The State We're In

N. J. Conservation Foundation

All Gaul was divided into only three parts, we are told, but that's better than New Jersey, which consists of 567 individual parts, each jealously guarding whatever autonomy it musters under the tradition of "home rule" in this state we're in.

That's how many municipal governments coexisted in New Jersey the last time I looked. I guess there's a certain romance in the theory of home rule, but I don't intend to probe the question. My interest lies in the fact that it's 567 times harder to do anything constructive about generating statewide land-use policies than in some other states. Even that number is conservative. You can also add our 21 counties and literally hundreds of special districts with land-use effects, such as sewer and water authorities.

This tradition of home rule, predating the Revolutionary War, has obviously worked overall through the years, as is evidenced by a little state which deserves high marks for the way it has run itself.

But just as we are in an era of environmental problems, like wind-blown pollutants, which ignore mere political boundaries, so New Jersey has reached the point wherein it has to address its development patterns seriously. After all, it's already America's most densely populated state, with more highway per person than any other, and I guess more automobiles, too.

What we've got here is a state with a remarkable amount of farmland and even wildlands (like a fifth of the state occupied by the generally unspoiled Pinelands). It also has the husks of many cities like Newark, Paterson, Trenton and Camden which were once very good at the job of being cities but which now keep a lot of space where woods and farms now survive.

We at the New Jersey Conservation Foundation and a lot of others have been saying for a long time that New Jersey needs a turnaround, with cities getting recycled so that they can keep on being centers of population, culture and commerce without contributing to development of more cities elsewhere.

Economically, that's a logical idea because it costs taxpayers about as much to run a city as a healthy one, what with the need for police and fire protection, schools and all manner of municipal services like water and sewerage. That argument is strengthened now that we don't know where our next tankful of gasoline is coming from, and that we're not growing in population anymore, just migrating.

So I've been very interested in evidence from the administration of Governor Brendan Byrne that something is being attempted in Trenton to alleviate this threat. The idea is a logical one: Make our cities better so that people will want to stay there. The way to do this is to focus all the many regulatory powers and public funding of state government to nudge development back toward the cities. It's that simple, and if it works it will be a monument to the Byrne administration. That activity is centered in the Office of Policy and Planning.

Already, we've seen the emphasis on development of Liberty State Park in Jersey City. It's our first urban state park and for the past two years has attracted astounding numbers of visitors who can arrive by mass transit as well as by private autos.

Now Jerry Fitzgerald English, commissioner of Environmental Protection, is moving forward with a plan to clean up and revitalize the Hudson River waterfront in New Jersey. That's a logical first step toward renovating cities.

I'd like to learn more about Governor Byrne's plans. It looks smart to use existing governmental machinery to deflect development from open areas, instead of attempting legislation on regional zoning which would probably diminish local interest in ensuring that good things happen. One thing is clear—567 local units can figure what's happening on a neighborhood basis, but they need help doing it.

Know Your Government

N.J. Taxpayers Association

Federal civilian employment in New Jersey has declined in recent years to approximately the same level as in 1968. This is in contrast to the steady increase in state and local government employment in New Jersey over the 1968 to 1978 period, according to the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, a private non-partisan governmental research organization entering its 50th year of operation.

According to figures published by the U.S. Office of Personnel Management, New Jersey had total federal civilian employment in December 1978 of 68,650, a decrease of 256 from 1977 and 1,031 more than the 67,619 employees 10 years earlier. Federal figures do not include members or employees of Congress, most judicial branch employees, or employees of the Central Intelligence Agency or National Security Agency.

Total United States federal civilian employment in December 1978 was 2,852,328, a decrease of 16,339 from 1977 and 105,311 from 1968. Most of this decline occurred in the number of federal personnel located in foreign countries. Federal civilian employment in New Jersey has decreased each year since its peak in 1975 of 71,017.

School board withdraws request for federal funds

By SAM FINNELL

The Mountainside Board of Education voted Tuesday night to withdraw an application for federal funds because the board fears an expensive long-range commitment.

The federal funds would have helped pay for technical assistance in implementing an energy audit report. The report details energy-saving measures in the schools for the board.

The board would have had to pay funds of more than $5,000 to match the federal funds.

Accepting the federal funds, however, would have required the board to sign a statement of its intent to implement all the measures on the report, according to John McDonough, board secretary. The implementation of the changes would cost the board more than $400,000, McDonough said.

McDonough also said, as an example, that the saving from the measures would pay off the capital investment at Deerfield school in roughly 28 years.

Board President Dr. Arthur Williams said, "It would be beyond the board to be involved in this kind of situation."

And, in reference to the board's having the report's recommendations in hand, board member Bart Barre said, "We got our money's worth."

In another matter, the board defeated a motion by board member Patricia Knodel to consolidate the two libraries at Deerfield School, 4-3. The motion grew out of discussion of a report from school principals on the library system.

In short, the report recommended that, while the system is functioning well, an effort should be made to have a full-time librarian at each school.

Knodel, Charles Speth and Linda Eschmayer voted in favor of the motion, while Barre, Williams, Jerrold Kolton and Carl Marinelli opposed it.

The board also approved teacher salary guides for 1980-81 and 1981-82. The 7 1/2 percent increase for both years agreed upon in a recent settlement allows for a starting salary next year of $12,385 for a teacher with a bachelor's degree.

In curriculum business, the board asked Dr. Levin Hanigan, superintendent of schools, to survey parents of sixth-graders to determine whether there is sufficient interest to offer the German language in seventh and eighth grades. The survey also will determine whether there is interest in dropping the language requirement.

Paul Hulse, whose wife Rosemarie submitted a petition to the board on the question of adding German, told the board that Mountainside students are at a disadvantage when they enter the regional system, which does offer German, because they do not have the necessary background to enroll in German. He also said that the Springfield school system does offer German in seventh and eighth grades.

Hulse suggested that parents with students in private schools, because of the lack of German on the curriculum, participate in the survey.

Hanigan also announced the formation of a special Education Parents Advisory Committee. Knodel will serve as the board representative to the committee, and PTA President Peggy Wilson is the ex-officio member. Other members are Jane Von Der Linn, Roz Dorien, Iris Rappaport, Marianne Murray and Janice Barrett.

The board also accepted the resignation of Lois Mishkin, part-time speech therapist, who will be replaced by Joan Kuta of Saddlebrook some time before the middle of February.

In June of 1979 the Committee on Senior Citizens Housing for Mountainside met with the mayor and council. The result of the meeting was the mayor agreed to appoint a committee to study the question of a referendum to find out if the citizens of Mountainside are interested in such housing.

In August or September the mayor finally appointed the committee. To date, January 1980, the committee has not met. What are they waiting for?

If you are interested in some moderate income senior citizen housing in Mountainside I suggest you call the mayor and let him know. Or call a councilman (or woman) or both.

SENESE PRAISED

Our reaction to the headlines in today's edition of our newspaper was one of complete disbelief.

How can Mr. George Doty fault Coach Angelo Senese completely for Jonathan Dayton's football team's loss record over the past two years? Does he not realize all that comes into play to effect a win? Granted, there were a couple of painful losses, however, the improvement in the team was very apparent.

Our boys played quality high school football for the first half in most of the games. It was certainly obvious that the boys were taught well in the basics of football. The lack of follow-through in the second half could conceivably have been attributed to factors such as decreased stamina, reduced emotional control, absence of lucky breaks, etc.

How does Mr. Doty explain the fact that none of the boys quit the team but saw it through to the end of the season. That, in itself, would indicate the respect the boys had for Coach Senese and, also, we feel is indicative of the great job he did in impressing on them the importance of good sportsmanship.

We are certain no one could compete with Coach Senese in his desire for even a few wins, not for himself but as encouragement and to reward the boys for the hard work and real effort they put forth in preparing for the season and for each and every game.

We find difficulty with the recommendations "that Mr. Senese not be considered for tenure and that he not be rehired" especially since tenure is based upon classroom qualifications and proficiencies rather than a football record. It is equally distressing that this recommendation seems primarily to be based on newspaper articles. One has to agree that a score does not always depict the quality of the game that was played nor are newspaper articles truly representative of the facts.

In closing, we would like very much to go on record that we are in complete support of Mr. Senese and, as parents of this year's quarterback, feel very strongly that we are most fortunate to have the caliber of a Mr. Angelo Senese as football coach and as an English teacher in our school system. He most definitely does not deserve this treatment and we, frankly, are embarrassed at this development.

IN CONGRESS

Matthew Rinaldo

Shaking off dependence on foreign-oil producers is so important that the federal government should be setting an example in energy conservation.

Unfortunately, almost the reverse applies. Federal agencies generally are doing such a poor job of energy conservation that President Carter finds himself in the embarrassing position of urging Americans to "do as I say and not as I do."

As the nation's largest consumer of energy, the federal government is in a position to contribute significantly to energy independence while also cutting costs and aiding the economy. But in many respects, it is acting as if it had never heard about an energy shortage.

Even the Department of Energy, which is busily circulating advice on ways to conserve energy, is among federal agencies getting a failing grade in conservation.

The department's fuel saving has been rated by the Energy Undersecretary as "terrible." Gasoline and diesel use, for instance, shot up 28 percent in the past year while the department's overall energy requirements have remained virtually stable.

Surveys show that on average, energy conservation within the federal government has been at a standstill during the past four years.

A major exception has been the achievement of the Defense Department which has cut back sharply on energy use in each of the past three years.

Excluding the Defense Department statistics, the rest of the federal government shows an increase in energy use.

The significance of federal energy consumption can be judged from the fact that the 10 largest federal agencies use enough energy to heat 11 million homes and to fuel all the automobiles registered in New Jersey and New York.

A sharp reduction in gasoline and diesel used by federal agencies is important both for the direct fuel savings it would yield and for the encouragement it would provide for energy conservation in the private sector.

The Department of Energy should be in the vanguard of this conservation drive. Otherwise, the impression will spread that the administration has adopted a policy that conservation is good for the people but not for the government.

It is not only in gasoline and diesel fuel that the federal government should be doing a better job of conservation; energy use in buildings also plays a major role.

Federal agencies own or lease 403,000 buildings and burn more than 100 million barrels of oil a year for heating, cooling and lighting.

President Carter has called for a 20 percent cutback in energy consumption in existing federal buildings and a 45 percent reduction in new buildings by 1985.

But surveys show there has been a poor response. According to the General Accounting Office, the Department of Energy has failed to develop an effective conservation program to be followed by the agencies.

A congressional committee looking into the matter found that federal agencies generally consider the efforts of the Department of Energy to be burdensome, paper-pushing exercises devoid of meaning in terms of saving energy.

Some agencies consider the DOE guidelines to be not only ineffective but certain to generate massive energy-consuming paperwork.

Pedestrian hit on Route 22

A 70-year-old Westfield pedestrian was listed in satisfactory condition earlier this week, in the intensive care unit at Overlook Hospital, Summit, with leg injuries he suffered when he was struck by a motor vehicle Friday on Route 22.

Abraham Yablon was struck by a vehicle driven by Nobuhiko Kituzawa of Oak Tree Road, Mountainside, at about 6:30 p.m., police said.

Kituzawa was waiting for an oncoming car to pass before making a left turn from New Providence Road onto Route 22 eastbound, and the oncoming vehicle blocked Yablon's view of the vehicle Kituzawa was driving, police said. Kituzawa made the left turn and struck Yablon, police said.

Students make yule brighter at institutions

Students from three schools in Mountainside helped make last Christmas a happy one for children in hospitals, homes, day nurseries and detention centers.

Three students from Deerfield school put on an animal show for 63 day care center children at the Roselle Day Care Center in Roselle. After the show, the girls, Sarah and Beth Post, and Mary K. Huelbig, gave each child gifts that were donated by all the students in Mountainside. The girls were assisted by Eileen Didgeon of Clark.

A show was presented at the Union County Detention Center in Elizabeth, and each resident received a couple of presents.

On Christmas Eve Colleen Delaney, Kelly Attenasio and Eileen Didgeon went to the Juveniles In Need of Supervision Center and the Marguerite Dube Children's shelter at Runnells hospital to put on a show, and give out presents and refreshments.

Caroline Hedrick, Katie Cushman, Laura Bass, Kim Swanson, Colleen Delaney, Dana and Lois Foster, Kelly Attenasio and Eileen Didgeon performed at the Specialized Children's Hospital and passed out gifts to the patients. The same group went to the children's ward at the Elizabeth General Hospital to present an animal show and pass out gifts.

All the gifts and toys were donated by the students of Our Lady of Lourdes School, Deerfield School and Beechwood School, all of Mountainside, and St. Bartholomew's school in Scotch Plains.

$5,000 value put on jewelry

Mountainside police are investigating the theft last week of jewelry, cash and silverware from a Central Avenue home.

Sometime between 10:30 and 11:30 a.m. Monday, police said, a jimmy was used to force open the front door. The entire house was ransacked.

The jewelry was valued at approximately $5,000, but the value of the other items has not been determined, according to police.

Detective Sgt. Jerry Rice is handling the investigation.

Asked about the apparent increase in daytime burglaries in Mountainside, Rice said: "That seems to be the trend they (the burglars) are taking. Maybe they're finding it too hard to find people away at night, because of the weather. In the summer, people go out in the evening."

Rice said the burglars are striking houses located on main roads, such as Central Avenue, to avoid getting lost on back roads.

Regional track team to compete in County Relays on Saturday

By PENNY LEVITT
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School track team has solidified its reputation as a strong and competitive squad. The runners dominated a dual meet with Gov. Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights. The girls' squad virtually swept the meet, giving up only one point. Coach Bill Jones was particularly impressed with Kathy Kelly's performance in the 880 yard dash.

Medal winners for the boys include: hurdles, Paul Commarato, first place; 880 yard run, Jeff Knowles, first, Keith Hannigan, second; mile run, Jeff Knowles, first, Jay Bruder, second; two mile run, Jay Bruder, first; high jump, Paul Commarato, first, Keith Hannigan, third.

Dayton traveled to Pennsylvania Jan. 12 for the first Passarelli Invitational, competing against 27 other teams. Strong efforts were turned in in the mile run (Janis Levine, sixth), shot put (Maria Sannino, fourth), pole vault (Paul Commarato, first) and two mile relay (Glenn Eitz, Keith Hannigan, Jay Knowles, second.)

Jones was impressed by Knowles' excellent running and commended Adam Silverstein and Jimmy Roche on their two mile run.

Dayton will compete in the Union County Relays in Elizabeth, Saturday. Next Tuesday, they will be host for their second dual meet against Arthur L. Johnson High School of Clark.

Dayton's swim team works hard in drills

By CHARLES EICK
Jonathan Dayton Regional High School's new swim team, coached by Melinda Wilson, practices every morning before school at the Union Boy's Club. Approximately 10 meets are lined up, including such schools as Union, Cranford, Rahway, Madison, West Orange and Pingry. The team swims in a coed league.

Baron, Mark Dooley, Donna Goldstein, Jamie Flemming, Lisa Kiel, Ellen Kiel, Barbara Goldner, Scott Worswick, Kirk Behrarg, Marie Ann Bronco, Dominick Giovannona, Mark Mendlen, Suzy Baker, Lisa Jackson, Joelle Haughey, Frank Kelly, Pat Mulreany, Tony Delia, Jane Austin, Cynthia Souza, Kevin Drexler, Cheryl Pittenger and Dawn Delia.

Newer swimmers showing promise are Kirk Behrarg, Mark Dooley, Joelle Haughey, Carol Hay, Frank Kelly, Kevin Drexler, Tony Delia, Daphne Kachulis and Diane Kennelly. Eick noted that the swimmers' times have improved in three weeks of practice, thanks to Wilson's coaching and hard work.

Girls show promise despite tough losses

By DAVID GOLD
The Jonathan Dayton girls' basketball team record dropped to 0-5 after losses to experienced Verona and Summit teams last week. Dayton will be host to New Providence tomorrow night in search of its first victory.

Clark and Linda Graziano and the hustle of Theresa Young, Debbie Brahm and Debbie Barron. Lyn Murray provided strength off the bench.

In the fourth quarter, Summit slowed the pace and began to pull ahead. Dayton couldn't speed up the pace and, with three minutes left, Clark fouled out. Dayton never quit trying as Young and Graziano provided fine ball control and Coach Townsend put on a fullcourt press in the final minute.

Dayton also played well last Tuesday in a 32-28 loss to Verona. Dayton's defense proved effective and the starting squad—Clark, Young, Graziano, Brahm and Barron—turned in strong games.

Dayton, a young, inexperienced team, is learning and improving with every game.

The Bulldogs played their best game of the season last Friday in a 51-36 loss to Summit. Dayton jumped to 5-0 lead, using 2-1-2 zone on defense while Summit played a 1-3-1 defensive zone. By halftime Summit had rallied to take 23-12 lead.

Dayton started slowly in the third quarter. The Bulldogs tried to force the ball and were beaten on transition and off the boards.

Four minutes later, the Bulldogs came to life and played the best ball they have exhibited this year. Coach Ruth Townsend dropped the patterned offense and the team immediately responded by moving the ball quicker and with more authority. The whole team appeared calmer and Kathy Clark started to control the rebounding. The offense came to life sparked by

Dayton keglers win 9 in row in league play

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity bowling team ran its Suburban Conference League record to 9-0 as it blanked West Orange (3-6) and Caldwell (3-6) by 3-0 scores in last week's action at Plaza Lanes in Madison. The Bulldog keglers take on Verona (4-2) and Kenilworth (6-3) this week.

The West Orange match opened with Mike Suchomel and Mike Pine leading the team with 170s score to post a 765-701 edge over the Cowboys. Steve Klein, Rich Zirkel and Mike Steinberg added the remaining pins. Rich Popper (196), Dan Freedman (155), Steinberg (164), Ron Zirkel and Tedd Nugent combined to take the second game 784-653. In the final game, Popper (201), Suchomel (191), Klein (170), Steinberg (160) and Freedman (182) rolled up a 904-784 edge for the shutout.

The Bulldogs pinned three 800 series on the Caldwell Chiefs as they swept the series 807-773, 883-684, and 836-772 with Rich Zirkel (192), Suchomel (195), Pine (203), Freedman (183), Steinberg (170), Klein (169) and Nugent (146) contributing fine efforts during the series.

In other action, Summit (3-3) blanked Millburn (1-8) after losing an exhibition match to Kenilworth (2-1) on Monday.

Mat squad is continuing to improve

By DAVID GOLD
The Jonathan Dayton wrestling team will try to better its 0-3 record tomorrow afternoon in New Providence.

"The team is a little down," says coach Rick Iacono, after starting its season against three of the toughest opponents they will face this year. Matches against two weaker schools were called because of weather.

Last weeks Dayton lost to a tough Millburn squad, 42-18. Dayton victors included Dave Cushman (108), Steve Tetenbaum (129) and Ron Buthman (heavyweight). Boothman, who scored the only fall for Dayton, may be Iacono's most improved wrestler. Iacono is also impressed with co-captain Tetenbaum, who has been very effective all season.

Iacono noted that the team put on its best showing of the season against Millburn and feels that victories are not far off. His goal is to have the Bulldogs ready for February's State Tournament.

Dayton, the equal of any of its opponents in conditioning, lacks experience and the quick reaction that comes with it. The layoffs from the snowed-out matches also are a factor. Instead of a possible 2-3 record, Dayton is still trying for its first victory.

"Wrestling is based on discipline," said Iacono, "and we're starting to get disciplined. We're improving with every match."

Springfielders 2nd in tourney

A Springfield team finished second in the first Summit Area YMCA "3 on 3" Basketball Tournament. Eight teams competed for prizes of official basketballs, awarded to individuals on the winning team by Ron Coleman, program director.

Fouls help Verona edge Dayton, 57-55

By PENNY LEVITT
After the first two weeks of Suburban Conference play, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team has compiled a 2-5 record. The Bulldogs suffered a 57-55 loss to Verona, due mainly to excessive fouling and a poor shooting percentage. The defensive abilities were challenged by Verona's George Rawding, who scored 30 points. The Bulldogs' Anthony Circelli scored 17 points and Adam Joseph 16. Craig Clickenger contributed seven points, Larry Walker six, Albert Garguilo five and Kenny Klebous and Don Meixner each scored two points.

"substitute of the week," Don Meixner, had nine points. Garguilo, Walker and Klebous each scored four points and Tyrone Hayes contributed two points. Tomorrow, the Bulldogs will travel to New Providence High School for an important conference game. Next Tuesday, the team will be at Madison High School for an afternoon match.

Deerfield girls defeat Terrill

The Deerfield School girls' basketball team defeated Terrill Junior High of Scotch Plains, 19-4, in a scrimmage to open their season. The girls' next home game will be tomorrow against Roselle Park.

Patty Kelly was high scorer for Deerfield with six points. The rest of the scoring was evenly distributed among Kim Genkinger, Heidi Groiss, Lisa Spatucci, Kris Ann Stoffer and Lisa Wood.

According to Coach Ed Sjonell, Ann Bunin and Carol Heyman played well on defense, backed up by Laura Stancati, Katja Hagazi, and Amy Kiell.

BIG BEER PITCH
According to the Guinness Book of World Records, James Coburn was paid the highest television commercial fee on record—$250,000 per syllable to speak two words in a pitch for beer.

Ski enthusiasts may take advantage of two trips offered by the Summit Area YMCA. On Saturday, Feb. 16, the Y has arranged bus transportation to Camelback Mountain in the Poconos for youth grades 5 through college.

The fee, which includes insurance, is $20 per person for lift and bus only, $23.50 for lift, lessons and bus only, or $31.00 for lift, lessons, bus and ski equipment rental. It will also be necessary to bring lunch money or food to eat there. Interested college students may also apply. Experienced instructors will accompany the skiers along the trails.

Special Olympics dates are set

The New Jersey Special Olympics has scheduled state meets in six sports—skiing, ice skating, bowling, swimming, basketball and track and field.

Skiing will be held Jan. 16 and 17 at Vernon Valley-Great Gorge, ice skating Feb. 1 at the Brick Forum in Brick Township, bowling March 15 at the McGuire Lanes, McGuire Air Force Base, swimming March 22 at the JFK Center in Newark, basketball March 29 at Clifton High School and track and field June 13 and 14 at Rutgers University or McGuire Air Force Base.

Thousands of children and adults are expected to participate in the six meets as well as other statewide events later in the year after competition on local, county and area levels.

The New Jersey Special Olympics is a program of physical fitness, sports training and athletic competition for mentally-retarded children and adults. During 1979 more than 10,000 athletes took part in the various events.

"Through successful experiences in sports, Special Olympians gain confidence and build positive self-images associated with success rather than failure," said Carol Hjort, director of the New Jersey Special Olympics.

Details about the New Jersey Special Olympics, its coming meets, volunteer program and donations can be obtained from Hjort, Box 103, Westfield, 07090, or Pat Appar, New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, Office of Special Games, 363 West State St., Trenton, 08625.

formerly only allowed in New England states and New York state, in late December. President Carter is expected to sign the bill permitting New Jersey banks to offer the NOWs.

"First National State Bank has been preparing for NOW accounts since late last year when there was every indication they would eventually become an important new consumer service in New Jersey," Ferguson said. "And, most important to the consumer, we will pay the highest interest rates allowed by law."

Ferguson noted that federal regulations have not given thrift institutions an advantage over commercial banks in the allowable interest rate for NOW accounts. "This is one of the few instances where regulators have allowed commercial banks to have full parity with the thrifts," he said.

The National State Bank has announced it will offer 5 percent checking (NOW accounts) at all offices, effective immediately.

The new service was signed into law by President Carter at the end of December adding New Jersey to the list of six states in which residents can earn interest on funds used for checking. The interest-on-checking service pays 5 percent interest a year, from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, compounded daily and credited monthly with an effective annual yield of 5.20 percent when principal and interest remain in the account for a full year. W. Enlen Roosevelt, president of the bank, pointed out there will be no service or transaction charges when a minimum of $1,000 remains on deposit.
