Halbsgut and O'Connell
roll to Council posts

Mountainside voters turned out in force Tuesday to cast ballots in the annual election, despite the fact local Republican candidates were running unopposed this year. A total of 2,830 persons, or approximately 55 percent of the total number of registered voters in the borough (5,183), visited the polls.

Leading the ballot was Mayor Thomas J. Ricciardi, who won reelection to a second four-year term with 2,052 votes. He was first named to the highest office in the borough in 1969 to serve a two-year term, and received the nod for another four years in 1971.

Borough Council candidates Donald Halbsgut and John O'Connell also chalked up impressive tallies, 1,950 and 1,949, respectively. O'Connell will serve his second three-year stint on the governing body; Halbsgut has been a Council member since September, when he was named to replace Peter Simmons who resigned after accepting a post as Delaware state lottery director.

Locally, the Republicans trounced their Democratic opponents in the race for three seats on the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, with the GOP standard-bearers receiving the following totals: Herbert Heilmann Jr. (incumbent), 1,757; Walter E. Ulrich (incumbent), 1,795; Rose Marie Sinnott, 1,788. Tallies for the Democrats were: Leda Perselay (incumbent), 756; Anthony Amalfe, 731; Abe Rosensweig, 688. Labor Party candidate Deborah Salowey received only 40 votes in the borough.

Democrat Betty Wilson, seeking her second term in the New Jersey General Assembly, went down to defeat not only in the Republican stronghold of Mountainside, but also in her 22nd District, and she conceded approximately two hours after the polls closed at 8 p.m. Her vote count in the borough, where she carried only the 8th Election District, was 1,105, with running mate William A. Wolf garnering only 808. The vote counts for the victorious Republicans were Donald DiFrancesco, 1,662, and William J. Maguire, 1,654.

There were six public questions on the ballot—two proposed N.J. Constitutional Amendments and four bond issues—and in the borough, the majority pulled the yes lever on the first amendment and voted no straight down the line on the rest.

Local approval was granted only to the amendment which would extend senior citizen property tax deductions, with 1,745 votes cast in favor of the proposal; 900, in opposition.

The controversial Equal Rights Amendment for women found favor in only one district, the

Columbia names hospital therapist

The appointment of A. Gloria Hershman of Wyoming drive, Mountainside, to the post of clinical instructor in occupational therapy (OT) at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons has been announced by Overlook Hospital, where Mrs. Hershman is chief occupational therapist. Mrs. Hershman will supervise the clinical training of Columbia students during their community hospital affiliation at Overlook.

A graduate of Milwaukee-Downer College in Milwaukee with a B.S. degree and diploma in occupational therapy, Mrs. Hershman is working towards her master's degree in group process and counseling at Seton Hall University and has taken additional graduate courses in rehabilitation at New York University Post-Graduate Medical School.

President of the New Jersey Occupational Therapy Association, she is a member of the National Rehabilitation Association, the International Society for Prosthetics and Orthotics and the New Jersey Health Careers Service and serves on the advisory board of allied health professions of Union County Technical Institute in Scotch Plains and Kean College in Union.

their traditional post-election gathering place—with approximately 100 of the Grand Old Party faithful on hand to toast their victorious candidates.

The speeches by the winners were short, and sweet and to the point, with Mayor Thomas Ricciardi taking the lead, not only in thanking his supporters and campaign workers, but in commending the Democrats, who this year failed to file a party slate.

"It was a hard fight," Ricciardi began, quickly adding, apparently to insure the remark was not taken as being facetious, "This campaign wasn't easy. To run a campaign without opposition is a very difficult situation, and those directly involved in it will agree."

"It is gratifying to win...and the fact that we had no opposition is a credit to us. The opposition recognizes that we have done a good job. The Democrats could have put names up and tried to run a smear campaign against us, and it is a credit to them they didn't do that."

The mayor commented he feels Mountainside is "a utopia," representing "the way government should be run." "Once again, I promise to try my best to provide a good job and to involve as much of the community as I possibly can to insure this type of community will continue. I want it to stay basically as it is, recognizing that problems will come before us, and we will measure them as they do."

Donald Halbsgut, winning his first elective office, read prepared remarks, in which he stated, "I want to express my sincere appreciation and thanks to all the voters who have placed their trust in me to continue the tradition of good government in Mountainside. I consider the opportunity to serve a great privilege and I will be ever mindful of the task I have before me in representing all the people of Mountainside."

The newest Borough Councilman also thanked the board workers, GOP County Committee people, the local Republican Club, campaign manager George Yogy, ex-mayor

Jet middleweights win, 12-0, but lightweights lose first, 6-0

The Mountainside Football Middleweights won and the Lightweights lost on Sunday at Chatham.

The Mountainside Jets C squad lost their first game of the year to the Chatham Township T-Birds, 6-0, on a first-half pass from halfback Andy Jarvis to Glen Dyer.

Mountainside, behind the running of Mike Kontra, Bill Carthy and Mark Dougherty and the passing of Greg Van Name to Jeff Wilde, moved to Chatham's 30 before its best drive stalled in the second half.

The Jets' defense was again outstanding, led by linemen Joe Sefack, Ron Martignetti, Steve Scholes and John Schon. Jeff Wilde, Damian O'Donnell, Mike Kontra, Mark Dougherty and Greg Van Name also played solid defense, backing up the line.

The Mountainside Jets middleweight team remained undefeated by beating the T-Birds, 12-0, in what head coach George Crane said was the Green Machine's best team effort this year. The defense, which registered its third shutout, was led by Dave Galisewski, Ted Noe, Donald Garretson, Raymond Sargent, Robert Dooley

Religious leader to lecture on Gospel for OLL series

"The Gospel According to Matthew" will be the subject matter of a lecture and discussion series by the Rev. Martin J. Burne, president of the American Cassinese Benedictine Association at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside.

A series of five lectures will be offered over a six-week period, starting on Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Our Lady of Lourdes on Central Avenue. The Rev. Gerard McGarry, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, has extended an invitation to everyone to attend this series, which will continue on Nov. 19, and Dec. 3, 10 and 17.

The first 45 minutes will be spent in the presentation, and audience members were requested to bring their own Bibles. There will then be a coffee break, followed by a discussion and question and answer period until 10.

Father Burne is a resident of St. Mary's Abbey in Morristown, where he has had a variety of responsibilities including that of abbot. He has taught at St. Benedict's Preparatory School, Delbarton School, Mount St. Mary's Novitiate and Caldwell College. He holds an A.B. degree from St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pa., an M.A. in music education from Columbia University and a Ph.D. from New York University.

Father Burne also served as a chaplain in the U.S. Naval Reserve with the United States Marine Corp. During World War II, he saw

REV. MARTIN J. BURNE active duty in Guadalcanal, Bougainville and Guam. He is a retired commander in the reserve.

Adults can tempt youths to alcohol

The community relations committee of the League of Religious Organizations of the Westfield-Mountainside Area this week stressed its concern for the "increasing use and abuse of alcohol, particularly among our youth."

The Community Relations Committee declared:

"We are entering another social season. Young people learn from the example set in their homes as well as in the homes of their peers. When social drinking takes place in the home, non-alcoholic choices should be prominent and available. Young people should not see alcohol abused. Do not put temptation in their way by lack of supervision or careless attention to your supply."

Program of VFW post to mark Veterans Day

The Mountainside Memorial Post 10136 VFW, will observe the traditional Veterans Day Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Community Presbyterian Church, Meeting House Lane.

The public has been invited to take part in the program which was arranged by the Rev. Elmer A. Talcott and Post Commander Thomas E. Bailey.

Class planned for babysitters

The babysitters' training course sponsored by the Mountainside PTA will be held in the all-purpose room of the Deerfield Middle School from 9:30 to noon during vacation on Nov. 13 and 14.

A doctor, nurse, nursery school teacher, librarian, fire and police department representatives, an experienced babysitter and a mother will speak and answer questions.

Registration forms will be distributed at the Deerfield School and should be returned by tomorrow. Forms may also be obtained at the Mountainside Library. If further information is needed, readers may call Mrs. John Connolly at 232-1657.

A BALLET LAUGH—Boris Kolenkov (portrayed by Stephen Legawelc) tries to explain intricacies of ballet to Grand Duchess Olga Katrina (Marcia Rubenstein) in one of the humorous scenes from "You Can't Take It With You," which will be staged tomorrow and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in Halsey Hall, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Tickets ($1.50) may be obtained at the door or from any cast member.

'Creepy people' win awards at local 'Freak-In'

Skeletons, witches and assorted "creepy people" turned up at the Halloween Freak-In staged at Deerfield School last Friday. The second annual event, sponsored by the Recreation Commission, attracted more than 300 participants and spectators.

In the costume competition, the following winners were announced:

Preschool division - prettiest, Nancy Van Benschoten; scariest, Sherry Ridz, funniest, Geril Damon, most original, Robert Mallamaci.

Grades K-1 - prettiest, Wendy Martenson; scariest, Duane Connell; funniest, Marc Costello; most original, Linda Kowick.

Grades 2-3 - prettiest, Beth Weinberg; scariest, Fred Filler; funniest, Darren Iacone; most original, Kevin McGrath.

Grades 4-5 - prettiest, Lisa Mortenson; scariest, Chuck Van Benschoten; funniest, Lynn Kucera; most original, Barbara Wingard; scariest, Jimmy Haughey.

Grades 6-8 - prettiest, Lynn Bonin; scariest, Matthew Chavkin; funniest, Sue McLaughlin; most original, Kevin Iacone.

Among the adults, special commendation went to Sherry and Carmen Mallamaci, Diana La Fon and Noreen Laddy, Nancy Haughey, Lola Wachsborg, Chris Winans and John Halecky.

"We are delighted with the turnout this year," noted Recreation Director Sue Winans. "We did not anticipate this large a crowd. In the future, we will have to conduct the costume judging by grade in fairness to the large number of kids who turned out."

MAGICAL TREAT - Following a recipe from Wendy and Harry Devlin's Halloween story, 'The Old Black Witch,' children in the Roberta Von Lunen and Edith Ross first grade classes at the Deerfield School mix 'Bewitching Blueberry Pancakes,' to the chant of 'Gobble dee gook, With a wooden spoon, The laugh of a toad, At the height of the moon! ## U.S. Senator HARRISON A. WILLIAMS Reports

At a time when millions of older Americans are scraping by on limited fixed incomes, the Administration is planning to make Medicare charges even more expensive to elderly participants than they are now.

The Ford Administration recently announced a 13 percent hike in out-of-pocket Medicare charges to aged and disabled patients. Beginning Jan. 1, 1976, Medicare beneficiaries will have to pay the first $104 of their hospital bills—up from the present $92.

Because it hits hardest those who can least afford to pay, this Administration proposal would be an act of extraordinary cynicism. Legislation I have joined in sponsoring would block the planned hike. It would freeze the payment at the 1972 rate of $92 and head-off comparable increases planned by the Administration for both extended hospital stays and nursing home care.

Under the Administration's plan, patients hospitalized from 61 to 90 days would have to pay $26 a day, compared with $23 now, and persons requiring extended nursing home care after release from the hospital would have their daily charges increased from $11.50 to $13 for the first through the 100th day of care.

For older persons trying to live at today's prices, the Administration's planned increases in out-of-pocket Medicare charges would result in a reluctance to seek proper medical care. Nearly 5.6 million aged and disabled Medicare beneficiaries are expected to be hospitalized in 1976. If the planned increase goes through, I fear that large numbers of aged persons will simply delay seeking necessary hospitalization—or perhaps wait until treatment is no longer effective.

Moreover, the harsh reality is that the elderly pay more in out-of-pocket payments for medical care now than they did the year before Medicare became law. In fiscal 1974, their per capita direct payments totaled $415, or $178 more than in fiscal 1966. And despite its valuable protection, Medicare still covers only 40 percent of the elderly's medical costs. It would, indeed, be a bitter bullet-to-bite to shrink Medicare coverage even further.

As the former chairman and now ranking member of the Senate Committee on Aging, I recently conducted hearings in New Jersey on the needs of senior citizens who generally pay a much higher percentage of their income for the basics—food, shelter, transportation, health care—than do other Americans. Time and

Fogelson named public information officer for district

The Board of Education of the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 recently approved the appointment of David Fogelson as assistant to the superintendent for public information.

A 1968 graduate of Newton High School, Fogelson received a bachelor of arts degree in American civilization from Lafayette College in Easton, Pa. in 1972. While at Lafayette, he served as a secondary schools representative for the college's admissions office and covered high school and college sports events for the "Easton Express."

Awarded a master of science degree in public relations from Boston University's School of Public Communication in August, 1973, Fogelson worked for WNAC-TV (Boston's CBS affiliate) as a production assistant-writer on "New England Today," a noon news program. From November 1973 until February 1975, Fogelson served as the researcher and writer for "Paul Hornung's Greatest Sports Legends," a nationally syndicated television series produced in Philadelphia.

Prior to his appointment by the board, Fogelson was a staff and feature writer for the Newton based "New Jersey Herald."

FELIX I. DELGADO

Delgado chosen president of firm

Felix I. Delgado of Mountainide has been elected president, chief executive officer and director of Beck's Industries Inc., of Mountainide. Beck's Industries will operate a federally inspected meat processing plant in White Plains, N.Y.

Delgado was formerly with Davis White Company, Newark. He joined Davis White in 1969 and was named head of operations and marketing in 1970. Also a CPA, he was formerly associated with an international CP firm in the New York metropolitan area.

Student with quartet

Terri Rubert of Woodland avenue, Mountainide, is in the flute and piccolo section of the Fine Arts Quartet and Woodwind Arts Quintet sponsored by the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, which will perform at the school tomorrow night.

Community Day by Church Women

Church Women United in Westfield will celebrate World Community Day at the Bethel Baptist Church, 539 Trinity pl., tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. Thousands of church women will gather tomorrow in their local communities to commit themselves to work toward a global society in which all persons have the opportunity to realize their aspirations in "One Community under God," a spokesman stated.

She added: "A year ago, women from every state and many nations came together in the triennial Ecumenical Assembly of Church Women United to consider the enormous problem of today's world, to identify the barriers which prevent a majority of the earth's peoples from living fully and freely and to dedicate themselves as a body to work for global society based on human values instead of economic ambition. They realized that today's hunger, poverty, war, the depletion and misuse of natural resources and sources of energy, the destruction of the environment and the deprivation of human rights can be approached as problems confronting the entire global society."

BUYING WISELY

From Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York, Inc.

Dear Larrie: I have two teenage children who are planning to enter college soon. I always wanted to buy a set of encyclopedias, but just never got around to it. I was delighted when a salesman rang my door bell and said he represented an encyclopedia company and the encyclopedias he was offering were "free" if I subscribed to the company's 10-year updating program. The cost of the 10-year updating service is substantial and, because of this, I'm wondering if I would truly be getting the encyclopedias "free."

DEBATING

Dear Debating: No encyclopedias are given "free" in this manner and you are, in fact, buying the encyclopedias with the option of obtaining the 10-year service if you wish. Always check on a sales representative who calls on you. You should ask to see identification and then check with your Better Business Bureau background information.

Larrie O'Farrell, Better Business Bureau

Dear Larrie: The newspapers are bulging with weekend meat specials of late. One ad indicated that their meat was "U.S. Grade A." Is this a superior quality of meat? Of course, I'm interested in saving money and would be happy if this was a superior quality of meat. I don't recall seeing other advertisements indicating the grade of meat being offered. Can you advise?

A SPECIAL BUY

Dear Special: There is no "Grade A" in the U.S. Department of Agriculture meat-grading nomenclature. The meat may be U.S.D.A. inspected, but this has nothing to do with grade of meat. You should buy from a reputable dealer who will vouch for the quality of his merchandise. If the firm's reputation is unknown to you, check it with the BBB.

Larrie O'Farrell, Better Business Bureau

Dear Larrie: I've been suffering with high blood pressure and have been under a doctor's care for quite a while. A dear friend of mine has told me of a substance he saw advertised for the treatment of high blood pressure called garlic tablets. These tablets apparently are well-known. Do you believe in the beneficial factors of garlic tablets?

REMEDY

Dear Remedy: There are no known substances which may be properly advertised for the self-treatment of high blood pressure. Although credited with magical properties by the ancients, garlic has no therapeutic value in the treatment of hypertension (high blood pressure) or its symptoms. Remember that it is dangerous practice to try to diagnose and treat your own serious or chronic ailments—he goes to another doctor.

Senator CASE Reports

As ranking member of the Transportation Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee, I am concerned with the relative responsibilities and roles of Federal and local governments in national transportation planning.

On the one hand the Federal government can marshal vast resources—technological, scientific, and financial—on the other hand the Federal government lacks the intimate familiarity with the community which is required in order to best solve local problems. In this respect state, regional and local transportation agencies must serve as effective advocates representing the people's economic, social and environmental interests. This cooperative transportation planning system can only work if both the Federal and local agencies are responsive to the needs of the community. Getting the Federal government to incorporate community inputs into the transportation planning process has been a hard fought and recently won battle.

Providing these inputs places a large responsibility on transportation planning agencies such as the New Jersey Department of Transportation (NJDOT). It is the mandated duty of agencies like NJDOT to develop plans that best meet the needs of the state as a whole. If such plans do not reflect the needs of the people then no amount of Federal commitment will remedy the situation.

From time-to-time I have felt that a state transportation plan has not presented the best opinion for the people of New Jersey—on these occasions I have voiced my objection to such plans. The proposal of the State of New Jersey and the Port Authority to extend PATH (the Newark-New York subway service) 17 miles to Plainfield is the most recent example.

It should be noted that good mass transportation is not an issue here—we all want that. The issue is whether the proposed PATH plan represents the best available option.

In effect, the proponents have concentrated all their considerable efforts on supporting the PATH proposal rather than exploring promising alternatives. As a result I am now told that PATH is the "only ball game in town." I do not accept this statement as a compelling argument especially in light of the fact that the option of upgrading an already existing service, the Central Railroad of New Jersey (CNJ), was not adequately explored.

Responsible decision making involves, first and foremost, the full and careful consideration of various options relative to their merit. Part of this consideration must include careful weighing of the cost of each option. PATH, the most costly of the alternatives seriously discussed, will drain Federal funds that could be used for other much needed mass transportation projects.

Defining a best solution is, of course, a difficult problem. However, at a minimum the acceptable solution must not reduce service to one segment of the population in order to provide service to another. Nor, must the solution ignore the public commitment to local communities that is implied by the presence of an existing mass transit system. And of course no solution should be considered acceptable simply because the funding burden can be temporarily shifted to a non-state agency or authority.

Therefore, I would urge the state, as I have urged the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, to develop transit plans that will best serve the residents of New Jersey.

Such a plan should include greatly improved CNJ and seashore lines and first-rate mass transit service to Newark Airport.

Walkers will seek sponsorship for sight-saving trek

Youngsters from Springfield and Mountainside are being recruited to join a 20-kilometer Walk-a-thon Sunday, Nov. 16, to raise money for sight-saving programs in New Jersey.

The "Eye Walk for Sight" is headed by Al DeRogatis, NBC football telecaster and Prudential Insurance Co. vice-president, this year's national sight-saving chairman for the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Walkers will seek sponsors to pledge 10 cents or more per kilometer walked, according to John P. Kehoe, with local headquarters at 615 Central ave., Westfield.

Local contacts include: Anthony Fioraliso, principal of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, and Sister Alexandrine of St. James School, who have forms available in their main office.

About 4,000 walkers will begin their trek about 10:30 a.m. in Mountainside's Echo Lake Park, passing through Springfield, Summit, Short Hills and Millburn, before returning to their starting point about 4 p.m.

Kehoe points out that while the 20 kilometers is grueling, the kids also are being offered incentives. The walker who collects the most money will win a 15-inch color television set, and the runner up will get a three-piece stereo.

Walkers who collect more than $50 get an AM-FM radio; more than $100 earn a calculator and more than $200 wins a 10-speed bicycle. And for walkers who bring in their money by Dec. 9, there will be a drawing for four AM-FM radios and a 10-speed bike.

The Society is also lining up volunteers to register walkers, and the calls are beginning to come in, at 233-2811.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness was founded in 1908 and is the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in the prevention of blindness through a comprehensive program of community service, public and professional education and research. The society makes available on request, materials such as publications, posters, films, lectures, charts, and advisory services.

Police apprehend summons scofflaw

Charges of interfering with a police officer in the performance of his duties were filed this week against a Spring Lake Heights man stopped by Mountainside police on Rt. 22 for a motor vehicle violation.

Police said Officer William Moylan halted an auto driven by Gregory A. Davis, at 2:35 p.m. Saturday, and noticed several traffic summonses on the floor of the vehicle. Investigation showed Davis was wanted on traffic warrants issued in Newark, but when he was ordered to accompany Moylan to police headquarters, he refused to leave his car. Moylan, assisted by P.I. John Garrett, took Davis into custody on the interference charge.

Davis was later released on $100 bail, pending an appearance in Mountainside Municipal Court on Tuesday.

Miss Penziner enrolls

Heidi Penziner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Penziner of Puddingstone rd., Mountainside, has enrolled at the University of Wisconsin-River Falls.

'Child Care '76' unit meets, drafts plan for county action

An organizational meeting for a "Child Care '76" campaign in conjunction with the nation's Bicentennial was held at the Westfield YMCA last week. Frank DiStefano, early childhood director of the Union Township Community Action Organization, was in charge.

A draft proposal for a county-wide action plan was submitted for review, with final action to be taken at the next meeting. It would establish a county-wide ad hoc committee to implement and coordinate a "Child Care '76" public education campaign. The committee would serve a fourfold function:

-To encourage and assist local child care and family service agencies in planning, execution and funding their own Bicentennial project which relates to the community they serve.

-To assist in the development of local "Child Care '76" committees that will participate in projects sponsored by local Bicentennial committees.

-To act as a centralized clearing house for public information concerning "Child Care '76" activities and projects countywide.

-To identify and publicize local needs and services available to children and their families.

"Celebrate America with our children" was adopted as the official theme of the campaign.

BIG HOOFER — Boreen Brunner of Pittstown displays 1,061-pound Hereford steer she sold to the Middlesex Tool and Machine Co. of Globe avenue, Mountainside, at the recent 37th annual state 4-H Club baby beef sale in Trenton. ## Special events planned for open house at UCTI

Special events will be presented by each department during an open house Wednesday, Nov. 19, from 6:30 to 10 p.m. at the Union County Technical Institute and Vocational Center, 1776 Raritan road, Scotch Plains.

A wide range of TV and radio test equipment will be demonstrated by students servicing radio and TV sets. A TV camera and monitor will give visitors the chance to be on live television in the Radio-TV laboratory.

The Humanities Department will present "Future Shock," a 42-minute color film based on the best-selling book by Alvin Toffler, which explores the changing modern society and its relationship to the years ahead. The film is narrated by Orson Welles.

Traffic violations bring fines to five

Only five motorists appeared before Judge Jacob R. Bauer at the Oct. 29 session of Mountainside Municipal Court, with the heaviest penalty being a total of $30 levied against a North Plainfield man for two Rt. 22 violations. The driver, Louis M. Girardi, was charged with failure to produce registration and operating an auto without stop lights.

Fined $15 each were Edward J. Bodnar of Jersey City, operating a car overdue for inspection, Watchung Reservation; Thomas W. Patrick of Metuchen, passing on the right, Rt. 22 and Theodore Z. Lofenc of New Providence road, Mountainside, operating a car with only one license plate, New Providence road. Peter T. Billias of Cranford paid $20 for failure to have his auto reinspected, W.R. Tracy drive.

Kindergym programs to be given by YMCA

Seven kindergym programs featuring scientifically designed "movement education" will be offered in the winter term of the Westfield YMCA which opens registration on Monday.

Further information about the classes may be obtained by calling the Y, 233-2700. The new term will be held Nov. 17 through Jan. 24.

Knodel ends training as a Marine recruit

Marine Private Joseph M. Knodel, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Knodel of Knollcrest road, Mountainside, was graduated recently from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

Physical conditioning, discipline and teamwork are emphasized during Marine recruit training. Classes include instruction in close order drill, Marine Corps history, first aid, uniform regulations and military customs and courtesies.

Consumer products unit set up by plastics firm

Precision Polymers Inc. of Mountainside, a manufacturer of plastic pipe, valves, fittings and other plastic products for industrial applications, has established a consumer products division to market its line of plumbing items through the nation's major chain and discount stores.

Named to head the marketing and sales efforts for the new consumer products division are Ted Licht, marketing director, and Fred Richard, sales manager.

Recent dry spells have been blamed on nuclear explosions, sunspots, moonwalks, too many highways and even an increase in the speed of the earth's rotation. Meteorologists explain that droughts are caused by a wayward jet stream diverting too many high-pressure systems from their normal paths.

Report from Washington

By Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo

Negotiations between the Soviet Union and the United States to complete an oil-for-grain deal are currently stalled over price. What should the United States be willing to pay for Soviet oil?

As one of the earliest Congressional advocates of an oil for wheat deal, I envisioned a long term agreement that would benefit both nations.

First, U.S. farmers would have an assured annual market for approximately six to eight million tons of surplus grain that could be sold over the next five years to Russia, which has experienced chronic shortages and drought in the wheat growing areas of the Ukraine. This has forced the Soviet Union to purchase huge quantities of grain sporadically, thus upsetting the world food market and raising prices sharply.

The grain sales can save U.S. consumers billions of dollars by enabling the United States to export enough surplus food and grain to cover this year's $25 billion bill for foreign oil. Without that hedge against higher oil payments, the U.S. dollar would plunge in value and our economy would suffer from worse unemployment and inflation.

Very possibly, American consumers would be forced to pay as much as five percent more for a wide variety of products because the devalued U.S. dollar would buy fewer raw materials. We would be back to double digit inflation unless we export enough food to pay for imported oil and raw materials.

It is clear that the United States must do all that it can to encourage new farm technology and higher production every year so that we can build up grain reserves, stabilize food prices at home, and have enough grain and other commodities left over to ship abroad to pay for our imports and to relieve world famine.

Just imagine what might happen without enough grain to export? In England and Italy, for instance, the rate of inflation is above 20 percent. Recent price increases by the oil producing countries are expected to boost the cost of gasoline to $2.26 a gallon in Britain and $1.87 in Italy. Their exports are not sufficient to cushion the higher cost of oil imports from the Mideast, and their economies are flirting with national bankruptcy.

The United States has felt the impact of higher foreign oil prices to a significant degree, too, although our exports have managed to soften the blow. Nevertheless, oil imports last year are estimated to have been to blame for one-third of the increase in the cost of living and a two percent hike in unemployment in 1974. That can be translated into more than a million jobs lost.

It is one reason why I put such a high priority in the wheat for oil deal as a means of shaking up the foreign oil cartel's monopoly price fixing practices and to increase U.S. farm production and food price stability.

What I still hope for is an agreement by the Soviet Union to sell 200,000 barrels of Russian oil daily to the United States at the same price that American produced oil is sold. Under the present price controls in the United States, American oil is selling for $5 a barrel below the price charged by the foreign oil cartel.

U.S. control over domestically produced oil prices is scheduled to expire on Nov. 13 unless Congress and the President reach an agreement on a gradual phase-out of price controls over a period of three to four years. In that event, any Soviet oil purchased under the grain-for-oil deal should, in my judgment, be pegged to U.S. prices rather than the world price of oil. Otherwise, there would not be much benefit if we imported the Soviet oil.

Our negotiators should be firm on this point. Either the Soviet Union cooperates in cutting the world price of oil, or the United States may be forced to set one price for wheat sold in this country and higher price on grain exports to the Soviet Union. This could be accomplished by having all U.S. grain exports handled through a single federal agency, such as the Canadian Grain Board now does in Canada.

Realty head gets community awards

Realtor Frank J. Thiel of Mountainside, recently installed as president of the Westfield Board of Realtors, has been selected by the group as the recipient of this year's community service award. Thiel is one of the regional winners from the 39 local Realtor Boards competing in the statewide program.

This 21st annual program will conclude with a community service award luncheon for all regional winners at the 59th annual convention of the N.J. Association of Realtors at the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall Hotel in Atlantic City on Dec. 4.

The winner will be presented a plaque at the Dec. 5 luncheon and will be honored further by the National Association of Realtors at its annual convention next fall.

8th. The boroughwide tally was 1,134 in favor; 1,530 opposed.

Vote counts on the bond issues were as follows: Water Resources ($110 million), yes 1,143, no 1,449; Transportation ($600 million), yes 778, no 1,795; Housing Assistance ($100 million), yes 825, no 1,751; Human Service Facilities, ($112 million), yes 771, no 1,772.

Six of the local election districts had voters who cast write-in ballots for municipal candidates, but at two of the polling places, the intentions were hardly serious. District 1 had one voter who wanted Gerald Ford to become mayor, while District 7 saw one vote each cast for Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Dumbo (no office indicated).

On the more legitimate side were the following write-ins: District 2, Leon Greenberg, 1 vote, for Borough Council; District 6, Billie Tulchin, one vote for mayor; District 8, Russ Cardoni for mayor, Billie Tulchin for mayor, Joseph Stypa for Borough Council, Albert D'Amanda for Borough Council—one vote each; District 10, Stypa for mayor, Cardoni for mayor, Eli Hoffman for Borough Council, Stypa for Borough Council—one vote each.

Republicans

Fred Wilhelms, who served as campaign treasurer, Kay Torma, "and all the people who gave their time and talents to assure our election."

"This effort must never cease if we are to maintain excellent government in the future for Mountainside. We look forward to working with all of you again in '76," he concluded.

Councilman John O'Connell, speaking off the cuff, noted, "When you finally realize you have been elected, and that people came out and voted for you, it makes you feel very proud, and also very humble." Citing the work of the campaign volunteers and others who serve the community, he added, "That's what makes our town a great town, and our party a great party...I will try to continue to do the job I have done, and I hope it is a satisfactory job."

Wilhelms, who also addressed the group, summed up the feelings of the borough's Republican victors regarding their substantial support at the polls: "This was a fantastic response from a community where there were no local opposition candidates. Even when it wasn't necessary, more than 2,000 people took the time to vote."

and M.J. Castelo. In the second period, Ricky Kontra recovered a T-Bird fumble on the 50. Tommy Fischer and Frank Gagliano took turns advancing the ball to the one, from where David Crane ran it in for the touchdown.

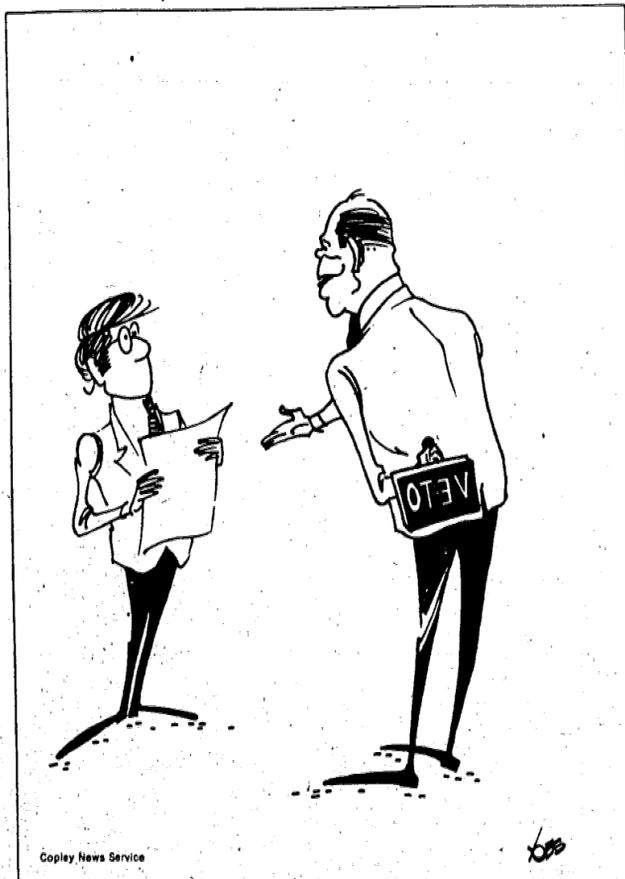

In the third quarter the Jets' Mark Dooley hit Dave Crane for 30 yards and then passed to Colin Owens for 17 yards and the touchdown to give the Jets a 12-0 lead. In the fourth period, Chatham threatened twice. The first drive was stopped when Owens intercepted a pass, and the final Chatham drive ended when Jimmy Roche recovered a fumble.

The Jets will play at Springfield Sunday, with the first game getting under way at noon.

Documentary film will be shown by Hiroshima pastor

The Rev. Dr. Kiyoshi Tanimoto, Japanese-born and American-educated Christian clergyman, now on a lecture tour of the United States, will speak at the Kenilworth Harding School, on the Boulevard at 16th street, on Saturday at 8 p.m.

Dr. Tanimoto will show the Monte Carlo Silver Award-winning film, "The Scars," a documentary on the famous "Hiroshima Maidens," who received many plastic surgery operations at New York's Mt. Sinai Hospital. The movie depicts their lives before and after the A-bomb blast, and what has happened to them in the last few years.

Dr. Tanimoto will be accompanied by his wife Chisa, who, as a student in a Methodist mission school in Japan, was instrumental in his conversion from Buddhism to Christianity. He received his theological training at Emory University in Atlanta.

After the dropping of the A-bomb, Dr. Tanimoto came to America to organize the Hiroshima Peace Center Associates, of which Norman Cousins, editor of The Saturday Review-World, is general chairman. Dr. Marvin Green, pastor of Kenilworth Community Church has been treasurer, and then secretary, of the Associates since its organization in 1948. During the years since Aug. 6, 1945, Dr. Tanimoto has pastored only one church, the Nagarakawa United Church in Hiroshima.

Dr. Tanimoto will speak only four times in the New York area; in Parsippany tomorrow to an ecumenical church group, at Harding School; at the Community United Methodist Church in Kenilworth at 9:30 a.m., Sunday; and at 11 a.m. Sunday at Community Church in Roselle Park.

Property Owners unit in seminar Wednesday

The Property Owners Association of New Jersey will conduct a seminar and workshop demonstration on maintenance and legal problems of landlords at a meeting next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Coachman Inn, Cranford.

Discussions will be held on pest control, plumbing and maintenance problems in multiple dwellings and on current legislation and other legal problems affecting property owners.

Program to help minority women enter job market

Three career development workshops will be offered free of charge to minority women in Union County by EVE—the Women's Center of Kean College, Union.

Viola Van Jones of Montclair, an EVE counselor and the coordinator of the Outreach Program for Minority Women, has planned the first workshop for Saturday, Nov. 22, from 9 a.m. to noon. Dealing with career awareness, it is designed to help women learn more about their abilities and career goals, and show them how to find out more about various occupations.

The second workshop on Saturday, Nov. 29, from 9 a.m. to noon will stress job hunting techniques. Discussion will concern the job interview, filling out applications, writing a resume, and sources of job leads. Both of these workshops will be held in Elizabeth at 58 Jefferson ave. in the CETA Building.

The Plainfield area YMCA at 518 Watchung ave. in Plainfield will be the site of the third workshop on Saturday, Dec. 6. The topic for this session, which also will be held from 9 a.m. to noon, is "Speak Out! Assert Yourself!" It will offer an opportunity to build confidence by teaching participants to become assertive.

The program has been made possible by a federal grant made to EVE by the New Jersey Division on Women.

For additional information or for advance registration, readers may contact the EVE office at Kean College, 527-2210.

Spanish perspective

"Imágenes," a lively series of local and national programs with a Spanish perspective, will have its season premiere next Wednesday at 10:30 p.m. on Channels 50 and 58 with a performance by Ray Barreto and his orchestra. "Imágenes" is repeated Sundays at 6:30 p.m.

Dinner-dance tickets on sale for Children's Hospital benefit

Reservations are still available for the ninth annual benefit dinner-dance of the Senior Auxiliary to the Children's Specialized Hospital, it was announced this week by Mrs. Walter E. Eckhart, chairman.

Anyone interested in attending the dance, which raises funds for the hospital, may contact Mrs. Owen L. Waltman at 232-6351. The dance will be held Friday, Nov. 14, at the Shackamaxon Golf and Country Club, Scotch Plains.

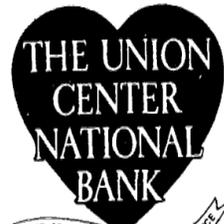

A full course dinner will follow a cocktail hour with dancing throughout the evening. A number of prizes will be awarded, including a weekend in New York City, complete with tickets to the theatre and the opera.

"The Senior Auxiliary sponsors this annual dance to benefit this rehabilitation center for handicapped youngsters, one of the few hospitals in the Northeast that caters to the young who are physically handicapped. We are helping the hospital to carry on its work," said Mrs. William R. Cunick, Jr., auxiliary president.

'Modern X-Ray' to be topic for career day at Overlook

"The Magic World of Modern X-ray" is the title of a career day at Overlook Hospital, Summit, next Tuesday when students from Union High School, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield and a number of others area high schools will explore the fields of nuclear medicine and radiology.

Radiology Day will begin at 9:30 a.m. with an introduction by Dr. James Flynn, chief of radiology at Overlook, who will speak on "Radiology and The Radiologist — What It Is and Who He is."

Tours of the radiology department will give firsthand views of how radiologists and technicians work with super-voltage X-ray for deep-seated cancer therapy, perform diagnostic tests, special procedures such as heart and brain catheterization, the use of radio-isotopes and magnascanners.

Students from Overlook's three accredited radiologic technology schools will be available for discussion and questions. Mrs. Carmen Stimac, R.T., education coordinator of the schools, will present the field of radiologic technology and its opportunities.

A film called "Lights and Shadows" will trace the history and development of X-ray. Students will also learn the educational requirements for different levels in the radiologic field, from the radiologist to the radiologic technician.

The program will conclude with workshop sessions on nuclear medicine, diagnostic radiography, radiotherapy and special procedures.

The program is sponsored by the Overlook Auxiliary, coordinated with the guidance departments of area high schools and presented by the hospital's professional staff.

Grecian Festival set this weekend

St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church of Newark will sponsor a Grecian Festival Saturday and Sunday at Seton Hall University's Student Center, South Orange avenue, South Orange.

There will be continuous food service and music Saturday from 11 a.m. to midnight, with live Greek music, entertainment and dancing from 7 p.m. to midnight. Sunday, there will be continuous service and music from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. with live Greek music from 2 to 8 p.m.

In addition to Greek wines and foods, including baked goods and pastry, jewelry, handicrafts and Greek novelties will be on sale. Take-out orders will be filled; free off-street parking will be available. Admission will be 50 cents.

Art center plans Christmas Sale

Member artists of the Summit Art Center will sell original art works at the annual Christmas Sale Saturday, with a reception from 7 to 10:30 p.m. The public is invited to browse, shop and enjoy the exhibit and refreshments.

Included in the sale will be paintings in oils and acrylics, watercolors, graphics, photographs, sculpture, jewelry, pottery and weaving, all perfectly priced for the early Christmas shopper or art collector. The center's "Art Lover's Cookbook," potpourri of illustrated recipes, also will be on sale.

The sale will continue through Nov. 16. Gallery hours are 2 to 4 p.m. daily, noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 9. The Art Center is located at 68 Elm St., Summit.

Labor leaders express support of United Way

More than 250 labor leaders representing hundreds of thousands of workers voiced their support of the United Way of Union County and its 64 member agencies at the seventh annual Labor Participating Dinner on Friday, Oct. 24, at the Town & Campus, Union. Principal speaker was John Brown, president of the state AFL-CIO.

R.L. Weeks, president of the United Way of Union County, said employee programs in the county in which labor plays a major role, represent about 60 percent of all campaign funds.

Congressman Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-12th Dist.) said, "there is no substitute for this kind of private charity. Government cannot do it all." Senator Clifford Case (R-N.J.) also praised United Way programs.

Sharing the dais were Alfred Fontana, president of the Union County Labor Council AFL-CIO; Mrs. Dell R. Raudelunas, executive director of the United Way of Union County; Edward Dassing, president, Local 1060 CWA, Bell Laboratories; Charles Walano and Frank Conway, AFL-CIO community services representatives, United Way of Union County. Freeholders, mayors, members of the State Assembly and Senate were also present to lend their support of voluntary agencies.

Workshop on art for tots, parents

The Summit Art Center is offering a Child-Parent Workshop beginning Monday. Frieda Savitz will conduct the six sessions on Mondays from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

This workshop for children aged 3 to 5 years accompanied by an adult involves art expression in which the parent and child work as partners, with other teams, or alone in clay, paint, collage, wire, prints and cutting.

The fee for the workshop is $28 and reservations may be made by calling the Summit Art Center, 273-9121.

Asteroids in program at Trailside

The Asteroids, the tiny planets between Mars and Jupiter, will be the subject of a program at the Trailside Planetarium in the Watchung Reservation on Sunday.

Donald W. Mayer, Trailside director, will present the program at 2:34 p.m. The program will be repeated on Wednesday, Nov. 12 at 8 p.m.

As the planetarium seats only 35 persons, tickets issued at the Trailside office are on a first-come, first-served basis for the Sunday performances. Children under eight years of age will not be admitted.

Trailside facilities, operated by the Union County Park Commission, are located at Coles avenue and New Providence road, Mountaintide. No program is listed on Nov. 9, at the Trailside Nature and Science Center. A half-hour nature talk for children is scheduled at Trailside at 4 p.m. on Monday, and on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 12 and 13. The subject is the Inca Indians. The facilities at Trailside are available to the public weekdays except Fridays from 3 to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays from 1 to 5 p.m.

ELIZABETHTOWN'S COLONIAL TAVERNS

During the Revolutionary period, with Elizabethtown situated as it was, and the people of the area traveling back and forth more than ever before, the taverns of the city prospered and did a thriving business.

The most prominent were Graham's Sign of the Unicorn at Broad and East Jersey Streets and the Nag's Head next to the Old Mill. As the war was drawing to an end, the Williamson house on the corner of Water and Broad Streets also became a tavern.

From 1770, the Sign of the Unicorn was run by William Graham, who had married the widow of the original owner and builder, Dr. John Clark. Upon Graham's death in 1797, Mrs. Graham operated the tavern until her son-in-law, Morris Hatfield took it over for about two years in 1788, and called it the Sign of the Two Lions; whereupon Mrs. Graham took her third husband, one Robert Forest, who managed the tavern until it was rented by Joseph Lyon in 1793.

Graham's Tavern was a busy place during the Revolution. Both British and American Army officers stayed there and, from time to time, used it as headquarters.

Another popular meeting place for officers and soldiers was the Nag's Head Tavern. In 1761 it was purchased by Barnaby Shute who renamed it the Marguils of Grandy. During the 1760's it afforded livelihoods for John Joline, John Graham and Broughton Reynolds, as well as Shute.

Between the years 1771 and 1776, it was owned by Samuel Smith who called it the Sign of the King's Arms. When war broke out he again changed the name of the tavern to the Red Lion. In 1780 Dr. William Winans ran it about one year when it was taken over by Jacamiah Smith until 1785 when Samuel Smith, the owner, resumed operation.

Joseph Crane was the first proprietor of the tavern that opened in the house that was built and owned by Matthias Williamson before the Revolutionary War. It was a large building consisting of three stories with huge chimneys at each end, and a porch that ran along the front of the building on Water Street, on Broad Street, in the back of the tavern, were stables where customers could leave their horses while enjoying a glass of ale.

In 1782 the ownership of the tavern was assumed by Samuel Sayre. Being as good an advertising man as he was a tavern keeper, Mr. Sayre hung a sign outside his door to catch the eyes of all who passed his tavern along Broad Street and over Golden Hill.

The sign read as follows: "Before you do this hill go up, stop and drink a cheering cup." For people traveling in the opposite direction it read: "You're down the hill, all dangers past, stop and drink a cheerful glass."

To dispel any illusions a prospective customer may have had regarding credit, a sign hanging on the tap room door informed him "Samuel Sayre, he does live here, and sells a pot of good strong beer; his measure's just, but Sam's so poor he cannot trust." Needless to say Mr. Sayre made a success of his tavern.

After the Revolution a man by the name of Wales bought Mr. Sayre, and this popular meeting place became known as Wales Tavern.

Because time was of the essence and speed was required to keep pace with the tempo of living during this period, the number of stage coaches, whose stopping places were the taverns, were increased accordingly.

In 1774 John Mercereau, a stage owner, advertised that his stage "Flying Machine" could take passengers from New York to Philadelphia in two days. Stages at this time were larger, faster and more comfortable.

The stage coach drivers, who were experts at guiding their horses, ruled with much the same authority as a sea captain held sway over his ship. He settled every question that arose and no one dared to dispute the ruling he handed down. Often to the dismay of foreigners he was a mile captain. In some cases, a colonel. Along his route he knew the residents of every house as well as all their business. He was well versed in every phase of politics and was ready to give his opinion at the slightest opportunity.

Usually each driver had a halper whose duty it was to assist the ladies on and off the stage and to tend the baggage. Many European travelers found it surprising, in some cases, a colonel. Along his route he knew the residents of every house as well as all their business. He was well versed in every phase of politics and was ready to give his opinion at the slightest opportunity.

When the stage arrived at a tavern it was traditional for tavern customers to hurry outside to see who was arriving and to hear the latest news from the travelers as well as the driver.

Because of the haste and bustle associated with the taverns, it can easily be understood why they had such an important place in the lives of the people.

The passing of 200 years has seen many changes in Elizabethtown... street names have been altered... buildings have been replaced... old familiar family names have passed into obscurity, but the popularity of the taverns as meeting places for old friends continues much the same as in colonial times.

Did You Know

.....that during Colonial times the taverns of the town were used by stagecoach companies as the stopping points for the loading and discharging of passengers - and Elizabethtown was no exception. History tells us that with the arrival of stages, the tavern customers would hurry outside to see who was arriving, and, in this way, learned the latest news from Philadelphia and New York from the travelers as well as the stage driver.

Three touchdowns (two by defense) not enough to overcome Verona skill

By LOUIS FASULO

It has been said that "you can judge how good a team you have by counting its mistakes." This proved true on Saturday when the Dayton Regional football team was demolished by the favored Verona Hillbilly eleven by a score of 47-22. The Bulldogs were completely overpowered by an aggressive Verona ball club. The loss brought the team record to a disappointing 1-5. Next week they will face Summit at Summit as they strive for its second victory of the season.

Once again the Dayton defense was forced to play a majority of the game because of numerous offensive errors which included many fumbles, interceptions and penalties by the entire unit. The offense, led by senior quarterback Joe Graziano, was held scoreless until the final seconds in the game. Graziano put in another very tough performance as he threw the ball for over 110 yards but his efforts were useless as each scoring attempt was ruined by a mistake. The Dayton offensive line played relatively well, led by Robert Potomski, Joe Ragucci, Greg Lies, Bob McGurty, and Bob Conte.

Although Graziano was sacked a few times, the line played a tough second half. Brandon Gambia and Mike Flood both had fair games offensively but were unable to break through the holes for any significant gains. Gambia gained 36 yards, and Flood, 34.

Dayton came on the field and was astonished by Verona's attack. It was obvious Dayton was not ready to play in the first quarter as the Verona team scored the first five times it had the ball.

Verona was able to put together an explosive start with Robert Merola scoring three times — first on a three-yard run and then on a 28-yard run. Fusella scored twice for Verona, once on a three-yard run and then on a defensive fumble recovery which he ran for 32 yards.

Quarterback Fred Reitzler threw for Verona's final score in the third period on a 34-yard pass to Jim Salyado. Field goal expert Walt Caulfield made the extra points, but an excellent effort by Jack Flood blocked an attempt at a field goal.

The Dayton defensive unit scored the first two touchdowns for the Bulldogs. Bob Potomski played an overall good game, he picked up a fumble and dashed 44 yards for the first TD. It was a great individual effort by Potomski as he dodged and sped for the score.

Brian McNanny, who plays defensive back, ran an 88-yard interception to score for Dayton. McNanny, whose speed and smart running had what one coach said was the best return all season by the Bulldogs. McNanny ran a pattern that confused the opponents as well as the Bulldogs.

The defense allowed the opposition to score 47 points but played a tight and rough second half. Jack Flood led the defense and he collected a team high of 20 tackles. Flood, who always puts forth a true effort, has been a key player all season long. He was involved physically in every defensive play of the game. Flood also returned a kick for 78 yards. Jim Rice put forth another key effort as he had 16 tackles and, along with Bob Potomski who had 12 tackles, kept the offense of Verona in check for the final two periods.

Quarterback Joe Graziano also filled in at defensive linebacker and played a fine game as he accumulated 11 tackles. Joe Mirto had nine tackles; Mike Flood had eight tackles and Steve Pepe and Brian McNanny each had five as they all aided the defensive effort. Linebackers Frank Bladis and Vin Mirabella also played well.

Despite many fine individual efforts, Dayton still ended up on the short side. Football is a team game in which every player must do his part for the entire 48 minutes, as theorized by one of the Dayton coaches. An optimistic note on the game is that it was the first time that Dayton has every scored on Verona.

2 Chatham TDs in last 4 minutes beat Minutemen

The Minutemen held a 12-0 lead until four minutes were left in the game. At that time, Chatham ran 60 yards in six plays to score the first touchdown. The host team then picked up a Springfield fumble a few plays later and went 35 yards for the winning touchdown.

Rick Marech, Springfield's quarterback, led the Minutemen offense to over 200 yards gained for the day. Marech passed 13 times with seven completions for 106 yards, including a 45-yard pass play to Tony Circelli for a touchdown. Circelli gained 60 yards rushing, including a 21-yard touchdown run on a pitch from Marech. Both extra point attempts failed, which became the deciding factor in the score.

Tony Gargiulo and John Ard were the other effective ball carriers for Springfield. Ard ran for 25 yards in the third quarter. Marech also threw to Joe Policastro and Ira Tauber for critical first downs.

The defense was led by Dave Szymanski, a seventh grader who made nine unassisted tackles from his linebacker position. Other defensive standouts were Craig Clickenger, five tackles, Joe Policastro, five, Jeff Silverthorne, Mike McIntyre, Mitch Toland, Jim Anagnos, John Ard, Tony Circelli, Tony Gargiulo, Steve Tenenbaum and Rick Marech, four each.

Krupp says soccer men lost through 'attitude'

By AMY GELTZELER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School soccer team was unsuccessful in its two games last week losing to Madison, 2-0, and New Providence, 4-0. The team has a record of 5-7-1.

In the Madison game the team tried a new formation that they had been working on for the past few weeks. The formation did not work out for the Bulldogs, and Madison was able to score its two goals in the first quarter.

Coach Arthur Krupp said, "The team had many scoring opportunities but they did not utilize them. After the first period Dayton only allowed six shots on the goal. When the team shifted back to its old formation after the first quarter they were successful in holding Madison back."

The last time the Bulldogs competed with New Providence, the game ended in a tie. One of Dayton's players scored a goal for New Providence to tie the game.

In the game last week, New Providence was able to score early in the first period and again in the second and third to win the game. Krupp felt that the boys played their worst game of the season.

He said, "The entire team gave up when New Providence scored in the first quarter. They did not show any desire or will to fight back. With this lack of determination they played a sloppy, inaccurate game. The coach of New Providence was surprised at the performance of the Dayton players. He found it hard to believe that it was the same team they had competed against just a few weeks ago. He thought Dayton was a superior team, but this game reversed that attitude."

On Monday the team was scheduled to play Summit, and yesterday they were to compete against Millburn.

Booster Club to meet tonight

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Booster Club will hold its monthly meeting tonight at 8 in the faculty lounge. Parents of students of all sports have been urged to attend.

Guest speakers will be members of the Union County Regional Board of Education from Springfield and Mountainside, who will discuss the athletic program at Dayton. The evening will provide an opportunity for the parents to learn more about the board's involvement with the needs of the high school sports department. There will be a question and answer period.

Gymnasts top Union Catholic with first place in each event

By LOUIS FASULO

The constantly improving Dayton Regional girls' gymnastic team split its meets this week by winning against Union Catholic and then losing against Madison in a night meet. The girls' record is now 4-6, and they are hoping for a victory Tuesday against Gov. Livingston Regional High School.

The team once again improved its overall score against Union Catholic by bringing it up to 68.65, its highest in its short existence. The total beat UC by 16.40 points. Coach Nancy Dougherty remarked that she was very happy with the efforts of every competitor, and she seemed extremely pleased by the high points accumulated by the girls as Dayton took first place in each event.

"The girls' success is due to the fact that they raised their difficulty ratio, which consequently assures them of a higher score for their routines," exclaimed Dougherty.

In the floor exercises Moira Halpin, took first place with a score of 6.85. Her routine went over very smoothly as she performed with grace and excellence. Halpin also scored a 6.2 in the B routine, which included many moves with high difficulty. She has been Dayton's strongest and most consistent performer. At the end of this event, the team led only by two points.

The bar unit for the Bulldogs swept all three places with scores of 6.1, 4.55, 4.35. First place went to Barbara Calamusa, and Jill Lipton and Carol Wingard took second and third, respectively. The unit, which has not been one of the stronger events for the team this season, played a decisive role in the victory. It was in this event that the girls really pulled away from UC.

After Halpin's first place finish in this event, Barbara Calamusa received 5.4 for second place.

Vaulting, which in the beginning of the season was the weak event, has become the team's strongest event. Freshman Carol Wingard scored the highest point ever for a Dayton girl, 7.65. She had an excellent vault. She has been an important asset to the team since entering Dayton this fall. Denise Francis, who surprised her teammates, scored 6.8 to take second place. Denise has really come into her own toward the end of the season.

The meet against Madison was influenced by the fact that it was held at night and that proved to be a definite hindrance to the team as it lost, 77.75 to 62.25. Madison has an excellent team, and really had an advantage as many Dayton girls were fatigued by the time their events occurred. Mrs. Dougherty felt this was a very significant factor as her girls took third place in two events, Moira Halpin on the beam and Jill Lipton on the bars.

The girls, who started the season with scores in the 50s, now hope to hit the 70s to cap what must be regarded as a very successful season.

Bjorstad leads Dayton runners to two victories

By AMY GELTZELER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross-country team was victorious over Ladison, 26-29, and Caldwell, 21-32, in a triangular meet. The barriers lost a tough meet against Summit, 29-27. With a record of 12-3, the team is in its last week of the regular season.

In the Caldwell-Madison victory, Billy Bjorstad placed first to lead the Bulldogs to a successful meet. He was followed by Charles Kiel, third; Bobby Philips, sixth; Brad Weiner, 10th, and Chris Cluney, 12th.

The team put forth a fine effort, but lost to Summit by a close margin of two points. Bjorstad placed first; Kiel, third; Philips, fifth; Weiner, ninth; and Danny Smith, 11th. Bjorstad took fourth place in the Union County Championship. There were more than 140 runners competing in the race and Bjorstad can be proud of his performance.

On Tuesday the team was scheduled to have its conference meet at Warinanco Park, and Saturday, the team will compete in the state sectionals at Warinanco Park. If the team is successful in this meet they may go on to compete in the state group championship. To do this they must take at least fifth place in the sectionals. The team can qualify for the state championship, or individual team members can qualify if their performances are outstanding.

Coaches Martin Taglienti and William Jones are optimistic that the boys will come through in these important meets: "The team has been working extremely hard and the boys are all showing strong performances."

The barriers will complete their dual meet season this week by running against Johnson Regional.

Jr. Minutemen hit Chatham

The Springfield Junior Minutemen continued their unbeaten ways with a 3-0 defeat of Chatham Borough's squad in a game played on Sunday at the Cardinals' field.

After winning the toss, the Minutemen took the ball and moved on the ground steadily, reaching the Chatham 20 before the defense stiffened and held. A 50-yard TD scamper around left end on the fourth play from scrimmage by wingback Dan Circelli was nullified because of a penalty.

Late in the first period, following a Chatham drive which ran out of gas at the Springfield 20, the Minutemen began their second sustained march. Staying on the ground, they reached the two, where Pete Ard took it across for the score. A sweep by Circelli chalked up the extra point for a 7-0 lead, which held up for the half.

At the start of the second half, the Cardinals failed to move the ball and were forced to punt. Circelli fielded the ball near the left sideline at about the 30-yard line, raced to his right, and gave the ball to Tom Ard on a reverse. Tom turned up the left sideline, and behind a solid wall of gold-shirted blockers, raced untouched to the end zone for a 70-yard touchdown. The extra point try failed.

Defensive pressure by the Minutemen kept giving the offense the ball in good field position, and Springfield registered three more scores before the game was over. Circelli scored from the two after touchdown by end Kyle Hudgins on a double reverse was wiped out by a clipping penalty in the third stanza.

Fourth-quarter touchdowns came from split end Tom Daniel, on the receiving end of a scoring strike from Tom Ard on a halfback option pass, and Pete Ard, on a 16-yard burst off his own right tackle, his second TD of the day. This last score was set up by a pass interception by Ron Fusco.

Head Coach Joe Rapuano was heavy with praise for the whole team, especially in view of a three-week layoff before the game. The offensive line paved the way for a 300-plus yard total offense, consistently opening big holes, with Pete Ard gaining 112 yards and Circelli, 110. The passing of QB Fran Clemson and tailback Tom Ard also supplied a number of long gainers for the offense.

This Sunday, the Minutemen meet the Mountainside Jets in a noon contest at Meisel Field.

Deerfield booter record improves

The Deerfield School, Mountainside, Varsity soccer team just completed a successful week by defeating Garwood, 3-0, and Springfield, 4-1, and tying Kump of Clark, 1-1. This brings the team record to 5-2-1 with two games left.

The team is led in scoring by Tim Harrigan with 10 goals, David Cushman with eight and Bill Rose with four. Of the starting players are Joe Huber, Ken Klebous, Mike King, Jim Kontra, Keith Hanigan, Paul Jeka, John Gerndt, Kirk Yoggy, Mike O'Connell and Kerry Lesslauer. The team has defeated Garwood twice, 3-0 and 3-0, Springfield twice, 6-3, and 4-1; Brewer of Clark once, 3-0; lost to Berkeley Heights, 4-2, and Kumpf, 3-1, and tied Kumpf, 1-1.

The team after a slow start has begun to play more aggressive soccer led by center Tom Harrigan and halfback Jim Kontra. The line, consisting of Cushman, Yoggy, Harrigan, Gerndt and Rose, has been working as a unit extremely well and has accounted for 23 goals in eight games. Goalie Ken Klebous in his first year of varsity soccer has three shutouts to his credit.

Other players who have contributed to the team's success are Mike Caricato, Martin Swanson, John Sexton, Alex Giacintov, Steve Vitollo, David O'Connell, John Magno, Jim Loughlin, Mark Krause, Dan Weiss, Peter Klaskin, Bill Pelligrino, Ed Williams, John Klimas, Denis Souders and Kevin King. The team is coached by Kit Carson, assisted by Ed Sjonell.

MRS. EDWARD STAHL JR.

Oct. 18 wedding for Miss Natiello, Edward Stahl Jr.

St. James Church, Springfield, was the setting Oct. 18 for the wedding of Paula Natiello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Natiello of Beverly road, Springfield, to Edward Stahl Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stahl of Martinsville.

The Rev. Edward Oehling officiated at the afternoon ceremony. A reception followed at the Mountside Inn, Mountside.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was attended by her sister, Jo Ann Pochick of Westfield, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Susan Stahl of Martinsville, sister of the bridegroom; Christina Plytynski and Janice Mauro, both of Springfield.

John DeMarco of Irvington served as best man. Ushers were Thomas Stahl of Rahway and Pater Stahl of Martinsville, brothers of the bridegroom, and Joseph Natiello 3rd of Springfield, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Stahl is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and the Nancy Taylor Career and Finishing School, Plainfield. She is employed by the International Paint Co., Union.

Mr. Stahl, an alumnus of Essex Catholic High School, Newark, is employed by V.J. Stahl Electrical Contractors, Springfield.

Following a honeymoon in Hawaii, the couple will reside in North Plainfield.

Woman's Club's departments announce dates for meetings

The executive board of the Springfield Woman's Club met recently to formulate plans for the coming month. Mrs. Henry Wright presided. Hostess for the evening was Mrs. John Gristi; co-hostesses were Mrs. Henry Jachim and Mrs. Edward J. Schubert.

Muriel Sims, chairman for the literature department, announced the next meeting will be held this Saturday at noon at Mrs. Phyllis Bouchard's home, 713-C Dorchester drive, Lakewood.

Mrs. Edward Schubert, chairman for social services, stated that the group will meet at the home of Mrs. John Williams, 5 Chamberlane ave., Warren Township, on Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 1 p.m. Members were asked to meet at Mrs. Robert Kennedy's home, 1 Warwick circle, at 12:30 so that they can leave in a group. Co-hostesses for this meeting will be Mrs. Michael Tatusko and Mrs. Robert Kennedy. The working project will be the completion of lap robes for Runnels Hospital.

The meeting for the creative arts department has also been changed. According to Mrs. Frank McClatchey, it will be held at her home, 57 Mountain avenue, this Wednesday. The women will work on the Christmas programs.

The international affairs chairman, Mrs. William Peacock, announced that her group will meet on Thursday evening, Nov. 20 at the home of Muriel Sims, 19 Molter avenue. Co-hostess will be Mildred Levens.

Mrs. Vincent Bonadies, chairman of the American home department, advised of a change for that department. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Miller, 112 Meisel avenue, on Tuesday. Co-hostess will be Mrs. John Unterwald.

ELEANOR C. BOYER

Boyer-Harbaugh wedding planned

Mrs. Marcom Boyer of Bethlehem, Pa., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Eleanor Claire, to James Kermit Harbaugh, son of Mrs. E. Kermit Harbaugh of Westfield, formerly of Mountside, and the late Mr. Harbaugh.

Miss Boyer, who graduated in June from Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., with a bachelor's degree in French education, is continuing her studies at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa. She is a provisional member of the Junior League of Lehigh Valley.

Her fiancé, an alumnus of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, also graduated in June from Ursinus College, with a degree in economics. He is with the real estate department of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. in Bethlehem.

CYNTHIA A. OVECKA

Ovecka-DeVos troth is pledged

Mrs. Cecelia Ovecka of Dunellen has announced the engagement of her daughter, Cynthia Ann, to Eric DeVos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. DeVos of Forest Hill way, Mountside. Miss Ovecka also is the daughter of the late Mr. Stephen Ovecka.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Upsala College, is a third grade teacher in the Mid-dex school system.

Her fiancé, a graduate of the University of Maryland, is a manager for New Jersey Blue Cross and is studying for a master's degree in business administration at Seton Hall University.

A June wedding is planned.

ROSELYN M. FRANK

Engagement told of Roselyn Frank

Mrs. Mary Frank of New Brook lane, Springfield, and Mr. Joseph Frank of East Brunswick have announced the engagement of their daughter, Roselyn Marie, to Bruce Richard Foulke, son of Mrs. Gertrude Foulke of Morrisville, Pa., and the late Mr. Maurice Foulke.

Miss Frank, a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and Trenton State College, is employed by the American Cyanamid Co. in Princeton.

Her fiancé, an alumnus of Morrisville High School and Rider College, Trenton, is a staff accountant for the American Cyanamid Co. A May wedding is planned.

Social scheduled by Woman's Club

Mrs. John Suski of Apple Tree lane, Mountside, met recently with her captains of the Mountside Woman's Club telephone committee—Mrs. Robert Muirhead, Mrs. William Bardt, Mrs. Laurence Forgas and Mrs. Walter Keller—to complete plans for contacting members concerning the social evening, "Turnabout," which the club will sponsor on Wednesday evening, Nov. 19 at the Mountside Inn.

Calls are being made through today; reservations close on Sunday. Arrangements may be made to have the tickets delivered and members may invite guests. Transportation is available. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Suski.

NORENE COLL

Miss Coll to wed Ernest Buckstine

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Coll of Morris avenue, Springfield, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Norene, to Ernest Buckstine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Buckstine Jr. of Pleasantville, N.Y.

Miss Coll, a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, is employed as a secretary for the purchasing organization of the Western Electric Co. in East Orange.

Her fiancé received a bachelor of arts degree from Hobart College, Geneva, N.Y., and is studying for a master's degree at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken. He is employed as a staff specialist for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

An October 1976 wedding is planned.

Son is born to Tolls

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Toll of Metuchen have announced the birth of their son, Keith Brian, on July 11 at John F. Kennedy Hospital in Edison. Mr. Toll is a former resident of Springfield, and his wife is the former Joyce Cooper of Newark.

Hadassah to hold luncheon Nov. 17

The annual paid-up membership luncheon of the Westfield-Mountside Chapter of Hadassah will be held on Monday, Nov. 17, at noon at Temple Emanuel-El, Westfield.

Mrs. Stanley Daitch, program vice-president, announced that Dr. Lester Eisenstodt of Millburn and South Orange will be the guest lecturer. His subject will be "Everything You Always Wanted to Know about Plastic Surgery ... and Don't Hesitate to Ask Questions."

Workshop for women

"Vocational Choice and Decision Making" is the topic for Monday in the series for women alone at the Summit Women's Center of the Unitarian Church. Mary Ann Bornman, a counselor of EVE at Kean College, will discuss many aspects of opening up doors in a woman's life—job hunting, expanding skills either developed or undeveloped—along with just learning to be aggressive in today's competitive world.

The meeting will begin at 8:15 and is free and open to all interested women. The Women's Center is at the Wittredge road entrance to Unitarian House, 165 Summit ave., Summit.

Charge for Pictures

There is a charge of $5 for wedding and engagement pictures. There is no charge for the announcement, whether with or without a picture. Persons submitting wedding or engagement pictures should enclose the $5 payment.

Bake and gift sale planned at OLL

The Home and School Association of our Lady of Lourdes School, Central avenue, Mountside, will hold its fourth annual bake and gift sale on Saturday and Sunday, after all masses, in the school auditorium. There will be a special table of handcrafted items made by the mothers and children of the school and a special table of religious articles.

All who have promised to bake or make a handcrafted item were reminded to bring them to the school auditorium on Saturday, between 4 and 6 p.m. Proceeds from this affair will be used to purchase special equipment needed by the school.

Holiday sampler sale by Junior Woman's unit

The Junior Woman's Club of Westfield will sponsor "A Holiday Sampler" boutique Nov. 15 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Wesley Hall of the First United Methodist Church in Westfield.

Beaded flowers, stained glass figures, silhouettes done of the patrons, dried flower arrangements, hand-painted lampshades and gingham and calico flowers will be available, as well as a cookbook, "Incredible Edibles," published by the Juniors.

VETERANS DAY

A Day Dedicated To World Peace

and Freedom For All

Many years have passed since the original Armistice Day or Veterans day (as it is now called)...many years and many wars since the day in 1918 when "the war to end all wars" ended. We commemorate the anniversary of this day with the belief that peace will prevail and wars will end; with the hope for mutual understanding between nations and good will among all peoples; and with a sincere tribute to those who have valiantly fought for our country.

Manager post filled

Maxine Rauch of Freehold, has been named general sales manager of the Commodore Group of Monmouth Beach. It was announced by Eugene L. Fishkind, president. The Commodore Group is active in sales, marketing and management of residential units, primarily condominiums.

As general sales manager, Mrs. Rauch will be in charge of several projects that the Commodore Group services in both Monmouth and Ocean counties.

Mrs. Rauch started her real estate career with Merritt R. Lamson, a Freehold realtor.

In 1973, she joined Total Building Systems in the capacity of a sales representative and shortly thereafter was promoted to manager. Mrs. Rauch is a graduate of Freehold High School and Georgian Court College, Lakewood, with a degree in business administration.

Some stores sell "pre-boxed" towel sets and you pay for fancy boxes, cardboard and tissue fillers... not for fine quality towels.

We'll sell you any combination of Bath, Hand or Face Cloths of the finest Fieldcrest or Marlex towels, roll them and gift-box them in our beautiful box and you'll spend no more than for the "pre-boxed" set.

Most important... you'll be giving quality towels that will be remembered and used! Why not enclose a small item like a sachet or soap "bug" from our Bath Boutique Department to give your selection your own "personal touch"?

You will also find a large selection of gift items to choose from in our bath and linen departments.

New alternative: 'total community' in the Villages

Buyers are selecting a new alternative to modern living at The Villages, one of Morris County's first planned developments, in Mount Olive. Representatives of the Guleber Agency, real estate brokers for the 1,000 acre project, report high traffic and good sales figures since the development opened in August.

Murray Pantier, who heads the group of builders, describes The Villages as a unique "total community" with three different styles of residence, including one and two-bedroom garden apartments in Kings Village with rents from $230, two and three-bedroom townhouse condominiums in Stedwick Village from $34,990, and Clear View Village, which offers a selection of colonial, ranch and split level homes starting at $49,990.

The unique combination of residences is a new approach to real estate development and the diversity of choice is attracting people of all ages and situations. Young singles as well as married couples with families enjoy the appeal of garden apartments, condominiums without the bother of outside upkeep and the warmth of spacious homes, all in the same attractive community.

When completed, The Villages will also house shopping areas, office facilities, a swimming pool, tennis courts, playgrounds, schools and parks providing an almost self-sufficient community with the added benefits of a sewerage treatment plant, city water and underground utilities. The Villages is an attractive and comfortable community, conveniently located; a tribute to the four years of planning and hard work that made it a reality.

To reach The Villages, readers may take Rt. 80 west to Budd Lake's Rt. 46 West exit. Proceed 3 1/2 miles west on Rt. 46, past Budd Lake and Mount Olive Municipal Building to Wolf road. Turn left and proceed straight to The Villages.

Model apartments, townhouses and homes are open daily from noon until 6 P.M.

'Solid' home for family at Barrymor

Barrymor Estates and Barrymor on the Green, two custom housing projects in Lakewood, are a product of family planning.

Barrymor Enterprises Inc., developer of the two housing communities, is operated by Morris and Barry Weshnak whose first concern is to build a solid, basic home at a reasonable price.

Barry Weshnak, vice-president, said, "We're a family business that understands family housing needs and especially the problems a young couple faces when buying their first home."

The Weshnaks offer 30-year mortgages at 7 1/2 percent and require a five percent down payment which, as the Weshnaks stated, are very reasonable financial arrangements in today's housing market. Thirty-five lots are currently available.

Morris Weshnak added, "Many young couples buy the basic home with plans of adding additions and accessories at a later date."

The Barrymor projects feature seven models including three ranch styles, a two story Colonial.

According to the Weshnaks, home prices in both locations will not increase until June 1 and that current price and financing arrangements will stay in effect until June 30, 1976, if contracted before Dec. 31, 1975.

"But," as Weshnak observed, "we don't expect the 35 available sites to be available until December."

Prices at Barrymor start at $35,790. Models may be inspected daily between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. at the Barrymor Estates location, off East County Line road, Lakewood.

Consumer post at Crestwood to Linden woman

In its continuing effort to maintain and improve neighborly relations among its residents, buyers, and the community at large, Crestwood Village this week announced the appointment of Arlene LaTourette of Linden as manager of consumer affairs for Crestwood and its sister development, Pine Ridge. Both are adult communities located on Rt. 530, near Whiting in Ocean County.

In making the announcement, builder Mike Kokes emphasized that Ms. LaTourette's appointment would be an extension of, not a replacement for, his own brand of personal contact. "In the 10 years since we started to build Crestwood," he declared, "I am proud to say that our residents know me as a friend and neighbor. Anybody that needs me knows where to find me. My office door will still be open to all comers, and my name is still Mike."

Ms. LaTourette will report to David S. Wolff, director of marketing, and her duties will include public relations, company spokeswoman to the media, goodwill ambassador to adult groups, and a variety of other consumer-oriented service programs.

Before joining the Crestwood organization, Ms. LaTourette was manager of consumer relations for the Sperry & Hutchinson Co., New York, where she developed and managed national retail store and consumer relations programs involving the company's Green Stamps. Among other projects, she was responsible for initiating and supervising the now well-known program whereby non-profit and charitable organizations nationwide save the stamps as a fund-raising activity.

Ms. LaTourette attended N.Y., and is a member of the Newark State College and the State University at Buffalo, America Her biography appears in the latest edition of Who's Who of American Women.

ARLENE LA TOURETTE
Public Relations Society of America

Ms. LaTourette's first impressions of Crestwood Village caused "a complete turnaround in my preconceived notions of a retirement community," she said. "People here are so busy and involved, so happy, it just radiates from them. It's a whole new life—they're not just sitting around."

She noted the enthusiasm of residents who invited her to share their activities, their workshops, their clubs, and even invited her into their homes. "I was welcomed with open arms," she stated, and went on to comment on how well Villagers manage their community affairs. "There attitude is toward the future, not looking backward," she added. For herself, Ms. LaTourette confessed to a liking for working with people, and feels her new post with Crestwood is something with a future.

Grand Opening!

Section V is now under construction and the results are becoming evident: this lushly wooded section will undoubtedly be the crowning section of the neighborhood that has become the standard for all New Jersey luxury home communities. The gently curving streets, the premium locations are all ready for you to choose from. So too, is our brand-new model area.

As true home seekers, please note that all homes in this new section are equipped with gas heat, representing some of the last new installations in the state. Also note that in keeping with Hidden Lake's new policy, choice homesites are available for custom building—from your plans and by your own builder-architect team if you prefer. Visit this week while lot selections and mortgage terms are at their best.

$24,900 buys more at Avon Village than anywhere else in New Jersey.

Over 100 families have already chosen Avon Village at Twin Rivers over every other community in New Jersey for one reason: value. From the smallest detail to the overall picture, Avon Village really does give you much, much more.

More house. The garden homes are beautifully designed—bright, spacious, tasteful and private. Materials and construction are noticeably superior to what you're used to seeing these days. Every home includes:

- Excellent closets
- Laundry closets with GE washer and dryer
- Deluxe GE refrigerator, oven/range with hood, dishwasher
- Central air conditioning
- Wall-to-wall carpeting, choice of colors
- Private patio or terrace
- Ceramic tile baths

Better recreational facilities. There are four swim and tennis clubs at Twin Rivers, ballfields—even a private clubhouse where you can entertain yourself and your friends.

Incredible convenience. Everything's at your doorstep and your fingertips. Two elementary schools and medical and dental facilities right at Twin Rivers. A large shopping village with supermarket, library, shops, banks. Excellent restaurants.

Terrific commuting. Instead of killing yourself every day bucking traffic on Route 9 or the Garden State Parkway, you'll be rolling along the traffic-free New Jersey Turnpike. And, if you commute to N.Y.C., buses leave regularly from Twin Rivers for a smooth 65-minute express ride to Port Authority.

Home ownership and tax benefits. You also get all the financial advantages of home ownership plus total freedom from exterior maintenance of your condominium home and grounds. You'll also save 5% of purchase price as a credit against your 1975 Federal Income Tax.

You get all this plus Twin Rivers, the magnificent new prestige community everyone's raving about. You can't afford not to see what Avon Village offers in solid housing value at the area's lowest prices.

1-bedroom, 2-bedroom and 1-bedroom-plus-den garden homes from $24,900.

WOODY ALLEN stars in 'Love and Death' at New Plaza, Linden, Lost Picture Show, Union, and Five Points Cinema, Union.

Allen's latest satire seen on 3 screens

Woody Allen's latest film endeavor, "Love and Death," is being shown in three local theaters this week. The Five Points Cinema in Union is showing it on a single bill with continuous performances on Sunday; the New Plaza in Linden is featuring it with "Paper Moon," and the Lost Picture Show, Union, is showing the movie with an associate Woody Allen picture, "Bananas."

"Love and Death," which was written and directed by Allen, has Diane Keaton as his co-star. Miss Keaton appeared with Allen in "Play It Again Sam," and "Sleeper."

'Fortune' seen

Warren Beatty and Jack Nicholson share star billing in "The Fortune," which came to the Elmora Theater, Elizabeth, yesterday on a double bill with "Confessions of a Window Cleaner."

There will be a special showing of the musical on New Year's Eve, and a production of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" will run with the current production midnight.

The Playhouse has a current repertory presentation with "The Devils" on Fridays and Saturdays, and "El Grande Coca-Cola" on Sundays at 8:30 p.m.

In 1955, he recorded "It's My Life" which was backed with "Time Out." This record, along with his like "Farther Up the Road," helped establish Bobby Bland as a blues artist to be reckoned with. Since then, he has proved himself to be a singer non pareil in his field.

After his three and half years in the Armed Services, Bobby settled in Houston where he appeared in an amateur talent show. His professional status was soon confirmed when, after winning the show everytime he performed, the other musicians had him banned from the program. A short time later he signed a contract with Duke Records.

DISC 'N DATA

By MILT HAMMER

Pick Of The LP's...GET ON DOWN WITH BOBBY BLAND (ABC RECORDS-ABCD 895). Bobby's nine good sounding numbers include: "I Take It On Home," "Today I started Loving You Again," "You've Always Got The Blues," "I hate You," "You've Never Been This Far Before," "Too Far Gone," and "You're Gonna Love Yourself."

In a time when many popular rock 'n' roll groups are looking into the rear view mirror to pay homage to their influences, it is most fitting that one of the primary benefactors of this trend is Bobby Bland. With the blues it's always nice to get down to the real thing and, speaking from experience, Bobby says it best: "In order to be a real blues singer, you have to go through some of the things that you sing about."

Bobby was born Robert Clavin Bland in Rosemark, Tenn., about 30 miles from the Memphis city limits. His musical career started while he was singing in the local church choir and his early love for gospel music still influences his style today. In the Rosemark days Bobby had yet to be introduced to the blues—most of his time was spent playing country and western songs for any and all audiences in front of the local grocery store.

When his family moved to Memphis his love for singing led him to a group of musicians. "The Beale Streeters."

Bobby recorded his first solo effort in 1950, a tune called "Loving Blues," and went on to record "Cried All Night" on the Modern label before receiving his "greetings" from Uncle Sam.

After his three and half years in the Armed Services, Bobby settled in Houston where he appeared in an amateur talent show. His professional status was soon confirmed when, after winning the show everytime he performed, the other musicians had him banned from the program. A short time later he signed a contract with Duke Records.

After his three and half years in the Armed Services, Bobby settled in Houston where he appeared in an amateur talent show. His professional status was soon confirmed when, after winning the show everytime he performed, the other musicians had him banned from the program. A short time later he signed a contract with Duke Records.

In 1955, he recorded "It's My Life" which was backed with "Time Out." This record, along with his like "Farther Up the Road," helped establish Bobby Bland as a blues artist to be reckoned with. Since then, he has proved himself to be a singer non pareil in his field.

IN LEAD CHINESE ROLE—Victor Vargas will dance in New Jersey Dance Theater Guild's seventh annual production of 'The Nutcracker' at Plainfield High School on Sundays, Dec. 14 and Dec. 21 at 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at Bandstand Music, 138 East Broad St., Westfield, guild office, 116 Hazelwood ave., Edison, or by calling 549-0747.

'Jaws' due on Nov. 21

"Jaws" will have an exclusive showing beginning Friday, Nov. 21 at the Castle Theater, Irvington. The record-breaking horror film about a shark which terrorizes an eastern beach community at the height of the season, stars Roy Scheider, Robert Shaw and Richard Dreyfus.

The current double-feature attraction this week at the Castle is topped by "Deliverance" starring Jon Voight and Burt Reynolds.

"A Clockwork Orange" is the associate offering and has Malcolm McDowell in the lead. Stanley Kubrick directed the picture.

Two new films, "Torso" and "Frenzy," both rated R, arrived yesterday at the Old Rahway Theater, Rahway. The theater has announced that there will be two matinee showings each of "A Boy Named Charlie Brown" Saturday and Sunday at 1 and 2:30 p.m.

College expands degree program for adult students

Kean College, Union, has expanded its EPIC (Education Provides Increased Career Opportunities) program to include new candidates. This program was originally designed as part of the college's commitment to New Jersey's adults, many of whom finally have the opportunity to resume an interrupted academic program or to begin work toward a long desired degree.

Candidates for the EPIC program are permitted to enter Kean College as pre-matriculating students without taking an entrance examination. They can earn matriculating status on the successful completion of 30 credits.

These candidates also have been urged to join the thousands of adults who have taken advantage of the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) to earn college credit for knowledge acquired throughout life.

Additional special programs are available to adults, including external education courses (home study) for students whose job or family responsibilities prevent them from attending on-campus classes. The EVE Office also offers vocational guidance and counseling and there are developmental courses and laboratory work for students with weak skills in mathematics and composition.

Persons interested in the EPIC program or in attending an orientation meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 19, for spring courses, may call Ethel Madsen at 527-2163 or Mae Hecht at 527-2210.

CHRISTMAS PAST — Photos of children playing with antique toys like those bowling pins will be part of the newest Kodak Photo Gallery show entitled, "Memories of a Christmas Past," Nov. 3 through Jan. 6. The gallery is located at 1133 Avenue of the Americas, New York City.

Education in times of crisis is NJEA convention theme

The maintenance of quality schools in times of crisis will be a dominant theme of the New Jersey Education Association's 1975 annual convention, to be held Nov. 13-15 in Atlantic City.

State and national leaders will headline the general sessions, and hundreds of clinics, workshops and special meetings will provide specific help and ideas for those attending.

The NJEA convention annually draws between 40,000 and 50,000 educators and hundreds of guests to its programs in Convention Hall and Boardwalk hotels. It is regarded as the largest single teacher convention held in the United States.

State dignitaries will include Gov. Brendan Byrne and State Education Commissioner Fred Burke. They are expected to give a statewide perspective to the educational and financial crisis in New Jersey when they address the Convention's third general session at 8 p.m., Nov. 14.

A special speaker this year will be the president of the National Education Association, John Ryor of Michigan. As the newly-elected leader of the NEA's 1.7 million members, Ryor will be the featured speaker at the first general session at 8 p.m. next Thursday.

Other highlights of the convention will include an appearance by lecturer Dick Gregory at the second general session at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 14, and the annual message by NJEA President Judith M. Owens, the elected leader of the 83,000-member teacher organization.

Meetings and workshops on critical issues will deal with school violence, legislation, open education, consumer education, reading, discipline, and the "mainstreaming" of special education students into regular classrooms.

Teacher clinics and problem-solving round-table discussions will be featured throughout the convention, with consultants from the N.J. State Department of Education, the NJEA staff, and leaders from local education associations.

The 126-member Delegate Assembly, as the policy-making body of NJEA, will conduct its business meeting beginning at 9 a.m. next Thursday at the Haddon Hall hotel. Delegates are expected to give particular emphasis to the NJEA's continuing involvement in tax reform and political action.

More than 700 exhibits will be displayed in Convention Hall to promote the latest in educational materials. Exhibit areas will be open until 5 p.m. Thursday and Friday, and until noon on Saturday. In addition, "Meet Your Authors" sessions will be held Thursday and Friday on such topics as reading, math and communications.

On Saturday at 2 p.m., the 1975 New Jersey All-State Chorus and Orchestra, presented by the N.J. Music Educators Association, will present its annual concert in the ballroom of Convention Hall.

On the lighter side, humorist Sam Levenson will entertain conventioners at the Thursday evening session, while comedian Pat Cooper and singer Barbara McNair will entertain on stage at Convention Hall Friday evening.

Organist concert aids youth center

The Garden State Chapter of the American Theater Organ Society will present Patti Germin, theater organist, in concert at the Old Rahway Theater, 1601 Irving st., Rahway, on Sunday, Nov. 23 at 1 p.m. The program will feature music from popular show tunes to light classics.

It will also feature, for the first time in this area, a theater pipe organ and piano in concert together as 14-year-old Lynn Sonner makes her public debut at the console of the organ with Germin at the piano.

This benefit is being held to raise funds for Shalom House, a non-sectarian Youth Center where supervised recreation as well as guidance counseling is provided for some 300 area young people. This Youth Center was founded by Saint John of Vianney Church of Colonia.

Tickets are $2.50 each and are available at the box office.

Streetcar sets world record

The St. Charles streetcar in New Orleans began operation Sept. 28, 1835, and still is running after 133 years of unbroken service.

This is the longest continuous operation of any street railway in the world.

Revolution to be topic

Facts about New Jersey during the Revolutionary War period will be discussed during a two-hour pre-Revolutionary program in the N.J. State Museum auditorium W. State street, Trenton, at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 16.

Open to the public without charge, the "Revolution in New Jersey" program will be the second in a history-oriented series being sponsored jointly by Friends of the N.J. State Museum, The Old Barracks Association and The Trent House Association.

Speakers will include state geologist Kemble Widmer, a long-time researcher of Revolutionary War activities, who will discuss "The War and the Citizens," and from Washington, D.C., arms and armor expert Harold L. Peterson, who will discuss "The Weaponry." Peterson will illustrate his remarks with a display of authentic guns of the period.

A reception open to the public will follow the program.

THE WORKING WOMAN

About 36.5 million women were in the work force at the beginning of 1975—approximately 40 percent of the country's entire labor force and almost 46 percent of all women 16 years of age and over, the U.S. Labor Department reports.

Vytlacil exhibition will open Nov. 16 at Essex museum

The first comprehensive exhibition of the work of American painter Vaclav Vytlacil—one of the founding members of the American Abstract Artists—will be presented by the Montclair Art Museum from Nov. 16 through Jan. 25.

The retrospective comprises some 50 paintings and constructions representing each phase of the artist's career, beginning with his work of the 1930s. Organized by Montclair's curator Ann Rogerson, the exhibition has been made possible by loans from museums and private collectors.

For some 50 years, Vytlacil has been one of the foremost artist-teachers of modern American art and one of the major forces in its development. Born in New York City in 1892, he studied at the Art Institute of Chicago and the Art Students League in New York. In 1921 he left for Munich where he studied with Hans Hofmann at the Royal Academy of Art.

He returned to Europe off and on for the next 15 years, and during this time he established his own school in Positano and an atelier in Paris.

From 1928 to 1929 and again from 1935 to 1943, he taught at the Art Students League, and since 1945 has been teaching there steadily. His homes and studios are in Sparkhill, N.Y., and on Martha's Vineyard.

As a companion to the Vytlacil exhibition, the work of 18 sculptors and painters who are former students of Vytlacil at the league will be shown.

A catalogue with an introductory essay by the critic Lawrence Campbell accompanies the exhibition. A contribution from the Art Students League assisted the publication of the catalogue.

Seton prof writes text on French art

A new book by a Seton Hall University professor dealing with an unexplored aspect of an important era in French art has just been published in Europe and will soon be available as a textbook and library reference work in the U.S.

Dr. Petra Ten-Doesschate Chu of South Orange is the author of "French Realism and the Dutch Masters: The Influence of Dutch 17th-Century Painting on the Development of French Painting between 1830 and 1870."

The relation between successive currents of 19th-Century painting and earlier painting styles has been studied only fragmentarily, explains Dr. Chu, and though the connection between such Dutch masters as Rembrandt, Vermeer and Franz Hals and the French Realist movement is generally conceded, Dr. Chu's work is the first systematic survey of the impact of Dutch art on French painting of the mid-nineteenth century.

Members sought by cancer group

The opening of a membership campaign for IMPACT (Interested Motivated Parents Against Cancer Today) has been announced by the group's president, Les Naegle of Sussex. An organization for parents of children with cancer, IMPACT is the New Jersey affiliate of the national Candlelighters organization.

In addition to a program of monthly seminars of interest to parents with cancer-stricken children, IMPACT provides agency referral services, a blood bank and a wig bank.

Persons interested in joining IMPACT, especially parents of young cancer victims, may contact Naegle, 875-6774, or Howard and Betty Buchanan, Maplewood, 762-6662, or Les and Barbara Hellenack, Matawan, 566-7899.

Masterwork lists 'Messiah' dates

The Masterwork Chorus will present Handel's "Messiah" on Sunday evening, Dec. 5, at St. Peter's Church, South st., Morristown. The concert, which will begin at 8:30 p.m., will be conducted by David Randolph.

This concert will be followed by the annual series of five New York performances of "Messiah" by the Masterwork Chorus and Orchestra at Avery Fisher Hall in Lincoln Center and Carnegie Hall. At Carnegie, concerts will be presented on Sunday, Dec. 7, at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 14, at 2 and 6:30 p.m. At Avery Fisher Hall, the chorus will perform on Sunday, Dec. 21, at 2 and 6:30 p.m.

Volunteers cited for service to Beth Israel Medical Center

Newark Beth Israel Medical Center recently honored its junior and senior volunteers for their service during the past year.

The junior aides, ages 14 through 17, received citations at the Junior Court of Awards Luncheon, sponsored by the Medical Center's Auxiliary. Mrs. Milton Gordon of Maplewood, director of volunteers, and Mrs. Irving Field of Union, auxiliary chairman of volunteers, made the presentations. Guest speaker for the afternoon was Darlene Greenfeig of West Orange, pediatrics chairman for the auxiliary and former deputy president.

David Toma, former Newark police officer and subject of television series was the featured speaker at the Senior Court of Awards Luncheon. Other guest speakers were Leonard Lieberman of Short Hills, president of the Medical Center's board of trustees; Lillian Sacharow of South Orange, president of the auxiliary, and Lester M. Bornstein of West Orange, executive director of the Medical Center.

Among those receiving awards for outstanding service were Irvington residents Herman Biarsky, Mina Buchner, Minna Budish, Fay Dackelman, Nettie Fechter, Anna Feldman, David Hershkowitz, Anna Levine, Betty Lieberman, Ayala Rabinowitz, Ethel Sacharow and Yetta Schwitzer, all senior volunteers, and junior volunteers Pat Evans and Mona Odon.

Also cited were Mrs. Harry Fox and Mrs. Sam Picchione, senior volunteers from Springfield, Mrs. Emanuel Borschover, Judi Eig, Mrs. Irving Field, Frank Kern and Mrs. Victor Leibo, senior volunteers from Union, and Ellen Fein, Inez Karr and Lester Permut, junior volunteers from Union.

Also honored at the Senior Luncheon were a number of organizations which have provided volunteers, funds and services to the Medical Center.

Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, a voluntary, non-profit institution, is a member of the Jewish Community Federation of Metropolitan New Jersey, a beneficiary of the annual United Jewish Appeal of Metropolitan New Jersey campaign and a member agency of the United Way of Essex and West Hudson.

Benefit to assist boy's Disney trip

Tickets remain for a benefit concert this weekend that will raise funds to send a muscular dystrophy stricken boy to Disneyworld, Florida.

Michael Ester of the Victorians will be in concert with a 50-piece orchestra directed by Lou Toby at the Roman Forum, Rt. 46, West Paterson, Saturday and Sunday at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are priced at $10, $12 and $15.

Area ticket chairman is John Margotta, 1141 W. Chestnut st., Union, 687-2592.

Tommy Pinto, a 10-year-old from North Arlington, is the stricken youth who met Ester through an acquaintance. The singer learned of the boy's wish and proceeded to set up a benefit performance with friends. The youth attends fifth grade classes at the Cerebral Palsy Center in Belleville.

One-man show planned

The Robbins Art Gallery, 21 Scotland rd., South Orange, will present the paintings and drawings of Emilio A. Serio, in a one-man show Nov. 9 to Nov. 21. The public is invited to attend the opening reception Sunday, Nov. 9, from 2 to 7 p.m.

Art sale to benefit diabetes research

An art auction sponsored by the North Jersey Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation will be held on Sunday at Temple B'nai Jeshurun, 1025 South Orange ave., Short Hills.

The auction will be presented by Howard Mann and will include original oils, watercolors, drawings, etchings and lightographs. Net proceeds from the sale of the art will be applied to the foundation's efforts to support research toward finding the cause and cure of diabetes.

The program will start with a wine and cheese preview at 7 p.m., followed by the offering of the works of art at 8 p.m. For tickets or further information, leaders may contact Mrs. Donald Perlmutter of Springfield at 379-9154, or the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, 992-0375.

Area dates announced
for aluminum collection

The Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Co. van will be at Two Guys, Union Township, on Nov. 12, 26 and Dec. 10 from noon to 3 p.m. to collect all-aluminum cans for recycling. Reynolds pays 15 cents a pound for aluminum cans, foil, frozen food trays and other containers.

The equivalent of more than 1.3 million all-aluminum cans was collected by the van during August and September in the Greater New York area. Aluminum cans can be identified by the lack of side seams.

Your ring twists because it must be large enough to go over your knuckle. This makes it too large to fit your finger properly.

We can replace the shank, the bottom part, of almost any ring with Finger Mate, an exclusive patented feature that permits the ring to expand up to three full sizes, making it easier to put on, then closes and locks, fitting the finger snugly and securely. No more twisting or slipping. No more forcing tight rings over swollen knuckles either.

Come in for a demonstration and estimate without obligation.

Deadline Nov. 15
for applications of state scholarship

The New Jersey State Scholarship Commission announced this week that applications for initial awards for the 1976-77 school year have been mailed to all high schools and colleges in the state.

High school seniors and college freshman are eligible to apply. Students who have not attended college and are within five years of high school graduation may also apply. Veterans may exclude time spent in the military service in determining period of eligibility. The filing deadline is Nov. 15.

State Scholarships, which will be announced in March 1976, are based on financial need and academic achievement. Awards are worth up to $1,000 depending on the college cost.

Scholarship applications, along with brochures explaining the various state and federal financial aid programs, are available through the high school guidance offices, college financial aid offices or by writing to State Scholarships, P.O. Box 1417, Trenton, New Jersey 08625. Also available is a toll free number, 800-792-8670, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Volunteer police
insurance passed

Legislation permitting municipalities to defray the costs of and pay the premiums on group life insurance contracts for auxiliary police has been signed into law by Governor Byrne.

The bill, sponsored by Democrat John J. McCarthy of Garwood, also stipulates that the maximum face value of any such group life insurance policy shall not exceed $10,000.

The bill was originally intended to include civil defense volunteers as well, but was amended and passed by the Senate in its present form on Thursday, June 5 and passed unanimously by the Assembly on June 16.

McCarthy stated "this new approach to financing benefits will serve as an incentive to attracting and retaining volunteers and will also be a reliable means of compensating volunteers for their services and the risks entailed therein."

Oil: $3 to $24 billion

According to the Federal Energy Administration, in 1970 the United States paid $3 billion for foreign oil. In 1974, we paid $24 billion. In 1977, if we don't produce and conserve more, the outflow of our wealth promises to reach $32 billion!

Stern will open concert series at Kean College

American violinist Isaac Stern will open the Kean College 1975-76 concert series on Dec. 5 at 8 p.m. with a program of works by Handel, Schumann, Bach, Bartok and Chausson.

Stern, who will be making his first appearance on the Union Campus, has been acclaimed as one of the greatest contemporary musicians and also is known as a champion of cultural preservation in the United States. His efforts were a primary reason Carnegie Hall was saved from planned demolition in 1960.

The second concert in the series, sponsored by the college's music department, will

Dr. Knauer gets post of chairman
for ACS division

Dr. Warren H. Knauer of Hillside has been elected chairman of the executive committee of the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society, it was announced this week by S. John Quattrone, president of the division, Rt. 22, Union.

The executive committee, a major policy-forming unit of the ACS, traditionally is headed by a physician. All major ACS matters are referred to this committee and its approval is necessary for the funding of equipment for diagnosis and treatment, as well as for the application of care and treatment services provided by the New Jersey Division.

Dr. Knauer is chairman of the Department of Malignant and Allied Diseases at Elizabeth General Hospital and a director of the Wuester Tumor Clinic, Elizabeth. A surgeon specializing in afflictions of the head and neck, he is president of the New Jersey Oncology Society.

A graduate of Princeton University, Dr. Knauer received his medical degree from the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University and specialized training at the New Haven (Conn.) Medical Center.

Dwindling grain supply

The world's grain reserves in 1961 were equivalent to 94 days' consumption; by 1971 the carryover was down to 509 days' supply, and last year the leftover grain stocks could feed the world for only 27 days.

NJIT offers speakers on a variety of subjects

New Jersey Institute of Technology is now distributing copies of its 1975 Speakers Bureau brochure, a 40-page directory of speakers available from New Jersey's leading technological institution.

The brochure, free upon request to program chairmen, is automatically mailed to organizations who have made prior requests.

More than 80 topics are grouped into six categories ranging from economic, political and social issues to the international scene. Also included are topics on education, student life, technology and society, as well as offbeat and interesting speeches on backgammon and extra-sensory perception.

Among the speakers are Dr. Roy Cornely, an expert in the field of microminuturization; Dr. Martin J. Levy, who discusses how physicians and engineers team up to solve medical problems; Dr. Herman Estrin, who identifies the dialects of New Jerseyans, and Dean Harlyn E. Thompson, who describes the Institute's newest educational addition, the New Jersey School of Architecture.

Other topics range from product liability, by Professor Richard M. Jacobs, to Dr. Ervime M. Rips' commentary on the effectiveness of police radar and Harold Cohen's description of how to feed a family of four or a "family" of 4,000; Cohen is NJIT's Director of Food Services.

Copies may be obtained by writing to the Public Relations office, New Jersey Institute of Technology, 323 High st., Newark 07102.

ADVERTISMENT
Hearing Tests Set
For Elizabeth

Free electronic hearing tests will be given at Beltone Hearing Aid Service offices on Monday and Friday.

Factory-trained hearing aid specialists will be at the office listed below to perform the tests.

Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding, is welcome to have a test using the latest electronic equipment to determine his or her particular loss. Diagrams showing how the ear works and some of the causes of hearing loss will be available.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year, if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing hearing aids, or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out about the latest methods of hearing correction.

The free hearing tests will be given at Beltone, 11 Broad St., Elizabeth on Monday and Friday. If you can't get there on Monday or Friday call 353-7686 and arrange for an appointment at another time.
