Parks unit backs off on Rt. 78 agreement

By ABNER GOLD

The Union County Park Commission is no longer bound by a 1971 "memorandum of understanding" to sell land in the Watchung Reservation to the N. J. Department of Transportation for Rt. 78. This was the view expressed by John Walsh of Mountainside, UCPC president, at a meeting held by the DOT Monday night at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, to hear comments from the public on several proposed paths to close the last gap in the superhighway, slightly more than five miles from Springfield to Berkeley Heights.

Monday's meeting was the last in a series held to help the DOT prepare a new Environmental Impact Statement on use of the parkland, as required by federal regulations, after the first proposal was rejected last year because of insufficient data and criticism by federal environmental experts.

Gene Cornwell of the DOT Division of Community Involvement said Monday that the new round of environmental studies should be completed by February 1976, instead of this month as first scheduled. He said a formal public hearing should be held in April, "shortly after the release of the draft Environmental Impact Statement."

The draft statement will then be reviewed by a number of federal agencies, the DOT will present its final statements, including a recommended path for the highway, and final approval will be up to the Secretary of Transportation in Washington.

A DOT OFFICIAL commented informally that the end of 1976 might be a "reasonable target date to settle the issue" of just where the highway will go. He predicted that this final link in Rt. 78 might be open to traffic by 1985.

In response to questions, a DOT spokesman said that the stretch from Springfield to the Garden State Parkway will be in use late this year and that Rt. 78 will be open to Newark

International Airport by the end of 1977, a year later than previous estimates.

Walsh, as president of the Park Commission, was the first of 21 speakers from the audience. He noted that the first hour of the meeting had been devoted to discussion of the 10 possible routes now under consideration and that Cornwell had stressed, "There is now no preferred alignment."

Walsh declared, "Our talks with the DOT have been going on for 15 years, about where to run the highway through the reservation. We thought we had an agreement with them, and we signed it in 1971.

"But if they have no alignment, we have no agreement. My position now will be for the no-build alternative."

TWELVE OF THE 21 persons who spoke from the audience backed the no-build option; to utilize portions of Rt. 24, Rt. 287 or the N. J. Turnpike to by-pass the gap in Rt. 78. Two speakers urged going ahead in the vicinity of the reservation, and the others did not comment on a proposed path.

Many of the speakers expressed concern that any highway construction would aggravate flooding conditions in valleys leading to the Rahway River. A number also protested any action which would reduce the scope of the Watchung Reservation as one of the last open spaces in an increasingly urbanized area. Noise and air pollution were other major concerns.

Several DOT officials noted that plans to expand Rt. 22 as a solution to the problem had been dropped because of high cost and because this would entail the loss of 2,500 jobs. One commented that proposals to double-deck Rt. 22 are not feasible because they would require closing that heavily over-utilized highway for two or three years during the construction period.

And one official delivered what might be the

Dooley TD aerials pace Jets, 20-6; lightweights defeat Berkeley Heights

The Mountainside Jets lightweight and middleweight football teams opened their home season last weekend by defeating Berkeley Heights and Millburn, respectively.

The Jets will continue their home stand against the Summit Hilltoppers this Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Deerfield School field.

The Middleweights, in a repeat of the previous week's score, defeated a tough Millburn team, 20-6. The final outcome, however, was in doubt until the final period. After holding Millburn on the initial series of downs, the Jets moved smartly downfield with a sustained running attack until the ball rested first and 10 on the seven-yard line. With a play-action fake, Mark Dooley rolled right and threw a strike to Dave Crane in the end zone. Charley Bunin added the extra point to put the Green Machine quickly ahead, 7-0.

The next time the Jets had possession of the ball, they again ground out yardage downfield, with the offensive line, anchored by Colin Owens and Dave Galisewski, opening the way. From the six, the Jets went to the airways with a flair pass from Dooley to Anthony D'Addario, who made a sensational catch in the end zone. Bunin again added the extra point to make the score at halftime 14-0. The front four of the Jet defense (Chris Martignetti, Frank Gagliano, Donald Garretson and Robert Dooley), held the Millburn offense to only 45 yards rushing in the first half.

In the second half, the Millburn defense showed its resilience by repeatedly turning back the Jets' strong running attack, finally seizing the initiative by running back a Mountainside punt for a touchdown early in the fourth period. This reduced the margin to 14-6.

With the momentum swaying toward Millburn, the Green Machine went into high gear with slashing runs by Tommy Fischer and Crane, a 65-yard drive was climaxed by

Spot filled by Regional school body

The Union County Regional High School Board of Education's "unwritten policy" on the selection of persons to fill unexpired terms sparked discussion during the board's meeting Tuesday night in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield—a session which also saw the appointment and swearing-in of a new representative from Berkeley Heights.

Sonya Dorsky of Springfield objected to the naming of William Keyes of Berkeley Heights to a four-month term on the board to replace Peter Yannotta, who is moving from the district, after it was learned that a second prospective appointee had contacted the board offices earlier in the day—but was not told a decision was to be made that night.

Mrs. Dorsky said she felt the board had an obligation to place a public letter in the local newspaper stating the final date for filing an application, and that all prospective candidates should be interviewed. She also charged that in the past, resigning board members have been allowed to pick their own successors.

Ronald Hecker, the other Berkeley Heights representative, defended the appointment of Keyes, which came after a 30-minute executive session called during the regular meeting. He noted the Gov. Livingston Regional High School PTA and Booster Club had spent approximately two months searching for candidates after Yannotta indicated in August he would be resigning in the fall. In addition, a newspaper story and editorial had discussed the need for a replacement. He had urged a discussion be made Tuesday, so his town would have full representation on the board.

Keyes, a certified public accountant, is a graduate of Pace College and has taken post-graduate studies at the University of Marquette. He has been active within community service, having served on the advisory council of Little Flower Church, an elementary school PTA, and as treasurer of the Gov. Livingston Booster Club. He also is vice-president of the Youth and Family Counseling Service, Westfield.

Also at the session, John Conlin of Garwood,

SOCIAL WORK—Ron Heymann, prize chairman for the Mountainside Bestowers, discusses plans for the organization's holiday party with (from left) Ingrid D'Amanda, Paulina Schmedel and Beverly Charters, who will serve as hostesses at the event, to be held Sunday, Dec. 7, from 3 to 6 p.m., at L'Affaire 22 (formerly the Lotus Garden), Rt. 22, Mountainside.

Bestowers' committees start work on fund-raising party

A recent meeting of the Mountainside Bestowers committees signaled the beginning of the group's campaign for its annual holiday gala, to be held this year at the soon-to-open L'Affaire 22 in Mountainside on Sunday, Dec. 7, from 3 to 6 p.m.

"The Bestowers are a group of Mountainside people who wish to share some of their bounty with nearby needy children and elderly. Their activity is directed to this single purpose. The work which they are now beginning ends with the town social where they launch the holiday season. The Bestowers 'way' is in keeping with both their purpose and the time of the year," a spokesman explained.

Mountainside residents are being solicited for funds from ticket sales; area businesses, for funds from donations of cash and raffle prizes. The ticket committee, with work sheets and assignments from chairperson Ruth Spina, is busy selling tickets. The business and professional committee, headed by Jerry Rice and Walter Betyerman, have begun to contact the local shops, plants and offices. Another committee, under the direction of Elmer Hoffarth, is contacting a number of institutions to learn their needs so the best possible use can be made of the Bestowers' gifts and donations.

"Plans are under way for the Bestowers Christmas party itself," the spokesman noted. "The volunteer hostesses are planning how to make the various parts of the party come together so that everyone will have an enjoyable time. Each couple brings a present and takes part in the awards. Background music and entertainment blend into the festivity of the giving occasion.

"The work of the people on the various committees all comes together at the

MTA president explains teachers' stand in talks

The president of the Mountainside Teachers' Association, which has declared an impasse in its negotiations with the Board of Education for a 1975-76 contract, this week released a statement explaining his group's position in the matter.

The statement by Charles Carson reads as follows:

"A short time ago, as president of the Mountainside Teachers' Association, I was asked by the press for a statement concerning Board of Education - Teachers' Association relations. At the time, the board had just agreed to resume bargaining with the teachers on the 1975-76 contract so I was reluctant to jeopardize negotiations by public comment. Now that the MTA has declared an impasse and is awaiting mediation, I feel your Mountainside readers are entitled to a fuller explanation.

"Negotiations on this contract were initiated last October. The history of the bargaining has been peppered with cancelled meetings and deferred decisions on the part of the board, but when bargaining resumed in September 1975, we were hopeful that a quick agreement could be reached. A settlement for this year seems essential before beginning work on next year's contract, which, by new state law, must start

Oct. 4, 1975, and be concluded or undergo mediation by Nov. 4, 1975.

"Unfortunately, the board's internal problems (such as its inability to collect enough members for a caucus meeting to deal with even such a critical matter as this) have continued to cause cancelled and rescheduled meetings. At times when we have felt we might be able to reach agreement, we have then been told that the offer of the board negotiating team presented to us was unacceptable to other members of the board.

"The difficulty in dealing with such an amorphous body combined with the long period of fruitless effort has forced us to conclude that a third party is necessary to finally bring an end to these months of bargaining. We had hoped that the board would at least join us in filing for impasse since joint declaration makes it possible to obtain a mutually agreeable mediator much sooner. However, the board has declined to file jointly with the MTA, once more showing its lack of concern in reaching an agreement which will end this period of unrest in the schools as quickly as possible.

"The teachers' association is still willing to meet with the board in an effort to work out a compromise. We have agreed to accept for another year the terms of the expired contract covering working conditions in order to expedite agreement. So far as salary is concerned, the teachers are willing to accept a settlement that was less than the average in Union County, but this offer was rescinded by the board.

"I was shocked at the inaccuracy of Dr. (Levin) Flanigh's statement in the Superintendent's Bulletin, sent home to parents of Mountainside school children Sept. 30, in which he said that the teachers had refused to participate in the annual back-to-school nights. This was not the case; the teachers had merely agreed not to participate in back-to-school night at this time. The meetings should have been

Red Cross plans blood bank drive

A blood bank sponsored by the Westfield-Mountainside chapter of the American Red Cross will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 22, from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church, 140 Mountain ave., Westfield.

The Red Cross blood program, largest in the world and still growing, collects more than three million units of blood a year. This figure represents about half of the blood collected annually in the United States.

Readers may telephone the chapter house, 232-7090, for appointments to become donors on Oct. 22.

Borough Rotary Club lists garage, cake sale

The Mountainside Rotary Club this week announced plans for its second annual garage and cake sale, to be held all day Saturday, Oct. 18, at the Echobrook School, Rt. 22.

Sale chairman, William Grakinsky, has requested all Rotarians and friends of Rotary to bring contributions to the school during the early evening hours of Oct. 16 and 17. This affair is the only fund-raising activity of the club.

Republicans discuss issues with public, urge home rule

Campaign manager George Yoggy introduced Mayor Thomas Ricciardi and Councilmen John O'Connell and Don Halbsgut, who are Republican candidates for reelection this year, to a gathering of Mountainside residents at a meeting held on Sunday night at a Saddlebrook road home.

Councilman O'Connell said that even though the local Republican candidates do not have opposition candidates this year, "a major effort is needed to make sure that we elect people to our county and state government who will protect the home rule we all cherish, which is one of the things which has allowed Mountainside to become one of the finest communities in our nation."

Councilman Halbsgut said that "things such as the State of New Jersey proposing to run Rt. 78 through the center of our borough creates increased cost for the borough when forced to defend against such activities, as well as great hardship and worry for all the people in Mountainside.

"Where the current Borough Council under the leadership of Mayor Thomas Ricciardi has

Local GOP Club begins new year

The Mountainside Republican Club held its first meeting of the year at the Mountainside Inn. Republican incumbents Mayor Thomas Ricciardi and Councilmen John O'Connell and Donald Halbsgut were present. Although they are running unopposed, it was decided by the membership to wage a campaign informing the electorate of the issues confronting Mountainside.

Mayor Ricciardi brought the group up to date on the major concern of the citizens, Rt. 78, and its impact on Mountainside. He said, "We must be ever-vigilant to the alignment possibility through our town."

The meeting was adjourned by the president, George Novitt, after a nominating committee was formed to present a slate of new officers for the next meeting.

'Freak-In' party Halloween night

Resident witches, ghosts, monsters and other beasts have been invited to attend a Halloween Freak-In, sponsored by the Mountainside Recreation Commission, Friday, Oct. 31, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Deerfield School gym.

Pre-schoolers through adults may enter the costume contest. Prizes will be awarded for the scariest, prettiest, funniest and most original costumes—and candy and entertainment will be provided for all. Additional information may be obtained from the recreation office, 232-0015.

School guards needed

The Mountainside Police Department is looking for residents to serve as school crossing guards. Information on job hours, salary, and other details may be obtained by calling the police headquarters, 232-6100.

Police will conduct auction on Saturday

The Mountainside Police Department will sponsor a public auction Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Borough Hall, Rt. 22. Nine bicycles will be among the items up for bids. All the auction goods represent lost or stolen property recovered during the year which has been unclaimed or for which owners cannot be located. Proceeds will be deposited in the general municipal treasury.

Travelogue on Britain

Eric Pavel will present a live narration for his film "Shakespeare's Britain Today" next Thursday at Montclair High School.

Pavel has produced movies for television and classrooms. His still photographs have appeared in the National Geographic magazine.

Other films in the Unity Institute series include: "Scandinavia Medley" on Oct. 26, "Arizona Adventure" on Nov. 16, "Greek Island Odyssey" on Jan. 18, "Iran, the Persia of Old" on Feb. 22, "Morocco Cities" on March 4, "The Andes" on April 25, "Rhine Journey" on May 6 and "Treasuries of Italy" on May 20.

Single tickets are $4, $3.50 and $2.50 with student discounts available. Series tickets for all nine programs are $26.50, $21.50 and $15.75.

Concert set for series

The Monteverdi Choir and Orchestra of Hamburg with six soloists will open Unity Institute's 56th concert series in the Montclair High School auditorium tonight at 8:30.

The choir was founded by its conductor, Jurgen Jurgens in 1955 as the Choir of the Italian Cultural Institute of Hamburg.

The program for the Montclair concert will be sung by the six soloists, and a choir of 60 voices, accompanied by the 40-piece orchestra of Hamburg.

The second concert in the series of nine will be the Hague Philharmonic, Friday evening, Oct. 24. Additional information on the concert and the series may be obtained by calling Barbara Russell, at 744-6770, or by writing to her care of the Unity Institute, 67 Church st., Montclair.

Dane show of textiles at museum

Danish Expressions: Textiles, an exhibition of work by 20 professional weavers, will have its premier showing in this country when it opens at the Montclair Art Museum, Montclair, on Sunday. The exhibition by these artists, all women, is a Danish contribution to International Women's Year.

Danish Expressions was organized by the Smithsonian Institution and supported by the Danish Ministry of Cultural Affairs in cooperation with the Danish Embassy in Washington.

The exhibition is a striking display of the great diversity of work being produced in Denmark today, from purely utilitarian rug design to complex subjective statements. E. Krog-Meyer, the counsel general of Denmark, and K. Philip Dresdner, president of the Montclair Art Museum, will greet museum members and guests of the Danish Embassy at a private reception on Sunday afternoon following the public opening of the exhibition at 2 p.m. The exhibition continues through Nov. 9.

Zoo group cites Ryan

Richard Ryan, director of the Turtle Back Zoo, West Orange, has received the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums (AAZPA) "Outstanding Service Award" for his "dedicated and productive service" to the association and the profession.

The award was presented by Ronald L. Blakely, director of the Sedgewick County Zoo, Wichita, Kans., during the 51st national conference of the AAZPA, held in Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

AAZPA is an international organization of zoological parks administrators and associates. Its membership includes the experts in planning and administration of zoological parks and authorities on the management and exhibition of wild animals in captivity.

DISC 'N DATA

By MILT HAMMER

EARTHBOUND is the latest album by The 5th Dimension. The group, which exploded on the music scene with 'Up, Up and Away,' has been turning out hit after hit. 14 gold records to its credit.

Pick of the LPs... EARTHBOUND: by the Fifth Dimension (ABC RECORDS-ABC 897). Chalk up another gold record for the group with these nine numbers: "Earthbound" and "Be Here Now," "Don't Stop for Nothing," "I've Got a Feeling," "Magic in My Life," "Walk Your Feet in the Sunshine," "When Did I Lose Your Love," "Lean on Me Always," "Speaking with My Heart," "Moonlight Mile" and more of "Earthbound."

They all agree on one thing: no one ever expected to be a member of a singing group. They all wanted music to be the main part of their lives, but in a group—never! Well, luckily for music lovers everywhere, Fate destined the meeting of Billy Davis Jr., Florence LeRue Gordon, Marilyn McCoo, Lamonte McLemore and Ron Townson 10 years ago in California or the world might have been deprived of the Fifth Dimension.

They came from varied backgrounds, with widely different interests. Lamonte was an aspiring baseball player, and then became a successful photographer. Ron, who has been trained in classical singing, had also toured extensively with Dorothy Dandridge and Nat "King" Cole. Billy, in addition to a singing career, had owned a string of nightclubs in St. Louis. Marilyn and Florence, although determined to have careers in show business, had both obtained degrees in business administration and elementary education, respectively. Ron, Lamonte and Billy all knew each other from their days in St. Louis, and then Lamonte met Marilyn and Florence when he was photographing the ladies who were contestants in the Miss Bronze California contest.

Once they decided to join forces as the Fifth Dimension, success came quickly. One of their first releases, "Go Where You Wanna Go," made the Top Ten. Soon after the Fifth Dimension exploded on the scene with "Up, Up, and Away," written by a new young song writer, Jim Webb. The record, in addition to going gold, won four Grammy Awards for Record of the Year, Best Performance by a Vocal Group, Best Contemporary Single and Best Contemporary Performance.

There have been 14 gold records to date (eight gold albums and six gold singles), including such releases as "Aquarius," "Let the Sunshine In," "One Less Bell to Answer," "Wedding Bell Blues," "Stoned Soul Picnic" and "Last Night I Didn't Get to Sleep at All."

2 in Mountainside instructors at UC

Mrs. Rita Bailey of New Providence road and Mrs. Kay Weiner of Ridge drive, both of Mountainside, are among 56 persons who are teaching a variety of courses at Union College this fall aimed at meeting the personal and professional educational enrichment needs of adult students.

The instructors are conducting courses ranging in length from one day to 12 weeks in areas that include fine arts, management, psychology, human relations, real estate, and public affairs. In addition, a series of one-day trips to city and country cultural and historical sites are planned, as well as tennis clinics, ballet lessons and conversational language instruction.

A detailed brochure outlining all of Union College's fall offerings as well as application procedures may be obtained by contacting the college at 276-2600, ext. 238.

Mrs. Bailey will be the instructor in the course, "So You Want to Be a Legal Secretary?" Mrs. Bailey is legal educational chairman of the Union County Legal Secretaries Association.

Mrs. Weiner will teach the stained glass workshop and will coordinate a special one-day culinary event, "Behind the Scenes at the Waldorf," as well as a series of three special Wednesday day trips including "Soho—A Landmark Artists' District," a Westbeth Gallery exhibit and Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, as well as "Three Days in the Country," including a day in Westchester County, the Hudson River Valley and the historic Towne of Smithville.

Mrs. Weiner studied at the University of Southern California and Crafts Student League, New York. She is a writer for Creative Crafts magazine and a director of the Artist and Craftsman Guild, Cranford.

PEWTERSMITH — Shirley Charron of Ridgefield, Conn., will be among the artists exhibiting work in the 'Creative Crafts '75' show to be held next month at Temple Emonu-El, 756 E. Broad st., Westfield. The exhibit, presented by the temple's Sisterhood, will open Nov. 1 to sponsors, and continue Nov. 2-5, daily from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., for the general public. Students and senior citizens will be admitted free; luncheon and snacks will be available. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. William Gulman at 232-5477 or Mrs. Harold Randall at 232-1383, co-chairmen of the show.

Regional

(Continued from page 1) chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, reported the foundation and underground plumbing had been completed at the David Brearley gym in Kenilworth, and steel erection is scheduled to begin within two weeks. The board approved payment of $26,041 to the Truesdale Construction Co. and $8,635 to the Cantello Plumbing Co. for work already finished.

Conlin also noted "most of the documents" pertaining to the Van Winkle's Brook project at Jonathan Dayton have been signed and bidding is expected to be ready within two weeks. The flood control project should start by the first of the year, he said.

The board voted 5-1 to permit the landing of a N.J. Army National Guard helicopter on the Arthur L. Johnson grounds in Clark prior to the Oct. 25 football game as part of a countywide recruitment effort. The sole objector was Mrs. Dorsky, who stated "it was completely out of place" to use a high school as a recruitment ground for any branch of the armed services.

Virginia Muskus of Clark, chairman of the policies committee, reported that first readings on changes in policies on pupil records and distribution of printed materials could be expected at the next public meeting, which was changed from Tuesday, Nov. 4, to Wednesday, Nov. 5, because of the general election.

During the audience participation portion of the program, two residents objected to "penalization" of students under the new ranking policy. Cited were loss of ranking points for pupils who failed to begin language studies in elementary school, who switched from one language to another (even if this were done when the high school decides not to offer second and third year courses in the original language), and to students who may take heavily-weighted major courses, but low-weighted enrichment programs.

Referred to the health and safety committee, was a request by a Jonathan Dayton student that the prohibition of smoking on school grounds be lifted. He noted that since the open lunch policy was instituted, many pupils have been going onto nearby properties to smoke, with complaints from local merchants being the result.

Another audience member asked the board to consider clarifying or altering its policy on disbursement of cash awards presented to school bands. He noted that in a recent parade in Westfield, bands from Gov. Livingston and David Brearley took first and second place, respectively, and were awarded cash prizes. Of the $150 grant to the Brearley unit, $135 was spent by the board to pay for transportation to the event, and $15 went into the band fund. The resident suggested that the board, before making such an expenditure, first make some provision for a permanent trophy or citation to acknowledge the band's accomplishment in the event.

disagreeing parties and responsible for maintaining the educational program, is in an unenviable position and one would hope that he would be scrupulously careful not to add fuel to an already difficult situation by distorting the facts.

"The Mountainside Teachers' Association has amply demonstrated its good faith and the sense of responsibility of its members by returning to work without a contract for the second year in a row. We do not like the turmoil in the schools any more than the public does. Until such time as an agreement is reached, our members will attempt to work in their classrooms as best they can in spite of a high level of frustration and very low morale."

LAST WEEK an advertisement was placed in the Echo by the MTA, the Mountainside Principals' Association and the Mountainside Custodians' Association, noting that none of the board's employee groups has a contract for the current school year, and questioning the ability of the board to begin and settle 1976-77 contracts by the deadlines listed under a new state law.

Asked to give his reaction to the ad, board president Dr. Irvin Krause noted that, except in the case of secretaries, who have settled their current contract as of Sept. 26, "the facts as presented (in the ad) are true."

"But this is not a new situation," he added. "In years past we have often passed the deadline and have often negotiated through the summer when both parties were willing to meet them."

"Also," he continued, "we have been following the course of negotiations in the prescribed legal manner, which was to meet at agreed-to times, and we have followed the prescribed legal procedure of moving to impasse when those meetings reached a point where negotiations seemed fruitless."

"In the case of the teachers, it was they who decided they would not move from their position. The board has offered a 7 1/2 percent increase. The teachers have been asking for eight percent. The board has indicated, unofficially, some willingness to move from its position. The teachers have been unwilling to move from the eight percent demand."

"In the case of the custodians, we are farther apart, and we feel the custodians are making completely unrealistic demands at this point."

(The board and the custodians have jointly agreed to go to impasse.) "In the case of the principals, there is more than salary at issue, but we are involved in the construction of a guide."

Discussing the new state law on contract negotiation deadlines, Krause said, "We will try to comply with the new state law, which may be unrealistic in view of the temper of the times. However, we will make every effort to arrange meetings with the respective bargaining groups in compliance with the statute."

Football

The Jets Lightweight team beat the Berkeley Heights Hornets 60 with a second left in the game for their second triumph in a row. Mike Kontra scored the touchdown behind the strong blocking of John Schon, Joe Sefack, Ron Martignetti and Alex Caiola. Key runs were turned in by David Gibardo and Billy Carthy to set up the score.

The Mountainside defense did an outstanding job to record its second straight shutout. Leading the charge for the Jets were Steve Scholes, Alex Caiola, Ron Martignetti, Pat Palitta, Joe Sefack, Damian O'Donnell, Jeff Wilde and Mike Kontra. The entire Lightweight squad contributed to the success.

Bestowers

(Continued from page 1) Bestowers' party to the happy benefit of those who receive and also to those who participate. Party tickets, priced at $10 each, may be obtained at the Mountainside Delicatessen, 895 Mountain ave.; from Mrs. Spina, at 232-3657; or from the program coordinators, Mary and John Post, at 232-2150 or Nancy and Jim Haughey, 654-4230.

Westfield LWV discussion series

"Should the powers of the President be limited, changed or subject to Congressional approval? Do we need a vice-president? Would we be better off with a President elected for only one term? What about a six-year term?" The representative government committee of the Westfield Area League of Women Voters this week invites those interested to join its members in considering these above questions. The first meeting will be held this morning at 9:15 at the Scotch Plains Public Library to discuss presidential succession and the terms of office.

The question of limiting the powers of the President will be considered by the following monthly units: Tuesday at 12:15 p.m., at Ann Addinall; Wednesday at 8 p.m., Val Radich; Thursday at 9:15 a.m., at Harriet Davidson.

Readers may call 322-6554 for further information.

F. Scheder, 64; maintenance man

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Frederick J. Scheder, 64, of Mountainside, who died Saturday in Overlook Hospital, Summit. The funeral was held from Smith and Smith (Suburban), 415 Morris ave., Springfield.

Born in Newark, Mr. Scheder lived in Irvington before moving to Mountainside 12 years ago. He was an operator and maintenance man for the Joint Meeting Sewage Disposal Commission of Elizabeth, for seven years before his retirement 10 years ago. He was a member of the National Turners, Irvington.

Surviving are his wife, Florence; three sons, Frederick W., Richard E. and William B.; a daughter, Mrs. Leona F. Ellis, and 12 grandchildren.

Freshman at Windham

Robert B. Dempster, son of Mrs. Jane Dempster of Mary Allen way, Mountainside, is a member of the class of 1979 at Windham College in Putney, Vt., where classes began Sept. 11. A graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, Dempster received honors for architectural and mechanical drawing there.

Door forced open in home break-in

A break-and entry at one borough home and an attempted burglary at another were listed by Mountainside police during the week. Officers were alerted to the first crime shortly before 8 p.m. Saturday by a burglar alarm ringing at a Summit lane residence. Police said the front door had been jimmied open, but it was unknown if anything had been stolen.

On Friday, the attempted burglary was reported at a home on High Point drive, where a basement window had been broken and forced open. The thief, however, apparently failed to gain entry.

Lady of Lourdes has milk program

Our Lady of Lourdes School, Mountainside, has announced a free milk program for families whose income is unable to cover the full cost of lunch milk.

Children from families whose income is at or below those shown on a scale on file in the school office are eligible for free or reduced price milk. In addition, families not meeting this criterion but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

They may do so by filling the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year.

Westfield FISH to meet Tuesday

The FISH of Westfield which is completing its fifth year of service to Westfield, Mountainside, Scotch Plains and Fanwood, has invited the public to attend its annual meeting at St. Helen's Church, Rahway avenue and Lamberts Mill road on Tuesday, at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Father Carl J. Arico, executive coordinator of the New Jersey Catholic Family Life Bureau, will speak on "Reaching Out and Being Helpful."

The local group work includes emergency homemaking, emergency babysitting and emergency transportation to doctors or hospitals (where Rescue squad is not needed), as well as assistance to the elderly, the handicapped and the lonely. FISH also directs persons to agencies in Union County equipped to help them.

Devlin will 'sign' copies of latest book Saturday

Mountainside author and illustrator Harry Devlin will visit the new bookstore, the Constant Reader, 4 New Providence rd., Mountainside, Saturday between 2 and 4 p.m.

Devlin will autograph copies of his latest book, "The Tales of Thunder and Lightning," just published by Parents' Magazine Press, as well as all of his other popular books including those featuring "Old Black Witch" (which has sold more than 1 1/2 million copies, as well as "Cranberry Thanksgiving," "How Fletcher Was Hatched!" and, for readers of all ages interested in historic preservation, "To Grandfather's House We Go" and "What Kind of a House is That?" two illustrated books on American architecture.

Past president of the National Cartoonists Society and a former member of the board of the Artist and Writers Association, Devlin is active in the Society of Illustrators and the New Jersey State Council on the Arts. He formerly taught art history at Union College and is a fellow of the college. Devlin is also a member of the Rutgers Advisory Council on Children's Literature. Devlin has completed a Bicentennial celebration.

Entry, vandalism at school probed

Mountainside police are continuing their investigation of a break-and-entry and vandalism committed Sunday at the Deerfield School complex off Central avenue, and are awaiting from school officials a list of any missing items.

According to police, an auxiliary classroom at the facility was burglarized sometime before 4:20 p.m. that day and a desk in the room ransacked. In addition, eight plate glass windows on the north and south sides of the Deerfield building were shattered by rocks and a baseball bat. That damage was estimated at approximately $160.

Mrs. Schott, 77; owner of tavern

Services for Mrs. Elsie Schott of Mountainside were held last Thursday at the Funeral Home of James F. Caffrey & Son in Irvington, with Mass offered in Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside. Mrs. Schott, who was 77, died Sept. 29 in Overlook Hospital, Summit.

Born in Newark, Mrs. Schott lived there for most of her life before moving to Mountainside. She owned Schott's Tavern in Newark for 37 years, retiring four years ago.

Surviving are a son, Frank; a daughter, Mrs. Betty Weiss; a brother, Louis Fodor, and three granddaughters.

Probation course graduation slated

Marion Weinberg of Mountainside will be among the 28 volunteer probation counselors who will receive graduation certificates from the Union County Probation Department Tuesday evening at the Third Presbyterian Church, W. Scott place and E. Jersey street, Elizabeth.

The certificates will indicate completion of a five-week training course designed to provide information and skills which will be useful in working with a probationer. Each graduate will be paired with a probationer in a one-to-one relationship.

PTL meeting Monday at Redeemer Lutheran

Introduction of faculty and an opportunity for parents to visit classrooms will highlight the first meeting on Monday of the Redeemer Lutheran School Parent-Teacher League of Westfield.

The group will convene at 8 p.m. at the parish hall of the school. The PTL president, Mrs. Earl Carpenter will conduct the meeting. Introducing the faculty will be David Janisko, school principal.

Letters to Editor

'NOT WORTHY' (The following is a copy of a letter sent to N.J. Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner.)

Representatives of your department recently described the alternatives for Rt. 78 compared to the original alignment through Watchung Reservation.

Would you agree to drop from consideration the "South of Park" alternate immediately? It is now evident from first review and then from deep study, that the "South of Park" alternate is useful only to fix limits and not as a real, feasible or prudent case.

To run all of Rt. 78 traffic up and down a steep mountain; to build in a corresponding future energy wastage; to construct almost two miles of unnecessary highway; to demolish 65 homes; to violate several hundred adjacent homes; to destroy the natural trees and woodlands, the birds and animals in these residential grounds; to still take and separate 106 acres of park land — and in addition to cost over $54,000,000 more than original is not worthy of anymore thought.

Will you agree to forget this case? WALTER H. HUPP Dogwood way

He said, "Rt. 278 is no longer recommended by this department. We made extensive changes in our plans for the area of Springfield avenue to eliminate the possibility of such a link. It is no longer considered a part of the interstate system, and funds planned for that purpose have been spent elsewhere."

Bulldog drive overpowers a favored Hillside, 35-12

By LOUIS FASULO

The Dayton Bulldog football team evened its record at 1-1 by romping over a favored Hillside team 35-12. The Bulldogs, proving their ability to move the ball, scored over 30 points for the first time in at least eight years.

"The entire Dayton squad played an exceptional game and displayed a true spirit of a winning team," head coach Dave Oliver said. "I am very satisfied with my team's performance today and looking forward to the first conference contest Saturday."

The Dayton attack was led by quarterback Joe Graziano who completed nine of 12 passes for a total of 76 yards. Oliver said he was especially pleased by the overall success of Graziano and the entire Dayton offensive team.

The offensive line consists of center Joe Ragucci, guards Jim Rice and Bob Potomski, tackles Bob McGurty and Bob Conte and tight end Mark Tryon. These players played a key role not only in the passing attack but in Dayton's superior running game which was led by Brandon Gambee, Mike Flood and Teddy Parker.

The first offensive set of plays for the Bulldogs was also their first scoring drive, early in the first quarter. Dayton's punt returner Jack Flood gave the ball to the offensive unit at the 46-yard line after a six-yard return. The offense began to click with drive that included 10-yard runs by Brandon Gambee and Ted Parker. After 11 plays Dayton was on the one yard line and Mike Flood plowed in for the touchdown. Jeff Pittenger kicked the extra point and Dayton led 7-0.

The strong Dayton defense held Hillside scoreless in the first quarter.

The Bulldogs, in the second quarter, put together a 74-yard touchdown drive in 15 plays. The drive consisted of constant running by Mike Flood and Gambee, and was highlighted by three Graziano passes. Two 5-yard passes to Jim Stadler and a 14-yard pass to Joe Mirto put the ball on the Hillside seven-yard line. Graziano then handed the ball to Mike Flood who powerhoused his way to the end zone for his second and the team's second touchdown of the game. Pittenger again made the extra point and Dayton led 14-0.

After being held scoreless for over 22 minutes, Hillside finally put together a scoring drive against the stubborn Bulldog defense, but the extra point was blocked by Bob Potomski on a fine individual effort. The half ended with Dayton leading, 14-6.

The second half opened with a 54-yard kickoff return by Jeff Pittenger hit the ball was turned over by a fumble.

For the Dayton defense, Jim Rice recovered a key fumble, giving the offense the ball on the nine-yard line although unable to score. Defensive back Brian McNary ran a 40-yard interception return, making the score 20-6 in favor of Dayton.

In the fourth quarter Graziano handed the ball to Brandon Gambee, who ran 70 yards for the touchdown. Dayton's try for two points was nullified by a penalty and the score was 26-6. Hillside returned the kickoff 50 yards giving it excellent field position. The Dayton defense was led by the linebacking unit of Jack Flood, with eight tackles; Frank Bladis with 10, and Mike Flood with eight. Defensive linemen Bob Potomski had nine and Jim Rice 11. Hillside did score on a 14-yard pass from their quarterback, Stukes to end Del Geucio.

Carmen Apicella's interception gave the Dayton offense the ball for their last score. The 41-yard drive, led by a 14-yard run by Hugh Cole and a 13-yard run by Ted Parker, was capped by a 15-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Brian Burke to Jimmy Stadler. The extra point attempt was no good.

The punting unit led, by punter Steve Pepe was cited by the coach for its strong play.

Harriers defeat 3 of 4 in 2 triangular meets

By AMY GELTZELER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross country team defeated Verona, 27-28, West Orange, 27-29, and New Providence, 15-44, this past week. The team was defeated by Millburn, 27-28, and Summit, 28-29. The team now has a record of 4-2.

Dayton's Billy Bjorstad shattered two course records against Summit and New Providence. This is his third of the season.

The team lost to Millburn on Sept. 30. Bjorstad placed second for Dayton, and Charles Kiel placed third. Other Dayton finishers included Bobby Phillips (fifth), Brad Quiner (eighth) and Gary Sherman, (tenth). A one-second difference in time between Weiner and his opposing runner caused the team to lose the meet.

On Oct. 2, the team competed with Verona and Summit in a triangular meet. Bjorstad placed first, Kiel placed third. Phillips placed fourth, Sherman ninth, and Weiner 10th, against the Verona team. Against Summit Bjorstad swept first place, with Kiel and Phillips taking third and fourth respectively. Sherman placed 10th and Weiner placed 11th.

In another triangular meet, the team was victorious over both West Orange and New Providence. Bjorstad placed first against West Orange, and Kiel placed second. Other Dayton finishers included Sherman (seventh), Phillips (eighth), Weiner (ninth), Danny Smith (10th), Bobby Gilbert (11th), and Billy Lieber (12th). Dayton swept the first five places against New Providence. Bjorstad placed first, followed by Kiel (second), Sherman (third), Phillips (fourth), Weiner (fifth), Smith (eighth), Gilbert (11th), and Lieber (12th).

Coach Martin Taglienti expressed his pleasure with the performances of freshmen Howard Doppelt and David Gechlik. "The boys ran an excellent course, and show signs of a great improvement." Taglienti also expressed optimism over sophomore Billy Soloso, who he felt gave a strong performance.

Taglienti said, "Charles Kiel and Billy Phillips deserve a lot of praise. Kiel has been the team's second man in all the races. 'This is Phillips' first year out for cross country and he is doing an outstanding job," said the coach. "Sherman, Weiner and Danny Smith are showing excellent potential. They are performing better because they have gained more self-confidence. Bobby Gilbert, Billy Lieber, Mike Petro and Billy Soloso are improving a great deal. The running times of Richard Simon, Russell Lausten, Billy Ziemerman, Steven Baranack, and Larry Fine are showing a great improvement. Chris Clunie is getting into shape and showing improvement. Greg Rusbarsky has been out with an injury."

Coaches Taglienti and William Jones feel that the team "has a long way to go in order to reach its full potential. The boys have a long and strong schedule this season. They will pose a tough match for other teams in the Suburban Conference."

On Tuesday the team was scheduled to have its first home meet against Verona. Today the harriers will compete with West Orange.

After being held scoreless for over 22 minutes, Hillside finally put together a scoring drive against the stubborn Bulldog defense, but the extra point was blocked by Bob Potomski on a fine individual effort. The half ended with Dayton leading, 14-6.

The second half opened with a 54-yard kickoff return by Jeff Pittenger hit the ball was turned over by a fumble.

For the Dayton defense, Jim Rice recovered a key fumble, giving the offense the ball on the nine-yard line although unable to score. Defensive back Brian McNary ran a 40-yard interception return, making the score 20-6 in favor of Dayton.

In the fourth quarter Graziano handed the ball to Brandon Gambee, who ran 70 yards for the touchdown. Dayton's try for two points was nullified by a penalty and the score was 26-6. Hillside returned the kickoff 50 yards giving it excellent field position. The Dayton defense was led by the linebacking unit of Jack Flood, with eight tackles; Frank Bladis with 10, and Mike Flood with eight. Defensive linemen Bob Potomski had nine and Jim Rice 11. Hillside did score on a 14-yard pass from their quarterback, Stukes to end Del Geucio.

Carmen Apicella's interception gave the Dayton offense the ball for their last score. The 41-yard drive, led by a 14-yard run by Hugh Cole and a 13-yard run by Ted Parker, was capped by a 15-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Brian Burke to Jimmy Stadler. The extra point attempt was no good.

The punting unit led, by punter Steve Pepe was cited by the coach for its strong play.

Girl gymnasts improved but lack a victory

By LOUIS FASULO

The Jonathan Dayton girls gymnasts were defeated this past week by two tough teams: Westfield, 63.20 to 53.20, and Clark, 80.55 to 58.83.

Despite both losses there were many bright spots in both meets. Coach Nancy Dougherty expressed an overall satisfaction with her teams performance in each meet. Dougherty said "We had our best overall score ever against Clark. Also, in each event we have been consistently improving our scores and highering our degree of difficulty."

Dougherty explained why the Dayton team has been competing against top teams in the state. "Last year we competed in the winter season, which was moved to the fall by a state decision. This caused Dayton to revamp its schedule. Many of the teams that had fall openings on their schedule were experienced and were top teams in the state."

Mrs. Dougherty did feel that meets with these teams "helped our girls gain ideas for their own routines."

Dayton's meet against Westfield was a very close and exciting competition. The gymnasts, who lost to Westfield last year by 30 points, gave Westfield some strong competition. Moira Halpin won her first event of the season in the floor exercises with an impressive score of 6.55. Moira also took second place in the balance beam with a score of 4.75.

The most enlightening feature of the meet for coach Dougherty was the team's fine performance in the vaulting exercises. Carol Wingard took third place in this event by doing a layout squat vault, which is extremely difficult and scored 6.15. Wingard was the first Dayton girl this season to compete in all four of the exercises.

Despite Jill Lipton's third place finish in the uneven parallel bars, this event was the turning point in the meet. Dougherty said that she hopes to have the girls put together a more flowing routine rather than the choppy one the girls have been performing.

Dayton's meet against the experienced girls of Clark provided an exhibition of superior gymnastics. The scores in the floor exercises for Dayton were the highest in its two year history. Moira Halpin once again had a fine performance, scoring 6.9 for a third place finish in the floor exercises and 6.5 for a third place on the team. Debbie Arcidiacano and Ellen Kaplan also scored in the sixes in this event.

Dougherty was quite pleased by Barbara Calamusa's admirable performance on the uneven parallel bars; her routine included a handstand straddle down back hip circle. Her score of 6.15 gave her a third place finish in the event.

The vaulting unit did a fine job for the team as Denise Francis competed for her first time in this event. It is Mrs. Dougherty's hope to improve the difficulty rates in this event.

The girls, who travel to Bridgewater East on Tuesday and Kearny on Friday, hope to gain their first victory of their season this week.

Booters lose in league but shut out Parsippany

By AMY GELTZELER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School soccer team defeated Parsippany, 2-0, this week. The team suffered its first two losses of the season, being defeated by Caldwell, 4-3, and Madison, 2-1. The team's record is 2-3 all around, and they are 3-0 in the Suburban conference.

In the Caldwell game, Gary Scheick scored one of the three Dayton goals. The other goals were scored by Richard Weinberg, his first in varsity competition. The team was down 3-0 but managed to score three goals in the middle of the fourth quarter. Caldwell scored in the last 1 1/2 minutes to win the game.

Coach Arthur Krupp felt that the boys played a good game. The boys played an aggressive game except for the first quarter. Gary Scheick did an excellent job as was expected. Weinberg was a surprise to the team and he can be proud of his fine performance. Harry Irwin was the only defense man who played an accurate game. The rest of the boys on the defense need more practice and learning. Caldwell is one of the stronger teams in the conference, and as a whole the team played a good game," said Krupp.

In the Madison game Dayton dominated the field for three of the four quarters, outshooting Madison, 23-6. In the second quarter Madison was able to score. Dayton scored in the third quarter to tie up the game but in the last quarter Madison was able to score another goal and win the game. The point for Dayton was scored by Scheick.

Krupp felt that the teams weakness was in the line play. The ball was moved down the field well, but at the end of the line the boys were not as aggressive as they should have been. Sid Kaufman played an excellent game as goalie.

"The team missed some scoring opportunities that they had. It seemed that the Madison team had luck on their side, and Dayton could not get any breaks. The Bulldogs are really a better team, and they play with more skill and accuracy," said the coach.

In the Parsippany victory the team played an excellent game. The first goal of the game was scored by Alan Layton, and Scheick scored the second.

Krupp said, "The defense did an exceptional job, allowing only five shots at the goal the entire game. Their skill and accuracy has improved tremendously in the past few weeks. The offense also played an excellent game. The team showed good line play and the defense did not have any holes."

Coach Krupp felt that Marc Walls and David Batten are improving a great deal on the defense. Halfbacks Steven Hechtle and Eddie McCaine are showing signs of improvement every day. If Dayton had another good man on the line to help Scheick, the team would be extremely competitive in the rest of the conference.

Krupp feels that "if the boys continue to play as they did against Parsippany they will have a successful season. The conference is very tight this year and any team can win it. If the Bulldogs keep improving as they are, they will have a good chance to win it."

On Tuesday the team was scheduled to play New Providence. Today the team will compete with Summit.

Minutemen lose effort against Chatham, 21-0

After an impressive victory over Summit last week, the Springfield Minutemen equalled their record at 1-1 by losing to a strong Chatham team, 21-0.

Chatham started its scoring in the first period with a 31-yard pass play and scored again early in the second period when the aggressive Chatham line poured in to sack

Springfield's Rick Marech for a safety. After a free kick, the Bluebirds marched 50 yards for their second TD and completed their scoring with a 70-yard dash on a double reverse.

Springfield mounted a strong offensive drive in the second period that featured a 30 yard pass play from Marech to Steve Kessler, but the clock ran out.

Chatham was held scoreless in the second half on the outstanding defensive play of Springfield's potential all-conference lineman Mitch Toland, Steve Kessler and Joe Policastro and Craig Clickenger's key interception. Quarterback Rick Marech tried again and again to lead the Minutemen to a score with the help of a 19-yard run by Tony Circelli but to no avail.

Unassisted tackles were made by Joe Dorfman, who also did a fine job at punting, Jon Fingerhut, John Ard, Dave Szymanski, Jeff Silverthorne, Don Magers, Tony Gargiulo, Vinnie Cervone, Steve Tannenbaum, Paul D'Andrea, Pete Prete, Dave Lerner and Mike McIntyre.

The other Minutemen to see action were Jerome Pullium, Onzilo Pullium, Pete Herzlinger, Peter Graziano, Mike Chirichello, Wayne Lewis, Glen Horishny, Todd Vogt, Don Zahn, Tom Schmidt, Ira Tauber, Mark Casale, Steve Novich, Billy Condon, Jeff Engelhardt, Larry Walker, Jim Anagnos, Lou Del Mauro and Eddie Francis.

Springfield plays next Sunday at Berkeley Heights; game time is 1 p.m.

SOCCER SCENE

The Elizabeth Lancers strengthened their hold on first place in the GASL Major Division North last weekend by virtue of a 2-1 victory over Blue Star and 6-0 loss by the German Hungarians at the hands of Inter Juliana. Union County SC lost a tough game to the Ukrainian Youth of New York, 2-1.

Blue Star drew first blood at the 20-minute mark on a goal by Isador Saben. Ten minutes later Ed Jijon netted the ball for the Lancers on a pass from Luis Tripodi. Ed Kelly added the winning goal at the 35-minute mark while Tripodi got his second assist of the game.

The Lancers will play at Farcher's Grove this Sunday at 2:30 against Hellenic. There is a standing invitation to all the youths in the area to come to the Lancer home games. Students will be admitted free.

The match between the Union County SC and the Ukrainian Youth was a symphony in color. It started with a burst of color when the teams came on the field in their combinations of red, white and blue. The conductor blew the whistle and it began. By the time the first movement was over (halftime) the game stood at 2-1 for the Ukrainians. There was some color added in that first half in the form of black and blue marks on the players and a few yellow cards by the ref.

The symphony got more colorful in the final movement when more yellow cards were given and even a red one to the goalie of the Ukrainians. This gave the Union booters a one-man advantage on the field because one of the fullbacks had to take the place of the goalie. The tempo of the game picked up slightly and the boys started to bang each other around a little more.

I think the conductor (ref) made a few bad calls, and this added to confusion of play. It was a day the Newark players couldn't do anything right. Their shots were wide of the goal or on the posts and their passing was off. At the finale of this symphony the conductor made his biggest mistake when he ended it with more than five minutes to go on my watch. This made the Union County fans see red.

I admit it is easy for me to sit in the stands and disagree with the type of game the ref is whistling. When there is a foul committed it is a judgment call and I could see things differently from the man on the field. He has to make split-second decisions while I in the stands have a little more time to think things over.

I have a special watch I carry to all games with a built-in stop watch. It was wound, and it never has been wrong. When the ref ended the game on Sunday my watch showed eight minutes to go. There were many injuries and delays when the ref indicated he was taking time out by looking at his watch, which could have added at least two minutes more.

I admit I could be wrong in judgment call such as offsides but I know how to tell time, and so could the rest of the fans at the field.

The conductor lost a few pages of the score in this symphony and there was a state soccer official in the stands who admitted the game was called off too early, but his hands were tied because the ref is the man in charge.

Dayton Boosters meet at 8 tonight

The Jonathan Dayton All-Sports Booster Club's monthly meeting will be held tonight at 8 in the boy's gym. A film on "Official High School Sports" will be presented. All parents and students have been invited. A question-and-answer period will follow the film.

The Booster Club has photographs on sale of all athletic teams of Jonathan Dayton. The price is $2. Anyone interested in obtaining a picture can contact Mrs. Andrew Herkalo at 379-5923 after 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Mulreany takes golf tourney on net 25

Mrs. Robert Mulreany shot a net 25 to win the Class A competition in the Alibi Tournament held by the Echo Lake Wednesday Golf Group last Wednesday. Mrs. James Leonard was second with net 28. Mrs. Henry Rohrs had the fewest putts, 14.

Mrs. James Carroll (net 24) defeated Mrs. John Scott (net 25) in Class B and C. Mrs. W.G.A. Connell had 17 putts.

Entries now open for STP bowling

The third Dayton Regional Students-Teachers-Parents (STP) Bowling Tournament will begin play at 9:45 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 8, at the Echo Lanes in Mountainside, according to Director John Swedish.

The tournament will be divided into Group I (8th-9th-10th graders) and Group II (11th-12th graders, teachers, parents, graduates, friends) bowlers. The LeMons won the Group I titles last year; the Halbgut family and the Zeoli family divided the Group II titles.

Team rosters (four on a side) should be submitted to the director at Dayton Regional by Nov. 1. Further information can be obtained by calling the school at 376-6300. This year's teams will be outfitted with free STP T-shirts and hats. Fee for each Saturday's sessions is $2.25 for three games, free loan of bowling shoes and the free STP shirts and hat. Anyone not able to form a quartet should contact the director to be placed on a team.

Make sure your baby crib has as narrow a space as possible between the slats. The mattress should fit the crib very snugly, if you can fit more than two fingers between the mattress and the crib, the mattress is too small. Buy bumper pads for the crib. Check the crib's metal parts, and the edges of the crib frame for sharp or rough edges.

More is appointed director of UCTI computer center

Frederick J. More, administrative assistant to the vice-president for business and finance at the Union County Technical Institute (UCTI), Scotch Plains, has been appointed director of the computer center, according to Dr. Harvey Charles, UCTI president.

More joined the Institute two years ago following 20 years' experience in financial management and computer technology. He had served as president of Danmor Systems Co., Inc., of New York, a private consulting, programming and computer-installation service company dealing with Wall Street banks and brokerage firms.

As director of the UCTI computer center, More will assume the responsibility for providing necessary computer service to the instructional program at the Institute, including the processing of student programs.

Two associate degree programs at the Institute revolve directly around the school's IBM System 370-Model 135 Computer: Accounting-Data Processing and Computer Science-Data Processing. Students in numerous other programs also take programming or computer-related courses as part of their curricula.

In addition to these responsibilities, More will provide approved computer services to the administration and staff at the Institute, as well as to 48 other schools in Union and surrounding counties that contract with UCTI to have the computer center process student data and other information.

More received a B.A. degree in economics from Bates College, Lewiston, Maine, and an M.B.A. from New York University Graduate School. He is completing studies for an M.A. degree in education at Seton Hall University. He holds state certification as a school business administrator and has been a member of the UCTI adjunct faculty teaching courses in computer programming and business organization on evenings and Saturdays.

Mt. Carmel Guild recipient of grant

A grant from the Union County Office on Aging has been received by the Mount Carmel Guild to provide transportation of visually handicapped senior citizens to and from Wednesday evening programs held at the Guild's Cranford Center, 106 Alden st.

The program consists of social activities, arts and crafts, cooking and other personal skills, games, speakers, entertainment and holiday celebrations and special outings. These activities are open to any senior citizen with a visual impairment residing in Union County.

Guild vans will be used, staffed with drivers and escorts provided by the grant. Interested persons may contact Judy Cicors, project coordinator, at the Mount Carmel Guild, Newark.

Program at Kean spotlights history

Readers in Repertoire will present "Voices of the Revolution—Part II," on the Kean College campus, Union, in VE-118 on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 17 and 18, at 8 p.m.

The production is based on Revolutionary War events which occurred in and around Union County. Among the events to be portrayed are the deaths of James and Hannah Caldwell, the exploits of Susan Livingston and the battle of Springfield. Original songs and poetry based on the period are also included. "Voices of the Revolution" is an attempt to bring our beginnings to life.

An admission of 50 cents will be charged. Tickets may be ordered in advanced by calling 527-2349 or purchased at the door.

'Pinafore' production will benefit retarded

The choir of the First United Methodist Church, 631 E. Front st., Plainfield, will stage Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore" at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 1, at the church. Proceeds will benefit the Union County Unit of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children.

Tickets, priced at $2.50 each, may be obtained from Kathy Knight, 241-3934 or 276-6792.

CONSUMER ADVOCATES—On a recent visit to Union County, Republican Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick, second from right, discussed with, from left, Republican Freeholders Herbert Heilmann of Union and Walter Ulrich of Rahway and former Freeholder Mrs. Rose Marie Sinnott of Summit ways to give greater consumer protection to county residents. Mrs. Fenwick was formerly New Jersey Commissioner of Consumer Affairs.

Ulrich, Heilmann propose Office of Consumer Affairs

Establishment of a Union County office of Consumer Affairs has been proposed by Freeholders Walter E. Ulrich of Rahway and Herbert J. Heilmann of Union. The two Republicans said that the state was unable to handle the flood of consumer complaints, most of which involved matters of a local nature.

The proposal was made during an executive session of the Freeholder board. Official action by the board is expected at tonight's public session set for 7:30 in the Court House Annex, Elizabeth.

In making the proposal, Ulrich and Heilmann requested that the entire board go on record at tonight's session as not only supporting the idea but also requesting the state government to pass the necessary legislation to equip the proposed county agency with the necessary legal powers to pursue consumer frauds.

"Right now," said Ulrich, "only the state consumer agency has the authority to initiate the legal redress through the courts for victims of consumer fraud. And, the state has admitted that it is swamped with a backlog of cases it can't get to, which will have to be processed through the county and municipal courts anyway."

"Since this is the situation, why not give us the power to do the necessary job for our people," he said.

Ulrich and Heilmann said they had nothing but the highest praise for the county's current seven member volunteer consumer advisory board headed by Clifford M. Peake of Elizabeth.

Two of that advisory board's members have been designated as Consumer Affairs Local Assistance Officers (CALA) for the state.

"But, with this advisory board what we have actually done up until now is to give them a vital job to do without the necessary tools to do it," said Heilmann.

Ulrich pointed out that the county's computer system already has the capacity to group the areas of consumer concern as well as the repetitive areas of consumer fraud based on the research done by the county consumer board.

"But, without the legal authority to do something about consumer fraud the work of the advisory board will have been for nothing," he said.

Ulrich and Heilmann pointed out that there is currently legislation, AB 3280, pending before the state Assembly which could be a step in the direction they would like the county to take.

This bill provides for counties and municipalities to establish offices of consumer affairs to which the state attorney general may delegate certain law enforcement powers in this area. It will have the effect of protecting consumers more fully by giving them local offices with enforcement powers to turn to with their consumer problems. It will also expand the scope of the state's authority in this area.

Mrs. Rose Marie Sinnott of Summit, long active in the battle against consumer frauds, said this week that she hopes the entire freeholder board "will get behind this move to make consumer protection really mean something." A former freeholder, Mrs. Sinnott is running for election to the county board with Ulrich and Heilmann on Nov. 4.

Baked goods sold Fridays at UCVC

For the fourth year, the Union County Vocational Center is offering baked goods to county residents.

The Baking Program store will open its doors to the community on Fridays during the school year from 1:15 to 2:45 p.m., according to John Ernst of Springfield, UCVC instructor of baking.

"We'll be selling various items that we've baked for the cafeteria to meet the curriculum objectives in the program," said M. Ernst. "At various times during the year we may have layer cakes, cupcakes, fruit pies, cheese cakes, Danish, or something else. Every Friday will be different."

Goods placed on sale are all prepared by students in the Union County Vocational Center two-year baking program. While working toward their diploma, students receive on-the-job instruction on baking equipment, composition and function of ingredients, customer relations and food law among other topics.

The store is located in Baxel Hall on the campus of the Union County Vocational Center, 1776 Raritan rd., Scotch Plains.

Hiking Club on the move

A ramble through the Watchung Reservation is planned for Saturday for members and guests of the Union County Hiking Club. Julia Samer of Union and Barbara Wagstaff of Cranford will be in charge of the walk, beginning at 10 a.m. at the parking lot of the Trailside Nature and Science Center.

On Sunday, a leader and destination for a hike will be chosen as hikers meet at 9:30 a.m. at the Packanaek Wayne shopping center.

Information about the Hiking Club may be obtained through the Union County Park Commission's recreation department.

Cancer unit asks registered nurses to assist in tests

The Union County unit of the American Cancer Society has issued a call to all registered nurses, active and inactive, to join in "a challenging health program geared to reducing cancer fatalities in women."

"We have been engaged in a program to reach the entire female population of Union County with our health education and screening programs," stated Martha Kiff, R.N., chairman of the society's nursing education committee. "Our efforts to date have met with a great deal of success, but we are desperately in need of additional volunteer help from the nursing community," she added.

Among the goals of the nursing education committee is to have every woman in Union County receive a "pap" test and pelvic examination by 1976.

"Another vital project for which the American Cancer Society is seeking the assistance of nurses is to teach the techniques of breast self-examination," noted Mrs. Kiff. A recent survey conducted by the Gallup Organization showed that despite the high degree of concern women have regarding breast cancer, few have their breasts examined regularly by the physician or engage in monthly breast self-examination.

This fall the American Cancer Society will be embarking on a program to teach breast self-examination in schools as well as broaden its efforts to reach the adult female population. The breast self-examination program will consist of a brief film showing the techniques which should be used as well as a demonstration on the "Betsi Breast Model," or individual instruction. The nurses involved in the program will be trained by the American Cancer Society and will in turn be utilized in teaching breast self-examination.

"Health education is currently our most effective weapon in combating cancer fatalities and I am hopeful that more nurses will volunteer their help in these endeavors," added Mrs. Kiff.

Additional information regarding the nursing education committee or the projects can be obtained by contacting Mrs. Kiff at the American Cancer Society, 512 Westminster ave., Elizabeth, 354-7373.

Rights amendment group offers talks

The Equal Rights Amendment Speakers Bureau, chaired by Marlene Bernstein of Berkeley Heights, has announced that it will provide organizations with people to discuss the Equal Rights Amendment and its applications.

Mrs. Bernstein said she believes it is essential that the public vote on "facts rather than nonexistent emotional issues." The number to call for speakers is 464-5408.

An ERA October Fest is scheduled for Oct. 19 at the UAW Hall in Cranford from 4 to 8 p.m. Further information may be obtained by calling Barbara Rappaport, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 464-9959.

Program to help retarded children

The New Jersey Association for Retarded Children has announced the start of a new program emphasizing socialization and communication skills for retarded children between the ages of five to 12 years.

Meetings will be held on Sunday mornings from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the YM-YWHA on Green lane in Union. An interview will be necessary for acceptance into the program.

Further information is available from either Mark Kimmel at the YM-YWHA, Green lane, Union, 289-8112, or Stephanie Long at the Union County ARC, 276-6792.

Dem freeholder ticket raps Bell Telephone rate increase

Democratic Freeholder candidates Leda Persley, Anthony Amalfi and Abe Rosenfeld this week called the 8 percent rate increase recently granted to the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. another low blow to the already battered New Jersey consumer.

The candidates, who have been waging a fight for the rollback of recently granted gas and electric rate increases, said they would add Bell Telephone to their list of utilities which must restructure their rates to provide economic relief to Jerseyans struggling against the effects of runaway inflation.

"It has come to the point," Mrs. Persley said, "where the New Jersey consumer can't pick up a newspaper without seeing a story about yet another rate increase that's going to eat into his already seriously strained budget."

"This latest rate increase is a real killer," Amalfi said. "Except for cutting back on long distance telephone calls—which very few of us make in great number anyway—there is absolutely nothing any of us can do to reduce the amount of telephone we use. We can't reduce our bills by turning it off during certain hours or lower a thermostat to conserve usage. We must now pay an additional 8 percent monthly just for the privilege of waiting for it to ring."

Rosenfeld pointed out that with electricity rates up about 50 percent and gas up about 20 percent following the latest increases, the increase in telephone rates brings to 70 percent the total utility rate increases the New Jersey consumer now faces.

"Without even leaving his home to go shopping, the average consumer now spends 70 percent more for these vital goods and services than he did six months ago. It's a nightmare," he said.

The candidates said they read with interest a statement by Robert Kleinert, Bell president, in which he said he is "extremely disappointed" with the $60 million rate increase.

"We are extremely disappointed with the rate increase, too," they said. "Except that where Mr. Kleinert thinks the $60 million rate increase is too small, we think it is too large—$60 million too large!"

The candidates called on Gov. Brendan T

Byrne and the State Legislature to roll back the latest gas, electric, and telephone rate increases and warned that failure to do so could result in state-wide repetitions of the bedlam which occurred when irate citizens in Atlantic City gathered to denounce a rate increase requested by the Atlantic Electric Co.

"The seemingly endless stream of rate increases which keep falling on the tired backs of New Jersey's consumers is driving people right to the edge of economic and emotional disaster," Mrs. Persley said. "In Atlantic City, senior citizens screamed—literally screamed—that their fixed incomes could not absorb another rate increase."

Prehn represents UC in Coalition

Union College, Cranford, has joined the New Jersey College and University Coalition on Women's Education, it was announced this week by Dr. Saul Orkin, president of the college.

"The Coalition exists to bring together college administrators and faculty members to share ideas for developing and improving women's programs in their institutions and to discuss the education of women with leaders in the field from across the nation," Dr. Orkin explained.

Prof. Lillian Prehn of Roselle Park, an associate professor in Union College's biology department, will serve as Union College's representative to the coalition. Prof. Prehn, who has served as chairperson of the faculty curriculum committee, joined the Union College staff in 1971. She was promoted to the rank of associate professor this year.

A graduate of Notre Dame College, Staten Island, Prof. Prehn earned a master's degree from Marquette University, Milwaukee. She formerly taught at Kean College, Marquette University and in the New York City public school system.

19th birthday fete of Woman's Club slated Wednesday

Mountainside Woman's Club will celebrate its 19th birthday party with a luncheon at Mountainside Inn, Route 22, Mountainside on Wednesday at noon. The table centerpiece will be a homemade birthday cake provided by members of the executive board.

Mrs. Leslie Personette will introduce Kay Kato and her world of cartoons. Miss Kato is one of the few women cartoonists and lecturers in America. She will sketch members of the club.

Anyone interested in attending the "Shopping Spree" at Reading, Penn., Oct. 22, should make the reservation at the meeting. The bus will leave the Community Presbyterian Church at 8:15 a.m. and return at 6:15 p.m. Cost will be $6.50.

Nine members represented the club at the regional fall conference recently at the Ramada Inn, Clark. Mrs. Melvin Lemmerhirt attended Seminar I, "Spirit of '76 through Home Life;" Mrs. Walter Riley and Mrs. John Wroblewski, "Spirit of '76 through the Arts." "Spirit of '76 through Service" had Mrs. Michael Sgarro in attendance, while Mrs. John O'Connell and Mrs. Donald Jeka attended "Spirit of '76 through Communication." Mrs. Joseph P. D'Altrui attended the membership seminar. Also present were Mrs. Henry Bosman and Mrs. Donald F. Hancock, the two members of the Mountainside Woman's Club who recently passed their examinations for membership in the National Association of Parliamentarians.

August wedding for Miss Riley

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Riley of Iris drive, Mountainside, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Susan Patricia, to Dennis James Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard M. Bailey of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Miss Riley, a 1972 graduate of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, is a senior at the College of Steubenville in Ohio. Her fiancé, a graduate of Mount Lebanon High School, is a senior at Waynesburg College, Waynesburg, Pa.

An August wedding is planned.

Gourmet cooking instruction to start

A gourmet cooking course will be given by the greater Westfield Section of the National Council of Jewish Women, beginning on Wednesday.

The six-session course, offering a choice of morning or evening instruction, will run from 9-11 a.m. and from 8-10 p.m. The fee is $20 for council members and $25 for non-members.

Among the items to be cooked and tasted are egg roll, yeast bread, crepes, chicken Kiev, beef Wellington, mousses and souffles. Enrollment is limited. Further information is available from Mrs. Robert Lapidus, 382-4916, or Mrs. Robert Klein, 276-0340.

B'nai B'rith unit to meet at temple

The Springfield Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women will meet at Temple Sha'arey Shalom on Wednesday at 12:30 p.m.

The program for the afternoon was planned by Mrs. Bernard Schwartz, public affairs chairman. The first portion will feature an expert from the local police department who will speak about securing homes against criminal intrusion and assault. The second part of the program will feature the three candidates seeking the one position open on the Township Committee in the November election. Mrs. Stanley Kaish is chapter president.

A girl for Falluccas

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas A. Fallucca of Hilltop court, Springfield, are the parents of their first child, a daughter, born Sept. 27 at Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Livingston. The new arrival, Gina Nicole, weighed in at seven pounds, nine ounces. Her mother is the former Carolina DeVita of Springfield.

Veronica Woodall is engaged to wed

Mr. and Mrs. George Woodall of Brookside road, Mountainside, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Veronica Anne, to Donald C. Schwerdt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Schwerdt Sr. of Brook street, Springfield.

Both Miss Woodall and her fiancé are graduates of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

Members' luncheon for NCJW Tuesday

The paid-up membership luncheon of the Greater Summit Section of the National Council of Jewish Women will be held Tuesday at Temple Sinai, Summit.

The program will be presented by Dr. Robert Roth, who is a clinical psychologist and professor of psychology at Kean College, and also a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music. He will speak on Johann Strauss, whose 150th birthday is being celebrated. His talk will be accompanied by musical illustrations.

Hadassah unit will hold three-day garage sale

Springfield Chapter of Hadassah will hold a garage sale Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday at the home of Iris Segal, 63 Sherwood rd., Springfield, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Sale items will include clothing, household goods, appliances and small pieces of furniture.

Members and friends may bring donations, in good condition, to Mrs. Segal or may call for pickup. Beverlee Weltchek is fund raising chairwoman; Mildred Robinson is president.

Mrs. Ridz named president of the Newcomers Club

Mrs. Joseph Sefack turned over her presidential gavel to Mrs. Dennis Ridz at a recent installation luncheon held by the Mountainside Newcomers Club at the Tower Steak House in Mountainside.

Other officers installed for the next six month period are: Laura Johnson, vice-president; Sandra Zeus, recording secretary; Sue Clement, corresponding secretary; Gerry Regenye, treasurer.

Directors and committee chairpersons for the coming period are as follows: activities, Linda Piscitelli; telephone, Marilyn Benford; membership, Patty Robinson; decoration, Gail Massey; social events, Diane LaFon; child care, Annette vonWatsdorf; bulletin, Marie Vespasiano; directory and hospitality, Pat Daily; hostess, Judy Swarty; publicity, Harlan Shropshire, and civic, Janice Tully.

Miss Yavorsky becomes bride of Neil K. Daeubler

Rooke Chapel, on the campus of Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., was the setting Aug. 23 for the wedding of Andrea Jenine Yavorsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Yavorsky of Elysburg, Pa., to Neil Kenneth Daeubler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Daeubler of Timberline road, Mountainside.

The Rev. Dr. Raymond H. Kask of Norwood, Mass., officiated at the ceremony. A reception followed at the Sheraton Inn, Danville, Pa.

The bride chose Mrs. Howard Swift of Midland, Mich., as her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. George Grabowski of Baltimore, Jean Reifschneider of Wallingford, Conn., Mrs. Dwight Tamaki of King of Prussia, Pa., and Mrs. Peter Herron, sister of the bridegroom, of Latham, N.Y.

Dwight Tamaki served as best man. Ushers were Peter Herron, W. William Messerschmidt Jr. of Matawan, Jeffrey Miller of Cranford, and David Yavorsky, brother of the bride, of Elysburg.

Mrs. Daeubler attended Cedar Crest College, Allentown, Pa., and graduated magna cum laude from Bucknell University in June with a bachelor of science degree in business management.

Mr. Daeubler, an alumnus of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, graduated in June from Bucknell with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering and a bachelor of arts in business management. He is an engineer with the Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Broomall, Pa.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple is residing in Wayne, Pa.

The new president comes from Detroit. A University of Michigan graduate with a degree in English, she is the mother of two girls, Sherry and Dawn. With her husband, a financial executive, she has resided in Mountainside for the past two years.

The outgoing board of the Newcomers honored the incoming officers at a silver luncheon held at the home of Mrs. Eugene Deutch.

Both new and old officers will gather for a board party with their spouses Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sefack. This event ends the term of the current president and officially starts the new president on her job.

Lampport-Osbahr engagement told

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Lampport of Springfield have announced the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia, to Howard W. Osbahr Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Osbahr, also of Springfield.

Workshops at YWCA

The Summit YWCA, this week announced two new fall workshops. Cheerleading will begin Thursday, Oct. 23, and continue for six sessions until Dec. 11, 3:30 till 4:30 p.m. The class will include the basics of the art of cheering, Stacey Trimble, assistant gymnastics coach of the YWCA squad and past cheerleader, will instruct the series. Cheerleading is open to seventh through ninth grade youths.

Introduction to modeling will also begin Thursday, Oct. 23, and will continue for five sessions until Dec. 4, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. The series will cover the basics of modeling, such as development of self-confidence and poise, make-up, skin and nail care, wardrobe, coordination, exercise (yoga), walking and posture.

Ms. Kathleen Dunnder, instructor of modeling at the Barizon School of Modeling in Union, will be the instructor of the series. Modeling is open to youths in the seventh through 12th grades.

For further information concerning membership, registration, fees, and scholarships, readers may call Kathy Barchesky, youth director at the YWCA, at 273-4242.

REVEREND JAMES CALDWELL

"The Fighting Parson"

During the Revolutionary period, the Presbyterian Church (now First Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth) was the largest, most impressive looking edifice in Elizabethtown, and in 1762 was destined to receive as its rector, a man who was to become its most famous minister, the Reverend James Caldwell.

Caldwell was born in Virginia in 1734, and, after graduating from Princeton, spent many years preaching in the South. At age 25, his calling brought him to Elizabethtown to assume new ministerial duties.

Because of his enthusiasm and devotion to his duties, his congregation steadily grew in number. He was an ardent house caller, and never missed a chance to invite new people to attend services. Despite the many hours he spent on church business, Caldwell was a devoted family man. A good deal of time was allotted for his family and working in his garden.

He was also an ardent patriot who used every means at his command, including his sermons and prayers, to condemn the tyrannical acts of King George and his ministers against the common people. It was his contention that the common man had a dignity before God, and that oppression from earthly powers was not in accordance with God's law.

When war broke out he joined the Continental Army as a Chaplain and later became a deputy quartermaster. Although his parishioners were sorry to see him leave, they were consoled knowing he would be with their boys since most of the Elizabethtown men who enlisted were members of the Presbyterian church.

Whenever it was safe to do so, Rev. Caldwell would return to the church to conduct services and visit with the people. It is said he carried two pistols which he would lay on his pulpit cushions while he preached during which time sentinels kept watch at the doors for the enemy.

During the Battle of Springfield when Caldwell heard the Continental soldiers were exhausting their supply of wadding, for their rifles, confiscated a stack of Watts Hymnals from the Springfield church. As he tore out the pages to substitute in place of wadding, kept shouting "Give 'em Watts, boys, Give 'em Watts."

In the meantime, while the battle was raging, Mrs. Hannah Caldwell, with some neighbors, was back at the parsonage of the Connecticut Farms Church awaiting news of the fighting. It was at this time a British soldier fired into the house where Mrs. Caldwell was sitting. She was hit and died instantly.

Rev. Caldwell who was away with the American Army at the time of his wife's death, arrived back at the parsonage the next day, and read the burial service for his wife.

Word of her death spread over the countryside, and almost nothing during the Revolution angered or created a craving for revenge among the Colonists as did this unwarranted killing.

To put a stop to the illegal trading of goods between the Americans in Elizabethtown and the British stationed on Staten Island, General Washington gave orders to post sentries at deHart's Point, and to arrest anyone caught engaged in this act.

It was here that the Reverend Mr. Caldwell met his death at the hands of an American Soldier.

Caldwell's purpose for being at the Point was to help a young lady who had come to Elizabethtown to visit her sister. After escorting her to a carriage, he went back to the boat to get a package. As he was returning with it, a guard, James Morgan, shot and killed him.

Morgan was held for murder, tried, convicted and executed.

At his trial Morgan based his defense on the fact that Caldwell failed to stop when ordered to halt. His superior officer testified that Morgan was not on duty at the time of the shooting, and had been bribed to kill the minister.

Sometime later a monument was erected to the Reverend and Mrs. Caldwell, and now stands in the First Presbyterian Church graveyard on Broad Street where they both lie buried.

Did You Know

... in 1746, after several attempts, Rev. Jonathan Dickinson of the Presbyterian Church in Elizabethtown was successful in obtaining a royal charter to establish a college, the purpose being to prepare young men for the ministry. The College of New Jersey, as it was called, was convened on Rahway Road, south of Cherry Street. Mr. Caleb, working with Mr. Dickinson, was the first tutor. The college was later relocated and became Princeton University.

and Did You Know

... that it was decided by the members of the Mutual Savings Fund Harmonia (now Harmonia Savings Bank) that in order to conduct the business of the Association more efficiently, a permanent meeting room should be engaged. Clauss's Hall at 644 Fulton Street, Elizabeth was selected and the conduct of business was guided by Jacob Brucklacher, the Second President.

Special services bureau for Crestwood Villagers

Jan Kokes is a man who cares.

In these days of mechanized-computerized society, Kokes is concerned that the spirit of Crestwood Village—neighborliness and mutual helpfulness—will not be lost.

And so, Kokes, vice-president of the retirement community on Rt. 530 in Whiting, Ocean County, has taken steps to preserve this basic tenet of the Crestwood formula, which has marked the village since its founding in 1965.

Together with Naomi Rice, a resident of the Village who came to him with the original idea, Kokes brought about the opening of a central office known as CARES: Crestwood Assistance Referral and Employment Service. Operations commenced in January with a staff of volunteers manning the switchboards five days a week from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. They provide information about anything of interest to Villagers: employment referrals, assistance for anyone in distress, look-in companionship for the lonely or ill, and other services—all at no charge.

Discussing the office, Kokes reiterated sentiments of Mike Kokes, his father and the Village's founder: "We care about our neighbors. We care about our community. And we care that, as the community grows, we should not lose the closeness and concern between us, of caring about each other.

"That's the precious extra which comes with residence in Crestwood Village. More important than bricks and mortar is the knowledge that here, people care."

Kokes acknowledged that expressing these principles and translating them into action were two different things, and he asked for volunteers from the community to man the staff—"for whatever time and on whatever schedule is convenient to the individual... to make it work." Cooperation was pledged by the Women's Clubs, the Acacia Twig, VFW Post 8745 and its Ladies Auxiliary and the Old Guard; between 200 and 300 Village volunteers also enrolled.

Among the services provided for newcomers to the Village: "match pals" for hobbies or even just for taking walks; emergency vehicles when needed; information on maps, bus schedules, where to go for legal help, accounting services, shopping, psychological counseling; contacting ambulance or doctors; home repairs, chores or handyman assistance, and "sitters" for elderly persons. These are in addition to the employment referrals and companionship features. More are to be added as the need arises.

Occasionally, the only "service" required is help with problems that sometimes occur when a new family moves in and must acclimate itself to a new community. Often CARES serves in other ways. For example, there was the call from a woman suffering an abscessed tooth and in so much pain she couldn't bring herself to ride the bus. CARES drove her to the dentist and back, and refused to accept any payment, whereupon the woman declared: "I must have moved into Utopia."

In another example cited by Mrs. Rice, a woman suffering from a heart condition was so impressed by the help she received in an emergency that she asked how she could help as a volunteer. Despite her condition, a spot was found for her, telephoning shut-ins and spreading a little cheer from her home on a very relaxed schedule.

The office of CARES is located in the model home complex (across Rt. 530 from Harmony Hall in Crestwood Village); the phone number is 350-1400.

Before moving to Crestwood Village with her husband six years ago, Mrs. Rice was associated with Princeton University as a museum curator. Prior to taking on the post of executive director of CARES, she was the Welcome Wagon hostess for the Whiting area, and it was as she visited homes in this capacity that she became aware of a need for the CARES type of program. She paid tribute to the volunteers—both the dozens who man the office on half-day shifts and the outside volunteers who drive cars, do the shopping and visit residents of the Village. "Without them the program would not work," she said.

CONTEMPORARY STYLING is reflected in the manor house buildings at Union Gap Village, located on a 60-acre site in Union Township, Hunterdon County. Cedar siding and rustic roofing highlight the exteriors of the structures, blending into the rolling hills of the surrounding area.

Union Gap Village open; prices start at $33,400

Union Gap Village, a 60-acre residential project on Rt. 78 in Union Township, Hunterdon County, officially opened for inspection on Sept. 26. It offers 438 contemporary manor houses, ranging in price from $33,400 to $46,400.

"After observing one young couple after another not being able to afford the single-family homes in this area," said H. Charles McNally, president of Lanid Corp., Mendham developers, "we decided, something had to be done, and Union Gap Village is the result. Now, families starting out, or an older couple looking for a responsibility-reducing situation, can purchase one of these homes for as little as $33,500 down."

McNally further stated, "having had the experience of many years in the business of conceiving and designing development properties, I must state that the Union Township Planning Board was indeed an objective and farsighted group. We worked together in the project from the blank paper through the finished product and you may be assured that the result will be a superb, beautifully planned community."

The model now completed shows eight different floor plans. The architect has made liberal use of glass, cedar siding, rustic roofing and the surrounding country—with the low roofline of each manor house blending into the contour of the rolling hills. Features also include private entrance way (no common stairs or hallways), a garage, fireplace and a patio or terrace.

In addition, each unit offers a den, total climate control heating and conditioning systems, wall-to-wall carpet, walk-in closets, multilevel designer interiors, refrigerator, washer and dryer, automatic dishwasher and cable television. Recreation and sports activities have not been overlooked at Union Gap Village. Available to each homeowner are four all-weather tennis courts.

Union Gap Village is 17 minutes from Rt. 287-78 intersection, and approximately one hour from New York City. Descriptive brochures and floor plans on Union Gap Village may be obtained by visiting Union Gap Village or by writing the Lanid Corp., Oak Knoll road, Mendham 07945.

Variety of floor layouts available at Greenbriar

Of the five different homes being offered at Greenbriar, the U.S. Home adult community off Garden State Parkway Exit 91 in Brick Town, the Dogwood is the one selected most often by new residents. As with all the designs in the community, it is available in a variety of layouts to meet the buyer's particular needs.

"The Florida room seems to be one of the main attractions of this particular model," said William Steinfield, vice-president of U.S. Home of N.J. "It provides a unique touch of year-round springtime which receives much comment from prospective buyers."

In addition, the Dogwood may be purchased with one or two bedrooms, and all new models are being completed with two baths. In all, there are three floor plan variations and five exterior elevations with prices starting at $33,990.

"The secret of the success of Greenbriar is the same as the success of this particular model," said Steinfield. "Every phase of the community is the result of careful planning and research. We made a careful study of the human needs of the mature family and used this information in planning homes and the many amenities of the total community."

The validity of the U.S.

Home research is found in the community's population figures. There are almost 1,500 residents enjoying the benefits of this seashore residential environment.

"Everything is arranged to provide all of the comforts and amenities of modern living," Steinfield added, "from the dependable General Electric appliances and efficient electric baseboard heating to wall-to-wall carpeting and oversized garage and storage areas."

Each family in the community has automatic membership in the Greenbriar Association, which provides services and facilities for residents.

While they enjoy the traditional tax advantages of private ownership, membership in the association frees residents from the problems of exterior maintenance. Snow removal, lawn care and outside painting are among the services provided. There is also a community bus service that takes residents to area shopping malls and cultural centers.

Aside from the many on-site attractions, Greenbriar is also convenient to the major metropolitan areas, while well removed from urban congestion. New York City is 90 minutes away, thanks to the Garden State Parkway; Exit 91 is only about one minute from the entrance to Greenbriar. In addition, there is frequent, express bus service.

'Trial weekend' at Wild Acres

A chance for families to "sample" vacation home living before buying property is keeping Wild Acres Lakes in the Poconos a busy place these fall weekends.

Like taking that expensive new car for a spin before making up your mind, this year-round vacation community is making friends and sales by giving people a "demonstration" weekend.

Wild Acres Lakes is a four-season private recreation community located five miles west of Dingman's Ferry, Pa., and is a property of All-American Realty Co., Hackensack.

"Purchase of a vacation home is a major investment and decision for any family," All-American Realty president Richard Norman said, "and our 'trial weekend' program provides an opportunity for people to find out what it's like."

Wild Acres provides a fully-furnished vacation home to a couple for $25 for any weekend, and includes a bag of groceries. Children can come along at $7.50 each.

"Many families think of a vacation home only for the warmer months," Norman said, "and our program enables people to see for themselves the many advantages of enjoying a vacation home in the fall and winter, too."

Only 83 miles from the George Washington Bridge, Wild Acres is close enough from the metropolitan area for year-round weekend use.

The 300-acre community surrounds five lakes, and facilities include a clubhouse, tennis courts, swimming pool, bathhouses, boats for members' use, basketball courts, and other recreational opportunities.

"Our program is certainly being helped by the breathtaking fall foliage in the Poconos," Norman said, "and we are delighted with the enthusiastic response from families who are reserving their 'sample' weekend."

Information about the Wild Acres Lakes program can be obtained by calling 488-6565 or (212) 594-1060.

Midlantic appointment

Norman Mendell has been appointed manager of the property management division of Midlantic Mortgage Corp., It was announced by William F. Active lifestyles at Poconos lake

"What we have here," said Lou Larsen, "is a new world for people whose lives are in a rut, who are smart enough to realize it, and who are tired of it."

The developer was speaking of Big Bass Lake, in Gouldsboro, La., the leisure home community he and his brother John have created in the Poconos.

Larsen believes too many people are put off from building a leisure home because they think of it as a flimsy, old-fashioned cabin in the woods. Such a place, he said is a far cry from the actual homes that are going up at Big Bass, "which are modest in price but nevertheless handsome and comfortable the year round, with all modern conveniences." And they provide opportunities for a lot more than just bird watching and lunch under the trees.

There's boating, swimming, hiking, riding, tennis, and picnicking in shady groves. Fishing enthusiasts also have the lake, a former breeding area for large-mouth bass which is still abundant in them. Pickerel and other fish are being caught there, too. In addition, a private, stocked trout stream winds through the property.

In the fall, the Poconos are popular for small game and deer hunting—and leisure home owners who don't care to hunt have a chance to rent their homes seasonally to those who do. Off-season renting is a means many owners use to help defray the cost of upkeep. The Larsens, licensed real estate brokers, will act as agents for the owners in such transactions. Their service includes everything from acquiring tenants, and collecting rent to arranging for cleaning and inspection of the premises.

Winter is one of the biggest seasons at Big Bass Lake. The community has its own private ski slopes with T-bar lift.

Big Bass Lake at Gouldsboro is near the highest point in the Poconos. The road from the east is over Rt. 80 to Rt. 380 West to Exit 3. From there it's less than two miles on Rt. 502.

MOUNTAIN GREENERY — A recently completed chalet on a heavily wooded site at Big Bass Lake in the Poconos provides a leisure retreat for the owners. The Pennsylvania development covers 800 acres, accessible over a network of private, paved roads.

Pocono builders cite advantages of lot purchases

Burying your savings in a crock in the back yard is considered a little old-fashioned, but there's another way of putting them into the ground that makes more sense, according to the Larsen brothers of Gouldsboro, Pa., the developers of Big Bass Lake in the Poconos. They point out that investment in a leisure homesite is one of the soundest ways of saving available to a young couple today.

"Most young married people like the idea of having a second home for weekends and vacations, but many of them feel that the expense is more than they can handle right now," Lou Larsen says. "They decide to put off doing anything about it until they've saved up enough money to cover at least the down payment on a leisure home. What we tell them is, 'You don't have to wait. You can get the project rolling right now—by putting your savings into a lot instead of into a bank.'"

Larsen notes this method of accumulating capital has many advantages, among them the fact that land values in good communities have been rising steadily for many years and are likely to continue in this direction. He points out money invested in land is less subject to shrinkage by inflation, which eats away at bank deposits, and it is not subject to the uncertainties and the fluctuations of the stock market. In most cases, the value of land goes up as the value of the dollar goes down. "And the amount of capital required to get started on a savings program based on land is surprisingly small," he declares.

Another advantage the Larsens point to is that full privileges in the leisure home community begin as soon as the first payment is made on the site. Even though the lot is being paid for over a period of time, and even though nothing has yet been built on it, the owner of a Big Bass site can use all the private recreational facilities of the community—the lake for fishing and boating, the picnic groves, the woodland trails, the ski slopes, the recreational buildings—complete with lounges, game rooms and saunas—the indoor and outdoor pools and the newly-constructed tennis court complex.

"By putting your savings into the land, you get all this at once," Larsen says. "It's a dividend you won't get from any bank."

The Larsens report that over 800 homesites have been bought at Big Bass Lake in the four years the community has been under development. This represents an investment of some $7 million dollars in homes on the sites. However, lots still are available. The property covers over 800 acres, all of it wooded but accessible over a network of private, paved roads.

The display center and sales office at Big Bass Lake at Gouldsboro is open seven days

Vacation opportunities at Goldman complexes

For Lawrence Schiner of Englishtown, it is sometimes difficult to differentiate between work and play. They're both really the same thing.

During most of the year, the 35-year-old Schiner is assistant athletic director and basketball coach at Jersey City State College. When the summer vacation arrives, instead of taking to the hammock for a rest, he takes over as recreation director for Goldman Builders, the Edison-based community development firm.

"In some ways," comments Schiner, "the two jobs are very similar. Both involve plenty of physical activity and responsibility. However," he adds, "the swim club programs are designed to meet the interests of a broader age range."

Schiner has found that although his two careers have clearly defined seasons, they both require year-round planning. Preparing for summer activities at the four Goldman communities is especially complex. Three of the rental communities, Kensington Gardens, Margate and Menlo Park apartments are in Middlesex County. The other two, Carriage Stop, rental apartments and County Downe, a condominium community, are in Bensalem Township, near Philadelphia. In addition to supervising the operation of the six outdoor swimming pools by the company, Schiner also coordinates a broad range of social activities at the swim clubs.

Each pool is open an average of 60 hours a week. With more than 1,000 people taking advantage of the pool facilities at each community every week, constant care is a paramount responsibility.

Schiner notes that over the past two years residents of the four communities have been making much greater use of the onsite recreational opportunities. "Soaring gasoline prices and the general inflation played an important part in the increased popularity of the pools," notes Schiner. "Instead of taking off for expensive weekends, they found that they could have just as much fun right at home."

The increased use of the centers has produced a greater sense of community among the many residents. This has become so important that Goldman Builders has continued to expand the leisure-time attractions at the four developments, with a special emphasis on tennis and field trips for the children to Great Adventureland, Jungle Habitat, the Bronx Zoo and baseball games.

A unique aspect of Schiner's job is the coordination of intercommunity tennis tournaments. Matches are carried out at all levels of proficiency, with an all-star series at the end of the summer.

"This particular sport has generated an amazing response among residents of the four communities," he says. "The tennis contests have been very spirited events with each community well represented on the court and in the stands."

During the warmer months, the four Goldman communities also feature frequent evening pool parties.

"These parties are great ice-breakers," notes Schiner. "Combined with the many other activities available in the communities, they play an important part in creating a sense of neighborliness. That's why the atmosphere at the Goldman communities is much like life at year-round country club."

Schiner has a staff of 20 people, all certified Senior Red Cross water safety instructors.

The Goldman Builders approach to residential development with its emphasis on top quality recreation facilities is seen as one of the major reasons for the company's continued success. In addition to its communities in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, Goldman Builders also built Raintrees at Royal Palm, Florida.

Double Grand Opening

NEW SECTION. NEW LOOK.

The new Everglade (shown above) at $33,990 typifies Clearbrook's new look. Just one of 4 new models now available in 3 exciting new elevations which feature harmonizing combinations of brick, fieldstone and aluminum siding. Models at the site are ready for viewing.

What's new at Clearbrook?

A whole new section with a fabulous new look. 112 exciting new Plaza Condominiums and Garden Homes with more drama, more value than ever before. Low-maintenance aluminum siding. Sturdy brick and sparkling fieldstone facades. Wrought iron railings and trim. Private atriums in some models.

Clearbrook's Exclusive E.S.P. - Energy Saving Package. We're also introducing our new 8-way energy-saving construction. This includes the "Chronotherm" automatic resetting thermostat, built-in humidifiers, heavy exterior insulation, combination storm and screens, 5/8" thick insulated patio doors, fully sheathed exterior walls, fibroboard backed aluminum siding (in some models), and 0° to 70° design specifications, which means the house is designed to maintain 70° when it's 0° outside.

What else is new?
We've repainted the existing Clearbrook homes in refreshing new colors - a stroke of genius if we say so ourselves. Come see these colorful changes. And all the things that haven't changed, as well. Our 25,200 square-foot clubhouse. Olympic-size swimming pool. Tennis and shuffleboard courts. Private golf course (nominal greens fee). They're all still in top condition and in full swing. Just like our more than 1,000 active residents - many in business or professions, all very much in the mainstream of life. 80% of the heads of households here work. Not surprising, considering our average age is just 57.

All of this makes Clearbrook an adult community rather than a retirement community. A place where busy people can enjoy the ease and financial benefits of condominium ownership... plus the comfort of 24-hour security and health services. It all adds up to a truly outstanding way of life at a surprisingly moderate price... just 42 miles from Manhattan (Lincoln Tunnel) by car or regularly scheduled bus. Be sure to see our new model area and our new look soon - all ready for immediate viewing. They make Clearbrook an even more attractive alternative for people on the go who want to get more out of life.

All new models feature: Wall-to-wall carpeting, central air conditioning, GE range and garbage disposal, humidifier, and E.S.P. our exclusive Energy-Saving Package. LOW INTRODUCTORY PRICES! With so much value being packed into our section - including brick, fieldstone, and aluminum siding, we don't know how long we will be able to hold prices at the current levels. So hurry!

EARTHBOUND

By JOSEPH TOBIN

Director, Ecology and Conservation,
Wave Hill Center for Environmental Studies,
New York, N.Y.

Since the turn of the century, one of the unusual natural features of the eastern part of the country has been preserved and protected for posterity in a joint venture between New Jersey and New York. Just a short drive away from most of us, and still largely in the condition it was in when Henry Hudson first saw it in 1609—stands the majestic Palisades wall.

Born in fire, cooling slowly underground, and then exposed to view by the passing of the Hudson River's water, the Palisades ridge has played an important role in United States history and has been celebrated over the years by artists, naturalists and travelers alike.

The ruggedness of the Palisades has long preserved them from intensive development. Communities that have grown up along the New Jersey shore of the Hudson have hugged the river's edge at the foot of the cliffs or been located on the western slope of the wall.

Many of these communities figured in the American Revolution. Fort Lee was built, intent on blocking British ships from ascending the river. Lord Cornwallis crossed from Yonkers to Alpine Landing, and climbed to the top of the wall to drive Washington out of Fort Lee and into retreat across New Jersey. The Palisades then was an important military position during the early development of the nation.

Beginning in the 1850's, New Jersey's great wall was threatened with destruction. Ugly quarries were started and blasting construction took place around the clock.

The Palisades Interstate Park Commission came into being in 1900, largely through the vision of George W. Perkins, who objected, along with many others, to the destruction of the wall as a result of quarrying.

A long series of maneuvers which would eventually provide the present impressive public recreational facility was begun. It is an interesting experience to visit such places along the Palisades as the historic Ross's Dock area, the Englewood Cliffs site and the Alpine Landing boat basin.

I have enjoyed many a leisurely afternoon watching the seagulls and other shore birds soar along the great grey steps of the cliffs, as well as hiking on the shore path at the Hudson's edge. The Palisades Interstate Park, New Jersey section, is a tribute to man's assumption of his duty as caretaker of our natural wonders.

Arts Center host to Black heritage festival Saturday

The Third annual Black Heritage Festival at the Garden State Arts Center on Saturday will offer 10 hours of activity, ranging from workshops and spectator participation in the visual and performing arts to stage presentations by professional entertainers.

"It will be a full day of events illustrating the wide range of creative endeavors of the Black community in New Jersey," Mark Henderson Jr., general chairman of the Festival, said this week in announcing the varied program. "The over-all design is to provide enriching experiences as well as recreation, culture and top-flight entertainment."

The stage show in the amphitheater starting at 5 p.m. will be presented as a salute to the Black heritage in music and will feature the following professional performers:

The Moments—Al Goodman, Billy Brown and Harry Ray—now among the most popular vocal-instrumental groups in the east and noted recording artists.

Alex Bradford and The Bradford Singers. Bradford, hailed as the leading gospel singer of his generation and considered one of the originators of contemporary "soul" music, won the Obie Award in 1971-72 for his performance in "Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope."

Ivan Conerly, winner of the "Mr. Africanus" title in Newark, who has been a featured vocalist at leading supper clubs and on television.

The Grand Depot, a rock and Latin jazz group. Abdullah Hakim and The African Dance Society of New-ark, returning for their second appearance in an Arts Center festival.

The master of ceremonies for the stage presentation, which will end at 8 p.m., will be Nathan Heard, author of "Howard Street" and "To Reach a Dream."

Free 'hot line' to Public TV for questions on referenda

A hot line to New Jersey Public Television will enable voters to question their Secretary of State and other officials of state and non-governmental organizations regarding referendum questions on the Nov. 4 ballot.

The toll-free hotline, 800-792-8690, will reach the station's studios during half-hour New Jersey News Special Reports Thursdays at 8 p.m. through October.

Betty Adams, legislative correspondent, will moderate the series on Channels 50 and 58.

The opening report tonight will focus on the Equal Rights Amendment. Kitty O'Neil of the N.J. Division of Women, supporting the amendment to the national Constitution; and Inez Franco, opposing it, will answer questions called in by viewers.

The Transportation Bond Issue will be discussed the following week by Charles Marciano of the state AFL-CIO, proponent of the bond issue, and Margen Penick of the N.J. Conservation Foundation, which is against it.

Secretary of State, J. Edward Crabel, will be guest on Thursday, Oct. 23, to translate three other state bond issues on housing, water, and institutions and agencies. He will also explain the Constitutional Amendment on Property Tax Exemption, its meaning, and implications of its passage and-or defeat. The Secretary of State will also tell why the exemptions were not effected by simple legislation rather than through a constitutional amendment. Guest on the Oct. 30 special report will be announced. All programs will be live. New Jersey News Special Reports will be directed by Barbara Pierce and produced by George Perkins, news director.

N.J. TV to examine role of blacks in the military

The history of blacks in the American military, from Revolutionary times to the present will be the focus of "Say Brother-National Edition" which will be telecast Saturday, Oct. 18, at 8:30 p.m. on Channels 50 and 58.

Although blacks comprised only 10 percent of the American population in 1966, they made up 15 percent of United States effort in Vietnam.

Flu vaccine time is here

It is not too early to begin vaccinations for the winter flu season, the New Jersey Academy of Family Physicians advises.

Influenza vaccine should be administered by mid-November. This year a single dose will be adequate; in the past, the vaccine was given in two doses.

Only about one of every 10 Americans in the high-risk group is being vaccinated each year against influenza, the physician's group observes. This high risk group includes the chronically ill—heart disease, bronchopulmonary problems, kidney problems, diabetics and persons 65 years old and older.

Perhaps one in five adults will react to the vaccine with low fever, chills, aching muscles and headache. Children are more likely to have fever, and sometimes a medication to control fever is given to children following the vaccine. Your family physician is prepared to advise and administer the vaccine that will protect you from this winter's onslaught of flu activity.

GOOD SAVE!
Some of William Shakespeare's plays were saved for posterity because they were pirated by shorthand writers sitting in the audience. These early-day stenographers recorded plays that otherwise might not have been preserved.

Symposium scheduled at Synagogue session

A symposium on the implementation of the United Synagogue of America's resolution on the role of women in ritual will highlight the Northern New Jersey United Synagogue Region Presidents' Council dinner-meeting, to be held next Thursday, Oct. 16, at 6 p.m. at the Clinton Manor, Irvington.

The symposium panelists will be: Donald Broder of Temple Beth Am, Matawan, former president of the Region; Dr. Maxwell M. Kaye of Temple B'nai Israel, Irvington, former president of his congregation, former president of the Region, and present chairman of the national United Synagogue Committee on Affiliations. Also Dr. Judith Lax of the Jewish Community Center of Summit, former president of her congregation, present vice-president of the Region; and Yetta Soloff of Congregation B'nai Israel, Toms River, former president of the Central New Jersey Branch of the Women's League for Conservative Judaism.

Singles evening listed Saturday

B'nai B'rith Singles (for persons under 35) will sponsor a coffeehouse Saturday at 8 p.m. in Dining Hall 3, Downs Hall, on the campus of Kean College, Union.

Kean announces homecoming slate for Oct. 17 and 18

Kean College will celebrate its 1975 Homecoming with a full schedule of activities on Friday, Oct. 17, and Saturday, Oct. 18. Cultural events will include a piano recital Friday at 8 p.m. by a member of the music faculty and an exhibit of prints from the New York University Collection which will be open to the public Saturday at the gallery in Vaughn-Eames Hall.

Saturday's festivities begin with a varsity soccer match against Newark Rutgers at 10 a.m. on the soccer field. The president's Alumni Luncheon will be held in the Town and Campus Restaurant, adjacent to the campus. During the luncheon the 1975 "Alumni of the Year" will be announced and the members of the three major gifts clubs will be honored.

At the 1:30 p.m. pre-game show on the football field, Hela Yungst, a 1971 graduate of Kean College and a former Miss New Jersey, will act as mistress of ceremonies. The pregame activities will include a Bicentennial presentation by the Chatham Rifles and the New Jersey Colonials. The Cranford High School Marching Band will present a lively half-time show. The Homecoming Queen and her court will be crowned at mid-field.

At 4:30 p.m., a reception will be held for alumni at the Town and Campus Restaurant. At the same time there will be a post-game party for students in Downs Hall.

The day's activities will wind up at 8 p.m. with a performance by Hela Yungst and Company of song and dance. Miss Yungst has performed professionally under the name of Hela Young at the Great Gorge Playboys Club and the Fountainbleu Hotel in Miami.

For information on events and ticket prices, readers may contact the alumni office, Kean College, Union, 07083, or telephone (201) 527-2526.

'Legislature Night' for state workers

The Essex Chapter of the New Jersey State Employees Association will sponsor a "Legislature Night" on Oct. 14 at 8 p.m. in the Hutchinson Auditorium at Kean College, Union.

Sandy Rever, president of the organization, said all state employees may attend. Senators and assemblymen from Essex and Union counties have been invited.

The NJSEA represents 28,000 state employees throughout the state.

Hearing Tests For Elizabeth

Free electronic hearing tests will be given at Belton Hearing Aid Service offices on Monday and Friday.

Factory-trained hearing aid specialists will be at the office listed below to perform the tests.

Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding, is welcome to have a test using the latest electronic equipment to determine his or her particular loss. Diagrams showing how the ear works and some of the causes of hearing loss will be available.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year, if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing hearing aids, or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out about the latest methods of hearing correction.

The free hearing tests will be given at Belton, 11 Broad St., Elizabeth on Monday and Friday. If you can't get there on Monday or Friday call 353-7686 and arrange for an appointment at another time.

Testimonial dinner planned for president of Seton Hall

The Seton Hall University community will recognize Msgr. Thomas G. Fahy's first five years as president with a testimonial dinner in the Student Center on the South Orange campus on Saturday, Oct. 18.

John A. Cole, assistant treasurer of the university, is general chairman for the dinner and is working with a committee of faculty, students, administrators, alumni and friends.

Msgr. Fahy's association with Seton Hall goes back over 36 years to 1939 when he entered the university as an undergraduate. He was subsequently ordained in 1947 and immediately joined the faculty of Seton Hall Preparatory School, where he served until his appointment as athletic director of the university in 1955 and as a professor of classical languages. He served as dean of men for two years and in 1963 assumed the position of vice-president for instruction.

Msgr. Fahy was elected the 14th president of Seton Hall, succeeding Bishop John J. Dougherty, on May 22, 1970, and was formally inaugurated on Oct. 14, 1970. In January 1971, he was elevated to the rank of Prelate of Honor by Pope Paul VI.

During his tenure as president, Msgr. Fahy has overseen a massive construction program including a $3 million business-nursing complex in South Orange, completed in 1973; a $2.25 million women's residence hall, completed in 1971; and a $4.5 million Law Center, now nearing completion in Newark.

He directed the conversion of a carriage house on the South Orange campus into a modern art center and a comprehensive reconstruction program in the area of physical sciences. He also was responsible for the introduction of a huge air-supported recreation and athletic bubble on the campus.

Msgr. Fahy's term of office has seen the establishment of a Center for Black Studies and a Puerto Rican Institute. He was instrumental in the formation of a University Senate, consisting of students, faculty members, administrators and alumni. A day care center on the South Orange campus and a neighborhood education center in Newark to curb potential high school dropouts are products of his administration, as are student-run pub and a faculty, administrators and alumni club.

Msgr. Fahy also has served as state chairman for the Cancer Crusade and in a similar capacity for the Easter Seal campaign.

Further information on the dinner may be obtained by contacting the co-chairmen Richard Regan, athletic director, or John J. Conlon, executive secretary for alumni relations.

Quattrone elected president of N.J. Cancer Society

S. John Quattrone, a Trenton insurance executive, has been elected the 22nd president of the American Cancer Society's New Jersey Division. Installation of officers took place at the recent annual meeting of the division's board of trustees at the Somerville Inn in Somerville.

Quattrone, who served as chairman of the 1975 Cancer Crusade Committee, succeeds Joseph J. Ippolito of West Orange. In accepting the presidency, Quattrone reported to the trustees that the 1975 Cancer Crusade collected more than $2,608,000 in contributions—the highest amount in the New Jersey Division's 30-year history. He extended congratulations to all who took part.

Other officers serving for the 1975-76 fiscal year are: Arthur C. Fried of Westfield, Mrs. Irving R. Hayman of Ridgewood, and George L. Bielitz Jr. of Morristown, vice presidents; Raymond J. Donahue of Linden, treasurer; John F. Bateman of Piscataway, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Robert J. Renfrow of Moorestown, secretary; Joseph F. Buckley of Somerville, assistant secretary; William O. Barnes Jr. of Jamesburg, counsel; Irving F. Sturm of Roselle and J. Leonard Hornstein of Jersey City, associate counsels.

Quattrone is a past president of the Mercer County Unit of the ACS. As county Crusade chairman, he succeeded in raising record amounts of funds for the care and treatment of cancer patients in Mercer County and for the extension of public and professional education programs dealing with the detection and treatment of cancer.

A very large appetite

The average cow gives about 350 pounds of milk a week. That means a cow must eat 315 pounds of silage, 105 pounds of hay, 118 pounds of grain, 14 ounces of salt, 14 ounces of general food substance—and she must have 175 gallons of water—all in one week.

Frisbee flingers ready Second tournament Sunday

"Folli," or frisbee golf, is coming to Johnson Park in Piscataway on Sunday.

Gary Seubert of North Brunswick, director of the second annual "Jersey Jam" Frisbee Tournament, said, "Many of the top frisbee flingers in the country will be coming east to demonstrate their expertise at frisbee golf and freestyle frisbee."

"As the name implies," Seubert stated, "frisbee golf is similar to golf, but the ever-popular flying disc replaces the ball. A nine-hole frisbee golf course will be marked off in the park, complete with dog-legs, tee markers and 'holes' of wire mesh which stand one foot high and five feet in diameter."

Foursomes will compete as a team in an effort to score as much under par as they can for their 27-hole total in three rounds. The foursomes will then demonstrate freethrows and catches.

Seubert asserts, "Freestyle frisbee demonstrates the extension of a simple game of catch to include leaps, tricks, tumbles and anything a player can do in an effort to make throwing and catching a frisbee more spectacular."

The event starts at 9:30 a.m. at the corner of River road and Landing lane in Johnson Park. The awards ceremony, which will have members of the first and second-place teams receiving golden frisbees, will follow the freestyle event later in the day.

Single Parents meet

The Suburban Chapter of Parents Without Partners will meet Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, Route 10, Livingston, to hear Warren Gasink, assistant professor of Speech Communications, East Stroudsburg State College, discuss "What's He-She Up To."
