Resolution pledges fight on overpass

Council asks Trenton to reconsider its plans

The mayor and Borough Council approved a resolution Tuesday night to make clear their opposition to the proposed interchange-cloverleaf on Rt. 22 at New Providence road. The resolution states that the preliminary drawing of the cloverleaf appears to be "far in excess of a prudent solution."

It declares that approximately 30 homes and four commercial properties would be demolished in the land acquisition, for a total of about $1.7 million in property loss to the borough not counting the devaluation of properties bordering on the land.

The resolution is, in effect, a request to the State Department of Transportation and other involved agencies to discard the concept now under consideration and to schedule meetings with the mayor and council and other borough officials.

They want to "candidly discuss" plans of the department and to probe intentions of the department to investigate alternatives to the proposed plan.

The resolution is to be sent to David J. Goldberg, commissioner of Transportation, all three state senators and all assemblymen from Union County, the county planning board, park commission, the Westfield mayor and council, Senators Clifford P. Case and Harrison A. Williams and Rep. Florence Dwyer.

Among the "whereas" paragraphs, the paper states that the borough is dissatisfied with the state agency's explanation of its plans for both the interchange and New Providence road. It also states that the local governing body sees the cure as more complicated than the problem, and that it wishes to clear the confusion now surrounding Mountainside residents and businesses.

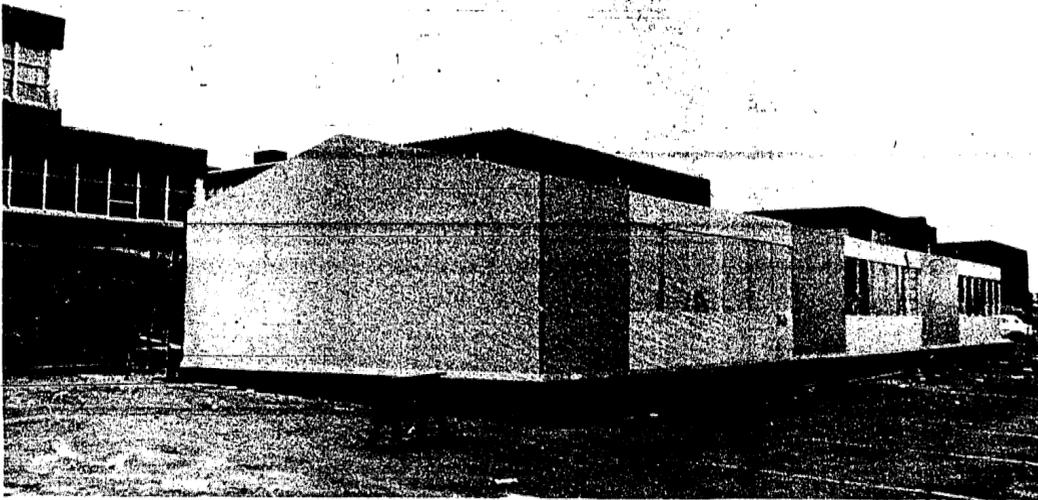

THE SEVEN-POINT recommendation given to the mayor and council recently by the Committee to Preserve Mountainside was covered, point by point, after a query by a member of the committee as to what actions had been taken on each of the seven points. Mayor Frederick J. Wilhelms Jr. said that the only portions of the recommendation not acted upon were the parts calling for the appropriation of $10,000 in funds and the special appointment of a private attorney and a consulting engineer. Wilhelms said that the borough has full use of its own attorney and engineer, who he feels are more than capable of handling anything that has thus far come before them.

One other section of the recommendation not yet subscribed to was the suggestion that the council contact federal officials. Wilhelms stated that he did not feel that the council had enough solid facts and figures to present at this time. He added that when he is advised that the time has arrived, the information will be ready.

Also on Tuesday's agenda, before an audience at the Beechwood School, was the appointment of Herman Hafeken of Kenilworth as a probationary officer.

Edward Mullin was officially named chief of police. Chief Mullin and his family were in attendance to receive congratulations from the council.

A unanimous vote authorized $225,000 worth of bond anticipation notes for issuance as part of the funds provided for the Nomenhagen Brook sewer improvements approved last February. The notes are to have a maximum (Continued on page 3)

FOR THE TIME BEING -- Temporary classrooms were put up this week at Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, above, and at A. L. Johnson Regional High School, Clark, as an expedient to deal with overcrowding in all four schools of the Regional District. The Regional School board is now considering a proposal to increase facilities at Gov. Livingston, A. L. Johnson, Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield and David Brearley Regional in Kenilworth as a long-range answer to the problem.

7 temporary buildings to curb class crowding

Seven temporary classroom buildings are now being installed to relieve overcrowding at two of the schools in the Union County Regional High School District.

Three of the classroom units are being erected in the parking lot at the rear of Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, the others on the lawn in back of Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark, according to Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of schools.

"The structures are only a temporary expedient," Dr. Davis said. "Severe overcrowding, particularly at these two schools, emphasizes the need for an immediate expansion program in the district." Dr. Davis said the enrollment at the Arthur L. Johnson school was 1,568 in the last school year, or about 44 per cent above capacity, and that Gov. Livingston is almost 40 per cent above desirable capacity with an enrollment of 1,576.

"Both schools have been forced to use what we consider substandard space for classroom use, such as conference rooms and the language labs," Dr. Davis said.

The superintendent also noted that approximately 1,800 students will be attending Gov. Livingston in the 1970-71 school year. "The need for expansion in the district is right now," Dr. Davis said.

"The Board of Education can't just keep putting up these temporary buildings," Dr.

Davis said. "You still have to provide adequate auxiliary facilities such as cafeterias, library and gym space."

The school board is currently studying plans for a new building program designed to meet the expected increases in enrollment over the next five years. The temporary one-story units, which will be ready for use by September, are being leased for three years at a cost of $31,000 a year with renewal option, according to Lewis Fredericks, assistant superintendent for business.

Electrically heated and air conditioned, each classroom is fully carpeted and comes complete with blackboards and lighting fixtures. Fredericks said the units meet all state requirements. He added that an additional $3,200 is being spent to equip the seven rooms with chairs and desks. Members of the board's buildings and grounds committee, including Fredericks, Manuel S. Dios of Clark and Edwin Little of Berkeley Heights, looked at single installations in North Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Fredericks added that this is the first time the district has been forced to put up temporary structures in its 32-year history. The Regional District is comprised of the communities of Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield. Besides the schools in Berkeley Heights and Clark, the district operates David Brearley Regional in Kenilworth and Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield.

Mayor reports near-unanimity

Mountainside is apparently almost completely united in the fight to prevent the state Department of Transportation from building an overpass and cloverleaf at the intersection of Rt. 22 and New Providence road and the widening of the highway through the community.

While large crowds have been attending the Committee to Preserve Mountainside meetings in Beechwood School, only three persons have expressed fear to Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. that the road project would be scrapped.

One proponent of the construction sent a strong letter to the mayor stating that all he wanted was to "safely, sanely and a minimum of time" get across Rt. 22 by using the proposed overpass.

The mayor said that the other two talks with persons in favor of the overpass were a face-to-face meeting and a phone call.

Urgency stressed by overpass foes

The urgency of the local movement to oppose the New Providence road overpass and cloverleaf at Rt. 22 and the widening of the highway through the borough was underscored last Wednesday night at the third public meeting of the Committee to Preserve Mountainside.

The next meeting will be held next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Beechwood School. The chairman of two committees within the main (CTPM) body told the more than 100 persons present that a public hearing on the matter may be held by the state Department of Transportation as early as September, and that speed is crucial.

Robert Jaffe, co-chairman of the legal and legislative committee said that, based on a study by the committee of past cases in which proposed projects were opposed, "We are not going to beat the state once it gets to the point of a public hearing. Once there is a public hearing you have already lost."

William Cullen, chairman of the news and public relations sub-committee of the community relations committee, said it was imperative that an education program for the citizens of Mountainside be begun "now," and he solicited help in preparing a brochure that "will shake the whole living hell out of Mountainside."

The public meeting was actually a progress report because the real work is being conducted in the newly formed committees.

They are legal and legislative (Robert Jaffe and Marcel E. Wagner, co-chairmen), engineering and alternative (Tom Ingate, chairman), methods study (Gloria Stanton, interim chairman), statistics (Bill Klebous, interim chairman) and community relations (Don Lagannan, interim chairman). The community relations committee has been broken into three subcommittees, news and public relations, membership and funds raising and finance.

THE CHAIRMAN of each committee explained the formation of the groups and what the purposes of each were. All but the methods study committee had met prior to last Wednesday night's meeting.

It was also decided that Ed Kuebler, who was named general chairman of the CTPM, would share the post with a co-chairman who would be available during the weekdays to handle any business. Kuebler is a trial attorney and is in court almost every day. It was explained at the meeting Wednesday night.

Legal and legislative committee co-chairman Jaffe told the gathering that several specific proposals were going to be asked of Borough Council at its meeting Tuesday night, and that action was absolutely mandatory or the committee would be faced with waiting for a month before the local governing body meets again.

Terming the mayor and council one of the most powerful weapons the community has in its fight against the intrusion, Jaffe, who is an attorney, said that the committee proposes the Borough Council do the following:

1. Pass a formal resolution opposing the cloverleaf, overpass and road widening as against the health, welfare and safety of the citizens of Mountainside. The resolution would be sent to the State Department of Transportation.

2. Pass an ordinance to appropriate funds to retain special legal counsel and engineering consultants for the borough. The first reading of the ordinance would be Tuesday night.

3. Pass a formal resolution demanding from the state Department of Transportation all studies concerning the relationship of Rt. 22 to Rt. 78 and also all studies on alternate means of mass transportation, specifically trains and buses.

4. Pass a formal resolution requesting the support of the county Board of Freeholders and Planning Board.

MAYOR FREDERICK WILHELMS JR. said that some of the thoughts incorporated in the suggestions by the legal and legislative committee were already under consideration by the Borough Council.

News and PR chairman Cullen described a brochure, tentatively titled "The Mountainside Catastrophe," which would help "educate the people of Mountainside of the calamity that will befall them" should the proposed construction be allowed.

"The press has done a great job, objectively reporting the situation and our work," Cullen said, "but quite frankly we want a story that is (Continued on page 3)

Swim teams set to meet Westfield, Warrenbrook

This Saturday will find Mountainside Community Pool swimmers involved in two meets. One in regular league competition, will be held at home at 9 a.m. against Manor Park of Westfield. A second group of swimmers will meet Warrenbrook Swim Club at Warrenbrook, starting at 9:30 a.m.

Tuesday saw the first meet in a schedule against Washington Valley League members. This second league participation was started to allow more youngsters the chance to compete. Julian Lovitt, swim meet director of this group, has released the following schedule: Wynnewood, away held on, Tuesday; Warrenbrook, away, Saturday, 9:30 a.m.; Roundtop, away, Tuesday, July 29, 6:30 p.m.; Warrenbrook, home, Saturday, Aug. 9, 9:30 a.m.; and Roundtop, home, Tuesday, Aug. 19, 6:30 p.m.

Tomorrow, a small group of MCP swimmers and advisors will travel to the Hillside Swim Club, Staten Island, to take part in an invitational swimming meet. The Mountainside Community Pool was the only New Jersey group asked to send competitors. Awards will be given for the first six finishers in both individual and relay events.

The heavy schedule of the local swimmers finds them in yet another meet, on Monday evening at 6:30, they play host to neighboring Mindwaskin Swim Club of Westfield, in place of the previously announced Fort Monmouth group.

Couch Bob Anderson said, "This promises to be one of the finest meets of the season, as Mindwaskin has long been considered one of the most formidable swim teams in the area."

Little League all-stars schedule try-out dates

All Little League members aged 10-12 have been asked to attend practice sessions each Tuesday night at 6 at the National League field behind Deerfield School.

This is in preparation for the National League All-Star game to be held in August. There will be try-outs during the practice sessions for selection of the team. For any further information, readers may call Jim Pottis, 233-4589.

PROFILE -- Charles J. Irwin

After two years in the legislature, Charles J. Irwin of 609 Sherwood parkway, Mountainside, is "surprised by the minimal amount of pure politics that takes place in the legislature."

The 39-year-old assemblyman, now running for his second term as a Republican member of the lower house, said that members of "both parties are trying to do the best they can. That may be a politically naive statement, but it's the judgement of what I've seen."

Irwin's views are generally positive when speaking of the legislature, although he knows as well as anybody that things are not perfect at the state house in Trenton.

In recent weeks, some legislators and others have said the state needs a full-time law-making body, rather than one day a week sessions as are held six months of each year. While the Union County Republican agrees that a full-time legislature is a good idea, he believes that "anybody who says that (one day a week session) just doesn't know what goes on. I can't recall when my legislative duties haven't taken less than three days a week. There's an enormous amount of work to do, especially if you're a member of an important committee."

Irwin is a member on one of the more important committees, too. By sitting on the appropriations committee of the assembly, he's learned and had to learn much about the fiscal side of government. He is also chairman of the sub-committee on capital construction. Irwin is a member of the conference committee and the labor committee, in addition to serving as leader of the Union County Republican delegation to the lower house.

IRWIN, WHO DOESN'T "think there's any question that this state deserves a full-time legislature," also is in favor of a one-house legislature, rather than the current bi-cameral system. "In view of the way the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote ruling has been interpreted, a bi-cameral legislature can no longer serve any useful purpose. It violates self-interest to vote for the bi-cameral legislature," he observed. "When you're part of a bi-cameral legislature, many legislators are going to have to put their own interests

Borough police tell alleged car thief: no room at the Inn for stolen vehicle

Early this month, Joseph Paik of 160 Sunrise parkway, Mountainside, reported to police that his 1966 Pontiac had been stolen. Just four days later, police said, he recognized his car in the parking lot of the Mountainside Inn.

After positively identifying his automobile, he called the Mountainside Police to come to the scene. Upon their arrival, Officers Steve Semancik and Allan Kennedy watched the car and noticed a man coming from the back of the inn, walking toward the car. As soon as he entered the car, the officers arrested him, at which time they discovered a bottle of gin under his coat.

A quick investigation revealed evidence that he had stolen this and two other bottles of liquor from the Inn, the report added. The alleged thief, identified as Jose Lopez of Newark, was charged with larceny and possession of stolen goods and is being held in the county jail awaiting arraignment.

Paik, the owner of the car, filed a police report that the spare tire was missing from the trunk and that a "10" 1/2 inch folding knife was found under the seat of his automobile.

IT RUNS IN THE FAMILY--These 20 members of the Mountainside Community Pool Swim team represent only a part of several families of which three or more members are on the team. Supplying the team with members from the eight-and-under to the

Families 'pool' talents Dominate borough swim team

By RAY BARTO
Competitive swimming in Mountainside is largely a family affair. Among those to place in last week's opening meet against Beacon Hill of Summit were four Weekes, four Picuts, three Phillippes and Bieszcaks and two Keenans, Wagners and Hellers.

Such group participation in the swimming team must certainly have some effect on the living patterns of the family as a whole. The team practices on split schedules, different age groups at different hours from 9 to noon and from 6:30 until 8 in the evening. With three of four children scheduled to practice at different hours, five days a week, with meets on Saturdays, it must affect the home life and family relationships among brothers, sisters, cousins and parents.

In order to find out what the team members themselves felt, an interview was set up during an evening practice with several Phillippes, Weekes, Bieszcaks and Picuts, ranging from about eight to 15 years of age.

In regard to the matter of getting everyone to practice and to meets, some made comments such as, "We're always late," and "We've left a lot." Most of the brothers and sisters come together, either in the evenings or early in the morning. One of the Picut boys mentioned that his mother spends the greater part of her morning transporting children to swim practice, astronomy lessons, tennis lessons and, finally, home.

On the whole, kids like having brothers and sisters on the team, older or younger. They did mention some hang-ups, though. "We always have to watch out for the little ones, as if the five lifeguards are going to let them drown just because we're not watching them!" said one of the six Phillippes on the team.

"It's tough to come home after a bad swim in a meet when your little sister has a medal and you didn't even place," said one Bieszcak sister.

One of the elders of the Weekes sorority added, "We argue a lot about who did what wrong."

Still no one wished to be the only member of the family on the team. "It's nice to have someone to root for while you're waiting for your event," said another Weekes sister. All the youngsters felt that the team helped them to stick together as a family.

MOST OF THE FAMILIES had at least one member on the team who had no interest in joining; several had some members working on their strokes to qualify for (Continued on page 3)

Regional school board to meet in Springfield

A regular meeting of the Union County Regional High School District I Board of Education will be held Tuesday in the board offices at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, beginning at 8 p.m.

The Aug. 26 business meeting is scheduled to be held at David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth.

Borough's divers win first meet

The Mountainside diving team scored a victory in its first competition of the season, defeating the Beacon Hill diving team of Summit by a score of 34 to 18. The meet was held last Tuesday at the Mountainside Community Pool.

Terry Goss, coach of the successful team, was also meet director. Coach Chip Harrison of the Beacon Hill team and Don Mutz of Westfield served as judges along with Coach Goss.

Winners in the age groups were follows: 10 and under, boys first, Billy Smith, Mountainside; second, Gary Krug, Mountainside, third Peter Newell, Beacon Hill; girls; first, Cathy Picut, Mountainside, second, Christine Picut, Mountainside.

FASTER THAN A SPEEDING PULLET—Though he may be speedy, Bob Maddox of Mountainide is not quite as fast as a speeding baseball as Eddie Schade (5) of Clark makes the catch to put him out in the Mountainide-Clark Little League game played Monday night. Even coaching by Albe Leter (14) of Mountainide was not enough as Clark took the game, 3-0.

Mountainide drops game; Clark goes on in tournament

Mountainide was eliminated from the New Jersey Little League Elimination Tournament with their defeat by Clark Monday night at Mountainide. The score was 3-0.

After winning the toss at the start of the game, Bruce Heide of Mountainide struck out the first three Clark batters. With Mountainide up in the bottom of the first inning, Billy Wishbow walked, followed by a strike-out, Dave Manders hit a single, Wishbow stole third, but the next two batters struck out, retiring the team with no runs.

Hal Byer of Clark and Heide of Mountainide both struck out the opposing side to close the second with no score. Heide struck out the first two Clark batters in the third inning, and the third batter grounded out, retiring the side.

After two Mountainide batters struck out and Dana Levitt walked, Manders singled and Chris Barry walked, loading the bases for Mountainide. This was the biggest threat Mountainide posed in the game. The next batter, however, popped out, retiring the side.

In the fourth, the pitcher's again struck out both sides with no runs scored. Ron Rapolis, Clark left fielder, walked in the fifth then stole second and third. Heide struck out the next two batters. Mountainide then went down in order.

George Petronella, first up for Clark in the sixth inning, singled, then Eric Muchmore doubled, sending Petronella to third. Following a strikeout, Joe Skimmions, in the fourth position, doubled, driving in two runs for Clark. The next batter popped out, followed by a single, driving in the third Clark run, by Wayne Jasinski.

Mountainide's last attempts were to no avail as the first three batters went down in order, ending the game with a score of 3-0, and a Clark victory.

Both pitchers showed great control and speed, with Heide of Mountainide and Byer of Clark each striking out 12 batters. Clark will now continue in the tournament with a game against Garwood.

Municipal court fines trespasser

Mountainide Municipal Court convened last Wednesday under Judge Jacob Bauer at the Municipal Building on Rt. 22.

Under criminal complaints, Judge Bauer found Jeffrey Greenberg of Springfield guilty of trespassing on the property of the Nike base and fined him $50 plus $5 court costs.

The same charge was dismissed for James Berke of New York City but he is to appear before the county grand jury for possession of narcotics, which were reportedly found on his person during the arrest. Jack Cassin, also released from trespassing charges, pleaded guilty to damaging and defacing Nike base property and was fined $50 and $5 costs.

In a traffic case, Gregory Buehler of Plainfield was found guilty of allowing a non-licensed driver to operate a vehicle and was fined $25 and $5 costs. Radames Gandia of Elizabeth was found guilty of the same charge and was also fined $25 and $5 costs.

U.S. Senator HARRISON A. WILLIAMS Reports

NEW JERSEY'S WATERS: THREATENED RESOURCES

With summer here, more and more people will head for the beaches, lakes and streams of New Jersey. The waterways of the Garden State will experience the annual rush of visitors, as millions of swimmers, boaters and fishermen take advantage of the water-world we enjoy. Now is a good time to take stock of our water riches:

- * 127 miles of ocean beaches, providing pleasure for millions of New Jerseyans and supporting a $2 billion annual tourist industry
- * lakes, streams and ponds for fishing and boating at more than 75 state forests and parks
- * the "big lakes" of Morris, Sussex and Passaic Counties
- * the intracoastal waterway and the network of fine harbors, carrying pleasure boats from Delaware Bay to New York Harbor
- * the great cargo ports of Newark and Elizabeth, "Container Capitol" of shipping and a powerful stimulus to New Jersey commerce. We are certainly endowed with a variety of attractive, productive water resources.

But unless we stop polluting, stop fouling these waters, we will destroy them. Through natural processes and man-made hazards, the waters of New Jersey are being seriously damaged, day after day. Exploitation, abuse and neglect have all played a part in this slow and ruinous attack on our waters; and now, unless we take immediate steps to stop the decay and start the repair, there will be no more enjoyment, no more productivity from our water riches -- only the dirty, clogged residue of a wasteful society. Our water wonderland will become a nightmare in our time.

THERE IS HELP AVAILABLE at the Federal level. I recently joined several Senate colleagues in urging approval for key measures which are designed to give New Jersey (and other states) a much-needed assist in water resource protection:

(1) Marine Resources Preservation Act of 1969 -- This bill would direct the Secretary of the Interior to make plans for setting aside portions of the seaward areas, deep-water Continental Shelf regions and tidelands as "marine sanctuaries." I should like to see the recommendation of the Secretary, and declare certain areas to be sanctuaries, any and all mining, drilling, or other removal of minerals would be prohibited. Similarly, steps would be taken within these vital marine areas to enhance wildlife conservation, recreation and scenic potential.

(2) Water Quality Improvement Act of 1969 -- This legislation attempts to protect the coastal waters and beaches from three kinds of pollution -- oil spills or leaks, waste discharged from vessels, and "thermal pollution" from nuclear power plants. An important provision of the bill would prevent any Federal agency from issuing a license for any water-related activity until complete assurance is given that such activity does not violate water quality standards.

(3) Full funding for Newark Bay Improvements -- I have asked the Public Works Subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee to approve a $5 million request for channel improvements in the Newark Bay. By 1975, the ports of the Newark area will handle 60 percent of the New York harbor maritime traffic; yet the Nixon Administration slashed the Newark Bay improvements request in the 1970 budget from $3.5 million to $500,000. Not only cargo, but men's lives -- and the safety of huge ships -- hang in the balance.

IT IS TRAGIC that we have been unable -- or unwilling -- to take action to protect our waters until after a major disaster; we seem doomed to "react" but never to prepare. The Torrey Canyon oil spill, the Santa Barbara Channel disaster, the 1966 collision in Newark Bay which killed 32 men -- these are the ghastly prods to action.

I hope that now, with so much evidence and so many obvious signs of impending disaster, the Congress will act quickly to help New Jersey preserve and protect its priceless water riches. The matter is urgent and compelling, and I will press for favorable action in the months ahead.

A MUSING from the desk

Herein is presented as a commentary on today's world, and without further comment, a brief tale told to us as a true experience of a friend of a friend.

The story involves a young gentleman home from college for the summer. He received a call from two other friends, a young gentleman and a young lady, who were passing through town on a long motor trip. After consulting with Mama, he invited them to stay the night.

Dinner was fine, and the evening was full of intelligent conversation. Came bedtime, and the three young people, without further discussion, headed up to the young host's bedroom. Said Mama: not in my house.

Said the young host: Absolutely right. This is your house, and we must obey your rules. Added the same young host: I am an intelligent adult, and I must make my own rules of conduct.

Whereupon the three young intellectuals departed for a nearby motel.

Follows a pause, to denote the passage of night. Bright and early, the two travellers and their young host returned to Mama's kitchen for breakfast.

Mama, without any moralistic comments, busied herself brewing coffee and scrambling eggs.

She then poured coffee for the young gentleman guest. He expressed his thanks.

Mama next poured coffee for her young adult son. He also expressed his thanks.

She then began to pour coffee for the young lady guest, who was seated at the end of the table.

The young lady guest, however, put a dainty hand over her cup and said, "I don't drink coffee yet. Could I have some milk, please?"

With which question mark, we end our recital.

Know Your COUNTY GOVERNMENT

By Arthur C. Fried, Freeholder

MORE MUNICIPALITIES EYE NEW GOVERNMENT FORMS

New Jersey now has 48 municipalities operating under modern forms of government prescribed in the State's Optional Municipal Charter Law of 1950, according to the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

Four of the municipalities began their new operations July 1 as a result of earlier citizen voting. They are: Evesham Township (Burlington County); Phillipsburg (Warren County) and West Milford (Passaic County), whose voters chose council-manager government following recommendations of a charter study commission, and Saddle Brook (Bergen County) which selected the mayor-council form of government after petition for a direct change.

Four more municipalities are scheduled to change to an OMCL form of government next year, thus raising the membership of New Jersey's "Modern municipal government club" to 52. Washington Township (Bergen County) selected mayor-council government to begin January 1. Lawrence and East Windsor Townships in Mercer County will switch to council-manager governments at the same time, and Ridgewood Township (Bergen County) changes to council-manager on July 1, 1970.

Meantime, studies by elected citizen charter commissions into the desirability of changing forms of local government have been authorized in 10 municipalities. They are: Bridgeton (Cumberland County); Englewood (Bergen County); Jefferson and Passaic townships, and Lincoln Park and Madison borough (Morris County); Middletown (Monmouth County); Mt. Laurel (Burlington County); the City of New Brunswick (Middlesex County); and the Township of Weehawken in Hudson County. Majority recommendations for adoption of an optional charter law form must be placed on the November ballot.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheelan, County Home Economist

GUIDES FOR THE JUNIOR COOK

During the lazy days of summer, junior cooks in the family often like to show their culinary skill.

If there is a child in your family who desires to do some food preparation, a little guidance from mother in choosing the recipe, measuring ingredients, keeping the work area organized and cleaning up, will get the new adventure off to a good start.

In choosing the recipe, it is usually a good idea to pick one which requires no cooking, especially if it is the child's first cooking experience. It should also be one which appeals to the child and is fun to eat.

Have the child read the recipe thoroughly as a first step. If any questions arise during this point, be sure they are answered.

The next step is to assemble all the ingredients and utensils which will be needed. This saves unnecessary steps and is good training for the future.

Once everything is assembled, the ingredients should be measured. Check your favorite cookbook to make sure you will be teaching the recommended methods so accurate quantities of ingredients will be used. Mixing ingredients and the use of utensils involved are skills which require practice before they are done with ease. At first the child's movements will seem awkward, but with experience and age they will become smoother. It is at this step mother needs patience to refrain from taking over completely because it will be easier.

Keeping the work area organized and completely cleaned up are essential steps. The child should learn both these phases are as much a part of cooking as mixing the ingredients.

The following recipe for No-Bake Squares is tasty and simple to prepare. Perhaps your child will enjoy preparing it on a lazy summer day.

- NO BAKE SQUARES
- 1 6-ounce package Semi-Sweet chocolate morsels (1 cup)
  - 1 6-ounce package Butterscotch flavored morsels (1 cup)
  - 3/4 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
  - 1/2 cup sour cream
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 2 cups finely-crushed, vanilla-wafer crumbs
  - 1/2 cup chopped almonds, toasted
- Combine chocolate and butterscotch morsels. Melt over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from water. Add sugar, sour cream, vanilla and salt; mix well. Blend in vanilla-wafer crumbs. Press into wax paper lined 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle with almonds; press in gently. Chill until firm. Let stand a few minutes at room temperature for easier cutting. Cut into 36 squares.

Costs paid for a prank

Joseph Almasy of 1120 Sylvan Ln., Mountainide, recently accepted a $15,000 settlement on behalf of himself and his 18-year-old daughter, Karen, from Superior Court Judge Ervin S. Fulop. The payment is for expenses incurred when Dale McLeod of Georgia, formerly of Berkeley Heights, pulled a chair out from under Miss Almasy Oct. 12, 1965, in the Gov. Livingston Regional High School cafeteria, according to the plaintiff.

Miss Almasy, now a university student, was 15 when she received the injuries to her spine and neck and was treated in Overlook Hospital. She will receive $9,000 of the settlement, with the remaining $6,000 being given to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Almasy, for their expenses. The family was represented by Robert A. Elkins, a Jersey City attorney.

Miss McLeod and her father, Joseph McLeod, were represented by Edward Gurry of Newark.

Check your car

Cars, like people, often develop sudden ailments. According to the Institute for Safer Living these ailments are especially likely to show up when the weather turns hot and highways become clogged with motorists who are vacation bound. For peace of mind and greater safety, have your car checked thoroughly by a good auto mechanic before you drive off on vacation.

Students earn $162,000 in work experience program

The cooperative work-experience programs in the Union County Regional High School District have literally paid off.

Students enrolled in the various programs, whereby they go to school in the morning and work in the afternoon, earned more than $162,000 in the last school year, according to Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of schools.

The Regional District maintains several community-part-time cooperative programs for seniors who are planning to enter post-high school employment.

Forty-three boys enrolled in the trade and industrial education program earned a total of $96,000, according to Stanley Crane, coordinator of industrial arts and vocational education.

He said that 12 students at the David Brearley school in Kenilworth had a gross pay of some $21,000, and 31 students at Arthur L. Johnson in Clark and Governor Livingston in Berkeley Heights, earned more than $74,000.

In addition, five students enrolled in the diversified vocational education program at Jonathan Dayton in Springfield, had paychecks totaling almost $6,000.

"All the boys worked in such areas as auto mechanics, drafting, machinists, carpentry, printing, small engine repair and electronics," Crane said.

Paychecks totaled $60,751 for 44 students who took part in the cooperative office and distributive education programs, according to Eleanor M. Murphy, coordinator.

She said the students, the majority of whom were girls, gained on-the-job experience in retailing, wholesale marketing and service occupations, while others trained as bookkeepers, business machine operators, typists and stenographers.

Crane noted that "the modern up-to-date high school of 1969 must consider curriculum offerings encompassing work-experience programs if it seriously hopes to prepare students for the contemporary world of work."

He said follow-up studies indicated that students trained in work-experience programs "remain in school, gain employment and become successful workers."

colored and that's the reason for the brochures."

The information in the brochures, Crane said, would include the location of the purchase of the CPM, the safety hazards and other implications of the construction, the future ramifications of the project and the "action plan" of the committee to oppose the overpass, cloverleaf and widening.

"This is our fight," Crane said, "and you cannot expect people from Springfield, Watchung or Kenilworth to get involved because if they get involved in Mountainside, then the cloverleaf might end up in their town."

Plans were also discussed for petitions and individual letters to bring pressure on elected state officials who would in turn bring pressure on the Department of Transportation.

Following the committee reports there was a question and answer period. At the conclusion of the meeting, committee chairman met with prospective members.

Loses license on points

Kenneth D. Riccio, 18, of 334 Short dr., Mountainside, has lost his driver's license for 45 days, effective June 2, under the state's point system, the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles announced recently.

monthly date of one year after their issue date.

A formal resolution was passed commending Detective Sergeant Jerome Rice, and Patrolmen Raymond Delle Serra and Frederick Ahlholm for their actions in arresting two men now charged with breaking and entering and attempted burglary of the dwelling at 1463 Coles ave.

Police Commissioner Robert Ruggiero announced that the Mountainside Advisory Committee on Youth has arranged for a display of illegal drugs confiscated in the borough. The display, to be placed at the community pool, is to make residents realize that drug abuse is not restricted to the city but has reached even Mountainside, in its tremendous recent growth.

Ruggiero also recommended permission be granted to the Committee to Preserve Mountainside to raise funds for its work through soliciting in the borough. The council granted the permission.

2 guards still needed

Mountainside Police Chief Edward Mullin reports that there have been no further applicants for the two vacancies on the crossing guard staff. "The position," he said, "is ideal for mothers of school children who want to earn some extra money. Their hours are the same as the school hours and they will have the same days off as their children." The position pays $2.25 per hour and uniforms are supplied.

GEORGE CRANE

Crane now on staff at Westfield office

Henry L. Schwiering, SRA, vice president of Barrett & Crain, Inc., Realtors, with offices in Westfield and Mountainside, announced this week that George G. Crane has become associated with the firm as a member of the residential sales staff at the Barrett & Crain Westfield office which serves the adjoining communities of Mountainside, Scotch Plains, Fanwood and Westfield.

Crane, a resident of Mountainside since 1961, is a graduate of Bowdoin College, Maine, and comes to Barrett & Crain with a 12-year career background as an officer in the U.S. Army (Signal Corps) and in private industry (1958-69) involved in production, organizational management, sales and marketing. He was last employed by M. T. Chemicals, Inc., a subsidiary of American Can Co. in Rahway, N.J. and prior to that, for nine years, with Simonds Saw & Steel Co. of Fitchburg, Mass.

Crane has been active in a number of civic activities including the Borough of Mountainside safety program.

Crane and his wife, Daisy, reside with their three children, Jennifer, Sandra and David at 373 Creek Bed rd., Mountainside.

2 patrolmen commended by Springfield police

Chief Wilbur Selander of the Springfield Police Department has sent a letter to the Mountainside Police Chief, Edward Mullin, commending the work of two Mountainside police officers, patrolmen Steve Semancik and William Alder.

Their actions in an alarm at the Gem Shoe Store in Springfield resulted in a charge of breaking and entering for the men apprehended and may result in further charges in other towns for similar violations, Selander said.

PROFILE -- Charles J. Irwin

aside," he added.

The Mountainside legislator found his first two years in the assembly to be "the most interesting and stimulating experience of my life. I've always thought it was an important job, but now that I've seen it, it seems even more important."

The attorney, a graduate of Harvard Law School like his opponent in the November election, said that "if a voice is reasoned and speaks from a basis of facts and understanding, it's listened to in the legislature."

"THE LEGISLATURE in the past two years has done an outstanding job. We haven't done everything, but we have dealt with most of the problems."

"Avowed liberals will say we haven't done enough, avowed conservatives will say we've done too much. I guess that's a sign of a job well done," Irwin observed.

Irwin is proud that "we've been able to keep the budget in balance, yet meet the needs of the state and done it without any burdensome tax increases. The taxes that have been imposed," he stated, "have been well chosen and with a minimum of effect on the average taxpayer."

The assemblyman doesn't see a state income tax "for the next four or five years if we can continue along the road we are now on."

He does see, however, a need for economies in government, "particularly in the administrative branch." He said there is general waste in the Transportation, Motor Vehicles and Community Affairs Departments, where "spending has to be 'tightened up.'"

One of the major bills sponsored by Irwin in the assembly was the Union County Higher Education Bill, which he said was a "very sound way of approaching Union County's needs." The legislation permitted existing institutions to obtain state funds. Irwin said the measure "puts us way ahead of other counties."

He also moved waterfront bills, which he said "are very potent anti-crime bills." The legislator said he also "gathered support and moved the bill for the 18-year-old vote referendum," which appears on November's ballot.

As Union County Republican delegation leader, he moved all bills by his colleagues in the assembly. He also was responsible for introducing bills by Union County's two Republican senators.

"I also felt it was my responsibility to see that when Democratic assembly members from Union County had bills that were meritorious that they get through the county GOP caucus and out onto the floor."

IRWIN IS CONFIDENT of victory in November. "The registration of Democrats is greater than Republicans in Union County, but I just happen to believe that the electorate is very sophisticated; they're willing to examine the record. I'm hoping they give me the chance to go back and keep working."

The assemblyman's campaign slogan in November, 1967, was "You vote for me and I'll vote for you." "The people did vote for me and I feel I have responded by working very diligently for the people of this county and this state."

Irwin, a graduate of Teaneck High School's class of 1948, worked as an insurance placer after receiving his diploma. In 1951 he entered the New York College of Forestry in Syracuse, thinking of a career in that field. He later transferred to Syracuse University where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in economics in 1955. After graduation at Syracuse he entered the service where he commanded nuclear warfare defense teams, was an electronic countermeasures officer and a staff supply officer during two years with the Army.

After discharge in 1957, Irwin entered Harvard Law School in Cambridge. Three years later he was awarded his degree and began to work as an attorney for a Newark law firm, until he and Arthur Abrams began a law partnership in the same city. In 1967 he began his own general practice with a Mountainside office.

During the summers, Irwin and his wife, the former Diana Dunn of Mountainside, take off for the hills of Upstate New York for camping expeditions with their five children (Catherine, 13; Chris, 11; Cynthia, 10; Sharon, 8, and Justin, 3). They've recently returned from camping in the Adirondacks. "For someone interested in the outdoors, it's the most natural of all recreational activities," said Irwin, remembering his early experience as a forestry student. He trains them young, too: "That three-year-old is one of the best campers you've ever seen."

Irwin also skis with his wife and ice skates a little during the winter. During his college days, the legislator competed in the national ice skating championships.

In addition to his professional memberships in state and national bar associations, Irwin is Heart Fund chairman in Mountainside and is a member of the advisory board of the Children's Specialized Hospital in the borough. He is also a member of the Westfield Community Players group and that town's Rotary Club. Irwin also serves as a district captain in the Boy Scout fund raising campaign and is counsel to the Sportsmen's Voting League of New Jersey.

Irwin said a "Profile" of him would be incomplete without praise for his wife, who works as his legislative aide without pay and competition.

When asked how they became interested in the swimming team, only three names came up from all the families: "Mrs. Picut, Mrs. Wagner and Mr. Anderson (the pool director)." By an unofficial count during the interview, the three brought in about 25 per cent of the team and many of the top swimmers.

It appears that the large family participation has helped in bringing better team spirit as well. The team has family cheering sections and family coaching, which, according to the older members of the groups, does little good. "We try to coach the little ones, but they don't listen most of the time," said one.

Obviously no group this size could get off the ground without strong parental support. All the parents are in favor of the team and help out with such things as transportation (unless going to New York, the 70 or 80 team members taking part in a meet travel in private cars driven by parents). They have to drive us," said one of the girls. "There are too many of us to get into a car with someone else."

It appears that the effect of this family participation in swimming is beneficial to the family as a whole and to the team, making one group out of several individuals in the pool or the living room.

Miss Ciasulli wins mathematics prize

Lindan Gail Ciasulli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ciasulli of Summit, received the mathematics award at graduation ceremonies at the Oak Knoll School of the Holy Child in Summit. Her father is president of Gaylin Buick, Inc., Union.

The math award is given to the student with the highest achievement in mathematics for the year. Miss Ciasulli also won the award in 1968.

Miss Ciasulli has been accepted at Hartford University where she will major in mathematics. This summer she will work for the Summit-Elizabeth Trust Company in the computer department. She has taken a computer programming course at Oak Knoll.

The math award was presented by Dr. Joseph F. Sinzer, academic vice president of Pace College, who presided at the graduation ceremony.

Spofford named campaign chairman for Commerce- Industry United Fund

Gavin Spofford, president of the Summit and Elizabeth Trust Co., is the first general campaign chairman for The Commerce and Industry United Fund of Union County Area, Inc.

In making the announcement, Christian A. Hansen Jr., president of the fund, said, "The fall campaign will be the first county-wide commerce and industry campaign. This coordinated campaign has been made possible through the cooperative efforts of the local funds, business and labor. To the individual employee, the county fund offers one unified, convenient campaign."

The many programs currently provided by our agencies depend to a large extent on the success of this effort. We are delighted that Mr. Spofford has assumed this leadership position and under his direction I'm confident that we can look forward to a successful campaign."

Carl A. Herold, president of the United Fund of Union, commented: "We are extremely fortunate to have someone with Mr. Spofford's capabilities this first and crucial year. We are looking forward to working with him and pledge our support to ensure success of this first county wide effort."

Spofford, in addition to his responsibilities as president of the Summit and Elizabeth Trust Co., is president and director of Eastern Financial Services Corp. Active in community life, he is also a director of the Chamber of Commerce of Eastern Union County.

In discussing the Union County Fund and his role as general chairman, Spofford said: "By concentrating our efforts on the business and industry communities, our goal is to raise more funds for our agencies and on a long-range basis, to reduce over-all administrative and campaign costs. With additional funds our agencies can expand present programs and implement new programs aimed at local areas so that the needs of the entire community will be served."

According to Hansen, Spofford's acceptance of the general chairmanship completes the campaign organization. Members of the campaign team, which includes executives from major corporations in the area, are now in the process of setting up in-plant campaigns throughout the county. The campaign goal will be announced at a later date, Hansen concluded.

Ultimate victory over cancer forecast by society president

"The air of hope and cautious optimism that has been spreading through research laboratories these days is steadily lifting the fog around many of cancer's darkest secrets," Raymond J. Donahue of 508 Princeton rd., Linden, president of the Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society, said today.

Donahue, admitting that progress towards victory over cancer is slow, said scientists were in agreement that the ultimate defeat of cancer is edging nearer. "New fields of discovery," he pointed out, are opening and new dimensions are being added to research programs throughout the world, particularly to the American Cancer Society's broad research program.

"AS CANCER IS A major killer today," Donahue continued, "cancer research is urgent. Furthermore, research is vital because we are dealing with the very core of life itself, the cell. New and exciting leads in this specialized area are being discovered each day, making continuation of this necessary research mandatory," he said.

Among the new approaches to the control of cancer today, Donahue mentioned the increase in the use of drugs as the treatment of choice in leukemia, cancer of the blood-forming tissue. Ever since 1947 when a drug was first used to treat leukemia, new developments in chemotherapy, the use of drugs, in treatment have made rapid strides.

IN OTHER AREAS, ACS-supported investigators are seeking answers to how viruses may be involved with human tumors, Donahue said. "Before definite proof can be obtained," he added, "immense efforts will have to be made and large amounts of time and money expended. These efforts will require highly specialized scientists, exhaustively trained in addition to physicians trained primarily to treat patients."

At the same time, Donahue pointed out that many scientists see a slow attrition in the cancer problem, based mostly on discovery of new ways to prevent the disease.

Donahue concluded by stressing two ways by which an individual can help himself. One is by accurate knowledge of cancer's seven warning signals; the other by going for regular physical checkups at least once a year. "It must be noted," he added as a postscript "that the Cancer Society's 1969 Crusade slogan is 'Help yourself with a checkup and others with a check.'"

Service Club Day to be held at camp

The annual Service Club Day at Camp Merry Heart, special residential summer camp for New Jersey's handicapped children will be held Wednesday, July 23. The announcement was made today by William Streeton, president of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Union County.

The open-house will be hosted by West Orange Rotary Club, with its past-president, Stephen Holmes, acting as chairman. "Service Club Day was started several years ago," Holmes said, "as a means of allowing the crippled children to express their appreciation for the cooperation and support Camp Merry Heart receives from the service clubs throughout the year. Along with service club members to attend, along with their families and friends."

Guided tours, conducted by the campers will start at 4 p.m. followed by a buffet supper at 6. "Of special interest this year," said Streeton, "will be the recently constructed nature-study pavilion and a new dormitory cabin, which will enable many more of New Jersey's handicapped children to take advantage of a summer camp session at the state's only such facility."

Camp Merry Heart, located in the hills just outside of Hackensack, is sponsored jointly by the Crippled Children's Camp Association and the Easter Seal Society.

NIH THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH
BETHESDA, MARYLAND

Q. Are diet and alcohol related to cancer?
A. So far, studies by National Cancer Institute scientists at the National Institutes of Health and elsewhere have uncovered only a few forms of cancer in certain population groups that may be linked with diet. The high incidence of mouth, pharynx, and esophageal cancers in the far north of Sweden and Finland is possibly related to the deficient diet of many persons living in areas where fresh vegetables and other foods are not easily obtained. Malnutrition may also contribute to the high frequency of cirrhosis of the liver and the later development of liver cancer in some groups of African Negroes, Chinese, Japanese, and others. An association observed by many doctors between alcohol consumption and cancer of the mouth, pharynx, esophagus, and liver is suggested by a British study showing above-average death rates for these cancers among men in the alcoholic beverage trades, who, as a group, are thought to drink substantial amounts of alcohol.

Q. Is radiation a major cause of cancer?
A. With increasing use of radioactive materials in industry and medicine, and fallout from nuclear weapons testing, man-made radiation has become a major environmental problem. There is no doubt that large doses of radiation can cause many types of cancer. The development of leukemia and cancer of the lung, skin, bones, nasal sinuses, and other sites after exposure to heavy doses of radiation, as in some industrial accidents, has been reported. Survivors of the atomic bombings of Nagasaki and Hiroshima have a high incidence of leukemia. Radiologists and others regularly exposed to above-average doses of radiation are more likely to develop leukemia than persons not so exposed.

Q. Is air pollution related to cancer?
A. It is widely believed that the higher cancer death rates in urban areas are at least partly due to air pollution, but further studies are needed to settle the question. The atmosphere of all large cities and many adjoining areas is polluted by industrial smoke and fumes, automobile exhaust, combustion products from home heating, and the like. Polluted air often contains chemicals known to cause cancer in laboratory animals. The air in a limited area, such as a mine or industrial plant, is sometimes polluted by specific substances.

Group talk eschews fat

Group therapy, a fairly new concept in discovering and solving individual problems, has taken hold at Lean Line, a modern weight reduction club.
During each weekly meeting, the members break-off into individual groups to discuss their weight problems. It is during this open discussion that many Lean Line members begin to realize that they share a common problem with their fellow members.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

HAPPINESS IS
Happiness can never be measured as dollars and cents. The luxuries and conveniences of this modern world can make living more enjoyable, yet they can never make life completely perfect. It has been said that happiness is a state of mind. Yet, it is much more. Happiness abounds where there is love, understanding and togetherness.
Love of God requires that we love all which God has created, even that which is different.
Understanding requires that we recognize the rights and privileges of others, including the right to be different. Togetherness implies not merely unity within the family circles but acceptance of the fact that we are all children of God.
Happiness is recognition of God's world that inspires one to live according to God's will.

NEEDLEWORK

The unvarnished
Air bubbles in varnish makes it almost impossible to obtain a smooth finish. Here's how to avoid the bubbles. Don't stir the varnish. When loading the brush, do not drag the bristles across the rim of the can to remove excess varnish. This will cause tiny air bubbles to form under the tips of the bristles. Instead, tap the bristles lightly against the inside of the container just above the surface of the varnish.
FRIDAY DEADLINE
All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

HURRY-WARTS
Too many motorists are becoming chronic hurry-warts. According to the Institute for Safer Living, haste on the highway is seldom justified. Repeated tests show little time is gained by exceeding reasonable speeds, crowding the fellow ahead, lane weaving, persistent horn-blowing, and shouldering by on the right.

If you buy one, the finance company will hate you.

Most car loans last about three years. So do most cars. So when you finish paying for your old car, it's time to start paying for a new one.
As a result, you'll always be broke. But the finance company will love you.
Unlike most other cars, Volvo is built to last a lot longer than the payments.
9 out of every 10 Volvos registered in the United States in the last eleven years are still on the road today.
This means that if you buy a Volvo, the day will come when you'll be able to stop making payments to the finance company and start making payments to yourself.
Of course, the finance company will stop loving you.
But by then, their love will be one of the things you can afford to do without.

Be phatic with birds, not streptical

Professor creates own words for 'unnovel'

If you bet your bird you'd best do so as a phatic communicator instead of as a streptical one.

Look that up in your Funk and Wagnalls! Well you can't, at least not in the "Laugh In"-maligned Funk and Wagnalls dictionary. But the company has just published a book where these and several other very new explorations can be found.

The book is "The Divine Animal," an exploration of human potentiality," authored by Professor Roger Wescott, an anthropologist and linguist on the faculty of Drew University, Madison.

Professor Wescott prefers to focus on the future instead of digging up the past, as some anthropologists are wont to do. This requires some new words, so the professor has supplied them. "Phatic," for instance, is his word for non-linguistic vocalization, the dominant form of communication among most birds and primates. The word, from the Greek "phasis," which means "chatter" yields "phene," which is a phatic utterance (such as "uh-uh").

"Streptitus" on the other hand, is a new word for non-vocal phonation, or sound production without the use of the larynx or syrinx, and is the dominant form of communication among grasshoppers. The commonest forms of human-streptitus are hand-clapping and foot-tapping.

is thinly covered with intelligent animals, and "bibliographitis," a scholarly compulsion to cite authorities for every scrap of information presented.

Of the latter and its twin pathology, footnote disease, Professor Wescott says:

"Foremost among the idols of the academic marketplace is scholarly apparatus, which consists primarily of verbal devices so ponderous as to make most scholarly words unreadable to the non-specialist public. No doubt this unreadability is in part intentional, since it preserves the exclusiveness of the scholarly priest-hood and makes it less accessible to the uninitiated.

"Yet in the long run, I think, all exclusiveness is pathological, inasmuch as it impedes communication and thereby prevents the growth of communion.

"When these diseases reach an advanced stage, the volumes ravaged by them present pages in which the footnotes outweigh the text and the bibliographies are no longer than the chapters they follow. Faced with such obstacles, the lay reader understandably throws up his hands and reaches for livelier fare elsewhere."

The Divine Animal is intended by its author to be for the lay reader. He calls it an "un-novel," a "vision of humanity—man past, or passing, or to come: at best, perhaps a poem, and at worst a dream."

THE SUBJECT MATTER ranges from the natural superiority of children to America as an underdeveloped nation to the "riddle of nature" (unraveling taboo and the concept of dirt; the prehistory of neurosis; the nice, the nasty, and the natural).

It includes, with other conceptions as "bijectivity," a point of view which combines and transcends subjectivity and objectivity, and "ethnophily," an attempt to determine the hidden or ultimate meaning of cultural forms from "ethno," meaning tribal, and "sophy," meaning wisdom).

The most speculative and dramatic of the chapters is titled "Other Creatures, Other Worlds" and features the hypothesis that men from outer space "lived among men, as teachers and guides, until the Neolithic Period, about 10,000 years ago."

Despite his academic establishment credentials (four degrees from Princeton and one from Oxford, Rhodes Scholar, Ford Fellow, Phi Beta Kappa), Professor Wescott ventures far afield in his exploratory theory. He suggests that "when man developed some traits on his own such as monopolism, slavery, and war, the saucerites left the land, maintaining bases only in those places where they would be least likely to encounter or even be seen by their erstwhile proteges; that is, under the sea."

Professor Wescott, go to your room.

Sailing ship at seaport

The Barque Eagle, famous square rigged training ship of the United States Coast Guard Academy, will come to New York City tomorrow. She will be berthed at the South Street Seaport Museum, Pier 16 on the East River, after her arrival at 1 p.m.

The last sailing ship under the American flag will be open to the public for visiting on two of the three days she will be in New York. On Saturday and Sunday, she will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. and from 5 to 8 p.m.

She will be carrying 180 cadets of the academy's second and fourth classes on the second of four training cruises scheduled for the summer. The Eagle will sail from New York to New London, Conn. on Monday.

Flemington Fair opens Aug. 26

The Flemington Fair will open Tuesday, Aug. 26 and continue through Labor Day. One of the new features of the fair will be a 50-acre free parking area adjacent to a new entrance for visitors. An access road to the parking area has been built from Rt. 31.

The opening day of the fair has been designated Children's Day. On that day, and the Friday following, all children up to and including high school seniors will be admitted free.

Few ex-cons enter private enterprise

Work habits of former offenders studied

Being an ex-convict is tough right from the start. Encouraged by his parole officers to get a job, earn a living and stay out of prison, the ex-convict traditionally finds his way blocked, more often than not, by reluctance of employers to hire someone with a criminal record.

The road back to crime and perhaps to prison then becomes an easy one.

Sociologists at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, in a recent study have found, however, that the relatively few ex-offenders in the state who have set up their own businesses are doing surprisingly well in comparison with the high failure rate for small businesses throughout the country.

The 12-month study was financed by the U.S. Department of Labor and was conducted with the cooperation of the State Bureau of Parole. The research team was composed of Leon Jansyn, assistant research professor; Eric Kohlhof, research associate; Charles Sadowski, research assistant, and Dr. Jackson Toby, professor of sociology.

Having combed the rosters of parole offices in the state, the four-man research team came up with only a handful of ex-offenders who found their way into careers of private enterprise — 22 in all.

But of this number, 15 were considered as successful. Of these, seven were earning $10,000 or more annually, while eight others were earning between $6,000 and $10,000.

One of the group is making more than $30,000 in his business.

Of the remaining seven, four are working too hard for too little income and two sold their businesses and went to work for someone else. Only one failed completely.

The relatively high degree of success within the group has come about despite the fact that only six of those interviewed had previous experience or training in business procedures. The others got their experience by trial and error. Only two admitted to having been helped and advised by anyone.

These facts have led to a tacit conclusion in the report that a program to encourage self-employment among ex-offenders, along with counseling service and training, might be even better results.

The small number of ex-offenders in business for themselves, the sociologists point out, is probably the result of the tenuous nature of self-employment, its inherent risks, and the fact that traditional parole policies are geared to encouraging an ex-offender to "get a job."

The reasons for success in business may be the very reasons for delinquency itself, the research team notes. These include a desperate need for independence of action, a reluctance to conform and a certain daring nature.

The sociologists also found that those of the group who are married were enjoying a high degree of business success. The seven whose income was over $10,000 are married while five of the nine who are unmarried were the least successful.

The researchers found that all 22 persons interviewed indicated that being self-employed as small business operators developed a feeling of pride and self respect conducive to better social behavior.

EMERGING ENTREPRENEUR — A man leaving prison often finds the avenues to successful employment blocked by employers who are reluctant to hire anyone with a criminal record. Rutgers University sociologists have found in a recent study that the prospects for success for ex-offenders in self-employment ventures are good.

National employment rose last month with jobless rate virtually unchanged

WASHINGTON—National employment rose substantially in June, while the overall unemployment rate was virtually unchanged at 3.4 percent, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported. Jobless rates remained the same for most major groups in the labor force.

There were 3.4 million persons unemployed in June. The increase of 1.1 million from May was about in line with the usual May-June pattern; after seasonal adjustment, there was little change in the level of unemployment. Jobless rates for all adult men (2.0 percent), married men (1.5 percent), and adult women (3.7 percent) were unchanged from the previous month, as was the rate for full-time workers (3.1 percent). The unemployment rate for teenagers fell from 12.5 to 11.6 percent, with the decline concentrated among white girls.

The unemployment rate for white workers was 3.0 percent in June, about the same as in May. For nonwhite workers, the jobless rate was 7.0 percent, compared with 6.5 percent in May; it was up significantly from the 15-year low of 5.7 percent reached in January. Most of the rise in nonwhite unemployment was among adult men.

Total nonfarm payroll employment advanced 190,000 in June to 70.7 million (seasonally adjusted). The gain was broadly based, with employment pickups in both the goods- and service-producing industries.

Seasonally adjusted employment gains of 50,000 each were posted in contract construction and State and local government. Nearly half of the employment gain in contract construction, however, resulted from the return of workers who had been off payrolls in May because of strikes. Job growth was also reported in manufacturing (40,000) and trade (25,000).

The average workweek for the nation's rank and file workers rose one-tenth of an hour in June (seasonally adjusted), as increases in trade and finance offset a decline in construction. For manufacturing production workers, the workweek held steady at 40.7 hours in June (seasonally adjusted); this was equal to the 1968 average and was 0.3 hour below the 1965 peak reached last September.

The jobless rate for construction workers was 5.0 percent in June, the lowest since 1948.

Total unemployment for the April-June quarter averaged 2.8 million, about 140,000 above the January-March level, which was a record low for the post-Korean period. This increase represents the only sizeable quarterly rise in unemployment since early 1967 and reflects somewhat higher unemployment among adult men and women.

Largely because of the entry of youths into the job market, the civilian labor force increased by 2.8 million to 82.4 million between May and June. After seasonal adjustment, the civilian labor force was up by 280,000 returning to the April level.

Between the first and second quarters of 1969, the civilian labor force (seasonally adjusted) was virtually unchanged. This marks the first quarter in which the civilian labor force has failed to rise substantially since the second quarter of 1967. However, the recent leveling off followed a 1.2 million gain in the previous quarter. Despite its lack of growth in recent months, the civilian labor force was still 1.6 million higher in the second quarter of 1969 than in the comparable period a year ago.

A total of 74.0 million persons were employed in June, 1.7 million more than in May. After seasonal adjustment, employment was up 400,000 from May but was about the same as in April. The over-the-month increase took place entirely in the nonagricultural industries.

In the April-June quarter, employment (seasonally adjusted) was unchanged from the first quarter of the year. This contrasts with a 1.2 million employment gain achieved between the last quarter of 1968 and the first quarter of 1969.

The number of nonagricultural employees confined to part-time work because of economic reasons rose 200,000 (seasonally adjusted) in June. The May-to-June rise was concentrated among teenagers.

Average hourly earnings for all workers on private payrolls rose 1 cent in June to $3.02. Compared with June 1968, hourly earnings were up 18 cents, or 6.3 percent.

Average weekly earnings for production and nonsupervisory workers averaged $115.06, up $1.85 from May. All major industry divisions posted gains in weekly earnings, ranging from $1.02 in construction to $2.38 in mining. Since June 1968, average weekly earnings have risen by $6.86 (6.3 percent).

Unemployment up 19,900 in June, state unit reports

Unemployment in New Jersey rose by 19,900 to 140,800 from May to June, and the unemployment rate moved up by 0.6 to 4.7 percent of the work force, according to estimates of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry. The volume increase for this period was the largest on record, and resulted from a substantial upswing in the number of new and re-entrant jobseekers. Compared with June 1968, however, unemployment fell by 1300 and the rate declined by 0.1. During June, 3,600 persons were involved in labor-management disputes.

From May to June, the unemployment rate went up in 12 labor areas, decreased in two, and remained the same in one. Wildwood continued to have the highest unemployment rate in the state, at 6.2; and for the second consecutive month, Trenton had the lowest, at 3.8.

The Department reported the unemployment will rise moderately in July as jobseekers continue to enter the work force. By August, unemployment will begin to move down.

Total unemployment for June in the Newark labor area was 38,100, a rate of 4.2 percent.

Exams Saturday for Peace Corps

Area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are eligible to take the Peace Corps placement test at 1:30 p.m., Saturday at Room B-89, Federal Building, Newark.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before the test. Application forms are available from post offices.

Fifteen thousand volunteers are currently serving in Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Pacific Islands, working with the people of those nations in self-help projects ranging from food production to health to education. More volunteers are needed for programs which will begin training soon.

VERMONT CITIES
The largest city in Vermont is Burlington, with a population of 74,425. Rutland is another big town with 46,719 residents.

Eire frees artists of taxes Cultural contribution is cited

With a gesture that went almost unnoticed elsewhere, Ireland's Minister for Finance, Charles Haughey, has exempted creative artists from the payment of income tax.

Announcing this in the Dail (the Irish Parliament), Haughey stated during that, though material progress was vital to the nation's well being, by itself it was not enough. "Indeed," he said, "it brings many problems in its wake which must be identified and solved if the quality of living is also to improve."

Discussing the problem of the use of leisure in our time, Haughey restated the view of many that there is an urgent need to provide a wide range of cultural, educational and social facilities for all; to create a situation, in fact, where the arts become an integral part of the daily life of each individual. As a further encouragement to creative artists living and working in Ireland, and to help create a sympathetic environment where the arts could flourish, the Minister said his Finance Bill would exempt writers, composers, painters and sculptors living in Ireland from tax on all earnings derived from work of cultural merit. Decisions as to what constitutes the cultural life of a nation, will be taken by the country's Independent Arts Council.

Foreign artists who decide to live and work in Ireland will also be exempted from the payment of tax on income from artistic work — which should result in additional stimulus to the intellectual life of the people.

Paterson man directs NCE summer program

Melvin Thompson of Paterson joined the administration of Newark College of Engineering on July 1 as director of NCE's Engineering Opportunity Program.

The recipient of two National Science Foundation grants, he has served as vice president in charge of educational programs for the Primers Civic Association at Paterson, as a delegate of the Paterson Education Association, and as an elected member-at-large of the New Jersey Science Teachers Association.

Thompson is also steward of the First A.M.E. Zion Church, Paterson, a member of the board of directors of the Martin Luther King Community Center and a member of the community advisory board of Tombrcko College, West Paterson.

At Newark College of Engineering Thompson will handle the administrative coordination of the college's Engineering Opportunity Program, a pilot operation established in June of 1968 to assist economically and educationally disadvantaged high school graduates toward engineering education.

Twenty youngsters from Newark were selected as the initial group for EOP last spring. They spent the summer taking preparatory work in mathematics, physics and English and started freshman subjects in September under a reduced load basis.

Tuition and fees, books and supplies are provided by NCE; each participating EOP student also receives a weekly stipend for subsistence.

State trooper test to be administered July 23 and 24

The State Police entrance examination will be given on Wednesday, July 23, and Thursday, July 24, at Essex Catholic High School, 300 Broadway, Newark, according to Col. D. B. Kelly, Superintendent of New Jersey State Police. Col. Kelly said no prior application is needed to take the test, which will begin at 7 p.m. on each day. Applicants may take either exam.

Those taking the test must be a U.S. citizen; have a high school diploma or equivalent certificate; be between 21 and 34 years of age (as of Feb. 27, 1970); weigh no less than 150 pounds; be at least five feet, eight inches tall; have no less than 20/30 vision in both eyes without glasses or contact lenses; have the ability to distinguish colors; have normal hearing in both ears; good teeth with satisfactory restorations; body free from physical defects; good reputation and moral character; must have a valid driver's license. Both married and single men are acceptable, said Col. Kelly.

Applicants who take the exam will be notified of the results. Those who pass will be instructed to report to Division Headquarters, West Trenton, for the medical and physical examination. Results, said Col. Kelly, will be held in the strictest confidence.

Successful applicants will be appointed by the state police academy for a 14-week training period and receive a biweekly salary of $264 plus meals and quarters. Upon graduation, the annual salary of a trooper is $7,018 plus $1,704 maintenance allowance. Yearly increments of $351 are granted until the maximum of $9,124 plus $1,704 is attained, said Col. Kelly.

10-minute reading test
The U.S. Training and Employment Service is developing a 10-minute test that will accurately determine the reading and arithmetic level of a disadvantaged job applicant. It is expected to be in use in all States by mid-1970 as an aid in the U.S. Labor Department's comprehensive manpower training and job placement programs.

Extended coverage in effect for unemployment insurance

Thousands of workers who are employed by small employers in New Jersey will be covered this year for the first time by the state's unemployment and disability insurance programs.

Under an amendment to the New Jersey Unemployment Compensation Law, which became effective Jan. 1, employing units with one or more individuals in covered employment became subject for both unemployment and disability purposes, when their total payroll reaches $1,000 in the calendar year. Prior to the change, the law generally covered employers of four or more workers for 20 weeks in a calendar year. An estimated 60,000 employers will be affected by the amendment.

Edward J. Hall, director of the Division of Employment Security, the state agency which administers the programs, said that it is expected the amendment will grant unemployment and disability insurance protection to about 100,000 workers. Some of these are engaged in seasonal industries in areas where there is no other work available during the off-season.

In addition to helping workers meet essential living expenses by providing a partial wage replacement during periods of involuntary unemployment, a secondary effect of such benefit payments is the assistance they lend the state's economy, particularly in its resort areas. Also, covered workers are afforded protection during periods of off-the-job disability or illness, with cash benefits payable if they meet other qualifying requirements.

Covered employers who are registered with the division are given a placard which they are required to display informing their workers as to their rights and responsibilities under the law.

"If your employer has not posted such a notice, ask if you are covered," Hall advised workers. He said some employers, many of whom have recently opened businesses for the summer season, have not as yet submitted the necessary status forms.

The Division of Employment Security maintains eight regional auditor's offices through the state to assist employers. The required forms may be obtained by employers at these offices as well as from the central office located in the Department of Labor and Industry Building at Trenton. The nearest regional auditor's office are located at 349 Washington St. (Room 401), Newark, N.J. 07102; 101 N. 2nd St. (Room 203), Morristown.

Here's an easy to prepare treat for eating outdoors. Combine 1 can (1 pound 5 ounces) pork and beans with 4 hot dogs, cut into bite-size pieces and 1/4 cup chili sauce. Heat and spoon onto toasted hot dog rolls; sprinkle each with 1 to 2 teaspoons grated Parmesan cheese. Serve hot.

Remove tubes from kidneys and cut into 1-inch pieces. Add water, bouillon cubes, onions and seasonings. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1-1/2 hours. Add carrots and continue cooking until meat is tender. Add lemon juice, then thicken with flour mixed with water to form a smooth paste. Serve in a ring of cooked rice, 8 to 10 servings.

For a quick and easy breakfast or supper, cut frankfurters into one fourth inch slices and scramble them with eggs. A hint of Worcestershire sauce provides a zesty note.

For quick sandwiches, mince hard-cooked eggs and olives, then mix with cream cheese for a delicious spread.

Orange sections, seedless grapes and almonds added to slivered chicken with mayonnaise make a good party salad.

A FEMININE LOOK

(Commentary on a Study Mission from the Atlantic to the Pacific — but across the USSR)

by TRUDINA HOWARD

USPENSKY CATHEDRAL (Cathedral of the Assumption within the Kremlin walls) with a view of modern Moscow in the background. This cathedral, as well as several others in the Kremlin, were also undergoing repairs. Many churches throughout the USSR are being repaired to become museums for tourists to visit.

THE GLORIOUS ST. BASIL'S in Red Square, Moscow, as it looked before its face-lifting began. On this trip, the 16th century cathedral was bedecked with scaffolding to get a new paint job on its wooden spires, and was not as photogenic as it usually is. The church, up to now, had been used for storage but will now also be restored inside as a museum.

AN 'UN-CROWN-UP' HOUSE typical of the kind found in Tallinn, Estonia. These houses are unpainted and the wooden shutters usually beautifully carved. They are dotted all over the city and can be found even on side streets in the center of the city. The tops of the windows are about the height of a man.

TRAVELER AND "FRIEND" in Tallinn, Estonia. Trudina Howard peers a peek at a rare item in the USSR as the owner looks on. The soft boots and "Babushka" are typical gear for elderly women in the Soviet Union. The bus in the background was a special tour bus and was the only air conditioned item that worked in the USSR.

Eighth in a Series IMPRESSIONS OF USSR CITIES TALLINN AND MOSCOW FIRST

If a common word had to be drafted for the cities of the USSR which are Study Mission group visited, it ought to be "eh!" Individually, perhaps a few other words could be used, but just barely.

"There may be a Heaven There may be a Hell, Meanwhile, there are 'Soviet Cities'... Well!"

The word for Tallinn, the capital of Estonia and the first USSR city of our tour, could also be "grey." It did rain, however, but even so, the buildings were of grey stone or unpainted weathered wood and the impression was grey, rain or no rain. Many of the streets were narrow and roughly paved or cobble-stoned; most of the buildings were history-old, and little wooden unpainted houses that hardly seemed to have grown up (they were so tiny and close to the ground) poked about everywhere.

It was in Tallinn, however, that we attended the ballet and it was anything but grey. We saw three "shorties" and it was spectacular and colorful, and so was the old and elegant theatre. We were quite cultural on this trip. Perhaps it was the influence of romance and our four pairs of love birds. Anyway, in Moscow we also went to the opera and saw "The Queen of Spades" at the Bolshoi Theatre. Bolshoi means "big" or "great" in Russian—and the theatre was. It too was elegantly old and so grand it was hard to tell which was the most spectacular there—the theatre or the opera.

BUT GETTING BACK TO ESTONIA: the country is not quite the smallest of the 15 USSR republics (two others are smaller) but it is the smallest in population. There are 1,300,000 people in Estonia and 350,000 of them live in Tallinn. While Estonia may be the smallest in population, it seemed the hostess with the mostest in friendliness. A whole bevy of young people attached themselves to members of our group and were quite keen on talking of world affairs, the arts and US politics. They were extremely hospitable and generous and anxious to be friendly. Our young TV cameraman was quite

Nixon wants jobless benefits extended down on the farm

WASHINGTON — In a message to Congress, President Richard M. Nixon has urged strengthening-of-the-nation's unemployment insurance system to include, among other beneficiaries, 600,000 workers on the farms or in agricultural processing activities. The proposed legislation, sent to the Congress by Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, would extend unemployment insurance to 4,800,000 workers not now covered, would accelerate retraining efforts, and would add a federal program automatically extending the duration of benefits in periods of high

Philharmonic to appear at the Botanical Garden

Daffodil Hill at The New York Botanical Garden, the Bronx, will once again be the setting for two concerts by The New York Philharmonic in August. The concerts, Friday, Aug. 1, and Friday, Aug. 15, at 8:30 p.m., will be free to all pedestrians. The only charge will be a $1 parking fee for vehicles not owned by members of the Botanical Garden.

Joseph Krips will conduct the Aug. 1 concert. At the Aug. 15 concert Karel Ancerl will conduct the Philharmonic Orchestra.

Outing Club plans wine, cheese tasting tonight

A wine and cheese tasting party will be held by the Short Hills Outing Club tonight at 8:30 at the Colonial Lodge, 495 Chestnut st., Union. The affair is open to all persons 21 or over. Plans for a Gay Nineties day and night at the Shore, a hike to Terrace Pond and other activities will be discussed. Further information can be obtained by calling 525-3400, ext. 829, or 372-8119.

captured by one charming blonde and we thought for a moment we were going to have another traveler and a fifth love affair in our midst, but he withstood it all.

Even the "cultural palace" visit didn't hurt as much as usual in Tallinn. A quartet of women dressed quite fashionably in pale blue shifts and latest fashion shoes (the USSR has a reputation for having the ungalilest shoes in the world) sang for us there, and their repertoire included "Side by Side" and "Down Mexico Way" — just for our benefit, sung both in Estonian and English. Not only were they good but they were probably the brainiest quartet on the face of the earth. One woman was a chemical engineer, two were lab technicians and the fourth was a chemistry engineer and head of that department at the Ministry of Food and Agriculture.

MOSCOW, OR, AS YOU SEE IT IN RUSSIAN, "МОСКВА" was our second stop and its word could be "cold." Perhaps also "big." I do not mean temperature wise, for it was about 85, but cold in people and places. As for big, Moscow is the fifth largest city in the world, coming after London, New York, Tokyo, Shanghai, and has six and a half million people. The University of Moscow alone has 40,000 students. Even its hotels are gargantuan. The new Hotel Russia has 6,000 rooms and our older Ukraine Hotel had 1,001. That's so big it isn't even nice.

Moscow of 1968 was a different story than the Moscow of 1960 when I first visited it. It seemed shinier on the outside, more modern looking on the outside and the people were dressed in gayer, more stylish, (if not good quality,) clothes and shoes than in 1960. There were significantly more apartment houses, row upon row upon row, many new buildings, new streets, new bridges — the Moscow river keeps getting in the way — and, there were a great many more cars. They say there are 150,000 motor vehicles in Moscow, 20,000 taxis and eight—yes eight—gas stations. It seems to be true. No matter how hard you look you can never see a gas station. There are pumps though, we were told, in the alley ways and behind houses and buildings and "if you have a car you will know where to find one."

Besides the "hidden" gas stations, you can-employment. In his message, the President pointed out that, although more than 57 million workers are now protected by unemployment insurance, almost 17 million are not covered — more than half of them in state and local governments. The last extension of coverage was enacted during the Eisenhower Administration, when 6 million additional workers were included.

The proposed legislation would provide coverage for: 400,000 workers on large farms employing four or more workers in each of 20 weeks; 200,000 in agricultural processing activities; 1,600,000 in small firms with less than four employees; 1,800,000 in nonprofit organizations; 600,000 in state hospitals and universities; and 200,000 salesmen, delivery tradesmen, and others who are not currently defined as employees.

Many of the additional workers for whom coverage is proposed are low wage earners with little job security and no prospect of termination pay if they are laid off.

THE PRESIDENT HAS ALSO proposed that the maximum benefits be increased to two-thirds of the average wage in the state. This change would result in benefits of 50 percent in wages to at least 80 percent of insured workers.

Another proposed change is a requirement that all states permit workers to continue to receive benefits while enrolled in training programs designed to increase their employability. Twenty-five states now deny benefits to such workers on the theory that they are not available for work.

The President also recommended that a standard based on a minimum period of 15 weeks employment be required as a condition of benefit eligibility, and that no flat dollar amount be permitted as the only yardstick. He also proposed that the practice of paying unemployment insurance benefits to workers directly engaged in a strike be discontinued.

To protect the economy in periods of high unemployment, the proposed legislation contains a trigger mechanism that would automatically extend the length of time benefits are paid in all states when the national jobless rate of those covered by insurance equals or exceeds 4.5 percent for three consecutive months.

The President has also proposed that the taxable wage base for the Unemployment Insurance Tax — which has been $3,000 for three decades — be raised over a five-year period to $6,000 and thereafter be reviewed periodically to make certain the adequacy of financing.

In urging that the Congress and the states enact the proposed legislation, President Nixon pointed out that insurance purchased through a tax on the employers of America in behalf of their employees can be a potent counterweight to a downturn in the business cycle. "This proves," said the President, "that well-conceived social legislation can be a great boon to business and to all Americans affected by the state of the economy."

not find a clean table cloth on the inside of those new hotels, either, or a modern looking bath or kitchen in the shiny new buildings. I don't mean to infer that they do not have plumbing. They do. It just seems as though they don't. Anyway, it's all ancient looking with pipes running on the outside most of the time. The city points with pride to its huge new hotels and completely ignores the fact that the plumbing doesn't work, the elevator sticks, the table ware is dirty and the waitress doesn't care to serve you.

In 1960 Moscow seemed friendlier and less frantic. This year it was driving. There were more soldiers about, there was building and construction going on all over and there seemed to be a great deal more night life. We were told that the Moscovites have money to spend but nothing to spend it on so they are buying "champagne" and caviar and going out at night. In the process they are rather rapidly depleting the caviar source of supply (a serious point to the government) but it doesn't seem to worry the comrades. They eat on. It is served in large portions too, usually heaped high in a bowl which is surrounded with ice. Ice? What's that?

At any rate, there is not a great deal of consumer goods, particularly electrical, on the market even yet (in 1960 there was hardly even a lipstick) and autos too are scarce — and expensive. Average wages in Siberian USSR are about twice as much as that of European USSR (this because of the incentive plan and runs about 200 or 300 rubles a month minimum) but the rate of pay in Moscow is far less than in the U.S., yet the demand for the cars exceeds the supply.

So the poor little Moscovites are driven to champagne and caviar. Ah me.

Peer camping successful Age determines the programs

Postcards and letters home to the parents of the 1,300 campers under his supervision should be describing a new kind of summer experience, according to Matthew Elson, executive of the five New Jersey YMIAs.

YWIA Camps at Milford and Lake Como, Pa.

He said the acquisition of two new camp facilities — Camps Round Lake and Long Lake Como — have not only enlarged the total 'Y' camps population by about 50 percent but have enabled the organization to introduce two new concepts, coordinate camping and peer camping, into its programming in all units.

He pointed out that where previously Camp Nuh Jee Wah had housed only girls and Cedar Lake only boys, the two Milford installations now serve both sexes, as do the other 'Y' camps.

With the introduction of peer camping, the age span in each camp, instead of ranging as heretofore from 7 to 14, is limited to two years, he indicated, enabling each camp's program to focus entirely on meeting the special needs of the particular age group that it serves.

"The surprising thing about it all," Elson said, "is that with so much new taking place — the absorption of two entire camp establishments, the intake of about 500 additional campers, the orientation of an enlarged staff to the new philosophy — the smoothness of the transition exceeded all expectations."

He added that in fact there seemed to be no transition period and that, aside from the expected first day homesickness and strange feelings of some new campers, everything proceeded according to plan.

Miss Shirley Scott weds Gary Furze in Cranford church

MRS. GARY FURZE
The First Presbyterian Church of Cranford was the setting June 21 of the marriage of Miss Shirley M. Scott, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Scott of 417 Fairmount ave., Roselle Park, to Gary Furze, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Furze of 328 North 18th st., Kenilworth.

The Rev. Robert C. Longaker officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception followed at the Cranford in Garwood.

Miss Lyn Walsh of Highland Park, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Darlene Scott and Miss Cindy Scott, both of Roselle Park, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Wayne (Marbella) Furze of Elizabeth, sister-in-law of the groom; Miss Darlene Furze of Kenilworth served as flower girl.

Wayne Furze of Elizabeth served as best man for his brother, Ushers were Joseph Nachin of Kenilworth, Jimmy Scott of Roselle Park, brother of the bride, and Dennis Condon of Springfield, cousin of the groom. Bruce Good of Kenilworth served as ring bearer. Mrs. Furze, who was graduated from Roselle Park High School, is employed by Volco Brass and Copper Co., Kenilworth.

Her husband, who was graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, is employed by Wakefern Co., Elizabeth. The couple is residing in Roselle Park, following a honeymoon in Florida.

UC will get Fed grant

A grant of $5,000 has been awarded to Union College, Cranford, by the U.S. Office of Education under the College Library Resources Program, it was announced today by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president.

Dr. Iversen said the grant was made under Title II-A of the Higher Education Act of 1965. He said the funds will be used to purchase about 600 additional volumes for Union College, including books in the areas of law enforcement and education for new programs being offered in the fall.

In order to qualify for the grant, Union College must match the $5,000 for the purchase of additional library resources, Dr. Iversen said.

Benefit car wash set for Saturday

College students, seminars and other volunteers will give up part of their weekend Saturday to wash cars at Union College, Cranford, to help handicapped people vacation this summer in Canada.

The car wash will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the South Parking Lot of the Union College campus. In case of rain, the car wash will be held on the same hours on Sunday, July 20.

The handicapped persons are members of the First Saturday Club. The 200 members are from communities throughout North and Central New Jersey.

'The Merry Wives' in 2 performances at Plainfield park

"The Merry Wives of Windsor," a Shakespearean comedy, will be presented in an area adjoining the Shakespeare Garden in Cedar Brook Park, Plainfield, tomorrow and Saturday, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

The play will be performed by the players of the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival of Woodbridge. The performances in the Union County parks are sponsored by the City Federal Savings and Loan Association, with the cooperation of the Union County Park Commission.

The play is a comic battle of the sexes completed with pranks, secrets, disguises and tomfoolery on both sides. This slapstick comedy introduces Shakespeare's most beloved buffoon, the corpulent Falstaff.

The play lends itself to a natural outdoor setting. Bleachers will be set up to accommodate 600 spectators. Admission is free to both performances.

The same play will be presented in Warrinco Park, Elizabeth and Roselle, on Monday, July 28, and Tuesday, July 29.

The Shakespearean dramas, first presented in the Union County Parks in 1961, have proved to be a popular summer attraction.

Parents of diabetics to hold meeting tonight

The Parents of Children with Diabetes will meet tonight at 8 in the meeting room of Irvington General Hospital. The Visiting Nurses Association will provide the speakers. Group adviser is Dr. Bernard Robbins. Officers are Mrs. Joseph Desch, president, Mrs. Richard Ericson, secretary, and Mrs. Edward Hahn, treasurer.

The six communities in the Union County Regional High School District showed a 25 percent growth in population during the 1960-1966 period.

Newark State campus a busy place this summer; 4,500 taking courses

Summers are not quiet at Newark State College, Union. With the opening of the 34th summer session in July some 4,500 are now enrolled for six weeks of instruction. Out of the total number of students, 1,887 are enrolled in graduate studies. A survey taken at registration reveals that over 150 colleges have representatives among the undergraduates taking courses.

Some of the special course offerings during the summer session are an institute on the Black American, a course in film making, a creative theater workshop and a unique course in foreign languages.

The unique feature of the course in French and Spanish is that it condenses one full academic year of work into six weeks. This is achieved by dividing the session into two three week "semesters". The students in this course attend their classes daily from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Certain field work courses are being conducted for credit as part of the summer session. Two of these courses are the Business Industry Cooperating Council and an institute on teaching the mentally retarded child.

BICC is a summer externship program for teachers in the Newark school system. Its essential purpose is to expose them to advances in industrial techniques and the daily work day operation of a firm. There are 12 cooperating businesses and industries participating as members of BICC. They are Bambergers in Newark, Fidelity Union Trust Company in Newark, First National State Bank in Newark, Hahne and Company of Newark, National Newark and Essex Bank, New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, Otto B. May Inc. of Newark, Prudential Insurance Company, the Public Service Electric and Gas Company, The Schering Corporation in Union, and the Kearny and Newark branches of Western Electric.

The field work in the teaching of mentally retarded children is being conducted at the Woodbridge State School under the supervision of Dr. David Bilowitz of the college faculty. Here the students are being taught first-hand in the methods of teaching mentally retarded children.

In addition to the varied course offerings of the summer session, the field services office has scheduled a complete calendar of extra curricular activity. The program of events range from a weekly coffee hour to the performance of George Bernard Shaw's "Candida" by the Heritage Theater company, in addition to daily activities such as swimming, tennis, etc.

Charles Longacre, director of field services, is the chief administrator of the summer session programs. In expressing his philosophy on the summer session Longacre feels "the program must assist the development of the 'whole' student." Further he adds "the summer session is moving in the same direction towards liberal arts with the rest of the college, as well as providing those specific courses designed to assist professional development of career educators."

Students completing their course of studies with the summer session will have their degrees conferred in August. Both bachelor and master's degrees will be given at this time.

With some 4,500 students, faculty, staff and professional people from the community on the Union campus this summer it is evident that school doesn't let out at Newark State.

Simply write 'refused'

You don't have to pay for unordered items that turn up in your mailbox and you don't have to personally hand it back to the postman. Simply write "refused" on the package and take it back to the post office. This is the best way to discourage further shipments.

MRS. HAROLD W. MAIER

Mrs. Maier heads blood program of Red Cross chapter

Mrs. Harold W. Maier of 175 Parkview Drive, Union, has been named blood program chairman of Eastern Union County Chapter, American Red Cross.

A former chairman of Red Cross services to military families, she has served the chapter in many capacities during the last 15 years. Long a member of the board of directors, she is a former volunteer social welfare aide and some years ago was vice president of the Union branch.

In her new post Mrs. Maier will be responsible for setting up area blood banks, assigning volunteers and recruiting donors. These include regularly scheduled blood banks the first Monday of each month at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth, as well as community blood banks at various locations in the area.

Union's own community blood bank will be held on Sept. 25. Donors contributing may establish credits to supply blood needs of themselves, their families and colleagues for a full year, Mrs. Maier said. Eastern Union County Chapter serves Hillside, Linden, Union, Elizabeth, Roselle, Roselle Park and Winfield. In addition to her Red Cross activities, Mrs. Maier has been a district captain of the yearly Cancer Crusade and has assisted in fund raising for multiple sclerosis.

Ball to be held July 26 for Masons, Shriners

Blackboard jungle 'myth' is blasted

Institute tries to dispell fear of urban teaching

"It is time to blast the myth of the blackboard jungle," Dr. Albert J. Mazurkiewicz, former chairman of the Department of Education and professor of reading education at Newark State College, Union, said this week. He recently conducted an experimental institute on urban teaching on the Newark State campus and concluded that the reason many prospective teachers shy away from urban teaching is that they have been intimidated by "myths."

The Institute was a joint project by Newark State and the Elizabeth school system, sponsored by the Urban Schools Development Council in Trenton and funded under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. Attending without credit were 22 undergraduate students and 14 teachers who were interested in working in urban schools.

"They all entered the institute with fear and anxiety because they had been subjected to myths and legends about the dangers of urban teaching," Dr. Mazurkiewicz said. "But we blasted those myths. We intend to expand the program next year and free more teachers for work where they are urgently needed," he said.

Fourteen teachers from Schools 1 and 20 in Elizabeth volunteered to help with the program. They worked with members of the institute in groups of 8 to 10 and later in groups of 10 to 20, exploring attitudes and sharing experiences. Students had an opportunity to observe classes being taught, see films on urban teaching and hear lectures on reading problems and such special aspects of urban teaching as language differences. The students had much to say themselves about the myths that were blasted.

"We had been confronted with stereotypes in what we were told about ghetto children," said Tony Mistretta of 22 North 8th st., Kenilworth. "Now we know that these stereotypes are false."

"Hostility is not limited to children of the ghetto," according to Muriel Baumwoil of Elizabeth. "It is merely more overt in ghetto areas. It is present in suburban children also, but it is more surreptitious."

"Aggressions are more immediate among urban children," said Janet Siano of Irvington. "Children are the same everywhere. Their similarities outweigh their differences," said Lorraine Mayefskie of Elizabeth. The undergraduate members of the institute will have a chance to test their attitudes in September, when they begin their senior practice teaching. They have all been assigned to Schools 1 and 20 in Elizabeth.

CALLING ALL Home Makers

By Walter Wilderotter
LET'S TALK ABOUT "COLOR SCHEMES"

Popular colors in upholstered furniture, draperies and floor coverings change from time to time, just the same as they do in women's fashions.

You might be interested in knowing that a recent nation-wide survey at the furniture mart in Chicago shows that greens are the #1 best seller now in upholstered furniture followed by golds, reds, browns and blues.

But the best rule in selecting the "basic" color for your living room, or any room in your home, is to start with a color YOU like best.

Some like monotonous, or different tones of the same color used throughout a room. Others like contrasting or harmonizing colors. Either plan, with careful study, can be equally effective.

But you must start some place. In a living room it is best to start either with your floor covering or your sofa or sectional and work out your color scheme from there. You can also select your wall colors first and then pick the rest of your furniture and furnishings to harmonize with your walls.

Some decorators prefer neutral colors for sofas or sectionals which enable them to use a great deal of color in chairs and accessories.

Please feel free to let us help you with any of your color selections.

So whether you like to mix or match, our decorators here at Wilderotter's, 910 Springfield Ave., Irv., are at your service without cost or obligation. Open daily 'til 9. Sat. 'til 6.

Slot machines employed on set

HOLLYWOOD—For certain scenes in 20th Century-Fox's forthcoming "The Only Game in Town," set in Las Vegas but filmed primarily in France, 100 slot machines were employed to create the aura of America's gambling capital.

One of the film's extras maintained a special interest in these sequences for, as a member of the French Department of Customs and Excise, it was his job to see that the one-armed bandits were never used for actual gambling purposes. They are strictly illegal in France.

Starring Elizabeth Taylor and Warren Beatty, "The Only Game in Town" was directed by George Stevens, produced by Frank Gilroy.

Actress signed

HOLLYWOOD—Estelle Parsons has been signed for the leading feminine role in "The Night the Sun Came Out on Happy Hollow Lane" for Columbia Pictures.

TURNTABLE TREAT (good listening) COMMITMENT: by Bob Darin, Here's an LP album on the DIRECTION label (1937) that's well-worth your listening time. All ten numbers were written by the versatile lobby, who has a vocal ball in performing them— "Me & Mr. Hohner," "Sugar-Man," "Saucer-alto" (The Governors' Song), "Song for a Dollar," "The Harvester," "The Harvester Part II," "Water Color Canvas," "I've Got a Magic Man" and "Light Blue."

COMING UP—The New York Rock and Roll Ensemble and the Pennsylvania Ballroom Company will join Jeffrey and Ronald Marlowe, a Philadelphia duo-piano team, in "Tom Back to Rock and Back," on PEPERTOPE WORKSHOP Saturday, July 19 (8:30 p.m.) broadcast on WCBZ-TV.

Performing in Philadelphia's Art Museum Plaza, the Marlowe team will offer selections from their concert repertoire of piano. Tunes to demonstrate the influence of classical music on the lively arts. Their program will include Bach's Concerto in C Major for two pianos and "Ritual Fire Dance" by Debussy.

The New York Rock and Roll Ensemble, noted for their ability to slip smoothly from rock to classic and back again, will perform "Thinking of Mary" and "Hateful Friends and Lattering Foes." In addition, the ensemble will combine classical and pop rock music as the basis for an original ballet, to be performed by three dancers from the Pennsylvania Ballet Company under the direction of choreographer Robert Polham, creator of the work.

Padula stage musical arrives at Paper Mill

"Red, White and Maddox," Broadway stage musical, which opened Tuesday at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, is produced by Newark's Edward ("Bye Bye, Birdie") Padula.

The original Broadway cast is retained on the Paper Mill stage, including its star, Jay Garner.

A game with hazards Golf traps not always planned

There are more "hazards" on a golf course than those put in by the designer, warns Don Costa, safety director of the Allstate Insurance Companies.

Players run their motorized carts into trees, bombard one another with golf balls, clobber their fellows with clubs and invite electrocution by playing during thunderstorms.

Most golfing injuries, Costa says, are inflicted by the golf ball that drops "from nowhere." Such injuries are often slight, for the ball has traveled far enough to lose its initial speed. But at close range, a ball can deliver a knockout blow.

"Generally these accidents are caused by a lack of common sense and courtesy. Golf, essentially, is not a dangerous sport; it's only the players who make it hazardous," Costa points out.

"The rules of golfing etiquette provide the basis for personal conduct from tee to green, but they also help every player avoid the potential accident hazards which are present on all golf courses," says Costa.

WITH MOST GOLF COURSES crowded as a result of the great interest in the game today, Costa urges golfers to observe safety rules followed by the pros:

1. Know and obey the rules of golfing etiquette which provide ground rules for the game. 2. Respect fellow players by allowing plenty of room when playing off the tee. Keep your distance and ask others to do the same when you are driving. Be careful when taking practice swings and remain in posted areas until ready to start play.

3. Never play until the fairway is clear. Allow players ahead to hit second shots or wait until they are out of driving range before making your shot. 4. Always follow the traditional practice of playing the ball that is farthest from the hole. Remain clear of others who are swinging clubs for fairway shots.

5. Always be alert for wild shots onto your fairway. Consider possible danger areas if you shoot and your ball goes astray, especially if you hit into another fairway, use special caution when retrieving your ball. Yield to persons playing that fairway. Return to your fairway as soon as you have played your shot.

6. NEVER SHOOT to a green until the players ahead of you have left the putting area. Once your group has "putted out," leave the green as quickly as possible. Players who remain on the green to tally their scores not only are discourteous but also increase their chances of being hit. 7. Power carts save time, effort and heart strain. But careless operation can cause an accident -- if turned sharply or driven on steep inclines or in rough areas, they are prone to tip.

8. When dark clouds and thunder are approaching, get off the golf course. If you cannot make it off before the lightning starts striking, take other precautions. Standing in the open, the golfer is a prominent target for lightning. Raising golf clubs or umbrellas above the head might add to the element of personal hazard during an electrical storm. Avoid any small golf course shelters which are unprotected from lightning. You can seek shelter under one of the smaller trees in the middle of a grove or in dense woods. Avoid isolated trees and the tallest trees in the vicinity. You also can seek safety in a low spot, such as a ravine, ditch or other depression, away from hilltops and high places. Stay away from wire fences, power or telephone poles. 10. Golfers should ask their golf course pros, grounds superintendents or club presidents to have lightning protection equipment installed on the small shelters around golf courses.

Gymnasts to perform Saturday at Fairleigh

A gymnastic clinic demonstration will be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Florham-Madison Campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University in the gymnasium. The demonstration is sponsored by the Mid-Atlantic Gymnastic Camp currently held at the campus. Included in the men's and women's events are: rings, parallel bars, high bar, floor exercises, tumbling, side horse vaulting, balance beam, and uneven parallel bars.

The demonstration presented by the high school age participants, the Mid-Atlantic Camp instructors will give a short demonstration. A donation for a local charity will be accepted.

Help offered unwed mothers by Aid and Adoption Society

"It is most essential that more effective means be found to promptly bring together the deeply concerned unwed mothers of the State and the specialized social agencies who are not only well-equipped, but ever so willing to properly deal with them in aiding the resolution of their problems."

So says Dr. Emil J. Piel, president of the Children's Aid and Adoption Society of New Jersey, whose headquarters are located in East Orange. The society, a privately financed, non-sectarian, non-racial adoption agency, has, since its founding in 1899, given compassionate service to more than 10,000 unwed mothers of every race and creed.

In discussing with members of a supporting committee the problems of young unmarried women facing impending motherhood, Dr. Piel pointed out that when an unwed mother-to-be comes to an organization like the Children's Aid and Adoption Society, "she soon discovers that the society's offer of humane aid is genuine."

She also learns, Dr. Piel said, that "she is not considered a 'clarity case.' Also, that every thought and action involved in the handling of her problem is conducted in a way that considers only that which is best for her and her unborn child, because she is regarded as a 'client' and is not looked on as a 'case,' an unwed mother is helped to rebuild her life pattern by the society's workers. Without such aid, as too often happens, she could be exploited by those who would capitalize on her unfortunate plight."

AN UNMARRIED MOTHER who comes to the Children's Aid and Adoption Society may learn of the organization in many ways. A physician or an attorney may tell her. She may be referred by another social agency, by a hospital, or by reading a newspaper story.

The Children's Aid and Adoption Society offers unmarried mothers its aid with this invitation: "If you are in trouble, let us talk to you. We will help you to work out your problems. You are not compelled to sign away your baby. Our work consists in helping you through your troubled time. If need be, and if you so decide, only then will we arrange to place your child for adoption in the kind of home that fits the child best."

"If that is your decision, we will help you gain peace of mind. You will at least know that despite being caught in a frightening situation, you did the best you could for the future of your child."

A MOST IMPORTANT ASPECT of the service offered to unmarried mothers by the Children's Aid and Adoption Society is "time to think things out."

"If the adoption of the child is the eventual answer, the waiting period is not wasted. While the case is being studied, the Society's workers, who have already learned a good deal about the child's antecedents and potential, have already begun a tentative selection of prospective adoptive-parents-to-be."

"Then, the unwed mother, who by this time has been given ample time to recover from the shock and horror of her experience, makes her decision. If she feels, as so many do, that adoption is the only way for her to best provide for her child, she will have the satisfaction of knowing her child will receive needed love and care from an otherwise childless couple who will welcome and cherish the child as 'their very own.'"

The headquarters office of the Children's Aid and Adoption Society is located at 142 South Munn ave., East Orange.

PLANNING SESSION — Henry Lewis, seated, music director of the New Jersey Symphony, talks over plans for the 1969-70 concert season with Frank Scocozza, concertmaster of the orchestra. Lewis this week started a series of major summer engagements in the United States and England.

Busy summer schedule begun by Symphony conductor, wife

Henry Lewis, musical director of the New Jersey Symphony, and his wife, Marilyn Horne, appeared with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra in London Sunday, marking the start of a busy summer schedule abroad and in this country for both Lewis and Miss Horne.

The summer schedule for the Lewises also calls for:

An appearance July 24 and 25 with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at the Meadowbrook Festival in Rochester, Mich. A concert at the Tanglewood Music Festival in Massachusetts on Aug. 17, with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. A date at the Hollywood Bowl in Hollywood for an Aug. 26th performance.

The couple will also make a recording for Decca records of Kindertotenlieder and Wagner's Wesendonck with the Royal Philharmonic. When Lewis last conducted the Royal Philharmonic in December, he recorded Tschalkowsky's Symphony No. 6 ("Pathétique") for London Records. The record has since been released to the public.

The program in Tanglewood with the Boston Symphony will feature Tschalkowsky's Francesca da Rimini and Les Nuits d'Ete by Berlioz. Miss Horne will sing arias by Puccini and Mozart.

Except for a November engagement with the Minnesota Orchestra in Minneapolis, Minnesota, Lewis will be spending most of his time this fall in a resumption of full-scale activity with the New Jersey Symphony. The settlement of differences with the musician's union and the negotiation of a new three-year contract between the Symphony management and the union has cleared the way for a full program of concert activities in New Jersey.

NCE project gets grants of $35,000

Newark College of Engineering has received two grants totaling $35,000 to complete the funding of its Engineering Opportunity Program, an educational project started in 1968 to aid disadvantaged youths in training for engineering careers.

The announcement of the grants was made by NCE's Dean of Engineering, Dr. L. Bryce Andersen, who noted that $10,000 has been received from the Victoria Foundation and $25,000 from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.

At Newark College of Engineering the College's EOP activity began in June 1968 when 20 Newark high school graduates began a summertime college preparatory program concentrating on math, physics and English. They were admitted as freshmen at NCE in September, taking reduced study loads and continuing their studies this summer. In addition NCE started a second group of 20 Greater Newark students in preparatory work last week. They are expected to be admitted as freshmen this fall.

SELECTIVE SERVICE questions and answers

Colonel Joseph T. Avella, State Director of Selective Service, has issued the following series of questions frequently asked of the Selective Service System, along with appropriate answers.

Which public officials are deferred, by law, from induction into service?

The Vice-President of the United States; a governor or any other official chosen by the voters of an entire state; a member of a federal or state legislative body; and a federal or state judge of a court of record are deferred in Class IV-B under the Military Selective Service Act of 1967.

How many are registered with Selective Service and in which classification are there the most men?

As of March 31, 1969, there were 37.8 million registrants. The 16.8 million men in Class I-A (over the age of liability for military service) was the largest number in any one classification.

Our son's induction was postponed to help us with the harvest. During that time he became 26 but has since been inducted. We have now heard that people 26 and over are not being called. How do you explain our son having to go? Your son was ordered to report for induction before he reached age 26 but the reporting date was postponed to permit him to assist in the harvest. The postponement was not a cancellation of the Order to Report for Induction, therefore, when the postponement ended the induction was legally completed.

I was granted a I-S(H) classification permitting me to finish high school. Now during my first year of college I have been classified I-A. Will I be permitted to finish the academic year under a I-S(C) classification?

If you have received an Order to Report for Induction, you may request classification in Class I-S(C). The fact you were classified I-S(H) in high school does not preclude you from receiving a I-S(C) in college. You may be classified in I-S(C) only once.

My son was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary when he was 17 years of age. Consequently he has not registered with the draft. Upon release he will be over 26 years of age and with a criminal record. Will those circumstances exempt him from registering?

No. He will be required to register on the day he leaves the institution.

In June of this year I will receive my A.B. degree in history from college. However, in the interim, I have decided to teach and need 16 additional credits for a teaching certificate. Am I eligible for a II-S to get the additional credits?

No. Congress, upon passage of the Military Selective Service Act of 1967, indicated that a student deferment to attend college would terminate when either the person completed the requirements for his baccalaureate degree, failed to pursue satisfactorily a full-time course of instruction at the school, or attained the 24th anniversary of the date of his birth, whichever occurred first.

I am presently in Class I-A. I am opposed to war, but would like to volunteer for induction if I could be assigned to non-combatant duty. Is this possible?

No. The only way you may be assigned to non-combatant duty is through induction as a registrant in Class I-A-O (Conscientious Objector Available for Noncombatant duty, you may request from your local board a special form for Conscientious Objectors (SSS Form 150). If the local board reclassified you in Class I-A-O, you may volunteer for induction and be assigned to the Armed Forces to a non-combatant unit.

To qualify for a Class II-S student deferment, must I enter college in the first class commencing after graduation from high school?

No. If you have not been reached for induction before you enter college, consideration will be given to the granting of a Class II-S deferment, be a full-time satisfactory student and have not reached your 24th birthday.

Who is authorized to classify registrants? Classifications of registrants can only be made by local and appeal boards.

$20,000 prize awaits gadget to foil car thieves

A $20,000 prize awaits the inventor of a low-cost gadget to foil car thieves, as part of a unique effort to curb the nation's mounting toll of stolen autos.

The prize will be awarded to the winner of the Popular Science anti-car-theft device competition, sponsored by the Allstate Insurance Co. The device will be made available to all interested auto manufacturers as a public service, free of any licensing fee.

Popular Science Monthly and Allstate teamed up in this effort to do something about what the FBI calls the "costliest crime involving property today." Allstate's New Jersey regional manager, Blair H. Patterson, said in announcing the contest.

last year and it is estimated that nearly a million autos will be illegally taken in the United States during 1969, Patterson said.

The competition seeks a device that could be installed in a car and effectively prevent its being operated or moved by unauthorized persons — yet requires little or no active effort on the part of the operator.

To be eligible, a working model of the gadget must be submitted by Dec. 31. Entrants do not have to build the model themselves. They can utilize a builder. Entries cannot infringe any existing patents. Devices sought must be totally automatic. No types ruled out except those that would constitute a safety hazard to owners or other motorists.

The Old Timer

"Ah, for the good old days when a teacher's strike landed on the seat of the pants!"

For entry forms send stamped, self-addressed, return envelope to: Inventor's Competition, Popular Science Monthly, 355 Lexington Ave., New York 10017.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

SHE DOESN'T FIT THE BUCKET!

Dear Amy: My husband just bought a new car with bucket seats despite my objection, I told him I wanted a bench seat. But he didn't listen. Now I find my side very uncomfortable as the seat is not shaped large enough to fit MY seat comfortably. I won't tell you how much I weigh, but why don't car manufacturers take this into consideration when they design the darn car?

Dear Rosalia: How true! Bucket seats don't always fit the bucket. Why don't you write the manufacturer and tell him, ...

PERSONAL TO Corinne: Write me again on the double and include your address. Since your letter appeared in my column, scores of mail arrived for you from many readers who want to assist you with your problem.

Dear Amy: My boyfriend and I have been going together for almost two years and neither of us date or want to date anyone else. We are both going into our junior year at college. We love each other and want to get married after he finishes law school.

We have opposing views on the subject of "pinning". I think the idea is great and he thinks the whole thing is silly. We're really as good as "pinned" anyway, so I can't understand why he won't let me wear the pin. I think the fact that we aren't "pinned" is silly because he loves me, doesn't want to go out with any other girl, and wants to eventually marry me.

He reads your column and respects your opinion so he said I should ask you what you think. Maybe you can make him see how much it means to a girl. He says if you don't think it's stupid to get "pinned" and if it means that much to me, then we'll get "pinned".

Please answer quickly.

(Pinned)

Dear I pinned: "Pinning" a girl is a custom that signifies a boy's intention. If you are his choice and his intentions are genuine, he should be anxious to "pin" you.

Dear Amy: I would like to know about french curls. What is the best way to produce your own french curls at home? What type of curler should you use and what is the best way to roll them?

Hair Dispair

Dear Dispair: French curls can be arranged at home by using large, fat curlers and rolling them under in the same direction. Of course the hair must be the proper length to accept the roller. Comprenez-vous?

Dear Amy: Recently our son was married and since we were severely limited as to the number of people we could invite, we at first invited those who had to be invited (relatives and important business contacts). As the returns were received, additional invitations went out to supplant the negative replies received. Eventually everyone received an invitation up to three weeks before the wedding...

and many of the late "invitees" accepted. Several refused, and we could understand. One couple who refused later called and said they had a gift for the young marrieds and wanted us to come over and pick it up. I don't think that it is our place to pick up the gift. They could have had it sent.

What do you think, Amy? The "Parents"

Dear "Parents": It is customary for a wedding gift to be delivered in person or otherwise, but improper to ask the parents of the newlyweds to "pick it up". If you ignore their request, they will eventually see that the young couple get it.

HOSTESS "PUT ON A HAPPY FACE" Pardon us for being so lyrical, but we have an opening which fairly sings. We're looking for a girl (or woman) to act as a sort of customer relations person within our bank. Your duties will consist of training our "front line" personnel in the niceties of banking, smiling, courtesy, graciousness, and the other fine arts of being pleasantly presentable. You'll also have front line duties yourself as a greeter, hostess in formation dispenser, and general all-around impression maker.

To qualify, you need no specific experience, although a former airline stewardess would probably be ideal. You must be a pleasant person who genuinely likes people and wants to be helpful. You'll receive a very good starting salary and excellent employee benefits. Please send a resume, or call for an appointment: Mr. Joseph Coburn 686-4800.

Here's a suitcase full of tips on keeping well while abroad

If you're going abroad this summer, you'll find plenty of company. A record two million of your fellow Americans — twice as many as only five years ago — will be packing their bags during the next few months to cross a border of a sea.

Most of these travelers will be well advised by their friends and travel agents about what clothing to take, where to stay and what to see. Surprisingly few, however, will know how to prepare for the medical emergencies that may crop up at any time abroad and spoil vacation fun. What are the precautions you should take before leaving America?

Experts in travel medicine surveyed by the makers of Bayer Aspirin in travel medicine that the most important is a visit to the family doctor. In fact, his advice may be just as vital as the travel agent's in assuring an enjoyable trip. The visit should be made at least four weeks in advance — to allow enough time for proper immunization — and should always include a thorough physical checkup.

While the only immunization usually required for re-entering the United States is a smallpox vaccination, these medical experts often recommend additional immunizations against tetanus, diphtheria, polio and typhoid. For children, they add a measles vaccine and pertussis immunization. Other protective injections are sometimes required, depending on the areas you plan to visit. Your physician or travel agent will be able to advise you.

What are the medical problems you may encounter abroad? Well, first there are the ordinary illnesses you might suffer at home. Then there are those distinctive to the areas you may visit. Finally, there are surprising number of discomforts brought about by travel itself. Many seasoned travelers pack an inexpensive medical kit to cope with most of the minor health problems they may encounter abroad. One kit that reflects the latest research in travel medicine includes: aspirin, antibiotic ointment, antacids, a fever thermometer, antihistamines, a first aid kit, a kaolin and pectin mixture for diarrhea, milk of magnesia, liquid surgical soap, insect repellent, eye drops and suntan creams.

Why carry these items along? The answer is that they may not always be available everywhere when needed, even in the most advanced countries. When they can be found, moreover, their quality may be doubtful. Even standard drugs such as a reliable aspirin can vary widely in strength and purity.

To further insure a healthy trip abroad, these experts advise:

Drink bottled water only unless you know for sure that the tap water is safe. Remember that ice can be just as dangerous as impure water, and brushing your teeth with tap water may be as hazardous as drinking it.

Avoid salads, sauces and milk products. However, fruits and vegetables can be eaten raw if they are washed in bottled or boiled water before peeling.

Boil fresh milk before drinking. Jetting through one time zone after another can play havoc with the biological clock inside everyone. The after-effects — headache, fatigue, irritability, and loss of appetite — sometimes last several days. Taking a bath and a nap on arrival can help ease the change, while a couple of aspirins will help relieve the headache and muscle kinks that come from being squeezed in a cramped airliner seat for hours.

Finally, the travel medicine experts say: "don't overdo — sightseeing, eating, drinking or sports."

Vacations are a break in the daily routine. Every moment should be enjoyed, and will be, if you've planned well.

Bon voyage!

PS, Con Ed plan new connections

Plans for two new interconnections between the electric systems of Public Service Electric and Gas Company and Consolidated Edison Company were announced this week.

One will be a 345-kilovolt interconnection between Public Service's Hudson Generating Station in Jersey City and Con Edison's Farragut Substation in Brooklyn.

The other will be a 345/230 kilovolt interconnection between Public Service's New Milford Substation in Bergen County and Ramapo Substation near Hillburn, N. Y.

Both projects are scheduled for completion by May 1, 1972.

Hospital appoints Smith controller

Albert H. Oberg, executive director at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, Belleville, this week announced the appointment of Humphrey Smith of Springfield to the position of hospital controller. Smith previously headed the hospital's finance department.

Prior to coming to Clara Maass 2 1/2 years ago, Smith was an accountant with the S. Klein and Bamberger department stores. He received his BS and MBA degrees from Rutgers University.

Smith is the advisor to the Clara Maass Medical Explorer Post of the Boy Scouts, and is a trustee of the Bethany Baptist Church of Newark.

Science Topics

UFO EXPERT RAPS 'SAUCER' TALKERS

FLYING SAUCERS ARE serious business — for charlatans "who profess belief in order to collect royalties from writing and fees from lecturing," says a scientist at the University of Colorado. He said a recent Air Force-sponsored study of unidentified flying objects found "no evidence of their extraterrestrial origin." He also assailed teachers who encourage their pupils to believe in flying saucers, noting that in the last three years more than 40,000 school children had written to the Air Force asking for UFO data. "There's a girl in the Pentagon who does nothing but send mimeographed 'kiddie kits' of information in answer to these letters," he said.

INSECT HORMONES may one day be used to control the same cotton pests they now enable to grow into maturity. A team of Louisiana State University entomologists have found that laboratory-produced juvenile hormone substances can prevent worms from reaching maturity. By applying minute drops of this material to the larva the entomologists cause the formation of a larval-pupal stage in which the insect lies dormant and eventually dies.

A NEW TECHNIQUE that is said to show promise in controlling leukemia has been developed by researchers at the University of Utah and will be tried for the first time on humans later this year in Mexico City. The method attempts to "trick" the cancer cells in the blood into "synchronizing" cell division, and then destroys them with drugs during their most vulnerable period.

SUPPLEMENTAL OXYGEN systems in single- and twin-engine aircraft help keep the pilot and his passengers alert and allow them to fly at higher altitudes, reports Zep Aero, El Segundo, Calif. The company says that today's high-performance private aircraft are flown at altitudes of 8,000 feet or more to obtain maximum flying efficiency, specifically greater speed, distance and smoothness, and less fuel consumption.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, an inflammation of the kidneys' filtering system, may be caused by an immune reaction reports a Stanford University medical research team. Experiments have shown that the kidney disease is caused in rats by an antibody directed against the specific streptococcus protein that has been associated with the disease in humans. They say it may be possible to synthesize that protein and use it as a vaccine to stimulate antibody response to prevent the disease. However, this is a step that will require further research, the investigators said.

Vegetable chopping tip

A simplified method of chopping vegetables in the blender can eliminate a lot of clean-up. Fill the blender container about half full of water, cut the vegetable into one-inch pieces, regulate the switch to "on-and-off" positions quickly, and pour into a colander to drain, leaving hardly a trace of the chopped vegetable in the blender container.
