Borough accepts bid for gas at any price

By HELEN REYNOLDS
Mountainside's gasoline supplier is making no promises about the price, but has agreed to try to provide 55,000 gallons of unleaded fuel during the next 12 month for police cars and other borough vehicles.

The Mountainside Borough Council passed a resolution Tuesday to accept the open-price bid—whatever the dealer's current tank-wagon cost might be, plus a delivery charge of a quarter-penny per gallon—from Deah Oil Corp. of Fanwood, which already has been supplying gasoline for municipal cars. Borough Attorney John Post noted that the day of guaranteed-price gasoline bids is gone. But Lee Voorhees, municipal administrator, said he is pleased that Deah officials still believe they can deliver all the gasoline the borough will need in the next 12 months.

At this point, borough councilmen said, they have little to offer except sympathy for private motorists, including themselves, who have a harder time obtaining gasoline.

Councilman Abe Suckno, the police commissioner, said gasoline lines are "creating traffic hazards on Rt. 22 and in the center of town," and he advised Police Chief Edward Mullen to "take all necessary steps to eliminate safety hazards."

Mullen said he will wait to see whether the state's odd-even rationing plan reduces the length of lines and, if not, possibly ask the Borough Council for additional legal powers. Neighboring communities, Mullen pointed out, already have ordinances prohibiting stopping or standing on a roadway—although even these seem unenforceable against motorists waiting for gasoline. Councilman Tom Spina noted.

Stuart Lutz, the Democratic candidate for mayor, told the all-Republican council that he would be happy to talk with Amoco officials about the traffic hazard created by gasoline lines on Rt. 22. Incumbent Republican Mayor Tom Ricciardi said borough officials already have been talking with Amoco executives and have received nothing but sympathy. "The problem is: How do you motivate private business to hire more employees?" asked Ricciardi, agreeing with Suckno's suggestion that the Amoco station on Rt. 22, when providing any gasoline at all, should have more of its pumps open and manned. This would move customers off the highway faster, Suckno said.

In other matters at the Tuesday night meeting:

—Mayor Ricciardi announced he will appoint a committee to study the possibility of a multiple-housing project for adults, as sought by senior citizens informally led by Mabel Young. Before making appointments, Ricciardi said. (Continued on page 4)

An educator for 40 years, he has been a principal at Mountainside a quarter century—the past 20 at Beachwood School and the previous five at Deerfield School. His wife, school nurse at Deerfield, also is retiring. (Jan Queen Photo)

Clancy urges schools: keep tabs on services

County Superintendent of Schools James Clancy has renewed his recommendations for the Mountainside kindergarten-through-eighth grade system to keep close tabs on the adequacy of library, nursing and child-evaluation services.

In an unprecedented move last spring, Clancy withheld approval of 11th-hour cuts made by the Mountainside Board of Education before the 1979-80 budget was submitted to local voters. As the N.J. education commissioner's county representative, Clancy has power to review local school budgets for compliance with state "cap" and "through and efficient (T&E)" education laws. But the education commissioner's office has generally used this power to order cuts, not increases, in local school budgets.

Clancy eventually ordered Mountainside to budget an additional $17,000 for special services, and his latest recommendations focus heavily on special services.

The recommendations to the school district include:

On special services—"Insure that the individual charged with the responsibility of supervising the child study team is appropriately certified. (The child-study team evaluates children potentially in need of special help. If a child is classified as needing such help, an individual education plan, or IEP, is prepared for the youngster.) Complete IEPs for all classified pupils by June 30. Assure that teachers, nurses, administrators or other appropriate personnel be made available at child-study team staffings...Complete all reevaluations (of classified pupils) by September, 1979...Review child-study team services...to insure that all handicapped children's needs are being met with the present staff...Consider expanding...speech correctionist's planned employment from a three-day to a five-day week due to apparent load...Provide for all staff members to be made aware of federal and state mandates regarding all handicapped (Continued on page 4)

Recreation program begins on Saturday

Several summer recreation programs are scheduled to begin in the next few days in Mountainside Saturday, a free paddleball clinic will be held at Deerfield School; Monday, the playground and first session of tennis lessons will commence at Echobrook; Tuesday, the youth tennis team meets for the first practice session.

Registration for paddleball and tennis programs are being accepted at the Recreation Office. Playground registration will begin Monday at the playground.

Recreation Director Sue Winans noted that a veteran staff will return for all programs. Bill Krihak and Kathy King will be joined by Kim Yogy at the playground. Krihak and King, who teach school, have been leading playgrounders for five summers. Yogy, a Mountainside resident who is studying art, will be the arts and crafts supervisor.

Tennis instruction will be handled by Nancy Harter and Laurie Weeks; both taught tennis in Mountainside in previous years. Harter, a physical education major, was graduated from Ursinus College in May; Weeks is a student at Bucknell College. Harter will also coach the youth tennis team.

Information may be obtained by calling the Recreation Office, 232-0015.

Pension woes put whoa to job

Roy Mumford, elected borough tax collector last November, is resigning because it could cost him thousands of dollars to accept the token salary of $500 per year.

Borough Attorney John Post blames Mumford's resignation on what the lawyer called "a ridiculous, preposterous position" taken by William Joseph, who heads the state Division of Pensions.

Mumford has paid more than $15,000 into the state pension fund as an employee of the public school system in Clark, where he is director of grounds. Retiring as a school employee this month, he wants to start collecting his pension money. But Joseph says Mumford cannot collect while still paying into the pension fund, according (Continued on page 4)

Big oil pumping up crisis, says Jacobson

By ADA BRUNNER
The overthrow of the Shah in Iran was a "minor dislocation" which the oil industry seized upon to create a "major crisis," New Jersey Energy Commissioner Joel Jacobson charged in a talk in Union Monday.

Jacobson was the speaker at a Union Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Town and Campus—just one block away from one of the few gas stations in the vicinity still pumping gas, where a line of waiting cars was jamming up traffic on heavily-traveled Morris avenue.

"I believe there's a shortage, but I believe the fingerprints of the oil industry are all over that shortage," Jacobson said.

In 1977, he recalled, worldwide production of crude was outrunning demand.

That should have resulted in a lowering of prices, he said. But, he told the more than 70 persons at the luncheon, "somebody in the oil industry has repealed the law of supply and demand."

What the oil industry did was to reduce inventories, Jacobson said, so that by the end of 1978, stocks were "far" below normal.

He called this a miscalculation for three reasons: The fall of 1978 was unusually warm, encouraging travel, so that the demand for gasoline was high; the winter was unusually cold, raising the demand for heating oil; the Shah was overthrown in Iran.

But, he said, this country imported only five percent of its oil from Iran. Thus, the Iranian situation was a minor development which the oil industry (Continued on page 4)

Burglary suspect case referred to grand jury

Burglary suspect Joseph Coppola of Orange has been bound over to a county grand jury for possible indictment as the suspect in a March 8 burglary of a home on Orchard terrace.

Judge Robert Ruggiero referred the case to the county prosecutor last week after a preliminary hearing in Mountainside Municipal Court.

Coppola is one of three burglary suspects arrested by Mountainside police in recent weeks, but officers say the rash of break-ins is continuing unabated. Latest target, police said, was a Chapel Hill home struck between 9 a.m. and noon last Wednesday.

In another criminal matter last week, Judge Ruggiero ordered Cesare Bruno of Scotch Plains bound over to county authorities on suspicion of possessing more than 25 grams of marijuana with intent to distribute it.

In traffic cases: A Plainfield man, fined $1,000 and ordered to jail for 90 days for his fourth drunken driving offense, received a suspension of this sentence while he undergoes treatment for alcoholism.

The man, Robert Borom, is making progress as a physician's patient and as a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, according to a report to Mountainside Municipal Court from the county probation office.

Borom, however, got no suspension on a fine of $215, including court costs, for driving while his license was suspended. And his license revocation was extended to five years for the latest offense of mixing alcohol and traffic. Judge Ruggiero also

First of all, look at the top right-hand corner of your bill. You'll find a box that tells you when your meter is scheduled to be read next. If you can't be home that day, you can leave a key at your local commercial office or make arrangements with your neighbors to let the meter reader in.

It's also possible to read the meter yourself. Your commercial office will supply you with a meter reading card. Just fill it out a few days ahead of your scheduled reading date and send it in. But we still must read your meter at least twice a year.

You help make my job easier by keeping your meter free and clear. If I can't get to it, I can't read it. And, please, keep your dog restrained when I visit.

One final important reminder: you can always identify meter readers by the badge and uniform we wear. I do my best to read your meter on time and accurately. If you have any questions about how we can help you, just call your commercial office.

Mumford

(Continued from page 1) Post, and a fraction of the $500 would go into the fund. Post said he believes Joseph's position could be successfully challenged, and Borough Councilman Tom Spina suggested that the tax collector's $500 salary might be repealed if that would help Mumford.

Mumford, apologizing to the voters who elected him, has formally submitted his resignation as tax collector and Tuesday urged the Borough Council to accept it, which was done. Mumford said he is still eager to perform public service for Mountainside—but without any contributions to the state pension fund.

Energy

(Continued from page 1) used to create a crisis and raise prices, he charged. The only statistics available to the U.S. Department of Energy are those that come from the oil industry itself, he pointed out—a situation he called scandalous.

Even these figures, however, show that the number of rigs drilling in the world was down 11 percent from Feb. 1 to May 18, he said; production of crude was down three percent, and utilization of refineries was at only 83 percent of capacity.

Jacobson lashed not only the oil industry but also the Carter administration's plan to decontrol oil prices. Decontrol simply legitimizes "blackmail," the energy commissioner said. He charged that the price of crude is being pushed up not by production costs but by politics.

During a question and answer period, Jacobson described as sound a suggestion that the government create a fact-finding panel with authority to subpoena records to investigate whether the shortage is genuine.

To a question about the odd-even system inaugurated by the Garden State Parkway this week, he said his department has been reluctant to take similar action so far. Until now, he said, "we had a problem but not a crisis."

Only hours after his talk, however, the state did an about-face and announced that the odd-even system would go into effect throughout New Jersey today.

who attend the program to get help going 'straight' before they go wrong," Maguire said. "I challenge those who content it is not possible to 'scare' anybody straight and who testified that the concept of scaring anybody into doing anything or not doing anything simply will not work."

In his testimony, the Assemblyman noted that alcohol, drug abuse, bicycle and auto safety, personal health and hygiene and many other programs have "scared" as their theme. "The entire program of the National Safety Council is based upon scare," he said. "When we approach major holidays, we are told how many will die as a challenge to us not to become a statistic."

"Parallels are everywhere," Maguire continued. "The concept of the Lifers' Group is the same sort of 'scaring straight' that has gone on in our schools and churches and homes for years and often with the funding support of the government."

Council meets

The council passed resolutions giving the borough attorney standby legal powers to proceed with condemnation, if necessary, to obtain easements for the Nomahegan flood-control channel and for the Mary Allen lane sanitary-sewer project.

"Talk about condemning somebody's property sounds really harsh," commented Council President Bruce Geiger, but he emphasized that the standby powers will never be used if friendly negotiations succeed. Geiger predicted that negotiations will succeed with the vast majority of property owners. He said condemnation will be used only if needed to keep planning "moving ahead" on schedule, before inflation escalates costs drastically.

The council called for bids to be submitted by 2 p.m. July 10 on the Mary Allen project, serving 13 homes, and by 2 p.m. July 17 on the High Point sewer project for two homes. Councilmen said affected homeowners would be assessed, so general tax revenues would not be used.

—Gave final approval to an ordinance amending zoning law. On property zoned for homes on smaller lots (R-2 and R-3), the amendment allows the same ancillary land uses already permitted on the larger lots in the R-1 zone. Attorney Post said it had been illogical to prohibit ancillary uses in the R-2 and R-3 zones, such as a doctor's or clergyman's office, if permitted in the more restrictive R-1 zone.

—Introduced ordinances authorizing the Mary Allen project, increasing the Shade Tree Commission from three to five members, formalizing the franchise agreement with Suburban Cablevision and raising some borough employees' salaries. Borough employees earning less than $10,000 a year would get 7 percent increases. Final action on the ordinances awaits the next council meeting.

On library services—"Ensure that both schools in the district will continue to provide access to adequate library services for all pupils." (Library services had been an issue in the April election after the board cut librarian jobs from 2.7 to 1.5. The two new board members were part of the majority which voted 4-3 last week to restore half of a cut job.)

On other matters—"Continue your efforts to determine applicable standards for assessing and evaluating the achievement of long and short-range objectives...Continue to review pertinent information on existing facilities and provide opportunities for community input regarding the possible closing of Beechwood School...Develop a systematic internal monitoring procedure for affirmative action. Avoid exceeding the two-hour maximum for resource room attendance...Adopt (a) safety-education program policy...Review scheduling of nurses and consider a plan that would provide nurse coverage throughout the school day..."

Clancy commended the school district for developing an enrichment program for exceptionally gifted and talented students, updating its policy manual, trying to involve the staff and community in the T&E process and making comprehensive efforts to compile information on the district's needs.

Individual commendations for the schools focused on the one-year typing program for all sixth graders and the stage production of "Tom Sawyer" at Deerfield School. Praised at Beechwood School were the adaptive physical-education program designed to meet individual needs of students, and the continuous pupil access to sufficient programs and services in the library-media center through the 1978-79 school year.

Clancy recommended reviewing schedules at Beechwood "to ensure a specific time allotment for the classroom teachers' portion of the physical-education, health and safety instruction." He recommended that Deerfield "review the program offerings and scheduling in home economics and industrial arts and...encourage participation in nontraditional programs. He also recommended some maintenance and repair work at Deerfield.

BY DAVID F. MOORE

The State We're In

N. J. Conservation Foundation

Question: What happens when a group of high school students works for a year to get an environmentally and economically useful bill through the legislature?

Answer: As students, they get a valuable lesson about the effects of special-interest lobbying on democracy. As human beings concerned about the future of our world, they get disappointed and maybe cynical.

The students are members of the Metuchen High School Ecology Club. They think it would be a great idea for New Jersey to have a law requiring at least a nickel deposit on any beer or soft drink container, to discourage littering and save energy while generating employment in the area of recycling. They took their model bill to Assemblyman John H. Froude and James W. Bornheimer of their Middlesex County district. Froude sponsored it, with cosponsoring by Bornheimer and David C. Schwartz of Middlesex County. The bill became identified as A-1147. It is what is called a bottle bill.

With that, the supposedly opposed but actually cozy related forces of big business and big labor moved in and began lobbying. The bill underwent a public hearing by the assembly Committee on Agriculture and the Environment.

Aware of the frowns of labor, boilers, container manufacturer and others who fear for the status quo, the committee chairman, Assemblyman Donald Stewart, predicted that the bill would probably never be released for a vote and will remain (pardon the expression) bottled up in committee.

Perhaps the biggest frown belonged to Gov. Brendan T. Byrne. Sensitive to the emotions of important segments of the electorate, he said he opposed the bill because its effects would be mandatory, and anyway littering should be dealt with at the federal level.

The governor on the same day called in the media to proclaim a brand new statewide campaign against littering. At the hearing, I entered a statement on behalf of the New Jersey Conservation Foundation, stressing our support for the bill and pointing up some important but seldom mentioned litter aspects. We noted that similar legislation has been adopted in other states, with generally beneficial results.

We said that litter along the edges of fields is a threat to farmers. One bottle picked up by harvesting machinery can contaminate a whole truckload of grain with broken glass. Litter is just one more thing making farming difficult in New Jersey.

Also, the presence of litter everywhere is psychologically destructive to the concept of donating land, or easements on land, for conservation purposes.

One of the most disillusioning experiences the students had was to see the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) testify against their bill at the hearing. Earlier, a DEP representative had assured them of the environmental agency's support. But when the time came, a representative of DEP's Solid Waste Administration testified that the students' bill represented a piecemeal and costly approach to the litter problem.

Toward the end of the hearing, according to one newspaper account, most of the industrialists present hustled out of the room so as to attend the governor's announcement about his anti-litter campaign.

I hope the students came out of this experience with their resolve undiminished. It's the kind of thing I got used to a long time ago.

Five T&E hearings listed by state board

The State Board of Education will hold a series of five public hearings on the "thorough and efficient" law from July 10 to July 26 to provide a forum for public comment to be used by the board in its determination of the effectiveness of "T&E."

The "Thorough and efficient" law, formally known as the Public School Education Act of 1975, was implemented by the legislature as a result of the Robinson vs. Cahill court decision.

The act was aimed at reforming the educational finance system supporting public schools in the state and improving educational programs in the schools.

According to law, four years after the implementation of "T&E," the board is required to assess the effectiveness of the act and report its findings to the governor and the legislature.

Hearings are scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., July 10, in the Senate Chambers, Trenton; from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m., July 17, Secaucus; from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m., July 19, County College of Morris, Dover; from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m., July 24, Ocean County College in Toms River, and from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m., July 25, at Glassboro State College.

The hearings are only one method the state board is using to review the Public School Education Act of 1975. Other data is being solicited through written responses from representatives of state educational, civic and governmental organizations.

Comments are being solicited from legislators and the founders of the original "T&E" law. External research data from universities, private businesses, state agencies and the Department of Education is also being studied.

Speakers at the hearings should limit their remarks to 10 minutes. Board members may ask speakers to answer questions about their comments.

Participants should focus their remarks on: (a) the effectiveness of the "T&E" law; (b) the fiscal responsibilities and budget practices of public schools at state and local levels; (c) the accountability of public schools representatives and staff to their constituents and the community; (d) district staffing patterns and (e) the methods of sharing administrative, instructional and pupil services between districts.

Persons wishing to speak at these hearings should contact: Thomas R. Sundstrom, Bureau of Research and Evaluation, Division of Operations, Research and Evaluation, New Jersey State Department of Education, 225 West State, Trenton, 08625, or phone (609) 984-6777.

THOUGHT FOR FOOD By GOLD CROOK
Buttermilk Biscuits
Once you acquire the knack, biscuits are the easiest of all hot breads to make. That is, once you acquire the knack. To acquire the knack you must make them until you learn the "feel" of the dough — then make them often to "keep your hand" in. This recipe is a Southern favorite, crisp Buttermilk Biscuits.
2 cups flour, sifted
1/4 teaspoon soda
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons lard or vegetable shortening
3/4 cup (approximately) buttermilk
Sift dry ingredients in a roomy bowl. Cut in the fat with a pastry blender until it is fine like meal. Add buttermilk and mix with your hand, lightly but well. Mix until the dough is not sticky. Wrap in wax paper or foil and refrigerate until cool or ready to roll out.
Roll on flour, having dough about 1/2 inch thick, always from the center out for crisp biscuits. Cut and place on cookie sheet. Bake in preheated oven at 425 degrees for approximately 10 minutes. Makes about 25 biscuits.
A pastry cloth helps prevent too much flour going into the biscuits, which toughens them.

What most used car dealers won't tell you, we will!

The same people who run Pace Buick also run PACEPROVEN™ Used Cars. What's more, they run it with the same philosophy: give you a good Car, good service and a good deal—and you'll do business with us again.

So for every PACEPROVEN™ Used Car, we:

- ✓ analyze 71 different items on every car we consider. Then we make all needed repairs. If a car can't pass all 71 items, we take a pass on that car. Each car gets that work, and you can see the report before you buy any car from us.
- ✓ guarantee the power train on your car for one year free—no matter how many miles you drive.
- ✓ give you a second guarantee with a 3-month/3,000 mile guarantee, whichever comes first, on the entire car (except for paint and soft trim.)
- ✓ provide you with the Pace Used Car Service Value Checkbook—with hundreds of dollars of service coupons for up to 7 years!

When you buy a car from us, it's a good deal because we've put a good deal into it before you got it.

UC offers collegians development classes

Developmental courses in reading, mathematics and study techniques for students who need additional preparation in these areas before beginning collegiate studies will be offered in Union College's Summer Session 11, Monday, July 9, through Thursday, Aug. 16. Classes are scheduled during morning and evening hours, most Monday through Thursdays.

Developmental Reading, designed to develop more efficient reading skills, includes instruction and practice in study management and reading with purpose, flexibility of rate and improved comprehension. It also stresses critical reading and vocabulary development.

Introduction to Mathematical Concepts, a comprehensive study of arithmetic and allied processes, is designed to prepare students for algebra. Selected Topics in College Mathematics covers logic and the number system in mathematics for students whose major interest is in liberal arts or education courses. Individual study is available in topics such as geometry, number theory, circular functions and the modern metric system.

Prospective students wishing to improve study techniques can take advantage of three courses: Studying Efficiently, Listening and Lecture Note-taking and Remembering and Test-taking.

Union College is offering nearly 100 courses in the six-week summer session. Students can schedule summer work or leisure activities around the convenient day and evening hours in order to prepare for college studies they plan to begin in the fall, get a head start on fall programs or take courses whose credits are transferable to colleges and universities they are already attending.

Admission to Summer Session 11 is open to college students, adults and high school juniors and seniors.

Detailed information may be obtained by calling, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays and 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays, 272-8580 or 272-8581.

ULTRA-LUXURY is the descriptive term appropriate for the Bromlee 4-bedroom, 2 1/2 bath model home at the brand-new community of Colonial Acres on Pond road off Rt. 9, Freehold. The vast scope of the home is demonstrated by its oversized entry foyer with two guest closets, a family room plus den, a country kitchen along with an oversized breakfast room and 2 walk-in closets in the master bedroom suite. Prices at Colonial Acres start at $87,990.

New Colonial Acres near buses, shopping

New Jerseyans could easily become one-car families again as a result of the location of new home communities such as Colonial Acres, the single-family home development just opened off Rt. 9 at Pond Road, Freehold.

"People, who would elsewhere need one car to drive to get to work in northern New Jersey or New York City, can just walk from Colonial Acres to the express bus stop," explained Henry Opalul, spokesman of American Planned Communities, the creator of the Colonial Acres homes which are priced from $87,990. "The trip takes less than an hour."

"And adults in charge of household affairs can also travel without a car. Shopping, schools and services are just a few minutes away, by foot." On the nearside of the highway is the shopping plaza which includes an A&P, movie theater and various small shops. Across Rt. 9 is a mall which includes a ShopRite and a large department store. In the vicinity are lovely parks, lakes and playgrounds. But, except for the most hardy hikers, the trip to the pleasures of the Jersey shores, requires a nonwalking means of transportation. Yet, trips to northern Jersey and New York City begin with a near instant stroll to the express bus stops on the same near side of Rt. 9.

From northern Jersey, the way to get to Colonial Acres is Rt. 9 from Exit 123 of the Parkway or 11 of the turnpike. Head south toward Freehold to the Pond Road Exit (Two Guys), then crossover to the model area.

The Colonial Acres models include Colonial, ranch and split-level styled homes, each custom-crafted and each with a long list of standard features at no extra cost. These include basements, two-car garages, brick facades and refrigerators, as well as natural gas fuel for the heating systems, ranges, hot water heaters and clothes dryers. Maintenance-free siding is provided so that family time will be free for enjoyment of the area. Colonial Acres homes are set on generously-large lots on rolling green fields. All utilities are underground.

At Colonial Acres, American Planned Communities demonstrate how it has earned its outstanding reputation for excellence and craftsmanship at fine residential neighborhoods throughout central and southern New Jersey.

New models introduced at Eagle Rock

The Eagle Rock Homes subdivision off Rt. 88 and New Hampshire avenue in Lakewood, recently introduced the community's final 34-house segment. Ranch, bi-level and Cape Cod models offer from three to five bedrooms with 2 and 2 1/2 baths. Priced from $55,990, the new models contain many features and amenities, including custom exteriors and a good location. Termed a "gem of geography", Eagle Rock Homes is being developed by Hank Hovnanian of Hovbilt, Inc. on property that borders Woodlake Country Club on one side and the 323-acre Ocean County Park on the other. The site is just minutes from Exit 91 of the Garden State Parkway for easy commuting to North Jersey and New York City. The homes are being placed on heavily wooded lots 75 by 100 feet and larger in an area which has city sewers and water and underground utilities. The new ranch, at $55,990, has three bedrooms and two baths, while the Cape Cod has four bedrooms and two baths. The bi-level is an expandable nine-room house with 2 1/2 baths and can have from three to five bedrooms. There are six rooms on the upper level and three additional rooms on a lower area. As part of the introductory price, Hovnanian is including a dishwasher with each home sold through mid-June. Sales are under the direction of Charles Mann and are being offered for occupancy by the end of the year. The homes, designed for all ages and life styles, include such features as above-average insulation, maintenance-free oil-fired heat, hot-water baseboard heat, wall-to-wall carpeting, aluminum windows, color-coordinated kitchens and baths, spacious bedrooms, generous closet space and a smoke detector. An initial section of 40 homes has been sold out, and about 25 families are living in the community which has gained reputation for its construction techniques and the developer's sensitivity to the environment. He also is customizing the exteriors. To further add to the desirability of Eagle Rock, there is express bus service every 30 minutes to New York during peak commuter hours, an excellent school system with bus service from the subdivision and major shopping centers such as Seaview Mall, Lakewood Shopping Plaza, Ocean County Mall, Manalapan Mall and Eatontown Mall within 15 minutes to a half hour away.

Pick Of The LPs: RICHARD EVANS (HORIZON RECORDS SP-735)

In his long career in black music, Richard Evans has touched every base except one, a solo album showcasing the incredible writing-arranging-producing talent he has demonstrated again and again on other artist's records. Richard's debut album on the HORIZON label, doesn't just tag that final base, it jumps on it with both feet.

RICHARD EVANS

A native of Birmingham, Alabama, Richard grew up in Chicago. At DuSable High School, which boasted of Nat "King" Cole as an alumnus, he got his first taste of band music. Still, that remained only a hobby as he pursued a career in commercial art. After a stint as an illustrator in the infantry during the Korean War, he returned to Chicago. Art was offering him less and less satisfaction and he began to turn to music. He landed a spot as bassist with Lionel Hampton and gigs in Las Vegas, Latin America, Europe and Australia followed.

Next came writing-assigning assignments with Maynard Ferguson and Dinah Washington. Firmly held captive by the music world, he returned to school, graduating in 1960 from Wilson Junior College as a music major. His real education was already well-begun: "With Hamp I learned how to build a show," said Evans, "how to send a crowd into a frenzy and be a showman. With Maynard I learned about precision writing and with Dinah I learned about feeling."

Then it was back to the road with Paul Winter and a series of tours highlighted by a performance at the Kennedy White House in 1962. Next he joined Ahmad Jamal's trio, with whom he arranged and composed the classic Brazilian-influenced "Macanudo." Work arranging for a platoon of jazz greats and with Chess followed. Despite the "Hair," the film, which will play its final week at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair, is based on the smash Broadway musical, starring Diane Keaton.

The Milos Forman film production, was photographed on various locations in New York and California.

Among the New York sites were the East Village on St. Marks pl., where the hippie-movement in New York City had its beginnings; Central Park lake, Central Brooklyn, Long Island and Manhattan.

The cast includes John Savage, Treat Williams, Beverly D'Angelo, Annie Golden, Dorsey Wright, Don Dacus, Cheryl Barnes and Melba Moore and Ronnie Dyson.

EXPECTING SOCIAL SECURITY?
Is retirement just around the corner for you? There have been many changes recently in the nation's Social Security laws. You should check with a social security office to determine how much money you'll be receiving.

Before you can get a Social Security retirement check you need to have credit for a certain amount of work under social security. No one ever needs more than 10 years of work. Some people, depending on when you reach age 62, need less than that.

If you stop working under Social Security before you have the required amount of credit, you can't get retirement benefits. But the credit you've earned will stay on your record and you can add to it if you return to work in a job covered by social security. You can request a statement of earnings at any time by filling out the form available at any social security office.

A retired worker and spouse can get full monthly checks at 65. Reduced payments can start as early as 62. Checks are also payable to a worker's dependent children.

'Little Romance' glorifies puppy love

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD—"Hello, young lovers, wherever you are" (to borrow from the song).

If you are a youngster in love for the very first time or can remember when you were in that condition, you'll be moved to laughter and tears by "A Little Romance," Orion Picture Co.'s first film, which is not only a charming treatment of puppy passion but a worthwhile travelogue.

an engineer who'd planned to follow in his father's footsteps, isn't sure what he'd like to do with his future.

At a brunch following the movie's premiere in Los Angeles, he confessed that he wouldn't mind acting some more.

But so far he hasn't been offered a second picture. He must finish another year in the French equivalent of high school before he'll have to decide whether to enroll in a university for engineering studies.

Its romance is between two 13-year-olds, the stepdaughter of an affluent American executive based in Paris and the son of a French taxi driver.

Drawn together by their remarkably high IQs, which tend to alienate them from their peers, they are encouraged in their little romance by an aging boulevardier played by one of the most romantic actors ever to make hearts race, Sir Laurence Olivier.

In Paris, Verona and Venice, the children act out their story against a background of the treasures of Europe.

The boy is portrayed by Thelonious Bernard, who'd never acted a day in his life except in a school play before he was spotted playing sandlot soccer and cast in the Orion film.

His English was shaky but his aplomb complete, so director George Roy Hill shipped him to the Hill home in California for a month of language study under the tutelage of the director's daughter.

Now Thelonious, son of Hill won't predict how far Thelonious will go as an actor. However, he says he has qualities which should guarantee his success in practically any field.

The girl in love in the movie is Diane Lane, daughter of a well-known drama coach, who began acting when she was 6. Nevertheless, "A Little Romance" was her first film.

Ricky Schroder saves film from mediocrity

By BEASMITH
From time immemorial performers have had a dread of children and animals, who innocently upstage, overcome and gradually take over scenes and sometimes whole vehicles.

In the case of "The Champ," which arrives tomorrow at the Maplewood Theater, and which plays its last times today at the Five Points Cinema, Union, and is held over at the Linden Twin I, the performers are Jon Voight and Faye Dunaway; the child, Ricky Schroder.

Ricky Schroder is an eight-year-old marvel from heaven—a blond, blue-eyed bundle of joy, whose talent comes through so naturally, one isn't even aware of the boy's acting abilities.

He also saves the movie. And it's worth the price of admission just to sit in an air-conditioned movie house for two hours basking in the glow of his beauty and personality, to laugh and cry with him—and cry, you will. (Be sure to come prepared with at least two boxes of tissues)

"The Champ," is a remake of the 1931 movie starring Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper, and it is about an over-the-hill champion boxer and his affectionate young son. The two live happily in a haphazard atmosphere of race horse stables, where the father works as a horse-walker.

The boy's mother (played by Miss Dunaway), divorced from the boy's father (Voight), happens upon the youngster, really quite by accident. She is now married to an ultra-rich man (Arthur Hill), and when she sees the boy, she wants him. (Who wouldn't?)

The picture is dated, it has the soap opera quality of Stella Dallas—in reverse—and it's slow-moving, whenever young Schroder is not on screen.

Director Franco Zeffirelli has done his utmost to make the picture an attractive one...with lovely scenery, soft lights to enhance the child's beauty some good horse racing scenes and a bloody finale in the boxing ring...

Still—all a reviewer remembers is an eight-year old child—one who can make movie buffs forget they ever shed a tear over Jackie Cooper, Margaret O'Brien or Roddy MacDowall.

Triple fare for Rahway

The Old Rahway Theater, Rahway, will open tomorrow with a triple movie bill. The pictures will be "Oh, God!," starring George Burns; Mel Brooks' "Blazing Saddles," starring Gene Wilder and Madeline Kahn, and "House Calls," starring Walter Matthau and Glenda Farrell.

"Goldengirl" ends its run tonight at the Old Rahway Theater.

French movie due tomorrow

"Get Out Your Handkerchiefs," opens tomorrow at the Lost Picture Show, Union.

"Norma Rae" ends its run at the Show tonight.

"Handkerchiefs," a French movie, concerns a husband, who finds his morose wife a lover, to cheer her up.

The film stars Patrick Dewaere, Carol Laure and Gerard Depardieu. Bertrand Blier directed the picture, which was photographed in color.

Dramatic film opens

"The China Syndrome," starring Jane Fonda, Michael Douglas and Jack Lemmon, opened yesterday at the Elmora Theater, Elizabeth, on a double bill with "The Cheap Detective."

In "The China Syndrome," which Douglas produced, Miss Fonda plays a television news reporter, who witnesses a startling and controversial "incident" while covering a story on energy sources. Lemmon plays a veteran engineer, whose integrity makes him a focal figure in the crisis and a target for murder. Douglas is seen as a newsreel cameraman, determined to find out what his film footage, which the TV station won't air, really means.

Training for role

When Christopher Reeve signed as "Superman" for the film, which opens tomorrow at the Five Points Cinema, Union, he felt that physically he was hardly typecasting for the role.

"I sort of looked like Jimmy Stewart standing sideways," he said. "Most of my exercise up to that time had been mental." But playing the Man of Steel required special arduous training.

He began a training program during which time he "put on 30 pounds, all muscle. In fact, I found muscles I never knew I had."

He pointed out that "like most people my age, I was brought up on 'Superman.' I knew the classic stance—hands on hips, cape blowing in the breeze, bullets bouncing off his chest. That's the way six and a half billion people have loved Superman, and I wouldn't dream of changing it."

"Superman" also stars Marlon Brando, Gene Hackman, Margot Kidder, Ned Beatty, Jackie Cooper, Glenn Ford, Trevor Howard, Valerie Perrine, Maria Schell, Terence Stamp, Phyllis Thaxter and Susannah York.

ALLAN JONES—Veteran tenor stars in Sigmund Romberg's "The Student Prince" at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, now through July 1. Harry Danner and Judith McCauley also star.

SMALLER CARS
The Automotive Information Council says that the size of cars will be much smaller by 1985 due to the 27.5 average miles per gallon which must be met by then.
