Failure to appoint principal brings protest from parents

The principalship - or rather, the lack of one at the Deerfield Elementary School was the issue brought before the Mountainside Board of Education by a group of irate parents Tuesday

The borough residents, among approximately 70 who turned out for the board's irst meeting of the school year, held in the Deerfield cafeteria, questioned the ability of Dr. Levin B. Hanigan himself admitted during the meeting that the school would operate more efficiently with full-time principals for both the elementary and middle

The problem at the K-5 section has arisen since the resignation earlier this year of Principal Donald Rath. Later, Hanigan was named acting principal. and both he and Brown, assisted by Allan Shapiro, were designated as building administrative

At present Hanigan must split his time between his office at Deerfield and the one at Echobrook, a situation which has resulted in a communications problem between parents and the school. Those who have tried to contact children or teachers in the elementary facility must go through the middle school first, since no phone is in the elementary office. Hanigan reported one will be installed next week, but a motion to hire temporary help to man the phone failed on a tie vote, to win approval of the

THE NOVEMBER CANDIDATES

PROFILE—Ralph Oriscello

As Union County sheriff, Ralph Oriscello has as his main concern the operation of the jail at the Elizabeth courthouse complex. During his campaign for re-election, the Democrat will be speaking out, as he has in the past, for improved facilities and more staff.

Oriscello has had little luck in his efforts for expansion or modernization at the jail, which he says "is a monstrosity." Last year county voters rejected a referendum to build a $30 million courthouse addition which would have included a new jail, county prosecutor's offices and probation offices.

"We do not have enough men to patrol each floor," said the sheriff. "And the jail is inhumane. Have you seen the detention cells? If a man is an aggressive homosexual or otherwise dangerous, we have to keep him isolated. But how can you throw a man into dungeons like those and expect to rehabilitate

Although the facilities at the jail are limited, Oriscello works hard to improve conditions. In 1961 he inaugurated a library program in cooperation with the Elizabeth Public Library. The most popular books among inmates, he said, are volumes on law, government and U.S. history. In late 1963 a dental program was started with equipment valued at $8,000 donated by the widow of a dentist. Drug addiction programs were started in 1963, too, with a psychiatrist and psychiatric social worker available for counseling. There is also an Alcoholics Anonymous program for inmates at the jail, started under Oriscello's guidance.

ORISCELLO ALSO MUST heed the needs of correction officers as well as the inmates to insure a smoothly functioning county jail, where most inmates are housed pending court hearings or for short jail sentences. Various courses, from investigation techniques and firearms training to narcotics seminars and first aid have been attended by correctional officers (and courtroom attendants who are also members of the sheriff's department) during Oriscello's tenure in office.

Oriscello, a native of Elizabeth, attended schools in that city, graduating from Battin High School—when it was still coeducational—in 1928. He attended Newark Technical School as a civil engineering student from 1928 to 1930. He joined the Elizabeth Police Department in 1934 and was promoted to sergeant in 1943. Four years later he was named a lieutenant and he was raised to the rank of captain in 1952, He was appointed deputy chief in 1956 and on many occasions served as acting chief. He was first elected sheriff in 1959 and was reelected as a Democrat in 1962, 1965, 1968 and 1971. As a member of the Elizabeth Police Department he assisted in the organization of the internal security division and was liaison officer from the division to the FBI and Army and Navy intelligence during World War II. He handled sabotage, espionage and illegal entry investigations. He also organized the night detective bureau for the Elizabeth police, which provided immediate investigations, surveillances and other detective duty between 7 p.m. and 3 a.m. Oriscello worked in all units of the Elizabeth force-patrol, desk, traffic, juvenile, detective, identification and rec

The law enforcement official has taken special courses at the Delehanty Institute in New York and has studied internal security with the FBI, bomb reconnaisance with the Army, juvenile problems at Rutgers University, delinquency and crime at St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y., and human relations at the Bayway Community Center in Elizabeth. Bond issue plans do little for Union, McDonough says

State Senator Peter J. McDonough says Gov Brendan Byrne's proposed $200 million transportation bond issue "is in desperate trouble" because of what he called an inequitable distribution formula. The bond issue will appear on the general election ballot this November if it clears legislative hurdles next

"I will actively campaign against this bond issue if major changes are not made in the distribution formula." McDonough said 'Union County would receive less than one percent of the proceeds although we have nearly eight percent of the population and major highway problems that deserve at-

McDonough said he will meet with Department of Transportation officials next week to outline his proposals to make the bond issue to Union County voters. McDonough is a member of the Senate Committee on Transportation and was chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee in "The distribution formula presently in the bill would give Middlesex County $27 million, Cape May $11.5 million, Gloucester $14 million and Union County less than $1.6 million," McDonough said. "The projects planned for the funds ignore our major problems of improvements to the Westfield traffic circle and intersections of North and South Avenues, improvements of the Bayway circle at Elizabeth and the major problems experienced along Rt. 22." McDonough said he expects Union County's other two senators, Democrats Alexander Menza and Thomas Dunn, to oppose the bond issue in its present form.

The bond issue bill, sponsored by Senator John Horn of Camden County, includes $600,000 for bridge widening near Pingry School, nearly $300,000 for general bridge repairs in Union County and funds for improvements to the Route 27 bridge over the Elizabeth River. Also included is some minor resurfacing of Rt. 22 in_

"The voters of Union County will never favor incurring a $200 million increase in the state debt when so many major highway problems have been ignored," he said. "The master plan for transportation prepared by the Union County Planning Board was obviously disregarded by the planners of this legislation," McDonough added.

The days of free land in America are now over. The free land window has been shut in Alaska. Until this spring an aspiring sodbuster could stake out 160 acres of public land in the 49th state under the Homestead Act of 1862.

Now the Federal Government has officially ended the free land era by withdrawing 15,000,000 acres from the public domain in Alaska, the last state to offer homesteads Future studies will determine whether the land will be turned into state or federal parks. forests, or wildlife management systems.

Few were tempted by the remaining acreage. Most of it was located on remote. rocky tundra lands more than 100 miles from the nearest roads. Temperatures in the area range from 70 degrees F. in summer to minus 60 degrees F. in the cold, dark winter months.

"Turning off the free land spigot will save a lot of heartbreak," predicted a land expert in Anchorage, "Those who came up here had no idea_of_what_they_were_getting_into._It_was almost impossible to farm any of that land. They arrived with stars in their eyes and ended up on the welfare rolls.'

But early homesteaders played an important part in the development of Alaska.

First homesteaded in 1915, the state's Matanuska Valley once was an inhospitable scrub land. It now provides most of Alaska's farm income and contains more than half its

The valley drew nationwide attention during the great depression of the 1930's, when the Federal Government assisted 202 Midwestern farm families in starting new lives as pioneers on the land. The settlers had a hard time at first, and some gave up and went home. But those who stayed finally got the land cleared and learned which crops would grow in the short, 108-day growing season.

Also at this week's session, the board voted to accept a student insurance policy offered by the Associated Brokers Corp., providing school-day coverage at a rate of $4 per year per child, or 24-hour coverage at $19 per child Although the rates are higher than those charged previously, ABC reportedly guarantees they will not be increased for a three-year period.

The ABC policy was one of several discussed request - by John H. Palmer Jr., husband of Trudy Palmer. Mrs. Palmer, who abstained from voting on the question, noted she had been accused of possible conflict of interest in the matter, but explained her husband's insurance agency did not handle student coverage and he had offered to help the board out of a spirit of "civic interest." She noted she had been assured by the Board of the propriety of her husband's accepting the assignment, and when the conflict question was raised, had offered towithhold the report.

Mrs. Palmer was defended by an audience member who suggested, however, the board had made a mistake in judgment and in the future should hire outside consultants. preventing such charges from being raised.

Contracts awarded at the session included one for $49.950 to the Beirns Bus Co. Kenilworth, to provide five-bus-route schoo transportation for 1974-75. Kenric Transit of Maplewood was awarded a contract at $8.334 to transport two handicapped pupils from the borough to the Community School in Englewood, while the Plainfield Board of Education was named to transport one pupil, a a fee of $12 per day, to Children's Specialized Board secretary John McDonough is investigating the possibility of the board's pur-chasing its own van for such use. "We realize we could not provide transportation to all the handicapped pupils in the borough," Mrs. Knodel said, "but it would save money in the long run. Last year we did not spend $10,000 to carry all such youngsters; this year we are paying more than $8,000 to transport only two."

Realtor praises flexible payment mortgage system

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board's regulation permitting federal savings and loan associations to make "flexible payment" mortgages is good news for young newlyweds, says Linden realtor Myles J. Hergert.

Hergert, president of the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors, pointed out this week that a flexible payment mortgage permits smaller loan payments during the early years of the mortgage with larger payments later on He explained, "The purpose of this regulation was to bring home ownership within the reach of more young buyers who have a rising scale of earning power ahead of them

"Under the flexible repayment regulations, the early payments may not be smaller than the actual amount of interest due on the principle and, after five years, the payments must be large enough to fully amortize the

Hergert described the purchase of a home 'as one of the smartest decisions a young cople ean make

"Payments on a home are seldom higher than rental payments." he said, "and monthly mortgage payments will accumulate substantial equity growth over five to 10 years

"The value of a house also goes up to reflect improvements made, as well as the increasing value of real estate. And, of course, there is the added advantage of income tax deductions for taxes and interest paid

Hergert said members of the Eastern Union County Board' of Realtors welcome the opportunity to advise prospective buyers on all

Special presidential election law is urged by Mrs. French

A constitutional amendment that would require a special presidential election two months after an appointed vice-president had become President was called for this week by Catherine O'Toole French, Integrity in Government candidate for Congress in the 12th District. The election would be only for the remainder of the current term of office 'The accession of Vice-President Ford to the presidency is unprecedented in the history of this nation," the Cranford Republican said. "It should be remembered that neither he nor Vice President-designate Rockefeller has stood for election before the general electorate of the United States. President Ford has stood for election only in a congressional district of Michigan. Vice President-designate Rockefeller has not even been able to win his party's presidential nomination despite several attempts," Mrs. French said.

"The most dangerous aspect of the present situation is that it could be the opening wedge to getting the electorate used to accepting a president who has not been elected," Mrs. French said. "While the situation is unique, there is no assurance that a similar situation cannot occur again. The most precious right of the people is the right to vote their choice for President. They most certainly should not be denied this right for more than two years as in the present situation.

"A special presidential election would be a vote to determine whether a caretaker administration should be retained or whether the electorate desired other leadership. As a matter of fact, it would not be necessary for the caretaker President to stand for election,"

"Nor should there be a feeling that the caretaker administration should be given a chance to prove itself. A non-elected President and Vice-President are just that, a caretaker administration, and a President elected by all the people should be placed in office as quickly as possible, whether it be the caretaker President who has stood for election or, someone else elected by the people. Two years is too long to wait," Mrs. French said.

Steiner repeats opposition to aid stated his "strong opposition to foreign aid."

Steiner said, "People in this country work hard for their money. With the government's outrageous spending programs, high taxes and runaway inflation it is extremely difficult for Americans to overcome the obstacles thrown at them by our recklessly spending Congress. By what right do these congressmen tax away additional money earned by American citizens and send it overseas?"
Steiner continued, "Anyone who chooses to personally send the money he or she has earned to anywhere in the world certainly has the right to do so. However, to forcibly take away the money of your neighbor to enable Russians to buy bread made with American wheat below what American consumers can do is immoral and must be eliminated."

Steiner, first vice-president of the Federation of New Jersey Taxpayers, concluded: "My political opponents are discussing what token behavior by Russia will justify continued United States foreign aid. I find no justification under any circumstances for the United States Government to forcibly extract tax money from its citizens and turn it over to the com-munist dictatorships of the world."

Levin describes gas shortage as potential threat

Democratic Congressional nominee Adam K. Levin has proposed a comprehensive program to provide temporary and long-range relief to the nation's natural gas shortage, which he describes as a "potentially lethal threat to New Jersey's already sick economy."

"There are disturbing indications that producers in certain gas-rich states are boarding natural gas supplies to control price levels and hike profits," Levin said this week "As a result, many states face a critical shortage of natural gas this winter. Not only will home owners be affected, but thousands of workers will be laid off if gas dependent plants are forced to close

The 12th District, Union County, candidate called for quick action on a recently introduced amendment to the Natural Gas Act of 1954 that would provide partial relief for this winter's expected shortage by empowering the Federal Power Commission to regulate both intrastate and interstate gas markets during periods of national emergency, thereby offering a fairer distribution of heating gas to hard-pressed areas of the nation.

Levin said he also supports passage of the Stevenson-Moss Consumer Energy Act which would stimulate long-range competition within the natural gas industry by exempting small and independent producers from FPC regulations on the setting of well-head prices while retaining controls over large producers.

The Consumer Energy Act would also guarantee pipeline use by independent producers and establish a Federal Oil and Gas Corporation, modeled on the TVA, to develop natural gas and oil sources on publicly owned lands, now estimated to contain between 50 and 75 percent of the Nation's future resources.

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School girls' varsity tennis team has divided its time this week between working out on the Universal Gym (weight lifting) and running on the Meisel Field track The girls, unable to obtain per mission thus far to practice on Springfield courts, will travel to Gov Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights to practice

Because of the inclement weather the last few days, the tennis team has been working out indoors with senior Eileen Bass leading the Jeam in exercises

Coach Ed Jasinski said that his seven returning veterans will provide most of the team's strength, and he hopes they will help lead the team to the Surburban Conference Those players include Eileen Bass. Laura Hockstein, Randi Schnee, Teri Bloom Laurie Weeks, Cathy Picut, and Gail Biesze

Other girls who have appeared at practice this week and are hoping to make the team include Donna Gerber, Anne Angleton, Vicki Kaplan, Ellen Goldberg and freshman Donna Lies. Donna, who has been playing tennis for a number of years, has been rounding into shape very quickly squad will be held Sept. 19. The Recreation Department also announced plans for a soccer clinic for boys in the 4th through 8th grades, to start on Saturday.

The football program, starting Sept. 21, will last from 9 to 11 a.m. for 10 consecutive Saturdays at Meisel Field. The Recreation Department has announced that no boy will be allowed to play without the written consent of his parents. Registration forms, containing personal and physical information about the prospective player must be filled out and returned to the Civic Center when he applies.

The Munuteman cheerleading squad tryouts beginnext Thursday Sept. 19 at the Raymond Chisholm School. The sessions, open to all girls in the seventh and eighth grades, will be held Monday and Thursday evenings, starting at 6:30, under the direction of the varsity cheerleaders from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. The clinic is under the direction of Jim Stamey, soccer coach at the Florence Gaudineer School. Boys must have sneakers or soccer shoes, gym shorts and high woolen

Rain hampers booters; condition is stressed

By MICHAEL MESKIN

With soccer practice at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School hindered by inclement weather, Coach Art Krupp and his assistants, including Jack Wasowski and Steve Cohen, have put added stress on conditioning. With the possibility that a new rule, will increase quarters from 15 to 18 minutes, team depth and physical condition will be even more important factors throughout the season. Presently, the coaches feel, the team is rounding into fine shape through skill and conditioning drills.

With more than 50 players competing for varsity and junior varsity berths, the competition is intense. On the line, the competition is wide open at the wings. At left wing Ken Cohen and junior Gary Scheich are battling. while Bill Nevius, Dave Quatrone and Jeff Rockoff, among others, compete for the right side. Paul Krystow is apparently set at center

Krupp has tremendous depth at the halfback position. Vying for the two wing berths are Tony Francis, Mark Pezzuto, John McCarthy, Art Leak and junior Steve Hechtle. Senior Emmet Rueda is slated to start at center

Defensively, Krupp is looking for more depth in the fullback area. Seniors Ron Frank (who may also play as halfback), Dana Levitt and Rick Morris and juniors Harry Irwin and Steve Matysek are the prime candidates for the three

RIGHT HAND Krupp is considering moving a few of his Dayton harriers' hopes high

-- if team can remain healthy

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross-country team has now completed two weeks of intensive training and Coaches Martin Taglienti and William Jones feel that if the squad can manage to stay free of injuries it will have an excellent shot at the Suburban Conference title. Captain Gary Werner, who was undefeated in dual-meet competition through the first half of last year before an injury hampered him, is expected to have an excellent season. Ben Geltzeiler, a 440-yard dash man in outdoor track, and Jeff Goldstein, a second year veteran, will add strength to the team. Billy Bjorstad, Dayton's State Sectional two-mile champion in outdoor track, is expected to be among the top runners in the conference. Charles Kiell and Gary Sherman have looked strong in practice thus far and should contribute points in dual-meet competition. Rounding out the squad are Bill Leber and Dave Baranek, back from last year's team, and newcomers John Keenan, Robert Gilbert and Michael Petro.

Taglienti and Jones are especially pleased with the turnout of freshman runners. The list includes Danny Smith, Joe Blabolil, John Madison, Mark Boyd, Richard Simon, Russell Laustein, Joseph Coll, Gary Lo Potro, Bill Zimmermann, Brad Weiner and Tom Poulous

For the first time at Dayton, the team will include a foreign exchange student. Georg Broch, from Norway.

Many of the girls who ran with the spring track squad have come out for cross-country this fall. These girls are Robin Scapicchio. Mary Dewey, Alisa Hock Janukowicz and Elisa Tauber. Alisa Hockstein, Nancy

Oliver impressed

as footballers end first week of drills

By MICHAEL MESKIN

At the conclusion of the initial week of football practice at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Coach Dave Oliver is extremely pleased with the hustle and enthusiasm shown

The team displays pep and vigor as it runs briskly through the conditioning drills ad ministered by the coaches, including Roland Marionni, Bill Kindler, Bob Kozub, Richard lacono and Bill Sowder. The latter two are from

Though the new offensive system is complex. Oliver is impressed by how rapidly his players have learned the formations and plays. The entire offensive team has been looking sharp

Quarterback Carmen Scoppettuolo and backs Bruce Heide, Joe Natiello and junior Mike Flood have caught Oliver's eye. Junior Jack Flood, "a real hitter," and sophomores Ted Parker and Branden Gambee show promise The ability and desire displayed by the of fensive line of Jerry Ragonese, Glen Arnold, Gary Presslaff and Rich Consales are a tremendous plus for the unit. Adding depth to the line could be juniors Andy Nash and Bob McGurdy and sophomore Joe Ragucci.

Defensively, the team is turning into a potent unit. The line is solid with Wayne Schwarte, George Sirigotis, Greg Johnson and sophomore Kevin Mitchell, Linebacker Kevin Mercer has impressed while Derek Nardone, termed a "real hitter and hustler" by Oliver, is slated to start at the "monster" position. The "monster" (similar to a "rover") has linebacking and pass-defending responsibilities.

Oliver's main concern is depth: besides establishing a solid starting corps, he wants to develop more offensive and defensive depth.

Presently the quarterback position is rather thin with junior Joe Graziano sidelined by a bad back. His return would add the manpower Coach Oliver needs in that area.

The Bulldogs scrimmaged at David Brearley yesterday and will scrimmage at Columbia High School Saturday Coach Oliver stated that he and his assistants are willing to do whatever they can to assist the Springfield and Mountainside recreational football programs.

MAGIC—Writer, singer and guitarist Cheryl Dilcher formed the new band, includes, left to right, Joe Aglio, Randy Koontz and Rick Beilke, in the fall of 1973. Their album, entitled Magic, features band numbers as well as singles by Cheryl. She started singing and writing at the age of 16 and went on to become a recording artist with A&M records with her album, Butterfly.

TURNTABLE TREAT-MAGIC: by Cheryl Dilcher (A&M SP-3640). Selections include: "Magic," "Home To Me," "Devil Song," "It's A Secret," "Fantasy," "Who's The Captain" (Of Rock N Roll), "The Good Times," "You're The One" and "Dance. "Together." Cheryl wrote the words and music for all ten numbers on the LP

Last year, right after writer-singer-guitarist Cheryl Dilcher recorded her first A&M album, Butterfly, she had the good fortune to run into the three people-Californians Randy Koontz (bass, backing vocals) and Joe Aglio (drums, backing vocals), and Tulsa-bred Rick "Robin" Beilki (lead guitar, backing vocals)-who now make up her band

"There's a new feeling in my music that comes from all of us working together. That's something I've always wanted-to find three guys I could really relate to, and who could play things that all of us could enjoy."

Cheryl Dilcher has come a long way from her hometown of Allentown, Pennsylvania, where she started playing guitar, singing, and writing at the age of 16. After graduating from high school. Cheryl began taking the three-hour drive along Route 22 from Allentown to New York City each weekend. She haunted Greenwich Village, singing and playing 12string guitar in any coffeehouse or bar with an open bandstand. At 18, she took an apartment

Later she met her current producer, Jeff Barry, who brought her to A&M in Los Angeles, and there she became a staff songwriter at Irving-Almo (the label's affiliate publisher). Before long she was also an A&M recording artist with a well-received album

Cheryl formed her band in the fall of '73, and after an intense period of rehearsing and playing concerts, the group recorded the new Magic, with guests Rusty Young, Clarence McDonald, and Nino Tempo lending their support on certain tracks. The album featuring the new band as well-as some of Cheryl's best songs, vividly captures the sense of shared excitement so evident within the group.

A triple Woody Allen bonanza is being offered this week by the Five Points Cinema, Union. The versatile actor, comedian, director, producer and writer will have his screen works displayed in the form of "Sleeper" and "Bananas," both rated PG and "Everything you Always Wanted to Know About Sex. But Were Afraid to Ask," rated R.

On Saturday and Sunday afternoons at 1:30, the Cinema will show "the Littlest Hobo", for the children.

In his latest, "Sleeper," Allen casts himself as a misplaced character, who has checked into a hospital with an ulcer problem and is awakened in a lab 200 years later. There are promised revolutionary upheavals in the film satire (moments of 'Bananas'' are revisited). Allen's fantasy world of the future still emphasizes the basic problem (as with all of the inventive man's movies) survival.

Laurel in the Pines now condominium community

Lake drive in Lakewood, has been termed by its builder, one of the most distinguished and attractive developments in Central Jersey. Now, after three years, it is being transformed into something even desirable—a condominium community.

"There's no question that the condominium concept offers the broadest range of advantages to the modern homeowner," commented Ron Ponsina, marketing director for the community. 'With today's inflation,'' he continued. "the middleincome family is increasingly concerned with getting maximum value for every dollar, which is why the condominium is such a popular lifestyle.

The monthly payments made by an owner are usually comparable with today's high rent levels. But while the renter ends up with nothing but cancelled checks, the condominium owner has significant tax savings through deductions for mortgage interest and real

"This not only means actual cash savings," continued Ponsina, "but over the years, garden and townhomes at Laurel in the Pines should increase in value. Assuming that the real estate market continues its historic direction, they represent a very important investment and hedge against inflation.'

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

We had a relative in Europe to whom we had always written. He decided to visit the United States and we asked him to visit us and told him he could use the extra bedroom. He said he had only a week's vacation. That was a month ago. The bum does not pick up after himself. He eats like a starving elephant. What can we do to rid ourselves of this" pest? He is costing us a fortune and we simply do not have extra money. Poor Relative

Proposals would cover insurance insolvencies

State Insurance Commissioner James J. Sheeran has offered three proposals to improve the Insurance Department's ability to deal with insurance company insolvencies and to provide greater protection against financial loss to policyholders.

Sheeran made his proposals in a letter to the board of directors of the New Jersey Property-Liability Insurance Guaranty Association, an organization of all 460 property-liability companies doing business in the state. The association was created by the Legislature as the means by which all claims against insolvent insurers would be paid through assessments on member companies.

The commissioner's proposals are based on the Insurance Department's experience with the Gateway Insurance Co: a Pennsylvania firm which was declared insolvent on Aug 21.

Bonsai expert to speak to mums group meeting

The N.J. State Chrysanthemum Society will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the National State Bank, 193 Morris ave., Springfield.

William N. Valavanis, a specialist in Bonsai mums, will be the guest speaker. He operates the House of Bonsai in Rochester, N.Y. All chrysanthemum growers are welcome.

EARLY COPY Publicity Chairmen are urged to observe the Friday deadline for other than spot news. Include your name, address and phone number.

The association will be responsible for claims against Gateway for 30 days from the date of the insolvency. This emergency coverage ends Sept 20.

Noting that all such claims are subject to a $50 deductible, Sheeran said the deductible should be eliminated with respect to unearned premium, that part of total premium which a policyholder is entitled to receive if his insurance is interrupted before its expiration date. Elimination of the deductible would require legislative action.

deductible provision which applies to unearned premium claims be eliminated," Sheeran surance companies created by elimination of the deductible was a factor to be taken into consideration in setting rates.

The commissioner also proposed that One of the problems associated with the policyholders, which has complicated the task require legislation, would extend from 30 days to at least 45 days the period from the date of insolvency during which claims are covered by the association. The additional time also would help assure that proper notice could be given to policyholders.

Warning sounded on heir promotion

The Better Business Bureau of Greater Newark this week warned against a promotion which, for an advance "research fee," offers to investigate the possibility of the solicited party being the legal heir to an unclaimed bank ac count left by a person bearing the same sur name. The company also charges an additional fee ranging from 5 to 15 percent of property recovered

A company spokesman has stated that there is no guarantee that property in question will total any minimum amount, nor is there any guarantee that the individual solicited and paying an advance fee will qualify to recover the property in question

Since the company charges an advance fee for information that is likely to be of little or no value to the party being solicited to purchase the information," says David Ruff, executive director of the Newark Better Business Bureau, "the Bureau recommends caution The possibility that persons solicited are entitled to such property is remote."

Admiral Elmo R. Zumwalt, who retired at Kean College, Union, on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Wilkins Theatre for the Performing Arts The lecture is free and open to the public as a community service of the state-supported college of liberal arts and sciences.

Zumwalt, called "The Mod Admiral" for his tradition-breaking "people's programs" was the youngest officer ever to attain flag rank and, at age 49, to serve as chief of naval operations

Zumwalt terminated so-called "Mickey Mouse" regulations he characterized as "demanding and abrasive" and instituting a program to liberalize base life for officers and non-commissioned personnel. The program emphasized concern for dependents and an 'open door' policy for dealing directly with complaints and controversy.

Racial integration of the service was foremost among his concerns. His policies are credited with doubling the number of black officers as well as re-enlistments over a fouryear period starting in 1970.

In World War II Zumwalt saw action in the battle of Levte Gulf, served with naval occupation forces in China and, after a variety of assignments shipboard and at the Pentagon, he was appointed commander of U.S. naval forces in Vietnam in 1968.

Zumwalt retired in June this year. His lectures and other public appearances have focused on the need for increased educational and subsistence benefits for Vietnam veterans

Survey taken on 'blue collar blues' IAM official finds most workers satisfied

Reports of the "blue-collar blues" have been exaggerated, says a Machinists union official working toward a master's degree at Rutger: University

Andrew Kenopensky of 829 Niles rd., Union, bases his opinion on personal experience as a business representative for District 15 of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM). As such he negotiates labor agreements, handles arbitration and generally services automotive mechanics throughout New Jersey and New

But he doesn't believe a crisis exists in the work place, us some reports in recent years have suggested, and he thinks a survey he conducted of 100 members of his local union (Auto Mechanics Lodge 447) substantiates his Kenopensky polled leadmen, truck mechanics, mechanics helpers and partsmen in five New Jersey truck repair shops for a term paper in a course on current labor problems, offered by the Department of Labor Studies at Rutgers' University College. Each of those surveyed completed a questionnaire on aspects of his work, the results were broken down according to age groups.

Kenopensky reports 44 percent said they were more satisfied than they were three years ago with their pay, fringe benefits and working conditions, while 38 percent claimed to be about

With union encouragement, he has pursued his education on a part-time basis over the years. He holds a bachelor of science degree in lobor management from Empire State College and is a candidate at Rutgers for a master's degree in education with a major in labor

If you're planning to hike yourself into shape this fall you're on the trail to good

Doctors say brisk outdoor walking helps reduce the cholesterol level in the blood at the same time it puts the firmness back into flabby muscles. And just being outdoors is invigorating. especially in the fall

Best of all, says Aetna Life & Casualty, the nation's largest private health insurer. walking is one of the few forms of exercise almost anyone can enjoy.

Hiking, however, demands against certain hazards. Most important. never keep going beyond the point of fatigue. It's far easier to strain or pull a muscle when resistance is low.

Call it quits when you feel pleasantly tired, and avoid hilly routes unless you know you're in good condition. This is doubly true for older people and those with a history of heart trouble.
