GOP primary to have council seat fight

A PLEDGE—Young patients at Children's Specialized Hospital lead the salute to the flag at ceremonies held Sunday to dedicate the official completion of a $6.3 million building and renovation program at the rehabilitation hospital for physically handicapped children and adolescents. Some 600 persons, many from Mountainside, attended the ceremonies and guided tours of the new facilities, including a modern 60-bed patient wing.

Regional calendars approved

Coincide with all but Mountainside

By BARBARA WALCOFF

The Union County Regional Board of Education adopted two separate 1979-80 calendars Tuesday night for the four regional high schools in an attempt to formulate schedules that were consistent with local school district calendars in the towns represented at the regional schools.

The basic difference in the calendars comes during February when the David Brearley-Jonathan Dayton schedule calls for a midwinter recess during the week of Feb. 18. Arthur L. Johnson and Governor Livingston High Schools will be closed on Feb. 18 and 19 but will reopen on Wednesday Feb. 20. Dayton and Brearley will make up the extra three days at the end of the year by continuing until June 20—three days longer than the other two high schools.

"We have tried to come up with a calendar that was the least offensive to

Insurgent Suckno is late entry

Democratic slate remains unopposed

A Republican primary contest for two Borough Council seats developed last week when incumbent Abe Suckno, who had failed to win the support of screeners, filed as an insurgent GOP candidate just hours before the deadline.

Suckno will face Marilyn Hart and Monroe Nestler in the June 5 primary. On the Democratic side, Ray Vaccari and Frances Ehman are unopposed for council nominations.

Mayor Thomas Ricciardi, seeking reelection with GOP party support, is unopposed in the general election in November. No Democratic candidate had filed by deadline time last week.

Ricciardi, who has held the mayoral position for 10 years, was first named to the job in 1969 when he was elected to a two-year term. The mayor won reelection to two consecutive four-year terms in 1971 and 1975.

This will be Ehman's second try for a seat on the governing body as she was defeated last November. Vaccari, who ran for tax collector in 1978, also was turned down by the voters. Neither Democrat ran in last year's primary, entering the race in early September.

The slate of local committeemen and committeewomen is not completely full as 19 Republicans and 10 Democrats have filed for the 20 positions available in each of the two major parties.

Service cuts at Overlook seem remote

Rumors of a cut in pediatric services at Overlook Hospital merely reflect some comments by a preliminary regional planning council and are very unlikely to be substantiated, according to Thomas J. Foley, executive vice-president of the hospital in Summit. The change would be part of a national effort to reduce hospital costs.

Foley said that a hospital can provide one of three levels of intensive neonatal care, depending on the number of births there each year. He added that a regional preliminary study committee of the U.S. Health Systems Agencies had proposed that Overlook be cut back from Level 2 care to Level 1, even though the latter is primarily for hospitals with fewer than 1,000 births per year. Overlook last year had some 1,800 births. It has been providing Level 2 care for new-borns for several years.

Foley noted that under the new proposal the closest Level 3 care would be in Newark's Beth Israel Medical Center and the N.J. Medical School. Level 2 care would be available at Muhlenberg in Plainfield, Morristown Memorial, St. Barnabas in Livingston and possibly Elizabeth General.

Foley added that this matter has not been resolved, even at the state level, and that the preliminary committee has no binding authority. He expressed confidence that the preliminary proposal would be reversed. If approved, Foley added, the change would eliminate some specialized equipment and personnel. It would not affect any outpatient services, he said, but would have a "dramatic effect" on Overlook's pediatric residency program.

Contests being held as fair approaches

T-shirt sales, a guessing contest and a poster contest are taking place in Mountainside schools, seeking to build student interest in the Futureworld Fair set for Saturday, May 12 at Deerfield School. Roberta Krumholz, general chairman for the fair, said many new activities will be available this year.

Lois Merklinger, poster contest chairman, has announced that grand prize winners are Rebecca Zirkel, Beechwood, and Bonnie Whitbred, Deerfield. First, second and third place ribbons were awarded to the winning posters from each classroom.

Second prize ribbons were awarded to Danny Bell, Scott Boyd, Suzanne Burdge, Shane Connell, Gail Damon, Kelly DeCristoforo, Michael DeCristoforo, Kathleen FitzGibbon, Jennifer Gardella, Scott Krumholz, Glenn Miske, Brian Murphy, Patricia Nistorenko, Marissa Sanford, Jeffrey Sumner, Gordon Thompson, Gwen Thomson and Eric Weinstein.

Thirds went to Danielle Di Leo, Allison Dorlen, Stephen Dorlen, Christine Dorocki, Joanne Esemplare, Rachel Haine, Erin McGrath, Amanda Maximchuk, Krista Merklinger, Lauri Shanaman and Brian Targum.

Vandals damage auto and library windows

Malicious damage to the Mountainside Public Library and to a car owned by the president of the Board of Education on Saturday were reported in two unrelated incidents by police.

Twenty windows were broken and 11 window screens were cut at the public library sometime between 6 and 10 p.m. on Saturday, police reported. Detective Jerry Rice said that there were no signs of entry but vandals did use some kind of tool to cut through the screens and smash the windows, causing an estimated $630 damage. Police reported six windows broken in the conference room, six in the kitchen area, one in the storage area, two on the south side of the main library section and five on the east side including an emergency door window. Seven screens were cut on the north side of the building while four were slashed on the west side.

One bullet completely smashed the right side window and another bullet was lodged in the right side door of a car owned by Scott Schmedel, Mountainside Board of Education president, police reported.

The car, parked on the street outside Schmedel's Deer Path home, had been stopped so that the right side was facing the street, police said. Detective Rice said persons in a passing car might have caused the damage which occurred sometime between 1 p.m. and 10:30 p.m.

Police found no bullet inside the car but will check one bullet still in the door. Police believe a .22 caliber weapon was used.

Suckno puts hat in June primary ring

Citing his six years of experience as a local lawmaker, and his concern to put the interest of Mountainside first, Mountainside Borough Councilman Abe Suckno filed as an insurgent Republican candidate for the June 5 primary election in hopes of winning the GOP nomination for reelection to a third term on the governing body. The incumbent councilman failed to receive Republican backing for the primary, losing out to Marilyn Hart and Monroe Nestler.

Suckno, who said he feels there is much to be done for borough residents, called his experience on the governing body "a civic investment which was capable of paying dividends to residents for years to come." He is backed by Republicans to reelect Incumbent Abe Suckno.

"Mountainside is a desirable community to live in," he said. "That is proven when one equates the property values here with those of neighboring municipalities. We have to protect that environment and life style 365 days a year by electing people to the governing body who have displayed a concern and

Drive leader thanks donors

Ernest S. Winter, chairman of members and funds of the Westfield-Mountainside Red Cross, this week expressed his appreciation to all residents of the community "who responded so generously to the annual March membership and supplemental fund drive."

"We hope to reach our supplemental fund goal of $7,500 in order to maintain our essential free services to the communities of Westfield and Mountainside," said Winter. "We are very pleased to have already raised 75 per cent of our goal and hope that those who have not yet sent in their contributions will do so at this time." Winter said a new mailing service is being tried this year to reduce fundraising costs. "Unfortunately, a few errors in the computer system have occurred which we hope to have resolved soon. For those who have already contributed and received a second request, we apologize."

Questions can be addressed to the Red Cross office at 321 Elm st., Westfield.

Tax office open on Tuesday night

Leroy Mumford, Mountainside's tax collector, will hold office hours the second Tuesday of each month. His office, located in the municipal building, will be open from 7:30 to 9 p.m. and persons interested in talking with the tax collector may visit during these hours.

Anyone wishing to contact Mumford at any other time during the month may leave a message with the municipal clerk at 232-2400.

PROMOTED—Patrolmen Herman Hafeken on left and William Alder recently were promoted to sergeants. Hafeken, who has served 10 years on the force, and Alder who has been with the Mountainside Police Department for 12 years, are pictured with police commissioner Abe Suckno.

Beechwood meeting

The Mountainside Board of Education will hold an informational session tonight at 8 in the Deerfield Cafeteria to discuss the future of Beechwood School. No decisions will be made at tonight's meeting, which is open to the public.

UC will offer developmental summer studies

Developmental courses in reading, mathematics and study techniques for students who need additional preparation in these areas before beginning collegiate studies will be offered in Union College's Summer Session I, according to Emanuel Levy, director.

Summer Session I will be conducted from May 29 through July 6 with classes scheduled during morning and evening hours. With few exceptions, classes will meet Monday through Thursday, Levy said.

Developmental reading, designed to develop more efficient reading skills, includes instruction and practice in study management and reading with purpose, flexibility of rate, and improved comprehension. It also stresses critical reading and vocabulary development.

Introduction to mathematical concepts is a comprehensive study of arithmetic and allied processes to prepare students for algebra. Selected topics in college mathematics covers logic and the number system in mathematics for students whose major interest is in liberal arts or education courses.

Three courses on study and learning techniques are designed to prepare prospective students for better college study. Typically troublesome areas are covered in studying sufficiently, listening and lecture note-taking and remembering and test-taking.

Union College is offering almost 100 courses in the two six-week summer sessions. Students may either prepare for college studies they plan to begin in the fall, get a head start on fall programs or take courses whose credits are transferable to colleges and universities they are already attending.

Admission is open to college students, adults and high school juniors and seniors.

Information on all summer session courses may be obtained by calling the college admissions office at 276-2600, ext. 262.

UNION COUNTY SHERIFF Ralph Froehlich, right, presents plaque of appreciation to Dr. Joquin Portuondo of the Kean College foreign language department. Portuondo recently completed translating the Union County Jail's rules and regulations manual into Spanish.

Jail rules translation earns prof an award

Dr. Joquin Portuondo was the recent recipient of a plaque of appreciation presented by Union County Sheriff Ralph Froehlich for translating the inmates rules and regulations manual of the county jail into Spanish. Portuondo is a professor in the foreign language department at Kean College, Union.

The presentation was made in the office of Kean College president Nathan Weiss. Froehlich, who expressed his thanks to Portuondo, said the translation will give the Hispanic population of the jail a better understanding of the manual.

Froehlich also expressed gratitude to Weiss for "the continued support that Kean College has extended to the county jail." Through the years, social work students from Kean have worked in the Correctional Services Unit of the jail, and students from other departments also have participated in field placement opportunities within the county jail, in such disciplines as political science, criminal justice and recreation. "Such field placements have resulted in the permanent employment of two Kean College graduates in the Correctional Services Unit", the sheriff said.

Recently, the recreation department at Kean, under the direction of Kenneth Benson, helped the jail develop a recreation program for inmates. "Benson and his students completed a study of the jail and a plan for recreation at no cost to the county", said Froehlich.

Benson also has expressed the possibility of working with interested professors from the college's health and recreation department in developing a health care program for the inmates.

Weiss, who said the college serves the community whenever possible, added, "Further down the road, I see other possibilities for working with the county, particularly in the correctional area."

Olympic trials to be Saturday for retarded

The New Jersey Special Olympics organization will hold its annual track and field meet for Union and Middlesex counties on Saturday at the South Plainfield High School Athletic Complex.

Approximately 400 handicapped athletes from all parts of the two-county area are expected to participate in the day of sports competition.

A parade of athletes and the lighting of the special Olympic torch will provide some of the pageantry for the opening ceremony at 9 a.m. Participants will go on to compete in such events as the high jump, the softball throw, the mile run, the wheelchair race and the standing long jump. Qualified winners will become eligible to participate in the Special Olympics state track and field meet at McGuire Air Force Base on the second weekend in June.

The Special Olympics program is sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation to give mentally retarded children and adults the opportunity to develop physically and psychologically through sports training and competition. It is the only sports organization of its kind in the world authorized by the International Olympic Committee to use the name "Olympic."

"For the Special Olympian, the thrill of competing with his peers on his own ability level for awards and recognition is as great as the thrill experienced by any regular International Olympic competitor," said Rich Reininger, spokesman for the sponsors. "He will often proudly wear his winning ribbons or medals for several weeks following the competition."

Persons interested in serving as sports officials, chaperones, huggers or timekeepers may contact Reininger at 755-9305 or Dick Geis at 272-9100 for further information.

Israeli naval officer to speak at supper

CAPT. MOSHE TABAK

Capt. Moshe Tabak, special Jewish National Fund emissary from Israel, will be principal speaker at a JNF supper celebrating the 31st anniversary of Israel's independence, Monday evening, May 14, at the Eastern Union County YMHA, Green lane, Union.

Cap Tabak joined the Israeli navy in 1950 and participated in a variety of expeditions at sea and on shore. In 1965, he was appointed executive officer of a destroyer. Between 1965 and 1967, he headed the Israeli operational and technical mission at Cherbourg, France, encompassing the Six-Day War.

To gain favor with Arab nations, the French government clamped an arms embargo on Israel.

At that time Israel had on order five fully paid for missile boats from France. After their completion, the French government reneged on its legal obligation to deliver the vessels. Consequently, the Israeli government ordered Capt. Tabak to take possession of the boats in accordance with international law. He planned and executed the daring Cherbourg operation which the five missile boats were boarded by Israeli navy men, and sailed out of Cherbourg harbor for Israel.

Between 1947 and 1976, Capt. Tabak was a naval attaché at the Israeli embassy in Washington.

Hovnanian promotion is given to Purscell

Kevin S. Hovnanian, president of Hovnanian Enterprises, Inc., the national community development firm located in Red Bank, has announced the promotion of Delano B. Purscell to the position of New Jersey sales director.

Purscell will continue to oversee sales at Shadow Lake Village, the Hovnanian adult residential-recreational community in Middletown Township, and he also will now oversee the sales and marketing of Covered Bridge, the Hovnanian adult community in Manalapan. Both of these communities are in their final stages of development, and it is anticipated that both will be sold-out before the end of 1979. "Del Purscell's professional capabilities will continue to serve Hovnanian Enterprises during the sales efforts at all upcoming New Jersey communities we develop," Hovnanian said.

After having served as a U.S. Air Force pilot, Purscell was graduated from the University of Omaha, where he majored in industrial management and economics. He joined Union Carbide Corporation upon graduation and was promoted to economic analyst for the Linde Division office in San Francisco.

Within four years, he was appointed administrator of industrial gas supply contracts in the New York office of the Linde Division, where he was responsible for billing instructions and auditing services for $55 million in annual sales. He then formed his own company, which for ten years operated in Orange County, N.Y., purchasing, upgrading and selling real estate property. During that period, he also was president of Taylor Rental of Airmont, Ind., a Suffern, N.Y. firm which leased equipment to the construction industry.

Before joining Hovnanian Enterprises in 1977, the native Iowan was vice president in charge of sales for Clemson Park, an apartment condominium in Middletown, N.Y.

Hovnanian Enterprises, Inc., is currently marketing homes in the communities it has developed in Florida, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The company has offices in Riverway, the new office building developed by Hovnanian Enterprises on Rt. 35 near the Navesink River in Red Bank.

GRANDVILLE TOWERS in Red Bank has been converted to a cooperative complex for professionals who care how they live.

Terrace units in cooperative at Grandville

Grandville Towers, a mid-rise development in Red Bank, has been redecorated and converted from a rental development to a cooperative complex. One and two-bedroom model units are on display.

A spokesman for the complex said the conversion was aimed at "professionals who really care how they live."

Said the spokesman: "Each unit is carefully planned with convenience in mind. Eighty percent of the units have window areas overlooking the Navesink River and marinas. All have individual terraces for entertaining or just relaxing. Each has an elegant living and dining room with easy access to a workable kitchen with a frost-free refrigerator, self-cleaning oven, dishwasher and coordinated cabinetry. Also included are wall-to-wall carpeting and closets galore, individually controlled electricity and air-conditioning, and a 24-hour closed-circuit security system.

"On-site recreational facilities include men's and women's saunas, recreation room with entertainment kitchen and dining room, and a swimming pool with deck chairs and lifeguards.

There is a marina across the street, as well as the Molly Pitcher Inn, Shops, boutiques and theaters are within five blocks. The Garden State Art Center is eight miles away. Commuting takes just 50 minutes to New York. The railroad station is four blocks from Grandville Towers, and bus service is also readily available."

A driver may reach Grandville Towers by taking the Garden State Parkway south to exit 109, turning left to Half Mile road, following a jughandle to the end, turning right on West Front street and continuing about 1.8 miles to Morford place and Grandville Towers.

Engineers cite Millburn firm

Elson T. Killam Associates Inc., environmental engineers of Millburn, has been cited by the Consulting Engineers Council of New Jersey for engineering excellence in its eighth annual competition. The award qualifies Killam Associates to compete among prize winners from the 50 states. Results of the national competition will be announced in Washington later this month.

A panel of judges selected Killam Associates' presentation from a group of entries submitted by engineering firms throughout the state. The winning entry was the Joint Meeting of Essex and Union Counties, the Edward P. Decher

Secondary Waste Water Treatment Plant.

The award was based on engineering achievements demonstrating the highest degree of merit and ingenuity and providing a major contribution to technical, economic and social advancement.

The project included the upgrading of an existing primary wastewater treatment plant by the addition of an activated sludge secondary treatment facility. The full site for the expansion was developed by diverting the Elizabeth River. The construction of the secondary wastewater treatment facilities formed a part of a planned U.S. Army Corps of Engineers flood control program and involved close cooperation with state, local and federal government agencies.

The project cost approximately $50 million which is considered low for the environmental work involved. It was made possible in part by the innovative and unique planning, such as a foundation design which eliminated the need for expensive pile foundations.

The award-winning project provides high quality pollution control at an economical price to the 12 participating municipalities composing the joint meeting. They are: East Orange, Elizabeth, Hillside, Irvington, Maplewood, Millburn, Newark, Roselle Park, South Orange, Summit, Union and West Orange.

(If you want to share in it, you'd better hurry!)

This is it.

The very last section ever to be built at Shadow Lake Village — the community for people 52 or over that's become a legend in its own time. Many of these magnificent last homes are already spoken for. But if you hurry, you can still share in the glorious quality of life our residents enjoy:

It's more than just great facilities like lighted tennis courts, private golf course, huge swimming pool, mile-long Shadow Lake for sailing, and an extravagant clubhouse. More than the security of a gatehouse and guard patrols. More than the ease of professional maintenance of exteriors and grounds. It's our friendly and carefree atmosphere that sets our community far apart from the crowd.

Again, these homes won't be available for long. Nor will these prices: Construction costs are skyrocketing and we don't know how long we can hold the line. So, if you want to share in the remarkable legend of Shadow Lake Village, we urge you to act now. See Shadow Lake Village today.

HERITAGE HILLS—A condominium home is in a country setting at the award-winning active adult community, Heritage Hills of Westchester, currently under construction.

Heritage Hills' sales reach a record pace

SOMERS, N.Y. — Sales activity continues at an unprecedented pace at Heritage Hills of Westchester, the award-winning $200,000,000 adult condominium under construction here by the Heritage Development Group.

"Sales jumped 54 percent in 1978 and, judging by the activity we have experienced through the first quarter of the current fiscal year, 1979 promises to be even better," said Henry J. Paparazzo, president of the land development firm. Total sales at Heritage Hills, the largest condominium community in the northeast, exceeded $30,000,000 by the close of 1978.

Approximately 100 closings have been forecast for the first six months of the current year. With closings since January averaging five to six per week, the actual number may far exceed original estimates for the year.

The condominium first opened for occupancy in 1975 with 115 homes available. To date, approximately 600 homes have been constructed on the 1000-acre site and another 140 are in various stages of completion.

Since last fall, prospective homeowners have been rapidly selecting homesites in four new residential sections presently under development at Heritage Hills. The latest, Condo 8, offering 56 homesites was more than 50 percent sold in a two-week period following its official opening last month.

Ground has yet to be broken on the site and construction will not begin until late spring or early summer.

To augment an ever-diminishing product inventory, the 20 units which have served as model homes since 1974 will be opened for selection and sale within the next few months. The decision to market units used as models so early in the development of a Heritage community is wholly unprecedented in the developer's experience.

Construction will be launched late this summer in Condo 10 and on the 18-hole golf course planned for the West Hill section of the community. The nine-hole East Hill course has been in play since 1974.

Recreational facilities also are being expanded this summer with the addition of a second swimming pool, cabanas and tennis court. The new satellite facility is only one of several planned for the condominium.

On completion in another seven to eight years, Heritage Hills will comprise 3,100 homes and an anticipated population of about 5,000. Current studies indicate the population to be approximately 800.

Further information is available from the sales offices at 914-276-2000, open daily—including weekends and holidays.

Blue Cross develops booklet for travelers

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey have developed a special pamphlet for their subscribers who travel, which explains terms of coverage and how to process claims incurred out of state and abroad.

In an effort to reach as many travelers as possible, Blue Cross and Blue Shield have distributed copies of "Guideposts to Your Health Care Benefits" to more than 850 travel agencies throughout the state, so travel professionals will be familiar with the benefits enjoyed by their clients who are enrolled in the plans.

Subscribers are advised to carry their Blue Cross and Blue Shield identification cards with them wherever they go and to make sure all the information on the cards is correct.

If a subscriber needs the services of a hospital or doctor while traveling, he or she should make sure that the information on the card is recorded correctly by the hospital or doctor at the point of service.

When a Blue Cross subscriber is hospitalized in one of the nation's 7,000 member hospitals, Blue Cross pays the facility directly for all eligible services.

A nationwide Inter-Plan Benefits Bank links all 70 Blue Cross plans. The host plan pays the hospital and, in return, bills the home plan for the services.

When a subscriber is treated in a non-Blue Cross member hospital, the facility bills the patient directly. The patient should send the bill, with the hospital's description of the services, to Blue Cross, which reimburses members up to a maximum of $30 for each eligible day of hospitalization.

If outpatient services are received from a hospital not under contract with Blue Cross of New Jersey, that hospital also bills the patient directly.

Subscribers who receive medical attention from a physician out of state can simply show the doctor their New Jersey ID card. A local Blue Shield plan claim form may be sent to New Jersey Blue Shield headquarters in Newark and a check for services goes directly to the physician. If the patient has already paid the bill, he or she is reimbursed.

Subscribers who are planning a trip can obtain copies of "Guideposts to Your Health Care Benefits" by writing to: Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey, 33 Washington St., Newark 07102.

Low tar MERIT proven major alternative to high tar smoking—see results below.

Can low tar MERIT packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco measure up to the taste of high tar cigarettes?

Read the results from a nationwide research effort involving smokers who actually tested MERIT against leading high tar brands.

Results Confirm Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

And in detailed interviews conducted among current MERIT smokers?

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an “easy switch” from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is what it claims to be. The first real taste alternative for high tar smokers.

ALCOHOL AND CANCER
Federal authorities in the fields of alcoholism and cancer have joined forces to examine the relationship between two of the leading causes of death and disability in America.

The National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism and the National Cancer Institute (NCI) recently staged an Alcohol and Cancer Workshop which drew more than 100 experts from 10 countries.

ference focused on two areas of concern: alcohol as a carcinogen or cancer-causing agent, and alcohol use and abuse among cancer patients.

The general opinion of the health professionals was that alcohol is probably a carcinogen, whether acting on its own or working in combination with other carcinogens, such as nicotine. One scientist reported that the majority of patients suffering from cancer of the head, neck, and esophagus were regular drinkers and/or tobacco smokers.

Several workshop papers reported that heavy drinking could directly affect cancer development by irritating body tissue, by promoting the spread of viruses, and by weakening immunological systems.

When a chronic drinker is diagnosed as a cancer patient, the physician must treat the drinking problem along with the disease. Several conference participants stated that doctors must learn to recognize an alcohol problem and that they should confer with psychiatrists, clergy, and supportive organizations such as Alcoholics Anonymous to provide a total treatment program.

Such programs should include counseling for families of the cancer patient. As one doctor pointed out, a patient's family can complicate the therapeutic picture by defending the patient's drinking habit or by drinking heavily to cope with their own grief.

Dr. Diane Fink, director of the NCI Division of Cancer Control and Rehabilitation, remarked at the beginning of the conference that lifestyle, including "what we eat, what we drink, and what we smoke," may be the "single most important factor in cancer causation."

Fink was confident that the collaboration between the two fields would continue long after the workshop "to identify gaps in knowledge that require further research."

DEP offers booklet on recreation areas

The New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) has announced publication of a brochure listing more than 14,000 acres of privately-owned land available to the public for recreation and open space under the Green Acres tax exemption program.

Some of the conservation areas in the program include portions of the following sites: Great Piece and Troy Meadows (Morris County); the Pinelands (Burlington and Ocean counties); intercoastal wetlands (Cape May and Cumberland counties); the Greater Passaic River Flood Plain, and other lake and river shore areas. These areas are owned and maintained by such groups as the N.J. Conservation Foundation, Philadelphia Conservationists, N.J. Audubon Society, Wildlife Preserves, Inc., the Natural Lands Trust, the Wetlands Institute and watershed associations.

The tax exemption program, created by law in 1974, provides an exemption from local property taxes to certain non-profit organizations or corporations who own recreation or conservation land and are willing to open their private land to the public. Since its inception, the program has opened more than 14,000 acres for a wide variety of environmental uses.

In many cases, these areas are adjacent to state-owned recreation and conservation areas and complement the state's effort to preserve public open space. Activities range from fully developed camp or nature education facilities to open space areas available for hiking and nature observation.

Private recreation and nature education facilities such as those owned by Boy and Girl Scout Councils, the Audubon Society, religious and community recreation groups are also a part of the program.

Copies of the brochure may be obtained by writing: Administrator, Green Acres Program, N.J. Department of Environmental Protection, P.O. Box 1390, Trenton, N.J. 08625.
