Democrats field full slate for mayor, council; promise an active campaign

A full slate was filed last week by the Mountainside Democratic organization for this fall's municipal election. In the mayoralty spot was John P. Walsh, and for Borough Council, Arthur M. Goldberg and John H. Palmer Jr. The Democrats, through Joseph Stypa, chairman, challenged the record of the outgoing administration and promised "vigorous cam-campaign on issues of serious concern for Mountainside."

Walsh, 36, lives with his wife, Eileen, and children, Michael and Beth, at 1607 Grouse lane. A graduate of the Seton Hall University College of Arts and Sciences in 1954, Walsh continued his studies at Seton Hall Law School, in the evening while working during the day, graduating in 1959. Walsh presently practices law in Millburn.

Walsh served last year as legal advisor for the Democratic Borough Council candidates. He is a member of Our Lady of Lourdes Church and the Knights of Columbus. He has also been an instructor at the St. Peter's School of Industrial Relations and now serves as secretary to the New Jersey State Investment Council. He is past president of the Millburn-Springfield Kiwanis organization.

IN FULFILLMENT of last year's post-campaign promises, both Goldberg and Palmer are running a second time for the Borough Council.

Goldberg, 28, lives with his wife, Ronnie, and two daughters, Kerry and Wendy, at 1111 Wyoming dr. A graduate of Rutgers College and Villanova Law School, Goldberg practiced law in Newark for several years before forming Fairlawn Trucking Co., an organization operating more than 250 freight vehicles. A member of various professional organizations, Goldberg recently headed the American Cancer Fund drive in Mountainside.

Palmer, 42, lives with his wife, Trudy, and their six children, at 144 Greenwood rd. He is owner of his own business, the Palmer

Registration slated May 17 for summer tennis instruction

Registration for the summer program of tennis instruction is scheduled for Saturday, May 17, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Echobrook School.

The summer weekend program will be open to girls and boys, 10 and up, who are residents of Mountainside. Two four-week sessions will be offered to allow the broadest participation. A full eight week session will also be offered to provide the fullest opportunity for tennis play to those youngsters spending their vacation in the borough.

All instruction will be scheduled from approximately noontime through early afternoon to avoid conflict with other formally scheduled programs, such as summer school and swim lessons.

Calendar scheduling for these tennis sessions and registration fees are as follows: First four-week session (10 hour minimum), June 23 - July 22, registration fee $5.

Second four-week session (10 hour minimum), July 23 - Aug. 20, registration fee $5.

Full eight week session (20 hour minimum), June 23 - Aug. 20, registration fee $10.

Enrollment in each session is limited and will be accepted on a first-come, first-enrolled basis. The initial class groupings will be made on the basis of age and notification of the time and dates for instruction will be mailed out shortly after registration is completed. Included in the registration fee, which must be paid at the time of registration, will be tennis balls and written material for instruction. Students must furnish their own tennis rackets and bring sneakers.

THE PROGRAM in this first season of instruction will be run as a pilot program to sound out the interest in tennis within our borough. Tennis instruction for each of the four week sessions will start at the beginner level, teaching the basic skills and fundamentals of tennis. Advancement from there to intermediate play and competitive play will be tailored to the ability of each youngster.

For the full eight week session the tennis instruction will be continuous, with the second half starting at a more advanced level. Round robin tournaments or elimination tournaments will be run at the end of the season.

Youngsters who have had previous formal instruction in tennis may also start at a more advanced level, if warranted. These youngsters should bring their rackets and sneakers at the time of registration for qualifying exercises on the Echobrook courts.

A program for adult tennis instruction during the late afternoon hours is still under consideration if sufficient interest develops. Any adults who have not called in their names may report in person on May 17 at Echobrook School.

GOP, Dems name committeemen for all election districts

Republicans and Democrats last week filled the quota of candidates for county committee positions from Mountainside. Both parties filed petitions naming a committeeman and a committeewoman in each of the borough's five election districts, to be listed on the June 3 ballot.

The lack of a primary contest for county committee posts as well as the absence of contests in mayor and borough council races, will mean that primary day local attention will be focused on the freeholder, Assembly and gubernatorial contests.

In addition to working for their parties' candidates in the election, the district leaders also are charged with choosing municipal chairmen. Both Republican and Democratic district leaders will convene shortly after the primary election to choose chairmen for the coming year.

Candidates are:

District One - Republicans, Mrs. Lucille Scott Reel of 10 Tanglewood la, and Richard Danneman of 1595 Rising way; Democrats, Mrs. John H. Palmer Jr. of 144 Greenwood rd, and John Medevielle of 1595 Brookside rd.

District Two - Rep., Mrs. Marguerite G. Linck of 1419 Chapel hill and William O. Van Blarcon of 284 Meeting House la.; Dem., Patricia Kaplan of 1445 Orchard ter, and Robert Sacharow of 1500 Force dr.

District Three - Rep. Mrs. Ruth Sheidecker of 255 Hickory la, and John H. Keenan of 311 Indian trail; Dem., Rose Holleran and Bernard Holleran of 1352 Wood Valley rd.

District Four - Rep., Edith B. Speth of 1233 Wood Valley rd, and Gilbert Pittenger of 1271 Virginia ave.; Dem., Virginia Heinze of 1204 Wyoming dr, and Horace R. Cardoni of 326 Short dr.

District Five - Rep., Mrs. Mary Ann Chaddon of 1093 Sylvan la, and Gerald S. Dillemoth of 1143 Peach Tree la.; Dem., Mrs. Frank Lombard of 338 Linda dr, and Robert H. Jaffe of 350 Summit rd.

School report due next week

Regional board pitches in to aid typing, printing

The Union County Regional Board of Education announced this week that its planning consultant's final report should be completed and in its hands next week.

The timetable was announced following a meeting last Friday with Dr. Henry Rissetto, who is preparing a survey on the Regional High School District's immediate and long-range building needs.

Avery W. Ward, board president, said the major bottlenecks in the production of the final report were, according to Dr. Rissetto, various technical difficulties and a shortage of stenographic help.

Ward said the school board offered its resources to prepare the report in its final form. This was agreed to, Ward said, and board personnel are assisting Dr. Rissetto in typing the final chapters, and getting the report printed.

Ward said the board will be reimbursed, through its contract with the consultant, for secretarial and any printing costs.

"It has always been the board's and Dr. Rissetto's intention to get this survey to the people as soon as possible. By utilizing the full resources of the board's secretarial staff, we are confident that preparation of the report can be expedited and distributed with a minimum of further delay."

Ward also said the board will not make any decisions in reference to the survey before public hearings are held throughout the regional district.

"The public will have a full opportunity to make its desires known before the board makes its decision on a future referendum," Ward said.

Square dance demonstration at PTA Fair

A show featuring the "Teen Promenaders" of Lerkeley Heights will highlight the Mountainside PTA Fair at Deerfield School this Saturday. Dick Lightship will call their square dance demonstrations. Sandorse the Magician will share the bill and will perform "wonderous acts of magic" with live animals. The fairgrounds will be open at noon, and the show will begin at 1 p.m. in the gym. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Of special interest to pre-teens and teens will be the dance to the music of the Odd Beginning. This will be held in the gym at 3 p.m. Prizes will be awarded in a contest at 4.

Sixth, seventh and eighth-grade girls with culinary talent may win prizes in the cake bake contest at 2 p.m. Entries must be in by 1 p.m. The use of mixes is prohibited.

While youngsters are testing their skill in games and enjoying the rides, their parents may shop at a variety of booths. The mothers of Mountainside are now busily baking to create their specialties in time for the cake sale. Some may win prizes. On sale at the handicraft booth will be original hand-painted wall hangings, ornamented eyeglass cases with matching purses, artificial flowers, and snooty dolls. The art auction will be a special attraction for adults. Refreshments will be served at shaded tables throughout the afternoon.

CYO folk-rock concert to aid tutoring program

Our Lady of Lourdes Auditorium, Mountainside, will reverberate Saturday, May 17, at 8 p.m. with the folk-rock sound of the People, featuring the Rev. Charles Flindlay, OSB, founder of the group.

The concert is being sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization of Our Lady of Lourdes Church for the benefit of an inner-city tutoring program currently being carried on at St. Patrick's Church, Elizabeth. The teen-agers of the parish together with some adults have been staffing this program for some time. The concert is being promoted to defray current expenses for the project and to fund it for next year. A CYO spokesman commented,

"The tutoring program is remedial in its orientation and has helped students from the inner city overcome obstacles presented by reading, math and language handicaps. It also has provided an outlet for the enthusiasm and zeal of the young people of the Mountainside community by letting them exercise their creative talent for the benefit of children who are handicapped by their environment."

"The project has helped the young people of Mountainside become aware of social responsibility and given them the opportunity to relate to the needs of those less privileged than themselves."

Father Flindlay is currently assigned to St. Mary's Benedictine Abbey at Dalbarton and assists at Our Lady of Lourdes on weekends. He was instrumental in founding the Elizabethport tutoring project when he was assigned in that city two years ago. After his transfer to a parish at Hightstown, he formed the People, a folk-rock group made up of high school students. This group has performed at numerous benefits and has recently fulfilled recording contracts.

Tickets for the concert are available at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside. The Rev. Raymond Amack, moderator of Our Lady of Lourdes CYO, stated that the program will be a sell-out and that tickets should be purchased early.

PROFILE -- Barbara J. Harris

Mountainside residents haven't had much of a chance to get acquainted with Barbara Jane Harris.

She's a girl on the go who came here from Connecticut four years ago, left for college in Pennsylvania soon after, is heading for Japan this summer and will begin pursuit of her Ph.D. in New York State this fall.

Barbara is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter D. Harris of 300 Bridle path. The family moved here soon after Barbara graduated from Naugatuck High School in Connecticut in 1965.

This time next month, Barbara will graduate from Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pa. She was recently notified that she has been named to Phi Beta Kappa.

Barbara shares her father's interest in science. He is an organic chemist. She is a biologist and this fall will enter the Ph.D. program at Cornell, where she plans to specialize in entomology.

"It will take about four years," Barbara explained, "and then I hope to either teach at the college level or become an advisor to developing countries in insect eradication."

She was recently selected by the Experiment in International Living to live with a family

We didn't make it any easier to look at. Just easier to drive.

You'd never know it to look at it, but that's a Volkswagen without a clutch pedal.

What it does have is something called an automatic stick shift. "Automatic" because you can drive it up to 55 mph without shifting at all. "Stick shift" because you shift it when you go over 55. Once.

And that's just to help you save gas. (In keeping with a grand old Volkswagen tradition.)

As a matter of fact, this Volkswagen still gives you 25 miles to the gallon. It still takes only an occasional can of oil. And it still won't go near water or antifreeze.

If it were anything but a Volkswagen, you'd probably pay dearly for all this luxury. Instead, a Volkswagen with an automatic stick shift costs a mere $1938.*

All of which reinforces what we've been saying for 20 years.

Looks aren't everything.

Insurance Agency of Union. Palmer's background includes attendance at City College of New York and Rutgers University, and a former partnership in the Powell Instrument Co., an outgrowth of his interest in music which derives from his participation in various bands while in college and military service.

Palmer is a member of the choir at Our Lady of Lourdes Church. He is also active in the Christian Family Movement. His business organizations include the New Jersey Underwriters' Association and the Independent Mutual Agents Association.

In making public the Democratic candidates, Joseph Stypa, president of the local Democratic Club, said:

"The issues raised by Mountainside's loyal opposition are still with us. The problems of increasing burglaries, youth recreation and traffic safety are even more apparent than last year. The outgoing administration had given much lip service to these issues but no real action. As we did last year during the campaign, our candidates, Walsh, Goldberg and Palmer, will offer solutions not only to these serious problems but to other new issues that may substantially affect the existence of Mountainside as we know it today."

Commenting on the withdrawal of all the Republican incumbents from the municipal election this year, Stypa noted:

"Rather than speculate on underlying motives, it is best to view their resignations as an opportunity for Mountainside to look with fresh eyes on the qualifications of the individuals who are running for borough office there this summer. She'll leave on July 2 and return on Aug. 29.

"Right now I'm more excited about Japan than about the graduate program at Cornell," Barbara said, "because the trip is more immediate."

The catalyst of Barbara's interest in other countries was about eight years ago when she was a delegate to an international Girl Scout roundup in Vermont. "I met a lot of girls from other countries," Barbara said, "including Japan, India and Europe." Since then she has studied oriental art and philosophy and was particularly taken with a course in Oriental religion at Muhlenberg.

"It's always been the Orient with me," Barbara said, "and not Europe."

Southeast Asia is another area of special interest with Barbara, whose own special hero there is the late Dr. Thomas Dooley.

About the middle of June, Barbara will begin a special orientation course for the trip abroad. The pre-trip program will include intensive study of oral Japanese.

FOR THE FIRST MONTH in Japan, Barbara will live with her host family, participating in all of their activities, learning their customs and traditions and using the language.

unfettered by the exposure advantage of an incumbent mayor or councilman. On the local level, it should be the best man that wins."

It was also announced that Robert H. Jaffe, last year's Democratic campaign manager, had been appointed campaign coordinator for the candidacies of Walsh, Goldberg and Palmer.

During her last three weeks here, she will travel through the country with the host family.

The opportunity to go to Japan fits in nicely with Barbara's recreational interests—sewing, crocheting and making lace. "I'm always interested in new hand crafts," Barbara said, "and I know I'll be introduced to some in Japan."

Laughing, the attractive coed said, "If they had basket weaving here at school it would be just the perfect course for me."

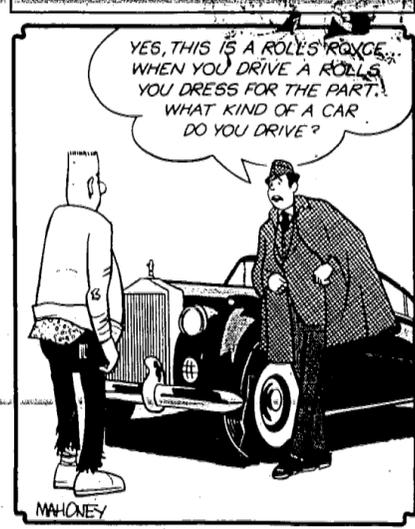

Besides earning her degree in biology with Phi Beta Kappa honors and keeping up with her sewing, crocheting and making lace, Barbara has found time for some other important work at Muhlenberg. She is involved in the school's tutorial program in Allentown and teaches biology to grammar school children there.

She was also vice-president of the Christian Association.

Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club planning arts, crafts exhibit

The Northern New Jersey Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi will sponsor an arts and crafts exhibit, on national tour from Arrowmont Craft Center, Gatlinburg, Tenn., in the meeting room at the Mountain Side Public Library on Monday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m., and on Tuesday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Arrowmont is a year-round arts and crafts center and educational facility with accreditation by the University of Tennessee. In 1967 the school was jointly established by the university and Pi Beta Phi, the first national fraternity for women, which invested more than a million dollars to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the founding of the fraternity.

Classes are taught by master craftsmen in jewelry, weaving, metal work, recreational crafts, textile decorations, embroidery and pottery.

Arrowmont is an outgrowth of a settlement school founded in Gatlinburg, the heart of Appalachia, by Pi Beta Phi in 1912. Its purpose was to provide education for the children in the area and to revitalize the handicrafts of the mountain people.

The Smithsonian Institute credits the fraternity with being primarily responsible for the preservation of America's crafts and keeps on display a permanent collection of the hand-crafts.

The alumnae club is especially interested in acquainting the community with Arrowmont because a scholarship will be given to a resident of Northern New Jersey involved in occupational therapy or in allied field.

The current tour exhibits 63 of the best articles produced during the 1968 summer workshop by 70 artists from 13 different states.

Those serving on the committee include Mrs. Norbert Scolowski, chairman, Far Sappany and Mrs. Philip H. Case, Mountain Side.

Highlanders in tourney despite their 3-8 mark

By BILL LOVEIT

Tom McCann was called on to start his first baseball game of the season, against Jefferson, and he responded with a shutout to give the Gov. Livingston Regional High School Highlanders a 2-0 victory. In Regional's only other game this week, Westfield topped the Livingston one by a score of 5-2.

In somewhat of a surprise, the Highlanders were named to the Union County Baseball tournament because of performances against other teams in the area. Unfortunately, Regional has drawn Scotch Plains in the opening round and it is doubtful that Coach Frank Petrula's team will get past that point.

McCann has been the most pleasant surprise of the year, and now bears a mark of 2-0, and owns two out of the three Highlander victories. Regional got off to a fast start in the opening inning when Dick Trakimas, leading off, walked, stole second, and scored on Chuck Runder's base hit. Gov. Livingston tied the insurance run when John Fuccella tallied on a single by John McCann. Fuccella went the distance.

Fine hitting and pitching by Tony Fitzpatrick guided Westfield to a 5-2 victory as he and John Adriaone looked up in a pitching duel. Even gave up six hits, but Westfield's came at the right times. Fitzpatrick belted a triple, scored once, and had two RBI's to lead the Blue Devils' attack, while teammates Jeff Richards and Bob Thiel each scored twice. Tom Zembly and John Fuccella each had two hits.

There was one other contest this week, again in Springfield, but it ended in a tie when the game was called because of darkness. As of yet, it has not been rescheduled.

For a refreshing treat, try pineapple buttermilk. Combine 2 cups chilled buttermilk, 1 can (8-3/4 oz.) crushed pineapple, 1/2 medium banana, sliced, and 2 tablespoons sugar in blender container. Blend until smooth. To serve, pour over crushed ice or ice cubes. Makes 3 cups, to 4 servings.

Contrary to some opinion, pork, like other meats, is completely digestible. And today's pork averages less than 70 calories per cooked ounce.

Celery seed is excellent flavoring for sauces, salads, pickles, soups, fish or vegetables. It may also be sprinkled over cheese, crackers or rolls.

Eggs are excellent protein providers and the variety of egg dishes is almost unlimited. Eggs may be served as omelets or combined with other foods in a gourmet dish.

YWCA sets sale May 16

The Summit YWCA's one-day housecleaning sale will be held on Friday, May 15, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., in the downstairs area of the YWCA, China, glassware, kitchen ware, linens, and other household items, as well as jewelry, hats and accessories, will be on sale.

Donations to the fund-raising event, according to the chairman, Mrs. E.L. Nelson, will be accepted up to the day of the sale. "Household items that have been gathering dust in people's attics and basements can serve a double purpose."

"They may become someone else's household treasures and, at the same time, help the YWCA to carry on its work of service to adults and young people." Spring housecleaners were urged to drop off excess household items, with the exception of books, clothing, and heavy furniture, at the YWCA, 282 Morris ave., Summit. Arrangements can be made to have contributions picked up by telephoning the YWCA at 273-4242.

Hohn, who is also a member of the State Science Day committee, said the following teachers will be in charge of the teams: Russell Scott, Jonathan Dayton; Robert L. Nagel, Gov. Livingston; Walter Winburn, David Brearley and Thomas Galiszewski, Arthur L. Johnson.

Plaques, certificates and medallions will be awarded to winning schools and students.

GI Bill aids 3 borough collegians

Three Mountainside residents are among 267 Union College students who are receiving the educational benefits of the Cold War GI Bill. They comprise about 15 percent of Union College's entire enrollment, it was reported by Mrs. Paul W. Selby, financial aid officer. The total includes 139 students in the day session and 128 in the evening session. Many of them are veterans of the Vietnam war.

"We encourage veterans to enroll at our college, because of their academic efforts which far exceed expectations based on their performance in high school and because of the maturity they bring to the college experience and to our campus," Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president, said.

Mountainside residents who are receiving the educational benefits of the Bill are: Allen J. Hambacher of 1117 Mountain ave., Douglas A. Young of 354 Forest Hill way and Thomas H. Brumfield of 357-Creek Bed rd.

Propose independent study courses

A state-wide conference on independent study will be held May 17 at Columbia High School, South Orange.

The conference is sponsored by the State Department of Education, in cooperation with the school. Secondary school administrators, guidance personnel and interested teachers from throughout the state have been invited to attend.

Dr. William H. Warner, director of secondary education for the State Department of Education, said the conference is planned to discuss the development of independent study programs in secondary schools. Representatives of schools where such programs have been established will describe their development and operation.

"A program of independent study is designed to make the student increasingly responsible for his own learning," Dr. Warner said. "Teachers and students could plan activities in which the student would spend a large part of his time on his own. We hope that this conference will assist districts which are considering an independent study program."

Dr. Warner said he viewed the conference as a logical follow-up of a state-wide conference on modular scheduling held last year.

Rumson-Fair Haven Regional High School.

Among the speakers will be Dr. J. Lloyd Trump, associate executive secretary of the National Association of Secondary School Principals; Dr. Gary D. Lonnon, projects director, Lakewood High School, Decatur, Ill.; and Dr. William Plunkett, director of independent study, Syosset, Long Island, N.Y., who will describe programs in their school districts. Also, administrators and students of Chatham High School will explain the independent study program at that school and George Goetz of Columbia High School will discuss the plan now under way for a program at his school.

N.J. employment reported 68,400 higher than 1968

Employment increases of 6,300 in manufacturing and 9,300 in nonmanufacturing boosted total nonagricultural employment in New Jersey to an estimated 2,407,200 in mid-March. According to estimates prepared by the Division of Planning and Research of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry, the employment total for March exceeded that of February by 15,600, and was 68,400 above the March 1968 level. These estimates exclude farm, domestic and self-employed workers, and are based on a sample survey of employers in the state.

The recalling of 1,900 workers in the motor vehicle industry and 800 workers in miscellaneous manufacturing industries pushed employment in New Jersey's factories to an estimated 890,300 in March, compared with last year, employment in both electrical and non-electrical machinery continued the downward slide. However, the majority of manufacturing industries showed over-the-year employment increments, and manufacturing as a whole was an estimated 14,000 above last year's total.

Jobholding in nonmanufacturing, reflecting increased seasonal activity, rose to an estimated 1,604,900 in March. The 2,300 increment in nonmanufacturing employment was the result of seasonal advances of 3,200 in construction, 2,200 in trade, and 2,000 in services. Nonmanufacturing industries, with an increase of 22,300 in retail trade as a foundation, expanded their payrolls by approximately 71,000 employees over the year.

After being affected by an unusually short workweek in February attributable to a snow storm, weekly earnings of factory production workers moved upward by almost eight dollars to $130.47 in mid-March. Compared with a year ago, average weekly earnings were up about seven dollars, or 6.0 percent. The workweek, at 40.9 hours, increased by 2.6 hours over the month and 0.3 hours over the year. Average hourly earnings edged downward by two cents in March, reflecting decreases in piece work, shift differentials, and incentive rates.

St. Barnabas course draws heavy response

The new School of Practical Nursing at Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Old Short Hills rd., Livingston, is receiving applications from all over the country for its next course in September. It was announced by John D. Phillips, Administrator.

Seton Prep offers play

The Dramatic Society of Seton Hall Preparatory School, South Orange, will present "Inherit the Wind" tonight and tomorrow at 8 o'clock in the Little Theatre of the Archbishop Wood Memorial Auditorium.

The drama, directed by Harry Dawson, moderator of the Dramatic Society, and staged by Edwin Haras is based on the famous Scopes "Monkey Trial" in Dayton, Tenn., which drew the attention of the world a generation ago.

Like the trial, the play emphasizes the conflict between the scientific knowledge and fundamentalist religious faith.

Degrees for Buckley Lombardi and Tobin

Saint Peter's College, Jersey City, will award five honorary degrees at its seventy-ninth commencement ceremonies on June 17 at the Pinesvale Stadium.

The awards will go to William Buckley Jr., conservative author and editor; Milton F. Lewis, Saint Peter's recent benefactor; Vince Lombardi, pro football executive; Thomas J. Stanton, head of First Jersey National Bank; and Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port of New York Authority. Buckley and Tobin will receive a doctor of law degree and Lewis, Lombardi and Stanton will receive honorary letters.

New NCE program in materials studies

Newark College of Engineering has announced it will offer a new undergraduate program in materials science beginning in the fall. Studies will lead to M.F.E. or S.E. degree in engineering.

Announcement of the new program was made by Dr. L. Bryce Anderson, dean of engineering.

Anderson noted that the new program will cut across the normal study patterns of several of the basic engineering fields. He said that "the intensive study of the structure and properties of materials can prepare the student for exciting careers in industry, for industrial research, and for graduate study. Those areas in which highly-trained engineers are now needed include space and deep-sea work, extreme temperature studies and solid state electronics, all of which depend largely on materials science analysis for success."

Dr. William H. Warner, director of secondary education for the State Department of Education, said the conference is planned to discuss the development of independent study programs in secondary schools. Representatives of schools where such programs have been established will discribe their development and operation.

"A program of independent study is designed to make the student increasingly responsible for his own learning," Dr. Warner said. We hope that this conference will assist districts which are considering an independent study program."

Roger Hale is hearty at math

In the field of mathematics, a senior at Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, is No. 1. Roger Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hale of 43 Beech ave., Berkeley Heights, has been ranked as the top high school mathematics student in New Jersey in a national contest sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Hale scored 133 points out of a possible maximum of 150. This was 21 points higher than his nearest competitor and better than the combined score of half of all the high schools in the state.

Joseph Sott, mathematics coordinator of the Union County Regional High School District, said of Hale's ability: "Roger has the greatest insight into advanced mathematics of any student I have come into contact with in my 28 years with the regional district. When the national rankings are made public, I expect him to be near the top."

RATHER THAN BE REQUIRED to attend math classes, Hale is allowed to pursue an independent course of study in advanced mathematics. Besides his own outside sources of material, Hale takes advantage of technical publications made available to him by Sott.

Hale ranked third in the state in the same contest last year and was 36th in the national ranking.

According to Hale, his interest in math came early when he began following his father's work at Bell Telephone Laboratories in Murray Hill, where the elder Hale

Cadet Howard cited with plaque, grant

Cadet Lt. Timothy P. Howard, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Campbell Howard, 1434 Fernwood rd., Mountainide, received the Arnold Air Society plaque and a financial assistance grant ribbon at the spring awards ceremony of the 435th AFOTC Detachment at Parks College of Aeronautical Technology of Saint Louis University on April 9.

The Arnold Air Society plaque was presented to Howard "in recognition of his dynamic leadership and outstanding dedication in activity and motivating the membership of Arnold Air Society during the winter 1968 trimester." The financial assistance grant ribbon was presented to him for being selected as a top cadet. Each grant provides full payment of tuition, laboratory and associated fees and includes an allowance for textbooks.

YOUNG DRIVERS
Drivers under 25 years of age account for only one fifth of America's drivers but were involved in one third of all fatal highway crashes in 1968, according to an annual report from The Travelers Insurance Companies.

is an engineer. This, together with outside reading, quickly put him far ahead of his fellow students.

This year, Hale is taking part in the science honors program at Columbia University in the fields of vector analysis and computer programming. Hale and a friend, Richard Little, have already designed a new computer system.

"THE DESIGN IS ON PAPER and partially assembled," he said. Other current fields of interest includes topology, which probes the properties of geometric configurations, and the so-called matrix theory.

Accepted at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Hale said he intends to obtain his Ph.D. in pure mathematics.

Hale wasn't the only Gov. Livingston student to rank high in the competition. David Alsborg gained the third highest ranking in Union County, and was 21st in the state, helping the Berkeley Heights school to be ranked third in New Jersey out of the 180 competing high schools. Third member of the Governor Livingston team was Donald Kuehne.

AUTO ACCIDENTS
Almost 10,000 motor vehicles were involved in fatal highway crashes in 1968, of these more than 55,200 were private passenger cars, according to The Travelers Insurance Companies annual report.

Degenhardt cited
NEW YORK CITY—Walter Degenhardt, CLU of 1436 Woodlakes dr., Mountainide, was honored last week by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the U.S. at its five-day National Leaders Conference. Attendance was based on life insurance sales and services to policyowners during 1968.

Degenhardt was cited as a member of the National Leaders Corps for $1 million of production last year.

Gumbo soup ideal for outdoor dining

Dining outdoors on a mild evening is not only pleasant but often easier than dining inside. Serving is informal, and the usual charcoal-broiled meat or chicken is easy to make.

But supposing you're bored with grilled meats and you're too tired to fool around with the charcoal grill? Supposing you'd just love to put up your feet, say abra-cadabra and have a tasty, one-dish meal appear on your patio?

If, instead of abra-cadabra you say, "Gumbo a-Go-Go," you are on your way. Everything in this delicious meal-in-one soup comes canned or frozen, and it cooks up in an hour into a really special treat.

Even the cooking is effortless. Prepared in an aluminum electric kettle or Dutch oven with thermostat-regulated temperature, the gumbo needs no pot watching and when finished can be kept at serving temperature until the family is ready to eat. Virtually all electric utensils are made of aluminum because this metal conducts heat more quickly and evenly than any other cookware material. Just as with regular stove-top utensils, you get no hot spots to undercook. Temperature can be perfectly controlled in aluminum utensils an essential boon to the lady who likes to put her feet up and relax.

GUMBO A GO GO
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 whole canned cooked chicken, about 1 pound
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 can condensed cream of celery soup
1 can beef bouillon
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1 can baby sliced tomatoes
1 package frozen sliced okra
1 pound frozen deveined shrimp

Saute onions in butter in electric Dutch oven or kettle set at 375 degrees. Dredge chicken parts in mixture of flour, salt, garlic powder and pepper. Place in utensil and cook turning occasionally. Add soups, Worcestershire sauce, thyme, tomatoes and okra. Cover with lid. Reduce heat to 325 degrees. Simmer for 30 minutes. Add shrimp and cook another 30 minutes. Serve over hot cooked rice. Serves 6 to 8.

Parried rice from your freezer, heated in an aluminum electric skillet or saucepot, and toasted corn bread complete this lip-smacking supper which allows even the cook to enjoy the beautiful evening from the depths of a comfortable chair.

WINDOW DRESSING
If metal windows seem severe, dress them up by framing them with wood casing or moldings. Pick up standard window casing or moldings at your lumber yard, cut and apply around interior or exterior edges of the windows.

Sweet temptation

Is there anyone who can resist homemade candy -- especially when it's chocolate? Unlike fudge or fondant, which take a good deal of skill and a bit of luck, these Chocolate Creams are easy and fool-proof enough for a real beginner.

CHOCOLATE CREAMS
1 package (8 squares) semi-sweet chocolate
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 3/4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons light cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
Chocolate sprinkles or fine chopped nuts

Partially melt chocolate squares with butter over hot water. Remove from water; stir rapidly until chocolate is entirely melted. Blend in sugar, cream and vanilla. Chill until mixture will hold its shape -- about 1/2 hour. Form chocolate mixture into small balls; then roll in chocolate sprinkles. Make about 5 dozen confections.

Note: Confections should be stored in the refrigerator.

Chicken Algerian -- diet elegance

Any time of year, chicken is an aid and comfort to the dieter. Compared with other popular meats, chicken ranks lowest in calorie count. The National Broiler Council points out that a three-ounce portion of skinless broiled chicken, for instance, has only 115 calories.

Chicken Algerian combines browned chicken pieces with diced eggplant, onions, and tomato sauce. Tabasco, the liquid red pepper seasoning, adds spicy zest to the wonderful combination of ingredients. The dish is cooked in a skillet and simmers only about a half hour until done.

CHICKEN ALGERIAN
2 broiler-fryer chickens, cut into serving pieces
2 teaspoons salt
Paprika
1/3 cup diet margarine
2 medium onions, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 cans (8 ounces) tomato sauce

1 teaspoon dried leaf thyme
1 teaspoon dried leaf basil
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
2 medium eggplants, peeled and diced

Sprinkle chicken pieces on both sides with salt and paprika. Heat margarine in very large skillet or Dutch oven; add chicken pieces a few at a time and brown on both sides. Return chicken pieces to skillet with onion and garlic. Mix together tomato sauce, thyme, basil and Tabasco; add to skillet. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Add eggplant and cook, covered, 10 minutes longer or until chicken is tender. If desired, serve sprinkled with chopped green pepper.

YIELD: 8 servings, 300 calories each.

French buffet simplifies entertaining

If you have a flair for originality in entertaining, fashion your next buffet party after a meal served at fashionable cheese restaurants in Paris. You couldn't choose anything better, more attractive, or easier to handle, than a French buffet with an assortment of fine French cheeses as the center of interest and selected cold meats. It's a meal to inspire enthusiastic taste-testing and lively conversation.

In start, you might combine the tiny La Vache Qui Rit cheese bits on picks with green or black olives to whet the palate. Next, high on the list is creamy Camembert from Normandy, and Brie (generally not eaten), is a conversation piece, and has a delicate flavor resembling melted Gruyere.

The highly sophisticated palate may relish a goat cheese such as the pyramid shaped cheese called Valency, or the log shaped cheese referred to simply as "cheese" or Ste Maure.

An artfully arranged tray of ham, fine grained salami, and imported pate from France provided a fine assortment of cold meats. And of course, a fine red wine, not too body, readily complements this selection of food.

named for the French province from where it originated, and authentic Roquefort, easily identified by the red sheep emblem. From southwest France, for those who like a less pungent cheese there is Biondi with its distinctively mild flavor which has a special tang, or Port Salut (because it originated at the Abbey of Port Salut), the authentic French Port Salut is distinguished by the word "BRIE" on its label. This cheese from the province of Champagne and Lorraine, resembling Camembert, but slightly stronger in flavor. From the Auvergne, with its outer crust of grape

THIS IS A USED CONTINENTAL
THE ONLY CAR FINER IS A NEW CONTINENTAL

You might say the biggest difference between a late-model Continental and a brand-new one is that one has been road tested a bit longer than the other.

You can scarcely tell that it is not brand-new. The classic look has not changed. The car has been restored to prime condition in both appearance and performance.

Trends

It took a while for leather to lose its motorcycle image, but it has finally happened. Leather in everything -- from head to toe -- is in fashion. There is increased use of leather as a trim for sport shirts and sport jacket. And for warm weather, it's a "wet" leather look -- with sleek and shiny cire nylon, especially for beach wear. For teenage males, the big fashion this Spring can be summed up in a few words -- "Bells 'n' Boots." The former refers to trouser bottoms which range from a slight flare to a 20-inch "elephant" bottom. The latter refers to a variety of styles -- from the low demi-boots to the 10-inch height in glove-type leather with blunt toes, flat heels and many buckles and straps.

Ozzard renews debate challenge

Public Utilities Commissioner William E. Ozzard, Republican candidate for governor, this week renewed his challenge to debate opponents, singling out Congressman Charles W. Sandman of Cape May as the particular target.

"I want to debate Sandman, not once, but several times. I'll debate him anywhere he wants to take me on."

"I want to talk about the issues facing New Jersey, and about what each of us proposes to do about the needs of our state."

"If any of the others want to take part, they are welcome, of course, Senator Harry Skauf of Morris has indicated he is willing to debate."

A FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a Study Mission from the Atlantic to the Pacific but across the USSR

by TRUDIA HOWARD

First in a Series

FROM RUSSIA WITHOUT LOVE
People in the world of travel say that the last frontier for tourists today is the South Pole or the North Pole.

But I have another theory. It is Siberia of the USSR, all the USSR for that matter.

The poles are only imprisoned by weather but the USSR and its Siberian area are imprisoned by something else again: Communism. And that's some difference.

The experience has left me tongue-tied. How do you explain sudden vacuum? We entered the Iron Curtain and it closed behind us, rightly, unreluctantly. We were in isolation. No news, no mail, no contact. Nothing. We were in deep freeze with no access to the outside world. It is a startling realization, how do you explain the chill it brings with it? How do you explain fear when there is no explicit fearful incident? How do you explain the coldness that settles around your shoulders when it is 120 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade? How do you explain a feeling of imprisonment when you are crawling in the freedom of a wild meadow?

Yes, the USSR is a sombering experience. But lest any subsequent remarks will leave the wrong impression, let me say that I have no quarrel with the people. The people themselves are friendly enough. Some are nice, some are unnice, some are friendly, some are not, just as people everywhere, except perhaps the Russians are more reserved, less smiling. Admittedly too, the communist Russians are not a beautiful people. The men are flat-faced and stocky and short. The women are fat and unattractive, in the niceties of living they are a graceless society. I have never seen such ungracious and slovenliness. But basically, the people seem warm-hearted and well-meaning.

It is the system the people live under that is so dismaying.

YOU CAN CUT THE UN-FREEDOM in the air with a knife. Yet, it is a snide thing, insidious and intangible. There are no precise and isolated experiences to illustrate it, but it is there. For the first time in my life I knew what it was to be un-free—and it was frightening. This does not happen on a three-day jaunt to Moscow and Leningrad, but stay for three weeks or be three thousand miles deep in the heart of the vast USSR—and it will come as surely as the night falls on the day. Every American should spend three weeks in the USSR—just to learn what a wonderful country America really is. Truly, we are beautiful. But we are F-R-E-E. I know. I spent three weeks in the USSR.

The citizens of the USSR are not free. They may not leave anything or change anything without permission. Not house, apartment, position, job, farm or what-have-you. Foreign travel is practically unheard of. But even simpler: they may not move even from Moscow to Leningrad without permission. There must be application and permission from the registry office in the area first, or orders from "the boss" to be stamped by the registry. Even the tourist, the foreigner, may not go as he pleases, but can go only as an In-Tourist, a government agency, permits.

Even art is restricted. The government decides what pictures you will see or won't see. It approves the operas you will see, the ballet, the books you will have available. There is the simple example of the New York Times. When we were in Moscow we were impressed with all the kiosks or book stalls, as is true in most of Europe. But when we tried to buy a western paper in Moscow, it was another story. "Oh," said one official, "you can see the New York Times in the big Lenin Library any time. We get it each and every day." Yes, it is true. The newspaper is there, but you need special permission to see it. You must go to a special office to get a special official to give you a paper to give you permission to go into the back room to ask the clerk to get permission to give you a copy to read. By the time you get to all that the day has gone. And in the city he ought to see the official in the first place, the Ambassador can.

There have been recent reports that western newspapers are now of sale at the kiosks. But that I have to see to believe. Again, they may be in the kiosks, but they are not in the question.

ONE THING CERTAINLY is not visible, and that is the mail. The USSR has the most inefficient postal system you ever saw, and when you have been gone from home for several weeks, letters begin to be very important. But you seldom see any in the USSR, let alone the Siberian part of the USSR. You really need them.

Mail for foreigners does not come to the various hotels or in packets for a group. It comes to a few central offices, sometimes in-Tourist offices of course, and is given out individually. In Moscow as well as in other big cities, the offices are hard for a tourist to find. But you, the stranger, must do it nevertheless. You usually cannot collect the mail for the entire group and save sometime, nor does the Big Wheel In-Tourist Communist guide who knows the cities and the language, stir herself to get it either. The tourist must get it for himself, if he can get it. Most of the time it is futile.

There were 22 of us for three weeks and I think we received something like ten pieces of mail all told. As mentioned we found no western reading matter either, and there was no radio or TV from outside Russia. Telephoning was futile also. For three weeks we did not know what was happening in the world. And we COULDN'T LEAVE if we wanted to, or had to. We couldn't go back and we couldn't go forward. In-Tourist would only permit the Tour schedule.

That will arch your eyebrows a bit. And, if you are the one thus suspended in the middle of Communist Siberia, it will even alarm you.

Pump brakes gently
Pumping your brake pedal gently but firmly is not only the best way of communicating your intention but it is also the safest way to bring your vehicle to a stop, says the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company. Slamming on your brakes can lock your wheels and throw your vehicle into a dangerous skid.

By AMY ADAMS

TAKE THE FUN OUT OF THE TAKING

Dear Amy: Since everyone airs their problems through your column, I, as a hotel owner, would like to do the same.

Do you know people have a bad habit of taking towels where ever they go? I own three hotels in different locations and the pattern is the same. Don't they know this is a form of stealing? Yet these same people wouldn't think of missing church on Sunday. Maybe if you print this letter, it would give the clergy a thought for a Sunday sermon.

Mr. W. Davidson Dear Mr. Davidson: Towel-taking has been a favorite hobby of travelers since way back when. I can't promise the clergy will do anything about it, but I know how one hotel chain reduced this problem. They did away with the hotel name on the towel and took the fun out of the taking.

Dear Amy: I have two men friends and they both want to marry me. They both are very good to me. The problem is that each one thinks he is the only one in my life. What should I do?

Desperate Dear Desperate: Make a decision. Two suitors is one more than you need!

Dear Amy: I have read your column as often as possible and find it very interesting. I now wonder if perhaps you could help me with a problem that is out of hand.

We have friends, a married couple, with two children and one on the way. I don't really know where to start but I suppose it should be with the fact that they and their children have, as respect for our personal belongings, their children have jumped on our beds, broken and torn things, etc. I could go on all day but won't.

We have a 3 year old daughter and we don't allow her to do these things. I have explained this to our friends, but she just became angry. I resorted to correcting the children which only made matters worse. (We are far from perfect and don't claim to be.) She has tied to me on several occasions when she's left her children with me saying she would return in an hour only to disappear for several hours. She's borrowed money which I'll probably never see again and even borrowed baby clothes promising to return them freshly washed and ironed. I've yet to see the clothes returned.

I have had guests in our home when our friends would invite themselves in, make themselves at home and leave when they were good and ready. They can't take a hint and I'm ready to do anything. My husband agrees it's beyond a joke, so, Amy, can you suggest something?

Dear HELP:

Friends you call them? With friends like that, who needs enemies! Get rid of them permanently!

Dear Amy:

I am a Junior in high school. I will be 17 this month and I have my driver's license.

My problem is that my parents won't let me ride in cars. The only time this rule is broken is when my parents know the complete family history of the boy I'm dating that evening. I feel that since I now have MY driver's license, I know what safe driving is and believe I can pick up friends and that I should be allowed this privilege.

Dear June:

Just because you have your driver's license does not make you chief cook and bottle washer in your home. Your parents have the last say... and if they want to be sure the boy you go driving with is a safe driver, they have every right to do whatever they feel is necessary to find out. You may think you are right, but they don't want you to be 'dead right'!

New buses ferry commuters beneath Hudson to N. Y. C.

The month of May will bring new air-conditioned buses for operation by Public Service between the Lincoln Tunnel Park-Ride Lot in North Bergen and the Port Authority Bus Terminal in midtown Manhattan.

The new buses were purchased specially by Public Service Coordinated Transport for the Park-Ride operation at a cost of almost $425,000. Their outside color scheme will be different from other buses in the company's fleet, combination of silver, white and gold set off with a lavender stripe. The interior will be a blend of white, copper-beige and brown with comfortable seats upholstered in matching colors.

Park-Ride flags from the two front corners of the buses will further distinguish them as being in Park-Ride service.

THE BUSES, powered by eight-cylinder diesel engines, will be equipped with the most modern air-conditioning and heating system for the all-year-round comfort of the Park-Riders. The new coaches will seat 49 passengers and will be equipped with interior package racks.

Effective Monday, the parking fee for the lot became $1.75, which includes round trip shuttle bus transportation for the driver between the lot and the Port Authority Bus Terminal. One-way shuttle bus fare for additional passengers will remain at 45 cents.

The lot has proved to be a boom to New York-bound motorists since it opened in November, 1955. Located just west of Route 1 in North Bergen between Route 3 and the Paterson Plank road, it is easily reached from the New Jersey Turnpike as well as from Routes 1 and 3. There are two entrances to the lot, one from Paterson Plank road on the north and the other from Route 3 on the south.

The lot is paved, fenced, well-lighted and provides liberal spacing between cars. Other features include an enclosed, heated waiting room and clean restrooms. The commuter can also pick up his favorite morning paper before boarding the bus.

Camp unit establishes summer confab center

Establishment of a summer conference center by the New Jersey YMHA-YWHA camps at the organization's newly acquired Lake Como, Pa., camp was announced this week by Matthew Elson, executive director of the Y camps.

According to Elson, two large structures on the lake have been set aside for private use by community groups or agencies for conferences, institutes or meetings from June 28 to Aug. 26. He said the structures are located in a secluded natural setting and consist of several large rooms suitable for meetings or classes and overnight accommodations for 83 persons.

Although the conference center is close to Long Lake Camp, Elson indicated that privacy is assured by the complete physical separation of the center from the children's area of activity. Elson said that the Y camps vast and varied facilities for recreation and entertainment will also be available to those residing in the conference center. These include swimming and boating, in a large, clear glacier lake, a four-hole golf course, tennis courts, basketball (night as well as day), a croquet area and baseball diamond.

Community groups may reserve the conference center for their exclusive use or receive more detailed information by contacting either the local YM-YWHA or the New Jersey Y Camps, 589 Central Ave., East Orange. The minimum number of people accepted for a group reservation at the conference center is 35, Elson said.

From St. Tropez to Kalamazoo, the word is pants. What started out as a fringing-on-the-edge fashion, just a season or two ago, has turned out to be the biggest fashion boon since the mini-skirt. From casual shipboard deck attire to gala after six garb, pants are turning up literally everywhere. According to the latest New York fashion reports gleaned from noted designers, pants are not a passing fancy but are likely to be with us for a good while. Vacationing fashionables have an irresistible pant penchant from which to choose. Gypsy? Indian Rajah? Sailor? All American Girl? Take your pick. It's a pants free-for-all as jumpsuits, hip hugging bellbottoms, pantsuits, tunic tops, vests and the like all get into the act. For the gal taken with the safari look that's rocketed to fame in both women's and men's fashions, one designer does a nifty version in natural canvas of Kodol polyester and cotton that features a gold buttoned high laced belted long and lean oversteeped pants. For the bare midriff fan, another designer does up a sprightly little halter vest buttoned in white that stops well short of the waistline and teams it with wide-belted bellbottom slippers. Short pantsuits are definitely at the top of the most wanted list this season and so a third designer has come up with a striped denim cooler with patch pockets, button front, and high tab collar that's a sure-fire winner. Travelers, take note: It, too, is in a fabric of polyester and cotton that will rinse out in a wink, ready-to-go whenever the travel bug strikes. All in all, the pants have it. With fashion's new pet silhouette for all occasions taking on a myriad of must-have looks, who can resist getting into the pant act on vacation bound or not?

GOING WIDE, the pants leg flares out for spring. Example here is strewn with huge printed flowers, worn with soft-colored safari blouse. By E. J. ...

Sleep, loungewear take ready-to-wear route

Fashion is certainly having a lot to say these days about what women will wear to bed and during their leisure hours. Time was when ready-to-wear fashion was poles apart from sleepwear and loungewear. But, who can remember when? If this year is any measuring stick, things have come a long, long way since the days of the mundane floral "nightie" which bore little resemblance to the chic silhouettes headlining today's women's pages. This season, one has only to glance at what the ready-to-wear people are offering in style and fabric to know what's brewing in at-home and sleepwear. According to the fashion department of Eastman Chemical Products, Inc., which is currently featuring the 1969 Leisurelies collection in fabrics with Kodol polyester, some of the sleepwear and loungewear to watch for include: The Shirt Look: Stronger than ever in both tailored and feminine ruffled varieties, Lori Hill does a pretty version in printed vinyl of Kodol polyester, and cotton that teams a long sleeved coat with a short-sleeved, ruffled hemmed shirt. Given the opportunity, the sleep coat could cut into a likely presence of the season. The separates look: more more up front this year, when coordinating pants, shorts, sweaters and skirts are all in the same fabric. For the leisure hours, loungecraft suggests you do your thing in a floor length, empire bodice gown in vinyl of polyester and cotton that's really a soft color "house" attached to a swingy pleated "skirt." The Soft Touch: A soft touch season, when a glow of the skin is almost "de rigueur," fabrics share the limelight by design because the emphasis is on sheer plain and printed voiles or more modest batistes and lenos that give just a hint of lace. Play- ing the "day game," blonde fashioning a delightful sheer printed voile cut with a giant flange low at the neck and puff sleeves, its coordinated sleep shift in a solid batiste that's ruffled trimmed with the same printed voile fabric. Polyester, blended with cotton, gives these sheer fabrics a supple, smooth hand, and, despite their fragility, makes them want to free and easy to launder. The Tunic Look: A tunic-inspired by Tunic for the sleep hours, it's a long, long short sleep cocoon in a soft pastel fabric of polyester and cotton. A tunic-

COUNTRY SET makes fashion news out of the safari suit with a flap pocketed bush jacket buttoned in gold and belted over shapely bellbottom pants. The turnout, in natural canvas of Eastman Kodol polyester and cotton, about $40. Jacket alone, about $26. Sizes: 3-15, 4-16.

SUPPLE—Cotton knit with the texture of terry and the suppleness of jersey is the going thing for spring and summer sportswear. White Stag chooses it for a turtle-neck pull-over and shorts for on the beach and after.

CASUAL—A simple shift takes on new interest in a distinctive novelty woven cotton. In Wollman Fabrics' black and white geometric stripes, the V-neck shift is bound in black braid and sports a perky black kerchief. Made from McCall's Pattern-9530.

Tips to follow in constructing scalloped edges successfully

A scalloped edge for a hem, sleeve or collar can be an interesting detail if a few tips are followed. If this detail is not included in the pattern but you want to incorporate it as a finish, first make a pattern for the scallops. Such a pattern made from wrapping paper will allow you to figure accurately how big each scallop would be and how many could be used. Whether making your own pattern for scallops or using the one included in the pattern, it is important to mark the entire stitching line for each scallop. This marking can best be done with dressmaker's carbon and a tracing wheel. Test the marking on a scrap of material first to determine if it will show through. If the marking does show through the material, then the stitching outline will have to be marked lightly with a pencil. When stitching scallops, use a medium stitch. At the point between each curve, it is most important to take one stitch across the intersection of the lines. To do this, stitch almost to the exact point. Leave the needle in the material, raise the presser foot and turn the material a quarter turn, lower the presser foot and turn the flywheel of the machine by hand to take one stitch across the point; raise the presser foot, turn the material a quarter turn to the stitching line; lower the presser foot again and continue stitching around the curve. After all the scallops are stitched, clip into the point between each scallop to within a thread of the stitching. This clipping is most important to achieve a flat, well rounded curve. After clipping, trim away the seam allowances in a graduation of cuts. One seam allowance is cut close to the stitching line and the other is cut to about 1/4 inch. This layering of cuts eliminates a bulky ridge near the edge. Turn the scallops rightside out and use a pin or blunt instrument to push out the curve. Edge baste the finished edge of the scallops with silk thread before pressing. After pressing, remove the edge basting and lightly press again.

Salad biscuits with grits

Crunchy salad biscuits are a welcome addition to any meal, especially when they feature the fresh corn goodness of enriched white hominy grits, as does this biscuit recipe. The ingredients needed to produce two dozen biscuits are: 1-1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup enriched white hominy grits (quick or regular), 1/4 cup shortening, 1/4 cup chopped green onion, 1 cup grated sharp cheese, 1/2 cup milk. Stir together flour, baking powder and salt into a bowl. Stir in grits. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in onion and cheese. Gradually add milk, stirring lightly until just dampened. (If necessary add another tablespoon milk to make dough hold together.)

Good ideas

A raincoat is great protection against the rain -- except that it does not cover the trouser legs. On rainy mornings, therefore, why not wear old trousers to the office and carry the good ones, neatly folded in a briefcase. They'll be sharply creased when you put them on later in the day for an important luncheon or business meeting... Instead of throwing away that old felt hat, cut it into proper-shaped pads and paste them under lamps, vases and other objects that might scratch tabletops... A jammed zipper is most often caused by threads of fabric. Try pulling them out carefully as you move the slide back and forth.

Partnership in communities urged for two-year colleges

"Opportunity in the future for the independent two-year college in New Jersey as throughout the United States is now in numbers, but in becoming active, essential partners of their communities in social and civic undertakings," Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, former president of Union College, Cranford, told the annual meeting of the New Jersey Junior College Association at Monmouth College, West Long Branch.

"Incredible changes have occurred in our country within the last few years, and there is a whole new emphasis upon the concept of social responsibility," Dr. MacKay, executive director of the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education, said.

"The implications for the colleges are enormous. In one sense, this represents a serious challenge to those colleges — many of them private residential colleges — which have existed within a community without being part of it. To often the attitude has nurtured an atmosphere of 'ivory tower' remoteness, and a dormant hostility between town and gown.

We can no longer enjoy the extravagance of this posture."

Dr. MacKay said the private two-year college has the opportunity today to present itself as not only willing but eager "to enlist in the cause of making America a better place in which to live." He said there are latent resources to support private education in every community in which there is a campus.

"Through active, earnest and effective involvement in local problems, the college can manifest its claim to moral and financial support," Dr. MacKay said. "At a time when hospitals desperately need nursing aides, when tutors can help faltering pupils from becoming drop-outs, when settlement houses have jobs for college students to fill, the call is clear.

"The college which fails to imbue its faculty and students with the proper sense of social and moral urgency will get little consideration. Our colleges are inextricably involved in the social problems of the day. Deservedly, government projects, foundation awards, and community support will be going to these institutions which enlist in the battle. Each of our colleges which give continuing attention to its relationship to the community will flourish in its own way."

THE FORMER PRESIDENT of Union College for 22 years said it is in the highest public interest to preserve in this country its traditional system of private and public higher education, which "provides choice and diversity." He also urged the private junior colleges to conduct a "comprehensive, systematic, continuing and nationwide program of information concerning this type of institution, its advantages, philosophy, diversified offerings, resources and facilities.

"I urge the private junior colleges to recognize the imperative importance of all forms of cooperation with each other and with other types of institutions in American higher education, and to this end, take whatever steps are possible to effect or extend working relationships, consortia, affiliated programs, joint fund-raising efforts, and all other cooperative endeavors, both academic and non-academic, which will enlist the forces of higher education in a common effort for the best national interests," Dr. MacKay said.

"It must also be recognized by all agencies and persons charged with the responsibility of planning in the field of higher education that the private junior colleges play an essential role, and consequently, that all such planning, as in state master plans, take into account the rightful place of these institutions."

Dr. MacKay said he is encouraged that the draft of New Jersey's master plan for higher education takes into account the role of the independent institutions.

The private two-year colleges were urged by Dr. MacKay to develop a system of orientation, in-service training, faculty recruitment policies, and cooperative arrangements with selected four-year liberal arts colleges to identify and develop those particular qualities which contribute to the concept of the ideal junior college teacher and to be "ever mindful of the unique opportunity for experimentation and innovation."

Dr. MacKay's remarks were based on a study of private junior colleges in America made for the American Association of Junior Colleges under a grant from the Sloan Foundation.

The enrollment in public two-year colleges increased from 750,000 in 1961 to 1,900,000 in 1968, Dr. MacKay reported, and in the same period the number of institutions grew from 405 to 708. By contrast, the private junior colleges have tended to stabilize at an enrollment of approximately 145,000 in about 260 institutions. Dr. MacKay added that a net loss of ten private two-year colleges was recorded last year, as ten colleges ceased operations. Seven others became four-year institutions.

N.J. secretaries meeting in Union over the weekend

The National Secretaries Association International, New Jersey Division, will hold its 15th annual meeting tomorrow and Saturday at the Union College campus in Cranford.

Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfeld, professor of anthropology in New York University's School of Education, will be the keynote speaker and will address approximately 300 member secretaries from throughout the state. Her topic will be "The World of Professions in Time of Culture Change." Other speakers will include Miss Bertha Stronach, CTS, of New York City, international president-elect, and Miss Muriel Jeffery, northeast district director, of Montreal.

In addition to the speakers, the program will include election of 1969-70 officers. Also a Division Secretary of the Year will be selected from three contestants who are presently chapter secretaries. The judges are Miss Mary E. Tierney, assistant to the president, Union County Trust Company, Elizabeth, Howard L. Newhouse, president, The Berkeley Schools, New York, and Robert B. Speer, senior vice president-secretary, Summit and Elizabeth Trust Company, Summit.

An evening of entertainment will be presented tomorrow by the "Sparkettes," a women's sextet directed by Louis Zukas of Hillside. Summit Chapter is the hostess chapter for the two-day meeting.

Nurses on the campus UC and hospital team up

In 1949, 29 students from the Elizabeth Hospital School of Nursing were enrolled in the school of nursing from high school students throughout the area. A student in that first class in 1949, reported in the nursing school newsletter: "It is hard to realize we have finished our affiliation, but we will never forget the wonderful days we spent at Union College." The opportunity to enjoy college life, while achieving the professional goal of nursing.

The affiliation between Elizabeth General Hospital and Union College marks its 20th anniversary this year and the one-time experimental program is an integral and significant part of the nursing school and nursing program. Today 38 students earn 22 college credits in their first year in nursing school, credits that are transferable to their institutions of higher learning for students without a college degree to their RN.

Courses offered at Union College today include biology, basic psychology and anatomy, microbiology, chemistry, psychology and sociology. The program was initiated to help the hospital meet its academic requirements at the lowest possible cost without sacrificing standards.

The result according to hospital officials, has been a marked increase in interest in the school of nursing from high school students throughout the area.

Spring sport shirts for every taste, be it bold or quiet

Sport shirts are styled this spring to fit every mood and taste. Whether a man prefers them loose and easy, shaped or close fitting, whether he likes them bold and bright or on the quiet side, there's a sport shirt for him to the stores now.

Knit shirts come out with top honors, remaining the most popular of sport shirt styles. They are extremely versatile, can be worn for many occasions and with any type of slacks, notes the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. In addition they pack well, and have long been the favorite of golfers, tennis players, and other active sportsmen. Still popular are the intricately designed knits in pullover and coat styles.

For the man who likes the "coordinated" look, some of the newer spring knits have attached matching ascots. Mock turtle collars remain important, but the classic placketed collar is returning to masculine favor.

For the man who wishes to be fashionably ahead of his friends and neighbors, spring offers a host of new looks. The most fitted of the new models are the body shirts, which have two curved seams from the sleeve down the back of the shirt.

Most romantic of the new spring shirts is the Artist or the Roman shirt. This style features bell sleeves and an open neck with a long flowing collar. It is often shown in cotton, giving it a very smooth look.

And for the man who is in a party mood and wants to wear a different kind of shirt at home, the new Cubavera shirt fits right in. These are pleated, worn on the outside, and adorned with chain belts.

For backyard barbecues, a vacation or lounging, new print shirts come in a variety of colors and unusual designs. They add a bright note to any gathering.

Sport shirts, whether contemporary or traditional knits, spruce up in vibrant and lively colors for spring. They include belted blue-ecru, green and mulberry pinks.

These brilliant shades appear in solids, prints and a multitude of patterns. The multi-colored man

And, in turn, cotton knit shapes up as the fabric most favored for the look.

Knit-picking designers have turned to pure cotton as the naturally ventilated fabric that allows it to move with the body... a quality just as essential to fashion as to comfort.

Lady-like fashions return to applause

Lady-like fashions are making a swift come back this spring. It looks as though hippies and teenie-hoopers have lost most of their influence as fashion dictators. Elegance and feminine allure will be the look of spring.

Soft fabrics, gracefully draped, will be shown in pale, feminine colors. There will be lots of ruffles, laces and everything that conjures visions of loveliness.

Stockings will be sheer with subtle coloring and there will be less interest in textured hose. Garter stockings are expected to be more popular than ever.

Heels will be higher and more graceful than they have been for a while. Toes will be more rounded, trim, pretty and graceful. So spring shoes will be more feminine too, judging from Florsheim's spring collection of women's shoes.

To match the new gentle hues of spring's fashions, this leading maker's shoes will come in all the pretty yellows, pinks, greens and blues of the fashion rainbow. But navy, black, bone and white will be basic colors in every woman's shoe wardrobe.

Patent leather will be featured in a variety of ling and pump styles, but this spring's shoe surprises will be the many pretty - and colorful - uses of alligator grained calf and new lummary bustre half.

All these pretty early-spring dresses and shoes will start arriving in stores by early February.

TIPS FOR YOU

Lipstick marks will come off wool clothing if rubbed gently with a clean cloth dampened in cold water... While your new suit will unquestionably have the "shaped" features, it will allow freedom of movement. Try raising your arms, moving around, etc.

Pants-plus latest look in fashion

Pants, which began as part of the anti-establishment fashion mood, apparently are heading for solid Establishment status this spring.

They're all over the place, and some of the prettiest ones are in spring's favorite cotton constructions.

The new pants are pretty pants. They're feminine and ladylike - not kooky or way-out. And they're meant to wear everywhere.

The secret is a whole new proportion. The pants themselves are fuller with the fullness starting from the hips for a softer, more feminine look. But, more than that, it's what they're worn with that's important.

The new idea is pants-plus. It's pants plus tunic... pants plus jumper dress... pants plus long, belted jacket... pants plus vest... pants plus sheer blouse. These longer, shaped and flared tops transform the pants ensemble into a totally new look.

All-cotton outfits illustrate the best in spring fashion

Illustrating the best in spring fashion is the all-cotton wardrobe of 1969 Maid of Cotton Cathy Muirhead.

Elegant, refined, of-the-moment clothes dress the Maid from morning 'til midnight. Pantsuits, afternoon dresses, cocktail clothes, and formal gowns appear in an exciting array of cotton fabrics.

From the design rooms of New York's top creators come snappy dresses and ensembles in double-faced cottons, dressy cotton knits, cloque piques and brocades... just to mention a few.

Sparking white, combinations of red, white, and blue, and teams of red/white, black/white, or brown/white color the wardrobe high-fashion.

When it comes to silhouette, the new fashion message is communicated in belts, high fit, long sleeves, and pleats.

The interest in pants for almost every occasion continues into spring. And pantsuits in the Maid's wardrobe bear the 1969 signature: wide leg pants and hip-length jackets or tunics often marked by wide belts.

Fashion's emphasis on softness gives new dimension to cotton knits—now gone dressy.

One of the most feminine styles in the Maid's collection is a cotton lisle knit in a free form paisley design of pastel colors. It has long, soft sleeves; a gently gathered skirt falling from a wide midriff inset; and bands of jewels at the high neck and cuffs.

Not to be overlooked in the total fashion picture is empire fit, underscored with belts or simulated bolero effects, and pleats emanating from high bodices. Add to this snappy little dresses with matching pants and spring's fashion panorama is complete.

Little things, big fashion

The vest, the little bolero, the sleeveless wrapshirt, it is the sprig-put-together that plays up the longest length of bare arm.

The tiniest puff sleeve. The tailored vest.

Look for these accents: Puff sleeves of white jersey shape the "little bolero."

Squares of chains and filigree form the openwork vest. White lattice work braid shapes the openwork vest with daisy edges.

Organdy bolero edged with scallops of gold and tangerine leather.

Peach silk vest swings with rows of white silk fringe. Puff sleeves in coral jersey edged in white chalk beads and tassels.

White pique vest edged in white and brown striped grosgrain.

Now menswear takes up knitting

More knits for men are in the offing, as apparel manufacturers take up their knitting to provide sportcoats and slacks, as well as sweaters and shirts, for the masculine market.

Sportcoats particularly show the trend which takes in a variety of colors and textures. Patterns might include stripes, miniature or pencil checks.

Knitted slacks, while perhaps not as widely available, still are present, often in dark solids.

Fashion highlight

Woven sportshirts are making gains on the knits, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. Crepes and voiles are important as are multi-color prints. The most popular models are those with long sleeves.

ENVELOPE IN HAND
The Forties clutch tucked under the arm a soft flat envelope with more detail is in the bag to accessorize the spring scene by day.

Mothers, give gift of longer life

The woman in the kitchen is in the important position of being able to reduce her family's risk of heart disease. Beginning on Mother's Day when gifts and messages of love are flowing her way, the Union County Heart Association suggests that she, too, can give a gift -- the gift of better health and longer life to her loved ones through improved dietary habits.

This will call for some changes in daily meal planning. The aim should be to cut down on foods rich in animal (saturated) fats and cholesterol, which increase the level of cholesterol in the blood. High blood cholesterol has been linked to development of arteriosclerosis, the disease which underlies most heart attacks.

To achieve this aim, the housewife can serve more meals of fish, chicken, veal and turkey and less beef, lamb pork and ham. She can replace whole milk with skim milk, and hard cheese with cheese products made from skim milk. She also can cut down on the use of eggs, which are very high in cholesterol.

Instead of using butter for a spread, the housewife can serve the soft margarines that are rich in polyunsaturated fats.

Similarly, rather than use lard and other solid cooking fats, she can substitute the polyunsaturated vegetable oils. The latter can be used, for example, to brown lean meats, or to fry fish and poultry; in cream sauces and soups made with skim milk; for making hot breads, pie crust and cakes; for making cocktail snacks and, in cooking dehydrated potatoes and other prepared foods which call for the addition of fats.

To round out her daily selection of foods for a balanced diet, the housewife also should include vegetables, fruit, breads, and cereals. In this way she can maintain good nutrition for her family, and at the same time help them to adopt new eating habits that are designed to protect their hearts.

The earlier the homemaker puts these dietary recommendations into practice, the greater the assurance of many more happy Mother's Days for all the family.

Teenage meal management important to cultural mores

Your meal management traits as parents will affect your teenager's food habits in countless ways, says Mabel

G. Stolte, County Home Economist. The family's social and cultural mores also have a great influence upon your youngster's eating habits.

One example of this was cited in an unstructured questionnaire developed by Paul Lewin.

This questionnaire was given in the Aurtun, Minnesota school system. Results were reported in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association in November, 1964.

Sources of teenagers' likes and dislikes of foods were tested. The test also helped classify which foods the teens considered "conflict," "praise," or "scold" foods, and whose opinion they felt really counted. The authority selected most often as the one influencing food habits was their mother.

A lot depends on "Mom." The above mentioned survey is only one of many proving again your important role as meal manager. If you practice eating three meals a day there's a good chance your children will too.

Together with it is also important. Taking time to eat and talk over some pleasant events of the day is another way to keep your family informed and together. Make a point at least once a day of having a family meal. And, when possible, eat the other meals at a table or on a snack table with other family members. This habit will build a sense of security and togetherness rather than having home just the place to hang one's hat.

Happiness goes with well managed eating habits—your teenagers, especially girls, who have well managed diet habits have been found to rate high in emotional stability, conformity and family relationships. One such survey was noted in the Journal of American Dietetic Association in 1963. Teenagers with good diet habits tended to miss fewer meals and were better acquainted with a wider variety of foods, than girls of the same age who had difficulty making social adjustments.

So, remember your meal management habits will be mirrored in your teenager's future success.

U. S.-Israel trade will be discussed

Sponsored by the American-Israel Chamber of Commerce and Industry and the National Jewish Welfare Board, an Israel trade exhibit program which will be held at 8 p.m. May 15 at the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA, Green Lane, Union.

Participating Jewish community centers will include Passaic, Bergen County, Camden, Atlantic City and Eastern Union County.

The clinic is aimed at helping to promote trade between Israel and the United States as well as to enhance program resources for those centers which have as one of their program objectives the building of cultural bridges with Israel.

The clinic aims to secure the cooperation of the representatives of five Jewish community centers who will: 1, learn what the exhibit is; 2, suggest what additional resources they would want made available to them; 3, set a definite period for use of the exhibit; and 4, participate in an evaluation session to make recommendations which will be incorporated in a program manual to be made available to centers throughout the United States.

The importance and character of the trade exhibit will be discussed by Moshe Dworkin, national coordinator, American Israel Chamber of Commerce; Irving Fitterman, vice president, American Trade and Industrial Development (for Israel); Aharon Niry, Israel Consul, District of Columbia; and Amram Tsor, director, Israel Trade and Industrial Development in the U.S.

Representatives of the various centers will discuss programming the exhibit, a section of which will be set up at the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA.

Instructors who will be teaching at the building during the summer session will be in attendance from 3 to 5 p.m. They will meet prospective students, explain their courses, and provide information on materials to be used. On display during the afternoon will be work by the instructors, so that students can determine styles and points of view which they might wish to learn. Of added interest to the public will be quick sketches done on the spot by the teachers.

The teaching staff, all qualified professional artist members, includes: Miss Mary Ellen Silkoch of Piscataway, Mrs. J. G. Johnson of Summit, Mrs. Peter Hofer of Berkeley Heights, Stephen Chudova of Morris Plains, S. Allyn Schaeffer of Fanwood and Stephen Potasky of Cranford.

There will be representatives of Academic Artists, Inc. on hand to help with registration for summer classes. Phone inquiries may be directed to Mrs. Laurence Holland at 276-3610.

On May 2, at 8 p.m., an art clinic for Academic Artists, Inc. members in good standing will be held to provide professional evaluation of their work. Schaeffer of Fanwood, Albert Bross Jr. of Summit and Perry Zimmerman of Cranford, all well known painters, will display their own works and act as critics.

Susan Hoos of 7 Mountainview dr., Mountainside, Linda Anthonette Luzba of 1507-A Snyvesant ave., Union, and Kathleen Raimondi of 44 N. 21st st., Kenilworth, are among the 10 girls who will compete for the title of Miss Union County at 8 this Saturday evening at the Fanwood-Scotch Plains High School auditorium.

The winner in the pageant will compete for the Miss New Jersey title in July at Cherry Hill. Miss Hoos, 23, is a graduate of The Kings College and would like to go on to graduate studies. She enjoys tennis, music, dramatics and art. Her talent presentation will be the singing of a Broadway show song or an aria in French or Italian.

Miss Luzba, 22, is a senior at Newark State College, Union, and has made the dean's list twice at the school. She plans to teach at the elementary school level. Among her interests are reading and golf. She will give a comic monologue, "The Quest of the Ribband," as her talent presentation.

Miss Raimondi, 18, is a freshman at Union College, Cranford. An avid motorcyclist, she also plays football and baseball. She would like to be a professional singer and will demonstrate her talent as a songstress at the competition Saturday night.

Stan Dunn, ticket chairman for the pageant, said tickets for the program, co-sponsored by the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Jaycees and Goerke's Department Stores, are selling rapidly. Ticket information may be obtained by calling Dunn at 233-6564. Tickets may be purchased at the door the night of the pageant, he said.

Municipal employees at college?

The City of Plainfield and Union College, Cranford, are exploring a cooperative arrangement to permit city employees to take college credit courses in Plainfield, it was reported by City Administrator Kennedy Shaw.

Shaw said the courses would be given in the training room at Police Headquarters, and the credits earned would lead to an Associate in Arts degree, and would be transferable to four-year colleges and universities.

The cooperative plan was outlined in a memorandum sent to all city employees by Shaw to determine how many persons might be interested in taking college credit courses.

"We are talking of beginning this program in September of this year and offering two or three courses depending on the needs and interests expressed," Shaw said. "We've been talking about a beginning English course or an English Review course, and either a history or a psychology course. Later in the spring of 1970, additional courses would be offered, including an Introduction to Law Enforcement course. This will be of interest to those police officers who wish to earn a degree in the law enforcement field."

"City officials see the proposed program with Union College as a way to permit city employees to advance professionally and to improve the level of services to the community," Shaw said. "It, furthermore, is an incentive to individual employees to continue on the job with the city."

Sidney Lowy, who headed the athletic committee for many years, presented Pezzia a plaque to be hung permanently in the athletic director's office.

Harry Lebau, executive director emeritus, recalled Pezzia's early association with the 'Y' and its athletic program. He also cited the strides made in all branches of sports by 'Y' athletes in the past 25 years.

Greetings were extended by Mitchell Jaffe, executive director, and William B. Rocker, honorary president, who also served as toastmaster.

Awards were presented to athletes in the association's health and physical education department.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

"Mommie, I can read it. Let me read!" This desire to read their own books is an early manifestation of independence in school children.

Reading is one of the most important skills for your child to develop. It not only expands his knowledge of other children, places and life in general but, it gradually increases his vocabulary. Persons who fail to develop this reading skill and enjoyment for reading early in life are hampered in one of the major learning areas.

According to the University of Michigan psychiatrist, Jack Weston, a mother's subconscious desire for her child to remain a baby may create a reading problem. These parents often seek advice concerning the child's reading problem but they go about helping in the wrong manner. They help too much instead of allowing the child to learn to read by himself.

Encourage your child to enjoy stories and even "make believe" he is reading the words at first. There are action records that accompany many of the children's simple stories. These offer more interaction and participation in the story. Other stories or verse offered in rhyme form provide challenging delightful experiences, too.

Many children's books come in soft covered, as well as, hard covered versions. These inexpensive versions are especially good for children who wish to handle and use their own books.

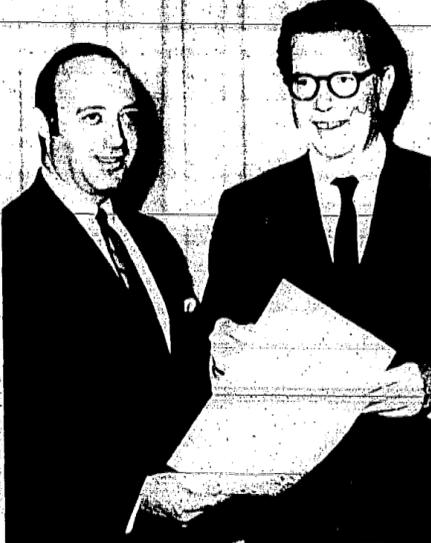

For the three to six year olds, the "Curious George" adventure series by H. A. Rey is well known. "The Carrot Seed" by Ruth Krauss has a delightful record to accompany it. For the five to six year olds, "Bread and Jam for Frances" and for the five to seven year olds, "The Story of Ping" by Marjorie Peck, has colorful illustrations.

These and many more books may be obtained through such services as the Scholastic Book Service of Englewood Cliffs. They may, also be borrowed from your local public library.

Remember, too, reading can be an important companionship activity in which grandparents, as well as parents, can ask questions and have fun.

The Metropolitan Regional Council and Tri-State Transportation Commission jointly sponsored an air pollution control workshop in April, which concentrated on ways in which land use planning can be utilized to decrease pollution levels in the region's urban centers.

Five Points YMCA announces summer staff nearly complete

Albert Riley, director of the Five Points Y.M.C.A. summer program, announced this week that staff positions are almost complete for the various summer opportunities.

Riley, who will be teaching at Union High School next year and will be living in Union shortly, was director of the Y.M.C.A. summer program last year. There are four opportunities available for boys and girls in the area.

The Fun Club and Adventure Day Camp will operate with four two-week periods, beginning June 30. The Fun Club operates for boys and girls through 3 grades and they may register for any number of periods they wish.

The program centers around small group units of 7-10 campers with college age counselors as leaders. The program includes games, stories, singing, arts and crafts, trips to interesting places, swimming instruction in the pool, all geared to the age level of each group. There will also be special events and other amusements during the eight weeks.

THE FIVE POINTS Y.M.C.A. will open...

for eight weeks. Boys and girls 4 years of age and at least 42 inches tall may register for any number of these they wish. Three separate times have been set up to select from, and enrolls come each day at the same time. This instruction is held in the Y.M.C.A. hall.

The Adventure Day Camp is a product of the experimental Bicycle Day Camp last year. The program this year is for boys and girls 3-7 and will be held in the nearby Lenape Park 3, on five days each week. It will include camp site preparation, camp crafts, cooking, biking, conservation projects, archery, overnight campouts, special bus trip each period in addition to activity with bicycles such as hikes, rodeo and other contests and safety lessons. Swimming instruction will take place at the Elizabeth Y.M.C.A. twice each week. They will be based to the 'Y' for this as well as to the campsite area on the camping days.

Alan Struthers lead the program. He is a teacher at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and has had a background of camping experience and leadership of groups in this area for the past 10 years.

Two assemblymen sponsor bill to aid policemen, firemen

Union County Assemblymen Herbert H. Kiehn and Herbert J. Heilmann have co-sponsored a bill, Assembly 346, that will allow policemen and firemen to do their jobs without impediment.

Assembly 346, now before the committee on Law, Public Safety and Defense, would prohibit suspension of municipal policemen and firemen prior to a formal hearing except on charges constituting misdemeanors or high misdemeanors.

Existing law allows suspension of these employees prior to formal hearings.

"In many cases, undue delays result in substantial losses of pay and expense together with the stigma of the suspension despite a later vindication on petty and minor infractions," said Kiehn.

"Our police and firemen risk their lives 24 hours a day to protect our community. Their livelihood must not be subject to the whims of local government," said Heilmann.

"It is not fair to ask police and firemen to put their lives on the line, then allow them to fall victim to politics," said Kiehn.

"It is difficult to get qualified, dedicated men as it is," he said. "Adding uncertainties to the job already made difficult by the pressures of modern society makes recruiting extremely difficult. It also discourages young, talented men already in these departments."

"If a man is guaranteed a fair hearing on any complaint, he will respond accordingly. Let him feel he can be subject to trumped up charges and the results will be obvious."

Vets at Union College make grade

Military service, marriage make for success

Unpaid bills, a wife, baby and a part-time job are not generally considered to be the kind of responsibilities that make for a successful college career. But some half-dozen married veterans at Union College in Cranford, are finding this to be the case.

G.I.'s are back on college campuses and like their predecessors from World War II, they are proving that military service and marriage are an asset, rather than a hindrance, to their studies.

John Wigmore of Edison is 23 and returned to college this fall after serving two years in the Army. He finds the Army helped him to mature and marriage has given him direction. While he worked harder in his first time round in college, he says he is now getting better marks despite a week-end job and volunteer service with the Edison Fire Aid Squad.

Wigmore's Army service also helped him in determining his career. Always interested in veterinary medicine, his experience as a surgical assistant in Landstuhl, Germany, furthered his interest and gave him the confidence to pursue it. Working in surgery also helped make him more serious and more in a sense of responsibility, he believes.

RONALD LANGAN of Bayonne, was graduated from the American Community School in Beirut and attended college for one year before entering the Army. His first year in college, he recalls, was a social success and an academic failure.

Realizing that he would have to serve in the military sooner or later, he decided to postpone his education and get his military obligation out of the way. The Vietnam veteran also learned a few things about education during his three years in service. Coming from a fairly affluent family, he never really appreciated what life without an education was like. He saw this in the Army.

Getting married, however, has proved to be an even stronger motivation, Langan says. The realization that he is no longer responsible just for himself, but for his wife and future children, has proved a strong incentive to study.

Age and his marital status have also relieved him of student pressures and let's happy not to have to worry about making the social scene.

BRIAN PHILLIPS, 24, of 11 Carlyle pl., Union, is pretty sure he would never have made it in college if he had entered prior to joining the Marine Corps. The former factory worker says he became more serious and purposeful during his four years in service, including 13 months in Vietnam.

Fred Perry, 25, of Garwood, father of a four-month old daughter, played at college before entering the Army. The first time round, his family and a partial football scholarship paid the bill. This time, after serving with Army Intelligence in England and working for 2 1/2 years as a policeman in Ros. He, his return to college was a considerable decision. "I'm paying for it," he says.

Working harder this time, he feels he doesn't necessarily have more drive, but a bigger interest.

With the exception of Langan, whose parents are paying his tuition, all of the veterans are dependent on the GI Bill, their wives and/or part-time jobs to finance their education.

Perry is the hardest working of all. In addition to carrying a full college program, he works 41 hours a week at several part-time jobs that range from the Earl Fletcher to the Anchor Detective Agency. He also has a scholarship from Alpha Sigma Mu, the veteran's frat. He's not complaining. "It's not that bad," he says.

PHILLIPS WORKS weekends as an auto mechanic and Wigmore is a part-time exterminator. All but Perry are dependent on their wives' income to make a go of it. The new GI Bill provides $155 a month, plus $20 for the first child and $10 for each additional child. With living costs and tuition rates much higher than they were 20 years ago, this war's veterans are not facing as well as those in World War II.

Without additional financial assistance, all of the veterans find they are committed to completing their education at public institutions after graduating from Union College which is a two-year institution.

Despite families and jobs, the veterans are not missing out on college life. They are all members of Alpha Sigma Mu and most find time for some extra-curricular sports. Perry fits in football, basketball and baseball.

Social life includes fraternity parties and dances and friends. All of the couples have their own apartments and are able to entertain.

But just how successful the veteran students are is really determined by the college. And John R. Farrell Jr., veterans advisor, reports that the 300 veterans enrolled in Union College out-rank their fellow students.

Agency to survey county's needs in higher education

A survey of Union County's needs in higher education will be made by the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education, it was announced by Dr. Kenneth C. Mackay, executive director.

Dr. Mackay said a questionnaire will be sent to civic, political, business, labor, educational, and religious leaders in Union County to determine if there is a pressing need for a county program at this time.

The questionnaire will also include the following questions:

Is there any particular field (or fields) of higher education in which there is a pressing need for in-county programs at this time?

From your own professional or business experience, do you suggest any fields of education or training for Union College or the Union County Institute of Technology to be added to the present curriculum?

Do you wish to suggest any subjects in continuing (adult) education, day or evening, credit or non-credit, long or short term, which should be offered in county by the appropriate institution?

The questionnaire also allows space for recipients to write in for their comments or suggestions.

Dr. Mackay said the Coordinating Agency will utilize Union College, Cranford, and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, to provide a comprehensive two-year college system for Union County. Union College will provide traditional transfer programs in liberal arts, engineering, physical and life sciences and business administration, while Union County Technical Institute will provide technical and occupations-oriented programs in such areas as electronics technology, mechanical technology, data processing technology, chemical technology, medical assistant, dental assistant, and practical nursing.

Students in college-level programs at the Union County Technical Institute will earn

Funds for non-public schools 'critical,' says county group

The former chairman of the National Executive Board of Citizens for Educational Freedom will address the Union County Catholic Education Association next Wednesday. The Rev. Edwin Palmer, minister of the Christian Reformed Church, in Wayne, will discuss "Freedom in Education" at 8:30 p.m. at Union Catholic High School, 1800 Martine ave., Scotch Plains.

The Union County Catholic Education Association is a group of laymen, teachers and parents working to secure a fair share of public tax revenues for all students.

The group feels that the issue of state aid to all students "is important and critical" for all children in preparing them with "adequate and thorough educational training; all who pay for education, through whatever channels; and all who value freedom of choice in education."

The group is supporting Assembly Bill 553 (the Vander Plaats Bill) which proposes equal aid to public and non-public school children.

As presently written, the Vander Plaats Bill will "permit the channeling of funds from the state through local school districts to public and non-public school children on an equal basis," the group said.

THE GROUP SAID that strictly as a matter of economics, subsidies would make sense. Non-public schools would still remain a bargain for taxpayers, because any increase in taxes to cover the subsidies ($50,000,000 in New Jersey if A553 is passed) would not equal the increase necessary to absorb current non-public school enrollments into the public school system.

college credits and Associate in Applied Science degrees through Union College, Dr. Mackay explained.

All citizens of Union County who are interested in participating in the survey should request a questionnaire by writing to: Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education, c/o Union College, Cranford, 07016.

systems ($200,000,000 in New Jersey). "In addition," the group stated, "education in general would benefit from continuing a system of elementary and secondary schools drawing their support largely from private sources. Diversity and competition are beneficial, as the advocates of public school decentralization have discovered."

"Parental freedom of choice in directing their children's education would be preferred," the group said.

The communities at large would receive the benefit of the public service provided when private groups absorb the cost of building, staff and facilities needed for a complete teaching plant and curriculum," according to the Union County Catholic Education Association.

PUPILS, TEACHERS
More than 100,000 students are enrolled in public schools in Union County, 14,000 in Essex County. Public school teachers in Union County total 6,500, in Essex, 9,200.

FRANK SINATRA JR.—Frankie's son has returned to Larry Dixon's Flagship Supper Club, Route 22, Union. He will remain there until Sunday. Frank Jr. will be accompanied by comedian Mickey Manners and an all star review.

'Lion' producer an influential man

Martin Poll, who produced "The Lion in Winter," current road show film attraction at the Millburn Cinema in Millburn, was New York City's first commissioner of Motion Picture Arts. He was instrumental in bringing film-making back to New York. In 1956 he acquired and reopened the historic Biograph Studios in the Bronx, which had been closed for 20 years, and in so doing, provided a home for such films as "A Face in the Crowd," "Middle of the Night," "The Fugitive Kind," "Butterfield 8" and the television series, "The Naked City."

The Theatre Seen

BY ROBERT LYONS
"Zorba" is a rousing musical that stands on its head and may have you on your feet to leave the Imperial Theatre.
The scene is Crete in 1924. Youth, age, love, vengeance and custom are bound together in a whirling mosaic.
Hershel Bernard is all animal as Zorba, living each day as though it were his first. John Cunningham is the intellectual Nikos looking before he leaps, but finally, joyously leaping. Maria Karnilova as the former French music-hall singer is as light as a wicker chair.
Mr. favorite performance was from a young Serabian as a leader singer. Appearing on rooftops and hillside, Miss Serabian displayed all the resigned bearing and intensity of an Ionian warrior's wife. And her voice split the mist of the night with a wailing cry.
The music by John Kander and lyrics by Fred Ebb always grow from the action. Even the pasted songs for Maria Karnilova are well placed.
Boris Aronson's sets take us everywhere from village square to cottage interior. The lighting by Richard Edick is a feast for the Mediterranean sun.
"Zorba" is the type of musical that should be watched in shirtsleeves with coats slung over shoulders and no worries about wrinkles in your clothes or if your hair is perfectly combed. And there should be a fountain in the lobby.
"Zorba" irresistibly affirms life.

Arts Center launches series of Young People's Concerts

More than 100,000 youngsters from schools throughout New Jersey are scheduled to attend the more than 30 free Young People's Concerts at the Garden State Arts Center, Holmdel, this spring.

The curtain rose Monday on the May series of daytime programs for New Jersey school children with a performance of Shakespeare's "As You Like It" by the McCarter Theatre of Princeton. There were two showings on opening day.

Advance arrangements have been made with the schools for the attendance of the children -- from the 1st through 12th grades depending upon the program -- at the Arts Center performances during classroom hours. The school groups will be brought to the center site on the Garden State Parkway by bus.

The spring series of Young People's Concerts is an extension of the initial effort made last September at the Arts Center to provide cultural opportunities for New Jersey school children. Some 55,000 youngsters attended the specially arranged daytime programs then.

The school concerts are being financed by the Garden State Arts Center Fund, which the New Jersey Highway Authority established last year to receive public and private donations for the special youth activities. The Authority built and operates the Arts Center at its Telegraph Hill Park on the Parkway.

Among the programs to be presented for schools at the Arts Center this month are "Oedipus the King," Rutgers Wind Ensemble, Symphony of the New World, Columbus Boychoir, the operas "The Magic Flute" and "I Pagliacci," The Youngtimers, Kaleidoscope Dance Company, and the play "Young Martin Luther King, Jr."

Name Krag to sales post Case calls for investigation

Senator Clifford P. Case this week called upon the Secretary of Defense to furnish Congress a report on the extent of participation of military families in public welfare programs.

Kasimir Krag, well-known racer and importer of foreign cars, has been appointed to the position of sales and sales promotion advisor for Duke Imported Cars, Millburn, according to Harold Kay, president.

Born in Poland, Krag came to New Jersey in 1947. In 1950 he opened an imported car agency in East Orange, the second imported car agency in the state.

He was twice winner of the "Great American Mountain Rally," a 1,000-mile race over mountainous terrain between New York City and the Canadian border. More than local assistance programs, nationwide, is not known by the Department of Defense.

Senator Case also expressed his concern over the possibility that some military families were being discharged from the service because of their financial situation. "The possibility that the military services would discharge these families because of their financial circumstances, or simply ignore their difficulties is unconscionable," Senator Case said.

The problem of servicemen on welfare came to public attention recently when a New Jersey State legislative budget hearing disclosed that a number of servicemen with families in Burlington County had applied for local welfare assistance because their military pay and allowances did not meet the cost of subsistence.

Senator Case brought the matter to the attention of the Secretary of Defense and asked the department for further details. In a reply to the senator, Brig. Gen. Leo Benade, deputy assistant secretary of defense, said, "The extent of participation of military families in

SUNDAY'S SERMON

BE POSITIVE

Life should be positive, as should the attitude of every man toward every action that he undertakes.

While it is true that most of the Ten Commandments begin with the formula "Thou shalt not," we must remember the answer that Jesus gave when asked the greatest commandment of all: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart."

Does it not seem to follow that a positive approach to life begins with love of God? If we love God, we will find it difficult to hate. We will avoid the outward sin because it is a recognized offense. We will also avoid the sometimes negative sin of leaving undone the good thing that should be done.

With the positive approach, we will build a happier life -- a life more complete not merely because evil is less present, but more emphatically because goodness is more abundant.

BEAUTIFUL THINGS ARE HAPPENING...

... MAKE THEM HAPPEN TO YOU TODAY!

Typing fingers improve reading? Idea tried in remedial program at Rutgers

READING THROUGH TYPING—Timothy Cox of Plainfield (left) and John DeRosa of Hazlet are among 22 elementary pupils taking part in a reading-typing experiment conducted by the Rutgers Reading Center. Object of the experiment is to determine if supplementary typing lessons can aid pupils who are undergoing remedial reading instruction.

In late 1941 the public school district of Gooding, Idaho, began an ambitious experiment to determine if the typewriter could be a useful tool in the teaching of remedial reading.

Although it showed initial gains by the pupils in spelling and language, the project was largely inconclusive, for in March of the following year the typewriters froze and it was abandoned.

In a similar venture in New Jersey's more temperate climate, no such misfortune befell Dr. Edward Fry, a professor, and Mrs. Elizabeth Sakiey, a master's degree candidate, in the Rutgers Graduate School of Education.

This semester some 22 youngsters are taking typing instruction each Saturday along with their regular remedial reading studies in the Rutgers Reading Center, which Dr. Fry heads.

The typing project, taught by Mrs. Sakiey, is believed to be the first experiment with typing in the remedial reading classroom since the ill-fated Idaho project. The results will constitute her master's degree thesis.

Indications of the pupils' progress or lack of it are not as yet compiled, but from the standpoint of typewriter operation at least, their project has been a success.

The Reading Center for years has provided remedial reading instruction for area youngsters, who though of average intelligence have found reading a difficult subject to master.

reduced cost, and the typing has been taught in a room separate from the remedial classroom.

In addition to two hours each Saturday of remedial instruction, the pupils received 20 minutes each of typing lessons. They were asked to practice at home for a half hour each day.

"The motivational factor was great," Mrs. Sakiey said. The children love to operate the machines, as might be expected, but in order to do so they recognize that they must learn to read, write and spell.

Much of their typing material is taken from their remedial lessons which multiplies their exposure to it, Mrs. Sakiey pointed out.

"The children's interest has been maintained," she said, "despite some minor speed drills."

Their progress in typing has been good, she noted. Many of the children have achieved or surpassed handwriting speed, which is normal for the 9-11 age group represented in the experiment.

MRS. SAKIEY said the center's eight remedial teachers are enthusiastic about the typing project, and in most cases have reported preliminary reading gains among the children. The project will end May 17.

The basic typing method employed is an original one written for elementary children by Dr. Fry in England several years ago for his own children. As he explained it, "I wanted to teach my children to type and I couldn't find any books for them. So I wrote one."

Typing for elementary children, to Dr. Fry's way of thinking, will some day be of paramount importance.

"The day may come," he said, "when elementary school children will be required to know how to type in order to communicate with computers."

Placement examination next week

Area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are eligible to take the Peace Corps placement test on Saturday, May 17, at 1:30 p.m., at the main post offices in Montclair, Morristown and Plainfield and Room B-89 in the Federal Building, Newark.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

String quartet concert at Seton Hall Tuesday

Seton Hall University will present the University of Delaware String Quartet in a special concert this Tuesday evening, at 8:15 in the student center on the South Orange campus. The program, which is under the auspices of the Department of Art and Music, is open to the public free of charge.

The performing artists include Laurence Shapiro, first violin, Jorge Gardos, second violin, Walter Cogswell, viola and James Holesovsky, cello. The group has been in residence at Delaware for 3-1/2 years and in addition to playing a formal series of concerts at the school they rehearse in dormitories, hold informal discussions, and arrange multi-media presentations in which they combine slide lectures with live performances.

For the Seton Hall concert Pacific Islands, working with people of those nations in self-help projects ranging from food production to health education. More volunteers are needed for programs which will begin training soon.

DR. WALTER J. ATKINSON

'Bible Prophecy' topic for speaker at Faith Tabernacle

The Rev. Dr. Walter J. Atkinson, BA, ThB, STM, STD, LLD, will conduct a special meeting in the Faith Tabernacle Church, 36 Evergreen ave., Springfield, Tuesday.

This is the second annual missionary evangelistic campaign arranged for Dr. Atkinson in the New York area. Because of the demand of his schedule, he can be at Faith Tabernacle Church for only this one meeting. He will speak on "Bible Prophecy."

Atkinson was born and raised in a traditional Jewish home in Berlin, Germany. He came to the United States in 1928; in this country, he was deeply impressed by a Christian missionary to the Jewish people. He was converted after 16 months of Christian instruction. He received his theological education at the Princeton Theological Seminary and the Mount Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary of Philadelphia. He served as pastor in Lutheran and Presbyterian churches, and also on the staff of the Zion Society for Israel. In 1939, he accepted a call to serve with the American Board of Missions to the Jews and served as director of the special relief and rehabilitation project of the World Fellowship of Christian Jews.

Dr. Atkinson has asked Pastors Victor and Christine Raspa of the Faith Tabernacle Church to "extend a special invitation to the Jewish people of the community to attend this meeting with their Christian friends that they might see the unity that Jews and Gentiles can have in Christ."

Know Your Government

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

Broader avenues to volume purchasing benefits would be opened under terms of several current legislative proposals permitting local governments to utilize State government purchasing facilities and procedures.

The measures are among several in the New Jersey Legislature aimed toward greater inter-governmental cooperation.

The purchasing bills would permit any of the state's 567 municipalities, 21 counties and 597 school districts to utilize open-end contracts or agreements negotiated by the State Purchase Bureau in buying their various materials, supplies and equipment.

This action, sponsors of the bills argue, would make available benefits of the state's expertise in purchasing. Savings in man hours and costs, particularly among the smaller governmental units where specialized purchasing experience may be limited, could be achieved by the cooperative venture.

A related proposal would enable municipalities to request the state's assistance in writing specifications and advertising bids.

Previous laws opened the way to cooperative purchasing between: (1) counties and their municipalities and school districts; (2) two or more municipalities; (3) a municipality and its school district; and (4) two or more school districts.

CITIZENSHIP IS A TWO-WAY STREET

The individual who takes no part in community activities, who fails to support community institutions, deprives himself as well as others of the benefits of community action. Support of civic and philanthropic activities and institutions provides the services and facilities which no individual can supply but which every citizen at some time may need.

WELCOME WAGON 276-5990

is such an organization, working for the benefit of all and deserving of the support of every citizen. Remember, citizenship is a two-way street.
