dr. Henry Rissetto of Columbia University brought the board up to date on the progress of his investigations. Dr. Rissetto, employed as a consultant to the board, is making a complete study of the district, with regard to its present and future building requirements.

In his report he indicated that he had developed a comprehensive survey of population and pupil population projections of the six communities in the Regional District. He also developed with the board the present building utilization of the district's four high schools. He said he noticed overcrowding in certain stations in all of the present buildings.

Dr. Rissetto stressed that he was not yet ready to give the board his recommendations, but that his work is proceeding on schedule. He praised the broad curriculum of the district, but indicated that "ingenuity in the use of building space can be stretched only so far."

1 dies, 1 critical in Rt. 22 crash

A Mountainside woman remained in critical condition at Memorial General Hospital in Union Monday morning with injuries she received in a Rt. 22 crash which took the life of a 30-year-old Lambertville man Saturday night.

Injured seriously in the collision was Elizabeth P. Knodel, 39, of 250 Knollcrest rd., Mountainside.

Fred Hovak, driver of the other car, was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital, Union police said. According to the police report, he had apparently been driving west in the eastbound lane of the highway.

Police said the Mountainside woman was able to tell them only that the other car came directly at her as she was going east on Rt. 22.

Council will get budget request of safety group

The Mountainside Safety Advisory Committee will ask the Borough Council for a still undetermined amount of money by Jan. 15, the 1969 budget deadline, to implement programs in six areas of the borough which the group has defined as "critical."

Number one on the list is the area of Deerfield School, where the committee, under the chairmanship of George Crane, has already formed a "two-step plan."

The advisory committee will recommend to the council an immediate change in traffic patterns in the Deerfield School area and certain physical modifications for the future. The other areas with which the committee is concerned itself, besides Deerfield School, are the Beechwood and Echbrook school

Frey completes his management class

Edward Frey of 1059 Sunnylope dr., Mountainside, has completed a short course in supermarket management at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, New Brunswick. Frey is employed by Pathmark in Union.

He was among 50 store executives from all parts of New Jersey who received certificates at a banquet in New Brunswick. The 14-week program of Tuesday evening classes was designed to give department heads, managers and supervisors a better understanding of their industry. It was the third such course conducted by the college's cooperative extension service.

Chairman Crane said the committee has been split into two five-man study groups. Each team is under the direction of a captain. The committee is a recent outgrowth of a similar group formed by the Mountainside PTA last year and residents concerned with the current controversy involving the state's plan to increase the speed limit on Deer Path.

Crane emphasized that the two teams are composed solely of ordinary citizens. Borough officials on the committee, of which there are four, act only in an advisory capacity.

my-classroom area, there is an office space which measures 9' x 9' and which is used for interviewing, counseling and program preparation.

The students are trained in industrial procedures, techniques and practices. During the regular school year the unit travels to 10 different school districts serving as many as 30 individuals at each location for a period of one month. During the summer months, it travels to five different locations serving as many as 30 individuals at each location for a period of two weeks. All of this training is conducted by one coordinator-instructor and one assistant.

THE FIRST PHASE of training deals with the job application. In this phase, the students learn how to obtain information about jobs and sources of jobs. A formal application is first filled out by the student. This is followed by a phone call made to a company for the purpose of requesting a formal interview. (Arrangements are made in advance with a specific business or industry in each location to obtain a personnel specialist to interview each student.)

The second phase deals with the simulated interview. This is a true-to-life situation because the students are interviewed in the office area of the trailer and are asked pertinent questions concerning their application. During the interview a video tape is made, and afterwards played back to the student. During the playback, the interviewer analyzes and evaluates the entire process. After a time lapse of about one-half day, the student is notified that he has been hired and is told to report for a physical examination. He then reports to work, is given a manual dexterity test and assigned a work station.

The third phase is the performance of assigned duties at the industrial site. The training includes the following topics (lectures and practical work):

Time recording devices, time and work schedules, the importance of punctuality and the results of tardiness, receiving and checking of goods, unloading of trucks and proper use of hand trucks and tracks, stocking and servicing of production lines, assembly line principles, practices and procedures, actual conducting of interview, sorting, labeling and packing, quality control, time study, shipping procedures and loading of trucks, business forms, shipping, receiving, invoice, etc., computation of pay, budgeting and banking, consumer knowledge, attitude development.

Each week the student is given a non-negotiable check to familiarize him with payroll deductions and pay procedures.

The fourth and final phase is that of evaluation. Each student is evaluated on a daily basis. To make these evaluations more effective, counseling sessions are held periodically, during which the students are allowed to express themselves and relate any problems that might be confronting them, or offer suggestions that might make the program more meaningful to him.

In addition to relating problems and offering new ideas, the students receive special assistance from the instructor. They are told of their strong points and given suggestions as to how they might improve their weaknesses. These students are evaluated in the following areas: attitudes, personal habits, work habits, manner of work, quality of work, knowledge of work, quantity of work. In addition to the daily evaluation, final evaluations on each student along with recommendations are left with the local school districts.

committee, the Deerfield School area is getting priority.

The committee is expected to give the Borough Council at its next regularly scheduled meeting a two-step plan for the Deerfield School area. The plan would, first, recommend immediate new traffic patterns in the school area and, second, suggest physical improvements for the accommodation of vehicles as well as children, Crane said.

Crane indicated the implementation of the Deerfield School program would be a show-case of what the committee will be able to do.

"THE PURPOSE OF the committee," Crane said, "is to plan safety education, traffic and pedestrian control and possible physical changes. We'll be discussing these things with school officials and the four borough officials on the committee."

These include councilmen Robert Ruggiero and John Hechtle, borough engineer Robert Koser and safety officer Joseph Mazur. "The officials from the borough," Crane said, "act mainly in an advisory capacity. Koser has been a tremendous help in determining the costs of some of our proposed recommendations and Mazur is the backbone of the education program."

Crane said he was also attracted to the chairmanship by its organizational aspect. An athlete who until recently was player-coach of an amateur ice hockey team, Crane said he is trying to "make this a team effort. These fellows on the committee all identify very well with one another but we're not meeting with the entire group all the time because the sessions' become unwieldy. That's why I've divided them into two teams."

COMPOUNDING Crane's interest in the committee is a latent desire to become a teacher-- "which I may yet do," he said.

The closest Crane has come was an offer at a New Hampshire prep school immediately after he graduated from Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me., in 1957. At the school, Tilton Academy, Crane would have been teaching in his major area, romance languages, lecturing in math and coaching the hockey teams.

However, being married to his Lincoln, Mass., childhood girl friend, Daisy, Crane decided to enter private industry.

Then Jennifer, now 10, came along; then Sandra, now 8, and then David, 4.

The Cranes moved to Mountainside when he was transferred from the Boston area in 1961, and then five years later to their present address, 373 Creek Bed rd.

Mrs. Crane is the president of the Mountainside PTA.

Crane is a sales and marketing statistical analyst with M & T Chemicals, a subsidiary of American Can Co. Because of business pressures, he explains, this year is the first he hasn't actively participated in his passion--hockey. However, he is "hooked" on golf and shoots, he said, in the 80s.

Loses driving privileges

Michael Piazzola, 53, of 229 Robinhood rd., Mountainside, has had his driver's license suspended for one month under the state's point system, according to June Strelecki, director, Division of Motor Vehicles.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

COMMON HOLIDAY HOME ACCIDENTS
Everyone knows that toddlers and young children should never be left alone where new and interesting decorations are within reach of curious hands. But in spite of this warning, many times we do have accidents or near accidents occur in our homes. The common type of accident recorded by the New Jersey Safety Council is shocks and burns from live outlets and cords.

Shocks From Cords - Two-year old Johnny was exploring the connection between the bright lights on their family Christmas tree and the cord. He put one end of the cord in the outlet as he had seen his parents do - then, he stuck the other end in his mouth. The electric shock was so great that he was unable to cry out.

His mother, Mrs. Louise J., happened to come into the room, grasped the cord and jerked it from her son's mouth. Mrs. J. said she had to pull with such force that two teeth, a portion of Johnny's lower lip and the top of his tongue were torn loose. The doctor reported that he feared the accident might impair Johnny's speech. What would you have done?

If you were the mother and the accident had already occurred, you should first have raced for the wall outlet, or initial source of electricity, and pulled out the plug. Then remove the end in the child's mouth. Damage to Johnny's mouth would then have been greatly reduced.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure", is another tried and true aspect related to electric shocks and burns. The New Jersey Safety Council suggests every home, having young explorers, insert blind or dummy plugs into the wall outlets. These dummy plugs made of plastic are available in many department store houseware sections, as well as electrical appliance stores.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheelan, County Home Economist

Welcome holiday guests with the delight of home baked nut bread.

Even if you've never baked a loaf of bread before, you should have success with the Butter Pecan Bread recipe given below. There is no kneading or no waiting for it to rise. The ingredients are just mixed together and slipped into the oven.

The delicate sweetness yet spicy flavor of this bread makes it especially adaptable to holiday entertaining. It can be sliced and served at a buffet with a variety of sliced cheeses and fruit. Spread with cream cheese, it makes a delightful accompaniment to holiday eggnog. Another suggestion is to arrange it with fruit cake and cookies as an attractive tray assortment of holiday party snacks.

Program announced for convention to be held by Jehovah's Witnesses

Details concerning the program to be presented at the Westfield High School auditorium on Jan. 3-5 during the three-day Bible convention of N. J. Circuit 5 of Jehovah's Witnesses have been released by Clayton L. Peace, circuit supervisor, according to Michael Jakubowski, 218 Summit rd., Mountainside, spokesman.

"Friday evening, C. H. Weidner, district supervisor and convention chairman, will demonstrate the proper method of conducting a ministry school," he said, "using local ministers as students, and offering suggestions for improvement at the conclusion of each student effort." Since a ministry school is conducted regularly by each congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, Jakubowski said he anticipates widespread interest in this portion of the program.

"An important feature of each convention of Jehovah's Witnesses is the baptism of new ministers, and this event is scheduled for 2 p.m. on Saturday," Jakubowski said. "The actual baptism will be preceded by a Bible discourse on the seriousness of the step." Jakubowski concluded his comments by reminding those present that the highlight of the assembly will be the free public talk,

"God's Way Is Love," to be delivered by Weidner at 3 p.m. on Sunday to an audience which is expected to exceed 1,800.

NIH RESEARCH FOR HEALTH

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH
BETHESDA, MARYLAND

Spinal cord injuries will disable between five and ten thousand Americans this year, many in their teens and early twenties. Automobile accidents cause most spinal cord injuries, but motorcycles are taking an increasing toll. Sports, particularly diving into shallow water, also claim their share of victims. Because men often engage in the most dangerous sports and occupations, they make up over 75 percent of spinal cord injury patients.

Unless the spinal cord is completely cut, a patient may improve usually during the first six months. Generally, present treatment tries to prevent complications and teaches the patient to live with his handicap.

The spinal cord is a bundle of nerve fibers and cells which connect the brain with the muscles, skin, and internal organs, carrying messages back and forth. When the cord is damaged at the level of the chest or lower back, both legs and the lower parts of the body are paralyzed. When the injury is at neck level, the arms are also paralyzed.

Treatment is time-consuming and often costly. Initial hospitalization may last six months. During that time, patients require careful medical and nursing attention to avoid special problems such as loss of bone mineral and the formation of kidney and bladder stones.

Other major problems are bladder and bowel regulation and control, and management of depression or other problems of psychological adjustment.

Patients must also learn the skills necessary to live with their handicaps. Exercises build up the unaffected parts of the body to do work normally assigned to the paralyzed parts. Some patients learn to drive autos using manual controls.

Treatment and rehabilitation require specialists and equipment which have been scarce outside military and Veterans Administration hospitals. A Paraplegia Workshop to discuss this shortage was sponsored in 1966 by the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness, one of the National Institutes of Health. Conference members recommended that spinal cord injury treatment centers be established at existing large medical centers where specialists who also treat other patients are available.

Various agencies are supporting studies on diagnosis and treatment of cord damage, nerve regeneration, and rehabilitation of cord-injured patients.

Animal studies help in spinal cord injury research. Goldfish and salamanders, which regenerate cut spinal cord, offer researchers insight into processes which may eventually play a part in treatment for spinal cord injuries.

Merit badges Scout topic

Boy Scouts will explore the world of merit badges as a part of their January troop meetings in the Colonial District, Watchung Area Council, which includes Mountainside, according to Lester Friedman, district Scout executive.

The theme Merit Badge Exploration will lead to a hobby show which most troops will hold as a feature of Boy Scout Week in February, Friedman said.

As soon as they become second class Scouts-boys may participate in Scouting's merit badge plan--an elective, educational program that provides a broad range of adventure into many fields of skill and knowledge ranging from beekeeping to space exploration.

Cub Scout packs will follow the January theme Fit for America, and neighborhood den meetings each week will focus on activities related to physical, mental, emotional, social and spiritual fitness.

When the dens in each pack get together for their monthly pack meeting, it may include Cub Scout Olympic games and demonstrations or skits related to fitness achievements or electives that Cub Scouts earn for their wolf and bear ranks.

The 10-year-old Webelos Scouts in each pack will be working on the athlete badge in January and will demonstrate its requirements at the monthly pack meeting.

On Saturday, Jan. 18, the Colonial District Boy Scouts will hold their annual Klondike Derby at Watchung Reservation.

An international Christmas for UC Students celebrate holiday in many ways

Students at Union College, Cranford, may not have to travel far to be home for Christmas, but the ways in which some of the more than 1,700 students at the commuter college will celebrate the holiday add up to a world tour.

While most of the students will celebrate the traditional American Christmas with decorated tree, turkey and mince pie, there are those whose Christmas will recall holidays in other lands.

Miss Alessandra H. Babich of Clark, is a member of the Russian Orthodox Church and not only will her Christmas be different, she will celebrate it on a different day. This year the Russian Christmas falls on Jan. 7.

For the Babich family, the holiday will begin with the Holy Supper on Jan. 6. The meatless meal is traditional and seldom varies. The first course of boiled potatoes and sauerkraut is followed by two soups, lima bean soup and mushroom soup. The meal also includes pasta, garlic bread, homemade cheese and pierogi, all of which must be at least sampled, according to Miss Babich. There is always a Christmas candle on the table, she adds.

SUPPER IS FOLLOWED by caroling and church services and the exchange of small gifts. Christmas Day is also celebrated with services in church and the singing of Russian carols.

Miss Babich is a member of the Holy Trinity Orthodox Church, which holds services in the Abraham Clark School.

This year, Christmas will not be so merry for Miss Babich, since she has college exams on Jan. 7. However, since one branch of the family is not Russian Orthodox, she also shares in celebrating Christmas on Dec. 25.

For Mrs. Beatrix Buenaventura of Elizabeth, Christmas is a sentimental journey to her home in Colombia, South America. In the United States just two years, the Buenaventuras enjoy a typical Colombian Christmas. The season begins nine days before Christmas with special prayers and songs for each day. In Colombia, Mrs. Buenaventura says, there are also fireworks each evening.

Christmas Eve, after the fireworks, the family welcomes guests to a traditional supper, which includes tamales, usually stuffed with chicken, and candied sweets.

For the past 20 to 30 years, Colombians have had Christmas trees and visits from Santa Claus. More important than the tree, however, is the Nativity creche. These are often works of art set off by lots of candles and lights, reports Mrs. Buenaventura.

GREATER EMPHASIS IS placed on the sharing of the holiday and Christmas afternoon finds most Colombians entertaining or being entertained. Again there are a great many candied fruits and preserves served, as well as tamales, cheeses, chocolate and cookies. The one really traditional dish is araguape. This is a heavy paste like dough made of sugar and milk and served with cinnamon and strawberry sauce.

William B. Mahr of Elizabeth, is of Chinese ancestry, and while he observes a typically American Christmas, the holiday is more a prelude to the Chinese New Year, which is usually celebrated early in January.

The exchange of Christmas gifts is limited to the immediate family, while New Year gifts of money are given to all the children, nieces, nephews and cousins. It is a time for the whole family to come together.

There is a great Chinese dinner with many dishes, Mahr reports. But the highlight of the day is attendance at the New Year's parade and fireworks in New York's China town. A refugee from Castro's Cuba, 19-year-old Juan Eschavarria of Elizabeth recalls nostalgically Christmas in his homeland. And as much as is possible, he says, his family tries to follow the old traditions. Christmas Eve, Holy Night, is the important feast in Cuba. It's a family affair and all members of the family get together. A whole pig is roasted and there are lots of sweets, fruits and pie. This is followed by midnight mass.

SANTA AND HIS sled also get to Cuba, but he brings only a few, small gifts. The real exchange of gifts takes place on Jan. 6, the Feast of the Three Kings.

While foreign traditions are observed by students at home, at least one Union College student will be observing foreign customs first hand. Miss Joann Moskwa of Linden will spend 18 days in Europe.

Children's Theatre offers musical play

A musical for children, "Rags to Riches," will again be presented by the Children's Theatre Company, Inc., a non-profit organization. This colorful and entertaining show will be presented Friday at Connecticut Farms School at 1 and 3 p.m. Tickets are $1 each and will be sold at the door. The show lasts for one hour. For information, call 686-9155.

In the cast are Susan Denner from Springfield, Linda Salazar, Peter Roselle and Randi Storm, all from Union, Leslie Ackerman and Scott Segall from Springfield and Leslie Blinder from Union.

Others in the cast from the Union and Springfield area are: Debbie Bell, Julie Blinder, Diane D'Allesandro, Rachel Finkel, Caroline Hecht, Debbie Straitman, Robin Steller and Gail Winter.

The play tells the story of a struggling young boy from the streets of New York in the "Gay Nineties" and ends with an Horatio Alger twist of "local boy makes good."

LOOKING FOR A JOB?

Those little classified ads in the back of the paper may be your answer. Each week it's different. Make reading the classified a 'must' this week and every week.

How many times have people asked us, "What do you want for Christmas?"

And each time we count the things we've put on our lists.

But what we really want we never mention. The intangible things... like health and happiness, peace and a joyous outlook on life.

Things like a zest for living each day as it comes, with optimism and expectancy.

These gifts are our greatest treasures.

So the next time someone asks, "What do you want for Christmas?" We should reflect on how many of the real gifts we possess, how often and abundantly we have been blessed.

With best wishes to all from the management and staff of

Turbine generator is installed by P. S., increases capacity

A 600,000-kilowatt capacity generator, large enough to supply the needs of more than 600,000 homes, has been placed in commercial operation by Public Service Electric and Gas Company at its Hudson Generating Station in Jersey City.

The new unit, which costs $97,000,000, is the largest turbine generator in service in New Jersey. It is located alongside the 400,000-kilowatt No. 1 unit which went on service at Hudson Station in December 1964. These two steam turbine-generator units, combined with a 135,000-kilowatt gas turbine generator unit which began operating in December 1967, makes Hudson Generating Station the largest in electric system and increases Public Service's electric system capacity to more than 6,000,000 kilowatts.

With the addition of this unit, the Public Service electric system has increased almost 100 per cent in generating capacity since 1960. This increase has been necessary to meet the demand for electricity due to the continued industrial, commercial and residential growth in the territory served by the company.

The boiler is equipped with the most efficient dust collecting equipment in the Public Service system.

The following material, entitled "Family Holiday Safety Messages," has been issued by the family youth division of the New Jersey State Safety Council:

- HOLIDAY ACCIDENTS
- Accidental death in the holiday season always carries a special poignance and one that imparts for friends and families through the years. Deaths at this season of the year are particularly disturbing because they usually involve errands of happiness, and accidents that could be avoided.
- HERE ARE THE DECEMBER FACTS:
DECEMBER ACCIDENT DEATHS IN 1967 REACHED 10,050, SLIGHTLY LESS THAN THE 1966 TOTAL, AND 700 MORE THAN THE MONTHLY AVERAGE.
- The top killer is motor vehicle accidents. DECEMBER 1967 AUTO ACCIDENT DEATHS TOTALLED 5,160. The month ranked as the highest in the year. Injuries totaled about 180,000. Cost was almost $1 billion.
  - As a result of traffic accidents during the three-day Christmas Holiday 900 persons died. About 32,000 suffered disabling injuries. Cost to the nation was approximately $170 million.
  - Traffic deaths as a result of the three-day New Year holiday totaled 500 fatalities. About 18,000 suffered injuries. Cost was nearly $100 million.

- STUPID SHOW:
- Three out of four fatal Christmas accidents involve driving too fast for conditions or in excess of the stated speed limit. Normal average is about 31 per cent.
  - Drinking drivers are involved in more than half the fatal Christmas time accidents.
  - Winter walking is beset with a number of special hazards. A number of these are hazardous street conditions, poor visibility for both drivers and pedestrians are heavily burdened with cold, snow or rain and carrying umbrellas and have their view obscured.
  - Christmas shopping season is a dangerous time. Large numbers of people are on foot in heavily congested areas. Their attention is diverted from traffic by sidewalk congestion, by store windows and by concentration on their own concern—shopping. Heavy loads of bundles often distract the walker and sometimes even block his view of where he is going.
  - HOME IS ACCIDENT DEATHS:
HOME ACCIDENT DEATHS TOTALLED

1,200 in 1967. In 1968, home accident deaths totaled 570.

- Fire alone claimed 800 lives in December.
- Falls in December claimed 1,000 lives.

- SAFETY AIDS FOR DECEMBER HOLIDAYS
- HAZARDS AT A MINIMUM THIS CHRISTMAS—
1. When selecting your Christmas tree, choose a fresh one, saw it off, at a sharp angle, at least an inch above the original cut. Stand the tree in water from the time you buy it until you dispose of it. Don't rely on do-it-yourself "flameproofing." Treatments. Place the tree well away from radiators and fireplaces, and locate it out of the escape path in case of fire. If you choose an artificial tree, be sure it is marked as being made of slow-burning materials. If it has a built-in lighting system, it should carry the Underwriters' Laboratories (UL) label. Metal trees will conduct electricity, so use only indirect lighting on them; strings of lights on a metal tree can create a dangerous shock hazard.
  2. Decorative lighting requires the utmost care. Before using, check strings of lights for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Never use wax candles on or near the tree, or with polystyrene foam candle holders or decorations. Turn off all tree and other holiday lighting before leaving the house or retiring. For outdoor lighting, use only sets listed for outdoor use by Underwriters' Laboratories.

3. Use noncombustible decorating materials—metal, glass, asbestos, etc.—as far as possible. If materials which burn easily cannot be avoided—such as cotton batting, flock and paper—be sure they receive "flameproof" treatment.
  4. Dispose of gift wrappings, promptly and safely. Never try to burn them in an indoor fireplace.
  5. Be extra careful about smoking near the tree and other decorations.
- Most important of all, plan in advance the escape measures and exit routes needed for the fire safety of your family in case fire should strike.

Now hear this, if you can Rock-roll noise called hearing

Many of the technological advances invented by engineers are accompanied by some potential danger to the user, and electronic amplification -- which has made modern rock and roll bands possible -- is no exception. The danger in this case is loss of hearing. If papers given at a recent Acoustical Society of America meeting in Cleveland are any indication, it is going to be much easier to establish the connection between rock and roll music hearing loss and has been the case with other health hazards--for example, cigarette smoking and lung cancer. It is already known that about ten per cent of the American population suffers from some kind of hearing loss. In the majority of these cases the loss can be attributed directly to industrial noise.

As the result of these findings, most industries now use minimum noise standards under which their employees work.

Dr. James Flugrath of Memphis State University in Tennessee has applied these industrial standards to ten rock and roll bands in the Memphis area. Although the noise of the individual bands varied considerably, more than 7,000 separate measurements showed that all ten bands exceeded the lowest damage risk criteria used by industries. No measurements were made of hearing loss of the people listening to the bands.

Drs. Charles Speaks and David Nelson of the University of Minnesota have conducted hearing tests on 25 rock and roll musicians in the Minneapolis area. Tests were given before and after an evening's playing by the musicians, and 25 per cent of them showed slight temporary hearing losses. Previous tests have shown that permanent damage results when this type of loss occurs repeatedly over a period of several years.

Six of the musicians already showed some permanent hearing loss. Since earlier hearing tests had not been made on these individuals, it is not possible to say that the hearing loss is definitely the result of their music, but the finger of suspicion certainly points in this direction.

Perhaps it won't be long before the small print under the sign of a dance hall reads: "Caution, rock and roll music may be hazardous to your hearing."

Screen shines brightly as Julie stars in 'Star'

When a star plays the title role of a "Star!", a movie viewer can almost be certain that she's going to do a good job. Well, Julie Andrews, who plays Julie Andrews playing Gertrude Lawrence in the excellent production at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair, comes through with flying colors.

In this lavish musical which covers three decades, 1906 to 1940, 20th Century-Fox has given its all. "Star!" has Todd-AO Color by DeLuxe, Saul Chaplin as producer and Robert Wise as director. But most of all it has the incomparable Miss Andrews singing and cavorting to such musical numbers as "Piccadilly," "Oh, It's a Lovely War," "In My Garden of Joy," "N' Everything," "Burlington Bertie from Bow," "Parisian Pierrot," "Limehouse Blues," "Someone to Watch Over Me," "Dear Little Boy," "Do, Do, Do," "Someday I'll Find You," "Has Anyone Seen Our Ship?" "My Ship" and "I'm Sorry." And of course, the song, "Star!" written by Jimmy Van Heusen and Sammy Cahn.

Among those appearing with Miss Andrews are Daniel Massey, superb in the role of Noel Coward, Richard Cronna, Michael Craig and a host of others.

Miss Andrews' clothes are fabulous, her voice, more mature than we have ever heard, and her comedy and dramatic scenes, particularly effective.

The Bellevue Theater with its own lavish settings, provides an excellent showcase for such a first rate film as "Star!" and a first-rate actress as Julie Andrews!

Sellers film opens to capacity crowds at Union, Ormont

Capacity crowds took valuable shopping time off Friday night to fill the newly-renovated Union Theater in Union Center, and the Ormont Theater in East Orange, to hail the new Peter Sellers picture in color, "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas!"

Sellers, the great character actor, doesn't let his fans down in his latest film, as he portrays a middle-class lawyer, who leaves his bride-to-be at the altar to pursue the life of a hippie.

Some of the funniest scenes in "Alice B. Toklas" are the wedding with the twin cantors; the family get-together when everyone gets zonked on brownies; the gathering of men, women, children, dog and cat hippies in the small overcrowded apartment of Seller's--and, of all things, a funeral where the hearse drivers are on strike.

Director Hy Averback keeps the picture at a fast pace, and he manages to get the most comedy out of every scene.

Labor Department reports employment up in November

WASHINGTON — Employment rose substantially and unemployment declined in November, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has announced.

The unemployment situation improved for all major groups in the labor force, and the over-all unemployment rate fell from 3.6 percent to 3.3 percent — the lowest in over 15 years and below the previous post-Korean low of 3.5 percent reached several times earlier this year.

The number of unemployed persons was 2.6 million in November, down 200,000 from October after seasonal adjustment. There were declines of 100,000 for adult men, 75,000 for women, and 25,000 for teenagers.

The seasonally adjusted unemployment rates for adult men (2.0 percent), adult women (3.4 percent), and full-time workers (3.0 percent) all fell in November; the rate for adult men equaled the lowest rate since this series began in 1948. The jobless rate for teenagers, at 12.2 percent, changed only slightly over the month.

Unemployment among nonwhite workers dropped from 7.4 to 6.5 percent in November. For the first 11 months of 1968, the nonwhite rate has averaged 6.8 percent, the lowest for any comparable period since the Korean war. The jobless rate for white workers decreased from 3.2 percent in October to 3.0 percent in November.

Unemployment rates for most major occupational groups declined in November and deliveries and prevent out-of-stock situations.

SGC also operates 12 Patmark gas stations, 11 Patmark/Crown Drug Stores, and 22 unit Genung's Department Store chains. On Dec. 16, the company's common stock was listed for the first time on the New York Stock Exchange. It was previously traded on the American Exchange.

Thursday, December 26, 1968

February; the November level was 150,000, lower than a year ago.

Thus far in 1968, employment has grown more rapidly than the civilian labor force, with a resultant decline in unemployment. The civilian labor force has averaged 78.7 million in the first 11 months of this year, an increase of nearly 1.4 million over 1967 — 550,000 adult men, 725,000 adult women, and 125,000 teenagers. Employment gains were 550,000 for adult men, 800,000 for adult women, and 125,000 for teenagers — a total increase of almost 1.5 million persons.

Time To Spare
By GERALD ANDREWS - Retirement Adviser

Christmas is a joyful season. The other day I met Hank Josephson on the train back from the city. Had his arms full of Christmas presents, and seemed about to burst into a carol at any moment.

"I can almost hear you saying to yourself: 'Of course, isn't that what Christmas is all about?'"

But wait a moment, Hank's the fellow who's been down on Christmas for a long time. Used to claim it was a rat race, a put-up job that forced people to buy things to keep the stores going. "Not worth the trouble," was his refrain.

That's why I raised an eyebrow, and inquired whether he hadn't experienced a change of heart.

"You bet I have," he answered. "Let me tell you about it." I was quite ready to have him tell me about it. Which he did.

"You see," Hank explained, "last year I didn't give anyone a single present. Didn't receive any either. Told everyone not to bother. And they didn't."

So? Wasn't that the idea?

"Yes it was," he continued. "But then I found myself all alone on Dec. 25. Everyone was celebrating without me because they knew I wanted it that way. I got to thinking about that 'rat race' stuff. And then I realized what was wrong."

"I'd forgotten that the spirit is what counts. Sure, it takes a little trouble to celebrate Christmas. And maybe you do spend more than you would at any other time. But you get back a lot in return - affection, sentiment, peace of mind."

Hardly a new thought, I suggested.

"No, but it was new to me. I learned the hard way. This Christmas things will be different."

Hank juggled his parcels, wished me a Merry Christmas, and got off at his stop leaving me with a good answer for those who think Christmas is too hard to live with. Even Scrooge discovered it's too joyful a season to do without.

Hank's experience is what our parents used to call a "cautionary tale", something to learn from in case we're ever tempted to do the same thing. I guess the moral is not to be tempted to ignore Christmas. This resolution is just too tough to stick with.

Merry Christmas!

(Diamond Cleaners)

NEW YEAR GREETINGS
"Things will be better tomorrow." Not very imaginative words, but for years they have brought peace and hope to a friend of mind...and perhaps the key to her youthful spirit.

During the days just past, two significant religious celebrations have been observed. Christians the world over have commemorated the birth of Christ, while the Jews have celebrated their deliverance from oppressors in the Festival of Lights, Hanukkah.

Here in the Land of the Free, these two major holidays are celebrated in a spirit of brotherhood, with temples and churches recognizing and respecting the other faith.

This, to me, is significant of the "better tomorrow" in which my friend believes. Right now, we are all facing the promise of a better tomorrow in the celebration of a New Year, bringing new hopes—and new promise for the future.

As we make our resolutions, let us consider the important things of life—our faith, our families and a respect for friends and neighbors. It is our sincere wish that for you "things will be better next year."

Cancer unit offers film showing value of health checkups

A film showing men of action how valuable time for regular health checkups is now available. Mrs. William Backman, chairman of the Public Education Committee for the Union County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, announced this week.

"For example, this film—entitled 'The Winners'—features Rodger Ward, winner of the 1967 Indianapolis '500'; Lester Morris, an Eastern Airlines pilot, and Jack Mollenkopf, coach of Purdue University's Rose Bowl team," Mrs. Backman said.

"These men live with danger just doing their jobs. They are shown carefully checking each detail to make sure that they aren't losers at the critical moment. Lives lost to cancer might have been won if the disease had been detected at the critical moment—the early stage when cancer is most curable," she explained.

Ward, who is seen going over every inch of his car before taking the track, admits the danger of his work. But he thinks anyone who skips a health checkup is taking a bigger risk because he isn't as sure of his "equipment" as Ward is of his automobile.

"A film zooms in on a businessman, a housewife, a man on a ladder painting walls who are 'too busy' to have checkups. It also presents a senior citizen who doesn't want to go for a checkup because he can 'live' without being told that he might have cancer. Mollenkopf, who appears in the film after his doctor found and treated a precancerous condition, counter-balances these negative reactions.

He tells the audience, "It was during a regular checkup, when I thought I was OK, that my doctor discovered a malignant growth in my small intestine. It was so small that it could be removed by minor surgery. If I'd waited until symptoms appeared, the condition might have been so serious that—well, there's no use in thinking about that now."

"The Winners," which was produced with the help of funds contributed by the Society's Westchester Division, includes commentary by division president, Dr. Robert Wren of Phelps

Smokers urged: Turn over new leaf

"Resolved, that I will stop smoking cigarettes, so that thereby I may decrease the risk of dying prematurely from heart attack."

The Union County Heart Association today proposed this New Year's resolution for the county's estimated 200,000 cigarette smokers, emphasizing that avoidance of cigarettes is a key factor in its program to reduce the risk of heart attack.

Predicating its view on a long-term study at Framingham, Mass., which indicated that elimination of cigarette smoking among persons aged 30-60 could cut their estimated heart attack death rate by 40 percent, the Association said.

"If Framingham's experience is typical of the nation—and we have substantial reason to believe that it is—then elimination of smoking could mean 40,000 fewer heart attack deaths among Americans in this age group yearly."

DR. WILLIAM S. KELHOFFER of Roselle

Army designs bridge

The assault bridge was designed and built by the Army to provide quick means of crossing canals like those in the Vietnam delta without exposing troops. It can be carried and hydraulically launched in less than two minutes by an armed personnel carrier. The bridge spans 33 feet and is capable of supporting loads up to 15 tons.

Park, president of the Union County Heart Association, pointed out that the death rate from coronary artery disease decreases rapidly among those who give up smoking, after a period of years approaching that of people who have never smoked.

Other activities that can be carried out to reduce the risk of heart attack Dr. Kelhofer noted, include maintenance of normal weight, ingestion of less saturated fats and fewer cholesterol-rich foods, moderate regular exercise, and cooperation with one's physician to control any high blood pressure that may be detected during the course of a regular physical checkup.

"We also encourage the non-smoker to take a New Year's resolution never to make his or her first puff from a cigarette, and we believe that parents and teachers are well-advised to acquaint young people with the perils of cigarette smoking," he concluded.

The homecoming will be in the form of an open house.

The program will include the presentation of a check from the Alumni Association to Amateur Astronomers, Inc., for the Sperry Observatory Telescope Fund. The alumni raised the funds at a recent social at the college.

Time To Spare

By GERALD ANDREWS - Retirement Adviser

The other day I met Hank Josephson on the train back from the city. Had his arms full of Christmas presents, and seemed about to burst into a carol at any moment.

"Of course, isn't that what Christmas is all about?" ... but wait a moment, Hank's the fellow who's been down on Christmas for a long time. Used to claim it was a rat race, a put-up job that forced people to buy things to keep the stores going.

"You bet I have," he answered. "Let me tell you about it. I was quite ready to have him tell me about it. Which he did. 'You see,' Hank explained, 'last year I didn't give anyone a single present. Didn't receive any either. Told everyone not to bother. And they didn't.'"

So? Wasn't that the idea? "Yes it was," he continued. "But then I found myself all alone on Dec. 25. Everyone was celebrating without me because they knew I wanted it that way. I got to thinking about that 'rat race' stuff. And then I realized what was wrong."

"I'd forgotten that the spirit is what counts. Sure, it takes a little trouble to celebrate Christmas. And maybe you do spend more than you would at any other time. But you get back a lot in return - affection, sentiment, peace of mind."

Hardly a new thought, I suggested. "No, but it was new to me. I learned the hard way. This Christmas things will be different."

Hank juggled his parcels, wished me a Merry Christmas, and got off at his stop, leaving me with a good answer for those who think Christmas is too hard to live with. Even Scrooge discovered it's too joyful a season to do without.

Gather receipts now for tax filing

Roland H. Nash Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for New Jersey, this week suggested that cancelled checks, receipts, records of contributions, and other financial records be gathered now to help prepare your 1968 Federal income tax return.

"Complete records help to insure that taxpayers pay no more taxes than necessary and make the job of preparing tax returns easier," he said.

Nash added that a copy of last year's return is one of the best guides for preparing the 1968 return.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I babysit near where this cute boy lives. I like him and I know he likes me very much. He came to the house where I was babysitting. I was really surprised when he told me his feelings about me. But, because he came to the house, I think his mother got some ideas. I don't go to this house any more, but whenever I see him he never says hello or anything. What should I do?"

OUR REPLY: It's a pretty good bet that the boy's mother really read him the riot act for going to the house where you were babysitting. And also that you don't babysit for these people anymore because they also know that he came to the house. This is where you both went wrong. He should not have come to the house where you were babysitting. When you take a babysitting assignment you are taking on an adult responsibility. Boyfriends, phone calls and other distractions violate the trust that parents place in you when they leave their children to your care. You should have told him that you were happy to see him, yet should have asked him not to come into the house while you were taking care of children. Both of you should have learned a good lesson.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
Before my sister moved into the neighborhood, there were 4 of us women who all went together to a Social once a week. Each week, the husbands took turns and drove us. Since my sister moved into the neighborhood, I asked the other women if it was alright if she joined us. They all agreed, and one even said, "Sure, we welcome a driver," being that the rest of us don't drive.

It's been 3 months now that my sister has taken us in her car without a complaint. Don't you think that these women should at least give my sister the equivalent of bus fare since she drives them to their homes and spares their husbands and their cars? After all, gas and oil aren't the only things to a car. Wear and tear and maintenance aren't cheap. My sister pays the same price the other women do for the Social... plus the car. My brother-in-law makes about the same wages their husbands do, so I don't think it's fair to him. She says it doesn't cost any more to take 4 or 5 women than it does to go by herself. If they can't contribute that much then they shouldn't go out at all. It sure wouldn't break them of a 50¢ piece and that would add up to two dollars which would help out toward my brother's-in-law expenses.

I'm sure the other husbands feel a lot better that their wives go by car than if they had to take the bus and walk a block or two home.

A Sister

Dear Sister:
Don't tell your sister what to do, nor count your brother's-in-law expenses. If your sister wants to collect for the "girls," she will. If she is happy the way things are, leave well enough alone. In your well-meaning efforts, you are interfering.

Dear Andrea:
Yes... an ultimatum!

Dear Amy:
I'm 17 and going out with a young doctor. He was recently my doctor in the hospital. I heard other people in the ward complaining because he was

October strike idleness below figure for 1967

WASHINGTON—Strike idleness in October 1968 increased slightly from September, but remained substantially below a year ago, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics has announced.

Strike idleness during the month accounted for 0.22 percent of estimated total working time, somewhat higher than the 0.20 percent in September, but less than 1967 of the 0.47 percent in October 1967. The number of man-days lost in October 1968 amounted to 3.6 million, compared to 2.8 million in September, and 7.1 million in October 1967.

The number of stoppages beginning in October—480—was the highest for the month since 1952. The number of workers involved—267,000 was the highest for the month since 1958.

The last time ratio for the first 10 months of 1968 amounts to 0.26 percent, compared to the 0.25 percent for the like period of 1967.

Eight stoppages involving 5,000 workers or more each were in effect in October and accounted for nearly half of the month's strike idleness. The three largest affected were the bituminous coal industry, the longshoring industry, and the New York City Public Schools. Others included the Boeing Company, General Motors Corp., Libbey-Owens-Ford Company, Olin Mathieson Chemical Company and Timken Roller Bearing Company.

A NEW YEAR'S EVE SAFETY MESSAGE

OK PAL!
THE NEXT ONE'S ON ME

The grim spectre isn't kidding. That "one for the road" may well take you into eternity. Holidays and weekends are the times of greatest danger . . . the highest casualty lists. More drivers are on the road in more of a hurry, traffic is congested, driving strain increases. Add to this potion the drinking driver . . . and the mixture is DEADLY!

ALCOHOL AND GASOLINE DON'T MIX

This holiday weekend will end in tragedy for far too many drivers . . .

their families and victims. Don't gamble away your life, the lives of your loved ones for one more drink . . . or one careless moment. If you drink, don't drive. Always remain alert at the wheel. Be courteous to every driver and every pedestrian. Make sure your car is safe before you start, and remember to obey all traffic signals and signs. Drive with care . . . because safety is your business.

This New Year's Eve... and throughout the year-
