Election highlighted local news in '79

Mountainside's most hotly contested municipal election in many years was the highlight of local news during 1979. The campaign ended with a sweep for Republicans Thomas Ricciardi, Abe Suckno and Dr. Marilyn Hart. Mayor Ricciardi and Councilman Suckno were incumbents; Dr. Hart next week will become the first woman ever to serve on the council.

The Board of Education ended a continuing controversy, at least for another year, by voting to keep the Beechwood School open for the 1980-81 school year. Bart Barre and Carl Martinelli were elected to the board, defeating Peg Reilly and Scott Schmedel.

In another phase of education, the Deerfield School basketball team ended its season with a perfect record of 14-0.

A detailed review of the year that was in Mountainside is printed below.

January

The local municipal government, including most committees, boards and employees, remains, for the most part, the same as in 1979. The borough council gets one new face, ROBERT VIGLIANTI, replacing DON HALBSGUT. THOMAS SPINA, elected in November, continues in the council seat to which he was appointed one year ago. MATTHEW J. RINALDO, U.S.

Representative for the 12th Congressional District, announces that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has given approval for the start of construction of a $3 million dam in Lenape Park to prevent flooding along the Rahway River. Evening its record at three wins and three losses, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity basketball team defeats Pingry school to win its Christmas tournament. Senior MIKE MEIXNER scores points in the 46-42 victory. The high school track team opens its winter season with a 65-11 win over David Brearley High School. More than a year of negotiations between the borough and the Policemen's Benevolent Association, Local 126, come to an end as PBA President JAMES DERBIE and Mayor THOMAS RICCIARDI sign agreements for patrolmen and superior officers. The contract provides for rate hikes of five, six and seven percent in each of the next three years respectively.

February

After 16 months of negotiations, the memberships of both the board of education and the teacher's association receive and unanimously approve a memorandum of understanding outlining a two-year contract between the two bodies. The contract, Dr. LEVIN

Educators under cap with proposed budget

By SAM FINNELL

The Union County Regional Board of Education last week unanimously adopted a tentative 1980-81 school budget that conforms to state cap figures.

The proposed budget of $17,119,579 constitutes an increase of 7.53 percent from the current fiscal year. After the subtraction of budgeted expenses that are not paid by local taxpayers—such as state categorical aid—the increase falls within the 6.525 percent cap, according to Harold Burdge, board secretary.

Cap is the state-mandated limit on local budget increases each year.

Current expenses increased 7.55 percent; capital outlays go up 35.1 percent, and debt service, 7.53 percent. Current expenses total $15,979,950; capital outlays, $280,090, and debt service, $859,539.

The budget-figure for teacher salaries for 1980-81 has risen 5.63 percent, to $8,555,630. All salaries in the district rose 5.85 percent to $10,702,240. The teachers' contract expires Aug. 31, 1980.

Major proposed increases include $211,600—or almost 70 percent—for heat. As with electric costs—up 41.6 percent—Burdge said, the percentages are figured with respect to last year's budgeted sums, which, because of skyrocketing costs, have been surpassed for this year. Budgeted expenditures for heat for 1980-81 might constitute only a 42 percent increase when compared to the amount actually spent in 1979-80, Burdge said. He said the money for the overexpenditure this year would not necessarily require emergency appropriations as money usually becomes available during the year because of staff changes.

The board also has budgeted a 17.1 percent increase in property and liability insurance, which brings the total insurance to $153,450.

On the reduction side, the budget contains no provisions for summer school, except for the weight-training program. The cut frees $73,650, Burdge said.

Burdge also said that next year's budget is "predicated on staff reductions of 18 people."

In other action, the board approved funds for the after-school intramural activities for handicapped students. The programs, which will include such activities as bowling and wheel-chair floor hockey, may begin as early as January, according to John Christiano, director of special services for the district. Most of the activities would be held at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Clark, or at David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth, because the two schools house the majority of handicapped students in the district. The programs would be held a minimum of 18 hours per three-month period, Christiano said.

The board also has decided not to delete or add any girls' or boys' sports for 1980-81. If enrollment or interest warrants the addition of a girls' sport, Burdge said, a boys' sport would have to be cut to free the funds.

'Santastic' job; a 75-lb. statue spirited away

Dr. Seuss's legendary Grinch may have passed through Mountainside last week, stealing a 75-pound concrete Santa Claus from the front lawn of a Central Avenue home on his way.

Police report that sometime between 10 p.m. Monday and 6 a.m. Tuesday, the figure, which is 36-inches high and valued at $200, was taken.

In another case, police report a Westover Court residence was ransacked last week. A list of missing property was not available because the residents spend the weekdays in New York City, police said. A neighbor, who reportedly told police he watches over the home during the week, said he checked the house at 10 a.m. Wednesday, and everything was in order. The break and entry was discovered by the same neighbor early Thursday afternoon, police said.

Entry was gained by smashing the glass on the rear storm door and prying open the inside door, police said.

ON THE WAY UP—Todd Turner, deputy captain-elect of the Mountainside Rescue Squad, gives a lift to Brownie Scout Meg McCarthy as she paints the United Way thermometer at the corner of New Providence Road and Route 22 to its latest total. Peggy Moser, looking on, reported for the United Way of Mountainside trustees that 68 percent of the fund's goal of $25,000 has been reached. She urged all residents of Mountainside who have not yet contributed to the fund to send their donations to the United Way of Mountainside, Box 1164, as soon as possible so that the goal can be reached. ## Regional board will meet Jan. 8

The Union County Regional High School District Board will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 8, at 8 p.m. at the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Westfield Avenue, Clark. All residents of the district have been invited to attend.

Seniors entertained by Deerfield pupils

Mountainside public school students were hosts to members of the Mountainside Senior Citizens Club at a recent tea in their honor at Deerfield School.

The seniors were welcomed to the school by Deerfield Student Council Vice-President Amy Kiell. A number of students described their work in different subject areas. Math students measured the height of various guests and converted it to metric terms; language arts students determined the birthdays of various senior citizens and told what important events had occurred on those days. Other presentations and displays involved industrial arts, science, foreign languages and the gifted and talented workshop.

Seventh grade students made up an informal welcoming committee, and helped serve refreshments baked by sixth and seventh grade home economics classes. Table decorations (Continued on page 3)

Nursing home bid is rejected

The Mountainside Board of Adjustment has voted to turn down an application from a Pennsylvania-based firm for a zoning variance to build a nursing home on the Wilson Tract.

According to Joseph Coviello, board attorney, a resolution on the rejection will be read at the board's Jan. 14 public meeting.

Benjamin F. Miller, under whose name the application was submitted, sought to construct the Mountainside Center for Nursing and Convalescent Care, which would house 180 beds and require parking space for 90 cars.

The Wilson Tract is a 112-acre site extending along Route 22 west, across from Chapel Island.

Senate approves bill to alter energy rules

A bill by State Senator Donald T. DiFrancesco (R-Union) that would modify energy policy in New Jersey to include the consideration of coal-fired power plants passed the State Senate with unanimous approval.

DiFrancesco's original bill, introduced in the Assembly months before the Three Mile Island nuclear mishap, stipulated that utilities would be unable to pass on to consumers the cost of any nuclear plants not currently in operation unless a "reasonable method" of waste disposal is developed.

Senate amendments limit the application of the bill (A-3037) only to those plants not now under construction, and direct the New Jersey Department of Energy (DOE) to study the economic feasibility of converting to coal any of the plants now being built.

"By involving state energy experts in the decision as to what power sources and Danny Spotts and Eric Miguelino contributed.

The Seniors' third season victory was their easiest as they trounced Millburn, taking quarter leads of 11-6, 27-15 and 44-26. Minuteman guard McNany injured his wrist at practice.

Keselica finished with 14 points and eight. Rosenthal had eight points, Colandrea seven and Graziano six.

Eric Wolf contributed eight points, Miguelino six and Walter Clarke three. Siegel, Nicholson and Daniel all contributed baskets. Outstanding board work was turned in by Miguelino (15 rebounds) and Nicholson (11).

New Providence proved tough for Springfield last Saturday. The two teams were tied, 10-10, after the first period and the Minutemen were able to open up a four-point lead over the next two periods. It was 37-33 going into the final stanza with the Minutemen in foul trouble. When high scorer Colandrea fouled out, the Seniors held on to salvage victory by a basket.

Colandrea finished with 16 points Keselica had 15 points and 13 rebounds. Graziano added eight assists, three steals, and 11 points.

Rosenthal played a strong second-half, getting six points, five steals and 10 rebounds. Robert Daniel added a basket, as did Miguelino. Other key players were Wolf, Schlager and Nicholson.

Juniors win two of three for 3-2 log

By CRAIG CLICKENGER
Victories over Little Flower of Berkeley Heights and New Providence and loss to Millburn have brought the Springfield Junior Minutemen's record to 3-2.

The Juniors' toughest battle ended in a 40-38 conquest of the Berkeley Heights boys' team. Springfield matched Little Flower basket for basket in the first half before leaving the court with a 20-18 deficit. The Juniors took command with a 12-8 third quarter and a 10-10 fourth quarter wrapped up the victory.

Mitch Nenner led the team with 14 points, five assists and three steals. David Cole and Joel Greenberg each had eight points and combined for 13 rebounds.

Peter Petino had 10 rebounds, four steals and four points. Danny Klinger added 4 points, eight rebounds and eight assists. Carlos Hernandez added two points. Mike Blabolil contributed to the Juniors' success.

The Juniors got off to a slow start against Millburn and ended up with a 54-48 loss. Springfield was outscored in the first quarter, 16-4, and it was an uphill battle from there on in. The Juniors cut the deficit to 26-21 at halftime but trailed, 43-36, at the end of the third quarter.

Nenner was outstanding with a 24-point performance, six steals and three assists. Petino added 13 points, eight rebounds and 6 steals. Klinger added seven points. Cole and Hernandez had two points each. Cole's 12 rebounds led the Juniors. Blabolil, Grenberg, Mike Fruchter and Anthony Graziano played well.

The Junior Minutemen began the holiday vacation with a 57-34 victory over New Providence. Super defense and high-geared scoring gave the Juniors a first-half 31-6 lead.

Bulldogs lose to St. Patrick's but jayvees win second in a row

By PENNY LEVITT

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team suffered a 51-48 loss to the St. Patrick's Celtics of Elizabeth last week. The first quarter left the Bulldogs trailing and, although they excelled in the second quarter, they were behind at the half, 38-34.

The Bulldogs' strong, aggressive defense forced the Celtics into a tight fourth quarter; for two breathtaking minutes the lead bounced back and forth. St. Patrick's then pulled ahead in the last seconds to win.

Coach Ray Yanchus noted that the team is having difficulty converting its strong hustle of defense into a winning offensive. Although the Bulldogs kept their fouling in check, their inexperience was evident — they passed up excellent opportunities for layups and foul shots.

Craig Clickenger led the team with 11 points. Anthony Circelli and Adam Joseph each added 10 points, Mitchell Toland contributed seven, Billy Ventura four and Albert Garguilo, Kenny Klebous and Don Meixner each had two.

Jonathan Dayton's junior varsity won its second in a row by beating St. Patrick's last week, 81-40.

The Bulldogs' first Suburban Conference game will be against West Orange at home Friday, Jan. 4.

Varsity letters given to Dayton's athletes

Varsity football, soccer, cross-country, gymnastics, girls' tennis and cheerleading standouts received commendations and letters at the fall sports awards assembly held in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School's Halsey Hall.

New Jersey Secretary of State Donald Lan presented a letter of recognition and commendation from Gov. Brendan Byrne to Martin A. Taglienti, coach of the 1979 Suburban Conference cross country championship team.

Lan, representing the Governor, cited the value of competitive sports in molding young men and women. He pointed out that Taglienti's track record—362 victories, 51 losses and two ties at Dayton—is one of the most impressive accomplishments in the state.

His teams have won six sectional titles, nine conference championships, 14 invitational championships, one state championship, one county championship, one state indoor championship and one state relay championship. This winter, Taglienti turned over the reins of the indoor winter track squad to William Jones, his long-time assistant.

CHUCK ALLAN
Allan receives soccer letter

Chuck Allan of Mountainside, a graduate of Pingry High School and a junior at the College of Wooster (Ohio), recently earned his third letter for his participation on the Scot soccer team.

Allan scored one goal for the Scots this season, as Wooster outscored its opponents, 35-32, for the season.

As a team, the Scots recorded seven shutouts, including a string of five in a row, to finish the season with a 9-7 record against what opposing coaches called the roughest schedule faced by any Division III school. A season-ending loss to Oberlin cost Wooster the Ohio Athletic Conference Northern Division crown, marking the first time in five seasons that the Scots have not claimed that title. Wooster has just two seniors lost to graduation.

Allan is the son of David and Connie Allan of Oak Tree Road in Mountainside.

SHARI REICH
Reich is given varsity letter

Shari Reich of Springfield earned her first letter with the volleyball squad this fall at Susquehanna University in Selinsgrove, Pa. With four freshmen among the six starters, the Crusader volleyball team had a 3-10 mark in its third varsity season.

Nettes subdue N. Providence in sharp debut

By CRAIG CLICKENGER

The Springfield Nettes, a team of junior high girls' basketball players, opened their season with a victory over New Providence last week. The seven-player squad, directed by Coach Phil Kurnos, looked impressive in its debut.

The Nettes dominated New Providence in the first half, taking a 19-4 lead. New Providence scored 17 points in the second half but it was too little too late.

Springfield's Linda Hockstein scored 14 points; Mary Pat Parducci added nine. Kathy Drummond seven and Kathy Meixner five.

Michele Kennedy finished with two points. Lori Pohlman and Cathy Dahmen also contributed.

Growing Older

Senior citizens should take advantage of legislation restoring medical deductions for people over age 60. You can now deduct all medical expenses over $35 a month for purposes of meeting income qualifications.
If you're single with a monthly net income—after deductions—of less than $306, you could qualify for food stamps, under the current law. Married couples with a net monthly income of less than $403, eligibility is likely.
Financial resources," however, will be taken into consideration determining food stamp eligibility. If one married partner is over 60, a couple can have up to $3,000 in financial resources—such as a savings account and a car. A single person can have up to $1,750.

Have regular medical check-ups.

Red Cross appeals for emergency funds

The Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross is continuing its public appeal for national emergency disaster funds. Between July 1979 and September 1979, the American Red Cross committed more than $23 million on disaster relief operations in the United States. This exhausted the $18 million budgeted for the year, leaving only $2 million for operations during the balance of the fiscal period, ending June 1980.

Since July 1, 1979, the Red Cross has provided assistance in 21 national disaster relief operations. July through September brought on one of the worst disaster periods in the past five years.

Funds were spent for preparedness, to furnish food and shelter to 453,331 victims and emergency workers and to give assistance to 70,668 individual families. The major portion of the $23 million spent on relief and preparedness is attributed to three major storms this past summer, Hurricanes David and Frederic and tropical storm Claudette.

Ernest S. Winter, chairman of members and funds for the Westfield-Mountainside Red Cross, urged all area residents to send tax-deductible contributions to the American Red Cross Emergency Disaster Campaign, 321 Elm St., Westfield.

Proposed FTC rule attacked by Grimm

"The Federal Trade Commission's proposed trade regulation rule on standards and certification appears to be a case of bureaucratic overkill," according to Thomas M. Grimm of Mountainside.

Grimm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Grimm of Summit Road, is a junior mechanical engineering major at Worcester Polytechnic Institute who has just returned to the Worcester campus after seven weeks at WPI's Washington Project Center. With two other students, he worked at the Washington office of the National Association of Manufacturers analyzing the FTC proposed rule to determine if adoption of the rule would provide the benefits to the public claimed by the FTC.

Grimm commented, "What we tried to do in this project was to prepare an objective summary of the pros and cons of this highly controversial ruling. The FTC, who prepared the proposed trade regulation rule on standards and certification, claimed that the new rule will correct a great many existing abuses with benefit to the public. Opponents, and there are many, claim that existing laws and current practice provide protection for both business and the public and that the new rule would add costs which would have to be passed along to the public."

"We took the proposed regulations section by section and interviewed people on both sides of the question. We found the opponents very willing to comment. We talked with people from trade associations and from some of the leading standards-setting groups. When we tried to talk with those who drafted the FTC report, it was a different story. "Even though we explained to the people at the FTC that we were not working for anyone on either side of this argument, we found them somewhat reluctant to discuss the ruling with us. It took a half hour to convince them that we were not under contract to the National Association of Manufacturers. We felt that since the opposition had given us plenty of arguments against the rule, those who supported it should have an equal opportunity.

"Our conclusions at the end of this study were that while the FTC has determined that present standards-setting procedures have the potential for abuses, they have given no evidence that actual cases of abuse are of such magnitude as to justify this proposed ruling. It was difficult to see how the proposed changes would actually eliminate any of these problems:

Middletown facility specializes

Residents at Middletown Park Manor in Middletown, N.Y., come from as far away as Florida and Virginia, says Sal Piazza, managing partner.

That is most unusual for a health-related facility, says Piazza, especially since there has been a tremendous amount of adverse publicity regarding nursing homes, health-related facilities, retirement residences and the like. Rarely is there an article about a facility offering fine and outstanding services.

Roger Ward, business manager, continued, "People therefore are very wary when it comes to placing their loved one in a health related facility. They tend to classify all alike and they're really very knowledgeable and sophisticated. They check out a half-dozen before they decide. That is why we're mighty proud of what we have accomplished here at Middletown Park Manor."

"Our facility has only been in operation a little over a year, and it reached 100 percent occupancy over five months ago. The management of Middletown Park Manor has made certain that the some 130 guests' comfort, safety, conveniences, recreation etc. is not spared in any way."

Switchboard is on duty 24 hours a day, central heating and air-conditioning system provides year round climate control and the facility is approved and recognized by the New York State Department of Health. The staff at Middletown Park Manor has a combined experience of over 100 years in the field of geriatrics and health related facility care, Ward said.

A full range of recreational activities is planned daily and are all professionally supervised by experts.

A nutrition expert plans each menu with the chef and each resident is assured of delicious food with special diets strictly adhered to.

Middletown Park Manor is located on a scenic five acres of wide-open space with plenty of outdoor activities

The large, sunlit bedrooms are cheerfully decorated and the residents have panoramic views of the landscape from their bedroom windows. Each room is equipped with a hookup for private phones and a distress-call button in case of emergency, and a two-way audio intercom system to a nurse's station. There's even a separate generating system in case of power failure.

The building itself is 100 percent fireproof and fire resistant, and in many areas far exceeds safety features required by governmental agencies regulating these facilities.

Even though Middletown Park Manor is in a purely countrified setting, it is within walking distance of the Orange Shopping Center.

To reach Middletown Park Manor, drive north on the Garden State Parkway into the New York Thruway West on the Thruway to exit 16 (Harrimen) onto Route 17. Take Rt. 17 to exit 120 (approx. 17 to 18 miles), and at the bottom of the exit ramp turn left at traffic light to the third light, and left again into Dunning Road, Middletown Park Manor is one-half mile on the right.

MIKE TOBIA of Hillside has joined Brick Church Appliance, 2714 Morris Ave., Union. Tobia comes to the large appliance chain store with a rich background in the business. He and his wife, Angelina, recently retired from Tobia's Appliance Store, Liberty Avenue, Hillside, after 35 years of business. Tobia has been active as a member of the Rotary, Elks and Knights of Columbus for over 28 years.

National fraud in insurance costs $44 billion

Approximately 15 to 20 percent of the annual increase in premium payment is the direct result of insurance fraud, says an Allstate Insurance Co. spokesperson. Insurance fraud, which costs honest policyholders an estimated $3 billion a year, is one of several major white collar crimes—committed by people we all assume are respectable citizens. White collar crimes include forgery, the obtaining of money through false pretenses, mail fraud, perjury and arson for profit. The price tag on these crimes is estimated at more than $44 billion annually. Some white collar crimes, including insurance fraud, are committed by organized crime syndicates.

What is insurance fraud? Basically, it is deceiving an insurance company for financial gain, says the Allstate spokesperson. Three major areas of insurance fraud are becoming more and more of a problem to the industry, he said. They include: —Fraudulent damage in an auto accident; auto-theft rings not only steal cars but stage accidents for profit. Many times, rear-end collisions are planned for multiple gain.

—Arson for profit: crime-syndicate leaders have organized large specialist pools of manpower as arson cooperatives. Depending on the type of arson job to be performed, one or several specialists may be used.

—Fraudulent bodily injury claims: Here, the malingering claimant takes an unnecessary amount of time off from work following an accident and passes the cost to the insurance company. Or, medical personnel file fabricated Medicaid and Medicare claims.

You're on the road to DISASTER when you DRINK & DRIVE

Stay on the path to safer living and keep away from the wheel after you've had a drink. Statistics indicate that many holiday deaths occur as a result of people who've mixed alcohol and driving. Don't be the next victim...& don't make statistics of innocent passengers and pedestrians. If you take a drink...let someone else drive this holiday.

MEDICARE GUIDE

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare is offering an eight-page guide to beneficiaries that can help them in choosing private health insurance to fill the gaps in Medicare coverage.

Put together by HEW and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, the guide covers four broad subject areas—hints on shopping for private insurance, basics beneficiaries should know, types of private health insurance and a list of what Medicare pays for and what it doesn't.

The guide is designed to help combat an estimated $1 billion annual "ripoff" of the nation's elderly who are induced to buy worthless supplemental insurance. If a person decides to buy supplemental insurance, the guide also offers some easy-to-follow tips about the actual purchase and follow-through.

For a copy of this helpful guide, write: MEDICARE, 100 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco, CA 94102.

World of art opens to kids at Rutgers

Young children often think the Rutgers University Art Gallery in New Brunswick is where Stephanie Grunberg lives.

"A lot of children have asked me, 'Is this your house? Are these your pictures?'" says Grunberg, who directs a variety of educational programs for children and adults at the state university's gallery.

"I explain to them the museum is not mine," she says. "But because when I talk about the pieces, I tend to be proud of them, the children just naturally think the things have to be mine."

An enthusiastic young woman, Grunberg organizes special events for preschoolers, such as a recent sculpture workshop; teaches Saturday morning classes for children age 6 through 12, in which craft projects are related to gallery exhibitions, and directs a federally funded art involvement program for high school students.

Since the latter program began in October 1978, she has worked with more than 500 high school students. "I try to show them what goes on behind the scenes in the gallery," she says.

"I talk about who made the choices in organizing an exhibit, and why the museum decided to put up certain things. Students often assume that paintings have always been there on the wall."

Grunberg also teaches adult courses in art history and appreciation and conducts tours for the general public. Both the classes and tours are free.

"An appreciation of art is really learning how to look," she says. "Being visually aware helps us in terms of all the aesthetic decisions we make each day."

She suggests that adults planning to take children to an art museum call first to find out which exhibits would interest young visitors.

Ask the museum's education department for specific recommendations, she advises. A request for information is not an imposition. The museum staff is there to serve the public.

Sculpture, large paintings and portraits appeal to viewers of all ages, she says.

"For young children, I wouldn't recommend very detailed things that require tremendous concentration to appreciate," she says. "However, teens like detail."

As for modern art, children usually react quite favorably, she says. "Everything is new and exciting and interesting when you're young," she observes. "Children are more open minded than adults. If something is unfamiliar, children will be excited by it."

The hardest concepts to explain to young children regarding art are pattern and time, Grunberg says.

She uses visual cues to help small viewers understand pattern, which she defines as repetition in line, shape, mass or color. She may have the children look for patterns on their clothes, or do a rubbing of a sneaker sole with crayon and paper.

To help children appreciate how old a work of art is, she asks them when they were born, and then compares their ages with that of the object. She also tries to instill the notion that art works are worth preserving for the enjoyment of boys and girls in the future.

Older children have often been conditioned to shy away from art museums, she notes regretfully. "I've seen adults who walk in museums with kids and start shushing them up, which helps condition that sort of reflex—don't talk, don't breathe, don't move in this place," she says.

"More than anything else, I want children to be comfortable in the art museum. If they have a good time, a fun time, they're more apt to come when they get older."

New benefits given by food stamp rules

New food stamp rules to help households with elderly or disabled members will go into effect Jan. 1.

The rules allow special medical and shelter deductions for households with persons who are aged 60 or older, or who receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or disability payments under the Social Security Act.

The new rules allow elderly and disabled people to deduct the medical expenses which exceed $35 a month from their incomes. This does not apply to expenses which are reimbursed by insurance programs and the deduction does not apply to household members who are not elderly or disabled.

Elderly and disabled people now will be able to deduct the full amount of their shelter costs which exceed one-half of their adjusted income. Prior to this there was a fixed shelter deduction. Allowable shelter costs include rent and mortgage payments, utility bills, property taxes, and home insurance.

Food stamp eligibility and benefits are based largely on household size and net monthly income after deductions. By reducing households' net income, the new deductions will new households to qualify for food stamps and will mean extra benefits for households now participating.

These regulations were authorized by Congress in response to concerns that the elderly and disabled had been particularly hard hit by the tighter eligibility rules of the Food Stamp Act of 1977.

Commissioner Klein noted that the 1977 regulations hit families with children equally hard. "Unfortunately, Congress chose not to respond to their needs," Klein said.

People who believe they qualify for the new deductions may contact their local food stamp office or call the New Jersey Food Stamp Hotline, toll free, at (800) 792-9773.

Fatality count down this year on N.J. roads

After a poor start early in 1979, New Jersey has lowered its motor vehicle fatality rate and stands an excellent chance of finishing this year with fewer deaths on the highway than last year, according to a report by John A. Waddington, director of the Division of Motor Vehicles and Governor Byrne's personal highway safety representative.

In a pre-Thanksgiving message in which he urged travelers to slow down, take it easy and arrive safely, Waddington said that the state has experienced 907 vehicle related deaths so far this year as compared to 923 a year ago this date.

"While not a sensational drop in the fatality rate," the director said, "the 16 lives saved represent visible and living proof that our unceasing fight to keep our roads, streets and highways safe is progressing."

Waddington said that, in seven of the nearly 11 months of 1979, there have been significant decreases in the highway death rate.

Business news

PHYLLIS M. BIGGS, formerly manager of financial services and business development of the Newark Economic Development Corp., has joined the United Counties Trust Co. Loan Division as assistant vice president community investment officer. The announcement was made by Raymond W. Bauer, chairman and president of United Counties, Elizabeth, who indicated that Biggs will be working with federal, state and local economic development agencies to determine areas where the bank can give financial assistance, or advice, on community projects planned within the bank's trade areas of Union, Monmouth and Somerset counties. She also will concern herself with the needs of small business owners in the urban areas.

PAUL G. ROGERS, a former member of the U.S. House of Representatives, has been elected a member of the board of directors of Merck & Co., Inc., effective December 18, replacing WALTER H. PAGE, chairman of J.P. Morgan & Co. and Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York. Page retired from the Merck board after 14 years of service.

Rogers, a senior partner of the Washington law firm of Hogan & Hartson, was a representative from Florida's 11th Congressional District for 24 years. At the time of his retirement from the House last year, Rogers was chairman of the Subcommittee on Health and Environment of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. In that position he gained wide recognition as one of the most influential individuals in the United States on health matters.

Public Service Electric and Gas Co. reported that earnings for the 11-month period ending Nov. 30, 1979, were $2.65 a share of common stock compared with $2.67 in the corresponding period of 1978, when there were fewer shares outstanding.

Operating revenues increased to $2.2 billion from $2 billion a year earlier. Total electric sales rose one percent in the 11 months over the comparable 1978 period. Although commercial sales increased two percent, residential sales were up only 0.4 percent and industrial sales 0.5 percent.

Overall gas sales increased 4.2 percent in the 11 months as a result of substantially higher usage by commercial and industrial customers on interruptible and off-peak rates, mainly because of a price advantage in alternate fuels.

Directors of Midlantic Banks, Inc., have declared an increase in the quarterly dividend on common stock to 59 cents per share from 54 cents per share. The increase, which amounts to 20 cents per share on an annualized basis, is the maximum permitted Midlantic in order to remain in compliance with the regulations of the Council on Wage and Price Stability as applied to financial institutions. The board also declared the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share on each series of Midlantic's preferred stock.

Both the common and preferred stock dividends are payable on Jan. 15, 1980, to shareholders of record at the close of business on Jan. 2.

Frank B. Allen Jr., president of the Maplewood Bank and Trust Company, has announced that the board of directors has increased the quarterly dividend from 40 cents to 45 cents per share payable Jan. 30, 1980, to stockholders of record of Jan. 14, 1980.

At the same time, Allen announced that a 3 percent stock dividend will be paid Feb. 25, 1980, to stockholders of record of Jan. 18, 1980, in addition to the cash dividend of 10 cents per share declared earlier this month.

This quarterly dividend was the 132nd in succession to be paid. Allen noted that the bank will observe its 60th anniversary in 1980.

Base will rise in '80 for Social Security

The Social Security tax rate will stay at 6.13 percent for 1980 but there will be an increase in the earnings base, Robert E. Willworth, Social Security district manager said.

The earnings base, the maximum amount of annual earnings subject to the Social Security tax, will be $25,900 in 1980, compared to $22,900 for 1979.

Workers who earn less than $22,900 will pay no more tax in 1980 than they did in 1979. Those who have earnings of $25,900 or more in 1980 will pay an additional $183.90 in Social Security taxes.

The maximum 1980 Social Security tax will be $1,587.67 for workers with annual earnings of $25,900 or more. The maximum tax for 1979 is $1,403.77.

The tax rate for self-employed people will stay at 8.10 percent for 1980, Willworth said, but the higher earnings base will mean a bigger tax bill for those with earnings of more than $22,900.

Workers should check their 1979 W-2 forms carefully, he said. A copy of this form is used to enter a person's covered earnings in Social Security records.

Workers should check their Social Security records every three years or so. People can get a free postcard for this purpose at the Elizabeth office.

CHECK OFFER WITH CARE
Your home has been for sale and now you have an offer that appears acceptable. It's extremely important to review the offer with care. Check the names and property description. Is the deposit adequate? How long will your home be off the market waiting for the mortgage commitment? Can you move by the possession date? What is included in the sale?
Be sure you know how much cash you will receive if points are involved, do you have to pay any? Everything must be in writing.
The offer to purchase is binding on the purchaser for the time stated in the offer.
