Fire chief appeals for contributions of cash and vigilance

Fire Chief Ronald Huter this week issued a dual statement urging all borough residents to contribute to the volunteer firemen who will ring their doorbells this Saturday and inviting all interested citizens to visit the Fire House, by appointment, next Saturday, May 10, which is Fire Service Recognition day.

At the same time, the chief offered a checklist of safety tips for everyone to observe. In calling for contributions, he declared: "Help us help you keep your taxes down. During the 12 months since our last fund drive, 64 emergency calls were responded to by your Volunteer Fire Department. On these calls alone, over 2,500 man hours were spent.

"In addition to this, 35 members of the department have spent 80 hours each last year in attendance of drills, training programs and meetings essential to the activities of the Fire Department.

"Your volunteer firemen belong to the only organization that requires a man to pay dues to risk his life. His slogan is, 'the Mountainside Fire Department risks lives to save lives.' The protection of life and property must be maintained at the highest possible level of efficiency.

"Volunteers willingly serve your community, pledging themselves to make the best of any circumstance and do the best possible job under any condition.

"We suggest therefore that you demonstrate your recognition of the volunteer protection given to you 24 hours a day and 365 days a year, by being as generous as possible in our annual fund drive this year.

"We are suggesting $5 a house.

"We are also in need of volunteer firemen to

Richner featured in Pathways' final concert of season

Thomas Richner, noted pianist and organist, will appear in Mountainside next month with the Pathways Chamber Orchestra, conducted by Louis Hooker, in the final concert of the 1968-69 "Pathways in Music" chamber music series. The concert will take place at 8 p.m. May 18 at the Community Presbyterian Church, Deer Path and Meetinghouse Lane, Mountainside.

Dr. Richner's career began at 12 when he became a church organist. His talent as a pianist was established early and he won the Naumberg Award the MacDowell Award and the award of the New York State Federation of Music Clubs. Since then he has given Town Hall recitals (a dozen in all) and made numerous concert tours of England, France, the Netherlands, Austria and Scandinavia. As a pianist he has become particularly noted for his playing of Mozart. According to the New York Times, he "is a born Mozart player, and they are few."

As an organist he selects works from Bach and Buxtehude to Messiaen and Poulenc.

After graduating from the University of West Virginia, Dr. Richner went on to earn his master's and doctor's degrees from Columbia University. Later he was made an honorary doctor of music by Colby College. He has studied Mozart intensively. His book, "Orien-

Little Leaguers parade --then the season begins

Sunny skies helped set the scene for the opening day of the Mountainside Little League on Saturday. A league spokesman said: "The parade went off as scheduled, with the sirens adding to the thrill for the youngsters, and Mountainside residents lined the parade route to add to the excitement of the parade. The teams marched along to the music of the Gov. Livingston Regional High School marching band. Many thanks to the band, its leader and the director.

"The speeches were brief but meaningful and the awards were made to last year's victors amid a great deal of applause.

"High praise must go to Bill Biunno, chairman of the opening day ceremonies, for the excellent job he did. Praise, too, must go to Ed Gibadio and Harry Heldt and the many others for all the time and energy they all spent in getting things ready to go on opening day.

"Mayor Frederick J. Wilhelms threw out the ball for the first game of the season. All teams in all leagues saw action, except in the girls' softball league, which had only two games scheduled. The teams were all anxious and ready to go and it looks like it will be a very exciting season."

Scores for Saturday's game:
American League -- Twins 3, Senators 1; Red Sox 2, Yankees 1; Orioles 2, Indians 0; Athletics 1, Tigers 0. National League Cardinals 15, Braves 9; Cubs 18, Pirates 4; Giants 6, Dodgers 5, Major League -- Pioneers 2, Mustangs 1; Mountaineers 7, Elks 4; Blue Stars 12, Chiefs 4, Senior League -- Orioles 9, Twins 7; Tigers 9, Yanks 2.

In the Major League, the first home runs of the season were hit by Don Schon of the Chiefs and team-mate Bruce Heldt.

In girls' softball, the Parrots beat the Robins, 27-23, and the Orioles beat the Eagles, 30-14.

Sacharow to make bid for Assembly as Dem candidate

Robert Sacharow of 1500 Force Dr. is the New Jersey Democratic Coalition candidate for assemblyman from Union County district 9C in the June 3 primary.

He will be running in the district with another NDC candidate, George Hulse of Scotch Plains.

Sacharow and Hulse will be opposed by the candidates of the regular Union County Democratic organization, John Allaire of Clark and Mayor Thomas Hannen of Winfield. Also, Mayor Thomas Dunn of Elizabeth has pledged to offer optional candidates in the primary.

Sacharow made an unsuccessful bid for a seat on the Borough Council in Mountainside two years ago.

He and his wife have two children, Barbara Lyane, 17, and Randi, 11. The family has lived in Mountainside since 1957. Sacharow runs his own general insurance business.

Wilhelms to retire for health reasons

The Mountainside Republican organization this week announced that it will run an entire new slate for the three seats opening in the municipal elections this fall. They are Thomas J. Ricciardi, for mayor, and for the Borough Council, Ronald M. Heymann and Peter M. Simmons.

Mayor Fred Wilhelms Jr. is stepping down after 5 1/2 years in that post.

The mayor cited a persistent health condition as his reason.

As a public official here, Mayor Wilhelms was also president of the Board of Education for five years.

Councilmen Fred A. Swingle Jr. and Robert A. Ruggiero also announced in separate statements that they will not run for reelection, both citing combinations of business and personal reasons.

Ricciardi, of 356 Creek Bed rd., will be the candidate for mayor. He and his family have lived in Mountainside since 1956. Ricciardi is an engineering graduate of Rutgers University and is president of R. Ricciardi Building and Construction Co. in Orange. He has served the borough in various capacities, including the Borough Council, the Planning Board and the Board of Adjustment.

Ricciardi is active in the Boy Scouts, YMCA and the Community Fund. He is a member of Our Lady of Lourdes Church and the Mountainside Lions Club and is presently engaged in organizing a charter for the new Springfield State Bank.

Heymann, a graduate of Rutgers University and Temple University, is a member of the Westfield Presbyterian Church, Delaware Lodge 52, F & AM, Zeta Psi Fraternity and the Rutgers Alumni Association. He is presently serving as a division chairman for the Newark United Community Fund and belongs to the Mountainside Community Pool Association and the Delaware Water Gap Country Club.

He is employed by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. as metropolitan area sales manager. Prior to his return to the community last year, Heymann served as president and director of the Toms River Jaycees, director of the Chamber of Commerce-Dover Township and the Ocean County Heart Association, and was a member of the Toms River Rotary Club. He lives at 355 Ackerman ave.

Simmons attended Southwest Texas College and is a sales manager for the United States Cypsum Company. He attends the Westfield Presbyterian Church and is chairman of the legislative committee for the Mountainside PTA. Simmons has been active in GOP politics, serving as a campaign aide to Assemblyman

A bungling burglar attempts to enter top cop's house

A would-be burglar this week picked the wrong house here and the slip-up brought him a scare. Police believe it might end the recent rash of break and entries in the borough.

The home was that of Police Commissioner Robert Ruggiero at 357 Hedge Row. Councilman Ruggiero was out of town on business at the time, setting the stage for a dramatic confrontation between his wife, Diane, and the burglar.

"It happened about 9:30 Friday night," the councilman said this week, "when my wife heard a noise at the back door." Diane rose to the occasion and peered out the back door window and into the face of a man she later described to police as about 25 and of Spanish descent.

Diane was an instant winner in the silent clash as she eyeballed the burglar into flight. Councilman Ruggiero called home 10 minutes later, calmed his wife and took charge of the situation by long distance.

"The apprehension of the individual very soon may be a big breakthrough into the whole gang that's been victimizing Mountainside," Ruggiero said. "A preliminary identification has been made, he added, and police are zeroing in on the suspect.

This is the second development within two weeks in the wave of break and entries in the borough. Earlier in April, Bayonne police apprehended three alleged drug addicts with property stolen from Mountainside homes in their possession. Borough police went on a special alert March 18 after break and entries in January and February reached unacceptable proportions.

Highlanders end losing streak at 6, splitting doubleheader with Rahway

By BILL LOVETT

The Gov. Livingston Regional High School Highlanders were finally able to snap a six-game losing streak last Saturday when, after dropping the opening tilt to Rahway, 6-1, Regional led by pitcher, Tom McCann, on his first start, squeezed past the Indians in the second game, 2-1. The Livingston nine, with a mark of 2-7, has no contests this week and does not play until May 13, when it travels to Cranford.

Earlier in the week, the Highlanders ran into undefeated New Providence and its ace moundsman, Walt Ortiz, who went the distance and won, 4-3. Regional pitcher Doug Rau, who also went the distance, and Ortiz threw seven-hitters but Ortiz won his own cause in the bottom of the sixth when he singled home the deciding run to cap a three-run New Providence rally.

With New Providence leading 1-0, John Piccirillo slammed a no base hit to drive in two runs and Chuck Rundlet drove in another to put the Highlanders on top 3-1. One inning later, however, Terry Keene had a two-run single and Ortiz settled it with his run-scoring hit. The triumph win boosted Ortiz's record to 4-0, phenomenal at this point in the season.

In the first game against Rahway, it looked as if Gov. Livingston never was going to break out of its losing streak. In the sixth inning of the opening tilt, Regional committed six consecutive errors. Rahway took advantage of the miscues and poured in six unearned runs before John Adriance was finally able to get out the side.

Jim Murphy tallied the lone Livingston run, while six Rahway players each scored once. The loss was Adriance's fourth of the season without a victory.

Tom McCann was the hero of Regional's 2-1 victory in the second contest as he spun a seven-hitter to win the game in his first start of the season. Rahway took a 1-0 lead in the second frame but clutch singles by Chuck Rundlet and Al Kline drove in a pair of runs to give McCann his victory.

THE 1969 HIGHLANDER golf team has gotten off to one of its best starts in history. Coached by Joseph Verbaro, the team has four returning letterman in Craig Marks, Ken Kosowski, Mike Hiods and Fred Saunders, all seniors. Hunter Layton, a sophomore, has also been starting and has been doing an excellent job.

All home matches are played at the Warrenbrook Golf Course.

Regional programs on drug abuse will begin on May 12

The first of four day-long programs in the Union County Regional High School District on "Prevention of Drug Abuse," will be held Monday, May 12, at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, it was announced this week.

Dr. Donald Merachnik, director of special services, said subsequent programs will be held at each of the other three high schools in the district. Scheduled dates are: May 19, Gov. Livingston Regional, Berkeley Heights; May 26, Arthur L. Johnson Regional, Clark, and June 2, David Brearley Regional, Kenilworth.

"We know this show will appeal to all residents of the regional district and the surrounding area," Grossman said. "It represents outstanding examples of student work in all the art forms."

Each exhibit will be color coded as to which of the four high schools in the district it represents. The district comprises schools in Berkeley Heights, Clark, Kenilworth and Springfield.

Chairmen of the show are William Anderson and Mrs. Nancy Wilder, art teachers at Gov. Livingston. They will be assisted by: David Brodman, Jonathan Dayton, Springfield; Mrs. Harry Polonsky, David Brearley, Kenilworth; and Murray Shereshevsky, Arthur L. Johnson, Clark.

Annual Math Day to be held May 17

The sixth annual Union County Regional High School District Mathematics Day will be held at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield on Saturday morning, May 17.

Students with one, two or three years of mathematics study from the David Brearley, Jonathan Dayton, Arthur L. Johnson and Governor Livingston Schools will participate. There will be three levels of competition, one for each of the three years of mathematics study. Fourth year mathematics students will not be involved as they are engaged in a national mathematics competition each year.

"Make every day Fire Prevention day, and have a happy, safe home and business."

THE FIRE CHIEF went on to say: "Saturday, May 10, is being recognized as Fire Service Recognition Day. Some fire departments are climaxing a week of activity with open house programs at fire headquarters on that day.

"We would also like to extend an invitation to you and your organizations to visit our headquarters. Since we are an all-volunteer organization, however, and are all employed elsewhere, it will be necessary to call and make an appointment with one of the fire officers or men to meet you there.

"The volunteer firemen and officers of the Borough of Mountainside would like to suggest that you make an all-out effort next week in your homes and businesses by stopping long enough to see objectively how many of the following fire safety suggestions you can apply to make every day Fire Prevention Day.

"Spring clean-up week is May 3 to 10. Clean up, and discard anything which you no longer need. Have your heating equipment checked and prepared for next winter. Don't wait; next fall may be too late. Check your electrical equipment and wiring for fire safety and economy.

"Preplan a fire escape route with your family in your home and your fellow employees at work, in case of a serious fire.

"Check any fire protective or fire fighting equipment you have and determine if it's going to be effective or need recharging or replacing.

"Last but not least, make sure you have adequate and proper insurance and, in business, possibly business interruption insurance.

"Our slogan is, 'The fire service risks lives to save lives.' Remember us on Saturday, which is our fund drive day. We'll see you at your houses then. Help us help you keep your taxes down.

"Next Saturday, on Fire Service Recognition Day, the finest recognition we could receive would be your all-out efforts for a fire-safe home and business.

ENJOYING YOUR SWIMMING POOL? HOMEOWNER'S POLICY INSURES IT

"My two teenagers are agitating for a swimming pool in the backyard," says a reader. "I wouldn't mind one, but I'm worried about accidents. Won't I need a special insurance policy to cover accidents in the pool?"

Your children will be happy to hear that insurance coverage on swimming pools involves no special effort and shouldn't stop you from building one. In fact, the pool will probably be covered in your homeowner's policy.

With more than 2.5 million backyard pools in the country, both small wading pools and larger models are insured in most homeowner's policies for a minimum of $25,000 liability. Higher coverage is available at a moderate additional cost. This personal liability provision protects the homeowner when a claim is brought against him by a person who considers the homeowner responsible for his injury. Therefore, you are covered against a damage suit if someone is injured in the pool.

Call us at BENNINGER-TANSEY, INC. and we'll be able to give you more details on your particular pool insurance needs.

Auto hydroplaning is deadly hazard on rain-slick roads

Pesides flowers, spring showers also bring conditions for automobile hydroplaning, a phenomenon just as deadly as driving on glare ice.

Joseph A. Ayares, New Jersey safety director for the Allstate Insurance Companies, warns that hydroplaning occurs when pressure from the rolling tires causes wedges of water to form between tires and highway pavement.

Research at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center showed that cars begin to hydroplane at 35 m.p.h., depending upon vehicle weight, and tire tread condition.

Tests show that hydroplaning can occur in one-tenth of an inch of water — the equivalent of a rain-drenched highway. Research also reveals that worn tires will hydroplane in less water and at lower speeds than new tires.

To help prevent a crash caused by hydroplaning, Ayares recommends that motorists: (1) reduce speed by one-third on wet roads, (2) keep proper inflation level in the tires, (3) watch for standing pockets of water, (4) increase following distance from the car ahead, and (5) replace badly worn tires.

Auto club tips to vacationers on avoiding marathon driving

With the summer season and the long holiday weekends just around the corner of the calendar, people should start to plan their travel now, says R.J. Vialle, general manager of the New Jersey Automobile Club AAA.

Vacationers seem to have a natural inclination to travel as far and as fast as possible, especially when time is short and the budget is limited.

Too often this sort of marathon driving will spoil a vacation. Most who try to find a trip fatiguing rather than fun, because they are tired at the end of every day, tired on reaching their destinations and even more so when the vacation is over.

Most importantly, however, Vialle said,

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am a girl, thirteen years old, and the member of a large family. I don't guess you would consider my complaint a very important one, but it bugs me. The children take turns doing chores, like dishes, for example, at our house. The problem is that my fifteen year old sister doesn't ever wash dishes. She is allergic to detergents and her hands break out in a rash. This means that my eleven year old sister and I have to do more than our share of washing dishes. I know my sister has a problem with her hands, but it still doesn't seem fair."

OUR REPLY: I would assume that your sister has tried rubber gloves. If she hasn't

...ers who push themselves are also needlessly endangering themselves, their families and other people on the road.

An AAA program for enjoyable vacation driving during the summer and early fall is based on well-researched facts, and the New Jersey Automobile Club, AAA offers it as the best way to go:

—Have details of the trip planned in advance, with route maps and reservations in hand, and make sure the car is in good condition.

—Start and stop early each day. Don't plan more than eight hours behind the wheel or subject passengers to a longer period of riding. Stop for a long break at midday, and use the late afternoon and evening for sight-seeing and enjoying the recreational facilities of a hotel or motel.

—Rest frequently. A break in driving to avoid fatigue is absolutely necessary every two hours, and more often if children are along.

—Share the driving. Even brief relief from the constant decision-making of driving will help revitalize reflexes, which must remain sharp to drive safely.

—Avoid drowsiness by taking preventive measures. Keep the car well-ventilated and play the radio or encourage lively conversation. Light meals and comfortable clothing help too—but nothing works so well as adequate sleep the night before.

—Watch for traffic signs placed to help drivers avoid rough spots and indicating safe speeds.

—Keep seat belts fastened whenever in the automobile. Call them life belts—the need for them is very clear. Remind passengers that their being safely buckled-in can give the driver added confidence and peace of mind.

Remember that loose objects in an automobile can cause damage and be damaged with sudden starts and stops—and the same thing applies to people.

Williams supports bill to offer free food stamps to poorest

WASHINGTON—Calling hunger the "terrible footnote to the American epic," Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr., (D-N.J.) has joined in offering legislation which would make free food stamps available to the nation's poorest families.

The bill would also lower the cost of food stamps for those able to pay some portion of the charge. Cuts in food stamp costs would range from 15 to 30 per cent.

Williams said there are 500,000 New Jersey hard-core, poor four-member families with annual incomes of less than $2,200. "Yet in January, 1969," he said, "only 75,870 people received any sort of food stamps at all." He said that nationwide, the food stamp program is reaching only about half of those impoverished families who have access to the program. The New Jersey lawmaker noted that some families receive only $8 to $10 a child for food a month. "There is not a soul who could live on such a meager sum," he added, "yet many try to struggle by at these miserable levels."

Senator Williams explained that the bill would strengthen the food stamp program by:

Providing free stamps to families which earn less than $50 a month.

Cutting 15 to 30 per cent off the cost of stamps for many families.

Increasing the purchasing power of stamps to $120 per month.

Distributing surplus food to food stamp impact areas.

As he joined other senators in sponsoring the food stamp amendments, Williams remarked:

"We are no longer free to ignore or even be ignorant of the plight of hungry Americans... The poverty index classifies a family of four with less than $2,200 as 'hard-core' poor. There are an estimated 17 to 18 million hard-core poor in our country.

"It is, perhaps, one of the most terrible footnotes to the American epic to see a little girl of ten whose teeth have already started to corrode, or a young man whose hands are disfigured from malnutrition.

"Freedom depends on free people, but hunger and malnutrition will keep our poor in bondage unless we act now to end the crisis."

Finance experts tapped as Blue Cross trustees

Former Commissioner of Banking and Insurance Charles R. Howell and Harry W. Jones, retired insurance executive and authority on health care economics, were elected last week as members of the board of trustees of Hospital Service Plan of New Jersey (Blue Cross).

Earl R. Mellen of Millburn was re-elected chairman of the board and Duane E. Minard, Jr. of Montclair was re-elected president at the Board's annual meeting, held in the Plan headquarters at 500 Broad St., Newark.

A computer's helping hand Get your number in a hurry

New Jersey Bell's real time intercept service is now in full operation -- the first of its kind in the nationwide Bell System to be operating company-wide.

Real time intercept is a computerized system designed to inform customers -- in a synthesized voice -- about the status of disrupted, unassigned, or changed numbers. It works like this:

A customer dials a non-working number. His call is routed into an intercept office -- Hammoncton for customers from New Brunswick south; Newark for the remainder of New Jersey Bell's customers. An operator will ask for the number that was dialed, and will relay it to the central computer in Newark by tapping out the number on a series of keys.

The computer will search its memory for all the information available on the given number.

In a fraction of a second it will be ready to respond.

Information will be reported by computer "voice" -- an arrangement of pre-recorded words and numbers that can be combined by the computer into literally hundreds of messages.

Virtually all of New Jersey Bell's operating area is now included in the system. Formerly, New Jersey Bell operators handled about 82,000 such calls a day.

The service was introduced gradually throughout the state, beginning with the New Brunswick area in March and concluding with the Paterson area the week of April 13.

The system's "brain" actually two computers -- is housed in Newark. The "brain" has lightning speeds and a vast storage capacity -- It contains the status of every telephone number in New Jersey Bell.

Water skiing, surfing gaining in popularity

"With New Jersey being a recreational haven, water skiing and surfing have become major summer sports on the state's waters", Robert A.

Roe, commissioner of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development, said this week.

As part of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development's continuing information program the Bureau of Recreation has prepared for public distribution a guide-book titled "Surfing and Water Skiing in New Jersey," publishing rules and regulations concerning these aquatic recreational activities for interested residents and visitors to the state.

Two sections treat the aquatic sports with individual attention. This guide promulgates the state's rules and regulations governing the water skier and the operator of the boat and enumerates restrictions relating to special waterways.

The section on surfing is devoted to safety rules and regulations relating to fees, legal hours and area restrictions for surfers. Also included is information pertaining to competition and tournaments.

"The State Conservation Department's Bureau of Recreation, cognizant of these fast growing water sports enjoyed during the summer months, has compiled valuable information for aquatic devotees. Its increased and popular participation necessitated the bureau making a study and issuing the findings in a booklet for water enthusiasts," according to Bureau Chief David Goodwin.

This guidebook is available without charge and may be obtained from the Bureau of Recreation, New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, P.O. Box 1889, Trenton, New Jersey 08625.

Seton Hall concert on Saturday

The President's Spring Concert of Seton Hall University will be presented on Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in Walsh Auditorium on the South Orange campus. It will be open to the public free of charge.

Achilles D'Amico, director of the Seton Hall glee club of 80 men and women, has selected Ron Nelson's "What Is Man?" as the featured work. This modern oratorio, which was first presented in Atlantic City in 1965, will have Bishop John J. Dougherty, president of Seton Hall, as narrator.

Augmenting the Glee Club will be the 60-member choir of Weequahic High School of Newark. Featured soloists for the work will be Fred Ransom, tenor, and soprano Juanita King who has appeared with the Metropolitan Opera Company and the New York City Opera Center.

Foster unit 'week' set

The staff and board of the Children's Aid and Adoption Society of New Jersey will join in celebrating "Foster Parents Week," according to an announcement by Miss Phyllis Ettinger, associate executive director.

Plans for the observance, which will encompass the period from May 5 to 11, will highlight a special tribute to a foster mother who has served the society as a "pinch-hitting mom" for the past ten years.

In citing "the importance of special recognition to be given to the foster parents affiliated with the Children's Aid and Adoption Society," Miss Ettinger said:

"The wonderful people who are our foster parents are in effect the backbone of our operation. They serve effectively in behalf of youngsters who look to us to find them permanent homes by way of the adoptive process.

"With the help of our foster mothers, each child who comes under our care is given living personal attention in an individual home. This is an essential part of the transition from that child's homeless state, to the permanent home with new parents, for which the child is being made ready."

Further information can be obtained from Christiana Bell, 377-5134 or Manny Martinez, 484-3252. The Club meets every Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at the Colonial Lodge, Chestnut St., Union.

Further information can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the SUA Club, Room 1507, 744 Broad St., Newark.

Nouveau music at state museum

A "Musical Happening" at the New Jersey State Museum Auditorium, Saturday at 8:30 p.m., will include a premiere performance of a composition by Mike Shuster of Trenton and several improvisations. Schuster's composition, written for a large percussion ensemble and guitars, will produce a drone effect coupled with a simple, repetitive musical figure.

Auditorium programs are free to the public. Well-lighted parking areas are available.

By

I'M TOLD THIS IS NORMAL

Dear Amy:
I have been worrying about a problem of mine for several months now. After seeing how understanding and helpful you are to your readers in your column, I feel I could turn to you.

I am a boy of fifteen years and have not yet started to enter puberty. I am even afraid to get undressed in the locker room at school. Is this normal for a boy of my age? I would appreciate your printing this letter because I am sure it would be helpful to other boys in this situation.

you want to believe and dis regarding what you don't want to believe.

It's time you faced the facts! You can get in touch with him if you wish, but I could be wrong.

Dear Amy:
I love my husband and I believe he loves me. He says he does. We have been married 16 years and he never did anything like this before until he hurt his eye.

Since his accident, he will take off for a couple of days then come home again. He says he does not know why he takes off and that he does not want us to break up.

PERSONAL TO YOU:

Electrolysis is fine for some people, but, in my opinion, for a teenager there are other ways to minimize the problem without electrolysis.

Dear Amy:
I have all letters to AMY ADAMS c/o THIS NEWSPAPER. For a personal reply enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

State Bar Association plans program for annual meeting

The 1st annual meeting of the New Jersey State Bar Association will open on Thursday, May 15, at the Shelburne Hotel in Atlantic City. Nearly 30 separate programs and meetings are scheduled during the three-day session.

The topics will range from "Prospects for Tax Reform in the Current Congress" to "Marriage Conciliation - Sexual Problems between Married Couples and Their Effect upon the Marriage." The recent American Bar Association findings in support of the "fault system" in automobile accident cases, a topic which has made considerable news at past bar association meetings, is also slated for review.

Top state officials will appear to speak on issues of concern to both the bar and the general public. Featured at these sessions will be Public Defender Stanley Van Ness, Public Utility Commission President Brendan T. Byrne and Administrative Procedure Director Leon S. Wilson. A symposium on "The Moment of Death" will include the legal views of Attorney General Arthur Sills and the medical views of State Medical Examiner Edwin Albano on organ transplants. In another session, Deputy Attorney General Irving Zucker will discuss consumer protection.

Extra-legal subjects on the schedule include a "Foreign Policy Briefing" by three representatives of the State Department, Mid-East, China and Far East, and Iron Curtain prospects will be outlined by experts in these areas from the Nixon administration. Another program of general interest will consider "Cancer of the Lung in Relation to Smoking, Environment and Occupation."

A number of smaller meetings will also be held along with continuing studies of such items as "The Public Collective Bargaining Act" and "What's Wrong with Probation."
Other participants will include Governor Hughes, Chief Justice Weintraub, American Bar Association President William T. Gossett, Bahamian Governor Sir Francis Cumming-Bruce, Dr. Albert Ellis of the Institute for Rational Living and Dr. Laurence N. Woodworth, chief of staff for the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation of the United States Congress.

Dear Chaz:

Many young people experience embarrassment when it is necessary to undress in front of others, but I assure you that it is very normal.

If your problem goes beyond that, I urge you to discuss it with your parents and your family doctor.

Dear Amy:

I'm 16, I met George last summer. From the first time he saw me, he pretended he liked me. He lied to me a lot but he only wanted me to like him, and I told him I did.

After a few weeks of knowing him, his friends told me that he was no good and that he didn't like me. I believed them and I didn't want to see George again. A few weeks later, he wanted me back, but I said no.

Now his brother tells me that ever since I got mad, he is going crazy. He doesn't want to talk to anybody and he says that I'm the only girl he will talk to. He went with many other girls since then but he broke up with them all.

He is just being miserable! I like him more than I ever did. I want him back. How can I go about getting him back? I have to make the first move. He won't.

Dear Jenny:

A boy who cares for a girl as much as his brother says he cares for you would certainly contact you. Frankly, I think you are believing what

Do you think I am wrong in staying with him or should I call it quits? I have 3 sons and they tell me that they like their father the way he is.

I think a lot of this is his nerves and he doesn't want to believe he could be doing this because of nerves. He has always been so strong.

Dear Mrs.:

If you think that your husband's behavior is due to his accident which resulted in disturbing his nervous system, accompany him to the doctor.

Perhaps there is more damage than you realize, and if you love your husband, you will make every effort to help him with his problem.

Dear Amy:

I am 13 and I am in the 8th grade. I live with my aunt. She doesn't think I should baby-sit for four children at one time. Three are boys and one is a girl. Their ages are 10, 8, 6 and the little girl is 4.

What is your opinion about it?

Dear J.C.:

I agree with your aunt, dear. One at a time is quite enough of a responsibility for a 13 year-old.

Homemaker can help family's hearts

The homemaker has an opportunity to make a real contribution to family heart health in her own kitchen. With this as a daily goal, she can rely for help on two new publications, approved by heart and nutrition experts, that place into focus the entire matter of eating better to protect the heart.

These are the leaflet, "The Way to a Man's Heart," and a companion booklet on "Recipes for Fat-Controlled, Low Cholesterol Meals." Available from your local county Heart Association, they are based on the latest scientific evidence which indicates, according to the American Heart Association, that most individuals can reduce their risk of heart attack by making moderate changes in the normal diet.

The typical American diet is rich in eggs, which are high in cholesterol, and meats and dairy products which are high in animal (saturated) fats, says "The Way to a Man's Heart". These foods tend to raise the level of cholesterol in the blood, and contribute is a forerunner of heart attack. To reduce the risk of this form of heart disease, the leaflet explains the moderate changes needed to adopt a meal plan which is low in saturated fat and cholesterol and high in polyunsaturates, and which provides all the nutrients essential to good health.

The leaflet opens into the form of a wall chart measuring 15 by 18 inches. On one side is information about cholesterol and different types of fat in foods, as well as questions and answers about diet and its effects. The other side provides an every-day guide for the homemaker, with lists of basic food groups from which to plan heart-helping meals; recommended foods; those which should be used sparingly or avoided; and size of servings for each food. Desserts, beverages and condiments also are covered by the chart.

The booklet, "Recipes for Fat-Controlled, Low Cholesterol Meals," is designed to help the housewife carry out the new suggested to hardening of the coronary arteries, which meal plans. The booklet contains definitions, cooking tips, and specific recipes for preparation of meats, fowl, fish, vegetables, salad dressings and sauces, and baked goods and desserts. All cooking fats used in the recipes are a polyunsaturated vegetable oil.

Using both publications as her guide, the housewife will be able to plan and prepare satisfying meals for the whole family. In doing that, she will be called on to make only moderate changes in household eating habits. But the benefits may be substantial.

There is increasing evidence that most people, including those who may have inherited a tendency to heart disease, can substantially reduce their risk of heart attack if they follow a diet to control blood cholesterol levels, and if along with this they maintain a normal weight, avoid cigarette smoking, exercise regularly, and obtain medical treatment if they have a history of pressure or diabetes.

Youths apprehended

Three juveniles were apprehended by police at the Courtesy House in Libberger Park last Wednesday night after they left a car at the corner of West 11th and Spryvesant avenues with the lights on and fled on foot. The car had been reported stolen in Plainfield, Union police said.

In the course of a Study Mission there are many invitations extended by people of the countries being visited. They are to homes, palaces, offices, embassies, restaurants, gardens, tents or what-have-you, and some are glamorous, some exciting, some informative, some interesting and some just plain nice. In thanks, one usually extends a counter invitation "to come see me when you are in the U.S." It is seldom, however, that they ever really happen.

But it did last month. When we were in Kenya two years ago, we received an invitation from the Hon. Reginald Alexander that has some of all the qualities of the above, and last month Mr. Alexander and his wife, Marce, came to New York and visited me. Other friends who had been in Africa were also present and so for a change, we had a "re-union."

The big question in Kenya two years ago was: what happens if something should happen to Jomo Kenyatta? It apparently still is the big question today, but according to our African visitors there have been a few small changes.

PERHAPS THE BEST WAY to explain the Kenya situation is to quote from the Feminine Look column of two years ago:

Jomo (Burning Spear) Kenyatta, who is credited with being the leader of the infamous Mau Mau movement, and who spent about nine years under imprisonment and restriction by the British for his very activities in that movement, is today the top man in Kenya.

He was elected that country's first president in 1963 and thus made the very unusual step of going from prisoner to president. He is efficient, popular and pro-western, and in a continent where many of the nations lean toward communism, his leadership is valued in the western world.

His own people call him "The Mzee." The word "Mzee" means "old man of respect" in Swahili, but there is only one "THE Mzee" in Kenya — and that is Kenyatta. According to Ken Bolton, an editor of the East African Standard in Nairobi, "Kenyatta is a man who has extraordinary charm, power and influence over the people."

The American embassy men said that Kenyatta's government is one we can live with and official relations are good. Kenyatta's government is stable and effective, and cooperation with the U.S. is very good. The backbone of U.S. operations in Kenya until 1963, when an ambassadorial level was established, was missionaries. There are now 1,500 missionaries still in Kenya — 2,600 Americans, 770 Peace Corps workers and 62 U.S. firms.

The U.S. policy is to support the present government, for the U.S. feels the government has "important influence upon the rest of this part of the world." Its leaders are recognized as constructive and the country's financial and political structures are good.

"The main subversive element is Chinese," our newspaper informant told us, "but we think we have routed it out. Just remember as long as Mr. Kenyatta is here you (Americans) don't have to worry." (About Kenya.)

BUT — the Mzee is 74, perhaps more, and many of his possible successors are not of the same mold. The American Embassy people feel his cabinet is behind him and quite capable, so a successor may come from there. There are 20 members of cabinet rank whose average age is 42 and more than half were educated in the U.S. But tribalism (Kisumu Tribe, the largest) comes into this again and could effect selections to others not as competent.

And there is Oginga Odinga, the leader of the new opposition party who, according to our informant, "is charming but quite a bit of a trouble maker to the east."

From the cabinet itself, there is the well known Tom Mboya, minister for economic planning and development, but while he is possibly the most capable and the most intelligent, he is unpopular. "Tom" has a way with him that does not make friends.

Further, according to Mr. Bolton, a man by the name of Daniel Moi, vice-president and home minister, is about best. "We should hitch our star to him," he said. The U.S. Embassy also feels Moi is best and that Mboya is brilliant but unlikeable. "He (Mboya) knows how to get a bill through Parliament though!" someone else said. And, if something should happen to Jomo Kenyatta that is just where the matter of a successor would go — to Parliament. The vice-president is appointed by the president but if a president dies, Parliament is summoned to elect a new leader.

THERE ARE 172 MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT "which has a great deal of honest integrity," according to the U.S. Embassy, "and the president has never steered — rolled it." Kenyatta's policy seems to be one of "slow but sure." "See if we can arrange it and get the job done gently" could almost be his motto instead of "Harambee" which is the nation's slogan in Swahili, meaning "get together."

Of the 172 members of Parliament, anyway, two are white. There is Bruce McKenzie, formerly of South Africa, who is now a Kenya citizen and also a cabinet member, and Reginald Alexander, who was born in Kenya of Scottish-English stock, and who also operates Bruce Travel Limited in Nairobi. The highly respected, well-liked, Speaker-of-the-House lean and twinkling Humphrey Slade, is also white, but as Speaker, he has no vote.

We took tea with the Hon. Mr. Alexander and Hon. Mr. Slade and then Mr. Slade took us through the Parliament building. In the evening we were invited to the home of the handsome Mr. Alexander where we met Mr. Bolton. According to our invitation, several ministers of the cabinet were to be present as well, but they never arrived or else they did not stay long enough to talk to. So Mr. Bolton had the floor all to himself — in front of the beautiful fireplace, which was lit. The entire home was beautiful, absolutely beautiful, and the blazing fire, believe it or not, felt marvelous.

THE ENTIRE HOUSE OF PARLIAMENT comes up for election in 1970 which is also a presidential year. The last vote was in 1963. Of Kenya's 9.3 million people, half are under 16 and only three and a half to four million can vote. Any male or female over 21 and with about two years or more residence in Kenya can vote. Literacy is no requirement.

There are two main parties. The current leading party is the KANU or Kenya African National Union, and the minority party is the KADU or Kenya African Democratic Union. Last year Odinga and his followers, in dissatisfaction with the government, organized a third party called the KPU or Kenya People's Union. It was permitted by the government and allowed to voice its opinions.

Americans in Kenya said, with the current government, they felt there was nothing to fear from African Socialism. "Almost everything is private enterprise as long as the KANU is in power," Mr. Bolton said. And our U.S. Embassy men expect Kenya to be an agricultural country for the next generation and expect it to be important to the U.S. in its geographical situation and its policy. So the feeling in Kenya seems to be Long Live Kenyatta.

NOW, IN THE YEAR 1969, Kenyatta is 76 or more, and seems to go on and on forever. But, as I understand it, Oginga Odinga no longer appears to be a threat and Daniel Moi is stronger. Kenyatta's KANU party is still the leading party but surprisingly the KADU no longer exists but the KPU does. And of the 172 members of Parliament, there are still two white men: Mr. McKenzie and Mr. Alexander. And the twinkling Mr. Slade still presides over Parliament.

Mr. Alexander now also has a travel agency called Funga Safari Limited besides the Bruce Travel Agency. "Funga safari" is Swahili for "domestic tours" and that agency handles all travel within Kenya while Bruce Travel handles foreign travel.

I can only say, I hope I can use them both soon. Kenya is beautiful. In addition, there are two new, swete hotels in Nairobi to pamper the traveler, and the white man seems to be welcome in Kenya. There is a report that many white families have left Kenya particularly those with small children because the rearing of the white child and the black child are not compatible — but at the same time there is no "danger" for the white man.

At least so it would seem if the reports about Kenyatta are true and if he remains at the helm. So, yes, Long Live Kenyatta! May his life be as long as his title: "His Excellency the Honorable Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, Member of Parliament and President of Kenya, Chief of the Order of the Golden Heart of Kenya" — an appellation only a few seconds shorter than that of his neighbor: "His Imperial Majesty Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethiopia, King of Kings, King of Zion, Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, Branch of the Tree of Solomon, and Implement of the Holy Trinity."

Seminar on metrology to be conducted at NCE

In response to the increasing demands for greater production accuracy and precision, Newark College of Engineering will present a one-day seminar on the practical aspects of metrology, the science of exacting measurements.

The program will be held at NCE in Newark on Saturday, May 17, and will be given in cooperation with Newark Chapter 14 of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers and through support of a Federal grant under the New Jersey State Technical Services Program, administered by the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

According to the college, the demand for a consistent chain of measurement controls — from the actual product to the National Measurement System — calls for new attention in providing certified measurement data. This need becomes acutely apparent when the extent of use of new critical metals and alloys is considered together with the current emphasis on subcontract procurement.

It is expected that the NCE seminar will be of particular interest to those directly concerned with product design, development, manufacture and quality control of mechanical, electrical and electro-mechanical products. Managers and supervisors will also find the program of value.

Information inquiries and reservations should be addressed to Paul A. Burns, Director of Conferences, Newark College of Engineering, 323 High St., Newark, 07102.

Draft to call 583 in May

Colonel Joseph T. Avella, state director of Selective Service, announced this week that the state's induction call for May is for 583 men, 114 less than the April call.

The national call is for 27,600 men, 25,600 to be inducted into the Army, and 2,000 into the Marine Corps. This was determined on the basis of each state's supply of qualified men reported to National Headquarters of the Selective Service System.

Also during May, 3,244 men will be forwarded to the Armed Forces Examining and Entrance Station in Newark for pre-induction physical examination.

UNION SPRINGFIELD AVE. NEAR VAUXHALL RD. NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR TYPOGRAPHICAL ERRORS

PREFAB BANK OFFICE—This "Port-A-Bank" temporary prefabricated branch office, to be opened by the Suburban Trust Company May 17 at 580 Springfield ave., Westfield, is believed to be the first of its type in the nation.

Bank planning to branch out in unique prefabricated office

The sixth and newest office of Suburban Trust Company is scheduled to open at 580 Springfield ave., Westfield, near Rt. 22, on Saturday, May 17, according to an announcement by Paul C. Bosland, president of the $90 million bank.

"Located on the borders of Springfield, Mountainside and Westfield, it should prove to be of special convenience to a wide area of residents and businesses," Bosland noted.

"We have leased a temporary building, designed to our specifications, which will enable us to offer immediate full banking service while the permanent structure is being designed and constructed."

The new office called a "Port-A-Bank," was prefabricated in Indiana and is described as the first of its kind in the nation. It will provide office space for the manager and his assistant, three teller windows, and a drive-in window too. Constructed of precast panels of stone chips on cement asbestos board, and sporting a white pine interior trim, it represents a departure from the temporary trailer offices often used in banking.

According to Bosland, plans are currently being drawn up to begin construction on the permanent building in late summer. A two-story structure of contemporary design, it will feature both drive-in and walk-up teller service, will contain safe deposit box facilities, and additional office space to house departmental personnel of the rapidly growing bank.

Suburban Trust Company also maintains offices in Cranford, Garwood, Plainfield and Scotch Plains, in addition to another office in Westfield at 170 E. Broad st.

13 from local Y attend conference

A Westfield YMCA delegation of five adults and eight youths attended the recent Central Atlantic Area Council and Hi-Y Council meeting. The delegation was headed by R. R. Barrett Jr., board president, and John Eldridge, president of the local Hi-Y Council. Over 600 delegates from the YMCA's of New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico were in attendance.

According to Edward C. Ewen, executive director, the meeting was "historic from several points of view." It was the first time the area council delegates met in joint session with the area Hi-Y council, which added a great deal of youth participation. It also marked the last meeting of the Central Atlantic Area Council as such, for action was approved that will bring the YMCA's from the State of Pennsylvania into one combined organization to be known as the Middle Atlantic Region.

The council meeting was held in the Berkeley Carteret Hotel, Asbury Park. Three of the Westfield delegates were elected to various offices, including Barrett to membership on the area board; Jay Rochlin, to assistant secretary of the area council, and Ewen, to another term as a member of the area board executive committee. James W. Taylor was elected to another term as a member of the International Committee.

TV critic to speak at meeting of PTA on Monday evening

Tom Mackin, TV critic and columnist of the Newark Evening News, will speak to the James Caldwell PTA, Springfield, on Monday. The meeting will be held in the Caldwell auditorium at 8 p.m. It was announced by Mrs. John Dysart, vice-president and program chairman. She stated that this final program of the year is open to "everyone concerned about the leading role of TV in our daily living."

Mackin will discuss the current TV season and will look ahead to the fall with a preview of what the new season will offer. "TV is going through a turbulent period," Mackin stated, and my remarks hopefully will reflect this."

Mackin has been reporting on TV from New York and Hollywood since 1950. A graduate of Seton Hall University, he received his master's degree from Columbia School of Journalism. During World War II, he served as a naval correspondent in the South Pacific. In addition to his column for the Newark News, Mackin has written many articles for national magazines, and he lectures on journalism at Seton Hall. Mackin resides in Short Hills with his wife and two young daughters.

Newly elected officers of the Caldwell PTA will be installed at the meeting. Refreshments will be served following the program.

The center is the Union County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association. The association, founded in 1949 through the efforts of interested individuals and parents of cerebral palsy victims, aims to develop and carry out programs of research, patient service and education of the laity and medical profession.

Locally, cerebral palsy patients and their families are provided with a variety of services, for which they pay in accordance with their means. After referral to the center, a medical diagnosis and evaluation is carried out. A course of medical treatment is planned which will aid the patient in full utilization of all his abilities. The treatment is comprehensive and also includes special education, vocational training and recreation. In addition, parent counseling in a very valuable area of service.

Cerebral palsy is a neuromuscular condition caused by brain damage through defective prenatal development, birth injury, trauma and disease. This illness manifests itself in lack of muscle control, speech defects, spasms and seizures. Other complications may include impaired sight, mental retardation, hearing difficulties and abnormalities of sensation and perception. The patient may exhibit any number of these symptoms in varying intensity. Statistics show that 600,000 adults and children in the United States have cerebral palsy. Of these, 250,000 are under 21 years of age and each year 25,000 infants are born with this disease. It is estimated that the annual cost for the care and rehabilitation of these afflicted people is $500,000,000.

Springfield Evangel Church plans missionary conference

A missionary conference will be held at Evangel Baptist Church, 242 Shunpike rd., Springfield, Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m., featuring the Rev. Manuel Rodriguez, European Evangelistic Crusade missionary to Spain.

Mr. Rodriguez was born in Puerto Rico and came to the States just before graduating from high school. Thirteen months were spent in the U.S. Armed Forces in Korea and it was there that God began to speak to his heart," the announcement added.

Two years later, he entered Barrington Bible College, Barrington, R.I., where he majored in missions. During the summers while he was at college, Mr. Rodriguez worked as a chaplain among Puerto Ricans in Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

The Rodriguez family has spent a full term in the ministry of personal evangelism in various provinces of Spain, mostly in the southern part. Hundreds of Gospel tracts and Bible portions were distributed. In many cases, their ministry took them from house to house. Some service was seen in Gibraltar, also. At present they are on furlough awaiting instructions from the mission board to return to their field of labor.

At noon there will be a luncheon and a question and answer period with Mr. Rodriguez. At 7:30, slides will be shown of the work in Spain, and at 8, Mr. Rodriguez will present a missionary message. A fellowship hour will follow the meeting.

BAPTIST CHURCH SPEAKER—The Rev. Manuel Rodriguez, missionary to Spain who is shown here with his family, will speak Wednesday evening at the Evangel Baptist Church, Springfield.

Honor at Overlook awarded to its unit for intensive care

Singling out the devotion to duty of nursing personnel on one of Overlook Hospital's most critical units, the G. McKay Stevenson Memorial Award for outstanding performance in the field of health and medicine was presented this year to the intensive care unit of the Hospital.

A citation presented at the annual meeting of the Overlook Hospital Association last Thursday by Dr. James W. Robinson, member of the Stevenson Memorial Fund committee, was received on behalf of the nursing personnel of the I.C.U. by the intensive care unit's three head nurses: Mrs. Dorothea Karl of Cranford, Mrs. Anne Handville of Summit and Martha Damon of Westfield.

The citation read: "This sixth annual award is presented to the intensive care unit of Overlook Hospital in recognition of its outstanding performance, involving the most demanding and critical duties in advanced concepts of nursing care. "One of the earliest units in New Jersey, Overlook's I.C.U. has managed to be consistently reliable in the skillful and compassionate care administered, despite inevitable turnover in personnel."

"Dr. Stevenson was one of the early patients in the original unit, and had unreserved praise for the care he received at that time. Overlook Hospital is fortunate that these high standards have been maintained ever since, bringing hundreds of critically ill patients through times of crisis, and ministering to their families with equal concern."

Free ads offered students

Summer job placement program to begin on May 15

This newspaper will again offer a campaign of free "situation wanted" classified advertisements to help high school and college students find summer employment. The first ads will appear in the issue of May 15.

The free ads will appear for 3 weeks in the classified section of this and seven other newspapers in nearby communities published by Suburban Publishing Company, so that the students can get their message to prospective employers.

Students who took advantage of the free ads last year received excellent results, according to Robert H. Brunell, advertising director. He reported that 300 young people looking for summer work placed classified ads.

This year's project will be the fifth annual one, and that all persons interested therein will be given a permit to use the vending machines and license therefor.

These are the ones that catch the reader's eye. Since the ads will appear in several communities, it is a good idea to mention your town or neighborhood, particularly in ads for baby sitters, to facilitate the spotting of your ad by prospective employer.

The rules for submitting ads: 1. Offer applies only to young people currently in high school or college. 2. Ads must not exceed 25 words in length. 3. All ads must be typewritten or printed. 4. Only one ad per student, please. 5. Ads should be submitted in person or mailed to Classified Dept., SUBURBAN PUBLISHING CORP., 1791 Stuyvesant ave., Union, N.J. No ads will be accepted by telephone. 6. Most ads will be printed as written. However, the publisher reserves the right to reword if necessary for clarity and to reject an ad if any reason.

Deadline for Thursday insertion: Friday 5 p.m. Ads received after this time will be held for the following week. This offer will expire May 23.

Gerald J. Healey of Kenilworth, manufacturing specialist for RCA Electronic Components, has received the coveted NASA "Silver Snoopy" award for outstanding contributions to the Apollo space program. Snoopy, the famous dog created by cartoonist Charles Schulz, was adopted by Apollo astronauts as "the watchdog of quality and symbol of craftsmanship."

Healey was recognized for his role in the development and manufacturing of RCA electronic components vital to the critical radar system which will assist lunar astronauts in landing and taking off from the moon's surface.

In a letter to Healey, astronaut Frank Borman stated:

"We in the test end of Apollo hold in very high regard those individuals like yourself who have contributed in a selfless and highly professional manner to the safety and success of these flights."

"You have demonstrated a high level of program understanding and leadership, and your personal efforts have gone far towards assuring the ultimate success of Apollo."

"Please accept our sincere thanks, and as a token of our gratitude, the 'Silver Snoopy.' When you wear this pin, you may do so knowing that it is given only to those individuals whom we regard as the best in their respective professions."

Healey, his wife Betty, and their sons, Timothy, 11, and Douglas, seven, live at 15 Wilshire dr.

NYC ballet dancers here at college

Two members of the New York City Ballet, Patricia McBride and Edward Villella, will perform a dance recital at the Newark State College Theater for the Performing Arts Monday at 8 p.m.

The program is the first in a series of cultural events presented by the college's Performing Arts Council, a group formed recently by Dr. Herbert Samenfeld, dean of students. Three or four major performances are anticipated for next year.

Miss McBride commands a breadth of repertoire that few young dancers in the world can match. She began ballet lessons at the age of seven in Tenack, her hometown. After six years her teacher, the late Ruth Vernon, recommended that she continue her studies in New York, and at 14 she was offered a scholarship to the School of American Ballet, the official school of the New York City Ballet.

At 16 she was invited to join the New York City Ballet. She was made a soloist just one year later, and at 18 she was elevated to the principal dancer with the company.

Villella began ballet lessons by chance at the age of 10. A sandlot baseball enthusiast, he was struck unconscious by a baseball and ordered by his parents to stay away from sandlots for a while. His sister was studying ballet at the School of American Ballet, and, for lack of something better to do, he joined her class.

Villella joined the New York City Ballet in 1957 and was made a soloist within a year.

Teacher ran 'blistering' pace to finish 26-mile Boston race

Science teacher Jerome Mandel is still feeling the effects of last week's Boston Marathon.

Mandel, a 71-year-old science teacher at David Brewster Regional High School in Kenilworth, entered the 26th annual running of the event to prove to himself he could finish the full 26 miles and 387 yards.

"I proved it to the hilt. He said this week he's thinking of trying it again next year, despite the memory of experiencing 'pain' he experienced during the four hours and 14 minutes it took him to complete the tough run in downtown Boston.

He is still receiving the congratulations of his fellow teachers, students and other school officials, including Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of schools. While he was away, his classes continued to function as recorded video tape.

"Mandel's accomplishment is an outstanding example of what a person can do if he sets his mind to it," Dr. Davis said.

Mandel, who taught at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights before coming to Kenilworth, said, "I'm proud of my body for those last two miles. I don't know how I finished, but I did."

"I told my students when I returned that they should never be embarrassed if they don't win a contest. The only reason I came by not finishing."

An assistant track and football coach, Mandel said he ran "and walked" the first 20 miles of the race in about three hours.

"To give you an example of how fatigued it was for me, it took me 35 minutes to make the last two miles. My body was numb, I couldn't feel a thing. I could just about wall across the finish line. My wife had to practically hold me up," Mandel said.

The spectators along the race route were wonderful. They handed us pieces of oranges along the way. I must have eaten six oranges. One little girl gave me an ice popicle and woman turned a water hose on me to cool me off," he commented.

Mandel is no stranger to running. He captained his high school and college track teams. He trained for the marathon by running five miles a day, using the school halls during bad weather, and the high school track.

"There were 1,152 starters, including some women. They're not allowed to enter the race but they jump in anyway. At one point in the race, two girls walked by me faster than I was running. But, it was all worth it. You've got to experience it to appreciate it."

A Volkswagen Station Wagon will take half a ball game to a ball game. It will hold nine players, fifteen pieces of luggage, balls, bats, bases and a goodly supply of crying towels. It will do all that while averaging a good 23 miles to a gallon of gasoline. It's a feat comparable to hitting .400.

It will do all that and finally it will do all that for as little as $2,672*.

Now let's play ball.

'English spoken here' Course given for foreign-born

This is a man. This is a house. This is a pencil. And, this is the kind of elementary English being taught to 11 foreign-born students in a unique "English and Reading as a Second Language" course at David Brentley Regional High School in Kenilworth.

The high school, part of the Union County Regional High School District, found itself faced with a problem early in the school year, with the enrollment of more than the usual number of non-English speaking students. The students came from such diverse places on the globe as Columbia, Cuba, Italy, Japan and Poland. Their families had settled in Kenilworth, which has a number of industries. Aware of the language barrier, the school attempted to place the youngsters in classes with bi-lingual teachers. When more foreign-born enrolled in October and November, it became apparent that special attention would have to be given to these students.

School and district officials, including John L. Dixey, principal; Monroe B. Nestler, director of guidance; Dr. Donald Merachnik, director of special services for the regional district; Dr. Martin Siegel, director of instruction, and a representative of the State Department of Education, joined forces to prepare a suitable program geared to the non-English speaking student.

This event will be held May 24-25. The great canoe race is scheduled for May 3 and the Cub Olympics will take place May 10. Cub Scouts at their weekly den meetings and May pack meeting will follow the theme, "Wonders of the World," William Miller, roundtable commissioner said.

The 10-year-old Webelos Scouts will work on requirements to earn the naturalist badge and will make nature exhibits for the monthly pack meetings.

The district's annual recognition dinner will take place this Wednesday, at the Westwood in Garwood. The district officers will be installed at this time. On June 11, the scouts will participate in the annual steak cookout at Tamaques Park. Wives are invited.

THE REAL YOU

Do you see the real you when you look into the mirror at the start of each new day? Probably not. Do you see yourself as others see you? Very unlikely. Because such is the way of human nature, we are all prone to a bit of self conceit. We do not often sell ourselves short. The truth is that we make excuses for ourselves that do not make, or if we do something which is wrong, we have an "excuse" which makes it self-justifiable.

We should always remember that it is easier to deceive ourselves than it is to deceive others. What we may consider a temporary setback is usually rated a total failure by our friends. Something we might have done because there was "no other choice" overlooked a proper option that was clearly evident to everyone else.

What is to be done? Make sure the real you is a real person. Let conscience be exercised. Conscience is that one part of you most difficult to deceive. Live your life in a manner that keeps conscience at rest; you will be at peace with yourself and the rest of the world.

FAMILY POT LUCK BY HELEN HALE

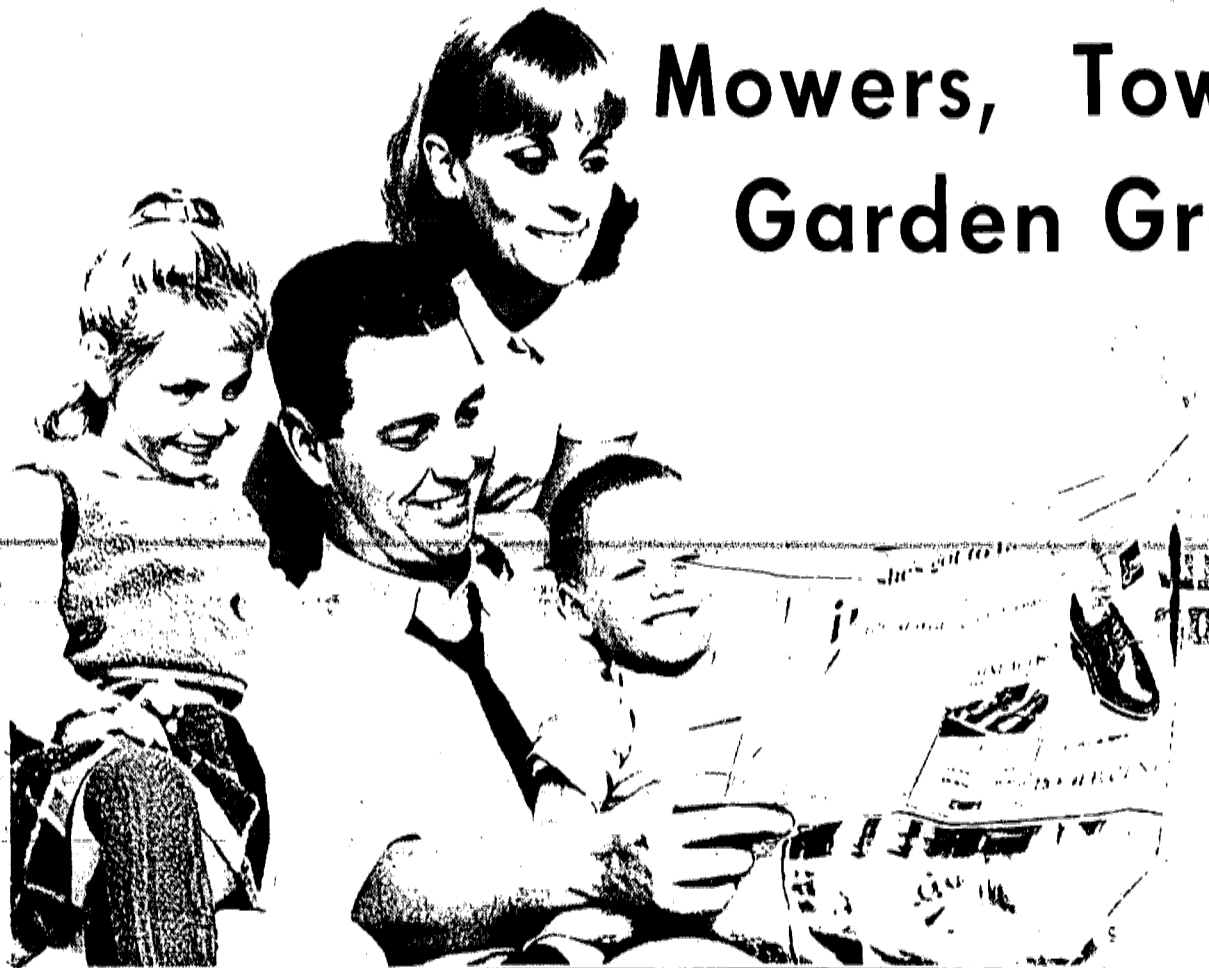

Warm weather is Pimiento Dip season, for sandwiches, for serving with crackers as an appetizer while steaks sizzle on the outdoor grill. Using electric mixer, beat together 1-1/2 cups creamed cottage cheese, 1/2 teaspoon instant onion flakes, 1 large pimiento, diced, and salt to taste. Serve with celery or carrot sticks or potato chips. Marjoram gives an extra touch of flavor to cheese and egg dishes, is also a fine addition to soups and stews. To perk up brown and serve sweet rolls, add 3/4 teaspoon anise seed before baking. When using a meat thermometer, be sure to place it in the thickest part of the meat, with the bulb centered, resting neither in fat nor on bone. Because food spoilage bacteria thrive at 40 degrees and above, cooked meats should be kept at room temperature for the shortest time possible. Cool leftover meats quickly and refrigerate. PINEAPPLE DIP 1 cup dairy sour cream 1 tablespoon honey 3 tablespoons finely chopped preserved ginger 1 can (1 lb. 14 oz.) pineapple chunks, drained Combine sour cream, honey and ginger. Pour into serving dish. Plunge long wooden picks into pineapple chunks and arrange atop sour cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Summer camp for retarded provides priceless experiences

Authorities on mental retardation frequently stress the fact that retarded children are like other children in more ways than they are different. A visitor to Camp Star, the summer camp operated by the Union County Unit, New Jersey Association for Retarded Children, could see this for himself.

He would see groups of children, some as young as four, engaged in all the activities, that one usually associates with camp—hiking, swimming, playing ball, fishing, crafts, overnights, cookouts, and more. Many of the children have special problems; some, such as those with Down's Syndrome, or mongolism, have an abnormal appearance often there is poor coordination; learning comes very slowly.

Yet, like young campers everywhere, they are having fun in the sun and profiting in many ways. They are enjoying companionship, which is usually not easy for the retarded person to find, they are learning to use their leisure time constructively and with the help of patient counselors, they are experiencing the thrill of success in their activities.

Camp Star's main division meets five days a week at Echo Lake Park, Mountainside, except on rainy days, when the Union County Unit's day care center in Winfield Park is used. Dennis Paporello, a special education teacher, heads a staff that includes other teachers, mature college students (many of whom are majoring in education), and specialists for swimming, music, and arts and crafts. For their daily swim, a favorite activity, the children are indebted to the owners of the nearby Quality Court Motel in Springfield, who make their pool available without charge.

The camp season, which this year will run from June 30 to Aug. 8, is divided into three two-week sessions, and a child can attend any or all three. An overnight campout and a trip are scheduled during each session, so that each camper has an opportunity for these experiences. Among the most popular places visited have been the Statue of Liberty, Palisades Amusement Park, and the Turtleback Zoo.

Because of the special needs of the campers, the staff is large in relation to the number of campers; there is a counselor for every two or three children. Although the job demands hard work and infinite patience, it is clear from the high rate of return among the counselors and volunteers that there are many intangible rewards, such as the affection of the children and the joy of helping them learn to have fun. One young counselor put it this way: "After spending an entire summer observing, helping, and having fun with retarded people, I can only say that the experience was priceless."

Hus transportation to day camp is provided by the Union County Unit, NJARC, from pickup points in the various communities in the County.

Camp Star was started in 1957, when the idea that retarded people could be helped was still young. In the last few years, however, there have been two major innovations. An adult division was established, which uses as its campus the campus of Newark State College, with its cafeteria, gymnasium, ball field, volleyball and tennis courts, hiking paths, and pool. The campers have an opportunity to pursue adult recreational activities in an adult atmosphere. Graduate students in special education supplement the regular staff.

Secondly, a residential camp for children and adults is held every summer following the close of day camp. This year residential camp dates will be Aug. 24 to 31. The location is Camp MacDonald, the well-equipped Newark YM-YWCA camp in the Kittatinny Mountains on the edge of Stokes State Forest.

Registration for day camp is now under way at the office of the Union County Unit, NJARC, 562 Boulevard, Kenilworth. Additional information can be obtained from the unit's executive director, Mrs. Betty McGhee, of Cranford. For families unable to pay the full fee, financial assistance is made possible by the contributions of individuals and organizations. To help send more retarded children to Camp Star this summer, Union County Unit, N.J.A.R.C., welcomes financial assistance from any organization or person who wishes to join in this worthwhile endeavor.

SAILING, SAILING—Rutgers Sailing Club members prepare to take off in three of their fleet of Alphas (top), not for the bounding main but the gusty Raritan, Crews "hike out" (bottom) as they catch a good puff in front of the Scarlet crew's Class of 1914 Boat House.

Shad, herring runs starting in Delaware River waters

Spring runs of shad and herring have started in the Delaware River, according to Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Hook and line catches of shad have been reported from Scudder's Falls all the way up into Sussex County, notably at Walpack Center. One of the hottest spots has been around Carpentersville in northern Hunterdon County. Commercial netters at Lambertville are starting to make good catches.

Nearly all the fish reported to date have been buck shad, which normally precede the female or roe shad by as much as two weeks. Water conditions in the river are currently favorable to enable the roe shad to get through the pollution block in the Camden area and reach the upstream spawning grounds.

High waters tend to make angling more difficult, due to poorer visibility, and the shad tend to run upstream more rapidly. Anglers would be well advised to concentrate on the stretch from Worthington State Forest up through Sussex County, where the fish usually linger well into June.

The ability of adult shad to get through the pollution block gives promise of the best spring fishing in several years. Long term benefits will depend on favorable water conditions in October, when the young shad swim down to sea, as well as on continued efforts to improve water quality throughout the Delaware Basin.

The herring fishery is centered in the Trenton area. During the run, the stream bank below the Pennsylvania railroad bridge is usually crowded with anglers, many of them urban residents who have few other outdoor recreational opportunities. Gear ranges from full-fledged spinning outfits to simple lines with plain gold hooks.

Herring, line shad, are anadromous in that they spend most of their lives at sea, running up tidal streams to spawn when they reach maturity. Mercer County Conservation Officer Lenth Burns reports that the run is in full force at Trenton; again, high water has made angling more of a challenge.

New Jersey residents need no license to fish the Delaware below the Calhoun Street bridge in Trenton; however, some of the sportiest action occurs in the quieter stretch between that bridge and Scudder's Falls.

Herring also run in many of New Jersey's coastal rivers, such as the Shark, Metedeconk, Mullica and Maurice, adding to the sporting opportunities afforded by the Garden State's anadromous fish resources.

Gymnastic talents will be developed at two-week camp

A mid-Atlantic gymnastic camp will be held July 6-10 on the Florham-Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University. Participants may also attend only the first or second week. Applications are available to all boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 17.

The program will offer morning, afternoon, and evening instruction in all men's and women's events. Each student will attend 27 instructional periods per week. Instruction in tennis, volleyball, basketball and swimming will be available. Instruction will be given by Pan American, Olympic, and AAU champions, who will be invited guests of the camp. A gymnastic exhibition, to which parents and the public are invited, will be held on July 19.

The fee of $190 for the entire two-week session ($100.00 for one week) includes meals, insurance, full instructional program, lodging with linen, living room, private bath, air conditioning and video taping facilities.

The directors of the camp are Carl A. Deck, gymnastic chairman for Eastern Suffolk County, L.I., and George "Bud" Kline, past program director of the Eastern Tennis Camp.

Applications and additional information are available from Carl A. Deck, 501 Long Springs Rd., Southampton, N.Y. 11968 or from George Kline, R.D. 4, West Chester, Pa. 19380.

Avast, ye Scarlet mates 150 in Rutgers' Sailing Club

Most young men and women who come to Rutgers think that a yacht is something you get from a family of great fortune and lineage.

But those who join the Rutgers Sailing Club soon learn that it has another meaning. In boat racing parlance it is defined as "any object which is used for sailing instruction which is a yacht or motorboat of any size as required by law."

Although the Sailing Club's fleet of 12-foot, sloop-rigged Alphas would hardly be termed yachts, their frequent regattas they are governed by the same rules as those for the America's Cup.

Originally organized some 15 years ago, the Sailing Club led a rather desultory existence until 1963 when a group of energetic students took hold. As faculty advisor they recruited an agricultural biochemist, Dr. Hal Ivan J. Basowick, who, with his wife, combined the love of sailing with the gift of working with young people.

Their interest in sailing brought a ready response from Dr. M. S. G. Goss, president of the Rutgers Sailing Club. The Rutgers Sailing Club was granted the use of a portion of the Rutgers campus area on the banks of the old Raritan, along with a storage shed and float.

Since then, year by year, the club has improved its facilities, added to its fleet, increased its activities and enlarged its membership.

David L. L. these years' committee, proudly counts a roster of some 150 as making the club "the largest non-religious non-religious group on campus."

THE CLUB HAS a strong social aspect, holding spring and fall soirees and organizing dance and canoe races. Sailing projects to supplement its dues and a modest allotment from student activities funds.

The major goal on which members' eyes are set now is construction of a boat house with rest rooms and other facilities. At present the boats are stored outside, and members and guests must scale the heights to the Douglass campus to find rest rooms.

The club holds weekly meetings at which films are shown, instructional chalk talks given, and schedules arranged for participation in more than 30 regattas each year, some on the cramped sailing area afforded by the Raritan, and many as far away as Annapolis and Long Island Sound.

Sailings-wise, perhaps the club's proudest accomplishment came last year when its crews defeated Rutgers' arch-rival Princeton on Carnegie Lake. They won four races in succession after losing the opener, and went on to place third in the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Sailing Association which numbers 13 colleges.

The club appeals not only to experienced sailors, those who have grown up on the water, but also to complete novices. Every afternoon during the season the Alphas are on the water, some being used for instruction and some for the sheer joy of sailing.

Last year, while some restive students formulated demands and planning demonstrations, the Sailing Club members worked at work building a new 12-by-16-foot float to enlarge their locking space. With this task completed, they are turning their thoughts towards a "do-it-yourself" boat house project, since the estimated $8,000 construction cost seems a distant dream.

Surely the Rutgers Sailing Club brings rewards to its members concerning the Prophet's motto:

"The way of a ship is in the midst of the sea. And the way of a man with a mark."

UC aide honored

George P. Lyles, director of admissions at Union College, Cranford, has been made an honorary life member of Alpha Sigma Mu veterans fraternity. He was presented with a plaque in recognition of his efforts in behalf of the veterans on campus. He serves as their faculty advisor.

Joseph Filep of North Plainfield, president of the fraternity, stated that "the plaque is not only a token of our appreciation, but also gives every fraternity member a chance to say how proud we are to have Mr. Lyles as our faculty advisor."

Park police applications being taken

Applications for examinations for appointments to the Union County Park Police are now available at the Park Police Headquarters, located in the administration building, Warnance Park, Elizabeth-Roselle. Applications must be returned by 6 p.m., Saturday, May 10. The patrolmen work a 40-hour week and patrol more than 7,000 acres of park property throughout Union County.

Children's Services agency seeks foster homes in county

The Bureau of Children's Services of the State Department of Institutions and Agencies is searching for foster homes in Union County large enough to accommodate four to six children ranging in age from two to 13.

A spokesman for the agency said that, through its 15 district offices throughout the state, the Bureau of Children's Services now provides care for 9,000 children residing in more than 5,000 foster homes. However, he said, more homes are still needed to care for a yearly addition of 750 new children. The spokesman added:

"Finding shelter foster homes is complicated by the emergency nature of so many children's placements. If the people arrive at one of our offices with neglected and abandoned children, our staff must act immediately."

The serious illness of the mother of a large family newly located in the community may necessitate immediate foster home placement of the children for a short time. In order to quickly help children and families facing a crisis, the agency has established shelter foster homes in 25 jurisdictions throughout the state which are on a 24-hour alert to receive and give care to homeless children. Presently there are 15 such homes; but the frequent demands placed on shelters call for 150 per cent increase in their number if our shelter care to satisfy all foster requests for aid."

The spokesman said the agency pays shelter parents $28 a month for each bed made available for children, whether or not it is occupied. Each month $88 is given to the shelter parents for each child's expenses, as well as a clothing and medical allowance.

There also is a crucial shortage of couples who could provide group living experience for adolescent foster children, the spokesman said. He said "these boys and girls, no longer wanting a close relationship with parents, need parental guidance to give direction to their quest for independence and economic self-sufficiency."

In addition, he said, "the agency needs couples with an interest and talent in caring for several infants placed for a short time." Further information about the Bureau of Children's Services programs can be obtained from the agency's office at 1155 Magnolia Ave., Elizabeth, telephone 289-3333.

CLOTHES CARE COMMENTS

by SAM MANN
 (Diamond Cleaners)

KNITWEAR CARE

Are you up on the care and feeding of knitwear? More and more fashionable knits are made with yarn or synthetic fibers, and several precautions should be taken.

Unless you expect to grow long and narrow, don't hang knitwear on hangers. Some knits stretch in hanging and lose their shape.

Instead, store your knitted sweaters and dresses in dustproof drawers lined with shelf paper or linen. Since printer's ink rubs off, don't use newspaper or your friends might take to keeping up with the news by reading your back.

Dyes, too, can do rub off. So protect the lighter colored things with tissue paper or polyethylene dry-cleaning bags. And do arrange your garments loosely in the drawer to avoid pressure and unsightly creases.

Of course, your greatest insurance of beauty and lasting wear of all knits is professional cleaning, such as you receive from DIAMOND CLEANERS. It's the easy way to keep knits "fit."

When foresight counts 'New Eyes' need old glasses

"These glasses were my grandma's, maybe someone else's grandma can use them."

The note, written by a child was wrapped around a pair of eyeglasses and mailed to "New Eyes For The Needy," a Short Hills volunteer organization staffed mostly by housewives.

Some 883,835 pairs of glasses were sent to "New Eyes" last year. They didn't all come with touching notes, but they came from every state and from people of all ages. And they came for the same reason: a desire on the part of the sender to assist "New Eyes" in bringing the gift of better sight to people who have no one else to help them.

The "New Eyes" volunteers have been on the job for 36 years, donated reusable glasses has always been the mainstay of the operation. When the organization was incorporated in 1934, the treasury consisted of 47 cents.

Despite this, "New Eyes" has never solicited money. Besides glasses, virtually the only other assistance the 300 volunteers who make up the organization accept is precious metal scrap, silverware, antique and costume jewelry. These are melted down and the money from the reclamation and from the sale of usable jewelry and silverware donors sometimes send is used to supply funds established in 106 hospitals all over the country, Canada and Puerto Rico. The funds buy new prescription glasses or, if needed, artificial eyes.

WHILE THE EMPHASIS is on helping as many people as quickly as possible, "New Eyes" volunteers don't close their eyes to individual requests for aid.

In 1968 for instance, "New Eyes" answered the request of a Peace Corp volunteer and sent glasses to the native of a tiny Pacific island.

Provided glasses for a Vietnam civilian whose poor sight was the subject of a letter from that country written by a U.S. Army private.

Started a fund to aid a Midwest clinic created by medical students and their instructors to assist poor people not eligible for public assistance because of the limited period of their residence.

One of the happiest aspects of providing assistance is the "thank you" letters which come in from grateful recipients.

A ten-year-old Missouri girl wrote: "I thank you for making it possible for me to get these

Tidal wave alert system improved

An attempt is being made to improve the system which warns Hawaiians of the approach of tsunamis (tidal waves) generated by undersea earthquakes near their coasts.

The new experimental system will consist of seismic and hydraulic gauge stations on various islands. Signals from these will be radioed to an observatory on Oahu, one of the islands. In addition, a tsunami recorder using a mid-ocean pressure sensor will be placed on the sea bottom under an ocean station ship north of the islands. The pressure sensor will send wave height data from the sea bottom to the ship, which will relay the signals to the observatory for analysis.

If the experimental system provides reliable results, it will be added to the existing Pacific tsunami warning system, thereby appreciably reducing the time in which a warning can be issued.

Discarded glasses, broken jewelry, and precious metal scrap are needed. Mail them to New Eyes For The Needy, Short Hills, 07078.

Rutgers prof warns conservationists open space policy may cause racism

Open space policies face a very real danger of degenerating into racist tools, thinks a Rutgers University professor. He advises conservationists to analyze the social realities of currently fashionable policies.

Calvin W. Stillman, professor in the Bureau of Conservation and Environmental Science, urges close examination of the conceptual foundations of environmental policies or "great injustices will slip into the formation and the execution of public policy."

"Has 'open space' come to mean enclosing race?" he asks.

"What are the true motives behind large-acreage zoning?"

"Has acreage zoning reached the point where it excludes lower-middle income persons not only locally, but actually locks them up in the decaying urban areas of the state?"

He suggests using the disciplines of every relevant academic field in seeking the answers to these questions.

Dr. Stillman made his remarks at a conference on "The College, the Community and Conservation" at Rutgers.

Stephen C. Carroll, chief of regional plan development for the Tri-State Transportation Commission, also spoke against exclusion of certain groups from the environmental amenities.

"Accommodating the needs and preferences of some people ... cannot be allowed to compress the poor into higher density super-ghettos by ringing the central city with discriminatory zoning that excludes the lower income groups, as we are now doing," Carroll said.

He offered as an alternative to such zoning the "marble cake" plan of the Tri-State Transportation Commission. The plan alternates low density and predominantly open areas with higher density suburban and urban areas.

Marshall Stalley, director of the Public Affairs Division of Rutgers' Urban Studies Center, also spoke on New Jersey's problems.

"Devotion to our state carries with it an obligation to see the weaknesses along with the assets and to work for the changes which appear to be clearly necessary," Stalley said.

Attending the conference were 150 state and metropolitan area conservationists and public officials.

Other speakers were Leonard G. Merrill Jr., dean of the college; John L. Gerwig, directors of its Cooperative Extension Service; and Charles H. W. Foster, consultant to The Conservation Foundation.
