School budget defended at hearing

The Mountainside Board of Education Tuesday night explained and defended its 1980-81 tentative budget before roughly two dozen borough residents. The board announced it will vote to adopt the budget Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the school.

Board members went through the appropriation side of the budget, line by line, fielding questions after each section from several members of the audience. Most of the questions dealt with possible ways to reduce proposed expenditures.

In the administration section, board member Bart Barre explained that although the board has budgeted a $1,580 increase in superintendent's office, the expenditure could wind up as a decrease because a new superintendent will have to be hired to fill the position of the present.

In the administration section, board member Bart Barre explained that although the board has budgeted a $1,580 increase in superintendent's office, the expenditure could wind up as a decrease because a new superintendent will have to be hired to fill the position of the present superintendent. Dr. Levin Hanigan, who will retire at the end of the school year. The salary of a new superintendent "conceivably could be less," Barre said.

Under accounts for operation of plant, Barre explained the 38 percent increase in heating costs. "We have budgeted just what we think we will need," he said. "I surely hope it will be enough, under no circumstances will it be too much." The $82,400 budgeted for next year would be a $22,500 increase.

A Cherry Hill Road resident, responding to the $17,000 budgeted for custodian overtime, suggested that with overtime fairly consistent from year to year, perhaps the work could be performed on regular time. Barre responded that some work must be done on Saturdays and even vacations. Dr. Art Williams, board president added, "It's very difficult to change a ceiling when children are in class."

Board member Linda Esemplare noted that transportation costs would be up 30 percent in the budget, largely because of an usually low bid for transportation for 1979-80. Small vehicle transportation also has risen because of the rising cost of fuel. She said the board may try to bid with the Union County Regional Board of Education to reduce the costs.

The Cherry Hill Road resident also asserted that the board had not cut instruction costs in proportion to declining student enrollment. The board explained that it has over the years tried to reduce class size to below 25 and that determining the student-teacher ration can be deceptive because, for example, an area such as physical education may comprise only one teacher.

Board member Carl Marmelli explained that the 40 percent increase in student activities has been caused by increased participation by girls in athletics and prior contractual agreements with coaches. He said based on an estimated 1980-81 enrollment of 500, per student costs would be $10.92.

Because of a $4,311 reduction in state aid for transportation, the proposed budget would raise the local tax rate by an additional 3 cents to 45 cents for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. An owner of a home assessed at $50,000 would pay a tax increase of $22.50 for next year. Taxes make up 34.9 percent of the revenue side of the budget, the board explained, while state and federal aid accounts for 10 percent.

The total proposed budget is $2,178,461, which constitutes a 4.1 percent or $86,776 increase over last year.

The budget falls within the state-mandated cap figure of 6.98 percent. The budget has been approved by James Clancy, county superintendent of schools.

Near the close of the meeting, May Ladd, a member of the borough Senior Citizens Committee, said she thought more parents of students in the school system should attend board meetings and perhaps more publicity is needed.

Williams closed the public hearing portion of the meeting asking the citizens to support the budget. "Unfortunately, voters see dollar signs rather than children." Defeating the budget would mean cuts in services, he said.

GETTING AN EARLY START — Members of the Jonathan Dayton Key Club display the starting line banner for the Springfield Run, to be held Saturday, March 8. The banner was donated by Adidas-Lidco, which is sponsoring the event along with the Key Club, which operates under the direction of the Springfield Recreation Department. The event will include a 10-kilometer run and a one-mile 'fun run.' All the registration money will be donated to the Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside. The pre-registration date is Saturday; the first 200 pre-registrants will receive Adidas T-shirts. Information is available from the recreation department.

Municipal budgeting may not change tax

Preliminary indications of the proposed 1980 Mountainside municipal budget are that the portion of the local tax rate affected by the municipal budget will not change for next year, according to Lee Vorhees, borough clerk.

The Borough Council discussed the proposed budget after its regular meeting Tuesday night. The first reading of the budget could be held Tuesday, Vorhees said, depending on the schedules of other meetings.

The council discussed the proposed budget after its regular meeting Tuesday night. Discussions with the borough auditor this week, Vorhees said, will determine if the first reading of the budget can be held Tuesday night.

Specific figures on the budget were not available.

In regular business, the council learned that the Somerset Carting Co., Inc., South Plainfield, will have a public hearing March 13 in Newark before the Public Utilities Commission on the collection company's application for higher rates.

The company is filing a petition to raise residential rates from a range of $3 to $6.50 per month to a range of $6 to $7.40. Commercial rates would raise from the $1.50 to $2.50 range per cubic yard to a range of $3 to $5. The company handles about 90 percent of the borough's waste disposal, Vorhees said.

In other business, the council introduced an ordinance to appropriate $120,000 for the purchase of a new fire engine pumper to replace the fire department's 1964 pumper. The council will advertise for bids on a new apparatus.

The council also adopted an ordinance prohibiting parking near the Children's Specialized Hospital exit on New Providence Road. The ordinance was drawn up in response to complaints from drivers who use the driveway that cars parked on either side impair the driver's view of traffic on the roadway.

And the board voted $5,000 in additional funds to continue work on the Mary Allen Lane Sanitary Sewer project.

Key Club to handle benefit run March 8.

The Jonathan Dayton Key Club, in coordination with Adidas-Lidco distributors, will host the Springfield Run Saturday, March 8. All money received from participants will be donated to the Mountainside Children's Specialized Hospital.

A 10-kilometer run will start at 10 a.m. and a one-mile fun run will begin at 10:30 a.m. at Meisel Field, Springfield.

ingfield. The pre-registration deadline is Saturday. Information on obtaining registration forms is available from 376-5884. Late entrants must register before 9:45 a.m. the day of the races.

The costs of the races are 4 for the long run and 2 for the Fun Run.

Runners will enter in one of six age groups: 12 and younger, 13-18, 19-29, 30-

39, 40-49 and 50 and older. Winners of each category will receive a pair of Adidas running shoes; second- and third-place finishers will receive plaques. The first 200 pre-registrants will receive Adidas T-shirts.

Jim Craner, Key Club president, said he is hoping the race will draw at least 300 runners from the surrounding areas as well as participants from running clubs.

The race course will be predominantly flat, covering many of the township streets. Before the run, Dr. Paul Kiell, a runner and the author of a book on running, will conduct a warm-up session.

Key club members will direct runners, man the water stops, work the timers and register late entrants.

Rescue unit officers sworn in by Mayor

Newly-elected officers of the Mountainside Rescue Squad were sworn in recently by Mayor Thomas Ricciardi. Operational officers are Ron Romak, captain; Todd Turner, deputy captain; Constance Farr, lieutenant, and Luis Janeira, training sergeant. Those elected to serve as administrative personnel are Kit Carson, president; Richard Young vice president; Martha Zajkowski and Andrea Mettam, secretaries, and Bill Van Blarcom, treasurer.

lege and high school age persons, it needs more members. "Perhaps our most difficult task is attracting new members, and it has always been that way," observed Romak. "Most new recruits result from personal contacts with current members."

"It took some prodding to get me to join, but I do enjoy it," said Carson. "We need more members, particularly for weekday coverage. If it weren't for Mary Stein, Sandy Levine and a few others, the borough wouldn't have weekday coverage."

The squad is supported largely by contributions from borough residents and through the efforts of the Mountainside United Way Fund.

To qualify for membership, one must live in or work within five miles of the borough and be at least 16 years of age. Members receive free training and duty hours are tailored to meet lifestyles, Romak said. In addition, each person is issued a radio pager device which is carried when on duty, to increase flexibility, he said.

Anyone desiring further information should contact Carson at 232-0759 or Romak at 233-1765.

Hearing Tuesday on regional budget

The public hearing on the Union County Regional High School Board of Education's 1980-81 tentative budget will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the library of the Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights.

The proposed budget of $17,119,579 constitutes an increase of 7.53 percent from the current fiscal year, after the subtraction of budgeted expenses that are not paid by local taxpayers — such as state categorical aid — the increase falls within the 6.525 percent state-mandated budget cap. The budget will go to the voters March 25.

The budget would mean a seven-point increase in the tax rate in Mountainside; a four-point increase in Springfield, and a three-point increase in Kenilworth. The increases, on a home assessed at $50,000, translate into a $35 rise in Mountainside; $20 in Springfield, and $15 in Kenilworth.

The board announced at its last regular meeting that it will add to the budget at the public hearing funds for summer makeup courses for seniors who do not meet graduation requirements. The program would cost roughly $3,000, according to Dr. Donald Merachnik, superintendent of schools. Provisions have not been made for regular summer schools in the 1980-81 tentative budget, providing a reduction of $73,650.

Current expenses in the budget would be increased 7.55 percent; capital outlays, 35.1 percent, and debt service, 7.53 percent. Current expenses would total $15,979,950; capital outlays, $280,090, and debt service, $859,539.

Police call for reporting of 'suspicious' persons

In the wake of three reported burglaries in a four-day period ending Monday, Mountainside police again have issued a request that borough residents report any suspicious persons or vehicles.

A Summit Road residence was broken into some time between 9:15 a.m. and 5:05 p.m. Monday, police reported, and an undetermined amount of cash and jewelry has been reported missing. Method of entry has not yet been determined, according to police reports.

Some time between 4 and 9:16 p.m. Saturday, a safe containing non-negotiable stocks and bonds and $3,700 cash, and $5,000 in jewelry were taken from an Old Tote Road home. Police report entry was gained by forcing the rear window of the master bedroom with a screwdriver. The master bedroom and front bedrooms were ransacked. The safe, which measures 28 inches by 18 inches by 18 inches, was taken from the front bedroom closet, rolled across the floor and taken out the window used for entry.

An Orchard Road home, whose owner was vacationing in Florida, was reported broken into some time between 3 p.m. Friday and 11 a.m. Saturday, according to police reports. Some of the drawers in the master bedroom had been ransacked, and a jewelry box had been emptied out onto the floor. A pillow case was taken from a bed in the room, police said. What is missing is undetermined.

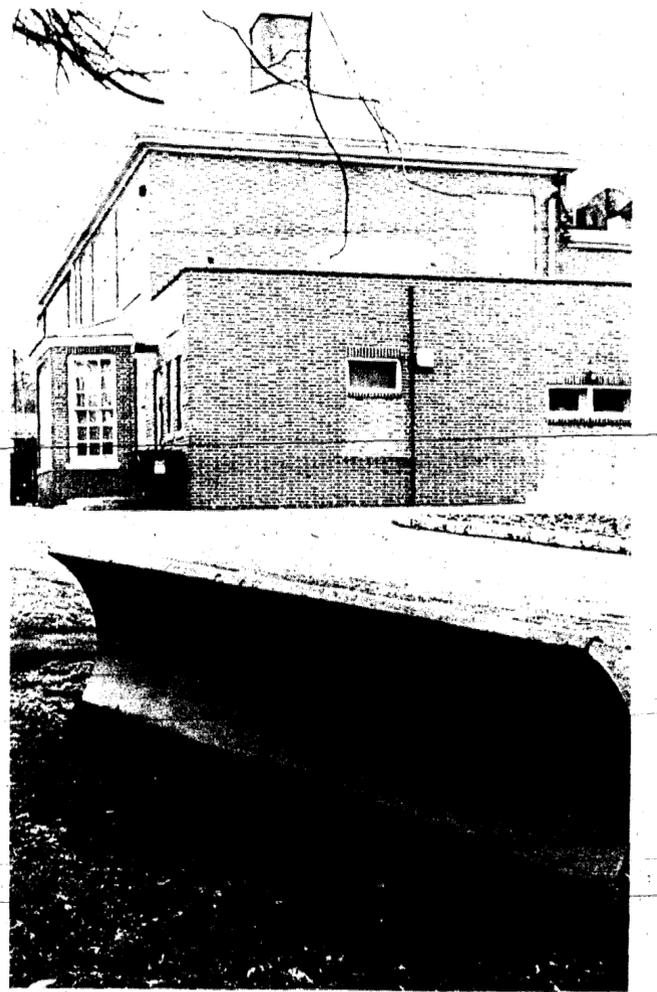

Police reported entry was gained by breaking the locking mechanism on the rear porch awning window, entering the porch and jimmying open the door leading to the dining room. A wire for an interior alarm system had been ripped out, police said.

Ice skate night set Saturday

Mountainside family ice skating night will be held Saturday at the Warinanco Ice Rink, Elizabeth. The Recreation Commission will sponsor the evening of free ice skating from 6 to 8 p.m. The rink is reserved exclusively for borough residents of all ages.

Skate rentals are available. Bus transportation is available at $2.50 per person. The bus will leave Deerfield School at 5:30 and return at 8:30. Pre-registration is required for the bus.

Skaters may call the Recreation Office, 232-0015, for information.

TAKING THE WINTER OFF — This snow plow blade, sitting idle behind the Mountainside Municipal Building, hasn't had much to do this winter. Last year at this time the borough had spent about $75,000 fighting snowstorms, according to Robert Koser, borough engineer, but this year the borough has had to dole out only about $12,000.

Woman's Club project wins national citation

The Mountainside Woman's Club Community Improvement Program, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Emily Hoffarth, has received a Citation of Achievement in which the club is recognized by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Sears Roebuck Co. for working to improve the quality of community life.

The project on which the Woman's Club has been working is twofold; to improve the safety of intersections throughout the town, and to improve the appearance of Chapel Island.

Sears and the General Federation

Westfield driver fined

A 26-year-old Westfield man was fined $235 by Mountainside Municipal Court Judge Robert Ruggiero last week for failure to obey a stop sign and for driving while on the revoked list.

Alec Devoe pleaded guilty to committing both offenses on Jan. 25.

In another case, Debra Wilson of Pembroke Drive was fined $75 for kicking the windshield of a car belonging to Michael O'Grady of New Providence on Jan. 1. O'Grady was fined $125 on Jan. 23 for striking Wilson with his fists. Both had pleaded not guilty.

A case involving Charles Miller, who is charged with causing bodily injury to Mountainside police officer John Olock by punching him on Jan. 28, was sent to the grand jury. Miller is free on $250 bail.

Nursery plans to shift location

A Westfield nursery school which draws many of its students from Mountainside will change both its name and location beginning in September.

The First Baptist Nursery School, housed in that church, will be located next fall in the First Congregational Church. The switch is being made with an eye to conserving energy.

"The Baptist Church facilities were getting too expensive," said Carole Falter of Mountainside, co-director of the school.

The new name for the school will be Westfield Co-op Nursery School. Parents rotate monthly as classroom assistants and thus are able to involve themselves in the workings of the school which their children attend.

Dr. Merachnik on career unit

Dayton matmen to end season tomorrow night

The Jonathan Dayton High School wrestling team, in its quest for a 500 season, defeated Hillside last Saturday, 33 to 19. The Bulldogs will wrap up their season tomorrow night when they host Watchung Hills.

This past Saturday, nine Springfield wrestlers entered the Amateur Athletic Union tournament. Out of the 9 boys who wrestled, two placed in the tournament. The rest of the boys wrestled well but were defeated in the first round. One of the wrestlers, Matt Magee, had to leave the tournament because of an injury. Chris Kisch wrestled well; he won his preliminary bout 13-2 but was beaten 10-0 in the first round.

It was the Bulldogs' sixth victory of the season against eight losses. The team was led by John Colotruglio at 115 pounds, Steve Tenenbaum 129 pounds, Ben Scaturro 141 pounds, Nino Parlivechio 170 pounds, and Vince Cervone 188 pounds. John Caracado and Ron Butzman won on forfeits.

"They are wrestling like they are happy to be there," commented coach Rick Iacono. He attributes the team's maturing partially to the great amount of drilling that they have been undergoing. Iacono indicated that his team looks more comfortable on the mat now than at the beginning of the season.

Two outstanding athletes at Dayton are the co-captains, Tenenbaum and Scaturro. They have been the most consistent on the team all year, and typify the Dayton wrestler. They "always give their all," commented Iacono.

The two boys who placed were: Tony Apicella (119 pounds) and Kevin Duffy (140). Each took a fourth place. Apicella came on strong in the first round to win by a pin. In the next two rounds he was defeated. Duffy lost the semi-finals and was beaten in overtime in the consolation round.

LIGHTER MOMENT — Members of the Stretto Chamber Players catch a break in their rehearsal for a Sunday night concert at the Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside. The program will include Haydn, Bartok, Mozart and Bach.

String players in concert Sunday

The Stretto Chamber Players will present a concert at 8 p.m. on Sunday at the Community Presbyterian Church on Deer Path in Mountainside as part of the Mountainside Community Concert Series.

The Players is a group of 11 string musicians, most of whom are members of the Colonial Symphony. Since their organization in the fall of 1974, they have won enthusiastic audiences in northern New Jersey. Recent concerts have included performances on the Millburn Library Series, the concert series of the Morristown Unitarian Church, at Unity Auditorium in Montclair and at Christ Church, Summit.

A unique feature of this ensemble is that it rehearses and performs without a conductor. Each of the violinists takes a turn as "concert master," or leader of the group, but in the course of rehearsal, musical ideas are discussed and developed by the group as a whole.

Sunday's program will consist of: the Haydn "Organ Concerto" in C, "Dances of Transylvania" by Bartok, the Telemann "Viola Concerto" in D, Mozart's "Divertimento 138," and the Bach "Concerto for Oboe and Viola."

The organist for the evening will be James Little, organist-choir director of the church and director of the Men's Glee Club of the Pingry School, Hillside.

The public is invited. Donations are received at the door.

Two exhibits, four programs set by library in coming week

The Springfield Public Library has scheduled two new exhibits and four special programs for the coming week.

David Brown, chairman of the Olympics Committee for New Jersey, will discuss the Lake Placid Games and show a short film in the Meeting Room of the library at 11 a.m., Saturday, March 1.

The first in a series of discussions on the Channel 13 film series, "The American Short Story," will be held at noon Tuesday in the Meeting Room. This week's discussion will center on the four stories presented in February: "The Golden Honeycomb" by Ring Lardner, "Paul's Case" by Willa Cather, "The Greatest Man in the World" by James Thurber and "Rappaccini's Daughter" by Nathaniel Hawthorne.

At 8 p.m., Tuesday, the Adult Book Discussion Group will talk about "The Coup" by John Updike.

p.m., in the Meeting Room. The speaker, Ruth Seligman, is a member of the International Society for Professional Hypnosis and has been certified by members of the Association for Advancement of Ethical Hypnosis. She has taught hypnosis at adult schools and has lectured throughout the area.

Members of the audience will be invited to cooperate as volunteers to be hypnotized. A question and answer period is planned.

An exhibit of quilts from the collection of Helen McCourt of Springfield will be on view in the Donald B. Palmer Museum from Monday, March 3, until April 29. The display will include antique quilts purchased by Mrs. McCourt and a number of pieces she made herself, almost entirely without machine stitching. Our computerized eye exam assures you of the right prescription

Remember all those "decisions, decisions" you had to make during your last eye test? Well, we now use a new "eye computer" in our office which makes the whole vision test easier, faster, and much more accurate. It was invented to test the NASA astronauts.
will give you the sharpest vision possible. In fact, if you wear contact lenses, we can verify that they are the correct prescription, without even having to remove them.
Thus, our "eye computer" makes your exam go smoother. It also makes it very simple to examine little children, hard-of-hearing patients and others who have trouble communicating with the doctor.

3 lunar stones go on display

American astronauts exploring the surface of the Moon some 10 years ago brought back approximately 843 pounds of rocks.

To the naked eye they appeared virtually identical to Earth rocks, but under a microscope or enlarged on a video screen their obvious differences provided a wealth of information for scientists.

For those who would like to see these differences, the "Examining Moonrocks" program will be held at the New Jersey State Museum at 2 and 3 p.m. Sundays March 2, 9 and 23, and at 6 p.m. Thursday, April 3. Admission is free.

The program, which has been prepared with the cooperation of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, will focus on three small stones and three samples of granular lunar soil embedded in a clear lucite disk.

Viewers will be able to see they contain no water (similar terrestrial rocks usually contain at least a percent of water) and that, unlike Earth rocks, they contain small crystals of metallic iron because they were formed in an atmosphere lacking in free oxygen.

The State Museum, a division of the N.J. Department of Education, is open from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday (to 8 p.m. Thursdays) and from 1 to 5 p.m. weekends. Admission is free.

Kean Gallery display opens

A collection of pre-18th Century baroque drawings will be on exhibit at the Kean College Gallery beginning Monday. The exhibit can be seen through March 13 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday; 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday and Tuesday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

The drawings are from the collection of Thomas B. Wilber, an associate professor in the fine arts department at the Union college.

Information about the exhibit is available from the Kean College fine arts department (527-2307).

Healy's target at Beth Israel: hold the line in hospital's costs

Newark Beth Israel Medical Center's director of materials management, Thomas F. Healy, is doing his part to hold down hospital spending. Healy, who came to NBIMC this summer, has instituted new systems to control inventory, standardize and monitor supplies and equipment and assure optimum staff efficiency are already in the works.

Materials Management is a catch-all term referring, among other things, to the control of supplies from acquisition to disposition. Healy's areas of responsibility include purchasing, receiving, the store room and central supply.

A tightly-structured inventory control system is under way to make available funds formerly tied up in excess or obsolete stored supplies. Such a system will take the guesswork out of ordering because standard minimum-maximum inventory levels will be maintained on all items, with set reorder points. If it is determined, for example, that a minimum of 10 boxes of a particular item must be on hand at all times and a maximum of 40 boxes would be used during a specified period, a standard rule to reorder when the supply is down to 20 boxes might be established. This would assure that the product would never run out and, at the same time, there would never be an excess supply.

To avoid running out of supplies because of unpaid bills, Healy says vendors must be made aware of Medical Center payment terms in advance "so they will have realistic expectations and continue to provide us with the supplies and services we need."

Standardization of supplies and equipment is central to cost containment. Duplication is avoided by using one supplier for all items of a specific type. "This enables the Medical Center to achieve a lower initial cost, due to bulk purchasing, and saves money on maintenance contracts and replacement supplies," Healy said.

Levels of supply needs throughout the Medical Center also must be determined and standardized to control inventory effectively. Nursing units, for example, receive carts which provide them with all the supplies they need from paper clips to surgical dressings.

"By giving the nurses exactly what they need each day, there will be virtually no reason for them to make individual store room requisitions or visits. This will save time, paper work, inventory and money."

Getting the right supply to the right place at the right time in the right quantity is another function of Materials Management. Healy is studying traffic patterns and work flow to provide optimum convenience for employees.

Computerization will play a big part in the Materials Management function. "The computer will tell us what vendors are available and what items should be ordered from them," Healy said. Standard purchase orders will no longer be typed since the computer will supply them in pre-printed form. Reports from receiving will also be computerized, avoiding typing delays. An up-to-the-minute inventory list will be available automatically.

To reduce duplication, the computer also will provide an automatic backorder update indicating the items that have been ordered, but not yet delivered. "When an order is not delivered on time, the vendor may send us duplicate items—one immediately upon receiving notification that the order is late and another when the original order is filled," Healy said.

Healy has a master's degree in public administration with a specialty in health care administration from New York University. He is treasurer of the New Jersey Purchasing-Materials Management Association.

Elizabethtown Gas marks 125th year

Elizabethtown Gas Co. in Elizabeth, a subsidiary of National Utilities & Industries, is celebrating its 125th anniversary this year. The oldest all-gas utility in the state, it is five weeks older than Union County.

The New Jersey legislature in 1855 chartered the Elizabethtown Gas Light Co. to supply gas lights to old Elizabethtown.

The first meeting of stockholders was held in Shepherd's Hotel in 1855; gas was first produced in the following year, when the first gas works was built at the foot of Spring Street, bordering on the Elizabeth River. At that time, the company served 300 customers through four miles of main located in Elizabeth.

Today, the company serves more than 137,500 customers in 48 communities throughout New Jersey; more than 2000 miles of main are used to transport the natural gas. In the early days, the firm manufactured gas from coal at the company's Erie Street, Elizabethplant, which produced 50,000 cubic feet (cf) per day. The company's present maximum capability is 245,000,000 cf daily.

Pipelines to transport natural gas from the Southwest to New Jersey were completed in 1950 and Elizabethtown converted from manufactured to natural gas in 1951. The company maintains facilities for producing substitute or synthetic gas to supplement its natural gas supply during periods of peak demands.

Elizabethtown constructed the world's largest all-welded gas holder (10 million cubic feet) in 1948. Two additional holders, also at Erie Street, have a capacity of 6,000,000 cubic feet each.

The conversion to natural gas meant constant growth in the number of customers for Elizabethtown, as well as acquisitions of smaller utility companies throughout the state. Actually, the first purchase was made in 1892 when the Metropolitan Gas Light Company, which also served Elizabeth, was bought.

Significant expansion and consolidation occurred when gas became a fuel for household cooking and water heating. In 1922, the Elizabethtown Gas Light Company consolidated with the Cranford Gas Light Company, Rahway Gas Light Company and the Metuchen Gas Light Co. to form the Elizabethtown Consolidated Gas Company.

In 1950, the company merged with the Perth Amboy Gas Light Company; in 1965 purchased the City Gas Company of New Jersey in Flemington.

On March 8, 1966, the name was officially changed to the Elizabethtown Gas Company. The same year, the company opened its seven-story headquarters in Elizabeth. The "total energy" building supplies all of its own power for electricity, heating and air-conditioning by use of natural gas-driven turbinies. Much has changed since 1855 when the company served a handful of customers with manufactured gas. Today Elizabethtown Gas Co. employs 669 persons and serves customers in Union, Middlesex, Warren, Sussex, Mercer, Morris and Hunterdon counties.

ON DISPLAY—The Coventry five-bedroom Tudor Colonial model at $119,990 is on display at the 72-house Westbrook Estates community off Route 520 (Robertsville Road) a half mile east of Route 18 in Marlboro. Westbrook Estates offers four-and-five-bedroom homes with custom personalized features priced from $112,990. Diraje Master Builders of Oakland is developing the subdivision.

Old World charm at Westbrook Estates

By applying Old World charm to the design of their homes and adding custom personalized features to the interior, Diraje Master Builders of Oakland has sold about 21 homes on preview before formally opening the 72-house Westbrook Estates subdivision off Route 520 (Robertsville Road) a half-mile east of Route 18 in Marlboro.

The grand opening offers five varied models, including English Tudor, French Country and American Colonial stylings with changeable exterior elevations. The houses are priced from $112,990 to $126,990 and range in size from 2,430 to 3,200 square feet. Thirty-year mortgage terms are available to qualified buyers.

Diraje, comprised of Rande Sherman, Richard

Lane, Jerry Sherman and Terry Sherman, is showing four- and five-bedroom homes with numerous customized features. The Colonial models are the four-bedroom Williamsburg and Woodbury and the five-bedroom Manor, the English Coventry and the French Country Normandy both have five bedrooms and include a maid's room on the first floor.

Builder Rande Sherman states that Westbrook Estates will be a showcase, customized development and that resales in the future will command premium prices.

The homes, which can be purchased for occupancy by the end of this summer, are offered on wooded, oversized lots in an area which has city water and sewers, curbs, sidewalks and underground utilities. All the houses have basements. Two car garages, paneled recreation rooms, and 2½ baths.

Terry Sherman is in charge of developing the community, whose sales office is open daily from noon to 5 p.m. He attributes pre-opening sales to attention given to the little things in each house. Quality features offered in Westbrook Estates homes include:

Gas-fired, warm air heat prepared for optional year-round air conditioning or hotwater base board heat, color coordinated kitchen appliances with double oven eye level range, dishwasher and furniture quality cabinets, deluxe vanities with marbleite tops in the main and master bathrooms which also have all tubs and showers fully tiled, plus deluxe Italian-style ceramic floors set in concrete.

There also are wood-double hung windows, weather-stripped wood or insulated metal front doors, oak flooring or carpeting, six-panel Colonial interior doors, extra wide 3¼-inch basemolding, chair railing and crown molding in dining rooms, paneled family rooms, vinyl-slate tile entry foyer, full-thick insulation on ceiling and walls, exteriors of aluminum siding, barn cedar shakes or Pocono siding, seamless baked aluminum gutters and leaders, 12-inch concrete block foundation to grade, and 10 by 12 rear decks.

At no extra cost, there is a partial brick front on the Williamsburg and Coventry Tudor houses, a built-in bookcase in the Williamsburg and Normandy models, a balcony in the Normandy, stucco front on the Normandy and a beamed cathedral ceiling and parquet flooring or carpeting in the family room of the Williamsburg.

Typical of the homes offered at Westbrook Estates is the Normandy, featuring a wide brick porch leading through double doors into an oversized foyer with twin guest closets. Off the foyer is a 20-foot living room, a formal, extra large dining room, a 21-foot paneled recreation room with sliding-glass doors out to a rear deck plus an optional fireplace, a 20-foot kitchen with separate dinette, a den or maid's room, powder room and a laundry with a door to the yard. The second floor has a master bedroom suite with separate sitting room, a walk-in closet and a luxury Roman bath.

There also are three additional bedrooms and a second large bath off the hall with tub-shower.

Viewing open for Townsend Estates units

Frank Severino, president of Green Grass Construction Corp., Old Bridge, has introduced Townsend Estates, an exclusive 21-home residential community, now open for viewing in Old Bridge.

Severino has combined old-fashioned craftsmanship and attention to detail into exquisite townhome construction that features two-bedroom and three-bedroom colonial.

In all, four models are featured starting at $57,990. Each of the residences—the Berkshire, Cambridge, Country Classic and Granville—includes city water and sewers, natural gas warm air heat, underground utilities and features two or three spacious bedrooms, 1½ or 2 baths and, in some models, a den, family room and full basement.

Thirty-year graduated payment conventional mortgages for qualified buyers are available with 10 percent downpayment to minimize monthly payments, making a purchase affordable to many homeowners.

"We have succeeded in maximizing living space in each of our homes while still preserving the lowest prices in the area," explained Severino.

"The community combines precise architectural design in a country atmosphere—natural trees, shrubs and landscaped lawns create a sense of privacy for the family, an important requisite in today's society," he added.

"Townsend Estates is not a confusing condominium but a fee simple townhome where today's families can proudly own both the home and the land and thereby reap the benefits from such ownership in today's inflationary times," asserted Severino.

Townsend Estates has satisfied the homebuyer by providing a variety of modern floor plans that place an emphasis on townhome living efficiency without losing homey atmosphere. Added Severino, "including as standard features what many builders offer as extras."

"We are offering brick-front, maintenance-free aluminum siding and anodized aluminum windows designed to last a lifetime," he said.

"Townsend Estates homes also provide homeowners with important energy saving features such as, complete wall insulation, extra thick attic insulation, insulated steel doors and double-glazed insulated windows. These features, coupled with energy-efficient gas heating, save the homeowners many dollars in the long run."

Other standard features at Townsend Estates include a custom designed kitchen with dishwasher, gas range and hood, and quality wall-to-wall carpeting.

For those homeowners who desire additional convenience and luxury, heat-recovery fireplaces, high efficiency central air conditioners and extra baths are available.

"Townsend Estates also offers recreational facilities for busy children and exercise conscious adults. These include a tennis court, playground and park area."

"Townsend Estates is conveniently located in close-by Old Bridge. Easily accessible are bus or train commuting to New York City, good schools, quality shopping malls, houses of worship or recreational and cultural pleasures including the Garden State Arts Center and the shore beaches," noted Severino.

The Townsend community is easily reached by taking the Garden State Parkway to Exit 123, then south on Route 9 to Route 34 south to Farrington Road and the models.

The Normandy also has a two-car garage with access into the hall just off the laundry area and a full basement.

Within easy transportation by car to North Jersey and New York City, Westbrook Estates can be reached by driving south on Route 9 to Route 18 east, then exit at Route 520 and proceed left about a half-mile to the subdivision. Commuters also have good bus transportation to New York from Route 9 and rail service from nearby Matawan.

There is bus service for youngsters to the new Middle School, which is about a mile from Westbrook on Route 520 and to a new high school. Shopping is convenient, with Manalapan Mall about five minutes away, on Route 9. Monmouth Mall within 20 minutes, and numerous regional shops about 10 minutes away on Route 18 west.

TAXES AND WORKERS

At the turn of the century, federal, state and local taxes absorbed 8 percent of national income and U.S. government at all levels employed 4 percent of the labor force.

Now taxes at all levels are over 32 percent of income and government workers comprise 15 percent of the work force.

COFFEE DRINKERS FORTUNATE

Since 1977, prices for coffee have declined substantially—making coffee almost a bargain for Americans at almost 5 cents a cup.

This is fortunate for Americans as six out of every 10 adults in the United States drink coffee each day.

Free handbook Late-filing penalties

By ESTHER PETERSON

Today's complicated market-place can pose problems for even the most careful consumer. Every day my mailbox and phone bring me inquiries from people who ask such questions as: What do I do if my car dealer refuses to perform repairs that come under my warranty? Is there a way to track down mail order merchandise that was paid for but never delivered? Is there a consumer protection office near my home town?

To try to answer these and hundreds of other questions consumers ask, my office has put together the Consumer's Resource Handbook. It describes in plain English the things we all can do to resolve problems, find helpful information, or locate the right government office or private organization for assistance. We consumers do have many resources available to help us, but often it's difficult to know where to find them. Many of the problems and frustrations we face in the marketplace stem from a lack of knowledge about where to go for help. This is when the Consumer's Resource Handbook will come in handy. You'll want to keep the free, 80-page Handbook by your phone as a ready reference for those times when you're not sure where to start.

The first Section of the Handbook is a complaint handling primer, outlining procedures to follow when you have consumer gripes and describing a number of organizations and sources of assistance.

Even the most cautious shoppers among us sometimes end up buying products that don't work right, receiving services that don't serve well, or dealing with merchants and manufacturers who are less than enthusiastic about resolving difficulties.

Most businesses, however, depend on satisfied customers to stay in business. Reputable firms will make an honest effort to resolve problems, so instead of just grumbling about a problem, let the firm know about it! The Consumer's Resource Handbook discusses the tools and step-by-step procedures to use in getting your problems and complaints to the appropriate individuals and organizations and includes some very basic tips and information on such things as writing effective complaint letters.

Among the resources described are Action Lines, Better Business Bureaus, government consumer offices, small claims courts, private consumer industry mediation panels, and others. We tell what they are, what they do, and how to find them in your area.

The second Section of the Handbook is a guide to government services and information. It explains exactly what the government can and cannot do in solving consumer problems. We have arranged this section topically, ranging from "advertising" to weights and measures, with quite a bit in between.

Under each topical heading we provide information on the agency or agencies having regulatory authority or otherwise dealing with a particular subject area. We specify whether an agency will handle individual complaints or will only take action if a number of complaints are received in a particular area which may, for instance, point to a health or safety problem.

If agencies provide information materials, these are highlighted along with addresses and phone numbers. We also list regional offices of Federal agencies and many government toll-free telephone numbers.

The third and final Section of the Handbook is a directory of state and local consumer offices. Included are additional state government offices which can be called upon for information or assistance with problems dealing with aging, banking, energy, insurance, transportation, utilities, and weights and measures.

We think we've put together a valuable resource book for consumers. In future columns we will highlight frequently asked-about consumer topics such as credit, housing, car repair, mail orders and warranties.

Of course, you can obtain a free copy of the Consumer's Resource Handbook by writing the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 635H, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Esther Peterson is Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs and Director of the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs.

In most cases if you do not pay your tax and file your return by the due date, you are likely to have to pay interest and penalty on any tax due. H&R Block points out:

Penalty for failure to file on time is 5 percent per month or fraction of a month up to a maximum of 25 percent. It is possible to file your return after the due date and avoid the late filing penalty if you are granted an extension, or if the IRS agrees that special circumstances result in reasonable cause for delay.

If the return is filed by the due date (plus extensions) but the tax is not paid, there is penalty for failure to pay taxes when due. This penalty is one-half of one percent per month or fraction of a month that the tax remains unpaid, up to a maximum of 25 percent. If your can show that your failure to pay is due to reasonable cause, the penalty will not be imposed.

Interest is computed on unpaid tax from the original due date of the return. There is no exception for extensions or reasonable cause.

A penalty that cannot be waived will be assessed for underpayment of estimated tax. It is possible to meet one of the exceptions that negate an apparent underpayment.

When this man fails, he's a fiery success

A 32-year-old Bound Brook man makes his living setting fires and otherwise trying to destroy things.

Fred Sieling is one of thousands of engineers and scientists employed by industry to see how much punishment products can take and still survive.

It's called "destructive testing," and from it manufacturers strive to come up with windows that won't shatter, bumpers that don't crumple, shingles that won't burn, and light bulbs that burn for years.

Sieling sets torches to fire-resistant asphalt roofing at GAF Corp.'s

Library to present 4 films on Monday

The Children's Department of the Edison Free Public Library will present four films on Monday at 4 and 7 p.m. in the main library.

On the program will be "A Boy and a Bear," "Hans in Luck," "How to Play Baseball" and "Rumpelstiltskin."

Admission to the 45-minute program is free.

research facility at South Bound Brook, to see if flames will penetrate the shingles and spread to the roof's wooden deck.

In addition, special test machines generate 100 miles-per-hour winds and simulate typhoon-like rains to determine if the GAF roof can withstand extremes of weather for long periods of time.

Similar tests are conducted on scores of products by Underwriters Laboratory, an independent, non-profit organization that issues fire ratings for all kinds of building materials and electrical devices.

"It's not enough to know we can pass these tests," Sieling says.

Sieling, a New Jersey native, received a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Stevens Institute of Technology in 1969 and a master's degree from Rutgers University. He and his wife, the former Arlene Klein of Sayreville, live in Bound Brook.

"It's getting harder and harder to destroy some of these new building materials," Sieling said. "But that just makes the job more interesting."

Manufacturer earns 'reward' in community

When Henry Jacobs comes across an unfair situation, he does something about it. In fact, the 73-year-old resident of Paterson has been fighting inequities since the Depression and today contributes both time and money from his plastic tool handle business to community causes.

Born in Brooklyn, Jacobs and his two sisters were sent to live with relatives in up-state New York after their mother died when he was seven. At 17 he returned to New York City where he went to the Pratt Institute to study engineering, supporting himself with a job with the Bickford restaurant chain.

When the Depression hit, its devastating effect on the work force attracted Jacobs to organized labor with the hope of improving the wretched lives of American workers.

"John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers gave me and several other people an organizational fund from which we developed the Congress for Industrial Organizations (CIO) and the United Office and Professional Workers of America (UOPWA)," Jacobs recalled. "I stayed at this for five years and then I was called to service after the attack on Pearl Harbor."

After 18 months in the United States as an enlisted man, Jacobs graduated from Officers Candidate School and was immediately shipped to the China, Burma, India Theater of Operations, eventually earning five combat stars and 13 awards and decorations during his three years overseas.

In 1946 Jacobs returned to this country, spending six months at Tilton General Hospital at Fort Dix. After his release from active duty that same year, he joined an organization called the China Vets, which actively opposed the federal government's position on China.

"This was during the McCarthy era, and speaking up against government policy made getting a job virtually impossible," Jacobs told a writer from The National Council on the Aging.

His difficulties in obtaining employment helped prompt Jacobs to start his own business, which he financed with a loan of $12,000 on his G.I. and other insurance policies.

"The first year I was in business, sales were $83,000," Jacobs said. "Today, American Polymers is the largest manufacturer of plastic tool handles in the world."

Although Henry Jacobs' net worth is probably measured in the millions, he has never lost his concern for his fellow human beings. Through the H.G. Jacobs Foundation, most of his salary is given to various Paterson causes.

The largest children's summer program in Paterson operated out of Jacob's factory, utilizing volunteer personnel from American Polymers' workforce.

"We take kids from Paterson's inner city on trips to parks, beaches, the Bronx Zoo, the Statue of Liberty and other places," Jacobs said, "so they can see that there are alternatives to their present, dismal living conditions."

Recently, Jacobs has been involved in overhauling the federally-funded CETA employment program. Working with the Paterson Chamber of Commerce, Jacobs' initial efforts have been enthusiastically received.

"It's exciting when constructive changes are accomplished," Jacobs said. "There is a great need in old cities like Paterson for revitalization, not so much with brick and mortar, but rather with the people inhabiting the inner cities. That's why it's so important to invest our resources in the communities where we live and work. There won't be much of a future if we don't help one another."

Dick Gregory to talk

Dick Gregory will speak at Kean College Thursday, March 6, at 8 p.m. in Wilkins Theatre. Free tickets must be secured from the student activities office at the College.

Gregory, who discusses such issues as civil rights, nuclear energy, hunger and health, has written nine books and has recorded numerous albums.

Information is available at the student activities office, 527-2044.
