393 graduate from Regional; 282 to college

Graduation exercises for the 393 members of the class of 1969 at Gov. Livingston Regional High School were held Wednesday evening at Frey Memorial Field in Berkeley Heights, according to Frederick Aho, principal.

The commencement messages were given by two members of the Class of 1969, Glen Sullivan and David Mukai. These speakers were chosen by the members of the class in a competition open to all seniors.

Michael Rugen, class president, led the flag salute and presented the class memorial gift to the school.

Regional, local education boards meet, review redistricting, expansion plan

Several local school boards in the Union County Regional High School District have urged the Regional Board of Education to come up with a building program that would allow all students from one town to attend the same high school.

Representatives of the local boards met last Thursday evening in Springfield with the Regional board to discuss the recommendations made by Dr. Henry Rissetto in his proposed school expansion program.

Opposing any plan that would split students between two high schools was Dr. Levin B. Hangan, superintendent of schools in Mountainside. Mountainside ninth graders now attend Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield, with the rest going to Gov. Livingston Regional in Berkeley Heights.

Also opposing any split was Manuel S. Dios, a member of the regional board from Clark. Under Dr. Rissetto's plan, Clark students would be divided between Arthur L. Johnson Regional in Clark, and David Barclay Regional in Kenilworth. Several other local school board members also voiced their opposition.

IN RESPONSE to Dr. Fred B. Hagedorn of Berkeley Heights, regional board member and chairman of the meeting, the local boards, except for Berkeley Heights, generally agreed that Dr. Rissetto's projected enrollment figures were accurate.

Quentin Groves of the Berkeley Heights board said its figures show enrollment reaching a peak in 1974, with a projected enrollment of 1,385, as against Dr. Rissetto's projection of 1,478 for the same year.

Dr. Hagedorn said a supplementary study of enrollment projections for Berkeley Heights was being made by Dr. Rissetto and the results are expected this week.

The Regional board said the disparity does not change the fact that an expansion program is needed to relieve overcrowding in the district over the next five years.

New group to mobilize on Tuesday

Police report capture of 2 burglars in the act

BY JACK PFANNE

The two stunning issues which have hit the borough this year -- the proposed cloverleaf interchange and overpass at New Providence road and Rt. 22 and the wave of break and entries which have hit the community -- shared the spotlight again Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of Borough Council in Beechwood School. There were these results:

--Mountainside residents have been called to a mass organizational meeting next Tuesday night at 8 in Beechwood School for a borough-wide committee to oppose the interchange construction which would gobble up an estimated $1 1/2 million in ratables.

--Mayor Frederick Wilhelm Jr. disclosed spectacular daytime apprehension just five hours earlier by local police of two Newark men in the act of burglarizing a home on Coles avenue.

The meeting next Tuesday will be conducted by members of the five-man group appointed by Mayor Wilhelm which recently went to Trenton to learn first-hand what the state had in mind for the New Providence road crossing of Rt. 22.

In calling the meeting, which is hoped to draw a crowd similar to the 200 who packed the Beechwood School auditorium at the May meeting of the council when the news was just breaking, Mayor Wilhelm requested "all citizens who are concerned with this problem and all other improvements planned for Rt. 22, including the elimination of Chapel Island and the widening of the highway," to attend.

He said the movement to resist the massive cloverleaf would require a myriad of talents from "legal to engineering to safety to just plain interested citizens."

The committee, the mayor said, "will be separate and apart from any official function of the borough" and will take on the form of "a united front of citizens 'unalterably opposed' to the construction of the cloverleaf interchange."

THE MAYOR SHOWED a map of the intersection and environs which, he said, showed in a shaded area what portions of the borough

'Discover' reading program for kids here this summer

The Mountainside Public Library has announced plans for a vacation reading program for children who have completed first grade.

Registration will begin tomorrow. Upon registration, children will be given reading record folders in which to note books read. There are no required books to read and no book reports to write. The only requirement is that boys and girls "choose books they enjoy reading." Graded book lists will be available if desired. The librarians are prepared to suggest books on any subject.

"Help Our Apple Tree Grow" is the theme of this summer's program. An apple tree without leaves or apples will be seen on the bulletin board at the beginning of the summer. The staff hopes the tree will be laden with leaves and apples at the end of the summer. Each leaf bearing a child's name added to the tree indicates that he has read 10 books. His name on an apple indicates that he has read 20 books.

Mrs. Helen M. Kelly, children's librarian, emphasized that the program "is not a contest. Our goal is having a summer reading program to encourage children to discover the fun of reading," she said.

Deerfield students tell favorite tales

Recently the 13th annual speech contest was held at Deerfield Middle School, Mountainside. The theme was "Stories That Never Grow Old." Ten contestants, representatives of the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades, told stories of their own choice. Dinah Klingenberg placed first for her story "Clever Gretel." Second place was awarded to Kathy King for her story, "Pandora's Box." Ellen Hart and Barbara Middlekauff tied for third place reciting "The Emperor's New Clothes" and "Dick Whittington and His Cat."

Also participating in the contest were the following students: Anne Talcott, "De Wuller De Wurst"; Russell Harding, "Tale Heart"; Cathy Lombard, "Laughing Place"; Margo Krasnoff, "Pied Piper"; Helen Saloom, "Thidwick, the Big Hearted Moose"; and Cory Kreuger, "Hardscrabble Country Rock Quarryman." Scott Kuffer acted as announcer for the contest.

Blood bank scheduled by Red Cross chapter

Borough residents this week were requested to make a date with the Westfield Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross for a blood donation on July 2 at Our Lady of Lodes Church, 300 Central ave., Mountainside. The clinic will operate from 1-6:30 p.m. and appointments can be made by calling 232-7090.

A spokesman for the chapter has asked area residents to "get involved in humanity and give blood; for every pint given is a gift for all members of the community."

Outlook for Regional baseball -better things to come in '70

BY BILL LOVETT
When the 1969 Highlander baseball season started, it seemed doubtful that this year's team would be able to better last year's mark of 4-15. But thanks to the coaching ability of Frank Petrulla and the sudden emergence of a group of talented sophomores, Regional finished the year at 8-13. They did it with a stunning late season surge that may indicate even better things to come next year.

With only Al Kline, John Adriance and Greg Speck graduating, and all can be adequately replaced, next season promises to be even better. And it will have something that past Highlander ones, including this year's, has lacked -- experience. Seven of the nine starters will be back next year, as will two-thirds of the mound staff.

This year's team got off to a slow start, suffering a six-game losing streak at the beginning of the season, but from then on Regional played .500 ball. The reason for this remarkable recovery was that the team played up to its potential with the players having gained the experience of playing varsity ball.

Sophomores were a major part of the Regional success. Four broke into the starting lineup, including sophomores Rich Weiss at short, Sam Manganello at second and Chuck Rundlet at third. Dick Trakimas played in left field about half the season before a hitting slump forced him from the starting lineup. Jim Murphy was used sparingly, but played well when he did.

All will be back next year, along with more sophomore talent from the Junior varsity. This year's juniors include starting pitchers Doug Rau and Tom McCann and outfielders John Piccirillo and John Schenk.

The JV team, which was composed almost entirely of sophs, compiled a fine 13-7 mark, and that was without the five varsity starters. Prime candidates for next year include shortstop Bob Honeker, who led the team in batting and stole 28 bases, and Bill Trakimas, who is expected to take over the catching duties.

With all this talent coming up, as well as all but three from varsity, Petrulla's second season promises to be even better -- may be the best in Gov. Livingston history.

Council meets

would be consumed by the cloverleaf and overpass. The mayor emphasized, however, that the map was drawn strictly from memory and was not official.

The map showed the actual overpass being built over Rt. 22 some distance west of the present crossroads in order that the intersection be kept open.

In explaining the map to the audience of about 20 persons, the mayor said that the cloverleaf "will wipe out" every home in the Dunn parkway section and some along Fernwood road. Homes will be demolished on the south side of Apple Tree lane and also a home on the north side of Apple Tree lane just where it empties into New Providence road.

Homes west of the library would be condemned on the east side of New Providence road. The First Aid Squad building would be razed but Echobrook School would be spared, as would the library.

Dr. Jack Howard, a member of the mayor's committee and one of those whose homes may be affected, said Tuesday night that "this goes further than the confiscation of houses." He warned that the four-lane overpass would make a great connector cut-off from Rt. 22 to the new Rt. 78 in the mountains. He also said that the town, now bisected by Rt. 22, would be quartered, and while the borough would be losing ratables it would simultaneously have to boost the size of the police force to handle the added traffic.

Al Earle of Woodacres drive, another member of the mayor's committee, raised the specter of overpasses over New Providence road in five years so children can get back to school. The overpass, according to Mayor Wilhelms, is designed for a lifetime of 20 years.

IN THE POLICE ACTION Tuesday afternoon, Lt. Joseph Mazur reported that two men, both from Newark, were apprehended "just before 3 p.m. in a home on Coles avenue.

The family was on vacation, Lt. Mazur said, but had a burglar alarm set and hooked up to police headquarters. When the alarm sounded, three cars were dispatched to the scene. One covered the front of the home; the other the side. Police then entered the home through the back door, the point of entry for the burglars. The men, aged 26 and 30, gave up without a struggle, Lt. Mazur said.

This makes five the number of persons arrested since Mountainside police stepped up their fight against the wave of break and entries. In April, three alleged drug addicts, one woman and two men, were arrested in Bayonne in possession of merchandise reported stolen from borough homes.

The break and entries reached their peak in February, March and April, when more than 10 were reported each month. Four were reported in May, it was disclosed by Police Commissioner Robert Ruggiero Tuesday night. Lt. Mazur said there have been only two, including the one Tuesday, since the last meeting of council a month ago.

will be served after 6 p.m.

That Saturday the pool, which will be open for all members, will also be utilized by the divers for practice. Between 6:30 and 8 p.m., a buffet supper for all the competitors, chaperones, and the local diving and swimming teams will be held, followed by a swim party from 8 to 10 p.m.

Sunday morning will find the divers at work practicing for Monday's meet. The pool will still be open to members at the usual time.

The day of the meet, Monday, June 30, practice sessions will run from 8 to 10 a.m. with the competition starting at 10. There will be a luncheon for invited guests at 12:30. Among those invited are Mayor Frederick Wilhelms, Gov. Richard J. Hughes, the Canadian consul general and Peter Roberts of station WOR. The diving meet will conclude that afternoon.

Lennox wins letter

Art Lennox, a resident of Mountainside, was one of 21 varsity members awarded letters when the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute lacrosse team held its annual awards banquet recently at Troy, N.Y.

Linda Ross gets bachelor's degree

LYNCHBURG, Va. - Linda Ellen Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Ross of 7 Bayberry lane, Mountainside, received her bachelor's degree at the 66th commencement exercise at Lynchburg College Sunday. Delivering the commencement address to more than 300 graduate and undergraduates was Frank Reynolds, ABC's anchorman for the "ABC Evening News."

Her activities at the college included being elected alumnae secretary of Gamma Sigma Sigma, a service sorority, and being a member of Student National Education Association.

Correction

The Mountainside Teachers Association negotiates only for the 75 teachers in borough schools. Its membership does not include the superintendent of schools, the three principals, one assistant principal, 11 secretaries and 11 custodians in the school system reported in the Echo last week. However, the non-MTA staff contracts are essentially the same as the MTA contract which was approved last week.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Who has wisdom enough to evaluate the oft-heard statement that the world is falling apart at the seams?
Down through the ages, earth's face has changed. Rivers have turned to ice; mountains have fallen into the sea. Yet there has never been a time when the world was without hope.
Hope does spring eternal in the human heart. There is always hope -- because there is faith. There will always be hope -- so long as good men adapt their lives to the principles of Christianity; so long as man recognizes that there is a God and God is...
The world is not falling apart at the seams. There may be war, racial strife, dissidence, but there has always been. The world survives and endures... because faith endures.

Rider hosts Boys' State

Rider College in Trenton next week will be playing host to 920 of New Jersey's top high school boys as the 24th annual New Jersey American Legion-sponsored Boys' State program gets under way.

The high school juniors, representing almost every public and parochial high school in the state, will be involved in seven days of specialized training in government and citizenship, culminating with the election of a boy governor.

The program has been held at Rutgers since its inception but was shifted this year because of housing and traffic problems on the New Brunswick campus, according to American Legion officials.

Harold A. Eaton of River-ton, director of the program, said Rider also offered larger gymnasium facilities and cafeteria-style meals. Rider is located on a 245-acre campus in suburban Lawrence Township north of Trenton.

Yanks, Cubs retain 1st place with victories in Little League

In the Mountainside Little League American League, the scores this week were as follows: Red Sox, 7 - Indians, 0; Orioles, 5 - Athletics, 2; Senators, 5 - Twins, 4; Tigers, 1 - Indians, 0; Yankees, 5 - Red Sox, 0. The Yankees held on to first place in the standings thanks to teamwork in the infield. All the boys played well and no one individual can be picked out as outstanding. There are three more games left in this league.

In the National League, scores were: Braves, 11 - Dodgers, 7; Giants, 19 - Pirates, 11; Cardinals, 8 - Cubs, 7; Pirates, 13 - Braves, 8; Dodgers, 10 - Cardinals, 7; Cubs, 10 - Giants, 3. Standings: Cubs, 10-2; Cardinals, 9-4; Braves, 6-7; Dodgers, 5-8; Giants, 4-8; Pirates, 3-10.

In the Major League, scores were: Mountaineers, 14 - Elks, 0; Pioneers, 8 - Elks, 2; Mountaineers, 16 - Blue Stars, 3; Mustangs, 20 - Blue Stars, 2. In the game between the Mountaineers and the Elks, Bob Magno of the Mountaineers pitched a one-hitter and Mark Hergott hit a home run. In the game between the Blue Stars and the Mountaineers, Hergott allowed only two hits by the Blue Stars. In last week's game between the Pioneers and the Mustangs, Michael Ainsbinder hit a home run for the Mustangs.

Senior League scores: Yankees, 14 - Twins, 7; Tigers, 5 - Orioles, 2.

Regional

Dr. Warren M. Davis, Regional superintendent of schools, noted that classes are being held in theatrical dressing rooms at the Gov. Livingston school, and that chemistry labs at the school can accommodate only 14 of the 19 chemistry classes that are scheduled daily. He also said that the language lab at the Berkeley Heights school was being used as a classroom.

"People just don't know how overcrowded the schools are," August Caprio, a member of the local board in Springfield, said. Avery W. Ward, Regional board president, said the board will continue to study the Risetto report and come up with a suitable building program. He emphasized that the board has not as yet accepted or rejected all or any portion of the recommendations.

"We have asked the residents of the district for their opinions and we have you here to seek your opinion," he told the local board members.

versities and colleges in all areas of the United States, with most of them accepted in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New England. However, states as far west as Colorado, Utah and Arizona appear on the list, with the record for distance going to the University of Grenoble in France. Forty students will stay in New Jersey.

Most of the Ivy League schools will have a representative including a girl in the first coed class at Princeton. Although some of the institution's names on the acceptance list are new or unfamiliar, most of the major state and private universities and colleges have accepted students from Gov. Livingston.

A number of students will pursue training in specialized fields, including for the girls, airline hostess, business education, art and fashion design and nursing. One boy has been accepted at the Air Force Academy in Colorado, with several others following careers in aeronautical engineering. One boy will attend the General Motor Institute while two more boys are enrolled in a school of cooking and baking to become chefs. Several people will attend the Union County Technical School.

Nineteen will register at junior colleges, 14 of them at Union College in Cranford. Eight boys have enlisted in the armed forces, four in the Air Force and four in the Navy. Sixteen students are prepared to go directly into the business world.

Lower the voting age in New Jersey? Its a labor of LUV

LUV is coming to New Jersey. But it isn't a sex rebellion of the youth. Rather, it's an organized political attempt to give 18-year-olds the vote.

LUV stands for "Let Us Vote." So far, about 250 young people in 17 of the state's 21 counties have mobilized to get a "yes" vote in a referendum this November which proposes to lower the voting age to 18.

One of the organizers of LUV, which has its strongest units in Union and Essex Counties, is Roger Jacobs of Union, LUV, said Jacobs, "is a fledgling organization, but its state executive committee has been working hard and groups are being rapidly organized" throughout the state.

Jacobs, who is state chairman, said the young-persons lobby has asked for endorsements from prominent politicians in New Jersey, including former Gov. Robert B. Meyner and his opponent in this fall's gubernatorial election, Rep. William Cahill. Jacobs, a Meyner supporter, said the candidate "wasn't putting enough emphasis on youth in his campaign, LUV, said the chairman, will not back candidates for election, but rather concentrate on the one issue of lowering the voting age.

The group is writing letters to state legislators who supported putting the referendum on the ballot, asking for endorsement during the campaign. These include all state senators from Union County and 1965 Republican gubernatorial candidate, State Senator Wayne Dumont.

One ambitious plan of the group is to ask the Ford Foundation to supply a grant to run the campaign, which Jacobs hopes will rival any campaign a political candidate has ever run in New Jersey.

The group hopes to gain most of its funds, however, through small contributions. If all the young people in the state contributed $1, he said, it would be more than enough to buy the advertising space, radio and television time, and print flyers necessary to win the referendum.

Jerry Effren and Jeff Hayes, both of Union, have researched the history of movements to lower the voting age throughout the United States. Their report said the "age barrier has been broken in many instances with no deleterious consequences. What is needed at this juncture is the recognition of yet another politically unacknowledged interest group."

Their report noted that every state but Mississippi "has devoted study to the issue of lowering of the voting age since 1968."

They quoted Dr. Edward A. Shoben, director of academic affairs for the American Council on Education: "One of the major problems for youth is that they are biologically men and women and they have the same information as men and women have, but they are excluded from making decisions and acting as adults."

The researchers reported that "America, although a nation obsessed with youth, with nearly half of its population under 26, does not let a citizen vote until he is 21. An 18-year-old can be drafted, can be held fully responsible before the law, and can even be given the death penalty in some states."

The county chairmen of LUV, said Jacobs, "are attempting to contact young people in every town in their county and set up a local LUV unit. Most of the members of LUV," he said, "are from 1968 Boys and Girls State, and represent the outstanding youth of our state."

LUV, he added, "seeks help from the adult citizenry and general public, and would certainly appreciate any contributions." Stationery has been donated, Jacobs said, by Newark printing house, but funds are needed for postage, supply and advertising.

Area young people helping to organize the program include: Peter Herzberg, Carol Steinberg, Scott Roth and Richard Frank, all of Union; and Linda Sekora, Stan Fubak and Shelton Stone, all of Linden.

Jacobs said persons wishing to contribute to "Let Us Vote" can contact him at the group's temporary headquarters, 895 Douglas ter., Union, or telephone him at 686-2278.

CHECKING THE FILES—Getting ready to wage a political campaign to get the vote for 18-year olds are Roger Jacobs, left, and Jerry Effren, both of Union. Jacobs is the organizer of LUV—"Let Us Vote," a newly-formed state group of your people pushing for a "yes" vote on November's voting age referendum. Effren and another member of "Let Us Vote" have written a research paper and history of lowering the voting age in the United States. The group is currently organizing and looking for funds to help them in the campaign.

Plan to save ocean resources is supported by Sen. Williams

WASHINGTON—U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr., (D-N.J.) joined Senate colleagues this week in introducing legislation to protect the nation's ocean resources.

The "Marine Resources Preservation Act of 1969" would direct the Secretary of the Interior to draft a proposal for setting aside portions of the seaward areas, Continental Shelf and tidelands as marine sanctuaries. Within these areas, commercial development would be limited and emphasis would be placed on recreation, wildlife conservation and scenic preservation.

"New Jersey's 127 miles of oceanfront are an invaluable resource," Senator Williams asserted. "They contribute most of the $2 billion annual income from tourism in the state."

"Therefore, we need to take every action at our disposal to guard against the steady deterioration of the beaches, tidelands and seaward areas. This bill would help us prepare for comprehensive ocean conservation."

A two-year study of vital marine areas is authorized by the bill; during that time, the federal government would work with states and municipalities to regulate industrial development.

However, the bill rules out any and all mining, drilling or other removal of minerals (including gas and oil) from areas designated as marine preserves by the Congress.

Senator Williams said that during the two-year study, the Interior Department and other federal, state, and local agencies may elect to establish a moratorium on industrial activity in selected marine areas.

"Our oceans, despite their great size and strength, are really quite delicate," Senator Williams noted. "If we continue to foul them with oil, industrial wastes, poison gas and other noxious matter, we may ruin them even before we realize what we have done."

Under the bill offered by Senator Williams, affected ocean areas would include bays and tidal areas within the three-mile territorial limit of the United States; the ocean reaches extending from the three-mile limit to the 200-meter depth (the "Continental Shelf"); and the waters of the Great Lakes.

Essex County was second in amount of money received through the contracts. Union County was eighth among the 21 counties represented on the awards list.

The report was made by Robert A. Roe, commissioner of the state Department of Conservation and Economic Development. Commissioner Roe also stated that an additional 149 contracts with identical dollar amounts went to 97 concerns.

An annual summary of the prime government contracts awarded to New Jersey firms during 1968, reveals that 2,981 contracts totaling $749,580,304 in the state, $110,258,857 went to Essex County firms and $44,964,179 went to Union County.

The report was made by Robert A. Roe, commissioner of the state Department of Conservation and Economic Development. Commissioner Roe also stated that an additional 149 contracts with identical dollar amounts went to 97 concerns.

Annual flowers blooming Bulbs make way at Sterling

STERLING FOREST, N.Y., —A major face lifting is going on at the 125-acre Sterling Forest Gardens where spring flowering bulbs are rapidly being replaced with annuals and perennials which are already in full bloom.

Sterling Forest Gardens are on Route 210, off Route 17, just north of Tuxedo, N.Y., and about an hour's drive from Manhattan.

A specialty of the gardens is the begonia collection—the largest in the East. Many of the varieties were bred at Schenectady by Prof. H. Gilbert Harlow of Union College. Similarity of climate in the two areas insures a better performing plant.

Among the semperflorens or wax begonias are seven different varieties. They are used extensively because the plants flower both in sun and shade. Some have green and others bronze foliage which provides sharp contrast for the red, pink and white flowers.

hybrid tea with large deep rose to light red blossoms. This is mating time for the peacocks that roam the grounds. It is the males that have the colorful, iridescent plumage and when their tails are fanned high in the air to impress a lady friend photographers find this sight irrefragable. Also in the exotic bird colony are flamingos, swans, geese, ducks and Asian demoiselles and African crown crested cranes.

Two fawns—less than a month old—have been added to the fallow and white-tailed deer which youngsters enjoy feeding. Nearby in the goat pen a blessed event is expected momentarily.

A must for youngsters of all ages is the free half-hour show in the Farmyard Theatre. Everyone knows when the show begins because Daisy Mae, a waltzing goat, rings a large plantation bell and then raises the Sterling Forest Gardens flag.

Flossie, a cunning chicken, takes on all comers at a game of "Old Maid" and always wins because she cheats. Part of her legerdemain is to open the lid of a top hat out of which jumps Flossie, a Belgian rabbit. His act includes firing a cannon, jumping through a hoop and playing the piano while Flossie dances the "Sterling Forest twist."

Another musician actor is Dafney the duck who beats up a storm on her snare drum. She also creates an instant tulip garden from a seemingly empty flower box.

Closing the show is P-Fiscilla the pig who pumps herself a bucket of water and after taking a refreshing shower she relaxes in an armchair.

On weekends there is also pond fishing for youngsters with rods. Bait is furnished free. Anything caught goes promptly back into the lake through.

Motor trains provide a perimeter lecture tour of the grounds.

In addition to picnic groves and the "peacock patio" in the gardens there are a restaurant, cafeteria and the Sterling Tavern in the International Pavilion opposite the main entrance. Gifts from all over the world may be purchased here and at the Floral Mart next to it bulbs from the Tulip Library may be ordered for fall shipment.

Travel directions may be obtained by writing Sterling Forest Gardens, Box 608, Tuxedo, N.Y., 10987, or by telephoning 914-351-2163. The Gardens are open daily from 10:00 a.m. to sundown until Oct. 26.

78 grads cited at dinner by interracial group

The Educational Division of the Interracial Council For Business Opportunity held a certificate awards dinner at the Sterling House in Montclair on Tuesday evening.

Seventy-eight certificates were awarded to students who have completed courses in bookkeeping and business management held at the Westchester Adult School and at Rutgers University, both in Newark.

The awards were presented by Robert B. Meyer, co-chairman of ICBO and candidate for governor of New Jersey.

The courses will be presented again in September at the same locations. Each course runs 10 weeks, one night a week for two hours. There is no charge.

Malcolm L. Corrin, executive director of the ICBO, this week urged minority group members who are currently in business or are planning to enter the field to take advantage of this opportunity to broaden their knowledge of what it takes to get along in the highly competitive business environment.

"Getting into business is half the battle; staying there is the other half. ICBO is interested in performing its most necessary function in helping minority group members to win both ends of the battle and education is the basic weapon", advised Corrin.

Those interested in business education may visit the ICBO educational director, Bernard H. Saperstein, at 24 Commerce St., Newark, in person or call 622-4771. Enrollment is on a first come-first served basis.

The Interracial Council For Business Opportunity is a voluntary organization formed to help minority group members to organize and operate their own businesses. Through the use of volunteers from the business community, applicants are given one-to-one counseling in the specific area of business in which they are engaged or may be considering. This service is provided as well as aid in obtaining financial assistance and the educational program.

Injured eagle: object lesson Bird has nest at Turtle Back

An imposing Golden Eagle has taken up residency at the Turtle Back Zoo in West Orange. Many animals are added to the zoo population each year, but this one is special. It is not intended that the new zoo boarder should delight zoo patrons, but instead it should arouse thoughts of concern, said a zoo official.

A one-time regal specimen of the incredible eagle family, the bird was crippled by gunshot and will never fly again. It was brought to Turtle Back for the express purpose of serving as an example, to the public, of the need for more stringent animal conservation practices and law enforcement.

Although there are laws to protect wildlife, indiscriminate and accidental killings continue at such an alarming rate, according to the Federal Department of the Interior, animals like the Golden Eagle are threatened with extinction.

"Of course, the illegal killing of animals is just one factor, albeit a major one, in the decline of certain species," said zoo curator Dean Lyzak. "Over the years we have acquired several birds and other creatures that have been injured accidentally by cars. There is also the effect of chemicals used in agricultural sprays that give us reason to be concerned for the continuance of certain species — particularly the eagle," he added.

Most people appreciate birds and animals. No only do they bring joy to children and companionship to adults as pets, but also there is much to be learned from the habits and history of wildlife. And, according to Lyzak, it is important we learn to preserve what we have as a heritage for coming generations. Lyzak said he hopes the public display of the crippled Golden Eagle will bring home a better understanding of the problems of saving such increasingly rare animals.

This particular bird was shot down more than a year ago in California. It was found almost dead and turned over to the zoo in Fresno which then exchanged it for a local animal from Turtle Back.

Eagles are considerably more rare in the eastern United States than in the West. According to the United State Fish and Wildlife Service survey in January of this year there were only three Golden Eagles located east of the Mississippi River, excluding the states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio; 107 Bald Eagles were spotted. According to Ned Boyajian of Fair Lawn, regional editor of "Audubon Field Notes," a national and Canadian magazine for bird lovers, during the fall of last year experienced observers spotted some 15 eagles migrating through New York and Northern New Jersey.

Of the known causes of the death of eagles, shooting rates highest. In a 1966 U. S. Bureau of Sport and Wildlife study of 73 bald eagles found dead, cause of death could be determined in 44 cases. Of those 44 eagles, 31 had been shot.

There are times when even the most avid bird lover can be irritated by the inconsiderate attitude of their winged friends. They might feast on newly planted seeds, or perhaps perch on the TV antenna causing interference during the last seconds of the Army-Navy game — but, that is hardly grounds for shooting.

Some people, upon discovering they have killed an eagle, claim that they thought they had shot a hawk. "This is no excuse at all," says Howard W. Brown, the agent in charge of U. S. Game Management in New Jersey. "Hawks and owls have been protected in New Jersey for several years, making it illegal to kill them."

Conservation laws, apparently, are not enough. The effort by Turtle Back Zoo to underline the problem by displaying the deformed Golden Eagle is not going to solve it, but it just might help, according to the Zoo's curator.

"It would be a shame if the big bird somebody shoots not too many years from now is the last eagle in the world," he said.

Dear Amy:
I have a rather close 'telephone' friend. I keep her as a 'telephone' friend now simply because every time I have been in her company, it has always cost me more than my share. Consequently, I have consistently refused her invitations to shop with her or for any social evenings... including the men.

It seems that the message hasn't gotten through to her because just the other day she called and invited my husband and me to take a drive to the shore with them, and if my husband didn't feel like driving, we would use one of their two cars.

I have always been under the impression that if you are invited to take a drive, the invitation would include the use of the other party's car and if you felt like filling up the tank with gas, you did it.

Dear Lorraine:
I agree with you.

Dear Amy:
I was going with Jack for four months and he acted like he cared when he took me out... which was very seldom. It seems Jack always preferred being with his boyfriends and riding in his huge car to me.

After we broke up, I tried to be friends so I called him about twice a week to discuss out problems. Now my problem is he'll be going away to college soon but I still want to be friends.

Please advise me what to do. I want to go out with him occasionally but I don't know how to get him to realize this.

A close friend of his
Dear friend:

You can only be a friend to a fellow if he wants your friendship. Up until now he has not demonstrated the same desire you have. Why don't you leave it lie for awhile. "Pushing" has netted you nothing anyway.

Dear Amy:
I am a teenager with a problem I think most girls my age come up against.

My mother insists that I wear my clothes just above my knee. All I ask for is three inches above my knee. Three inches is really only an average length, but my mother and I are always arguing. Can you suggest something?

"Unhappy"
Dear "Unhappy":
Compromise. How about an inch and a half?

PERSONAL TO Brenda:
You are not in love so don't wait around to find out anything. So long as you realize your mistake, you're not likely to compound it.

PERSONAL TO "Wants to become Cheerleaders":
Every school has their own standards. Check with the teacher in your school who is responsible for the selection and training of cheerleaders.

County signs pacts setting up a two-year college program

The Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education signed contracts Monday with Union College, Cranford, and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, to utilize both institutions to provide a comprehensive two-year college program for Union County.

The contracts were approved unanimously by the Coordinating Agency and signed by James S. Avery of Scotch Plains, chairman, and Mrs. Anna Grygolds of Linden, secretary.

Under the plan, Union College will provide university-parallel programs and Union County Technical Institute will provide technical and occupations-oriented programs. In addition, students in the college-level programs at the Technical Institute will earn college credits and Associate in Applied Science degrees through Union College.

"We are confident that this arrangement making use of existing facilities will provide the highest quality and least expensive program of two-year college education for the citizens of Union County," Avery said.

"It enables us to make use of Union College, which is recognized as one of the leading two-year colleges in the nation, and Union County Technical Institute, which is highly regarded for the quality of its technical programs."

Avery pointed out that the plan provides a high quality, low cost arrangement which includes a comprehensive educational program.

Union College, founded in 1933, offers majors in liberal arts, engineering, physical and life sciences, and business administration as well as an Educational Opportunity Fund Project for educationally and economically disadvantaged students and pre-engineering and pre-science programs in both Day and Evening Sessions.

An independent, non-denominational, co-educational institution, Union College is authorized by the State Board of Higher Education to award the Associate in Arts degree, and is accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The Union County Technical Institute offers college-level programs in electronics technology, mechanical technology, and chemical technology.

Avery said Union College is preparing new curricula in law enforcement and teacher education, while Union County Technical Institute plans new programs in civil, electrical, electro-mechanical and bio-chemistry technology, medical laboratory technician, and business. In addition, the technical institute, Union College and the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry are developing a joint program in dental hygiene.

"We believe this plan to utilize our two existing institutions, Union College and Union County Technical Institute, will effect substantial economies, avoid duplication of educational programs and promote efficiency," Avery said.

DONALD P. MARIONI of Wyckoff has been appointed division manager for New Jersey Bell's Raritan Division. He will be responsible for commercial operations in parts of Union, Middlesex and Somerset Counties.

Howard appoints former Lindenite its new president

A former government instructor at Union College, Cranford, has been named president of Howard University in Washington, D.C., the most prestigious Negro institution in the United States.

Dr. James E. Cheek is leaving his position as president of Shaw University in Raleigh, N.C., to accept the Howard University post. Dr. Cheek taught at Union College for three years while working for his doctorate at Drew University, Madison. He was a resident of Linden.

Dr. Cheek will succeed James M. Nabritt, Jr., who will retire in July from the predominantly Negro Howard University, which he has served as president since 1960.

The chairman of Howard University's board of trustees, Scovel Richardson, said, "The choice of Dr. Cheek was unanimous and the trustees are confident that we have chosen a man with wisdom, innovative ability and rapport with faculty and student intellect."

According to United Press International, Dr. Cheek is known as a progressive educator who favors sweeping education changes and emphasis on black studies.

At Shaw University, Dr. Cheek, who taught history and Western Civilization at Union College, established an ungraded four-year liberal arts college with built-in remedial features and a year-round program for those who need it. The plan, including the pre-baccalaureate program, was necessary to meet the needs of many underprivileged who want to attend college but who cannot make the grade, Dr. Cheek explained. He said the college has no grades, allowing students to progress at their own pace. He explained that they move ahead on the basis of national test results and many finish in from three to six years.

An ordained minister, Dr. Cheek is an alumnus of Shaw University, and he holds a bachelor of divinity degree from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, and a doctorate from Drew University.

'Wild Rivers' film at the Trailside

"Wild Rivers," a color, sound movie will be shown at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center in the Watchung Reservation at 2 p.m.

The award-winning film shows the spectacular drama of raging waters, as well as scenes of wildlife and natural beauty. Man's growing use of rivers for recreation is also shown and explained.

Also on Sunday, at 3 and 4 p.m., Donald W. Mayer, director of Trailside, will present a program entitled "Our Planet Earth" in the Trailside Planetarium. This presentation depicts the story of earth and its place in the universe. The same program will also be presented on Wednesday, June 25, at 8 p.m.

Thirty-minute nature talks for children will be conducted by Mayer at 4 p.m. Monday, June 23, June 24, June 25, and June 26. The topic selected for the four days is "Life in a Forest." The talks will be illustrated with color slides and admission is free.

The Trailside Nature and Science Center is open to the public each weekday, except Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m., and on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays from 1 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to visit the Nature Center, tour the live-animal area, view the thousands of indoor exhibits, and participate in the scheduled programs.

Psychiatric clinic added 309 cases in past four months

A total of 115 emotionally disturbed patients, the majority children, were discharged after treatment by the Union County Psychiatric Clinic during the past four months.

Benjamin H. Haddock, executive director, said 309 were new cases admitted to treatment by the Clinic's professional psychiatric staff, but 75 persons still await psychiatric care and treatment at the out-patient clinic.

Plainfield has the largest number of persons admitted during the four-month period, 29. Elizabeth has the highest number on the waiting list, 16 adults and three children.

The number of applicants admitted during the four-month period was 360. Still awaiting disposition were: Berkeley Heights, 4; Cranford, 3; Elizabeth, 3; Fanwood, 6; Garwood, 1; Hillside, 1; Linden, 3; Mountainside, 1; New Providence, 3; Plainfield, 29; Rahway, 1; Scotch Plains, 6; Springfield, 4; Summit, 14; Union, 12; Westfield, 6 and North Plainfield, 6. Waiting list totals by towns are: Cranford, 5; Elizabeth, 19; Hillside, 6; Kenilworth, 3; Linden, 10; Mountainside, 1; New Providence, 1; Plainfield, 5; Rahway, 6; Roselle, 4; Scotch Plains, 1; Springfield, 1; Summit, 3; Union, 4; Westfield, 3, and Winfield, 2.

Live below your means.

If you'd like to get around the high cost of living, we have a suggestion:
Cut down on the high cost of getting around. And buy a Volkswagen. It's only $17,999*
That's around $1200 less than the average amount paid for a new car today. (Leave it in the bank. More's coming.)
A VW saves you hundreds of dollars on upkeep over the years.
It takes pints, not quarts, of oil.
Not one iota of antifreeze.
And it gets about 27 miles to the gallon. The average car (thirsty devil that it is) only gets 14.
So the more you drive, the more you save.
And chances are, you'll drive it for years and years. (Since we never change the style, a VW never goes out of style.)
Of course, a VW's not much to look at. So a lot of people buy a big flashy car just to save face. Try putting that in the bank.

Anatole K. Colbert of Cranford, director of counseling of Union College, Cranford, is attending the seventeenth annual Bennett College Conference this week in New York City.

County MLS members sell 173 homes in May

The Union County Multiple Listing Service announced this week that 173 homes valued at approximately $1,000,000 were sold during the past four-week period by its members.

The home sales represented a five percent gain over a similar period during 1968. Charles V. Berry, president of Multiple Listing, described the sales record as "excellent and additional proof of the increasing public awareness that the fastest, easiest way to buy or sell a house is to deal with a member of our organization."

"Any member office," he continued, "can supply a prospective buyer with an up-to-date picture, description and location of every home available in Union County. As a result, the buyer can see the entire local real estate market instantly while visiting only one realtor."
Berry is owner of the Charles V. Berry Agency at 1865 Morris Ave., Union.

County MLS members sell 173 homes in May

Assisting in the direction of the Multiple Listing operation are the following officers: vice-president, Henry Kolar, Elizabeth; secretary, Wendell Hampton, Clark; and treasurer, Charles L. Searles, Rahway.

Red Cross seeks workers for service with armed forces

For young people with college backgrounds who like to work with people, the American Red Cross offers an unusual opportunity for a career job in its program of service at military installations. Mrs. J. Story Lee, executive director of the Westfield-Mountain Side Chapter, said this week.

"Red Cross services to the armed forces, of which services at military installations is a major part," Mrs. Lee said, "is the largest of all the Red Cross activities. Wherever U.S. servicemen are stationed, in this country and all over the world, you will find Red Cross professional staff within reach to provide welfare and other services to the troops."

"And whenever there are hundreds of men at an installation," Mrs. Lee continued, "you can be sure that there are many problems the Red Cross field directors and assistant field directors must face."

The duties of an assistant field director, Mrs. Lee explained, involve counseling servicemen and women with personal and family problems, many of which are created or accentuated by separation. Other duties include assistance with transportation arrangements in emergencies, aiding communications between servicemen and their families and working with local chapters of the Red Cross in providing similar services as needed for dependents at home. On installations they also arrange for health and recreation programs such as swimming and first aid and coordinate volunteer activities.

Applicants, Mrs. Lee advised, should be in good health and free to accept overseas assignments. Actual experience in group leadership and social work is an asset, as well as some military experience. A college degree is a requirement.

AFTER SUCCESSFUL experience in the states, assistant field directors are assigned to overseas installations.

"We are interested in finding individuals who enjoy working with people and who are resourceful in finding ways to help them," Mrs. Lee said. "These jobs," she continued, "are not only good jobs in themselves, with many benefits, but they are also relatively unlimited in the career opportunity they offer in all phases of Red Cross work."

Referring to some of the benefits, Mrs. Lee mentioned that those selected will participate in a retirement system, Social Security, group insurance and annual leave program. After a year of satisfactory service, employees may qualify for an educational incentive plan which provides financial assistance to the individual for further professional study and training as a means of advancement.

Indicating that she and other members of the Red Cross chapter staff would like to talk with qualified candidates at an early date, Mrs. Lee said that interested young people need only call the chapter for an appointment.

In its 20-year history, the group has raised almost a quarter of a million dollars for the hospital, involving hundreds of people on behalf of Overlook and is well established as community activity. Patrons will receive invitations as usual in October as the standard round of dinner and post-theater parties will again be scheduled. ## Rt. 22 the scene of two accidents in Mountainide

Route 22 West in Mountainide was the scene of two accidents last Sunday, according to police reports.

San M. Dees Jr., 25, of Piscataway ran off the highway at 1154 Rt. 22 West, damaging a utility pole and destroying his 1968 Chevrolet. The accident, which took place at about 7:30 a.m. was unexplained. Dees received cuts over his left eye and on his head and was taken to Overlook Hospital by the Rescue Squad. He was charged with careless driving.

At 6:55 p.m. Sunday, Ruth L. Capers, of 289 Indiana ave., Union, ran off the highway at Harnett Plumbing reportedly to avoid a collision with a trailer truck which moved into her lane.

The 1957 Pontiac, which was damaged slightly, left the road and ran into Echo Brook, causing minor injuries to Mrs. Capers and her two passengers, Mrs. Marje Godwin of 326 Oregon st., Vauxhall, and Connie Sanders of 278 Ohio st., Union. Mrs. Capers received a bump on the head, Mrs. Godwin sustained a bloody nose and a bump on the head, and Miss Sanders received a laceration on the knee.

Witnesses spotted the license number of the truck and give it to the Mountainide police and an investigation is under way.

Lions award gifts to camps and clinic

William Boyle, outgoing president of the Mountainide Lions Club, announced this week that the Mountainide Club made the following gifts at the Club's last meeting: Glaucoma Clinic, $50; Diamond Lodge, $50; Camp Happiness, $50; Camp Marcella, $50.

All of these are official Lions' charities which the club consistently supports. The club also has an ongoing project of providing eye examinations and glasses for any needy person in the community. Boyle also announced that any Mountainide resident interested in joining in the service activities of the Lions Club may call him at 232-7431 or Howard Rhodes at 233-3005.

Teacher finishes astronomy course

Mrs. Barbara Meyer, a teacher at Deerfield Middle School, Mountainide, was among 31 Union County teachers who received certificates for completing a 15-hour course in astronomy and space sciences at Union College's Sperry Observatory in Cranford.

The teachers were from public, private and parochial schools in Clark, Cranford, Elizabeth, Hillside, Kenilworth, Mountainide, Plainfield, Scotch Plains, Springfield, Union, Westfield and Winfield.

The six-week course was offered without charge as part of "Operational Astronomy: The Earth and Beyond," which is sponsored by the Cranford public school system under a federal grant from Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

License suspended

The driver's license of Holly A. Mazeika, 22, of 1427 Coles ave., Mountainide, was suspended for 30 days effective May 1 under the state's point system, according to the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles.

Bucknell gives BS to Arthur A. Kurz

LEWISBURG, Pa.—Arthur A. Kurz, a resident of Mountainide, N.J., was among 552 students to receive bachelor's degrees at Bucknell University's 119 annual commencement on June 8.

Kurz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph G. Kurz of 10 High Point dr., received the degree of bachelor of science in business administration.

A member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity and the Reserve Officer Training Corps, Kurz won three varsity soccer letters and one lacrosse letter. One of the best known soccer players in Bucknell history, he was named to the Middle Atlantic Conference all-star team for three consecutive years, and was named to the 1968 Tri-State all-star team.

Mrs. Sydnor gets degree with honors

Mrs. Harold R. Sydnor, the former Lenore Langhelz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry W. Langhelz of 324 Partridge Run, Mountainide, graduated with high honors at the University of Wisconsin on June 9 at Madison. Mrs. Sydnor majored in fine arts and received a bachelor of science degree in arts.

She was inducted into Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society and, has been elected to membership in Pi Lambda Theta, national honor organization for women in education. The induction will be in July. She was also honored at the School of Education convocation this past May.

Mrs. Sydnor will teach art in the Racine, Wis., schools and serve as art consultant for the Unified School District in Racine. Mrs. Sydnor is a graduate of the Mountainide public schools and Gov. Livingston Regional High School.

Dieting talk on Tuesday

Weight Watchers area director Cecile Fein will speak on "Latest Techniques to Lose Weight—and Keep It Off" to members of Springfield's weekly Tuesday evening Weight Watchers class at 7:30 this Tuesday in Temple Sharey Shalom.

Mrs. Fein has two degrees and the equivalent of a doctorate in nutrition.

Her authority, however, comes not from her academic distinction but from the fact that she herself lost more than 100 pounds in Weight Watchers. Losing her weight in a Weight Watchers class taught by founder Jean Nideck, Mrs. Fein introduced the program in New Jersey almost five years ago.

A FEMININE LOOK

(Commentary on a Study Mission from the Atlantic to the Pacific... but across the USSR)

by TRUDINA HOWARD

Fifth in a Series SOS IN THE USSR

The city of Tashkent in the USSR province of Uzbekistan is a hot place in the summer time. What it is like in the winter time hardly matters for it has the sneaky little habit of having over 200 earthquakes a year--which makes it a pretty "hot" place anytime.

The day our Study Mission Group arrived, there were no earthquakes but it was 105 and climbing so we needed some relief. It was therefore arranged by In-Tourist for us to have lunch on an island in a lake in the middle of the city.

The lake is an artificial lake made by some sultan in by-gone lavish days, and the island is an artificial island about the size of a large restaurant. In fact, that is what it is--a restaurant island. On it are some trees (similar to ours), bath houses, kitchen and chairs and tables.

Some chairs and tables are western style, i.e., tubular "steel" and plastic of the convention height and shape, except the Soviet versions are somewhat grubby. Some of the seating is eastern style and that is rather glamorous, but then it was made in pre-Soviet days and that accounts for it. It consists of booths on platforms about 15 inches off the ground thickly carpeted and rich with pillows. The tables in these pampered booths are low so you sit cross-legged at them--and feel frivolously eastern.

It is about five degrees cooler on the island, which isn't much when it gets to be about 125, but there is a breeze and you can go swimming from the island. To get to it you must go by foot over a little arched wooden foot bridge and only In-Tourist groups are permitted. It was on this island that I saw the only plaything in the entire USSR. Docked close by the bath houses was a paddle raft built for two.

NOW, BACK AT THE HOTEL before we left, our man who liked the girls, found two yummy SAS stewardesses stranded in Tashkent for a couple of days. They were melting too and he felt very, very sorry for them, so he invited them and their bikinis to join us.

Tashkent was the fourth city of our USSR sojourn and by the time we reached it, our four love affairs were in varying degrees of progress. One was even lost and gone which left another man in the pursuit of the luscious stewardesses.

With such competition threatening, or else

SKID-PROOF RUGS

You can skid-proof your rugs at home. A handy rubber spray-on material, or a brush-on liquid rubber are available for home use. They dry leaving a thin rubber film on the back of the rugs.

with pure bravado, our amorous young man who found the gale originally, lured them to the two-seater paddle raft. Placing them both on the raft AND himself in the middle, he paddled off into the lake with great show of power. Three on a raft--built-for-two needs power, eh?

But then fate stepped in and changed things a little.

A YOUNG MAN of about ten years was swimming with equal show of power in the water near the raft, and being of the tender age which is conducive to mischievous notions, he decided to rock the raft a little.

Now the paddles of this raft were made of steel and protruded sharply from the sides. As the raft began to sway ominously, our Hero noted how sharp the blades were and suddenly became alarmed. Sure enough, the following minute the raft had one push too much and capsized. As it flipped over, our Hero saw the paddles threatening the girls and with great bravery flung them wide of the down-chopping blades--but then had no time to get out of the way completely himself.

A blade caught him in the left shoulder, and he was stabbed with a six-inch long wound deep into the chest.

Bleeding profusely he was hauled out of the water and rushed over the foot bridge to the first-aid station where we gathered around him trying to help until the ambulance arrived. When it came, one of the women in our group, Becky--or Uz-Becky as she was beginning fondly to be called--went with him for company and because she was somewhat medically informed and might be of help. We couldn't all go, or we would have, but only one was allowed.

It's a good thing she was there, too, for he needed all the help he could get. There IN THE HOSPITAL they sewed him up with no anesthesia whatsoever! Not even so much as a "local."

Not even vodka? We wanted to know.

Nope.

Not even a stick to bite into?

Nope. Nothing.

For sure we were in the salt mines of Siberia with such facilities! They didn't even have a sling to put his arm into and one of our women's scarfs was recruited.

And, said Uz-Becky, the hospital was not very clean either. Luckily the injured man was young and healthy and brave and could take it! They sent him back to the hotel with Uz-Becky in a few hours, but he was a pale and wan young lover for several days after that, you can be sure.

Tashkent for certain was a hot place in more ways than one, and even if it didn't have an earthquake on the days we were there, we felt we had our private one anyway.

Next: The Route

THE EASTERN STYLE BOOTH on the little island in Tashkent. One sits cross-legged on the oriental rugs and leans against pillows which are usually piled high against the rails. The party on the right, however, has borrowed the pillows this day. After finishing lunch they are watching a game of chess.

TWO STUDY MISSION CASANOVAS and one of the curvaceous Scandinavian Airline stewardesses "stranded" on the island in Tashkent. The background, in case anyone is looking, consists of bath-houses made of curvaceous, but not very good looking, corrugated tin.

Jersey Shore Destined For Year 'Round Living

New Jersey's popular seashore areas in Ocean County are destined to become thriving year 'round economies, Herbert L. Shapiro, developer of Beach Haven West, a year 'round vacation home community near Barnegat Bay, believes.

"We have already seen fantastic growth to the north in Monmouth County," he said, "and Ocean County is clearly on its way. As jobs grow in this area, so will the demand for land and year 'round homes."

Shapiro said this coming growth adds an extra margin of inflation hedge for purchasers of year 'round homes in Ocean County. "People still buy shore homes for fun, but their decision to buy is often influenced by the expectations they have that homes in this area are particularly good investments."

Ocean County's future is insured by the growing trend away from cities in favor of a more even distribution of jobs and housing throughout the state, Shapiro believes. "New Jersey, like the nation, has been handicapped because we have all been packed tightly into cities -- 90 percent of all New Jersey's people live in cities, and now these cities are breaking down under the strain. Jobs and housing are being forced to spread out, and that will be good for all of us."

This growth is evident even to the casual visitor to the shore, he said. "Vacationers visiting the shore this year will see more year 'round facilities than they saw last year, and if they think back to what things looked like five years ago, they will know right away that the shore is no longer just for summers." Another reason is the growing trend among New Jerseyans towards retiring to the resort areas where they had previously vacationed.

Although some parts of the shore will grow into full time economies, Shapiro said, careful planning will maintain areas as primarily leisure-oriented communities. The big difference, he said, is that with increased leisure time, reduced commuting and year 'round living, residents will be able to get more use from their seaside homes. "A man who works nearby, and docks his boat in the backyard as many owners do, can soil every evening of the week if he wants, rather than just on weekends. Some of our people love their boats so much I'm sure they will do just that."

TURNABLE TREAT (good listening) Awhile back we mentioned an out of the ordinary sounding LP album on the Mercury label (SR-61213), titled ICE CREAM & SUCKERS--SOUTH AFRICAN SOUL. But due to a mechanical mix-up, pertinent data was omitted. Today we are repeating that particular column in its entirety.

The album features the talents of the Soweto Stockvel Septette, Mr. Dube, Jabulani Quads, Mr. Bull, S.D.V. Swing Band, Cabusius The Great and the T.V. Sisters. What kind of music is popular with the urban African? This LP of South African soul, gives the listener a good cross-section of current sound in Africa.

The roots of this music can go as far back as the traditional Bantu played in his homelands far away from the influence of city life. These basic melody lines, with their repetitive themes, have been retained in much current music, and will appeal to listeners interested in Afro-culture and the unique, pure, Afro sounds.

State provides $250,000 for kidney disease programs

Several members of the board of trustees of the Ruth Gottschow Kidney Foundation last week watched Governor Richard J. Hughes sign a bill here that will aid persons suffering from chronic kidney disease. The signing ceremony took place in the office of the governor.

Rabbi Max Gruenewald, Ira Gottschow, Mrs. Ira Gottschow, Judith Gottschow, Mrs. Lester H. Lieberman, Nicholas J. Malo, Mrs. Edward Sagerman, Max Schachter, Stephen Tiensch, and Dr. Joshua Weisbrod, members of the board of trustees of the Foundation, were present.

The Ruth Gottschow Kidney Foundation originally brought the problem of chronic kidney disease patients before Governor Richard J. Hughes last year. He, in turn, spoke about it in his 1969 health message. Senator Edwin B. Forsythe of Burlington County, president of the State Senate, sponsored the bill that sets aside $250,000 to help kidney patients.

After signing the bill, the Governor said he had not been aware of the great problem kidney patients have until he met the Gottschows who apprised him of the situation. He said he is proud New Jersey passed the milestone bill and has become one of the few states in the country to recognize this enormous problem. At the next governor's conference, he said, he planned to tell New Jersey has done to help kidney patients in the hopes that other states would follow suit.

The bill that the Governor signed gave special satisfaction to members of the Ruth Gottschow Kidney Foundation because of the meaning it has for the kidney disease patients in the state. The foundation was founded in 1960 as a memorial to Ruth Gottschow, daughter of Ira Gottschow, President of Adolph Gottschow, Inc., Union, who died of a kidney ailment, and the foundation has been giving artificial kidneys to needy patients who cannot afford to buy them. Since July, 1967, when the first machine was given for home use, the Foundation has given 17 machines throughout the state at a cost of over $70,000.

To raise the necessary funds the Foundation is holding a benefit at the Garden State Arts Center for the premier performance of Rowan and Martin on July 7. For those who wish to help in this worthwhile work by "Letting your laughter save a life," tickets may be obtained by phoning 762-7657.

LaMorte assumes Mallon dealership

New Jersey's oldest Pontiac dealership, Mallon Irvington, has a new owner and a new name. The agency, which was founded in 1913, will be called Ralph LaMorte Pontiac, bearing the name of its new president.

A grand opening party, marking the changeover, will be held all day, today, at the firm's showrooms, 1128 Springfield ave. Highlight of today's festivities will be the awarding of a vacation in Nassau for two and box seats for New York Yankees and Mets games. Refreshments and gifts will be available for everyone, LaMorte said.

LaMorte has been involved in automotive sales since 1955. In 1962, he became part owner and general manager of Westfield Ford. He relinquished his ownership to purchase Mallon Irvington.

The new owner is a native of Emerson. He attended Fairleigh Dickinson University and served four years in the Air Force. LaMorte and his wife, the former Diane Rockefeller of Englewood, have three children, Diane Michelle, 11; Lucille Kim, 8, and Ralph Jr., 6.

LaMorte said that nothing at his agency will be changed except the name. "We are vitally concerned with maintaining the Mallon traditions of honest integrity and lowest prices, of better values, better servicing and better customer relations."

"Just as important," he said, "are the great men and women who make up the Mallon team of veteran experts. All of them, including the finest sales and service personnel in the state, will continue to uphold the reputation we have earned after 56 years of faithfully serving New Jersey."

The life of log cabins, unabridged

Rutgers' book tells the physical, political story

HISTORICAL HOMES — Log cabins, according to a new Rutgers University Press book, have played a longer and more important role in history than is generally recognized. The top photo shows the court of an open air museum in Mora, Sweden, with log houses dating back to the 12th Century. The bottom photo shows a round-log cabin of white cedar built in 1720 by Peter Bard in Upper Mill, Burlington County, N.J.

There's the old story about the boy who was asked to review a book about penguins and who did a one-sentence report: "This book tells me more about penguins than I wanted to know."

The Rutgers University Press risked that kind of review when it decided to publish a book devoted entirely to the subject of log cabins, their history, construction and social role. But it gambled that readers will want to know the surprising story of how the log cabin became a symbol of pioneer America and a potent political force.

The author of "The Log Cabin in America," to be published this summer, is C.A. Weslager, a retired executive of E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, and a well-known architectural and archeologist.

Weslager's interest in log cabins dates from childhood, when his father showed him a two-story log dwelling near Pittsburgh that belonged to relatives. His father pointed out the unusual construction features, including the notching at the corners and the clay daubing between the logs. Ironically, this cabin was removed in 1951 to make way for a country club.

A business executive in his professional hours, Weslager has had a life-long interest in American history, particularly the colonial period. His research led to an increasing interest in the American log cabin and the role it played in colonial and pioneer life.

"In the years that have elapsed since America's pioneer days, the log cabin has become a sort of historical relic, an oddity like the flintlock rifle, the powder horn or the spinning wheel, generally regarded as quaint artifacts of the past," Weslager writes.

"The modern family is so far removed in its thoughts and surroundings from the homospun life of earlier generations of Americans that it is easy to overlook the reality and significance of the log cabin as a home."

Weslager's quest for representative old log cabins has taken him to every state in the continental United States and also beyond the nation's borders. The aim of his book is to give the general reader "an understanding of the part played by the log cabin in early American life, in the political arena and in promoting Americanization and hastening democracy."

The log cabin was the first distinctly American architecture of form. When the first colonists came to this country from Europe and settled the eastern seaboard, they built homes similar to the ones they had known in their native lands. As the westward movement began and the pioneers pushed beyond the eastern frontier, the harsh conditions they found there forced them to create a new form of dwelling.

"The availability of trees was the principal factor contributing to the widespread construction of log housing," according to Weslager. "But the fact that no nails or spikes were needed to build a log cabin or to erect a log stockade was of utmost importance. Nails were expensive, scarce and had to be shipped or carried from the east coast."

Thus the log cabin was "young America's answer to the mobile family's greatest problem — a safe and durable haven that an ordinary family man could build with few tools, minimum skills and little money," Weslager points out.

The rigors of frontier life and the lack of privacy in the one-room cabin served to bring the pioneer family closer together. A chimney's effort was essential in helping cope with the harsh conditions of pioneer environment. Life was dangerous, hard and tough.

"We wasn't much better off 'n Indians," wrote Donny Hanks, a relative of Abraham Lincoln, "except we had an interest in cotton and polydicks."

The pioneer's interest in politics paid off and by the mid-nineteenth century, politicians were wooing the voters who lived in the log cabins. The author points out that a log cabin "elected" Gen. William Henry Harrison the ninth President of the United States "in the most blatant, almost unbelievable political campaign American voters have ever seen."

"Because this campaign moulded America's image of the log cabin, its significance goes much deeper than its political aspects," Weslager continues. "Modern attitudes toward log cabins were influenced by this campaign that took place more than 125 years ago."

"Give him a barrel of hard cider and a pension of $2,000 a year ... and he will sit the remainder of his days in a log cabin," a Democratic candidate wrote in derision of Harrison, the Whig residential aspirant, who had a substantial log home on the Ohio River.

Although Harrison was born in a red brick mansion on a Virginia plantation, this slur on his supposed log cabin origins gave the divided Whigs the symbol and rallying cry they needed.

The country was seized with log cabin fever — complete with political rallies, buttons and log cabin exhibitions. Whig speakers emphasized the themes of frontier honesty

MOUNTAIN SIDE (N.J.) ECHO — Thursday June 19, 1969-19 to the fact that the pioneer structure has a permanent place in American folklore.

Weslager has served as an officer of a number of historical and archeological societies in Delaware and Pennsylvania.

Abraham Lincoln was the best known of the "log cabin Presidents." The image of the lanky young Lincoln studying by the flickering light of the fire in his log cabin has become one of the most pervasive images in American folklore.

Even Theodore Roosevelt, who was hardly poor, made political capital out of a log cabin he had used for a short time while ranching in the Dakotas.

Dozens of memorial log cabins have been built throughout the country lending evidence

Ice show opens summer season

The lyrics were written "It's June in January," but the Essex County Park Commission is changing them to read "It's January in June." On summer's eve, tomorrow a promotion at the South Mountain Ice Skating Arena in West Orange will celebrate the opening of its summer ice skating season.

Trucks of snow will be imported, girls in fur coats will engage in a snowball fight and an arctic dog sled will be drawn by a team of huskies, all leading up to a fashion show on ice, as well as skating demonstrations.

The evening's activities will begin at 7 p.m. and are being presented at no cost to the public.

The summer ice skating season officially gets under way Saturday and continues through Aug. 31. There will be three evening sessions Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, 8:30 to 11 p.m.; a morning session will be held Tuesdays, 10 a.m. to noon.

200 schools begin outdoor education

More than 200 New Jersey school districts have initiated projects in outdoor education, according to the New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education.

A listing of the projects, including a detailed description of each one, is contained in a 95-page booklet prepared by the council as the result of a state-wide survey. Dr. Edward J. Amby, council director, said that copies of the booklet will be distributed to all school districts in the state in September.

The council, funded under Title III (innovations) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, has been carrying out an inventory and assessment of environmental and outdoor education programs. Among the council's goals is to determine how inner city youth may be more adequately served through environmental education.

Masterwork will open art school July 7

Mrs. Robert C. May of Whippany executive director of The Masterwork Music and Art Foundation, announced this week that The Masterwork School of Art will open a six-week summer session on July 7.

Ugo Giannini of West Orange has been appointed director for the summer session and Donald Fabricant of Brooklyn will serve as associate director. Other faculty appointments will be announced at a later date.

Included in the courses to be given are elementary, intermediary, and advanced painting and drawing, sculptural design, and painting for young people. Classes will be held at the Masterwork Art Building Mondays through Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Stanley F. Yolles, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Alcoholism has been called the fourth greatest health problem, ranked only by heart disease, cancer, and mental illness.

Nobody knows how many alcoholics there are in the U.S., but some estimates indicate from 4 to 5 million.

Only in recent years has there come recognition that alcoholism is a disease and should be approached with prevention and treatment programs, rather than only by shunning or punishing its victims.

Alcoholism is now considered as a chronic disease—a serious behavior disorder. Alcoholism is a sign and symptom of personality or character problems.

Strangely enough, realization that alcoholism is a disease and a major individual and community health problem has been slow in coming, although the facts have been known a long time.

But public concern over misuse of alcohol, as in the case of narcotics and other dangerous drugs, has now taken a humanitarian turn. Social attitudes have been changing from a demand for punishment to a demand for prevention, control, and treatment.

The result has been translation of new approaches to alcoholism into public policy through federal legislation.

Until last year, no Congressional legislation had ever been adopted to prevent and control alcoholism. The Volstead Act and the resultant 18th Amendment prohibited the use of alcohol, but that was all.

Under amendments enacted in 1968 to the Community Mental Health Centers Act, however, there are now federal law provisions to assist communities financially in the development of programs to control narcotic addiction and alcoholism.

This marks the first time that the need of local communities in the field of alcoholism has been specifically aided by federal acts.

The National Institute of Mental Health will administer the support programs along with other major efforts aimed against alcoholism.

The Institute's National Center for the Prevention and Control of Alcoholism has been established to support research, training, services, and other programs in a broad-scale attack. The long-range goal is to find effective, acceptable, and practical ways of preventing and treating alcoholism.

OVERLOOK TO ACCEPT BANKAMERICARD: Gavin Spofford, president of Summit and Elizabeth Trust Co., points to BankAmericard decal on front door of Overlook Hospital, Summit. Overlook has become one of the first hospitals in New Jersey to accept a national credit card. Looking on is T. J. Dalton, at left, director of the hospital's financial management operation, and Robert Heinlein, director, Summit and Elizabeth Trust Co., an associate licensee of BankAmericard for New Jersey.

Now, charge hospital bill Overlook OKs credit card

Hospital care now, pay later! Instant medical L.D. This is a new system for bill payments at Overlook Hospital, Summit, made possible by the institution's adoption of BankAmericard. Overlook became one of the first hospitals in New Jersey to accept a credit card because it "offered the best method of helping us solve our collection problems, while providing our patients with a simple way of paying those bills that are not covered by some form of hospitalization insurance," according to T. J. Dalton, director of Overlook's financial management operation.

Dalton points out that hospitals face a more acute collection problem than most retail businesses. "About 40 per cent of Overlook's patients have Blue Cross-Blue Shield, while another 30 per cent are covered by Medicare. The remaining 30 per cent have other types of hospitalization plans or no coverage at all.

Additionally, nearly every hospital patient incurs charges, such as phone, blood and private room differential, that are not covered by insurance. It's to the patient's advantage to charge these extras on a credit card," Dalton remarks.

Collection is especially important for non-profit hospitals like Overlook, which refuses treatment to no one. "Because there are indigent patients who simply cannot afford to pay, it is imperative that we collect from all those who can," says Dalton.

Although Overlook is believed to be the first New Jersey hospital to honor a national credit card, it has always offered alternate financing plans. Dalton notes that hospitals have traditionally referred patients to banks for loans to finance their treatment. "But if the debtor fails to pay the bank, the loan can be returned to the hospital for collection. With BankAmericard, there is no recourse. We get the money we need to continue operating. It's up to the credit card people to collect the money from the patient."

The benefits to patients are manifold. "When an incoming patient presents his credit card, it reduces red tape to a minimum," Dalton reports. "This is important in an emergency room situation."

There is little or no lag between the time the hospital submits the credit card vouchers to the bank and the crediting of the proper amount to its account.

It also enables patients to pay off their hospital bills on a monthly revolving charge plan. An important reason for selection of Overlook as one of the first BankAmericard hospitals in New Jersey was the institution's location in the center of an area of general affluence in which credit cards are an accepted way of life.

Kids can aid cancer drive Backyard carnival kits offered

"It's Cancer Carnival time!"

That will be the cry raised by youngsters and teenagers throughout neighborhoods in Union County after they obtain free kits of materials to promote cancer carnivals from the American Cancer Society.

"And it will be fun, too, for every family in the neighborhood when the kids get together to stage a backyard 'Cancer Carnival' for the Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society," said Raymond J. Donahue, President of the local cancer-fighting organization.

"This is a great opportunity to keep the youngsters occupied for some of the summer and will help bring out the enterprising talents of the boys and girls in the neighborhood.

Parents will want to get in on the act, and Grandparents, too," Donahue said.

There are 14 promotional items in the free "Cancer Carnival" kit. Some of the articles are: "Cancer Carnival" posters, labels and envelopes; "Send A Mouse To College" posters and envelopes; balloons, badges and bumper stickers; and complete instructions for staging the event, as well as suggestions for twenty games and a check-list to make sure everything is being done correctly.

Free "Cancer Carnival" Kits can be obtained by writing the American Cancer Society, Union County Unit, 512 Westminster Ave., Elizabeth, or by telephoning the county executive director, Richard W. Arndt, at 354-7373.
