Regional board rejects effort to switch school bus costs

By ANNE GOLD
An effort to add some $26,000 in school bus costs from the Regional High School Board of Education to several of its municipalities failed July 1 when the board at the Regional school board meeting Tuesday night at A. Johnson Regional High School.

The motion was presented by Mrs. Sonya Dorsey of Springfield, who said that the money is being passed to bus students who live closer than 2 1/2 miles from their schools. By this way, buses must be provided for high school students living more than 2 1/2 miles from their schools, with 70 percent of the cost paid by the district.

During of youngsters living closer than the 2 1/2 mile limit is permitted when the board decides there are hazardous conditions—but $26,000 is board expense.

Mrs. Dorsey noted that the board, however, may have the municipalities concerned pay the cost of the bus used because of local conditions.

She said that the board will spend for short-distance busing in the secondary school years. Mountainside, Springfield, Kenilworth, Hill 1900, Nottingham, Basking Ridge, 32,225, Kenilworth.

nothing Garwood, nothing, and Clark, $32,225. Manual Diego of Clark, expressing strong opposition to the proposed change. "If we turn over part of our responsibilities to the municipalities, that will only be the beginning."

John Condit of Garwood added, "This will only lead to the further fragmentation of the district. There are those in this district who would like to see no break up."

John-Cullen of Clark stated, "It is hard to understand how we should allocate to outsiders what we desire for our own children."

In a range of parliamentary procedure, the motion was first tabled for study by the board and then removed from the table and finally denied, six to three.

Speaking for the measure were Mrs. Dorsey and Mrs. Natalie Walk of Springfield and Dr. Minor C. K. Jones of Mountainside. Voting against were Charles Schlegelmeyer of Kenilworth, Doug Collins, Conita and Edwin Little and Dr. Fred Hagdon of Berkeley Heights. Hagdon is board president.

HAGEDORN REPORTS that the board has received 90 applications from 21 states for the position of superintendent of schools, which will be filled this summer. He said that the applicants are now being screened and that the board will then select an interview list.

The board adopted a resolution commending the achievement of the Warren Davis who will retire at the end of this month after 15 years as superintendent. He will become a consultant.

Five Joseph Dayton Regional High School students have won opportunities to take part in science honors programs at several of the top colleges and universities in the East. It was announced this week.

Penalties raised in an effort to stop flooding of streams

Assemblyman Robert H. Klein of District 16 has been successful in having his bill 1A-192, enacted into law in the effort to alleviate flooding conditions along New Jersey's streams. The bill raises the penalties for unauthorized structures, which prevent free flow of water, within the return and high-water marks of any stream.

The bill was signed by Gov. William T. Cahill after the Assembly had voted, 50-2, to pass the Railway Legislator's measure.

The new legislation, which went into effect immediately, provides a minimum fine of $250 per day. The fine can be graduated to more than $2,000 when parties responsible for unauthorized structures fail to comply with the state law concerning removal. Directives are issued by the State Bureau of Water Resources with referral to the State Water Policy Council and, eventually, to the attorney general's office for court action and imposition of fines.

The bill originally amended Title 83, Chapters 1-26, whereby the maximum fine was $500 per day with no minimum stipulated. The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Klein at the request of the Railway Citizens for Flood Control. It would have raised the fines to a minimum of $500 per day.

The original bill was approved by the Assembly but was rejected by the Senate which suggested it be amended to $250 a day. It passed both houses of the Legislature.

Three of the students were among 192 chosen from more than 1,000 young men and women representing 110 schools in the metropolitan area to participate in the Columbia University resident honors program for the 1971-72 academic year.

All Springfield residents, they are Michael Prisman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Prisman of 31 Morris ave., Daniel A. Gackler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gackler of 62 Country Club lane, and Jonathan Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shady 36 of Shalkey rd. Gackler and Fisher will be sophomores next year. Prisman will be a junior.

The program is supported by the National Science Foundation, Columbia endowments and contributions. They will attend classes on Saturdays and receive advanced instruction in science and mathematics. The subjects will cover a range of physical, biological, behavioral and computer sciences. Projects will be supervised by faculty members.

The program is an attempt to give bright students with a strong interest in science a unique exposure to topics not normally encountered in high school," Barclay said. Prisman, who will be local president of the National Honor Society next year, has also been named to take part in the program in biochemistry this summer at the Loomis School in Windsor, Conn.

Last year, another Joseph Dayton student, David M. Hart, participated in the program. Paul J. Rubinfeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rubinfeld of 73 Redwood rd., a senior next year, has been picked by the Stevens Institute of Technology to take part in its summer student science training program. The program offers advanced study in mathematics and computer programming for high ability high school students. It is sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Workshops being held for teachers in summer

Teachers in the Union County Regional High School District saw in clear summer weather a series of workshops that range from environmental education to evaluating the needs of the slow learner in the classroom.

The in-service sessions, all designed to further develop the curriculum in the four high schools, are being held at the David Brewster Regional High School in Keelworth. The topics to be discussed include: "The slow learner through the course curriculum," Louise George Barclay, science coordinator.

"The objectives of the workshop are developing resources materials for teacher use. If a social studies teacher wants to do projects on polio, the medical information will be there to enhance the theoretical. This goes for all subjects, such as math, science and even mathematics," Barclay said.

Environmental studies action groups in Clark and Springfield are also taking part in the workshop. Besides preparing a bibliography of materials, the participants will review films and other study environmental programs.

David Carl, Title I director, is leading an eight-week workshop that includes elementary and secondary school teachers of the slow learner in a cooperative teacher training and curriculum development program. This is the fourth such summer workshop and it is financially funded.

The workshop will also involve the involvement of instruction in reading, math and science for selected Regional District and Garwood elementary school students and intensive psychological testing and evaluation of selected students in the program.

Other objectives of the workshop, according to Carl, is to discuss and evaluate studies dealing with the slow learner, to review and evaluate available materials for the slow learner at the elementary level, to develop reading skills in math and science on the sixth grade level and to aid the elementary teachers involved in the selection of appropriate materials for the slow learner.

About 25 teachers, including incoming sixth graders from Garwood and Keelworth, are taking part.

"We see this as a cooperative venture in solving these students with special problems in adjusting to a high school environment," Carl said.

Another series of humanities programs, being in greater depth, is being planned in a workshop directed by Edward Brown, music teacher and coordinator. This summer's activities included some 20 district faculty members in the areas of English, social studies, science, art, drama and music.

Successful year for school system, Hanigan declares

The 1970-71 school year was successful, according to Dr. B. Hanigan, Mountainide's superintendent of schools, in his final message for the year.

He said:

"The 1970-71 school year has finally drawn to a close and, in retrospect, it has been a good year for the children. Our programs have moved along nicely, and our test results, coupled with positive teacher reactions, indicate good to excellent student progress."

He went on to thank those who have been especially supportive and cooperative. Their involvement in the work of their children has been an important factor in the program. Education is truly a cooperative project between the home and the school, and responsibility must be accepted by both.

"My thanks to the PTA also are certainly in order. As usual, the fair is an outstanding feature of the year's program. I am always astounded by the amount of work and the number of people involved in the preparation of the fair. Each year a great event on the PTA for supporters of the school effort, and the guidance, these have all been provided in generous amounts and I am truly appreciative."

He also thanked a large number of other individuals and groups who have provided substantial amounts of money and other resources for the school system.

There are nineteen million ex-cigarette smokers in the United States; each in five adult men in this country has dropped the habit.

Those who give up cigarettes report a great sense of satisfaction, of tremendous pride in being able to do it. To learn a new way of living, a way without cigarette smoking, is very rewarding to the ego—and to the ego's mate.

you can kick the Habit.

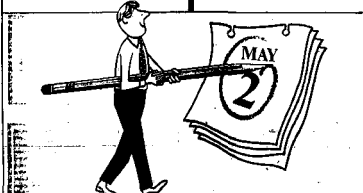

As You Approach Q Day

Many stress withdrawal as the distress factor in giving up cigarettes. For the future bear in mind that you can manage them on your own in a few days. They enjoy challenging themselves and, with an effort of will, they have the cigarette habit.

This is a mistake, since many smokers fail at their first and second, even their fifth attempt. But these many "successes" have failed. It's all in breaking the habit, not in work but in effort. This approach may be less through other means and more through relaxing one's behavior with patience and persistence.

Self-suggestion, when used in a relaxed, aimed at changing one's feelings and thoughts about cigarettes, can be helpful. One health educator remarked recently, "nothing succeeds like withdrawal and a little blood in the system."

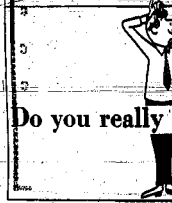

One health educator remarked recently, "nothing succeeds like withdrawal and a little blood in the system." One health educator remarked recently, "nothing succeeds like withdrawal and a little blood in the system."

Try Cutting Down...

Important first step in the process of giving up cigarettes for many smokers is to cut the date of Q Day, when you are going to stop completely, and, as it approaches, gradually reduce the number of cigarettes you smoke, day by day, by week by week.

Use the left hand. Is your custom to rest the cigarette in the right corner of the mouth? Try the left side. Make a real effort to get a cigarette. Wrap your package in several sheets of paper or place it in a tightly covered box. If you leave your package at home you won't be able to use a cigarette machine. Shift from cigarettes you like to a cigarette that has a taste you like to smoke. "Do you really want to quit smoking?" "Do you really want that cigarette or are you just going out of empty habit?" A smoker may find an unlighted cigarette in the mouth is helpful. Observe your handling and playing with a cigarette. Cigarette smoking is a habit that is usually very well learned—learning the habit of not smoking can be difficult. It can help at treating into your habit chain to make yourself aware of the nature and frequency of your smoking habit.

Do you really want this cigarette

100,000 doctors have quit smoking cigarettes

you can quit, too!

Do You Believe In "Cold Turkey" Quitting?

Yes, for some, no, for others. If you are a "cold-turkey" smoker, psychologists favor the sudden, decisive break.

For some, gradual withdrawal is less painful and more satisfactory.

Some cigarette smokers still get pipes and cigars—there is of course some kind of snuff cancer from these but over-all mortality of cigar and pipe smokers is only a little higher than among nonsmokers. If the smoke is not inhaled.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

What about going to a cigarette withdrawal clinic?

If there is a clinic in progress in your community, you may find it useful. The American Cancer Society favors such offers.

Sharing your withdrawal experience with others and working with them on a common problem can be very helpful. The clinic may make it considerably easier in various ways to stop cigarette smoking.

Should I make a Big Thing Of Q-Day?

Some find it most satisfactory to work on a schedule in which on this quitting day, they stop for an hour, then on the following day, they stop for a longer period, and so on until they reach their goal.

Others who have known Q-Day long time that

Keep A Track Record

Many smokers have found that a careful step in understanding their smoking is the keeping of a daily record. You can take this before you begin. In your greatest withdrawal you may decide to eliminate those daily cigarettes that you find are most 1, 2, or 3 on the scale. It, once you want to quit.

On the way you give up first the cigarettes you like most. In any case keeping a smoking log will give you information about yourself, make you aware of when your smoking habits are

SCORE CARD

Some cigarettes are more important to you than others. This record will show you how much you smoke during each hour and how much each cigarette is a scale of 1 (one puff) to 10 (10 puffs). A check mark means 2 indicates to be used.

- ### Approach has a 100% success rate in cigarette smoking
1. List the reasons you should quit smoking.
 2. Select Q Day—change to low tar and low tar cigarettes.
 3. Chart your smoking habit for at least two weeks, how many cigarettes, when the most and least important.
 4. Repeat each night at least one of your reasons for not smoking cigarettes.
 5. Eliminate one category of cigarettes, the most of the last desired.

THE WEEK BEFORE Q-DAY

Think over your list of reasons why you should not smoke: the risk of disease, the blurring of the taste of food, the cost, the cough, the bad breath, the mess and smell of morning-after ashtrays.

Concentrate each evening when you are relaxed, just before you fall asleep, on one dreadful result of cigarette smoking. Repeat and repeat and repeat that single fact. Drive home another fact the next night and another the next.

Review the facts that you know about the risks of cigarette smoking. Remind yourself that there, but for the grace of God go you, that you may indeed if you continue smoking, lose six and a half years of life, that—if you are a heavy smoker—your chances of dying between 25 and 65 years of age are twice as great as those of the nonsmoker. Are the six minutes of pleasure to a heavy smoker in a cigarette worth six fewer minutes of life? Would you fly in an airplane if the chances of crash and death were even close to the risks of cigarette smoking? Think over why it is that (100,000 physicians have quit cigarette smoking.

How About Anxieties?

One school of thought says, do you have a lot of anxieties? This is the key to your success. This means that you are not smoking cigarettes, anything that might remove a smoker of his former habit.

Another school of thought says a different view and even suggest carrying cigarettes to demonstrate to yourself that you can resist temptation. "Quit for good!"

Will I Gain Weight?

Yes, you do. From a habit of smoking cigarettes, many lose. And your appetite may be better and stronger.

During the first few weeks of giving up cigarettes, some people gain weight. This is because they are eating well, drinking well, enjoying their food, and are relaxing and smiling.

Some people, though, do not gain weight. In fact, they gain weight. They are eating well, drinking well, and are relaxing and smiling. They are eating well, drinking well, and are relaxing and smiling.

How About Hypnosis?

It is helpful in stopping smoking, but not necessary. Why not discuss the matter with a physician, if you are interested?

Will I See My Physician? YES

However, the problem is yours, not his, and he may not feel that he can help you. He may not feel that he can help you. He may not feel that he can help you.

Physicians in a profession have been leaders in pointing out the risks of cigarette smoking. The Public Health Service estimates that 100,000 physicians (half of the physicians who were once cigarette smokers) have kicked the habit. A California study shows that only 21.3 percent of all physicians in the state are cigarette smokers now.

Why Do So Many People Smoke Cigarettes?

Surely one reason is that the cigarette industry spends about $100,000,000 a year in promoting the habit and in challenging the fact that scientists have proved that pipes to the dangers of the habit. Another reason is that the cigarette industry has a tremendous public support and may persuade medication. This industry, also, in suggesting a diet which will prevent you from gaining too much weight.

Cigarette smoking is essentially a 20th century habit, encouraged by war, by brilliant advertising, and by the development of remarkably efficient automatic machinery that produces 400,000 millions of round, finely packed cigarettes.

It is only within the last 15 years that we have learned, through research pioneered by the American Cancer Society, that this personal and socially accepted habit is a seriously dangerous. Cigarette smoking is deeply embedded in our life, agriculture, industry, government, the communications media, has a special history, it is held widely, even though proven to be a most certain hazard to health.

Because promotion is important in maintaining the habit's popularity, the Society believes that cigarette advertising in all media should be controlled. We hope that the goal will be to ban it voluntarily and that the government will legislate the way.

6. Secure a supply of substitutes such as a pipe or an inhalant.
7. On the Q Day, when you are going to stop completely, gradually reduce the number of cigarettes you smoke, day by day, by week by week.
8. If you are a heavy smoker, your chances of dying between 25 and 65 years of age are twice as great as those of the nonsmoker.
9. Review the facts that you know about the risks of cigarette smoking.

Dr. Sirvan Tomkins distinguishes four general types of smoking behavior. An abbreviated summary of the types follows

Four Smoking Styles

Habitual Smoking:

Here the smoker may hardly be aware that he has a cigarette in his mouth. He smokes as if it were his first puff of food, or his first puff of water. He may once have regarded smoking as an important sign of manhood. The habitual smoker who goes to the habit of smoking as if it were his first puff of food, or his first puff of water to get more than a few minutes of water to quench thirst. Knowledge of the position of the smoking is a first step towards change.

Positive Affect Smoking:

Here the smoker enjoys the pleasure of the habit to enlighten his eyes, at the end of a meal. Here a youngster demonstrates his manhood or his ability of his parents. This smoker may enjoy most the handling of the pipe or the sense and delight of smoke curling out of his mouth. If these smokers can be persuaded to give up the habit, they may find giving up cigarettes a relief.

Negative Affect Smoking:

This is addictive smoking, using the habit to remove feelings of distress, fear, shame, or disgust on any combination of them. This person may smoke to get more than a few minutes of water to quench thirst. Knowledge of the position of the smoking is a first step towards change.

Addictive Smoking:

Here the smoker is always aware that he is not smoking. The habit of a cigarette binds him, and he smokes as if it were his first puff of food, or his first puff of water. This increasing need is the expression that a cigarette will reduce discomfort—and the pleasure of smoking is reduced. The habit of smoking is a first step towards change.

Quaker isn't peaceful Parakeet variety, that is

Want to buy a parakeet? Don't buy a Quaker parakeet, warn officials of Turtle Back Zoo in West Orange.

As part of its informational program concerning which animals or birds make good pets, Zoo officials alert parents that Quaker parakeets are not unsatisfactory as pets, but also may cause a problem for inmates if they escape.

Quaker parakeets are large, about 11 inches long, green with gray face, head and chest and a fine scalloping through the gray. Their tail is long and pointed.

Zoo director Richard Ryan suggested that there are 300 other species of parrots which would make better pets including the standard small parakeet, which can be purchased for $3 and up in pet and variety stores. The Quaker parakeet costs $10 to $20, he said.

"It is almost inevitable that a pet such as a Quaker parakeet will escape," Ryan said, "and when they do, it means trouble."

"Quaker parakeets have a loud, screechy squawk. If two escape within miles they find each other. A single flock of 25 was sighted in the Millstone Valley last fall. A flock that size can reproduce a tremendous number and cause vast damage to grain fields or fruit orchards. They will not tolerate of material. Farmers are not yet aware of this problem and might, when finding their crops disappearing, launch an extermination campaign which could be harmful to native birds," he explained.

"As pets, Quaker parakeets are noisy, messy, they bite and they are easy to train," Ryan added.

The Zoo director wishes to discourage chain stores from purchasing Quaker parakeets and specifically asked that legislators consider creating laws which would make it illegal to import these birds.

Quaker parakeets are imported from South America, where they have lived in southern temperate zones. They breed well in U.S. climates from New York State south. Ryan said. He compared a possible parakeet problem with the starling history, pointing out that 100 starlings from Europe were released in Central Park, New York in 1900 and that there are now "upwards of 7 million of these birds in a single roost at a single location."

"The parakeet problem could become like the starling problem in Australia," Ryan said. "The standard small parakeet is a much more satisfactory pet," Ryan said. "It is happy; talks better, is less inclined to bite, is more trainable and breeds easily in captivity."

Schlenger testifies at Senate hearings

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Donald S. Schlenger, president of the Automotive Parts and Accessories Association and president of Roub-Schlenger, Inc. of Union, N.J., operating in 12 States and Canada, testified today at the first week of certain features of a proposed "Auto Information Act" before a Senate subcommittee on the floor of the U.S. Senate.

Schlenger's testimony, which was warmly supported by Senator Hart and the committee staff, received the bill's aims and strongly suggested that the bill's mandate for standards for vehicles-in-use was essential to achieve consumer confidence in the validity of inspection criteria.

The measure would require that certification be obtained from inspectors deriving no profit from parts or service sales. One of the bill's sponsors, Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) has suggested that the centers in which this certification is obtainable also be used for their own motor vehicle inspection programs.

Tryouts set by Revelers

The Rotmanok, president of the Revelers Dramatic Club, 166 Irving St., Hudson County, announced this week that open tryouts will be conducted for roles in "The Pirates of Penzance" and "The Pirates of Penzance."

The tryouts will be held on Tuesday, July 6, and Wednesday, July 7, at the Revelers Playhouse at 8 p.m. Readings will be conducted by Norman Wallerstein of Teaneck, who will direct.

The adventure tale was written by Reveler Members Dottie and Michael Jordan of Maplewood. It has won three national and international award contests.

Costumes will be made by Mrs. Edward Levine of Linden.

Any PTA, nursery group or other club wishing to raise money may call Mrs. Levine at 353-0714 for further information and bookings.

Old temple to be rebuilt

A 2,000-year-old Egyptian temple, believed to have been a shrine of the goddess Isis, is now waiting for reconstruction in the courtyard of a museum in the Dutch city of Leiden.

The temple came from the village of Faiyum on the banks of the Nile river in Upper Egypt. The village has disappeared beneath the waters of the lake created by the Aswan High Dam. But the temple, built about the time of the Roman emperor Augustus who brought Egypt under his authority in 30 B.C., has been in Leiden since 1868.

In 1960, it was dismantled into 67 blocks, weighing 500 tons, and stored in a factory-look-alike on the Elphingen island in the Nile. There, the friable blocks of red sandstone were carefully packed and crated, and in October 1969 they started on a three-month journey, first down the Nile to Alexandria, then by freighter to Rotterdam.

National Guard praised for community projects

New Jersey Army and Air National Guard units during the past two years have completed a variety of volunteer community action projects.

The civilian-soldiers and airmen were recently honored by the Department of Defense for their achievements and their continuing efforts in support of community assistance projects.

Revealing his pleasure in the performance of the Jersey Guard, Major General William R. Sharp, chief of staff, New Jersey Department of Defense, said, "The recognition afforded the New Jersey National Guard for its record of community service is certainly a credit to the many Guardsmen who participated in the various programs." He added, "None of the previous activities, however, was as ambitious or challenging as is the summer camp for boys, recently inaugurated by Governor Cahill. General Sharp referred to the four-week resident summer camp to be held at the Sea Girt Training Center beginning the last week of July. Five hundred boys aged 10 to 15 will be selected to participate by community groups from various parts of the State. The program calls for supervised athletics, arts and crafts and other recreational activities.

In an effort to improve the image of the National Guard, the Governor placed the primary responsibility for much of the planning and supervision of the camp directly on the military organizations. Billings, feeding, transportation, scheduling activities are now being given consideration by members of General Sharp's staff.

Pencil firms aiding safety

WAYNE, Pa. — The board of directors of the Pencil Manufacturers Association Inc., representing manufacturers of 90 per cent of the wood-cased pencils sold in the United States, has authorized, by unanimous vote, the immediate development of a voluntary program to certify the health standards of wood-cased pencils.

The action will provide a certification mark to all manufacturers using liquid, oil wood-cased pencils which have been tested and proved to conform to the American National Standard. The American National Standard specifies the application to minimize the hazards to children from the inhalation of dust particles coating pencils.

Manlio Wallace III, president of the Wallace Pencil Co. of Lewis and Clark, Inc., and president of the Wallace Pencil Co. of Lewis and Clark, Inc., said, "Although we believe that all wood-cased pencils now on the market are safe, we are creating a certification program to eliminate public concern. As pencil manufacturers, we care deeply about health standards for our products and are determined to do everything in our power as an industry to reassure the parents of America that pencils are safe."

If I hadn't been nagged into getting a checkup, I'd be kicking up daisies.

The toughest fight I ever had didn't happen on any big, wide screen. It happened in real life.

I was just finishing my 99th picture. My 99th ridin', jumpin', fightin' picture. Never felt better in my life.

I told the family when I'm through here, I'm going out on my boat. Sure, they said, just as soon as you've had your medical checkup. I said nonsense, I had one eight months ago. They said it was more like eighteen.

So I said okay, okay, I went to my doctor and the chest X-rays showed a spot on my lungs. It was cancer. If I'd waited a few more weeks, I'd be dead.

The first couple of months after surgery, it hurt like hell to get on my horse. Since then I've been good as new. If you caught "True Grit" or "Chisum" you've seen for yourself.

So, friend, I know what I'm talking about when I tell you, get a checkup. Nag someone you love into getting a checkup.

And when the lady from the American Cancer Society rings your doorbell, dig deep in your pocket. They're working to rid this world of cancer once and for all.

Because no two people are exactly alike, retirement means something different to each individual. Some people plan for it; others react to it. A few try to fight it. Others try to "escape" or try to delay a complete retirement policy. With few exceptions, most everyone finds, after a time, that retirement is a good time of life.
Regardless of how one goes through the retirement maze, he will discover the benefits of Medicare, pension plans and Social Security. He will also discover the advantages of cultivating new friends and new interests.
New friends are best when they have interests completely apart from one's former job or occupation. Interests may be allied or completely different. One of the pleasures of retirement lies in the opportunity to try things one has never tried, before, or to give more time to a favorite hobby or activity.
Those who have retired successfully say the best insurance is advance planning. "The one big "no-no" is worry. Don't worry about retirement, if you haven't made the proper plans, evaluate your situation and decide what needs to be done.
Retirement is a long run and it is never too late to live these years as you like them.

Comfortably.

Photogray glasses stay right with the light. Outdoors when it's sunny, they darken to a flattering gray that never fades your eyes. Indoors again, they clear to provide you a near colorless tone. Smoothly, automatically, comfortably. Coming with the glass. Come in and ask about a pair made for your eyes.

Fox now offering 'Love Story' and the tears continue to flow

BY BEA SMITH

When Eric Segal's tearfully sentimental novel "Love Story" hit the book shelves, there was a mad rush to purchase the book because every one was rushing to see the movie, "Love Story." The same people who cried when they read the novel are crying to see the movie, "Love Story," for another sobbing good time. The picture, which is currently being screened at the Fox Theater on Rte. 2 in Union, is extremely faithful to the book—perhaps because

Segal helped to write the script. Ryan O'Neal (the Rocky Harrington of television's "Feynman Feltner"), whose practically-juvenile face bears all the bearing in the role, young and old, plays the part of very VERY rich young man from Harvard University, who rejects his wealth, returns to communicate with his father and marries a "poor" girl from Radcliff (Sachse). The picture, which is currently being screened at the Fox Theater on Rte. 2 in Union, is extremely faithful to the book—perhaps because

'Putney Swope' opens at Ormont

"Putney Swope," a film comedy satire by Robert Downey, who takes a look at the black-white background of contemporary society, opened yesterday at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, on a double bill with "Trash."

"Putney" stars Arnold Johnson and Laura Green and a bag cast of bizarre characters. "Trash," a mixture of outrageous parody and real truth concerning the lower depths of the suburban "New World" of self-entitled bores, was filmed in London and directed by Paul Morrissey. The cast includes Jo Dalasinio, Holly Woodlawn and Jane Fonda.

'Lawrence' opens in Roselle Park

The Park Theater in Roselle Park is featuring an Academy Award-winning picture, "Lawrence of Arabia." The picture, which is among the most massive and majestic films ever made, is a gigantic epic based on "Seven Pillars of Wisdom."

The military drama of the "revolt in the desert" that took place during the Turkish Empire during World War I, also tells the personal story of an elusive, mysterious colonial young Englishman who led the revolt. Colin O'Keefe, Alec Guinness, Anthony Quinn, Jack Hawkins, Anthony Quayle, Omar Sharif lead the cast of thousands. The picture is directed by David Lean. The picture, which was photographed in color.

Death is the Hitchhiker DRIVE SAFELY

DON'T BREAK UP YOUR-

Family trips are fun, so let everyone help plan the excursion. And remember, driving safely makes vacation time and summer weekends more enjoyable. Dad's the pilot, but it's only fair that some of his crew pitch in for a safe trip by checking to see safety belts are buckled and to watch for traffic problems and signs on the highways.

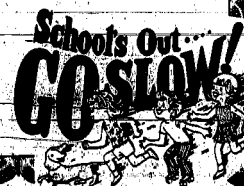

The family can help with directions, too, so Dad won't be map reading while driving.

Before you leave, double-check tires, brakes, steering. Be sure your engine is in tip-top shape. When you're on your way, take it easy, drive carefully, obey the rules of the road. Take safe driving along, wherever you go.

Follow the Road to Fun
This Summer by Driving Safely,
Carefully, Courteously
