recent competition sponsored by Madison Central High in Old Bridge. The band front will join the Dayton marching band, directed by Jeff Anderson, for a final fall-season performance at the Thanksgiving Day football game in West Orange.

Dec. 20 vote expected on extension of zoning

The Mountainside Borough Council was expected to introduce an ordinance Tuesday night extending the community's interim zoning ordinance until January 1979 because a new Master Plan, now in the works, is not ready. Under a new state land use law, each community must have the land use element of a Master Plan which will serve as a basis for zoning ordinances. The land use law also allows for the one-time extension of the interim zoning.

The ordinance asking for the extension is expected to achieve final passage at the Dec. 20 borough council meeting. At that time, interested persons may add information they feel is relevant to the ordinance.

Robert Catlin and Associates, a Denville planning firm retained by the borough, expects to complete the Master Plan next month and will meet with the planning board to discuss its findings.

A progress report issued by the planners last month indicates most of the necessary work has been completed. The firm has executed a series of maps delineating property breakdowns in the community by size and location, land use of existing developments and an analysis of those uses. It has also classified sewers, slopes and the general topography of the borough.

A population projection and housing analysis has been finished and the firm is now in the process of taking an inventory of community facilities.

After Catlin meets with the planning board, that authority will hold a series of public hearings for residents to offer suggestions on the proposed Master Plan. After those hearings, the planning board will vote to adopt the plan. An informed source speculates that will probably be in the spring of 1978.

Mountainside is now operating without a master plan. One was prepared in 1965, but was never adopted by the borough. The new land use law mandates each community planning board must review its Master Plan every six years and take any appropriate action.

Budget 'cap' reviewed by school staffs

Union County Regional High School district officials this week were paring staff funding requests to conform with a 3.79 percent budget increase "cap" set by the state Department of Education.

John O'Hara, school board secretary and finance officer, said the new "cap" figure from the state means the current-expenditure budget for the 1978-79 school year must be held to $13,825,359 unless some unexpected revenue materializes. This would compare with the 1977-78 current-expenditure budget of $13,475,540 for the district that operates four regional high schools: Jopathan Dayton in Springfield, David Brearley in Kenilworth, Gov. Livingston in Berkeley Heights and Arthur Johnson in Clark. Other communities served are Mountainside and Garwood.

Held to $13,825,359 next year, the QUARTER HORSE COMPETITOR—Pat Marone of Mountainside, one of the nation's top cutting horse riders, talks with other riders at the quarter horse show at the North American Livestock Exposition in Louisville. Besides quarter horses, the exposition features beef and dairy cattle, sheep and swine competitions. Marone was on hand at the North American recently along with livestock exhibitors from 48 states and several foreign countries who were competing for national recognition and some $200,000 in awards at the show.

Poll finds residents of borough objecting to condominium plan

BY PATRICIA GARRISON

The battle between the borough of Mountainside and the Chatham Realty Company over whether a 21-unit condominium should be built on the corner of New Providence road and Rt. 22, has been raging for four years with a decision by Superior Court Judge Milton Feller expected soon.

Residents of the town have witnessed a series of appeals from the realty company since 1976, with most of the townspeople seemingly opposed to the condominium being built. A telephone poll indicated that the main objections seem to center on the building's proposed location and a possibility of overcrowding in the school system.

"The location may pose a traffic problem," said Dorothy Bauer. "The buildup of cars along Rt. 22 may cause a hazard."

Another person agreed with the possibility of a traffic buildup in the area.

"That road (Rt. 22) isn't made for an apartment building," she said. "It's very impractical."

While some people questioned recognized a need for an apartment building or condominium in Mountainside, they said they feel a decision in favor of the realty company may signal an uncontrolled movement towards apartment building in the town.

"This is a residential town," said Mrs. Bauer, "and it should stay residential. If one apartment is built, then more would go up."

The residents acknowledged that some people prefer apartment living, and they said there is a need for housing senior citizens in the town.

"Allowing apartment buildings in Mountainside would be a good idea for retired people who have lived here

Yule activities are planned for local students

Mountainside students will have several activities to pick from this month that should help get them into the holiday spirit and chase away boredom during Christmas vacation.

The Public Library will sponsor a craft workshop Dec. 17 at 10:30 a.m. where children in grades 1 to 6 will be able to try their hand at making holiday ornaments. Films will be shown during the week of Dec. 28 at 1:30 and 3 p.m. All library activities are free of charge.

The Recreation Commission is sponsoring a professional acting troupe, "The Laughing Stock Co.," who will perform "The Great Stocking Theft" at the Deerfield School on Friday evening, Dec. 16.

The commission has also planned a roller skating trip to the Livingston Roller Rink in Livingston on Dec. 28 and a ski trip to Jack Frost Mountain in the Poconos on Dec. 29. The ski trip is open to adults and children.

many years," said Theresa Balazik. Iris Agriss said there should be apartments built for senior citizens, but she added that they should be restricted to those now living in Mountainside.

The president of the Mountainside Senior Citizens Club is one resident who has repeatedly fought for apartments to house the elderly.

Mabel Young said she is aware of the residents' fears of school overcrowding if young families with children move into Mountainside apartments. But she added that senior citizens should have a place to live if they decide to sell their homes.

"Mountainside needs some kind of apartment," she said. "There are a lot of senior citizens in the town who would prefer to live in an apartment."

Mrs. Young added that most of the town's elderly remain in their homes, or move in with relatives, "because they don't want to leave Mountainside."

Business owners are seemingly more in favor of the proposed condominium.

Dan Bliwise, manager of Bliwise Liquors and president of Bliwise Inc., said it would be "very beneficial" to the small businesses in the town, and he added that it would also give retired residents an option to relinquish their homes and still remain in Mountainside.

"I've lived in the town all of my life," he said, "and I'd like to be able to give up my house and still remain here in town when I retire."

Family skating night slated by Recreation

The Mountainside Recreation Commission will sponsor a family ice skating night at the Warinanco Ice Rink in Elizabeth on Dec. 3 from 6 to 8 p.m.

The rink has been reserved for Mountainside residents only and there will be no admission fee.

Bus transportation will be provided from Deerfield School to the rink for students in fifth grade and above. A fee of $1 will be charged for the bus ride, and registration is required.

Other recreation happenings for December include high school coed floor soccer, 8 to 10 p.m. at Deerfield gym, Dec. 2; twirling, grades 4 to 8 between 10 a.m. and noon, Dec. 3, Deerfield gym; basketball clinic for fifth and sixth grade boys at Deerfield gym, 10 to 11 a.m. on Dec. 3 with a girls' basketball clinic scheduled for 11 a.m. to noon; girls' basketball league, grades 7 to 9 at Deerfield gym, 7 to 8:30 p.m., Dec. 5; basketball leagues are scheduled for Dec. 6 for seventh to ninth grade boys from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and tenth to twelfth grade boys from 8:30 to 10 p.m.

A $2 registration fee is required for all activities except basketball for boys in grades 10 to 12. Registrations will be accepted at the Mountainside recreation office from 9 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. Monday to Friday.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 232-0015.

Cars rammed; youth arrested

Police have arrested a Mountainside man with who allegedly rammed into 11 parked cars in the parking lot of the Echo Lanes bowling alley on Rt. 22.

Police said Gregory Thiel, 18, apparently ran into the cars with his 1972 Chevrolet intentionally at about 10:50 p.m. on November 16.

Thiel was apprehended at his home later that night after police traced his car from a description and license plate number obtained from witnesses who saw the accident.

Patrolman William Moylan charged Thiel, who lives with his parents, with leaving the scene of an accident and driving under the influence of alcohol.

A hearing has been set for Dec. 21 in Mountainside municipal court.

HOLIDAY SURPRISE—Two youngsters at Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, make use of the kitchen facilities in the newly-opened patient wing for Thanksgiving week. The children themselves planned and prepared a dinner especially for the administrators. At right, providing culinary supervision, is chef John Fries of Plainfield. Serving all of New Jersey in the treatment and rehabilitation of physically-handicapped children, Children's Specialized Hospital has increased its bed capacity from 37 to 60.

IN CONGRESS

Clifford Case

U.S. Senate

For a number of years I have been searching for a means of providing greater protection to New Jersey's Pine Barrens. Recently, I introduced, along with Senator Williams, a bill that I believe provides a means of protecting not only the Pine Barrens but also a large number of similar areas throughout the country.

The Pine Barrens, which the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation describes as among the most outstanding natural areas in the country, already meets the Red Cross unit asks relief for victims of flood

Flooding, brought on by the torrential rains on election day has caused severe dislocation of families and damage to residences in New York and New Jersey according to the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross. The chapter has been given a quota of $2,770 to assist more than 3,000 families seriously affected by the flooding.

Emergency shelter and food for families who fled their homes were provided in Staten Island, Rochelle Park, Lodi, Newark and Suffern in Rockland County, N.Y.

James E. Hill, executive director of the Westfield-Mountainside chapter, who helped at the disaster service center in Lodi, said, "The Red Cross disaster service center has been swamped with flood victims seeking help for basic needs such as food, clothing and shelter to help them over the rough road to recovery. This was my first experience with a disaster of such magnitude, and I sincerely hope that the residents of Westfield and Mountainside will contribute generously to help these unfortunate people."

Checks, payable to the American National Red Cross Disaster Fund, may be mailed to the local chapter office at 321 Elm st., Westfield.

Mr. Williams; services held

Mass was offered in Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Mountainside Saturday for Walter A. Williams, 57, of Mountainside, who died Thursday in University Hospital, New York City. Arrangements were made by Smith and Smith (Suburban), Springfield.

Born in Elizabeth, Mr. Williams moved to Mountainside from Linden 24 years ago. He was a Navy veteran of World War II and a member of the Disabled American Veterans, Elizabeth. He was a supervisor for Koppers Co., Cranford, metals division. Surviving are his wife, Dorothy C.; two sons, Jeffrey W. and Timothy H., and a sister, Mrs. Helen George.

Harvard faculty honors Farrell

A former Mountainside resident has been honored by Harvard University faculty for his outstanding academic performance this year.

Charles E. Farrell, who now resides in Cambridge, Mass., was awarded first year honors Graduate School of Business Administration.

Farrell was graduated from Deerfield School and Gov. Livingston Regional High School in 1968. He attended Duke University and is an elected officer of the Citizens and Southern Bank in Atlanta.

Ragno in chorus

Joan M. Ragno a Dickinson College freshman from Mountainside, is a member of the college's Chamber Choir which sang a choral prelude to the vesper service recently at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Jankauskas remembered at Runnells affair

More than 125 people attended a dedication ceremony last week in memory of Dr. Jonas Jankauskas of Mountainside, assistant medical director of John E. Runnells Hospital for 13 years.

"He was a humane person, sincerely interested in individual needs and especially family relationships, who would spend up to 12 hours a day at the hospital," commented Dr. Alice Drum.

Richard Martin, a volunteer worker at Runnells, unveiled the memorial, a sundial on the hospital grounds. The Lions Club engaged a gardener who designed a four-season garden around the sundial, and employees and patients from Runnells Hospital help to keep the area free from weeds.

After the unveiling, Marie Oakie, on behalf of the Board of Freeholders, presented the Jankauskas family with a resolution commending the doctor on his dedicated service to the hospital and county before his death last year.

A reception followed in the hospital dining room.

Rosary society will hold annual Christmas fete

The Rosary Altar Society of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside, will hold its annual Christmas social in the school auditorium Monday at 8:30 p.m. A Brief business meeting, conducted by Mary Ann Emm president will precede the program.

Marie McGrath, program chairwoman of the evening announced that Edgar Wallace, choral director of Westfield High School will present the "Choraleers." Holiday refreshments will be served and all parishioners are invited to attend.

Mary Gagliano, chairwoman has announced plans for a "Christmas Boutique" sale which will take place in the school auditorium on Saturday, Dec. 10 after the 7 p.m. Mass and on Sunday Dec. 11th after all Masses.

In addition to a large selection of baked goods, arts and crafts, there will be jewelry and toy displays.

The women of the parish have been asked to contribute some form of baked goods. Further information may be obtained by calling 233-7644.

Know Your Government

N.J. Taxpayers Association

In the state's 1977 fiscal year which ended last June 30, New Jerseyans paid more than $656 million in state personal income taxes. This was $69 million less than originally estimated. Current fiscal year estimates made last spring, and not revised since the 1977 year result became known, are for yield of $792 million before the tax "self destructs" on June 30, 1978. More than a year after its enactment, many New Jersey citizens are still unclear as to how the income tax money is used and the impact of its scheduled expiration on New Jersey governmental finances, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association reports.

The Constitutional amendment approved at referendum in November 1976, requires the net proceeds of the income tax to be dedicated to "reducing or offsetting property taxes." Accordingly, all income tax revenue goes into a Property Tax Relief Fund, separate from the State's General Fund, which is the revenue-spending account for the ongoing operations of state government.

Recent figures from the State Department of Treasury show that in fiscal 1977; major programs funded from the Property Tax Relief Fund were state aid to school districts ($353 million), homestead rebates to homeowners ($137 million), state revenue-sharing payments to municipalities ($25 million) and tax and rebate administration ($6.5 million). The homestead rebate and state revenue sharing programs were in effect for only one half of the state fiscal year 1977.

Because most school districts did not anticipate full state aid in their budgets in 1976, approximately $210 million of the school aid was returned to property taxpayers in May 1977 in the form of a one-time rebate. Those rebates, combined with the earlier April homestead rebate, resulted in $347 million (two-thirds of the $522 million income tax revenue spent in fiscal 1977) being returned to property taxpayers in direct cash rebates independent of the property tax billing process.

The carryover balance of over $135 million from fiscal 1977 is being used to help finance fiscal 1978 Property Tax Relief Fund appropriations which exceed $900 million. In addition to increased state aid payments to school districts over fiscal 1975 ($505 million) and full year appropriations for homestead rebate ($274 million) and state revenue sharing programs ($50 million), the state has assumed the full cost of senior citizens' and veterans' property tax deductions in 1977 ($58 million) and replacement of aid to municipalities previously financed by business taxes ($18.7 million) repealed in 1976 as part of the "tax-reform" program.

If the income tax expires, only a small balance, possibly $13 million, is presently anticipated in the Property Tax Relief Fund at the end of this fiscal year on June 30, 1978. If all the income tax funded programs are to continue in fiscal 1979 without the income tax, nearly $1 billion would have to be found using alternatives such as increasing State General Fund revenues and reducing state General Fund spending. Otherwise, the choice is elimination or reduction of some or all of the property tax relief programs.

If income tax financed programs are eliminated or reduced, the impact on 1978 municipal and 1978-79 school budgets could be significant. Municipalities could anticipate only one-half of state revenue-sharing payments ($25 million). The commissioner of education has certified the full state aid requirement for 1978-79 to school districts, an increase of nearly $90 million.

Three cars collide as 1 tries to pass

A driver involved in a three-car accident last Friday at Rt. 22 and New Providence road was given a summons by Mountainside police for illegally passing on the right side of the road.

Police said Raymond Simon, 19, of Bayonne passed on the right shoulder while driving east on Rt. 22 and struck the car of Kenneth Young, 35, of Westfield broadside, while Young was waiting to turn onto Rt. 22 at the intersection. The impact of the crash caused Young's car to spin around and strike the auto driven by Ronald Baumgartner, 45, of Westfield, who was also stopped at the traffic light.

Young suffered injuries on the left side of his head and was treated and released at Overlook Hospital. Simon was served the summons because police said the shoulder was marked off by white lines.

Regional

current-expense budget would actually represent less than a 3.79 percent increase, O'Hara noted really only about 2.6 percent.

The state computes the "cap" on a net budget figure — $11,329,475 this year in the district — stripped of costs and revenues for purposes such as transportation, special education and compensatory education. This net operating budget could rise by $429,165 to $11,758,640 under the new "cap," O'Hara explained, and the addition of the special funds would produce the maximum allowable operating budget of $13,825,359.

"Obviously, there will be problems" in trying to operate on the "capped" budget, O'Hara said, "but, of course, we're not the only ones with problems."

He said business officers from public school districts throughout Union County held a regular meeting last Thursday, "and you could hear the moans a mile away" on the topic of "caps." Some districts, contending that the "cap" does not keep pace with cost-of-living increases, have started making plans to apply for state permission to exceed this ceiling. O'Hara said regional officials will not recommend that the school board make such an application.

"We'll have to try to live within the capped budget," O'Hara recommended.

The school board was scheduled to continue its review of budget proposals this week at sessions Monday night in the Keyes-Martin Building at Springfield and Tuesday night during a regular meeting at Gov. Livingston High. The board will hold a final meeting on the budget next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Gov. Livingston High, then forward the result to the county school superintendent by the Dec. 1 deadline.

A $13,825,359 current-expense budget's precise impact on the local levy, which provides the vast bulk of public-school financing, was not immediately known. But little change was expected. O'Hara said the district anticipates state-aid increases of about $65,237 — to almost $2.3 million next year — but a drop in miscellaneous revenues from sources such as tuition received for out-of-district pupils.

Psychiatric unit asks for funds restoration

The Union County freeholders have been asked to reinstate the $43,471 cut from the Union County Psychiatric Clinic's request for funds this year.

Carl Jacobson, president of the board of trustees which governs the non-profit clinic, explained in a recent letter to each freeholder that the clinic anticipates a deficit of approximately that amount despite a reduction in the clinic's professional psychiatric staff and other economies.

"In 1978," Jacobson wrote, "we will be required to reduce our staff services by between 10 and 12 percent if we are to have a balanced budget unless additional funds are received."

"We are the only child and family psychiatric clinic available to provide outpatient services county-wide; we also provide extensive services to adults."

The clinic's 1977 request was for $137,471 from the freeholders, but because of a five percent cap on budgets, the clinic received only $93,900.

In his letter the clinic president observed, "We are more and more impressed with the need to keep our community-based organization intact, since we respond to children and families with beginning problems, to those who must have early help if they are to avoid serious future problems."

"We also have the problem of increased allocation of time to the adult community patient and to those who are discharged from state, county and community hospital psychiatric wards."

The clinic, formed in 1944 by civic leaders of Union County, has long been recognized as a model mental health services agency. It is supported by patients' fees based on ability to pay and contributions from United Way funds and from local, county, state and federal grants.

During the past year it has treated a total of 3,000 emotionally or mentally disturbed residents of Union County and North Plainfield on an outpatient basis in its offices in Plainfield, Summit, Elizabeth and Linden.

Talk scheduled on dance art of Isadora Duncan

"The Art of Isadora Duncan—America's Dance Heritage" will be the subject of an illustrated talk by Lillian Loewenthal in the Donald B. Palmer Museum of the Springfield Public Library at 8 p.m. next Thursday, Dec. 1.

Loewenthal, secretary and archivist for the Isadora Duncan Centenary, has lent much of her collection for the Isadora Duncan Centennial Tribute now on view at the museum.

She first became interested in the art of Isadora Duncan in 1928 when her parents took her to see a performance at the Manhattan Opera House by the Isadora Duncan Moscow School, under the direction of Irma Duncan. The dancers had been brought to this country by Sol Hurok for a memorial tour.

At the age of 14, Loewenthal began to study at the Duncan School in New York under the tutelage of Julia Levine and Irma Duncan. Throughout her adult life, she has been a collector of materials relating to the life of the great dancer.

Light refreshments will be served after the lecture, and the public has been invited to attend.

Library group plans bake sale

The Friends of the Springfield Public Library will hold a sale of baked goods in the meeting room of the library, Saturday, Dec. 3, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. This will provide an opportunity, according to the committee, for homemakers to stock up on delicacies for the holiday season.

Anyone willing to contribute baked goods should bring them to the library any time after 9 a.m. on the day of the sale or, if unable to deliver it, call Jeannette Lizerman, 379-9343, to arrange for pick-up.

Lizerman, president of the Friends, stated that all proceeds of the sale will be used to benefit the library and its users. The group's most recent project was sponsorship of a dramatic reading by the Kean College Readers' Theater, free of charge, last Sunday afternoon.

CHILDHOOD IMMUNIZATION
In early April of this year, a nationwide campaign was launched to immunize millions of American children against preventable childhood diseases. At present, only 60 percent of U.S. youngsters under the age of 15 are fully protected against measles, polio, rubella, mumps, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough) and tetanus. The goal of the childhood immunization campaign is to raise this level of protection, by the fall of 1979, to over 90 percent.

In the months ahead, the American people are going to be hearing a lot about childhood immunization. Even now, leaders of industry and labor are initiating education programs for their members. Voluntary associations and civic groups across the country are planning ways in which they can actively participate.

Professional medicine is gearing up, along with public health authorities, for the tremendous task of immunizing 15 to 20 million children. The Public Health Service is preparing to mount a major public information campaign. And that, by all odds, is just the beginning.

Much of this activity will be aimed at parents, who can do more than anyone else to make certain that their children are protected. But the childhood diseases are everyone's problem, and to learn even the basics of this problem is to realize the stake that each of us has in making the immunization campaign a success.

Contrary to popular belief, the childhood diseases are dangerous. They can cripple; they can kill. Each year, they take a greater toll in suffering and in lives, and at a greater economic cost to the nation, than most people realize.

Mumps, for instance, is a leading cause of deafness in children. One out of every 300-400 children who contract mumps becomes permanently deaf.

The complications of measles are no less severe. Out of every 1,000 cases reported, one victim can be expected to develop a serious, perhaps fatal, complication, such as encephalitis (inflammation of the brain).

Although these seven illnesses are routinely called "childhood diseases," medical investigators report that they are occurring progressively later in life, with outbreaks in high schools and even in colleges, and that complications, such as pneumonia, hearing loss, sterility and encephalitis appear to occur more frequently and to be more severe when the diseases strike young adults.

All along, of course, the so-called childhood diseases have shown little respect for age. Rubella is most dangerous when it is caught by a pregnant woman. Sterility is a complication of mumps that occasionally strikes adult males. Roughly half of all tetanus cases occur in adults. How long has it been since you had a tetanus booster? Did you know that, even with the best hospital care, about half of all tetanus cases are fatal?

So, the childhood diseases are everyone's problem. Ironically, they are also vaccine-preventable, which means that in the year 1977, they should never occur at all, much less pose the kind of threat that would set in motion a nationwide immunization campaign.

But they do occur, the dangers associated with them are very real, and the campaign to protect all of us against them is underway. Won't you give it your support?

OLL School begins sale of sports decals

The Our Lady of Lourdes School Athletic Association is conducting a decal sale through Dec. 9 to support its sports program. Mountainside residents will be visited by Our Lady of Lourdes students during the sports decal campaign to raise funds to help defray the costs of its program which includes a basketball team, a cheerleading squad and an after-school activity program. The intra-mural after-school program includes soccer, hockey, gymnastics, kickball and track and field. The development of a school baseball team also is planned.

Gospel group to give concert

An 11-member gospel group from the Summit area called Grapes of Wrath will present a Christian music concert at Overlook Hospital on Sunday at 11 a.m. in the auditorium, after completion of the Mass.

Members of the communities served by Overlook have been invited to attend, along with patients, their family and friends. The entire hospital will be surveyed by volunteers from the Overlook Hospital chaplaincy service to make arrangements for patients who wish to attend.

Patients who are not able to attend can tune into the Grapes of Wrath by dialing Channel 6 on the closed circuit television system which will broadcast the entire concert.

Rotarians hear Chasen talk on scholarships

Rotary District Governor Harold Chasen of Springfield made his official visit to Springfield Rotary at its luncheon meeting last Tuesday at Mountainside Inn. It was an unusual situation as Chasen was visiting his own club.

Chasen, who took office July 1, has visited 60 clubs in the district covering North Jersey.

In observance of Rotary Foundation Week from Nov. 10 to 16, Chasen outlined how the world Rotary movement provides scholarships valued at $9,000 each to qualified young men and women for a one-year graduate study abroad in a country other than their own. Since 1947 more than 5,000 students have received these grants.

Springfield Rotary expected this year for the first time to sponsor a candidate for a graduate fellowship, a young woman who is now a senior year at Rutgers University.

Chasen reinducted into membership Robert Skellenger, who moved from Springfield about 7 years ago. He is manager of the Sargent-Walton Company of Brown Avenue.

Two members were recently inducted: John Gaeos, affiliated with New York Life Insurance Co., and William Eichhoff, a chiropractor.

Boright named as liaison with hospital board

Union County freeholder vice chairman Walter E. Boright has been appointed to the Overlook Hospital board of trustees in Summit. He will serve as treasurer liaison to the board.

As chairman of the freeholders health and social services committee, Boright has been an advocate of programs, policies and improvements in the health field area of the county. A former member of the Board of Runnels Hospital, a board of managers, Boright was active in expanding the nursing home facilities, as well as the senior citizens center. He has also pressed for expansion of the county elderly nutrition program and has called for the establishment of geriatric day care facilities.

Boright was a member of the Union County Medical Board, a county board and was a trustee of the Westinghouse Power Service Co., the Union County Agricultural Extension, the State of New Jersey, and the Newark Public Schools. He is a graduate of the Newark Public Schools.

A graduate of Newark College, he received his master's degree in administration from the University of New Jersey. He and his wife Patricia reside in Summit Plains with their daughter, Amy.

A different kind of used car from a different kind of dealer.

The used cars listed here aren't ordinary used cars. Because they don't come from an ordinary dealership. At Pace, a customer is respected as the owner of a fine automobile, not dismissed as a troublesome accessory to it.

Because of our service, we're selling more and more new Buicks. And taking in more and more fine used cars as trade-ins. The cars listed here are the best of them.

Before we put a used car up for sale, we inspect it inside and out. We fix what needs fixing—and if we can't we simply don't sell the car to you.

Then, we protect every used car we sell with Pace Buick's own double warranty: 3 months or 3,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the entire car plus 6 months/6,000 miles (whichever comes first) limited to the engine and drive train.

Best of all, when you buy a used car from Pace, you receive the same attentive service that's winning us more and more new-car customers.

So, if you're tired of looking at the same old kind of used cars, come to Pace. You'll find the kind of used car you can trust—because you can also trust the dealership they come from.

Dayton football squad is hoping for 1st victory on Thanksgiving

BY KIRK KUBACH
Completing the last game of its season, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football team will visit West Orange on Thanksgiving. Both teams suffering from an oppressive season, are struggling for their first win in the Suburban Conference this year. Both teams' records currently stand at 0-6 in conference play. Dayton will lose nine seniors: Jack Hirschberg, Dave Flood, Bob Bohrod, John Ferry, Skip Laguori, Pete Rosomondo, Bill Young, Don Lusardi and Bob McCrossan. All played well under the leadership of captains Bohrod and Lusardi. Next year's team appears to have promise with about 20 lettermen returning. This year's varsity quarterbacks, Albert Preziosi and Ken Klebous, will also be returning. Competition for the starting line will be tough as the veterans battle for positions.

The much-talented secondary squad is confidently awaiting its next season of action. The team's success is yet to be determined as coach Dave Oliver said, "The Suburban Conference is never going to be easy." Hard work and this year's experience may prove the formula for victory and if this is true, Dayton's attempt for a winning season could arrive.

Top prospects for next year include Ken Bell, Rich Cedarquist, Paul Matysek, Larry Irene and Nick Caricato who have played fine ball as juniors. Sophomores Joe Dorfman, Tim Holleran, Ken Klebous and Anthony Circelli looked impressive this season and will be looking forward to seeing more action next year.

Dayton tennis team advances to round 2

BY MIKE MEIXNER
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School women's tennis team advanced to round two in the state tournament before bowing out to a strong West Essex club, 5-0. The final record for the netwomen stands at 9-4. Throughout the season, the play of multi-talented sophomore Kathy Gerndt carried the squad to victory. The young athlete played at first singles for the Bulldogs and compiled an outstanding record of 9-4. Sandy Crane owned the top record among the Dayton court stars. Her final log was a remarkable 11-2. Crane, a senior, has a consistent serve and a strong forehand stroke.

Junior Barbara Martino works at the third singles position. Her season record was 8-4. Her progress was a bright spot in the Dayton season.

The first doubles tandem of Lori Gabay and Jill Craner also showed marked improvement. Their strong contributions helped the Bulldog racquetwomen attain their second place finish in Suburban Conference play.

Second doubles was a weak spot for the Dayton unit. A variety of combinations and formations were used to fill this gap.

Minutemen Bs drop finale to Mountainside

The Springfield Minutemen B Team lost to Mountainside, 6-0. A third-quarter 20-yard touchdown pass was the only score in a defensive battle.

The Minutemen offense-led by quarterback Brett Walsh and running backs Pete Rosen, Rich Policastro, Mike Nicholson and Rob Daniel had its best day of the season but failed to capitalize on opportunities. The offensive line Vince Castellani, Mike McNanny, Paul Gaffrey, David Cole and Danny Gigantino-blocked superbly.

Two great punts by Neil Kesselica put Mountainside in trouble and the defense manhandled Mountainside play after play.

Ends Rob and Tom Daniel; linebackers Brett Walsh, Pete Rosen, Scott Nager and David Cole; deep backs, Tony Apicella, Mike Nicholson and Rich Policastro and linemen Danny Gigantino, Vince Castellani, Paul Steve and Kevin Duffy played strong defensive games.

Their performance culminated a frustrating year in which the B Team-outmanned, outsized, inexperienced and victims of officiating at times proved it is capable of playing competitive football.

Coaches Rich Bell and Artie Walsh expressed great satisfaction with the entire squad.

Erickson is picked

Lou Erickson of Mountainside was chosen by the Summit Area YMCA for its 1977-78 swim teams. Erickson is among 155 boys and girls from 15 communities to be selected.

Rowdies defeat Strikers, 4-2, to capture soccer championship

The Rowdies defeated the Strikers, 4-2, to decide first place in the Springfield soccer league playoffs. The game went into overtime before the winner was decided.

Yoram Rubanenko gave the Rowdies a 1-0 lead in the first quarter but Henry Rueda tied the score for the Strikers on a tremendous kick from mid-field. Eric Zara put the Strikers ahead in the third quarter but Yoram Rubanenko scored to make it 2-2 in the fourth quarter.

Jason Stavitsky scored late in the first overtime period giving the Rowdies a 3-2 lead. Scott Newman scored in the second overtime period for the Rowdies.

David Edeler Creek was outstanding on defense for the Strikers, playing opposite the league's leading scorer, Yoram Rubanenko, Zenon Christodoulou, Donald DiLanno, Jared Fleischer, Michael Knox, Michael Lieš, Kathleen Meixner, Paul Nadzan, Gilon Rubanenko, Hario Scarcia, Todd Wasserman, Gary Weiss and John Woland performed well for the second-place Strikers.

Anthony Bachus and goalkeeper Doug Colandrea were outstanding on defense for the Rowdies. Davy Zonerach, Alan Souza, Michael Maciolek, David Lubetkin, Wayne Hettenbach, Joey Di Palma, David Corey, Billy Cieri and Joey Cieri turned in fine performances for the Rowdies and Walter Clarke played an exceptionally good game.

The Lancers defeated the Stars, 3-1, to decide third place in the league.

Minutemen Booster unit

The Springfield Minutemen Football Booster Club, an organization recently formed to promote football at all levels in Springfield, has announced the election of the following officers: president, Howard Clemson; vice-president, Richard Bell; secretary, Janet Petino; treasurer, Rosemary Bonacore; fund-raising, Carmela Fusco; special events, Arte Walsh; publicity, Helene Castalanni.

The initial event, an awards dinner will be held at the Elks Club on Sunday at 2 p.m. Speakers, prizes and the presentation of awards to members of the Minutemen A, B and C teams are planned.

Elks list plans for 'hoop shoot'

Louis Gizzi Jr., exalted ruler of Springfield Elk, Lodge 2004, has announced that the "Hoop Shoot" free throw contest will be held Saturday, Dec. 17.

Springfield and Millburn boys and girls may compete in three age brackets: 8 to 9, 10 to 11 and 12 to 13. Boys will compete against boys, girls against girls.

The local winner in each age group will compete in the district contest.

Winners in the district competition advance to the state, regional semifinals and national championship in Kansas City, Mo.

Shoot is slated by park agency

The 32nd annual Jack Pride Memorial Shoot, a combination of skeet and trap, will be held on Sunday at the Union County Park Commission Trap and Skeet Range, Lenape Park, Cranford. These events are called at 2 p.m., and entries close at 3 p.m.

The trap and skeet range is open each Saturday and Sunday at 1 p.m. Shells of all gauges are available at the grounds.

The rifle and pistol range will close for the winter season on Sunday. The trap and skeet range remains open year-round.

Jets teams win, 7-0 at Berkeley Heights

The Mountainside Jets C team beat the Berkeley Heights Gold, 7-0, in a game dominated by the Jets defense.

Early in the first half Mountainside drove deep into Berkeley Heights territory behind the running of Jeff Ahlholm, Matt Dooley and John Fischer. Kyle Wissel, Gregg Goldenberg, Dave Gagliano, Jim Merklinger and Al Heckel made key blocks in the drive. Mountainside lost the ball on a fumble but the Jets kept Berkeley Heights deep in their own territory for the remainder of the first half.

Midway in the third quarter Jeff Ahlholm, behind the blocking of Bob Mlicke, Steven Burton, Walter Kempner and David Rizzo, scored on an 11-yard run. Matt Dooley plunged for the extra point.

The Jets' defense was outstanding, it kept constant pressure on the Gold during the entire game, holding the opposition to minus 40 yards. Leading the way on defense were Jim Merklinger, David Gagliano, John Fischer, Matt Dooley, Gregg Goldenberg, Al Heckel, Walter Kempner and Michael Wood. The entire squad played well as the Jets improved their record to 4-2.

The Mountainside Jets lightweights traveled to Berkeley Heights Sunday and also came away with a 7-0 victory.

Defense dominated the first quarter, both teams had trouble mounting a drive. Late in the second quarter Mountainside started to move with John Fischer, Jeff Ahlholm, Dave Gagliano, Walter Kempner and Matt Dooley running for gains. John Fischer scored the game's only touchdown from five yards out, with Darren Iaione, Gregg Goldenberg, Kyle Wissel, Bob Mlicke, Jim Merklinger and Russell Picut making key blocks. Dave Gagliano scored the extra point.

The second half was a defensive struggle with the Jets making the only serious threat. Walter Kempner swept end but was forced out of bounds. Mountainside's defense again was outstanding. Key performances were turned in by Jim Merklinger, Matt Dooley, John Fischer, Jeff Ahlholm, Al Heckel, Gregg and Scott Goldenberg, Dave Gagliano, Dave Rizzo, Kyle Wissel, Peter Dachnowicz, Darren Iaione and Michael Wood. Mountainside improved its record to 5-2.

Soccer Scene

By BILL WILD
The Elizabeth Lancers are starting to put it all together under coach Manny Schellscheidt. The Lancers still looked a little ragged but came up with two goals in the second half to down Polonia, 2-0. Last Sunday at Farcher's Grove, The Farcher's Grove eleven will play at home this Sunday.

Last Saturday I spent an afternoon at Farcher's Grove watching our local youngsters play three matches. The Union Lancer boys team downed Union County SC in the first game, 5-0. This was followed by 2-0, loss by the Lancer youth team against Clarkstown. The mighty midgets came up with an 8-2 victory over the Clarkstown A team. This was the first time that more than one goal was scored against the Mighty Midgets in one game in league play. The Union County midgets then took over the field against Clarkstown B but I could not stay to get the results of that match.

There will be another full day of soccer in the junior ranks this Saturday so you can get out and root for the team of your choice. —0-0—

On Tuesday nights I have the pleasure of working with coach Manny Schellscheidt in a soccer program that keeps about 80 to 100 youngsters between 8 and 11 active in soccer. The whole bunch goes through group training for the first half hour under coach Schellscheidt. Then Schellscheidt works with his 14 mighty midgets and the rest of the group is broken up into squads of six and assigned to an assistant coach, such as me.

About five weeks ago I was working with my squad when the youngsters played a little match against another squad. I noticed this one youngster had something on the ball when this person stopped a ball, faked out an onrushing forward and passed the ball off to a forward. The person was not from my squad so I went over and said, "good boy."

"I'm not a boy" was the answer I received.

This was my first meeting with Kathy Lonergan who goes to Hamilton School in Union. Kathy comes out to Farcher's Grove and plays soccer with the 8 and 9-year-olds while her brother John, practices with the 10 and 11-year-olds.

Kathy doesn't want to crack the male barrier — she just likes to play soccer and this is the place to do it. Kathy has been working hard these past few weeks and takes her lumps.

She knows when to attack and when to get back on defense. This past week Coach Schellscheidt scheduled a practice game against the Union County first string midgets. He used the first string subs, the first string goalie and picked 10 players from the 40 youngsters in the program. Kathy was picked for this game.

Kathy's dream of being suited up and playing in a game against another team had come true. Dad was asked to come home early to be part of the big day and everything was going her way when Thursday rolled around. But the game was called because of the sudden thunder storms.

Kathy finally played the next night, but the team lost the game, 3-2.

Gymnasts beat Millburn squad for 10-4 mark

BY MICHAEL W. MEIXNER
In their closest encounter of the season, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School gymnastics team squeaked out an 81.25-81.05 victory over the Millburn Millers.

The triumph gave the gymnasts a cumulative total of 10 victories, four losses, tops in club history. Coach Nancy Dougherty was pleased with the performance of her squad. Although the team didn't capture first places spots, the gymnasts somehow managed to pull it out of the fire, escaping with a narrow margin of victory.

Once again captain Moira Halpin sparked the girls to their impressive triumph. Halpin scored second in her floor exercise routine, tallying an outstanding score of 7.7. She also snatched third place on the balance beam, compiling a score of 6.05. Barb Calamusa recorded a 7.2 total on the uneven parallel bars, her routine carrying many difficult steps. The two competitors have both earned gold letters in the gymnastic field. Their loss will severely hamper the 1978 outfit.

Carol Wingard, a natural vaulter, leaped her way to a 7.75 mark, tying M. J. Gagliano for second place in this event. Both of these jumpers have greatly improved throughout the course of the season. Dougherty sees a rosy outlook for her performers in the years to come.

Tennis team enters league

Joseph Rapauno, Springfield recreation director has announced the entry of the Springfield women's tennis team into the Suburban Women's Tennis League for the 1978 season beginning in June, and the appointment of Susie Eng as team manager.

Simone Gechlik is captain. The team was organized with the assistance of John Westerfield, chairman of the Recreation Committee, last summer and competed in some post-season exhibition matches with neighboring towns.

Players representing Springfield in these matches and forming the nucleus of next year's team are Lucy DeVries, Betsy Drummond, Susie Eng, Jackie French, Simone Gechlik, Donna Gerber, Martene Koonz, Sandy Jacobson, Nina Saia, Pat Schlager and Harriet Tesse.

College to hold public forum on criminal justice

The administration of criminal justice, its strengths, shortcomings and inequities, will be the subject of a free public forum to be conducted by Union College on Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m. in Linden High School. It was announced by Dr. Donald Schmeltekopf, forum coordinator.

Dr. John B. Wolf, chairman of the criminal justice department at Union and an authority on terrorism, will be the keynote speaker in the fifth of a six-part public forum program on "Crime and Justice in America."

Sharing the podium will be Bernice L. Manshel, assistant director of operations for the New Jersey State Law Enforcement Planning Agency.

The public forum program, funded by the New Jersey Council for the Humanities, is designed to give participants an understanding of the factors that cause crime, efforts to reduce the mounting crime rate and alternatives to the current penal system.

Wolf, author of "The Police Intelligence System" and "Terrorist Manipulation of the Democratic Process," is also director of the Union County Police Training Academy, conducted jointly by Union College and the Union County Police Chiefs Association. He has testified before the U.S. Congress on terrorism in the Near East and South Asia.

Wolf is a graduate of Seton Hall University, where he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees. He also holds a master's degree from John Jay College of Criminal Justice and a doctorate in international relations from American University.

Engineers' unit offering grants

The National Society of Professional Engineers is making available 87 grants and scholarships to aid high school seniors interested in pursuing engineering careers. John T. Reid, local chairman, announced this week.

Reid, who heads the scholarship effort of NSPE's Union County chapter, said students will be selected for the awards on the basis of academic standing, participation in extra-curricular activities, evidence of leadership, character and self-reliance, comments of teachers and administrators, and financial need. NSPE scholarships are provided with the cooperation of 31 leading companies and educational institutions; recipients receive awards of $1,000 to $4,000 with some full scholarships.

Students must submit scholarship application to the local chapter by Dec. 13. National winners will be selected in February.

Applications and more information on the NSPE scholarship program can be obtained from a high school guidance counselor or Reid (379-7639).

Revelers play to open Feb. 17

"Habeas Corpus," a comedy by Alan Bennett, will be the third offering of the Revelers in the current season.

Directed by Joe Viviani of Old Bridge, it will be presented at the Kings Row, 169 W. Main St., Rahway, from Feb. 17 through March 11. Further information is available at 388-8812.

The Revelers have been producing plays for 40 years, first in Union and then in their own theater in Rahway, which was destroyed by fire. They are now housed in a cafe-style theater, where dinner is optional.

Drama put off until Dec. 1

The Union College production of "Dangerous Corner," the J. B. Priestley suspense drama, has been postponed until Thursday, Dec. 1, according to Prof. Donald Julian, director and chairman of the Fine Arts Department.

The play, which had been scheduled for Nov. 16 through 23, can now be seen Dec. 1 through 10, with performances nightly at 8 and Sunday, Dec. 4, at 2 p.m. in L-32 in the MacKay Library on the college's Cranford campus.

Tickets are $2 and may be reserved by calling 276-2600, ext. 305, or may be purchased at the door.

November. The film will begin at 10:30 Wednesday Nov. 30, in the auditorium of the Main Library. Further information is available at 354-6060, Ext. 712.

UC workshops Dec. 2 to mark Women's Day

A Women's Day—with workshops focusing on areas of concern to today's women—will be conducted at Union College Friday, Dec. 2. Patricia Steffens, director of the Women's Center, said eight workshops on topics ranging from marriage to divorce and from motherhood to employable skills will be offered in a program scheduled for 9 a.m. to 2:15 p.m.

A highlight will be dramatic readings on "Witches, Wives and Wenches: Images of Women in Poetry." Prof. Andrea Green and Prof. Vicki Reback, members of the Union College English Department, will explore the various roles women play and have played in society as seen in poetry throughout the ages. The program is scheduled for noon to 1 p.m.

Among the workshops are: Separation and Divorce, conducted by attorney Sanford Levitch; Motherhood is Powerful; Women Smokers, conducted by Ruth Hock, co-author of "Mind Trips to Help You Lose Weight." Employability Skills, conducted by Dr. Barbara Engler and Prof. Eileen Kaufman, members of the Union College psychology and sociology department, and Women Alone, conducted by Mrs. Steffens.

Park-ride proposed for No. 148 bus line

Park-and-ride facilities for the Somerset Bus Company's No. 148 line, which runs along Rt. 22 into New York, are among mass transit proposals being considered by the state Department of Transportation.

The plan calls for park-and-ride services at two locations along Rt. 22, one in Mountainside and the other in Watchung.

Some schedule changes in Somerset's No. 140 and 143 lines also are under consideration, according to the DOT. The proposals are among 28 bus service improvements throughout the state which have been recommended by a consultant for the DOT and by the department's Commuter Operating Agency.

They are now being reviewed by the bus operators and local governments involved, according to Peter E. Stangl, assistant commissioner for public transportation. When these reviews are completed, public hearings will be scheduled.

Recommendations which are accepted would be included in operating assistance contracts with the carriers effective July 1, 1978, or sooner, Stangl said.

He reported that the 28 proposals

include some cutbacks as well as some extensions of service, consolidation of existing routes and reroutings.

Total net annual cost is estimated at $45,000 more than the additional anticipated revenues, he said.

The recommendations are contained in Phase B of the public transportation study being done for the state by the consultant.

Cancer Society sells holiday season cards

Seasonal greeting cards are available from the American Cancer Society to benefit its national programs in research and state and local programs in patient services and education. Irving F. Sturm of Roselle, Union County unit president, announced this week.

Cards include both religious and non-denominational types and range from $4 to $12 per box. Each box includes 25 cards and envelopes, with each inscribed, "This card represents a gift to the American Cancer Society."

"Businesses and businessmen also send these cards to their customers imprinted with their company's name," Sturm said. "Some businesses have letters sent to customers by the American Cancer Society in lieu of sending cards, noting that a generous contribution has been made to the society."

"Sending American Cancer Society greeting cards is a very meaningful way to wish friends a happy and healthy holiday season," Sturm said.

Last year, the Union County unit realized more than $3,000 from the cards. Cards of full color flyers, depicting each card and its seasonal message, are available from the society's Union County headquarters, 512 Westminster ave., Elizabeth, telephone 354-7373 or 232-0641.

2nd trip is planned

The Summit Art Center's second New York museum bus trip of the season on Tuesday will give area art lovers an opportunity to see the works of Paul Cezanne at the Museum of Modern Art, the Treasures of Early Irish Art at the Metropolitan and the retrospective of works of the Italian artist Lucie Fontana at the Guggenheim.

The $5 reservation fee is payable at the Art Center at 68 Elm St., Summit. The bus will leave the upper parking lot of the Short Hills Mall, by Altman's at 9:30 a.m. and return from the Metropolitan Museum at 3:15 p.m.

The charter bus will make stops at Moma, the Whitney, the Cooper-Hewitt, the Guggenheim and the Metropolitan. The American Museum of Natural History, now showing Peruvian gold collection, can be reached by a short bus or cab trip.

State school boards rap commuting of jail terms

The New Jersey School Boards Association expressed concern this week that Gov. Brendan Byrne's commutation of sentences imposed upon striking Matawan teachers may create the impression that New Jersey's public employees now have the right to strike.

"While school board members certainly don't view the jailing of strikers as a solution to unprotected work stoppages, the actions of Governor Byrne will undoubtedly be used by New Jersey's public sector unions to argue that they may strike with impunity," said the association president, Lawrence Schwartz. "Such a result is obviously harmful to our communities and was surely not the intention of the governor."

Schwartz said, "The commutation order, while consistent with the powers of the governor, may have the unfortunate effect of creating the impression that there is a class of super-citizens, immune to the penalties imposed upon average citizens when they willfully violate a court order."

He added, "The proper place to decide whether public employees should be accorded the right to strike is the legislature. Until that time, the courts of the state should retain the right, always with wisdom, to deal equally with all citizens."

Exhibition planned

The New Jersey Trailer-Camping and Sport Show, one of the largest of its type on the East Coast, will be observing its 10th anniversary when it stages a four-day exhibition in Convention Hall in Asbury Park Jan. 12-15.

Documentaries on Public TV win 5 awards

Two documentaries produced by New Jersey Public Television have won five major awards from the Information Film Producers of America Inc. and a Gabriel Award from the Catholic Radio-TV Center.

"Equality," an hour-long study of equality of age, sex, race and economic opportunity, won three Cindy awards from the Information Film Producers of America. It was named best of show in addition to winning top place for documentaries, and top award for editing.

Two bronze Cindy awards were presented to Louis Presti, producer of "Crossroads to Victory," New Jersey Public Television's hour-long dramatization of the state's contributions to the American Revolution. Presti received one for producing the film; the other went to "Crossroads" itself. "Crossroads to Victory" had previously won the George Washington Medal from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

HOOVER TOUR

Take a rat to 'lunch' Feed 'em 'killer cookies'

Rats, chased into homes and communities because of the excessive recent rains in New Jersey, have been reported in vastly increased numbers.

But there's an easy, cheap and safe way to destroy them, one New Jersey Institute of Technology chemist says.

Dr. Gerson Ram of Cedar Grove has concocted a non-poisonous "rat bait pie" that is said to be highly effective in rodent elimination.

Ram's recipe calls for a few readily handy ingredients, made into a stiff dough and then baked into rock-hard cookies or pies. The concoction is not poisonous and is not appealing to children; the rat bait is so incredibly hard that only a rat can eat it.

The basic ingredients of Ram's rat eliminator is white cornmeal and barium sulphate (available in drugstores) in a one to two ration. A little peanut butter and molasses is added for rodent gourmet appeal. Mixed with water to form a stiff dough and cut into silver dollar sizes, the rat pie is baked at moderate heat for 20 or 30 minutes.

Left in strategic places outside, the pies will be consumed by rats, Ram says. According to the chemist, who also serves as a health officer, the barium sulphate causes extreme constipation, plugs the rats' intestines and causes the rat to die in five to six hours.

NON-POISONOUS RAT BAIT RECIPE

1 lb. white cornmeal (from grocery or supermarket), 1 tsp. peanut butter, 1 tsp. molasses, 2 lb. barium sulphate (from drug store) (BA S04 is the material used in the familiar "Barium meal" for X-ray in hospitals).

Prepare a stiff cookie dough with water and kneading, cut cookie discs (2 1/2 x 1 1/2" approx.), bake at 350 F for about 20 minutes on aluminum foil or dry in hot sun.

Product is a rock-hard cookie.

Place cookies in strategic rat feeding areas (cookies are not poisonous. Only rodents can eat them).

Rats gnaw these cookies for their food content and to control excessive tooth growth. Rats eat, drink water and defecate constantly. The Barium Sulphate ingredient causes rats to become constipated when it hardens in the rat intestine. The rat dies of a plugged intestine when defecation becomes impossible (five to six hours).

'Forest Fantasy' set at Kean on Saturday

The Kean College Children's Theatre Series will present the Monmouth Civic Ballet in "Forest Fantasy" Saturday at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. in the Theatre of the Performing Arts on the Union campus.

The Monmouth Civic Ballet - a teaching and performing company of young professionals with studios at the Arts Center in Red Bank has performed at the Garden State Arts Center and last year presented "Peter and the Wolf" as part of Kean College Children's Theatre Series.

"Forest Fantasy" takes place in an enchanted forest which is the home of Allegra, beautiful queen of the fairies, and King Tyron, powerful lord of the forest. The ballet tells the story of some orphaned children who come to live in the enchanted forest, their kidnapping by some evil fairies, and their dramatic rescue by King Tyron.

College to hold public forum on criminal justice

The administration of criminal justice, its strengths, shortcomings and inequities, will be the subject of a free public forum to be conducted by Union College on Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m. in Linden High School, it was announced by Dr. Donald Schmeltekopf, forum coordinator.

Dr. John B. Wolf, chairman of the criminal justice department at Union and an authority on terrorism, will be the keynote speaker in the fifth of a six-part public forum program on "Crime and Justice in America."

Sharing the podium will be Bernice L. Manshel, assistant director of operations for the New Jersey State Law Enforcement Planning Agency.

The public forum program, funded by the New Jersey Council for the Humanities, is designed to give participants an understanding of the factors that cause crime, efforts to reduce the mounting crime rate and alternatives to the current penal system.

Wolf, author of "The Police Intelligence System" and "Terrorist Manipulation of the Democratic Process," is also director of the Union County Police Training Academy, conducted jointly by Union College and the Union County Police Chiefs Association. He has testified before the U.S. Congress on terrorism in the Near East and South Asia.

Wolf is a graduate of Seton Hall University, where he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees. He also holds a master's degree from John Jay College of Criminal Justice and a doctorate in international relations from American University.

Engineers' unit offering grants

The National Society of Professional Engineers is making available 87 grants and scholarships to aid high school seniors interested in pursuing engineering careers. John T. Reid, local chairman, announced this week.

Reid, who heads the scholarship effort of NSPE's Union County chapter, said students will be selected for the awards on the basis of academic standing, participation in extra-curricular activities, evidence of leadership, character and self-reliance, comments of teachers and administrators, and financial need. NSPE scholarships are provided with the cooperation of 31 leading companies and educational institutions; recipients receive awards of $3,000 to $4,000 with some full scholarships.

Students must submit scholarship application to the local chapter by Dec. 13 national winners will be selected in February.

Applications and more information on the NSPE scholarship program can be obtained from a high school guidance counselor or Reid (379-7639).

Tickets for the concert are available for $4 from any member or $4.50 at the door.

Revelers play to open Feb. 17

"Habeas Corpus," a comedy by Alan Bennett, will be the third offering of the Revelers in the current season.

Directed by Joe Viviani of Old Bridge, it will be presented at the Kings Row, 169 W. Main st., Rahway, from Feb. 17 through March 11. Further information is available at 388-8812.

The Revelers have been producing plays for 40 years, first in Union and then in their own theater in Rahway, which was destroyed by fire. They are now housed in a cafe-style theater, where dinner is optional.

Drama put off until Dec. 1

The Union College production of "Dangerous Corner," the J. B. Priestley suspense drama, has been postponed until Thursday, Dec. 1, according to Prof. Donald Julian, director and chairman of the Fine Arts Department.

The play, which had been scheduled for Nov. 16 through 23, can now be seen Dec. 1 through 10, with performances nightly at 8 and Sunday, Dec. 4, at 2 p.m. in L-32 in the MacKay Library on the college's Cranford campus.

Tickets are $2 and may be reserved by calling 276-2600, ext. 305, or may be purchased at the door.

November.

The film will begin at 10:30 Wednesday Nov. 30, in the auditorium of the Main Library. Further information is available at 354-6060, Ext. 712.

UC workshops Dec. 2 to mark Women's Day

A Women's Day—with workshops focusing on areas of concern to today's women—will be conducted at Union College Friday, Dec. 2. Patricia Steffens, director of the Women's Center, said eight workshops on topics ranging from marriage to divorce and from motherhood to employable skills will be offered in a program scheduled for 9 a.m. to 2:15 p.m.

A highlight will be dramatic readings on "Witches, Wives and Wenches: Images of Women in Poetry." Prof. Andrea Green and Prof. Vicki Reback, members of the Union College English Department, will explore the various roles women play and have played in society as seen in poetry throughout the ages. The program is scheduled for noon to 1 p.m.

Among the workshops are: Separation and Divorce, conducted by attorney Sanford Levitch; Motherhood is Powerful; Women Smokers, conducted by Ruth Hock, co-author of "Mind Trips to Help You Lose Weight;" Employment Skills, conducted by Dr. Barbara Engler and Prof. Eileen Kaufman, members of the Union College psychology and sociology department, and Women Alone, conducted by Mrs. Steffens.

Park-ride proposed for No. 148 bus line

Park-and-ride facilities for the Somerset Bus Company's No. 148 line, which runs along Rt. 22 into New York, are among mass transit proposals being considered by the state Department of Transportation.

The plan calls for park-and-ride services at two locations along Rt. 22, one in Mountainside and the other in Watchung.

Some schedule changes in Somerset's No. 140 and 143 lines also are under consideration, according to the DOT.

The proposals are among 28 bus service improvements throughout the state which have been recommended by a consultant for the DOT and by the department's Commuter Operating Agency.

They are now being reviewed by the bus operators and local governments involved, according to Peter E. Stangl, assistant commissioner for public transportation. When these reviews are completed, public hearings will be scheduled.

Recommendations which are accepted would be included in operating assistance contracts with the carriers effective July 1, 1978, or sooner, Stangl said.

He reported that the 28 proposals

include some cutbacks as well as some extensions of service, consolidation of existing routes and reroutings.

Total net annual cost is estimated at $45,000 more than the additional anticipated revenues, he said.

The recommendations are contained in Phase B of the public transportation study being done for the state by the consultant.

Cancer Society sells holiday season cards

Seasonal greeting cards are available from the American Cancer Society to benefit its national programs in research and state and local programs in patient services and education. Irving F. Sturm of Roselle, Union County unit president, announced this week.

Cards include both religious and non-denominational types and range from $4 to $12 per box. Each box includes 25 cards and envelopes, with each inscribed, "This card represents a gift to the American Cancer Society."

"Businesses and businessmen also send these cards to their customers imprinted with their company's name," Sturm said. "Some businesses have letters sent to customers by the American Cancer Society in lieu of sending cards, noting that a generous contribution has been made to the society."

"Sending American Cancer Society greeting cards is a very meaningful way to wish friends a happy and healthy holiday season," Sturm said.

Last year, the Union County unit realized more than $3,000 from the cards. Cards of full color flyers, depicting each card and its seasonal message, are available from the society's Union County headquarters, 512 Westminster ave., Elizabeth, telephone 354-7373 or 232-0641.

2nd trip is planned

The Summit Art Center's second New York museum bus trip of the season on Tuesday will give area art lovers an opportunity to see the works of Paul Cezanne at the Museum of Modern Art, the Treasures of Early Irish Art at the Metropolitan and the retrospective of works of the Italian artist Lucie Fontana at the Guggenheim.

The $5 reservation fee is payable at the Art Center at 68 Elm st., Summit. The bus will leave the upper parking lot of the Short Hills Mall, by Altman's at 9:30 a.m. and return from the Metropolitan Museum at 3:15 p.m.

The charter bus will make stops at Moma, the Whitney, the Cooper-Hewitt, the Guggenheim and the Metropolitan. The American Museum of Natural History, now showing Peruvian gold collection, can be reached by a short bus or cab trip.

Take a rat to 'lunch' Feed 'em 'killer cookies'

Rats, chased into homes and communities because of the excessive recent rains in New Jersey, have been reported in vastly increased numbers. But there's an easy, cheap and safe way to destroy them, one New Jersey Institute of Technology chemist says.

Dr. Gerson Ram of Cedar Grove has concocted a non-poisonous "rat bait pie" that is said to be highly effective in rodent elimination.

Ram's recipe calls for a few readily-handly ingredients, made into a stiff dough and then baked into rock-hard cookies or pies. The concoction is not poisonous and is not appealing to children; the rat bait is so incredibly hard that only a rat can eat it.

The basic ingredients of Ram's rat eliminator is white cornmeal and barium sulphate (available in drugstores) in a one to two ration. A little peanut butter and molasses is added for rodent gourmet appeal. Mixed with water to form a stiff dough and cut into silver dollar sizes, the pie is baked at moderate heat for 20 or so minutes.

Left in strategic places outside, the pies will be consumed by rats, Ram says. According to the chemist, who also serves as a health officer, the barium sulphate causes extreme constipation, plugs the rats' intestines and causes the rat to die in five to six hours.

NON-POISONOUS RAT BAIT RECIPE

1 lb. white cornmeal (from grocery or supermarket), 1 tbsp. peanut butter, 1 tsp. molasses, 2 lb. barium sulphate (from drug store) (BA S04 is the material used in the familiar "Barium meal" for X-ray in hospitals).

Prepare a stiff cookie dough with water and kneading, cut cookie discs (2 x 1 1/2" approx.), bake at 350 F for about 20 minutes on aluminum foil or dry in hot sun.

Product is a rock-hard cookie. Place cookies in strategic rat feeding areas. Cookies are not poisonous. Only rodents can eat them.

Rats gnaw these cookies for their food content and to control excessive tooth growth. Rats eat, drink water and defecate constantly. The Barium Sulphate ingredient causes rats to become constipated when it hardens in the rat intestine. The rat dies of a plugged intestine when defecation becomes impossible—five to six hours.

SPECIAL PURCHASE COTEAUX CHAMPENOIS

Our wine buyer has outdone himself this time!

This very dry, crisp and tart still champagne is the "house wine" of Domaine Canard-Duchene. This champagne producer, though rather unknown in the U.S., has a very good reputation on the Continent. In fact, Canard-Duchene Champagne is THE wine of "gay Paris!" A fine white wine in a distinctive bottle, it is inexpensive enough to be used as your everyday table wine. Priced much lower than its competitors!

'Forest Fantasy' set at Kean on Saturday

The Kean College Children's Theatre Series will present the Monmouth Civic Ballet in "Forest Fantasy" Saturday at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. in the Theatre of the Performing Arts on the Union campus.

The Monmouth Civic Ballet—a teaching and performing company of young professionals with studios at the Arts Center in Red Bank has performed at the Garden State Arts Center and last year presented "Peter and the Wolf" as part of Kean College Children's Theatre Series.

"Forest Fantasy" takes place in an enchanted forest which is the home of Allegra, beautiful queen of the fairies, and King Tyron, powerful lord of the forest. The ballet tells the story of some orphaned children who come to live in the enchanted forest, their kidnapping by some evil fairies, and their dramatic rescue by King Tyron.

Program will tackle state cancer problem

Thanks to the computer age and its new statewide cancer registry, New Jersey will soon have a much better view of its cancer problem and how to deal with it.

Dr. Celestino Clemente, president of the Cancer Institute of New Jersey, said that the fight against cancer in New Jersey has been handicapped up to now because the state has had no centralized information on cancer occurrence.

The cancer registry, signed into law by Governor Byrne last month, will require the reporting of all cancer cases to the State Department of Health in Trenton, along with additional information about each patient that the state may require. The registry, should put New Jersey in the forefront in the field of cancer reporting, Dr. Clemente said. Such a registry is of importance to New Jersey, which has at least as high a cancer death rate as any other state.

Ideally, Dr. Clemente said, the cancer registry will accumulate and computerize data not only on the occurrence of all cancer cases in the state, but also on a great deal of related information. This will include such items as the geographical location of each case, information on the patient's life-style, whether he or she moved to the state recently and where from, and family cancer history. The life-style information will include information such as smoking and drinking practices. The registry will also compile information on a patient's treatment and additional information will indicate the patient's response to the treatment.

Dr. Clemente said that health officials will now be able to determine with greater accuracy the need for additional cancer treatment facilities, what screening programs should be undertaken, and what new public education measures are necessary. American Cancer Society efforts in the public education field can be enhanced by information drawn from the registry, he said, and physicians' organizations can more effectively plan their continuing education programs. The registry will also provide data for evaluating the success or failure of cancer control programs.

"There is a crying need in New Jersey for far more accurate information about cancer than we now have," Dr. Clemente said. "We know we have a big cancer problem, but only sketchy information about what is causing it. There is a tendency to blame industry, but industrial factors may be responsible for only a small minority of cancers in our state. We must know for sure, however, and we won't really know until we have the information that this registry can provide."

Dr. Clemente said the program will make it easier for New Jersey to attract increased federal funds that are available for anti-cancer programs. Such funds are usually available only where there is a clear prospect of measuring the effectiveness of cancer controls, and the registry will provide such a measurement.

According to Dr. Clemente, less than one-quarter of the state's 119 hospitals maintain their own cancer registries to follow up on the care of cancer patients who are treated in their institutions. The central registry will enlarge the function of those hospital registries in existence, he said.

Kean orchestra in first concert

The Kean Chamber Orchestra will play its inaugural concert at 8:30 p.m. on Dec. 5 in the Wilkins Theatre on the Kean College campus in Union. Complementary tickets for individuals or groups can be obtained by calling 527-2108.

According to Ray Fowler of the music department at Kean, "The Chamber Orchestra will offer students the benefit of making music with fine musicians. Qualified students will have the opportunity to play next to very experienced players in the orchestra."

The repertoire for the Dec. 5 performance will be the Stravinsky Suite No. 2 for Small Orchestra, Haydn Sinfonia Concertante, Faure Pavane and Mozart's Jupiter Symphony.

The orchestra can be hired for performances for businesses, public or religious institutions or private individuals.

FOR THE FUTURE—Bill Breen, left, and Bill Glazebrook, past presidents of the H.G. McCully Upstate and Downstate Chapters, Telephone Pioneers of America, lower time capsule containing mementos of New Jersey Bell Telephone Company's 50th anniversary into the ground at the company's South Plainfield Corporate Training Center.

Viewers learn the art of 'pigging-out'—literally

"Take a young pig about six weeks old. (Ask your favorite butcher to find one for you.) Wash it thoroughly inside and outside, wipe dry with a fresh towel, salt the inside and stuff with your favorite dressing." Thus begins the recipe for roast suckling pig, the main dish in the Mechlin's Tavern meal featured on "Fireside Kitchen," New Jersey Public Television's colonial cooking program. Host Dorothea Connolly, will visit the preserved tavern in Jutland on Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 6 p.m. on channels 23, 50, 53 and 58.

The meal which viewers will see prepared is probably the heartiest in the series, consisting of the juicy suckling pig, three vegetables (ginger beets, baked celery and baked carrots), three condiments, three desserts and an abundance of fruits and nuts.

Dating from the 1700s the tavern served travelers until the 1930s when it became a private residence.

The present owners' collection of antiques and utensils is used for the authentic touch which Mrs. Connolly seek, for each of her programs.

Finding grants: a Kean course

A course describing ways to find and win federal and foundation grants will be repeated at Kean College in Union by the Center for Continuing Education in early January.

"Grants and Proposal Writing" will stress how to research and write applications for such funds. The instructor will be Seymour Barasch, director of the Kean College adult education resources center.

The non-credit course will meet for six Tuesdays, starting Jan. 3 at 7:40 p.m. The fee is $60 and the registration deadline is Dec. 20. Further information is available from 527-2163.

Young Dems to honor winners at breakfast

The Union County Young Democrats will honor senators-elect Anthony Russo (D-20th Dist.) and John Gregorio (D-21st Dist.) and Assemblymen-elect Thomas Deverin and Raymond Lesniak (D-21 Dist.) The group's third annual breakfast will be held Sunday, Dec. 4, at 9:30 a.m. at El Pescatore's (for merly Roland's), 149 West Westfield ave., Roselle Park.

Jeffrey Tittel of Hillside, chairman of the breakfast, and Dennis Estis, president of the Union County Young Democrats, explained that the group had decided to honor the winning Democratic because of the importance their success will have on the entire State. "The victory of Anthony Russo over Frank McDermott marked a recognition on the part of the voters of the 20th District that they deserved true representation by their senator."

They praised the voters of the 21st District for supporting the Democratic candidates, Gregorio, Deverin and Lesniak. "It is of the utmost importance that the Democratic Party in Union County maintains its sense of unity as exemplified by the victory of John Gregorio."

Tickets for the breakfast are available from either Estis (241-3714) or Joseph Bodek, treasurer of the Union County YDs (486-6411).

Jewish writers lecture topic

"Forgotten Jewish Writers of the Nineteenth Century" will be the topic for Prof. Oscar Fishtel at the Eastern Union County Y.M.-Y.W.H.A. Green Lane Union, on Sunday, Dec. 3, at 1 p.m.

Fishtel, a member of the faculties of Union College and Rutgers University, will speak as a part of the "Ys" Jewish Institute of Studies, headed by Dr. Sidney Savitt of Clark. An open discussion will follow the talk. This event is free and open to the public.

$18.3 million in benefits paid monthly in '77

Social Security benefits were being paid to residents of Union County at the rate of $18.3 million a month at the start of 1977, Robert E. Willwerth, Social Security manager in Elizabeth, said this week.

Social Security benefits can be paid to retired persons age 62 or over, to workers who become severely disabled before age 65 and to survivors of deceased workers.

Monthly checks are also paid to certain dependents of a worker who has retired, become disabled or died.

Of the 80,724 Social Security beneficiaries living in Union County, 45,463 are retired workers and 6,003 are disabled workers. Another 7,999 persons are receiving benefits as the wives or husbands of retired or disabled workers. Widows, widowers and dependent parents of deceased workers number 12,552.

In Union County, 24,721 people under age 65 and 56,003 people age 65 and older are receiving monthly Social Security benefits. Of total beneficiaries, 27,033 are men, 44,384 are women and 9,307 are children.

Statewide, 607,419 retired workers receive an average monthly benefit of $245.29. For every 1,000 persons age 65 or over in New Jersey, 901 receive Social Security benefits.

Two join co-op in health field

Two new members have joined the Union County Health Manpower Education Co-Op, a consortium of Union County hospitals organized to share audio-visual software and programs for education and training of health manpower. The new members are Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, and the combined Union College and Union County Technical Institute.

The other participating hospital members are Alexian Brothers and Saint Elizabeth in Elizabeth; Overlook Hospital, Summit; Rahway Hospital, and Memorial General, Union.

The consortium is in keeping with the requirements being made by the American Hospital Association's joint commission on accreditation of hospitals for the documentation of education and training programs for all hospital personnel.

Preventive dentistry UCTI clinic open to public

The Dental Hygiene Program at Union County Technical Institute in Scotch Plains gives its students practical experience while introducing members of the community to preventive dental care.

To give students experience in cleaning teeth, giving fluoride treatments and taking X-rays, the school's dental health clinic offers these services to the community at a nominal charge, $5 for adults, $2 for children, and $3 for children who receive a fluoride treatment, according to Cynthia Niv, chairperson of dental programs at UCTI and instructor in the Dental Hygiene Program.

Results of X-rays are sent to a patient's dentist for restorative dental care, she said. Emphasis at the school's clinic is strictly preventive.

Dentistry, she believes, is more preventive-oriented than other medical professions, and the dental hygienist is often the key person in this phase of a dental practice.

In the four years that the clinic has been a part of the two-year program, students have conducted some 8,000 dental screenings, contributing to the prevention of tooth decay, Mrs. Niv said. "As a result of the nominal charge, we get people who would not normally go to the dentist until they have a toothache so we are often able to prevent cavities."

The clinic also serves the medically indigent and is in the process of setting up a special program for senior citizens.

The program in no way conflicts with private dental practices, according to Mrs. Niv. "We serve as a patient pool for dentists. Because of our low fees, more people seek out our services and are alerted to their need for dental care."

2 Catholic schools offer scholarships

Scholarship applications are available in the main offices of Union Catholic Girls and Boys High School, 1600 Martine ave., Scotch Plains. Two full scholarships and four partial scholarships are to be awarded by each school for the 1978-79 academic school year.

Currently, $850-per-year, tuition scholarships are renewable on a yearly basis if the student maintains a final academic average which meets the requirements for first honor roll.

College plans 4-day seminar

A new Assertiveness Training Workshop for women will begin at Union College, Cranford, Tuesday. It was announced by Patricia Steffens, director of the college's Women's Center.

The four-part workshop, to be conducted on consecutive Tuesdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m., is designed to assist women to develop the communication skills necessary to more effectively express their views, Steffens said.

The workshop is open to all women in the community free of charge. Those planning to enroll, however, are asked to register in advance by calling the Women's Center, 276-2600, extension 375 or 312.

Appointed to panel

The appointment of Robert G. McMillan of Westfield to the accounting advisory committee at Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, has been announced by Norman C. Walz, coordinator of the accounting program. McMillan is a public accountant with the firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co.

"What's load management, and will it save money on electric bills?"

Using generating equipment efficiently. "Load management" is one of the important ways PSE&G is trying to save money by using electric generating equipment more efficiently.

Every day, electric use by our customers goes up and down, depending on the time of day. Low at night, high in the daytime. And of course there are enormous extra demands for electricity to power air conditioning systems in hot weather. It's expensive to build and maintain all the generating equipment that's needed just to meet these brief, heavy electric demands.

Load management is an effort to spread out electric usage more evenly during the entire day and night, and throughout the year.

Reducing "peaks" benefits customers. If our customers could stretch out the use of electricity more evenly throughout the day and year, PSE&G would not have to maintain so much generating equipment. This would result in a more efficient system which could eventually result in lower bills.

Load management has always been a basic ingredient for good utility management. In fact, PSE&G's rate structure has incorporated seasonal provisions for residential customers and seasonal and off-peak provisions to industrial customers for years.

PSE&G testing new rate structures. Now we plan to test so-called "time of day" rates with 500 residential customers to evaluate the effectiveness of spreading electric use throughout the day. This means, for example, using appliances such as dishwashers and clothes dryers at night.

Load management is just one of many ways PSE&G is exploring new and better ways to provide customers with adequate supplies of electric energy at the lowest possible cost.

William E. McKenna of Philadelphia, a national leader in the field of Jewish Family Service, will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Jewish Counseling and Service Agency of Metropolitan New Jersey on Monday, Dec. 19, at Congregation B'nai Jeshurun in Short Hills.

Dating back to the Young Men's Benevolent Society, founded in 1862, the JCSA is the oldest Jewish welfare agency in New Jersey. It provides family and child counseling, supportive services to the elderly and immigrant and resettlement assistance to refugees.

Brochures give information for resident, tourist

Three popular travel information publications are available to state residents as well as out-of-state citizens by contacting the State Division of Travel and Tourism, New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry.

These guidebooks—"Discover New Jersey," "New Jersey—Color It Beautiful" and "Scenic and Historic Tours of New Jersey"—describe the state's attractions and provide information on events, where to go, where to eat and where to stay, according to John J. Horn, acting commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry.

"Discover New Jersey" suggests ways in which individuals and families can explore and enjoy some of the country's finest beaches, lakes, parks and mountains. The publication also includes lists of vacations communities, campgrounds, marinas, historic sites and theatres.

"New Jersey—Color It Beautiful" tells individuals how they can enjoy the state by car and on foot. The guide describes five car tours which will help travelers enjoy autumn splendor. Nature lovers and photographers will be especially interested in obtaining this unusual publication.

"Scenic and Historic Tours in New Jersey" offers more than a dozen round-trip tours across the state. This guidebook will take interested individuals and families to important historic sites, special attractions, enjoyable recreational opportunities and scenic routes.

Troupe staging 'Nutcracker'

The Garden State Ballet's production of "The Nutcracker" will be presented by the resident company at Newark's Symphony Hall 1020 Broad St. beginning Dec. 22. Additional performances will be staged Dec. 26, 27, 28 and 31.

Tickets for "Nutcracker" are available by mail and phone reservation at 45 Academy St., Newark, 633-5403 or 633-0525. They are priced from $6 to $10 for the premiere performance which includes a reception and from $3 to $5 for the rest of the series.

The premier danseur of the Dance Theatre of Harlem, Paul Russell, has restaged and choreographed this production which will feature area dance teachers and their students.

Fairleigh holds classical show

A saz, gemshorn, zink, hurdy-gurdy and oud, along with 14th to 17th Century-styled costumes, will help convert Hackensack's Orrie de Nooyer Auditorium into a Renaissance royal court on Monday, Dec. 5, at 8 p.m. The Waverly Consort, specializing in Renaissance period music, will be the attraction at Fairleigh Dickinson University's Monday evening concert series.

The group's programs consist of pastorales, madrigals, drinking songs, cathedral masses and bawdy ballads. Tickets for the Dec. 5 concert are available at $8, $7 and $6. Information is available at Fairleigh Dickinson University, 933-5000, ext. 343.

Stamp shows are scheduled

Three stamp and coin shows will be held over the next few weeks in Clark and in East Brunswick.

Arts Council to present state prison workshops

The New Jersey State Council on the Arts has received a $34,000 grant from the American Correctional Association to support a year-long series of workshops on the arts for inmates in the medium and minimum security units of Leesburg State Prison.

The program to be financed by the association, which is located in College Park, Md., will also be backed by an $8,500 grant from the State Arts Council which will also provide supervisory support.

Barbara Furst, chairman of the Arts Council, said the agency expects a substantial number of the 850 men involved "will be helped by the program to use their spare time creatively and to develop teamwork, self-awareness and discipline. The work completed by the inmates will be shared with other inmates through displays, publications and performances at Leesburg."

Henry Kulkman, a State Arts Council member from Millville near Leesburg, said the project "is a major effort to expand council activities in the South Jersey area."

Workshops to be provided to the inmates include course in writing, the performing arts, crafts and other disciplines.

William J. Higginson of Paterson has been appointed by the Arts Council to direct the project which is called Project CULTURE—Creative Use of Leisure Time Under Restrictive Environments.

Higginson is a poet, editor and publisher with administrative experience in the business and academic fields. He has worked throughout New

Panels to study ways of limiting effects of noise

Helping the state's municipal officials deal with the destructive effects of noise will be the topic of a federally-funded daylong conference sponsored by the Association of New Jersey Environmental Commissions in Basking Ridge Dec. 2.

The meeting on "Land Use Planning for Noise Abatement" at the Bernards Township Municipal Building is a pilot program ANJEC is conducting under a contract from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. It will be the spawning ground for a new state group, the New Jersey Noise Control Association, charged with coordinating noise-control activities and providing a forum for sharing of problem-solving techniques on specific noise issues. It is being created with the help of ANJEC, the statewide representative of 2,000 municipal and county environmental officials.

Jessi Borthwick, noise section administrator of the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation, will speak on "Areawide Monitoring and Local Land Use Planning."

Four panels, moderated by state and local officials, will discuss various aspects of noise regulations, highway noise abatement and land-use planning. Moderators will be Richard Christie, Madison Board of Health, Cynthia Jacobsen, Bridgewater Environmental Commission, Edward DiPolvere, Office of Noise Control, New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, and Mark Kowal, Bureau of Environmental Analysis, New Jersey Department of Transportation.

During the afternoon, four workshops will be monitored by the speakers, with an opportunity for each participant to attend two workshops.

Energy update set Wednesday

Joel Jacobson, state commissioner of energy, will head a panel of experts who will provide an "Energy Update" at Middlesex County College next Wednesday, at 8 p.m., in the College Center at the Edison Campus.

The free presentation is being held to inform the general public about the involvement of government in today's energy programs. Among the specific subjects will be price regulations, environmental impact of energy and energy of the future. The program is being sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Edison in cooperation with the college's Division of Community Services.

Mail representative to speak at meeting

The New Jersey Society of Fund Raisers will meet on Dec. 1, 12:30 p.m. at the Town & Campus Restaurant, Morris avenue, Union.

Mauro Tucci, customer service representative, Postal Services Center, Newark, will discuss "Bulk Third Class Mail for Qualified Nonprofit Organizations."

Singles dance set

The Jewish Collegiate and Professional Young Adults of New Jersey will hold a "Thanksgiving Dance" at 8 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 27 at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Saddle Brook, at the intersection of Rt. 80 and Garden State Parkway Exit 159.

College given $3,022 grant

The College of Saint Elizabeth, Convent Station, has received a grant of $3,022 from the New Jersey State Department of Education, Division of Vocational Education for a six-week solar heat workshop for home economics teachers and extension workers.

According to Sister Anita Richard, chairman of the department of home economics at the college, the sessions will be given from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on six consecutive Tuesdays, beginning Jan. 31. An alternate weather date, March 14 also has been scheduled.

"Solar heating may not be so far off in the future," Sister Anita Richard said. "Home economics teachers and extension workers have always been leaders. We are making this effort to carry on a tradition which began in the days of Ellen H. Richards, founder of the American Home Economics Association. Home economists are currently teaching factors pertaining to environmental concerns, hence the 'solar heat project'."

Nursing group slates lecture

The League for Educational Advancement of Registered Nurses will present the final lecture on "Cardiac Nursing" Monday November 28 at 7:45 p.m. at All Saints Episcopal Church, 559 Park Ave., Scotch Plains.

Barbara Brady will speak on "Cardiac Education," including the nurse's responsibility for patient teaching, and Merle Best will discuss current dietary patterns and prevention programs.

Holtzman to present lecture at Metro Y

Congresswoman Elizabeth Holtzman, of Brooklyn, the youngest woman ever elected to the House of Representatives, will present the Judith Ellen Kram lecture at the Y-WYHA of Metropolitan New Jersey, West Orange, on Wednesday at 8 p.m. "American Government: New Directions or Business as Usual?" will be the topic of Holtzman's lecture, which will be open free of charge to the community.

WILL THE REAL ... — In the Sept. 15th issue of the Echo in a feature article about Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, Mountainside's first full-time librarian, the 1952 picture above asked readers if they could identify themselves or friends. So far, six students have been recognized. From left, standing next to Mrs. Hoffarth, is Tommy Tunninello; Lois Frankenfield is kneeling with a book on her lap and Linda Hambacher, whose parents are still in town, is sitting on the end of the bench in front. Three students named on the rear bench were Barbara Buck, the light blond, whose mother is a secretary at Deerfield; Maureen Britton is on Barbara's right (her mother is also still in town) and Peggy Raymond on Barbara's left.

Regional board votes for $15 million budget

The Union County Regional High School District board Tuesday adopted a tentative budget totaling $14,988,587 for the 1978-79 fiscal year, including $13,844,059 for current expenses, $269,495 for capital projects and $875,033 for repayment of bond debts.

The school board, scheduling a public hearing on the tentative budget for Jan. 17, said it would represent less than a 3 percent increase in both current expenses and the total including capital outlay and debt service. The budget will go before the voters in the six constituent towns on Feb. 7.

of $13,844,059 compare with $13,475,540 budgeted this year.

The capital-outlay projection of $269,495 compares with $286,645 appropriated for this year.

Some of this year's capital appropriations are coming via fund transfers from other accounts.

This year's capital projections are already under pressure, the board noted Tuesday—for reasons unanticipated in last year's budget process. The board approved fund transfers

Tuesday night to make way for a $68,300 replacement of the auditorium ceiling at Gov. Livingston, ordered by the state on grounds that asbestos material in the existing ceiling is unsafe. Board member Roland Hecker of Berkeley Heights, said he wished the district could sue the state in emergencies such as this one.

"The state approved that ceiling," board member Stephen Marcinko of Clark noted about the existing tile.

MYRA TERRY-MEISNER, right, takes time out at the International Women's Year Convention to discuss strategy and get acquainted with feminist activist Gloria Steinem.

Women's rights gain Houston solidarity noted

By PATRICIA GARRISON

The International Women's Year Convention just held in Houston was not restricted to feminists, according to homemaker and full-time feminist activist Myra Terry-Meisner of Mountainside. She said about 20 percent of the delegates were opposed to equal rights for women, gay rights and abortion. But the 33-year-old delegate said the groups "against women" were not strong enough to dampen the feelings of "solidarity and sisterhood" that helped pass the convention's master plan by an overwhelming majority.

a woman to have an abortion, Terry-Meisner went as a delegate in charge of the issue of homemakers' rights.

She admitted that her topic remained in the shadow as others deemed more urgent took the spotlight. But she said the fact that it is now being discussed as a vital area of concern has helped push this project of the women's movement further along.

"Just bringing it out in the open was important," she said. "The President, Congress and the country as a whole have to realize that homemakers are an oppressed group."

TERRY-MEISNER cited Social Security payments, divorce and money problems as the three main areas where homemakers are either ignored or not given an equal share.

"Right now, she said, a widow does not get full Social Security benefits because she didn't work all those years. No value is put on the woman's work as a homemaker." The feminist said a homemaker would be worth more than $25,000 a year if she were paid for her services. But she said "woman's work" has always been considered unimportant and women have not yet learned how to protect themselves.

"Being a homemaker is like playing Russian Roulette," said Terry-Meisner. "She gives up a career, has a family and then finds she's unfulfilled. But she has no job skills and is not given credit for bringing up the next generation."

She explained that women who no longer have men to support them, because of death, divorce or beatings, usually find themselves "displaced homemakers." Terry-Meisner explained that these women are unable to support themselves and generally have to go on welfare.

"Women are afraid of the women's movement," she said, "and they are uncomfortable hearing that they are being exploited."

But Terry-Meisner said they have to be made more aware of what can happen if they do not consider their futures. She said her numerous speaking engagements as a spokeswoman for the National Organization for Women attempt to inform women as to their rights and the realities of being dependent on their husbands.

She said she is in favor of alimony, "because women deserve that money. It is back pay for the years they worked as homemakers."

She added solutions to the problems confronting homemakers include "divorce insurance" and salary for their services. But, said Terry-Meisner, it will be about 10 years before homemakers' rights are recognized.

"That's how long it took for people to agree to 'equal pay for equal work,'" she said. "We are now into the second decade."

Council ordinance would combine public safety, administrator posts

The Mountainside Borough Council last week introduced an ordinance that would establish a combined position of director of public safety and business administrator within the borough.

The individual, to be named by the council and Mayor Thomas Ricciardi, would have authority over the police department and would serve as a liaison between the department members, other borough governing bodies and the community.

The ordinance, introduced by Councilman Abe Suckno, states that the director of public safety would have complete authority over the police department including hiring and firing, organization, scheduling, and overall management.

Along with general supervisory duties, the position's responsibilities also call for him or her to serve as a buffer between the townspeople and the police, acting on any complaints concerning the police from the community and responding to orders handed down from the borough council or the mayor.

In a prepared statement, Mayor Ricciardi said the council felt the position was necessary to improve communications between the police department and the community.

"Police-community relations are becoming more complicated," stated Ricciardi, and he added that the public safety director "will deal with police relations and community information."

The person assigned to the job reportedly would also act as a business administrator, taking up the duties of Helena Dunne, current administrator and borough clerk, who will be resigning the beginning of next year.

Councilman Suckno has declined to say whether the job creation is connected to Dunne's resignation. He said only that the council has seen a need for the position as a way of improving police performance and communication.

The council said it has not decided what the salary for the new position will be. Suckno said the governing body will begin interviewing for the position following the vote on the ordinance Dec. 20, assuming it is passed by the council.

Concert series offers program by Pingry units

The Community Presbyterian Church of Mountainside will present the third program of this year's community concert series Sunday at 7 p.m. Seven small ensembles from the Pingry School of Hillside will perform many styles and periods of music.

The Recorder Consort, Chamber Players and Flute Ensemble, under the direction of Mrs. Lee Kogan, will play music by Renaissance and Baroque composers, including Purcell, Bach, di Lasso and Gibbons.

The Women's Sextet is a student-founded group, now in its second year. Its members are drawn from the Balladeers, a small mixed chorus directed by Ronald Thayer. Both these groups have a varied repertoire, from spirituals and folk songs to more serious sacred motets and anthems.

The Buttendowns, a men's ensemble consisting of 21 members, perform under student directors, but are trained by Antoine duBourg and James Little. Like the other vocal ensembles, they will sing both serious and light works.
