Boosters keep pressing, with a smile

BY HELEN REYNOLDS
The aroused Booster Club of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School gave a friendly welcome to the school's new athletic director last week, but vowed to keep pressure on the Board of Education until Dayton sports facilities are on a par with those of the other three campuses in the Regional District.

Charles Berchen, the new athletic director recruited from Lindenhurst, N.Y., appealed to the crowd of 60 to "give me a chance." He met with the club members Thursday, after his first eight days on the job, and won heavy applause for a brief speech declaring that "I don't have all the answers" to problems such as finding a football coach, "but I want to work with you, communicate with you, help you and get your help."

Boosters learned that Berchen will have full authority to evaluate head coaches at Dayton and will work with the head coaches in rating assistants. Boosters said they liked Berchen's candid approach and—as member Wendel Zahn put it—"surely appreciate the attention from the Board of Education at recent meetings."

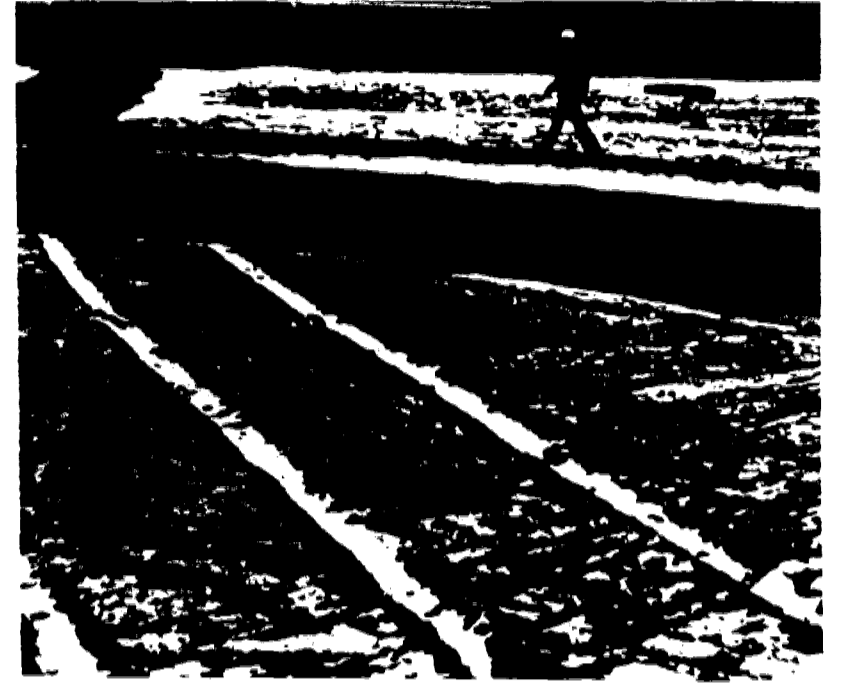

But Zahn said Boosters still feel that Dayton is treated as "the stepchild of the Regional District." He said Dayton sports fans want facilities equivalent to those at campuses in Berkeley Heights, Clark and Kenilworth.

"Until we get that equalization, we won't be satisfied," Zahn predicted. Two Board of Education members were on hand at the Booster meeting. The two—Natalie Waldt of Springfield and Dr. Marilyn Hart of MountainSide—said they welcome delegations of Dayton Booster Club members, who have been attending board meetings for more than a month.

There seems to be "a direct correlation between success of a campus organization and the number of people behind it," Dr. Hart told the Boosters. She said strong support at the grassroots level could help the three local representatives present Dayton's case to the rest of the nine member Board of Education.

BEECHWOOD DAMAGE—MountainSide school Superintendent Levin Hanigan said the fire-track damage at Beechwood School is the fault of parents who "have aversion to walking." Hanigan said people who attended the school's Christmas program parked on the lawn in order to leave their cars closer to the building. The $230 tab for repairs will be picked up by the Board of Education, but because of ground conditions, work must be delayed until spring.

School budget hearing shifted to this evening

The MountainSide Board of Education will hold a combined 1977-78 budget hearing and adoption tonight at 7:30 in the Deerfield School cafeteria. The budget hearing had been scheduled for Tuesday night but was adjourned because of the inclement weather.

This year's budget features a $55,866 increase which is said to be attributable to salary increases and hikes in insurance payments, employee pensions and social security. Superintendent Levin Hanigan said the budget "breaks no new ground" with regard to educational programs and he has defined it as a "hold the line" document which fulfills the requirements handed down by the state through the "thorough and efficient" mandate but does not provide for any locally initiated improvements.

"We had to do a lot of belt tightening," said Hanigan "to make sure we kept the budget total down." The budget allots $12,500 for an enrichment coordinator which responds to the state ruling that affords accelerated or "gifted and talented" students a chance to develop their exceptional skills. Dr. Hanigan said this provision will not put a dent into the budget because decreased enrollment has forced him to do away with one second-grade teaching assignment. "It's highly unlikely that the salary we are offering for enrichment coordinator will attract the kind of person I would like to hire," he said. He said that an individual already working in the school system will probably be selected for the position.

Another additional provision not included in last year's budget is extra compensatory education classes for

Judge denies Chatam appeal

Superior Court Judge Milton Feller denied Tuesday the Chatam Realty Co. permission to build a 21-unit condominium on the corner of Rt. 22 and New Providence road in MountainSide. The decision was the second time the company lost an appeal for permission to begin construction at the site.

A spokeswoman for Judge Feller said the decision was that there is no evidence of a need for moderate-income housing in the borough and evidence had been presented with regard to alleviation of possible flood problems in the area should the condominium be built.

MountainSide Borough Attorney John Post said he is not surprised with the judge's decision. He insisted that he is pleased despite the fact that a hearing has been set for March on the company's contention that the zoning ordinance prohibiting multi-family dwellings is unconstitutional.

Chatam Realty Co. attorney Franz Skok said he was "taken by surprise" by Judge Feller's denial of the variance, but he was quick to point out that the decision "doesn't end the case. We still have to challenge the ordinance itself."

Board postpones hearing on budget

The Union County Regional High School District has rescheduled its public hearing on the 1978-79 budget for 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the Arthur Johnson campus in Clark. The hearing, scheduled last Tuesday, was postponed because of the snow storm.

Power flow interrupted by ice storm

MountainSide residents got a dose of damage and problems from the weekend ice storm, but according to Police Sergeant Edward Hafeken, they "did very well considering what everyone else went through."

Students open drive for labels -- and projector

The MountainSide PTA and Student Council will continue collecting Campbell's Soup labels until March 10. The goal is 26,400 labels, about 35 per child in school. The labels will be redeemed for an automatic filmstrip projector for use in the schools.

Students at Lourdes score high on tests

Students of Our Lady of Lourdes School, MountainSide scored well according to the results of the SRA achievement tests administered in November to Grades three to eight. Sally Donelan, principal, reported this week.

Students at Lourdes score high on tests

Students in grades three and four were tested in reading, language arts and mathematics. In grade three the class averages were 85 percent in reading, 79 percent in language arts and 72 percent in math.

PTA talk slated by Dr. Gourley

Dr. Theodore J. Gourley, State Department of Education coordinator of gifted and talented programs, will be the guest speaker at a special program sponsored by the enrichment committee of the MountainSide PTA on Monday at 1 p.m. at the Deerfield School.

Mountainside to get $7,359 in federal funds

Checks totaling more than $2 million are being mailed to communities in Union County this week in a new round of federal revenue sharing announced today by Congressman Matthew J. Rinaldo. Mountainside will receive $7,359, bringing its total of revenue sharing funds to date to $162,897.

Rinaldo said the payments raise the county total to $43.6 million since the inception of the program. The current return of federal taxes is for the quarter extending from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31, 1977. It is the 21st quarterly distribution since the revenue sharing program was established in 1972.

Rinaldo said the money goes to county and municipal governments to help pay for services and programs of their own choice. The largest payment in the current distribution provides the Union County Board of Freeholders with $568,581. It raises the total county government allocation to $13.2 million. Other payments include $354,081 for Elizabeth, $171,000 for Plainfield and $144,194 for Union Township.

Rinaldo said the payments, with totals to date listed in parenthesis, include Berkeley Heights, $26,588 ($65,993); Clark, $34,842 ($69,073); Cranford, $44,183 ($1,482,798); Elizabeth, $354,081 ($5,563,588); Fairview, $11,657 ($32,417); Garwood, $12,116 ($23,967); Kenilworth, $14,647 ($34,607); Mountainside, $7,359 ($162,897); New Providence, $24,704 ($47,202); Plainfield, $171,000 ($1,859,871); Rahway, $81,539 ($1,784,474); Roselle, $31,249 ($1,294,119); Roselle Park, $25,724 ($75,799); Scotch Plains, $37,917 ($1,090,503); Springfield, $31,862 ($68,994); Summit, $28,767 ($586,699); Union, $144,194 ($1,162,831); Westfield, $39,897 ($82,721).

Revenue sharing is based on a formula reflecting population and other factors. The program has been extended under legislation sponsored by Rinaldo.

Rabbis to offer instructions for future converts

A 10-week course for prospective converts to Judaism will be offered by four rabbis in Union County beginning March 2. The 10 Thursday evening sessions will take place at Temple Emanu-El, 756 E. Broad St., Westfield, from 7:30 to 9:30. The course will offer instruction in basic Hebrew, a survey of Jewish history, an introduction to the Jewish holidays and a discussion of the principles of the Jewish faith.

According to the four rabbis sponsoring the conversion course, Rabbi Gerald Goldman, Rabbi Charles Kroloff, Rabbi Howard Seldin-Sommer and Rabbi Howard Shapiro, "Judaism is not a missionizing religion; nevertheless, over the centuries, many persons have studied and accepted the Jewish faith and become part of the Jewish people."

They added, "Except for a period of time during the Middle Ages, when Jews were forbidden by the state to accept converts, the Jewish people have always welcomed those who wish to learn about Judaism and become part of the Jewish faith."

Persons interested in further information about the course were invited to contact Rabbi Goldman at Temple Shalom, Plainfield, Rabbi Kroloff or Rabbi Seldin-Sommer at Temple Emanu-El of Westfield, or Rabbi Shapiro at Temple Sha'arey Shalom in Springfield.

Senior citizens now eligible for drug discounts

Senior citizens eligible for the revised pharmaceutical assistance to the aged program may pick up application forms and brochures from 22nd District Assemblyman Donald T. DiFrancesco. The program permits eligible senior citizens to purchase any prescribed legend drug, insulin, insulin needles or insulin syringes for $1.
The balance of the fee is paid by the state. Legal residents of New Jersey, 65 or older, who earn less than $9,000 if single, or $12,000 if married, are eligible if not covered by other health insurance or Medicaid.
Those interested must fill out a form, or have one completed by a close relative or agency, and obtain an eligibility card. The card is shown to the pharmacist when a prescription is purchased.
DiFrancesco has a supply of application forms and brochures which explain all the details of the program. Anyone interested may obtain one by writing Assemblyman DiFrancesco at 1906 Westfield ave., Scotch Plains 07076 or by phoning him at 322-5500.

Rinaldo blasts HUD for NJ housing cut

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A severe cutback in federal subsidy funding for senior citizen housing in New Jersey was criticized this week by Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-12), who called for immediate reconsideration of the allocation by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.
Rinaldo said an allocation of subsidy support for 1,230 senior citizen housing units for New Jersey in 1978 is too small to meet the needs of the region.
The HUD allocation would provide $7 million in Section 8 funds for 800 new units and 430 rehabilitated units in New Jersey in 1978 compared with 2,800 units valued at $15.8 million in 1977.

Woman is hurt, fenders bent over weekend

Slippery road conditions and inclement weather apparently contributed to at least two accidents in Mountainside last weekend, neither of them serious.
Police said a pedestrian suffered minor injuries in an accident involving a car driven by Joseph Branchak of Edison. Doris Riccardi of Mountainside told police she looked both ways before crossing Globe avenue but said she did not see any cars approaching, but police said Branchak claimed Riccardi did not look before entering the road way. He told police he tried to warn the pedestrian with his horn, but missed hitting the horn button and could not avoid her.

Riccardi was taken by the Mountainside Rescue Squad to Overlook Hospital where she was treated and released.
Police also reported Mark Venson of Plainfield lost control of his vehicle while driving east on Rt. 22. Venson's car skidded on wet pavement, off the road hitting a utility pole. Venson and a passenger both sustained minor injuries, according to police.

Judge fines 4 on drug charge

Fines and probation were imposed on four defendants, charged with possession of illegal drugs, by acting Judge Frank Pizzi at Mountainside Municipal Court last Wednesday.
Edward Olswang of Andover was fined $75 and $25 court costs for possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana and hashish and put on three months' probation.
Alan Roy Trossett of New Providence and Mark Allen Scavuzzo of Plainfield were given six months probation for possessing less than 25 grams of marijuana.

Posts assigned to McDonough

State Senator Peter J. McDonough of Plainfield will serve on two standing committees and one administrative committee in addition to his duties as assistant minority leader in the State Senate, he announced this week.
McDonough has been appointed to the Transportation and Communications Committee and the Law, Public Safety and Defense Committee as well as the Administrative Ways and Means Committee.
McDonough is the ranking Republican member of both standing committees. He is beginning his fifth year in the State Senate after having served four terms as an assemblyman.
McDonough said his leadership duties will include conferences with the governor on legislative session days, negotiations with the Democratic leadership regarding the flow of legislation and the development of minority party alternatives on controversial legislation.

Rampolla develops recreation program

Kenneth Rampolla of Short drive, Mountainside, a junior at Moravian College, is pursuing an individual study project during the four-week January term.
He is part of a four-student team developing a recreation program for Moravian students in skiing, volleyball, basketball and handball. The group is planning team make-up and schedules which will culminate in a round-robin tournament at the Bethlehem, Pa., campus.

IN CONGRESS

Matthew Rinaldo

2TH D STATE

The encouragement of more attention to mass transit, tests heavily with Congress. I have introduced a bill to change the funding ratio for capital construction of mass transit facilities from 80 percent federal, 20 percent state. The intent is to encourage an expansion of both bus and rail services and to scale down spending for new highways.

At the present time, only the Interstate highway system qualifies for direct 80 percent federal funding. Bridge replacement projects are given 75 percent and secondary roads qualify for 70 percent.

The idea of making mass transit more fiscally attractive to state governments through revision of the funding ratio has been endorsed by President Carter. But the bill has not been introduced in Congress by Transportation Secretary Brock Adams as far as the funding ratio. It is required for transportation programs that 80 percent federal funding.

A weakness with this recommendation is that it is in effect the reverse of the program that has been operating in mass transit planning and spending. Eventually when a more balanced transportation system has been established, an equalized funding ratio might be justified. But not now.

Apart from this issue, Congress needs to make a close look early this year at the Highway Trust Fund and the way it is used.

Ever since 1986, federal taxes on gasoline and other automotive products have been funneled into the Highway Trust Fund to help finance the Interstate and other federally supported programs.

Now that more than 90 percent of the interstate system has been completed, the mass transit is of greater demand. Some way must be found to free Highway Trust Funds for transportation programs other than road construction.

Frostbite alert; dress warmly, use buddy plan

With cold, blustery weather is ahead for the Garden State, the Overlook Hospital family practice department this week warned that frostbite is a possibility, especially when the wind combines with sub-freezing temperatures.

A spokesman said, "Frostbite means that crystals of ice form between the cells of the skin and other tissue of the nerves, muscle and blood vessels. One of the dangers of frostbite is that you often don't feel it. The first thing you know, someone else notices that your nose or ear is turning white."

According to the New Jersey Academy of Family Physicians, first aid for frostbite starts with rewarming as soon as possible. The old idea of rubbing the affected part with snow is completely invalid, as false as the notion that rapid thawing can be more harmful. A hot bath is an excellent start to the rewarming process. Hot, wet towels gently applied and frequently changed are also advised. If no heat is at hand, place the patient in a sleeping bag or cover with coats and blankets.

To prevent frostbite, dress warmly and avoid over-exertion and excessive perspiration, as well as contact of bare flesh with cold metal. The buddy system, pairing off with a friend and watching each other for signs of frostbite, is also advised.

Menza in the running for U.S. Senate seat

Former State Senator Alexander J. Menza has taken the first step toward securing the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate seat held by Republican Clifford P. Case. Menza, of Hillside, has formed a campaign finance committee and named his successor in the 20th District, State Sen. Anthony E. Russo of Union, as one of his campaign co-chairmen.

Menza, 45, developed a reputation during his legislative terms as a leader in the fields of health and human services through the bills he introduced and the commissions he headed. He was recently designated one of the state's top 10 legislators by New Jersey Monthly magazine. However, after two years in the Assembly and four in the State Senate, he chose not to run for reelection in 1977 and voiced his frustration at serving in Trenton. "I was doing a full-time job in a part-time Legislature," he said. "I was devoting full-time energies in a government that is geared to part-time representation. That's frustration."

Among the Menza bills signed into law are those guaranteeing civil rights for the mentally ill and the developmentally disabled, mandating programs of bilingual education, protecting the public from being bilked by fake charities, and permitting persons discharged from a mental health facility as recovered to have their records of commitment expunged. He sponsored laws on child abuse, adoption, newspapermen's privileges and the state's right-on-red law.

Most recently, he headed the state No-Fault Commission, which conducted an extensive examination of New Jersey's no-fault automobile insurance plan. As a result of his work, Menza is considered an authority on the subject and recently addressed a national seminar on the threshold and unlimited medical aspect of no-fault.

Menza was also chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Mental Health, which conducted a two-year investigation of psychiatric institutions and held hearings on abuses it uncovered. The work of the committee led to the most damning grand jury presentment ever issued in New Jersey on conditions in a state mental institution. He was selected to testify before the President's Commission on Mental Health and went to Europe to study compulsory commitment laws over there.

Musical show to be given at Y

The Jewish Festival of the Arts will present the Actors' Repertory Company production of "Kurt Weill: A Musical Journey," on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Union YMHA.

Milton Wald, chairman for the show, announced that tickets are on sale at the Y front office for $3, $2.50 for senior adults and children under 12.

This professional troupe will perform musical excerpts from Weill shows starting with the "Three-Penny Opera" and ending with his Broadway productions such as "A Touch of Venus."

Psychiatry unit boosts Summit staff, services

The Union County Psychiatric Clinic will transfer professional psychiatric personnel to its Summit office to satisfy an increased demand in the area which includes Berkeley Heights, New Providence, Mountainside, Springfield, Union and Summit.

Frances Chvala, who has been with the clinic since 1974, will work as a full-time psychiatric social worker in Summit, her present assignment is in the Mental Health Center of Elizabeth General Hospital. Mrs. Chvala is a graduate of Rutgers University and of the Warzweiler School of Social Work of Yeshiva University in New York City.

Joan Shigekane, a psychologist, also will be assigned to the Summit office from the Plainfield office.

Dr. Bertram Warren, who is clinic director in the Elizabeth office, will serve the Summit office a day and a half each week.

These staff changes are part of the clinic's 1978 expansion plans which include opening an office in the Union area where there has been a decided increase in demand for the clinic's psychiatric services. Summit staff will see patients in the new Union office which will be open five days a week.

Retired railroaders will meet on Feb. 4

The Retired Railroaders Club will hold its next meeting Saturday, Feb. 4, at 11 a.m. at the Senior Citizens' Center on Esterbrook Avenue in Rahway.

All persons retired from railroad work have been invited.

A year of extremes: '77 blew hot and cold

Near record weather, reflecting extremes of hot and cold, marked the total weather picture in 1977, according to Raymond J. Daly, director of Union College's U.S. Cooperative Weather Station, Cranford.

The year's high of 100 degrees on July 21, was one degree short of the highest temperature recorded in the station's records, 101 degrees on July 3, 1966, and the low of five degrees below zero on Jan. 17, was three degrees above the eight degrees below zero recorded on Jan. 22, 1961.

A number of new records were set during the year, Daly reported in his annual meteorological summary to the National Weather Service. January was the coldest month on station records, with a mean temperature of 21.6 degrees. The highest maximum temperature for March, 84 degrees on Dec. 4. The lowest daily temperature for June in the station's records was 34 degrees on the 23rd.

Records tied in 1977 were lowest daily temperature for July, 48 degrees on July 27, and lowest daily temperature for October, 22 degrees on Oct. 24.

Total precipitation for the year was 51.89 inches, which was 3.1 inches above normal. The rainiest month of the year was November with 8.95 inches of rain, which was the second highest rainfall for any November in the station's records, topped only by 11.21 inches in 1972. The driest month was July with 1.99 inches of rainfall.

In terms of degree days, measured during the heating season from Sept. 1 through April 30, there were 5,233.5 degree days in 1977 as opposed to 5,687 in 1976.

Law-skill class for secretaries

Legal Skills for Secretaries will be offered by Union College in the winter session beginning Monday, it was announced by Dr. Frank Dee, dean of special services and continuing education.

The seven-session course, to be conducted on the Cranford Campus, will meet on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. except on Feb. 20, which is a holiday. Tuition is $45 for Union County residents, $55 for out-of-county residents.

Sanford Herzfeld, an attorney who has taught the course in the past, will be the instructor. Legal terms and law office procedures will be emphasized. A workbook of legal forms which Herzfeld has prepared will be included with the cost of the tuition.

Union College winter session begins Monday

Union College's winter session of non-credit continuing education courses will open Monday, according to Dr. Frank Dee, dean of special services and continuing education.

Twenty-one courses in management, fine arts, communications, psychology and general interest areas will be offered in the winter session, the dean stated.

Courses are offered on one or two evenings a week and on Saturday mornings for two to eight weeks, depending on the material to be covered and the depth to which each course will be explored.

Among the courses to be offered are: understanding computers, practical accounting, principles of management, indoor gardening, watercolor painting, human sexuality for adults, conversational Spanish, principles of real estate, effective writing and CLEP College Level Examination Program review.

Summit edges Dayton, 62-61, Walker: 29 points, 17 rebounds

• B. N. Walker, EF of Dayton Region's sandwiched between Jerome Robinson, the recent Suburban Conference game. Dayton took the contest 62-61.

BY MIKE MEINER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team battled Suburban Conference power Summit evenly before losing in the final seconds 62-61. Dayton, shooting a sizzling 57 percent in the game, was led by the brilliant play of Kevin Walker, who converted 12 of 17 shots en route to a game-high 29 points. Walker dominated the boards throughout the contest, with the finest performance in recent years by a Springfield cager. The Bulldogs now lead in conference play and a overall will be home in the West Orange playoffs tomorrow at 7 p.m. Last Friday's Dayton-Summit game was postponed because of inclement weather.

Walker stepped on a 4-11 shot from Mike Walker in the Summit home game. Walker's performance was a key factor in Dayton's victory. He was joined by other players like Mike Boland and Steve Altman. The game was a close contest, with both teams showing excellent defense and offense. Walker's 29 points and 17 rebounds were crucial in the final minutes of the game.

The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams trading leads. Summit's defense was particularly strong in the second half, but Dayton's offense, led by Walker, was able to overcome the deficit. The final seconds were particularly dramatic, with Walker hitting a clutch shot to seal the victory for Dayton.

Pistons nip Rockets in 'sudden-death' OT

The Springfield Small Fry League's second week of the season got off to an exciting start when the Pistons edged the Rockets, 16-14, in two overtimes. The Lakers beat the Billikens, the Raiders topped the Celtics, and the Jets ran over the Bullets in other contests. Gregg Kahn's basket won for the Pistons in the second-sudden-death overtime. Kahn, whose seven points, led the Pistons, sank a foulshot in the first overtime which was matched by the Rockets' Dave Littenberg. Only 15 seconds into the sudden-death period, Kahn's basket ended the game. Charlie Saia had four points and Tom Meixner three for the Pistons. Meixner was the leading rebounder for the Pistons with 14. Robert Derande also hit a basket while Bob Maher and David Alexander were tough on defense. Scorers for the Rockets were John Lusardi (4), David Littenberg (3), Chris Clemson (3), Eric Kahn (2) and Mike Knox (2). Defensive leader for the Rockets was Adam Cohen. The Lakers won 12-10, although Anthony Graziano brought the Billikens within two points with two fourth-quarter baskets. The Lakers were led by Barry Rodburg's six points and Anthony Boffa's four. Adam Jacobs added two points. John Benigo and Nick

Clark loses, 39-28, to Regional wrestlers

Varsity stalwarts Kevin Miller and Dean Pashan were the key players for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School wrestling team. They were defeated in a match against a strong opponent. The team showed great skill and technique, but fell short in the end. The match was a close one, with both sides showing excellent wrestling skills.

Dayton frosh cagers lose seesaw struggle

In its second road game of the season, the Dayton freshman basketball team lost to Summit, 53-50. The game was close throughout as neither team was ever ahead by more than eight points. With no team ahead by more than three at the end of any quarter, the lead changed hands four times. Dayton played Summit virtually even in the first quarter, trailing 13-12 at the end of the period. Summit built a six-point edge early in the second period, but the Bulldogs began to reduce this, finally catching and moving ahead by two at half-time on a 15-foot jumper by Alan Berliner at the buzzer.

Minutemen win easily in 'best game,' 86-41 because of inclement weather. The Seniors point-guard Larry Maier, guard Danny Cirrelli, forwards Peter Ard and Jon Sivoiella and center Robert Steir—showed excellent team work. "It was the best I have ever seen this team play. The players passed and looked for each other on the court," said coach Phil Kurnos. Larry Maier was one of the sparks of the eighth graders' offense. Larry led the attack with four assists, four steals and a season-high 20 points. Forward Peter Ard worked the offensive boards for 20 points and was the team leader in rebounds (14), steals (5) and assists (5). Jon Sivoiella, a consistent player, had three steals, seven rebounds and five points. Jon has compiled an impressive statistic in the last four games; he has not committed one turnover and now has only three turnovers in the last seven games, a remarkable figure. Thomas Ard, coming off the bench, scored 9 points, all in the fourth quarter. Other scorers were John Apicella (8), Kenny Palazzi (4) and Jon Usdin, Robert Horsewood and Marion Jackson with two each.

Dayton girls trip Summit on King sho

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School girls basketball team rallied to edge Summit 46-44 and improve its Suburban Conference record to 3-1. The girls, coached by Ruth Townsend, will travel to West Orange tomorrow for an after-Saturday Conference game. In a brilliant comeback the Dayton girls rallied in the final seconds to defeat the Hilltoppers. With 10 seconds left, Mary King converted one foul shot to give Dayton its first lead, 45-44. Summit was unable to penetrate the Springfield defensive set-up. Kathy Gerndt intercepted a pass and, with one second remaining, sank a free throw for the final point. Ellen Steve paced a balanced attack with 11 points and guard Michele G. added 11. Cricket Franklin had nine points and 11 rebounds. King led the team with 14 rebounds and scored seven points. Herdals also scored seven points.

Nettes conquer South Orange in season debut

The Springfield Nettes girls' basketball team won its season opener against South Orange by a score of 47-34. The Nettes are a member of the Suburban Girls' Basketball League. The Nettes received the bulk of the offensive scoring punch from a combination of forward Linda Grazia and center Karen Hudgins, who led scorers with 22 and 17 points, respectively. They also led the team in rebounding and both played a fine all-around game, according to a team spokesman. Melissa Monticello and Peter Terlebaum started at guard and played a fine defensive game, each contributing a bucket. Robyn Kobr rounded out the starting five, adding rebounding strength and a bucket. Other players to see action were Nancy Kennedy and Jill Demark. Kennedy contributed three points, and Demark played good hustling defense. Team spokesman said.

Shakespeare on film subject of programs

Productions of Shakespeare in Russian, Japanese and American films will serve as the basis for four-program series on national interpretations of Shakespeare at the Florham-Madison Campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University in February and March.

The first program in the series is set for Friday, Feb. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in Science Building room 11 (s-11) at the Florham-Madison campus. Programs will follow on Feb. 24, March 10 and March 31.

"Shakespeare Among the Nations: Exploring National Views of Shakespeare in Film," funded by the New Jersey Committee for the Humanities, is co-directed by Dr. Harry Keyishian and Theodore Ross, professors of English at the Florham-Madison campus.

Keyishian and Ross said they believe that adaptations of Shakespeare's plays offer valuable insights from an ethnic perspective.

"A number of things can be learned about a country through its interpretation of these classics," Dr. Keyishian pointed out. "The series itself was designed to show and make dramatically evident the variety of valid approaches to basic human problems. By definition, our approach is based on cultural considerations," he said.

Room to build, but housing costs are up

There's some good news and some bad news for the homebuyer. The good news is that there is still room to build new homes. However, the bad news is that housing costs are rising significantly. This is due to a combination of factors, including increased costs for building materials and labor. Homebuilders are facing higher prices for lumber, steel, and other essential materials. Additionally, the cost of labor has also increased. These factors are driving up the overall cost of construction, which is being passed on to the homebuyer. Despite the rising costs, many homebuilders remain optimistic about the future of the housing market.

FLORIDA HOME FOR $20,930—All State Homes, Florida's largest home builder, offers to build a three-bedroom, two-bath home in 36 counties at prices as low as $20,930. The firm, owned and operated in Florida, has built more than 10,000 homes in 20 years. Model home centers are located in Orlando and Tampa. A 10-year home owners warranty program is offered. For information write All State Homes, 501 N. Florida Ave., Tampa, Fla. 33672.

Financing arranged

Financing has been arranged for the construction of a new home in the Park Towne complex. The home, located in East Orange, N.J., is being built by Jordan Baris Inc. The financing was provided by a local bank. The home is expected to be completed in the next few months. The Park Towne complex is a popular residential development in the area.

Baris named broker for Park townhomes

Jordan Baris Inc. has been named the exclusive sales agent for the Park Towne townhomes in East Orange, N.J. The townhomes, built by Jordan Baris Inc., are a popular choice for homebuyers in the area. The townhomes feature modern amenities and a prime location. The sales agent will be responsible for marketing the townhomes and assisting potential buyers. The Park Towne townhomes are expected to sell quickly.

TOWNHOMES COMPLEX—Only five townhomes remain unsold in Park Towne homes complex in East Orange. Jordan Baris Inc. was named exclusive sales agent.

Data firm gets lease

Union Data Corporation has recently signed a five-year lease for offices on Morris Avenue in Springfield, N.J. The offices will be used for the company's operations. The lease was signed by Charles Kramer, president of the Union Data Corporation. The offices are located in a modern building and offer a quiet work environment. The Union Data Corporation is a leading provider of data services in the region.

The firm will use the processing of payroll and offices for computerized accounts receivable.

Moped license law; test now required

An estimated 15,000 Moped (motorized bicycle) operators are now required to have a valid operator's license before they can legally use their two-wheeled vehicles on New Jersey public roads.

Moped riders will also be required to carry liability insurance with the same coverage mandatory for drivers of automobiles, although the cost of such policies for mopeds is expected to be much lower than the fees set for general automobile use. Minimum coverage required with bodily injury ($15,000), death ($30,000) and property damage ($5,000). An insurance identification card must be carried when the moped is in use.

John A. Waddington, director of the Division of Motor Vehicles, said that the new law will have an immediate effect on young Moped operators between the ages of 15 and 17, who may qualify for a moped license after purchasing a permit and passing tests consisting of a vision acuity check, knowledge of traffic laws and a demonstration of ability to operate a Moped. Some 5,000 Moped owners in New Jersey are believed to be in the 15 to 17 age bracket. Persons 17 years of age or older who have valid New Jersey driver's licenses are not required to have special Moped licenses, but they must have insurance on their mopeds.

Waddington said that the 55 motor vehicle agencies around the state have started issuing permits to applicants on a first come, first served basis. The permits, which cost $5, will be validated and licenses issued after successful completion of the operator's test which will be conducted at driver qualification centers run by DMV.

The law defines a Moped as a pedal bicycle which has a "helper" motor with either a maximum piston displacement less than 50 cubic centimeters or no more than 15 brake horsepower, and capable of maximum speed of no more than 25 miles per hour on a flat surface.

Moped riders will be subject to the same basic laws and rules of the road that apply to all motor vehicles in the state, but they also must observe certain restrictions. Mopeds may not be operated on interstate highways, toll highways or four-lane highways divided by a grass or concrete median.

6-session workshop scheduled by EVE

EVE, a vocational and educational guidance center at Kean College, is sponsoring a six-session "Vocational Development Group" beginning Wednesday, Feb. 15, from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Designed for the woman who is considering employment, further education or future career development, this workshop will offer a variety of methods to aid each participant in developing goals and deciding on steps to achieve them.

Barbara Maher of Berkeley Heights, an EVE counselor, is the instructor.

The fee of $45 includes vocational interest testing. Further information is available at the EVE office, Kean College, 527-2210.

Caldwell date for pop singer

Caldwell College's Theater-on-the-Hill will present singer Peter Lemongello on Saturday, Feb. 18, at 8 p.m. in the College Campus Center.

Peter Lemongello sidestepped all the conventional music industry routes to success and introduced his records directly to the public through a coast-to-coast series of TV commercials.

For more than three months, all six New York City television channels were jammed with one and two minute commercials of Peter Lemongello selling his sound.

Lemongello attracts huge, largely female audiences. He has appeared at the Flamingo in Las Vegas, Harrah's in Reno, and such top New York spots as The Rainbow Grill, the St. Regis Hotel, The Copacabana, and Felt Forum of Madison Square Garden.

Vocally impaired helped; course aids stutterers

An 85 percent success rate has been registered by a Kean College program to develop normal speech fluency in stutterers.

Although constitutional and environmental factors are involved in stuttering, it is treated as a learned behavior disorder, according to Dr. Joyce Heller, professor of speech pathology and director of Kean's Precision Fluency Shaping Program.

The program is part of the community Speech and Hearing Clinic at the Union College, which trains graduate students while helping stroke victims, the mentally retarded, and those who have had laryngectomies. Therapy is also given those suffering from cleft palates, cerebral palsy and deafness.

In operation since mid 1960, the program uses a voice monitor to develop proper voicing, articulation and respiration and to help stutterers avoid one of their major problems.

SOS ADOPTED

SOS was adopted as the radio distress signal on Nov. 22, 1966, at the International Radio Telegraphic Convention in Berlin, Germany.

Thursday, January 19, 1978
hard and abrupt vocal cord movement during speech.

Most important of all, the Kean program efforts, according to speech pathologist Audrey Stalman, is its emphasis on immediate application of newly acquired skills out in the clinic.

According to Dr. Heller, while learning to talk, a child repeats sounds and speaks in broken phrases. When parents or others draw attention to the child's hesitations, repetitions and prolongations, the child may feel pressure and be self-conscious.

CUSTOM CONTEMPORARY—This custom designed home at Briarwood Estates, Toms River, was designed and built by Quality Builders, developers of the project. The home features three bedrooms on the upper level, including a master bedroom offering double entry, bath with a 4-foot sunken whirlpool tub. The bedroom also has an exterior deck and a balcony overlooking the interior first floor. The first level includes a 16-foot cathedral ceiling in the living room. Briarwood homes are priced from $59,900. The project is located off Bay Avenue east of the Ocean County Mall in Toms River.

Section of 29 homes opens in Manchester

At Leisure Village West in Manchester Township, the leisuretime pleasure and extra appeal of the newest tract of greenery path homes.

A section of 29 homes priced from $40,900 has just been opened for sale. And this is the section surrounded by the nine miles of what is being developed as Leisure Village West's second golf course.

Every one of the greenery path homes in this section is more than an easy walk from the peak golf course, reports Terry T. Bickel, vice-president for sales at Leisure Technology's New Jersey Division, the company that created Leisure Village West and nine other residential environments for those over 50.

At the same time, all of the recreational and club activities are available nearby. Those leisure features include the other golf course where more than 15,000 rounds of golf were played in a five-month period last year. The community includes a swimming pool, tennis courts, and a clubhouse with a bar and lounge. The homes are built on a 1/2-acre lot with a 1/2-acre greenery path.

It was not long before the first homes in this section were sold to those looking forward to delivery in the spring. Construction of the course is under the supervision of Glenn W. Cardis, Leisure Technology's vice-president for environmental design, in conjunction with Chuck Wilson, the certified golf course superintendent who manages the environmental department's landscaped services. Schwartz firm marks gains in area sales

Richard Halperin, executive vice president and Margaret Flannery, assistant vice president of the Archie Schwartz Company, East Orange industrial realtors, office space and investment specialists, has confirmed the completion of several transactions in the Union Middlesex County area. Mr. Schwartz, president, commented that the growth and presence of his firm in Union and Middlesex Counties is reflected by the continuing success of area sales representatives.

Wilder Farms leased part of the one-story complex on Rahway Avenue in West Joseph Township. The Archie Schwartz Company assisted Wilder Farms in obtaining a long-term lease on the property. The new tenants include products used to fast-food chains. They are based in America's West and East Coast areas and businesses and presently have five locations.

Another completion by Schwartz came when he negotiated a lease on West Blazar Road in Linden Township. Draycup Systems, who specialize in the manufacturing of medium furniture, leased the one-story facility from the Linden Investment Company. With two other locations, Route 22 Union and Route 18, East Brunswick, their furniture is sold in the New Jersey metropolitan area. Sybil Draycup, president, represented Draycup Systems and John Fox represented the Linden Investment Company to negotiate the lease. Kinedyne Corporation, a subsidiary of Aluminum Corporation of America, that manufactures cargo harnesses, completed leasing arrangements for space in a one-story facility on Globe Avenue in Mountainside. Through the industrious efforts of Vincent Bonadies, area sales representative, the Kinedyne Corporation obtained space in the facility, which is owned by W. D. Automotive Incorporated. A long-term lease was signed to the satisfaction of both owner and tenant. The administrative office of Kinedyne Corporation is located in Mountainside. Henry Brueker, president of the Kinedyne Corporation, represented his firm. Mr. Frank Mellman handled leasing arrangements on behalf of W. D. Automotive Incorporated.

Room to build, but housing costs are up

There's some good news and some bad news for the new homebuyer. That's what a contingent of New Jersey Builders Association members learned recently at the fall Board of Directors meeting and Builders Conference of the National Association of Home Builders in San Antonio.

The group led by NJBA President Frank Gambony of Basking Ridge, spent five days meeting with builders from other parts of the United States and exchanging ideas and discussing concerns for the betterment of the building industry and the homebuying public.

Gambony said he was encouraged to learn there was generally a sufficient number of homesites available for the coming year. However, he expressed concern over some of the other economic factors that would effect the housing industry in 1978. "NAHB economists warned all builders to be prepared for increases in the cost of building materials, which in turn will increase the price of construction, especially new houses. It was emphasized homebuilders should expect considerable price increase and supply shortages from the lumber and insulation industries. This will result in increased costs to the homebuyer," Gambony said. "Lumber and insulation prices have risen at an alarming rate during the past six months, and this spiral is expected to continue well into next year, as there are no indications that the inflationary cycle in housing costs will subside," he added.

Financing arranged

Financing has been arranged by the David Cronheim Company of Newark and Chatham for a 67,000 square foot warehouse on Hadley road in South Plainfield.

Charles J. Dodge, manager of the Cronheim mortgage department, reports that the commitment of $1,065 million was obtained for Nunzio Mariano of Edison, the builder. The building, off route 287 near the Prudential Insurance Company's offices, has been fully leased. Makita, a Japanese trading company, has taken 42,000 square feet, and MKS Research Inc. has leased 25,000 square feet.

Makita will use the space as a distribution center and warehouse for the company's line of power tools. MKS will use its space for research and development and technical, biological testing. MKS is heavily involved in cancer research. As a result, the South Plainfield space had to be provided with climate control laboratories and special equipment.

This is the second loan arranged by the Cronheim Company for the builder in recent months. Previously, Mariano obtained a commitment on a major shopping center in Sayreville.

Data firm gets lease

Union Data Corporation recently signed a five-year lease renewing its occupancy for offices on Morris Avenue in Springfield, by Charles Kramer, president of the Union Realty firm Brounell-Dramer announced.

According to Brounell-Kramer representative, Larry Leibowitz, Union Data Corporation has leased a 1,008 square foot 6-room office suite on the third floor of the modern brick, glass and steel building from Union Investments.

Mark Cohen of Montclair has joined Gebroe-Hammer Associates, the Livingston-based real estate investment sales firm, as a sales associate. Cohen, a graduate of Livingston High School, received his bachelor's degree in business administration from Upsala College in 1972. He formerly worked for a steel supply firm in sales and managerial capacities. Two years ago, he entered the real estate investment field, specializing in the sales of apartment houses throughout northern New Jersey.

Gebroe-Hammer Associates, New Jersey's largest real estate investment property sales organization in terms of dollar volume, has headquarters in the Gebroe-Hammer Building in Roosevelt Plaza, Livingston.

Park Towne Homes, a well-designed townhomes complex on secluded Park street in East Orange, is enjoying stepped up activity since Irvington based Jordan Baris, Inc. was named exclusive sales agent.

Arthur Aron, of Jordan Baris, said five townhomes remain to be sold of the 10 unit complex. Priced at $49,900, the two-family buildings have attached garage and large backyards.

The two-bedroom, two-bath homes are at 184-194 Park St. Schools, shopping and mass transit are nearby, there is easy access to the Garden State Parkway and Rt. 280.

Attractive financing terms are available to qualified buyers. A decorated model may be viewed on weekends or by appointment with Jordan Baris, Inc., 380 Stuyvesant Ave., Irvington, 399-2000.

Moped license law; test now required

An estimated 15,000 Moped (motorized bicycle) operators are now required to have a valid operator's license before they can legally use their two-wheeled vehicles on New Jersey public roads.

Moped riders will also be required to carry liability insurance with the same coverage mandatory for drivers of automobiles, although the cost of such policies for mopeds is expected to be much lower than the fees set for general automobile use. Minimum coverage required with be bodily injury ($15,000), death ($30,000) and property damage ($5,000). An insurance identification card must be carried when the moped is in use.

John A. Waddington, director of the Division of Motor Vehicles, said that the new law will have an immediate effect on young Moped operators between the ages of 15 and 17, who may qualify for a moped license after purchasing a permit and passing tests consisting of a vision acuity check, knowledge of traffic laws and a demonstration of ability to operate a Moped. Some 5,000 Moped owners in New Jersey are believed to be in the 15 to 17 age bracket. Persons 17 years of age or older who have valid New Jersey driver's licenses are not required to have special Moped licenses, but they must have insurance on their mopeds.

Waddington said that the 55 motor vehicle agencies around the state have started issuing permits to applicants on a first come, first served basis. The permits, which cost $5, will be validated and licenses issued after successful completion of the operator's test which will be conducted at driver qualification centers run by DMV.

The law defines a Moped as a pedal bicycle which has a "helper" motor with either a maximum piston displacement less than 50 cubic centimeters or no more than 1.5 brake horsepower, and capable of maximum speed of no more than 25 miles per hour on a flat surface.

Moped riders will be subject to the same basic laws and rules of the road that apply to all motor vehicles in the state, but they also must observe certain restrictions. Mopeds may not be operated on interstate highways, toll highways or four-lane highways divided by a grass or concrete median

An 85 percent success rate has been registered by a Kean College program to develop normal speech fluency in stutterers.

Although constitutional and environmental factors are involved, stuttering is treated as a learned, behavior disorder, according to Dr. Joyce Heller, professor of speech pathology and director of Kean's Precision Fluency Shaping Program.

The program is part of the community Speech and Hearing Clinic at the Union College, which trains graduate students while helping stroke victims, the mentally-retarded and those who have had laryngectomies. Therapy is also given those suffering from cleft palates, cerebral palsy and deafness.

In operation since mid 1976, the program uses a voice monitor to develop proper voicing, articulation and respiration and to help stutterers avoid one of their major problems.

SOS ADOPTED

SOS was adopted as the radio distress signal on Nov. 22, 1966, at the International Radio Telegraphic Convention in Berlin, Germany.

Thursday, January 19, 1978
hard and abrupt vocal cord movement during speech.

Most important of all the Kean program efforts, according to speech pathologist Audrey Shulman, is its emphasis on immediate application of newly acquired skills outside the clinic.

According to Dr. Heller, "While learning to talk, a child repeats sounds and speaks in broken phrases. When parents or others draw attention to the child's hesitations, repetitions and prolongations, the child may feel pressure and be self-conscious.

6-session workshop scheduled by EVE

EVE, a vocational and educational guidance center at Kean College, is sponsoring a six-session "Vocational Development Group" beginning Wednesday, Feb. 15, from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Designed for the woman who is considering employment, further education or future career development, this workshop will offer a variety of methods to aid each participant in developing goals and deciding on steps to achieve them.

Barbara Maher of Berkeley Heights, an EVE counselor, is the instructor.

The fee of $45 includes vocational interest testing. Further information is available at the EVE office, Kean College, 527-2210.

Caldwell date for pop singer

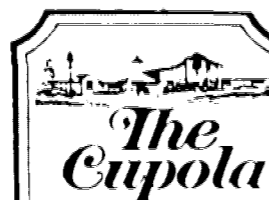

Caldwell College's Theater-on-the-Hill will present singer Peter Lemongello on Saturday, Feb. 18, at 8 p.m. in the College Campus Center.

Peter Lemongello sidestepped all the conventional music industry routes to success and introduced his records directly to the public through a coast-to-coast series of TV commercials.

For more than three months, all six New York City television channels were jammed with one and two minute commercials of Peter Lemongello selling his sound.

Lemongello attracts huge, largely female audiences. He has appeared at the Flamingo in Las Vegas, Harrah's in Reno, and such top New York spots as The Rainbow Grill, the St. Regis Hotel, The Copacabana, and Felt Forum of Madison Square Garden.

Newborn need healthy start, Carter states

President Jimmy Carter has proclaimed January as March of Dimes Birth Defects Prevention Month, Ross Anzaldi, Union County campaign chairman said that "national observance will serve the needs of our country's most precious natural resource—our children."

"Our stake in birth defects prevention is high," Anzaldi said. "It means the future of our children, our children's children and ultimately, our nation."

The March of Dimes spokesman said birth defects are the most serious child health problem in America today. Each year a quarter-million Americans are born with physical or mental handicaps. One child every two minutes.

"Across the country, the March of Dimes is working to give every newborn the best chance for a healthy start in life. The federal government is deeply concerned with improving the quality of maternal and infant care throughout the country, he said. "Together their efforts can hasten the day when all children are born free from the threat of birth defects."

"By proclaiming January as Birth Defects Prevention Month," Anzaldi stated, "President Carter has renewed the national commitment to provide the best possible care to mothers, infants and children."

CPA unit offers free tax service

Tax Aid Service Inc. (TASI), a free income tax preparation service of the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants, will be available at Kean College, Union, four Wednesdays during the coming two months.

The service will be available at Kean Feb. 8 and 22 and March 8 and 22 from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. Additional dates and hours can be scheduled if required, according to Leonard Goodman, assistant professor of accounting at Rutgers and TASI president.

Maximum income levels for those who will be served have been set at $8,000 for a single taxpayer and $12,000 for a family, plus $1,000 for each additional dependent.

Group to hear area educator

Ronald Bensford, an educator specializing in learning disabilities and administration, will be the guest speaker at tonight's meeting of the Union County Speech and Hearing Association at Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountaineer.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting, to which the public is invited, will feature Bensford's talk on "Emphasis on relating efficient education to speech and hearing services." He is a member of the Union County Child Study Team.

Volunteers sought for 'Companions' program

The Mental Health Association of Union County, one of the 34 human care agencies supported by the United Way of Eastern Union County, is seeking volunteers for its "Community Companions" program.

Volunteers for the five-month old program, according to Edward Murphy, executive director, must be 18 or older. They are trained to work on a person-to-person basis with people recovering from a mental disorder and beginning their crucial re-adjustment to community, non-institutional living.

Counselled and advised by a professional psychologist, psychiatrist or social worker, the volunteer is matched with his client, according to geographical location, age, marital status, and sex. At the onset goals are established for the newly released patient and his community companion, who helps the client settle in a place to live, plan constructive ways in which to spend his time, and provides his client with information concerning appropriate health services, housing, social, educational and vocational resources within the community.

Twenty five Union County Community Companion volunteers now spend an average of 3 1/2 hours per week for three to four months with each client.

The Mental Health Association of Union County is funded through the New Jersey Department of Human Services and the United Way. The United Way supplies the funds in our budget for our core programs, which include information and referral, advocacy, social action, and education for those using our services," Murphy said. "Advocacy involves our intercession on behalf of the individual to the agencies. Social action and education includes requests for state legislation and better services. Most clients in the Community Companions program receive some form of public financial assistance. This program, which could not be possible without United Way funds, is developing into a very exciting and rewarding experience involving one human being relating to another as a friend.

"This is a cost effective way to keep people in the community and started in a new life. Our volunteers have been exceptionally capable with the stability and tenacity to approach the program with a great deal of responsibility."

Murphy has been director of the association for five years, his administrative assistant is Carol Florek. Other programs provided by the Mental Health Association, 615 N. Broad St., Elizabeth, are the Union County Crisis Intervention and Prevention Telephone Services and Bridgeway House, a psycho-social rehabilitation center.

THE REV. SALVATORE CITARELLA

Rev. Citarella named to board

The Rev. Salvatore Citarella, director of the department of education and training at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, has been elected to the national board of directors of the American Society for Health Manpower Education and Training. He was elected for a two-year term of office to represent Region II (New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania).

The board has nine elected members who represent 1,700 members throughout the country. The American Society for Health Manpower Education and Training is a professional society for persons responsible for the training and education function in health care facilities, and is an affiliate of the American Hospital Association, Chicago.

Studies offered at UC to aid with CLEP test

Union College will conduct an eight-week course designed to prepare adults to earn college credits through CLEP (College Level Examination Program), beginning on Wednesday, it was announced by Dr. Frank Dee, dean of special services and continuing education. CLEP is a national program that offers adults an opportunity to obtain recognition for college-level learning achieved in the world-at-large.

"Whether you have learned on the job, through non-credit courses, TV viewing or private reading, you can take a CLEP test," Dr. Dee said. "You may receive credits toward an associate or baccalaureate degree if the test results are acceptable to the college of your choice."

The CLEP course will meet on eight consecutive Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Cranford campus. It will review English composition, the humanities, the social sciences, history and study and test-taking skills.

Tuition will be $35 for Union County residents, and $45 for out-of-county residents. Cost of the textbook, available in the college bookstore, is approximately $6.

Additional information on CLEP may be obtained by calling the Division of Special Services and Continuing Education, 276-2600, Extension 238 or 206.

A different kind of used car from a different kind of dealer.

The used cars listed here aren't ordinary used cars. Because they don't come from an ordinary dealership.

At Pace, a customer is respected as the owner of a fine automobile, not dismissed as a troublesome accessory to it.

Because of our service, we're selling more and more new Buicks. And taking in more and more fine used cars as trade-ins. The cars listed here are the best of them.

Before we put a used car up for sale, we inspect it inside and out. We fix what needs fixing—and if we can't we simply don't sell the car to you.

Then, we protect every used car we sell with Pace Buick's own double warranty: 3 months or 3,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the entire car plus 6 months/6,000 miles (whichever comes first) limited to the engine and drive train.

Best of all, when you buy a used car from Pace, you receive the same attentive service that's winning us more and more new-car customers.

So, if you're tired of looking at the same old kind of used cars, come to Pace. You'll find the kind of used car you can trust—because you can also trust the dealership they come from.

Medical agency gets increased public support

Increased public support raised the income of the Leukemia Society of America Inc. to $9,804,070 in 1977, up from the $9,404,080 recorded the previous year.

The gains enabled the national voluntary health agency to continue the expansion of its triple programs of research, patient aid and education, according to the annual report for the fiscal year which closed in June.

The biggest jump in expenditures was for patient services which rose to $1,926,313 from $1,740,189 for the same period last year, according to Harvey H. Richer, president of the Central New Jersey Chapter.

The Central New Jersey Chapter is located at 1486 Morris Ave., Union, 07083.

Free winter concert

The Bloomfield Symphony will present a free winter concert of Beethoven selections Sunday Feb. 5 at 3 p.m. in North Junior High School, Bloomfield, under the direction of Edward Napiewocki of Union.

RESPIRATORY BREATHING DEVICES—Dr. Gerald Weiss (standing), director of the pulmonary rehabilitation department at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, instructs public health nurses in the proper use, care and maintenance of medical equipment for patients receiving respiratory therapy at home.

Nurses trained to aid respiratory patients

Seventy visiting public health nurses recently received special training at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center in the home care of patients with respiratory problems. The program is part of a community outreach effort by the Medical Center to provide follow-up care for respiratory patients when they return home.

Dr. Gerald Weiss, director of NBIMC's pulmonary rehabilitation department, conducted "Home Care Training Program for Patients Receiving Respiratory Therapy." The symposium provided lectures, films, demonstrations and "hands on" practice for nurses in the home care of chronic lung disease patients—those with chronic bronchitis, emphysema, cystic fibrosis and asthma. Respiratory breathing devices were demonstrated and nurses were instructed on their proper care and maintenance. "Hands on" equipment practice sessions were central to the course. Dr. Weiss said a follow-up program is scheduled for May.

Professionals who assisted Dr. Weiss in conducting the symposium are: Abraham Lister, respiratory therapist; Pat Mollach, an expert in ambulatory oxygen devices, and Laverne Thomas, LPN, pulmonary therapist at NBIMC.

Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, a teaching affiliate of the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, is a member of the Jewish Community Federation of Metropolitan New Jersey, a beneficiary of the annual United Jewish Appeal of Metropolitan New Jersey campaign and a member agency of the United Way of Essex and West Hudson.

Meeting on Jan. 25 by Dem Committee

Richard J. Coffee, chairman, has announced that the Democratic State Committee will meet Wednesday, Jan. 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, North Brunswick, to nominate and elect a New Jersey representative to the Democratic National Committee.

Grant received

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra has received a $30,000 grant from the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation. The grant was given to underwrite the Orchestra's 1978 Young Artists Auditions to be held between February and April of 1978.

The Dodge Foundation of Morristown was created from the estate of Geraldine R. Dodge, the daughter of William Rockefeller and the wife of M. Hartley Dodge.

The Young Artists Auditions, now in their third year, will be open to all New Jersey pianists, violinists and cellists who have not passed their 20th birthdays by Dec. 31, 1978.

Any qualified young musician who wishes to obtain further information and application forms should contact Judith Nacheson, Young Artists Auditions, New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, 213 Washington St., Newark 07101, or telephone her, on Monday or Tuesday, 624-3713; on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, Susan E. Edelman, 624-3713, and on Saturday or Sunday Mrs. Joseph D. Andrews Jr., 763-0869.

Symphony director appears at Millburn

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will present the third concert on its four ticket Millburn-Oranges series at 3 p.m. Jan. 29. Leon Fleisher will conduct and pianist Claude Frank will be soloist. The program will include Aaron Copland's "Orchestral Variations," Piano Concerto No. 17 by W.A. Mozart and Johannes Brahms' Symphony No. 2.

Fleisher began his conducting career with concerts on the Mostly Mozart Festival at New York's Lincoln Center in the summer of 1970. In 1971, he directed the Boston Symphony at Tanglewood and later, at Lincoln Center, conducted a concert in memory of his late teacher and mentor, pianist Arthur Schnabel. He has appeared as guest conductor of most of the major symphony orchestras in this country. In 1973, he became associate conductor of the Baltimore Symphony. In addition, Fleisher is music director of the Annapolis Symphony and director of the Theatre Chamber Players of Washington, D.C. He is professor of music at the Peabody Institute in Baltimore, where he makes his home.

Frank, who is German-born, lived in Nuremberg until he was 12, when he went to Paris and studied at the Paris Conservatoire. Narrowly escaping the German occupation of Paris, he and his mother made their way to the Pyrenees which, lacking an exit permit, they crossed on foot. They eventually were granted visas to come to the United States by an American consul who heard young Frank play. Frank made his debut with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic in 1959.

Frank has appeared with the New York Philharmonic, Berlin Philharmonic, Chicago Symphony, Boston Symphony, Royal Philharmonic of London, Cleveland Orchestra,

Philadelphia Orchestra, Buenos Aires and Sao Paulo Orchestras, Jerusalem Orchestra and the Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam. In chamber music he has performed with the Guarneri Quartet, the Juilliard Quartet and Alexander Schneider's chamber ensembles. He has been a guest artist at the Marlboro Music Festival for more than 12 summers.

He teaches master classes at Yale, where he is on the faculty, and at the Aspen Music Festival, where he appears every summer. Tickets may be obtained by contacting the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, 213 Washington St., Newark 07101, telephone (201) 624-8203.

State officials to attend dinner

The effect federal programs and policies have upon economic conditions in New Jersey is expected to be one of the main discussion topics Feb. 2 when more than a thousand New Jersey leaders of business and government assemble in Washington for the 40th Congressional Reception and Dinner of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce.

New Jersey's two U.S. Senators and 15 members of the House of Representatives will be guests. The governor, members of his cabinet, administration officials, officers and members of the New Jersey Legislature and many county and municipal officials will join with the business leaders in honoring the 17 New Jerseyans who serve in the Congress.

Stamp shows are scheduled

Stamp and coin shows will be held at the Clark Ramada Inn, Garden State Parkway Exit 135, Sunday and Feb. 5 from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Admission and parking will be free. More information is available by calling 238-5636. The shows are sponsored by the Central Jersey Stamp and Coin Exchange.

An open house will be held Jan. 30 and Feb. 19 at Aallstamps' new location, 432 Ryders Lane, East Brunswick. Information on the open house is available by calling 238-5639.

Seniors needed
The Tri-State Office of CARE, the international relief and development agency, is recruiting senior citizen volunteers for its fund-raising efforts. Senior citizens will be asked to set up booths in shopping centers and other public places to distribute information about CARE's work in more than 30 developing nations, and to collect funds. CARE also will assist clubs and committees of golden agers who wish to hold bazaars, movie nights, or other fund-raising activities to benefit the needy abroad. Area residents who wish to participate in CARE's volunteer efforts may contact Doris Forman, CARE Tri-State Office, 660 First Avenue, New York, 10016.

Sweden tests 'tele-Braille'
A new terminal system for the two-way transmission of Braille messages over the public telecommunications network is currently being tested at the Royal Institute of Technology in Stockholm. The system—to which conventional telephones may be linked—allows blind-deaf persons to receive and transmit Braille messages, and a special code converter can translate Braille into plain language when required.
