Local school budget, new faces win

By SAM FINNELL

Mountainside voters passed the 1980-81 budget Tuesday, and voted some new faces onto the Board of Education. Meanwhile, the regional schools capital outlay budget was defeated. The current expense portion of the budget passed, 554-441. There was no current expense portion of the budget. Incumbent Pat Knodel, looking for her third full term on the board, was defeated, while incumbent Board President Dr. Art Williams and challengers Linda Schneider and Arthur Attenasio won three-year terms.

Schneider garnered 811 votes; Williams, 774; Attenasio, 746, and Knodel, 690. In the vote for the one-year term, Sandra Burdge defeated Robert Gardella, 666 to 422. About 25 percent of the borough's registered voters cast their ballots. In the regional elections Tuesday, Marion Hough was re-elected to the school board with 780 votes, excluding absentee ballots. The regional budget was not quite so successful. Although the current expense portion of the budget, totaling $15,979,950, was approved, the capital outlay section was defeated by approximately 100 votes. The capital outlay portion of the budget totaled $310,000. Clark was the only town in the regional district that voted against the proposed capital outlay. Approximately 10 percent of the region's registered voters turned out. If the budget had passed as proposed, totaling $17,149,579 including debt service, the increase in the tax rate in Mountainside would have been seven points, in Springfield, four points and in Kenilworth, three points.

For a house assessed at $50,000, that would have meant a $35 increase in Mountainside, a $20 increase in Springfield and a $15 increase in Kenilworth. According to regional school board secretary, Harold Burge, the Regional Board of Education must meet with the governing bodies of the six municipalities to determine what, if any, cuts will be made. Burge said all six groups must agree before a formal determination is made. He said that after a decision is reached by the governing bodies, the regional board has 20 days to appeal the decision to the state Board of Education. "When this has happened in the past, we have always been able to work it out. We expect to do that this time," said Burge. About the passing of the Mountainside budget, Williams said, "Absolutely super. I was very concerned because budgets in this town have had a rough time." Schneider said, "I think this election is an indication of a positive effort in our town to maintain our schools." She also said of her large vote total, "I think it was a result of my honest effort to meet the people." Burdge said, "I'm delighted the budget passed. That was my main concern." The board's priority now, she said, is the selection of a new superintendent of schools. Attenasio, who supported the budget, said, "I'm glad to see that it passed," and that he was not surprised to see the voters support it. "I'm going to attend the meetings," he added. "And try to have a hand in the selection of a

Board will question residents on school superintendent job

By SAM FINNELL

In an effort to gain some public input into the hiring of a new superintendent, the Mountainside Board of Education last week voted to send a questionnaire on criteria for the position to every home in Mountainside. The special meeting also marked the board's first meeting with representatives of the New Jersey School Boards Association, Don Calderon, a field representative, and Joe Flannery, director of field services. The association will be assisting the board in its search at no cost.

The questionnaires, which were to be mailed this week, ask residents to rank from least to most important five of the 16 criteria on the form. Board members emphasized that the responses will not determine the criteria it uses in selecting a replacement for Dr. Levin B. Hanigan, who is retiring, but will be used by the board to help determine those criteria. The forms also will be available in the library and the board offices. The board has asked that the questionnaires be returned to the board offices or the offices of the Deerfield or Beechwood schools by April 3.

Board members unanimously agreed on soliciting community input, but differed on the method. In voting to send out the questionnaire, board members Pat Knodel and Linda Esemplare dissented, saying they favored placing in the Suburban News an insert that could be cut out and mailed to the board. The vote was 3-2. Charles Speth was absent and Carl Marinelli had to leave the meeting early.

The board had earlier voted, 5-1, to send the information by first-class mail, which board secretary John McDonough said would cost more than $500 just for postage. Knodel dissented, saying, "I am all for getting input but I think you're making far too big a deal doing this."

A motion made by Esemplare, seconded by Knodel, to rescind sending the information by first-class mail, failed, 3-2.

In deciding on how to garner citizen input, Board President Dr. Art Williams said, "In a job so vast as this, we would be remiss if we did not get citizen input." Marinelli suggested that citizen response should be "documented," or in writing, rather than received in conversations with residents.

At the outset of the meeting, Flannery told the board the scope of the school boards association's involvement in the search. "We are not consultants. We are not going to do the work for you. We are here to assist you in whatever it is you want to do in your search," Flannery also told the board that a search requires a lot of time. He said an article in a recent issue of the "School Leader" estimated that 250 man-hours are required for the selection process alone. The board has not yet reached that stage.

Calderon advised the board to make sure that its job description is made clear to the finalists for the position. "It makes for more harmony when you hire someone," he said. "The more information you can give to a potential candidate, the better he'll understand what you want." Calderon also suggested the board differentiate between the criteria for the job—the minimum standards—and the job description—what the board expects a hired superintendent to do.

One way of eliminating candidates,

Calderon explained, is to request an essay from an applicant. The essay could ask why the applicant is seeking to change jobs or his philosophy of education. The essay also would enable the board to evaluate the applicant's writing skills. Bart Barre, Esemplare and Marinelli make up the screening committee.

On another matter, the board voted unanimously to table a motion by Knodel, seconded by Esemplare, to apply to the county superintendent's office for permission to hire an administrative principal. Barre, who moved the tabling motion, said he thought the decision to apply for the waiver would receive the input of all the board members. Flannery suggested that when interviewing the finalists for the position, the board could inform the candidate that the position could become a dual role some time in the future.

In other business, the board agreed to advertise the opening on two Sundays in The New York Times and The Star Ledger. Minimum salary would be advertised as $29,000.

Board seeks to call cheerleading a sport

Although state and federal officials have ruled that cheerleading is an extra-curricular activity and not a sport, Union County regional high school personnel are continuing to look into the possibility of winning the activity status as a sport.

Regional Board of Education attorney Franz Skok has been asked to research the issue to see if there is any basis for sports status.

"Until the attorney looks into it and says there's nothing we can do, we'll keep trying," said Dr. Donald Merachnik, superintendent of schools. "There's always the possibility of appeal." He added that if cheerleading is officially declared a girls' sport, that would bring the district into parity of girls' and boys' teams that much sooner.

In the meantime, the board has gone ahead with drafting a paragraph describing the activity's status and placing that statement in the athletic policy manual, which Merachnik said, makes it "more like a sport." Cheerleading is funded from the athletic budget, according to Pete Falzarano, athletic director at Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield.

The four regional high school athletic directors are planning to meet in April to discuss standardizing awards for cheerleaders. Cheerleaders at Jonathan Dayton currently receive letters and chevrons as the regular athletes do. In fact, Falzarano said, winter cheerleading teams attended the winter sports award ceremony Monday. "They're as much a part of the athletic program as anybody else," Falzarano said.

Varsity cheerleaders at David Brearley, Kenilworth, receive a letter after two seasons. Varsity football players, for example, receive a letter after one year of varsity competition, according to Tom Santaguida, Brearley athletic director.

He also said the Suburban Conference, of which Jonathan Dayton is a member, selects one of the schools' athletic directors to oversee conference cheerleading. "Because they are such an integral part, we don't want to neglect them," he said.

Before the April meeting, athletic directors will meet with cheerleading coaches to hear their opinions on cheerleading awards.

The four schools have about 100 cheerleaders.

'Eggs' hunt set for Echobrook

The annual Mountainside Easter Egg Hunt, co-sponsored by the recreation commission and the rescue squad, will be held Saturday, April 5, at 9 a.m. at Echobrook field, next to the Municipal Building.

Children in pre-school through fifth grade are eligible. Peter Rabbit will make an appearance and parents may want to bring cameras, according to Sue Winans, recreation director.

In case of rain, Mr. Rabbit will meet the children and distribute candy eggs in the municipal courtroom.

Hideaway in shrubs falls to borough trim

A teen-agers' hideout in wooded area in front of the Deerfield School, Mountainside, may no longer be such a good place to gather secretly.

Borough workmen have cut back shrubbery on the left side of the entrance. The workmen cut back about 20 feet, according to Robert Koser, borough engineer.

The trimming will "take away from the seclusion," according to Dr. Arthur Williams, Board of Education president. "There will be furthering of it," he said.

Mayor Thomas Ricciardi, John Post, borough attorney, Dr. Williams, Board of Education president, and Ray O'Brien, board counsel, met March 12 to decide on a remedy for the problem.

"It was apparent from the very start (of the meeting), Williams said, "that the mayor and Town Council recognized the seriousness of the problem and are aware of the total implications."

The problem was most recently brought up by PTA members at the board's March 4 meeting. The teen-agers, both from Deerfield and other area schools, reportedly smoke cigarettes and marijuana, and drink beer there.

Awards, badges given to Troop 177 Scouts

Boy Scout Troop 177 of Mountainside recently held its second court of honor of the year at the Community Presbyterian Church.

Skill awards were presented to Frank Antanacci, Tim Benford, Todd Damon, Mike DeVito, Steve DeVito, David Dietz, Tom Gillman, Bill Maresca, Dave Matysek, Kevin McGrath, Brian Miske, Russ Picut, Bobby Sadtler, Tom Salimbene, Drew Sullivan, Chris Toner, Andreas Wolz, Mike Wolz and Matt Uytendaele.

Many Scouts advanced in rank, as follows:

To Scout: Tom Jackson
To Tenderfoot: Antanacci, Benford, Mike DeVito, Dietz, Gillman, McGrath, Picut, Sadtler, Salimbene and Sullivan.

To Second Class: Steve DeVito
To First Class: Maresca and Matysek
To Star: Bennett and McLaughlin
To Life: Merklinger and Mike Wolz.

In all, more than twenty-five Scouts received an award. The program for the Court of Honor was written by Iezzi.

In other troop activities, two troop sleds placed in the top five in the Yukon Trail VI race. Eleven patrols from Watchung Area Council troops competed. Jackie Merklinger's patrol placed third and Mike Wolz's Bear patrol came in a close fourth. The Yukon Trail is a test of different Scouting skills. These include first aid, firebuilding, knot tying, lashing, nature, and map and compass. The six-mile course takes about five hours to complete. Troop 177 ran the nature "town" this year.

Coming campouts include Treasure Island and the Council Show in May, West Point in June, and summer camp in late July.

Case sent to grand jury

Cases involving two men arrested after a high-speed car chase on Route 22 March 16 were forwarded in Mountainside municipal court last week to the county grand jury.

Tyrone Moore, 23, and Robert Martin, 21, both of Newark, were being held in Union County Jail earlier this week in lieu of $15,000 bail each. The two men are charged with possession of a weapon, theft of a motor vehicle and eluding police. They also are accused of denying any knowledge of a second stolen car which, police said, was traveling with them.

In the car with the two men was Donald Rainey, 22, of East Orange, found dead with a single bullet wound in the head. Police have said they believe he shot himself accidentally.

The occupants of the second car, Gary Whitehurst of Irvington and Jeffrey Mustafa Caffé of Los Angeles, also were being held in the county jail in lieu of $15,000 bail each. The two were arrested by Union police. Their cases have also been sent to the grand jury.

A BLOOMING IDEA—Paul Farinella and Denise Richter, both of Mountainside, display a pot of the blooming plants which will be sold door to door in Mountainside and Springfield on Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Proceeds from this project, sponsored by the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Choral Parents Society, will assist students in their musical development. Also the chorale is taking orders for Easter baskets with candy, to be delivered specially by the Easter Bunny before or on Easter. Priced at $4, they can be ordered by calling 233-1666 or 232-3832.

R.M. Gilligan, 35; probation supervisor

Services were held March 15 for Richard M. Gilligan, 35, of Sunrise Parkway, Mountainside. Gilligan, who was a county probation supervisor, was pronounced dead on arrival Monday night, March 3, in Elizabeth General Hospital, after he was found hanging in a cell at Elizabeth Police Headquarters. Police said he had been brought to headquarters at about 9 p.m. following his arrest for drunkenness, disorderly behavior and assaulting a police officer. He was found hanging by his shirt in the jail at 10:50.

The Union County Prosecutor's Office and the Elizabeth police are conducting a joint investigation into Gilligan's death. Police said they want to find out exactly what happened so steps can be taken to prevent such suicides in the future.

Gilligan's belt and shoelaces were taken from him when he was lodged in the jail cell, police reported.

The officers who found the victim tried to revive him with artificial respiration but to no avail, police said. Emergency medical technicians were called to the scene and attempted to revive Gilligan with cardiopulmonary resuscitation, but were unable to restore respiration and circulation.

A four-year resident of Mountainside, Gilligan served in the Army Intelligence Corps and had been with the probation department 12 years. He was a graduate of St. Patrick's High School, Elizabeth, and Seton Hall University, South Orange. A communicant of St. Patrick's Church, Elizabeth, he was a

Postcards tell unemployed of new benefits

The New Jersey Labor and Industry Department has launched a postcard effort to let many jobless persons know that they may be eligible for additional unemployment compensation.

The postcard mailing tells thousands of claimants that the extended benefits program has been reactivated and that, if they are currently unemployed, they might be eligible for the added benefits.

Geared to the rate of insured unemployment for 13-week periods, payments under the extended benefits program came to a halt last October when the rate fell below 5 percent. The program triggered on again when the rate went above 5 percent for the 13-week period ending Feb. 23.

Labor and Industry Commissioner John J. Horn said the postcard notices were sent to claimants who had an extended benefits claim in active status when the program triggered off last October, and to those who have exhausted their benefit rights under a regular claim since that time. He added, however, that individuals who have not received a notification and who believe they may be eligible should report to their respective local offices if they are still unemployed.

Floor hockey game to benefit disabled pupils

Members of the New York Rangers will be special guests at the North Jersey Disabled Students' third annual wheelchair floor hockey game Friday, April 4, at 7:30 p.m. in Seton Hall University's Walsh Auditorium.

Wheelchair floor hockey, like regular ice hockey, requires a great deal of speed and skill. Ticket information for the evening, which will include an autograph session, is available by calling 761-4967. Tickets ($2 for adults, $1.50 for students) also can be purchased at the door or at the ticket office of the Bishop Dougherty Student Center on the Seton Hall campus.

Proceeds of the game will go to disabled students and the handicapped students from David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth, which services handicapped students in the North Jersey area.

Lupus group lists speaker

Historical perspectives in Lupus will be Dr. James Paolino's topic at the meeting of the Lupus Erythematosus Foundation of New Jersey, Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. at the Hoffmann Le Koche plant in Nutley. Dr. Paolino practices in Milburn and is associated with the New Jersey College of Medicine on Newark and St. Barnabas Hospital in Livingston.

Lupus has long been recognized as a disease separate from all its various aspects, 2 spokesman said, but the treatment was primitive and thought to be futile. The five-year prognosis was invariably fatal because of the damage done to many organs of the body. Today, because of better and early diagnosis and availability of treatment procedures, Lupus can be controlled, he added.

More information is available from the foundation at 791-7868, or Box 320, Elmwood Park 07407.

Other matters pertaining to the hiring of the superintendent also will be discussed.

2 typewriters, calculator taken

Business machines were stolen from the offices of two Mountainside firms last week, police reports.

A man walked into Air Con, Inc., Route 22, at 7:20 a.m. Thursday, and said he was looking for employment, police said. A woman he spoke with told police that about 10 minutes after he left the office, she discovered an IBM self-correcting typewriter, valued at $740, was missing from a desk near the front door. Police describe the man as a black male in his 40's, 5-foot-7 to 5-foot-8, wearing a brown hat, plaid jacket and brown pants.

A Smith-Corona electric typewriter and a Sharp calculator were reported missing at 7:45 a.m. Thursday from the Theil Agency, Inc. Route 22. The value of the item items was undetermined, police said. Entry was gained by using a small pry bar tool on the two front entrance doors. Police said the theft occurred after 5:05 p.m. Wednesday.

First aid class will be offered

Mrs. Stephen Finkle, chairman for first aid services of the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross, has announced that a course will be conducted in standard first aid, multimedia, on April 9 and 16 from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Chapter House, 321 Elm St., Westfield.

The multimedia system of instruction features filmed demonstration, practice sessions and programmed workbooks. There is no charge for the course, which is taught by Mrs. Finkle, a certified volunteer Red Cross first aid instructor. However, registrants are asked to pay $6 per person to cover text and materials.

Anyone wishing to take the course may call the Red Cross at 232-7090.

superintendent. I'm looking forward to serving on the board." He said one of the things he will work for is better communication between the public and the board.

Neither Gardella nor Knodel could be reached for comment.

Board member Bart Barre, who was at the polls attributed the passage of the budget to what he termed its "moderate" increase. "I think it (the vote) proved it's a reasonable budget. I was confident it would pass."

And Williams said, "I was pleased to see the candidates who won-win." The 1980-81 budget of $2,178,461 means a 4.5 cent increase in the tax rate. Owners of a home assessed at $50,000 would pay an additional $22.50 in taxes.

The figure represents a 4.1 percent increase over last year.

Knodel voted against the budget at the adoption meeting along with retiring board member Charles Speth.

With the three previous budgets, voters rejected two.

Among the major increases in the measure are a 38 percent increase in heating costs and a roughly 20 percent increase in insurance premiums.

Studded tires must come off

Wednesday is the last day drivers may have studded tires on their cars, according to state law. Drivers in violation after April 1 could receive a fine of $35, according to Mountainside police Lt. Joseph Mazur.

Mazur said quite a few Mountainside drivers use the studs to climb the borough's steep hills. Police, however, do not use chains or studs, he said, but rely on "positive traction" rear snow tires.

Studded tires are permitted beginning Nov. 15.

Rinaldo running for fifth term; promises attack on inflation

Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-12th District) formally announced this week that he is a candidate for re-election to the U.S. Congress. He promised to wage "an all-out attack" against inflation.

The announcement follows Rinaldo's endorsement for a fifth term by more than 1,400 delegates to the Union County Republican convention in Elizabeth, who cheered his criticism of President Carter's handling of foreign and domestic policy.

"The president has given the American people a pop-gun attack against inflation that would take years to break the inflationary cycle. It would deprive the economy of billions of dollars of output and millions of jobs," Rinaldo warned.

Instead of saddling consumers, investors and business with higher gasoline taxes and record interest rates, which he warned would aggravate inflation, Rinaldo said a balanced budget with less inflation could be achieved by offering tax incentives to encourage labor and business to hold down wage and price increases. He also wants a massive attack against "outmoded and unnecessary" government regulations that cost consumers more than $120 billion a year.

The Union County Congressman said President Carter's anti-inflation plan would result in windfall revenues to the federal government of $78 billion in 1981. He said the President's proposed budget cuts have not succeeded in changing public expectations of worsening inflation.

Rinaldo urged tax cuts that would encourage private investment and stimulate the search for new technology that would raise U.S. productivity. He called it a more practical and humane approach to fighting inflation than laying off millions of workers.

Any chance of achieving balanced budgets in each of the next four years, which Rinaldo said is essential to breaking the back of inflation, would be lost if the nation slips into a severe recession. He said a "Carter-style recession" could produce new budget deficits in excess of $40 billion. "Inflation and the recession would feed on each other at that point," he warned.

Rinaldo serves on the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee on Aging. He is the ranking Republican member of the Consumer Protection and Finance Subcommittee. The Union Township Republican warned that an anti-inflation campaign would not succeed if it is "merely election time window dressing." He said nothing less than a sustained attack on inflation over the next four years could bring the rate down from the current 18 percent to less than five percent.

Rinaldo said the next Congress should be judged on the amount of money it saves and its success in implementing energy legislation already on the books. Rinaldo is a sponsor of several energy development bills.

Rockets nip Lakers, earn Small Fry title

The unseeded Rockets upset the top-ranked Lakers, 23-22, to win the Small Fry League Championship. The Rockets beat the Pistons and the Lakers beat the Celtics in semi-final play.

The Rockets' game with the Lakers was close all the way with the Lakers holding a 16-15 edge going into the fourth. The Lakers' Paul Taher had 10 points, Mike Elson eight and Andy Greenman and Ivan Novich two apiece. Mark Flakin, Stephen Marchetti and Ray Foley aided the Lakers.

The Rockets beat the Pistons, 30-26, in the semis after taking a 24-12 lead into the fourth. Teitelbaum had 10 points, Barone seven, Grohs six, Lynch five and Panter two. Hamilton played well. Chris Monaco led the Pistons with 12 points. Larry Sala had eight, Scott Summers three steals and six points. Tom Miskewitz, Dave Silverman, Eliza Pabst, and Seth Hammer contributed.

Eye tests may boost many athletes' skills

One of every four Americans participating in sports is playing with vision that is not up to par, according to a New Jersey doctor of optometry.

At least 60 percent of U.S. Olympic contenders, according to a 1979 optometric study, could sharpen competitive performances by improving vision skills, says Dr. William Moskowitz of Somerville.

Dr. Moskowitz is chairman of the Sports Vision Committee of the New Jersey Optometric Association (NJOA) and a member of the comparable national committee of the American Optometric Association.

Every sport, Dr. Moskowitz said, involves the eyes feeding information to the brain, which interprets it and sets arms, hands, legs, feet and the body's balance system into motion.

"When the eyes' message is inaccurate, incomplete or not fast enough, performance may suffer," he explains. "That's why anyone involved in sports should get an annual, thorough optometric examination, with an emphasis on sports vision skills."

While prescription glasses or contact lenses may be needed, some sports vision skills can be sharpened with vision training, a program of prescribed visual tasks practiced under controlled conditions in the doctor of optometry's office or sometimes at home, he said.

"A great number—close to 20 percent—of accomplished, recognized athletes have vision problems that they aren't aware of," Dr. Moskowitz reported. His committee's work with them has demonstrated that they can improve their performance with recognition of vision problems, he said.

Dr. Moskowitz added that giving extra attention to the eyes and vision can mean better playing, more enjoyment and maybe even coming out a winner more often for professional athletes, amateurs and the millions of Americans who play just for fun.

Nettes wind up 13-4, take 2nd in tourney

By CRAIG CLICKENGER

The Springfield Nettes' girls' basketball team concluded its season last week by placing second to Maplewood in a post-season tournament. The record for 1980 was an impressive 13-4.

Florham Park, which had previously beaten the Nettes, was ousted by Springfield, 45-39, in the quarterfinal round of the tourney. A 19-15 first-half lead was sustained through the second half as the Nettes gained revenge.

Jill Demark and Linda Hockstein each scored 12 points. Traci Karr added 10, Cathy Drummond four, Kathy Dahmen three and Kathy Meixner and Mary Pat Parducci two each. Lori Pohlman contributed.

Springfield beat a highly-touted Wayne squad in the semifinal, 38-26. The Nettes took a first-quarter 13-2 advantage and expanded their lead to 13 points in the second quarter. Demark scored 14 points, Dahmen six, Parducci five, Hockstein, Karr and Meixner four apiece and Drummond one.

Springfield lost the final, 61-48, to a Maplewood squad which, Coach Phil Kurnos said, "could have played high school ball." Hockstein finished with 20 points; Demark added 10, Drummond eight, Parducci seven and Meixner three.

Search for Health

National Institutes of Health

The American public is changing. In 1964 the Surgeon General's report stated that smoking was hazardous to health, that smoking cigarettes would produce lung cancer, chronic bronchitis, emphysema and early heart attack.

What has occurred in the 16 years since then? The number of male smokers has decreased by 25 percent; the number of women smokers has decreased by 10 percent; however, young girls ages 12 to 20 are smoking more while older women are smoking less.

Physicians, who have had a clear opportunity to evaluate the evidence, have decreased their smoking by 33 percent in this 16 year period. Those cigarettes available in the marketplace now are lower in tar, lower in nicotine and usually are filtered.

In 1972 the national high blood pressure education program was started because half of the 23 million Americans with high blood pressure did not know they had it, and only about one-eighth were on adequate therapy. In the years since that program began, some eight million more Americans are aware of the fact they have high blood pressure. The number of physician visits for high blood pressure has increased by 50 percent. The number of patients on effective therapy for high blood pressure has increased from about four million to over eight million.

There is other evidence of change. Americans are exercising more. Americans have changed their dietary habits; per capita food consumption has changed. Since 1963, per capita consumption of whole milk is down 19 percent, use of butter and eggs is down 32 percent and 13 percent, respectively, and consumption of animal fats and oils is down 57 percent. During this same period, intake of vegetable fats and oils went up 44 percent.

Americans are changing their habits and their life styles. And, there are changes in the cardiovascular death rates associated with these behavior changes. For the first time in our nation's history, cardiovascular death rates are going down rather than up.

For the first time, heart attacks are decreasing in number. Heart attack death rates which began to decline in 1966, about the time of the Surgeon General's report, have continued to decline at a greater rate since 1972. Cardiovascular death rates have declined by over 20 percent since 1963. Also during this period heart attack rates for men and women between ages 35 and 74 have dropped by an average of 25 percent.

In addition, we can see a decline in the absolute number of heart deaths. Since the mid-1960s, over one million Americans have been dying each year of cardiovascular disease, primarily heart attack. In 1975 and again in 1976, there were less than one million deaths. Despite an aging and increasing population, the number of absolute heart attack deaths is now decreasing.

This decrease emphasizes the fact that prevention of heart attacks is not only the most effective way to attack the problem—but that it is humanly possible. So far, it is clear that many Americans have acted on available evidence. Heart attack rates are decreasing. By controlling your risk factors—cigarette smoking, high blood pressure, eating habits—the preventive medicine we practice can have a great impact on continuing the decline of heart attacks.

Dayton swim team future bright after 2-7 mark in initial season

By PENNY LEVITT
This past winter marked the debut of a swimming team at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. The team faced such well-established opponents as Ridge, Union and Madison and won two of nine meets. Head Coach Melinda Wilson commented, "Despite the fact that we practiced before school hours five days a week, the kids worked enthusiastically. They realized the dedication and discipline necessary for competitive swimming."

Of the team's 31 members, a large percentage was inexperienced—yet willing to learn. Contributing throughout the season were Jane Austin, Suzy Baker, Ivan Baron, Kirk Bahaght, Wendy Binestock, Mary Ann Bronco, Tony Delia, Mark Dooley, Kevin Drexler, Matt Eick, co-captain Charles Eick, James Fleming, Jodi Gassaway, Dominick Giovinne, Barbara Goldner, Joelle Haughey, Carol Hay and Lisa Jackson.

Also, Daphne Kachulis, Frank Kelly, Dianne Kennely, Ellen Keil, Lisa Keil, Susan Melsop, Patty Mulreany, statistician Buddy Pinkava, Glen Phillippi, Cheryl Pittenger, co-captain Theresa Pittenger, manager Kelli Seeman, Cynthia Souza, Jill Wachsberg and Scott

Worswick.
Several athletes qualified for state final competition, including Phillippi, Charles Eick, Worswick, Kennely, Matt Eick (who placed ninth) and Carol Hay (who placed 10th).

Coach Wilson is "recruiting" any students who express an interest in swimming competitively. Her current concern is team depth. Future plans for the squad include preseason conditioning programs and establishing a diving team. Prospects for Dayton's next swimming season are bright considering the large percentage of returning veterans and the number of interested freshmen.

Bulldogs' nine to start season

By DAVID GOLD
The Jonathan Dayton baseball team has started practice for its April 2 season opener against Governor Livingston.

The Bulldogs' strength this season will be in pitching, said Coach Bob Lowe, who is counting on senior Joe Pollicastro and junior John Baumgartner.

Other seniors from whom Lowe expects a lot are Dave Wasserman, Jr., Taber, Scott Hinkle, Craig Clickenger, Kevin Karp, Mike Baumgartner and Kerry Lepleuvo. Other juniors who should get a lot of playing time are Bill Condon, Don Meixner, Lou Melkowitz and Adam Bain.

Dayton will be starting two sophomores this year, John Sivoella at shortstop and Dave Crane at catcher.

Thus far this season the Bulldogs have practiced mostly inside with a pitching machine. Lowe stressed his team's youth and spirit. The players worked to get into condition and helped each other all the way, he said.

Outlook at UC: women netters are 'rebuilding'

This will be a rebuilding season for Union College's women's tennis team, which opened competition last Saturday against Mercer County Community College.

Coach Linda Leifer expects Nancy Von Bulow, a returning letterman, to play No. 1 singles and anchor one of the doubles teams. Other letterwinners are Cathy Campbell and Corrine Cannone. Other candidates for this year's squad include Michele Staudinger of Kenilworth, Missy Torrence, Paula Watson, Renne Robinson, Kathy Nolan and Dawn Ciancia.

Northport, Long Island, 5-2, in a boys' division game last Sunday.

The day started at 10:30 a.m. for the 11 year-olds with a phone call from coach Larry Kelly stating that the game would be played (the field was under water on Saturday). The team met at Farcher's Grove a half-hour later and started the three-hour trip. It was not until about 8:30 that evening that we got word of the score.

I must repeat what I said last week. These are New Jersey teams and New Jersey players and they should be allowed to play in the New Jersey Cup, and not forced to play their cup games against the New York teams." A trip to Trenton or Cape May is better than a trip out to Northport, L.I.

The Union Americans, a Lancer junior team, which plays in a New Jersey league and is coached by Emma Emmel, played against Middletown in the State Junior Cup and lost on penalty shots after a 1-1 score held up through the overtime period.

There will be six games played at Farcher's Grove this Saturday. Dave VanDeventer's Union Lancer midgets will start the ball rolling at 10:30 a.m. with a game against the Silver Lakes Bullets. This match may be changed to a New York Cup game against the German Hungarian Metros.

At 11:45 the Union County SC midgets will play host to the Adriatics. Then the Union County B team will take on the Silver Lakes Travelers in an intermediate group game, followed by the Union Kicker youth team against Orangetown. At 4, the Union Lancer youth team will meet New City. The final game of the day will kick off at 5:30. Union County SC youth will go against the Bergen Kickers.

Berliner, Dooley boost varsity tennis prospects

Jonathan Dayton's boys' varsity tennis team, under Coach Rick Iacono, opened tryouts this week. Nineteen boys have turned out: David Barrison (10th grade), Alan Berliner (11), Michael Berliner (9), Steve Bloch (11), Jack Chin (11), Jim Craner (12), Robert Daniels (10), Mark Dooley (12), Dan Freedman (9), Howard Haimowitz (9), Jeff Lipton (9), Mark Leonard (9), Jon Lesnick (9), Michael Pine (12), Dan Schlager (10), Ken Schulman (12), Robert Steir (10), Jon Stein (10) and Steve Warner (11).

Nine returning players, including two lettermen (Alan Berliner and Dooley) from last year's team which had the best record (15-8) during Iacono's Dayton career, will form the nucleus of this season's team.

Seven positions have to be filled: first, second and third singles and first and second doubles. Berliner, a two-year varsity starter who was named to last year's All-Suburban Conference third team at third singles, will be vying for first singles position with Dooley, on last year's All-Suburban Conference third team at first doubles. Returning veterans Bloch, Chin, Craner, Pine, Schlager, Stein, Steir and Warner will be among those battling for the other starting berths. Michael Berliner, a promising freshman, will compete for a starting role.

Last season the team was fourth (8-6) in the Suburban Conference, which included Summit (No. 12 in the state) and Millburn (No. 13).

Plainfield offers test for girls' track team

Despite March's weather tantrums, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School girl's spring track and field team has been hard at work. Inclement conditions have hampered outdoor practice and Head Coach Bill Jones says that the team is two to three weeks behind schedule. Still, every other squad is plagued by the same problem and Dayton has an abundance of veterans whose experience will help compensate for lost practice time.

Promising sprinters for the coming season include event captains Trish Taylor and Debbie Keller, Kathy Rickerhauser, Karen Rickerhauser, Laura Clarke and Elinor Sadin.

Hurdlers are winter track Group II champion and event captain Linda Spina, Judy Hockstein and Penny Levitt.

Event captain Maria Sannino, Mari

Ann Booger, Linda Roth and Martha Potter are working out in the weight events. Distance runners are Janis Levine, Dana Levinson, Kathy Rodgers and Barbara Taylor.

Middle distance competitors include Kathy Kelly, Barbara Pettiti, Maureen Kelly, Shirley Salemi, Alice Barry, Marcia Irving, Kathy Costalis and Candy Lesofsky.

Jones and his assistants, Dave Cowden and Warner Byrne, are hoping that the combination of veterans and talented young runners will make the team a contender for conference, county and sectional championships.

The coaching staff has toughened the spring schedule by adding meets against Newark Central and Linden.

Tomorrow afternoon, Dayton will be host for a scrimmage with Plainfield High School, one of the outstanding teams on the east coast.

Boys' track to boast mixture of 'old, new'

The 1980 Spring track and field team at Jonathan Dayton is an interesting mixture of "old and new." It appears that the boys will excel in the high jump, long jump and pole vault but be weak in other areas.

Head Coach Martin Taglienti, citing the strong spirit and super attitude of all the athletes, is confident that the team will maintain its 14-year streak of winning seasons. Top star is state champion high jumper Paul Commarato.

Taglienti and his assistants, Bon Kozub and Angelo Senese, are relying on veteran runners for points in the opening meets but are confident that, with time and training, several new faces will appear on the starting line. Sprinting this season are event captain Anthony Circelli, Ed Francis and Robert Casey.

Event captain Danny Domaratsky, Kevin Iaione and Harry Weiss will compete as weightmen.

In the middle distance events are Glen Eitz, Louis Salemy, Keith Hanigan, Bob Carol, and Steve Halpin. Quartermilers include Anthony Catalano and newcomers Jeff Englehardt, Ken Klebous, Dave Savage and John Apicella.

Distance runners are event captain Jeff Knowles, Jay Bruder, Adam Silverstein, Steve Wright, Jimmy Roche and Scott Connolly. Hurdlers are John Alexy, Paul Commarato, Ed Macdonald, Matt Smith and John May. Pole vaulters include Robert Irene, Robert Dooley and Knowles.

The team opens against Linden April 3. Although it faces a tough schedule, including several Group 3 and 4 schools, Dayton will field a team no foe can take lightly.

Board votes on roller skating pay pact

The controversial application again involved Clifford, who has asked for money to put on another musical show this year. Board member Pat Knodel mentioned that the minigrants originally were to be used for innovative programs. "It bothers me to see the money for the play come out of the minigrants; however, I have no objection to the play," she said. The vote to table the request was 4-1, Barre dissenting.

Marching band plans blow-out

Members of the Jonathan Dayton Marching Band will be honored at a covered dish supper tonight at the high school. The Band Parents Organization will host at the dinner to thank the members for the hours of work which led to the band's winning the Tournament Bands Chapter V Championship, Class I. Following the dinner, the band will present its annual December concert.

Cleanup time: glass, papers

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Key Club will hold its twice-a-month Glass-In on Saturday. All residents of the area were urged to bring glass sorted by color, with the metal rings removed from around the mouth of the bottles) and newspapers (tied in bundles), for recycling. The Glass-In will be held in the high school parking lot from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A holiday 'gift' idea—blood donors sought

Union County residents can donate a gift of life and health for the holiday season during a special blood drive tomorrow at Red Cross headquarters, 203 West Jersey St., Elizabeth, from 12:30 p.m. until 5 p.m.

The special blood drive is an attempt to bring up the level of local donations, which have been dropping during the past two years because of resident "apathy," according to the Red Cross.

No appointment is needed for tomorrow's blood drive and locations of other area blood banks outside of Union County are available from the Red Cross at 353-2500.

Blood donations are needed especially before the coming holiday season and most holiday weekends, when there are more emergency accidents and bloodmobile hours are cut, Overton said.

The amount of blood being given by Union County residents is becoming lower and lower, according to Peter W.

Overton, manager of the Union County chapter of the Red Cross. Two years ago, the Red Cross used to receive about 40 pints of blood per drive day; now it receives between six and 10 pints per day, he said.

"Alienation from one's neighbor is spreading," he said.

"Severe public apathy continues to deteriorate the position of the Red Cross in collecting voluntary blood" because of a "lack of concern for others," agreed Vera Maier, chairman of the local Red Cross blood program.

The Red Cross now must import about 35 percent of the blood used for medical purposes from Europe. About 5,500 pints of the 8,000 pints used annually in Union County donated by residents, Overton said. As a result, the Red Cross, now requires that patients who receive blood must replace it, Overton said. That can be done by finding friend or relative to donate the blood, he said. Until now, the Red Cross has provided blood to anyone who needed it without that requirement, Maier said. She noted, however, that the Red Cross will continue to cover all individuals participating in the program, senior citizens and those unable to give blood, but in need of it. Another problem is receiving donations from unhealthy specimens. Overton cited an example of a New Year's Day in Lowell, Mass., when a number of people lined up to give blood, but most of it was unacceptable.

Group seeking more vests aid

The Honorary Mountainside PBA 126 inaugurated a "Bulletproof Vest Fund Drive" in October for the purpose of raising monies to equip each member of its police force with a bulletproof vest. A spokesman said, "the fund drive has been successful but is still short of its goal, and it is hoped that those who were of a mind to contribute and who have not yet done so will do so in December."

Businesses and individuals were requested to send their donations to the Honorary Mountainside PBA, Local 126, Vest Fund, 895 Mountain Ave., Mountainside, 07092.

The ski trip registration fee is $15 per person and includes bus transportation and lift ticket. Rentals and lessons are available for an additional fee. A "first day on skis" package is available for $26 per person, and includes bus, lift ticket, rentals, and two lessons. The bus will leave Deerfield School at 6:15 a.m. and return at about 6:30 p.m. The trip is open to all ages but people in the seventh grade or lower must be accompanied by an adult. For additional information, readers may call the Recreation Office at 232-0015.

DEERFIELD PROGRAM—Patty Kelly, on the alto sax, and Judy Geiger, on clarinet, will be among Deerfield School students participating in a traditional holiday musical program to be presented next Thursday at 1:30 and 8 p.m. in the school. On-job training posts listed for area residents

Several Union County residents have completed the educational phase of training towards certification as paraprofessional alcoholism counselor, according to Teresa C. McGeary, executive director of the Union County Council on Alcoholism.

The Paraprofessional Counseling Project, funded by Union County CETA, is an 18-month program of training and education on alcoholism, primary counseling and treatment. Following an intensive seven-week training program, the Union County trainees are being placed in public service agencies for on-the-job training.

William Butler of Roselle Park will help identify and assist alcoholics in the Rehabilitation Unit of the Union County Jail in Elizabeth. Ethel Carlson, also of Roselle Park, will be a counselor in the Aid to the Low Income Alcohol Abuser in the Council's branch office in Alexian Brothers Hospital, Elizabeth.

The trainees will assist the agencies in meeting the needs of alcoholic clients and their families; identify and intervene in alcoholic families and provide education in community schools and organizations. They will also serve as liaison between the agencies and the council, and will return to the council on a scheduled weekly basis for on-going classroom training.

OFFICE COMPLEX—School House Plaza office complex in Millburn-Short Hills, being developed by Murray Construction Co., of Springfield, combines renovation of an existing school with a new four-story office facility to create a unique suburban office environment. The 46,000 square foot complex has office space and retail shops.

Rentals completed in office complexes

Completion of rentals in the School House Plaza office complex in Millburn-Short Hills and the modern Mt. Pleasant Plaza building in West Orange has been reported by Jeff Siegel, vice president of Murray Construction Co. of Springfield, one of North Jersey's leading builders. Murray Construction Co., headed by Maurice M. Weill, has been active in the industrial-commercial for three decades with a wide range of projects. Through its skilled staff, Murray Construction has developed hundreds of properties for large and small firms and offers a range of services from site selection to design, engineering, financing, construction, and management. These skills were put to a test at School House Plaza on Taylor Street, off Millburn Avenue, where the Murray Construction team combined preservation with innovation to develop a unique suburban office environment. Murray took Millburn's oldest existing school, which was built in 1895, refurbished the building and converted classrooms into offices and then built a four-story office facility whose decor blended into the old school structure. The 46,000 square foot Plaza complex has office space and retail shops and is fully rented. Office space is occupied by such tenants as Science Management Co., James S. Kemper and Co., Prudential Insurance, George S. White

Inc., Mini-Pak Inc., Mid-States Mortgage Corp., Consolidated Cable Systems Inc., McLaughlin, Devin and Bayes, attorneys, Life Underwriters Agency Inc. and E. B. Cohen and Co. Retail shops are occupied by Kroupa-Reynolds Jewelers; George Griffith, Inc. distributor of Steinway pianos; Plaza Suite, offering better women's clothing and sportswear; Jacques Place, women's beauty center, and Dobbs Better Homes and Gardens, Realtors. The modern Mt. Pleasant Plaza building at 347 Mt. Pleasant Ave. has 29,778 square feet of office space on two floors. Three tenants have leased space to complete rentals in the building.

Glen Arden winners still find good fortune

Good things have continued to happen to the couple that made the lucky 100,000th home purchase at a U.S. Home Corp. community. The $10,000 check and the abundance of extra landscaping that Jeri and Joel Fox received after they bought their home at Glen Arden in Howell Township, N.J., were at the beginning of a string of fortunate events.

"The 1978-1979 period was definitely our year," Mrs. Fox told the interviewer assigned to the update of the Foxes' life. The good fortune began in August 1978, when their second daughter was born just a month before the surprise of the U.S. Home Corp. VIP event in their honor. U.S. Home Corp. executives from the company's national headquarters attended, as did Philip Frank, president of the New Jersey Division of U.S. Home Corp., the Howell mayor and other local dignitaries.

The Foxes only expected the shrubbery as their prize, and, as Mrs. Fox recalls, when the $10,000 check was presented, she almost dropped her newborn baby. The celebration also included a luncheon buffet held on the lawn in front of the sales model of the Bolingbroke home that the couple had purchased.

After the family had lived for a few months at Glen Arden, which is located off Alrich Road near Route 9 and new Interstate 195, Joel Fox was named the winner of a sales quota from the New York metropolitan district of the company for which he was working. The prize was an eight-day trip for the couple to Acapulco, where Mrs. Fox reported, they "had a wonderful time."

More recently, the couple's Glen Arden home location became even more convenient for Fox. He became a sales manager for a division of Sun Oil Company (Sunoco), with offices in Manasquan, a municipality on the nearby Jersey shore.

Today, as firmly established members of their single-family home community, where they report having many good friends, the Foxes participate in many local and area pleasures. Jeri Fox bowls and plays canasta each week, and she is a player in a softball league in the township. Joel Fox plays racquetball in nearby Wall Township. Mrs. Fox prefers shopping at Monmouth Mall, which is almost exactly the same distance from the community as is the Ocean County Mall. And the entire family takes day trips to the beaches and bays of Manasquan.

Good fortune has also been enjoyed by Glen Arden, itself. More than 250 families already reside in the community where spacious Colonial-styled homes are priced from the $70,000s.

The Bolingbroke model picked by the Foxes is a raised ranch with three bedrooms and 3½ baths, now priced from $73,990. The entrance foyer, midway between the lower and upper levels, also leads to the sliding glass doors that open to the rear yard. On the lower level are a large family room with fireplace, a children's playroom and an extra-roomy basement. On the upper level are the living room, formal dining room, eat-in kitchen and the bedrooms. In the Foxes' home, sliding glass doors in the dining room open onto the family's raised redwood deck, which overlooks the rear of their ½ acre property left in natural, thickly-wooded state. The home also has an attached two-car garage.

U.S. Home Corp. is the largest on-site manufacturer of single-family homes in the United States, with 213 communities being developed in 70 cities in 14 states.

NEW TOWNHOMES — Heralded as 'the return of classic elegance,' the Kensington Park townhome community has begun to rise atop the Hudson Palisades on Palisades Avenue, Fort Lee. Shown is artist's rendering of a group of Kensington Park's residences which are being constructed by Centex Homes of New Jersey, a subsidiary of Centex Corporation, one of America's largest residential builders. Prices for homes at Kensington Park begin at $272,000. Only 114 townhomes are available. Visitors are welcomed at the Kensington Park Sales Center from 10 to 5 weekdays and weekends from 12 to 6. The center is closed Tuesdays.

Lehigh homes offer natural environment

A chance to step out your front door, walk a few steps to a jogging path and swimming pool, and have your own private park complete with palm trees and plenty of green grass is part of the Florida dream that is becoming a reality for the new home owner in Lehigh, Fla.

Lehigh, located 12 miles east of Fort Myers, on the southwest coast of Florida, has made the dream of owning your own home an affordable reality. More than 16,000 residents are enjoying that dream, with the present population of the community expected to double in the next five years as Southwest Florida becomes one of the fastest growing areas in the United States.

The reality of owning a Florida home at affordable prices has become possible through new construction techniques by Lehigh Corporation, developers of the 60,000-acre community. The new building techniques revolve around the neighborhood concept of home development which has resulted in keeping construction costs down and moving the savings on the buyer, according to Harry C. Powell, Jr., president of Lehigh Corporation. Lehigh Corporation is a wholly owned subsidiary of Land Resources Corporation. Lehigh Corporation is a wholly owned subsidiary of Land Resources Corporation which has major holdings in Florida, Georgia and California.

Most popular in the neighborhood concept is Laurelwood, Lehigh's newest neighborhood. Homes in the Laurelwood neighborhood start at $44,150 for a two-bedroom, one-bath home without lot; the three-bedroom, two-bath homes begin at $50,240 without lot.

This price range puts the Laurelwood series approximately $15,000 below the average home of major residential areas on the east coast of Florida.

For further information on Lehigh, write to Lehigh Corporation, Box 573, Dept. 1141, Lehigh, Fla., 33936.

NATURAL SETTING—Trees and plants are left untouched on lots in Lehigh, Florida, where the accent is on preserving the environment.

Builder lists low mortgage rate to buyer

There are hundreds of home design, value, lifestyle and location reasons why 1492 homes have been purchased at Covered Bridge, New Jersey's most northerly adult residential-recreational community off Route 9, Manalapan. Now, with only 42 homes available, add to the earlier reasons urgency and savings.

By discovering Covered Bridge and contracting for purchase by the end of March, adults can reap savings of $1,000 on the price of their homes and as much as two percentage points on mortgage financing. The prices of the last homes, now from $39,490 to $42,790, will be increased by $500 March 31 and by another $500 April 30 if any of the homes are still available then.

Also offered to the last buyers are two money-saving subsidized mortgage plans. By signing a contract prior to the end of March, the purchaser is allowed to obtain a market rate mortgage which will be subsidized to an interim 11 per cent effective interest rate with a 50 per cent down payment or a 12 per cent effective interest rate with a 25 per cent down payment. Based on the lower price and the 11 per cent interest, the monthly savings on mortgage payments could be as much as $50.58.

The rush for the last homes and the savings doesn't mean, however, that the buyers have to rush to move in. Closings can be held as late as July.

Directly adjacent to the community is the Covered Bridge public 18-hole golf course. Conveniently nearby are Monmouth Park and Freehold Race Tracks, the Garden State Arts Center, numerous theatres and shopping areas. Within a half hour drive, are the Jersey shore beaches and bays.

To discover Covered Bridge, take the Parkway to Exit 123 or the Turnpike to Exit 11, then continue south on Route 9 following signs to the community entrance on your right.

Working women get fair Social Security

One of the strengths of the Social Security system is its ability to adapt to changing needs. When the original Social Security Act was passed in 1935, the United States was a much different place than it is today. Over the years, the law has been amended on several occasions in an effort to keep it up to date to new conditions.

The treatment of women under Social Security is a case in point. In 1935, the typical American family consisted of a husband — the breadwinner — and his dependent wife who cared for their children; and, for the most part, they remained together until "death did them part." Only about one in every four women was gainfully employed.

Today, by contrast, we find one divorce for every two marriages and more than half of all women — including half of all married women — are in the workforce. Obviously, the once clearcut distinction between men as wage earners and women as homemakers no longer exists. Nevertheless, in large measure the program continues to treat women primarily as adult dependents.

In recognition of the changing roles of men and women in our society, Congress requested the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to study the issue of equity for women under the Social Security program. The department report was submitted in February 1979. While offering no specific recommendations, it did suggest two approaches for consideration — an earnings sharing plan and a double-decker option.

Under earnings sharing, one-half of the total annual earnings of both a husband and wife would be credited to each, regardless of whether one or both were employed. At retirement, benefits for each would be based on half the total earnings during the time they were married, and on their individual earnings during the years they were single.

The rationale for this proposal is that a husband and wife are partners in marriage and, whether gainfully employed or a homemaker, should share earnings equally. In this sense, neither is considered a dependent of the other.

Under the double-decker option plan, a specific benefit would be paid to every one who met certain requirements, regardless of his or her earnings. In addition, the person would get a benefit based on his or her earnings covered by Social Security.

The issue of equity for women was considered by the 1979 Advisory Council on Social Security, which is appointed every four years. The council suggested that earnings sharing is the more promising approach, but refrained from recommending it since the plan still has to be refined.

While the final word on the question of equity for women under Social Security has not been spoken, one thing is clear: Social Security will continue to adapt to society's changing needs for the decade of the '80s and beyond.

Kean host to 'family' program

A three-day program on "The Contemporary Family: Origins and Outcomes" will be held at Kean College, Union, April 8 to 10 to contribute to the summer White House Conference on the Family. Kean College's Collateral Program in Family Studies, the Nancy Thompson Library and the Instructional Resource Center are sponsoring the event.

Films and videotapes related to the family will be shown April 8 at the IRC from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and again from 5 to 9:30 p.m. The Instructional Resource Center, a library of audio-visual instructional media, is on the second floor of Hutchinson Hall on the college campus. Admission is free.

Dr. Richard J. Gelles, co-author of "Behind Closed Doors," the first nationwide study of the extent, patterns and causes of violence within the American family, will lecture on "The Violent Home" April 9 at 12:15 p.m. in Hutchinson Hall.

Room J-100.

A Teach-In on the Family" will be held April 10 from 9:30 a.m. through 9 p.m. at the library. A dialogue on a different topic will be held each hour during the day, ranging from a non-sexist approach to childrearing to step-parenting in a second marriage.

Suggestions for topics may be contributed by writing to Dr. June Handler, Bruce 102-H, Kean College, Union, 07083.

Youths to have Easter party

The Boys and Girls Club of Union, Inc., will sponsor an Easter party on April 5 from 1 to 3 p.m. The party is open to all club members.

A special appearance by the Easter Bunny is also planned, along with an Easter egg hunt. The winner of the jelly bean guessing contest will be announced.

There will be no charge. Further information is available at 687-2697.

Blood donor reaches 45 pints in 18 years

Twenty years ago, Chris P. Scala of Union lost his brother-in-law to leukemia. It was through this personal loss that Scala came to understand how difficult a time a hospital has in maintaining an adequate supply of each type of blood.

"I have a positive while my brother-in-law had a negative," said Scala. "During this crisis, I witnessed the tremendous importance of having a large quantity of all blood types available to all individuals every day of the year."

Scala has taken steps to prevent such a shortage by donating 45 pints of blood to the North Jersey Blood Center so far.

Employed at Western Electric Company in Union as a teletype inspector, he donates blood every three months through drives held by his company.

"I worked for Western Electric for about 10 years before I gave my first pint of blood in 1962," said Scala. "I feel that due to the continually rising demand for blood, each donation is needed more critically than the one before."

A member of the Elks in Union, he also assists the group's efforts in arranging drives for the center.

Scala, his wife, Elaine, and their three children reside on Locust Drive.

Kean College of New Jersey students taking summer courses based in Denmark.

Dr. Elaine Fisher, a professor of special education at Kean, completed arrangements at an international conference she attended in January at the University of Copenhagen, Denmark.

Fisher has been the American director for seven years of the 10-year-old American-Scandinavian Seminar in Culture and Education (ANSCE).

Courses being offered through Kean this summer are special education, early childhood education, criminal justice and programs and services for the aging. Courses are based in Copenhagen and include excursions to Sweden and Norway.

Registration for the travel study program closes April 15. Students may enroll as graduates or undergraduates to receive college credits, or they may audit the course or take it under the continuing education program. Details can be obtained from Fisher (527-2126) or Edwin Williams, a Kean professor of educational policy science, at 527-2166.
