Borough might accept non-residents at pool

By KAREN ZAUTYK
Out-of-town owners may be able to become members of the Mountainside Community Pool this summer if the Borough Council adopts an ordinance introduced Tuesday night at the monthly meeting.

The ordinance would permit non-residents to apply for pool membership, provided they are sponsored by resident members. A family non-resident membership would be $140 for the husband and wife, and an additional $5 for each child, to a maximum of $20. Borough residents would continue to pay $120 for a family membership, with no additional fees for their children. Councilman William Cullen explained the ordinance was an effort to increase revenues for the pool "to keep it a viable piece of property, self-sustaining, without any burden on the taxpayers." In recent years, pool membership has declined, putting a crimp in the facility's operating budget. Two other ordinances introduced at the session affect the borough's administrative code. One establishes the positions of director of public works and assistant to the director; the other sets forth salaries for a zoning officer ($6,000), a construction code official ($6,000), the assistant to the director of public works ($3,000), and a building sub-code official, ($3,000). The posts will be held by Chester Johnson, who, Councilman Bruce Geiger noted, has been a long-term part-time employee in the public works department.

primarily to control construction so it will not increase flood problems, must be adopted if the borough wants to retain its ability to purchase flood insurance and eligibility to receive county aid for flood control projects.

Council also approved an $8,000 appropriation to purchase a new public works truck, to replace the present single vehicle in the department, and awarded the sale contract to Dodgeland Inc. of Springfield, which bid $7,977. The former truck, which is about six years old, is to be sold.

Reporting on continuing conversion of the former Echobrook School to a municipal building, Mayor Thomas Ricciardi reported that 13 bids, ranging from $130,000 to $209,000, have been received for renovations to create a police headquarters in the complex. Ricciardi, who is in the construction business, noted he was unfamiliar with the low bidder and he has asked the architect to check into the firm's background before a contract award is made.

Regarding another financial matter, Geiger reported that a total of $20,512 has been spent so far this year for the removal of snow and ice from borough streets. The 1977 emergency snow

Memorial rites on Sunday for Mrs. Brackbill

Gloria Wall Brackbill, wife of the Rev. Charles Brackbill, former pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in Elizabeth, died after a short illness of cancer at Overlook Hospital, Summit, on Sunday. She was 54 years old and lived at 1537 Deer path, Mountainside.

Mrs. Brackbill had served as president of the Mountainside PTA and vice-president of the Mountainside Music Association.

She was a graduate of Moore College of Art in Philadelphia. After graduation, she worked as a fashion illustrator for several Philadelphia stores, and her work was regularly seen in Philadelphia newspapers. She continued her interest in art and in recent years had turned to portrait painting. She was a member of the

Bicentennial plates could bring $15 fine

Mountainside motorists who are still displaying New Jersey Bicentennial license plates on their autos could be risking a $15 fine.

That's the penalty, police said, for improper display of plates, and summonses for that offense can be issued for use of the Bicentennial plates, which expired Feb. 1.

School budget advertised for 1977-78 year

The proposed Mountainside school budget for 1977-1978 is advertised on page 3 of today's Echo by the Board of Education.

The board also announced that it plans to publish in next week's Echo a statement describing and explaining the main features of the budget. The public will vote on the budget and elect three members of the seven-member board on Tuesday, March 29. The polls will be at the Deerfield School.

The board urged Mountainside voters to keep the budget advertisement, and other material that will be mailed to them soon, to study together with next week's article. A hearing, at which board members will discuss and answer questions about the budget, is scheduled for Tuesday, March 1, at 8 p.m. at the Deerfield School.

The board will vote on adoption of the budget at its regular public meeting a week later on Tuesday, March 8, at 8 p.m. at the Deerfield School.

Madrigal Singers plan performance at church

The Bloomsburg State College (Pennsylvania) Madrigal Singers will present a concert at Mountainside Presbyterian Church on Sunday at 7 p.m. The concert will include Renaissance chamber music, romantic part songs and 20th Century madrigals. A special feature will be highlights from Broadway's "Sound of Music." There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

The Madrigal Singers are selected by competitive audition. There are 12 performers, four alternates and an accompanist (piano and harpsichord). They have performed on ABC and CBS television in Wilkes-Barre and Scranton.

Richard Stanislaw, associate professor of music, is the director. His academic background includes a bachelor's degree in sacred music from Philadelphia College of Bible, a second bachelor's degree and master's in music composition from Temple University and a doctor of musical arts degree at the University of Illinois, studying with Harold Decker and James G. Smith. He has also studied conducting with Paul Steinitz, Robert Page and Alfred Lunde.

CONCERT SUNDAY—Kristy Weeks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hedley M. Weeks of Mountainside, is shown, fourth from the left, in rehearsal with members of the Madrigal Singers of Bloomsburg (Pa.) State College. The singers will present a concert at the Mountainside Community Presbyterian Church on Sunday at 7 p.m. There is no admission charge, and the public has been invited. The Duke University Chorale will sing on March 6.

Dayton Glass-In set this Saturday

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Key Club will hold its monthly Glass-In on Saturday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the high school front parking lot.

Residents of the area have been urged to bring newspapers, tied in bundles, and glass, sorted by color.

Disney movie, lamps at library

"Rusty and the Falcon," a Disney film, will be shown at the Free Public Library of Mountainside on Wednesday for children in the first grade and above. Admission is free. There will be two showings: the first at 2 p.m.; the second at 3:30. "Rusty and the Falcon" is the story of a young boy's devotion to his pet falcon despite the growing hostility of his neighbors.

The library is featuring antique miniature lamps, from the collection of Richard F. Gruen of Mountainside, in the display cases through March 5. His exhibit includes a tin miner's lamp, whale oil lamps, Betty lamps, a "Little Beauty" night lamp, a nutmeg burner, an acorn burner, an Aladdin's lamp, a bicycle lantern, and a Grand Vals Perfect Time Indicating Lamp. Gruen, who has been collecting lamps for 25 years, also presents background information on the individual items.

LUNCHEON IS SERVED — Eighth graders at Our Lady of Lourdes School were hosts last week at a luncheon for members of the Mountainside Senior Citizens organization. Waiters are Mike O'Donnell

THE STATE WE'RE IN

Lots of people are bird watchers, but how many are island watchers? Barrier islands, that is.

Barrier islands are the fragile spits of sand which keep the Atlantic Ocean from beating at the front doors of many coastal towns along New Jersey's coast.

Now there's a Barrier Island Workshop, based in Washington, D.C., which is dedicated to lining up concerned segments of the public to keep track of whatever might be threatening barrier islands, and to complain about it to the appropriate authorities.

The Workshop is a coalition of 25 environmental organizations, including the New Jersey Conservation Foundation.

Barrier islands represent almost every ecological land-use, legal and economic conflict found in the U.S. coastal zone.

Much of the U.S. coastline from Texas to Maine is flanked by such barrier islands. A good example of one which was saved for posterity is Island Beach. Atlantic City sits on a barrier island which got paved and hotelled.

If you'd like to learn more about the Barrier Island Workshop, write to Bruce McLain at Suite 300, 1717 Massachusetts ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Island watchers are to help accumulate detailed data on each island and beach for the Workshop's central data pool, and make possible advance notice of avoidable threats to barrier islands.

According to the Conservation Foundation, a nationwide group involved in the Workshop coalition which is not related to the New Jersey Conservation Foundation, there are 281 barrier islands and beaches of 100 acres or more.

Mrs. Brackbill was born in Reading, Pa. Her parents were residents of North Carolina. She is survived by her husband, the Rev. Charles Brackbill, a communications consultant;

A memorial service will be conducted at the Community Presbyterian Church, Deer path and Meeting House lane, Mountainside, this Sunday at 3 p.m.

Council meets

Parking problems were the subject of two discussions. Ricciardi, noting he has been receiving repeated requests from commuters for a parking facility since the Echobrook lot was closed to them, requested that the borough engineer and building inspector review potential parking areas near Rt. 22.

Councilman Nicholas Bradshaw issued a plea to local residents to park their cars in their driveways and not on the streets.

Senator CASE Reports

The Administration recently has made some very welcome statements on behalf of human rights.

It is important that the leaders of other countries, in the Soviet Union, Eastern Europe and the developing world, understand that the concern for basic human rights is widespread and deeply felt.

Rather, it is an outgrowth of our basic American attitudes, stemming from our political and social history.

The support for human rights also is expressed in the 1975 Helsinki Accord signed by the Soviet Union and other Warsaw Pact nations, the United States and the nations of Western Europe.

Principle VII of the Helsinki Accord says in part: "The participating states will respect human rights and fundamental freedoms including the freedom of thought, conscience, religion or belief, for all without distinction, as to race, sex, language or religion."

Secretary Vance, in his response to questions I submitted for the record of his Jan. 11 Senate Foreign Relations Confirmation hearings, said: "... It would seem to me that signing the Final Act—including Principle VII—imposes an obligation on all signatory states to expect that other signatories, including the United States, might raise questions about any and all violations of human rights and fundamental freedoms."

The State Department's statements in Czechoslovakia and Jan. 27 on Andrei Sakharov are commendable and consistent with the secretary's previous position. They provide specific illustrations of the general concern.

The minor dispute over whether the Sakharov statement was properly cleared at the highest levels of the State Department should not obscure the basic outline of our position; that human rights considerations should be given a high priority in our foreign policy.

Secretary Vance, in his press conference Jan. 31, said:

"We will speak frankly about injustice, both at home and abroad. We do not intend, however, to be strident or polemical but we believe that an abiding respect for human rights is a human value of fundamental importance, and that it must be nourished. We will not comment on each and every issue, but we will, from time to time comment when we see a threat to human rights, when we believe it constructive to do so."

Wrestlers turn back Kenilworth

By MICHAEL PETRO

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School wrestling team last week lost to New Providence, 34-18, but defeated Kenilworth, 50-11.

The Dayton Bulldogs now 7-5, will travel to Jefferson for a meet tomorrow.

Four pins by New Providence proved the Bulldogs' downfall. Dayton wrestled tough but New Providence won the close matches when it counted.

Winning Dayton wrestlers were Pat Picciuto at 108 pounds, Mike Calabrese at 115, Alan Layton at 135, Pat Smith at 148 and Dan Solazzi at 158 pounds.

The victory over Kenilworth was made easier when Kenilworth forfeited six matches; the Bulldogs gave up one.

Ken Bell, at 158 pounds, picked up the only pin for Dayton; Dean Pashian at 101 pounds and Dan Solazzi at 148 pounds battled to victories.

Mike Calabrese, Dave Gechik, Alan Layton, Pat Smith, Rich Cederquist and Mark McCourt won through forfeits.

Test result file open to parents

Dr. Francis Kenny, director of pupil personnel services of the Union County Regional High School District, this week announced that the district has received the results from state assessment tests and that parents may review their children's scores by contacting the school guidance office.

The state assessment tests were administered to 10th graders last October. Students were tested in reading and mathematics.

The regional district consists of David Brearley, Jonathan Dayton, Arthur L. Johnson and Gov. Livingston Regional high schools.

Billikens top Rockets to capture 1st place

The Billikens took over sole possession of first place in the Springfield Small Fry League, with a 15-11 victory over the Rockets, while the Raiders, league-leaders to this point, fell into a second-place tie with the Jets. The Bullikens have a mark of 5-1, while the Raiders and Jets have identical 4-2 records. The Raiders went down at the hands of the Bullets, 18-15, while the Jets knocked off the Pistons, 14-12.

The Bullikens' victory was fashioned over the first three quarters, as they built up a seven-point lead going into the final stanza. An airtight defense, which held the Rockets scoreless in the third period, was the Bills' forte all day, and was best demonstrated as it shut out the Rockets' top point-producer, Walt Clarke, for the day.

The winners presented a very balanced offense, with Mike (Met) Graziano leading the way with five points, including three-of-four from the foul line. Andy Rosenthal and Mike Fruchter each hit twice from the field, for four apiece, and Steve Littenberg finished with two. Stu Weinzimer led the Rocket attack with seven points, and Paul Centamore and Mitch Nenner each scored two. In addition, Nenner had a top defensive effort, as did Walt Clarke.

The Jets' victory over the Pistons came in the final quarter, as Eric Wolf's basket, the only Jet points of the second half, proved to be winner, offsetting buckets in the closing moments by the Pistons' John Baber and John Begleiter. The winners tallied their other 12 points in the second quarter, and were blanked in the first and third quarters. Wolf and Mike McNany each finished with six points to lead the Jets, while Dave Cole hit a basket, and rebounded very well. Mitch Levine and Wolf contributed solid floor games, while McNany displayed strong defense and moved the ball well.

Begleiter led all scorers in the game, connecting four times from the floor, good for eight points. Mike Yorkmark and Baber each finished with two, while Dan Klinger was strong off the boards for the Pistons.

The Bullets handed the Raiders their second straight loss, behind a top all-around effort by Brett Walsh. Brett knocked in nine points and handled the ball well on offense, and also distinguished himself on defense. The winners led by just a point as they started the final quarter, and had to withstand a strong Raider comeback to hang on for the win. Eric Zara hit all three of his points in the pressure-packed last quarter, and Walsh scored his team's other four. Brian Speer, Barry Shipitofsky and Joe Blanda also shared in the Bullet scoring, each

Baltusrol Golf Club picks Ross as pro

Bob Ross of Sawgrass County Club, Porte Vedre, Fla., has been named professional, effective April 1, at Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield. He will commute between New Jersey and Florida until then while supervising the PGA Tournament of Champions at Sawgrass, March 17 to 20.

Ross will assist Baltusrol officials in planning for the U.S. Open, to be held at the Springfield course in 1980. It will be the sixth time the classic will be played at Baltusrol, the most for any course in the country.

Girls to face Verona in title test tomorrow

By MIKE MEIXNER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School girls' varsity basketball team outlasted Millburn 77-70, to remain in contention for the Suburban conference title—which may be decided tomorrow when Dayton meets Verona in a home game. Verona won the first game earlier in the year, using the home court advantage fittingly.

The Millburn defense couldn't stop the Bulldogs, who also were weak defensively at times throughout the contest. Dayton took the lead late in the second quarter and never trailed.

Sue Tacovsky scored 23 points for Springfield, which has only two conference losses on its record. Sophomore center Mary King's constant driving moves plagued Millburn severely. Mary had a team-leading 12 rebounds.

Ellen Stieve scored 10 points, was a vital defensive factor and passed well from both the back and front court.

Crocket Franklin, contained by the Millers, scored only seven points, well below her seasonal average. She saw limited action because of foul trouble and fouled out in the fourth quarter.

Michelle Gan then was called on and responded splendidly, running the offense effectively and adding timely scoring.

Freshman Kathy Gerndt also played a key role, gaining many assists.

Bowlers to aid retarded group

League bowlers at 12 bowling lanes throughout Union County will be asked to participate in the "Beat Your Average for the Retarded Citizens Tournament" during the week of March 6 through 12.

The statewide contest is sponsored by the New Jersey Association for Retarded Citizens and its local chapters. Proceeds from the contest will help support the programs of the Union County unit of the organization.

Top prizes will be $500 each for the male and female bowlers who beat their bowling averages by the greatest number of pins.

Trackmen finish 8th in relay meet

By MICHAEL PETRO

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School indoor track team finished in eighth place as a team in the Northern New Jersey championship relay meet held last week.

The Bulldogs, who are 3-0 in dual meet competition this year, will compete in the Union County relays today and the state championships Sunday to close out the year.

The Bulldogs competed against more than 50 other Northern New Jersey schools in the North Jersey meet which was divided into two series of events over two days.

Brandon Gambee and Brian Belliveau were outstanding in their individual events. Gambee captured fourth place in the shotput with a throw of 54 feet 11 inches, his best of the year.

Belliveau took fifth place in the high jump on the strength of his six-foot leap.

Brad Weiner and Bob Phillips finished in second place in their heats of the mile and two mile, respectively.

Other competitors for Dayton were Belliveau and Frank Ruggieri in the 60 yard hurdles, Jim Stadler and Harvey Kaish in the quarter mile, Bob Roche in the two mile and the relay team of Belliveau, Stadler, Kaish and Mike Carroll.

Head Coach Martin Taglienti felt the competition was outstanding. "The whole state was competing in this meet yet we did much better than I expected."

Baseball stars defeat Dayton faculty, 77-53

By MICHAEL PETRO

The New York Yankees' All-Star baseball team defeated representatives of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School faculty 77-53 in a recent fund-raising basketball game sponsored by the Dayton Varsity Club in the Dayton gym.

The All-Stars, composed of Roy White, Jeff Torborg, Johnny Briggs, Willie Wilson, Gene Michael and Glen Borgmann dominated the game from beginning to end. At one point during the third quarter the Stars led by more than 30 points.

The Dayton team of Robert Kozub, Bob Cardwell, Louis Spirito, Tony Falzone, Dave Cowden, Ronald Nash, Dave Oliver, Jerry Rettenberg, Leonard Ferrara and Arthur Krupp were unable to keep up the pace with the bigger, stronger athletes.

Starting off quickly, the faculty took an early 8-6 lead with three minutes gone by in the first period. But the All-Stars, led by hot-shooting Johnny Briggs, who scored 12 points in the first quarter, pulled quickly ahead ending up with a 24-14 lead at the end of the first stanza.

The second quarter was a continuation of the first. The Stars opened up a 20-point lead with the help of their center Willie Wilson. The former Summit star who now plays for the Kansas City Royals made his presence felt under the boards, pulling down rebound after rebound on both ends of the court. Wilson also finished as the game's leading scorer with 20 points.

The first half ended with the Stars holding a 44-25 advantage. Briggs led all scorers with 16 points while Tony Falzone of the faculty had eight points.

The Stars continued to increase their lead in the third quarter. Outscoring their opponents 15-8, the Stars built a 26 point lead at the quarter's close.

With both sides realizing who the victor would be, the fourth quarter was played in a loose, easy style. The faculty outscored the Stars 20-18 in the final period as Falzone and Dave Cowden scored eight points apiece.

Four All-Star players scored in double figures. Briggs hit for 18, Borgman 13, and White 16 along with Wilson's 20. Michael and Torborg hit for eight and two points, respectively.

The faculty team was led by Falzone's 16 points. Other scorers for the teachers were Cowden with 14, Cardwell with 13, Nash with four, and Oliver, Spirito and Kozub each hitting for two. Rettenberg, Ferrara and Krupp did not score for the faculty.

Three will vie for academies

Three Springfield residents have been nominated by Congressman Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-N.J.) to compete for vacancies at U.S. service academies this year. The nominations were based on college test scores of the applicants, Rinaldo said.

Nominated to compete for a vacancy in the class entering the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y., this summer was William R. Francis of Troy drive.

Jeffrey E. Pearlman of Woodside road was nominated to compete for a vacancy at the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

Nominated to compete for a vacancy in the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo., was Charles F. Noll Jr. of Meisel avenue.

BULLDOG LEADERS — Key men this season for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity basketball team have included Kevin Doty, left, and Teddy Parker. (Photo-Graphics)

Millburn tops Dayton as late bid fall short

By MIKE MEIXNER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team, unable to muster up an effective offense, was beaten by Millburn, 56-47, in another disappointing loss. Another slow start by Coach Raymond Yanchus' cagers could not be overcome and the Bulldogs are now, 2-9 in Suburban Conference play. The squad will travel to Verona tomorrow.

As in the first meeting of these two teams, Dayton took a first-period lead 15-12. However, in the dismal second period the Bulldogs managed only five points and the Dayton squad, despite a final stanza comeback, could not make up the deficit.

Kevin Doty led Dayton with 19 points and 13 rebounds. Steve Pepe contributed 14 points and four assists. Doty was named the defensive player of the week award; Pepe was named substitute of the week, his efforts including a brilliant 37-point performance.

Kevin Walker added six points from his pivot spot, and Willie Wilburn added four, hitting primarily from long range. Guards Ted Parker and Ken Fingerhut each had two points and made some fine passes. Other squad members who saw action were Brian McNany and the Junior quintet of Israel Joseph, David Ironson, Frank Zahn, Ken Feld and Skip Ligouri.

Lead Bullets beat STP-5, 56-31, in Dipper game

Mr. Upset reared his head on the 10th week of Daily Intramural Program Physical Education Recreation (DIPPER) league play in the Dayton Regional boys' gym in basketball and floor hockey. The Black Wings were favored to win on Monday and they did so handily as they handed the Red Tigers a 60-54 setback. However, upset was the key word the rest of the week as the Lead Bullets (6-3) posted a stunning 56-31 conquest over the league-leading STP-5 (7-2).

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday floor hockey play featured upsets as the Blue Blazers (1-2-3) struggled to salvage a 2-2 tie from the underdog Gold Rovers (1-3-2). The league-leading White Demons (7-0-1) rallied in the closing minutes to post their 1-1 tie with the hustling Red Crusaders (4-1-2), and the STP Eagles soared to their first win by outscoring the Green Hornets (2-7) by a 5-2 margin.

Rich Minster, Mark Kesselhaut and Mike Lemmerman scored in double figures 20, 13, 13 each, to lead the Wings to a 60-54 win as teammates Gino Circelli, Tom Brennan and Harvey Kaish added four, four and six. Mike D'Achille, Mike Kane, Douglas Grant, Larry Grant and Paul Kanengizer totaled nine, eight, six, four, five and 21 for the Tigers.

A superb board control and rebound scoring game by Andy Herkalo propelled the Bullets to their upset win. Herkalo, 18, John Kronert 10, Bob Conte 10, Jim Stadler six, Peter Episcopo eight and Mark Weber were the offensive chargers for the Bullets while Roland Marianni, 13, Anthony Falzone, eight, Ed McCaine, four, Jay Liss, four and Dan Pepe, two scored for the STP-5.

This week's floor hockey league saw some terrific action as the Red Crusaders outplayed the Demons until the final minute of play to suffer a 1-1 tie. Bill Young's goal early in the game put the Crusaders ahead until Joe Ragucci's line drive slap shot from 20 feet out tied it.

Realty courses planned for UC night session

Two courses in real estate will be offered by Union College's Division of Special Services and Continuing Education in the spring semester. Principles of Real Estate and Real Estate Appraising are among some 40 continuing education courses listed by the Cranford college.

Principles of Real Estate is offered with the approval of the New Jersey Real Estate Commission and is required to prepare an individual for the New Jersey Real Estate Salesman's Examination. Classes will meet on 10 consecutive Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m., beginning March 24. Tuition is $65 for Union County residents and $75 for all others.

Alfred D. Palermo of Linden, former director of the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors, is the instructor. Real Estate Appraising is designed to acquaint students with the methods and procedures of appraising real estate, with emphasis on approaches and practical definitions of value.

Classes will meet on 10 consecutive Tuesdays from 6:10 to 8:10 p.m.

Union College, UCTI to merge some administrative activities

Union College and Union County Technical Institute will consolidate some of their administrative activities by next September.

The consolidation was ordered in a resolution adopted last week by the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education in response to recommendations from Ralph A. Dungan, the state's chancellor of higher education.

In other action, the county agency affirmed its goal to develop a master plan for educational services no later than May 16 and announced that it will offer new contracts to Union College and UCTI by March 15. The contracts will specify the agency's powers over the two educational institutions and the responsibilities of the schools in order to receive funds.

The administrative consolidation planned by the board—to be carried out by the agency's director—will include the coordination of computer services, public relations, grant requests, admissions, financial aid, continuing education, student activities, institutional research, library and centralized registration.

Drivers sought by cancer unit

The Motors Corps of the Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society has issued an urgent call for volunteers to drive cancer patients to and from treatment centers.

According to Caroline Hach, coordinator of transportation for the unit, the Motor Corps is suffering from a shortage of drivers. "It is becoming increasingly difficult for the cancer patients of Union County to get to and from treatment centers. Many of them do not own their own vehicles, nor do they have relatives or friends who are able to transport them."

"We are calling on all Union County residents who own a car, are licensed drivers, and have the time and willingness to transport patients, to volunteer a small portion of their daily activities to this valuable service."

Persons interested in obtaining further information on the Motor Corps may contact the Union County Unit office at 512 Westminster ave., Elizabeth 07208; tel. 354-7373.

Modeling club has openings

Andrea Thomas, president of the 4-H Modeling Club, has announced club membership openings.

Members learn clothing construction, good grooming and merchandising. They also participate in public speaking.

At present, the members are working on a project relating to the foods and customs of seven countries, which will be completed by their hosting an international dinner for their family and friends.

The club meets the first Friday of every month at the Union County Extension Building, 300 North Ave. East in Westfield. Those interested may call the 4-H Office at 233-9366 for further information.

Advice service for taxpayers

A new community service program, operated by the Union County Chapter of the N.J. Society of Certified Public Accountants, is designed to assist taxpayers in preparing their tax returns free-of-charge.

According to Frederick S. Walker, president of the CPA chapter, taxpayers who cannot prepare their own returns should "choose individuals who have the complete understanding of the new federal and state laws which are more complex than ever."

People can contact the CPA chapter at 688-3900 but Walker made it clear that no advice or recommendations will be made at the time the call is made. "Representatives will return the call to tell where assistance can be obtained," he said.

Rinaldo offers tax form guide to help seniors

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A booklet providing a checklist and hints to help senior citizens fill out their federal income tax forms has been published by Congressman Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-N.J.) for free distribution in the 12th Congressional District.

Copies can be obtained by contacting Rinaldo's district office at 1961 Morris ave., Union.

Rinaldo said that the booklet has been published to ensure that senior citizens in the district receive all the federal income tax deductions and exemptions to which they are entitled.

"The aim is to avoid a situation in which senior citizens pay more federal income tax than is really necessary," he said.

Rinaldo said his booklet, compiled with the assistance of a congressional Select Committee on Aging, is particularly helpful this year because of changes made in the Tax Reform Act of 1976.

A similar service for senior citizens was provided by Rinaldo last year. "There was a heavy response then, and I heard from many using the checklist and hints that they had been helped considerably," he said.

The Union County Congressman added: "Senior citizens have enough financial troubles these days without running the risk of paying more federal tax than necessary. My booklet allows them to check to make sure they are taking advantage of every possible deduction and exemption."

He added that bulk supplies of the booklet are available, on request, to senior citizen clubs and related organizations in the county. Rinaldo's district office can be contacted by telephoning 687-4235.

Canoe-kayak water show slated at Kean College's pool March 5

Canoe and kayak enthusiasts will display their skills in a four-hour water show March 5 at Kean College's swimming pool. This is the fifth consecutive year the Union college and the New York-New Jersey River Conference have co-sponsored the event.

The program will cover phases of canoeing and kayaking—open boat canoeing, canoe polo, slalom, eskimo rolls, Olympic style flat water racing, synchronized canoeing and games. Films on safety and rescue techniques, river running, white-water paddling and river conservation will be shown. Refreshments will be provided by Boy Scout Troop 24 of Union. The public is invited to bring unwanted boats and boating gear to be traded or sold at a swap shop. An exhibition in the gymnasium will feature many boats of all types, makes and designs, including several antique boats. Commercial exhibitors, canoe clubs, outdoor clubs, conservation groups and organizations like the American Red Cross and the American Canoe Association will be represented.

The Round-Up—for those unfamiliar with family canoeing as well as expert canoeists—will begin at 6 p.m. in the Gymnasium Building, Kean College, Morris avenue, Union. A pre-round-up canoeable waterways maintenance clinic will be held from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at the same location. A panel of experts will tell how to clean up the rivers already damaged by pollution and how to preserve those rivers which are still pristine.

Class planned for realty sales

A 10-session course for prospective real estate salesmen will be conducted at Union College's Plainfield Urban Educational Center, beginning Wednesday, Feb. 23.

Classes will meet on 10 consecutive Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to noon. Instruction will prepare participants for the New Jersey Real Estate Salesman's Examination.

Those successfully completing the program may take the state examination, providing they are sponsored by a licensed real estate broker.

Tuition for the course ($65 for Union County residents and $75 for all others) includes the text, "Modern Real Estate Practices," with the New Jersey supplement. Plainfield attorney Clyde E. Edmonds is the instructor.

Registrations will be accepted at the Urban Educational Center, 311 East Front st., Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Monday and Wednesday from 6 to 9 p.m.

Pediatric cancer unit is opened at Overlook

A highly specialized child and adolescent cancer program has been established at Overlook Hospital, Summit, in a major extension of the hospital's services to young cancer patients.

Providing a regional center for children with malignant diseases, the pediatric cancer clinic will focus the latest and most advanced techniques in cancer treatment, offering 24-hour care with three pediatric cancer specialists: George M. Gill of Short Hills, Frederick C. Braun of Westfield and Rao Vinnakota of Springfield.

The clinic will draw on an estimated caseload of some 750 child and adolescent cancer patients in the state. "Until this new development, child cancer patients and their parents have faced the enormous burden of constant travel to distant New York or Philadelphia medical centers," pointed out Dr. Gloria O. Schragger, director of pediatric education at Overlook.

"While being treated primarily at Overlook, patients will have the added back-up and intensified skills of Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons and Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center through Overlook's formal teaching affiliation with Columbia," she emphasized.

"The College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, regards this as a most significant advance in services available to child cancer patients in New Jersey," commented the dean of the college, Dr. Donald F. Tapley. "Overlook's affiliation with Columbia will make our consultation services and treatment resources immediately available to Overlook physicians, their patients and their families." Particular emphasis in the Overlook program will be given to the special relationships between the child and parents and other members of the family, as well as with the child's peers.

Oriented to working with the psychosocial problems faced in serious illness, the pediatric cancer specialists will bring strong emotional support along with their medical expertise, aided by specially trained staff including Mrs. Dolores Kenyon, R.N., and social worker Mrs. Emy Hyans, both skilled in helping parents and children with emotional and psychological problems.

Variety of tasks awaiting Alexian adult volunteers

Volunteers, especially retired persons, are being sought by Alexian Brothers hospital, Elizabeth, to assist in a wide range of patients' service projects.

"Our adult Volunteers Corps is one of the newest in the area and we have openings for people who want to help people, our patients," reports Maureen Keller, director of volunteers.

Adult volunteers, especially those who are active enough to transport patients around the hospital, are needed in many of the hospital's departments. Mrs. Keller said there are a wide choice of assignments.

Some of the tasks involve direct patient contact, including feeding patients, bringing reading materials around the various patient floors, assisting in the emergency and recovery rooms, physical therapy department, X-ray and the Alcoholism Information Center.

Mrs. Keller said other tasks being performed by volunteers include handing out visitor's passes, helping in the pharmacy, in-service education department, dietary department, business office, medical records, medical transcription and pastoral care.

In addition, volunteers are needed to help the Ladies Guild with the gift shop and gift cart.

"Volunteers are involved in practically the whole range of health care at Alexian Brothers Hospital. It is a meaningful and satisfying way of giving of oneself to help others," Mrs. Keller said.

Further information about the volunteer program may be obtained by calling Mrs. Keller at 351-9000, Ext. 515, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Choir enrolling new members

The Union College Community Choir is accepting new members, according to Lawrence Ferrara of Union, choir director and member of the college's Fine Arts Department.

The choir, conducted as a free community service, is open to students, faculty and staff at Union College and interested members of the community.

Rehearsals are conducted Thursdays at 12:25 p.m. in the North Lecture Hall of the Science Building and Fridays at noon in the Campus Center theater.

Ferrara, a concert pianist and vocal coach, teaches music history and appreciation at Union College. He was graduated cum laude from Montclair State College and earned a master's degree in piano, magna cum laude, from the Manhattan School of Music. He is completing requirements for a doctoral degree in music at New York University, where he teaches piano.

Workshop planned on small businesses

A 10-session workshop on "How to Conduct a Small Business" will be offered by Union College in cooperation with the Small Business Administration and the National Association of Accountants, beginning Monday, Feb. 28.

The workshop will be conducted at the College's Plainfield Urban Educational Center, 311 East Front st., Plainfield, on consecutive Mondays from 8 to 10 p.m.

Program listed by Family Life

The Natural Family Planning segment of the Family Life Apostolate will open a new satellite at Alexian Brothers Hospital, 655 East Jersey st., Elizabeth.

The program will begin the first Tuesday of each month at Alexian Brothers, beginning Tuesday evening, March 1. Registration can be made at Holy Name Hospital (837-3070) which will take the registrations for Alexian Brothers.

This is the second satellite for the Archdiocese; the other is in Holy Name Hospital, Teaneck.

Berkeley lists record assets

Berkeley Federal Savings and Loan Association has reported that its total assets rose 10 percent in six months to a record $194,314,814 as of Dec. 31, 1976, an increase of more than $14.3 million. During the same period, members' savings rose more than $12 million to $166,374,867 while reserves and surplus increased to a record of $8,548,394.

Noting that more than 1,900 new savings accounts were opened with Berkeley the past year, Moe Rubinfeld, president and chief executive officer, said the association, by paying high rates, was able to increase total interest paid to depositors to nearly $10 million for the 12-month period.

Berkeley Federal Savings' main office is at 555 Millburn ave., Short Hills. The Association's branches are located at Union's Five Points Shopping Center, Livingston, East Hanover, Newark and Whiting.

Kenilworth meeting for ostomates group

The Ostomy Association of Union County will meet on Tuesday March 1, at the Schering-Plough Corp. Galloping Hill Road, Kenilworth, at 8 p.m. Maureen Alex, R.N., Director of Service & Rehabilitation, American Cancer Society, New Jersey Division will speak on "Visitors Training Session."

Priest to speak on alcoholism

Father Joe Martin, world-wide authority and lecturer on alcoholism, will speak at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, March 1 in the auditorium of Westfield High School on Dorian road and Rahway avenue, Westfield.

Father Martin's topic, "Alcohol and the Teenager" will cover the attitudes of teenagers toward alcohol, the teenage alcoholic and the teenager of an alcoholic parent, or other close family members. Runnells Hospital Volunteer Guild and the Alcoholism Rehabilitation Unit at Runnells will co-sponsor the lecture.

Father Martin has lectured and provided consultative services for the State Department and U.S. Army, Navy, and Air Force throughout the U.S., Europe, and Asia. He has lectured at various rehabilitation centers throughout the world.

Women in America subject of contest

The second annual "Discovering American Women" essay contest, with a top national prize of $1000, has been announced by the National Organization for Women (NOW).

Open to female and male students in grades nine-12, the contest is designed to encourage students to delve into the history of women in America. Deadline for submission of entries is April 30.

Initiated in 1976, the contest is sponsored, at the national level, by the NOW Legal Defense and Education Fund. As in the past, this year's contestants may write about an individual American woman, including personal relatives, or a class of women, whose contributions to American history and society have previously been hidden. Essays will be judged on the choice of subject, with preference being given to those women and groups of women not included in textbooks, the originality of research, the writing style and the essay's contribution to the rediscovery of the lost women in American history.

Student guides, which outline ideas and detail standards to be followed, have been sent to the local schools and are also available from Susan Reynolds Arndt, 14 Peppermill road, Chatham, 635-5874.

Essays should range in length from four eight double-spaced typewritten pages and should include a complete bibliography of sources of research.

In addition to the national prizes, Summit area NOW will award prizes for the best essays from local students.

Further information on the contest and on the activities of Summit Area NOW is available from Marti F. Allen, 5B Leland Gardens, Plainfield 756-9482 or from Susan Reynolds Arndt, president, Summit Area NOW, 14 Peppermill road, Chatham.

Senator WILLIAMS Reports

MAKING GOVERNMENT WORK
We hear so much these days that government and officeholders have nothing to contribute to the wellbeing of our society that I think it is important to take note of the things that prove government can and does work.

The vast majority of the laws which come out of Congress are designed for legitimate and constructive purposes, for the good of the people. But they are exercises in futility if, after they go on the books, their purposes are not fully carried out due to administrative incompetence or neglect. There is a new spirit of commitment in Washington now that I think will contribute greatly to the efficient and productive operation of our government.

Success in making government work depends on this same spirit of dedication and conscientiousness all down the line—from the President to the agency or department official at the desk or in the field. And it requires substantial effort by ordinary citizens with no government titles—the kind of selfless, outgoing humanitarianism that finds its satisfaction in doing for others what circumstances dictate these others cannot do for themselves.

One of the best examples I know is that of the Westfield Community Center. For 40 years, this center has provided pre-school services, senior citizens services and full-time day care for people of all kinds of backgrounds—blacks, whites, Jews, Catholics, Protestants—from all segments of the social and economic structure: The center receives some federal money, but by far the greatest contributions in money and time come from voluntary, unselfish local citizens, who are dedicated to making the community work.

On the other side of the coin, New Jersey has an excellent wastewater facilities construction program that has benefited from $1.3 billion in federal grant dollars during the past four years for sewage clean-up. Between now and 1980, 29 more treatment projects will be completed, while 48 additional projects have been funded and are in the planning stages. Sixty more are being contemplated. With these facilities, current bans on housing construction because of sewer inadequacies will be lifted, thereby allowing for sharply increased housing starts in many municipalities.

These programs illustrate how intelligent cooperation and sensible planning from the federal level down to the municipal level makes government work.

Mobus-Heller troth is pledged

Mr. and Mrs. David Deland of Berkeley Heights have announced the engagement of their daughter, Eileen Mobus, to Glenn Heller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Heller of Mountainside.

Both Miss Mobus and her fiancé are graduates of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights. She is employed in the consumer credit department of the Summit & Elizabeth Trust Co., Berkeley Heights. He is a junior partner with Heller's Trucking Co., Linden.

A June wedding is planned.

AAUW plans lecture on rape

The Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women will meet today at the Mountainside Library. The program, beginning at 8:15 p.m., will be a lecture by Sandra Flack of the Rape Survival Center of Kean College. Ms. Flack holds BA and MS degrees from Queens College of the City University of New York, has been involved in public education since 1959, coaches a girls' hockey team and softball team in Scotch Plains, and is an employee of the community relations bureau of the Kean College Campus Police.

The program is open to the public; men, women and high school students are invited.

'FERTILIZER' ROCKS
Potentially important deposits of rocks rich in the phosphate mineral apatite—a major raw material in fertilizer production—have been discovered in northern Michigan by U.S. Geological Survey geologists.

Reports slated for Hadassah in Springfield

The Springfield Chapter of Hadassah will meet on Feb. 24 at 8:15 p.m. Temple Beth Ahm.

Shari Dorfman will report on the "book and author supper" which will be held at the temple on March 9. Also reporting will be Bea Cohen on the spa weekend scheduled for April 22 and Dora Schneider on the blue box reception to be held April 14. Dr. Pearl Lief will speak on Zionist affairs.

The chapter has a boutique at each meeting, with merchandise displayed by Frances Golden.

Pearl Kaplan, program vice-president, will present an Israeli fashion show under the direction of Mae Cummins, Hadassah Israel education chairwoman. The clothes are designed by students at the Alice Seligsberg-Brandeis School in Israel.

Mildred Robinson, chapter president, said, "The four-year co-educational school has a student capacity of 1,000. Technical classes are in the former Brandeis area, academic in Seligsberg. Throughout, emphasis is on enriched vocational academic studies."

Summit school to offer grants

Springfield and Mountainside girls entering the 10th grade in Summit's Kent Place School this fall will be eligible for a "distinguished scholar award" this year.

The award (a three-year scholarship to Kent Place School) will be granted exclusively on the basis of academic and personal merit, and without regard to financial need, race, creed or national or ethnic origin.

Students who wish to be considered for the award should notify the school no later than March 7. Qualifying examinations will be administered Saturday, April 2.

The school is a private institution located on Norwood avenue, Summit. Founded in 1894, Kent Place draws students from a 25-mile radius.

Sisterhood will hold festival Wednesday

"The Masada Plan," by Leonard Harris, will be reviewed as part of a Purim party at the meeting of the Sisterhood of Congregation Israel of Springfield Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the synagogue.

A "Queen Esther" will be chosen to preside over the Purim festival. Traditional Purim refreshments will be served.

An Open Letter from the President of United Counties Trust Company

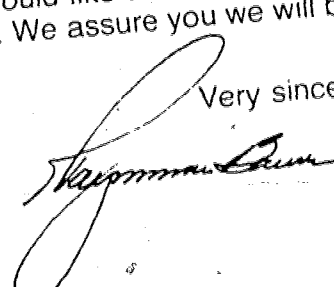

UNITED COUNTIES TRUST COMPANY
Raymond W. Bauer
President

Dear Friends:

The Executive Order recently issued by Governor Byrne to cope with the present energy crisis will dramatically affect the economy and every resident of the State of New Jersey. Already several thousand companies have had to close or substantially curtail normal business activities because of fuel shortages.

The officers of United Counties Trust Company recognize that the lives of many customers will suffer because of forced unemployment or loss of income. We sincerely hope this emergency will be of short duration.

In keeping with the Governor's dictum, we have announced banking hours at our 29 offices which we hope will result in a minimum of inconvenience to our customers. We are concerned, however, about the prospect of more serious problems which may face borrowers whose incomes have been affected. If our present emergency has created a worrisome payment situation for you, we extend a "warm" invitation to come in and discuss the problem. Please call the appropriate number below, and we'll do all we can to help you make any necessary adjustments. Even if you are not a customer, we would like the opportunity to assist you in this time of emergency. We assure you we will be understanding and helpful.

Very sincerely,

For immediate attention call one of these numbers between 8:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

Rambling Hills West features new colonial

This month marked the official introduction of the newest colonial model, the Exeter, at Rambling Hills West in East Brunswick. According to Louis Cyktor Jr. and Eli Stern, directors of the Wick Agency, "The Exeter is an outstanding house displaying the quality, spaciousness, and luxury features normally offered in the more expensive models." The entry foyer features a guest closet, powder room, and staircase.

Opening off the foyer is a living room featuring a large picture window; a formal dining room opens off the living room. The kitchen is a cook's delight, offering an efficient and ample work area including custom kitchen cabinets with mica counter tops and color-coordinated appliances. The functional character is further enhanced by an adjoining dinette area. One step down from the dinette area is a 20 ft. paneled family room with a shatter-proof sliding glass door providing easy access to the rear yard.

Four bedrooms are located on the upper level. The oversized master bedroom offers the privacy of its own bathroom. The three other bedrooms offer generous closet space and share the main bath and linen closet, located off the center hall. The two-car garage and full basement have enough storage space for a growing family.

Oak flooring, 100 percent copper plumbing, oversized air ducts for optional air conditioning, double-hung wood windows, stratolite and cedar shake exteriors are among other features of the Exeter.

According to Cyktor, "We have included such fuel economy measures as fiberglass full-thick insulation in all living spaces, full half-inch thick sheetrocked walls, magnetic weather-stripped steel insulated entry doors, and clean, efficient gas heating and cooking for the price-conscious home owner."

Rambling Hills West offers homes on one-third acre landscaped lots in an established community; it also offers the services and advantages of the community of East Brunswick. To reach Rambling Hills West, take the N.J. Turnpike to Exit 9; then take Rt. 18 East to Racetrack road, and follow the signs.

Further details on the homes at Rambling Hills West may be obtained by calling the sales office at 238-1130. The sales office is open every day, except Thursday, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sales are being handled by the Wick Agency of Edison.

CLASS....

Some neighborhoods have it... some don't. A certain intangible combination of home siting, design, color, texture and landscaping. Glen Pines has it all.

Only 32 more remain to be sold. Forty have been sold and occupied since our opening without any advertising! They're on spacious 1/3 to 1/2 acre lots close to the Garden State Parkway. Express New York buses stop at the models.

THE EXETER, a four-bedroom, two-story colonial design has been introduced at Rambling Hills West in East Brunswick. The home, with cedar shake exterior, also includes living room, dining room, kitchen and dinette, family room, two bathrooms, powder room, two-car garage and full basement.

Fawn Lakes attracts year-round residents

The success of Fawn Lakes, a 45-and-over condominium residential community which opened sales last July on Rt. 72, Manahawkin, typifies a new era for the inland Long Beach Island area—a strong year-round residential center, no longer dependent on summer tourism.

While proximity to Barnegat Bay and the ocean first drew people to the land surrounding Fawn Lakes, the artery of the Garden State Parkway has extended accessibility to this beautiful stretch of virgin pine country.

Increased interest in Atlantic City and the southern part of the Garden State have been added factors in the introductory year. The community is being developed by The Mancini Company, Long Beach Island area builders for 23 years.

In addition to more than 1,200 individual homes built in southern Ocean County, The Mancini Company has developed medium and large housing developments in both New Jersey and Florida. The company has also constructed numerous commercial buildings, motels, office buildings, churches and synagogues.

James Mancini, company president, is among the many who came to the Long Beach Island area as a summer vacationer and made it his permanent home. Before building in this coastal area, he was active in the family building firm, started by his father in 1929, in the Irvington-Newark-Union areas. It was a natural step, he explains, to transfer his business to the shore area, and equally natural to move his housing acumen inland to follow buyers' market demand.

Fawn Lakes is situated on 500 acres within a belt two to five miles from the Garden State Parkway and between two exits. Homes in the community are ranch style, built in single structures, duplexes and fourplexes around lakes and winding roadways lined with natural pines and foliage.

Models now offered are all of one and two-bedroom design, plus leisure room-den. Introductory prices include air conditioning and all appliances—range, dishwasher, 16 cubic foot refrigerator-freezer, washer and dryer. The builder anticipates price increase of $1,500 per home, because of the increasing rise in land value and the rising cost of materials. Another price rise is anticipated before the close of 1977, with new prices still considered under market value for the area and product, and Fawn Lakes remaining by far the best value in housing of the inland Long Beach Island area. Prices before the increase started at $24,750. The community includes a large clubhouse-social center for each section. Clubhouse 1, near Route 72 and the Fawn Lakes model area, has been an active social center among residents, with continual meetings, parties and shows in the large meeting room. The outdoor swimming pool and lakeside barbecue have been residents' favorites and often the scene of pleasant summertime gatherings.

Six model homes are offered, five of which are shown adjacent to the sales office. The decor has been geared to the lifestyles of the pre-retirees and retirees who were among the early purchasers in the community, which is approximately eight miles from the bridge to Long Beach Island and less than 40 miles by parkway to Atlantic City.

Garden State Land Co.
successful in four areas

Despite the record cold wave Garden State Land Company has produced some good results during the month of January. The company, located on Rt. 22 in Clinton, has had early successes in four different areas this year.

Sales continue to boom at Shadow Oaks, a recently-opened housing development. Because these homes have some of the lowest taxes in the state, purchasers have braved the elements to sign contracts in this Hunterdon County community.

A new section of 25 homes was opened this month on Oak Hill Golf Course. One model is now open and a second is nearing completion. Houses range from $59,990 up to the upper $70s.

In January, Garden State Land sold the Malaker plant in High-bridge to Computer Power Inc. The firm plans to move its manufacturing operation from Madison to the $300,000 plant in High-bridge, where they will employ approximately 100 people. Garden State will also handle the sale of the remaining 20 acres of the site, an attractive area for industrial users due to the close proximity of Rts. 31 and 78 as well as full utilities, including water and sewer.

business, demand has been almost as brisk as the weather. Millburn Farm Associates, another subsidiary, has increased to 1,300 the number of acres currently under cultivation and has used the month of January to complete plans for the 1978 crop year.

High sales for Caprio

Robert Scott Jr., president of the r.e. Scott Co., Realtors, 400 E. Westfield ave., Elizabeth, has announced that sales associate Diana Capro has topped the $1 million sales mark for 1976.

Mrs. Capro has been with the organization for two years and is based in its Clark branch office.

Patrick Kelly, general manager of the Residential Division, said "Diana has been an asset to our firm at all times, and is rapidly becoming a leading real estate associate in the Union County area. Her combined sales and listing production for this year to date is at the $3 million mark." Kelly attributed Diana Capro's success to a sincere desire to help others and her ability to apply comprehensive training received from the Scott organization.

3rd area is opened

Fox Hollow with its single family homes on a full acre parcel of land has opened its third section in Manchester Township.

Five models starting at $34,900 will feature 200 by 212 lots, landscaped and shrubbed, with a 16-foot rear easement and blacktop driveways. Deluxe wood kitchen cabinets, butcher block tops, stainless steel sinks, G.E. appliances and wall-to-wall carpeting are featured. There is a lake on the site and room to roam. Sales offices are open daily and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Directions are available at 350-0220.

SPLIT LEVEL—The Winslow is a new split level model at New American Homes, Settlers Landing, Barnegat.

Split-levels available at Settlers Landing

Kaufman and Broad Homes has introduced a split-level model at New American Homes at Settlers Landing, Barnegat, its wooded seashore community off exit 67 of the Garden State Parkway.

about a quarter-mile east, Sunday through Friday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays. For further information, there is a toll-free number, 800 642-9194.

Trend Homes forecasts high Laguna sales

John J. Tedesco, president of the multinational home building company's New Jersey Division, said the Winslow represents a return to the bigger home at Settlers Landing. It complements the Falmouth and Hyannis, three-bedroom ranch models priced from $26,990.

Waterfront residential land is fast becoming scarce, and because of this, an "outstanding" sales year ahead is projected by Joseph Todino, president of Trend Homes, which is developing Laguna Village, Point Pleasant. Environmental problems and the slowness of gaining approvals on what remains of high, dry waterfront land is reportedly making it difficult for today's waterfront home seeker to find a fine home in a location accessible to the waters of Barnegat Bay and the Atlantic Ocean.

Todino said too many "waterfront" communities offer the boatowner "long, artificial water passages" to pleasure fishing and boating areas. Laguna Village, in planning for several years and now half-sold out of its total of 96 homesites, has easy access to both bay and ocean. The homes, priced from $72,990, are family-oriented, with as many as five and six bedrooms available.

"We find that people are coming to Laguna Village from northern Monmouth County locations, preferring the quiet residential area, large individualized homes and excellent boating access to important sports waters," Todino explained. Laguna Village offers no decorated models, but homes under construction are available to see, and varied plans are on hand. In addition, Trend will build custom homes on the lagoon-front sites.

The sales office is located opposite entryway to the waterfront tract, at 2133 Bridge ave., Point Pleasant, just west of the Lovelandtown Bridge from Bay Head, and easily accessible from Garden

Channel Club Tower: home for all seasons

Channel Club Tower, the 17-story condominium overlooking the Atlantic at Monmouth Beach, has been attracting people who already appreciate the immediate seashore pleasures. The great majority of the buyers of the luxury apartments, which are priced from $43,000 to $89,700, formerly were residents of private homes in Rumson, Fair Haven, Deal, Red Bank, Sea Girt and other nearby communities.

From the views outside to the private social and recreational facilities inside, Channel Club Tower offers a gracious lifestyle. About one-third of the apartment owners are boating people, many docking their crafts at the marina immediately adjoining the property. Since residency at Channel Club Tower means automatic membership of the adjacent Channel Club restaurant, families can dine overlooking the Shrewsbury River. They can watch the enjoyment of water-skiing and see the fishermen return with a day's catch on the inland waterways and the open sea.

The makeup of residents includes professionals or independent business people. Yet another similarity is that the residents' children, in many cases, have grown up, moved away or gone off to college. For these residents, the multi-faceted facilities at Channel Club Tower are especially advantageous. They make good use of the private health clubs, saunas and exercise equipment. They find informal relaxation in the comfortable card and game room and the lounge adjacent to the lobby. In warmer weather, they can gather with friends at the heated and lighted private swimming pool surrounded by chaises and tables. The residents of the Tower have the exclusive use of their own two tennis courts, lighted for evening play all year round.

Then, of course, there are the apartments, themselves. All have at least one private balcony, individual controls for heat and air conditioning, prewired telephone and cable TV outlets in all living rooms, bedrooms and dens. The kitchens come equipped with a deluxe no-frost refrigerator-freezer with built-in ice maker, a range with double ovens, one of which is self-cleaning, a compact, automatic dishwasher and deluxe clothes washer and dryer. The baths are fully equipped with American Standard fixtures of the highest quality. There's ample closet and storage space throughout the apartment and at least one walk-in closet. In addition, each apartment owner is provided with extra storage space in a locked private bin at ground level.

The Tower is set on seven acres of beautiful landscaping with illuminated walkways. There is covered parking shelter for cars and valet parking is offered from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. Insuring security are the 24-hour doorman service and closed circuit television, and guests are announced.

Buyers can choose from one-bedroom, 1½-bath apartments with 992 square feet of living space, to two-bedroom, two-bath apartments with as much as 1,606 square feet of space. The very top of the line of apartments is the Apartment "D" model at the very top of the Tower. With maximum space, the "D" model on the 17th floor has triple exposure, views in three directions, two balconies, a huge 27-foot by 14-foot living room, kitchen, and separate dining area, priced at $89,700.

Channel Club Tower is located on Channel drive, Monmouth Beach, just west of Rt. 36. To reach Channel Club Tower, take the Garden State Parkway to Exit 109, then drive east on Rt. 520 to Rt. 36, then south to Monmouth Beach traffic light, then right onto Beach road four blocks to West street, then right to end.

Firm gets 90 acres

Associated Sales of Whippany has sold 90 acres of industrial property of Westparkway, Pompton Plains, to Westpark Associates of N.Y.

Charles Spinella of Associated's industrial properties department negotiated the sale of the property formerly known as the Dunn tract, for Houdaille Inc. of Morristown.

A spokesman for Westpark Associates has announced a portion of the 90-acre parcel was donated to the township for park and recreational purposes.

CONTEMPORARY DESIGN—The Villas in Berkeley Township offers contemporary living room design in 71 ranch and bi-level homes, contemporary or tudor in design, which have two bedrooms, den, three or four bedrooms, family room, one or two car garage and up to 2½ baths. Homes start at $37,990 with 5 percent down; 8¼ percent financing is available.

Brisk sales highlight Timber View opening

"It's obvious, from the way prospective buyers reacted at the preview opening of Timber View at Rockaway, that a good buy is quickly recognized. As a result, 10 homes were quickly sold to some very astute, value-conscious buyers," stated builder Seymour Geldzahler.

Located in Rockaway Township, just a couple of minutes from exit 37 off Rt. 80, Timber View at Rockaway offers three basic models, with prices starting at $55,900. Featured are the three or four-bedroom Madison Colonial, a four or five bedroom Dover Cape Cod and a three or four bedroom Chester bi-level. The homes are built in a wooded section which has been carefully preserved so the country-type setting has been retained. All utilities are underground so as not to spoil the view. All homes have city water and sewers.

Timber View is the result of careful planning. It combines an exceptional location, solid construction and economical pricing by Geldzahler, who has been building quality homes in this area for many years. His attempt to offer more house for the dollar has been termed a great success.

Such money-saving features as extra insulation, insulated glass in all windows and baseboard hot water heat to conserve fuel is included in every home. Models are open for viewing daily and Sunday from noon to dusk. They are located on Sanders road in Rockaway, and can easily be reached from Rt. 80 West to exit 37. Proceed north (towards Hibernia) to the first left turn, which is Sanders road. Follow Sanders road approximately a one-half mile to the models.

Few homes near pond at Windmill Club left

The tranquil spring-fed pond is part of the romantic and alive atmosphere for all residents of the Windmill Club, new one and two-bedroom home community off Locust avenue from Rt. 9 in Howell Township. The chance to live directly beside Windmill Pond in a home priced from $25,990 has been especially attractive, and now only the very last waterfront homes are left.

Windmill Pond is freezing over now, awaiting the skaters who will criss-cross the ice through the winter months. From above the frozen surface, the club residents will be watching the seasonal scene from the warm and luxurious vantage point within the community's private clubhouse. But, there's an extra-special opportunity to experience the natural pond through the changing year for those living in the waterfront detached homes, although clear views of the water can be had from the homes on the rest of the rolling hills that make up the community.

Off the main road are the small neighborhoods of individual homes built on cul-de-sacs with tree-filled circles and landscaped plants at their centers. Because of the cul-de-sacs, no through-traffic whatsoever reaches the individual neighborhood streets. The idea adds to the overall community quiet and feeling of seclusion.

Prices at Fox Hill Run begin at $95,000. Lots are a minimum of a half-acre and fully-improved. All power and telephone lines are placed underground to preserve the atmosphere of the heavily wooded terrain. Existing homes in the community are outstanding examples of the dedication that can turn lumber and glass into a work of art. These spacious residential environments provide ample reason for Sendelsky's reputation throughout North Jersey. The homes have been designed and built with an emphasis on the needs of the successful executive. One model includes a 16x44 foot master suite, that features a sitting room, dual baths and two spacious walk-in closets.

Entering the Mondrian two-bedroom, 1½-bath model, the large sunken living room is at your left. To your right is the foyer guest closet. Nearly an entire built-in wall of bookshelves is at one side and directly ahead is the wide 12 feet of sliding glass doors with panoramic view of either woods, a grassy expanse or Windmill Pond with its 40-foot high windmill, the symbol of the community. The doors open onto a large concrete patio, where additional privacy is provided by an eight-foot wooden wall. Adjacent to the living room is the dining area, and contiguous to the dining room is the dinette area. In the center of this lounge-atmosphere is the kitchen island, with its doorway opening to the dinette and a serving window opposite the dining room.

Locust avenue is located directly across from and east of the Moon Motel on Rt. 9. Though less than a quarter-mile from the highway, it's an entirely secluded and surprisingly pastoral location. The sales office is open daily (except Thursdays) from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. To see the Windmill Club at other times, call 367-0505.

Except for the very modern style of the homes at the Windmill Club and the innovative layout of the individual, small neighborhoods, the community is reminiscent of the secluded country villages of another time. Adding to the scene at this time of year is the sight of smoke rising from the chimneys of fireplaces that are available to the residents as an option in their homes. In all, the singles and couples who are settling here are finding the privacy and practical beauty that restore the sense of individual dominion long-lost in America.

The entire concept of the Windmill Club is quite unique, since the community was created to meet the residential needs and social interests of single people, newlyweds and other young married couples, divorcees and older couples whose utilities are underground. All homes have city water and sewers.

Geldzahler, who has been building homes in this area for many years, attempts to offer more house for the dollar. Such money saving features as extra insulation, insulated window glass and baseboard hot water heat to conserve fuel are included in every home.

It's obvious, from the way prospective buyers reacted at the preview opening of Timber View at Rockaway, a good buy is quickly recognized. Five homes were quickly sold to some very astute, value-conscious buyers," says Builder Seymour Geldzahler.

Located in Rockaway Township, just a couple of minutes from Exit 37 of Rt. 80, Timber View offers three basic models starting at $55,900. Featured are a three or four-bedroom Madison colonial, a four or five-bedroom Dover Cape Cod and a three or four-bedroom Chester bi-level. The homes are built in a beautifully wooded section which has been carefully preserved by the builder so the country-type setting has been retained. All models are open daily and Sunday from noon to dusk. They are on Sanders road and can be reached from Rt. 80 West to exit 37; north, toward Hibernia, to the first left turn, Sanders road.

According to Geldzahler, he is able to offer these homes at such economical prices because he has "eliminated frills and concentrated on building a good, basic house." Quality materials, experienced contractors and personal supervision along every step of construction has helped to keep costs down.

Models are open daily and Sunday from noon to dusk. They are on Sanders road and can be reached from Rt. 80 West to exit 37; north, toward Hibernia, to the first left turn, Sanders road.

State to expand YCC program; lists 15 camps

Environmental Protection Commissioner David J. Bardin announced this week that recruitment has begun for New Jersey's Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) program, which is being expanded this year to accommodate 260 youngsters at 15 state-operated camps. Bardin said the program is being expanded because of its increasing success during the past three summers. "The young people gain a valuable outdoor experience and at the same time contribute greatly to our parks and forests by improving campgrounds, trails, streams and wildlife habitat," he said.

The state YCC program included nine parks and forests last year and will be expanded this year. Residential camps will be held at Stokes State Forest (Sussex County), Ringwood State Park (Passaic) and Belleplain State Forest (Cape May). Non-residential camps will be held at Ringwood, Liberty (Hudson County), Allaire (Monmouth), Washington Crossing (Mercer), Parvin and Fort Mott (Salem), Island Beach and Double Trouble (Ocean), Cheesapeake (Middlesex), Cape May Point (Cape May), Spruce Run-Round Valley-Voorhees state parks (Hun-terdon), Wharton and Lebanon state forests (Burlington).

An additional 89 youngsters will be selected to attend four other YCC camps operated by the federal government. The non-residential camps are at Brigantine National Wildlife Refuge (Atlantic County), Great Swamp National Wildlife Refuge and Morristown National Historic Park (Morris County). The residential camp is at Delaware Water Gap (Warren County).

Mary Thompson, administrator of the YCC program and other youth activities in DEP's Bureau of Parks, said enrollees for the residential camps will be recruited statewide while youngsters for non-residential camps will be sought from communities adjacent to the camps. The young people will participate in a work-learning program including conservation projects and environmental learning programs.

Each youngster will receive $2.50 per hour or a salary of $600 for the summer less $14 per week for room and board at residential camps. YCC is a matching grant program with the federal government supplying 80 percent of the funds and the state 20 percent.

Interested young people should contact their high school guidance department for information and applications, or write to Alfred T. Guido, YCC State Recruiter, Department of Environmental Protection, P.O. Box 1420, Trenton, 08625. Deadline for filing applications is March 15.

EARTHBOUND

In a natural environment, the riverbank soils, wetlands, and other vegetation serve a filtration and detoxification function. These filters help screen pollutants before they can enter the water. When these natural systems are disrupted by man, their effectiveness is diminished. The development of expressways, railroads and industrial complexes has necessitated construction of bulkheads and artificial embankments. The result of this is that polluted water from highways, parking lots and other hard surfaces runs largely unfiltered into rivers through pipes.

The scale of the problem is enormous, as illustrated by the following example: During a one-inch rainfall, 750 gallons of water runs off a 1,200 square foot parking lot. (1,200 square feet is an area large enough to park just four cars.) This source of pollution is particularly hard to control or measure since it is so dispersed. In addition to oil, this water is laden with dirt, salts, gasoline, chemicals and other toxic pollutants.

State, federal and Interstate Sanitation Commission regulations prohibit the discharge of oil and grease into waterways either totally, in amounts which would effect the taste of fish, in amounts which produce a visible sheen on the water, or in amounts which will produce a serious deleterious effect on the biota.

All of these parameters are extremely difficult to measure and define specifically. As a result, these guidelines are practically useless from the view point of law enforcement, and when discussing non-point source discharges, such as those which result from rainfall, they are doubly useless.

Asphalted surfaces, then, are providing us with our next, and perhaps most difficult to control, source of water pollution. As you make judgments in your community regarding new highways, shopping malls, etc. keep this fact in mind.

Pianist to play with Symphony

Garry Graffman, piano virtuoso, will join forces with the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra and guest conductor Louis Lane Sunday afternoon, March 6, in a concert at Symphony Hall in Newark. Scheduled to begin at 3, this will be the second concert on the NJSO's three-ticket Newark Series and Graffman's only appearance with the orchestra this season.

Graffman will perform Rachmaninoff's Rhapsody on a Theme by Paganini. Under the direction of Lane, music director of the Akron Symphony and principal guest conductor of the Dallas Symphony, the orchestra will offer Folk Overture by American composer Peter Mennin and the Symphony No. 1 of Gustav Mahler, one of the composer's most popular works and dubbed by him "The Titan."

Kean to offer grants course

A workshop on the locating of federal and foundation funding sources will be offered by the Kean College of New Jersey Center for Continuing Education beginning Tuesday, March 8. Titled "Grants and Proposal Writing," the nine-session course will be held from 7:40 to 9:40 p.m. on the Union campus. The instructor is Seymour Barasch, director of the Adult Education Resource Center at Kean College of New Jersey. The fee is $60. Registration deadline for this limited enrollment course is March 1. Further information is available at 527-2210 or 2163.

The program will be "Living with Epilepsy" and will include a discussion of psycho-social factors, vocational training, employment and career goals for young persons with epilepsy.

Jewish festival at Arts Center

Arrangements are now being made for the annual Jewish Festival of the Arts at the Garden State Art Center on Wednesday, June 15. Max Burghauer of Union has been appointed by the Northern New Jersey Region of the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs to handle all information and tickets for the men's clubs in the conservative movement as well as synagogues and temples. Full details can be obtained from Burghauer in the evening at 686-8017 and in the daytime 434-0511. One of the headliners will be Roberta Peters.

Epilepsy unit plans Seton Hall meeting

The New Jersey chapter of the Epilepsy Foundation of America will hold a public meeting Monday in the faculty lounge of the student union building at Seton Hall University, South Orange, beginning at 8 p.m.

THE MAPLEWOOD, a two-bedroom design, is among the models featured at Maple Glen, a manufactured home community for adults aged 55 and over. The home, with galley kitchen, full bath, separate dining area and extended living room, is priced at $19,990. Maple Glen is located off Rt. 571 on Bowman road in Jackson.

Sendelsky's designs offer latest advances

Fox Hill Run off Rt. 130 in North Brunswick offers buyers the broadest possible variety of home design, combined with the latest technological advances in home construction. Further, each home, whether stylishly contemporary or totally traditional, carries the mark of excellence that has become the hallmark of Leonard R. Sendelsky. Always quick to utilize improved methods, Sendelsky recently introduced the Scholz line of more than 200 homes at Fox Hill Run. Scholz, based in Ohio, has built a nationwide reputation as one of the pioneers in panelized construction.

"As in other areas of our economy," says Sendelsky, "recent years have seen great advances in the methods and materials used in building a home. By offering Scholz homes to our buyers, we are insuring the widest selection of designs and the greatest possible quality control." All components of these homes are cut in advance at the Scholz manufacturing center. This guarantees accuracy and eliminates possible damage from weather and temperature variations. "This is a great advance over the traditional method of doing all of the work at the homesite," explains Sendelsky. "The entire construction package arrives at one time, all cut and measured, ready to be turned into a fine home. "Now," he adds, "we can build a house in less time than ever before, which is a BARBRA STREISAND entertains throng of fans in 'A Star Is Born' new film, in which she co-stars with Kris Kristofferson at the Maplewood Theater, Mclewood.

Oscar-winner to star on Paper Mill stage

Academy Award-winning film and stage star Eva Marie Saint will open Wednesday at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, in "The Fatal Weakness," a George Kelly comedy of modern marriage.

Miss Saint's recent Broadway appearance was in "The Lincoln Mask."

In films, she won the Academy Award for her performance in "On the Waterfront." She also has appeared in such films as "Loving," "The Russians Are Coming," and "Grand Prix."

The actress recently appeared at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. in Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke."

Miss Saint will be seen in a television mini-series, "How the West Was Won," co-produced by husband Jeffrey Hayden, who also serves as director of "The Fatal Weakness." It will be seen on ABC-TV.

Linden shows Eastwood film

A new "Dirty Harry" is seen in "The Enforcer," R-rated adventure film, which is currently on view at the New Plaza Theater, Linden. Clint Eastwood recreates his role of Harry Callahan.

Harry Guardino and Bradford Dillman also star, with John Mitchum, DeVeren Bookwalter, John Crawford and Tyne Daly in leading roles. The picture was directed by James Fargo from a screenplay by Stirling Silliphant and Dean Reisner. The story is by Gail Morgan Hickman and S.W. Schurr and is based on characters created by Harry Julian Fink and R.M. Fink.

IN DISGUISE — Peter Sellers as Inspector Clouseau takes on the character of Quasimodo in "The Pink Panther Strikes Again," which is being held over for another week at the Lost Picture Show, Union.

New film at Park

Liv Ullmann stars as a psychiatrist transformed by her own identity crisis in "Face to Face," new Ingmar Bergman film drama, which opened yesterday at the Park Theater, Roselle Park.

The Dino De Laurentiis Production is Miss Ullmann's seventh picture for Bergman. Bergman describes the character as a "well-adjusted, capable and disciplined person, a highly-qualified professional woman with a career, comfortably married to a gifted colleague and surrounded by what is called 'the good things in life.'"

"It is this admirable character's shockingly quick breakdown and agonizing rebirth that I have tried to describe," Miss Ullmann explains that the role "has been the best, most fulfilling film experience I have ever had. It's also the most difficult thing I've ever had to do in my whole life."

'Streak' held

The Fox Theater, Union, and the Fox Theater, Woodbridge, continue with "Silver Streak," starring Gene Wilder, Jill Clayburgh, Richard Pryor and Patrick McGoohan. The picture was made in color.

Traffic deaths hit 29-year low during January

Traffic fatalities in New Jersey during January reached a 29-year low, according to figures released last week by the Office of Highway Safety, Division of Motor Vehicles.

Fifty-three persons lost their lives on the state's highways, roads and streets—the fewest in any January since 1948 when 28 people died in motor vehicle-related accidents.

The figures represent a 42 percent drop in fatalities compared to the same period in 1976 when 92 people died in highway mishaps.

"The saving of 39 lives over last year's figures is indeed gratifying," said Motor Vehicles Director John A. Waddington. "It is particularly satisfying when we realize that January 1977 was a safer month than January 1974, when 67 people were killed despite the intense gasoline shortage."

The director speculated that the extremely cold weather in January may have caused people to stay home more and use their cars less, thus contributing to the safety mark. "If so," said Waddington, "this is one of the few things good that we can say about the winter of 1977. 'However,' he added, "even one traffic fatality is too many and we must all strive to reach that goal, even though it seems impossible."

Waddington commended the efforts of the state's 4½ million motorists for generally obeying the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit and other traffic laws which helped to establish the record. He also praised the thousands of educators, law enforcement people, highway and traffic engineers and many private organizations and individuals who are constantly working to maintain New Jersey as one of the safest states in the country.

Statewide conference to explore ways to preserve neighborhoods

New Jersey's first statewide conference to explore ways of preserving neighborhoods and restoring our nation's urban and suburban communities will be held Feb. 24 and 25, with Union and Middlesex the host counties.

The conference will be sponsored by the Union County Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board, the Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission, the two county planning boards, Kean and Livingston Colleges, and the N.J. Department of Community Affairs. The informative conference is open to interested professionals and to members of the general public interested in becoming better informed in the area of community conservation.

The conference will seek to explore the meaning of community conservation, reveal the potential and restraints to programs, public and private resources and innovative developments in all areas. Information and materials supplied during the conference are designed to equip the participant with immediate assistance to help them become effective in their areas of interest. This conference is designed to formulate an agenda for action.

The first day of the conference will be held at Kean College in Union with Patricia Sheehan, former mayor of New Brunswick and now Commissioner of the State Department of Community Affairs, offering the welcoming address. Keynote speaker for the day will be Monsignor Geno Baroni, director of the National Center for Urban Ethnic Affairs in Washington, D.C.

The second day of the conference will open at 8:30 a.m. at Livingston College with Kenneth J. Gibson, mayor of Newark and president of the National Conference of Mayors, offering the welcoming address. Keynote speaker will be Arthur P. Ziegler, Jr., president of the Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foundation. Prof. Charles Haar of the Harvard Law School will be the luncheon speaker.

Registration for the two days of the conference ($30) includes lunches, all resource materials, a gallery reception at Kean College Thursday, and a wrap-up session at the Johnson & Johnson International headquarters in New Brunswick on Friday.

Jobless rate dips

The U.S. Department of Labor reported a drop of one-half of one percent in the unemployment rate in December for north-eastern New Jersey.

While the regional rate decreased slightly, unemployment in the Jersey City area increased to 10.4 percent from 9.4 percent. In the Newark area, unemployed dropped to 7.2 from 7.7 percent. For all of north-eastern New Jersey, unemployed during December was 7.6 percent from November's 7.7 percent level. Union and Essex counties are included in the Newark area.

Herbert Bienstock, regional commissioner of the Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said unemployment in the area has deteriorated relative to the rest of the nation since the beginning of the 1970s.

In northeastern New Jersey, the 1970 and 1971 average jobless rates were about in line with the national average and have remained above since then," said Bienstock. During 1976 the north-eastern New Jersey average rate of 9.1 percent was about one-fifth above the national average.

Seniors given two deductions

James J. Pennestri, director of the State Division on Aging, has been informed by the State Division on Taxation that many senior citizens over age 65 are filing State tax returns without taking advantage of the double deduction to which they are entitled.

Pennestri said people are not checking off the regular deduction to which they are entitled as well as the over age-65 deduction and therefore are listing a claim for only one deduction instead of two.

Any seniors who have claimed only one deduction by checking the one "over age 65" block may correct the omission by filing a correct return clearly marked "amended" and by checking both Item 5 for the regular deduction and Item 6 for the over 65 deduction and listing the number of deductions in Item 12 as 2. Seniors filing joint returns where both are over 65 would claim a total of four deductions.

Tenant groups form council

A regional Bi-County Tenants Council, consisting of tenant groups from Maplewood, Union, Elizabeth, East Orange, West Orange, Springfield, Irvington, Bloomfield, Millburn and Edison, has been organized.

The council is an affiliate of the New Jersey Tenants Association and plans to conduct workshop meetings to discuss tenant problems.

The officers are Jack Warner of Maplewood, president; John P. Lonoghue of Irvington and Marvin Schoenberg of West Orange, vice-presidents; Marie Rosen of Irvington, recording secretary, and Shirley Schwartz of Union, publicity secretary.

DISC 'N DATA

Back in 1939, trumpeter Harry James was appearing at the New York Paramount Theatre on Times Square and one night, he heard a singer on radio station WNEW.

FRANK SINATRA

The singer worked at the Rustic Cabin, a New Jersey roadhouse just across the Hudson River from Manhattan. The next night James went to the roadhouse looking for him, but as told by the manager, "We don't have a singer, but we do have an emcee who sings a little bit."

Food for wildlife at humane society

The Associated Humane Societies has announced that it is making available two tons of survival crackers (which are not for human consumption) for the feeding of birds, ducks, waterfowl and other wildlife which are dying from hunger.

The food is available upon request from the society's Monmouth County branch at 2960 Shatto rd., Tinton Falls, (922-0100) and its main animal care center at 124 Evergreen ave., Newark (243-5060).

All who are interested should call first to make arrangements for pick-up.

Anticipate worst for a safe trip

"Getting caught in a blizzard in an age of unlimited communications is almost inexcusable," says Don Costa, safety director of the Allstate Insurance Companies.

However, there are always isolated instances when communications break down and a fast-moving blizzard traps thousands of travelers. Many people endanger their lives and some perish either because they are not adequately prepared or because they are not aware of the danger that exists.

To avoid getting caught in a blizzard, Costa offers these tips:

1. Be alert to and heed weather warnings.

2. Call the local highway patrol office for road conditions before making a trip.

If traveling during extreme weather conditions cannot be avoided:

1. Keep the gas tank full at all times.

2. Always travel main roads.

3. Keep blankets and a small amount of food in the car. In some isolated areas, a small camping stove may come in handy.

4. If the car is not equipped with snow tires, tire chains should be purchased.

5. Have a first aid kit, flares, flashlight and extra batteries available at all times.

6. Tell others your destination.

Radiothon lists Mear as host

Anne Meara, star of stage, screen and television, will be host for a segment of the fifth annual Leukemia Radiothon which will emanate live from the ballroom of the Belmont Plaza Hotel in New York City, from 8 p.m. Feb. 26 through 5 p.m. Feb. 27.

The live broadcast will present entertainment and sports stars, political figures and WOR radio personalities, who will carry on for the full 21 hours.

The Leukemia Radiothon, an annual event, is carried simultaneously across the nation by more than 100 stations. All funds will be donated to the Leukemia Society of America's research program to find the cause and cure of leukemia—the single greatest killer of children.

Volunteers or contributors may contact Leukemia Society of America, Northern New Jersey Chapter, 1855 Springfield ave., Maplewood 07050.

State teachers hold workshop
The New Jersey Historical Commission will hold its fifth annual Teachers' Workshop in New Jersey History, at the State Museum Auditorium in Trenton on Tuesday, March 8.

The workshop, entitled "Teaching History with Local Resources," will draw on the experience of experts in the field of New Jersey history and teacher preparation. Each of the discussion group topics will be presented for elementary school teachers in the morning and for secondary and middle school teachers in the afternoon.

"Similar assistance is available to New Jersey's low income families," Holmes said.

"There are 24 Community Action Agencies in the State, with coverage in every county. Persons interested should either call the local agency for more details, or the toll free hot line to get the number of the agency that would serve them," Holmes said.

"The work of New Jersey's agencies will be reported in depth on a film to be aired this Saturday (February 5) at 9:30 p.m. on New Jersey's Public Television channels 50 and 58," he added.

"The film not only describes the work being done by the Community Action Agencies for low income families but will offer practical advice for all families on how to winterize their homes," he said.

'Bar Mitzvah' on Public TV
New Jersey Public Television will present "Bar Mitzvah Boy," an original 75-minute television play about a Jewish boy reaching his 13th birthday and, by tradition, manhood, on Saturday, March 5, at 9 p.m. It is one of many special acquisitions to be aired by NJPTV during the nine-day "Festival '77," March 5 to 13.

Talented teens will compete in statewide event

Talented teenagers from across New Jersey have been invited to participate in the 1977 Talent Expo competition, sponsored by the Garden State Arts Center Cultural Fund. Young dancers, singers and instrumentalists are being invited to participate in the 10th annual competition.

Following district auditions in different parts of the state, a semi-final, and a statewide final contest, the winners will be presented in the 1977 Talent Expo Showcase at Stars at the Garden State Arts Center on Friday evening, June 3. Each winning individual or group will receive a trophy.

Over 7,000 New Jersey youngsters have participated in the first nine years of Talent Expo and an additional 1,200 are anticipated this year. Applications are being circulated through school principals, music educators and through dance, vocal and instrumental studios. Applications also are available by writing Talent Expo, Garden State Arts Center, P.O. Box 300, Holmdel, 07733, or by calling 442-8600, ext. 222, between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Categories of competition for individuals include: classical piano, classical instrument other than piano, classical vocal, popular instrumental, popular vocal and folk vocal. For groups, there are classical and popular instrumental categories for two to five members, for six to 10 members and for 11 or more. There are also vocal group categories for two to five, six to 10 and 11 or more.

In the dance there are six categories in which either individuals or groups can compete: ballet, jazz, modern, folk, tap and acrobatic.
