Outstanding students are honored at Regional's Recognition Assembly

The 11th annual recognition assembly was held at Gov. Livingston Regional High School on June 10 to honor students for outstanding achievement during the school year in both academic and extra-curricular activities, according to Frederick Aho, principal.

A number of important honors were awarded to Kathi Madison, Eric Kuschick and Sandy Rubert, as well as approximately 200 individual students, Kathi received the Miner Medal for excellence in French, the PTA Booster Club for Knowledge award in foreign languages, the Reader's Digest valedictorian award and the Westfield Pan-Hellenic Award, as well as a previously announced National Merit Scholarship.

Eric received the Booster Club for Knowledge Award in mathematics, the Baugh and Lomb Award in science, a first place award from the Mathematical Association of America, and a second place in the State Science Day.

Sandi received the Booster Club Award for knowledge in music, the National Orchestra Association Award, and the Mountainside Music Association scholarship along with Seth Brown.

Other students who received PTA Booster Club for Knowledge awards include Joseph Falter, art; Mary Ann Pagano, business education; Barbara Hoffert, English and social studies; Deanna Borchers, foreign language; Richard Kaszka, industrial arts; Masako Hayashi, music, and Stuart Brown, science.

Scholarships were awarded by the Berkeley Heights-New Providence Lions Club, to Chuck Price; the Berkeley Heights Chapter, American Association of University Women, to Ellen Hegerty; the Women's Club of Berkeley Heights, to Diane Coletta, with their nursing scholarship going to Ellen Gehri; Berkeley Heights Teachers' Association, to Jeff Hecker, and the Rotary Club scholarship to Valerie Buchwald.

The Mountainside Teachers' Association gave two awards, to Nancy Gabriel and Bruce Mullin. The Mountainside Woman's Club nurse's scholarship went to Patricia Stillwell, with the home economics award going to Nancy White. The Mountainside Kiwanis Club scholarship in memory of Walter Young went to Curtis Carnes. The Adele Lynch nursing scholarships were awarded to Taffee Tallamy, Susan Conrad, Pamela Cash, Sandra Gjerpen, Cathy Simonton and Helen Thorp.

The awards made by school organizations were the Varsity Club scholarships, to Stuart Brown, Alan Emslie, Philip Sieverling and Robert Zetterstrom; the Student Council scholarships to David Ruch and Linda Evans; the Class of 1971 scholarships to Dana Somers and Wendy Saville; the National Honor Society scholarship to Gordon Shulman, the GAA Leaders' Club scholarships to Betty Sommerwerck and Maria Cognetti; High School PTA scholarships to Bill Francisco, Raymond Rodgers, Robin Shallcross and Suzanne Snell; Medical Careers Club scholarships, to Bruce Huber, and the Teachers' Association memorial scholarships to Mary Chambers and Karen Kieblock.

Nancy Parent was honored for her achievements in the performing arts with the Stony Hill Players award. The Cornell Club of Union County plaque was awarded to Robert Honecker.

The Thomas J. Rosamilla Mathematics Award to a senior for excellence in math and quality of character and service to the school was given to Bob Delatour. The Stephen Follock Memorial Award for the outstanding student in social studies went to Mara Sage. Both of these awards are memorials to faculty members who were teaching at Gov. Livingston at the time of their deaths.

In recognition of outstanding achievements in business education, the Underwood Corporation cited Joan Miller, an outstanding business student; Cathi Martin, best typist, and Barbara Florian, best business machine operator. The Berkeley School awarded plaques to Josephine Vannotta and Joan Miller.

The Band Parents' Association awarded Joanne Holcombe the Band Loyalty award; Ernie Seeman, the Bartow Memorial award, and Peter Muller, the Sousa award in instrumental music.

School board adopts policy on allocation, transportation

The school allocation and transportation policy for the 1971-72 school year was adopted last week by the Mountainside Board of Education.

Allocation is based on proximity to the local neighborhood school facility which allows a complete kindergarten through fifth grade program at each of the three schools. It also is based on available classrooms and facilities.

The transportation policy is based on a combination of allocation, state regulations, distance and the grade of the child.

Transportation requirements are pupils in kindergarten who live a half mile or more from their assigned schools. Those who live closer will be allowed to take the bus providing they meet it at a regular stop. Other requirements are: students in the first and second grades who live three-quarters of a mile or further from their assigned schools; third, fourth and fifth graders who live one mile or further from their assigned school, and students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades who live 1.4 miles or more from their assigned school.

Pittenger steps down as borough GOP head

Gilbert Pittenger, the Republican municipal chairman in Mountainside, has resigned his post. He will be succeeded by Gerard S. Dillemluth, a lawyer.

Pittenger has been active in the borough's Republican activities for 18 years.

State Highway Department kills controversial cloverleaf

Calls plan excessive; to try again

Possible location shift will also be explored

By JANICE ADLER

The original plan for a major cloverleaf at the intersection of Rt. 22 and New Providence road has been ruled as excessive by the State Highway Department which will develop an alternate plan, according to Councilman Louis Parent. Parent announced the decision at Tuesday's Borough Council meeting at the Beechwood School. He, along with Mayor Thomas Ricciardi and other borough officials, met with the assistant commissioner of highways, Tom DePhillips, last week to discuss the problem.

Parent also said that the highway department will try to solve the problem at the intersection with a minimum of disruption to the borough. The department will also attempt to determine if a more suitable place for an intersection is feasible.

In other business, Mayor Ricciardi complained of the lack of greater community participation at the public meetings. Only two persons, the wife and daughter of Councilman William Van Blarcom, attended Tuesday's session.

Councilman John Hechtel said that more than 300 persons have signed up for the summer recreation program sponsored by the borough. The program has expanded and gained in popularity since last year, he added.

He reported on the programs and the number of persons who have so far signed up for each. In tennis they are first session, 78 children and 24 adults, which is the maximum; second session, 23 children and 14 adults, and the third session, 16 children and two adults. Additional registration for the second and third sessions will be accepted, he said.

Other activities are golf, nine adults and six children; softball, seven teams have registered with 15 persons on each team, and creative dancing, 13 persons. Anyone interested in

426 will get diplomas at GLRHS Wednesday

The 11th annual commencement exercises at Gov. Livingston Regional High School to graduate 426 members of the Class of 1971, will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m., according to Frederick Aho, principal.

The program will be preceded by selections played by the high school band, which will also play the processional for the graduating class. The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. Morell Rubey of the Diamond Hill Methodist Church, followed by the flag salute led by David Ruch, class president, who will also make the presentation of the class memorial at that time.

The commencement messages will be delivered by William Lovett and Ruth Anne Gutman, members of the senior class who were selected in a competition open to all class members.

Following the presentation of the class to members of the Board of Education by Aho, the diplomas will be presented to the graduates by Dr. Fred B. Hagedorn, Dr. Minor C. K. Jones and Edwin Little, board members.

As a benediction the Choral will sing "The Lord Bless You and Keep You." The recessional will be the traditional "Scotland the Brave."

Admission to the exercises will be by ticket only. They will be held in the gym in case of inclement weather.

Rt. 22 crash kills Morristown man

Rudolph V. Price, 51, of Morristown was killed instantly when his car flipped onto its roof Tuesday night at the corner of Rt. 22 West and Central avenue, according to Mountainside police. It was the third automobile fatality in the borough this year.

According to the police report, Mr. Price was traveling west on the highway when his car jumped the curb in front of Hotel 29, then cut across the highway and hit the center divider. Following this, police said, the car came broadside into Central avenue, hit the side there and flipped onto its roof. The vehicle was crushed. Mr. Price was pronounced dead at the scene at 6:45 p.m. by the police physician, Dr. Stuart Baron.

YES schedules summer hours

The Mountainside Youth Employment Service office will be open on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 to 11 a.m., beginning June 29. This summer schedule will continue until Sept. 8 when the office will resume its regular scheduled office hours.

Boys and girls 14 years of age or older are eligible to sign up with YES. Particularly needed are 16-year-old boys, who are willing to mow lawns for the summer, a spokesman said.

YES also needs volunteers or substitutes. Any adult who is interested can call Eleanor Hechtel at 232-6495 for more information.

Regional board sets back date of June meeting

The regularly scheduled business meeting this Tuesday of the Union County Regional High School District Board of Education, has been postponed to Tuesday, June 29. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Clark.

On Tuesday, board members will attend a Regional Teachers' Association dinner honoring retiring Superintendent of Schools Dr. Warren M. Davis, at the Mountainside Inn.

The board, at an adjourned regular meeting last Tuesday night, voted to employ two guidance counselors at each school for a month this summer. The counselors will be available to meet with students and parents.

Marie Giannone and Frank Clancy will be on duty at the Jonathan Dayton building and Duane Brown and Geoffrey Perrin, at Gov. Livingston.

The following students at Jonathan Dayton and Gov. Livingston were hired for summer employment as custodial helpers; at Jonathan Dayton: Dom Astley, Jimmy Ragucci, Kenneth DeCarlo and Dennis Marino; at Gov. Livingston: Harold Wade, Drew Naylor, John Oakes, Richard Wise, David Ruch and Allen Conrad. In other business, the resignation of Jan Struthers, a mathematics teacher at Jonathan Dayton, was accepted.

The following coaching assignments at the Jonathan Dayton school were approved for the 1971-72 year:

Theodore Amo, football; John Esposito, soccer; Raymond Yanchus, basketball; Lonnie Parker, wrestling; Edward Jasinski, baseball; Martin Taglienti, track; Yanchus, golf; Peter Socca, bowling; Esposito, tennis; Taglienti, cross country and indoor track.

At Gov. Livingston Regional, Ralph Bianchi, assistant basketball coach, will take over as head coach next year, replacing Frank Petrella, who resigned. Bianchi is also head soccer coach and golf coach.

Richard Matarante will assume the head coaching job in baseball for the 1971-72 year. He replaces Raymond Massaro, who resigned.

Other coaching assignments approved at the Gov. Livingston school were: Alfred Kluck, football; Michael Sorrentino, wrestling; James Russo, track; Richard Duggan, bowling; and William Verschuren, cross country and swimming.

District personnel were approved to take part in the world cultures and Title I workshops this summer. The in-service sessions, designed to strengthen the curriculum, will get under way shortly after the close of school at the David Breatley Regional High School, Kenilworth.

PROFILE--John Brown

John Brown, coordinator of health and physical education for the Regional High School District, believes in reevaluating and updating the contents of the courses under his jurisdiction to keep pace with the changing times. He also is in charge of driver education and interscholastic sports.

Brown described how the health curriculum has changed over the years. He said, "Health education used to be one day a week and little importance was paid to it. It then went to two days a week and finally moved into the block system where it is taught daily for nine weeks."

"It has developed into a strong department -- I think one of the best in the state. It now is factual teaching and how the curriculum applies to the youngsters' lives."

"The course is continually being modified and changed to meet times and life. The introduction of family living and mental health and the integration of sex education and drug education throughout the curriculum has kept us in pace with the changing times."

He also explained the health program in general. Brown commented, "We have instructors with master's degrees in health education teaching most of the courses now. This way we can go into more depth. Physical education instructors taught health before. We are phasing them out because the course content is too comprehensive. It takes a person with a health education background to cover it."

"We have introduced integrated health classes, except for the freshmen. This is because we feel some of the sensitive areas that are taught might cause embarrassment. Change is the big thing. We are constantly evaluating the freshman program to see if it should be integrated. At the present, we feel the boys and girls should be kept separate."

"The entire health curriculum is evaluated at the end of each school year. It is approved by the Regional Board of Education, which tells us how much of each subject should be taught. This is then modified to meet the needs of the respective schools within the framework of course study. Each school decides where emphasis should be placed and how much time is allotted to different units."

BROWN COMMENTED on each level of health instruction. He stated, "Freshman health basically is teaching them to know themselves physically -- what they are made of. This is integrated into the regular subject matter and how it applies to what is being taught. For example, if they are angry or excited, we discuss what causes this, by moving into the gland system. We also have reports, discussions and counseling by teachers for individual problems."

"The sophomore unit covers emergencies, community health problems and civil disasters. Emergency first aid is made factual so they can know when to call a doctor or the first aid squad."

"An innovation in the sophomore curriculum was of community and health problems which involve ecology or pollution, heart disease, geriatrics and the responsibility of youth to

Petrullo is teacher for music school

Joseph Petrullo, for many years director of bands in the Mountainside schools, has accepted a position with the Union Music School as teacher of flute and clarinet. Petrullo is a New York University graduate.

The school will hold its first day of registration Saturday, June 26 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Burnet Junior High School, Caldwell and Morris avenues, Union. A second day of registration will be held on Monday, June 28, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Students from Springfield, Mountainside, Watchung and Millburn have been registering for music and art courses.

Pupils who have completed grade three through grade 12 in public or parochial schools may participate in the music, theater or art courses.

Leo W. Rindler, director of the school, announced that Carl Shechtman, director of the Burnet Junior High Band and Orchestra, has accepted a position as teacher of brass instruments. Shechtman is a graduate of the University of Indiana.

Milton Knobler, director of art for the Union schools, will supervise a major art course for high school students in grades nine-12 and a special major course for pupils grades four-eight.

George E. Rupp to be ordained in service today

A service of ordination to the Christian ministry will be conducted for George E. Rupp at the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield by the Presbytery of Elizabeth this evening at 8. Mr Rupp is a life-long member of the local congregation, having served in positions of leadership in the youth group and church school before his seminary training. His parents reside at 1339 Outlook dr., Mountainside.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupp, the former Nancy Farrar of Berkeley Heights, will leave shortly with their two daughters, Heather and Stephanie, for California where Mr. Rupp will assume a professorship in the department of religion at Johnson College, a division of the University of Redlands. He has just completed his work on a doctorate at Harvard Divinity School, a portion of the time being spent at the University of Ceylon where he studied the philosophy of Buddhism.

Mr. Rupp is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School where he was an honor student and a member of the wrestling team. His undergraduate college work was done at Princeton University where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. His work in theology was done at Yale Divinity School. He received a bachelor of divinity degree while serving as president of the student body. Mrs. Rupp is also a graduate of Jonathan Dayton and Douglass College.

In addition to the moderator of Elizabeth Presbytery, the following persons have been designated to participate in the service: the Rev. Arthur Ogle, Jr., assistant minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Charlottesville, Va., who will preach the ordination sermon; the Rev. Alick Kennedy, minister of the Middlesex Presbyterian Church, who will offer the prayer of ordination; the Rev. Dr. Bruce W. Evans, pastor of the Springfield Church, who will deliver the charge to the minister; and elders Gustav Rupp and Prescott Farrar, father and father-in-law, respectively, of the new minister. In addition to those joining in the service, special music will be presented by the Church Choir under the direction of John Bunnell, with Mrs. Elsie Brooks at the organ.

Following the service in the sanctuary, a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Rupp will be held in the chapel by the women of the church. "Members of the church and community are most cordially invited to join in this significant service of worship and dedication together with the many friends of the Rupp family from high school and college days," the announcement added.

Picnic, awards to honor choir

The Girls' Choir of the Springfield Presbyterian Church will be honored at two events this week. An informal picnic will be held today at the home of John Bunnell, music director, in Florham Park. Several mothers of the girls will transport and accompany them to the picnic.

Sunday morning during the 10 o'clock worship service, the following awards will be presented to the girls by Bunnell: first-year pin to Debbie Chickenger, Patricia Deane, Debbie Taylor, Karen Clarke, Linda Ziesmer, Karen Wright and Lori Klein; two-year pin to Nancy Sim, Carol Stefany, Sally Greiner, Linda Schramm, Holly Quinton and Janice Smith will receive their third-year key. A medal and chain for four years of service will go to Gladys Roth, Karen Pfeiffer, Holly Humeke and Karen Peters. Debbie Sim will receive the five-year key and chain.

During the course of the year the Girls' Choir sings every other Sunday at the 9:30 service. On special occasions, such as Easter, and Christmas, they sing in combination with the Church Senior Choir at both services.

From casework to command Captain does double duty

CAMP DRUM, N.Y. — Capt Joseph S. Montanari of Springfield, N.J., is a welfare caseworker 50 weeks of the year who spends the remaining two weeks guiding one of the largest and most complex companies in the 50th Armored Division, Army National Guard.

Capt. Montanari, a 10-year veteran of the National Guard, is the commander of the 550th Administrative Company, which is attached to division headquarters in East Orange. The company consists of 235 enlisted men and 31 officers and its duties range from making out payrolls and providing clerical aid for the judge advocate general to conducting athletic tournaments and providing transportation back to New Jersey promptly for Guardsmen in emergencies.

"This company is the hub of the division," Capt. Montanari said. "Our job is to support the troops in a number of different ways."

Capt. Montanari believes that his military task of organizing and directing such a large and varied unit has helped him in his civilian work.

"I've been a welfare caseworker with the Essex County Welfare Board for three years and I find that being in the military has helped me organize myself in my job," he said. "Moreover, I work in Newark and I'm always trying to relate to the problems of the people, on the one hand, and understand the problems of the National Guard in relation to the community, on the other," he added.

Capt. Montanari, who is 30, graduated from Bloomfield College in 1967 with a degree in sociology.

He is particularly qualified in his military command, which is held for three years, because he has headed nearly every section in the administrative company. The only exception is the judge advocate general's branch which requires a lawyer as its commanding officer.

Capt. Montanari started as a private with the 550th, was commissioned as a second lieutenant in 1964, promoted to first lieutenant in 1967 and to captain two years after that.

He also was on active duty in 1967, completing an officer basic course at Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indianapolis, Ind.

Capt. Montanari is married to the former Gail Graham of Fords, and they have a two-year-old daughter, Lisa.

CAPT. JOSEPH S. MONTANARI

University degree to Miss Consales

CHRISTINE K. CONSALES

Christine K. Consales of Baltusrol way, Springfield, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in social service by the University of New Hampshire, Durham, N.H., during commencement exercises on June 6.

Miss Consales was among approximately 1,250 undergraduates and graduates who received degrees at the college's 101st annual commencement exercises. John G. Stoessinger, acting director of the United Nations Political Affairs Division delivered the commencement address.

Brennan earns degree at Fairfield University

John Joseph Brennan Jr. of Springfield was awarded a bachelor of arts degree from Fairfield University, Fairfield, Conn.

Brennan received his degree at recent commencement exercises held at the university. He is among 605 recipients of undergraduate and graduate degrees.

Heerwagen granted a degree from MIT

At graduation ceremonies June 4 in Cambridge, Mass., Dean R. Heerwagen received a bachelor in architecture degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Heerwagen of Severna avenue, Springfield.

An alumnus of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., he had previously been awarded a master of science degree from MIT in 1967 and a bachelor of metallurgical engineering degree from Cornell University in 1965.

In the fall, Heerwagen will move to Ithaca, N.Y., to take up his duties as assistant professor in architecture at Cornell University.

William S. Austin, ex-contractor, 71

Services were held in East Orange last Thursday for William S. Austin, 71, of 445 Morris ave., Springfield who died last Tuesday at home.

Born in Belleville, Mr. Austin moved to Springfield a year ago. He was retired as a mason contractor and was a member of Vetslodge Lodge 225, F&AM.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna Austin; two sons, Alvin of South Orange and Howard W. of Springfield; two brothers, Fred of Belleville and Edward of Towaco; three sisters, Mrs. Nellie McWilliams of Nutley, Mrs. Edith Waldele of Irvington and Mrs. Doris Hompesch of Mountainside, and five grandchildren.

THIS WEEK'S HEALTH NEWS

By FRED GREENBERG, R.E.

The people of ancient times thought all disease was supernatural in origin. They were convinced that the gods gave man disease as a punishment for his sins. Even epidemics were explained in this way. The only way to appease the gods was by constant sacrifice. Today, in order to prevent, or at least control communicable diseases, we believe in isolation, inoculation, control through drugs. Sanitation also helps. But nothing is foolproof. Perhaps, along with our sterilizing and sanitizing, we should pour out a few libations and kill a few fatted calves?

Group to save environment will aim at furthering goals.

The Springfield Chapter to Save Our Environment will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Eugene Haberman, 148 Shunpike rd., Springfield.

The chapter's goal is to begin a recycling program for the township, which has been unsuccessful so far, according to Haberman.

AT NEW HAVEN — Barry L. Berson of 24 Cottage lane, Springfield, has graduated from the University of New Haven. He earned a B.S. degree in accounting. The university conferred 592 undergraduate degrees and nine master's degrees June 6.

The municipality is planning to work with the Township of Union so that materials for recycling can be brought to centralized areas in the near future, he added.

The group met recently to discuss the problem of preserving the environment and to elect officers. They are Haberman, chairman, and Sue Libes and Louis Pozner, vice-chairmen.

Others who attended include, Mrs. Henry Huneke, chairman of the Girl Scouts; Ira Brown, a student at the Florence Gaudiner School who represented Dr. Thelma Sandmeter, the school's principal; Miss Libes and Pozner, representing Jonathan Dayton Regional High School; Mrs. Abe Levine; Mrs. Stanley Wyman, representing the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Ahm; Mrs. Saul Black, president of the B'nai B'rith of Temple Beth Ahm, and Arthur Rosset, representing the Rev. James Dewart, pastor of the Springfield Emanuel United Methodist Church.

Haberman said there is a beautification committee in the township whose chairman, Mrs. John Craner, was appointed by the Township Committee. The main goal of this group is to plant flowers, but it was decided that there was too much litter in the community. They then decided on a cleanup campaign to improve the municipality's appearance, headed by Haberman, a sophomore at Carroll College, Waukesha, Wisc., founded the environmental action group last January while he was working with the Waukesha Environmental Chapter. They instituted programs where Waukesha brought major industrial polluters before the Department of Natural Resources in Madison, Wisc., and metal for recycling was brought to a central area for collection.

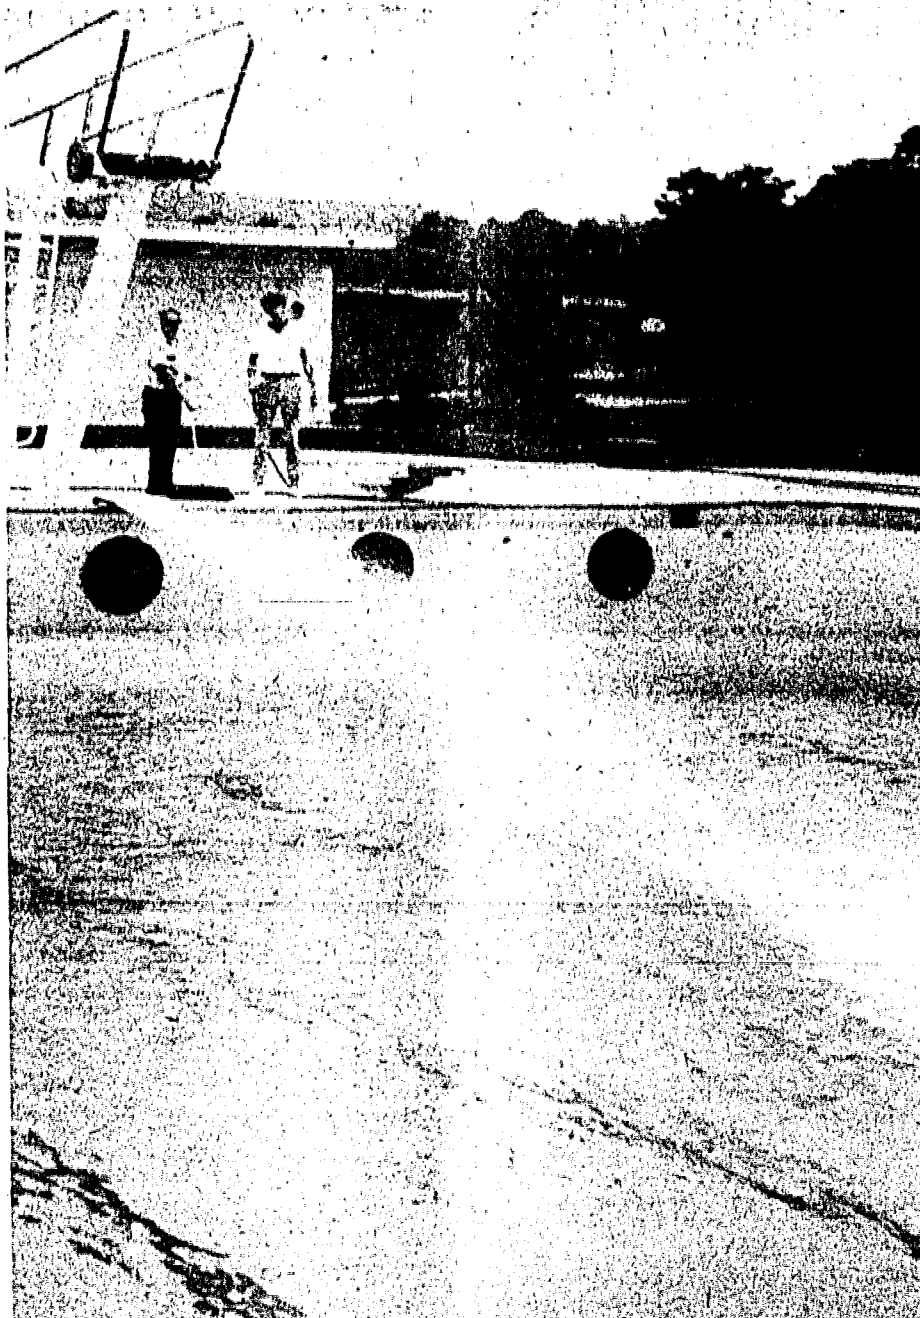

Haberman concluded, "It is a necessity that there be a future for the next generation—a dream that has to come true. We urge your support in any way—physical or vocal—by insuring the life of the next generation."

Further information can be obtained by calling Haberman at 379-6159.

Keating, Metz merit Pingry School laurels

Two Mountainside residents were among the recipients of scholastic honors at Pingry School's annual commencement exercises on last Friday.

Michael M. Metz of 1309 Summit lane received the Martin B. O'Connor Journalism Award, as well as being graduated cum laude, Mark T. Keating of 1169 Ridge dr., was also graduated cum laude.

THE FINAL TOUCH—With everything else ready for the opening of the Springfield Municipal Pool this Saturday, Walter Ryan, left, and Steve Russell apply the finishing touch as they add the water—without which everything else would be just a dry run.

Y mapping a week for registering

Mountainside residents may register for summer term classes at the Westfield YMCA during registration week, June 21 to 25. The registration is one of four yearly enrollments during which boys entering grades one through 12 may join the Y's programs.

Adult registration—male and female—for classes in scuba and karate begins at the same time. Classes begin June 28.

For the first time, boys completing kindergarten become eligible to participate in the Y's physical programs. With a full privilege membership, each boy becomes eligible for a free gym and swim class in each of the four registration periods without additional charge.

"A varied program for summer is planned," said Harry L. Leshner Jr., director of physical education service for the Y. Included are a day camp, advanced Ranger camp and "kinder camp" for boys ranging in age from 4 to 12. Camp sessions begin June 28 at the 2,000-acre Watchung Reservation.

Swimming, scuba, tennis and dog obedience are also offered during the summer session. Boys entering grades 10 through 12 are also offered special summer privileges at the Y, being entitled for the first time to make use of the newly-renovated weight room and handball court.

"Summer classes offer a unique opportunity for intensive instruction in swimming," Leshner noted, "because they are divided into four two-week periods in which classes meet daily."

The instruction periods are June 28 to July 9, July 12 to July 23, July 26 to Aug. 6 and Aug. 9 to Aug. 20.

Tennis for boys, grades four to six will be Monday from 9:15 to 10 a.m. and for boys grades 7 to 9 on Tuesday from 9:15 to 10 a.m.

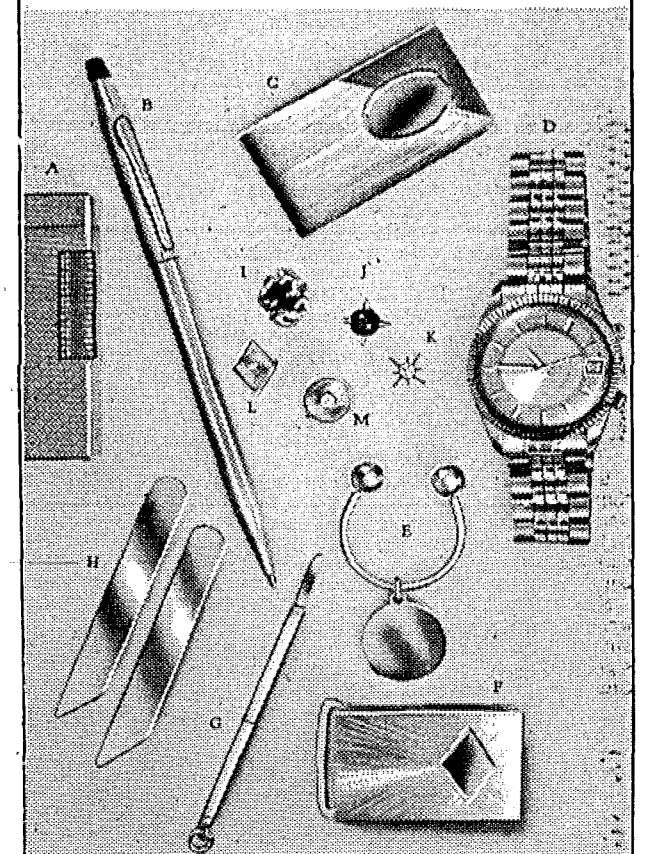

Coed scuba classes are offered for those entering 10th to 12th grades on Tuesday from 6 to 9 p.m., with emphasis on safety as well as physiology in maintenance and use of equipment for self-contained underwater breathing apparatus swimming.

Coed karate instructions for the same age group will be held Monday and Wednesday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., taught by Wayne Ford, a fourth-degree black belt who received his Instruction from Mr. Kim of New York, one of the world's greatest teachers, according to physical director William L. Turner II.

Adult classes in scuba and karate—for both men and women—will be given: scuba Tuesdays from 6 to 9 p.m., and karate Mondays and Wednesdays from 8:30 to 10 p.m.

Union man convicted for malicious mischief

John Brogan of Union was convicted of malicious mischief by Judge Max Sherman Monday in Springfield Municipal Court. He was fined $50 and was placed on probation for six months.

Brogan, 39, was arrested Friday by Springfield police after he surrendered to Det. Robert Taaffe at police headquarters. He had reportedly gone to the house of his estranged wife and broken the headlights on her car.

Loretta Mango of West Orange was fined $50 for shoplifting at J.J. Newberry's in the General Green Shopping Center. She took three children's dresses and a pair of baby shoes, totaling less than $10.

Jay P. Kaufman of New York City and John W. Leach of Westfield were fined $35 each for using the wrong license plates on a motor vehicle. In addition, Kaufman was fined $15 for driving an unregistered vehicle and Leach was fined $10 on the same charge.

James William Campbell of Madison Township paid $25 for being an unlicensed driver. He also was fined $10 for not having the registration for the vehicle he was driving in his possession.

Three persons were fined $15 each for passing a school bus that had stopped on Morris avenue. They were Marie E. Kerlin of Westfield, Jon S. Tainow of Union and Michael P. Shields of South Orange.

Five persons were fined for speeding. Denis T. Wojtan of Union paid $20 for going 50 miles per hour in a 35-mile zone on Morris avenue. The others were fined $25 each. They are Richard M. Deutsch of 11 N. Derby rd., Springfield, and William S. Harrity of Millington, 45 mph each in a 25-mile zone on Mountain avenue; Celia Rodman of Plainfield, 44 mph in a 25-mile zone on Mountain avenue, and Hearing set for suspect

Robert Anger, 25, of Plainfield was arrested Monday by Mountainside police and charged with drunk and disorderly conduct. He was released on $100 bail for a court appearance on June 30.

According to police, Patrolman Herman Hafeken received a call at 7:20 p.m. from the Tower Steak House, where attendants allegedly were having trouble with a customer. Upon his arrival, Hafeken went into a private dining room where three men reportedly were holding another man on the couch. The suspect allegedly was cursing and trying to get loose.

Hafeken then handcuffed the suspect and secured his legs, police said. Patrolman Jose Fires and special officer Robert Arterburn were called to assist Hafeken. The patrolmen then carried the suspect outside to a waiting patrol car and brought him to police headquarters.

wards parenthood. It gives students an awareness of health problems facing the community today and how best to cope with them.

"Junior health is devoted to driver education in the classroom phase for 30 hours. We have obtained an educational instruction device backed by a federal grant. Our district received two out of eight which were granted.

"The device will be in use starting in September. It is a self-testing machine with film strips, a projector and records so students can experience theoretical road and driving conditions. It is a system of programmed learning to assist the instructor get the material across to the students.

"The senior course is devoted to mental health and family living. Just as to with mental stress and the problems youngsters will face, how to cope with them or to sense problems before they arise and avoid them. It also includes the responsibility of parenthood, the responsibility of children to parents and the responsibility of parents to children."

HE THEN WENT ON to describe the physical education program in the district. Brown declared, "We have moved in the direction of gymnastics, dance and the instruction of lifetime sports, such as tennis and golf.

"The curriculum is basically the same for all four years with stress placed on improving skills. The student can enjoy it more because he has learned the skills and has worked with people in his own age group. Besides, learning the skills makes games more interesting."

"The past stress was not put on the gymnastics or dance phase. This is true in most schools, not just ours. We have individual types of activities which give the participant satisfaction, instead of just team activities. The variety of offerings is greater and we have more types of activities.

"We reevaluate the curriculum at the end of the year and modify it to the individual students from the communities which the school serves."

The coordinator discussed the driver education program. He stated, "Driver education behind the wheel has increased from one car to two-and-a-half cars at Jonathan Dayton Regional, Dayton will share a car with Kenilworth next year to accommodate students so they can have behind-the-wheel instruction. Gov. Livingston Regional in Berkeley Heights has three cars. The major part of this course is taught by full-time driving instructors."

INTERSCHOLASTIC sports were also mentioned. Brown said, "The interscholastic sports program has become enlarged. At one time we had only football, baseball, basketball and track. Other activities have been added since I came. These include tennis, golf, bowling, wrestling, indoor track, cross country and soccer.

"There is great participation on the part of the students. There is such a variety that every boy has the opportunity to participate on an interscholastic basis.

"The girls have continued their Girls' Athletic Association activities. This allows them more participation than under a varsity program."

Brown was born in Scotland and came to this country when he was five. He graduated from Hillside High School where he was a member of the football, basketball and track teams. He also was named to the all-state football and basketball teams. In his senior year, Brown "was named as the school's outstanding athlete."

Following high school, he attended St. Benedict's Preparatory School where he was on the state championship football team which was undefeated, untied and unscorred-upon. After this Brown did his undergraduate work at the University of Florida where he received his bachelor of science degree in health and physical education. He was a member of the college's football and basketball teams.

Then Uncle Sam called him. He was a first lieutenant in the Marine Corps and played football at Camp Lejeune, N.C. Brown participated in the landings at Guam and Iwo Jima with the Third Marine Division. After his discharge, he earned his master's degree with a double major in health and physical education at Columbia Teachers College.

While living in Hillside, Brown was elected to that municipality's township committee. He then moved to Berkeley Heights where he was elected to the borough's board of education and was named president of the board.

BEFORE COMING to Dayton in 1950 as a physical education teacher and head football coach, he taught at Caldwell High School. "The outstanding year while coaching football was 1951, where we had eight victories, one tie and no defeats," he said.

He became director of athletics at Arthur L. Johnson Regional in Clark when that position opened. He stayed there until 1958 when Dr. Warren Davis, the superintendent of schools for the Regional District, devised the coordinator system. Brown then was named coordinator of health, physical education, driver education and athletics.

Brown and his wife, the former Norma Wilson of Teaneck, live in Lamington, which is near Somerville. He is the father of three children. Jeanne is a junior at Montclair State College where she is majoring in psychology. Robert was recently elected president of next year's sophomore class at Rutgers University. Douglas is a sophomore in high school.

Brown, who is interested in gardening and reading, is a member of the National Education Association, the New Jersey Education Association and the Masonic Lodge in Hillside.

Soccer, tennis, golf, bowling squads most successful at Regional this year

BY BILL LOVETT

As the year comes to a close at Gov. Livingston, we find a scene very similar to that of one year ago--Regional experienced a year in which most of its major teams hovered around the .500 mark. Baseball, football and basketball, the three major sports, all fell below expectations; only very good seasons by the soccer, tennis, golf and bowling teams kept the year from being one of the worst in the Highlanders' 10-year history.

Football, once Regional's best sport, dipped to 2-6-1, slightly below the 3-6 mark recorded the year before and nearly a reversal from the 7-1-1 mark in 1968. Regional was undermanned, undersized and often completely outclassed; the team lost some lopsided games, including a 49-0 loss to state champion Westfield. Graduation losses hurt first-year coach

Al Kluck, who had an untried offense; the offensive and defensive lines were against Westfield, smaller than the opposing team's quarterback. Gov. Livingston was very quick--especially at the offensive ends and in the defensive backfield--but too often the Highlanders were overpowered.

The soccer team, under coach Al Bianchi, was experiencing probably the most successful season in the Highlanders' history. Led by fullback Chuck Price, and all-county choices Larry Mohns and Ron Steel, who was one of the top scorers in Union County, Gov. Livingston tore through its opposition to a final regular season record of 9-1-2. Defeats in the state and county tourney failed to dim the luster of a team which finished a half-game behind, the Watching Conference champions.

The basketball team's first winning record in years, posting a final mark of 12-11. Regional rebounded from a mediocre 2-7 beginning to defeat arch-rival Westfield and eliminate conference champion Cranford in the opening round of the state tournament as it won 10 of its last 14. The Highlanders were sparked by guards Curt Mohns and Rich Weiss and center Kevin McBrien, who did an outstanding job against taller rivals all year, and ended up with All-County honorable mention.

Like basketball, baseball started out poorly but rebounded from a 2-7 mark to finish with a 9-11 record, slightly better than last season's 9-12. Regional had one of its strongest hitting and most experienced teams in many years, led by Bill and Dick Trakmans, Richie Weiss, Harry Nelson and Bob Honacker. However, seven of the eight starters will be graduating and with coach Ray Massaro also leaving, prospects are not very bright for next year.

The three most successful sports at G.L. this year were tennis, golf and bowling. The bowlers brought a Watching Conference title to regional, while tennis and golf boasted very good individual performers in Tom King and Hunter Layton. Tom is probably the second best player in Union County; Hunter placed among the top five golfers in the state and tied for first in the county tournament. All three teams should do very well again next year, although golf will be missing its top five performers.

The track and cross country teams experienced poor seasons. Cross country, usually one of Regional's best sports, dipped to 300 while the track team had possibly its worst season in history, winning but two meets despite one of the top ten high school javelin throwers in the country, David Ruch.

Blackbirds defeat Cardinals for girls' softball crown, 7-3

The Mountainside Girls' Softball League championship was finally determined last Wednesday in a battle of undefeated teams. The Blackbirds won, 7-3, to drop the Cardinals into second place in the final standings.

Laurie Wasko got the Blackbirds off to an early lead with a two-on home run. The Cardinals came back with three runs in the top of the 4th but the Blackbirds, in the bottom half of the inning, scored two more runs.

Robin Sury, winning pitcher, wrapped it up in the bottom of the fifth with a two-run homer.

The Cards' Laurie Weeks, Nancy Harter and Leslie Keating each hit .666 for the game.

The Owls held third place despite a 16-15 loss to the Toucans. Michele Rapp's home run in the sixth won the game. Sandi Smith contributed a homer while Lois Dehls pitched and established a record four homers in a single game.

The Cardinals beat the Eagles, 24-10. Rookie pitcher Barbara Van Benschoten and Laurie Weeks shared honors on the mound. Laurie Weeks was credited with the win. Hard-hitting Nancy Harter contributed her usual quota of homers.

The Cardinals ripped the Falcons, 21-2. Barbara Van Benschoten stayed the full six and allowed an average one hit per inning. Laurie Weeks homered and tripled.

The Parrots walked over the Eagles, 20-6. Nancy Balazik homered while Diane Mullin rapped in two. Chirs Bunin and Carol Keis executed the game's only double play.

The Eagles beat the Orioles, 25-11. Chris McCormick was the winning pitcher and helped her cause with a homer. Mary Ann Herrick clouted two round-trippers while Heidi Honacker hit one.

McCurty one-hits Pioneers, 3-2, for Vikings, whiffs 10

The Vikings scored a 3-2 victory over the Pioneers in the Major League of the Mountainside Little League. Bob McCurdy of the Vikings allowed one hit and struck out 10. Dan Schlesinger drove in the winning run. The Chiefs outslug the Mustangs, 7-2.

John Rice of the Chiefs hit a double and drove in two runs. Mar Lawrie, of the Chiefs, pitched a beautiful game and had 12 strikeouts.

The Blue Stars beat the Mountaineers, 10-8. Jerry Dwyer of the Mountaineers hit a home run with two on and Jimmy Van Buskirk hit a double. Rich Struss of the Blue Stars had three hits and broke up the tie in the bottom of the sixth by driving in the winning run.

The Vikings beat the Chiefs, 14-4. Tommy Trynin of the Vikings had a triple and two singles to drive in five runs. Jeff Kortina pitched well and had nine strike outs. Dave Perrin of the Chiefs had two hits.

The Pioneers outplayed the Mountaineers, 20-5. Tom Loftus and John Irwin of the Pioneers each hit a home run--Tom with one on and John with two on.

The Mustangs edged the Blue Stars, 11-10. Bryant Burke did an excellent job of relief pitching. Henry Daas had a single and a double. Scott Masters of the Blue Stars had two doubles.

As of Saturday, the standings for the Major League: Pioneers, 9-3; Vikings, 8-4; Mustangs, 7-4; Mountaineers, 5-7; Chiefs, 4-9; Blue Stars, 2-10.

Girl all-stars end league's season

The 1971 Mountainside Girls' Softball League closed out the season on Saturday with an all-star game and picnic at Echobrook School.

Harold Nelson, chairman of the Mountainside Board of Recreation, awarded trophies to the league champion Blackbirds and distributed cloth insignias identifying the 1971 all-star girls.

The all-stars, two from each team, were selected by their own team members. Two teams, the Demons, captained by Robin Sury, and the Devils, captained by Nancy Harter, played a game that was marked by strong pitching, fielding and hitting. The Demons were the winners by a score of 9-2.

Listed below are the team rosters:

Demons -- Nancy Harter (captain), Laurie Weeks, Laurie Wasko, Chris McCormick, Margie Krasnoff, Diane Mullin, Carol Keis, Leah Palumbo, Kathy Fenton, Kathy Picut, Tami Bass, Lois Dehls, Donna Lamberta, Nancy Lawrie;

Devils -- Robin Sury (captain), Ellen Averick, Mary Ann Herrick, Nancy Keller, Sandi Smith, Jennifer Winter, Amy Getzler, Jorie Wilson, Liz Seager, Carol Fitzgerald, Melissa Malaker, Ann Sommerwerck, Sue Taczovsky, Jacque Szuba.

The Recreation Commission provided the trophies, insignias and soft drinks for all the girls attending the picnic.

Leist gets degree at Boston College

Robert J. Leist Jr., of 332 Longview dr., Mountainside was the recipient of one of 2,570 graduate and undergraduate degrees awarded by Boston College Monday.

The 108th Commencement was attended by more than 15,000 graduates, friends, and family. Degree recipients represented the 12 graduate and undergraduate schools and colleges at the Jesuit School.

Senator Michael Mansfield, majority leader of the United States Senate, delivered the commencement address and was one of eleven recipients of honorary degrees.

Indian Guides plan intensive recycling collection Saturday

Double the effort in half the time. That's the work Mountainside and Westfield Y-Indian Guides have set for themselves in their fourth recycling campaign set for this Saturday.

The Y-Indian Guides, 500 fathers and sons of the Unami Federation, are asking all residents to save all glassware—bottles, jars—and aluminum cans and take them to the Westfield Armory, Rahway road, on Saturday between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

In previous drives, the Guides have collected only glass for recycling, largely because of a shortage of manpower for processing the cans. And they've put in two days rather than one on the collection.

This week's drive will be one day only to permit the families to be together on Sunday, Father's Day, and cans have been added to the desired recyclables. Proceeds from the drive will go, as before, to the National Longhouse drive for $25,000 to aid Sioux Indians in the Dakotas.

Bottles should be washed out and separated into three colors: clear, amber and green. All metal should be removed.

Cans should be rinsed with labels removed and may be flattened if the donor has sufficient time.

Farrell granted degree at Lycoming College

Douglas Farrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Farrell of 298 Timberline rd., Mountainside, received his bachelor of arts degree from Lycoming College, Williamsport, Pa., on June 6.

Dr. Harold H. Hutson, president of the college, conferred degrees upon 270 seniors at Lycoming's 123rd commencement.

Regional seeking Davis successor

The Board of Education of the Union County Regional High School District announced this week it is actively seeking a new superintendent of schools to replace Dr. Warren M. Davis, who is retiring after 15 years in the post. Dr. Davis has accepted an associate professorship in the College of Education at Lehigh University.

An announcement of the vacancy has been circulated to a number of teacher employment agencies, to colleges and universities which prepare school administrators, and other groups. The announcement has also been circulated to the district's management staff, a board spokesman said.

The school board plans to screen candidates after data from candidates and other sources are received, probably in July.

Bull elephant stars at graduation party

The following story was written by Mark Osbahr, an eighth grader at the Deerfield Middle School, Mountainside.

A life-size African bull elephant made of paper mache was the "star" of the third annual pool party held at the Mountainside Community Pool for the graduating class of the Deerfield Middle School. The theme of the party, which was held yesterday, was based on Jules Vern's book "Around the World in Eighty Days."

The elephant was made by a group of seniors from Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights. It was created by Donald Wagner of Woodcress drive, Mountainside, assisted by Amy Hunt, Karen Spiegel, Mark Keppler and Jim Schorn.

They spent several weeks planning and constructing the elephant which became the talk of the town and will later be used for the Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside.

Degree is granted to Miss Rampolla

Maria Rampolla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvo Rampolla of Mountainside, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in humanities from Washington College, Chestertown, Md., at commencement exercises on June 6.

Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton delivered the commencement address to the 127 graduates. He is a member of the Board of Visitors and Governors of Washington College and was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree.

NCE degrees won by 2 local students

Two Mountainside students are among the more than 800 students who were awarded degrees on Friday, June 4, at commencement exercises held by Newark College of Engineering.

Richard W. Dudley of 1028 Summit lane received a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering, and Wilhelm C. Fischer of 548 Woodland ave. received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering.

This year's commencement included the official investiture of Dr. William Hazell as third president of NCE. Retirements were marked with the presentation of the Trustees Medal to Prof. Clarence H. Stephens of Newark, after 40 years at NCE, and the Allan R. Cullimore Medal to Dr. Donald C. Luce, who is retiring as chairman of the board of trustees.

Miss Sobin receives letter in cheerleading

Debby Sobin of 48 Evergreen ave., Springfield, is among 12 Union College co-eds who were awarded letters as members of the varsity cheerleading squad at class night ceremonies last Tuesday at the Cranford campus.

Miss Sobin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sobin, is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield. She is majoring in liberal arts-education in Union College's day session.

Course to tell how to study in college

E. Glenn Griffin, associate professor of English and academic advisor in the School of Humanities, Social Science and Education at Purdue University, will teach the Westfield YMCA-YWCA "How to Study in College" course, it was announced this week.

The one-week course, open to graduating high school seniors, is designed to teach the college-bound student study skills and techniques of adjusting to college.

The class meets one week only, Aug. 2 through 6, from 7 to 9 p.m. Developed by two Purdue University professors in 1956, the program covers such subjects as the art of listening and taking lecture notes, how to remember, how to plan time, a basic study formula, techniques of review, preparing for and taking tests and examinations, the vocabulary of college, when and how to obtain academic assistance, college libraries and how they differ and personal problems in adjustment to college life.

"The $20 course might make a good graduation present for a senior," suggested the Y youth director, Bernard Berg. Further information may be obtained and students may be registered for the course by calling the YWCA.

3 receive diplomas from Union Tech

Three Mountainside residents were among 73 students awarded diplomas by Union County Technical Institute for completing one-year programs at commencement exercises on Tuesday.

They are Susan Barcklow of 1072 Sunny Slope dr., Susan De Meo of 318 Linda dr. and Sharon L. Porcell of 1111 Saddlebrook rd. Diplomas were presented by Dr. George H. Baxel, president, and Dr. Joseph Shelley, dean.

Union County Technical Institute offers one-year certificate programs in practical nursing, library assistant, medical secretary, technical secretary, dental assistant and medical assistant.

In addition to the presentation of diplomas to students enrolled in one-year program, 93 students at the Technical Institute were eligible for associate in applied science degrees conferred by Union College.

Osborne receives bachelor's degree

Robert John Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Osborne of Murray Hill, formerly of Mountainside, was graduated from Swardmore College, Swardmore, Pa., on June 7 with a degree in engineering.

Two hundred and forty seniors received bachelor degrees at the college's 99th commencement exercises. Osborne is a graduate of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights.

Children's Specialized marks 80th birthday

Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, marked another milestone in its service to young people last week when it celebrated its 80th anniversary.

Beginning as a country home for children from New York City institutions, it continues today as a modern hospital equipped to treat a broad range of physical and neurological handicaps.

The present role, encompassing treatment for such disorders as cerebral palsy, birth defects, spinal cord injuries and metabolic disturbances, results from what Robert Ardrey, director of administration, terms "a continuing commitment by the hospital to fill the most pressing needs of the time."

In 1891, that need was met by a group of Westfield church women who organized the Children's Country Home to care for underprivileged children during the summer.

Thirty years later, the need was care for victims of the influenza and pneumonia epidemic. The hospital, still on a summer basis, remained open through the fall and winter to care for these patients.

Evolving into a full-time hospital specializing in care for the handicapped, Children's Specialized faced a new challenge in the early 1940's.

When the world-wide polio epidemic struck New Jersey, the hospital quickly geared to meet the overwhelming need for its facilities; a need that was met until polio was conquered by the Salk vaccine 14 years later.

CHILDREN'S SPECIALIZED is still meeting current needs. Advanced techniques and modern therapies are combined to provide children with the specialized care needed to combat crippling diseases and injuries.

"As a rehabilitative hospital," explains Ardrey, "our care is administered through a number of comprehensive therapy departments, all geared to the children's special disabilities. These departments include physical therapy, speech therapy, recreational therapy, occupational therapy, and activities for daily living."

The hospital also serves as an adult outpatient center to provide treatment and therapy for arthritis, heart disease and disorders, muscular-skeletal disorders, blood disease, and eye disorders.

Continuing education, Ardrey notes, is an important part of the total care offered by the hospital. Teachers from the Mountainside school district and other areas teach on both a group and individual basis in hospital classrooms. The hospital also houses facilities for three-classroom Union County-sponsored school for handicapped children.

Children's Specialized Hospital recently embarked on a program meeting yet another need, extending its limit for patients to age 20. This extension of services, which provides care for adolescents paralyzed in car and swimming accidents, has added to the demands on its facilities, demands that have tripled in the past year alone.

"We are virtually never without a waiting list," Ardrey states. "Providing more than 12,000 patient days of care last year, we are at maximum capacity and optimum usage."

PASSING THE GAVEL — Mrs. Frank S. Torma (right), the newly-installed president of the Rosary Altar Society, of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside, accepts the symbol of office from the outgoing president, Mrs. George Wiech, as the Rev. Gerard McGarry, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes, looks on. The installation was followed by a Mass and a dinner at Wieland's Steak House. Other officers who were installed are Mrs. Edward Oels, vice-president; Mrs. John Suski, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Wesolowski, recording secretary, and Mrs. Robert Smith, corresponding secretary.

Drug users aided

The Labor Department has classified drug abusers as handicapped. Those who have been rehabilitated or who are undergoing rehabilitation treatment are entitled to special counseling and job-placement assistance through the public employment service.

WILLIAM P. FINKEL

Finkel is appointed an aide to official at Newark State

John S. Korley, vice-president for administration and finance at Newark State College, Union, this week announced the appointment of William P. Finkel as his assistant. Finkel's appointment becomes effective June 28.

A patrolman with the Elizabeth Police Department for the last six years, Finkel was recently graduated summa cum laude from Newark State with a B.A. degree in history. While a student in the Evening Division, he was elected vice-president of the Evening Student Council, and assisted in setting up the Male Escort Service on the campus.

Prior to joining the Elizabeth Police Department, Finkel served for four years as a State Police officer in the Laurelton area. His chief responsibility as assistant to the vice-president for administration and finance will be supervision of the maintenance and security areas, as well as providing logistical and data support Facts on an arthritis 'fad' Bracelet: Bangle or balm?

What can copper bracelets do for arthritis? A copper bracelet is a fine piece of jewelry whether you have arthritis or not, according to Dr. Joseph M. Marchesano, chairman, Medical and Scientific Committee, New Jersey Chapter of The Arthritis Foundation.

"I'd like to set the record straight regarding copper bracelets and their supposedly mysterious power," said Dr. Marchesano. "The bracelets themselves are harmless," Dr. Marchesano explained. "If they make people with any form of arthritis—from simple strains to severe rheumatoid disease—think they feel better, then I say, that's great!"

"But as an arthritis specialist I am concerned when a patient depends for treatment solely on a copper bracelet, or on any other scientifically unproven remedy."

"Most people with even the severest form of arthritis can be helped by modern medicine. Pain can be relieved by medication. Progressive deformity can be prevented by special exercises, special resting and other measures."

AS FOR THE EFFECTIVENESS of copper bracelets, Dr. Marchesano noted that some wearers claim that their symptoms are relieved. We do not know how or why it happens. But we do have some ideas."

Dr. Marchesano outlined two possible reasons for the relief afforded some bracelet wearers.

The "most likely" explanation is the placebo, or mind-over-matter, effect. A placebo is a medicine with no active ingredients.

A study done with arthritis patients several years ago demonstrates this effect. When the patients were given placebos—in this case, sugar pills—50 per cent of them said for the vice-president in the areas of the business and administration components of that division.

According to Kotrlery, "Mr. Finkel has proven his ability in dealing effectively with all facets of the college community, and with his experience in supervision of personnel and knowledge of the institution, he will greatly assist the efforts of the administration and finance area of the college, so that all of its members may benefit from prompter more reliable services."

they felt better. And when those who didn't respond to the pills were given placebo injections of plain salt and water, 30 per cent of them said they felt better.

A second possible reason for the bracelet's reputation as an arthritis cure-all may be the on-again, off-again nature of some forms of arthritis.

Juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, the crippling disease of children, and rheumatoid arthritis, a similar disease of adulthood, both seem to "go away" completely for periods of time and then flare up again, often with greater intensity.

When patients are given placebos during free periods, or remissions, a patient happens

IF, JUST BEFORE one of these symptom-free periods, or remissions, a patient happens

Hot-line on Soviet Jews to be launched by Cahill

Governor William T. Cahill will launch the American Jewish Congress hot-line on Soviet Jewry today when he reads the first recorded message to be played on the hot-line.

Persons dialing 642-8662 will hear the Governor deliver news of developments concerning Jews in the USSR and reports of activities planned in New Jersey in behalf of Soviet Jews.

The hot-line is a public telephone number, which will be maintained at the AJC Newark office, 24 Commerce st., and will operate 24 hours a day, each day of the week.

According to Mrs. Marilyn Askin, state director of the American Jewish Congress, the messages on the two-minute tape will change each week or more frequently as events demand.

"We regard the hot-line on Soviet Jewry as a facility for the whole community to use," Mrs. Askin said, calling on all Jerseyans to use the medium if they wish to make an announcement or statements about the three million Jews in the Soviet Union.

Those wishing to have information transmitted through the hot-line may call AJC headquarters at 623-4754.

655 churches endorse project
Project Equality of New Jersey, a church-sponsored organization formed two years ago to develop affirmative action for equal employment opportunity, has the endorsement of 655 churches in the state.

This was made known this week in a newsletter released by James S. Henderson Jr., executive director of Project Equality, at PE's office, 744 Broad st., Newark.

to start wearing a copper bracelet, he or she would naturally think the bracelet did the trick.

Finally, said Dr. Marchesano, "Not much scientific study has been done on the possible merits of metallic copper in treating arthritis. And with good reason."

"For according to what is known about copper in metal form, it cannot enter the body through the skin, nor can contact against the skin draw anything out of the body."

"The green stain that appears where a copper bracelet is worn is merely evidence of copper reacting with moisture on the skin. You could call it a kind of rust."

So with no logical scientific reason to conduct a controlled study, Dr. Marchesano explained, research on copper bracelets will necessarily be given low priority by arthritis investigators.

The basic facts about arthritis and what can be done about it are available free on request from the New Jersey Chapter of The Arthritis Foundation, 26 Prospect st., Westfield, 07090, phone 233-7151.

15 Brownies are advanced to Junior Troop 714 at rites

Springfield Brownie Troop 603 from the Edward Walton School, with Mrs. R. F. Waughal as leader had eight girls who flew up to Junior Troop 714. The ceremony took place June 8 at the Girl Scout House. The girls had gone to Turle Back Zoo on June 2, for their last day party. Seven girls from Mrs. Vincent Postan's Brownie Troop 802 also flew up into Mrs. Henry Huneke's Troop 714. The sixth grade girls from Troop 714 will join Mrs. M.H. Herzlinger's Cadette Troop 471 next fall. Cindy Madison from Senior Troop 14 was elected treasurer of the senior planning board of Washington Rock Girl Scout Council. This group plans activities for Senior Scouts in this council area.

Holly Quinton from Cadette Troop 471 and Helen Weber, Eileen Weir and Patricia Stuart from Cadette Troop 273 have been awarded first class badges. All the girls will enter Senior Troop 14 next fall.

Twelve girls from Brownie Troop 31 received their Brownie wings from their leader, Mrs. Anthony Ammiano, and will join Junior Troop 583. Twenty-five girls from Troop 583 received badges and membership stars and 12 girls received the Sign of the Arrow. These awards were presented by Mrs. Samuel Thomas.

Twenty-five girls from Junior Troop 501 were presented badges plus the Sign of the Arrow by Mrs. James Napier and Mrs. Alfred Treason. The girls "crossed over the bridge" to Cadette Troop 273. Mrs. Thaddeus Wyglendowski presented badges and the Preparedness Challenge award to 29 girls in Cadette Troop 273.

Susan Barrett, Ann Duffy, Terri Herzlinger, Gail Lawrence, Debbie Olasin, and Linda Quorin from Troop 471 and Teresa Cocoran, Eugenia Fernandez, Mary Frain, Diane Harrison, Marilyn Holler, Margaret Lynch, Nancy Smith, Ellen Zimmerman, Patricia Brennan, Helen Weber, Eileen Weir, Patricia Stuart, Deborah Lalor, Marie Dlugosz, and Christine Cusamano have now been in Girl Scouts for five years.

Ten girls from Troop 273 and 12 from Troop 471 spent the weekend of June 4 at the Daniel Boone homestead in Fottstown, Pa., living in the out of doors with scouts from other parts of New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Henry Huneke was given a surprise dinner at Charley O's restaurant on Morris ave. in Springfield on June 3, Mrs. Huneke has retired as community chairman, Mrs. D. J. Duffy is the new community chairman for Springfield.

Fifth graders visit historic sites

By JEFFREY LUBASH
GRADE 5

About a week ago, the two-fifth grade classes at Raymond Chisholm School went on a class trip through Springfield looking at the historical points of interest.

We saw the Old Swain House which has the original fireplace and it was built in 1744. We went to the first and second bridges and rivers and we talked about how during the Revolution the river was much higher and it formed a boundary to how far the British advanced.

We also went to two small cemeteries where soldiers were buried and townspeople of that time.

We saw where the Tooker House used to be and we went into the old church where the soldiers used hymn book pages to stuff their guns with wadding.

As we drove through Springfield we saw many plaques which told about the Battle of Springfield.

P.S. I forgot to tell about the tree which used to be in front of the school on which George Washington rested his horse.

Mr. Lennard, 67; ran antique shop

Services were held Sunday for Harold Lennard, 67, of 101 Forest dr., Springfield, who died Friday in Overlook Hospital, Summit.

Mr. Lennard was born in Brooklyn and moved to Springfield 19 years ago. He was an associate with Singer-Mackie in New York and owned the Lennard Antiques Shop, Millburn, before retiring six years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen Lennard, and three sisters, Mrs. Ada Burg of Springfield, Mrs. Ruth Goldstein of Homewood, Ill., and Mrs. Sylvia Levina of Rockville Center, L.I.

Arrangements were made by the Suburban Chapel of Philip Apter & Son, Maplewood.

Senior citizens hear high school choristers

The Springfield Senior Citizen Group One held its meeting at the Sarah Bailey Civic Center last Wednesday. Their guest was the choral group from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

"They rendered many beautiful selections and the walls of the Ellen Carmichael Room rang with music," according to a Senior Citizen spokesman.

There will be no further meetings until September. However, a picnic, a theater party and bus rides are planned for the summer.

RHODA KAPLAN

Art gallery elects Mrs. Kaplan head

Rhoda Kaplan of Springfield was recently elected president for the 1971 to 1973 term of the Art Gallery of South Orange and Maplewood. Her paintings have been exhibited in state, national and international shows. She has had several one-man exhibits and has won various awards.

Mrs. Kaplan studied at Arts High School, Newark, the Hull School, Union, as well as privately. She taught at the Sloan School, South Orange, the Summit YWCA and the West Orange YM and YWHAs. Mrs. Kaplan gives private instruction.

Final meeting of year held by industrial group

The Springfield Industrial Development and Relations Committee held its final meeting last Wednesday before adjourning for the summer. The group reviewed what had been done and made plans for the fall session.

Reports on transactions which were relegated to the Township Committee were given. Among these was a survey of land made available to the township by the state. The group also formulated and gave its findings to the Township Committee.

The main purpose of the group is to serve as a liaison with industrial tracts in the municipality. "We are pleased to report that our relationship to date has been good," a spokesman said.

Frank Gilbert is chairman of the committee. Other members are Art Buehrer, Jerry Vezza, Marvin Schatz, William Ruocco, Henry Wright, Herman Seerkin, Malcolm Bohrod, Jack King and Jim Garofallo.

The spokesman concluded, "We are looking forward to reconvening in the fall with a full program devoted to creating good will with the industrial tracts in town. In the interim, any complaints that we normally handle can be forwarded to the committee at Town Hall."

PTA group lists sites for outings

The Springfield PTA cultural arts committee is preparing its vacation bulletin of interesting places for children and their parents to visit this summer.

The cultural arts committee issues bulletins just before school vacations listing topical events. The summer bulletin lists trips to local areas, others to more distant spots and those requiring overnight excursions.

The bulletin will be distributed to all children in the four elementary schools and the Florence Gaudineer School before the end of the term. The committee has suggested that these bulletins be kept for future reference. Each year new and different places will be described in further editions of the bulletins.

Certificates will go to 37 apprentices in machine course

Prof. James H. Potter of the Department of Mechanical Engineering, Stevens Institute of Technology, will discuss "Highlights in the Development of Machine Tool Crafts" at the annual graduation exercises of the New Jersey Tool, Die and Precision Machining Association this week at Wicliamside.

The Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, U.S. Department of Labor, will award certificates to the 37 graduates who have completed four years training at the shops of association members. As part of the training, the apprentices have also completed four years of related instruction at local and county vocational and technical high schools.

Included among the graduates will be: Allen S. Kasper, Quality Plastic Molds, Inc., Roselle; Anthony D'Agostino and Victor Loria, both of Lincoln Mold & Die Co., Roselle; Leo Drozdowski and Thomas P. Gaynor, both of Hammer Mfg. Co., Linden; Alan S. Wysocki, Interstate Mold & Hobbing Co., Union; Thomas T. Krako, Klemens Tool & Die Co., Kenilworth; James Kornecki, F. William Saam IV and Robert Wilson, all of General Tool Corp., Union; Paul Plante Jr., Wagner Precision Tool Co., Vauxhall; Robert Donald Sinclair, Union Tool & Mold Co., Union; Nicholas R. Crosta and Kenneth Prachar, both of J.G. Tilt, Inc., Union; Louis H. Altobelli, All Tool Co., Union.

The majority of this group will undertake programs at the various technical and engineering schools to equip them to perform higher levels of work such as designers of tools, dies, molds and machines. A number will work toward bachelor of science degrees in technology and engineering. Others will train for supervisory and management responsibilities in the plants of their present employers.

Tri-state planning group assumes official status

New York City and its suburban environs in the states of Connecticut, New Jersey and New York - now has an official organization to plan for broad improvements in all its major public services.

The planning role was accepted this week as the Tri-State Transportation Commission formally became the Tri-State Regional Planning Commission. Eighteen Tri-State commissioners thus acknowledged a mandate to perform comprehensive planning conferred upon them in recent days by the three state legislatures.

The legislatures passed an interstate compact empowering the Commission to plan for the solution of immediate and long-range problems "including but not limited to plans for development of land, housing, transportation and other public facilities."

This broadens the commission's responsibilities, which had previously been limited to planning for transportation and related land uses.

A. Earl Wood of Connecticut, chairman of the commission, presided over the official change in name at the commission's regular meeting. He called attention to other changes in the interstate compact, particularly the provision that increases the representation of local elected officials on the Commission.

"All three states have specified that local officials must be among their delegations," said the chairman. "Also, the commission will provide for local participation through the formation of advisory panels or committees that it intends to appoint. This will give the New York area the kind of planning agency needed to foresee new regional problems, to devise long-term solutions and to bring federal, state and local efforts together to provide good solutions."

The Tri-State Regional Planning Commission can respond to the problems of metropolitan living with plans and proposals. It cannot engage in the operation of any public facilities. However, the Commission may carry out experimental projects to test new ideas or combinations of existing ideas in public services.

An example of the latter, Chairman Wood called attention to the exclusive bus lane that now operates on the New Jersey approaches to the Lincoln Tunnel during rush hours. The Commission helped to line up the agencies who would cooperate in operating the bus lane, applied for the financial assistance from the U.S. Department of Transportation in September, the funds were granted in October and the Port Authority opened the bus lane in December. Some 33,000 commuters are now able to reach their Manhattan jobs at least 15 minutes quicker than before.

During the recent railway strike on May 17-18, the bus lane handled as many as 1,100 buses, 400 more than usual, without a delay. An estimated 14,000 additional commuters were delighted as their buses sped by the crawling traffic on regular lanes during the trip to work on these rail-strike days.

Tri-State was formed ten years ago by Governors Rockefeller, Dempsey and Meyner as an unofficial committee. It became an official transportation commission in 1965 by action of the three state legislatures.

Final talk Sunday set by art museum

A gallery talk on the exhibition "With A French Accent" will be given at the Montclair Art Museum on Sunday, at 3:30 p.m. by Elsie W. Dillon of the museum staff.

The museum will close for the summer that afternoon, reopening to the public Sept. 12. During July and August, museum staff will handle mail and telephone inquiries Tuesday through Friday from 9 to 4 p.m.

Art school registration may be made by telephone during the summer. School brochures will be mailed on request.

CHECK WITH DOCTOR

Most heart patients can travel safely by plane, and to high-altitude areas, says the Union County Heart Association. It is advisable, however, to check first with the family doctor.

Capt. Galik will head Parkway state police

The Garden State Parkway has a new commander of its State Police contingent.

Captain William Galik, who spent 15 years with another toll road unit of the New Jersey State Police, is the new commander of the Parkway's Troop E. He succeeds Capt. Karl K. Kloo, now on terminal leave prior to his retirement from the State Police June 30.

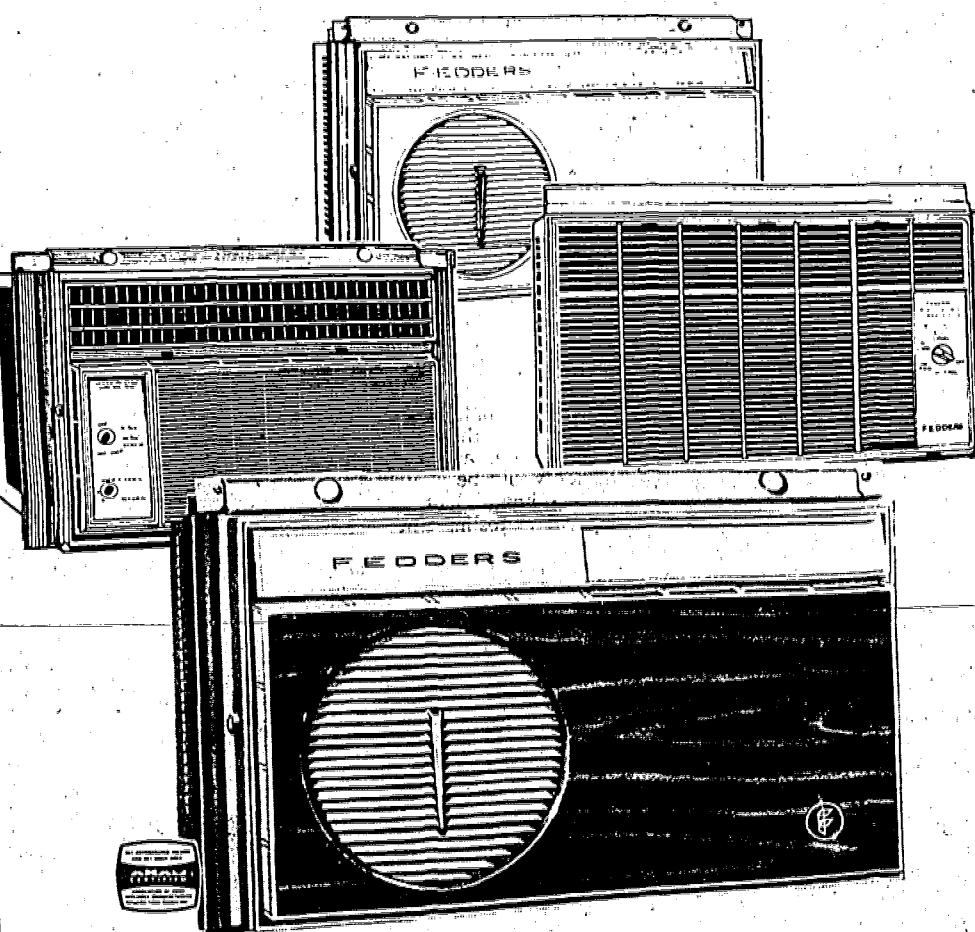

Capt. Galik was with Troop D on the New Jersey Turnpike from 1951 to 1966.

Israel Verein election

The election of officers will highlight the June 24 meeting of the Israel Verein. The meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. at Temple Israel, 2372 Morris ave., Union. Charles Kelsten will preside over the meeting, which will feature a social function planned by Harry Weiss. Al Dubman will serve refreshments.

NSC center open to aid teachers of handicapped

The Special Education Instructional Materials Center of Newark State College this week announced a series of summer events.

Established as a resource center for educators who work with handicapped students, SEIMC houses instructional materials and information for these professionals. The center, located in the Nancy Thompson Library on the Union campus, will be open during the summer months and appointments are now being taken. Media specialists will be available to aid summer programs and help plan programs for the fall. The summer schedule announced is as follows:

July 9 (noon - 2 p.m.) - Children's Hours - an opportunity for handicapped children to enjoy educational toys.

July 14 (10 a.m. - noon) - Professional Day - displays and discussion on recent materials acquired by the Center

July 21 (10 a.m. - 2 p.m.) - Fall Preview Day

July 28 (noon - 2 p.m.) - The second Children's Day

SEIMC will maintain its regular hours until June 24; from June 28 through Aug. 6 the center will be open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily. The center will be closed from Aug. 7 to Sept. 6 and will resume normal hours on Sept. 7.

Interested educators and other professionals associated with training handicapped children may arrange individual appointments by contacting Miss Betty Ann Huey, coordinator of SEIMC at 965-1313 (4).

Y Camps filled for July, registering for August

The New Jersey YMHA-YWHA Camps, 589 Central ave., East Orange, announced this week that all accommodations for the first half of its summer season have been filled but that applications are still being accepted for August.

According to Matthew Elson, executive director of the camp complex, more than 1,200 boys and girls, ranging from seven to 16, will take up every available bed in the organization's four installations in Lake Como and Milford, Pa., during July.

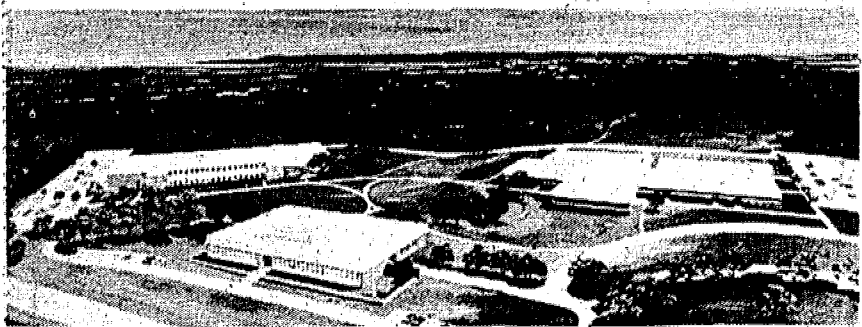

He pointed out that each youngster has been assigned in a camp specially designed and staffed to serve his and her peer group on a coordinate basis with a comprehensive program of activities planned to achieve the ultimate in enjoyment and individual development.

Noting that the span of age between the youngest and the oldest in each installation will not exceed three years, Elson said the campers will be grouped as follows: From seven to ten, Camp Long Lake at Lake Como; ten to 12, Camp Nah Jee Wah, Milford; 12 to 14, Cedar Lake Camp, Milford; and 14 to 16, Teen Camp, Milford.

Nursing Homes in New Jersey will mark week

New Jersey's licensed nursing homes will be marking Nursing Home Week beginning Father's Day, June 20, when many of them will hold open house events.

With officers of the New Jersey Nursing Home Association participating, Governor William T. Cahill has officially proclaimed June 20-26 as New Jersey Nursing Home Week and urged residents to visit licensed nursing homes on June 20 "to familiarize themselves with the benefits, services and potential which these facilities offer." The Governor said that in this manner New Jerseyans "can reflect community concern while helping to alleviate one of the saddest of all afflictions of the elderly, loneliness."

Many mayors have issued similar proclamations. Like the Governor, they have noted that New Jersey requires the "highest standards of nursing home care of any State in the nation for the elderly, the chronically ill and the convalescent." The Governor, during the ceremonies connected with the New Jersey Nursing Home Association, noted that this State "is recognizing nursing home care as the basic component of health insurance programs for people of middle years as well as the elderly."

The theme of this year's observance is "Nursing Homes: We Care." The same philosophy is being expressed by nursing homes throughout the country which are celebrating National Nursing Home Week during this same period.

NJNHA representatives attending the ceremonies in the Governor's office were: Eugene J. Friedman, president, Town & Country Nursing Centers, Inc., Totoms River and NJNHA president; William Van Dyk, Van Dyk Nursing Homes of Ridgewood and Montclair; Donald E. Ross, Inglemorr Nursing Homes of Englewood and Livingston; and Richard F. Grosso, Lakeview Convalescent Center, Wayne, vice president; Lionel C. Rubin of Abbott Manor, Plainfield, treasurer; and Miss Eleanor Janus, R.N., Manor House Nursing Home, Jersey City, a member of the State Licensing Board of Nursing Home Administrators.

During the week the NJNHA will announce the winner of its second annual Better Life Award bestowed "in recognition of outstanding service through unselfish and effective efforts that have resulted in lasting contributions to the improved institutional health care of the aged in the community and nation." The winner's name then will be submitted to the national competition sponsored by the American Nursing Home Association.

To mark Nursing Home Week, the NJNHA is making available copies of a newly issued Nursing Home Fact Sheet. The Fact Sheet may be obtained by writing the NJNHA at 332 West State St., Trenton, 08618.

The NJNHA represents most of the State's 225 licensed nursing homes. These homes have a total of more than 16,000 beds and range in size from 12 to 500 beds. Nationally, more than a million persons live in long-term health-care facilities.

Retires after 30 years

Malcolm N. Edmonston of Moorestown, chief of the Bureau of Fruit and Vegetable Service, New Jersey Department of Agriculture since 1947, will retire on June 30, after a 30-year career with the department.

State will hold public hearing on pollution rule

Commissioner Richard J. Sullivan, New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, announced this week that a public hearing on proposed Chapter 15 of the New Jersey Air Pollution Control Code will be held in early August. This proposed code would set standards for motor vehicle pollution to be enforced at Motor Vehicle Inspection stations and on the road.

The hearing will consist of two sessions, the first to be held on Aug. 10 at Becton Auditorium, Teaneck Campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and the second to be held on Aug. 11 at the Cherry Hill Mall Auditorium, also from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Proposed Chapter 15 deals with the control and prohibition of air pollution from gasoline-fueled motor vehicles. Subject vehicles are defined in the proposed Chapter 15 as being any motor vehicles (except those which run only on rails or tracks) registered at not more than 6,000 pounds gross weight and designed primarily for transportation of persons or property.

The chapter stipulates that, in order to pass annual inspection by the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles, any gasoline-fueled, light-duty vehicle subject to such inspection shall not emit visible smoke in its exhaust or crankcase emissions. The proposed chapter also forbids the operation on New Jersey highways of any gasoline-fueled, light-duty motor vehicle if the vehicle emits visible smoke in the exhaust emissions or in the crankcase emissions.

Sullivan stated that "...cars which are reasonable well maintained, which are tuned for good performance and fuel economy, will pass the standards."

FRIDAY DEADLINE

All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

When you're six years old, the world can be a wonderful place—if you can see it. Tommy couldn't. He lived in a world of blurred images. School is tough enough when you're six. But it's even worse when your friends are learning to read, and you can't keep up.

To Tommy, letters were merely blurs; so were baseballs and faces. Because Tommy's father had long been out of work, glasses were simply out of the question—until this year.

The boy's glasses were paid for by a volunteer organization hundreds of miles away, called New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., of Short Hills.

New Eyes, as it is familiarly known, has earned the reputation of being one of the most effective sight-saving charities in the world. It has helped many thousands of needy people obtain glasses—here and abroad—and it has never asked for a cent in donations.

Since its inception, almost 40 years ago, New Eyes has asked only for used eyeglasses and precious metal articles such as old watches, jewelry (real, costume and antique), good or damaged silver and dentures.

The eyeglasses and dentures are sent to New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., Short Hills,

New Jersey 07078. Thousands of packages from all over the United States arrive every year. Volunteers, mostly housewives, sort out the glasses, separating those in plastic frames from those in metal frames.

Many of the 250 workers have learned to operate complex optical grading and testing equipment. They help fill specific orders from missions and hospitals in foreign countries where plastic framed glasses and sunglasses are sent.

The metal framed glasses have their uses, too. Through refining, they yield precious metals that are sold, along with the jewelry, to finance New Eyes funds in over 100 hospitals and health agencies throughout the United States. The money in these funds buys glasses for people who have nowhere else to turn.

In addition to these funds, arrangements have also been made in 48 states through health and welfare agencies whereby New Eyes purchases glasses for carefully screened persons, to whom no other private or public funds are available.

Last year, 8,000 people were helped under this program. Tommy was one of them. But, as public response has grown throughout the years, so has the volume of requests.

Therefore, New Eyes needs more discarded jewelry and eyeglasses to do its job. As one New Eyes volunteer put it:

"The wonderful thing about New Eyes is that we can ask people to send us things they no longer need."

And these gifts can bring vision to a little boy, like Tommy.

NO MORE BLURS—Not enough money was the reason why Tommy was going around without the glasses he needed. His father had been out of work for a long time and a pair of glasses was nowhere in sight. The solution came from New Eyes for the Needy, Short Hills, which has been providing glasses for the needy for nearly 40 years.

Bankers see 'great growth' in state's economy in '70s

"Neither the economic seers, nor the bankers of New Jersey have lost any part of their faith in the future of this state," HORACE G. MOELLER, president of the New Jersey Bankers Association told a meeting of the executive committee of that association last week in Jamesburg.

"Despite the present national mood, they envision the Garden State as an economic entity with great continuing growth, involving investment of something over $37 billion in new living and working facilities between 1971 and 1980," Moeller, who is also president of the Colonial National Bank, Haddonfield, said.

Population is foreseen continuing its strong pace of increase, involving more dwelling construction and more building generally than in any previous ten year period.

Pacemaker of the future not far away

A reliable nuclear-powered pacemaker with a life span of between ten and eleven years will be available for heart block patients by late 1972 or early 1973, United States Senator Harrison E. Williams of New Jersey told 210 guests attending the third annual luncheon party of the Pacemaker Club sponsored by Newark Beth Israel Medical Center.

The announcement by Senator Williams answered questions raised by pacemaker patients in New Jersey and throughout the United States as to when the device would be available. It has been undergoing laboratory testing since May, 1970.

When the first nuclear-powered pacemakers were implanted in experimental dogs at the National Heart Institute in May, 1970, it was believed that the newly developed device would be implanted in the first human in May, 1971. According to Senator Williams, federal cutbacks in grants for scientific and medical research and delays by the federal government in releasing Plutonium, the source of nuclear energy, for medical research slowed the experiments. These obstacles have now been overcome, Senator Williams reported.

The first operation to implant an atomic energy-powered pacemaker on a human being will be performed at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center.

The battery-powered pacemaker currently in use has a life span of between eighteen and twenty-four months. The patient must undergo another surgical procedure to remove the old pacemaker and implant a new one.

The Pacemaker Club presented awards to several of the guests attending the party at the Mountside Inn. Max Bick, 80-year old pacemaker patient of West Orange, received an award as "Pacemaker Bowler of the Year." Mrs. Lillian Cohen of Orange, a Medical Center volunteer, received honorary membership in the Pacemaker Club and a gold heart emblem for her service to the Pacemaker Clinic; Sam Piccione of 17 Hilltop court, Springfield, was made an honorary member of the club for his service. He is the husband of Mrs. Catherine Piccione, a pacemaker patient. Pacemaker guests at the luncheon ranged in age from 12 to 80 years.

Woman driver hurt as trio of vehicles collide on Saturday

Mabel B. Nitchie, 65, of Roselle Park was slightly injured Saturday afternoon in a three-vehicle chain collision at the corner of Morris and Linden avenues, according to Springfield police. The Springfield First Aid Squad took her to Overlook Hospital, Summit, where she was treated and discharged.

Police said a car driven by Louis M. Romeo of Maplewood was attempting to make a left turn onto Linden avenue from Morris when the accident occurred. The order of involvement was Romeo, Mrs. Nitchie and Catherine Sarantakos of Union. The Nitchie and Sarantakos vehicles had to be towed away. The Springfield Fire Department was called in to wash glass and gasoline off the roadway.

Kathleen Zieser of 27 Marlon ave., Springfield, a passenger in a car driven by Thomas T. Howland of Livingston, was injured last Tuesday night when the Howland car was struck by a vehicle driven by Bruce R. Woolery of Irvington at the corner of Morris and Warner avenues, police reported. She told police she would see her own doctor.

Police said both vehicles were traveling east on Morris avenue. Howland had stopped to make a left turn onto Warner when the Woolery car struck his vehicle in the rear. The Woolery car had to be towed away.

A car driven by Constance Ledder of Stirling had to be towed away after it struck a car driven by Dorothy Nisenson of 100 Stone Hill rd., Springfield, Saturday afternoon, police said. The accident occurred at the corner of Mountain and Tooker avenues.

The police report said, Mrs. Nisenson had slowed down on Mountain avenue to let a pedestrian cross the street. The Ledder vehicle then struck the Nisenson car in the rear.

Thieves get stereo --make their escape in company's truck

Thieves took a stereo phonograph, valued at about $750, and records, worth about $30, Monday from the Modern Era Furniture Co. on Rt. 22 West, Springfield, then used the company's truck to make their getaway, according to Springfield police.

Police said patrolmen were on a routine patrol around 2 a.m. when they discovered the break and entry. Entry was made by breaking a window on the side of the building. The stereo was removed through an overhead door and then loaded on the company's truck, which was later recovered by Watchung police.

There was a break and entry Saturday at a house on Milltown road, police reported. Entry was made by someone kicking in the back door. Two bedrooms and the dining room were ransacked. The owner has been unable to determine what was taken, police added.

An undetermined amount of cash was taken Saturday during a break and entry at One Hour Martinizing at 767 Mountain ave., police said. Entry was made by someone cutting the screen on a rear window and then unlocking the window.

Check toys for hazards

Toys are supposed to entertain and bring happiness to children but each year too many youngsters are seriously injured by their playthings. Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies suggest that parents examine their children's toys for sharp edges or other hazards. A toy that hurts is not much fun.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

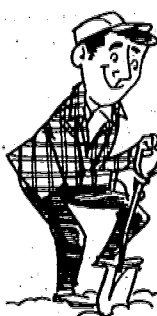

TIME & MONEY
Today may be the most important day in your life. It has value because it is NOW, because you have the opportunity to decide - and to do.

Yesterday belongs to history. It cannot be called back, changed or altered in any way. But, it has left something worthwhile - the value of experience.

What we accomplish this day can be greater because of yesterday. If we have brought something forward in the way of knowledge, we can guide the efforts of now and gear proper plans for tomorrow. We can do better; we can plan wisely.

Therefore, consider today for what it's worth; tomorrow for what can be.

Driver badly hurt as dragster flips in parking lot mishap

Kenneth M. Leonardis, 23, of Irvington was seriously injured Saturday afternoon when a dragster he was driving flipped over in the parking lot of the Autolite Car Service Clinic Inc. on Rt. 22, according to Springfield police. The Springfield First Aid Squad took Leonardis to Overlook Hospital, Summit, where he was admitted. He is in satisfactory condition with head injuries, including bruises on the left side of his head and bleeding from his ear, a hospital spokesman said.

Police said Leonardis was driving the dragster, which he owns jointly with Robert Fearick of Pt. Pleasant, when the gas pedal became stuck. He lost control of the car which went down the driveway before hitting a tree and some brush. The vehicle then flipped over on its roof.

Robert S. Lee, 57, of North Arlington was seriously injured Saturday morning when his car was involved in an accident at the corner of Stern avenue and Rt. 22 West, police reported. The driver of the other vehicle was Larry L. Sass of Warren.

The Springfield First Aid Squad took Lee to Overlook Hospital where he was admitted. He is in satisfactory condition with a fractured left femur and bruises of the ear and scalp, the hospital spokesman said.

According to the police report, both vehicles were traveling west on the highway when Sass saw Lee's car, which was directly in front of him, slowing down. Sass applied his brakes, skidded across both lanes of the roadway and his car hit the curb on the opposite side of the road.

Sass told police he was not sure if his car struck Lee's vehicle. However, police said they found paint from Lee's car on the bumper of the Sass car. Lee's vehicle then skidded and the Sass vehicle hit a utility pole. The Lee car was totally demolished and the Sass car had to be towed away.

Kitchen destroyed when fire starts in refrigerator motor

The Springfield Fire Department answered six alarms this past weekend, of which four were on Sunday, according to Fire Chief Robert E. Day.

The house of Seymour Fish of 101 Laurel dr. was severely damaged Sunday when his kitchen was engulfed by flames, Chief Day said. A neighbor called in the alarm at 12:45 p.m. when he saw smoke coming out of the house. No one was home.

The chief said the fire began in the motor of the refrigerator, burned a hole in the floor under the appliance and then spread up the wall. The kitchen was completely destroyed and there was extensive smoke damage to the rest of the house.

The department received a call Sunday at 8:09 a.m. to go to the Community Plumbing Supply Co. on Rt. 22 because the electric wires had been torn from the building by a truck. Day reported. The department stayed there until the Jersey Central Power and Light Co. arrived.

That day at 11:50 a.m. the department had an alarm at the Best Pencil Co. on Mountain avenue. Trash at the rear of the building was on fire, the chief said.

At 2:10 p.m. Sunday the department responded to an alarm at 13 Ann pl. The engine of a car belonging to Paul Weisman of 6 S. Derby rd. was on fire. The blaze was caused by a broken gas line leading to the carburetor, the chief reported.

At 9:07 a.m. Saturday the department answered a call at the Channel Lumber Co. on Rt. 22. The gas tank of a car belonging to a Westfield man ruptured and spilled gas in the parking lot, Chief Day said. The department drained the tank and washed down the surrounding area.

That day at 2:32 p.m. Springfield police called the department to wash glass and gasoline off the roadway at the corner of Linden and Morris avenues following a three-car chain collision, the chief reported.

Baccalaureate degree for Miss Strohmeier

Alice Louise Strohmeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Strohmeier of 390 Creek Bed rd., Mountainide, has received the bachelor of arts degree from Maryville College, Maryville, Tennessee.

She participated in the college's 152nd commencement May 31. Maryville College is a small (750 students) coed liberal arts school in eastern Tennessee.

announced that an adult summer school program will be offered this year, with all classes to be held mornings at the air-conditioned David Brearley Regional High School in Kentworth. The program will coincide with the six-week summer session for students, beginning June 29 and ending Aug. 6.

Adults may join Regional high school students in the following courses if space is available: Hobby Handicraft in Needlework, a Workshop in Foods and Consumer Education, Clothing Construction, Auto Shop, Aeronautics Ground School, Creative Arts, Personal Uag Typing and Personal Note Taking (Briefhand). Adults will be given priority to enroll in courses in Yoga, Beginning and Intermediate Guitar; and English as a Second Language.

Driver Education and the High School Equivalency program is being offered to out-of-school youth and adults only, Linkin said. There is a fee for each course. In-person registration will be held June 21-25 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at the Adult School office, 14 Clinton Avenue, Springfield.

For further information, interested persons may call Linkin at 376-6300, Ext. 99.

The Regional District comprises Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainide and Springfield, and operates four high schools.

Adults living outside the Regional District may also enroll for the summer courses, Linkin added.

Friedman selected for scholarship by water works group

Lawrence W. Friedman of Springfield is among 36 winners of college scholarships nationwide competition sponsored by the American Water Works Foundation. It was announced this week.

Friedman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Friedman of 94 Redwood rd., will major in the social sciences or mathematics in college.

The scholarship awards were announced by Jack H. King, vice-president and manager of Commonwealth Water Company, one of 74 investor-owned water utilities in the American Water Works Company System. The system provides water service for nearly five million residents of 500 communities in 20 states. The awards were based on student performances in the College Entrance Examination Board tests administered by Educational Testing Service of Princeton.

Friedman is the recipient of the Rennselaer Polytechnic Institute Medal at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and winner of the New Jersey State Science Teachers Association award as the school's outstanding chemistry and biology student.

He is also active in his school's student government and in community service as president of the Kiwanis Key Club. His other achievements include co-editor of the school magazine, a member of the marching and concert bands and membership in the National Honor Society.

Diesel pollution curbs start Saturday

"Time is running out for those smoky, smelly diesel trucks and buses which have been polluting New Jersey highways," Richard J. Sullivan, state commissioner of Environmental Protection, declared.

Chapter 14 of the State Air Pollution Control Code, which regulates smoke emissions from diesel-powered motor vehicles, goes into effect on Saturday.

"Enforcement of this code should result in a significant cleanup of the air along our congested highways where noxious fumes have long been a source of annoyance and a hazard to health," Sullivan said.

He said that enforcement of the new code will be carried out by the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles, the State Police and the Public Utilities Commission.

Chapter 14 prohibits any person from operating or allowing to be operated on New Jersey's highways any diesel-powered motor vehicle which, when in motion, emits visible smoke in the proximity of the exhaust outlet, for a period of more than five seconds.

The diesel code also sets inspection standards for diesel-powered trucks and buses subject to on-the-premises inspection by the State Division of Motor Vehicles or the Public Utilities Commission, and spells out the procedures to be followed in carrying out such inspections.

According to statute, vehicles subject to inspection must pass the diesel code standards as a condition of compliance.

On-the-road violators are subject to a penalty of not less than $25 nor more than $100 in accordance with the provisions of chapter 5 of Title 39 of the Revised Statutes.

Where the owners or lessees' business premises are equipped with necessary facilities, the State Division of Motor Vehicles will inspect trucks on a chassis dynamometer. A dynamometer is a device constructed to simulate highway driving conditions on a vehicle driven onto it and run in place.

Trucks placed on the dynamometer will undergo tests involving simulated load by power absorption. With the engine's revolutions per minute reduced by such loading to 80 percent of the truck's governed speed, the peak smoke opacity measured over a period of five to 10 seconds shall be considered the engine's standard smoke opacity. This smoke opacity must not exceed 20 percent.

When a dynamometer is available, Motor vehicles inspectors will use an alternate test method in which a truck will actually be driven in low gear with the load simulated by braking action. Here, too, the standard smoke opacity shall be the peak opacity measured over a period of five to 10 seconds, and this opacity must not exceed 20 percent.

Whichever method is followed, all measurements are to be made after the trucks' engines have been run long enough to be at normal operating temperature. Separate measurements must be made on each exhaust outlet on vehicles equipped with dual exhaust outlets.

Buses inspected by the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) on their owners' premises will be tested for smoke opacity of their emissions as a part of the regular inspection procedure. With a smoke meter (a device for measuring smoke opacity by light obstruction between a light source and a photoelectric cell) attached to the bus' exhaust outlet, the bus will be driven with rapid acceleration to approximately 20 miles per hour. The peak smoke opacity measured during this acceleration will be considered the standard smoke opacity, and must not exceed 40 percent.

Further requirements pertaining to buses inspected by PUC are that engines tested must be at normal operating temperature; separate measurements must be made on each exhaust outlet on buses equipped with dual and separated exhaust outlets; and a single combined measurement must be made on the exhaust outlets of vehicles equipped with dual, adjacent exhaust outlets.

Rabbis to take part in Northern Region meeting next month

Simon Schwartz of Toms River, president of the Northern New Jersey Region of the United Synagogue of America, announced this week that a get-together of rabbis, serving in congregations affiliated with the region, will be held at the Le Soul Caterers, Irvington, next Wednesday, at 10 a.m.

Held under the auspices of the region, which is presently comprised of 83 congregations, the gathering is designed to provide an opportunity for the spiritual leaders of the Conservative synagogues in New Jersey to discuss issues of professional concern and interest. The program will include papers by Rabbi Simon Glustrom of the Fair Lawn Jewish Center and Rabbi Andre Ungar of Temple Emanuel of Westwood. The former will address himself to the question, "Can the Rabbi Ever Feel Secure?" and the latter will speak on "The Self-Image and the Public Image of the Rabbi in the 70's."

A discussion open to all rabbis in attendance will follow the presentations. Its moderator will be Rabbi Albert Raab of Congregation B'nai Shalom of West End. The rabbis will be also apprised of the work and activities of the regional organization by members of its professional staff - Dr. Jacob Litman, the executive director; Dr. Nathan Winter, the educational consultant; and Harold Wisna, the director of youth activities.

The United Synagogue of America is the association of over 830 Conservative congregations in the United States and Canada, with an aggregate membership of one and a half million. The congregations affiliated with its Northern New Jersey Region represent over 22,000 families from Ramsey to Toms River.

Tax exams in Newark on Sept. 27

The annual Internal Revenue Service special enrollment examination will be given at the Federal Building, 970 Broad St., Newark, on Sept. 27 and 28. This examination is for accountants and others who wish to qualify to represent taxpayers before the Internal Revenue Service.

Tax practitioners who are not certified public accountants or attorneys must pass this examination before they can represent taxpayers at all levels of the IRS. This right to practice is governed by technical and ethical standards set by the Treasury Department.

Roland H. Nash Jr., IRS district director, said this week that information about the examination and application forms may be obtained at Room 103 of the Newark Federal Building. A sample examination, Publication 693, is also available. Mail requests should be addressed to the Special Enrollment Clerk, P. O. Box 450, Newark, N. J. 07101.

Completed applications accompanied by a $25 check or money order, payable to IRS, must be mailed to the Director of the Audit Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D. C. 20224 by Aug. 31.

Woman's Club issues appeal for discarded household items

Mrs. John Brownlie of 98 Kew dr., Springfield, who is chairman of the social services department of the Springfield Woman's Club, has received an urgent request for a variety of discarded household items, both small and large, to be used at a summer camp for crippled children and adults.
The camp, Camp Merry Heart, is supported by donations to the Easter Seal Society. The members of the social services department plan to deliver any materials which they can collect to the camp June 21. They have asked if anyone who has something to donate could leave it at Mrs. Brownlie's home by that date.
Among the requested items are things which can be used for arts and crafts work. Among them are: paints, paper, aluminum pie plates, beads, buttons, burlap, used candles, clay, cloth, costume jewelry, felt hats, inner tubes, popsize sticks, pipe cleaners, ribbons, yarn, wallpaper and paste, glue, wood scraps and paint brushes. None of this has to be new.

Mrs. Kazin is host to Hadassah board

Mrs. Aaron Kazin, president of Springfield Chapter of Hadassah, will hold a plan and scope meeting at a supper at her home June 22 for the executive board of the organization. Plans will be formulated for the annual antique show and restaurant to be held at Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield on Oct. 20 and 21. Mrs. Louis Spigel and Mrs. Clifford Schwartz are co-chairmen of the show and Mrs. Leonard Becker is in charge of dealers. Also on the committee is Mrs. Fred Braun.
Mrs. Kazin reported that Dr. Kalman J. Mann, director-general of the Hadassah Medical Organization in Israel, in a recent press release said, "Medical aid to developing countries is not only humanitarian but can be a lever for friendship. Hadassah has treated one million patients on the African continent. Arabs from East Jerusalem and Israel-administered areas are among its patients."

To judge from these grassroots relationships between Hadassah doctors and nurses and their grateful Arab patients, a peace settlement could be readily achieved in the Middle East. All the facilities of the Medical Center in Jerusalem would be available to help the populations of the neighboring Arab States in the battle against their true enemies -- poverty, illiteracy and disease.

Eric Young is born

A seven-pound, four-ounce son, Eric John Young, was born June 6 in Augsburg, Germany, to Spec. 4 and Mrs. Eric J. Young, formerly of Springfield. Mrs. Young is the former Dolores Korody, daughter of Mrs. Leslie Korody of Springfield. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Young of Springfield.

Hoener gets post at bank

Edmund L. Hoener of Rahway has been named assistant vice-president at the National State Bank, 68 Broad St., Elizabeth, N.J.
Hoener rejoins the National State Bank after a 10-month absence. He was associated with the First New Jersey Bank, Union. Hoener joined the National State Bank in 1960 after working as a credit analyst with Chase Manhattan Bank in New York City for five years.
A native of Hasbrouck Heights, he received his bachelor of arts degree from Hope College, Holland, Mich. He served two years as a cryptographer in the U. S. Army in Washington D.C.
He has served as president of the Tri-County Chapter of the American Institute of Banking, which includes Union, Somerset and Middlesex Counties.
He also is a past president of the Zoning Board of Adjustment in Rahway and a member of the Rahway Kiwanis Club. He is a member of the Robert Morris Associates, a credit officers association, and the Bank Credit Executives of New Jersey.

TEEN-AGERS find jobs by running Want Ads. Call 686-7700.

The list of larger items includes coats, stack chairs, bedding, cooking equipment, melmac dishes, adult size bins, maintenance tools, and equipment for use in swimming, including life jackets and flutter boards. There is also a request for all types of outdoor athletic equipment such as basketballs, footballs and horseshoes -- even checkers. There is also use for sleeping bags and Coleman lanterns.

Mrs. Brownlie noted that at this time of year many of these items are discarded during spring housecleaning. Rather than having them just thrown out, they could be put to practical use in helping these less fortunate people, she added.
The social services department is also collecting used men's shirts which members remodel into "johnny coats." These are given to Greystone Hospital in Morris Plains for use with their patients. Mrs. Brownlie said she would also appreciate receiving any of these.

Officers installed by Chisholm PTA

The Raymond Chisholm PTA of Springfield had its final meeting of the year last Friday. Year-end committee reports were presented and installation of officers for the 1971-72 school year took place.
The new officers are: president, Mrs. David Wohl; honorary president, John Berwick; vice-presidents, Mr. Robert Black Jr., Mrs. Walter Booth, Mrs. Neil Prager; corresponding secretary, Elaine Rispoli; recording secretary, Mrs. Roger Beyer; treasurer, Mrs. John Schlager.
Following the meeting parents and students enjoyed a spring concert performed by the Glee Club and band under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Stallworth and Joseph Paglia.

Hadassah chapter to hold lunch today

"What is Hadassah? What is its history, its accomplishments, and its plans for the future?" These are the topics of a luncheon program today at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Sanford Lieberman, 740 E. Broad St., Westfield.
Mrs. A. Eugene Shapiro, president of the Westfield Chapter of Hadassah, has invited all women of the Westfield, Mountainide, and Scotch Plains area who are interested. Mrs. Herbert Seidel of Mountainide will lead the discussion. For additional information, readers may call: Mrs. Shapiro, 232-6403, Mrs. Arthur Sommerfeld, 232-3605, or Mrs. Peter Fleischmann, 889-1713.

Final meeting set by Dads Auxiliary Saturday at shore

The American War Dads Auxiliary of Union Chapter No. 1 will hold its final meeting of the season, Saturday at the home of Mrs. Michael Canonic of Toms River, with Mrs. Alfred Stein, president, presiding. Members will leave by cars from Union at 9 a.m.

The hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Canonic, extended an invitation to the members for a mid-morning brunch and a visit, prior to the business session. A barbecue dinner will be served on the patio.

The agenda includes the appointment of a nominating committee, and election of delegates and alternates to the National Convention to be held in Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 24, 25 and 26.

Tentative plans will be discussed for fall and winter activities. The members will assist at the annual strawberry festival and picnic today at Swanson Picnic area, which will be sponsored by the American War Dads Chapter No. 1.

The representative and deputy, Mrs. Stein and Mrs. James Tormey, respectively, will attend the final meeting of the season of the Veterans Hospital VAVS board at Lyons Hospital Monday.

Members of the Past Presidents' Club of the Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms, Union, have received invitations for summer activities. Mrs. Koloman Kiss has invited members to spend a day at her summer resort home in LaVallette next month, and Mrs. Michael Permsion has invited members to a chicken and spare rib barbecue picnic supper at her home at 83 Hemlock rd., Short Hills, in August.

The club held its annual installation of officers and meeting June 9 at the home of Mrs. F. Butler Hehl, 751 Dykes ter., Union. A smorgasbord supper was served on the lawn. Mrs. Kiss, supper chairman, planned the menu and prepared the desserts. Mrs. Walter Krayer, Mrs. Frank Tell, Mrs. Eugenia A. McMurray, Mrs. August Gerstung, Mrs. William E. Vogel, Mrs. Permsion, Mrs. Alfred Stein and Mrs. Hehl prepared casseroles and salads.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Hehl, president. Mrs. Hrayner, past president of the Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms, received a welcome to the Past Presidents' Club. Officers installed were Mrs. Tell, president; Mrs. Kiss, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Stein, publicity chairman. Mrs. Arthur Herrigel of Lakewood was made an "honorary member" of the club.

Plans were made for an early Christmas party and meeting Nov. 30.

There are nineteen million ex-cigarette smokers in the United States: about one in five adult men in this country has dropped the habit.

Those who give up cigarettes report a great sense of satisfaction, of tremendous pride in being able to do it. To learn a new way of living, a way without cigarette smoking, is very rewarding to the ego—and to the ego's mate.

you can kick
the Habit.

As You Approach Q Day

Many stress willpower as the decisive factor in giving up cigarettes. For them the sense that they can manage their own lives is of great importance. They enjoy challenging themselves and, with an effort of will, they break the cigarette habit.

Thus, some psychologists describe stopping cigarettes as an exercise in self-mastery, one that introduces a new dimension of self-control.

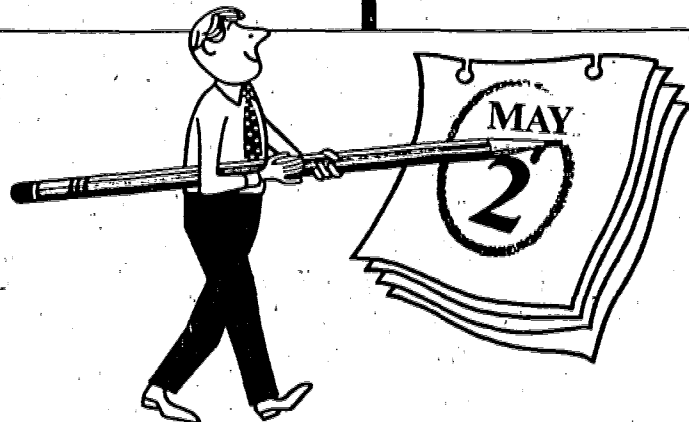

Others, often successful in many aspects of living, find that willpower does not help them in giving up cigarettes. They try to stop, they do not, and they feel guilty over their weakness.

This is a mistake, since many smokers fail in their first and second, even their fifth attempts, and then finally succeed. Those whose "will" fails in breaking the habit are not weak but different. Their approach must be less through determination and more through relearning new behavior with patience and perseverance.

Self-suggestion, when one is relaxed, aimed at changing one's feelings and thoughts about cigarettes can be useful.

One health educator remarked recently, "nothing succeeds like willpower and a little blood in the sputum."

To think of stopping smoking as self-denial is an error: the ex-smoker should not believe that he is giving up an object of value, however dependent he may be on it. If he begins to feel sorry for himself and broods on his sufferings, they may well become more severe and indeed unendurable. He must recognize that he is teaching himself a more positive, more constructive, more rewarding behavior.

Try Cutting Down...

An important first step in the process of giving up cigarettes for many smokers is to set the date for Q Day, when you are going to stop completely and, as it approaches, to gradually reduce the number of cigarettes you smoke, day by day, or week by week.

A good system is to decide only to smoke once an hour—or to stop smoking between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock, 11 and 12, 1 and 2, 3 and 4, etc. And then to extend the nonsmoking time by half an hour, an hour, two hours.

You may decide to halve the cigarettes you smoke week by week, giving yourself four weeks to Q Day.

How about smoking half of each cigarette? In the process of reducing the number of daily cigarettes, try various possibilities; if you have one pocket in which you always carry your pack, put it in another so that you will have to fumble for it. If you always use your right hand to bring your cigarette to your mouth, use the left hand. Is it your custom to rest the cigarette in the right corner of the mouth? Try the left side.

Make it a real effort to get a cigarette: Wrap your package in several sheets of paper or place it in a tightly covered box. If you leave your change at home you won't be able to use a cigarette machine.

Shift from cigarettes you like to an unpalatable brand.

Before you light up, ask yourself, "Do I really want this cigarette or am I just acting out of empty habit?"

A smoker may find an unlighted cigarette in the mouth is helpful. Others enjoy handling and playing with a cigarette.

Cigarette smoking is a habit that is usually very well learned—learning the habit of not smoking can be difficult. It can help in breaking into your habit chain to make yourself aware of the nature and frequency of your smoking behavior.

Do you really want this cigarette

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Do You Believe In "Cold Turkey" Quitting?

Yes, for some, no, for others. If you are a really "addicted" smoker, psychologists favor the sudden, decisive break.

For some, gradual withdrawal is less painful and entirely satisfactory.

Some cigarette smokers shift to pipes and cigars—there is of course some risk of mouth cancer from these but over-all mortality of cigar and pipe smokers is only a little higher than among nonsmokers, if the smoke is not inhaled.

What about going to a cigarette withdrawal clinic?

If there is a clinic or program in your community, you may find it useful. The American Cancer Society favors such efforts.

Sharing your withdrawal experiences with others and working with them on a common problem can be very helpful. The clinic may make it considerably easier in various ways to stop cigarette smoking.

However, remember, no clinic can provide a sure result. In this matter you must be both patient and physician.

Shall I Make A Big Thing Of Q-Day?

Some find it most satisfactory to work on a schedule in which Q Day, quitting day, is singled out as the important, decisive day in their personal lives—that indeed it is.

Others who have known for a long time that

How About Ashtrays?

One school of thought asks, do you leave a bottle of whiskey near an alcoholic? Their recommendation is to get rid of cigarettes, ashtrays, anything that might remind a smoker of his former habit.

Another school of thought take a different view and even suggest carrying cigarettes to demonstrate to yourself that you can resist temptation. Choose for yourself.

Shall I Tell Others Of My Decision?

Some do, some don't. Some find that the wider they spread the news of their decision the easier it is for them to make it stick. Others regard not smoking as their own personal business and keep it almost entirely to themselves. Will you strengthen your decision if your wife and friends know that you have committed yourself?

Will I Gain Weight?

Many do. Food is a substitute for cigarettes for many people. And your appetite may be fresher and stronger.

During the first few weeks of giving up cigarettes some psychologists recommend pampering yourself: eating well, drinking well, enjoying those things that are pleasant and fulfilling.

Some people, those to whom self-mastery is vital, get rewards out of controlling their wish for fattening food at the same time that they are licking the urge for cigarettes.

Again, it depends upon the person and his approach.

How About Hypnosis?

Its helpfulness in stopping smoking is not accepted. Why not discuss the matter with a physician, if you are interested?

Keep A Track Record

Many smokers have found that a useful step in understanding their smoking is the keeping of a daily record on a scale like that below.

In your gradual withdrawal you may decide to eliminate those daily cigarettes that you find are rated 1, 2 or 3 on the scale, i.e., ones you want least.

Or you may wish to give up first the cigarettes you like most. In any case keeping a smoking log will give you information about yourself, your reasons for giving up cigarettes is important in changing your behavior.

You may find that you are largely a social smoker, that smoking makes you feel closer to others, more welcome at a party, that you seem to have more friends. A cigarette may play a surprisingly large part in your picture of yourself as a mature and successful man.

How do you convince yourself that people like and respect you for more important reasons than for your cigarette? Try going without a cigarette and see.

PLUS AND MINUS

Write down carefully, after some thought, in one column the reasons why you smoke and in another all the reasons why you should give up cigarettes.

As you turn this exercise over in your mind, new material will occur to you for one or the other columns. Thoughtful concentration on your reasons for giving up cigarettes is important in changing your behavior.

SCORE CARD

Some cigarettes are more important to you than others. This score card will show you how much you smoke during each hour and how much you want each cigarette, on a scale of 1 (low need) to 7 (high need). A check mark opposite 2 indicates a low need for the cigarette, a check opposite 5 indicates a rather strong need. The hours on the chart are from 6 AM to 1 AM. By rating yourself on this scale of 1 to 7 you can see which cigarettes are most needed and decide which ones to eliminate.

Approaches in Giving up Cigarette Smoking (If you don't stop immediately and permanently)

1. List the reasons for and against smoking.
2. Select Q Day—change to low tar and nicotine cigarette.
3. Chart your smoking habits for at least two weeks: how many cigarettes, when, the most and least important.
4. Repeat each night, at least ten times, one of your reasons for not smoking cigarettes.
5. Eliminate one category of cigarettes: the most or the least desired.

6. Secure a supply of substitutes: mints, gum, an inhaler, ginger root, etc.
7. Quit on Q Day—try the different substitutes as the wish to smoke recurs—enlist your wife or a friend in a busy series of events: eating well, going to the movies or theater, exercise and many long walks, moderate drinking
8. If you are depressed, see your physician and discuss your symptoms.
9. Keep reminding yourself, again and again, of the shocking risks in cigarette smoking.

THE WEEK BEFORE Q-DAY

Think over your list of reasons why you should not smoke: the risk of disease, the blurring of the taste of food, the cost, the cough, the bad breath, the mess and smell of morning-after ashtrays.

Concentrate each evening when you are relaxed, just before you fall asleep, on one dreadful result of cigarette smoking. Repeat and repeat and repeat that single fact. Drive home another fact the next night and another the next.

Review the facts that you know about the risks of cigarette smoking. Remind yourself that there, but for the grace of God go you, that you may indeed, if you continue smoking, lose six and a half years of life, that—if you are a heavy smoker—your chances of dying between 25 and 65 years of age are twice as great as those of the nonsmoker. Are the six minutes of pleasure to a heavy smoker in a cigarette worth six fewer minutes of life? Would you fly in an airplane if the chances of crash and death were even close to the risks of cigarette smoking? Think over why it is that 100,000 physicians have quit cigarette smoking.

Dr. Silvan Tomkins distinguishes four general types of smoking behavior. An abbreviated summary of the types follows:

Four Smoking Styles

Habitual Smoking;

here the smoker may hardly be aware that he has a cigarette in his mouth. He smokes as if it made him feel good, or feel better, but in fact it does neither. He may even have regarded smoking as an important sign of status. But now smoking is automatic. The habitual smoker who wants to give up must first become aware of when he is smoking. Knowledge of the pattern of his smoking is a first step towards change.

Positive Affect Smoking;

here smoking seems to serve as a stimulant that produces exciting pleasure, or is used as a relaxant, to heighten enjoyment, as at the end of a meal. Here a youngster demonstrates his manhood or his defiance of his parents. This smoker may enjoy most the handling of a cigarette or the sense and sight of smoke curling out of his mouth. If these smokers can be persuaded to make an effort, they may find giving up cigarettes relatively painless.

Negative Affect Smoking;

this is sedative smoking, using the habit to reduce feelings of distress, fear, shame, or disgust or any combination of them. This person may not smoke at all when things go well, on vacation, or at a party, but under tension, when things go badly, at the office or at home, he reaches for a cigarette. These smokers give up often, but when the heat and pressure of the day hit them, when there's a challenge, they find it very hard to resist a cigarette. A strong substitute, like nibbling ginger root may be useful.

Addictive Smoking;

the smoker is always aware when he is not smoking. The lack of a cigarette builds need, desire, and discomfort at not smoking. With this increasing need is the expectation that a cigarette will reduce discomfort—and the cigarette does give relief—for a moment. Pleasure at smoking is real, just as the buildup of discomfort at not smoking is real, sometimes rapid and intolerable. The enjoyment of the cigarette, however, is very brief, and may be disappointing—but the suffering for lack of even slight relief is considerable.

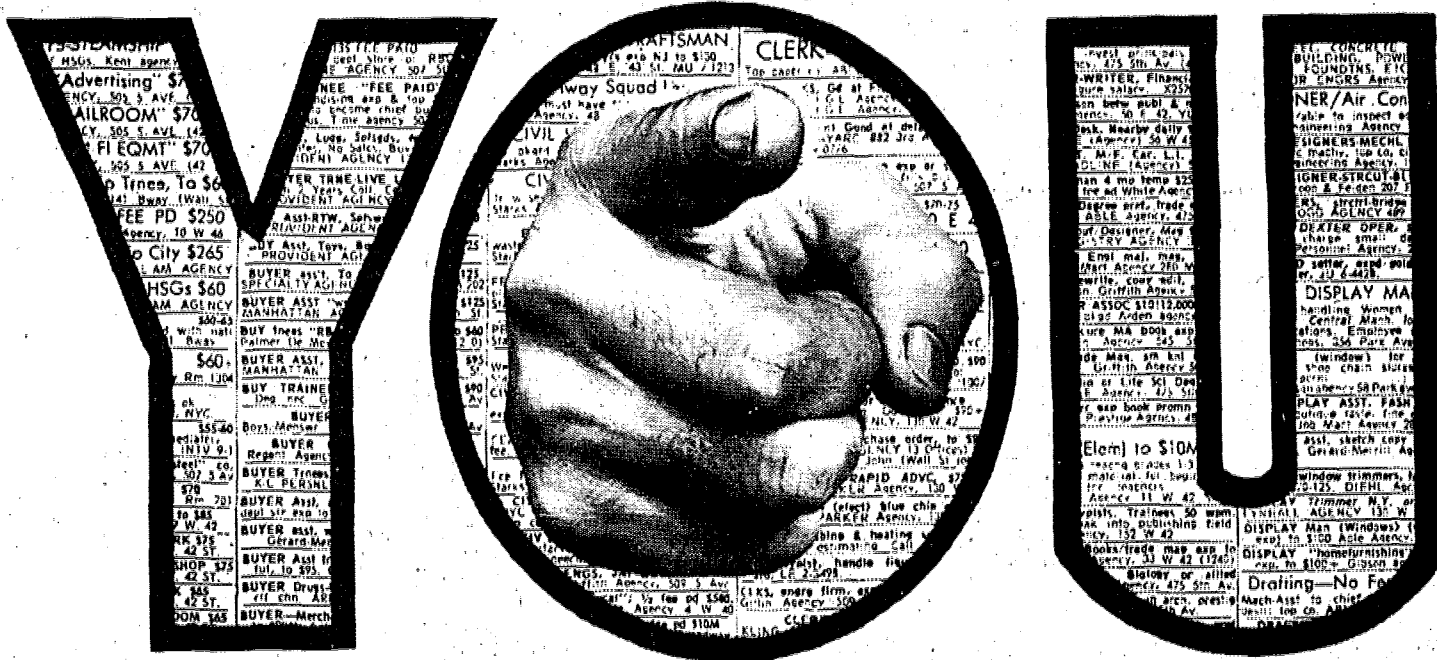

For this smoker, tapering off doesn't seem to work: the only solution is to quit cold. Once you have been through the intense pain of breaking your psychological addiction, you are unlikely to start smoking again. The experience of giving up has been too uncomfortable—and too memorable for you to risk having to go through it again.

Some such smokers have found it useful to increase during the week before Q Day the number of cigarettes smoked, to go from two packs to four packs, to force themselves to smoke so that their bodies will be in actual revolt against the double dose of tar and nicotine.

For information on a Smoker's Self-Testing Kit (four questionnaires, etc., to help one to understand personal reasons for and style of smoking) write to the National Clearinghouse for Smoking and Health, United States Public Health Service, 4040 North Fairfax Drive, Arlington, Va., 22203.

THANKS FOR YOUR HELP — Genevieve Pascale (right), president of the women's division of the Chamber of Commerce of Eastern Union County, presents a gold charm to Charlotte McCracken, manager of the American Red Cross of Eastern Union County. Miss McCracken, who was honored at a dinner yesterday, is retiring after many years of service.

Miss McCracken honored by Union County Red Cross

Genevieve Pascale of Union, president of the women's division of the Chamber of Commerce of Eastern Union County, presented a gold charm on behalf of the membership to Charlotte B. McCracken, manager of the American Red Cross of Eastern Union County, at her retirement dinner yesterday at Shackamaxon Country Club, Scotch Plains.

Miss Pascale, a member of the executive board of the American Red Cross Eastern Union County Chapter and chairman of the public relations committee, also wrote and recorded a salute to Miss McCracken for her many years of community service.

She said, "We view her leaving us, in July, with mixed emotions. Glad for her, sad for us. We shall miss her quiet efficiency and good humor. Charlotte had the loyal devotion and the personal friendship of every volunteer and staff worker. Her wise counsel and clear judgment contributed much to the development of our chapter.

"In a business sense, in carrying out her duties, Charlotte was always where the action was. She could never be accused of being a clock watcher. Hours meant nothing to her. Day or night she made herself available when and where needed. She gave her time and effort unstintingly.

"We know she will not be idle. We wish her well in whatever field of endeavor she pursues. We thank her for her patience over the years, for her understanding and for a job well done. We hope she will take time out to keep in touch with her many friends at Red Cross and all the other clubs and organizations of which she was a member."

Nakovich named UC paper editor

John Nakovich of 521 Chestnut st., Roselle Park, a Union College sophomore majoring in liberal arts, has been appointed editor-in-chief of "The Paper," daily student newspaper, by the publications committee for the 1971-72 academic year.

As editor-in-chief, Nakovich will oversee the selection and performance of five daily editors and coordinate "Paper" assignments and activities.

Kenneth Lachniet of Elizabeth, another sophomore liberal arts major, was appointed executive editor, while Miss Nadina Davis of 2200 Summit ter., Linden, a liberal arts major, was named managing editor.

Nakovich, a graduate of Roselle Park High School, has served on the "Paper" staff for two years, and as an assistant editor for one year. He is also active in the Union College Music Workshop, the Dramatic Society, and WUC, campus radio station. Nakovich is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nakovich.

Lachniet, the son of Dr. George Lachniet of Sparta, served as a daily editor of "The Paper," and as president of the Karate Club. Miss Davis, a student at Union College's Elizabeth Campus, was founder and editor-in-chief of "Write On," an Elizabeth Campus publication, and was active in the Union College Dramatic Society.

Trailside visitors will tour historic 'Deserted Village'

Visitors to the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, may participate in a tour of the historic "Deserted Village" on Sunday at 2 p.m.

Charles S. Hoag, a resident of the "Village," will conduct the tour of the area which is located in the valley between the first and second ridge of the Watchung Range.

The guided tour is open to the public. The group will proceed to the site of the "Village" by auto.

Hoag will discuss the 300-year history and tradition of the area from the time of the Indians and earliest settlers to its present state as a unit of the Union County Park System. He will point out many historical features of Union County.

Also on Sunday, at 3 and 4 p.m., Donald W. Mayer, director of Trailside, assisted by Elmer Van Gilder, educational assistant, will present a program in the Trailside Planetarium entitled "The Inner Planets." The lecturers will discuss and show the four planets closest to the Sun, namely, Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars. The same program will be presented at 8 p.m. on Wednesday.

As the Trailside Planetarium can seat only 35 persons at a performance, it is necessary to obtain a ticket from the Trailside office on the day of the show. Tickets are issued on a first-come, first-served basis. Children under eight years of age are not permitted in the Planetarium chamber.

One-half hour nature talks for children will be conducted in the Trailside auditorium at 4 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The topic to be discussed during the four days is "Animals That Hunt." The talks will be illustrated with color slides. Admission is free.

The Trailside Nature and Science Center is open to the public each weekday, except Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Steering committee offices are filled by senior citizens

Mrs. Evelyn Frank of Union was nominated to serve as temporary chairman of the Steering Committee of the Union County Senior Citizens Council, at a recent meeting. Mrs. Madeline Lancaster of Springfield was nominated secretary.

The following committee chairmen were appointed: Jack Landau of Kenilworth - name and purpose; Joseph Walsh and Michael Longi of Cranford - finances; John W. Henry of Elizabeth - by-laws; Raymond O'Day of Linden - offices and duties; Mrs. Beck Seal of Springfield - schedule of meetings and facilities; Mrs. Margaret Clark of Springfield and Raymond W. McElroy Sr. of Kenilworth - types of committees and public relations.

Plans to form the county council were voted upon and approved at the convention held in May. Mrs. Frank said, "Interest was shown by various groups when they met with Senator Williams back in June, 1970 and at the various meetings held for the preparation of the White House Conference on Aging for 1971."

Senior citizens feel that a county council will unite groups from all the communities in Union County and become the vehicle which would inform the public about the problems of senior citizens. The council would also be able to take joint action, assist each other in techniques for civic effort, share information of special interest to their groups, etc. Some of the specific topics discussed include housing, tenant problems, homeowner problems, homeowner problems, nutrition, consumer problems, discount tickets, reduced transportation costs, health insurance, and drug costs.

Any recognized senior citizens group may join the council and have a delegate sit on the council board.

At the White House Conferences, discussion took place on the needs of senior citizens and recommendations were proposed and forwarded to the state for the White House Conference in Washington. The Union County Council will probably examine those needs and study how their municipalities, the county government, and the state government can help in the solutions.

All groups will maintain their autonomy while participating in the council.

The next planning meeting of the steering committee will be held on Friday, June 25, at 10 a.m. at the Recreation Center, Boulevard corner of 24th Street, Kenilworth. Any Union County senior citizens group desiring to send a delegate to the meeting may obtain information by contacting Mrs. Frank, 1983 Long ter., Union, phone 686-3998.

Manager selected by Red Cross unit

Peter W. Overton will become the new manager of Eastern Union County Chapter, American Red Cross, July 1. He is now executive director of the Lowell, Mass., Red Cross Chapter.

Overton will replace Miss Charlotte B. McCracken who will retire after 25 years with the Eastern Union County Chapter, which serves Elizabeth, Hillside, Linden, Union, Roselle, Roselle Park, Winfield, Rahway and Clark. His appointment was announced by Garland H. B. Davis, chapter chairman.

Overton has been executive director at Lowell since 1965.

UC's queen at festival

Miss Laura McCloskey of Scotch Plains, "Queen of Union College," will represent the college at the annual Laurel Blossom Festival in the Pocono Mountains tomorrow through June 24.

Crowned last December, Miss McCloskey will serve as Union College's entry for Laurel Queen to be crowned at the Pocono 500 Laurel Blossom Ball.

Entrants from colleges and universities on the Eastern coast will be hosted at the Pocono resorts and be guided through the mountains and recreational and social activities offered at the Poconos.

Miss McCloskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McCloskey, is a sophomore majoring in liberal arts at Union College. She was graduated from Scotch Plains-Fanwood Regional High School, Scotch Plains.

UC's first lawmen grads enthusiastic

Praise program for widening understanding

FIRST GRADUATES—Prof. Frank Crosby, center, Union College's first and only fulltime law enforcement instructor, extends congratulations to Union College's first law enforcement graduates. They are (from left): Sgt. George W. Kane and Sgt. Harry Wilde, both members of the Cranford Police Department; Michael Springstun of Linden, a civilian, and Patrolman Darmon Toney of the Rahway Police Department. They received associate in arts degrees at Union College's 38th annual commencement last Wednesday at the Cranford campus.

3 Dems ask agreement on senate election costs

Carmine J. Liotta, Christopher Dietz and John T. Connor Jr., Democratic candidates for the State Senate from Union County, this week called upon their opponents to join them in "setting an example of high ethical conduct" in the area of political contributions and expenditures.

The three Democrats pointed out that the state election law requires that a campaign manager be appointed for each candidate or for candidates jointly, that campaign contributions be deposited by the campaign manager in a designated depository bank and that all deposits and expenditures be properly reported to the Secretary of State.

"This law has traditionally been ignored or circumvented by the simple device of failing to report contributions made to special committees instead of to the candidates directly or to their political parties," Dietz said.

Liotta added: "It is no wonder the public is disillusioned with the conduct of politicians and public officials. The trial of Hudson County officials has pointed out that many corrupt practices originate in the area of campaign contributions and expenditures."

"We call upon our GOP opponents to join with us in establishing a mutually agreed upon stakeholder, as permitted by law, whereby all contributions and expenditures can be monitored. We look forward to sitting down with them and selecting an impartial accountant and depository bank. In this way we can comply with the law and indicate to all the people of Union County our desire to set and adhere to the highest ethical standards in the conduct of the public's business. Joining with them, we would pledge ourselves to report all contributions—not just those made to us directly, but also to the various committees that actually process the bulk of the funds in a political campaign."

CONNOR POINTED OUT that, before the law on the limit on campaign expenditures was repealed last year, the limit on expenditures for each State Senate candidate from Union County was approximately $20,000. "Certainly $80,000 would seem to be a reasonable limit for the four candidates from each party running this year. We pledge ourselves to remain within that limit and call upon our opponents to do likewise or explain their reluctance to do so. How and why could they object? Where could they have raised, and why would people contribute, more than $80,000 to the Union County legislative campaign?" he questioned.

Connor also noted that one of their opponents recently gave a dinner—and plans two more -- at which $50,000 was raised for his campaign. "How can a state legislator raise that kind of money? Who are the contributors? Furthermore, what can he spend that kind of money on in a county campaign?" he asked. "Unless the steps we suggest are taken, how can the average voter fail to suspect improper conduct and wrongdoing?" Connor, Dietz and Liotta pledged to join with their opponents in filing individual statements of personal assets and sources of income with the accountant selected by the Democratic and Republican candidates.

Dietz said, "The public should know from what private sources public officials derive income. Just recently it was revealed that a Somerset County assemblyman had an ownership interest in a cable television company when he was sponsoring legislation favorable to such companies. While there may in fact be no actual wrongdoing or unethical conduct involved in a given instance, the candidate for public office should proceed in such a manner as to avoid any suspicion of unethical conduct."

Classes will be held daily from 9 to 9:45 a.m. through Friday, July 2. Boys and girls, eight to 14 years of age, who are residents of Union County, are eligible to attend the classes without charge.

A "broader outlook on life," "widened perspective," and "an understanding of today's problems" were listed by Union College's first law enforcement graduates as the most important lessons learned in the two-year program leading to an associate in arts degree.

Sgt. Harry Wilde and Sgt. George W. Kane, Jr., both of Cranford, Patrolman Darmon Toney of Rahway, and Michael Springstun of 111 Main st., Linden, the lone civilian in the group, were graduated from Union College, Cranford, at the 38th annual commencement exercises last Wednesday.

Committed to careers in a profession that has never emphasized higher education, each of the four students has made some sacrifice to seek out a college education and has been motivated largely by a personal desire for self improvement.

All four are enthusiastic about the results of their two years at Union College and believe that the existence of law enforcement programs such as the one offered at Union College will have a direct and positive effect on the future of law enforcement.

Officer Toney believes that the program should be required for all police officers.

SGT. KANE, who has had close to 17 years experience with the Cranford Police Department and who has, at one time or another, headed the traffic and records bureau and photo lab, believes his role as a police officer has definitely been enhanced as a result of his experiences at Union College. It has broadened his outlook and helped him in dealing with people. An honor student and member of Phi Theta Kappa, the two-year college equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa, Sgt. Kane says that he's wanted to continue his formal education ever since leaving high school. The existence of the program at Union College gave him the opportunity.

And he's not finished. Sgt. Kane, Sgt. Wilde and Officer Toney all plan to continue their education. Sgt. Kane and Officer Toney at Rutgers University, which offers a bachelor's degree in law enforcement, and Sgt. Wilde at either Rutgers or CCNY in New York. He is also considering going on to Seton Hall Law School.

SGT. WILDE, an eight-year man on the Cranford force, had attended Rutgers briefly following his graduation from high school and his police training included attendance at Northwestern University Traffic Institute. "I got a taste of education and wanted to go on," he said.

"College level programs in law enforcement," he believes, "are helping us to become professionals, something we've wanted to do for a long time."

Both Sgt. Kane and Sgt. Wilde have found the going rough fitting in full college program and a full work week. Midnight tours of duty and both day and evening classes have added up to a heavy work load. There is some compensation in that the Cranford Police Department gives raises for every college credit earned.

OFFICER TONEY, whose department offers no added compensation for college work, did get time off for classes.

Officer Toney has had 10 years with the Rahway Police Department. Yet, despite his experience, he too felt he got a great deal out of the program. The three officers agreed that law enforcement classes were among their favorite courses.

"Class discussions," says Officer Toney, "were stimulating and made much of what we do more relevant."

Continuing his education has long been one of Officer Toney's goals. The availability of the program at Union College and a federal scholarship offered through the Law Enforcement Education Program of the U.S. Department of Justice made it possible.

Sgt. Kane and Sgt. Wilde both attended Union College on scholarships offered by the New Jersey Police Training Commission. Both were among 200 scholarship winners in a competitive examination taken by some 1,000 police officers. Sgt. Kane placed second in the test.

SPRINGSTUN ALSO HAD some help from the government since his father, a career man in the Army had died in service. He's also held several part-time jobs to help meet expenses.

But as he looks forward to a career in police work, Springstun is as enthusiastic about his studies as the three already in the profession. Springstun's brother is a police officer in Miami, Fla., and he plans to join him on that force as soon as he turns 21 in January.

Anticipating the test in Miami, Springstun feels he's way ahead of the game. The recent sergeants exam offered in Union County, he says, came right out of the Law Enforcement 102 text book.

The interaction between officers and civilians in the program he found particularly valuable and interesting.

If he has any complaint, Springstun regrets that he has to wait until he's 21 to join the force. He believes, applicants should be taken earlier and put on desk jobs until they're old enough to carry a gun. Under the present system, a would be officer has to take another job first and may settle in and be lost to the law enforcement field.

Hospital group meets

The New Jersey Hospital Admitting Officers Association held its bimonthly business meeting at St. Barnabas Medical Center last Thursday. The group was taken on a tour of the Medical Center, which has become one of the most modern and advanced medical facilities in the nation.

Gallery opens a display of 'Graphic Innovations'

"Graphic Innovations," a special new exhibit at the Artist and Craftsman Guild of Cranford until July 6, displays works by a group of 10 young distinguished contemporary American artists.

New techniques and skills have been successfully applied in this display of woodcuts, silkscreens, offsets, embossments and aquatints. Fantasy, both literate and figurative as well as realistic, dominates the trends evident in this graphic collection. Works by these artists will be going on exhibit in galleries throughout the U.S.

All of the artists are professionals. Most have exhibited in museums throughout the U.S.

Edward O'Connell, an assistant professor at Fordham University, has graphics in this show which are an offset and silkscreen combination. O'Connell founded an experimental printmakers workshop in New York which explores the photographic image. In all printmaking procedures.

Judith Vivell's silkscreened works are appealing negative space figure prints. She received her degree in art from the University of Los Andes in Bogota, Columbia.

The Artist & Craftsman Guild, which represents professional artists & craftsmen from various states, is located at 17 Eastman st., Cranford. The show is open from 10 to 5:30 daily; Thursday evening from 7:30 - 9:30. It is closed Friday.

Y Hostess Club will hold dance

The Elizabeth YWCA Junior Hostesses Club will hold a "Summer Sounds" dance at the association building, 1131 E. Jersey st., on Saturday at 8 p.m. Music will be provided by Toby Clahr, a disc jockey. Refreshments will be served. Girls ages 17-25 are welcome to attend. Dressy dress required.

This will be the last dance of the series of monthly dances being held at the YWCA during the program year.

Maplewood bills 'Little Murders'

"Little Murders," motion picture version of Jules Feiffer's play about a weird but recognizable family in the midst of New York's violence and decay, opened yesterday at the Maplewood Theater in Maplewood.

The film, photographed in color, stars Elliott Gould, Marcia Rodd, Alan Arkin and Donald Sutherland (Arkin also directed), and with frightening impact, tells a story of what life can be like in New York (and the rest of the country) allows "Little Murders" to become a way of life.

THE MANY FACES OF DUSTIN HOFFMAN are seen in "Little Big Man," currently on screen at the Rialto Theater in Westfield. Hoffman plays a vagabond of the west, who lives a lifetime of lifetimes, from a young adopted Indian, a trapper with a foaling beard, a town drunk, a Custer scout, a medicine-show drifter, a gunfighter, and finally, a 121-year-old sole survivor of Custer's Last Stand. Faye Dunaway makes a special appearance in the "Little Big Man."

O'Toole, Guinness on screen at Union

Peter O'Toole, Academy Award Winner, plays the title role in "Lawrence of Arabia," which is being held over for a second week at the Union Theater in Union Center.

The picture, which is among the most massive and majestic films ever made, is based on "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," and tells a dramatic story of the "Revolt in the Desert" that freed Arab nations from the Turkish Empire in World War I.

Heading the cast of thousands, in addition to O'Toole, are Alec Guinness, Anthony Quinn, Jack Hawkins, Arthur Kennedy and Omar Sharif. Robert Bolt wrote the screenplay, and the picture, in color, was directed by David Lean.

'Gimme Shelter' opens at Ormont

"Gimme Shelter," a close-up look at the Rolling Stones' turbulent Altamont free rock concert, opened yesterday on screen at the Ormont Theater, East Orange.

The picture, photographed in color, and directed by David and Albert Maysles and Charlotte Zwerlin, shows that the concert was anything but love, peace and harmony.

Cameras pickup Hell's Angels acting as a so-called protective squad, an actual killing in the fray that had developed and an intimate look at the Rolling Stones onstage, with special emphasis on Mick Jagger.

Garner, Quinn star in movies at Fox

"Support Your Local Gunfighter," a western comedy, starring James Garner and Suzanne Pleshette, opened yesterday at the Fox Theater, Route 22, Union.

The associate feature at the Fox is "The Secret of Santa Vittoria," starring Anthony Quinn and Anna Magnani, with Verna Lisi, Sergio Franchi and Hardy Kruger in stellar roles. The picture, filmed in color, and directed by Stanley Kramer, is a comedy-drama concerning an Italian village during World War II which hides a million bottles of wine from the Germans.

'Saloon' musical staged at Towers, Route 23

"Saloon," the musical adaptation of the classic "Drunkard," opened last week at the Carousel Buffet Playhouse at the Towers, 1027 Route 23, Cedar Grove.

"Saloon" is presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday with an 8:30 p.m. curtain and a 7:30 p.m. curtain on Sunday.

The first in a series of Children's Theater offerings will be presented Saturday at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. with "The Wonderment of Gleep."

IN TITLE ROLE--Betsy Palmer portrays Dolly Gallagher Levi in "Hello, Dolly!," one of Broadway's longest running musicals in history, now at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn through June 27.

Mayfair screens 'Vanishing Point'

A loner in revolt against society who takes off on a wild Denver-San Francisco ride defying speed limits and policemen, is in "Vanishing Point," 20th Century-Fox's film in color, which shares the Mayfair Theater bill with "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid."

The picture, which opened yesterday at the theater in Hillside, stars Barry Newman and Cleavon Little. Richard C. Sarafian directed the movie.

Paul Newman co-stars with Robert Redford, when both play the title role in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid." The western movie about the legendary outlaws, also has Katharine Ross in a stellar role. "Butch Cassidy" in color was directed by George Roy Hill.

Admission price: thirty empty cans recycled. The matinee feature for children on Saturday will be cartoons and "The Further Perils of Laurel and Hardy."

Adult double bill is Art attraction

"Cindy and Donna," a dramatic film which highlights one of the problem-zones of today's youth: sex and drugs, arrived yesterday at the Art Cinema in Irvington Center, on a double bill with "The Love Object."

"Cindy and Donna" are played by Debbie Osborne and Nancy Ison, respectively. They are a pair of teenage half-sisters who live with their parents in an average suburban neighborhood. Since mom and dad are heavy drinkers, the girls make up their minds to do a little "experimenting" themselves.

The cast features Cheryl Powell, Max Manning, Suzy Alen and Tom Koben. Robert Anderson directed the film.

"The Love Object" tells a story of strange games taught to a young girl. Both pictures are in color, and are X-rated.

ACCUSTOMED TO HIS FACE--Audiences (stage and TV) are getting used to seeing the versatile British actor, Edward Mulhare. His latest appearances in "My Fair Lady," hit musical continuing its run at the Meadowbrook Supper Theater in Cedar Grove.

Sierra Leone Dance Troupe to open Celebrity Series at Symphony Hall

Symphony Hall, 3,350-seat performing arts center in downtown Newark, will open its 1971-72 Celebrity Series of international performers next Nov. 22 with the Dance Troupe of Sierra Leone, a company of 36 dancers and musicians performing the traditional dances of their native country in Africa. Under the leadership of Ambassador John J. Akar, the troupe has polished the traditional dance forms to create a theatre of black dance.

On Dec. 12 the famed Soviet cellist Mstislav Rostropovich will perform. One of the most highly-acclaimed musical artists in the world, Rostropovich has performed all over the world and received numerous honors which include the dedication of concertos to him by Prokofiev, Shostakovich and other composers. Rostropovich had been scheduled to appear at Symphony Hall last season but was unable to leave the Soviet Union at the time.

The Vienna Choir Boys, a singing tradition in Austria for 500 years, will perform on Jan. 13. The group of 22 boys has been acclaimed in tours of this country since 1932, and has also visited Asia, South America and South Africa.

ANDRES SEGOVIA, who is credited with restoring the guitar to its classic place among instruments, will conclude the series on March 8. Segovia has performed throughout the world and has vastly increased the repertoire for his instrument through his numerous transcriptions and through works composed especially for him.

In addition to presenting its own Celebrity Series, Symphony Hall will again be the center for a variety of community and musical shows throughout the 1971-72 season, said Clarence Reisen, Symphony Hall president.

Rock, pop and soul shows will be produced under the aegis of promoter Teddy Powell; Ronnie Williams will again present a series of gospel shows.

Organizations such as the Committee for a Unified Newark, the Congress for African Culture and others, have been discussing shows for the coming season with the Symphony Hall management, Reisen said. In addition, representatives of the Spanish-speaking community and other ethnic groups also are making plans for 1971-1972, he said.

The Opera Theatre of New Jersey under the artistic direction of Alfredo Silipigni will present four productions starting with Giordano's "Fedora" on Nov. 12. The Opera Theatre will also present as a special attraction soprano Beverly Sills in Bellini's "Norma" on Jan. 11.

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra under the musical direction of Henry Lewis will perform its series of popular-priced concerts again on Sundays.

Symphony Hall was formed in 1964 as a non-profit cultural institution with a board of trustees of more than 40 members. In addition to presenting its own series and serving as the site of other shows, Symphony Hall presents a daytime School Field Trip series of live and filmed programs which has attracted more than 700,000 students since its inception. Information about the Celebrity Series may be obtained through the Symphony Hall box office, 1020 Broad St., Newark.

SEGOVIA TO APPEAR—Andres Segovia, who is credited with restoring the guitar to its classic place among instruments, will perform in the final concert of Newark Symphony Hall's Celebrity Series of international performers next March 8. Segovia has performed throughout the world and a number of works for guitar have been composed especially for him.

Slight drop noted in unemployment

The state's unemployment rate dipped 0.2 points in May to 6.9 percent of the work force, reports the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry's Division of Planning and Research. Although the jobless total dropped by 3,800 in May to 215,400 persons, the decline was less than usual for this month. Compared with a year ago, the unemployment rate rose 1.8 points and the number of unemployed workers was 58,300 higher.

Commenting on the report, Donald M. Heymann, commissioner of the N.J. Department of Labor and Industry, said, "We know by statistical comparison that the unemployment rate is virtually unchanged. We consider these minor rate variations of little long-range consequence."

Terminal solicits bids

The Military Ocean Terminal, Bayonne, at Bayonne, announced this week that bids are being solicited for food service operations to service approximately 2,000 patrons. Bid forms may be obtained by writing to J.F. Safardo, Post Restaurant Officer, Building 45-2 West, MOTBY, 07002, New Jersey. Sealed bids will be accepted by the post restaurant officer until 11 a.m., July 13.

Cash grant for Upsala

A $5,000 grant has been made to Upsala College, East Orange, by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Mich. under the College Resources for Environmental Studies Program.

The money will be used over a three-year period for the purchase of approximately 500 books, films and tapes, dealing with all aspects of the environment, for use in the Upsala library.

Dr. Robert E. Kinsinger, Kellogg Foundation vice-president, explained that the grant to Upsala is one of approximately 300 similar grants being made to small, private liberal arts colleges throughout the United States as part of the foundation's continuing program of support for activities aimed at finding solutions to environmental problems throughout the nation.

Commissioner Heymann added, "A seasonal rise in unemployment is anticipated in June as growing numbers of students and summer workers seek available jobs. If the typical pattern unfolds, unemployment will tend to level off in July and August, when the temporary job seekers either find employment or withdraw from the work force."

Art display at library

Thomas Ricciardi, an evening student in the Department of Fine Arts at Newark State College, has arranged for a special exhibit of works done by evening students. The exhibit, at the Newark Public Library, will remain until July 1.

The students from the Art Education class taught by Dr. Pearl Greenberg, are pictured through Ricciardi's photographs in an "essay of experience." Ricciardi's photographs are shown with the art work created by his classmates. The viewer can see the artists at work through the photographs, and at the same time view the completed two and three dimensional pieces.

The exhibit was arranged with the cooperation of William J. Dane of the Newark Public Library. The public may attend the exhibit daily from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Arts Center offers a dress rehearsal and backstage tour

Brookdale Community College and the Garden State Arts Center will join forces to permit spectators their first chance to observe the behind-the-scenes happenings at the Center.

On June 23, from 4 to 6 p.m., the public will have an opportunity to watch a full dress rehearsal of the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, accompanied by an orchestra and chorus, and to make the first backstage tour of the Arts Center.

The Alvin Ailey group will open at the Center that evening following a two-week engagement at the New York City Center of Music and Drama. This world renowned dance company, which has electrified audiences and stunned critics into superlatives since its birth in New York City in 1958, is a primarily black, interracial troupe. Its performances have had audiences cheering, clapping, snapping fingers, and actually participating in the rhythmic and emotional pulsations emanating from the stage.

Ailey had agreed to permit an audience to watch and listen as he directs the dance company through the dress rehearsal. He will punctuate the rehearsal with comments to the dance company and may also direct some of his comments to the audience. In addition, two dance instructors, Joan Harvey and Jill Kalolay, will do a running commentary on the dances being performed and will also explain other highlights of the rehearsal. Both Miss Harvey and Miss Kalolay hold Master's Degrees in Modern Dance.

The rehearsal and backstage tour will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. The program is under the direction of Clinton C. Crocker, Brookdale dean of community cultural affairs. For the single cost of $4.50 spectators may obtain a ticket for the opening night performance, as well as for the dress rehearsal and backstage tour.

For further information and tickets, contact Dean Crocker at Brookdale Community College, 756 Newman Springs Rd., Lincroft, or telephone 842-1900, ext. 230.

McClintock named Drew acting dean

Drew University Professor of Psychology James A. McClintock, who served as acting dean of Drew's College of Liberal Arts before Dean Richard J. Stonifer arrived in 1965, has been appointed by President Robert F. Oxnham to assume the post again as Dean Stonifer leaves next month to be president of Monmouth College.

In announcing the appointment, Dr. Oxnham said that the search for a new dean will continue "with all deliberate speed."

"Professor McClintock's thorough understanding of the college," he continued, "as well as his qualities as a leader and capabilities as an administrator make him well qualified for this assignment. We are all indebted to him for taking on this rather thankless task at some considerable personal inconvenience."

Dr. McClintock began at Drew in 1930 and was professor and chairman of psychology and director of the College Counseling Center when he retired in 1968.

Open housing endorsement issued by major companies

Twenty-three leading companies with major operations in the New Jersey metropolitan area have endorsed an open housing statement to complement their equal employment opportunity policies and programs.

They took this action because of the lack of suitable housing available for minority employees. This lack has been a continuing problem associated with both the employment and retention of minority people, especially black professional employees who have moved into the area from other parts of the country.

The fair housing statement reads: "As firms with operations in the state of New Jersey, we endorse the principle of open housing for all Americans. We believe that anyone, regardless of race, color, creed, national origin, sex, or marital status, has the right to live in any apartment or house that he can afford to rent or buy. We support the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination in housing and we will continue to cooperate with appropriate agencies in upholding the state's open housing law. We do not knowingly cooperate with any individual, firm, or agency which discriminates against any of our employees with respect to housing. This position is fully consistent with the policies that provide for equal rights in hiring, promotion, and all other phases of our businesses."

Companies that have endorsed the statement are: Airco Welding Products Division of Air Reduction Company, Inc., Union; Allied Chemical Corporation, Morris Township; Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Elizabeth; Bristol-Myers Company, Hillside; Celanese Research Company, Summit; CIBA Pharmaceutical Company, Division of CIBA-GEIGY Corporation, Summit; E.I. duPont de Nemours & Company's Grasselli Plant, Linden; Enjay Chemical Company's Bayway Chemical Plant and Florham Park Operations; Esso Mathematics & Systems Inc., Florham Park; Esso Research and Engineering Company, Linden and Florham Park; Foster Wheeler Corporation, Livingston; Hercules Incorporated, Kenil; Hoffmann-La Roche Inc., Nutley; Humble Oil & Refining Company's Bayway Refinery and New Jersey Marketing Facilities; Merck & Co., Inc., Rahway; Phelps Dodge Copper Products Corporation, Elizabeth; RCA Corporation, Avenel; Schering Corporation, Bloomfield; Simmons Company, Elizabeth; Tenneco Chemicals, Inc., Piscataway; The Singer Company, Elizabeth; United States Gypsum Company, Clark; Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, Morris Plains.

"We hope that others will adopt similar statements," said Dr. Neil V. Hakala, president of Esso Research and Engineering Co., which coordinated the statement. "Open housing is a vital step toward the full cooperation necessary within our society to achieve equal opportunity for all."

Esso drills 'recharge well,' puts water back into ground

An unusual well that puts water into the ground instead of taking it out has been drilled at the Esso Engineering Center in Florham Park. Called a "recharge well," the new facility returns pure water from one of the site's cooling systems deep underground instead of dumping it into a storm drain.

Cooling water for a 100-ton refrigeration compressor at the Esso Engineering Center is drawn from a well on one side of the 687 acre Esso site and, after passing through a heat exchanger, is pumped back into the recharge well a thousand feet away. The volume of water is kept high (about 100 gallons a minute) so that the change in temperature of the water passing through the cooling coils remains low - less than 10 degrees.

The 10-inch diameter well, designed by Elson T. Killam Associates of Millburn and drilled by Layne-New York Company of Linden, will return more than 23 million gallons of water a year to Morris County's underground water supply. Returning the water is expected to help preserve the level of the water table in the Florham Park area.

Morris County Municipal Utilities Authority Executive Director Norman J. Griffiths and Esso engineers point out that the recharge well is both ecologically and economically attractive for industries in the Morris County area.

PEACE CORPS SCREENER — Dr. Sandra Harris, assistant professor of psychology at Douglass College, talks about the Peace Corps with a Douglass student. Dr. Harris, a part-time interviewer with the agency, says the age of volunteers is rising.

Prof at Douglass screening applicants for Peace Corps

The engineer working on road design in Liberia as part of a Peace Corps project is almost as likely to be a professional of thirty as a recent college graduate of twenty-two.

And when his work is done for the day, he is also likely to come home to a wife, who might herself have just returned from teaching in a village school.

The engineer and his working wife are examples of the new kinds of volunteers being attracted to the Peace Corps, says Dr. Sandra Harris, an assistant professor of psychology at Douglass College.

Dr. Harris, who interviews Peace Corps trainees part-time, says more married couples with families, older persons and skilled workers are volunteering for service in a foreign country. In fact, she says, the number of Peace Corps applicants above age 28 has risen in the past two years from six to 21 percent.

Even retired couples are now applying for positions, she explains, when their children - many of them Peace Corps volunteers themselves - have grown up.

Dr. Harris says the increase in age of volunteers is primarily the result of the agency's efforts to recruit older and more skilled persons.

While most volunteers are still drawn from the ranks of recent college graduates, labor unions and other such groups are becoming valuable sources of skilled workers, she says.

SCREENING APPLICANTS for the agency has been a task of the professor since 1967 when, in Brattleboro, Vt., she began evaluating a group of trainees destined for duty in South America.

Her work over the years has included a 12-week stay in West Africa where, as an assessment officer, she conducted interviews of volunteers for work in Sierra Leone.

Extensive interviews of applicants as a screening method has been adopted by the Peace Corps, she notes, replacing the earlier series of tests of such things as vocational interest, sentence completion and personality.

It is felt that interviews to determine whether applicants are ready for life in another culture and whether they know exactly what they are getting into is a more revealing evaluation technique, the psychologist says.

She describes most applicants as "warm, action-oriented people who not only talk about what has to be done, but also do it."

"I really like most of the people I interview," Dr. Harris said.

Many of the applicants are college graduates who haven't decided what they want to do with the rest of their lives and see service abroad as a constructive opportunity to sort out their feelings about the future, she says.

Other reasons, which might well apply to older applicants, include a love of travel and a craving for adventure. "It's a mixed bag of motives," she said.

COMMON PROBLEMS among trainees, she has found, include homesickness and difficulty in adjusting to an entirely different culture.

Many volunteers are further faced with disappointment when the novelty of the new adventure wears off and they are faced with the reality of day-to-day work.

"But in spite of these setbacks," Dr. Harris commented, "the overwhelming majority of people are invited to remain in the program."

She credits the successful screening program with providing trainees who remain interested.

Eager to talk about the Peace Corps in her Douglass classes, Dr. Harris often encourages her students to join the agency. Her Peace Corps job takes her away from classes for a few days each semester, but she returns with new experiences to relate to her students.

In addition to teaching at the women's branch of the State University, she plans to continue research and some therapy work in the psychology clinic on campus.

But one of her far-flung goals, she says, is to live for a while in Liberia, where most of applicants she has interviewed have gone.

"I want to experience life there myself," she said.

NSC profs have works on display

Three instructors from the Fine Arts Department of Newark State College, Union, are showing works of art at the 112 Greene Street Gallery in New York City.

Charles Simonds of Elizabeth is showing sculptural work, one piece consisting of about 2,000 pounds of clay which he has worked with his body into an "aerial landscape." He is also showing various "inhabited and uninhabited miniature ruins" on the window ledges and in the gutters outside the gallery.

David Troy, a resident of Manhattan, is showing several sculptural pieces, of which he says he is "involved with the transformation of our civilization's cast-offs."

Theodisus Victoria of Montclair is showing a projection piece which brings a view of an alley on to a color slide until "some screen in the gallery. This pigeons fly by or some other very 'painterly' piece leads movement occurs." The exhibit, open to the public, will run until July.

Blood bank 'borrowing' saves lives
Statewide system puts plasma where needed

The old adage neither a borrower nor a lender be is being disproved every day by the New Jersey Blood Exchange.
The state's Blood Exchange is operated by the National Clearinghouse program of the American Association of Blood Banks...

Finding the right type for any emergency is a "personal thing" for Mrs. Scudder, the mother of five, who once needed nine pints of blood herself.
Therefore, she doesn't mind being called from lunch or at home if the information she carries on record sheets, but also in her memory, is needed.

The Ortho-Pharmaceutical Division of Johnson & Johnson in Raritan supplied the serum for testing and North Jersey-Essex County Blood Bank was able to supply three pints of the rare blood.
Five more were sent from San Francisco.

Dr. Hess appointed the acting dean of agriculture college

Dr. Charles E. Hess will become acting dean of the College of Agriculture, and Environmental Science, Rutgers University, on July 1, Dr. Mason W. Gross, president of Rutgers, announced this week.
Dr. Hess succeeds Dr. Leland G. Merrill Jr. whose resignation as dean, announced in arch, will take effect July 1.

Eyeglass buyers urged to demand safety lenses

For the next seven months it's still a matter of "let the buyer beware" regarding eyeglasses and sunglasses, warns the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.
The Food and Drug Administration's ruling of May 15 that all glasses must have impact-resistant lenses, the society emphasizes that until Dec. 31, when the regulation goes into effect, it is up to the individual to insist that the glasses he buys are of the safety variety.

Symphony Hall sets up artistic advisory council

The formation of a Symphony Hall Artistic Advisory Council was announced this week by Clarence Reisen, president of the Newark performing arts institution.
The council will be made up of persons closely connected with the performing arts in New Jersey, Reisen said.

Unified Newark; Fred Daniell, director of the Garden State Ballet; Raul Davila, who runs Davila Productions and Advertising Services in Newark; Teddy Powell, promoter of rock, pop and soul shows at Symphony Hall; Benson E. Snyder, manager of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra; and Ronnie Williams, promoter of gospel shows at the Hall.

The program has accomplished the objectives. At present there are 20 hospitals which are members of the Exchange.
The four community blood bank members represent numerous other hospitals. The North Jersey-County Blood Bank alone serves the blood needs of 35 hospital in Essex, Union and Passaic counties.

Lowest road fatality rate reported by Turnpike

The New Jersey Turnpike, with the best all-accident rate of all major toll roads in the nation, has widened its lead in traffic safety.
Statistics compiled by the National Safety Council show the New Jersey Turnpike now has also the lowest fatality rate of all those roads reporting for the first quarter of 1971.

Prof. Fritz joins bicentennial unit

Professor John H. Fritz, Fairleigh Dickinson University's authority on the American Revolution, has been appointed to the Morris County American Revolution Bicentennial Committee.
The committee will plan and carry out observances in Morris County and New Jersey in connection with the celebration of the 200th anniversary of America's independence.

Brokers plan meeting

The annual meeting of the Insurance Brokers Association of New Jersey will be held at the Essex & Sussex Hotel, Spring Lake, on Thursday, June 24. W. Morgan Schumake, N. J. deputy insurance commissioner, will be the speaker.

A fatter chance for survival
Some clues about cholesterol

Many Americans are aware that if they eat foods low in cholesterol they may retard the process of hardening of the arteries and reduce their risk of heart attack and stroke. But few know what cholesterol is and what it does. Cholesterol is not all bad. In proper amounts, it is in fact involved in a number of functions vital to body health, says the Union County Heart Association.

A fat-like chemical substance, cholesterol is found in every living animal cell, reaching its highest concentration in the cells of the central nervous system. Not all of its roles are clear, but this chemical is known to be essential to the proper architecture of the cell membrane. As such it presumably plays a key role in regulating what gets in and out of the cell. It is also the forerunner of a number of other agents including the sex and adrenal hormones.

What makes cholesterol such a potential biological bugaboo, says the Union County Heart Association, is that an excess amount of it in the blood may increase susceptibility to heart attack. There's a lot of evidence that when there is an excess of cholesterol it piles up in the coronary arteries (along with other fatty substances) and can reduce or shut off blood flow to the heart muscle. Result: Heart attack.

The body also makes cholesterol and the amount made apparently depends on the kinds of fat we eat. Animal or saturated fats tend to increase cholesterol levels in the blood. Presumably they spur the liver to manufacture more of it. Polyunsaturated fats (such as those found in corn oil, cottonseed oil, soybean oil and sunflower oil) tend to decrease cholesterol levels.

The Union County Heart Association suggests that diets be modified to keep the intake of cholesterol within bounds.

Program needs teen volunteers

Mrs. Harold W. Maier of 175 Parkview dr., Union, is urging boys and girls 15 and older to participate in the summer volunteer youth program sponsored by the Eastern Union County Chapter, American Red Cross. Mrs. Maier is chairman of the chapter's blood program. Blood aides are especially needed, and a training session in that field is scheduled for Tuesday, June 29, in the chapter house, 203 W. Jersey st., Elizabeth, with Mrs. Alice Cosgrove, a nurse with the Greater New York Blood Program, as the instructor. Registrants are advised to bring sandwiches for lunch. Summer blood banks are slated for July 7 at the Bristol-Myers plant, Hillside; Aug. 2 at the S.E. & M. Vernon Co., Elizabeth, and July 12 and Aug. 9 at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth.

The course also is open to adults. Summer volunteers in addition may serve as clerical assistants and telephone switchboard operators at the Red Cross headquarters.

Youths to join program for study of watershed

A watershed study program, aimed at creating an awareness of the environment among young people, will be initiated Monday by the State Soil Conservation Committee, in cooperation with several other state, county and local agencies.

The project will continue through Aug. 27 and will involve about 50 youths, 14 older, from 4-H and other groups from Hunterdon, Mercer, Middlesex and Somerset Counties.

Volkswagen announces a new kind of Volkswagen. Big.

Who'd ever believe it? A Volkswagen that's big. And looks like a regular car. And has four big doors. And more room and comfort than you've ever seen in a Volkswagen. And more power and acceleration than you've ever had in a Volkswagen. And more features as standard equipment than you'd ever expect in a big car. Like an automatic transmission. Radial tires. Front disc brakes. Electronic fuel injection. Rear-window defroster. And more. Yes, after all these years, you can buy a big car as good as our little car. The 411 Volkswagen 4-Door sedan. For only $2999.* You know what? You just ran out of excuses for not buying a Volkswagen.

*Suggested retail price. Local taxes and other dealer delivery charges, if any, additional.
