Public hearing set on second phase of sewer program

By JACK PFANNE
An ordinance to appropriate $300,000 for the second step in the borough's storm sewer improvement program will have its final reading and public hearing Feb. 18 in Beechwood School.

The ordinance was proposed Tuesday night by The Borough Council at its regular meeting.

The funds will be used to improve the Nomehegan Brook area from upper Central avenue at New Providence road to Rt. 22. The first step of the program was completed in 1967 in the area of Summit road. That project was funded at $200,000 but cost only $139,000, according to Councilman Wilfred H. Brandt.

The third and final phase of the borough-wide project will probably be started in 1971. That project will improve surface water drainage west of New Providence road and south of Rt. 22, Mayor Frederick Wilhelm Jr. said.

It was also learned at the meeting that the council is considering a plan to establish stop streets in municipal roads which cross county and park commission roads.

MAYOR WILHELM estimated that there are 50 intersections in the borough which would be affected should the proposal be acted upon favorably by the council.

Mayor Wilhelm expressed interest in the plan because of the safety element involved and added that there may be some action on it in the form of an ordinance at the next meeting of the council.

In other action, a resolution was passed to request the Board of Freeholders to apply for state funds to install a curb and sidewalk along New Providence road from Mountain avenue to Rt. 22.

According to the resolution, the freeholders would acquire the funds from the 1970 state aid road system fund.

In passing the resolution, Councilman Brandt warned that it may take some time before there is any action by the county on the borough's request.

Also at the meeting, building inspector Chester Johnson was renamed borough zoning officer for a one-year term commencing Jan. 1, 1969.

Another ordinance, passed on first reading Tuesday night, would prohibit the existence of commercial dog kennels in the borough.

Also, it was reported at the meeting that 73 residential and commercial building permits were issued in the borough during 1968. The value of construction in Mountainside last year was $1,204,446.

In another year-end report, there were 4,015 calls for police service answered last year. Total mileage of the three borough police cars was 131,054.

Rescue squad speeds up with 26 new radio sets

The Mountainside Rescue Squad plugged into the electronic age last week with 26 Plectron radios to help save minutes—and lives.

The new alerting units, purchased with money appropriated by the Borough Council, provide the squad with a communications system far superior to the present telephone dispatch system.

Until now, the squad depended on phone calls from the police, which in turn were relayed to the member on duty who then had to call his crew. This meant that members on call and their families could not tie up their phones with personal calls.

The new Plectron radio can be plugged in anywhere in the home. In addition, eight units are battery powered and completely mobile. In case of emergency, the police can alert all squad members (even though only three or four would be on duty normally and have their sets turned on) through the radio's unique override of the on-off switch.

The Rescue Squad decided on the Plectron units after they had been used for several years with great success by the fire department. At the squad's monthly drill Jan. 15 thorough instruction was given in the operation of the radios and a telephonic dispatch "back-up" system was reviewed as a precautionary measure in case of power failure.

Cast of 'Camelot' chosen, rehearsals are in full swing

The cast for the Governor Livingston Regional High School production of the Lerner and Loewe musical, "Camelot," has been chosen and rehearsals are in full swing, according to Albert Dorhout, director of vocal music.

James Dehls as Sir Lancelot has challenged Arthur Bunday as King Arthur for the hand of Valerie Klein as the fair Guenevere. Also included in the cast are Harold Shepard as Pellinore, who is forever searching for the Questing Beast, and Glen Sullivan, seen recently as Mr. Roberts, who is Merlin the Magician. The deadly Mordred will be portrayed by Dennis Boutsikaris, with Mimi played by Rita Sackman.

Unlike the more realistic film version of "Camelot" currently touring this area, the Dorhout version will unveil a "gay and dreamy world of knights in shining armor and beautiful princesses." The sets, also, are being designed to further the dreamlike quality of fantasy with no real boundaries.

The curtain will rise on the mythical kingdom of Camelot on Feb. 27 and 28 and March 1 at 8:15 p.m. on the high school auditorium. All seats are reserved, but tickets may be procured by contacting Clifton Robinson through the high school office.

ON THE ALERT -- Neil McLaughlan, president of the Mountainside Rescue Squad, is on call for any emergency even while he reads to his children, Susan and Ted. At his elbow is a new Plectron radio unit, which will summon him to duty as soon as a Rescue Squad call is received.

Swim club wins tough meet with Fort Monmouth

The Mountainside Swim Club posted a narrow 273-266 triumph over the Fort Monmouth Swim Club Sunday at the Garden State Swim Pool.

Fort Monmouth showed surprising strength in the older groups while Mountainside's forte was in the 10 and under competition.

Gary Badge, Tom Phillips and Don Stragis placed first, second and third in the boys' 12 and under 50-yard freestyle. The eight and under boys' 100-yard relay was won by Bob Anderson, Chucker Dooley, Chris Kanakis and Brian Phillips. Cathy and Chris Picut and Wendy Stragis placed first, second and fourth respectively in the girls' 10 and under 50-yard breaststroke. Gail Bieszczak, Cindy Sprowl and Pam Bieszczak placed high in the girls' 10 and under 50-yard backstroke.

The club's next meet is Saturday against the Olympian Swim Club in Ridgewood beginning at 10 a.m.

Literary group being organized

A Literary Discussion Group is being organized. The need for such a group was determined by the Literature Department of the Mountainside Woman's Club.

Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, director of the Mountainside Free Public Library, has promised the full cooperation of the library to accommodate the group.

Meetings will be held the last Monday of each month at 8 p.m. commencing in February at the Mountainside Library. The evening hour has been designated so that gentlemen who are interested may also attend.

Anyone interested in joining such a group, or attending a session, may register at the Mountainside Public Library, Watchung Avenue, or call Mrs. Charles Shomo, chairman, 233-0737.

No changes for borough 9th graders

The Regional High School Board of Education has made no changes in its plans for Mountainside students in the next year, Avery Ward, president, said at the board meeting Tuesday night at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

The board will hold its annual budget hearing tonight at 8 at Jonathan Dayton.

In response to questions from several Mountainside parents, Ward said that this year's Mountainside ninth graders, now at Dayton, would transfer to Gov. Livingston Regional, Berkeley Heights, in the fall for their last three years; that this year's eighth graders would attend Dayton for just one year, and that no plans had been set for this year's seventh graders.

He also disclosed that the board planned to release its "in-depth" survey of future plant needs by the end of February or the beginning of March. The study is being completed by Dr. Henry Rissetto of Columbia University.

Ward, Dr. Warren Davis, superintendent of schools, and Dr. Minor C. K. Jones, board member from Mountainside, discounted rumors that Mountainside students now at Dayton would continue there. They said the rumors stemmed from students and athletic coaches who were happy with the relationship and wanted it to continue.

The board approved participation by the Gov. Livingston band and affiliated groups to march in the St. Patrick's Day parade in New York City. The Highlanders would accompany the Veterans Corps of the 69th Regiment.

Diagnosis, treatment center for arthritis to open Tuesday

Through the combined efforts of the Arthritis Foundation, New Jersey Chapter, and the Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, a diagnostic, evaluation and treatment center for arthritis is scheduled to open at the hospital Tuesday.

The center will operate on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month and its services will be available for any resident of the state. The center will serve adults and juveniles upon written referral from their attending physician or medical clinic. The charges at Children's Specialized Hospital are always less than cost and are geared to the patient's ability to pay.

Each session will be staffed by rheumatologists under the direction of Dr. Joseph M. Marchesano, chairman of the chapter's medical and scientific committee. Other participating physicians are Dr. Lonnie B. Hanauer of Millburn, clinic assistant, Edward Daniels Faulkner Arthritis Clinic, Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, and Dr. James W. Robinson of Summit, member of the American Rheumatism Association and an executive officer of the N.J. Rheumatism Association.

In making the announcement about this new center, H.M. Poole Jr., a resident of Mountainside and vice-president of the chapter's board of directors, and Dr. E. Milton Staub, administrator, Children's Specialized Hospital, stated that such a center offering diagnosis and evaluation of arthritis has long been needed in New Jersey for with early diagnosis and proper medical management, severe crippling can be prevented in most cases.

PROFILE -- Harry Nash

Harry Nash, who joins the recreation commission this year along with Tom Phillips and Ed Gibaldo, wants to open up lines of communication between the seven-man board and the community—especially with the youths of the borough. "I don't think we should set ourselves up as a group of middle-aged people making decisions for the kids," Nash said as he prepared to attend his first board meeting last week.

"There should be some formal organization established where the kids elect their own representatives to advise the board," Nash added. "I would also welcome any letters involving recommendations for the improvement of the borough's recreational program—with a promise that they would all be answered." Nash's address is 1140 Saddle Brook rd.

Although the new commissioner concedes the need for additional tennis courts in town, he sees the role of the board now, with much of the borough's physical recreational needs satisfied, as one of implementing programs to a fuller use of the facilities available.

But, he cautioned, "The worst thing we could do is to initiate more projects than we can administer."

"So," he said, "the initial planning efforts are very important, and we should take advantage of any feedback from the community."

BESIDES DIGGING OUT suggestions for improvement from borough residents, Nash has a few of his own he would suggest.

These would include "social type" events such as athletic tournaments, camping trips and "mother-daughter and father-son programs where the parents just don't drop the kids off, go home and pick them up a couple of hours later."

Nash is his own best example of father-son recreational togetherness. With his sons, Andrew, 11, Peter, 10, and Laurence, 7, he has taken to the ski slopes on weekends in northern New Jersey—a sport which he started at Larry's age in Europe.

HARRY NASH

"We started skiing last year," Nash said as he relaxed in his Rt. 22 business office here. "and now all of them are already good enough that I don't worry about them. Kids today learn three times faster than we did when I started."

"And this is the type of thing we should be concerned with on the board," Nash explained, "how to motivate youth rather than provide more and more facilities and then sit back and say 'Now go ahead and play.'"

There are areas other than those which are strictly athletic which Nash feels the commission should also take under its "wing-like arts and crafts and theater."

"IF THE INTEREST is there," Nash said, (Continued on page 2)

Council planning troop cookie sale

Mrs. Stephen Eskoff, 1186 Blazo terrace, Mountainside cookie chairman for the annual Washington Rock Girl Scout Council cookie sale, has announced that all mountainside troop cookie chairmen and cupboard chairmen will meet on Monday at 12:30 p.m. at the Mountainside Public Library.

A member of the Washington Rock Council Staff will be present to distribute materials and to explain the procedures for conducting the door-to-door sale. A sampling of the cookies will be served.

Eight Mountainside Junior, Cadette and Senior troops will participate in the sale scheduled for Feb. 22. Cookies again will sell for 50 cents a box, with the Council and troops retaining the major portion of the sale price.

The Cadettes of Washington Rock Girl Scout Council will present a "First Ladies of the Land" pageant on Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. at Roosevelt Junior High School, Clark street, Westfield.

"First Ladies of the Land" will be a historical pageant—a panorama of the life and times of the 36 First Ladies culminating in a fashion show of the costumes worn by Cadette "First Ladies." The pageant will be open to the public at no charge.

Accident prompts action by Council

An accident last Friday afternoon in which an eight-year-old boy was injured when he allegedly fell from the ceiling beams of a Boy Scout storage shelter here has prompted the Borough Council to instruct the building inspector to investigate the building and seek others in Mountainside which might be similar "attractive nuisances."

The boy, Britt Chapman of 1282 Wood Valley rd., was released from Overlook Hospital Tuesday morning. According to members of the council, the youth sustained an eye injury which at first was thought to be quite serious. Both police and the rescue squad responded to the accident.

The building is at the end of Beech avenue behind the Mountainside Inn. The use of the building is being donated to Troop 76 to store camping equipment.

The building was locked, according to police reports of the incident, and most of the equipment usually stored there was in use by the troop at a camporee in the Watchung Reservation.

VFW Post names Herrgott, Burgess for training course

At a special meeting at the Presbyterian Church in Mountainside, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post Commander David Hutchison selected Junior Vice Commander Roy Herrgott and Tom Burgess, Post Chaplain, to attend the Officers' Training Institute to be held at Fort Dix March 28-30. This special training is to further the understanding of VFW functions which will result in better leadership at all levels of the organization.

Also discussed at this meeting were plans for the formal institution of the Post to be held at the Mountainside Elks Hall, on Route 22, Mountainside, March 9 at 3 p.m.

Post Commander Hutchison made special note of the fact that Paul Kozak, wounded veteran of Vietnam has been returned home, and was in attendance at the regular meeting of the Post, held at Echo lanes.

Highlanders divide; face North Edison, Springfield on road

By BILL LOVETT

John McEigunn's 27 points paced the Gov. Livingston Regional High School basketball team to a 66-51 victory over Clark in Pegino's other contest this week. Rahway staved off the Highlanders' last minute surge to win, 78-73. Gov. Livingston will travel to North Edison tomorrow and to Dayton Regional (Springfield) next Tuesday.

Against Clark, Livingston built up a 37-25 halftime lead, then had the game under control as it coasted to a 66-51 triumph. McEigunn hit on 12 field goals and three free throws. Jeff Burdette added 17 points, Mike Rugen nine, and Eric Wichelhaus seven. Jim Dunn led Clark with 13 points.

Gov. Livingston's Watchung Conference record now stands at 3-5 and coupled with a 2-1 non-conference slate, gives the Highlanders an over-all mark of 5-6.

On the use of the county park system: "If we didn't take advantage of it, it would be a tragedy."

On local volunteers: "This is a young town with a lot of talented people. They should be encouraged to help out."

On existing facilities: "We should make more use of public school buildings like gymnasiums for a men's physical fitness program."

As for himself, Nash prefers "individual sports like skiing, tennis and swimming rather than team sports," although he starred on the CNY soccer team during his college days.

The new commissioner was born in Germany in 1928, but he and his family fled the country in the mid thirties, and, after touching base in Italy, France and England, found a home in America in 1939.

As an engineer and businessman, Nash is the Eastern representative of a California electronics firm.

He and his wife, a former fashion designer who is active in the PIA and the Westfield League of Women Voters, moved to Mountainside seven years ago.

Nash was a Democratic candidate for Borough Council in 1960, and looks upon the new appointment as "an opportunity to serve the town—especially gratifying for a person who worked and has been associated with the Democratic Party."

Frederick Brauer; former Esso aide

Funeral services for Frederick W. Brauer, 83, of 1133 Corinne ter., Mountainside, were held yesterday at Community Presbyterian Church. Burial was in Graceland Memorial Park, Kenilworth.

Mr. Brauer died last Saturday in Overlook Hospital, Summit, after a brief illness. He was the husband of Mrs. Henrietta Miller Brauer.

Born in New York City, Mr. Brauer lived 35 years in Roselle Park and in Mountainside the past 15 years. He worked 34 years as a welder for Standard Oil Co. Linden, until his retirement in 1958.

Surviving also are a son, Frederick W. Jr. of Scotch Plains, two sisters, Mrs. Martha Lowrie of Fanwood and Mrs. Minnie MacGillivroy of Los Altos, Calif., and two grandchildren.

AUTO PREMIUM DOLLAR BUYS MORE INSURANCE THAN IN '47

We hear a great deal about the higher cost of automobile insurance today. But do you know that -- in terms of your family's purchasing power -- basic auto liability insurance is a better value now than it was in 1947, and you pay for it with fewer hours of work and a smaller percentage of your income than were required in the 40's.

For example, the production worker in a factory had to put in 30.9 hours of work to earn the annual premium for $10,000/$20,000/$5,000 auto liability coverages in 1947. In 1967, the typical factory worker put in 29.7 hours of work to pay for the same coverage.

In 1947, the average American family spent 1.33 per cent of its annual income to buy these minimum liability coverages. By 1967, that percentage had dropped to 1.14 per cent.

These comparisons are based on country-wide averages for private passenger vehicles and on drivers who fall into what is known as Class 1-A. About 38 per cent of auto policyholders fit into this rating category.

Of course, many families purchase more coverages than they did 20 years ago. Instead of buying $10,000 liability limits, they buy policies of $50,000 or higher. Also, car owners buy more optional coverages to pay for collisions, theft, damage done by vandalism and storms, medical expenses and accidents caused by uninsured motorists.

A great many families spend more for insurance today because they own two, and sometimes more, cars. Such families receive a special discount when they insure their additional car under the same policy, but of course the total bill is higher than when the family owned a single automobile.

YOUR WORLD

The world may not be yours to command, but as far as your eye can see and as far as your voice will carry you can exert influence that one way or another affects that part of the world in which you live.

You can bring about change. All it takes is attention to the here and now. You make a better world when you help with a community project, when you come to the aid of someone in need, when you make a positive approach to any wrong or sad situation.

You can offer an example in living that may help someone who has doubts, or who would lean in the wrong direction. You may be able to lift a heavy heart with nothing more than a smile.

Don't stand on the side of the road and watch your world with a sense of apathy. Move out into the mainstream, accept and reject, help and guide, and be a leader if you can.

You and your world will be much the better for it all.

County and chorus will operate center for drama, music

The Morris County Park Commission and the Masterwork Music and Art Foundation announced this week that dedication ceremonies of the new Morris County Cultural Center will be held next Wednesday from 4 to 6 p.m. at the center, 300 Mendham rd. (Route 24), Morris Township. The public and press have already been invited to attend.

The occasion will mark the opening of one of the first county cultural centers in New Jersey, and one of the few in the entire nation. It will culminate an agreement reached between the Morris County Park Commission and the Masterwork Music and Art Foundation under which the latter will operate a cultural program at the center, which will become an integral part of Lewis Morris Park.

The cultural program to be offered by the foundation, now in its 14th year, will include concerts, art exhibitions, and dramatic performances by professional groups as well as instruction and an opportunity for citizens to participate as non-professionals in music, art, and drama programs.

The foundation is best known for its nationally acclaimed Masterwork Chorus and Orchestra, directed by David Randolph. This group has performed frequently in New York and elsewhere. They have just completed a very successful series of concerts at Philharmonic Hall and Carnegie Hall, where they sang Handel's Messiah to packed and enthusiastic audiences.

The State of New Jersey has re-imbursed Morris County for one half of the cost of the land and buildings, and the Federal Government has indicated, through a letter of intent, that further financing may be forthcoming under provisions of the Housing and Urban Development Act, Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Turnpike brakes drugs, weapons

State Police on the New Jersey Turnpike reported this week that arrests made in 1968 on weapons and narcotics charges more than doubled the number for 1967 and represented 40 percent of all cases involving arrests on other than motor vehicle violations.

Praising the "outstanding job by State Police patrols on the Turnpike," William J. Flanagan, executive director of the New Jersey Turnpike Authority, said the drive against the illegal traffic in firearms and narcotics "will be pressed even more relentlessly until certain people realize that the Turnpike is not a safe place for gun runners and dope pushers." He was commenting on the report from Captain William J. Kennedy, commander of State Police Troop D on the Turnpike, that of the 1,189 cases not based on motor vehicle infractions, 480 involved guns and narcotic drugs.

Newark businessmen are optimistic

Newark area businessmen, those living and working in Essex, Morris and Union counties, emphatically believe that 1969 will be an unprecedented ninth consecutive year of economic expansion, according to the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce.

The local optimism was clearly shown in the Chamber's annual business Review and Outlook published yesterday, which reveals that 70 percent of the 216 members of Commerce member firms sampled indicated anticipations of "medium" to "large" sales gains during the current year. Gains were defined as "large" if 10 percent or more, "medium," five to 9.9 percent.

The Business Review and Outlook includes two general conclusions that support the businessmen in their optimism.

Local business firms, both large and small, should enjoy increased gross sales in 1969 and at least moderately improved net earnings.

Total employment in the local area should continue to expand moderately, particularly in the service industries. Wages and salaries will show an average increase of about 4 to 5 percent.

However, inflation, the largest single threat to the economy, will cause average price increases of 3 percent, both in Newark and throughout the nation.

THE MAJOR CONCLUSION of the Business Review and Outlook is "a strong general outlook for business activity during 1969 both for the Newark area and the nation."

The Review reports doubt about whether the new administration in Washington can control inflation without applying heavily repressive controls to the economy. The prediction here is for a "successful, middle course in this effort. This should mean an orderly continuation of the expansion which has carried the economy forward without serious interruption since 1961."

Part of the positive support given to the Newark area merchants' buoyance for 1969 comes from the Review's analysis of employment statistics gathered within the Newark area.

These figures show that in October of last year, the most recent month for which data are available, there were 768,000 persons employed in the Newark Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA), which includes Essex, Morris and Union counties. This represents an increase of 4,700, or 0.6 percent above the preceding year.

THE REVIEW POINTS out that while the figure itself is not large, "it is important to observe that it occurred on top of a high total employment level attained back in 1966 and maintained through 1967."

The local SMSA employment growth is comparable to that of New York City, where a 1.3 gain was noted during 1968.

Other Review indicators that demonstrate continuing economic growth in the Newark area include comparisons of electric power consumption for 1968 and 1967, and similar analysis of waterborne freight tonnage and revenue passengers at Newark Airport—all on the increase.

Electric power use in the Newark area showed a 3.3 jump during the first ten months of 1968 compared with 1967. Waterborne cargo tonnage was up by 5.7 percent at Ports Newark and Elizabeth for the same periods and Newark Airport reported 5,614,000 revenue passengers during the first ten months of 1968, an increase of 11.3 percent above the preceding year.

The Review also notes that 1968 was a good business year in ways that cannot be measured statistically.

"There was no repetition of the destructive riots which put Newark into the national headlines in the summer of 1967," the Review states, adding that "there was progress in bringing together business, civic, community and governmental groups for a joint attack on underlying economic problems in the Newark area."

Jerome Hines, Rabbi Prinz to open art exhibition Sunday

Dr. Joachim Prinz, rabbi of Temple Bnai Abraham, Newark, and Jerome Hines of the Metropolitan Opera, will open the Exhibition, "Art in a Concentration Camp: Drawings from Terezin," in a commemorative program at the YM-YWHA of Essex County, 760 Northfield Ave., West Orange, Sunday at 3:30 P.M. Art works include 44 drawings and paintings by adults and 51 children who were interned in Terezin.

Dr. Prinz, a rabbi in the Jewish community of Berlin from 1925 to 1933, witnessed Nazism and preached against it vigorously. Since 1939 he has been rabbi of Temple Bnai Abraham.

Dr. Prinz, a prominent fighter against racism and bigotry, served as president of the American Jewish Congress from 1958 to 1966, when he was elected honorary president. Dr. Prinz served as chairman of the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations for two terms, 1965-67.

Hines, Metropolitan opera star, has become the first American-born basso in forty years to win world-wide acclaim in the great roles of the opera's repertory. His triumphs include a tour of the Soviet Union, where he became the first American-born interpreter of the Moussorgsky masterpiece, "Boris Godunov."

Room for 3,100 new students next fall at Newark Rutgers

The Newark campus of Rutgers University will be able to accommodate some 3,100 new students at the start of the 1969-1970 academic year, Malcolm D. Talbot, vice-president of the state university, reported this week. The figure is a marked increase over the current year, he added.

Of the six colleges and schools on the Newark campus, the College of Arts and Sciences and University College — the evening undergraduate division—are prepared to handle the largest influx of new students, Talbot pointed out.

"Smith Hall, the new four-story 34-classroom structure opened this past fall, is the key factor that will enable us to handle a larger enrollment," Talbot, presiding officer of the Newark campus, declared.

The building which houses the mathematics and physics departments and will shortly become the new home of the world-renowned Institute of Animal Behavior, is already being used for both day and night courses. However, he said, "optimum utilization of all classrooms and laboratories isn't expected until next fall."

The Arts and Sciences College, according to Talbot, will have room for 900 new freshmen direct from high schools and approximately 550 full time transfer students in 1969, compared with some 750 freshmen and 329 transfer students who entered Rutgers Newark in 1968.

University College — whose students are usually employed full time during the day and take courses part time at night leading to bachelor of arts and sciences degrees — will be able to accommodate approximately 1,050 students including 450 transfers, compared with a total of 898 students, including 350 transfers, who enrolled this past fall.

Ethical Culture Society offers humanistic study

Several humanistic studies will be offered by the Educational Center sponsored by the Ethical Culture Society, 516 Prospect st., Maplewood. They will begin the first week in February.

One of the courses will be "Religion Faces Changing Values," which will consist of question and discussion period. Interested persons may obtain a brochure by contacting the society.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

I'm 16 years of age and have the same problem that most girls my age have. It's our parents. They like us to go out with boys of our own religion, I am of the Jewish faith and so are most of my friends. A lot of non-Jewish boys keep asking me out and I have to say no because of my parents. They like me to go out with Jewish boys. I'm still young and have a long life to live, so I'm not going to marry the kids I go out with now.

Why can't I go out to have a nice time?

It's mostly non-Jewish boys who ask me out and I would really like to go. Your advice would be greatly appreciated.

Tied Down

Dear Tied Down:

I am of the opinion that the heart knows no religious barriers and that it's conceivable that your love would be given to someone not of your faith.

While in my eyes it is not a sin to fall in love with someone not of your faith, serious problems can arise. Parents do not want their children to be subjected to problems of this nature. That is the reason for their disapproval of interfaith dating. You won't change their minds, so don't try!

Dear Amy:

I have never written to anyone for advice but I think my problem needs airing. Here goes!

I am a divorcee in my early 30's dating a man in similar circumstances. From time to time we associate with couples (mostly married ones) who knew him before I dated him. They have always been very nice to me. However, there is one woman, married, by the way, to one heck of a nice guy.

Dear Help:

I don't know what prompted your husband to leave, but if you love him, make every effort to get him back home and settle your problems even if it means enlisting the aid of professional help (marriage counselor).

NIH RESEARCH FOR HEALTH

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH

BETHESDA, MARYLAND

"Lazy Eye"

Can you pronounce amblyopia ex anopsia? If so, you may be able to spread the word about this condition which can rob children of their sight.

A child suffering with amblyopia, or "lazy eye," does not see with the same degree of clarity with both eyes. The child thus learns to depend on only the good eye and the poorer one is not stimulated to develop. The pictures from the two eyes are so different that they do not fuse into a single image. The brain will not tolerate such double or confused vision and it ignores one of the images. The unused poorer eye cannot develop its ability to see clearly and the child's vision steadily declines.

Since the child has never experienced binocular vision, he will not know that he is missing anything. He will not know, for example, that he is without proper depth perception. But if by chance disease or injury destroys the sight in his other eye, he will probably be almost totally blind.

Treatment traditionally consists of placing the good eye at an optical disadvantage with an eye patch, or drops—forcing the child to use the amblyopic one. This eye must be retrained to focus properly and to work as a team with the other eye.

Ideally, every child should have an eye examination by his third birthday, including tests for amblyopia ex anopsia. Early discovery of vision defects of this type and prompt, proper treatment provide the best chances for a simple cure and normal vision.

Research in amblyopia is being carried out by the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke (NINDS) at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md. Scientists working in laboratories and clinics are trying to find out why this condition occurs. They hope that through research they can find where amblyopia affects the eye mechanism and brain. They are trying to find out if the nerve pathways are damaged by the imbalanced vision of amblyopia ex anopsia. Researchers are looking for the interrelationship of "lazy eye" and eyes that are turned in or out.

There is also research being done on therapy for amblyopia. A relatively new technique called pleoptics is being tested and evaluated. It uses flashes of light to train the inner parts of the eye back to proper function.

Computers topic of student parley

WELCOME THEM WARMLY
A friendly call is always welcomed by new comers to your neighborhood. They'll be happy to meet you. Later, they'll want to know you better.
But right now, they need something more — directions to the nearest schools and shopping facilities and all the other information one needs on arriving in a strange city.
So make your welcome a little warmer with the help of a Welcome Wagon hostess. She'll provide all this and gifts as well.
When new neighbors move in, call Welcome Wagon. You'll be glad you did... and they will, too.

CLOTHES CARE COMMENTS by SAM MANN (Diamond Cleaners)

The Holidays are over...the decorations are down and stored away. It's time to settle back with that book you've been wanting to read, or the handwork you've been meaning to do.

But wait! Before you do that, there's one after-Holiday task that should be a "must" in every home. I'm referring, of course, to the party frocks you showed off so happily in recent weeks.

If you have already hung them away, do by all means get them out and check them for spots, stains and wrinkles. I know you wore them only a few times, and it's a temptation to put them away without cleaning.

But it can be false economy. "Hidden" stains develop when exposed to heat, and perspiration can ruin fine fabrics. Even if you find only wrinkles, please don't take chances. The next time you want to look festive, you can ruin the garment on the ironing board.

It's so easy to protect those party pretties now. The experts at Diamond Cleaners know how to handle even the most fragile fabrics to insure longer life and the pampered look you want when party time rolls around again.

$8 billion in taxes is the state's share of proposed budget

New Jersey taxpayers will be required to pay more than $8 billion in federal taxes this year, according to the state's share of the cost of the federal spending budget of $195.3 billion proposed by President Johnson for the fiscal year beginning July 1, according to an estimate this week by the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce.

This estimate was based upon the State Chamber's calculations that New Jersey taxpayers currently bear 4.24 percent of all federal taxes. Whether Congress decides to cut this budget or spend more, New Jersey taxpayers will save or pay out proportionally, the Chamber explained.

The President's proposed budget, the Chamber said, would cost federal taxpayers in New Jersey $8,280,720,000 and it noted that this amount is:

-- 9.5 times the $874.2 million of state taxes collected last year to finance the New Jersey State budget.

-- 5.4 times the $1.55 billion of property taxes levied in 1968 to support New Jersey's counties, municipalities and school districts.

"New Jersey taxpayers should see clearly in these figures why federal grants -- money sought so frequently by state and local governmental administrators for supporting all manner of projects -- are not 'free,'" said Earl N. Felio, president of the Chamber.

"While Federal grants lower the apparent costs of local and state undertakings, they are, nevertheless, dollars that come right out of our own pockets -- only as federal taxpayers instead of as state or local taxpayers. And these are still dollars which all of us must work to earn first," Felio said.

Felio noted that the $195.3 billion spending estimate for fiscal 1970 represents an increase of $11.6 billion over the current estimate of $183.7 billion for fiscal 1969. Despite substantial increases in Vietnam costs and certain uncontrollable outlays, the revised 1969 estimate is less than the original 1969 budget estimate of $186.1 billion because of spending restraints imposed by Congress last year.

Felio expressed regret that the Johnson Administration is again proposing "a huge increase" in spending. He urged both the new Nixon Administration and Congress to make every effort to reduce the proposed $195.3 billion 1970 spending total sufficiently to permit a significant reduction of the temporary 10 percent surtax within a balanced budget.

State ski areas offer 'real treat'--Roe

January skiing in New Jersey affords a real treat this season at any of the state's ultra-modern ski resort areas, according to Robert A. Roe, commissioner of the Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Great Gorge at McAfee features the N.J. Jaycee Competition to be held Saturday and Sunday. Other events are the Junior Slalom Feb. 1 and the N.J. Junior Slalom Championships Feb. 2. The N.J. Senior Slalom Championships will be held on Feb. 8. That same evening a Jumping Tournament will be held. The U.S. Eastern Amateur Ski Association Giant Slalom is scheduled for Feb. 15. Belle Mountain, Hopewell, features a slalom on Feb. 9.

Craigmeur at Newfoundland begins the '69 ski season with a special emphasis on "learn-to-ski" programs, to Jan. 29. Classes are open to skiers of all age levels. The program consists of five lessons by qualified instructors. A boy's race competition (ages 6-14) will be held Saturday, starting at 9 a.m. On Feb. 8, at the same time, the girls will have their turn (same age limits).

New Jersey's newest ski center, Vernon Valley at Vernon, will be opened on a limited basis starting Feb. 18. When completed, this complex will have an uphill capacity of 5,000 skiers an hour. The Vernon Valley Ski School is directed by Russell Legare - past Canadian national ski champion, a senior instructor of the Canadian Ski Instructor's Alliance.

Arrowhead Ski Area in Marlboro has programmed activities so that all skiers will be kept interested, featuring a continuous ski school, ski clubs for junior, senior and intermediates; a Ladies Day on Wednesdays and a special rate for students after school and in the evening under lights. The student rate is to help introduce skiing to the younger set. The program is available Monday through Friday. Arrowhead Ski Area is operated by the Red Bank YMCA.

Snow-Bowl, Milton, has gone all out to attract skiers from New Jersey-New York metropolitan area. Snow Bowl features dancing at the Rusty Hinge 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. to live music every Friday and Saturday night through the season.

College unit appoints six as trustees

DeWitt J. Paul, president of the New Jersey College Fund Association, announced this week that six more business leaders have been elected to the Board of Trustees of the Association.

They are John W. Kress, president, Howard Savings Institution; G. O. Lienhard, chairman, Executive Committee; Johnson & Johnson; William H. McElwain, president, Jersey Central and New Jersey Power & Light Companies; Donald A. McMahon, president, Monroe International, Inc.; George S. Mennen, president, The Mennen Company; and Frank J. Nunlist, formerly president, Worthington-Studebaker, Inc.

There are now 16 top New Jersey businessmen serving on the board of the association. The next meeting of the Board of Trustees of the association will be held on Monday at 10 a.m. at Drew University, Madison.

Minimum wage law changes to become effective on Feb. 1

Employers in New York and New Jersey were reminded this week of the changes in the Fair Labor Standards Act which take effect on Feb. 1.

The reminder came from Frank B. Mercurio, regional director of the U.S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, the agency which administers the law containing minimum wage, overtime pay, child labor and equal pay provisions. Mercurio said that beginning Feb. 1, employees whose work was brought under the Act's coverage by the 1966 Amendments will be entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.30 an hour, instead of the present rate of $1.15 an hour. The maximum workweek, after which they must be paid at the rate of one and one-half times their regular rates of pay, will become 40 hours a week for non-farm employees, replacing the current 47-hour workweek. Overtime provisions do not apply to covered farm hands. Employees whose work was covered by the Act prior to the 1966 amendments continue to be subject to a minimum wage of $1.60 an hour and overtime pay after 40 hours a week.

Mercurio also reminded employers that about 1.5 million additional employees of newly-covered enterprises will become subject to the law Feb. 1, as a result of a drop from $500,000 to $250,000 in the annual business volume test for enterprise coverage.

Employers and employees may obtain further information and assistance from the Newark field office of the Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division, 970 Broad St., Newark.

Chorus rehearsal open to public

The public has been invited to "sit in" on a special open rehearsal of The Masterwork Chorus to be held next Wednesday evening. The rehearsal will take place at the Woodland School in Morristown, beginning at 8 o'clock, and will be conducted by David Randolph.

The chorus has begun work on Orff's "Carmina Burana," which will be presented at Philharmonic Hall this coming spring. Singers wishing to become members of The Masterwork Chorus at this time can attend the open rehearsal and indicate their interest. Audition dates will be announced at a later time. In the meantime, prospective members are invited to start attending the Wednesday evening rehearsals on a regular basis in order to familiarize themselves with the music.

Information about rehearsals and chorus membership is available through the office of The Masterwork Foundation by calling (201) 538-1860.

Corporations hike gifts to colleges

DeWitt J. Paul announced this week that gifts to the New Jersey College Fund Association for the first six months of the fiscal year, totaled $107,190 from 63 corporations. "This is an increase of $17,000 over last year at the same time," Paul said.

Paul urged "increased giving by more corporations doing business in New Jersey to help our private colleges meet the rising costs of instructional programs." Paul pointed out that "New Jersey business and industry are the greatest beneficiaries of the work of the member institutions of the association. A survey made last year showed that 65 percent of the graduates of our 12 colleges entered business and industry against a national average of 45 percent."

The 12 colleges and universities of the fund are: Bloomfield, Caldwell, Centenary, Saint Elizabeth, Drew, Georgian Court, Monmouth, Rider, Saint Peter's, Seton Hall, Union and Upsala.
