Jet Middleweights win behind Bunin; Berkeley squad clips Mini-Machine hampered practice, the Mini-Machine and Green Machine continued their football seasons last Sunday with games at Berkeley Heights and at home respectively.

Playing a strong defensive game, the Mini-Machine Jet Lightweights (C Team) failed to capitalize on several opportunities and were beaten by a rugged Knight squad, 7-0, on a firstquarter 80-yard scoring pass play. Highlights for Mountainside were three pass receptions by Jeff Wilde and outstanding defensive play by Joe Sefack, Alex Caiola and Greg VanName. The Lightweights conclude their schedule on Sunday at home with a rematch against the Despite several fumbles in the first half the Green Machine Jet Middleweights (B Team) combined crucial recoveries with the strong running of Charlie Bunin to defeat the Berkeley Heights Hornets, 13-0, and bring their record to 6-0-1 with one game remaining. Behind timely blocking on the Green Machine's first offensive drive, Bunin scored from 35 yards out on a sweep to the right side. Tom Fischer ran for the extra point. Then in the fourth quarter, Bunin ran an intercepted pass in from the 20 untouched.

While the Jet offense lacked its usual punch, the defense was never in serious trouble, for-cing four punts from the Hornets. The Jets did not punt once. To complement Bunin's efforts, fine defensive efforts were turned in for Mountainside by Rey Sargenti, Frank Gagliano, Steve Lischin, Rick Kontra, M.J. Castelo, Jim Roche and Ted Noe. Tom Fischer and Dave Crane contributed greatly to the offense with their blocking and running.

The Middleweights end their season Sunday against a powerful Berkeley Heights Knights (B) team at home immediately following the Lightweight game.

A spokesman said, "This Sunday will be Mountainside's final chance to see the 1975 Jets perform-two squads totalling 48 enthusiastic, dedicated boys who will be delighted with a large attendance. They have represented Mountainside and themselves with pride and deserve your support."

Suspect charged in theft of jewelry from local home

An Elizabeth man, arrested last month by Springfield police on fraud and forgery counts, has been charged in connection with a September break and entry and larceny at a Mountainside home.

The suspect. George Marmorstein, is accused of having stolen approximately $4,600 worth of jewelry, clothing and other items from an Indian Trail residence on Sept. 27 while the homeowner was attending his wife's funeral. Marmorstein was picked up for questioning by police in Woodbridge on Oct. 28 when he reportedly was found loitering near the home of physician killed the day before in a plane crash. Although he was not charged by authorities there. Marmorstein was held on warrants issued by the Springfield Police Department on charges of passing a forged check at the Rt. 22 Harmony House, conspiracy to cash a stolen check and two counts of fraud.

Mountainside police said investigation resulted in his charges in connection with the borough break-in and theft.

Marmorstein has been remanded to Union County Jail, Elizabeth, in lieu of $5,000 bail. He was to appear in Mountainside Municipal Court

Program to deal with colonial era

A slide program, "A Day in the Life of a Colonial Child;" will be presented tomorrow in the Deerfield Elementary School library for boys and girls in the fourth and fifth grades as part of their study of Colonial times. The program is sponsored by the Junior League of Elizabeth and Cranford under the direction of Mrs. Henry Dreyer, chairwoman of the league's historical art committee

Mrs. Fran Faltermeyer and Mrs. Gretchen Collins, dressed in costumes of the period, will provide the narration for the slides. They will also display a "suitcase museum" containing such examples of Colonial living as candles, candle holders, bootjack, kitchen utensils, slate board, clothing and a quilt. A question period will follow.

This program is one of the activities planned by the Mountainside public schools in observation of the Bicentennial

Registration open to join basketball, twirling activities

Basketball and twirling activities for Mountainside youngsters will start the first week in December. Leagues will be formed in December, and play will begin in January. Recreation Director Sue Winans listed the winter schedule for boys and girls as follows: —Girls' league—grades 7-9, Monday evenings beginning Dec. 1, 7-8, Deerfield gym.

-Twirling-Grades 4-8, Saturday mornings beginning Dec. 6, 9-11 Deerfield cafeteria (the first session will meet in the AP room), fee, $2.

Registrations for all of these programs are being accepted at Borough Hall between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays. Because of the large number of participants in the boys' league, a special practice schedule will be distributed at registration. On Dec. 2, there will not be practice for seventh-ninth grade boys; registrations will be accepted that night. Registration and open play for high school boys will be held from 8 to 10 that evening. For additional information, readers may call the recreation office at 232-0015.

Balladeers to sing in concert series

The Balladeers of the Pingry School, a group of 35 mixed voices, will provide the program for the third event in the Mountainside Community Concert Series at 8 p.m. on Sunday at the Community Presbyterian Church, Deer Path and Meeting House lane, Mountainside.

The program will include a motet by J.S. Bach; black spirituals, "If I Got My Ticket,"
"Ain't That Good News," "Dixie," "Everytime Feel the Spirit;" Ziegeuner Lieder by Johannes Brahms, and an unusual piece, "Geographical Fugue" by Ernst Toch, which is the last movement of a suite which suggests spoken music in which musical efforts are produced through speech. The Balladeers will conclude their concert series with a tour of Washington, D.C., in February.

The December program of the Community Concert Series will be a folk advent cantata. which will be performed on Sunday, Dec. 21, at 4 p.m. The concert is open to all.

Council approves borough police tie to county computer

By KAREN ZAUTYK

One of the first steps in the updating of equipment utilized by the Mountainside Police Department—expected to reach fruition with expansion of police facilities at the new borough hall in the old Echobrook School-was authorized Tuesday night by the Mountainside Borough Council.

The resolution, unaimously approved, empowers borough officials to enter into a proposed contract with the Burroughs Corp for installation of a computer system which will enable police to obtain information from county, state and federal sources on suspicious persons and-or motor vehicles within five to 10 seconds through a hook-up with a central county computer. Rental costs for the service will be $225 a month for two years, for a total of $5,400; at the end of that time, the borough will own the equipment.

Police Commissioner Abe Suckno explained that the service will protect both the community and the individual officers, who now wait up to five minutes to obtain the same information. "When an officer stops a suspicious vehicle, that can be a very dangerous time period," he noted.

The Union County Prosecutor's Office and three other towns--Hillside. Cranford and Clark-have already authorized participation in the computer system, which is hoped to become a county-wide service. Installation in Mountainside is expected to be completed within two weeks.

In other action at the Borough Council meeting, held before an audience of six persons at the Beechwood School, the governing body approved formation of a commission to deter mine proportionate assessments to six homeowners who are benefitting from the nowcompleted Coles avenue sanitary sewer line

Commissioners appointed were Donald Han cock of Summit lane, Karl J. Hertweck of Ridge drive, and Joseph Chieppa of Indian

The project's total cost came in at $17.950: $22,140 had originally been appropriated for the

Another effort which has run below budget is the repaying of Central avenue. Councilman Bruce Geiger reported that although $41,666 was appropriated for the project, final expenditures were $37,329, of which $31,381 will be reimbursed from state aid funds.

Geiger also reported that sanitary sewer use charges to non-residential users of the local system, based on the amount and type of sewage fed into the local system, will be $34,754 for 1975. Noting that the fees last year were approximately $400,000, Geiger said, "The people in industry have evidently reduced the amount and strength of sewage (fed into the system). However, the total bill (of the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority to the borough) will be about the same, because the costs of sewer use is still increasing." Approved unanimously at the session was a resolution empowering the building inspector to waive the building permit fee to the Community Presbyterian Church, which is constructing an addition to its main building. The resolution notes borough ordinances make no provision for such waivers, but this has traditionally been done in the case of religious organizations.

Mayor Thomas Ricciardi, also reported a request has been received from Children's Specialized Hospital for a similar fee waiver for its construction project. Their fee, based on the usual charge of $10 per $1000 of project cost, would be approximately $49,000. At the request (Continued on page 3)

Union County begins reforms under new charter commission's independent status. At least one of those independent agencies.

Mancini, who described the Park Commission action as a "friendly litigation," said a decision in favor of the commissioners would seriously damage efforts to increase the ef-

The need to sustain the nation's economic recovery and further reduce unemployment has made a sharp impact on Congress. Consequently, I am hopeful that we will soon pass not only an extension of the tax cuts, but a fairer and less complex income tax system. An indication of emerging changes has been provided by a progressive tax reform package

Know Your Government

嘉州 From N.J. Taxpayers Association 川原

Since legislation providing a system of "thorough and efficient" public schools for New Jersey was enacted Sept. 29, attention has turned to various methods to finance the revamped education plan. A special Senate committee was established to specifically examine the matter of "T and E" funding. notes the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

The Senate Commission to Study the Financing of State School Aid was created Sept. The panel, which consists of six Senators-Democrats Wiley (Morris), Garramone (Beigen), Dwyer (Middlesex) and Menza (Union) and Republicans Hagedorn (Bergen) and Wallwork (Essex)-is charged with investigating ways and means to finance implementation of the "T and E" law (Chapter 212, Laws of 1975) and to report their findings to the Legislature by Nov. 15

The Committee has held five meetings, all open to the public, during which it received testimony from the Office of Fiscal Affairs (OFA) and the Division of Taxation regarding revenue projections; the State Treasurer on future State budget balancing problems; officials of the Division of Pensions on projected pension costs, and representatives of the State Board of Education on several aspects of education finance.

The Senators on the panel, like most who have considered the school financing problem, are having difficulty agreeing on a single solution. Some favor funding the "T and E" law over two years as provided in the original legislation; others favor a three or five-year phase-in financing program. These alternatives will be presented to the legislators, together with a wide variety of revenue sources to raise the necessary funds.

Among the taxes under consideration are personal income, value-added, expanded sales levy, business stabilization, payroll, statewide property, in addition to increases on all existing taxes. The statewide property tax, incidentally, was the revenue raising device favored by a similar special legislative committee which unsuccessfully strived to solve the "T and E" financing problem in late 1974.

An early solution to the school financing problem is doubtful. The New Jersey Supreme Court has scheduled argument on the legality of the "T and E" law for Nov. 24. Hearings on department and agency spending requests for the Fiscal 1977 State Budget are well under way. Some fiscal observers are questioning the logic of attempting to solve school financing independent of State budget-balancing, contending that financing of school aid should not be exclusive of total budget needs.

Meeting on Tuesday for Regional Board

The Board of Education of the Union County Regional High School District will hold an open building and grounds committee meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Keyes, Martin building, 841 Mountain ave., Springfield.

A proposed site for tennis courts at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, will be discussed.

ишинишинишини Ву Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo ишишинишинишинишиниши put together during recent weeks by the influential House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee's program, reported out in bill form and now awaiting House action, provides a $12.7 billion extension of personal tax deductions and renews $5 billion worth of business tax deductions. It eases tax burdens for the average family and for business, and in so doing provides the kind of fiscal tonic needed to spur economic recovery

But tax cuts are only part of the committee package. In addition, the proposed reform responds to public concern by cracking down on the abuse of tax shelters and by closing some of the other more widely used tax loopholes.

This is a welcome assault on an unjust situation in which low and middle income Americans carry a disproportionately heavy share of tax costs. As I have said many times, there can be no justification for a system allowing some millionaires to pay little or no tax while individuals and families in low and middle income brackets struggle to make ends meet under the strain of increasingly heavy tax

Encouragingly, the Ways and Means Committee has also adopted a policy I have long advocated - that of simplifying the tax system, making it easier for individuals to complete tax returns without resorting to professional help. The proposed reform would make about 3,000 deletions from existing tax laws, removing outdated terms, special purpose provisions and obsolete rules.

Among other changes, it would also:

Permanently extend a 1975 provision setting a minimum of $1,900 for joint returns and $1,600 for single persons.

Establish a two percent tax credit for each taxpayer and dependent to a maximum of $240. Provide tax credits for senior citizens and liberalize tax credits for some kinds of retirement incomes.

Allow deduction of alimony payments from gross income, thus making the benefit available to taxpayers who take standard

Generally limit to $12,000 the amount of nonbusiness interest on mortgages and other investments that can be deducted.

It is estimated that with enactment of such reforms, three-fourths of the 49 million taxpavers would have their income taxes cut. These reductions would range up to $210 and average $96 for each of those qualifying.

A disturbing flaw in the package is that it would increase taxes for about six million low income wage earners. In many cases these extra taxes would amount to only a few dollars a year, but the fact that such increases would occur in a year when most other wage earners receive tax breaks creates an inequity that should be remedied.

A revision of the proposed changes to avoid this situation will undoubtedly be recom-mended on the floor of the House when the tax reform measure is reviewed. Such a change would improve the tax package and deserves approval of the full House

There is also likely to be some movement in Congress on President Ford's proposal that tax cuts should be linked with comparable reductions in government spending.

The need for congressional action to eliminate bureaucratic waste -- and in so doing to hold down the demand for tax revenues - is long overdue.

It is a task, however, that can be more effectively tackled as a separate program. A bill that I have introduced to provide greater Congressional oversight of federal spending and to eliminate all programs that can no longer be justified represents one of a number of constructive ways in which Congress can reduce federal spending. But this kind of action must be carefully shaped as a separate program. It's too important to be treated as anything other than major legislation receiving the full and undivided attention of Congress.

McDonough asks Rockefeller help in PATH aid bid

State Sen. Peter J. McDonough (R.-22nd District) revealed this week that he has written to Vice President Nelson Rockefeller urging his intervention with Capital Urban Mass Transit Authority Chief Robert E. Patricelli in behalf of a favorable decision regarding Federal funding for the PATH extension to Plainfeild McDonough reminded Rockefeller he had approved the project during his last year as governor of New York and cited "gloomy" reports from Washington that indicate the project will be disapproved. Patricelli has promised his decision this month.

McDonough noted that fares on the bankrupt Central Railroad of New Jersey (CNJ) will increase approximately 30 percent on Dec. 1 and will be accompanied by a reduction in service. He noted the current state budget cut of $6 million in subsidies and that an $11 million increase is required next year

"But I have no confidence whatever that the Legislature will approve these new monies. The Republican senator also cited New Jersey's $50 million share for the Northeast Conrail system and the defeat of the transportation bond issue

"It appears that virtually all financial circumstances are closing in to destroy mass transit in the central corridor area," McDonough continued.

McDonough predicted a massive migration of New York-based business and industry away from the metropolitan area because of the increasing difficulty management and other personnel will have getting to work, "I am convinced that opponents of the PATH extension plan who favor the upgrading of the bankrupt CNJ are simply wrong," McDonough said. "If we have difficulty retaining $6 million in subsidy monies, I cannot imagine the state providing its share of the multi-million upgrading project."

Saturday sale for school band The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Bulldog Marching Band will hold its annual door-to-door candy sale Saturday in Springfield and Mountainside. The marchers, in full dress uniform, will seek to raise money for spring uniforms to use when they compete in the nationals this May.

The Bulldogs have been hired to greet the Saks Fifth Avenue Santa Claus with Christmas tunes as he descends in a helicopter on Wednesday, the day before Thanksgiving. They will operate a photo booth in Channel Lumber, starting on Nov. 28, in which little children will have the opportunity to be photographed on Santa's lap. This booth will be open all weeknights and all day Saturdays and Sundays until Christmas.

Open enrollment, more flexibility at Learning Center

The Union County Regional High School Adult Learning Center this week announced that it offers an open enrollment policy and flexible class hour schedules for adults in-terested in preparing for the high school equivalency exam, taking adult basic education or studying English as a second language.

The open enrollment policy allows a student to register for a course at any time during the school year. The students can begin their classes as soon as they register. Each student is initially tested to determine his level of achievement. With the help of the Learning Center staff, the student moves through the program as quickly and as comfortable as possible with each individual progressing at his own rate, the statement added. Flexible class hours are another feature of the Adult Learning Center. The Learning Center is open Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 1 to 3 p.m. and at night from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Students report to and leave class at any time between these hours, The Adult Learning Center is located in a separate classroom complex on the grounds of the David Brearley Regional High School on Monroe avenue in Kenilworth. Further information can be obtained from Harry Linkin, director of adult and continuing Education, at 376-6300, ext. 99, or from Harriet Diamond, Learning Center director, at 272-7500, ext. 68, on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Also approved was a resolution expressing borough support for the Union County Park Commission in its efforts to maintain a status independent from the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, a status which has been questioned since the changes in county government form effected by the 1974 referendum. The park commission has instituted action in Superior Court seeking a declaratory judgment on whether its independence has been compromised by the referendum

Among the comments on the resolution was one by Geiger, who stated, "The fear is that if the freeholders take over the Park Commission, it would be subject to political pressures which would lead in the end to the destruction of parkland."

Ricciardi commended the commission for "foresight and vision" in setting aside its open areas, and added, "To risk any change in format would be foolish without knowing exactly what the freeholders have in mind.

The mayor also reported that no decision has yet been made on the freeholders' request to turn W.R. Tracy drive, now under the jurisdiction of the park commission, into a county road. He expressed the belief that any change in jurisdiction in park commission controlled roads in Mountainside "would not be in the best interests of our residents." particularly since it would result in use of the streets by now-banned commercial traffic.

Ricciardi also noted he hopes a status report on the planned conversion of the Echobrook School to a municipal facility will be ready by the next public council meeting, Dec. 16.

The mayor had comments on the continuing small attendance by Mountainsiders at council sessions. "I see the same few faces at these meetings," he said, "and it is starting to disturb me a little bit. This is no way to run the affairs of government, with a complete apathy on the part of citizens."

Recreation

Stock Company presents "Holiday Surprises" at 8 in the Deerfield School gym. The professional children's theater presentation features "a magic hour packed full of audience participation, rock music and general mayhem." Highlighting every performance are "audience participation and total involvement." Tickets are available at Borough Hall for 50 cents per person. They will also be available at the door.

The annual "Nutcracker Ballet" trip is scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 21. The New Jersey Dance Theater Guild presentation will again be staged at Plainfield High School. The registration fee is $5, which includes bus transportation and orchestra seat. The bus will depart from Deerfield School at 12:15 p.m. and return at approximately 4.

All of these events are open to borough residents of any age. Parental supervision was urged to be provided for children up to the third grade. Registrations are being accepted at Borough Hall weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. For additional information, readers may call the recreation office at 232-0015.

Bicentennial vignettes: Revolution or the King

By JOHN T. CUNNINGHAM Revolution is not easy to define when it begins-nor is it any easier to understand when the guns cease to sound, for then the survivors write the history, selecting or coloring accounts to suit their egos.

Revolution pits brother against brother, family against family, church against church.

So it was in New Jersey as the 1770s wore on. The Ogden family of Elizabeth, for example, bitterly debated colonial rights and kingly prerogatives. Anglicans (Episcopalians) heatedly argued the same issues on the streets of Newark, Burlington, and a dozen other towns. Lawyers, farmers and artisans were split on political issues.

It was mostly talk, at first. But by 1775 the time had come to choose. The time had come to be a Tory (loyal to the king) or a Whig (in favor of revolution). Fiery voices urged that Americans fight, and die if need be, for indepndence. Others preached caution. Tory or Whig: on which side would a man decide to die?

No colony was more split than New Jersey. Governor Governor William Franklin was unquestionably loyal to King George yet he was sympathetic to the needs and aspirations of the colonists. His Council, supposedly conservative, included two of the five New Jerseyans who would sign the Declaration of

than the recipient children and elderly. Their joy of giving exceeds the joys of receiving. And this experience is what makes the Bestowers party a happy occasion for all who attend or support it by way of donations or prizes," the spokesman said.

The annual affair is planned and produced by a group of volunteer workers. This year Bestowers are looking forward to the new and expanded facilities of L'Affaire. Background music, and a short, musical skit by the Mountainside Music Association singers will provide the entertainment.

"Party goers will have tables available for sitting or plenty of stand up party space for the set who prefer their socializing shoulder-toshoulder," the spokesman noted.

This year a door prize is an added feature. It will be the awarding of a stereophonic phonograph and radio set. Decorations are being made for each table. Local merchants and businessmen are donating prizes, ranging in price from $5 to $150.

'The rich prizes are yet another indication of the scope of the generosity and concern shown by Mountainsiders and their local business establishments for the less fortunate within the town and its surrounding communities. This year Bestowers of Mountainside finds continuing enthusiasm for serving the needs of its neighbors by sharing some of its own blessings," the spokesman concluded.

Tickets for the Bestowers' party, priced at $10 each, may be obtained at the Mountainside Delicatessen, 895 Mountain ave.; from ticket chairperson Ruth Spina, 232-3657; or from the program coordinators, Mary and John Post, 232-2150, or Nancy and Jim Haughey, 654-4230.

Dousing pilot saves

If you can do it safely, it makes energy sense to turn off the pilot light in your furnace when the heating season is over. America cannot afford to waste a single drop of energy. Can you afford to waste money? Don't gorget to reignite the pilot when the weather gets cold.

Independence. Another member was Lord Stirling, destined to be an American officer.

Revolutionary sentiment flared most vividly in such Presbyterian towns as Newark, Elizabeth, Woodbridge, Piscataway and Princeton. Strong Tory, or Loyalist, voices were also heard in Newark and Elizabeth, as well as in Burlington and parts of Monmouth and Sussex countles.

New Jersey had its dedicated revolutionists. When King George proposed selling documentary stamps to raise money, ugliness had swept through the colony. Sons of Liberty in Woodbridge, Piscataway and elsewhere bluntly threatened any King's agent who dared

Anti-stamp people in Elizabeth erected a gallows and held ready a rope to hang the first stamp distributor. That prompted the Rev. Thomas B. Chandler, the heartly pro-British Anglican minister at Elizabeth, to declare that England must relax her severity, "difficult though that might be."

Estimates of Tories have varied widely among historians. Some contend that more than one-third of all people in New Jersey remained loyal to the Britsh government.

Between the factions stood a large percentage of neutrals, trying to straddle the high fences between established government and the pressing revolutionists. Most merely hoped for anonymity. Quakers were unquestionably neutral: they held firm in their faith in nonviolence.

Members of the Dutch church were divided: Bergen County Dutch, more conservative, often favored governmental status quo. Dutchmen in the Raritan Valley leaned to revolution. Many, in both areas, preferred neutrality.

Franklin actively joined the Tory cause. So did the Rev. Mr. Chandler of Elizabeth, along with Cortland Skinner, the colony's Attorney General, and many others, great and small, rich and poor, famous and unknown.

The Revolution was not a simple conflict between rich and poor or peasant and master. It was family against family, brother against brother. Consider again the David Ogden family of Elizabeth. Three of David's sons became vigorous Loyalists. Two others joined the revolutionary ranks.

History, if fair, should not judge. It must only recognize that the choice-revolution or the King-was not easy by the fall of 1775. Tory and Whig were the two sides of a complicated coin that all people now must flip.

Leukemia group aids outpatients

The Central New Jersey Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America, Inc. has paid more than $1,100 for drugs to outpatients with leukemia and allied diseases from August to November, according to Sig Schorr, patient aid committee chairman

Schorr said the Leukemia Society will pay for drugs used in the care, treatment and-or control of leukemia and allied diseases dispensed upon prescription by approved drug

The society also provides for transportation to and from treatment centers and for fees for processing, typing, cross matching and transfusing blood. Amounts up to $300 are offered towards x-ray therapy for patients in the early stages of Hodgkin's Disease, when the illness is considered to be potentially curable.

According to Springfield Fire Chief Robert Day, arson is suspected in the fire in the 35-foot vehicle which was parked at the Echo Plaza Shopping Center lot, off Rt. 22 at the Mountainside line. One Springfield fireman, Marcel Campion, suffered smoke inhalation and exhaustion during the three-hour blaze, and required treatment at Overlook Hospital.

The alarm was called in at 8 p.m. by a motorist who saw the flames from Rt. 22, but Day believes the fire started at least an hour before. "By the time we got there, flames were already shooting through the aluminum sides of the trailer," he said. Day, who said the doors to the vehicle were not locked, feels someone opened them and threw a match inside.

No figures were available on the amount of paper destroyed, but the Fire Chief noted the trailer was "packed to the roof." "They could not have gotten one more magazine inside," he commented

The paper had been collected in the Key Club's monthly recycling effort, conducted last Saturday. The trailer had been left in the lot for pickup sometime on Monday

The publication, entitled "Guide for a Township Committee on Aging," also covers areas of concern to senior citizens, such as information and referral services, health services, nutrition, housing, loneliness, recreation, legal counseling and other related subjects. Included is a sample letter and survey form each community can use in assessing their senior citizens' concerns.

Commenting on the guide-which had been proposed by Peter M. Shields, executive director of the county Office on Aging-Freeholder Walter M. Boright, chairman of the county Health and Social Services Committee,

"There is a definite need for this kind of guide to assist the cities in helping their senior citizens, because there is much confusion in the approach to these serious areas of concern. I congratulate our Office on Aging for making such a guide available.

The pamphlet may be obtained by out-ofcounty communities for a nominal fee.

Thursday, November 20, 1975-5 Concert to cite development of voice in classical music

A concert tracing the development of the voice through five centuries of music will be performed Sunday by the N.J. Schola Cantorum of Plainfield.

The concert, "Five Centuries of Gloria" will be held at 3 p.m. in the Congregational Church, 7th street at Madison avenue. Tickets, which may be purchased at the door, are $3 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens.

Louis Hocker, music director, said the concert will show how the singing voice has changed from the Renaissance period through the Baroque and Classic to the Romantic and modern periods. Hooker said he chose "Gloria" as a simple vehicle for demonstrating how different composers used the same text in different musical periods

The performance will include "Mass For Five Voices" by William Byrd from the Renaissance; "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" by Johann Sebastion Bach from the Baroque; "Missa Brevis" by Haydn from the Classic; "Messa di Gloria" by Puccini from the Romantic and "Mass in g minor" by Ralph Vaughn Williams from the contemporary

County, now under new charter laws revamps structure

cini, the county "won't have the budget control which, according to the Musto Commission (which recommended the Optional County Charter Law), is essential,"

Through the administrative code, said Mancini, county officials are "trying to come up with the finest instrument we can. There will be amendments in the future, but we want to start with a workable structure." Until the code goes into effect on May 1, said the county attorney, "there will certainly be administrative and executive changes. For instance, within a very short time George will set up practice, procedures and controls so that instead of approving bills through the freeholder board it will be done through the manager's office.' The change in payment of bills and other we can achieve it by administrative implementation. These duties will be transferred to the man who will be responsible for the dayto-day operation of the county.

Albanese said that during the transition period (until the code goes into effect) his staff will be "revamping all of the administrative procedures to conform with the new optional charter law. As soon as these procedures are put together we'll be gradually assuming responsibilities outlined in the law."

A major aim of the county reorganization is to increase efficiency and save money. Some savings will be realized immediately because of the change in bill payment procedure. The county can receive a two percent discount on its purchases if it pays within 30 days of receipt of proval by the board, it was rare that the county could take advantage of the discount. With the manager now having authority to pay bills the county will take greater advantage of the discount.

"Within the law itself (not counting the administrative code) there are clear powers for the county manager and procedures are outlined. What we can do now is work during this transition period on these changes," said Albanese. The county manager said he met Friday with staff agencies, including the finance, personnel and purchase units, "to go through the process of writing up detailed

Harold Seymour, who was, elected chairman of the Board of Freeholders at its Nov. 10 organization meeting, said that the addepartments and organize them into eight or ten departments. As an example, the Cranford Democrat said that the road, bridge and public works agencies, now separate, could be merged into one department

Seymour is convinced that Union County will have the strongest county manager form of government in the nation. "We've been writing to other counties across the country. About half a dozen have a county manager form, but not nearly as strong as ours. In most other counties it's a supervisor who's in charge, but it's an elective position. Our county manager is given an indefinite term. He's in office until he wants to leave or we bring him up on charges.

Mancini said that working on the change of government has been "very interesting, complex and fascinating. I'm glad I'm in it for

Republican, does not expect reappointment by the Democratic-controlled board, although he anticipates staying on until Jan. 1 as county attorney and continuing in an advisory capacity

Mancini said that Albanese was greeted enthusiastically at the Nov. 10 freeholder meeting when he was appointed county manager. "His appointment has been received uniformly with the greatest optimism and pleasure. Everyone's delighted.

Albanese has the necessary background in county government. He started with Union County about 10 years ago as a member of the planning board staff. He was later named criminal justice planner, coordinating programs and grant applications. During this period he was attending New York University where he earned a master's degree in public administration. Last year he became the first county administrator in Union County's 118year history.

GENERAL ELIAS DAYTON Elizabethtown Patriot

Elias Dayton was a most outspoken and active advocate independence from British rule. He served as a member of the Committee of Correspondence and was a colonel in the Elizabethtown militia. His brigade took part in many of the Revolutionary battles, and in 1781 was promoted to the rank of general by Congress.

Dayton, who in person and bearing was said to have resembled General George Washington so strongly that with their backs turned it was difficult to distinguish them, was born in Elizabethtown in 1737. While still a very young man he was elected to serve as an Alderman in the Town Council Being interested in the military, he joined the militia, and held the rank of Lieutenant and then Captain during the French and Indian Wars from 1759 to 1764, When the French and Indian wars from 1797 to 1890 to 18 bethtown's fighting parson. As mentioned earlier Dayton and his men took part in many major battles of the War for Independence such as the Battles of Elizabethtown, Springfield, Brandywine and Ger-mantown as well as being assigned the task of guarding the Mohawk Valley in New York where he suppressed the Toryism which had been encouraged by Sir John Johnson. He and his brigade were able to keep in check the Indians of the

In addition he built Fort Schuyler, on the site of old Fort Stanwix at Rome, and Fort Dayton at Herkimer. He also took part in the defense of Ticonderoga, after which he returned to New Jersey and joined the Continental troops under Another task he undertook was to lead the Elizabethtown volunteers who went in aid of Lord Sterling's attempt to capture the British supply ship, "Blue Mountain Valley," which had been driven by a storm into Princess Bay near Sandy Hook.

During the latter part of January, 1776 news had reached Lord Sterling, who was in command of the American Forces in New Jersey, that the enemy ship was in trouble. Without hesitation, he decided to atternet its capture, and lost no time setting his plan in motion.

After hearing of Sterling's intention, word arrived in Elizabethtown that a British naval ship was leaving New York with the purpose of helping the "Blue Mountain Valley" get safely into port. Fearing that the American force might be overpowered, Jonathan Hampton and the Elizabethtown Committee sent out a call for volunteers to go to Sterling's aid. All hands were promised a share of the booty if the ship

After word for help was sent out, the young men of the town (many of whom were already members of one regi-ment or another) volunteered and were soon on their way with Colonel Elias Dayton in command. The 110 man expedition sailed for Amboy in 3 boats where they met Sterling with about 40 soldiers ready to leave for the open seas in quest of the "Blue Mountain Valley." Shortly after daybreak they sighted their prey, and drawing alongside, boarded the British ship without a shot being fired. British Captain John H. Dempster was taken completely by surprise and finding himself outnumbered

The ship, loaded with coal, flour, meat, powder and other supplies was brought into Elizabethtown and turned over to the Committee to await the orders of Congress. Eventually the cargo was sold at public vendue, and it can be ssumed the participants of the raid were given their share of the proceeds. After the war Elias Dayton enjoyed a long and distinguished career as a public official and dignitary. He served as Town Recorder, and was also approached to run for the Congress of the United States which he declined. Until his death he held the rank of Major General in the Second Division of the New Jersey Militia, and was Mayor of

Elizabethtown the last nine years of his life, Under the name of E. Dayton and Son, he successfully parated a wholesale and retail business. His warehouse and harf was located not far from the Court House fronting on Water street (Elizabeth avenue) and extended to the river. Ships from all over the world tied up at his dock while loading and unloading cargo from around the world. His dock was also used by American ships sailing between American ports. In addition he owned a retail store on East

Jersey street near Broad Street, He died October 22, 1807 and is interred in the Dayton family vault in the First Presbyterian Church graveyard

Out of town activities or events taking place at a distance, will affect your job, task or project. Anyway, consider circumstances over which you have no control

Apparently, you're being imposed upon. A bit of tact and diplomacy applied now...will eliminate future animosity

Boredom with routine, plagues many members of your sign. Guard against taking short cuts. Most important, follow basic safety

It seems as though, you'll reach a crossroad. In fact, you'll undergo a phase of self analysis; you'll attempt to improve your personality.

Conversation with a member of the opposite sex, gives you a window to see into the future, or at least, what to expect...in affairs of the heart.

Beware of a fast talker, who might indeed propose some sort of business scheme, alavoid crossing a social bridge, in hope of finding a monetary reward.

Advancement, promotions or, perhaps, an improvement in your job, task or project shows in your chart. Anyway, things look good, during this cosmic cycle. Nostalgia, and the thought of returning to the good old days, seems to be in the scheme of things. You'll draw courage, energy and inspiration from the past.

Those under your sign, unattached, will become more serious about affairs of the heart. Also, a casual friendship will increase

It seems as though you will harbor the thought of failing at your job, task or project. Actually, there's no serious reversal in sight.

The urge to give more than you should, shows in your chart; impulsive over generosity might lead to unwarranted self sacrifice.

There's an outside possibility that your affairs of the heart might be in conflict with a decision that must be made at your job, task or project.

Dear Protective: First, be sure that you are dealing with a reliable company, so check with the Better Business Bureau: second, be sure that you understand that the cost estimate on the job is not binding on the company and, in the case of a fly-by-night company, it may be very substantially lower than the ultimate charges; third, be sure you are adequately protected by insurance or extended carrier liability against loss or damage.

Doing these things will help you get your money's worth and assure more pleasant dealings with an industry anxious to serve you

valuable as a new-car warranty WORRIED

Dear Worried:

Unlike new-car warranties, the used-car guarantee, especially by the 50-50 guarantee, often specifies so much about what it will not cover that it hardly amounts to more than a blank piece of paper. You can either forget it or ask for better terms. If you get them, you'll probably be asked to pay more for the car.

A desirable guarantee from your standpoint will cover you for 30-days for 100 percent of all parts and labor. It may not be easy to get such an agreement, but you can try. Some cars, because of their age and condition simply cannot be sold with this warranty without adding to the cost. Larrie O'Farrell.

Cancer workers to hear producer of 'Wild Kingdom'

Perkins, co-producer with her husband, Marlin, of the television program, "Wild Kingdom," will be a featured speaker at the annual Volunteer Conference of the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society at Haddon Hall'in Atlantic City on Saturday and Sunday. For the first time, the conference will combine workshops on the Society's fund-raising Cancer Crusade and Public Education and Service programs.

Dr. and Mrs. Perkins are honorary education co-chairmen of the National ACS. In gathering material for their television shows. Carol Perkins led 10 safaris across East Africa, one to the South Pacific and, her most recent, to India, Nepal and Sikkim. An authority on aboriginal people and animal wildlife, she has been a pioneer in safeguarding our natural environment. She is the author of several books, writes her own TV program, "Our Endangered World," and serves as a photographer for her husband's expeditions

Some 300 New Jersey volunteers will participate in the two-day sessions devoted to familiarizing the public with the latest reliable information about cancer and what can be done about the disease if it should strike in one's

Also featured will be a cancer patient who is successfully receiving treatment by chemotherapy, Mrs. Rita Jovais of Andalusia, Pennsylvania; an expert in graphic presentations, Al Kochka of the New Jersey State Department of Education, and a medical review of progress against cancer by Dr. Frederick B. Cohen, director of the Oncology Department at Beth Israel Medical Center in

U.S. crime increase 18 pct.; suburban, rural rates higher

Serious crime in the United States was 18 for all criminal offenses except traffic percent greater in 1974 than in 1973, with the largest increase in suburban and rural areas, Attorney General Edward H. Levi announced

The final figures for 1974 were contained in the FBI's annual Uniform Crime Reports (UCR), released this week by FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley. Preliminary figures released earlier set the increase for the year at 17 percent.

These final figures merely underscore what we already know," Levi said. "The problem of serious crime is immense

"They also indicate that crime is, indeed, a national problem that reaches into every part of our society. A coordinated national response by all segments of the criminal justice system and at all levels of society is vital if we are to bring this problem under control.

Other major findings in the final UCR figures.

-There were an estimated 10.192.000 serious crimes in 1974, compared with 8,666,200 in 1973. In 1974, there were 969,800 violent crimes and 9,222,200 property crimes reported to police.

-Cities of more than 250,000 population registered a serious crime increase of 12 percent, while the rate in suburban and rural areas each rose 20 percent.

-There were 4,821 crimes per 100,000 inhabitants in the United States-nearly one crime for every 20 persons-a 17 percent increase over 1973 and a 32 percent increase over

-There were 459 violent crimes per 100,000 inhabitants, a 10 percent increase over 1973, and 4,363 property crimes per 100,000, a 17

According to Rev. James A. Pindar, archdiocesan director of communications, the project is an attempt to present to the panel of bishops a wider variety of testimony and to give those who might otherwise be unable to attend the hearings an opportunity to be heard.

Live testimony will be heard from expert witnesses and from members of the public who have requested an opportunity to speak. The public is invited to attend all three hearing

The sites selected for the hearings are St Lucy's Church, Newark (Dec. 4), Queen of Angels Church, Newark (Dec. 5), and Our Lady of the Lake Church, Verona (Dec. 6).

Museum to stage two puppet plays

Did puppets help win the War for Independence on Did Evil Raven steal the Kathlamet Indians, reward? Children are invited to learn the answers when "Punch of '76" and "Gift of the Totem," two Bicentennial puppet plays by the B Gay Puppets, are presented at the Montelair Art Museum Saturday, Dec. 6, at 2

Tickets ($1 for children, who must be five or older to attend, and $1.50 for adults) should be obtained early, through the education office of the Museum, seating space is limited.

"Punch of '76" is a spy story, based on historical fact, about a clever young woman who outsmarts the Redcoats and gets secret information to General Washington, "Gift of the Totem" is a Kathlamet Indian legend of a gift of copper bestowed upon the tribe and Evil Raven who tries to steal the reward. The production is enhanced by authentic Indian music, magical lighting effects and colorful

Jamaica seminar in human biology

A seminar on social issues in human biology-to be held on a remote beach in northeastern Jamaica-has been added to Drew University's schedule of January term courses. Registration for this and other January courses that are still open will be received through the end of November.

Given for academic credit, Jan. 12 to 26, the seminar in Jamaica will be team-taught by a geneticist, a philosopher, and an authorlecturer who directs the National Center for Bioethics. According to the geneticist, James J. Nagle of Drew, the decision to offer the seminar reflects student interest in bioethical issues in the wake of the Karen Ann Quinlan case and recent revelations of secret medical and drug tests on human subjects by Federa

Additional information about the Jamaica seminar, and other January term offerings still open for enrollment, is available from Professor E.G. Stanley Baker at Drew University, Madison.

"The Other Side of the Mountain," film drama, based on the life of the indomitable championship skier Jill Kinmont, continues for another week at the Maplewood Theater in Maplewood. Miss Kinmont, who suffered a near-fatal accident while racing down the slopes in the January, 1955 Snow Cup Race at Alta, Utah, suffered five crushed vertebrae and a severed spinal cord. She was almost totally paralized from the neck down.

The film, produced by Edward S. Feldman and directed by Larry Peerce, is based on the book, "A Long Way Up," by David Seltzer, who also wrote the screenplay for this film.

To find the right actress to play Miss Kinmont, a talent search began in Los Angeles and spread out to San Francisco, Chicago and New York. Scouts screened 200 actresses before coming upon Marilyn Hassett, whose own life was nearly parallel to Miss Kinmont's

Miss Hassett had recovered from two crippling, back-to-back accidents — the first caused by an out-of-control elephant that crushed her legs and her pelvis during the filming of a television commercial; the second, a headon automobile collision that threw her out of the roof of the small car she was driving requiring her to undergo brain surgery

Miss Hassett is co-starred with Beau Bridges, the son of Lloyd Bridges and older brother of Jeff Bridges

James Coburn plays a soldier-of-fortune who rides his western bronco in a 700mile horse endurance contest in "Bite the Bullet," which arrived yesterday at the Elmora Theater, Elizabeth, on a double bill with "Gravy Train" (The Dion Brothers)

The Columbia Pictures adventure film, "Bite the Bullet," also stars Gene Hackman Candice Bergen, Ben Johnson, Ian Bannen and Jan-Michael Vincent, and is set in the west of 1906.

Written and directed by Richard Brooks, the action drama was inspired by accounts of endurance horse races over the rugged terrain of the western United States in the years from 1880 to 1910.

In the film, Hackman is seen as a former Rough Rider with Teddy Roosevelt; Miss Bergen as a shady lady-indistress; Johnson, an oldtime pony express rider; Vincent, a reckless young cowboy, and Bannen, a titled English sportsman. They all compete in the contest.

Swedish descent, moved with his family to Compton, Calif., 2:30. as a youngster. He served in the U.S. Army's Second Division, returned to Los Angeles to attend L.A. City College. He did several important stage plays, television shows and a dozen films.

Star for caper

HOLLYWOOD-Diane Keaton will star with James Caan and Elliott Gould in the film for Columbia Pictures, "Harry and Walter Go To New York," a safecracking caper set in 1892. She recently completed a starring role for 20th Century-Fox, "I will, I Will...For Now."

'We played' like champs' says coach

Flood, Gambee runs power Dayton effort

By LOUIS FASULO

On Saturday Dayton's Bulldogs upset a tough Chief team from Caldwell in a tight game, 14-12 Dayton ended a five-game skid and played a superior game. In its last home game, there seemed to be a strong desire to win that was lacking in previous games. The Bulldogs played a very cohesive game, said coach Dave

"There is nothing better than winning," "We hit them harder, we made less mistakes and played like champs." The Bulldogs will wind up their season Thanksgiving morning at West

Dayton, whose defense leads the conference in points allowed, played an excellent game Jack Flood. Jim Rice and Bob Potomski, all three seniors, each had a great game. They hit the opponents hard and broke up many plays displayed overall defensive talent. Potomski and Rice combined on many tackles stopping the running efforts by the opposition. Potomski has played great defensive all season and collected 12 tackles. Rice who has faced some of the top offensive lineman in the state, accumulated 17 tackles, also he has been the toughest lineman for Dayton. Sr. co-captain Jack Flood displayed a real desire to win played superior football as he had 10 tackles. Flood was physched to sting, and sting he did, as not one play was successfully run around his

Vin Mirabella, Randy Wissel, Joe Graziano, Mike Flood and Steve Mercklback helped to halt the Chief's drives, and all played a key role in the success of the defense. The backfield of Steve Pepe, Brian McNanny and Carmen Apicello, who have been the scapegoats of this year's defense also were outstanding

Caldwell scored twice, once in the second period on its only real drive against the Bulldogs. They also scored late in the third quarter on a drive that was aided by a number of Bulldog penalties. Don Lusandi was able to fill the gap left by quarterback Joe Graziano in the final periods. A scoring drive capped by a one foot run by Caldwell.

The offensive unit although not explosive played a great game, led by running back Mike Flood who gained 127 yards and receiver Joe Mirto, who caught a 45-yard pass which led to the first touchdown. Graziano and Bryant Burke both played a fine game. Graziano throwing seven times completing four for 88 yards. Burke followed suit by throwing a two point conversion to TE Mark Tryon which was Tryon's finest catch of the season. The line played another great game as they provided the holes for the hard nose running of Flood and Gambee. Joe Ragucci, Bob Conti, Greg Liss, Bob McGurty, Joe Graziano, Bob Potomski and Mark Tryon all did a fine job protecting Graziano and Burke. Potomski played as well on offense as defense

Dayton's first scoring drive came midway in the first quarter as Graziano, after completing a 45 yard pass to Mirto, plunged for the three yard drive. Mike Flood, who did not play offense in the Summit game, had a few key runs in the drive. With the score 6-0 the extra point

Dayton which had the entire stadium standing and watching the final drive, put together a 65 yard effort led by three runs by Flood for 40 yards. This was capped by a 14-yard Brandon

Then, in a crucial decision with the score the two point conversion rather than the safer one point kick. While the excited Dayton fans watched. Burke set back in the pocket and passed to Mark Tryon, who made a dazzling catch for the conversion.

Coach Oliver stated that he could not have been more satisfied with his team and that he is looking forward to matching last year's team record of 3-6, by beating West Orange, on Thanksgiving, "The excitement of the game will remain with many of the senior players and fans because it was a game that everyone wanted to win," said the pleased Bulldog

Coach Krupp felt that many of the team members deserved personal recognition for their efforts this season

Gary Scheich was the leading scorer in the Suburban Conference this year. He scored 14 goals with seven assists and was the only player in the league to be selected unanimously by coaches for the First Team All Conference Krupp said Gary was the best player in the conference. His best game was against West Orange when he scored four goals. Krupp said. "Gary offensively kept the team in the games.

Sid Kaufman, junior, will be one of the captains next year. Last year Sid was chosen for Honorable Mention All Conference, and this year his great improvement led him to Second Team All Conference. Krupp said, "With hard work and practice Sid can be the top goalie in the Conference next year. He will be a key man on the team next year."

Hee Young Lee senior was chosen for Honorable Mention All Conference Team. Hee Young Lee played left wing, a position which he was unaccustomed to playing. He scored two goals against Millburn and Krupp felt his skills progressed a great deal as the season went on. He was an excellent runner for the team.

Senior Steve Hechtle was chosen for Honorable Mention All Conference. He was a center halfback for the team occasionally and covered the right halfback position. Krupp said, "Steve displayed some excellent skills this season. He can be proud of his fine performance on the team."

Steve Matysek, senior, played right halfback and center halfback. He played fulltime in almost every game. "He worked hard and did an excellent job for the team," Krupp said.

A FEW YEARS AGO there was a movement BY BILL WILD

A 2-0 victory over Clarkstown last Sunday kept the Elizabeth Lancers in first place in the German American Soccer League Major Division South with 13 points. The Union booters are hard pressed by the German Hungarians, who also have 13 points, but the Lancers have a better goal average. Hellenic is also in the running with 12 points. The big threat to the top teams comes from the "City of Brotherly Love," because the Philadelphia Ukrainians have only 11 points, but have two games to make up. A win in both those games will put them ahead of the leaders. Inter leads the Major Division North followed by Ed Kelly, the Lancers' new coach, put the Union team ahead at the 15-minute mark against Clarkstown. Kelly also scored the Lancer second goal, in the second half.

The Lancers will meet Dalmatinac this Sunday at Roosevelt Stadium, Union City. Gametime will be at 2:30 p.m.

Union County Sport Club will go against Eintracht this Sunday at Farcher's Grove, Gametime is slated for 2:30 p.m. and a reserve team match will precede the first team game. Both teams will be up for this one because they both lost last week's matches by one goal Union County dropped their game, /2-1, to Polonia and Eintracht lost to Turkish SC, 1-0.

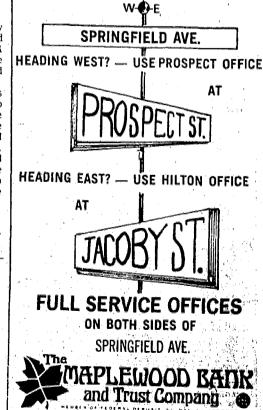

around for each team to put up three candidates to become referees and then the league would have their own refs. I did not like the idea then because we knew how bad we had it then, but we didn't know how bad it would get with the new ones. I have been watching soccer games at all levels of play from the NASL to Farcher's Grove and even junior high school. and I find something should be done to bring better qualified men into officiating. I was watching a home game of one of the junior highs when my 12-year old daughter turned to me and said,"dad, that ref is cheating us." I tried to explain to her that sometimes they are in a much better position to see what is going on then we are on the sidelines. I noticed the same pair of officials work the home games and call the same fouls on the hometeam all the time. When the team plays away the other officials don't call these fouls. Why? The officials should be rotated or changed so this does not happen. At Farcher's Grove it gets ridiculous. I repeat what I said before. I don't know what I would do if I were out there and had to call a foul in a split second, but these past few months have been unbelievable

When players get fouls called against them for no reason at all or get fouled, and the other player gets away with it, they tend to take it out on the next player they meet and then the game gets out of hand and injuries occur-

Coach Krupp expressed his feeling for the season when he said, "The team was young at the outset of the season. The boys suffered from inexperience. They did not have the depth that was necessary to compete against better teams but they won five games this season. The entire team displayed a fine attitude toward their practice and work. I enjoyed working with them; they are a great group of boys. The younger ones gained confidence this year and will have a head start for next year.

Hayden will read poetry selections Monday at Kean

The Kean College Department of English and the campus Third World Movement will co-sponsor the appearance on campus of poet Robert Hayden, Monday at 8:30 p.m. in Downs

Hayden will read selections from his own poetry and will then meet informally with audience members at a reception following the reading. There is no admission charge for this

"The surest poetic talent of any Negro poet in America...a major talent and poetic coming-ofage without regard to race or creed." So wrote Choice magazine in 1966 when Robert Hayden's "Selected Poems" was published. Since then his poems have appeared in numerous publications and languages and Hayden has become recognized as one of America's leading

His latest work, "Angle of Ascent," will be published a few days before his Kean College appearance, one of the few readings he will perform in the East this year.

Robert Hayden was born in Detroit and received his master's from the University of Michigan. He won the Hopwood Award for Poetry in 1938 and 1942 and the Rosenwald Fellowship in creative writing in 1947. From 1954-55, he traveled in Mexico on a Ford Foundation grant for creative writing and Collisions lead pleasure boating mishaps in N.J.

Collisions between pleasure craft is the most frequent accident among New Jersey boaters. the recreational boats in accidents from 1970 to 1974 have been in a collision with another craft. Of the state's 1,297 pleasure craft in boating mishaps over the five year span, 577 were in a

"Many collisions occur in good weather and are often due to a boat operator being unfamiliar with the rules of the road," said Lieutenant C.D. Kroll of the Third Coast Guard

District boating safety office in New York. The rules of the road are the traffic laws on water. A boater familiar with them will know who has the right of way and how to signal his intentions when approaching other boats.

One way to learn the navigational rules, he said, is to enroll in a boating safety course given by the U.S. Power Squadron or the Coast Guard Auxiliary. Information on courses and where they are being held may be obtained by calling the toll-free Power Squadron number 800-243-6000; by calling the Auxiliary at 212-264-4905; or by writing Director of Auxiliary, Third Coast Guard District, Governors Island, N.Y.,

CARE campaign seeks $8 million to feed the hungry

NEW YORK -- A holiday season CARE Food Crusade is seeking $8,000,000 to feed 27 million people, mostly children, in developing countries where hunger and malnutrition are the chief cripplers and killers of the young. Feeding sites include preschool and nutrition centers and primary schools, many of which CARE helped build. Among food supplies distributed are enriched flour, bulgur wheat, high-protein grain blends which can be boiled. baked or liquified, and cooking oil. Foods are served as a porridge, a nourishing drink, added to soups or served with local ingredients to make nutritious dishes.

U.S. government donations of commodities, CARE's purchase of food at special low prices, plus overseas governments covering some operating costs, multiply the value of public contributions. Last year each donor dollar provided nearly $5.13 worth of aid, delivered under supervision of CARE experts. Contributions may be sent to CARE Food Crusade, Tri-State Regional Office, 660 First ave., New Scheduled CARE food programs operate in Arab Republic of Egypt, Bangladesh, Chad, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Israel-Gaza, Jordan, Macao, Mali, Niger, Pakistan, Panama, the Philippines, Sierra Leone, Sri Lanka, Tunisia and Turkey.

As needs arise and resources permit, CARE also sends food aid to Afghanistan, Belize, Kenya, Lesotho, Liberia, Nicaragua, Nigeria, Peru and South Korea.

NOVEMBER-200 YEARS AGO In London, Lord North stesses the need to King George for a successful, aggressive military campaign by the British in America in appropriate way to observe the national Bicontennial.

'New Jersey is a state rich in heritage," the Governor said, "and much of that history was written in the executive offices and legislative chambers of this beautiful building, which traces its origins back to 1791.

State House to be open weekends

Bicentennial public visits will start in spring

Governor Byrne said the initiative and impetus for opening the State House came from former Gov. Robert B. Meyner, chairman of the State Bicentennial Commission, and Secretary of State J. Edward Crabiel, a member of the commission.

For many families, Saturdays and Sundays are the only times a trip to Trenton is possible, Governor Byrne stated. He said the program is scheduled to run from May 1 to Sept. 18, 1976. That period, he added, will be the peak of the Bicentennial tourist period and schools will be closed for summer vacation during much of that time. The State House will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays, from noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Each weekend will focus on one county, beginning with Atlantic on May 1 and continuing in alphabetical order. Each county will Nations resolution against Israel, calling it a setback to Mideast peace negotiations.

"The vote by the United Nations condemning Zionism as a form of racial discrimination is an irresponsible action. It blunts the affirmative progress made by Israel and Egypt in the recent Sinai settlement. It weakens respect for the United Nations system and limits its chance to act effectively within the framework of its charter," he declared.

"It is sad indeed that the member nations of the United Nations have permitted this unfortunate Resolution to pass. Most of those states, I am sure, did not consider that matter on its merits but, instead, responded to the threat of oil blackmail as they have done on earlier occasions in the specialized agencies of the United Nations," he concluded.
