Ricciardi pledges top priority to borough drug problem

Mayor names 8 to advisory group

By JANICE ADLER
Alerting the residents of the borough to "the terrible menace" of drug abuse among the community's youngsters will receive priority by this year's administration, according to Mayor Thomas J. Ricciardi. The announcement was made Tuesday night at the organization meeting of the Borough Council for 1971 at the Mountainside Public Library.

Louis N. Parent and William G. Van Blarcom were sworn in as members of the council by Elmer Hoffarth, the borough clerk. Councilman Wilfred Brandt was unanimously re-elected for his sixth term as council president.

The council approved committee representatives, council representatives to civic boards and agencies, appointments of borough employees, special policemen and school crossing guards. Also approved were appointments to borough boards and committees and officers for the fire department. Interest rates on delinquent taxes and assessments were established.

To combat the drug problem Mayor Ricciardi appointed a Mayor's Advisory Committee on Narcotics. The group has been charged to explore "every conceivable method" of alerting parents and youngsters to the dangers of drugs.

Those named to the committee are James Keating, Harold Nelson, Milton Faith, Arthur Goldberg, Mrs. Lee Leavitt, Mrs. Marge Miller, Mrs. Elmer Talcott and the Rev. Raymond Aumack.

Following is the text of Mayor Ricciardi's organization statement:

"At this time each year it is traditional for the mayor to sum up the events of the preceding year and to begin to lead the way down new paths of action for the year ahead.

"In 1970, a major objective was to limit the rising cost of government. The tax rate of the Borough of Mountainside of $7.42 is low for a residential community and it should be noted that only 66 cents of that amount is used for the cost of municipal government and services. The remainder is mandated by state, county and educational requirements.

"In 1971, we will continue to work for economy and we will examine the advisability of steps to rectify what may be some tax inequities in our borough.

Another major storm sewer project was completed in 1970 with great benefit for all the residents of our borough. There is still further work to do in this area and the priorities for the work are being examined and will be acted upon.

"I continue to be committed, and here I feel I can speak for the council as well, to the maintenance of the residential nature of this com-

Bloodmobile visits area Wednesday; donors are needed

The Westfield-Mountainside Red Cross Chapter this week reminded local residents to sign-up for a bloodmobile visit Wednesday at the First Baptist Church, 170 Elm st., Westfield. The chapter also requested that local residents support the Red Cross "Write Hanoi" campaign.

The bloodmobile will be open Wednesday from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m. Anyone between 18 and 65 years old can donate blood. Those under 21 must have written consent of their parents. Forms can be obtained at the chapter's house on Elm street.

The chapter has announced that appointments are preferable. Anyone who has any questions can call the chapter house at 232-7090.

The "Write Hanoi" campaign concerns the fate of prisoners of war in North Vietnam. The Red Cross is asking local residents to consider the POW's and those who are missing in action.

The local chapter is not asking people to take a stand on the war. It is concerned that Hanoi observe humanitarian provisions and the terms of the Geneva Convention.

A spokesman said, "Express your concern for our men who are captive or missing in action. Ask for the identification of prisoners and for their humane treatment. Express the hope that prisoners will be allowed to correspond regularly with their families or that a neutral agent, such as the International Red Cross, will be allowed to inspect prisons and insure medical treatment if necessary."

"Remind the president of North Vietnam that his country signed the Geneva Convention in 1949 and North Vietnam is bound to act in accordance. Hanoi does read its mail, Hanoi does care what you, the American public, think."

$8.8 million tab adopted by board

A tentative 1971-72 budget totalling $8,854,822 was adopted Tuesday night by the Union County Regional High School District Board of Education.

A public hearing will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 19, at 8 p.m. at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

The total expenditures show an increase of $584,878 over the 1970-71 budget or 7.1 percent. This percentage of increase compares to 9.7 percent in the 1970-71 budget and 13.4 percent in 1969-70.

The amount to be raised by local taxation is $7,409,393, an increase of $479,614 over the current budget. This rate of increase has been declining. A board spokesman noted that the increase in the amount to be raised by local taxation totaled $975,529 in 1969-70, and $578,150 in the 1970-71 budget.

Registered voters in the six regional communities will cast their ballots for the current expense and capital outlay portions of the budget.

2 students abroad for January term

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Two Mountainside students at Moravian College are among 18 spending the month of January abroad. Lois M. Missenhanter, 1366 Mohawk dr., and Margaret L. Ranzau, 461 Bayberry lane, are part of a group visiting museums and galleries to see works of sculpture, architecture and paintings in London, Paris, Florence and Rome.

The January term is a four-week period to pursue programs not part of the regular academic program in the fall and spring terms. This is Moravian's third January term and about one-half of the 1,200 students are enrolled. Some programs are off campus. Others are in classroom settings, and another group is permitted to pursue individual study in fields of special interest.

MMA receives state award of Council on Arts

Mayor Thomas J. Ricciardi presented the State Arts Council Certificate of Award Tuesday night to the Mountainside Music Association on behalf of the New Jersey state council on the arts.

In presenting the award, the mayor said, "We are proud that the New Jersey State Council on the Arts has chosen to honor this vibrant association that has established itself firmly within our community. Through its contribution to the development of the arts in our area, you have helped to enrich the cultural environment of all New Jersey residents."

The New Jersey State Council on the Arts, an agency of the New Jersey Department of State, is charged by the legislature with the responsibility of encouraging the development of the arts throughout the state.

In pursuance of this objective, the Arts Council has formulated plans to give recognition to outstanding contributions to the arts in New Jersey by individuals, groups, institutions and businesses. Nominations have been requested by the Arts Council from prominent local officials throughout the state. Certificates of Award have been granted to 34 communities in New Jersey for outstanding cultural programs during the past 12 months.

The Mountainside Music Association was formed in 1960 to help support the music department of Mountainside schools and also to encourage the participation and enjoyment of the arts. In the past, some $30,000 worth of instruments, pianos and equipment were donated to the schools. The Mountainside Public Library was built to include a music room because of the commitment of the association

Ronald N. Huter, Deputy Chief of the Mountainside Volunteer Fire Department, this week warned against turning in false alarms. He said:

"False alarms present a very serious problem to the fire service for many reasons. I am sure that if the person or persons committing this violation were aware of the reasons or the penalties involved they would never do it again.

"There is no way to determine if it is a false alarm until the equipment reaches the location where the alarm came from. This means that in a volunteer fire department 30 to 40 men have left either their homes or places of employment to go to fire headquarters as quickly as possible.

"They have to exercise extreme caution because of the heavy traffic on Rt. 22. Many persons traveling on the highway are unaware that there is a fire house on it and are not apt to give the right of way even if they did. This means that every man is subjecting himself and his gear to needless accident potentials every time he answers a fire alarm.

"Two to five pieces of fire equipment, depending on the circumstances, will answer the call. Should they become involved in an accident it would take months to get them repaired or more than a year to get them replaced.

"Again the lives of all men answering the false alarm have been placed in danger unnecessarily. There definitely is a danger every time emergency equipment rolls. This has been proven by the statistics of insurance companies. According to Kemper Insurance, men in the fire service lose their lives five to one over any other type of emergency service.

"A fire call could come in from another part of the town while the fire equipment and men are out on a false alarm. This makes it impossible for them to get there in time to save lives. The person who turns in this false alarm is as responsible for those unintentional deaths as would be any deliberate murderer.

"It is your responsibility to yourself, your town, and your fire department to try to cut down on the ever-increasing problem of false alarms. This is especially true as our towns grow bigger and our traffic gets more congested every day."

Two men arrested on drugs charges held in county jail

Two men were arrested Monday night by Mountainside police. They are John Peter Visco Jr., 23, of Jersey City and Charles Germainotti, 29, of New York City. Both were charged with using and being under the influence of a narcotic, possession of narcotics paraphernalia and carrying a revolver without a permit. Germainotti in addition was charged with possession of heroin and possession of lottery paraphernalia.

They are being held in the Union County Jail. Bail was set at $6,000 for Germainotti and $5,500 for Visco.

The arrests were made at Vanoco's Sunoco at 1149 Rt. 22. At about 11:45 p.m., Det. Sgt. Walter Betyeman and Patrolman William Ayres responded to a call from the station regarding two men who were acting suspiciously.

The attendant's report told police that two men had been in the men's room for a comparatively long time. The officers approached the men's room and the men came out. Sgt. Betyeman began questioning one of the men after he came out.

The men became nervous and gave conflicting stories of why they were in the men's room.

Adult schools plan variety of spring classes

The Union County Regional High School District is again offering an alternative to evening TV watching with a lineup of its own—a series of adult school programs.

Over 235 courses ranging from slimnastics to salt water fishing will be offered in the spring term this year.

Classes will begin during the first week of February at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield; Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Clark; Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights; David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth, and at the Lincoln School in Garwood.

Interested persons may register for courses by mail by using the registration form on the back of the brochures which are being mailed to every resident in the Regional District, or in person at the nearest Regional high school or the Lincoln School, on Tuesday, Jan. 19, and Wednesday, Jan. 20, from 7:30 to 9 p.m., according to Harry E. Linkin, director of adult education.

Linkin noted that among some new and popular repeat courses being offered for the term are:

Slimnastics, typing, shorthand, sewing, creative writing, law for the layman, income tax return preparation, dancing, driver education, salt water fishing, small boat handling, speed reading, gourmet cooking (French and Italian), high school equivalency, Hatha yoga and "The Total Woman."

Additional information about the adult school program which is sponsored by the Regional Board of Education, may be obtained by calling the Adult School office at 376-6300 during

Regional trounces Princeton, 43-32; out to avenge loss Hillside tomorrow

By BILL LOVETT

In a miserable final quarter, the Gov. Livingston basketball team collapsed and allowed Summit to win an opening round game in the Summit Christmas Invitational Tournament, 57-45. The week was not a total loss, however; Regional beat Princeton in the consolation the next night, 43-32.

Regional, with a disappointing 2-5 record, will be host to Hillside tomorrow. Hillside coasted, 59-40, in an earlier meeting this season and it will take a determined Regional effort to keep them from doing it again. If the Highlanders are to have a chance of winning, they will have to play much better than they did against Princeton or Summit.

The Summit loss was frustrating for the Highlanders. Regional had outplayed the home team for three quarters, out-hustling Summit and building up a lead. Regional stunned the home town supporters by taking a 17-9 first-quarter lead behind the shooting of Don Reynolds (15 points) and Kevin McBrien (10 points).

The Highlanders collapsed under a determined Summit rally. Regional was outscored in the final eight minutes. Summit started the quarter with eight straight points to jump ahead, 43-40. They then blew the fast-fading Highlanders off the court to win impressively.

The next night Regional was not that much better—but Princeton was that much worse. Gov. Livingston did not win nearly as easily as the score indicates, having to hold off a fourth quarter rally. For the second night in a row Reynolds was the big man, scoring 18 points—including half of Regional's 18 field goals. He was the only player from Gov. Livingston to break into double figures but, luckily, Princeton had no offense to speak of. Still, if Regional is to beat Hillside, they are going to have to play better than last week.

THE GOV. LIVINGSTON wrestling team came within a fraction of upsetting Westfield and Scotch Plains in the Dayton Invitational Tournament, finishing third with 57 points, two behind Westfield and six behind champion Scotch Plains. Those three teams dominated the competition, with fourth place Columbia having only 27 points.

The Highlanders had four individual champions—Dana Sommers (106 lbs.), Stu Brown (115), DeVita (123) and sophomore Brian Ruff (168), and looked impressive.

Gov. Livingston appears ready to challenge Scotch Plains and Westfield for the Watchung Conference title, and this could be the year in which it succeeds.

Town Girl Scouts keeping busy with variety of activities

Springfield Girl Scout Troop 739, with Mrs. Harold Steele and Mrs. Stanley Kresge as leaders, has made wooden hand mirrors for child service distribution.

Troop 739 and Troop 94, with Mrs. Henry White and Mrs. Franklin Wolf as leaders, and Troop 756, with Mrs. Fred Hettenbach, Mrs. Anthony Nardone, Mrs. Arthur Weiss and Mrs. Raymond Miele, as leaders went to New York City last week. They visited the Museum of the City of New York, Rockefeller Center and the Bill Baird Puppet Theater.

The community encampment for Junior and Cadette Scouts will be held at Kamp Kiamasha, near Newton, May 14, 15 and 16. The girls will leave that Friday night and return Sunday night. Brownies will attend that Saturday only. Permission slips and money must be sent to Mrs. Louis Quinton, 37 Walnut court, by Jan. 20.

Beginners' guitar lessons are being organized for Saturday afternoons at the Girl Scout house. Any Girl Scout who is interested and 15 in sixth grade or older should call Mrs. Quinton at 379-3140.

Dayton's G-6 churns it out Printers making their mark

Room G-6 in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School is a print shop. Out of it this year will come a million pieces of printed material and a skilled corps of graphic technicians prepared to immediately enter industry or go on to college to major in this surging specialty.

Robert Gardella is in charge of G-6 — he's the only graphic arts instructor in the Regional school system and one of the few in the state. Like Gardella, who is in his fifth year in the post, his program is unique. The printing, which also saves the school system a bundle of money, is done by two graphics arts 3 classes and boys in trade and occupations classes 1 and 2.

The students, in Gardella's words, "are given practical and comprehensive instruction in printing shop management and in the use of two multilith offset presses, a new ATF Chief 1117 offset press, photo platemaking and darkroom equipment, an IBM composer for cold typesetting and the program's original Heidelberg 10-inch by 15-inch press and other related printing room equipment."

The program was started in Dayton in 1960 by industrial arts coordinator Stanley Grossman, who was the first printing shop instructor.

Gardella was a member of Grossman's first class and went on to graduate from Arkansas State in 1965 with a degree in printing. He is one of 17 Dayton students who have gone on to college to major in printing.

"BESIDES TEACHING," Gardella explains, "careers in sales, advertising, newspapers and magazines, commercial art, estimating and production, controls and various other fields are available to the graphic arts major."

G-6 students have won many honors for Dayton by exhibiting their completed work at the annual Paramus Student Craftsman Fair. In the past four years, the school has won six outstanding awards, 19 first places, 18 second places, and 12 honorable mentions.

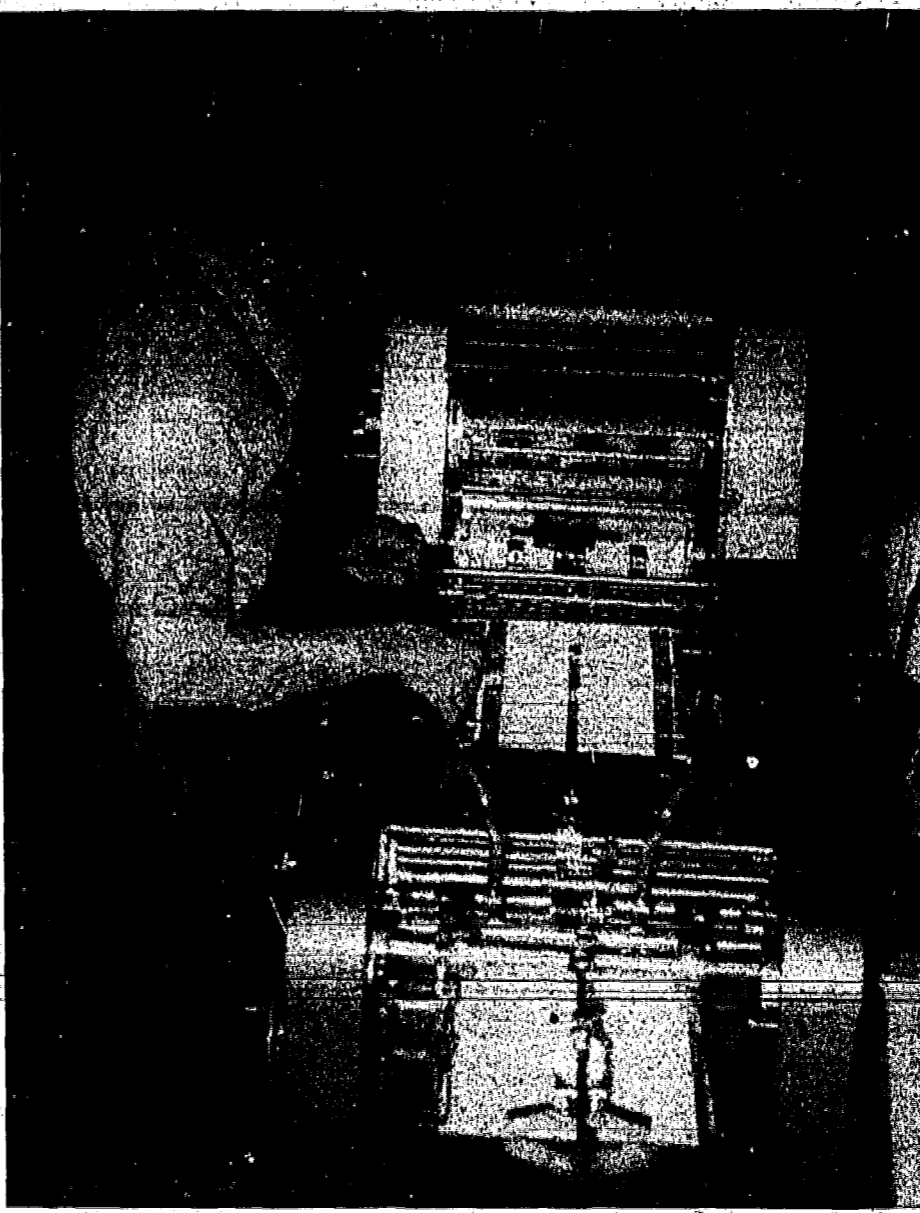

Last year's award winners included: Charles Jankunas, outstanding; Dan D'Andrea, Frank Buccì, James Schoch, Karl Mende, Charles Jankunas, Mike Braun and Mike Popolillo, all first place; Karl Kotovsky, Bob Kaelblein, James Schoch, Frank Buccì and James Riccardi, second places.

This year's Graphic Arts 3 class consists of Bruce Rasizer, Tim Wilson, Joseph Rapuano, James Schoch, Eric Yunker, The Trade and Occupations classes 1 and 2 include Bob Kaelblein, Bob McDonald, Karl Mende, Karl Kotovsky and Kevin Ahera. They are responsible for turning out the bulk of the million pieces of printed material ordered by the sister schools, Clark, Kentworth, Berkeley Heights and Dayton.

Last year's classes turned out an estimated 800,000 pieces, but that amount will be increased this year because of the installation of the ATF Chief 1117 offset press.

Gardella was a 122-lb. varsity wrestler under coach Herbert H. Palmer at Dayton and was active at Arkansas State as a member of the TKE fraternity, Graphic Arts Club president and Neuman Club member.

The New Jersey Vocational and Arts Education Association awarded a certificate of merit to the Dayton graphic arts department last year for the best educational exhibit at the annual Asbury Park convention, just a sample of the high degree of originality, attractiveness and craftsmanship coming out of G-6.

Library exhibiting art by 4th graders

Art projects on the Inca Indians of South America by fourth graders at the Edward Walton School, have been placed on display in the children's room of the Springfield Public Library.

It is believed that this is the first time a display such as this has been put in the library. The display's purpose is to provide a link between the school and the community. The youngsters have been guided by Ruth Thomson, the social studies teacher. She was helped by Faith A. Proca, a student teacher from Newark State College, Union.

THIS WEEK'S HEALTH NEWS

By FRED GREENBERG, M.D.

Once there was little anyone could do to relieve the torment of allergy. But now, thanks to rapid advancements in medical science and drug research, we are learning to cope with it. Today your doctor can prescribe antihistamine drugs or administer desensitizing injections to control the sneezing, wheezing and itching that formerly posed such a health problem. A modest achievement? Not to those who suffer. It's another big step in the quest for new and better ways to relieve many of our human miseries. This is the value of modern drugs — protecting your health and reducing the cost of illness.

Bank merger is approved

W. Emlen Roosevelt, president of the National State Bank, Elizabeth, has announced approval of the merger of the National State Bank and the First National Bank of Millford by Comptroller of the Currency William B. Camp.

Federal law requires a waiting period of 30 days before the anticipated consolidation can become effective, making January 22 the earliest possible merger date. On that date, business will continue under the name and character of the National State Bank.

Under the terms of the merger agreement, the Millford bank, which has branches in Glen Gardner and Baptistown in Hunterdon County and resources of $31 million as of June 30, 1970, will become offices of the National State Bank. Herbert D. Stem is chairman of the board of the First National Bank of Millford.

The National State Bank has 24 branch locations in Union and Middlesex counties and reflected assets totaling $363 million as of Sept. 30. A 25th branch has been approved in Cranford, and is planned for opening during the early part of 1971.

Car skids on icy road, hits tree on Laurel dr.

Ronald P. Stichter of 79 Battle Hill ave., Springfield, escaped injury Monday afternoon when his car struck a tree on Laurel drive near the playground, according to Springfield police. The car's front end was damaged and the car had to be towed away.

Police said Stichter was traveling west on Laurel. The car skidded on ice at the curve and struck the tree. The impact bent the tree.

Practical nursing program planned as part-time course

The first practical nursing program in New Jersey to be given on a part-time basis will be available at Union County Technical Institute, it was announced by Richard M. Kay, director of continuing education. Classes are scheduled to begin Tuesday.

Formal approval of the program has been received from Donald L. Snover, R.N., M.S., executive secretary of the New Jersey Board of Nursing.

Spring courses are announced by Newark St.

Charles J. Longacre, director of the Division of Field Services at Newark State College, Union, this week announced course offerings and registration dates for the spring semester. A variety of graduate and undergraduate courses is listed in the announcement bulletin. Registration is scheduled for Jan. 23 through 29.

Recent changes in curriculum are reflected in the spring bulletin. Courses in business administration include statistics, investing, life insurance and a continuation of principles of accounting. Creative writing and a broad selection of literature courses are available, as are many studio art courses and a "Philosophy of Art."

The Foreign Language Department offers a two-year language sequence which can be completed in French or Spanish by electing the introductory elementary course in the spring and continuing in intermediate and summer sessions. The Mathematics Department has courses leading to mastery of electronic data processing, while the Music Department presents the opportunity for orchestra or concert band participation.

Political science will include a course in "American State and Local Political Systems." Psychology courses include "Theories of Learning and Motivation," "History and Systems," "Psychodynamics of Individual and Group Behavior," and others.

Dual offerings (courses available to both day and evening students) are offered in the late afternoon and include such courses as "Laboratory Techniques and Instrumentation," "Applied Microbiology," "Computer Arithmetic Algorithms," "Class Voice," "Orchestra," "Concert Band," "Philosophy of Man," "Basic Reference and Bibliographical Services I & II," "Methods of Teaching the Deaf and Hard of Hearing," and other courses in the Special Education Department, as well as many basic courses. Students may also choose to attend courses on Saturday mornings.

Registration dates for the Division of Field Services spring semester: Qualified public school personnel, Saturday, Jan. 23, 8:30 a.m. to noon; all other Non-Matriculated students who hold bachelor's degrees, including those wishing to take courses in centers at Berkeley Heights, Edison, Livingston, Montclair, Plainfield, South-Orange, Maplewood, Tuesday, Jan. 26, 2 to 6 p.m.; undergraduates (non-matriculated), Wednesday, Jan. 27, 2 to 6 p.m.; late registration, Friday, Jan. 29, 3 to 5:30 p.m.

Weekend College, a unique program of continuing education for adults sponsored by the Division of Community Services of Union College, will offer 11 courses in its spring session, it was announced this week by Richard Seidco, director.

Designed to meet adult interests in a wide area of subjects and to broaden their knowledge in a number of specialized fields, Weekend College is conducted Friday evenings and Saturday mornings at the Union College campus in Cranford.

The subject material is tailored to cover the specific goals of the course. Courses vary in length depending on the amount of material to be covered and the depth to which it will be studied.

Spring courses include Jazz Workshop, to be conducted Saturdays, 10 a.m. to noon, Feb. 6 to March 13; Seminar on Asian Cultures and Civilization, Fridays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Feb. 5 to March 12; Seminar on the Computer and Society, Fridays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Feb. 5 to Feb. 26; Seminar on the Ecological Crisis, Fridays, 8 to 9:30 p.m., March 5 to April 30; Seminar on American Women Writers, Saturdays, 10 a.m. to noon, Feb. 6 to March 13.

Also, Seminar on the Geology of New Jersey, Fridays, 7:30 to 9 p.m., Feb. 5 to March 12; Workshop in Applied Psychology, Fridays, Feb. 5 to March 5; Workshop in Creative Writing, Fridays, 7:30 to 9 p.m., Feb. 5 to April 16; Workshop in Reading Efficiency, Fridays, 7:30 to 9 p.m., Feb. 5 to March 26; Workshop on Contemporary Afro-American Literature, Fridays, Feb. 19 to April 30, and Workshop on the New Politics, Fridays, 7:30 to 9 p.m., Feb. 5 to Feb. 26.

Information on the registration and fees may be obtained by writing the Director of Community Services, Union College, Cranford, N.J. 07016. Those wishing to register in person may do so in the Administration Building on Union College's Cranford campus, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on the evenings of Feb. 2 and Feb. 3 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Counselors being sought for Y camps

The Eastern Union County YM-YWHA, Greenlane, Union, is interviewing male and female applicants for senior and junior counselors in its junior camp (kindergarten - fifth grade) Yo-ho-ca and for summer positions with its "twentys" and teen camping programs.

In addition, positions are open for specialists in music, arts and crafts, drama and camping and unit head-positions are available in Camp Yo-ho-ca.

The "Y" camps serve children from ages three through 15 in five separate day camping programs.

The minimum qualifications for junior counselor positions are some prior experience with children and attainment of age 16 by July; for senior counselor positions applicants must have completed one year of college and have had some camping experience.

Those interested were asked to contact Carl Shackman, camp consultant, at 289-8112 for further information.

UC appoints supervisor

James C. Mannino of Westfield has been appointed superintendent of buildings and grounds at Union College, it was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, president.

Mannino, a member of the Union College staff since 1969, succeeds George Baron of Linden, who recently retired and moved to Florida.

As building and grounds superintendent, Mannino will supervise a staff of 35 custodial, maintenance, grounds and security personnel, responsible for Union College's 30-acre suburban campus in Cranford, and two urban campuses in Elizabeth and Plainfield.

Mannino previously conducted his own landscaping business, Mannino & Sons, Inc., which included the construction and maintenance of lawns, driveways and drainage systems. He was formerly associated with Union Carbide Corp., Union, in the printing department.

Club to take two walks

A Saturday ramble and a Sunday hike are scheduled this weekend for members and guests of the Union County Hiking Club.

On Saturday, Arvind Shah of Elizabeth will lead a five-mile ramble in the South Mountain Reservation. The group will meet at the Locust Grove parking area in the Reservation at 1 p.m.

On Sunday, Leo and Trudy Zappe of Orange will lead a ten to 12-mile hike in the area of the "Skylands" in the Ramapos, in northern New Jersey. The group will meet at the Packanack-Wayne Shopping Center at 9:15 a.m.

For further information concerning the above hikes contact the recreation department of the Union County Park Commission.

Union College, county tech to use single application form

Union College with campuses in Cranford, Elizabeth and Plainfield and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, will use a single application form for both institutions, beginning immediately, it was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, executive director of the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education.

Union College and Union County Technical Institute are providing a comprehensive two-year college program for Union County under contract with the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education in lieu of a county college.

"The new joint application form is further evidence of the ever emerging partnership between Union College and Union County Technical Institute to serve better the higher educational needs of the citizens of Union County," Dr. MacKay said. "We see ahead many more cooperative steps between our two institutions."

The new application serves not only to identify the two institutions as a single force in meeting the educational needs of Union County, it also serves the individual student in realizing his specific educational goals, Dr. MacKay explained.

With a single application, students' aptitudes, strengths and weaknesses can be brought to the attention of both Union College and Union County Technical Institute, providing tailor-made counseling.

A prospective engineering student who meets the academic standards of Union College will have his application automatically forwarded to the Technical Institute for action and placement in a technical program geared to his abilities and interests.

Applications may be transferred from one institution to the other and processed at no additional cost to the student.

He pays a single application fee which entitles him to consideration by both Union College and the Union County Technical Institute.

DONALD VORHEES

Organization

Organization. The Borough Council did pass some zoning changes during 1970. I do not regard those changes as a fundamental threat to the residential nature of Mountainide.

"It has been a good year for Mountainide, but there are serious problems which we must face in 1971."

"Our borough continued also to have problems which result from the fact that Rt. 22 runs through the borough. One of those problems is the some times proposed development of a major interchange at Rt. 22 and New Providence rd. We have established a good line of communication with the Department of Transportation and I believe that working with the Committee to Preserve Mountainide we have influenced the Transportation Department to some degree.

"I received a communication from Herb Seidel representing the Jewish Community Council requesting that I attend a meeting to protest the mistreatment of Jews in Russia. I, of course, recognize that such an international problem is beyond the scope of the borough mayor's authority, but I also recognize that as an elective official I have a public platform from which to speak and that carries with it certain moral responsibility.

"My sincere thanks to all the members of the borough family who help to run our community. Thanks to all and happy New Year to all."

Donald Voorhees, former conductor of the Bell Telephone Hour, the long-running TV series, will speak with students today and tomorrow at the four high schools in the Union County Regional High School District, as part of the series of programs in the Humanities.

HE WAS THERE. I received my Dec. 31 issue of the Echo today and enjoyed reading the lead story on Mountainide during 1970.

I would like to call to your attention however the error which should be clarified concerning the election results in November. Your reporter states with particular emphasis that Parent and Van Blarcom won by the closest margin in the borough's history.

The writer either has a short memory or, if new on the job, didn't do sufficient homework before writing the article. All you have to do is look at the results of the election in November, 1965, to see what a close margin really is. In that year Joe Stypa was within 22 votes of being elected as a Democrat to a seat on the council.

How do I know so well those results? I was there! I was elected by that margin.

WILFRED H. BRANDT, Council President.

Dear Larrie, What can women do about obscene telephone calls? Please answer this.

Dear Worried, Don't talk! What the caller really wants is an audience. Don't help him by asking questions or giving any information about yourself. Learn to recognize callers. Many people complain about harassing calls.

Hang up! Don't slam the phone down. Just hang up on the first obscene word. Don't admit you are upset. If a threat is made, call the police at once. These calls are prohibited by state and federal laws. If the calls are repeated, call your telephone company. They will make every effort to stop such calls promptly. Telephone cranks often pick women's names at random from the telephone book. If you live alone, or have your own listing, use only your first initials. Remember you control your phone; You can end any call by just hanging up.

Golf cards ready for county courses

Union County golfers may apply for their 1971 identification cards at the Galloping Hill Golf Course, Kenilworth and Union, and at the Ash-Brook Golf Course, Scotch Plains. It was announced this week by George T. Cron, general superintendent of the Union County Park Commission. The identification cards are valid from Jan. through Dec. 31.

Annual card-holders will be charged $35, plus a $2 identification card fee. Golfers who have regular county-resident identification cards will be charged a $2.00 fee for a 1971 card.

Winter rates are now in effect at both golf courses and will continue to March 31. During this period, annual card holders are entitled to play for a $1 green fee daily including Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. Regular card holders may play daily for a green fee of $2.25.

Cron advise golfers to apply early for their identification cards in order to avoid delays during the busy months.

'At least a moderate upswing' seen for business

"The major national economic indicators are pointing to at least a moderate upswing in New Jersey's business activity for the coming year," said Erwin O. Kraft, president of the New Jersey Bankers Association (NJBA) and president of the First National Bank of Passaic County, Torowa.

"While we have not yet been able to stop the inflation completely," he added, "it does seem that the stringent federal policies put into practice over the past couple of years have had the effect of reducing the rate at which inflation was growing."

"These same federal policies and the resultant gains against inflation have not come without cost, which is readily evident in the generally poor showing of real economic growth and the most unfortunate rise in the number of unemployed during the last year," the NJBA president continued. "However it is also evident that the Administration feels it has made sufficient gains against inflation to allow for a gradual loosening of the former tight money policy."

"During the last quarter of 1970, the Federal Reserve Board reduced its discount rate two times to where it now stands at 5-1/2 percent. Each time this rate at which banks borrow money from the Federal Reserve was lowered it was either preceded or followed by a corresponding decrease of the commercial prime lending rate by major banks throughout the country."

According to Kraft, the effect of these reductions are normally felt by the average borrower within six months from the time they are made. This would indicate that an increase in the availability of money for major loans such as mortgages can be expected during the second quarter of 1971.

"Greatly assisting the availability of money for mortgage loans is the fact that at present the consumer is depositing about 7-1/2 percent of his personal income into some form of savings plan, an historic high. Personal sav-

"While most economists agree that some real economic growth will be realized in 1971, we should not take their cautious optimism as a sign that we have seen the last of our economic problems. Continued high national budget deficit and continued wage-price escalation are two major factors which will contribute toward continued inflation," the NJBA president stated.

"When the current financial problems of our state and local governments are added, we must expect that there will still be some rough sledding ahead."

"However, with the possibility of a continued easing of the money supply, New Jersey banks will be in an even better position to continue the financing of the state's real economic growth."

"Looking beyond this year, major expansion for the Garden State is anticipated for the remainder of the 1970s. Conservative estimates place New Jersey population growth by 1980 at 1.3 million people, involving an investment of some $40-billion in new living and working facilities."

"Total resources of New Jersey banks increased to $19.03-billion during the first half of 1970, according to statistics compiled by the New Jersey Bankers Association. This represents an increase of almost 6.2 percent during the period from June 30, 1969 to June 30, 1970 and places New Jersey banks ninth in the nation according to their total assets," Kraft reported.

The figures also show a $953.2-million or 6.05 percent increase in total deposits from $15.75-billion to $16.7-billion during the year. Also during the same period the total outstanding loans in New Jersey increased by 7.78 percent of $777.15-million, bringing the total to $10.76-billion.

The figures for total deposits include both checking accounts and savings and time deposits according to Kraft, and at mid-1970 New Jersey citizens had $10.34-billion in savings in New Jersey banks, an increase of $725.2-million during the year. The balance of total deposits represent checking accounts and inter-bank and governmental deposits totalling $6.4-billion.

"Largely as the result of changes in New Jersey's banking law, there are now 240 banks in the state with a total of 1150 banking offices."

"In all, our banking institutions are now in a better position than ever to serve completely the banking requirements of the people of New Jersey and their businesses," Kraft concluded.

Know Your Government

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

The second session of New Jersey's 194th State Legislature convenes next Tuesday facing a stockpile of some 2,000 bills carried over from the 1970 session as well as problems of budget-balancing and programs leading to tax-dollar signs for 1971.

Awaiting disposition, points out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, will be many recommendations requiring legislative action from the report of the Governor's 73-member Management Committee submitted last November following a 12-week study by teams of experts in organization, management and administrative action, legislation or constitutional amendment, were estimated to produce potential annual savings, state, federal and local, of $90.5 million, and one-time savings of $59.5 million.

An important milestone in the state's fiscal life will be reached when the Governor's Tax Policy Committee reports. Hearings by its task forces are expected to continue with no date announced for submission of the final report.

The Governor's budget recommendations for the fiscal year beginning July 1 are expected to reach the Legislature early in February. Recent trends indicate they may top the current year $1.6 billion total by as much as $200 million, presenting new financing problems.

In their continuing search for new state tax revenue, legislators will be watching returns from the new state lottery. This originally was estimated to produce $10 million annually, but, on the basis of popularity of first ticket sales, is expected to go higher. Riding the initial wave of legal gambling success, Shore resort interests can be expected to push for a referendum to legalize casino gambling in New Jersey similar to that which produced nearly $35 million in entertainment taxes for the State of Nevada last year.

Springfield family 'adopts' girl, 13, in Philippines through Foster Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon H. Ellowitz of 100 Stone Hill Rd., Springfield, have "adopted" Rosalinda D. Tanzon, a 13-year-old girl of the Philippines. By contributing $16 a month through Foster Parents Plan, Inc., the Ellowitzs give the child and the family material and financial aid aimed at strengthening the family unit by helping each member. The child is symbolic of aid given to the entire family.

Before the Ellowitzs became Rosalinda's Foster Parents, the family struggled to survive on 60-70 cents a day—mother earned as a laundress. The father has abandoned the family. One sister works in a store and earns about $8 a month. There are five members in the family. They live in a small rented room. They have light, but water is gotten from a public faucet. The Plan has given urgent necessities, including netting to protect them against the swarming mosquitos that plague them in the rainy season.

The Ellowitzs' contribution of $16 a month brings the family a monthly cash grant, distributions of goods such as vitamins, blankets, towels, soap and other useful items, medical and dental care, the sustained guidance and counseling of social workers and the benefit of special programs.

Foster Parents and Foster Children correspond monthly (letters are translated by the Plan) and often develop relationships which mean as much to the child as the material and financial aid.

Foster Parents Plan is currently working in 10 countries in South America and Asia. More than 110,000 children have been aided by more than 600,000 individuals, families and groups in the U.S. and Canada who have been foster parents during PLAN's 33 years of operation.

For further information readers may write to Foster Parents Plan, 352 Park Ave. South, New York, N.Y. 10010.

Home loans available

Springfield State Bank announced this week the availability of money for home mortgages. Edward W. Moore, president, said the bank would accept mortgage applications from prospective homeowners in the Springfield-Mountainside area.

Moore said a recent loosening of the money market had made it possible for Springfield State Bank to consider mortgage applications.

"In addition, we feel we have a responsibility as a hometown bank to serve the needs of the community," he said. "Certainly, providing home mortgages is such service."

Y cooks go international

"Ethnic Cooking," an eight-week series on the preparation, tasting and background of foods from around the world, will begin at the Summit-YWCA this Monday evening from 8 to 9.

First in the series will be unusual American dishes to be presented by Mrs. Frank Reed and Mrs. Hugo Pfaltz, Jr., authors of the cookbook "Your Secret Servant."

Succeeding sessions will be: Greek food, Mrs. A. J. Comblas; Slavic, Mrs. John Stochaj; French, Mrs. Pierre Passavant; Spanish, Mrs. Bernard Kniberg; Jewish, Mrs. M. A. Gibson; soul food, Mrs. Richard Avant, and Italian dishes, Mrs. Philip A. Foti and Mrs. Ralph Pocar.

At each session, full menus with recipes will be provided. Chefs of the evening will demonstrate the preparation of unusual dishes—to spark menus, and will also relate some of the traditions and customs of the countries of origin. Tasting of the food prepared will be part of the evening's class.

Reservations for the ethnic cooking series should be made ahead of time at the YWCA. Further information may be had by telephoning Mrs. J. J. Hennessey, at the YWCA, 273-4242.

Mrs. B. Averbach; after brief illness

Mrs. Yetta Zucker Averbach of 95 Troy dr., Springfield, died Monday at her home after a brief illness. She was 57.

Mrs. Averbach was a native of Newark and lived in Hillside for 20 years before moving to Springfield three years ago.

She was a member of the Sister Kenny Foundation for Crippled Children.

She is survived by her husband, Ben; two daughters, Mrs. Susan Reitman of Clark and Miss Karen Averbach at home; four brothers, Harry Zucker of Miami Beach, Leo Zucker of South Orange, Murray Zucker of Springfield and Joe Zucker of Ormond Beach, Fla.; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Bailey of Springfield.

Services today for Mrs. Hector

Funeral services will be held today from Smith and Smith Suburban, 415 Morris ave., Springfield, for Mrs. Doris Blundell Hector, 72, of 4 Edgewood ave., Springfield who died Sunday in Overlook Hospital, Summit. She was the wife of Louis J. Hector Jr.

Born in Jersey City, Mrs. Hector lived in Elizabeth for 41 years before moving to Springfield 23 years ago. She was a member of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Murray Hill.

Survivors also include two sons, Louis J. Hector III of Palos Verdes Peninsula, Cal., and Albert E. of Springfield; a daughter, Mrs. Doris Winkler of Sweden, and seven grandchildren.

Champion back in school

'Good skate' now a teacher

Ten years ago, Joseph Pedicini of Millburn enrolled at the Ralph Evans Ice Skating School, Westfield, as a raw beginner. He was 11 at the time, an elementary-school youngster whose parents thought skating would be fun for Joe. It turned out to be much more than that.

By the time he had completed 18 months of instruction, he was at the top of the advanced class and Evans, one of the top pros in the field, saw quickly that the young lad had the potential to go into competitive skating. Evans featured Joe in his annual ice skating carnival which played to thousands in the local area.

Evans and his wife, also a top skating star, advocated private lessons for Joe, including a summer at the famed skating school in Schumacher, Ontario, where Mrs. Evans trained and lived as a young adult. By 1965, the Millburn youngster was ready for competition. In his first effort, the men's novice singles of the Middle Atlantic Skating Championships, Joe skated off with a silver medal in this top competition.

The next year, skating with a Bernardsville girl in the Figure Skating Pairs bracket, Joe and his partner were chosen for the final round in Bronze Dance competition. And in 1967, just before heading for college, young Joe took another medal in the Junior Men's Middle Atlantic Championships.

After attending Chamberlayne Junior College in Boston, Joe returned home to complete his studies in architecture and design. At the same time, he has come back to where it all started—Joe is now a full-time teacher at the Westfield school.

Joe is at the school on North Avenue Monday and Thursday evenings and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays during the day, teaching all age groups and all stages of instruction.

He's no longer in active competition, of course, but Joe still keeps on his toes with private lessons and as well on his way towards earning the United States Figure Skating Association Gold Medal. Joe has only four more tests to go before achieving this most coveted rank in the skating world.

L.A. citation for Williams

WASHINGTON—U. S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D-N.J.) has received a citation from a county 2,500 miles from New Jersey for his efforts in behalf of urban legislation and his work as chairman of the Special Committee on Aging.

The citation, from the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, was presented to Sen. Williams in his office by Joseph M. Pollard, legislative consultant to the board.

The citation reads: "In recognition of his distinguished public service and outstanding legislative accomplishments during his many years as a member of the United States Congress and for his dedication to the precepts of good government as demonstrated by his record of achievement (Sen. Williams) is hereby highly commended by the Board of Supervisors, County of Los Angeles."

Release of funds for Tocks urged

Senator Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) this week expressed concern that the Administration's freezing of $3.6 million for land acquisition will undo Congress' efforts to relieve hardship among residents of the Tocks Island Dam and Reservoir project area.

In a letter to George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, Senator Case said that "humanitarian considerations alone call for the release of these funds as quickly as is possible."

BACK IN SCHOOL—Joe Pedicini, who has won medals in major ice skating competition, is back in school—as a teacher. Joe started at the Ralph Evans Ice Skating School, Westfield, as a raw beginner when he was 11.

Diesel school facilities enlarged for new class

A record 25 new students began classes at Engine City Technical Institute this week, forcing the school for diesel technicians to expand its facilities for the third time in less than a year.

"Enrollments have surpassed anything we expected," said Larry L. Berlin, coordinator of instruction. "Evidently we are benefiting from the great surge of interest recently in technical education."

The student body at Engine City Tech now numbers 60. The school, located at "Engine City," industrial-and-training complex on Rt. 22 West, Union, is the East Coast's only vocational education center devoted solely to training diesel engine technicians.

Berlin said five young men completed their training last month, and all have been hired by trucking or truck-service companies in northern New Jersey. Each of the graduates had several employment offers, he reported.

Engine City Tech has almost tripled the size of its workshop for students, doubled the size of the tool room, and completed a student lounge and locker room.

Expansion projects still under way include a $45,000 dynamometer laboratory and a reference library. The soundproof lab is being equipped with a 700-horsepower Clayton engine dynamometer along with a range of other engine tune-up and evaluation equipment.

The new students, according to Berlin, will be almost evenly divided in the school's day and evening sessions. Day classes, from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., are conducted five days a week. Evening classes, from 6:30 to 10:30, are held on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Berlin said all of the institute's graduates hold full-or part-time jobs while they pursue their studies.

College paper selects its gal

A daughter of Czechoslovakian immigrants has been selected as "Miss Gazette Girl" at Upsala College, East Orange, in an annual contest sponsored by the student newspaper.

Jean Helen Stefanik, 18-year-old freshman of Jamesburg, was crowned at a Christmas dinner-dance by last year's winner, Linda Cofer of Long Branch, who went on to become second runner-up in the Miss New Jersey Pageant. The "Gazette Girl" contest is limited to freshmen and the winner, selected following interviews by the newspaper's editorial board, will be featured in next year's homecoming-day parade at Upsala.

Expansion highpoint of UC year

"1970 was an auspicious year for Union College, a pace setting start to the new decade," Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, president said today in his annual statement.

"Last year, Union College made a commitment to provide a comprehensive two-year college program for Union County in lieu of a community college in conjunction with the Union County Technical Institute in Scotch Plains, and I believe we have made tremendous progress in this direction," Dr. Iversen said.

The most dramatic step in realizing this goal, he continued, was the opening of urban campuses in Elizabeth and Plainfield. Taking its cue from Mohammed, Union College went to the potential student, bringing the facilities of the college directly into the community and the advantages of higher education to those who could not seek them out.

There are now 400 students in day and evening sessions at the Elizabeth and Plainfield Campuses, Dr. Iversen noted, bringing total enrollment to 2,900, a significant increase over last year's enrollment of 2,100.

The additional facilities, he added, have also enabled the college to further its commitment to the educationally and economically disadvantaged members of the county community. There are now 80 students enrolled in the Educational Opportunity Fund Project, 40 on the Cranford Campus and 20 at each Urban Campus.

The EOF program is geared for the student who has the potential to do college work, but whose prior education has failed to prepare him for college. Remedial programs within a college setting permit him to work up to the required academic level, while enjoying the emotional and social status of a college student.

The past year has also been marked by expansion on the academic front, Dr. Iversen reported. Seven new credit and four non-credit courses in the areas of history, philosophy, English, government and mathematics have been added to the curriculum.

"Recognizing that education is not an isolated sanctuary in today's society, but a life-long pursuit, Union College is exploring new avenues in continuing education for adults," Dr. Iversen said.

This year, the college introduced the Weekend College. Designed to provide non-credit courses for adults, classes meet Friday evenings and Saturday mornings. The Weekend College recognizes that many adults want to update and/or enrich their education without having to go through the formalities of prescribed courses.

Courses may range in length from several days to six or 12 weeks, depending on the material to be covered. Subjects are narrowly defined to meet very specific interests. The Weekend College is conducted by the Division of Community Services, which was also established this year. The new division formalizes Union College's goal to provide educational opportunities to all segments of the Union County community.

Another program of the Community Services Division will be the operation of the Sperry Observatory. Under the direction of Patrick J. White, director of the observatory and professor of astronomy, greater emphasis will be given to teacher workshops in astronomy. The observatory is also made available to elementary school classes throughout the state.

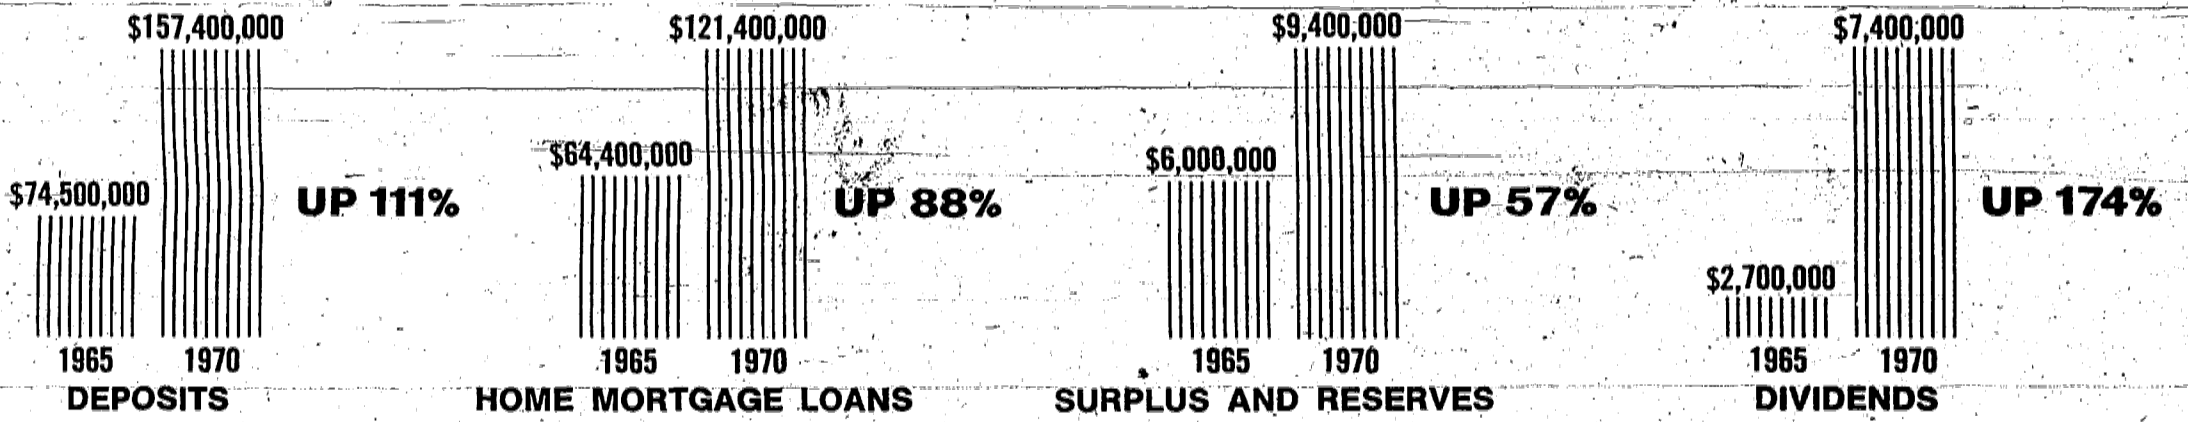

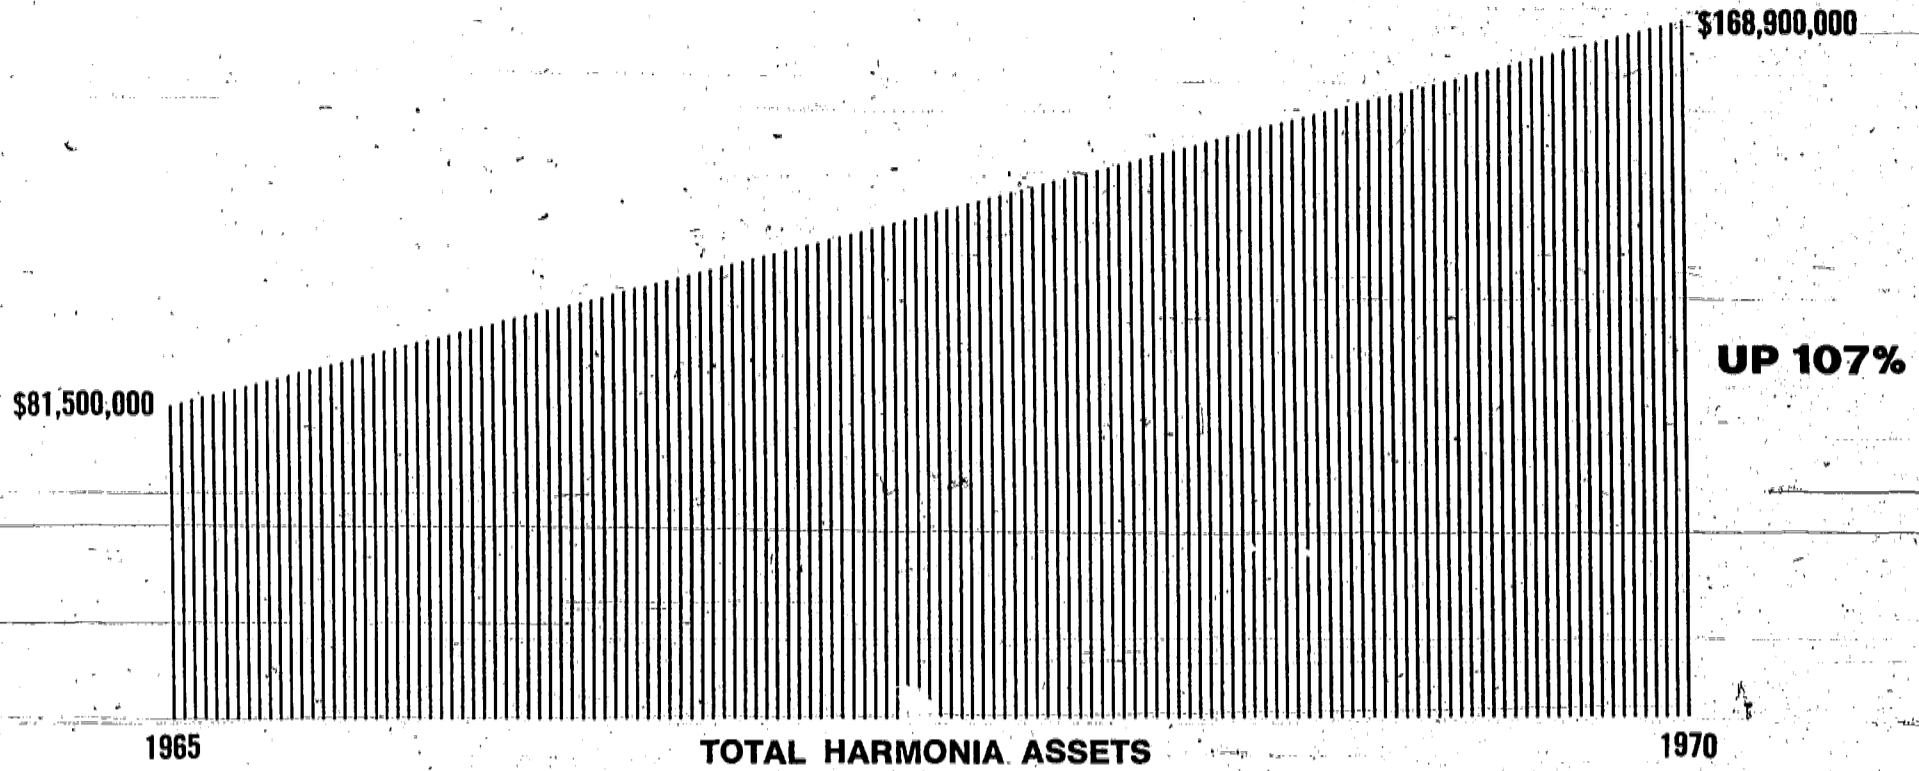

The Division of Community Services also functions as an educational tool of the county. Its services are made available to municipalities, Chambers of Commerce, and professional and social service organizations. Prof. Richard Salcoe, director, is working with the Chamber of Commerce of Eastern Union County in the area of air pollution and with the Association of Industrial Nurses to develop a course in human relations.

Over the past year, Dr. Iversen continued, Union College has sponsored public workshops on drug abuse, air pollution and racial relations. County residents have had the opportunity to hear such national figures as Dr. Margaret Mead, Ralph Nader, Mayor Charles Evers of Fayette, Mississippi, and Dick Gregory.

Progress has not been limited, Dr. Iversen pointed out, to the academic and social service fronts. To meet current and anticipated physical needs, the Cranford Campus is in the midst of a major construction program. A new administration building opened this fall, freeing nine classrooms in the Nomahegan Building, which had been taken over for administrative use, and providing expanded guidance facilities and offices for faculty and administrators.

Plans were completed in 1970 for a 50,000 square foot library-learning center with seating for about 600 persons.

TUMORS ON BRAIN OR SPINAL CORD—PART III

Together, the spinal cord and brain form the central nervous system. Tumors from the brain may extend down into the spinal cord. Separate spinal cord tumors are less frequent than brain tumors. These tumors may stop the flow of messages between brain and body much as an accident which injures the spinal cord may do.

Parkway acts to upgrade restaurants' standards

The Garden State Parkway has set a new course for its roadside restaurants. Chairman John P. Gallagher of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Parkway, said the restaurants along the toll road are being directed toward greater all-around service for the motoring public through the cooperation of restaurant operators and the Highway Authority.

Noting that higher costs of food and labor combined with high bid rates have constricted restaurant concessionaires in the performance of service and pricing of popular food items, the commissioners of the authority have called for operating agreements offering a lesser return to the authority while requiring stricter standards of quality, quantity and cost of basic public needs.

In a first step, the authority on Dec. 17 awarded a new five-year license agreement to V. Gladieux Food Services, Inc., of Toledo, Ohio, for the operation under its Holiday House trademark of five Parkway roadside restaurants effective February 1st.

The agreement fixes prices and portions on 11 basic food items—including a 15-cent six-ounce cup of coffee—for the term of the agreement and stipulates regulated porter and matron service in restrooms with no tipping permitted.

The Gladieux proposal, which the authority accepted from among three submitted by food firms, further provides for an investment of some $450,000 in capital improvements to the five restaurants. The awarded operator also agreed that any total profit over 10 per cent before taxes would be applied to additional building improvements or equipment at the authority's option.

THE PROPOSAL ACCEPTED as most advantageous to the authority and its motoring public sets a rate of return on gross receipts ranging from 9 per cent to 13.75 per cent according to location or an average of 12.08 per cent.

The five Parkway roadside restaurants are those at its Montvale, Monmouth, Forked River, Atlantic City and Seaville (Cape May County) service areas. Three other Parkway restaurants — at Brookdale Southbound, Vaux Hall, and Cheesequake — are operated by Howard Johnson under a separate agreement expiring Jan. 31, 1974.

Although the authority will net less from this new arrangement, Chairman Gallagher said he felt a 12 per cent return to the authority was fair and enables a better deal for the traveling public.

Also, he saw the distinct possibility of such a theoretical loss being offset by increased business related to the restaurants' operating and physical improvements during the new five-year agreement.

"But the fact remains," the chairman added, "that the restaurants were never intended to do more than pay for themselves. They were not designed as a source of substantial income; their mission is to provide the necessary auxiliary services for the motoring public and not to help pay for the road."

Gallagher said that he hoped to be able to work out with Howard Johnson similar alleviating arrangements during the remaining term of its agreement that would be beneficial to the public and the operator alike.

The 11 food items specifically listed in the new agreement are fixed in portion and price as follows:

Hamburger (6 per pound), 50¢; cheeseburger (6 per pound), 60¢; hamburger (3 per pound), 85¢; cheeseburger (3 per pound), 95¢; California burger (3 per pound), 95¢; frankfurter (9 per pound), 40¢; carbonated or fruit base beverage (12 ounce), 15¢; carbonated or fruit base beverage (6 ounce cup), 15¢; coffee (6-ounce cup), 15¢; and ice cream service or cone (#16 scoop), 30¢.

Boards stressing economy, reports NJSBA president

"Economy" is the watchword in school budgeting this year," according to Mrs. Myra Malovany, president of the New Jersey School Boards Association. Speaking from the association's headquarters in Trenton, Mrs. Malovany stressed that school districts are aware of the public's concern over escalating living costs and higher taxes and added, "I can assure the public that school budgets are being pared to the bone."

"Although budgets will be higher this year, the reasons for the rise are usually beyond school district control," noted Mrs. Malovany. "Better than 90 percent of the school budget consists of charges to which the school board is precommitted. It can do very little about teacher salaries, transportation costs, debt service payments, operational expenses such as light and heat, and fixed charges like pensions and insurance."

"The remaining seven or eight percent in the budget—the discretionary part—is, I know, being given the closest scrutiny. After all, school board members who fix the budgets are responsible public servants and taxpayers who are, themselves, feeling the financial pinch."

"When you go to the polls to vote on your school district budget," urged the school boards president, "remember that it represents months of the most careful planning and deliberation and that, this year in particular, it represents the lowest possible sum—that is necessary to ensure a decent education for the children in your community."

Consumer quiz planned in area

Questions on consumer buying and home improvement expectations will be asked by representatives of the Bureau of the Census in this area during January, according to John C. Cullinane, director of the bureau's regional office in New York.

The questions are asked four times yearly as part of a nationwide effort to collect information as a guide to federal agencies and other groups in developing programs based on consumer spending patterns. A sample of residents in this area will be asked if they expect to buy a house, car, or major appliance during the next year and if they have made recent purchases of these items. Homeowners will be asked about home improvements and repairs during the last three months and any planned for the future.

In the third quarter of 1970, the survey indicated that consumer spending plans were little changed from the second quarter, while the percentage of families expecting their incomes to decline within 12 months had increased for the fourth quarter in a row.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept confidential by law and will be published only in the form of statistical totals.

JOBS program lists 3rd project

A third job opportunities in the Business Sector (JOBS) program for 186 men and women was announced this week by Jack W. Owen, president of the Hospital Research and Educational Trust of New Jersey.

This new JOBS project, sponsored by the trust and funded with a U.S. Department of Labor prime contract of $376,664, will begin Jan. 18 in three Mercer County hospitals — Helene Fuld and Mercer Hospitals in Trenton and Princeton Hospital. The 186 men and women who will be employed in this program must be certified by the local office of the National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB). They will be trained primarily in food services, housekeeping and clerical duties.

The JOBS program was launched in 1968 to obtain cooperation of private employers in hiring, training, retraining and upgrading the disadvantaged. These JOBS contracts provide financial assistance to participating hospitals to cover costs of employing, training, and bringing the disadvantaged to normal productivity.

To date, 1,161 men and women are being trained in 14 member-hospitals of the New Jersey Hospital Association.

Lincoln phrase Muskie theme

A phrase popularized by Abraham Lincoln in his second inaugural address, delivered in 1864, has become the theme of the independent Muskie campaign in New Jersey. The New Jersey Youth For Muskie, initiated last month by three law students, Lawrence Jasker, Lawrence Maher and Stephen Serbe, said this week that its theme will be "Muskie '72." "With malice toward none..."

"The choice of this phrase as the keynote to the independent Muskie campaign," a spokesman said, "is based upon a two-fold objective: first, to establish a valid identity in both style and substance between Edmund Muskie and Abraham Lincoln and second, to affirm Edmund Muskie's role as the voice of unity in this country."

The theme will be carried on all campaign items, such as buttons and bumper stickers, produced by the New Jersey Youth For Muskie. Persons interested in aiding the group may do so by writing to: New Jersey Youth for Muskie, Box 1498, Newark 07101.

- CHICKEN HASH
3 raw potatoes
1 medium-sized onion
1 green pepper
2 tablespoons fat or salad oil
1/2 cup drained tomatoes
1/2 cup chicken stock
Salt and pepper
1 1/2 cups diced, cooked chicken
Put potatoes, onion, and green pepper through food chopper, using coarse blade; brown in hot fat. Add tomatoes, chicken stock, and seasonings; cook covered 20 minutes. Add chicken and continue cooking slowly 20 minutes. Turkey may be used in place of chicken. Serves 6.

- MONDAY'S MEAT PIE
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 cups cubed leftover beef
1 cup cubed leftover potatoes
1 cup cubed leftover carrots
1 can (1 cup) peas
1 cup gravy
4 slices dry bread, cubed
Brown celery, onion, and green pepper in hot fat; add combined meat, potatoes, carrots, and peas. Add gravy and season to taste. Pour into casserole; top with bread cubes browned in butter. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 minutes. Serves 6.

- TOSSED VEGETABLE SALAD
1 cup cooked, diced potatoes
1 cup cooked, diced carrots
1 cup diced celery
1 large onion, chopped
1/4 cup minced parsley
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
Salt and pepper
5 tablespoons salad oil
3 tablespoons vinegar
Combine vegetables and eggs. Chill thoroughly. Season, sprinkle with salad oil and vinegar. Toss lightly; serve on lettuce. Serves 6.

- REFRIGERATOR STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE
Cut leftover cake to fit refrigerator tray. Line tray with waxed paper. Place cake in tray. Sweeten 2 cups sliced strawberries; let stand until juice forms. Add 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatine softened in 1 tablespoon water and dissolved over hot water. Spread over cake. Top with 1/2 pint heavy cream, whipped and flavored with sugar and vanilla. Freeze until firm. Serves 6.

Economics in the home

By ELAINE MAY, County Home Economist
Did you ever stop and think about the value of the economic services produced by a family? Meals are cooked, clothes are cared for, the house and property are maintained, as well as numerous other activities. If someone were hired to do all the work, the cost could be staggering.

The family is an economic unit with family members making economic decisions everyday. The choices as to how to spend time, energy and money are very real ones--if you take one thing, you can't take the other.

Many families operate with very little division of labor. The household head is away most of the day at an outside job. The children are in school. And mothers are usually left with the most time, energy and skills for running the house.

Tasty-topic

- VEAL SALAD
1 can (10-1/2 oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups cooked macaroni
1 cup diced cooked veal
1/2 cup chopped cucumber
2 tablespoons chopped green onion
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
Lettuce
Blend soup, lemon juice, and salt. Combine with remaining ingredients except lettuce. Chill. Serve on lettuce. 4 to 6 servings.

Healthier economy expected this year in state despite increased wages, costs

New Jersey businessmen, including 399 from Union County, cautiously predict a more healthy economy for the Garden State in 1971, compared with the year just completed, according to a statement released this week by Leonard C. Johnson, president of the New Jersey Manufacturers Association.

Expecting increased sales and prices to partially offset higher wages and material costs, Garden State employers nevertheless are sufficiently enthusiastic over the state's future to plan substantial expansion of facilities during 1971.

Twenty-three percent of the members of the association reported plans for new facilities costing an aggregate of over $620 million. Total new investment of all New Jersey business and industry during the year could approach $2 billion.

Results of the association's 12th annual Economic Outlook Survey included predictions of 399 Union County businessmen among the 3,115 responding to the questionnaire.

In commenting on the survey results, Johnson said association members were asked to express their opinions early last fall, before the November elections and the automobile workers' strike. He pointed out that, as in the 1970 survey, responses indicated considerable caution in predictions for 1971. He attributed this to the inflationary aspects of the economy, shifting governmental monetary policies, and general economic conditions within the State.

As throughout the state, union county businessmen generally reported 1970 employment as good as or better than 1969. Twenty percent of the 399 companies responding from Union County indicated that 1970 employment had increased over 1969, and 73 percent reported that employment had been somewhat lower.

Union County employers were almost unanimous in the opinion that wages would be higher in 1971. Fifteen percent of those responding even predicted increases would be 10 percent or higher. They also see material costs increasing, but not as much as wages.

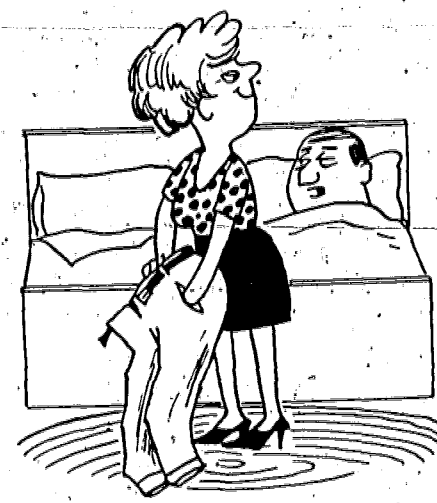

Most expressed views that while increased sales and prices would partially offset wage and cost increases, the results would not be sufficient to prevent profits from dropping below the levels of 1970.

Of 85 Union County firms engaged in foreign trade, 43 increased exports in 1970; three entered the foreign market for the first time; and 45 expect 1971 foreign sales to surpass the 1970 levels.

Of 76 Union County firms reporting operations directly affected by new export or water quality pollution control regulations, 19 have found difficulty in complying with these regulations. Eleven reported it necessary to either eliminate a process or increase prices in order to comply with new regulations.

The complete results of the NJMA 1971 Economic Outlook Survey will be featured in the January issue of the Association's monthly magazine, New Jersey Business.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

USDA certifies state's meat inspection program

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has certified the New Jersey meat inspection program equal to the federal program, under provisions of the Wholesome Meat Act.

As a result, the New Jersey Department of Agriculture now has the full responsibility for inspection of meat and poultry slaughter and processing plants doing business wholly within the state. There are 39 red meat slaughtering plants, 89 poultry slaughterhouses, 251 meat processing plants and 188 meat brokers now operating in New Jersey which will be affected by the certification.

A total of 796,176 pounds of meat and meat products has been condemned and destroyed for unwholesomeness of other qualities which made them unfit for human consumption.

Another phase of meat inspection was inaugurated for consumer protection. The formulation of products and the accurate labeling of the product were reviewed in all processing plants. Such controls had not existed at the wholesale level before. Products meeting all requirements were allowed to display the legend "N.J.D.A. Inspected and Passed."

To further check that products have not been adulterated, samples are continuously submitted by the inspectors to the Department's Agricultural Chemistry laboratory for analysis.

Science scotches myths

Sobering thoughts on drinking

The stand-by prescription of a cold shower, lots of black coffee and a walk in the chill night air for a quick return to sobriety is largely ineffective, a Rutgers alcohol researcher believes.

Holiday revelers are reminded, for next year at least, that the one thing that makes a drunk not a drunk is time.

Dr. Leon A. Greenberg, director of research at the Rutgers Center of Alcohol Studies, cautions drinkers to remember just how alcohol acts in the human body.

"Alcohol gets into the blood stream, but it takes a while for the body to get rid of it. And the more alcohol that goes into the body, the longer it stays there. No cold shower, black coffee or exercise is going to hasten the process.

"If you take a groggy, sleepy drunk and subject him to these so-called remedies, all you do is convert a groggy, sleepy drunk to a wide-awake drunk," Dr. Greenberg pointed out.

TIME ON HIS HANDS — An icy shower, black coffee and a walk in the cold air are not going to speed this fellow's return to sobriety, a Rutgers alcohol researcher says. What he needs, says Dr. Leon A. Greenberg, is simply time to sober up.

HE SAID THAT WHEN normal social drinkers encounter a festive situation, they generally have no intention of becoming roaring drunks. But they often become so because they are not aware of the time it takes to absorb alcohol into the blood.

"With an unlimited supply of liquor at a party, the social drinker frequently 'overshoots' his capacity. He consumes one or two, maybe three drinks, considers himself sober, and then begins to feel the effects of the first drink. And then the second and third add their combined effect to the first one."

Dr. Greenberg said the difficulties facing the occasional or social drinker are vastly different from those facing the problem or chronic drinker.

"With the problem drinker, every day is just like every other day. It's the social drinker whose often excessive alcohol consumption at a party causes the highway tragedies afterwards."

To a party, eat something before you arrive, and you'll be better off."

Dr. Greenberg recommends consuming protein—as being most effective in reducing the impact of alcohol. Protein is more effective than fat, and carbohydrates are least effective of all.

"Drink a tall glass of milk or eat a steak before you get to the party and you'll enjoy the party more. And, if you know your drinking limits and stay within them, you'll be in fine shape driving home afterwards," he concluded.

3 Rinaldo bills would prevent recurrence of Brennan death

State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo said this week that he would introduce three bills aimed at preventing a recurrence of a May 1969 tragedy that resulted in the death of 22-year-old Hillside Resident, Kevin Brennan.

Senator Rinaldo recalled that Brennan was shot by Middlesex County detective following a bullet-punctured chase that began on Route 1 and ended in the driveway of Brennan's parents' home in Union Township.

Senator Rinaldo proposed legislation that would require sheriff's personnel to undergo training approved by the New Jersey Police Training Commission before being allowed to make criminal investigations or engage in routine patrol work.

A second Rinaldo bill would require psychological and psychiatric examinations of all police recruits while in training.

Senator Rinaldo also proposed legislation requiring unmarked law enforcement vehicles to carry portable flashing-red lights, a siren and communication equipment that can be activated quickly in emergencies. He explained that the lights would be used not to hamper law enforcement, but to preclude the possibility of persons being pursued not recognizing the officials and assuming they are being chased by criminals.

Senator Rinaldo said he had developed his proposals partly as a result of suggestions made by Union County police officials. He also said he had discussed his suggestions with representatives of the New Jersey attorney general, the Union County prosecutor and Sheriff Ralph Oriscello.

4 savings groups form investing unit

Formation of Sterling Service Corp. has been jointly announced by First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Westfield, Colonial Savings and Loan Association of Roselle Park, Crestmont Savings and Loan Association of Morristown, and Yorkwood Savings and Loan Association of Maplewood. The venture was organized under regulations of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Washington, D.C.

Although the federal regulations permit a wide diversification of business activities, Sterling Service Corp. intends to initially concentrate on real estate investments including land acquisition and development.

Association representatives slated to serve as directors of the newly-formed corporation are Charles L. Harrington and Irvine B. Johnson, Jr. of First Federal Savings; William J. Blunno and Frederick Wilhelms, Jr. of Colonial Savings; Thomas W. Lyons and Victor Neumann of Crestmont Savings; and O. Vincent McNamany and Louis D. Stratton of Yorkwood Savings.

The combined assets of the participating associations are approximately $260 million.

WHAT SUGGESTIONS does he offer to head off the tragic consequences?

"The most important precaution for a person is to know his limits. We have plenty of information about the relationship between body weight, alcohol intake and the passage of time to blood alcohol concentration. In fact, we have designed a small slide-rule device called an 'Alco-Calculator' that tells a person how long to wait to be legally sober.

"But, realistically, nobody's going to take a slide rule to a party, unless it's a bunch of engineers celebrating something. Instead, there's a convenient rule of thumb that should prove safe in most cases.

"If you consume a drink an hour, there's no cause for concern. If you consume more than one drink in an hour, wait an extra hour for each extra drink before getting into your car to drive home."

DR. GREENBERG WARNS against trusting how you feel to decide when you are able to drive.

"As alcohol exerts its effect on the body, a person becomes a gradually poorer judge of his condition. Judgment becomes completely distorted. Be sure of your condition by knowing how much you drink and how long you've been drinking."

The secondary element in preventing adverse results is to eat before drinking.

"Alcohol has a stronger effect on an empty stomach, which is the typical situation at a late afternoon cocktail party. If you're going

Special elections urged to fill four vacancies in legislature

John T. Connor Jr. of Cranford, former executive director of the Democratic State Committee and campaign coordinator for Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr., has written the Governor, Senate president and Assembly speaker urging them to arrange special legislative elections for three Senate vacancies and one Assembly vacancy.

"The Supreme Courts of the United States and the State of New Jersey have well established the great democratic principle of 'one man — one vote'," Connor said. "This doctrine provides that people are entitled to equal representation in the legislative processes regardless of where they live."

"Four vacancies currently exist in the State Legislature: one Senator and one Assemblyman each from Union County; one Senator from Burlington County; and one Senator from Essex County. Three of these vacancies resulted from executive appointments of elected legislative officials. These appointments were delayed until after the 1970 general elections so that these vacancies could not be filled at that time."

CONNOR SAID THAT "the Republican Administration was perhaps hoping that no elections would be held at all. But the law is quite clear," he said. "Where vacancies occurred in 1970 for legislative terms that do not end until January of 1972, special elections must be held."

UC expansion wins approval of planning unit

The Cranford Planning Board has approved Phase I of Union College's site plan to develop a 19.6-acre site adjacent to the Cranford Campus to be acquired from the Fairview Cemetery Association of Westfield.

The planning board also approved the final plans and specifications for a $6,000 sq. ft. library and a 26,000 sq. ft. classroom building proposed for the corner of Springfield Avenue and Princeton Road. The estimated cost of the two buildings, site work, relocation of the main entrance to the campus and the reconstruction of the present library in the Norman Building to a student lounge is $5 million.

Phase I of the site plan to develop the cemetery property provides for a 300-car parking lot in the area closest to the Sperry Observatory and for a roadway connecting with Gallows Hill road.

In a letter to the Cranford Planning Board, Union College agreed to work with the Cranford, Westfield and Union County Planning Boards "to determine what impact our plans for the development of our 50-acre campus will have on the surrounding area," Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, Union College president, said.

"The idea of a joint committee to discuss these matters is a good one. We will be honored to be a member of such a group."

Dr. Iversen said Union College hopes to receive bids on the library and classroom building in February and to break ground in early March. The proposed construction would provide facilities to serve an additional 800 fulltime students and an equal number of part-time students.

The library will provide space to seat more than 400 students and to store more than 100,000 volumes.

The classroom building will provide 18 classrooms, lecture halls, seminar rooms, and faculty offices.

The 300-car parking lot in the cemetery property is designed to serve the additional students attracted to the Cranford Campus as a result of the construction of the classroom building.

With the additional facilities, Union College will be able to serve 2,000 fulltime students. The present fulltime enrollment at the Cranford Campus is 1,200. Dr. Iversen said the college anticipates increasing the enrollment to 2,000 fulltime students over the next eight to ten years.

Dr. Knauer praises article on leukemia fight progress

"One of the most hopeful articles ever to appear in a national magazine about one of the most hopeless forms of cancer," that was the comment of Dr. Warren H. Knauer, executive committee chairman, Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society about the article, "They're Gaining on Leukemia" by Walter S. Ross, appearing in the December Reader's Digest.

"Twenty-five years ago diagnosis of acute leukemia was a sentence of death," continued Dr. Knauer. "Children lived only a few weeks at most. Today, of those receiving the latest in drug treatment, ninety percent go into symptom-free remission and sometimes this lasts for several years. With a number of acute leukemia patients now symptom-free for over five years, doctors are beginning to use the word 'cure'. It is too early to tell, however, whether these patients will live out a normal life span."

The article traces the developments in leukemia research and drug treatment. Highlighted is the pioneering research of Dr. Sidney Farber, head of the Children's Cancer Research Foundation of Boston, and former president of the American Cancer Society, who developed the first drug to give symptom-free weeks to an acute leukemia patient. That was in 1947.

Today there are 80 medical centers throughout the country, all equipped to treat cases of acute leukemia with multiple-drug therapy.

Dr. Knauer noted that most of the centers are related to a large university or research institution and that few patients would have to leave their home states to reach one. "The American Cancer Society often provides transportation services for patients and their families," Dr. Knauer added, "and we offer counseling services to make the way easier for families when the tragedy of leukemia strikes."

The author of the article, Walter S. Ross, is editorial consultant to the American Cancer Society and author of "The Climate Is Hope," a collection of case histories of people who have triumphed over cancer.

UNUSUAL HAMLET - Dame Judith Anderson will appear as "Hamlet" in a production of the Shakespeare tragedy on Saturday, Jan. 16, at Symphony Hall, Newark. The performance, a Symphony Hall benefit showing, will be preceded by a black tie dinner in the Terrace Room at the hall.

Neil Simon show at the Paper Mill

Eddie Bracken and Barbara Baxley star in Neil Simon's triumphant Broadway comedy success, "Plaza Suite," at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn.

Bracken won raves for his Paper Mill performance in the spring of 1969 in "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running." Miss Baxley played in "Plaza Suite" on Broadway, where the Simon hit ran two years and seven months for 1,097 performances.

Appearing with Bracken and Miss Baxley will be Lisa Richards; Phillip Piro, and Roy Providence. Harvey Medinsky is the director.

"Plaza Suite," the seventh in a string of Simon Broadway hits, consists of three one-act plays set in Manhattan's most elegant hotel. What appears to be Simon's 10th hit in a row -- "The Gingerbread Lady," starring Maureen Stapleton -- has just opened to wide acclaim in New York.

Judith Anderson to play role of 'Hamlet' at Symphony Hall

Dame Judith Anderson will appear as Shakespeare's melancholy hero, "Hamlet," Saturday, Jan. 16, at 8:30 p.m. at Symphony Hall, Newark. The show is being given as this year's Symphony Hall benefit performance. Chairman is Donald S. MacNaughton, chairman and chief executive officer of the Purdental Insurance Co.

"Hamlet," produced by Paul Gregory, began its run last September on the West Coast to critical praise and advance ticket sales of $600,000.

Now 72, Dame Judith has built a reputation as one of the leading actresses of our time with performances in such plays as Benet's "John Brown's Body," "Medea" by Euripides, and Chekhov's "Three Sisters."

A veteran of such Shakespeare roles as the Queen Mother in Sir John Gielgud's production of "Hamlet" and as Lady Macbeth in "Macbeth," Dame Judith is performing the male role of Hamlet for the first time in her career. It is a role she says she has wanted to play since her career began in her native Australia.

Dame Judith has been on the stage in this country since she was a teenager. Her first important role came as a member of the 14th Street Stock Company, in "Dear Brutus." A succeeding role in New York in "The Cobra" drew the attention of critics, and as co-star of David Belasco's "The Dove," she became established as a leading actress.

Among her many acting honors, she has received the insignia of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire. The presentation of the award in 1960 was "the greatest moment of my life," says Dame Judith.

Invitations have been sent for a black tie dinner in the Terrace Room at Symphony Hall preceding the performance. Those attending have purchased tickets at $50 each.

Tickets for the general public are priced from $4 to $7.50 and may be obtained through the Symphony Hall box office, 1020 Broad St., Newark, phone 623-1815.

'McKenzie Break' shows at 2 houses

Two area theaters are showing "McKenzie Break" this week as a topbiller. They are the Elmore Theater in Elizabeth and the Mayfair Theater in Hillside.

"Don't Drink the Water" is the associate feature at the Elmore.

"Barquero," starring Lee Van Cleef and Forrest Tucker, and directed in color, by Gordon Douglas, is the companion feature at the Mayfair Theater.

"McKenzie Break," a spellbinding World War II POW drama, which focuses on German prisoners rather than Americans, is set in Scotland.

Brian Keith is starred as an Irish captain and Helmut Griem is a German officer. The picture, photographed in color, was directed by Lamont Johnson.

Fox stars Sinatra in western comedy

Frank Sinatra stars with George Kennedy in the tongue-in-cheek western, "Dirty Dingus Magee," latest film attraction at the Fox Theater, Route 22, Union. Anne Jackson has the feminine lead.

The picture concerns an outlaw and dishonest sheriff, rivals in crime. Photographed in color, "Dingus" was directed by Burt Kennedy.

Art showing adult film on 'Sexual Freedom'

An informative sexual education film for adults over 21, "Sexual Freedom in Sweden," is being held over for a second week at the Art Theater, Irvington Center.

The X-rated film was produced and photographed in color.

Ashkenazy to play at Symphony Hall

Vladimir Ashkenazy, the Soviet pianist who has won international acclaim, will be heard in recital on Sunday, Jan. 17, at Symphony Hall, Newark. The 33-year-old Ashkenazy is making his sixth North American tour for impresario S. Hurok. His Symphony Hall program will begin at 3 p.m.

Ashkenazy, in 1956 at the age of 19, won first prize in the coveted Queen Elizabeth Competition in Brussels. The unanimous decision was given by a panel that included Artur Schnabel, Emil Gilels and Robert Casadesu. Since that time he has performed with the major orchestras of the world and has made global tours in recital and concert every year.

Born in Gorky, in the Soviet Union, on July 6, 1937, he began studying piano at the age of six. At 17 he was prize-winner in the Fifth International Chopin Competition in Warsaw after which he entered the Moscow Conservatory.

'Ann and Eve' film arrives at Ormont

"Ann and Eve," Swedish adult film, rated R, concerning love and perversion, opened yesterday at the Ormont Theater, East Orange.

The picture, which stars Gio Petre and Marie Liljedahl, and which was filmed in color, concerns two women, a 30-year-old journalist, and her 18-year-old companion, who vacation together in Southern Yugoslavia. In the "Swedish Cinderella story," the younger woman is destined to find love with her fiancé, and the journalist is determined to prevent the girl from achieving happiness by introducing her to a perverse way of life.

The film was directed by Arne Mattsson.

TO OUR MANY FRIENDS AND READERS: A great BIG thank you for the many Holiday Greeting cards we received. So to you, and you, and especially to you - our VERY BEST WISHES FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS IN THE NEW YEAR...

If NBC's Bill Cosby is as good a prophet as he is a performer, the future is going to be very unfunny indeed for comedians-to-come. Cosby is the author of a fantasy story titled "This One Will Kill You" in the current issue of Playboy. This is a weird, wild, black-humorous forecast which sardonically envisions the show business of 2070, when comics play for eight hours to live audiences of 487,000 in huge bowl theatres with bubble-top made of leftover helmets from World War X.

Cosby's rich imagination conceives a society in which a comedian really deserves his $3,000,000 fee for one night's work, since he has to cope with screaming hordes of 12-year-old totally bald groupies, autograph hunters by the thousands, and audiences more than slightly violent in their expressions of affection and/or criticism.

It may or may not be significant that Cosby nowhere alludes in the story to the television of the future.

FROM THE MAILBAG: BILL HAACKE of Vailsburg, writes to ask more info on Jennifer Hosten, "Miss World," who accompanied Bob Hope on his recent round-the-world trip to entertain American servicemen over the Christmas holidays. Jennifer comes from Grenada, the British West Indies. She's five feet seven inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, and other vital statistics include measurements of 37-23-36. She received the "Miss World" title in London last November and is the first title holder from the West Indies.

An airline hostess, she speaks both French and English, and is also an accomplished secretary-stenographer.

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY: Jack Jefferson, played by James Earl Jones, Indian wrestles with an Austrian officer as his trainer, played by Joel Fluellen, and other Austrian officers look on in a scene from "The Great White Hope," now being shown in Panavision and Deluxe Color at The Rialto in Westfield.

College to sponsor seminar tomorrow on school budgets

A seminar to help school officials and interested laymen explain school budgets and bond issues to the public will be held tomorrow at the Ramada Inn, East Brunswick. Sponsored by Glassboro State College, the seminar will focus on effective ways to communicate school financial needs to the man-on-the-street.

Emphasis will be placed on year-round communication that builds climate of trust, according to Don Bagin, coordinator of the college's graduate program in school public relations. Bagin and Frank Grazian, who directs GSC's journalism program, are co-directing the seminar.

Additional speakers slated are Don Gallagher, director of community relations for the Central Bucks, Pa., schools; A. Glen Everhart, superintendent of Pitman's schools; and David Lefever, a former GSC graduate student who conducted research in school communication with voters.

Topics include: how to involve the community in the campaigns; what the research says about voters in school elections in New Jersey communities; press relations; and preparing publication.

Starting at 10 a.m., the seminar will end at 3:30 p.m. Consultants will be available for individual counseling from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. The fee is $30.

Additional information is available from the Office of Continuing Education at the college.

Waste disposal suggestions made by Rutgers engineers

Two agricultural engineers from Rutgers University suggested this week how cities might dispose of their wastes by adapting agricultural methods.

They presented the point of view of agricultural engineers whose aim is to gainfully utilize all wastes as a conservation measure. Engineers do this by giving particular attention to the recycling of biodegradable solid wastes in the soil.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in the Pick Congress Hotel, Chicago, Harry E. Besley and Charles H. Reed, agricultural engineers at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, described their Plow-Furrow-Cover (PFC) and Sub-Sod Injection (SSI) techniques used successfully to dispose of animal manures.

With these methods, slurred and semisolid wastes are incorporated into the soil where microscopic organisms degrade them and plants use them to grow. The engineers said: "The method is relatively odor-free and does not offer any opportunity for flies and other pests to breed or feed. Surface runoff of pollutants and soil erosion can be positively controlled."

Besley and Reed offered details of the operation of the Rutgers Sub-Sod Injector and equipment for PFC, developed during seven years of testing. Basically this consists of a tractor that operates a chisel-like plow to open a furrow, a "gooseneck" trailer and a tank containing the liquid or semi-liquid to be poured into the soil, and a standard moldboard plow to cover the waste and level the ground.

THE RUTGERS TEAM listed methods currently used to dispose of urban wastes: Ocean dumping, sanitary landfill and dumps, incineration, composting, and reclamation and salvage.

Now a part of the State Museum's film archives, the series was purchased, in part, from funds given by the Association for the Arts of the New Jersey State Museum.

Author and narrator of "Civilisation," Kenneth Clark, was awarded the National Gallery of Art's Medal for Distinguished Service to Education in Art at a ceremony at the gallery last November.

dumping, sanitary landfill and dumps, incineration, composting, and reclamation and salvage.

Composting has "great potential," they said, for soil improvement and large-scale "land healing." Reclamation, used in conjunction with other methods, is considered essential as a conservation measure.

But Plow-Furrow-Cover would recycle in the soil the biodegradable wastes, accounting for more than half of total wastes. This would conserve natural resources and upgrade the physical and social environment.

As to sites where the method could be used, Besley and Reed mentioned -- in addition to agricultural and some recreational land -- the thousands of acres of abandoned and unutilized areas now producing weeds or just dust, and contributing to flash flooding, soil erosion, and the filling of lakes and streams with sediment.

"Of particular concern are the scars left in the form of abandoned pits and strips resulting from various mining operations.

"With scientific waste management and cropping the scars can be healed and the areas could be providing food for man, food and shelter for wildlife, and green acres and parks, as well as conserving soil and water and purifying the atmosphere."

Milk price hearing planned in Trenton beginning Jan. 12

A public hearing will be held by W. W. Moffett Jr., director of the Division of Dairy Industry, New Jersey Department of Agriculture, beginning at 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 12, in the Museum Room of the War Memorial Building, Trenton.

The hearing is being held on order of the Supreme Court of New Jersey to take testimony as to whether there is any public need within the scope of the New Jersey Milk Control Act for the continuance of minimum milk prices at any level. In addition, testimony will be taken of matters involved in six questions submitted by the Court to the Division of Dairy Industry earlier in the year.

It is anticipated that the hearing will run for several days. The first week the hearing will be in session, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The second and subsequent weeks, if necessary, the hearing will run from Monday through Thursday.

Moffett said that all interested persons, including consumers, dairy farmers, milk dealers, milk processors, milk subdealers, and operators of stores which sell milk would be welcome to attend the hearing and submit evidence and testimony under oath.

Seton Hall center for black studies offers five courses

Seton Hall University's Black Studies Center will offer five courses on a late afternoon and evening basis with the opening of the spring semester on Jan. 14, according to Dr. George Jackson, director.

"Afro-American Literature will be presented on Tuesdays at 4 p.m. and will survey the works of popular as well as lesser known black writers. The history of literature will be offered from slave songs to the 'poetry of the last poets.'"

"Black Culture: Implications and Applications" will be taught jointly by the staff of the center on Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m. and will include informal discussions of cultural patterns developed by Afro-Americans with special emphasis on music and dance. The course will point out the relationship between cultural expressions and the black struggle.

"Introduction to Black Studies" on Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. is an inter-disciplinary consideration of such topics as the Origins of Black People; African Civilization in the Western Hemisphere; Folklore; Mythology and Customs; and the Rise of Black Nationalism.

"Community Mental Health," to be offered at 6:30 p.m. on Mondays, will determine the indices of mental health as defined in the terms of the unique community. Special emphasis will be placed on the role of the professional and non-professional in working with existing institutions and helping to create viable alternatives. Consideration will also be given to "crisis intervention" and "sensitivity training" as mechanisms for fostering community mental health.

"Public Institutions vs Black Self-determination to be presented on Thursdays at 6:30 p.m. in a seminar on the adverse effects of public institutions on the black community. Matters will be explored and developed to help the professionals and non-professionals make institutions responsible and responsive to community needs.

Seton Hall's Black Studies Center also offers a number of daytime undergraduate courses.

Ten-point code issued for bike safety

Young owners of new Christmas bikes got a 10-point code for bicycle safety this week from R. J. Vialle, general manager of the New Jersey Automobile Club.

Vialle pointed out that as the number of cars on the road increases, the number of bicycle mishaps also soar. In 1963, 573 deaths resulted from these accidents — in 1969, there were 820.

Vialle also warned that parents shouldn't delude themselves into thinking that if their youngsters are no longer small, they're less likely to have an accident. In fact, he said, a recent study by the National Safety Council found that the bicycle-motor vehicle accident rate is about 50 percent higher among youngsters from 10 to 14 years old than those below the age of 10. It appears that most younger cyclists are more likely to ride on sidewalks and other non-traffic areas.

Vialle's 10 tips for safety are: 1. Think of yourself as a driver — not a rider. As a driver, you're responsible for your own safety and the safety of others on the road and sidewalk. And learning sound driving techniques will make you a superior motorist once you're old enough to own your first car.

2. Signal for left and right turns and slowing and stopping with the same hand motions that car drivers use. 3. Learn and obey all traffic signs and signals, including traffic lights, stop signs and crosswalk markings at intersections, as well as the directions of officers guiding traffic. The largest number of cyclists — 80 percent — are killed or injured because they were violating traffic laws.

4. Be alert for pedestrians who may step from between parked cars, for doors of parked cars that might open on the street side, and for moving cars ahead that may stop suddenly.

5. Always drive one to a bicycle. When more than one cyclist is on the road, they should drive single file, close to the right side of the street, and make no sudden change in course.

6. Always keep both hands on the handlebars unless signaling. The habit of "clowning" around is childish and dangerous. Save it for the family "rec" room.

7. Never drive fast going downhill or on rough, slippery roads.

8. Cross street car and railroad tracks as straight across as possible to avoid skidding.

9. Never drive at dusk or after dark unless the bike is equipped with a horn or bell, a strong headlight and a red taillight reflector. And always wear light-colored clothing after dark.

10. Keep the bike in top condition. Older children should be responsible for frequent checks of the brake, bell and head or taillight, and also see that tires are properly inflated, that loose spokes are replaced, that pedals spin freely, and that handlebars are tight.

Parents should remember, Vialle said, that when selecting a bike, handlebar grips should be the same height as the saddle and at right angles to the handlebar stem. The brake system should be of the coaster type — most children aren't strong enough to operate a hand brake.

Parents also should be familiar with local laws affecting cyclists. Some require licensing of bicycles, some forbid their use on sidewalks, and some give parents the responsibility for equipping their child's bike with proper lights and warning devices.

State induction call 449 for January

Colonel Joseph T. Avella, New Jersey State Director of Selective Service, announced this week that the state's induction call for January 1971 is for 449 men, 276 more than the December 1970 call.

The national call is for 17,000 men, all to be inducted into the Army.

Also during January, 3,832 registrants will be forwarded to the Armed Forces Examining and Entrance Stations with the inductees for a pre-induction physical examination.

"Finally," said Vialle, "if there's the slightest suspicion that a child is too immature to take on the responsibility of driving a bicycle, wait a year to two before getting him one. Meanwhile, buy him a puppy — they're a lot less expensive, and much more affectionate."

A CAREER OR MARRIAGE?
Dear Amy: I am 20 years old and enlisted in the United States Air Force. Before I committed myself, I met the most wonderful guy who would do anything in the world for me. I dated him a lot before I left and developed strong feelings for him. I know he felt the same way about me but nothing was said about marriage. Now that I am in the Air Force, it is everything I hoped it would be. When I went home on leave, Tim asked me to marry him and because I missed him so much, I said yes. So we can be together now, he doesn't want me to finish my enlistment of 4 years. I am mixed up.

several nights by some nut. At 9 p.m. every night, a taxi pulls up in front of my house and honks the horn. To run outside in my 'nightie' would be very embarrassing. It is very upsetting for a person of my age to be bothered so unnecessarily. You must help me overcome my fears about this.

Have Had It
Dear Amy: Is it possible that the horn is for someone else. If not, the best way to discourage the honking is to ignore it.

Unhappy Waf
Dear Waf: Your decision (which no one can make for you) takes maturity, a re-evaluation of what you really want and the ability to make a decision and to be satisfied with it... come what may. If you loved Tim enough, there wouldn't be any doubt in your mind. The question is: Do you love him enough? No man will wait forever no matter how he feels about a girl. Good luck! ...
Dear Amy: I have been harassed for My real problem is that some day a guy is going to take offense, so I'm told, and poke me in the nose.

A. B. Lover
Dear Amy: I think the word 'flirt' is much more appropriate to describe you. A punch in the nose isn't so bad considering that you are asking for it. Men with your ego usually fall flat on their face!

Big Trouble
Dear Amy: My girlfriend and I hang around together and go every place together, double dating, etc. We love boys, and are both boy-crazy. We're going to be 16. It seems when we're with the guys, we act so much more mature than we really are... and sometimes out of control! Should we stop hanging around with each other, or stop dating?

PERSONAL TO JoAnn:
A fellow who says a girl is too good for him is using that excuse because he can't think of another and wants to end their relationship... My advice to you is to take his advice!

Jannicelli featured in art display

Matteo Jannicelli of Kenilworth will be the artist featured during January at the North Jersey-Essex County Blood Bank, 45 S. Grove St., East Orange. Works displayed will include graphics and mixed media.

Jannicelli is a teacher at Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts. Since 1962 he has received 43 awards and has participated in juried shows at the Montclair Art Museum, at Monmouth College, the Newark Library, the Morris Museum and with the Painters and Sculptors Society. Among his one-man shows have been exhibits at Galt's Gallery in Chatham, the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn and the Bloomfield and Paterson Libraries.

Jannicelli was named artist of the year by the Bloomfield Art League in 1969. His works are in the permanent collection of that community and of Maplewood.

He is art columnist for "Night Owl," the evening paper for Newark State College, and was the featured artist on the cover of New Jersey Music and Arts Magazine in November, 1970. That publication is sponsor of the monthly art shows at the Blood Bank. The displays are open to the public daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Convention scheduled

The mid-winter convention of the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association will be held Jan. 24 to 28 at Host Farms, Lancaster, Pa.

President Isadore Singer said the five-day program will include seminars, symposiums and workshops, some in conjunction with Rutgers University as part of the association's continuing education program.

Workshop subjects will include patient-profile record card systems and drug abuse. Cardiovascular disease will be the theme of a seminar sponsored jointly by the NJPhA and the Rutgers College of Pharmacy Extension Service.

Current and contemplated revision of the drug laws, both state and federal, will be considered in a symposium that will feature Richard J. Russo, deputy director of the State Division of Narcotic and Drug Abuse Control, and Robert Stites, deputy state attorney general.

Oldsters get ticket offer

New Jersey's senior citizens, many of whom are amateur gardeners, will be given special discount rates for attendance at the 1971 New Jersey Flower and Garden Show. The show, largest of its kind in the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area, will be held at the National Guard Armory in Morristown from March 19 to 25. This year's exhibition will feature gardens and displays as well as educational programs.

General adult admission will be $2.25, but the officers and trustees of the show are making available a special senior citizen's group ticket at a cost of $1. The special tickets will be good any weekday, including the opening day.
