Wilhelms seeks to stop construction of Rt. 22 overpass

Mayor fears local traffic 'disruptions'

Opposes a feeder road between two highways

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. has strongly complained to State Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg that the proposed construction of an overpass over Rt. 22 at the intersection of New Providence Road would be catalyst of major disruptions within the borough.

In drafting a letter to Goldberg, Mayor Wilhelms said, "Much speculation and rumor have been circulating in Mountainside concerning the New Jersey State Highway Department's plans for alterations to Rt. 22 through our community. In view of the obvious concern" Goldberg has been made known of the situation.

"I recognize the inadequacy of the grade crossing of Rt. 22 and New Providence Road," the letter read. "However, it is my belief that the solution proposed, an extensive overpass with auxiliary roadways, is unjustified from the standpoint of community disruption, elimination of residential and business fatalities, site acquisition costs, construction costs and other factors."

"Further, I feel," the letter went on, "that if this overpass is constructed it will be done with the intent or effect of making New Providence Rd. a major feeder or connector road between Rt. 22 and Rt. 78. Any such use of New Providence road would require widening, grade reductions, major eliminations of home and fatalities and major depreciation of a residential community. Also, such use of New Providence road would require road construction through park lands of the Union County Park Commission with detrimental consequences."

The mayor noted that department representatives had impressed it upon borough of-

Local Board of Education must fill seat

Mrs. Johnson resigns for matrimonial reasons

BY JACK PFANNE

The Mountainside Board of Education Tuesday night accepted the resignation of Mrs. Gloria S. Johnson from the board. The monthly meeting was held at the Deerfield School.

Grant Lennox, board president, said a replacement to fill Mrs. Johnson's unexpired term until February had been chosen and the board would make the announcement shortly.

Mrs. Johnson, a widow, is leaving the board to get married next month to Paul T. Smock of Wayne, where the couple will reside.

Mrs. Johnson was appointed to the board in July 1967 to fill an unexpired term. She was subsequently elected in February 1968 to serve the remaining two years of the unexpired term. She would have been due to run again this February.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board adopted a student dissent policy, as required by the State Board of Education.

Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, superintendent, explained that the state education commissioner had ruled that each board must adopt such a policy as an insurance that local boards "know that this problem is around us and that we have pre-planned so that we as board members and school administrators know what to do."

The details of the policy, Lennox explained,

Courses listed in borough for summer school

Oceanography, elementary computer programming, a creative dramatics workshop and pre- and post-kindergarten classes will be some of the enrichment courses this year in Mountainside's summer school.

In addition there will be the basic courses: reading and mathematics, speech correction and basic communication skills.

The deadline on registrations is this Tuesday. Any child who has completed kindergarten through the seventh grade or who is registered to begin kindergarten in September is eligible. Each course is $15 for Mountainside residents.

The dates of the summer school are June 26 to July 31, with July 4 a holiday. It is split into two sessions per morning, the first period will run from 8:30 to 10, and the second from 10:30 to noon.

Questions concerning summer school are being handled by Mrs. Helen Spohn at 232-9575 Monday and Wednesday afternoons from 1 to 3.

Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, superintendent of schools, explained some of the courses.

In the basic group, Dr. Hanigan said, "Our courses in reading and mathematics are not designed for children who have failed or not been promoted. They are designed to eliminate or reduce reading and math skill deficiencies."

In basic communication skills, Dr. Hanigan said, "for a long time we have felt that the incoming sixth graders could have profited from more individualized instruction in spelling, handwriting, grammar, punctuation, reading in the content areas, composition and study skills."

Dr. Hanigan said Kenneth Johnson has developed a summer school basic course that will involve all of these areas. The course will be open to fifth graders recommended by their teachers.

The same type of course, Dr. Hanigan said, will be offered for third and fourth graders "in an effort to strengthen these vital communication skills before marked deficiencies result."

THERE WILL BE 15 enrichment courses offered, "These courses," Dr. Hanigan said,

Donors sought for blood bank

The Red Cross will hold a Westfield - Mountainside blood bank session next Wednesday from 1 to 6:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church in Westfield. Prospective donors may make appointments by calling the Red Cross Chapter House, 232-7090, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

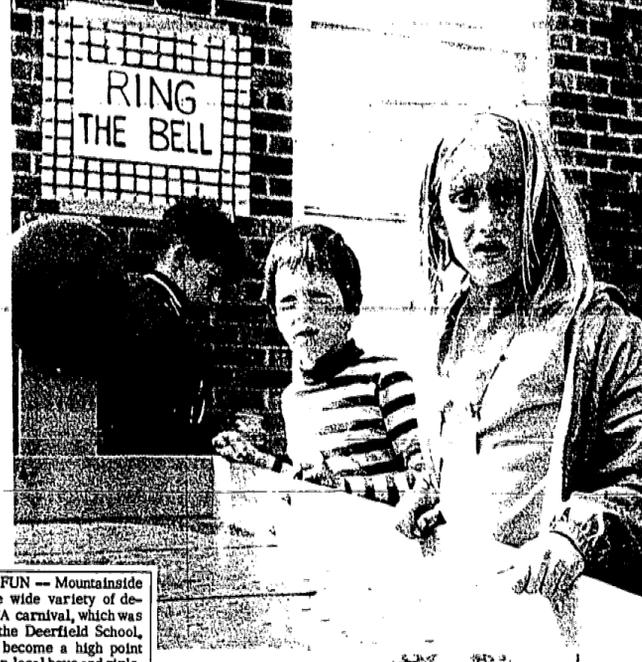

A chapter spokesman, in stressing the need for blood donations, said:

"A single pint of blood was once thought to be a two-part substance: consisting of plasma and red cells. When you gave a unit of your blood ten years ago, it very probably was transfused in its entirety. Blood is now being reduced to several components each with its special use in the treatment of specific problems. Consider for a moment what happens to the pint of blood you give today: 1. Cryoprecipitate, for treatment of hemophilia; 2. Red Blood Cells, for treatment of anemia; 3. Platelets, for treatment of leukemia; 4. Plasma, for treatment of burns and shock; 5. Leukocytes, for heart and kidney transplants.

"Your single blood donation will give new hope for recovery to five persons anyone of whom, but for you, might not have even a chance of survival."

Regional schools schedule meetings to discuss coming report on expansion

A series of public meetings to give interested citizens the opportunity to hear and discuss a report on future building needs in the Union County Regional High School District was announced this week by the Board of Education.

Dr. Henry Rissetto, the board's planning consultant, is completing the final stages of his written survey, with stenographic help from the school board.

The public meetings will be held in each of the four high schools in the regional district. They are scheduled to be held: Monday, May 26, at Gov. Livingston Regional, Berkeley Heights; Tuesday, May 27, at Arthur L. Johnson Regional, Clark; Monday, June 2, at Jonathan Dayton Regional, Springfield, and Tuesday, June 3, at David Breaux Regional, Kenilworth.

All meetings will begin at 8 p.m. in the various high school auditoriums.

The May 27 hearing at Arthur L. Johnson coincides with the regularly scheduled monthly meeting of the school board to be held at the school. The board meeting will be adjourned to the following night.

Avery W. Ward, board president, emphasized that the Board of Education will make no decision on Dr. Rissetto's findings and recommendations until after the public meetings and a detailed study by the board.

"These meetings are being held to let the public hear what's in the report from Dr. Rissetto himself. The board is interested in hearing the public before it makes a decision," Ward said.

Ward said the board will withhold comment on the report until it has an opportunity to see the final version.

Besides giving Dr. Rissetto secretarial assistance, the Board of Education has also made arrangements to get the survey printed. All costs to the school board will be reimbursed through its contract with the consultant, Ward said.

He said copies of the report will be made immediately available to the local governing bodies, Boards of Education and school administrators in the six constituent districts.

"The Board of Education is doing its utmost to get this survey to the public with a minimum of further delay. Both the public and board have become impatient, and by utilizing our own facilities, we are ensuring its completion," Ward added.

Lapchick will speak at All Sports Dinner

Joe Lapchick, a member of the basketball Hall of Fame and former St. John's University coaching great, will be the principal speaker at the ninth annual All Sports Dinner. The dinner is sponsored by the Highlander Booster Club of Gov. Livingston Regional High School and will be held on Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Mountainside Inn.

All varsity lettermen will be guests of the club for dinner, as well as all senior lettermen, who will be recipients of trophies. Parents have been invited to attend and may obtain tickets through the school athletic office or by calling Mrs. Jack McElgunn, 464-0920.

Highlanders begin a 3-day tour today in Massachusetts

The Highlanders of Governor Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights will send 176 student musicians along with the twirlers and color guard, on a tour of western Massachusetts today to Saturday, according to Forrest Bartlett, director.

The tour will begin today with a day-long band clinic at Greenfield High School in Greenfield with a number of other bands, climaxed by a concert in the evening at which the Highlanders will be featured. The following morning they will present an assembly program at the high school.

A second appearance will be made tomorrow afternoon at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, where they spend the night as guests of the university.

On Saturday, the students will be the guests of the Westover Air Force Base at an open house and tour in honor of Armed Forces Day. The final concert will be presented in North Adams Saturday evening.

The tour is the climax of a busy year, according to Bartlett, that has included appearances in Atlantic City for the Miss America Pageant parade, the VonSteuben parade and the St. Patrick's Day parade in New York City, as well as the full quota of school events.

Included in the band organization is one of the few all-girl high school bagpipe bands in the United States. Wearing the Royal Stewart tartan, they are joined by the Highlander Dancers in a traditional Scottish repertoire.

Former narcotics addicts visiting regional schools

The second of four day-long programs on "Prevention of Drug Abuse" scheduled in the Union County Regional High School District will be held Monday at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

A team of rehabilitated ex-narcotics addicts and professional therapists from Odyssey House in New York City will be at the school throughout the day and evening.

The day's schedule will include assembly programs, meetings with faculty members and school professionals and opportunities for students to talk individually with members of the Odyssey House team.

According to Dr. Donald Merschalk, director of special services and coordinator of the programs, the Board of Education is primarily interested in presenting the facts about drug abuse to the students. Also, the programs are designed to inform the school faculty about the problem and how to help and work with students who may be involved, and to alert parents and the community to the problem and its ramifications for the students.

"If the students are given the facts," he said, "we believe they are mature enough to make the proper decision with respect to drug use."

"THE BOARD OF EDUCATION," Dr. Merschalk continued, "is extremely concerned about the drug problem within the high school population in the regional district. We believe that it is important that steps be taken to alleviate this problem."

He noted that the rehabilitated ex-addicts from Odyssey House will be in a "favorable position to relate to the students and parents."

In order to give the communities a chance to hear the Odyssey House team, an open meeting will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The meeting, co-sponsored by the Board of Education and the high school PTA, is open to anyone who works or lives in the regional district.

Mrs. William Ruch, PTA president, said that a special newsletter has been mailed to all parents, outlining the program, and urging them to attend.

Also assisting in the Gov. Livingston program are the sending districts' representatives

Tennis instruction

Registration for the tennis instruction planned for this summer by the Mountainside Recreation Department will take place Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon at the Echobrook School. The program, for local boys and girls 10 and older, will include an eight-week course and two four-week courses.

PROFILE -- Mr. and Mrs. John Keuler

Ruth and John Keuler are the kind of citizens who are keeping Mountainside's undermanned Rescue Squad on the road.

"A couple of people have come up to me and said they just sent us a check in the mail," Ruth said, "but I told them, 'We don't want your money. We want you.'"

This year marks the squad's 30th anniversary, but its 37 members haven't had time to do much celebrating.

John Keuler is captain of the Rescue Squad and in charge of operations. He is also a charter member.

"There are times when we can't roll," John said recently, "because we don't have the people. Then we have to rely on Westfield to send up a rig, and before Westfield can do that they have to have enough personnel on hand to cover their own town."

Atrophy began right after World War Two, John explained, when the squad was forced to form a women's auxiliary to take up the manpower slack.

Soon after, women were made full-time members of the squad.

Faced with another crisis now, the Rescue Squad is digging into another manpower well -- teenagers -- and the catalyst of a cadet corps was recently formed. The cadets, both boys and girls, will function as regular members of the squad and be required to do everything but drive the ambulance.

ONE OF THE MOST CRITICAL periods for the squad is just around the corner. "During the summer it's especially bad," Ruth explained. "Naturally no one wants to be tied down. Families go away on vacations. During the balance of the year, Ruth said, Fridays and weekends are a problem. The squad operates on a patchwork basis during these times.

"There are about five of us who are aver-

325 Little Leaguers to see New York-Minnesota game

Some 325 Mountainside Little Leaguers and adults will journey to New York to see the New York Yankees play Minnesota at Yankee Stadium on May 24.

Chris Barry pitched a one-hit shutout against the leading Mountaineers last Tuesday night. This gave the Mustangs a 13 to 0 victory over the previously undefeated Mountaineer team.

Senior League scores were: Twins, 1 - Orioles, 0; Orioles, 7 - Yankees 4; Tigers, 9

- Twins, 4. Standings are: Orioles, 3 - 2; Tigers, 3 - 1; Twins, 2 - 3; Yankees, 1 - 3. National League scores are as follows: Braves, 20 - Giants, 7; Cubs, 9 - Dodgers, 7; Cardinals, 14 - Pirates, 8; Braves, 7 - Cubs, 6; Dodgers, 17 - Pirates, 7; Cardinals, 37 - Giants 1. Standings are: Cardinals, Braves and Cubs, tied at 4 - 1; Pirates, Giants, Dodgers, tied 1 - 4.

President Bob VanBuskirk of the American League for 8 - 9-year-old boys has announced that the new plan for instructional baseball has been "very successfully completed" and the teams will now begin a regular schedule of games.

Girls' Softball League scores are as follows: Falcons, 6 - Eagles, 1; Parrots, 13 - Cardinals, 12; Peacocks, 27 - Doves, 20; Falcons, 24 - Blue Jays, 14; Orioles, 31 - Blue Jays, 7; Peacocks, 15 - Robins, 5; Canaries, 30 - Parrots, 15; Owls, 29 - Eagles, 22.

Special delivery on Mother's Day

On Sunday morning, Mrs. Loretta McCarthy of 254 Hickory Lane, the wife of Jack McCarthy, received a Mother's Day card from her 17-year-old son, John.

During the afternoon, John re-presented the greeting card with a second "signature," that of his sister, Kerri Ann, who was born a few minutes after noon that same day. Kerr Ann weighed into the world at eight pounds eight ounces when delivered at Muhlenberg Hospital in Plainfield. Her ecstatic father is with the advertising sales department of the American Broadcasting Company and is a member of the Mountainside Volunteer Fire Department.

'Pathways' to offer concert on Sunday

Music for keyboard and chamber orchestra will be featured in a concert Sunday at 8 p.m. The final presentation of the "Pathways in Music" chamber music series for 1968-69 will be held at the Community Presbyterian Church, Deer Path and Meetinghouse Lane, Mountainside.

The music will include the "Piano Concerto in D Minor" by J.S. Bach, the Poulenc "Organ Concerto" and Samuel Barber's "Adagio for String Orchestra." The piano and organ will be played by Dr. Thomas Richner. The Plainfield teacher and conductor, Louis Hooker, will conduct the "Pathways Chamber Orchestra."

"Pathways in Music" is a non-profit organization striving to make available to Union County residents the heritage of chamber literature. Because it embraces all periods of history and makes use of most instruments, it is designed to appeal to persons of widely differing musical tastes.

Summer classes

(Continued from page 1) "are designed for those children who just like to come to school and who are interested and challenged by new, additional or unusual school experiences."

For the first time, oceanography is being offered. "The plan is to offer this course on a double period basis (8:30 to 12) in order that necessary field trips may be successfully carried out," Dr. Hanigan said.

Topics to be included will be: waves, tides and currents, chemistry of the sea, marine biology, food from the sea, estuaries, the continental shelf and man and the sea. The course is open to students in the seventh grade.

Another all-morning, $30 course will be outdoor science for fourth, fifth and sixth graders. There will also be a $14 charge for field trips.

The elementary computer programming course is part of the enrichment math program, which also includes a mathematics laboratory. "Students will write flow charts for elementary programs, then write actual programs which will be key-punched and run through an IBM 1130 computer at Newark State College."

THE CREATIVE DRAMATICS workshop will be in two sections, one for grades three through five and one for grades six and seven.

The pre-kindergarten class will provide those who will enter kindergarten this fall "with an early introduction to a formal elementary school, a regular classroom environment and experiences with a fully qualified kindergarten teacher. Included will be listening to instruction, following instructions, language development, music, art and rhythms," Dr. Hanigan explained.

The post-kindergarten class will concentrate on language development, pre-reading skills and music and art.

AN AMERICAN HERITAGE program is also being offered, with an optional $50 field trip to the Boston area.

This program is for fourth and fifth graders. "The purpose of the field trip," Dr. Hanigan said, "is to give the children first-hand exposure to Salem, Plymouth, Boston and Cambridge. These areas are rich in historic significance, and it is hoped that our children will gain a real appreciation of cultural history." Class time, Dr. Hanigan said, would be spent exploring movies, filmstrips, records, tapes, transparencies, and other audio-visual media.

A children's literature and an art course will be run in three sections: one for first and second graders, another for third, fourth and fifth graders and another for sixth and seventh graders.

Dog clinic offers free vaccinations

The Mountainside Board of Health has announced dates of its annual dog clinic for the free vaccination of all dogs against rabies. The clinic, under the direction of Dr. C. J. Chehayl, veterinarian, will be held on the following days at the Fire House on Rt. 22: Wednesday, 2 to 4 p.m.; Saturday, May 24, 10 a.m. to noon.

The announcement added: "It is urged that all residents take advantage of this opportunity to obtain this protection for their pets. The cost of this clinic is covered by the license fees paid by each pet owner. Protect yourself, your family and your friends. Set aside the few minutes needed to come to this clinic."

Collegians are offered course at Y

College-bound high school graduates of the Westfield area will get a chance to learn how to survive in college. The nationally recognized course "How to Study in College" will again be offered at the Westfield YMCA, Aug. 4 to 8.

The YMCA announced that the program is a one-week, five-evening series of lectures developed by two Purdue University professors, which will be held at the YMCA, is presented as a service to recent high school graduates headed for the gates of the nation's colleges this fall.

Because of the "tremendous favorable response" received from students who took the course last year, the Westfield YMCA and YWCA arranged with the authors of the course to present it here again this summer.

Not a remedial course, the "college survival" program is aimed squarely at a long-overlooked college entrance problem: the transition the student is forced to make from high school to the rigors of academic life at college.

The course was developed a number of years ago by Robert F. Schwarz, dean of the Purdue University North Central Campus, and Howard D. Murdock of the chemistry department there. Since then, the course has been offered at all five campuses of Purdue University in Indiana and at YMCAs across the nation. In 1968, it was offered at YMCAs to more than 4,000 students in 50 more than 50 cities.

YWCA will hold sale tomorrow

Bargains will pack the downstairs of the Summit YWCA tomorrow when a housecleaning sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Household articles of all kinds, bric-a-brac, toys, sports equipment - in fact, everything with the exception of clothing, books, and heavy furniture - will be featured in the sale.

Donations to the event are still being accepted, according to Mrs. E. T. Nelson, chairman of the sub committee. Articles may be dropped off at the YWCA, 282 Morris Ave., or will be picked up by a member of the committee.

aging 300 hours on call a month," Ruth said, "and these are mostly women during the daytime hours." Among them are Barbara Heide, Mary Steiner and Mary Ann Burlew, Ruth said.

Many of the regular members now, the Keulers explained, sign up for only a limited number of "duty periods" a month and "cherry-pick" at that.

Both Ruth and John are certified Red Cross instructors and teach standard and advanced first aid courses. "Many people don't think they know enough about first aid to join the squad," Ruth said, "and when I joined I was skeptical myself, but these courses can be handled very easily."

Besides giving instructions to its members, the squad teaches local scout groups and would, in fact, teach first aid courses to any group just as long as there are at least six people. "And there's no obligation to join the squad after you take the course either," Ruth laughed.

John also teaches at the summer Medford Lake training camp of the Delaware Valley Safety Service of the American Red Cross.

During the year he attends, at his own expense, a first aid seminar given each October by the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons. John is also planning to attend one to be given in Boston next month.

RUTH AND JOHN were married in 1959. They have two children, Edward and Eva Lynn.

Ruth is formerly of Union, John came to Mountainside in 1932, an orphan from Brooklyn. For years he lived with Mr. and Mrs. Mennie Peterman at 161 Locust st. Mr. Peterman has since died and Mrs. Peterman remarried and moved to California, but John and his family still live at the 161 Locust st. home.

changes that the plans for the overpass and other facilities in Rt. 22 were most tentative, but, he said in the letter, "the community will resist most strenuously any alterations to Rt. 22 that cause major disruption to the residential character of the community."

Also, the letter said, "it was obvious from cursory examination of design concept sketches that said alterations would be of a serious and harmful consequences to our community."

Mayor Wilhelm suggested that the Transportation Department "scale down" the program "to a proposition that will not be of such harmful and destructive consequence to the people of Mountainside."

BOB TANSEY

INFLATION GUARD ENDORSEMENT KEEPS INSURANCE AT FULL STRENGTH "Inflation's hitting everything from the price of eggs to the amount I pay to get the television repaired," states a reader. "How do I make sure my home insurance is keeping up?"

Inflation, according to insurance experts, is becoming an economic fact of life, especially for homeowners. Construction costs are rising at least 5 percent each year, and the price of home repair and maintenance has risen 28 to 35 percent since 1959.

To cope with the situation, the Multi-Line Insurance Rating Bureau, which represents many companies, recently devised an "inflation guard endorsement," a type of cost-of-living adjustment that can be added to the standard homeowners policy. It is now in effect in many states.

Under this plan coverage for houses, garages and other buildings on the property, and unlimited personal possessions will be increased one percent over the policy's face value every three months. The increase applies to the policy's additional living expense, a provision which comes into play when a home is damaged, and the family must live elsewhere while it is being repaired.

If policy holders take the endorsement, their coverage will be increased up to 12 percent over a 3-year period. Their premium payments will be slightly more than the standard policy premium, and the amount will vary from state to state and according to the amount of the policy.

Regular policies without the endorsement will still be available. Detailed information may be obtained from your local agent or broker.

Materials science added to courses at NCE next year

Newark College of Engineering has announced it will offer a new undergraduate program in materials science beginning this fall. Studies in this field will lead to NCE's B.S. degree in engineering science.

Announcement of the new program was made by Dr. L. Bryce Andersen, dean of engineering at NCE.

Andersen noted that the new program will be interdisciplinary in nature, cutting across the normal study patterns of several of the basic engineering fields.

The intensive study of the structure and properties of materials can prepare the student for exciting careers in industry, for industrial research, and for graduate study. Those areas in which highly-trained engineers are now needed include space and deep-sea work, extreme temperature studies and solid state electronics, all of which depend largely on materials science analysis for success.

"Newark College of Engineering will draw on its strength in several areas to offer the program in materials science," Andersen said. Four new courses — in solid state physics, microscopy and material science fundamentals — have been added to supplement existing NCE courses applicable to such study.

Those planning to study materials science will take the standard "core" program during their freshman year and the chemical engineering curriculum during the sophomore year. In their junior and senior years, students will have intensified studies in chemistry, physics and mathematics, culminating in a sequence of courses that treat the science of materials in depth.

Andersen said: "specialization will be available in metals, ceramics, inorganic crystals and polymers." Senior electives in the basic sciences will be provided for those planning graduate study.

The new addition of materials science means NCE now offers a selection of six basic areas of interdisciplinary study under its engineering science curriculum. Other popular areas of study include computer science, applied mathematics, and applied physics.

its corps of "pinch-hitting moms and dads" has given rise to many letters of inquiry. Questions such as "What is a foster parent?" "What do they do?" and "What are the special requirements that must be met by those who would serve homeless children in a foster parent capacity" have been asked.

Miss Phyllis Ettinger, associate executive director for the Children's Aid and Adoption Society, described a foster parent as, "A mature person with room in the home and in the heart to give a full measure of love and care to the child of another."

Declaring a foster home to be much more than a place where a child under care receives food and shelter, Miss Ettinger said the society's foster families, most of whom reside within easy driving distance of the East Orange headquarters, help youngsters in their need for a good start in life.

MISS ETTINGER SAID: "Our foster parents, who must love each child wisely, are eventually compelled to relinquish the child whom they have cared for so tenderly.

"To be able to relinquish a child one has learned to love, to adoptive parents, or to his natural parents, requires unusual maturity. "Good foster parents must have this essential ability if a child is not to suffer an emotional upheaval when he is transferred to his new home."

"A baby's foster parents must have a 'seventh sense.' This is needed in order for them to be aware of a foster child's special needs for affection and stimulation.

"The foster parents of pre-adoptive children must be able to cooperate with the baby's caseworker, with the staff physician, and with the psychologist.

"They must have a willingness to accept new ideas of child-care. Some of their ideas may be very different from their own conception of how to care for a little one.

"In our planned effort to know each pre-adoptive baby well enough to be able to select the one adoptive home that will best fit his needs, we need the help of our foster parents. "Only relaxed, happy, and cooperative foster parents can give babies the home climate necessary for a happy start in life. This is an overall tribute with foster parents who serve our little ones," Miss Ettinger said.

Conservation unit proposed by Case

Senator Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) has asked the Senate Interior Committee to consider his forthcoming bill to create a new Department of Conservation and the Environment during hearings expected to start later this month.

In a letter to Interior Committee chairman Henry M. Jackson, Senator Case said he understood the committee plans further hearings on Senator Jackson's bill to create an Environmental Advisory Council as soon as the bill is redrafted.

Senator Case said he expects to introduce his own bill by that time and asked that the committee consider it during the hearings on the plan to create an Advisory Council and an Administration proposal to create an inter-departmental group of six cabinet members to deal with environmental problems.

The senator said he believes "it is necessary to go further than the combination of the Advisory Council and the interdepartmental group and to give the government additional authority to protect the nation's environment.

He said the bill he plans to introduce would create a new cabinet-level department to coordinate national environmental policy and would give the new department greater authority to deal with environmental problems.

Academy exams planned by Case

Senator Clifford P. Case has announced plans to hold a Civil Service examination in October to assist him in selecting his nominees for the U.S. Air Force Academy, the U.S. Military Academy, the U.S. Naval Academy, and the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, for the classes entering in the summer of 1970. Applicants will be notified of the exact day, time and place of the test at a later date.

The examination is open to legal residents of New Jersey. All persons desiring to take the test should write to Senator Case, Room 463, Old Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510. Applicants should be at least 17 years of age and must not have reached their 22nd birthday by July 1 of the year in which they will enter one of the academies.

CRANBERRIES

New Jersey is the third greatest cranberry state in the U.S. The fruit was first cultivated in the state in 1840, although the berries were eaten by the Indians before white men arrived. They were a symbol of peace and were eaten as medicine.

Party for singles

Single men age 22 to 39 who are college graduates or college students, and single women age 21 to 35 who are college or professional school graduates, or students are welcome to attend a mixer party on Friday, May 23, starting at 9 p.m. at the Jersey City Women's Club House, 375 Fairmount Ave., Jersey City, N.J. sponsored by the Singles University Alumni Club.

Kessler Institute meeting to include elections, awards

The Kessler Institute for Rehabilitation will hold its 20th annual meeting and open house at the West Orange Institute on Sunday at 2 p.m. Joseph E. Partenheimer of Maplewood, president of the Board of Trustees, will preside.

The annual meeting program will include the election of trustees and officers for the year 1969-1970, a review by Dr. Henry H. Kessler, medical director, of the first 20 years and plans for the future.

The guest of honor and speaker will be Norman Acton, secretary general of the International Society for Rehabilitation of the Handicapped of New York City which is a working federation of voluntary organizations throughout the world concerned with the rehabilitation of the handicapped. Acton has been secretary general of the World Veterans Federation and also Executive Director of the United States Committee for UNICEF. His topic will be "Community Responsibility for Rehabilitation."

The institute's annual Alumni Awards will be made to Miss Ruth Kennedy of Somerville and Robert U. Whitney III of New Providence. Miss Kennedy, after many years of disability, was returned to teaching at the Adamsville Junior High School in Bridgewater. Whitney has overcome the limitations of paraplegia and is now the assistant treasurer of the Mortgage Department of the Summit Trust Company of Summit.

The Joseph Spitz Dedicated Service Award, given in memory of the first director of the New Jersey State Rehabilitation Commission and presented annually to an outstanding member of the institute's staff, will be presented to Miss Catherine Enny of Livingston, in acknowledgment of her services as a secretary for the past 11 years.

Mrs. Myron Kridel of West Orange, president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Kessler Institute, will present the Auxiliary's Scholarship Award to the Yard School of Art in Montclair.

HER MAN SAYS NO WEDDING BAND

Dear Amy: I am being married very soon to a swell guy (I thought). Last week he told me to go pick out my wedding ring. So I did and also chose one for him. When I told him, he informed me very nicely that he had no intentions of wearing a wedding ring, and that's that! I feel very hurt. All married men wear wedding bands, don't they, Amy?

About to be Wed Dear To Be Wed:

I know plenty of men who don't. Don't fret about the ring on his finger so long as you're the girl on his arm!

Dear Amy:

I'd love to add a line to your column in answer to the young girl with a mustache. We girls used to get a special very fine sandpaper, it was called "Baby Touch", but any fine sandpaper will do - with time and patience. And once you are rid of it, that does it! It's marvelous.

their apartment, fed them, put them to bed, and waited for my ex-wife's return. She came home all right, but quite tipsy and pre-occupied to give Al a piece of her mind for interfering. I listened quietly, trying to understand her, and then left. I then started asking questions in the neighborhood and found that my ex-wife was carrying on with an alcoholic and that if the baby sitter didn't show up to give the children dinner, they got no dinner... while their mother was out making the friends of the local bars. I love my children, and in the light of what has happened, I want custody of them. I offered to take them at the time of the divorce but bowed to their mother's plea. What should I do? Their Dad

Dear Dad: A mother who would leave her children unattended for any reason seems "lunatic" to me. See your lawyer. Dear Amy: I have a problem that hurts me very much. I had an affair with a man some time ago. It did not last long. I told my husband about it and he forgave me. For this, I love him very much. I know I hurt him badly by doing this. Now I have a feeling that he has seen other women, but he says no and I really believe that. While I was in the hospital, I know there was a woman who was attracted to him, but she and her husband have moved away. Still, I feel she writes to him and calls him at a mutual friend's house.

I don't want to find out, but it hurts very much because I have friends who cheat on their husbands. Ashamed and Worried Dear Ashamed: You confronted your husband with your suspicions and he said, "Not true." Now forget it and show him you believe and love him as you say you do. PERSONAL TO JOYCE: Happy marriages are built on a conglomeration of things. In plain words what he meant to convey was: Take care of my bills and I'll take care of your bills! Address all letters to: AMY ADAMS c/o THIS NEWSPAPER For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Rider will honor 3 at commencement

A college president, the music director of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra and a long time United Nations official will be honored during Rider College's 104th commencement exercises on Sunday, June 1. John Anthony Brown, president of Lindenwood College in St. Charles, Mo. and former dean and assistant to the president at Temple University, will receive an honorary doctor of letters degree and also will be the guest speaker at the ceremonies. Henry Lewis of Orange, the young music director of the New Jersey Symphony, and Dr. Julia J. Henderson of New York, associate commissioner and director for technical cooperation at the UN and highest ranking female member of the UN Secretariat, will receive honorary doctor of humane letters degrees. Some 670 graduating seniors will receive degrees from Rider president Dr. Franklin F. Moore during a pair of Sunday programs in Alumni Gymnasium. Combined with last January's graduating class and the scheduled September graduation group, the 1969 graduating class will be the largest in the college's history.

State sees decrease in jobless rate

Total unemployment in New Jersey declined by 5,600 to 134,400 from March to April, with a 0.2 drop in rate to 4.6 percent, according to estimates of the N. J. Department of Labor and Industry. The decline was primarily a result of seasonal recalls and new hiring in construction, service, trade, and farming. Compared with April 1968, however, unemployment increased by 2,200, although the jobless rate remained the same.

Trenton had the lowest unemployment rate of any major area, at 3.1 percent. Ranging from the statewide low of 2.8 percent in the Phillipsburg area to the high of 10.5 in the Ocean City-Wildwood-Cape May Labor Area, the rate declined over the month in 12 of New Jersey's 15 labor areas.

The department said that the downward trend of unemployment will continue throughout May, until the June influx of temporary jobseekers causes a rise.

NIH THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH BETHESDA MARYLAND

SURGERY FOR BLUE BABIES
One of the best known in-born heart defects is the Tetralogy of Fallot, which is actually a combination of four malformations. First, there is a hole, usually large, in the muscular wall between the left and right ventricle. If the hole is large, the blood does not circulate properly. Blood which has just come from the lungs, is forced into the right strain of trying to pump blood through the narrowed pulmonary artery. There is a reduced blood-flow to the lungs and a mixture of oxygen-poor blood and oxygen-laden blood being pumped to all parts of the body. Because blood low in oxygen is a blue-red color, the oxygen-starved baby takes on a bluish skin color. Sometimes the symptoms of Tetralogy of Fallot begin in the first few weeks of life with difficulty in feeding, a failure to gain weight and poor development. The child may have shortness of breath and weakness and often assumes a squatting position which seems to ease these conditions. The correction of this set of defects requires open-heart surgery. That is, the surgeon needs direct vision access to the heart for a period of time long enough to perform the operation. In order to do this, the heart-beat must be slowed or completely stopped. A heart-lung machine, which is outside the patient's body, takes over the function of the patient's own heart and lungs. It supplies oxygen to the blood and pumps it through the body. An incision is made in the wall of the right ventricle and the hole between the two chambers is closed with a Teflon patch. This patch keeps oxygen poor blood from flowing into the aorta and on to the rest of the body. Next, the blockage to pulmonary blood-flow is relieved so that blood can travel easily to the lungs to pick up oxygen. This may entail enlarging the pulmonary valve and/or widening the outflow tract just below it by removing a section of the muscle that narrows it. Sometimes a patch must be inserted in the incision to widen the passageway. Corrective surgery is usually postponed until the child is four years old or older. If symptoms are severe, another type of operation may be performed in infancy to temporarily ease the condition and keep the infant reasonably healthy until complete correction can be performed at a later date. The results of successful operations are often quite dramatic and improvement is striking. The pulmonary blood-flow and amount of oxygen in circulation is increased. The bluish tinge disappears and exercise tolerance is greatly improved so

Thursday, May 15, 1969- guides for navigation, the lecturer will explore the possibilities of some day using artificial satellites for "navigation stars." Tourists wishing to join the exploratory polar cruise can take off any weekend in May or June. Free public lectures are scheduled at 2, 3 and 4 p.m. every Saturday, Sunday and holiday including Memorial Day. The Planetarium's unique, transparent earth projector will enable the audience to view the continents and seas of the globe and the stars simultaneously. This traveler will better his understanding of the relationship of the earth and its rotation to the positions of the stars, and, ultimately, to his own position on land or at sea. WILL JORDAN — Television and stage comedian, who was the first to imitate Ed Sullivan, joins the Four Aces this week at Larry Dixon's Flagship, Route 27, Union. The show will run through Monday.

TURNABLE TREATS (good listening) THE DON COSTA CONCEPT: by Don Costa, in this LP, Don, aided by his chorus, The Nancy Adams Singers, showcases his many talents with a program of ten very listenable numbers — the oldie "Adios," "Soulful Strut," "On The South Side Of Chicago," "Goodbye Sadness" (Tristesse), "Love So Fine," "From Both Sides Now," "I'm Gonna Make You Love Me," "If I Only Had Time" and the Lennox McCartney tunes "Hey Jude" and "Ob-La-Di, Ob-La-Da." (MERCURY SR-61216)... REFLECTIONS IN A GOLDEN HORN: by Steve Douglas. Selections include: "Poet," "This Guy's In Love With You," "Caroline No.," "The Look Of Love," "Good Vibrations," "Wear Your Love Like Heaven," "Walk On By," "Never My Love," "God Only Knows" and "Leyenda."

On the SMASH label, JERRY LEE WIVES SINGS THE COUNTRY MUSIC HALL OF FAME HITS VOL. 1, (SRS 67117). The 12 numbers recorded by Jerry on this LP was a hit at some time — not only in Country & Western, but also in the pop field even after they were Country biggies. Vocals include: "I Wonder Where You Are Tonight," "I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry," "Jambalaya," "Four Walls," "Heartaches By The Number," "Mom And Dad's Waltz," "Sweet Dreams," "Born To Lose," "Oh, Lonesome Me," "You've Still Got A Place In My Heart," "I Love You Because" and a duet with sister Gail on "Jackson".... WE REMEMBER OTIS: by The Upsetters, featuring Jimmy Wess, The Upsetters dedicates this album to the super talents of the late and great Otis Reading. The group played behind Otis while he was on tour doing his one nighters and concerts. Jimmy vocals the four hits which Otis orbited to stardom — "Dock Of The Bay," "Respect," "Satisfaction" and "Can't Turn You Loose." Additional selections include: "Sweet Soul Music," "Shake," "Al-ways In The Wrong Place At The Wrong Time," "Down Home," "Don't Mess With Cupid," "Tossin' & Turnin'," "The Memphis Sound," "Don't Be Cruel," "It's Growing" and "Grab This Thing." Mayfair Theater features 'Fixer'

The Mayfair Theater in Hillside is featuring "The Fixer," and "Time to Sing" this week. The double feature will run through Tuesday. Academy-award nominee Alan Bates stars in "The Fixer," which was adapted from the best-selling novel by Bernard Malamud about a Jew in Czarist Russia, who is framed on anti-Semitic charges of ritual child murder and faces endless brutalities in his struggle for physical and mental survival. Joining Bates in the stellar cast are Dirk Bogarde, Georgia Brown, Hugh Griffith, Elizabeth Hartman and Carol White. John Frankenheimer directed the picture, which was photographed in color.

Levine's latest hit is 'Lion' at Millburn

Showman Joseph E. Levine, president of Avco Embassy Pictures Corp., who has brought many facets of entertainment to the screen, exhibits his showmanship in his latest, "The Lion In Winter," which is currently on screen at the Millburn Cinema, Millburn. Levine has produced, co-produced and distributed more than 250 films in 10 years, running the gamut from "Hercules" to Fellini's "8 1/2." He has been a primary factor in making the foreign or "art" film universally-accepted medium. "The Lion In Winter," which was nominated for seven Oscars and won three, including Best Actress (Katharine Hepburn), stars, in addition to Miss Hepburn, Peter O'Toole, and was directed by Anthony Harvey from the play and screenplay by James Goldman.

ARMY EDUCATION The Army's general educational development program provides academic and vocational courses from elementary through college level for personnel who wish to continue their education while on active duty.

The Theatre Seen

By ROBERT LYONS The excitement of The Great White Hope is that it matches an extraordinary actor with a gargantuan role. The play is a chronology of the rise and fall of Jack Johnson, the Negro heavyweight champion. It also exposes the primal fear of one race for another. After Johnson wins the title every seat of power necessary conspires to strip him of his title. The law, government, internal revenue and boxing commission remind us what the establishment can do to destroy an individual if it wants to.

Ormont Theater holds 'Greetings'

The Ormont Theater, East Orange, is holding "Greetings" for a second week. The film comedy about the needs and problems of contemporary American youth, was produced by Charles Hirsch and directed by Brian De Palma, both of whom collaborated on the "reemplay." Photographed in color, and made in Manhattan, and Secaucus, the picture has Jonathan Warden and Robert De Niro in leading roles.

Desires, behavior French film topic

The popular "Belle De Jour" continues on screen at the Union Theater, Union Center. The French film, directed by Luis Bunuel, is fashioned as an erotic story of repressed desires and explores the gap between fantasy and behavior. Catherine Deneuve, Jean Sorel, Genevieve Page and Pierre Clement have leading roles. "Belle De Jour" was photographed in color.

Cultural gardens provide quietude

Wave Hill, new cultural institution of the City of New York, recently opened its gardens to the public. This 28-acre Hudson River estate was given to the city by the Edward Freeman and George Perkins families so that the city population would be able to enjoy quiet and find refreshment in its beauty. The buildings are not yet open and there are no picnicking facilities. Wave Hill is open Thursday through Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. from now until early November. Admission is free Thursday and Friday; a 50 cents fee is charged on weekends. Seasonal memberships of $5 are available. Arrangements for group visits may be made by telephoning (212) KI 9-2055.

Three symphonic orchestras to play at Arts Center in June

The June opening of the Garden State Arts Center's second summer season will be a Classical Festival Month featuring three of the world's greatest symphonic orchestras.

The Philadelphia Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic, and the Washington National Symphony are scheduled to appear, each with prominent guest performers, during the opening month of the Arts Center's 1969 season.

With its subscription program having been extended to three classical series of six events each this year, there are still excellent season seats available from the Arts Center for the top-rated symphonic performances and more.

Subscription order brochures for any of the three classical series as well as six popular series can be obtained by writing to the Garden State Arts Center, Box 116, Holmdel 07733 or telephoning 264-9200.

The 1969 summer season of the Arts Center, located at Telegraph Hill Park on the Garden State Parkway (Exit 116), starts June 12 with the Philadelphia Orchestra conducted by Eugene Ormandy. The Romeros, Spain's first family of guitar, will perform with the Orchestra that night and the following Saturday.

Almost every night of June (curtain at 8:30 Mondays through Thursdays and at 9 Fridays and Saturdays) will be filled by a symphonic performance of one of the three world-renowned orchestras with such guest stars as soprano Dorothy Kirsten, pianist Van Cliburn and Byron Janis, and Benny Goodman.

"We should be giving serious thought to setting up a State of New Jersey office in Washington, D.C."

With these words, State Senator Frank X. McDermott, Republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, began describing what he terms one of New Jersey's "urgent problems." According to the Senate president,

PROVIDE FUNDS — Dr. I. Richard Zucker, director of cardiology, Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, examines child before Mrs. David Youneff, left, of East Orange and Mrs. Jerome Nurkin of 21 Skyview Rd., Union. Mrs. Nurkin is president of the Fidelity-Hulda Association, which donated $1,000 to the center for chemotherapeutic treatment of leukemic patients. Mrs. Youneff, president of the League for Cardiac Children, presided at the hospital with $5,000 from the group for pediatric cardiology. Both groups are divisions of the United Order of True Sisters.

New Jersey comes in "dead last" in terms of federal aid to the states, of education, mass transportation, medical care, and urban redevelopment. Certainly, other states have serious problems too," McDermott admits, "but I suggest it is time for a reappraisal of who is getting what and why."

$7 million to help state fight crime

Congressman William T. Cahill, Republican candidate for Governor, has announced that New Jersey will receive more than $7 million in federal anti-crime funds in the next 13 months, under the Cahill amendments to the Omnibus Crime Act passed by Congress in 1967.

"This will bring New Jersey's share of the appropriation created by the original 'Safe Streets' Act to more than $8 1/2 million," Cahill said.

"The original legislation sponsored by the Johnson administration, called for the entire appropriation of anti-crime funds to be made available to the U. S. Department of Justice, along with complete authority over how these funds were to be used in fighting both organized and local crime," Cahill explained.

"The Cahill amendments created the system of state block grants, by which each state would receive a share of the federal appropriation, with the authority to use these funds at its own discretion to solve local crime problems."

"In my judgment, this is the only effective approach to fighting crime," Cahill added. "New Jersey, for example, has a far greater problem with syndicated crime than most other states, and our anti-crime efforts must be tailored to this."

Cahill explained that the federal funds available to New Jersey through the Cahill amendments are divided into planning and action grants, with which we "can study local problems, decide how best to attack criminal operations, and then provide funds to implement our planning."

NCE will award honorary Ph. D. to 4 at ceremony

Newark College of Engineering will award four honorary doctorates at its commencement exercise on Thursday, June 5, 1969. The honorary degrees will go to a New Jersey astronaut, to the head of America's largest corporation, and to a renowned cryptanalyst, and to a business mathematician turned college administrator.

Announcement of the honorary degree selections was made by Dr. Robert W. Van Houten, president of NCE.

The conferring of the honorary degrees will be part of NCE's 53rd annual commencement at which more than 800 young men and women will be awarded degrees on the bachelor's, master's and doctoral levels. The ceremony will be held on NCE's athletic field, Lock and Warren sts., Newark, beneath a massive tent. This will be the second consecutive year that the college has held an outdoors commencement on the campus and a capacity crowd of more than 6,000 is expected.

Those accepting honorary degrees will include astronaut and NCE alumnus Walter M. Schirra Jr. of Oradell; H. I. Romnes, of Chatham, chairman of the board of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.; Frank B. Rowlett, top government inventor and code expert; and Dr. Charles R. DeCarlo, who has served as director of automation research for International Business Machines Corp. and who has recently accepted the presidency of Sarah Lawrence College.

Trains in a vacuum?

Gravity vacuum trains (GVT) are a possibility in cutting down ground transportation times, according to the New York Regional Plan Association. GVTs, propelled underground by gravity and air pressure in an evacuated tube, says the association, can be used for both intra- and inter-city transportation.

A FEMININE LOOK

(Commentary on a Study Mission from the Atlantic to the Pacific but across the USSR)

by TRUDINA HOWARD

Second In A Series

THE ESTABLISHMENT

Besides the disturbing feeling of "unfreedom" in the USSR, there is also the fact that in that country where everyone is supposed to be equal, they are not.

Some people in the USSR are better off than others, some have more rights than others and some can move about with more ease than others. It simply does not seem to be a fact that everyone is equal. If you live in Moscow, for instance, (which is only one of 14 more provinces) you have more privileges than if you live in the province of Uzbekistan. If you live in Uzbekistan you have more privileges than if you live in some other province, say Tadzhikistan or Azerbaijan. Although perhaps not, Uzbek is pretty far down. If you are of European stock you are better off than if you are of Mongolian stock. Or, if you are of Mongolian blood, sometimes called a Buryat, you are better off than a Nogai—and there are many of those in the far reaches of the USSR.

If you are a communist member, though, you indeed have more privileges than anyone else. Contrary to popular belief, a very small percentage of the Soviet people are members of the Communist Party, but they rule the majority. There are rigid rules and regulations AND fees for becoming, and remaining, a Communist Party member, but if you are one, then you are part of the "elite." This "elite" rules the country, the people—and even the tourists.

THE AGENCY THAT WATCHES foreign travelers and consents to what they may do, is In-Tourist, a governmental, communist-run agency. Its name stands for "In-Strange-tourist", (foreign tourist) but it might just as well stand for "keeping tourist-in," for as a tourist you may not do as you please either. You get to know this immediately, even in Estonia, right on the Atlantic side, and you get to know it very well by the time you reach Nakhodka, some 10,000 miles later on the Pacific side. Only in the middle of Siberia, it is more alarming. Here in the middle of nowhere, you, as an American, begin to understand what it means not to be able to come and go within a country as you decide; and what it means not to be able to return to your own country if you want to. It is as simple as that, here, in the middle of Siberia—middle? heck, anywhere in the USSR—you do what In-Tourist tells you to do. And it is not a matter of money. You might even want to take a side-trip—how many times have you taken a side trip?—but oh no! not in the USSR! No, you do what your visa requested and what In-Tourist OK'd when it granted the visa and that's all. That's it, Baby.

There are some cities and some areas that you may not visit under any circumstances, even if you had ten In-Tourist guides. They are classified as "closed cities" and are strictly forbidden. Vladivostok is one. On the other hand, it is also true that within a city that is "open" you may move about as you please. Moscow for instance, Leningrad. You can even take all the pictures you want. This surprises people sometimes and they get quite a feeling of "freedom," but just try to take a sudden side-trip to Leningrad if you are in Moscow. Just try.

Within the city of Moscow you may take any old bus, car, subway or bicycle and get quite giddy, but to go any distance you need provisions for a car, a ticket, or a passport, and then you run head on into Big Brother In-Tourist. To travel you need papers and permission, you need a car, plane, train or a bus; you need a passport and visa; you need a travel agent.

In the USSR there are no travel agencies except In-Tourist, a governmental agency; there are no other airlines except Aerflot, a government utility; there are no railways except government railways, and there are no buses except government-owned buses. So, if you are a tourist in the USSR The Establishment always knows where you are one way or the other. Big Brother In-Tourist is watching you and you do exactly as your itinerary was approved and as In-Tourist permits. There are no service choices, no changes in itinerary, no side trips, no shortening, no lengthening.

Just always In-Tourist. I am speaking now solely of the USSR. Yugoslavia, for instance, was totally different. Its handling of the tourist was similar to ours and was quite gracious.

BUT IN-TOURIST of the USSR will never change, I'm sure. Nor will the USSR, contrary to popular belief, or perhaps contrary to popular wishful thinking, the USSR is not slowly changing and getting more "western." It is not softening. It is still seeking world domination and says so in between the lines in its own literature on the subject. It has just gotten smoother and smarter in going about the whole thing. At least, that is the impression I have.

It just does not look as though the communist system is about to go away, and a little perhaps, bond a little or even adjust a little, but not go away. And the wonder is why not? Why has it lasted for 50 years? Without the moral support of a religion, without the incentive of capitalism, without the freedom of democracy, without even the small incentives of living, the wonder is how it has lasted for 50 years.

There is not even the convenience of decent consumer products. It is impossible to describe the grossness, as well as flimsiness, of the contemporary furniture, the emptiness of the interior decorations, the clumsiness of the electrical equipment, the chintziness of the products, the poor construction, the downright obsolescence of bathrooms—kitchens—had been not be mentioned, they are so bleak.

The Soviet people seem not to know how to create beauty. The only beauty is the Soviet Union seems to be what God makes and what man made during the time of the Tsars. If it were not for the sunsets, the forests, the trees, the flowers; and if it were not for the art, the buildings, the churches, a few old grand houses and the treasures of the Tsars, the USSR would not have beauty. Perhaps some music but much of that is classical too.

HOW THE USSR got a man or a machine into space is a wonder. They do not even seem to know how to make ten ice-cubes! Entire sinks sag from the walls because there does not seem to be a knowledge of how to attach them tightly; refrigerators stand on parade in lobbies, dining rooms, waiting rooms, but they never work; fans turn on but do not blow; air-conditioners stand in some windows but they have no insides. A man with a deep wound (one of our study mission members had an accident) is taken to a hospital—and stitched up without benefit of any kind of anesthesia.

The masses of people just do not seem to have much going for them personally. One gets the idea of sheep. They are herded about and don't seem to know the difference. It is particularly noticeable in a plane. Aerflot planes are always crowded, and unkempt, but then it is the only airline in the country. But then, too, the air fare is paid by the state. When a "comrade" travels it is by permission from the government employer for his vacation time and so the government pays for the ride. But when they travel, the Russians on the whole have neither suitcases nor good-looking clothes. They tie things in huge canvas wrappings and go forth in their work clothes.

WE MET A NUMBER of pleasant people along the way, nevertheless. There were some who wanted to talk to us and knocked themselves out being nice and being generous. They wanted to talk of theatre and the arts and politics in the USA and in the world. They were young. I got the distinct impression that if there was to be some altering in communism, it would be because the young people are not quite satisfied. There is something missing and they seem to know it. They seem to be rebelling but there is no organization among them. They like to talk in the open, in the park, strolling along the street. A great many of them spoke English but also a few of our group members had taken Russian lessons and the remainder were learning spot words, so it helped.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"I know I used to lend you the car, but that was before you broke off with my daughter..."

There were many in our group who found great pleasure in always becoming friendly with people on the street, in the airports and after meetings. But everyone in our group met the waitresses, the hotel employees, the officials and the journalists who entertained us. Our hosts, naturally, were friendly, but not many service people seemed happy. It is a pertinent commentary to note that when one waitress smiled when she was serving us we all exclaimed, "She SMILED!" Not many smiled, not many were gracious, none knew how to set a table. Not many people were happy looking. Not many helped each other. Not many greeted each other. It wasn't because of us. They treated each other the same as they did us. They were listless. They were grey.

One woman in our group cried in sheer hysterical relief when our ship pulled away from the USSR coast at the end of our three weeks inside the Iron Curtain.

There were two phrases that members of our party kept using, "Aren't you thankful that by the grace of God you were born in America?" And the men kept saying, "Gad,

Aquatic life periled by heated water of power stations

Many forms of aquatic animal and plant life are being threatened by the heated water discharged by power stations into rivers, lakes and coastal waters.

At present, the threat is more potential than real, but it could become a serious hazard as more and more generating plants are built all over the world. This was the conclusion of 200 scientists from six countries meeting for a "thermal workshop" held at the University of Maryland's Natural Resources Institute, under the sponsorship of the International Biological Program (IBP) and the U.S. National Academy of Sciences.

The discharge of heated water, or "thermal addition" as scientists call it, is not only of great scientific interest but also has considerable economic significance. Many of the areas affected by heated water are shellfish breeding grounds or nurseries where ocean fish spend much of their growing phase. There is the possibility that the heated water could be put to profitable use in warming up marine areas now too cold to support large fish populations.

But too much heat can be fatal to aquatic life. The scientists heard of one river in the northeastern United States where temperature rises of up to 50 degrees F have been recorded as a result of the discharges from various industries, and this has led to summer temperatures of 140 degrees F—a level nearly 50 degrees above the lethal threshold of most aquatic organisms. A further drawback of thermal addition is that it can cause fog by increasing the normal rate of water evaporation.

The scientists recommended that further workshops on the subject be held because of the great need for scientific data on the effects of thermal addition which they described as "a world problem." (UNESCO FEATURES)

Gregory Club to hold two events this month

The Gregory Club of New Jersey will hold a cocktail party and dance from 7 to 11 p.m. Sunday at the Crystal Lake Casino, West Orange, with Patricia A. Garrity of Montclair as chairman.

Plans also are being made for an end-of-the-year "Discotheque" to be held at 9 p.m. May 30 at the Commonwealth Club in Upper Montclair. Betty Dougherty of Kearny is chairman.

If I had to be a Russian housewife, I'd cut my throat. I wouldn't blame them.

Gov. Hughes proclaims 'Apprenticeship Week'

Governor Richard J. Hughes has proclaimed the week of June 2-6 as Apprenticeship and Training Week in New Jersey.

The week will coincide with the 25th annual Eastern Seaboard Apprenticeship Conference to be held in Burlington, Vt., when representatives of industry, labor, education, and government will meet to find ways to meet the current challenges to apprenticeship and training.

"The apprenticeship system is an effective means for training inexperienced youth for the higher skills demanded now by industry and for training and retraining the Nation's craftsmen which are essential to our national security and our continued economic growth," the Governor said.

Dumont will speak on 'Boypower' at a Scouting dinner

State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr. will be the keynote speaker at a special dinner to be given by the Watchung Area Boy Scout Council on Tuesday evening at the Suburban Hotel, Summit.

Harry A. Taylor will serve as chairman of the "cultivation dinner." Community leaders, executives and management personnel from Summit, Westfield, Berkeley Heights, Scotch Plains, New Providence and Mountainside will be invited as guests of the Watchung Area Council executive board.

Some of Sen. Dumont's remarks will focus on "Boypower '76," the eight-year plan of the Boy Scouts of America. The dinner program for more than 100 persons has been designed to present both national and local programs to achieve a membership of 6,500,000 boys by 1976, including the camping program for non scouts from inner city areas.

Taylor explained that success in reaching the executive board's objectives would depend on the "understanding, acceptance, and support of local persons who are influential in our communities but who did not know about our plans and efforts because they were not currently or directly related to scouting."

TAPE RECORD-BREAKER—Bob Stadeck, a senior from Mountainside, has been named most valuable member of the Tufts College outdoor track team. He was honored at the recent all-sports banquet at the college in Medford, Mass.

Cub Scouts' Pack takes fourth place in annual Olympics

Cub Scouts in Pack 70, sponsored by the Mountainside PTA captured 13 ribbon-winning places in the annual Cub Scout Olympics May 10 in Westfield. Pack 70 was awarded the fourth-place ribbon in the competition, which included 21 packs from the central New Jersey area.

The quarter-mile relay team handily won its heat and overall was awarded a second-place ribbon on the basis of its time—which was only seven-tenths of a second slower than the Cub Scout Olympics record. Carrying the baton were Frank Lamberta, Randy Wissel, Jerry Dwyer, Bob Ventura, Richard Yerrick and Mark Kelly.

The obstacle relay team won its heat and a third-place ribbon on a total-time basis. Carrying the Mountainside colors were Billy Solsky, Charles Dooley, Pat Phillips, and Mike Simmons.

Jerry Dwyer won second place in the standing broad jump and Bob Ventura and Frank Lamberta won fourth-place ribbons in the baseball throw and in the 600-yard run, respectively. The Mountainside team was coached by David R. Dilley, assisted by John Witmer.

William Seeds named assistant to firm's chief

Dr. Stephen F. Malaker, president of Malaker Corp. of High Bridge, this week announced that William C. Seeds of Mountainside has joined that organization as assistant to the president.

Seeds was formerly with Johns-Manville, where he had extensive experience in production management. He started his career with Johns-Manville in 1947 as a corporate industrial engineer.

FRIDAY DEADLINE

All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

Mountainside health officer warns of backyard dangers

Charles Dotto, health officer of Mountainside, this week stated that about 12,000 children every year ingest potentially poisonous plants. A recent study of 100 child poisonings showed that nearly 10 percent or nine of the youngsters had eaten toxic plants. Interestingly enough, in many of these cases, the children's parents had no idea that the plants were dangerous.

It's easy to be deceived by plants, for one part may be edible while another is poisonous. For example, twigs of cherry trees release cyanide when eaten. Peach tree leaves contain hydrocyanic acid, one of the most dangerous poisons known. Five children became ill recently after drinking "tea" brewed with hot water and peach leaves.

Even two of the most popular vegetables, the potato and tomato, come from plants related to the deadly nightshade. Although fresh tomato fruits and potato tubers are harmless, the foliage and vines of both tomato and potato plants contain alkaloid poisons that can cause severe digestive upset and nervous disorder.

Most dangerous of all plants in the vegetable garden is rhubarb. Its stalk, commonly used in baking and cooking, of course is not toxic, but the leaf blade contains oxalic acid which crystallizes in the kidneys, causing severe damage.

The greatest threat to children are plants with small, attractive poisonous berries. In Ohio, one summer, a little girl prepared a luncheon in the back yard. On a miniature plate she put an apple, a radish, and some berries she had picked from a shrub growing in her mother's rock garden. Four hours later she lapsed into a coma and within seven hours after the luncheon she was dead. An autopsy showed that the berries she had eaten were from the "Daphne Mezereum" plant. It is cultivated in back yards and also grows wild in thickets throughout the country.

The average person can never know which plants are poisonous. Authorities are constantly adding new toxic plants to the list. It was not discovered until 1961 that the seeds of wisteria, a very common vine, are poisonous. Several children in New Jersey and the South became acutely ill after eating as few as two seeds.

The only safeguard, Dotto concluded, is to keep all plants away from very small children who may nibble on them, and to teach children never to eat or put in their mouths any plant or berry not commonly used as food. Adults, of course, shouldn't make "Medicinal" concoctions from plants or chew on plant stems. If someone does ingest a dangerous plant, call a physician immediately for his advice. It's not always advisable to induce vomiting, for some plants contain corrosive juices that could severely damage tissue of the digestive tract during vomiting.

Four Pingry students named to honor roll

Four students from Mountainside have been named to the honor roll at Pingry School, Hillside, for the fourth marking period.

They are: V. Clark Johnson of 32 Bayberry lane, sixth form first honors; Daniel Jost of 2659 Far View dr., fifth form first honors; Charles Chavkin of 1492 Deer Path, fifth form second honors, and Michael Metz of 1309 Summit lane, fourth form first honors.

Meyers will speak at temple program

Mehemia Meyers, director of public relations for the Weizman Institute of Science in Rehovot, Israel, will be the guest speaker at Temple Shalom, Springfield, at Sabbath evening services tomorrow at 8:30. As at all Jewish services the general public is welcome to attend, the temple announced.

Meyers was born in Los Angeles, and settled in Israel in 1950. In America he had been a leader in Hahonim, the Labor Zionist youth movement, and when he first went to Israel he helped found a new kibbutz settled by American and Canadian Jews in the northern Negev named Urim.

Meyers, his wife Adira, who was born and raised in Melbourne, Australia, and their three Israeli-born children live in Rehovot. Meyers has a weekly column which appears in the Philadelphia Jewish Exponent, the Los Angeles Jewish Heritage and the London Jewish World.

A veteran of Tzahal, the Israeli defense forces, Meyers is visiting the United States on Weizman Institute business connected with the selection two weeks ago of Dr. Albert Sabin of oral polio vaccine fame as the new president of the Institute.

Meyers will speak on the subject of "Children under Siege," the impact upon children of the 21-year-long crisis which the state of Israel has endured.

Adam Ott buried; 18-year resident

Funeral services were held Monday for Adam Ott of 1262 Knollwood rd., Mountainside, who died last week at Overlook Hospital, Summit. Mr. Ott, 70, was the husband of the late Mrs. Katherine Ott.

Born in East Rutherford, Mr. Ott lived in North Arlington and Saugerties, N.Y., before moving to Mountainside 18 years ago. He retired in 1964 after working for many years as a maintenance man at Otis Elevator Co., Harrison. He was a member of the Community Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are two sons, Alfred, with whom he lived, and Arthur of East Rutherford, and four grandchildren.

Bike safety reminder issued for parents and youngsters

Mountainside Police Sgt. Joseph A. Mazur has just issued a list of bicycle safety tips for the guidance of both parents and children. He declared:

AAUW to mark 10th anniversary

The 10th anniversary celebration of the Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women will take place Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Scotch Hills Country Club, Mrs. Kenneth Moffat and Mrs. Richard Wenzler are in charge of the arrangements. New officers will be installed by Mrs. John Miller.

The names of girls receiving this year's scholarship awards will be announced by Mrs. Levin Hanigan, scholarship chairman. The historian's report, presented by Mrs. Leon Greenberg and the anniversary committee, will depict events from the group's inception to the present time.

The state AAUW workshop is scheduled for May 24 at the Princeton Day School with a reception and coffee hour beginning at 9:30. The sessions will end at 3:30.

DeLaurentis a leading salesman for Travelers

Peter R. DeLaurentis of 377 Upland rd., Mountainside, will be cited by the Travelers Insurance Company this spring as one of its leading life insurance producers.

DeLaurentis represents the Travelers through the 42nd st., New York City, office. He will be admitted to membership in the Travelers Inner Circle Club, as one of the company's honorary organizations, at the annual leadership conference in June at the Broadmoor, Colorado Springs, Colo.

sport to beat. With your bicycle you can travel anywhere. A bicycle is used for going back and forth to school, visiting friends, doing errands or just for a ride.

"The bicyclist has to use the same road or street as does the motorist and motor vehicle use has increased, which increases the hazard of accidents. It is very important that boys and girls obey all safety rules.

"Bicycling can be very dangerous if you do not know or comply with all the bicycle safety rules. Accidents do happen, and most of them are due to just plain carelessness.

"The chief riding mistakes are: ignoring traffic signals and signs, riding double, weaving in and out of traffic, riding too abreast, failing to signal for turns and just taking foolish chances."

"Many parents make the mistake of buying a bike too big for the child. If a bike is too big for the child, he will have difficulty in handling it and developing good riding skills. Before a child is allowed to ride his bike, the parent should make sure that the saddle seat and handle bars are properly adjusted and tight, and that he can reach the pedals without shifting from side to side on the seat.

"Children who are learning to ride should be under the parent's supervision at all times. A beginner should learn to ride in a safe and secluded place, not in the street, until he can prove that he has the ability and skill in handling a bike. He should also have the understanding and knowledge of the safety rules.

"You can have a lot of fun on a bike...if you take care of it and take care to ride safely."

Honor for Heisele

Frank J. Heisele of 227 Summit rd., Mountainside, has been accepted into Newark College of Engineering's student chapter of Tau Beta Pi, the national engineering honor society. He was one of 45 superior students at NCE admitted to the chapter.

Bank plans opening fete

A grand opening celebration has been planned for the new Westfield office of Suburban Trust Company on Saturday at 580 Springfield Ave., according to an announcement by Paul C. Bosland, president.

The festivities will begin at 9 a.m. with the official ribbon cutting ceremony and distribution of original 1964 all silver Kennedy half dollars to the first 50 visitors.

Highlighting the event will be a giant penny party open to all children accompanied by an adult. The bank plans to give away 50,000 pennies by 4 p.m.

Children get to keep all the pennies they can stuff into a coin bank in one minute; they keep the coin bank too as a souvenir. "We hope this will be the start of many junior savings accounts in the area. It's our donation to starting children on the road to thrift," Bosland said.

Everyone who opens a checking or savings account with $50 or more will be given a choice of a folding travel bag, a Beacon blanket, an electric casserole, a fire extinguisher, or an electric hostess tray.

'Back to Black' Y fashion show

"Back to Black" is an Afro-fashion show designed by OMGAs teen-agers from the Oranges as an attempt to communicate to urban and suburban audiences the new pride these young people have developed in their blackness and black heritage. About 50 outfits are modeled in the show, most of these made by the teen-agers themselves to depict the new Afro-American influence developing in the Black Community.

The show will begin at 8:15 p.m., next Friday, May 23, in the Westfield YMCA, Rooms C and D. Sponsored by the Black Culture Club of the YMCA. For information and tickets, readers may call Bruce Cook at the Westfield YMCA, 233-2700.

Deborah to hear talk by decorator

The Linden-Roselle Evening Chapter of Deborah will hold a general meeting Monday at 8:30 p.m., at the Grace Wilday School in Roselle. Morris Rubell and his assistant, Tony Santos of Rubell Interiors, Springfield, will speak on interior decorating. Mrs. Charles Levine and her committee are formulating plans for a fashion show titled "Super Girl After Dark" at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn.

Prenatal care being stressed during 'Healthy Baby Week'

Healthy Baby Week is being observed this week through Saturday. During this week the National Foundation—March of Dimes will pursue its prenatal care programs with the assistance of various Junior Women's Clubs in the county who will deliver literature citing the importance of early medical care, show films, address club groups, conduct a radio panel show and set up exhibits -- all geared at caring for unborn babies.

The National Foundation is concerned with the high infant mortality rate in the United States and feels that good maternal health, before and after pregnancy, will promote healthier babies.

In addition to being aided by the Junior Women's Clubs, several diaper services will distribute March of Dimes prenatal and baby care literature in their deliveries this week.

In its efforts to prevent birth defects or to provide comprehensive treatment for those who are already victims of these conditions, the March of Dimes finances public and professional education programs with research, and supports more than 105 birth defects treatment centers, one located at Babies Hospital, Newark.

Vaccines to prevent German measles and R H incompatibility are expected to be licensed soon, thereby preventing numerous defective babies.

Anyone desiring more information concerning prenatal material may contact the Union County chapter office.

VOYAGE TO JERSEY

The first voyage of a European to what is now New Jersey was made by the Florentine navigator, Giovanni da Verrazano in 1524. Then came Hendrik Hudson in 1609 to make the official discovery of New Jersey.

Camp shop now open on Rt. 22

Morsan, Inc., a pioneer in camping equipment since 1910, has opened its newest store at 2485 Route 22 in Union. The new 100,000 square foot camping and sports center is the third Morsan store in the New York area. Other locations are in Paramus and in Farmingdale, L.I.

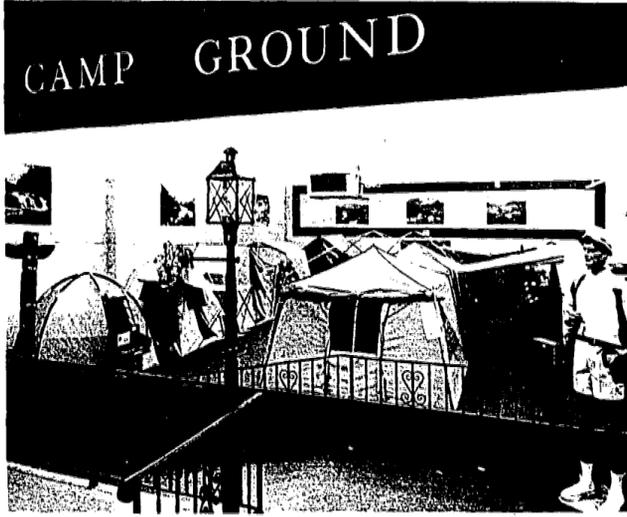

The Morsan chain has been growing along with the increasing urge of Americans to move outdoors during the warm weather months. "In Union, Morsan will be displaying more camping equipment under one roof than the area has ever seen," a spokesman said. Almost 100 tents, tarps and trailers will be permanently displayed indoors. The display is part of simulated campgrounds which will show a great variety of camping equipment in a natural setting.

According to Morton Jarashow, president of Morsan, campers in this area will no longer have to buy tents and other equipment from photograph or descriptions on a box. "Our huge displays enable a prospective buyer to see a tremendous assortment of tents already erected. He can see the precise size and all the details which will enable him to make a sound decision as to what is best for his family."

Although the Union store is very much like the other two Morsan outlets, it has a greater variety and depth of sporting goods. There is a well stocked gun shop for hunters and separate sections for fishermen and golfers, Jarashow said. In the bowling pro shop, balls are drilled to the exact size that a customer may request. He will also find a wide variety of bowling shoes. Tennis buffs will be able to choose from a big selection of rackets with custom stringing available. Names such as Wilson, Spalding and Garcia are featured in the sporting goods departments.

Shoes for every type of outdoor sport are available in the Morsan Bootery. They include hiking and trail boots as well as special shoes for track, basketball, football, baseball and golf.

Jarashow is particularly proud of the Morsan slogan which says "Morsan Services What Morsan Sells". A canvas shop exists on the premises to make any repairs or adjustments even a year after the original purchase.

NEWEST CAMP GROUND IN TOWN -- at the new Morsan store, Route 22, Union.

NEW CENTER FEATURES -- apparel by Robert Bruce, MacGregor and Catalina-Martin.

The new store is located on Rt. 22 on the site formerly occupied by Rickels, It is 2-1/2 miles west of the Garden State Parkway. Store hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday and from 9:30 to 6 on Sunday.

Annual car wash at Mother Seton

Mother Seton Regional High School will hold its annual car wash on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The school is located at Valley Road and Parkway Exit 135 in Clark.

The donation of $1 will benefit the scholarship fund and foreign child program. In the event of rain the car wash will be held June 7.

Recruiting hours hiked by Marines

The Marine Corps Recruiting Office at the Five Points in Union has announced an increase in office hours. According to Sgt. Kenneth A. Kastner, the local Marine recruiter, the office will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Previously the office was open only two half days a week.

Sgt. Kastner also said that the Marine Corps is now accepting enlistments of qualified men for periods of two and three years, with up to 120 days delay in assignment to active duty.

The Marine Recruiting booth has occupied a corner of the Galloping Hill Inn parking lot since 1966 when the space was donated by the owner of the inn.

ARMY RR BUILDERS

In 1827 Army officers were lent to the founders of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to initiate its construction. This was to become the first link in the Nation's great rail communications chain.

SHOES FOR EVERY outdoor need are available at Morsan.

That's all, folks.

One thing you don't get when you buy a new Volkswagen: Confused.

Because "all you get" to choose from are six different Volkswagens. Instead of 30 or 40 look-alike models some other car makers make.

So it's a lot easier to pick out a VW. And a lot more comforting. You don't have to worry about your VW going out of style next year. Or turning out to be last year's dud cleverly disguised as this year's stud.

Those six VWs are the very same ones we've been making (and improving) for years.

Starting with our little car. The VW Beetle. And our sports car. The VW Karmann Ghia. And our luxury car. The VW fastback. And our big car. The VW Squareback.

And our great big car. The VW Station Wagon.

And our chuck wagon. The VW Campmobile.

And that's all, folks.

The Trimline® phone is the first phone ever to be selected for the design exhibition in New York's Museum of Modern Art.

Besides being beautiful, the Trimline phone introduces a new, better way to phone. When you pick up the handset, the lighted dial or optional Touch-Tone® pushbuttons, which let you "dial" twice as fast, come to you. A new recall button, which lets you make a second call without first hanging up, also comes to you.

In short, everything you need to make a call, you hold in the palm of your hand. Because it isn't necessary to see the base to call, the Trimline phone can go almost anywhere in your house. For instance, under a counter or on the side of a kitchen cabinet.

The Trimline phone is not expensive -- only pennies a day. And there's no extra charge for color. If you want Touch-Tone service, the additional Touch-Tone charge covers all the phones on your line.

To order Trimline phones in either wall or table models, just call your Telephone Business Office. Don't call the Museum of Modern Art. New Jersey Bell

FAMILY POT LUCK

Cooking out for the first time? Line the bottom of your outdoor grill with aluminum foil. This eliminates messy cleanups, since the used briquets and ashes can be scooped up in the foil lining and disposed of. Make a mound of charcoal briquets slightly to the rear of center of the grill pan, so that meat juices and fats will not drip into the coals, causing smoke and putting out the fire. Douse the mound with liquid charcoal starter, and carefully light with match. Wait about 40 minutes, until coals are white hot, then rake coals flat. This will provide an even bed of coals for uniform cooking.
For a zesty barbecue sauce, combine 1 bottle A. 1 Sauce (small size), 2 cups water, 1/2 tsp. pepper, 2 tps. salt, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1 cup vinegar, 2/3 cup lemon juice, 4 tsp. butter. Mix all ingredients together, and simmer for approximately 10 minutes.
Ideal as a basting sauce on beef, pork, or chicken.
Salad Platter
1 head iceberg lettuce, finely chopped
2 (3-3/4 oz.) cans Norway sardines
6 hard cooked eggs, quartered
6 medium size fresh tomatoes, quartered
2 large cucumbers, sliced
25 (2 cans) whole cold, cooked rosebud beets
1 bowl mayonnaise
Decorate with ripe olives and sprigs of parsley
On a large platter arrange a bed of chopped lettuce. Place mayonnaise bowl in center and, on each end of platter, place one open can of Norway sardines. Makes a symmetrical pattern around platter of the rosebud, cooked beets, quartered tomatoes, sliced cucumber rings.

College chorus will present 'Elijah' oratorio this Sunday

Mendelssohn's 'Elijah' will be sung at the Newark State College Theater for the Performing Arts Sunday at 3 p.m. by the college's Festival Chorus.

The Festival Chorus is comprised of students, faculty members and other singers from communities throughout the North Jersey area who perform one or two major choral works every year.

Soloists for the 'Elijah' performance are Margaret Kall of the Metropolitan Opera, soprano; Annajean Brown of the Newark State College music faculty, contralto; Willard Pierce, soloist at Central Presbyterian Church in New York City, tenor; and Fred Jones, oratorio and concert singer, baritone.

and The Boston Symphony at Tanglewood, and has toured as a soloist with The Robert Shaw Chorale.

She was a soloist under the baton of Thomas Dunn for the 1963 Mid-Summer Festival at Lincoln Center and appeared that December with the Concert Artists' Guild Award Concert at Town Hall.

MISS BROWN WAS a member of the original Broadway cast of Menotti's 'The Medium' and has appeared with the Chautauqua Opera Company, Chautauqua, New York.

Pierce has appeared in Broadway musicals, on TV, on Radio City Music Hall and Town Hall stages, and has been soloist with leading orchestras throughout the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

In the past, Jones, a native of Morton, Miss., has appeared on Broadway and the TV screen, Soloist with symphony orchestras throughout the country, he has had wide experience in oratorios. He is associated with the Metropolitan Opera studio and received much acclaim from New York music critics for his Town Hall recital. He has recently returned from a six months' singing tour of Europe.

Miss Rosalind Doble of Maplewood and Adele Lewis of the Newark State music faculty are accompanists for the performance.

Negro honored by SBA in state

For the first time in history, a black businessman has been selected as 'Small Businessman of the Year' for the State of New Jersey.

The recipient of the honor was Donald M. Thomas of Orange, who owns and operates a Chrysler-Plymouth agency in Newark.

The annual award is made by the Small Business Administration which selects one businessman in each state who best exemplifies the imagination, independence, initiative and integrity of America's five million small businessmen who make such a vital contribution to our national economy.

There are in the United States today some 17,500 authorized dealers representing the major auto companies. Of the total authorized dealers in this country only seven are black.

CARE and a job well done: Fresh water for the villages

The people of a thousand villages in Asia, Africa and Latin America can now take a drink of water without risking a variety of diseases or parasites.

They are free at last from dependence on contaminated wells and polluted streams. Fresh water gushes up from new wells sunk deep into the earth with CARE equipment, and pours down from clear mountain springs through CARE pipelines.

Funds contributed by Americans and Canadians to the CARE Self-Help program supplied the pumps and the pipes. But the wells were dug and the pipes reared by the voluntary labor of the villagers, who jumped at the chance to help themselves when it was offered to them.

The wells usually are installed near the village school, since water is needed to prepare the high protein foods CARE serves every day to 20 million school children. Water converts powdered milk to fluid and goes into the cooking of dishes made with wheat, corn meal and flour and often with vegetables grown by the children with CARE seeds.

Sometimes the need for water is an immediate matter of life and death. That's how it was in 1964 in the state of Bihar, India.

after a two-year drought. So in addition to its famine emergency program that served daily meals to six million mothers and children, CARE developed a project to provide water for 705 villages.

PEACE CORPS Volunteers were rushed from other parts of India to Bihar, where thousands of wells had dried up. Each volunteer trained and supervised teams of village workers, who used hand-boring equipment to drill holes as deep as 120 feet. They worked every day in 110-130 degree heat. After they reached water, the teams removed the CARE drilling equipment and installed the CARE pumps.

The simple well with a hand pump and the natural spring gravity flow system are the most common water projects fostered by CARE in 117 countries. Others vary according to need and local conditions. Large irrigation projects require gasoline- or operated power pumps. In other areas, the windmill pump proves effective.

These water supply projects are integrated with many other kinds of CARE programs: vocational training, education, health, nutrition and food production. The aim is to meet a whole range of needs, in a vast program of economic development to support communities in their striving for self-sufficiency.

Water projects, like all CARE Self-Help undertakings, are cooperative efforts, bringing together the private donor, local government agencies and the needy people they are intended to aid. CARE donors provide food, tools and equipment; the host governments, technical assistance; and the villagers their will to progress and the sweat of their brows.

Past Presidents Night

The National Association of Accountants 'Newark Chapter' will meet at the Holiday Inn Motel, East Orange, tonight at 6:30. The meeting has been designated as Past Presidents Night.

Passenger per plane increase in 20 years

In 1948, the average number of passengers on a single commercial airplane at any of New York's three airports was 18. Today, 51 passengers are the average.

In 1948, the largest plane in commercial use, the DC-6, could carry 86 passengers. Today's DC-8-61 jet can carry up to 261 passengers.

People vs. prosperity

A runaway birth rate can have a "crippling effect" on a nation's economic growth. That warning comes from Robert S. McNamara, former U. S. Defense Secretary, McNamara, now head of the World Bank, the United Nations' monetary agency, puts it this way:

Imagine two developing countries with similar living standards, each with a birth rate of 40 per thousand. (This is the actual rate in India and Mexico.) Then estimate what would happen if, over a 25-year period, one of those countries halved its rate to 20 per thousand. This is still well above that in most industrialized countries. Nevertheless,

CLOTHES CARE COMMENTS

by SAM MANN
(Diamond Cleaners)

Care of White Garments
Too bad the White Knight can't charge up to all your non-washable white garments, work his magic, and make them bright and new-looking again. Prom dresses, wedding gowns, formals—major clothing investments that can't be tossed into the washer. What can you do about spots, and how can you prevent such lovely delicate fabrics from turning yellow?

Be wary of home methods for removing stains from these modern fabrics. Some stain removers that do not damage fibers may change the appearance of the treated area so that it looks as bad as or worse than the original stain. If you cannot take the soiled garment to a dry cleaner immediately, experiment on a seam or hem with a mild detergent first.

Your best insurance against yellowing is to have your lovely white garments cared for frequently by a professional cleaner, such as DIAMOND CLEANERS. He is the White Knight with the skill and the special equipment to keep your special white garments beautiful.

30 new policemen in training academy at Union College

A new crop of students will enter Union College, Cranford, on Monday as most of this year's classes get ready to close their books for the year.

Some 30 new police officers from Union County Police Departments and law enforcement agencies will begin a nine-week Union County Police Training Academy program.

Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president of Union College, and Chief Matthew T. Haney, dean of the academy, will be on hand to greet the new recruits at Opening Day ceremonies.

The academy curriculum, which covers all phases of police work, was developed by a committee consisting of Chief Carl H. Ehms of New Providence; Chief Michael D. Roy of Elizabeth; Chief James F. Moran of Westfield; Chief Fred Falzone of Garwood; Mayor Edward K. Gill of Cranford; Dr. Iversen; Prof. Farris S. Swackhamer, chemistry professor at Union College, and Roy Smith, vice president-college relations.

Directing the program under Chief Haney will be Chief George C. Campbell, Jr., of Plainfield, administrative assistant and deputy director; Capt. A. Frank Burr of Cranford, dean of discipline; Lieut. Vincent L. Brinkerhoff of Cranford, assistant to Capt. Burr; Lieut. Henry Polidoro, director of firearms; Sgt. Harry W. Wilde, class proctor, and Lieut. Louis L. Guertin, supply officer.

Academy chaplains are the Rev. Joseph V. Derbyshire, assistant pastor of St. Michael's Church, Cranford, and the Rev. Robert G. Longaker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Cranford.

The academy is sponsored by the Union County Police Chiefs Association.

FRIDAY DEADLINE

All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

Watchung Troops list plans for 36th spring horse show

The 36th annual Watchung Troops spring horse show will be held at the Union County Park Commission's Watchung Stable, Glen-side avenue, Summit, tomorrow, beginning at 5 p.m., Saturday and Sunday. The first event will be called at 9 a.m. Saturday, and noon Sunday.

The show is open to all boys and girls who are members of the Watchung Troops and will include 51 events for novice, intermediate and advanced troopers. There will also be events for private horses.

The Black Knight Memorial Trophy will again be in competition and will be awarded to the winning senior troop team. This perpetual trophy has been made available by the patrons and troopers of the Watchung Stable who had ridden Black Knight during the 23 years in which he served as a troop horse.

Police to study public speaking

A course in public speaking will be conducted for Union County police officers from May 19 to May 23 at Union College, Cranford, it was announced by Cranford Police Chief Matthew T. Haney, dean of the Union County Police Training Academy.

The five-day course will be taught by Special Agent Kenneth Hackman of the F.B.I. and is sponsored by the Union County Police Chiefs Association as part of a program of continuing education for police officers.

"The increasing role played by police officers in educational programs for the public makes it desirable for officers to have some training in public speaking," Chief Haney said.

The course will be limited to 30 officers from Union County Police Departments.

The Snips-Willy Memorial Trophy will be in competition for the twelfth time in memory of two horses which accumulated over 40 years of service to troopers at Watchung. The trophy will be awarded to the winning pair of junior troopers.

The 1957 B.B. Miller Remembrance Trophy will again be in competition. This trophy is in memory of the children who assisted in bringing out 65 horses during the fire at the Watchung Stable on April 15, 1957.

The Donald W. Mitchell Memorial Trophy will again be in competition. Only those troopers who had won a first or second place will be able to compete for this award.

A special class in showmanship for Class "AA" and Class "A" troopers, sponsored by Colonel Cecil M. Boycott, will also be presented.

The public is invited to attend the spring horse show. Admission is free.

Civil Service jobs listed in Bulletin

The May 1969 Open Competitive Examination Bulletin contains 11 examination announcements for positions in Union County and 29 examination announcements for the various municipalities in Union County under Civil Service.

Those interested in receiving the May Examination Bulletin should contact the main office, Department of Civil Service, State House, Trenton, 08625, or the branch office at 1100 Raymond Blvd., Newark.

New Jersey State Employment Offices have the examination bulletin and applications available. The last date for filing of applications for examinations is May 29.

Movie on 'Telstar' at Trailside center Sunday afternoon

"Telstar," a color, sound movie will be shown at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, on Sunday at 2 p.m.

The film depicts the on-the-scene story of the development and launching of "Telstar" and the successful transmission of signals by the experimental satellite.

Also on Sunday, at 3 p.m. and again at 4 p.m., Donald W. Mayer, director of Trailside, will present Planetarium programs entitled "Our Moon and Others." The same program will be presented in the Planetarium on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

"Our Moon and Others" will also be presented in the Planetarium at the one-half hour nature talks for children to be conducted at 4 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, May 29.

Those wishing to view a planetarium program must receive a ticket from the Trailside office on the day of the performance as the

YM-YWHA camp chairman announces staff appointments

Staff appointments were announced this week by Jack Snyder, chairman of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA camp committee, for Camp Y-110-CA which starts its season June 30.

Director for a third year will be Mrs. Jay Goldberg; head counselor, Mrs. William Marlin; unit heads, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Goldfischer and Mrs. Aaron Stier; swimming director, Miss Roberta Jacobson; arts and crafts director, Mrs. Nicky Glassman and nurse, Mrs.

Kathleen Schroeder. Y-110-CA, a camp designed for boys and girls who will be entering kindergarten through sixth grade, "has maintained a fine reputation in state camping circles," according to Mitchell Jaffe, executive director of the 'Y'.

The camp program operates from Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and offers a broad selection of activities. Daily swimming instruction, arts and crafts, nature study, cook-outs and a weekly Oneg Shabat program are augmented by day trips and highlighted with overnight camping trips for the older boys and girls. Bus transportation is provided in most areas at central pick-up stops to accommodate the various neighborhoods.

Youngsters who will be five years of age by Dec. 31, 1969, are eligible for Y-110-CA.

Club plans three hikes for weekend

Three treks have been planned for members and guests of the Union County Hiking Club this weekend.

On Saturday, Stanley Ehrlich of Manhattan will lead a 13-mile hike from Dunderberg to Bear Mountain in New York State. Those interested may contact the recreation department of the Union County Park Commission for the meeting point for this hike.

Also on Saturday, Jeannette Simpson of Roselle Park will lead a six-mile afternoon ramble in the Watchung Reservation. The group will meet at the parking area above Lake Surprise at 1:30 p.m.

On Sunday, Nathan Levin of Rahway will lead a trail clearing expedition. Each hiking club is assigned a section of the Appalachian Trail to keep clear of debris. The area assigned to the Union County group is a 13-mile section of the trail in the area of Greenwood Lake at the New York-New Jersey border. The group will meet at the administration building of the Union County Park Commission, Warnanco Park, Elizabeth, at 8:30 a.m.

Further information concerning the above hikes is available from the recreation department of the Union County Park Commission.

Home pool safety leads to pleasure

More than half a million U.S. families, who count a swimming pool as part of home, were given tips by the American Red Cross this week on how to make the private pool a place of pleasure and not a place of discomfort or even tragedy.

"This is the time when you will want to clean the winter debris out of your pool, have your purification system put in working order, and make sure there are safety items at the poolside," said John T. Goetz, Eastern Director of Red Cross safety programs.

He said that 575,700 in-ground home pools were in use in the 1967-68 fiscal year which is an increase of 20,500 over the previous year. These precautions, he suggested, will help keep the home pool a safe and enjoyable place for the family and friends:

1. Consult your local health department about pool sanitation. Know how to test for
2. Be sure the pool deck is as slipproof as possible. Rough cement or small tiles make a safer surface.
3. Clearly mark the shallow and deep parts of pool with buoy lines.
4. Allow no one to swim alone.
5. Provide supervision for youngsters at all times.
6. Fence the pool and include a gate which can be locked when the pool is not in use.
7. Make provisions for shade so that pool users can get respite from the sun.
8. Install a home pool safety post with a ring buoy, reaching pole, and a list of emergency phone numbers. Your Red Cross chapter can provide a poster which gives the specifications for setting up the post.
9. Keep a first aid kit on hand.

'Y' chorus to present 3d concert

The 'Y' Adult Chorus will present its third concert program Sunday, May 25, at 2:30 p.m. at the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA, Green Lane, Union.

The chorus, conducted by Benjamin Plotkin, will offer numbers from popular Broadway musicals, Israeli songs and Hebrew folk songs.

Miss Eve Zweben, piano accompanist for the chorus, will play two solo numbers, Bach's Fugue No. 10, and Humoresque by Tchaikovsky.

Members of the chorus include Barbara Cohen, Esther Gominger, Mike Hecht, Mac Jacobson, Syd Kadison, Helen Kling, Gert Koblenz, Frieda Kopelson, Jack Kopelson, Len Krinzman, William Laurence, Ann Levine, Bette Litzak, Rosalie Marcus, Sarah Olin, Jan Rosenfeld, Paula Sacormy, Lois Segall, Jerry Steinberg and Edythe Zweben.

Edward Rosenfeld, president of the YM-YWHA, has issued an invitation to the community to attend the program which will be opened by the chorus with "Shalom," from "Milk and Honey" by Herman, followed by three Hebrew folk songs by Browda, "Song of Work," "Watchman's Song" and "Come and Dance."

A quartet, comprising Rosalie Marcus, soprano; Lola Segall, alto; Jerry Steinberg, tenor, and William Laurence, bass, will present Kern-Stickler's "Yesterdays."

Prior to an intermission, Jerry Steinberg will be heard in Raskin's "Those Were The Days," and the chorus will sing Shemer's "Jerusalem, Jerusalem."

Miss Eve Zweben's two solo numbers will open the second part of the program, "We Are The Chorus," a humorous selection by Wilkinson, will follow as another chorus number.

Gertrude Koblenz, a soprano, will be heard in Rodgers' "If I Loved You" from "Carousel," Mari-Merman's "Guantanamera," song for the lowly, will be offered by Lola Segall, alto, and William Laurence, bass.

Esther Gominger, a soprano, will be heard in Berlin's "Where Can I Go?," followed by selections from "Fiddler on the Roof," with Donald Whitken as narrator.

As a finale, the chorus will sing, Chajes' "Song of Galilee."

Wandering narcotics

Beatsniks and other aimless wanderers account for the largest group of narcotics carriers arrested in Europe by the International Criminal Police Organization.

In a report to the United Nations Commission on Narcotic Drugs, Interpol gave this breakdown covering a recent 10-month period: of 986 persons arrested, 442 were tourists on journeys "which did not appear to have any purpose."

Of the 442, representing 42 nationalities, 226 were without professions "and many were of the beatsnik type." Fourteen percent identified themselves as students.

Interpol conceded that the "tourists" did not belong to drug-traffic gangs but were carrying narcotics for their own use. Nevertheless, it warned that in the over-all European picture, "this personal type of trafficking is far from negligible."

New turfgrass developed at Rutgers

Seed of new breed found in Central Park

GREENER GRASS GROWS IN GOTHAM -- The makings for Manhattan ryegrass, a new variety of grass developed at Rutgers University, were found right in Manhattan, where some residents can go all day without seeing a blade of grass.

The average New Yorker can go all day without seeing a blade of grass, and even Rutgers turfgrass researcher C. Reed Funk didn't fully appreciate the green bonanza at his doorstep until years after he left the city.

There it was, right under his nose -- all the makings for Manhattan ryegrass.

When Dr. Funk, associate research professor at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, lived a short walk away from New York's Central Park, little did he realize that one day a stroll through the Sheep Meadow would lead to an important new development in his field.

Funk's field is that of breeding turfgrasses. They're the kind of grasses that people use for sports activities, lawns, etc. Perhaps the best known is Kentucky bluegrass, and that's Funk's main research interest. But he also dabbles in ryegrass.

"I just happened to see these patches of ryegrass in the Sheep Meadow," Dr. Funk said. "So I took some small samples." Dr. Funk has a habit of grass collecting. That's part of his job.

In 1962, after he got his Ph.D. in field corn breeding at Rutgers, he was offered and accepted the country's first fulltime university position in turfgrass breeding.

He spent his first few years on the job writing for grass samples from all over the world and keeping his eyes open for unusual grasses. He also talked to other people in the business.

"I heard rumors that New York City had some of the nation's oldest turf areas in its park system, so I decided to check the story out," explained Dr. Funk.

"I called up the head horticulturist of the city park system, and he took me to the various parks. Wherever I saw good green patches of turfgrass, I'd take a dime-sized sample," he said.

Dr. Funk found several ryegrass patches in Central Park that were greener than their neighbors, so he took several samples.

"My co-worker, Dr. Rippl Engle, and I picked out 16 plants to be parents of the new variety. Nine came directly from Central Park, and the other seven had at least one parent from there," he said.

The result of the research was Manhattan ryegrass, an attractive, bright and rich green, it's lower-growing, leafier, more attractive and more persistent than related ryegrasses. "Thousands of pounds of the seed have already been sold throughout the nation," Dr. Funk said, adding that the Rudy Patrick Division of the W. R. Grace Company is handling the seed.

The new ryegrass is a specialty grass from New Jersey, best suited for sandy coastal areas, school playgrounds, and along roadsides. It is a perennial grass, quick and easy to establish, and grows on many types of soil. Like other ryegrass varieties, Manhattan performs best in a cool, moist, marine-type climate or during the cool moist periods of spring and fall.

"People are becoming more aware of their environment and interested in improving and beautifying it," Dr. Funk said. "And they're enjoying the outdoors and the many activities connected with turf."

"That's why we're always developing new varieties," he added. "Even with the temptation of television, people are using turf more now than ever before."

120 to enroll in program

Jersey City State College will accept 120 Opportunity Scholarship Program students in its fall freshman class, Dr. James Mullen, president, announced this week.

The students, all classified as economically disadvantaged, will attend a six week orientation program starting June 30 at JSCC to prepare them for the college careers.

Last summer, 20 students were enrolled under the "second chance" program. Fifty more students were admitted in September and another 50 in February. Each carries a minimum of 12 credits per semester, plus companion courses where necessary. No credit is received for the companion subjects, which are supplemental to aid a student.

According to Dr. Mullen, 400 applicants already have been received for the Opportunity Scholarship Program and some 200 more are expected before the deadline on May 9.

Seismologists predict California earthquake

Is California about to sink into the sea? Perhaps not quite, but a seismic holocaust is a distinct possibility within the next 30 years.

That's the sober judgement of earthquake experts, as reported by the United Nations Development Program. UNDP which finances the International Institute of Seismology and Earthquake Engineering further states:

"Between now and the year 2000 -- at any time -- the earth's molten core could give a gigantic shove to send cities tumbling for history's first million-victim earthquake."

California is particularly susceptible. Eight percent of all earthquakes occur around the Pacific rim, the UN agency notes. And quake-producing forces "are many times greater in California" than elsewhere in the United States, it adds. Even outside the California high-danger zone, destructive quakes have jarred states from Washington to South Carolina. Between

Church Chuckles by CARTWRIGHT

"I wonder if there is any way we can flunk, so we'll have to repeat the Primary Department?"

'Fads, Fashions' is theme of show by Evening Group

"Fads and Fashions" is the theme of this year's fashion show to be sponsored by the Ladies' Evening Group of the Springfield Presbyterian Church next Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Presbyterian Parish House, 37 Church Mall. This will be the 18th consecutive fashion show which the Evening Group has sponsored as a means of raising funds to carry out its benevolence work for the church. The current chairman of the Evening Group, Mrs. Bruno G. Becker, will welcome guests at the beginning of the program.

The specially decorated auditorium of the Parish House will be the scene of the show to be presented by Brooks of Summit with Mrs. Dora Spelcher as commentator. A gift certificate will be awarded by Brooks in connection with the "mystery model" to be chosen from among the following who are serving as models: adults - Janice Bongiovanni, June DePino, Barbara Morrison, Virginia Moore, Doris Ries and Marsha Wright; sub-teen - Melissa Purkhiser; juniors - Nancy Garafola, Susan Peters, Robin Ries and Yolanda Rueda and younger set - Barbara Bongiovanni and Patricia Garafola.

Mrs. Gerald Garafola is chairman of the show with Mrs. George Casera as co-chairman. Other committee chairmen include: flowers, Mrs. Carlyle Richards; hospitality, Mrs. George Klein; posters, Mrs. Charles Roth; program and publicity, Mrs. Thomas Geddes; stage decorations, Mrs. Raymond Pierson; tickets, Mrs. John Struthers and wardrobe, Mrs. Rawlins Purkhiser and Irma Scherer.

Following the fashion show, refreshments will be served in the dining room of the Parish House and all fashions may be viewed and purchased. Tickets are available from members of the Ladies' Evening Group or the Presbyterian Church Office.

Goldberg to speak at chapter meeting

Joel H. Goldberg, director of the B'nai B'rith Vocational Service of Northern New Jersey, will address the Springfield Women's Chapter of B'nai B'rith on Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. at Temple Sharey Shalom.

Goldberg holds a master of arts degree and has completed all the work for a doctoral degree in counseling psychology. He is a member of the New Jersey Personnel and Guidance Association. He also functions as a consultant to the New Jersey Anti-Defamation League. Young people are referred to him by the local B'nai B'rith chapters and lodges for vocational counseling. Mrs. Sidney Piller is president of the Springfield Chapter.

Garden Club plans white elephant sale

In addition to the annual meeting and picnic of the Mountinside-Garden Club, a "white elephant" sale will be held on Tuesday at 11 a.m. at the countryside home of Mrs. Paul L. Haines in Stockton. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Paul L. Gerhart of Bernardsville and Mrs. William McCollum Jr. of Green Glen, Flemington, both formerly of Westfield.

Members met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ferd A. Lalle, chairman of veterans, military and hospital service, to make 75 bedside and 12 foyer bouquets for patients of the Walston Army Hospital at Ft. Dix.

The nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. W. Carl Winning, chairman; Mrs. Joseph A. McGroarty and Mrs. Ferd A. Lalle, has announced the following slate: second vice-president, Mrs. William H. Bonnet; recording secretary, Mrs. Roy T. Forsberg, and member-at-large, Mrs. Bruce Henry.

Faculty to give play next week

Committees at the Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights are preparing for "Kyle Crichton's" "The Happiest Millionaire," to be presented by the faculty May 23 and 24.

Cliff Robinson is directing, Mrs. Ruth Perry is producer, and Mrs. Barbara Oberding, stage manager. Mrs. Sue Lincoln has just been appointed assistant stage manager. Mrs. Marie Kavanagh's group is gathering props of World War I vintage. William Anderson, Mrs. Nancy Wilder, Dan Gomula and their committee are working on stage settings, and Mrs. Mary Ann Muzychko is assembling costumes of the same era. Mrs. Carol Forsman is handling make-up and many other faculty members are helping to put the show together.

A new feature this year is a faculty art show, and sale in the lobby during both performances. Both the play and the art show will benefit the B. Benjamin Merrill Scholarship Fund. Anyone wishing information about tickets can call Vicki Sibilla, committee chairman.
