Deerfield to be topic of meeting tonight

The Mountainside Board of Education urged the public to attend an ad hoc committee meeting tonight at 8 to discuss possible uses for the Deerfield School building. The request was made by the board president, Dr. Art Williams, at a board meeting Tuesday night. He asked that interested citizens come and listen to the committee's findings.

All Board of Education members, the Mountainside superintendent of schools, Lee Hanigan, business administrator and board secretary, John McDonough, board attorney, Raymond O'Brien, and director of public relations, Lynn Stoddard, have been asked to attend the meeting.

In other business, the board announced a cut in the cost of milk in Mountainside school. Because of a federal subsidy increase, the prices for a half pint of milk will be eight cents for a pupil and 16 cents for an adult.

A resolution supporting J. Chris Connor of Millington for the post of president of the New Jersey School Boards Association was passed. The board, in its statement, lauded Connors because "he states that there should be controls on spending but that they should not be so abnormally low as to work against school systems."

Three different quotations were received for the purchase of tempered glass for Deerfield School. The lowest price, $2,153.88 from Statewide Glass Co. in Plainfield was accepted.

A request by the Mountainside Veterans of Foreign Wars to install a walk and a memorial plaque by the new flagpole in front of Borough Hall was approved by a unanimous vote.

Joy Delmar's resignation from the Mountainside school system was accepted with regret, and Hanigan announced the transfer of Joan Krystow to fifth grade to replace Delmar. Patricia Kobasa was approved as a fourth grade teacher to take Krystow's place, and her salary was set at $12,770.

ROOF BEARS THE BRUNT—The most serious damage of the storm occurred when this Central avenue house was struck by a falling tree during the early morning storm that buffeted Mountainside. Three other trees fell in the borough, and the streets were filled with windblown debris. (Photos by Jan Queen)

STORM DAMAGES CAR—Hurricane David shook loose some branches and downed a few power lines, but most of the local damage was caused by toppling trees. In this case,

Jack Zeidman of Plainfield, a newspaper deliverer, was driving on Ledgewood avenue at about 5:30 a.m. when a tree fell, crushing the front of his car.

GOP hopefuls plan reception

A reception to launch the 1979 campaign of Mountainside Republican candidates will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Elks Club, Rt. 22, Mountainside.

The Republican candidates on the Nov. 6 ballot are incumbent Mayor Thomas Ricciardi, seeking an additional four-year term as mayor; incumbent Councilman Abe Suckno and Marilyn Hart, for three-year terms on the borough council; and Joan Nemick, for a three-year term as tax collector.

Campaign manager Robert Vigilanti termed the reception an opportunity for Mountainside residents to meet informally with the candidates, and he urged citizens to attend. "Voting is an important and precious freedom," Vigilanti added. "In small towns like Mountainside we have the chance to get to know the people who will represent us in government. I hope Mountainside residents will come to the party and meet Ricciardi and Suckno, who have already served Mountainside so well, and Hart and Nemick, experienced in civic and charitable work."

Regional board lists discipline guidelines

By CHARLES HORNER

Juvenile misbehaviors...late partying late sleepers...youthful chain-smokers...wisenheimers...cafeteria combatants and hallway hellions...all are being warned.

No less a power than the office of the superintendent of the Union County Regional High School has viewed these anti-social activities with disfavor, and has authorized the high schools to keep offenders indoors and working during the weekends.

The guidelines for the weekend in-school detention were announced at a regional school board meeting Sept. 4. The original program was authorized for the schools on Aug. 7.

According to the statement issued by the board, "if adverse behavior is encountered, discipline procedures are to be invoked." The recommended tonic for "minor behavioral difficulties" will be after-school detention, but those miscreants who "display severe behavioral manifestations," will get the opportunity of serving their imposed suspensions for a brief period in school on Saturday or Sunday, or a longer period out of school during the week.

The weekend school will be in session from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Students must bring their own books with an assignment for the day, or homework will be assigned to them. The teacher chosen to work that day will serve as instructor, monitor and counselor for the students.

All student assignments must be reviewed by the teacher before the student leaves the classroom, and transportation to and from the penalty periods must be arranged by the student or his parents. Serious crimes such as drinking, drug use, possession of weapons or firecrackers, physical assault and occupation of school property will be punished with out-of-school suspension only.

Nursing unit objectors delayed another month

Homeowners and residents near the Wilson tract were asked at a Board of Adjustment meeting Monday night to wait another month to air their comments and objections to the proposed Mountainside Center for Nursing and Convalescent Care.

The reason—the representative for the nursing home failed to notify the state Department of Transportation that three parcels of property owned by the department were next to the lot where the structure would be built.

The subject will be taken up again at the board's Oct. 8 meeting. The tract extends along Rt. 22 west, east from New Providence road.

"You just have to dot your i's and cross your t's," a member of the board told Benjamin F. Miller, spokesman for the developers.

Some of the 75 people who showed up for the meeting remained outside the meeting room and discussed their thoughts and feelings about the building that would be built within 200 feet of their homes. A young son of one of the residents walked through the crowd gathering names for a mailing list, and leaflets about the construction of the nursing home were distributed.

The leaflets, mimeographed sheets of paper bearing a footnote that they were "paid for by the Committee to Prevent the Commercialization of Mountainside," showed a hand-drawn map of the Wilson tract and bore the words, "Do You Want This to Happen to Mountainside?" The leaflets went on to urge attendance at the Board of Adjustment meeting, and asked, "Do you want outside interests coming into our community and establishing a Nursing Home (underlined), that is a commercial enterprise, with 180 beds and parking facilities for 90 cars?"

The leaflets charged that "The remaining six acres (of the tract) would then become a prime target for further exploitation. With 20 Nursing Homes in our immediate area, do we need another?"

Residents who stayed to talk about their concerns echoed the charges and questions in the leaflet.

"The remaining land will be rezoned for commercial use," one man said. "The trees will be cut down, and someone can back up to our property break in, and be gone."

"There's an underground stream in that area," a woman said. "What about the drainage problem?"

The main fear discussed by most of the residents was that rezoning of the property would produce a commercial area open to business operations.

"We're not against the nursing home," one resident explained. "We just don't want the property rezoned."

Several people alleged that real estate offices had contacted homeowners and advised them, "Sell now, before the values go down."

Key Club to hold recycling drive

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Key Club will hold its monthly Glass-In Saturday. All residents of the area were urged to bring glass sorted by color and to remove the metal rings around the mouth of the bottles. Newspapers should be tied in bundles.

The Glass-In will be held in the high school front parking lot from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Church holds 'Renew' idea; sign-up Sunday

Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Mountainside will hold the third session of the Newark Archdiocese "Renew Program," starting with a sign-up this Sunday.

The theme for the Fall '79 "Renew semester" is "Empowerment by the Spirit." The theme naturally follows the material of the previous spring semester at which several hundred people studied, dialogued and prayed for six weeks on what is necessary to "Respond to the Lords Call."

The topics of discussion for each of six weeks (Oct. 7 through Nov. 11) for the fall session are: The Role of the Holy Spirit, The Power of the Holy Spirit, Our Mission, Our Experience of Injustice, the Roadblocks to Mission, and Continuing Human Tension.

For further information on the program, parishioners of Our Lady of Lourdes can call the rectory at 232-1162.

Hours listed for 'story time'

Maryann Sheehan, Mountainside children's librarian, will begin fall "story time" next Thursday, Sept. 20. There will be a morning session from 10:30 to 11 and an afternoon session from 1:30 to 1 every Thursday through Dec. 13.

Story time, open to children 3½ to 5, is held in the Emma Weber Meeting Room at the Free Public Library of Mountainside. It features stories, songs, filmstrips and games. Parents should register their children at the library.

TASK FORCE AT WORK—Double-checking the figures from a house-to-house survey of Mountainside residents are members of a task force of citizen volunteers, the school facility advisory committee, which was appointed last June by the Mountainside Board of Education. Shown at work are Roberta Krumholz, her daughter Jody, committee chairman Arthur Attanasio and Jane Von Der Linn. The task force will hold a public meeting to allow residents to express their opinions about the future use of school buildings tonight at 8 in Deerfield School, Mountainside.

ALMALYN LARGEY, 13, of Mountainside displays silver cup, she was awarded for superior proficiency in tap dancing by the New Jersey Dance Theatre Guild. Almalyn's a student at the Yvette Dance Studio, Cranford.

Court handles 4 traffic cases

Two charges of driving under revoked licenses, a drunken driving summons and a reckless driving case were disposed of last Wednesday night by Judge Robert Ruggiero in Mountainside Municipal Court.

Efrain Vites of Harrison and Van L. Williams of Newark were charged with operating a motor vehicle while their driver's licenses were revoked and were fined $215 each.

Michael A. Harmon of Springfield was fined $215 for reckless driving. Lawrence P. Parkin of Summit was given a $215 fine and a 60-day suspension of driving privileges for driving while intoxicated.

Elks breakfast set for Sunday

The Mountainside Elks Lodge has invited the public to a family breakfast Sunday at the Elks headquarters on Rt. 22 East.

The breakfast, scheduled from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. will feature pancakes, eggs, french toast and a choice of sausage or bacon. Orange juice and coffee will be available.

Search leads to drug charge

The twitch of a Plainfield man's leg resulted in his arrest for drug possession, Mountainside police reported.

Mill Jackson, 28, was questioned by police officer Richard Osieja after the officer saw a car stop on Rt. 22 westbound near New Providence road, and Jackson and another passenger exchange seats, reports said.

With police officer James Debbie assisting, Osieja ordered the two men out of the car and began to search Jackson, when, police said, Jackson jerked his left leg away from the policeman. A further search revealed 12 white pills in his sock. The pills have been sent out for analysis.

Jackson was charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance and with not having a registration for the motor vehicle he was driving.

Y aquatics program to begin on Monday

Instructional and recreational aquatics programs for youth and adults will begin Monday at the Westfield YWCA. Registration is open.

All groups are conducted by Red Cross certified instructors, under the supervision of Janet Todd, YWCA aquatics program director. Todd invited any prospective swimmers to contact her at the YWCA, 220 Clark St., 233-2833, for information.

YWCA lists swim course

Advanced Life Saving will be offered at the Westfield Young Women's Christian Association Thursdays from 3:30 to 6 p.m. starting Sept. 20.

Young men and women must be at least 15 years old by the starting date, and must demonstrate strong swimming ability.

The course will run for 10 weeks, and successful completion carries Red Cross certification, a requirement for life guarding positions and eligibility for enrollment in water safety instructor courses.

Information may be had at the YWCA, 220 Clark st., 233-2833.

Police check theft of films

The Mountainside Police Department is investigating the circumstances surrounding an Aug. 28 theft of $2,040 of dental X-ray film from a borough firm, a police spokesman said.

According to police reports, two former employees, Earl Best and Ralph Brinkley, both Newark residents, were spotted by an employee when they left the building with the film about 5:20 p.m. Both have been charged with the theft of the film, the spokesman reported.

Mountainside man promoted

STATEN ISLAND—Wagner College President John Satterfield has appointed William E. Maher of Mountainside, N.J., as vice-president for business and financial affairs.

Maher joined the Wagner economics faculty in 1962 and was appointed dean of students in 1969. He was named director of business and financial affairs at the college in 1973. Maher was awarded his degree from the City College of New York and did postgraduate work at Tulane University and Harvard University Institute for Educational Management.

EDWARD E. KUEBLER

Kuebler lauded by N.J. jurists

Edward E. Kuebler of Sherwood parkway Mountainside, has been named a recipient of the Trial Bar Award, presented annually by the Trial Attorneys of New Jersey, it was announced recently.

A graduate of Rutgers, Kuebler was admitted to the New Jersey State Bar in 1929 and the U.S. Supreme Court in 1966. A former counsel to the Employers Liability Assurance Company, he is a member of the Essex County, New Jersey State and American Bar Associations. He moved his offices from Newark to Mountainside six years ago.

Kuebler will receive his award along with three other members of the trial bar at a banquet later this month.

Abend aids students at Drew orientation

Dave Abend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Abend of Knightsbridge road, Mountainside, is serving on the orientation committee for new students at Drew University, Madison. A graduate of Newark Academy High School in Livingston, he is a senior at Drew.

Free adult center expands class hours

The Union County Regional Adult Learning Center, located at David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, is offering expanded programming this year.

The center will offer beginning and intermediate English as a second language (ESL) on Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 1:45 to 3:45 and Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. This is the first time the ESL classes will be held three evenings a week.

Adult basic education and high school completion classes will be Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7 to 9:30 p.m., offering an additional half hour. Daytime hours for these programs have been extended to four days a week, Monday through Thursday 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Adult basic education offers basic skill development in reading, language and math, a life skills curriculum and special testing and programming for learning disabled adults.

The high school completion program offers basic reading, language and math skills needed to pass the high school equivalency (GED) exam as well as an adult high school option which offers credit for on-the-job training, community service, independent study and other areas.

The center will open on Sept. 24, but students may register for any program at any time throughout the year.

Further information is available from Harriet Diamond, learning center director, at 272-4480 or Harry Linkin, director of adult and continuing education at 376-6300, ext. 99.

Rocks thrown into two homes

Early morning rock attacks broke windows of two borough homes the last week in August, Mountainside police reported.

On Aug. 27, the window of a Poplar avenue home was damaged by two rocks, thrown at about 2:15 a.m., police reported. The damaged window was valued at $150, it was reported.

A Tanglewood land home was the target of a rock about 1:40 p.m. on Aug. 29, police said. The resident said that he saw a small car driven from the area shortly after the rock was thrown. The large window, according to police, was valued at $500.

Micke in college

Betsy Micke of Mountainside has begun freshman studies at Cedar Crest College, a women's college in Allentown, Pa.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Micke, Betsy is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton High School.

Price is raised

The price of a one-year subscription to this newspaper is being raised to $10.50 in county and $16 out of county, effective immediately. The increase reflects higher costs of newsprint, fuel and postal rates.

If family's income exceeds those shown but the family experiences any of the Special Hardship Conditions listed below, a child may still be eligible for free or reduced price meals.

- Shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of the family income;
- Unusually high medical expenses;
- Special Education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child;
- Disaster or casualty losses.

Foster children are often eligible for free or reduced price meals. To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the application forms contain a statement above the space for signature certifying that all information furnished in the application is true and correct. An additional statement is added stating that the application is being made in connection with the receipt of federal funds, that if school officials have reason to question the information provided they may seek verification, and that deliberate misrepresentation of information may subject the applicant to prosecution.

Application forms for free or reduced price meals are available at your school and application can be made at any time during the school year. If a family member becomes unemployed, the income or family size changes or the family experiences any of the Special Hardship Conditions during the school year, parents should contact the school so that all children receive the proper benefits.

In the operation of the Child Nutrition Programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, national origin or ability to pay. A child will not be identified as a recipient of free or reduced price meals.

The information provided by parents on the application will be kept confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. The school will advise parents of their child's eligibility within 15 days of receipt of the application. Any parent dissatisfied with the eligibility determination may contact the school to request an informal conference or may appeal the decision by requesting a formal Hearing Procedure. A hearing can be arranged by calling or writing Dr. Francis Kenny at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Mountain Avenue, Springfield, New Jersey, 376-6300. Parents may call Mrs. Karen Vinacour at 389-1010, 376-6300; or Mrs. Judith May at 464-3100; 272-7500 for further information on these programs.

With the Labor Day Hazlet Tournament under their belts, the teams in the junior divisions at Farcher's are looking forward to the opening of the regular season on Saturday.

The newly formed midgets went 2-2. The Lancers posted a 2-0 victory over Hazlet and a 3-1 triumph over Farmingdale Howell the first day, and then dropped the second two games the following day. They lost to East Brunswick, 3-0, and then Westfield defeated them, 4-1.

There were two teams from the Union Lancer organization in the Boys Division (10-11 years old). The Lancers lost three of their four matches while the Union Kickers won all four games and the tournament. The Lancers dropped games to: Westfield, 2-1; Hazlet, 2-0, and their own Kickers, 4-1. The Lancers defeated the Howell Pinelanders, 6-1, for their one victory. Mike Edelman led the Union scoring with three goals. Dino Juliano, John Dziadzio, Mike Levy and Kathy Loneragan hit the net for one goal each. Kathy was a guest player. She will be playing for the Union County Sports Club this season.

The Union Kickers made it a perfect weekend. They defeated Hazlet, 7-1; Westfield, 2-1, and the Howell Pinelanders, 14-0. Karl Schellscheidt hit for nine goals while John Kempfner added eight. Ken Garcia and Leandro Henrique scored four each and Stefan Schmidt rounded out the scoring with three.

The Union Lancer youth team split their games by posting a 2-0 win over Oldbridge and then losing to Westfield, 4-2 the first day. In the second day of the tourney the Lancers Youth team (12-13 year olds) downed the Howell Pinelanders 2-1 and then lost a heartbreaker to Hazlet, 3-2. Two of the Hazlet goals were scored on penalty shots. Goals were scored by: Dave Van Deventer, 3, Jenkins, 3; Jerry Dipisa, 1, and John Betzner, 1.

Farcher's Grove regulars should drop in on the junior division games that will be played there every Saturday afternoon. There will always be some team playing on Saturday and the kids like it when someone other than their mothers are in the stands cheering. Give it a try.

Well, the NASL season is now history and none of my picks made it to the finals. Both the Sting and the Dips lost out somewhere in the playoffs.

Speaking of playoffs, it is now obvious that the league should come up with a better format than the minigame. The four hours of soccer that the Cosmos were involved in is too much.

The fact that the TV announcers kept calling the Cosmos New York Cosmos made by blood boil, so I called the station in New York to let them know that as far as I know the Cosmos dropped the New York from their name when they made the switch to the Meadowlands. This was during the Cosmos-Whitecaps game. The next week the announcers said that many New Jersey soccer fans called the station to claim the Cosmos as their own. (See, I was not the only one.)

The announcer's answer was that the NASL makes every team carry a city in its name and so they are still the New York Cosmos on the air.

The Cosmos don't seem to care about this, but they should know the people of New Jersey care. New Jersey gave them a home. New Jersey gave them the largest following of any team in the NASL.

The Cosmos tried New York (Randall's Island, Long Island and Yankee Stadium). I always checked the cars over in the New York parking lots and they were mostly from New Jersey, even in those days. If they want to be the New York Cosmos again, they should just say so.

Girls' net team home to Clark

By DAVID GOLD

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School girls' tennis team opens its season tomorrow at home against Clark with Coach Edward Jasinski still trying to decide who will play in second and third singles.

Coach Jasinski says he feels as confident as could be expected, having had only two weeks of practice. Dayton is in the tough suburban Conference, competing against such top teams as Milburn, Summit, and Caldwell.

Regional, hurt last year by graduation, expects strong play this year from returning veterans Cathy Gerndt (first singles), Loren Miller (first doubles), and Donna Vargas. Jasinski also expects strong play from a talented batch of freshmen, led by Perri Teitelbaum.

Kean will hold karate tourney

The Kidney Fund of New Jersey is sponsoring the New Jersey karate invitational tournament at Kean College, Union, on Oct. 14. The tournament is sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union and will use AAU-WUKO rules. More than 500 adults and youngsters are expected to take part in the tournament whose proceeds will go to the fund.

Aurthur Sabatino Jr. of the Union Karate Center, tournament director, expects contestants from New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and as far north as Maine. Members of the U.S. karate teams are expected to participate in the tournament. Sabatino, a 14-year veteran of karate, says the day-long tournament is another step toward having karate recognized as an Olympic sport by 1984.

The tournament is open to boys and girls from 6 to 17 in free style sparring (Kumiye) events and Kata (forms) events; also to men and women 18 and older in the same categories.

Applications to compete must be received by Sabatino at the Union Karate Center, 969 Stuyvesant ave., Union, 07083, no later than Oct. 4.

Boosters to meet

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Booster Club will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the high school. The meeting is open to parents of all athletes, as well as to the general public.

Cozza views soccer outlook as 'promising'

By DAVID GOLD

School started a few days ago, but for weeks now the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School soccer team has been in informal training, and new varsity coach Joe Cozza looks forward to a promising season.

Cozza, in his rookie year as a high school coach is not quite sure how Regional will fare against such tough teams as New Providence, Verona and Caldwell. He hopes to set final positions this week in scrimmages.

He will be stressing offense and the physical aspects of the game. "The main difference," said Cozza, "between Dayton and my college team is speed."

The team has been working hard and the coaching staff is pleased. The team is expecting a lot from Mike King, Keith Hanigan, Don Meixner, and Scott Worswick. Among the young hopefuls are Andrew Grett and Henry Largey.

Cozza's only disappointment is the small turnout, especially the freshmen; he urged anyone interested in joining the team to see him.

Special permit cards available

Special deer permit applications are due in the Trenton office of the New Jersey Division of Fish, Game, and Shellfisheries by Sept. 10.

Application cards, for either shotgun or muzzle-loader rifle permits, and deer guides are now available from hunting license-issuing agents, and various division offices.

The division today advised applicants to study the deer guide carefully and follow instructions in the guide and on the application card.

The applicant's 1979 firearm: hunting license number and identification stub must be included with the application.

is showing strength and polish which promise another successful season. Coach Ele Soisson is impressed with the talent of her experienced varsity squad: Suzy Baker, Leesa Bernstein, Paige Carter, Jodi Cohen, Trisha Federico, Susan Feig, Penny Levitt, Jodi Ruff, and Vicki Sarracino. The junior varsity—Donne Alberti, Jean Caiazzo, Lisa Kottler, Debbie Olarsch, Kathy Rickerhauser and Hannah Reiman—offer strong potential.

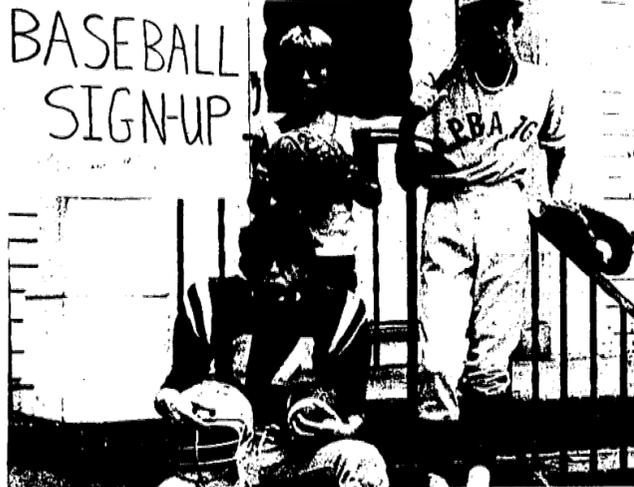

The team, making an effort to build strength and endurance, will attend a clinic at David Brearley High School, Kenilworth, Saturday. The session is designed to help coaches and gymnasts prevent injury and promote safety.

The gymnastics team will have had less than three weeks to prepare routines and develop new tricks before the season starts next week and Soisson hopes team scores will—if not better—last year's. The season opener, against Caldwell on Tuesday will provide a keen test for Dayton.

SHUFFLING AROUND—Catherine Teitscheid watches Sandra Tavaska make her shot during game of shuffleboard.

BASEBALL SIGN-UP

YBL REGISTRATION FOR '80—Although football, basketball and soccer are just around the corner as demonstrated by Danny Klingler (seated) and Josh Wasserman and Pete Pelino, the Springfield Baseball League will hold registration Saturday and Sunday between 1 and 3 p.m. at the Sara H. Bailey Center. This will be the only chance to sign up for the 1980 season since there will be no spring registration, according to a league spokesman.

Harriers open drive for Suburban crown

By DAVID GOLD

Seeking its third Suburban Conference title in four years, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross-country team will open its season at home against Madison and Caldwell tomorrow. Though Madison, along with Summit and Milburn, seems to be the team to beat, Coach Martin Taglienti appears confident about the season.

Taglienti is pleased with his turnout, close to 30 runners in action. Regional, hurt by graduation and transfers, is a little weaker this year but the attitude is good and all look forward to another conference title, the coach indicates.

Among the many fine Dayton runners are co-captains Jeff Knowles and Jay Bruder, Kevin King, Rich Bantel, Jon Fingerhut, Adam Silverstein, Steve Wright, Glen Etts, Bob Roche, Steve Halpin, Jim Melkowitz, Scott Connolly, Frank Kelly, Jeff Rosen, Ira Tauver, Louis Salemy, Dan Usilan and Scott Hewitt.

Girls also go out for the team and usually do fairly well. Some of the top-girls are Cathy Kelly, Dana Levinson, Elise Ogintz, Barbara Taylor and Elizabeth Blauin.

UNITED WAY WEEK — The Eastern Union County Chamber of Commerce has declared this week as United Way of Eastern Union County Week. C. The proclamation asks all citizens to "increase their awareness and financial and moral support" for United Way agency programs.

Middlesex dump site brings Long protest; notes 'fiscal impact'

In a letter to Gov. Brendan Byrne, Freeholder Thomas W. Long of Linden has protested the redistribution of solid waste dumping for some Union County Municipalities from Hackensack Meadowslands sites in Kearny to Middlesex County without establishment of resource recovery facilities.

He also noted that communities in the county that will be forced to stop dumping in Kearny on Sept. 30 or Dec. 31 will be hit with financial burdens. Long, assistant schools superintendent in Linden, urged Byrne to sign Senate Bill S-3195 which would assure "an orderly transition period from one method of solid waste disposal to another." In addition, he urged the rejection of the Hackensack

Meadowlands Development Commission's plan to ban Union County communities from its landfill sites.

A Long-sponsored resolution on the subject is expected to be passed by the Board of Freeholders tonight.

In his letter, Long noted that the resolution seeks "recognition of the adverse fiscal impact upon already hard-pressed municipalities by permitting the termination of the use of landfills located in the Hackensack Meadowslands sites."

The freeholder, who is seeking reelection with Freeholder Chairman Everett C. Lattimore of Plainfield and Freeholder Harold J. Seymour Jr. of Cranford, suggested that mayors the affected municipalities "arrange to discuss with their governing bodies the possible financial impact to their taxpayers and budgets a termination of the use of the HMDC sites..."

Lattimore noted that the freeholders objected to a shift of dumping patterns from Hackensack to Middlesex County because it would not "materially impact the size of waste disposal facilities which the HMDC must still provide."

He said a redistribution of dumping patterns also would cause "immediate and unnecessary haulage cost increases to selected municipalities within the county and will disrupt existing waste management systems."

Seymour explained that on Oct. 1, the day after certain communities will be barred from dumping in Kearny, the commissioner of the Department of Environmental Protection will make a decision of solid waste disposal plan.

"But this leaves private contractors and municipal and county officials in a bind in that they will be unable to plan for the health, welfare and safety of the citizens of Union County because of the lack of specific action by the state," Seymour said.

Merit, financial needs determine scholarship recipients at UC

Scholarships—who gets them, how many are available and what are the amounts?

Few realize now much is available in this financial aid category. At Union College, Cranford, numerous outside scholarships can be utilized to pay for all or part of a college education, and the college offers an additional 18 categories of scholarships annually, according to Mrs. Betty Ehr Gott, director of financial aid.

The awarding of scholarships is generally based on merit, or on a combination of merit and financial need. Scholarships are gifts of money which do not require repayment.

Garden State Scholarships (GSS) are for full-time students who have been New Jersey residents for at least 12 months prior to receiving the award and who have demonstrated above-average academic achievement in high school and on Scholastic Aptitude Tests (SAT). The students must have financial need and must matriculate in a curriculum. At Union College, the scholarships can range to $500 per year and are renewable based on continued scholastic achievement and financial need.

Of the 18 kinds of Union College scholarships, one of the major categories is Trustee Scholarships. Each year the College awards 15 two-year scholarships to Union County high school seniors who have achieved high academic records or who have excelled in a particular field and will be matriculating full-time. The scholarships cover the cost of tuition and fees up to $1,500 for two years. Trustee Scholarship recipients must maintain a high academic average each semester.

Another kind of Trustee Scholarship is available for part-time students. These are for those who have financial need and show academic progress. The amounts vary with funding availability.

The American Association of University Women (AAUW) awards a one-year, full-tuition scholarship to a full-time matriculating female sophomore at Union College who is a resident of Union County. This student must have attended Union College for her freshman year and must have shown academic promise.

The Bristol-Myers Company awards two merit financial need scholarships, one to a freshman and one to a sophomore, who have excellent scholastic records and high moral character. The amount usually covers tuition.

The John Brownell and Timothy Gardner scholarships go to two full-time students who are members of varsity inter-collegiate athletic teams. They are based on financial need and are usually for $350 per semester, renewable each semester.

A merit scholarship awarded by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Westfield, Inc., is for a full-time matriculating female student. She must be a Union County resident and a sophomore in the business or other professional curriculum. The amount usually covers a portion of tuition.

Two merit scholarships for part-time matriculating evening students are awarded by Union College's Collegiate Senate, the governing body for the College's 3,000 part-time students. The amount varies but can cover tuition plus other expenses, and is awarded to students who have shown scholastic ability and have high moral character.

The Christine Collins Memorial Scholarship goes to a full-time matriculating student who has demonstrated academic excellence and has served the college community. The amount usually covers tuition.

A Faculty Scholarship is awarded to a full-time, non-terminal student with academic excellence and promise and covers a portion of tuition.

A merit scholarship is given to a full-time matriculating sophomore who has shown academic excellence and character during the freshman year through the Margaret Hanson Scholarship Fund. It usually covers tuition.

Intercollegiate Athletic Scholarships are given to full-time students in financial need who seek participation in athletics and who have academic potential. Tuition, fees and possible related expenses are covered by these scholarships.

The Arthur L. Johnson Memorial Scholarship goes to a full-time matriculating sophomore who has shown high academic accomplishment during his freshman year.

New Jersey Bell presents two merit need scholarships for full-time matriculating students who have already shown academic excellence. The amount covers tuition.

The Professor Farris S. Swackhamer Scholarship goes to a full-time student who has earned 27 or more credits and attained a minimum grade point average of 3.0 (in a 4.0 system) and who has been involved in student activities during the first year at the college.

The Bess Tomasulo Fine Arts merit scholarship is for a full-time matriculating student who shows promise of outstanding performance in one of the fine arts, and the Nicholas A. Tomasulo Memorial Scholarships are for two full-time matriculating students who plan on entering a profession and show outstanding promise. All three Tomasulo scholarships cover part of tuition.

Alumni Association Scholarships are awarded to part-time students. In addition, part-time students can obtain scholarships under the Sponsored Part-time category. These are for students who have financial need and are renewable.

Last year, 339 scholarships were awarded to Union College students. In some cases, financial aid officers can combine various forms of financial aid into a "package" that enables them to cover all the students' college expenses. Such packages may be a loan plus a scholarship, or work-study funds plus a grant, or other combinations.

The college conducts a series of in-depth financial aid workshops each semester, for both current and potential students, to explain such packages and to help students fill out aid application forms. For further information on scholarships, loans grants, or work-study programs, contact the Union College Financial Aid Office, 276-2600, Ext. 229, or write Union College, 1033 Springfield Ave., Cranford, 07016. Attention: Student Financial Aid Center.

Hikers, bikers to hold events over weekend

A Black Rock hike and swim Saturday highlights this weekend's events sponsored by the Union County Hiking Club. Participants will meet at the Essex Toll Plaza of the Garden State Parkway at 8:40 a.m., consolidate cars and meet leader Bill Myles at the junction of Rt. 32 and Angola road, Mountainville, N.Y., at 10 a.m. This seven-mile hike through the Black Rock Forest includes a swim at the Sutherland Pond.

A six-mile Watchung ramble will be held Saturday. Hikers will meet at 10 a.m. at the Trailside Nature and Science Center parking lot, Coles avenue and New Providence road, in the Mountainside section of the Watchung Reservation.

Somerset bike ride participants will meet leader Martin Frahm Sunday at 9:30 a.m. at the junction of Interstate 287 and Weston Canal road, South Bound Brook, for this 24-mile ride through rural Somerset County. Participants are asked to bring lunch. This event will be cancelled in case of rain. Jack Driller will lead the Ramapo ramble Sunday. Hikers will meet at the Suffern New York police station at 9:10 a.m.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation, 352-8431.

Mothers of twins and triplets have been invited to attend. Additional information is available from Mrs. Joseph Lauer, 642 Lehigh ave., Union, 07083.

Flower show aims to model Edison's work

All the amazing inventions of Thomas Alva Edison will blossom when "The Light Fantastic" Flower Show comes to Middlesex County College on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 29 and 30, 1-3 p.m. and 1-5 p.m., respectively.

Flower arrangements depicting such inventions as the phonograph, the nickelodeon, and the vote recorder will highlight the show. Other arrangement categories include "A Spark of Genius," "Edison's Garden," "The Ohio Farm Boy," and "An American Original." Three categories, Gardening Under Lights, Herbs, and Evergreen Identification, will be judged.

The show will be located in the college center. It is being sponsored by Edison, Metchen, South Brunswick and Terra Nova garden clubs, and cosponsored by the Division of Community Education at Middlesex college.

The title, "The Light Fantastic," is in honor of Thomas A. Edison on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of his most well-known invention, the light bulb.

The show is free and open to the public. Further information regarding the flower show is available from the Division of Community Education at 548-6000, extension 350.

Halting vandals seminar topic

Vandalism prevention will be the subject of a seminar to be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the freeholder meeting room, Union County Administration building, Elizabeth.

Coordinated by Freeholder Edward J. Slomkowski, the seminar will feature Detective Donald Stumpf of the Bergenfield Police Department and Edward Collison, principal of Bergenfield's Hoover Elementary School.

Stumpf trains community-based teams throughout the state to plan and run prevention programs.

Following the talks, there will be a question and answer session. All county and municipal juvenile officers, police commissioners and educators have been urged to participate. Any citizen who would like to attend may call Slomkowski at 527-4100.

Hospital will present family asthma series

A program designed for the asthmatic child and his family is being organized by Children's Specialized Hospital of Mountainside and the Central New Jersey Lung Association.

Eugene E. Rodgers of Mountainside, vice-president of the association, said the goal of the program is better management of the child in the home, school and community setting.

The eight-session program will be held every Thursday beginning Oct. 18 in the hospital from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Geared for children 7 to 15, their parents and other interested family members, applications may be obtained from the Central New Jersey Lung Association, 1457 Raritan rd., Clark, 272-8676.

The child must be referred to the program by the family physician and approved by a medical board headed by Dr. Margaret E. Symonds, medical director at the hospital, New Providence road, Mountainside. The series of educational and demonstration sessions will give parents and children information about the respiratory system, asthma medications, nutrition, chest physical therapy, breathing and relaxation techniques.

Conditioning exercises and recreational activities are held in the hospital's heated swimming pool and physical therapy department under the supervision of physical therapists and hydrotherapists.

Discussion groups for the child and parents, an integral part of the program, will provide an opportunity to share experiences and feelings, associated with managing the asthmatic child.

The program is limited to 15 families, and the evaluation process for acceptance is lengthy. Area residents, interested in participating should register as soon as possible.

Interim steps needed on waste, says Long

Freeholder Thomas W. Long said this week that, no matter what solid waste plan is eventually adopted by Union County, an interim technique must be found until something permanent is brought on line.

"Whatever plan emerges, we'll still need a lead time of about four years," Long said.

The freeholder, assistant schools superintendent in Linden, made his comments after a recent state Department of Environmental Protection administrative public information meeting held in Hackensack.

"At the meeting, I took to task the Hackensack Meadowslands Development Commission's (HMDC) arbitrary decision to bar Union County communities from dumping their garbage in the corporation's landfill site in Kearny," said Long, a Democrat seeking reelection with Freeholders Everett C. Lattimore and Harold J. Seymour Jr.

Proofs could speed applying for benefits

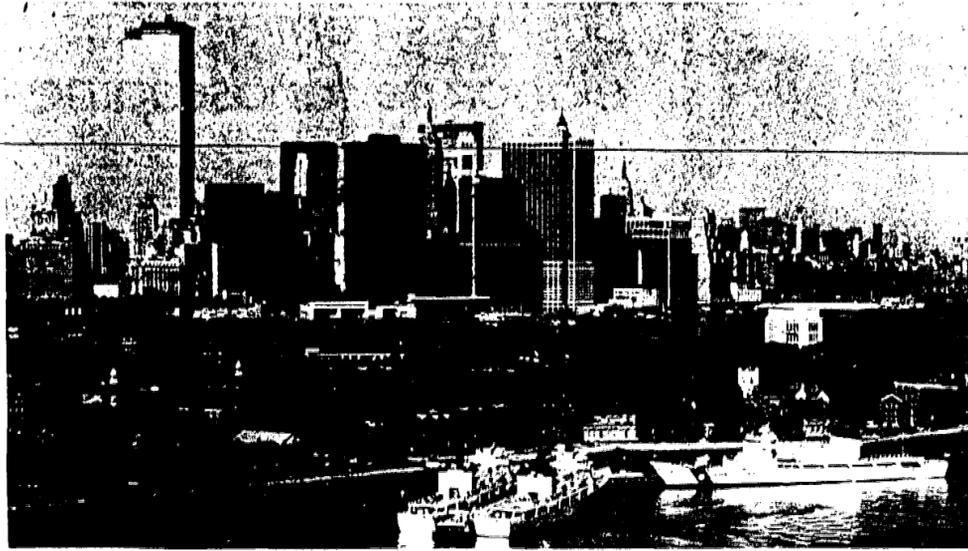

Applying for Social Security benefits is a simple procedure if you know when to apply and what proofs you'll need. You should apply for retirement benefits about three months before you plan to retire. Reduced retirement benefits are payable as early as age 62; full benefits are payable at 65. You don't have to retire to have Medicare at 65, but you do have to apply for it if you keep working. You should contact a Social Security office about three months before you reach 65.

Disabled persons should apply for benefits soon after the disability starts if it appears you will be unable to work for a year or more. To be considered disabled, you must have a physical or mental condition which prevents you from working and is expected to last at least 12 months or to result in death.

If you are eligible for disability benefits, your wife or husband and children may get benefits, too. If an insured worker dies, someone in the family should apply for survivors' benefits as soon as possible. Survivors' benefits may be paid to a widow or widower and children even if the worker had as little as 1 1/2 years of covered work.

With your application, you should have your Social Security card or a record of your number (if the claim is on another worker's record, you'll need his or her number), proof of your age, your marriage certificate if your spouse is applying for benefits, your children's birth certificates if you're applying for them and your form W-2 for the previous year a copy of your last Federal income tax return if you're self-employed.

A record of your previous year's wages is important.

Lupus Week is proclaimed

President Jimmy Carter has proclaimed Sept. 16 to 22, as National Lupus Week. Lupus erythematosus is a chronic inflammatory disease that involves the connective tissues. It is a disorder of the body's immune system which is the first line of defense against illness. It can attack the skin, joints, blood, heart, kidneys or other vital organs. Lupus affects both men and women of all ages. However, 85 percent of the cases occur in women during their child bearing years. It is more common than muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, leukemia and pernicious anemia.

Monthly meetings are held on the first Wednesday of every month at Hoffman-La Roche, Inc., Nutley. Further information is available from the Lupus Foundation, Box 320, Elmwood Park, 07407, 201-791-7868.

2 events at festival

Final performances of Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire" and Symposium night for Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" are the current attractions at the professional New Jersey Shakespeare Festival, Drew University, Madison. Tickets $2.50 to $8.25 are available at the festival box office, Shakespeare, Madison, 07940, or by calling 377-4487.

Tuesday will be symposium night for "Earnest." Members of the audience will be invited to remain for a post-performance discussion of the play with leading actors Eric Tavaris, Gwendolyn Brown, George Gitto, Denise Bessette and Sharon Morrison. Williams' Pulitzer Prize-winning tragedy, "A Streetcar Named Desire," has only six more performances: today, Saturday, Wednesday, Sept. 21 and 23.

Y kitchen

The formal rededication of the kitchen of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA, scheduled Sunday, Sept. 16, at 3:30 p.m. in Gering Hall, will honor Sam Halpern.

In order to better meet the requirements of Koshruth, the Y created separate meat and dairy kitchens, under the supervision of Rabbi Fecher.

Community groups and individuals who plan to use the "Y" because of its kitchen facilities can be assured that it is now completely kosher.

Edison planning Sept. 23 races

The Edison Recreation Department will sponsor the second annual Thomas A. Edison Run-A-Thon Sunday, Sept. 23, beginning at 1 p.m. The three-mile course will begin and finish at J.P. Stevens High School, Grove Ave.

Last year's event, which drew close to 1,000 participants, was viewed by hundreds lined along the route. Director Harold McAvoy expects this year's event to include new categories and provide a broader scope program for the runners involved. In the "corporate teams" categories runners from various businesses and industries compete against each other.

Awards for participants will include a T-shirt and certificate for each entrant who completes the three-mile and 10 mile runs. Prizes will be awarded to the first three finishers in each category.

Registration forms are available at Edison's Recreation Department (2965 Woodbridge Ave.), Municipal building. Registration forms are available at Edison's Recreation Department (2965 Woodbridge Ave.), Municipal building (Plainfield and Woodbridge avenues and township libraries). Information is available by calling 287-0900, Ext. 264. Weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Fitness course at Y

"JOY," a fitness and health program to provide area women with a fun and practical way of getting into shape and staying that way, will be held at the Five Points YMCA, Union. Combining aerobic exercise with other key fitness components, the program begins where similar programs leave off. Activities include warmups, muscle stretching exercises, cardiovascular fitness designed to get participants' hearts pumping and a relaxing taper down. The one-hour session is choreographed to music. Classes begin Sept. 18 and are held every Tuesday and Thursday from 10 to 11 a.m. or 7 to 8 p.m. for seven weeks. Information is available at the Five Points Branch YMCA (688-9622), 201 Tucker Ave., Union.

BUSINESS CENTER—Recently held ground-breaking ceremonies marked the official construction start of Barrymor Mill, a new business center for professional service firms, retail shops and a convenience food store, shown in progress. The center will be located on Rt. 9 between Lakewood and Toms River, and features antique styled architecture with authentic working water wheel.

N. Gate Manor

Gallo & DeCroce Realty, 113 Parsippany road, Parsippany, recently was selected as the exclusive agent for a new development of homes, North Gate Manor, in Parsippany - Troy Hills. According to broker Alex DeCroce, approximately 19 wooded lots of one-third of an acre will provide the setting for an enchanting collection of four-bedroom split-levels and colonials. Lushly wooded grounds will characterize the homes of North Gate Manor, which will be heated by natural gas. Another outstanding feature of the development is its convenient location, DeCroce said.

"We feel that the value in this new development of homes cannot be found elsewhere in this vicinity," DeCroce said. "Comparable homes are currently priced $15,000 to $20,000 higher in other areas."

Citing the many "optionals" that prospective home buyers may inquire about, DeCroce praised builders Mosberg and Reich for foresight in home construction.

Land sale completed

Donald MacCoy, real estate manager of Biertempfel-Ostertag Agency, one of Union's oldest agencies, has announced the completion of a complicated land sale involving commercial and industrial property in Union and Kenilworth.

The Ermara Corporation of Clifton has purchased a site with frontage on Michigan avenue, Kenilworth, for the construction of a 12,000 square foot office structure to house Capri Institute of Hair Design, a beauty culture school which already operates schools in Clifton and Haledon. There will be office space for other tenants as well.

The building is to be located in Kenilworth, but the parking lot will be in Union.

Business center takes elaborate landscaping

Lakewood Mayor Kenneth Matthews, township officials and members of the press recently attended the official ground-breaking ceremonies of Barrymor Enterprises' new business center to be built on Rt. 9 between Lakewood and Toms River.

The center, Barrymor Mill, will feature six buildings and landscaping complete with trees, foliage, winding paths, park benches, shallow pond with wooden crossing bridge and an authentic working water wheel.

Tenants of the business center will include professional service firms, retail shops, a convenience store and possibly a family restaurant. Current space lease availability ranges from 650 to 7,300 square feet. Additional full basements and loft space is available in each building.

According to Murray Westhnik, president of Barrymor Enterprises, the new business center will represent convenience to the residents of Heartstone, a Barrymor residential community located less than one-fourth of a mile away and will provide tenants with a major highway location, continuous day and evening traffic and existing markets.

To date, Barrymor Enterprises has completed 10 home communities with the 11th under development. Since 1976, Barrymor has expanded its operations to include construction and management of professional, retail and rental properties.

The Sterling Thompson Group-Barrymor Realty of Lakewood is the exclusive leasing and management agent for Barrymor Mill.

"NO BULL.. IF I MOVED TO NEW JERSEY I'D LIVE AT PANTHER VALLEY."

"I guess you could say I've gotten used to the good life. I'm also used to having lots of open land around me. "There's not a whole lot of places that could keep me tied down in the New York and New Jersey area...except for Panther Valley. And, from what I've been told, there aren't a whole lot of places anywhere like this community. "Whenever I'd want to go into those concrete canyons of Manhattan, I'd be less than 60 miles away. And I'd be coming back to 1500 acres of rolling hill nature, private tennis, swimming and even platform tennis. And inside Panther Valley is the Panther Valley Golf & Country Club and its 18-hole championship course that was designed by Robert Trent Jones. "You could say I'm also spoiled about not having to do the homestead chores that are handled for the Panther Valley residents, like exterior home maintenance, landscaping, road work and snow removal. The other thing the community has to offer is the 24-hour security, including the manned gatehouse. "Right now, though, I don't have to make the decision. I don't think Panther Valley would take kindly to me bringing along 3500 head of cattle."

Mortgage rates low at Cedar

Cedar Village, a 29-home subdivision in Dover Township, Toms River, offers 9 1/2 percent mortgages with 10 percent down to qualified buyers.

Most home styles are available at Cedar Village—colonials, cape cods, ranches, split levels, etc., and all can be customized to the buyer's tastes. Homes are priced from $64,000 to $88,500.

The energy-conscious builders of Cedar Village include, in all homes, oversized insulation, double-glazed Andersen windows and gas heat.

Only quality building materials are used in Cedar Village homes—kiln-dried lumber, solid concrete foundations and aluminum siding—to make Cedar Village homes long-lasting and maintenance-free. Cedar Village—located in one of the most prestigious and established areas of Dover Township, Toms River—is convenient to schools, the Ocean County Mall

EAGLE ROCK HOMES—The Villager model is offered at Eagle Rock Homes, just off Garden State Parkway, Exit 91, in Lakewood. Bilevel, ranch and cape cods priced from $55,990 are part of the 34-house segment which Vahak Hovnanian of Hovblit Inc. is developing on property which borders Woodlake Country Club and the 323-acre Ocean County Park, of Rt. 88 and New Hampshire avenue.

Shopping Center and community (salt water) and ocean beaches. You can vacation right at Cedar Village and still have all the conveniences of at home living.

Models are open seven days a week, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., or by appointment. Additional information is available at Dobbs Realtor's Better Homes and Gardens (929-0022 or 255-9000).

Air conditioners need some help

Edward Baptista, president of the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors serving Elizabeth, Linden, Union, Roselle, Roselle Park, Kenilworth and part of Hillside, has urged efficient use of air conditioning units to conserve energy. Baptista said, "Many people believe a room air conditioner is a fool-proof invention, simply stick it in the window, plug it in and enjoy the cool breezes."

To get all the benefits of air conditioning and reduce bills, he said, the home owner should "never buy a unit larger than is needed to cool the area or room to be cooled. Power doesn't necessarily mean good performance. The larger unit will cost more initially and won't control humidity properly because the compressor will be cycling on and off."

Another suggestion is to place the air conditioner in the window which will provide the best air distribution with cold air into the room and the hot air exhaust out into the open. Don't bury the unit in shrubbery where it can't "breathe." Exposure to the sun has little effect on an air conditioner's efficiency.

In order to reduce operating costs and needless wear and tear on the air conditioning unit, he suggested keeping heat out of the area being cooled—closing the drapes or shades to keep out the sunlight, weather-sealing the window where the air conditioner is located, keeping doors shut and making sure the fireplace flues and heating ducts are closed, advised Baptista.

He suggested cleaning the air conditioner filter at least once a month and checking the instruction manual for the proper procedure. It is usually just a matter of slipping the filter off and washing it or running it under the vacuum. A dirty, clogged filter makes the unit work harder to pull in air and cuts down on cooling capacity. Badly functioning air conditioners waste a good deal of electricity.

"If you are away from home most of day, an automatic timer is a good investment. This device, which costs will under $20, will turn on your air conditioner at a time set by you. Your home will be cool when you and the family arrive home, but the unit will not be operating all day and running up your electric bill."

Historical group sets conference

"Preserving the Built Works Environment" will be the theme of the New Jersey Historical Society's 29th walking tours of annual historical Greenwich Village or conference set for Friday-Sunday, Oct. 5-7.

The three-day affair will consist of talks and tours in New Jersey and New York City neighborhoods, plus luncheons and a reception Saturday in Paterson.

The special weekend package is available for $69.95 double and $51 single, with single night headquarters will be the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Saddle Brook.

Friday night's program will feature an illustrated talk on "Paterson, a Society, 230 Broadway Capsule of America" by Newark, 483-3939.

John A. Herbst, vice president of the Great Falls Development with its Women's Branch Corporation, will visit the Dev Mansion in Wayne and Lambert Historical Society, the Castle in Paterson, and Paterson Museum, the League of Historical Societies of New Jersey.

On Saturday afternoon, there will be a walking tour of the S.U.M. Historic District and Great Falls and a reception at the Rogers Locomotive

Federal jobs topic of forum

To acquaint job seekers with opportunities for employment in the federal government, a job forum will be held Sept. 25 at 10 a.m. at the Peter W. Rodino Federal Building, 970 Broad St., Newark.

Information will be made available to prospective job seekers desiring careers with the various federal agencies. Participants will include church and community groups, employment specialists, and state and local employment counselors.

Further information is available from the federal executive board at (201) 645-6217.

State unit reaches age of 75

The New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry, in a series of events during September, will celebrate the 75th anniversary of its founding. Commissioner John J. Horn announced this week.

The department was created Sept. 1, 1904, with the passage of an act which abolished the Department of Factory and Workshop Inspections and at the same time created the State Department of Labor.

Pointing up the magnitude of the department's operations, statisticians in its division of planning and research report that unemployment insurance benefits through the years total more than $8.8 billion.

ON THE ROAD—Despite a teachers' strike that kept Union College closed past its scheduled opening date, Transport of New Jersey's new extension of Route 28 to the Cranford campus was carrying passengers. Many boaters enroll for Atlantic City show

While still in its preliminary stages, the 1980 Atlantic City Boat Show is providing strong evidence that the marine industry is springing back quickly from the slowdown created by the recent fuel situation and string of bad weather, say the show's producers.

"Because boat shows are good indicators of the health of the boating industry, we feel that the dynamic growth of the Atlantic City show, already nearly double the size of the 1979 edition with five months still to go, is proof that the boating industry is stronger than ever," said Jay Silberman, of Creative Mail Promotions, Inc.

Boatmen are also looking at boats as a good investment, according to the show executive. Financing works in favor of the boat owner, said Silberman. Interest is tax deductible and long-term loans are ultimately paid with cheaper dollars.

Industry faith in the continued growth of boating is obvious in the 1980 Atlantic City Boat Show. Management has already lined up more than 100 different boat lines spanning every aspect of that sport. The 69 power boat lines currently slated include many luxurious cruising yachts, sophisticated sport fishermen, racing machines, runabouts, inflatables, wet bikes, ski-boats, custom-built, and wooden boats.

The sailboat display, which will include multi-hulls, one-designs, custom models, day sailers and push racer-cruisers, will be especially attractive because Convention Hall's high ceiling allows the boats to be shown with masts up and fully rigged. Show dates are Jan. 31 through Feb. 3. Discount tickets are available at marine dealerships throughout the state.

Growing Older

NEW RULES The Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has recently published final regulations describing how the functional capability, age, education and work experience of an applicant affect the decision on awarding disability benefits under the Social Security and Supplemental Security income disability programs.

To qualify for disability benefits, a person must have a medically determined physical or mental impairment so severe that it prevents performance of any substantial work for at least 12 months or is expected to result in death.

The new regulations, according to HEW and Social Security administration officials, clarify standards for evaluating the person's age, education and work experience and their effect on the ability to do any kind of substantial gainful work in the light of the limitations caused by impairments.

Four-leaf clovers — a record

If you've always wanted to break a world record, here's one to try: find more than 186 four-leaf clovers in 10 minutes.

That's the record set by Rob and Tom Culp, ages 11 and 9, of Denver, Col., according to Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine for children. The two readers of the National Wildlife Federation's children's monthly stumbled upon a whole patch of four-leaf clovers at the Hugh M. Danahy city park in North Glenn, Col.

The Culp brothers have notified the Guinness Book of World Records of their feat and hope their record will be made "official".

It is unusual but not unheard-of for four-leaf clovers to grow in clumps, according to Ranger Rick's magazine. No one knows for sure why some normal three-leafed clover plants grow four leaves.

Homeowners okay sewer on High Point

Despite complaints about rising costs, a permanent easement and the possibility of a damaged swimming pool, the three homeowners involved agreed Tuesday night to allow the High Point drive sewer project to be installed and connected to their homes. The agreement came after an animated discussion and a private conversation in the Mountainside Borough Council meeting.

"We were wondering why there was such a discrepancy of the estimate over the months, from $10,000 to $15,000," Gene Rodgers, one of the trio, said. "We want to know if there will be any more costs."

Mayor Thomas Ricciardi explained the rise in the price of the sewer for the three homes by saying, "The engineer's estimate was a little low."

One of the main points of contention was a permanent easement through the property of Frank Capece, who claimed that it would interfere with his plans to develop his property, which include the installation of a swimming pool.

"I will give you the land, free, and you can keep your $2,000," Capece said, referring to the money budgeted to pay for the use of his property. "The only thing that I ask is that you not take a permanent easement on my land."

John Post, attorney for the council, told him that any change in the original plan would require a complete revamping of the system, "and in order to do this, we'd have to scrap the project from day one, especially that part involving your easement."

"I'm not against the project," Capece explained, "but as I understand it, this will put two manholes and a 10-foot easement across my property." He went on to say, "I'd like the ability to flush my toilet at 2 a.m. and not have to worry about it showing up in the backyard, though."

Councilman Bruce Geiger urged the three to allow passage of the ordinance that would appropriate the extra funds needed for the sewer construction.

"The contractors chosen for the project have been persuaded to wait until Oct. 16 for acceptance of the bid," he said. "There is an amount of time in these bills for the public to argue." He went on to say that the project could be halted in the next few weeks by a written objection from one of the property owners.

"Our concern is that if the project is delayed, we will have to ask for new bids, and now that the construction companies have seen what each other bid, it could be much more expensive," Post said.

Capece was told that a permanent easement did not mean that he could not build a swimming pool on the land.

"It just means that if there is a problem, the town may have to come in and dig up a part of your pool, and you would have no way to recoup for the damages," the mayor said.

Rodgers, Capece and third homeowner James Cascio seemed to talk quietly together for a moment, then Capece asked the council if the

4 in GOP name heads for campaign

Mountainside Republican candidates Mayor Tom Ricciardi, Councilman Abe Suckno, council candidate Marilyn Hart, and tax collector candidate Joan Nemick named Ron Romak as campaign manager and Roy Mumford as campaign treasurer this week.

Romak, captain of the Rescue Squad and active in the United Way Fund, is a licensed public accountant and an administrator at St. Clare's Hospital, Denville. He received a bachelor of science degree in accounting from St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, and earned his master's degree at Baruch College-Mount Sinai School of Medicine of the City University of New York.

Mumford, a resident of town for 16 years, attended Coleman's Business College and owned his own business for 32 years before retiring. For the past three years he has been active as president of the Republican Club, and most recently served as borough tax collector.

Both Romak and Mumford stated that they were happy to donate their time to assist the Republican candidates as they feel that the past record of stability in Mountainside government has been one of the major factors in making the community one of the most desirable in New Jersey. Romak stated that he feels Ricciardi, Suckno, Hart and Nemick are "the kind of people who will continue the traditions of strong, responsive government in Mountainside."

"The GOP candidates promise a campaign based on issues rather than personalities."

Panel views Beechwood future

By CHARLES B. HORNER
Each Mountainside taxpayer will save only $20 to $30 a year in taxes by closing Beechwood school, but the costs of reopening the building could run as high as $156,000, borough residents learned at a school facility advisory committee hearing last Thursday evening.

About 100 borough residents listened to opinions and reports at an open meeting and public forum of the committee. The hearing reviewed the findings of a previously distributed poll and the suggestions of area people. It quickly became an event of active participation by many of the audience members who spoke frequently to the nine-member panel and also argued among themselves.

"What is the benefit of closing this school?" Edward Rubovitz of Saddle Brook road asked.

"That's hard to say, because houses are assessed their taxes differently," Arthur Attenosio, chairman of the committee replied. Jane Von Der Lin, a committee member, reminded Attenosio that a "rough estimate" had been made, but the chairman was at first unwilling to give out the figures, calling them "inaccurate." However, he decided to let them be released.

"It comes out to about $20 to $30," (per home) Von Der Lin said, "definitely not $100."

"You say $20 to $30 saved when we'll have to spend $156,000 to reopen it?" Rubovitz asked, as the audience

Burglars take registers, cash at 7-11 store

Mountainside police this week dealt with a store break-in, an out-of-town arrest and two cases of vandalism.

Police received a call at 5 a.m. Sunday that two men approximately 18 years of age and wearing blue jeans were seen running from the Seven-Eleven store on Mountain avenue across the street toward Chrono's Tavern. When officers arrived on the scene, they found a plate glass window broken out of the right entrance door, and both cash registers missing.

According to store employees, police said, the registers each contained $65 in bills and $20 in change. The registers were later found empty by Union County police on the Galloping Hill Golf Course in Union.

Anthony Carmine Coppola, 31, of Maplewood was jailed in Mountainside after being brought in by Maplewood police acting on a complaint drawn up by State Police and the Department of Motor Vehicles on violations that he allegedly committed in the borough earlier in the month, police said.

According to police, Coppola is charged with bringing a stolen motor vehicle into the state, obtaining money under false pretenses, uttering a forged certificate of ownership, receiving a stolen motor vehicle, and receiving stolen property. He was released on $10,000 bail by Judge Robert Ruggiero.

Some time between 6 p.m. on Friday and 8:30 a.m. on Saturday a house on Robin Hood road was entered and the walls of the house were marred with mud and holes that appeared to be the results of kicks, reports said. Several of the holes went through the walls.

Some time between 10 p.m. on Friday and 9:30 a.m. on Sunday, a car parked in a driveway on Stony Brook lane had all four tires flattened, and, according to police, obscenities were scratched on the hood of the car.

FRIDAY DEADLINE

All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

NAMED BY UNITED WAY—Mrs. John Barry, named chairman of the 1979 campaign by United Way of Mountainside, and Dr. Charles Dooley, honorary chairman, discuss plans for the coming fund-raising drive.

United Way chooses Dooley, Mrs. Barry

The United Way of Mountainside has named Dr. Charles Dooley as honorary chairman and Mrs. John Barry as Chairman of the 1979 campaign.

Dr. Dooley was graduated from Holy Trinity High School in Westfield, Notre Dame and the Seton Hall Medical School. Mrs. Barry was graduated from Westfield High School and Heidelberg College in Tiffin, Ohio.

Dr. Dooley is president of the Medical Staff of Overlook Hospital and serves on the medical executive committee and the credentials committee. He is a member of the Professional Standards Review Organization, a federally-funded committee to rid medicine of unnecessary costs.

Dr. Dooley has lived in Mountainside for 15 years. Mrs. Barry for 27 years. Dr. and Mrs. Dooley's five sons and Mr. and Mrs. Barry's three sons and three daughters are attending or have attended Mountainside schools. Mrs. Barry has participated in the Community Fund, a forerunner of the United Way. She has been a Brownie leader and den mother, classroom mother and past president of the AAUW and the Gov. Livingston PTA.

Dr. Dooley and Mrs. Barry feel that the agencies supported by the United Way have helped Mountainside residents of all ages. They urge the community join them in supporting not only a good cause but one which can be used merely by picking up the telephone and asking for help. The agencies supported are: Rescue Squad, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of America, Youth and Family Council, Mental Health Association of Union County, Visiting Nurse and Health Services, Union County Psychiatric Clinic, N.J. Association of Retarded Persons and Union County Society for Crippled Children.

MMA seeking male vocalists

All Mountainside men and women this week were invited to take part in the Mountainside Music Association's 15th musical show, scheduled Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, it was announced by Mrs. Werner Schon, MMA president.

The show, held every two years, is a borough event. It will be directed by Mrs. Frank Magnolia. Musical director will be Aden Lewis, with Mrs. Frederick Wilhelms Jr. choreographer.

Mrs. Magnolia announced that the first rehearsal will be held this Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 8 p.m. in Deerfield School. Thereafter rehearsals will be every Tuesday and Thursday at the school, with a full dress rehearsal Nov. 29.

Schon issued a special call for borough men. "If you can carry a tune, we need you."

Adults offered racquet clinics during October

Adult racquetball clinics are on the Mountainside Recreation Commission's October schedule. The game is termed the fastest growing racquet sport in the country.

The commission is offering a one-hour introductory class which will provide basic instruction and playing time. The registration fee ($4 per person) includes instruction, court time and use of racquet and ball. Classes will meet at the Court House in Springfield.

Registration is limited to 8-class. The clinics will meet Oct. 16 from 10 to 11 a.m.; Oct. 17, 2-3 p.m.; Oct. 23, 7-8 p.m.; and Oct. 24, 7-8 p.m.

All registrations are on a first come, first served basis.

Additional information is available at 232-0015.

Try-outs for the 1980 women's A, B and C tennis teams are scheduled for October. The teams will participate in the Suburban Women's Tennis League.

The A and B teams practice and play Monday afternoons from early May through early August, the C Wednesday

Spots available for story hour

Pat Fennimore, head of the Children's Department, has announced that a few openings remain for the fall story hour program at the Springfield Public Library.

Sessions for five-year-olds will be held Monday mornings from 10:15 to 11 and Wednesday afternoons from 2 to 2:45. Four-year-olds will meet Tuesdays from 10:15 to 11 a.m. and Thursdays from 2 to 2:45 p.m. The story hours begin Monday and will continue for six weeks. Parents may register their children by calling Mrs. Fennimore at 376-4930.

Eye, ear tests free for public

The Mountainside Lions Club will offer free eye and hearing screening to the public from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday at the Mountainside Shopping center. Two doctors will be in attendance, assisted by the Mountainside Lions.

The eyemobile and hearing section will be located in the Central Jersey Bank's parking lot on Mountain Avenue in Mountainside.

The club also appealed for older non-usable eye glasses and frames to be turned in for the benefit of the needy. The entire cost of the project is borne by the club as part of its humanitarian effort.

Seniors entertained at Dems' pool party

The Democratic Committee to elect Lutz, Ehman, Vaccari and Byron held a pool party for Mountainside's senior citizens Sept. 8.

Joanne Rajoppi, Senate candidate, and Ralph Conti, municipal chairman, joined the local candidates in conversing with the senior citizens.

Mayoral hopeful Stuart Lutz said "the afternoon's activity gave me the opportunity to share the senior's feelings and discuss their needs in an inflationary world that discriminates against people on fixed incomes. I can't adequately express the enjoyment I felt while speaking informally with this group."

Ray Vaccari, council candidate, noted that the senior citizens "are aware that, as taxpayers, their needs are being ignored. The senior citizens understand that their most valuable tool for action is their vote and this year we expect them to exercise that privilege by voting for us as responsive candidates."

Tax collector candidate Barbara Byron stated that she was pleased with the enthusiasm of the affair. "The senior citizens have the time and experience to help our community and they are an overlooked asset in Mountainside."

The senior citizens appeared to enjoy themselves as much as the candidates. "This kicked off the fall campaign season for us. We couldn't have chosen a more enjoyable way to begin," Lutz said.

gaped. "By the way," he said, "I'm in favor of keeping it open."

Under state law, a school that is closed for three years or more must meet all the standards of a new school before it can be used: $156,000 worth of repairs and renovation for Beechwood, according to the committee's findings.

The exception to the law is if a building is leased to another educational institution or used for another educational purpose, such as a private school or an educational program. The regulation does not apply to schools reopened after that sort of use.

The information received from a $3,846 state-mandated master plan study done by Engelhardt and Engelhardt of Purdy Station, N.Y., seemed to have a persuasive effect on the audience. William J. Gross, an educational representative for the firm, told the audience that Beechwood

School could be closed whenever the borough wishes to move its total elementary school population of 717 pupils into Deerfield School, which has an official capacity of 1,039 students. Older students attend Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

"But I don't advise you do it," he said. Gross complimented the town, saying that he felt it was a good place to live.

"All through the country, schools are declining," he explained, "so increase your programs, give your children even more." The audience applauded his words.

Both Gross and the many parents at the meeting who urged keeping the school open were backed by a questionnaire that was given to Mountainside homes July and August. According to the committee, 50 percent of the forms were completed and returned, approximately 1,136 responses. Of those contacted, 65 people were "adamant" about keeping the school open, and only 6 people were willing to close it, the committee said.

The committee answered many questions and comments by saying that it had "considered the subject" and would include it in its final opinion on Beechwood Areas of concern mentioned by the audience included the chances of rapid area growth, the possible closing of Our Lady of Lourdes School and a baby boom.

Attenosio said the committee has determined that the borough would save $71,000 a year if the school is sold, but would only save $41,000 if the building is mothballed.

And in response to a question from Ted Schaefer of Silven lane, Attenosio revealed that Beechwood School still has approximately $110,000 in outstanding bonds that were issued to pay for the school's construction.

The committee chairman admitted to Stuart Lutz of Racoon hollow, an announced candidate for mayor, that "no study had been done" on the effect that a closed school would have on the values of homes in the area.

"But why would the school be sold if the community could grow back into it?" Lutz asked.

Attenosio answered that most communities decide that a building will not be used before it is closed.

The committee will discuss its findings at an Oct. 9 meeting of the Board of Education, and the public is invited to present opinions at that time. A final decision will be announced at a special meeting on Oct. 23.

"Closing a school is not that easy," Gross said after the meeting, "the neighborhood declines, vandals attack it. It becomes very difficult to sell. And unless you keep it heated and ventilated, you're going to lose it."

"Keep the kids there and enlarge their activities, have smaller classes. That's the best thing," he advised.

Cassidy plan: cut legislature

Patrick Cassidy, Democratic candidate for Assembly in the 22nd district, this week called for a reorganization of the New Jersey legislature from two houses with 120 legislators to a single house of 60 members, each elected from a separate district.

"The increasingly complex and voluminous legislation being proposed in New Jersey," Cassidy stated, "will not receive the detailed scrutiny it should if most of our legislators are seriously distracted by other, full-time jobs from which they have to earn their living."

"There are several advantages to a full-time legislature," Cassidy continued. "First of all, with a reduced membership it will not cost more than the present arrangement, and may cost less. Second, members would be elected from smaller districts, and this would improve contact of legislators with their constituents and allow closer scrutiny of those elected officials by the voters. Third, a single house would eliminate the present wasteful duplication of effort and reduce the time needed for consideration of legislation."

Davies retains post on Legion executive body

Warren R. Davies of Mountainside was reelected by the State American Legion at its convention in Wildwood to a two year term as national executive committeeman. Davies is the highest-ranking American Legion national officer in New Jersey.

In his acceptance speech, he urged the more than 100,000 members of the Legion and its auxiliary to become active politically. He said, "It becomes more apparent every day that if veterans are to remain an active force in shaping the future we must have our voices clearly heard. It has become equally apparent that the ballot box is the only language politicians understand and for this reason I strongly encourage all veterans to make their feelings known to their elected officials on matters dealing with legislation of concern to veterans and their families."

Davies, a legionnaire for 34 years, has served the Legion on post, county and state levels. In addition, he is on the national public relations commission.

Council meets

three could discuss the matter in private before giving their decision. The mayor escorted them into his office, then returned to the council and resumed the meeting.

Approximately 10 minutes later the three returned to their seats and Capece told the council that all three had decided that they would like the sewer installed. He also repeated his praise for Robert Koser, the borough engineer, and thanked the borough council for its assistance.

The actual cost of the sewer project is $13,800.50, which includes the cost of payments for easements on the three properties, permits and advertisements of legal notices.

In other council business, the meeting became an impromptu debate when Stuart Lutz of Racoon Hollow, the Democratic mayoral candidate in the coming election took the incumbent mayor to task over what Lutz alleged were excessive taxes and assessments. His main point of contention lay in the nearly $200,000 increase between 1978 and 1979 in the borough tax reserve, the money that is designated to be spent in lieu of money that is not collected because of unpaid taxes and property assessments.

Both the mayor and council member Nicholas Bradshaw answered his charges by saying that the increase in the tax reserve from $232,000 in 1978 to $414,000 in 1979 was "an accounting procedure" and the result of advice from borough financial consultants who had urged a conservative policy to guard against massive nonpayments of taxes, such as in bankruptcies.

"We have to run a very conservative program because of these possibilities," added Geiger. "We've earned $35,000 interest on the money that we have collected. I think we've been careful and smart in what we've done."

Several times during the questioning the tempers of the two candidates surfaced briefly.

"What's your point?" the mayor demanded of Lutz after the two had exchanged queries. "I think it's purely political. Where were you when the budget was being made up?"

Lutz replied, "Now that I am a candidate for mayor, these issues have come to my attention."

After another round of barbed questions, Lutz told the mayor, "I'm the one asking the questions."

"I'm asking the questions, you're making statements," Ricciardi retorted.

In further business, Geiger told the council of eight building violations in the borough involving illegal use of structures, or construction without building permits, and urged that any borough resident who was considering changing the use or layout of his property first find out whether a permit or variance is needed.

The State Department of Transportation sent a letter to the borough concerning the bedraggled condition of Chapel Island, the Rt. 22 traffic circle that is being used as a storage area for winter road materials. In the letter, DOT agreed that the island was in poor condition, but promised that all "non-essential" materials would soon be removed from the island.

The letter went on to praise the location as a prime site for the quick distribution of winter road supplies, such as salt, sand and calcium chloride, and advised the Borough Council that the island would continue being used for that purpose.

After the letter was read to the council and audience, Ricciardi remarked that the Department of Transportation had told him that grass on the island would be cut three times a year, but would be trimmed for only 10 inches from the roadway, unless the tall

A former resident of Irvington, Bell is a magna cum laude graduate of Kean College of New Jersey and of Rutgers University School of Law, where she received the degree of juris doctor in 1978.

She was a member of the appellate section of the Essex County prosecutor's office, and during the past year served as a judicial law clerk for Judge Leonard D. Ronco. Former Superior Court Judge Ralph L. Fusco will be associated with her as counsel. She resides in Maplewood with her two children, Rebekah, 13, and Andrew, 11.

VFW will honor former leaders

The Mountainside Post 10136, VFW, will meet Saturday to honor its past commanders. Joe Seijk, Bill Leber and Angelo Morganti have planned the party at the Mountainside Elks Club. Plans are being made for a fitting memorial for veterans who gave their lives in the several wars. Further details will be announced. The tribute is set for Nov. 11, Veteran's Day, at the Borough Hall.

Veterans who have participated overseas were asked to contact the membership chairman, Bill Leber, at 232-3976.

Dayton footballers open tomorrow in Clark

By PENNY LEVITT
 With opening season tomorrow at Johnson Regional in Clark, the Jonathan Dayton High School football team is generating lots of spirit and enthusiasm.

In a scrimmage last Saturday against David Brearley High School of Kenilworth, the Bulldogs demonstrated their ability to move the football, gaining 167 yards in three quarters of play.

The youthful offensive line, perhaps overly anxious, cost the team 66 yards in penalties yet provided good blocking for the running and passing game. The disappointing aspect of the game was the Bulldogs' inability to sustain a drive and score.

The defensive secondary—Ken

Klebous, Billy Ventura, Robert Irene, and Anthony Circelli—was on the ball. Dayton played well early in the scrimmage, yet Kenilworth's power offense took its toll.

Says Coach Angelo Senese, "As in all scrimmages we learned a lot about our personnel. Robert Dooley, defensive end, turned in an impressive individual performance. I feel we'll be ready for

Klebous, quarterback.

On defense: Robert Dooley, defensive end; Tim Holleran, left tackle; Paul D'Andrea, nose guard; Ron Buthman, right tackle; David Savage, defensive end; Kevin Iaione and Jack Parent, linebackers; Anthony Circelli and Robert Irene, cornerbacks, and Billy Ventura and Ken Klebous at safety.

If they don't want to miss the kickoff,

Bulldog fans should reach Arthur L. Johnson High School in Clark by 1:15 tomorrow.

Dayton takes cross-country 3-way meet

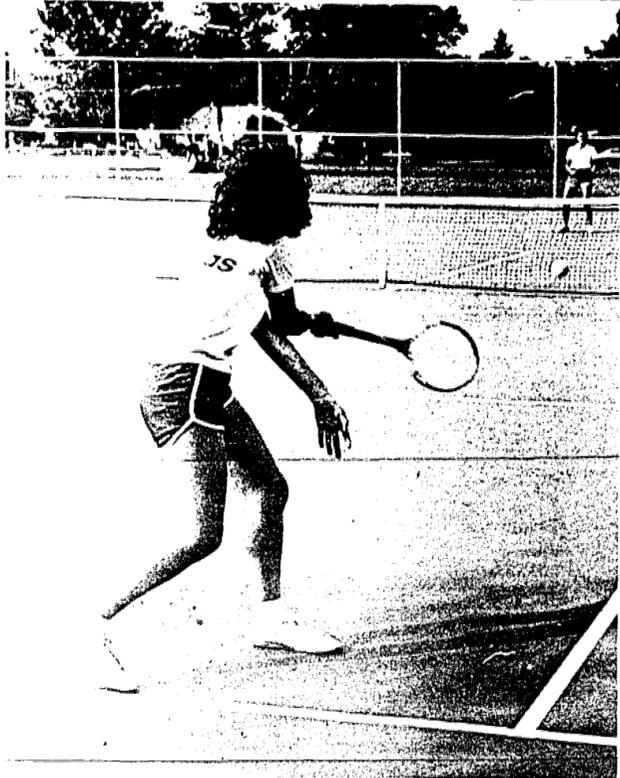

By DAVID GOLD
 The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross-country team is the first varsity team in the school this year to get off on a winning note, beating Caldwell and Madison at home in a tri-meet. Regional downed Madison 26 to 29, and defeated Caldwell in a tie-breaker.

"We didn't run a smart race," commented coach Martin Taglienti. "The first mile was too slow. The home course advantage was definitely a factor, as Regional seemed to be stronger earlier on in the race."

The top eight runners for Dayton were, in order: Jeff Knowles (2nd and 3rd place finishes), Jay Bruder (6th and 6th), Adam Silverstein, Steve Wright, Jim Roach, Glenn Estes, Steve Halpin, Louis Saemy, and Jon Fingerhut.

The next meet will be Saturday in Clark, a non-conference event.

Taglienti indicated that the team still had a long way to go, but said he would rather have that situation than have Dayton peak too soon.

Girls fall, 3-2; meet Caldwell

By DAVID GOLD
 The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School girls' tennis team opened its '79 season last Friday with a tough 3-2 loss to Johnson Regional High School.

Cathy Gerndt and Loren Miller played well for Dayton, winning the first and third singles matches, but the Bulldogs showed a weakness in the doubles, losing both matches. In second singles, it took three sets to down freshman Perri Teitelbaum; the second set went to a tie-breaker.

"It is hard to group doubles teams this early in the season," commented coach Edward Jasinski, who said he is planning some changes.

This afternoon Dayton faces a tough Caldwell team at home in hopes of bettering its record.

Bowmen offer archery class

The Junior Olympic archery development program of the Watchung Bowmen will conduct archery classes for boys and girls 9 a.m., Sept. 29, at the club's indoor range at Wood and Linden avenues, Linden.

The program is run on a bi-weekly basis by Tony Murawski of Mountaintop, who is the head NAA instructor and who has taught archery to over 300 boys and girls between the ages of nine and 18 since the program's inception four years ago.

Murawski emphasizes that one of the benefits of the archery program is that a youngster can proceed at his or her own pace to any one of eight levels of achievement. Equipment can be rented at a nominal charge. Further information is available by calling 232-3581 between 5 and 7 p.m.

Soccer Scene

By BILL WILD
 The names started leaking out over the weekend during the Oktoberfest. Did you ever try frying a hotdog and listen to the customers talking about Franz Beckenbauer coming to Farcher's Grove. When, and why, I asked? There is a team from Munich playing Wednesday night and Franz Beckenbauer's brother is on it, was the reply. Franz will take the opening kickoff. Rick Davis and Hubert Birkenmeier will also be here.

Great, as soon as I get done here in the kitchen I can find out more about it. It was then I found out that Werner Roth was to replace Rick Davis and he is trying to get permission to play in the game.

Two days before the game was going to be played Ed Firmani and his select team were going to have Jack Brand in goal. It was now my job to get some publicity in the daily papers. My first question was, "what is Beckenbauer's brother's first name." No one knew, and I still don't know if he even has a brother.

At game time Birkenmeier was there and so was Ed Firmani. Firmani led his team on the field and took up a center fullback position. Some of the Farcher's Grove fans were a little disappointed when Franz, his brother, Davis and Roth were not there but when the game started and they saw all the old stars on the field they turned their attention to the game.

All the players were in the over-30 bracket but the tempo was fast and hard. Two Munich defenders were replaced in the first-three minutes of the first half. The Jersey select scored their two goals in the first half and the Munich area oldtimers matched them in the second half for a tie.

Many of the Jersey Select team are now in coaching but the two outstanding coaches on the team were Ed Firmani and Manny Schellscheidt, who are two of the last three coaches of the New Jersey Americans.

After the starting lineup of the New Jersey team was announced, they listed Andy Mate and Heinz Teska as subs. If they would have been on the same team 12 years ago and only subs, that team could have beaten the Cosmos. It showed us that there is still some life in the boys.

The Farcher's Grove regulars are still a very negative bunch of soccer fans. They only yell when things go wrong and don't encourage the good plays. What else is new?

As of this writing I saw two soccer games played by Union High School varsity and they were played on the new field. It is a field that any football or soccer team can be proud of. I think the Cosmos would rather have a field such as Union High School has instead of the astro-turf they play on.

There will be a full slate of games this Saturday at the Grove as the Metropolitan Junior Soccer league swings into action. Drop in any time after lunch and watch the kids play.

Bulldog gymnasts attend clinic; meet Madison in opener today

Wrapping up preparations for today's season opener against Madison, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School gymnastics team attended a district-wide artistic gymnastics clinic Saturday afternoon. At the program were Dayton gymnasts Suzy Baker, Jean Ciazzo, Trisha Federico, Sue Feig, Penny Levitt and Jodi Ruff, others attended from Gov Livingston High School, Arthur L. Johnson High School and host David Brearley High School.

Nancy Dougherty, former coach of the Dayton squad, USGF and NJSIAA official and Union County Gymnastics

Tournament chairperson, spoke on interpreting new rules and how a judge determines a score in the four gymnastic events: Floor exercise, balance beam and uneven bars are judged according to originality, composition, amplitude, difficulty and general impression, she said. In vaulting horse, judges are concerned solely with pre-flight and after-flight.

Marvin Spidel, coach of the Columbia High School men's team an NJGJA official, discussed gymnast safety and caring for equipment. Spidel described several methods of preventing injury.

To conclude the clinic Jim Surgent, owner of Surgent's Elite Gymnastics Clubs, NJGJA official and state director for the U.S. Federation and the AAU, led a student-participation segment. Surgent demonstrated specific spotting skills, techniques and general strength and conditioning exercises.

Dayton coaches Ele Soisson and Gina Kish feel the girls benefited from the tips on routine skills, ideas for new tricks and a better understanding of judging procedures. The coaches plan to implement the clinicians' advice in future practices and meets.

The gymnasts, led by newly-elected captain Penny Levitt and co-captain Vicki Sarricmo, will compete this afternoon against Madison High School and Soisson is confident the team can win. The squad's next home meet will be held Monday, Sept. 24, at 3:45 p.m. against Arthur L. Johnson High School of Clark.

Dayton booters lose on disputed goal, 2-1

By DAVID GOLD
 The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School soccer team opened its varsity season Friday with a 2-1 loss to Kenilworth on a goal which, according to coach Joe Cozza, should not have been allowed.

With the score tied, 1-1, on a goal by Kurt Yoggy and a Kenilworth penalty shot, the deciding goal came on a play which, Cozza said, should have been disallowed because the Bears were offside. "The officiating could have been better," he said after the game.

Dayton was handicapped because of early game injuries to starters Marty Swanson and Don Meixner, who is expected to be out for about a week. Dayton, which faces one of the toughest schedules in the Suburban Conference, played Millburn Tuesday.

The Bulldogs played Rahway and Roselle in pre-season scrimmages. Henry Largey scored twice and Yoggy once in a 4-3 loss to Rahway. Largey and goalie Andrew Grett are the only freshmen on the varsity.

Dayton played a 1-1 tie with Roselle in a scrimmage which, Cozza said, the Bulldogs could have won. "We should have scored on a number of breakaways," he noted. Starting winger Yoram Rubanenko scored for Dayton. Others who impressed the coach were Grett, Miron Wasikiw and Keith Hannigan.

UC adds CC

Cross country will be added to Union College's intercollegiate athletic program for 1979-80, it was announced by Irwin "Wynn" Phillips, director of athletics at the Cranford school.

Union College sponsored a cross country team for several years, in the early 1970s, but dropped it because of a lack of student interest. The team will be open to both men and women, Phillips said.

"With the booming interest in jogging and long distance running, there has been a resurgence of student interest in cross country, so we are resuming the sport this year," Phillips said.

In addition to cross country, Union College sponsors intercollegiate athletic teams in soccer, wrestling, men's and women's basketball, golf and men's and women's tennis.

Phillips announced that the Owls' cross country team will meet 12 Garden State Athletic Conference foes in four triangular meets and in an individual meet against Essex County College. The Owls also will participate in the Garden State Athletic Conference and Region XIX, National Junior College Athletic Association meets on Nov. 3.

The schedule includes: Sept. 26, Atlantic-Mercer-Bergen, 4 p.m. at Atlantic County Community College; Oct. 2, Gloucester-Middlesex-Morris, 4 p.m. at Gloucester County College; Oct. 11, Essex, 3:30 p.m., at Essex County College; Oct. 18, Camden-Brookdale-USMP, 4 p.m. at Camden County College; Oct. 24, Ocean-Burlington-Salem, 4 p.m. at Ocean County College; Nov. 3, Region XIX-GSAC Meets, noon, at Brookdale Community College.

Fish bite well in cool weather

Fishing in New Jersey's lakes and streams can be a good bet during the fall months.

In fact, fresh-water angling is often at its very best during the autumn, according to the state Division of Fish, Game, and Shellfisheries.

Many fish tend to bite better as the water cools after the heat of summer and water conditions improve with the fall rains. And, there is usually much less competition with other water users, such as water skiers and boaters.

Trout in particular are now more inclined to feed and take a lure or bait.

Smallmouth bass fishing in the Delaware River and such streams as the Raritan and Ramapo rivers is good during the autumn. And, still-water fishing for bronze backs picks up, notably in Round Valley Reservoir.

Fishing for carp in both streams and impoundments from one end of the state to the other can be really worthwhile.

Fishing for muskies and walleyes most always improves as fall proceeds. Since muskie and walleye fishing was good this summer, a good fall can be anticipated. Except for a few scattered fish, most of the muskies and walleyes are in the Delaware River and the Delaware and Raritan Feeder Canal.

Pickereel and northern pike hit well all through the fall right into the winter season, as do white perch and yellow perch.

Pickereel and perch are well distributed throughout the state.

Fishing in farm ponds and park ponds is commonly overlooked by many New Jersey anglers. Fall is frequently the very best time to hit these waters. Panfish and the largemouth bass are usually the attraction. But, catfish should not be ignored, especially the channel cats.

Presbyterians name Byers to church job

The Session of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield has appointed Patty Burch Byers as director of education at the church. Mrs. Byers succeeds Mrs. Donald Kilbourne, who occupied this post for 10 years. Mrs. Byers will be in charge of the Church School and various youth groups throughout the church and will help to plan adult education courses throughout the year.

Mrs. Byers is a senior at Princeton Theological Seminary, having completed her undergraduate work at Occidental College in California.

During the past year she has served as a student coordinator of senior placement for the seminary, doing her field work as an intern pastor in Parish Pastoral Education in Greenville, Pa. She has also had pastoral experience through courses at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Phoenix, Ariz., and the Riverview Home for the Elderly in Philadelphia.

Henry Brucker, Clerk of the Session, said: "We are delighted with this new dimension that Mrs. Byers brings to the life of our historic church. Her youth and enthusiasm, coupled with her previous experience in church work, will greatly enrich the work the church seeks to do in this community."

Know Your Government

N.J. Taxpayers Association

FIRE DISTRICTS COME UNDER SCRUTINY

Special districts, a little known level of local government, have recently attracted the attention of the New Jersey legislature, reports the New Jersey Taxpayers Association. State law authorizes a variety of single purpose districts financed by local property taxes such as fire, garbage, lighting, and water.

In most New Jersey communities, fire fighting is a major government expense. The largest cities employ full-time firefighters who are paid directly from the city budget, while many municipalities subsidize certain expenses of volunteer departments. Some municipalities, however, have elected to create special fire districts, which are governed by elected commissioners who annually submit a budget for voter approval at election time.

The state Division of Local Government Services reviews and approves municipal and county budgets under law and regulation originating in the 1930s; however, the division has no financial authority over special districts.

Two legislative committees have recently focused attention on special districts. First, the Joint Committee on Tax Policy recommended in its recent report that the legislature immediately initiate a study of special districts with a view to severely restricting the circumstances under which any special districts are created. As an interim measure the committee recommended adoption of legislation to prevent further establishment of special districts until study of the problem can be completed. This proposal is the result of a number of municipalities creating special single purpose districts in 1979 as a means to avoiding the municipal spending limitation. The taxpayer receives no tax break, in fact, he may pay more because a service such as garbage collection, is removed from the regular budget and municipal purpose tax rate to be financed from a special district property tax levy just to finance that service. Since the cost is outside the regular municipal budget, it is not subject to caps, and so neither the other services in the municipal budget, nor garbage collection service, will be adversely affected by the financing shift.

A second recent development relating to special districts was a Superior Court opinion relating to municipal fire districts in Moorestown Township in Burlington County. Taxpayers challenged one of the fire districts with failing to comply with the open-meeting law, and with creating paid positions and paying salaries to various employees without complying with specific statutory procedures. The judge decided for the taxpayers on every major point. Moreover, another municipal fire district which was permitted to enter the case as intervenor also was declared to be functioning in violation of the law.

In 1976, the most recent year for which figures have been tabulated, there were 127 fire districts in 45 New Jersey municipalities supported by local property taxes totaling nearly $11 million. The number of districts varies from one per municipality to a high of 12 districts in Woodbridge.

In order to legalize fire district procedures that have been in effect for many years and successfully challenged in Superior Court, legislation has been introduced, amended and released from Senate Committee to change the fire district law. The amendments go beyond simply authorizing districts to hire employees without municipal governing body approval. They set forth more comprehensive procedures for preparing and adopting budgets, including notice and hearing, require specific budget detail, and provide for the municipal governing body to establish any budget rejected by voters. The lower court decision has been appealed.

"While the legislation clarifies procedures for taxpayers, it does not go as far as placing the finances of fire districts under supervision of a state agency. Accordingly, any future study of special districts should include such considerations," suggests NJTA.

Builders preserve harmony

Indian Forest, located on Old Stage road in East Brunswick, is being praised by conservationists for its innovative and ecologically sound style of community planning. The builders have taken an area of 122 acres and designated 32 as "open space" land. The open spaces have been carefully chosen to include any areas that either are environmentally sensitive or contain woodlands or other natural greenery.

The Indian Forest idea is actually an up-dated version of an old European pattern. Homes are grouped together in various clusters, leaving large amounts of untouched land between the groups. This allows the builders to situate individual homes so as to build around trees and vegetation instead of chopping them down, and to leave the natural grades of the land untouched.

The result not only is environmentally sound, but also provides a unique setting for the homeowner. The large expanses of woodland and greenery afford a private and relaxing atmosphere while avoiding the regimented look and feel of other housing developments. Natural trails running through the rolling spaces have been left intact for the pleasure of residents. The effect is one of complete harmony between the developed area and a sprawling 1400-acre county park located directly across Old Stage road.

"The real beauty of Indian Forest for the homeowner is that this country-like setting has all the advantages of city living," said a spokesman for the developers. "We're only 40 minutes from New York, a few miles from Princeton, and we're close to shopping centers, schools and colleges, everything anyone could want."

Seven handsome models are available at Indian Forest, with very attractive and competitive financing offered. Buyers may choose up to five bedrooms and 2½ baths, and all models include full thick insulation, all-wood windows, two-car garages, natural gas heating and cooking, and basements. The interiors are designed with spacious rooms that combine gracious living with the ultimate in convenience. Continuing the tradition of superior-quality building that they established in the Indian Head communities of North Brunswick, the builders offer in each home many features not usually available except through custom building.

Fortune's Wood gets a quick start in sales

Fortune's Wood, the new elegant single-family home community on DeMott lane near Easton avenue in Franklin Township, recently held its grand opening with fewer homes available than originally planned. A dozen homes already have been purchased by buyers who recognized the values the community offers in quality, price and location before the models and grounds were completed.

Developed by Mel Konweiser in partnership with the Cali Group, Fortune's Wood offers four spacious Colonial-style home models priced from $84,900. The prices include no-cost extras such as stained-oak rails, raised panel doors, marble-top vanities, natural slate foyers, customized kitchen cabinets, Majic Chef appliances, wall-to-wall carpeting in color-coordinated choices, abundant wall and ceiling insulation, no-maintenance aluminum or cedar shake exteriors, mirrored sliding glass doors where shown, paved driveways, etc. Each home is covered by the HOW 10-year homeowners warranty; natural gas is provided to the community.

"We have maximized a special location," Konweiser states, referring to the conveniences surrounding Fortune's Wood's quiet property in the midst of a township rich in preserved historical sites. Within two miles of the community is Rt. 287; the New Brunswick Amtrak station, for express commuting north and south, is three miles away. A cornucopia of shopping malls and stores is even

Ivanhoe Village

Ivanhoe Village, a newly opened housing subdivision in Manalapan, located on Union Hill road west of Rt. 9, announced its grand opening with the presentation of six Colonial models available for inspection.

Each of the handsomely designed Colonials, ranging in price from $89,990 to $103,990, include four and five bedrooms, 2½ baths, two-car garage, and full basements. To further enhance their value, the developer has included oak flooring throughout.

The models, open noon to 5 p.m., may be visited by taking the Garden State Parkway to Exit 123, Rt. 9 South, and proceeding to the Union Hill Road overpass. Bear right up the ramp and turn right for approximately one mile on Union Hill Road to models on right.

closer. The Franklin library and municipal building are steps away from the community entrance, as is the municipality's junior high school. In the immediate vicinity is the new Spooky Brook 18-hole municipal golf course.

"Along with the first discoverers of Fortune's Wood, those who purchase during the grand opening period can be assured of paying the least for their new homes and having early choices of the generously-proportioned homesites," Konweiser commented. "Even superior quality homes such as these cannot escape the inflationary increases in the costs of materials and labor. As is true without exception in the housing industry today, we expect that prices of each model will be increased in the near future."

Typifying the distinctive styling and roominess of the Fortune's Wood homes is the Nantucket model, a four-bedroom, 2½ bath home with attached two-car garage. There's everything New England about this home inspired by the salt box homes that date back to Colonial times

The Nantucket foyer is set in a recess between the garage and the main house. Immediately inside the front door, is a guest closet, and beyond, past the stairway to the second floor, are a powder room, a laundry room and adjacent utility room. A doorway leads from the garage to the laundry room. Also off the foyer, is the hallway leading to the living room and adjacent dining room. The kitchen includes a dinette area, and to the back of the home, there is the large family room with sliding glass doors leading to the rear yard.

Upstairs are the private quarters of the home. The master bedroom suite includes an extra-long closet and a full bath. The second bathroom with linen closet is off the hall between the other two bedrooms, one of which has a walk-in closet.

Among options available for the Nantucket are a wood-burning fireplace for the family room and central airconditioning.

The Fortune's Wood sales office is open daily, from 10 to dark on weekends and from 11 to 5 on weekdays. From Garden State Parkway Exit 127 or Turnpike Exit 11, take Rt. 9 south to Rt. 287 north, then Rt. 527 south towards New Brunswick, turning right on Easton avenue. DeMott lane will be a right turn approximately one mile away. The models are 1½ miles ahead on the left.

Exclusive sales agent for Fortune's Wood is the Eisenhower Gallery of Homes, Inc.

CLASSICALLY NEW ENGLAND—The Nantucket model home at Fortune's Wood reflects a prized architectural form. One of four models priced from $84,900, this home has four bedrooms and 2½-baths with attached two-car garage. Fortune's Wood is located on DeMott lane off Easton avenue in Franklin Township.

Hovnanian's Moved Florida to New Jersey.

If you've been wondering what all the excitement's about in the skies over Middletown, New Jersey, it's simple. Florida has arrived. Right here, in New Jersey. In the form of an actual Pine Ridge condominium home model that has been built right in Hovnanian's New Jersey office building on Route 35.

Naturally, bringing Florida north this way is extraordinary. But no more so than Hovnanian's unprecedented sales success. For months, New Jerseyans have been buying adult homes at Pine Ridge by the hundreds. Literally. And if that many smart people bought before the model was even here, you can imagine how fast these 1 and 2 bedroom homes are going to be snapped up now.

For the first time ever, you can get a taste of Florida's good life just by going to Middletown. Because this furnished model home gives you a first-hand sampling of why all five Pine Ridge models are so popular. You'll see the thoughtful layouts, the quality construction that have made Hovnanian famous up and down the East Coast. The included features. And best of all, the prices. Just $33,250 to $38,250 for some of the best looking homes under the sun. Believe it or not, that includes central air conditioning, carpeting, large private terraces and more, plus resort pleasures like a private swim club, shuffleboard courts, picnic groves and acres of nature, lakes and landscaping.

And here's another reason so many New Jerseyans are buying at Pine Ridge. Hovnanian guarantees — in writing — that your maintenance costs will stay at $29 a month for at least the next 5 years!

Meanwhile, in the balmy Palm Beaches, Hovnanian is ready to begin construction of Section IV (more than a year ahead of schedule!). As fast as Hovnanian's good news travels, Section IV will probably disappear very quickly. Which isn't good news for some people. Because Section IV is the final section at Pine Ridge. So this is the beginning of the end, you might say, of the Pine Ridge success story.

Are you going to miss your chance at the very last Pine Ridge homes to be offered? Not if you're smart. After all, Hovnanian moved Florida to New Jersey for you! Our model is now open for your inspection in New Jersey.

Visit Florida today. Right here at 10 Route 35 in Middletown, New Jersey. To reach Hovnanian's furnished Florida model home, just take the Garden State Parkway south to Exit 117. Then take Route 35 south for approximately 12 miles to the beautiful gold office building before Route 35 crosses the bridge into Red Bank. The model exhibit is on the second floor and it's open every day until 6pm. Or call (201) 842-9402.

Fast-selling one and two bedroom adult condominiums from $33,250 to $38,250. $29 a month maintenance guaranteed for 5 years.

Premium locations available at additional cost.

A giant tribute for Hovnanian

The reason behind the spaciousness of the homes

Great Waterfront Living!
From $119,000

Laguna Village

of Covered Bridge is now obvious: they were built by a giant. "Professional Builder," the leading trade magazine of the housing industry has designated Keryork S. Hovnanian's Hovnanian Enterprises Inc. as one of the nation's "giants in housing" over the past year. The designation was further confirmation of the firm's stature in its profession. Hovnanian Enterprises was one of only four New Jersey-based homebuilding firms on the roster of 398 "giants." According to the magazine, the Red Bank headquartered firm was 253rd on the list with total volume of $26,722,000 and sales of 608 attached home units for the year ended Feb. 28, 1979. Included in the reported sales volume were the heavy sales that resulted in the sell-out of Shadow Lake Village, the other Hovnanian Enterprises adult community in the Garden State, and the brisk pace at Covered Bridge, which is expected to be sold out within the year. Other Hovnanian Enterprises communities are located in Florida, Georgia, Pennsylvania and Texas, including recently introduced Condominium Homes at Pine Ridge in Palm Beach County, Florida.

"While it is an honor to have achieved a high position within my industry, I get tremendous gratification from seeing how much enjoyment has resulted from our efforts at the communities we have created," Hovnanian stated. At Covered Bridge, part of the enjoyment of residents is in the fact that they now have more value than ever in their homes. As the most northerly of the state's planned residential-recreational environments for adults, the Covered Bridge homes priced from $36,990 also are the most convenient to family, friends, jobs and entertainment in the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area. And it now has become a near-impossibility for community developers to duplicate the level and extent of recreational and social facilities built at Covered Bridge earlier this decade. Located off Rt. 9 in Manalapan Township, about nine miles south of Garden State Parkway Exit 123, Covered Bridge is already more than 90 per cent sold. Available to the final home purchasers are the last new homes, including the one and two-bedroom 6000 series models. Each has a spacious living-dining area, patio or balcony and spacious kitchen. And awaiting them are the activities at the Covered Bridge clubhouse. More than 80 hobby clubs meet there day and night; it is the scene of card games, billiards, exercise, saunas, library reading or just getting together with friends. Outside are an Olympic-size swimming pool and sun decks, illuminated tennis courts, paths for cycling, jogging and walking. There is also community private bus service to nearby shopping centers—one of many services provided by the Residents' Association for a small monthly fee. Gardening, lawn care, garbage collection, snow removal and exterior maintenance are also taken care of by experts. New Jersey's famous beaches, Freehold Race Track and Monmouth Park, the Garden State Arts Center and many hunting and fishing preserves are within a short drive from Covered Bridge. All the amenities and, of course, model homes may be viewed seven days a week. To reach Covered Bridge, take the New Jersey Turnpike (exit 11) to Garden State Parkway (Exit 123) and continue south on Rt. 9, following signs to Covered Bridge. You'll see the Covered Bridge Gateway to the Homes on your right.

Top firms relocating in county

Thomas Kates, senior vice-president, and George Valvano, assistant vice-president, of the Archie Schwartz Company's Office Brokerage Department announced 15 office space completions in the Union-Middlesex County area during the current 30-day period, accounting for the most active Union-Middlesex activity since the inception of the Office Brokerage Division. Major firms such as Western Electric Corporation, Millburn Fidelity Associates, Saxon Business Products, Standard Register, North American Life Insurance Company and Leukemia Society, have negotiated long-term leases in the area, representing either expansion or relocation moves. Kates commented, "This upsurge is representative of major firms moving into New Jersey. More and more we are seeing companies moving corporate headquarters into the suburban areas. Our Office Brokerage division, which services the entire state, including Essex, West Essex, Morris County, Bergen County, etc., is noting a demand for prestigious office facilities where firms will house their sales and managerial offices. It seems that New Jersey is the perfect location to serve the purpose." Western Electric Corporation opened an office in the area, taking a large portion of space in a modern building located at Sheffield street, Mountainside, as regional sales offices. Lanyard also handled long-term lease arrangements for North American Life, which took a substantial amount of office space on Morris avenue, Springfield.

Donald Klein, manager of the firm, commented that the move would increase sales in the metropolitan area. Gary Sokolowski, Schwartz salesman, negotiated on behalf of numerous firms, when they signed leases for office space in the Union-Middlesex area. Saxon Business Products, a national manufacturer and distributor of business machines, has taken a substantial amount of space in its already existing facility at Brown avenue, Springfield.

"NO BULL... IF I MOVED TO NEW JERSEY I'D LIVE AT PANTHER VALLEY."

"I guess you could say I've gotten used to the good life. I'm also used to having lots of open land around me. There's not a whole lot of places that could keep me tied down in the New York and New Jersey area...except for Panther Valley. And, from what I've been told, there aren't a whole lot of places anywhere like this community. Whenever I'd want to go into those concrete canyons of Manhattan, I'd be less than 60 miles away. And I'd be coming back to 1500 acres of rolling hill nature, private tennis, swimming and even platform tennis. And inside Panther Valley is the Panther Valley Golf & Country Club and its 18-hole championship course that was designed by Robert Trent Jones. You could say I'm also spoiled about not having to do the homestead chores that are handled for the Panther Valley residents, like exterior home maintenance, landscaping, road work and snow removal. The other thing the community has to offer is the 24-hour security, including the manned gatehouse. Right now, though, I don't have to make the decision. I don't think Panther Valley would take kindly to me bringing along 3500 head of cattle."

'Magic Show' at Mill, a fascinating evening

By BEA SMITH
Clowns, move over. All the world loves a magician—now!

At least, the patrons at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, are ecstatic over a slightly-built young man named Joe Abaldo, who performs unbelievable feats of magic to a spectacularly responsive audience in a show called "The Magic Show," which opened Sept. 12 in Millburn. Abaldo, who replaced the original Douglas Henning on Broadway in "The Magic Show," is a top calibre artist, who levitates objects, saws beautiful women and assistants in half, tears newspapers into tiny strips, only to make them whole again, with such ease, he has audiences sighing and panting in the palm of his "quicker-than-the-eye-can-see" hand.

His disappearing lion act is one of the outstanding highlights of the production. But wait the best is yet to come. Abaldo has one final trick up his sleeve—or however, he does it—is as overwhelming as anything this reviewer has seen on stage or screen. The Houdini "metamorphosis" trick—an escape and changeover from a heavily padlocked trunk.

During intermission on opening night at the Paper Mill, the lobby was filled with people discussing the various magic acts, and it seemed that everyone was trying to figure out how Abaldo did this trick or that. It was an impressive moment for the young man—who should have been in that lobby listening to his audience.

"The Magic Show" has music and dancing, too, with a book by Bob Randall and songs by Stephen Schwartz. Unfortunately, the music is uneventful, and the story line, weak and dull. The performers, however, are a hard working crew, particularly the women. Tudi Roach, a beautiful, long-limbed creature, who is sawed in half in the first act, and is returned whole in the second act, and Donna Lee Marshall, a waif-like performer, who assists the magician and sings sad songs yearning for the indifferent young man's devotion.

The others in the cast are worth mentioning—they are Christopher Lucas, Kevin Marcum, Cindy Cobitt, Robin Wesley, Richard Balestrino, Ben Felix and Arthur Howard.

Richard Schacher served as musical director, and the direction and musical staging was by Jay Fox. But as far as this reviewer was concerned, the only magic in this show is the magic itself. All else falls by the wayside.

BLINDFOLDED—Peter Falk is in trouble in "In-Laws," which opens tomorrow at Park Theater, Roselle Park, on double bill with "Capricorn One."

'Alcatraz' due at Maplewood—"Escape From Alcatraz," starring Clint Eastwood, opens tomorrow at the Maplewood Theater. Woody Allen's "Manhattan," starring Allen and Diane Keaton, ends its run tonight at the Maplewood.

"Alcatraz," which is based on a true story of three men, who escaped from the prison in 1962 and were never found, was directed by Don Siegel. The picture was photographed in color. "Alcatraz" also is being held over for another week at the Elmora Theater, Elizabeth, on a double bill with "Heaven Can Wait," starring Warren Beatty.

'Moonraker' on 2 screens

"Moonraker," starring Roger Moore as James Bond 007, begins its seventh week at the Five Points Cinema, Union, and will begin its second week at the Sanford Theater, Irvington, tomorrow. It is on a double bill at the Sanford with "Who Is Killing the Great Chefs of Europe?"

In "Moonraker," Bond turns spaceman to track a villain out to destroy the world. Lois Chiles, Michael Lansdale and Richard Kiel are featured. The picture, in color, was directed by Lewis Gilbert.

Proposals on teacher training become subject of heated debate

Are teachers adequately prepared? Is there a need to alter traditional methods of teacher training and preparation in our modern society? What changes in training programs would improve the quality of instruction offered in public schools today?

Teacher training is one of the hottest issues emerging on the educational scene. In fact, within the next few months the public and official debate now taking shape will come to a head, as a special commission of the State Legislature shapes its final report on teacher preparation programs.

The commission's preliminary recommendations—ranging from establishment of a two-tiered program of teacher certification to creating a one-year residency program for beginning teachers—have caused an uproar in educational circles, according to the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA).

Public hearings are planned for this fall. However, the commission already has held hearings "by invitation only" to educational organizations.

One preliminary recommendation which received nearly universal applause was a proposal that undergraduate education majors start receiving extensive student teaching and observation experience early in their college careers.

Other recommendations, however, received mixed reviews.

Recommendation: Creation of a two-level certification program, with an initial certificate to be awarded upon completion of a bachelor's degree program, valid for five years, and later a professional certificate to be awarded in not less than three nor more than five years.

Reactions: Elimination of permanent certification upon graduation is strongly supported by the school boards association, which feels that the two-tiered certification program is a step in the right direction. The school administrators association and teachers union also have responded favorably to the certification proposal. However, the teachers' group does not favor requiring completion of a master's degree prior to professional certification.

In opposition is the school business officials organization, which feels that a two-level certification program could represent an unnecessary bureaucratic step.

Recommendation: Establishment of a supervised, one-year residency program for first-year teachers.

Reactions: Negative feelings were expressed on almost all sides.

NJSBA feels that the role of a first-year teacher as a supervised resident is not appropriate for someone in full charge of a class, certified and receiving full pay and benefits. The plan might also dissuade districts from hiring first-year teachers.

The school administrators association and teachers union oppose a sub-committee recommendation calling for supervision of the intern by a "master teacher" who would work full-time for two or three years instructing new teachers and then return to his or her own classroom.

Recommendation: Development and approval by an institution of higher education of the post-bachelor's degree program for teachers seeking professional certification.

Reaction: NJSBA has expressed qualms that control of such programs by institutions of higher education might lead to overemphasis on course work and underemphasis on in-service training and equivalent experience. A similar opinion was expressed by the administrators association which feels that development of such programs should rest with the superintendent and administrators of local schools. The teachers' union is opposed to any plan which would have teachers undertake a professional development program heavily weighted with master's level courses.

Commissioner of Education Fred G. Burke also has questioned whether colleges should be given the responsibility for supervising professional development of new teachers.

Recommendation: Revisions of certification requirements should not affect currently-certified personnel.

Reactions: Varying degrees of support have been expressed on all sides regarding this recommendation. While favoring the proposal, the NJSBA feels that encouragement of voluntary professional development programs for all currently-certified teachers is necessary. Also in support, the teachers union and administrators association feel strongly that any recommendation should contain a specific "grandfather" clause.

Museum to present Irania, Cuban films

Two recently-released foreign-language films that played to enthusiastic audiences in New York City this summer have been booked by the New Jersey State Museum for free showings.

"The Sealed Soil," an Iranian film which won major awards at the San Remo and London film festivals, will be shown in the museum auditorium at 3 p.m. Sunday; "Death of a Bureaucrat," a Cuban satire that has been compared with the classic American comedies of Buster Keaton, Charlie Chaplin, Harold Lloyd and the Marx Brothers, will be shown at the same time on Sunday, Sept. 30.

Dialogue of "The Sealed Soil" is in Farsi, "Death of a Bureaucrat" in Spanish. Both have English subtitles. "The Sealed Soil," the first feature-length production by talented young director Marva Nabili, is set in a poor Iranian village on the edge of a new town. It is the story of the emotional and psychological dilemmas of an 18-year-old girl as she encounters the pressures of modern and western influences.

The State Museum, a division of the New Jersey Department of Education, is open free from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 1 to 5 p.m. weekends and most holidays.

Marriage topic for theologian

A first-ever program to assist Catholics married without church authorization will be presented at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 23, at Immaculate Heart of Mary hall, 280 Parker ave., Maplewood.

Sponsored by the Newark Archdiocese's Ministry to Divorced Catholics (MDC), the presentation is open to the public. The main speaker will be the Rev. Frank J. McNulty, nationally known theologian and author, and a faculty member of Immaculate Conception Seminary, Mahwah.

"We're rolling up our sleeves on this timely matter of conscience," said the Rev. Edgar Holden, MDC's director. "It's been swept under the rug too long." Noting that more than three million U.S. Catholics are in unauthorized marriages, Fr. Holden quoted the Vatican's Cardinal Franjo Seper who, several years ago, urged the world's bishops "to exercise special care to seek out those who are in an irregular union."

"So," Fr. Holden stated, "we are seeking them out! In fact, we feel we can offer some comfort and help to all of them."

why buy your new floor from any store when you can buy it from a specialist?

Frankly all stores selling floor covering have the same merchandise and, in most cases, the same price. Here are 4 good reasons why you will do better at LFO.

1. LFO is part of a buying group that bypasses the wholesaler and gives you a tremendous selection of in-stock current patterns at competitive prices.
2. LFO also buys special closeouts for those on limited budgets and bargain conscious customers.
3. LFO has been in the floor covering business exclusively for over 50 years. Our sales personnel range from 5 to 29 years of experience with us alone.
4. LFO takes a personal interest in your selection and installation. An LFO estimator will inspect your floor before the job, a qualified installer will put it down, and a follow up letter with applicable warranties will be mailed to you.

LFO ADVERTISING TRIES TO BE ENLIGHTENING AND HONEST. FRANKLY, FULL PAGE ADS THAT HOLLER AND SCREAM BORE US AS IT MUST YOU.

Nobody can have a sale 52 weeks of the year, and our experience as consumers ourselves has shown the reliability of the store selling specific products is more important than the size of its advertising budget. You have your plumber, your roofer, your heating man. We would like to be your floor covering specialist!

Upsala honors two next week at graduation

A former New Jersey man and a New Jersey publisher, author and businessman were awarded honorary degrees at fall commencement exercises at Upsala College.

The Rev. Henry E. Dirk, president of the Caribbean Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, who was awarded an honorary doctor of divinity degree, was the principal speaker. John D. Horn, president of Multivisions Corp. of Bound Brook, received an honorary doctor of humane letters degree. Both are Upsala alumni.

Mr. Dirk was a student at Thomas Jefferson High School, Elizabeth. After earning his degree in psychology at Upsala he was graduated from the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia.

Horn, who served as chairman of Upsala's board of trustees for four years, was graduated from Bloomfield High School and earned his B.A. degree at Upsala in 1948. In addition to being president of Multivisions, he is publisher of Big Eye Publications.

DIANE BODZIOCH will represent St. Adalbert's Parish in Elizabeth as Miss Polonia in the Pulaski Day Parade on Oct. 7. She will be joined in the march up New York's Fifth Avenue with Stephen Gill, an Elizabeth resident who has been selected as this year's marshal for the parade, and representatives of the Elizabeth Division of the Pulaski Association.

AAA Council backs highways bond issue

The Public Affairs Council of the AAA Auto Clubs of New Jersey has endorsed the $475 million transportation bond issue on the November ballot, strongly urging its more than 500,000 members and all motorists to support the proposal.

"The rapidly deteriorating condition of the highways and bridges in New Jersey demands immediate attention," said Donald L. Hughes, state chairman of the council, "and the only short-term, immediately-available means of financing repairs is through this proposed transportation bond issue."

"Unlike previous bond issues, noted Hughes, 'money from this proposal will be utilized for real projects which can be accomplished within a four-year span.'"

Hughes reaffirmed, however, that the AAA is opposed in general to bond-issue financing as a long-term means of funding highway maintenance and construction costs. "Bond issues are a stop-gap measure at best and, while the timing and merits of this proposal necessitate its passage, it is not the direction for the future," he said.

"Transportation Commissioner Louis J. Gambaccini has assured us that the state is committed to finding a long-term means of financing our transportation needs on an annual basis. And following passage of this bond issue, which will help alleviate some of the state's critical problems, the Department of Transportation will actively pursue means of accomplishing that goal.

"The AAA Council has fought for years to have New Jersey join the many other states that have found dedication of a portion of highway user revenues, such as tolls and taxes, as a sound annual means of financing highway maintenance and improvement needs. We trust that Gambaccini will investigate dedication as a means of accomplishing his goal of long-term stability in financing New Jersey's transportation needs," concluded Hughes.

Institute opens with full house

New Jersey Institute of Technology (NJIT) started its 1979-80 year with a full house—a capacity number of on-campus residents in its new dormitory.

The six-story building accommodates 210 residents. The first residential structure built on NJIT's 25-acre campus, it will be formally dedicated later this fall. It was constructed through state funding at a cost of about $2.5 million.

Students from all four years of undergraduate ranking are represented in the dormitory population. About a dozen of the upperclassmen serve as resident advisers, providing assistance and guidance to students not familiar with the institution.

Schools, museum set year-of-child exhibits

In celebration of the International Year of the Child, New Jersey Institute of Technology, Rutgers University Newark, the New Jersey Committee for the Humanities and the Newark Museum are cosponsoring "Mind-Child-Architecture."

The event consists of three separate exhibitions and a four-day conference united by a common theme: how architecture affects the intellectual, emotional and creative lives of children. Sanctioned by the United Nations, it is free and open to the public.

Speakers will include famous designer Buckminster Fuller.

More than 100 of the nation's foremost scholars and artists will present papers, workshops, seminars and creative works at "Mind-Child-Architecture," exploring architecture designed to meet a child's ever-developing needs, with examples ranging from floor terraces for crawling infants to "energy houses" designed by 10-year-old children.

The first phase of "Mind-Child-Architecture" is an exhibition at the Newark Museum entitled, "Where a Child's Architecture Dreams Come True," opening with a family day on Sept. 23. The museum will be transformed into a fantasy land of tree houses, castle islands, soft environments specially-designed for handicapped children, coloring-book rooms, clothesline-and-sheet houses, and a fantasy garden where children visiting the exhibit can play and build with huge artificial flowers, wooden connectors and blocks.

In addition to the museum's exhibition, which will continue through Nov. 25, "Aspects of Childhood: Sources in Recent American Art-Architecture" will be shown in the New Jersey Institute of Technology school of architecture's gallery, Oct. 3-26. "Dennis Oppenheim: Energy Transfers, Genetic Extensions, Works with Offspring" will be exhibited at Rutgers' Paul Robeson Center art gallery, Oct. 3-31. The three collaborating institutions are within a five-minute walk of each other.

School boards head backs caps but says system needs changes

As the Senate Education Committee opened hearings on New Jersey's school district budget caps, representatives of school boards from across the state were in Trenton to speak with legislators about the fiscal problems they face.

Speaking for the state's 611 school boards, Linda Albert, president of the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA), said, "We have always supported caps. While other organizations seek the wholesale abolition of budget caps, the NJSBA has recognized that they are necessary."

"What school boards seek," continued Albert, "are adjustments in the present system of caps to alleviate situations which work to the detriment of public education. The legislation we support relates to adjustments to the system which will enable it to accomplish more swiftly and effectively the good it was designed to foster."

She described a number of specific proposals of the school boards.

Extraordinary increases in "fixed costs" such as fuel and other utilities, which are beyond the control of the board, should be exempt from budget caps.

New programs mandated by state or federal law also should be exempt, at least for the first year.

The current, uniform method of calculating district budget caps should be revised so that the type of district is taken into account. For example, per pupil costs for a vocational school district are necessarily higher than for an elementary school district. Separate calculations would allow more equitable caps to be calculated for each, based on its needs.

Annual budget caps should be calculated from the budget permitted in a district the previous year, rather than the actual budget; otherwise districts which experience repeated budget defeats year after year are faced with continuously lowered budget caps in subsequent years.

Albert said that boards face the same inflationary pressures that all other segments of our society do, yet the growth factor built into the cap formula does not reflect inflation accurately. The growth permitted in school budgets is tied to the annual percentage increase in statewide property values, but only to three-quarters of that increase. Albert asked the Senate Education Committee to consider a change in the formula that would more accurately reflect inflationary trends. Without such a change, school boards will fall further and further behind in terms of the "real" dollars they are permitted to spend, she said.

"Due to these problems," she said, "school boards in all corners of our state have been forced to make cuts in educational programs in order to meet budget caps that are unnecessarily tight. We urge that corrective legislation now proposed to alleviate these problems be approved, so that school boards can provide the Thorough and Efficient education which is the right of every New Jersey public school pupil."

Museum lists events planned on Family Day

The Newark Museum's annual Family Day Sunday, Sept. 23, will honor the official International Year of the Child exhibition opening that day. "Where a Child's Architecture Dreams Come True." Free events for the entire family will take place from noon to 5 p.m.

The museum will be transformed into a fantasy land of tree houses, castle islands, soft environments specially designed for handicapped children, coloring-book rooms, clothesline-and-sheet houses and a fantasy garden where visiting children can play and build with huge artificial flowers, wooden connectors and blocks.

There will be wandering clowns and mimes, a treasure hunt through the museum galleries and colonial games to play. Special workshops in face painting and mask making will be held in conjunction with another new exhibit, "Art in African Living."

All Family Day activities at the Newark Museum are free to the public. The Museum is at 49 Washington St., Newark, with convenient parking available in the adjacent lot located at the corner of University and Central avenues. Those interested may contact the museum at 733-6600.

Pollen Allergy (Second of Two Parts)
You think you have a summer cold. But, it could be an allergic condition. And, moving to escape an allergy is not always the answer. If you have the tendency to be allergic, you could develop an allergy to a pollen in the new location. Certainly, any relocation should not be considered without consulting one's physician.

No cure for allergic disease has yet been found. The best measure is to avoid those substances to which one is allergic. Although one can make a home relatively allergen-free, it may be difficult to completely avoid allergens elsewhere. Depending on the nature and severity of the allergy, the physician may prescribe medications such as antihistamines, to help control the symptoms.

Immunotherapy—commonly called "allergy shots"—may also be recommended. By injecting small amounts of allergen over a period of time, this treatment gradually increases one's tolerance to the pollen or other allergens to which he or she is sensitive.

The tendency to develop an allergy can be inherited. Patients with allergic diseases almost always have a close relative with some type of allergic reaction. Scientists at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine in Baltimore—supported by NIH's National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID)—are investigating the genetic aspects of allergy.

Write to NIH-NIAID-SH, Bldg. 31, Rm. 7A32, Bethesda, MD 20205 for a free copy of "Pollen Allergy," Publication No. 76-493.

NIH is an operating agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Admission tests initiated by Catholic high schools

The Rev. Thomas J. McDade, assistant superintendent of schools and testing coordinator for the Archdiocese of Newark, announced this week that a testing program for eighth graders who apply to Catholic high schools has been initiated.

One program will be coordinated in the archdiocesan school office, utilizing testing centers in the Catholic high schools throughout the archdiocese.

Pupils now in the eighth grade of Catholic elementary schools will be tested during the normal testing process for those schools and will apply for admission to the high schools of their choice during the fall.

Public school eighth grade students desiring to apply to Catholic high schools are requested to go to their local Catholic elementary school or CCD center for applications. The applications must be registered with the Archdiocesan School Office, 300 Broadway, Newark, N. J., 07104, by Oct. 26. After Nov. 1, the applicant will be notified as to where the test will be given, as well as additional details regarding time and other requirements. The testing centers will receive a list of students to be tested prior to the actual testing date.

Testing will take place between Nov. 5 and 10. On Nov. 5, 6, and 7, the parochial school students will be tested in their own schools with the complete battery of tests, including the admissions test. On Nov. 10, the public school students will be tested at the designated centers.

Subsequent to the test, the other requirements for application to particular high schools will take place. Test results will be communicated to the schools in early January 1979, and notices will be sent to the pupils Jan. 16, regarding the action taken on their application by the high schools.

"The testing program provides the high schools with an objective standard by which the student is measured," Father McDade said, "but it is only one of several factors entering into the final choice. The student's academic record in elementary school, the appraisal by the student's teachers and principal, and other factors all go into determining whether or not the student should be admitted to a particular school's program."

"We encourage all students in our public and Catholic school eighth grades to participate in this program, investigate the Catholic high schools in their area, and make application for admission to the schools they feel best meet their needs."

Teachers back suspension law

James P. Connerton, executive director of the New Jersey Education Association (NJEA), this week praised Governor Byrne for signing S-1455, which mandates suspension of students who assault school employees.

"We are pleased that the state has recognized the seriousness of the violence problem in our schools," Connerton said. "This bill, along with a bill signed earlier in the year which mandates the reporting of all incidents of violence and vandalism to the state, will help bring the violence problem under control."

NJEA lobbied for passage of the reporting bill and for S-1455, which was sponsored by Senators Wynona Lipman (D-Essex) and Charles Yates.

"We hope that students will realize the consequences of assaulting a school worker which are set down in the bill," Connerton said.

Kunstler talks at Kean tonight

Attorney William Kunstler will open the Kean College Townsend Lecture Series with an appearance at Wilkins Theatre tonight at 8 p.m. Free tickets are available at the Kean College student activities office.

On the college lecture circuit Kunstler has stressed the need for changes in the American judicial system. The topic of his lecture at Kean is "Is There Justice in America?" Kunstler, in recent years, has represented Joann Little, Patty Hearst, Daniel and Phillip Berrigan and the Chicago Seven.

Further information is available at the Kean College Student Activities Office, 527-2044.

Caldwell will start 40th year

The official opening of Caldwell College next Wednesday marks the 40th anniversary of the school. The occasion will be observed with a Eucharistic celebration at 12:15 p.m. followed by an informal reception. The public is invited.

A Catholic liberal arts college for women, Caldwell was founded in 1939 by the Sisters of Saint Dominic under the leadership of Mother Mary Joseph, O.P., with the approval of the Most Rev. Thomas Joseph Walsh, then archbishop of Newark, who became its first president. It was incorporated under state law Aug. 10, 1939.

The academic staff has grown from the original 24 to 150 men and women of diverse religious, ethnic and academic backgrounds.
