'84-85 school budget going to voters on Tuesday

polls on Tuesday for the Annual School Election 2 to 9 p.m. in the Deerfield School gymnasium to vote on the 1984-85 school budget and to fill two seats for the Board of Education..

The budget provides for continuing a strong educational system, according to school district representatives. The "2,647,003 proposal represents a small increase of 2.2 percent over the 1983-84 budget. It reflects a - decline in enrollment, providing for a reduction in the number of teachers. The total falls

Mountainside voters will go to the below cap, the spending limit established by the state.

> "This is a budget with a balanced viewpoint. Of course, I can always dream of additional programs we would like to have, but this meets the needs of the children, and even allows for a few program improvements." says Mountainside Superintendent of Schools Dr. Margaret H. Kantes. "We have a school district in which we can take a lot of pride. It is strenghthened immensely by the community support we continually enjoy and appreciate."

"State actions continue to hamper local school district budgeting," according to schoolautorities. "Again this year, the full state aid promised by the T & E law is not forthcoming. To cover the state shortfall, the budget calls for further use of free appropriations balances, commonly known as sur-

The budget proposal is arrived at carefully, according to Board President Camie Delaney. She points out that the proposed total is as close as possible to reasonable expectations for next year's

The Board of Education began a scrutiny of the budget in November. In a series of meetings, the Board con sidered lengthy, itemized listed of requests from teachers and administrators for materials and supplies needed next year. Some requests were granted; others were notified, postponed, or denied.

Actual costs to date for the present year were considered, so that accounts for the following year could be estimated with as much accuracy as "Some people may not realize the constraints a school board works under," notes Mrs. Delaney. "We have to meet a lot of requirements and there are many elements of the budget which are predetermined before we even sit down to work on it. Just a couple of examples would be pension and insurance costs. Any significant cuts in staff or programs would have to be justified to the county superintendent and gains his approval.'

In addition, many items in the budgetfulfill state mandates. However, the state does not pay for the programs it requires; local funding must be found.

The Mountainside PTA has endorsed the budget and has mounted a campaign to encourage a good voter turnout on Tuesday. PTA members are offering babysitting and/or transportation services on Election Day. Interested residents should call Delores Sharkey at 654-3432 or Dottie Unchester at 654-

Running for the two vacant board seats are incumbent Patricia Knodell and former member Linda Schneider.

Yudes set as State Bar speaker

James P. Yudes, a Mountainside attorney, has been selected by the New Jersey State Bar Association as its principal speaker on the issue of child custody at its annual meeting in May in Atlantic City.

This is the second year that Yudes has been selected to speak at the Association's Annual Meeting on the issue of custody.

Yudes, a nationally recognized expert on child custody matters, has alsobeen the vice-chairman of the American Bar Association's Family Law Adoption Committee and is a member of a Special Task Force of the American par Association, which task force is assigned the responsibility to create a National Uniform Law of Child

Yudes also spoke at the annual meeting of the State Bar Association in 1983 on the topic of Children Who Vanish, a lecture that dealt essentially with issues involving interstate child custody matters.

In addition to speaking at the annual meeting on the issues of child custody, Yudes will also speak to the State Bar Association on the need for legal specialization, that is, the desirability of creating a court controlled system of designating lawyers as specialists in various areas of law in order to aid the public in determining whether or not the lawyers they have selected have special competency in the areas important to the consumer.

Yudes, a Fellów of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers, is the Legislative Coordinator for Family Law for the New Jersey State Bar Association and the Chairman of the Union County Matrimonial Early Settlement Program.

He resides in Westfield with his wife Bebbins, and his daughters, Meghan and Jeanette

Schneider supports 84-85 school budget

Linda Schneider, a candidate for the Mountainside Board of Education, strongly supports the 1984-85 school budget. "The $2,589,907 current expense portion of the budgets projects a modest 2.8 percent increase over last year's amount. Declining enrollment, reductions in number of teaching staff, pending staff contract negotiations, a major repair of the roof at Vail-Deane School, and increases in insurance costs are some of the highlights reflected in the major accounts.

"The benefits accrued from the support of our local public school budget are widespread and farreaching. First of all, the high quality of education which our children deserve and which has been a Mountainside tradition, can continue. Second, support of the private schools in the borough will be maintained.

"Third, local control of our school will be strengthened. Fourth, real estate values in a community which tauts an excellent school system will be enhanced In sum, the taxpayers' investment in the quality education of our children is guaranteed to yield high returns to all of us (young and old!) in the near future.'

Schneider strongly urges the residents of the borough to vote in the school election and to support the school budget on Tuesday at Deerfield School, 2-9 p.m..

Blood pressure screening clinic slated

The Mountainside Board of Health will conduct a blood pressure screening clinic from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Friday, April 6, in the Court Room of the Municipal Building, 1385 Rte. 22, Mountainside.

There are some 23 million Americans who have high blood pressure and at least 30 percent are unaware they have it. High blood pressure most often does not produce any symptoms or symptoms or discomfort.

Persons should be screened for high blood pressure if they: 1. Are 35 years of age or older, 2. Have not had their blood pressure checked in a year or more, 3. Are not under the care of a physician for high blood pressure, 4. Have a family history of high blood pressure, 5. Have stopped taking blood pressure medication without their physicians approval.

The Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross and New Jersey Blood Services are sponsoring a blood drive on Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The busmobile, a selfcontained mobile donor room, will be parked at the corner of E. Broad and Elm Streets in Westfield.

Area residents are urged to stop in and give the "Gift of Life." For further information, call the Red Cross at 232-

Restaurateur of Year' award for Connelley of Mountainside

The Northern New Jersey Branch of the International Geneva Association through its President Egon Gronau, recently announced the selection of Robert B. Connelly of L'Affaire, as the recipient of the New Jersey Restaurateur of the Year Award for

Connelly is the sole owner of the restaurants and has devoted all of his adult life to the restaurant industry. Connelly is the rare combination of owner and chef. He has a closet in his office which reveals sports jackets, slacks, shirts and other attire. Also, half of the closet reveals 4 sets of whites, neatly hung-ready for use. Connelly said, "That rarely does a day go by when I don't assume the role of Chef, in spite of the fact that I have excellent Chefs working for me. My participation lends credibility to the adage. If a restaurant is to succeed there must be that fine line of cooperation from the back of the house to the front of the house.' Connelly attended the Culinary Institute when it was located in New Haven, Conn., graduated in 1963 with advance Chefs honors and began workings as a Sous Chef at the Rainbow Room at Rockerfeller Center, N.Y. where he remained for three years. In 1967 he was appointed Executive Chef and Manager of the Kings Court Restaurant on Route 22 in Springfield, and worked there until 1970.

In 1970, Connelly assumed the position of Executive Chef and manager of the Meeting Place Restaurant in Madison.

In 1974 Connelly opened L'Affaire, a French Continental Restaurant in Morristown, New Jersey as owner/chef. This restaurant when reviewed by the New York Times on three visits in two years received 3 Star Ratings each

The Daily News of New York rated this restaurant "Four Chefs Hats". With this beginning Connelly expanded and in 1975 he purchased a restaurant on Route 22 in Mountainside, which became L'Affaire

ROBERT B. CONNELLEY

He continued to run both restaurants until September, 1978 when he decided to devote all his time and attention to L'Affaire Mountainside and sold L'Affaire Morristown. His success as a restauranteur can be attributed to the training he received in knowing the value of dependability and good service to the dining public.

In 1982, Connelly purchased The Summit Squire Restaurant in Summit. and in 1983 The Big Apple in Jupiter, Fla.

"There's not a lot of glamour in this business. It's hard work and long hours. When everyone else goes out to lunch and dinner, you have to work-fixing their lunch and dinner. But for me it's rewarding, I enjoy the fast pace and pleasing people.

Beside his hectic and active life as a restaurateur. Connelly finds time toparticipate in civic, charitable and industry related causes. For the last two years he has been selected as General Chairman of the 18th and 19th Salons of Culinary Arts of Northern New Jersey of the International Geneva

Association. He is a member of the "200" Club, an organization of business men of Union County that minister in a financial way to the educational needs of children of Firemen and Policemen who have been killed in the line of duty.

Convention set by county GOP

U.S. Secretary of Labor Raymond Donovan will be among the headliners at the Union County Republican convention to be held Saturday in the Middle School on West Grant Avenue in

Doors will open at 9 a.m. and the mini-convention, with 685 delegates, will get under way at 10 a.m. Donovan will give the nominating speech for President Ronald Reagan and Vice President George Bush. Congressman James Courter and Joseph (Bo) Sullivan, state cochairmen for the Reagan-Bush campaign, also will be present. The convention also will select candidates to run for four seats on the Board of Freeholders — three of them for full-three-year-terms and one for anunexpired one-year term left vacant by the resignation of Tom Long of Linden, now serving in the Assembly.

Incumbents Edward Slomkowski and Alan Augustine of Scotch Plains are expected to win renominations for two of the three-year terms. Convention delegates will pick the third candidate for a three-year term from among five seeking the post: Council President Robert Gonor of Linden, former Mayor Thomas Ricciardi of Mountainside, Councilwoman Marilyn Hart of Mountainside, Councilwoman Virginia Appellian of Clark and Councilman Richard Malgrin of Plainfield.

Seniors cite Landau, 92

KENILWORTH-Jack Landau, who had been president of the Kenilworth Senior Citizens Club for 17 years, was recently honored by the club with a plaque for his years of service.

He was presented with the award by current president Frank Rasinski. Beyond his service, he received the honor for his "dedication and contributions that he rendered beyond his duties." He was also given the title of "Honorary President."

At the Seniors regular meeting, Rasinski gave a discussion on the different activities of February. Mr. George, houseman, reported 362 members used the club facilities. Ann Sabolchick, arts and crafts coordinator, reported "Chicken Scratch" classes began and are continuing every Tuesday morning at 9:30 a.m..

A variety of other crafts will be held on Friday mornings at 9:30 a.m. All members are welcome. Sophie Strack, trip coordinator, reported the trip to Maine in August, mystery bus ride April 2, and the trip to Wildwood Crest June 11-15.

Ruth Wayne, RSVP chairperson for Cranford Health Center, reported her group donated 107 hours. Lillian Lasser, RSVP chiarperson, said her group donated 144 hours to Memorial General Hospital and 62 hours to Elizabeth General. Her group included Irene Bittrolff, Josephine Aragona, and Mary Luciano.

The following were honored at the March birthday party: Verna Kramer, Hilda Steimle, Anna Metzner, Lillian Pilat, William Seibert, Sam Carapezza, Mabel Conner, Carl Jaeckel, Mary Dulemba, Helen Krynicki, Rose Vitale, Nancy Givens, Margaret Seibert and Edna Allen.

The next regular meeting will be Wednesday, 1 p.m., at the Kenilworth Veterans' Center.

HONORED BY PTA-David Brearley Regional High School Parent-Teacher Associaton President Pat Haydu expressed the group's appreciation to Charles E. Vitale (right) for his 12 years as Kenilworth representative to the Union County Regional Board of Education as Brearley principal Joseph Malt looks on. Vitale, upon receiving plaque, called his years of service, "most fruitful and productive" of his life. He retires from the Board Tuesday.

'Feminine paradox' explained

By ROSE P. SIMON SPRINGFIELD-Following are reviews of popular books at Springfield Library

STILL THE GENDER GAP "Femininity," by Susan Brown-

miller. In our society, to fail at being feminine is to appear not to care about men, and in doing so, to risk their disapproval. So the "feminine" woman is favored with special attentions and courtesies, and is considered a success. Brownmiller shows us how women who work at femininity, gain popularity, but eventually accept restrictions and become adept at compromise. The paradox of femininity is explained so: That an occasional compromise may serve to protect women in a man's world or help them to survive), or that total surrender may hinder women from major achievement (professionally). The author traces the history of women throughout the centuries, stressing eight aspects of behavior and concentration which may differentiate them from men. The first of these concerns the woman's body, whose shape has been subject to change (once, corsets, now diet and exercise).

Also discussed are style changes in hair (often giving the woman a "lift") and clothes (lending variety offering opportunities for creativity). Brownmiller includes chapter on the voice, skin and make-up, bodily movement (walking, standing), the emotions, and ambition.

Femininity has been dependent upon established traditional codes of behavior. Although women are no longer tied to all of these older, more restrictive conditions, and have more freedom to choose for themselves, some of them must await a restructuring of the social order in order to realize their ambitions.

SEARCH FOR THE TRUTH

"Straight Stuff," by James Deakin. Reporters are born with an instinct against secrecy. It is in their nature to be suspicious of concealment, except in extraordinary circumstances, and even then they are dubious (as in the case of President Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955), when the news was released (2 hours later).

Tension between government and the news media exists because the journalist wants all angles of the facts; government wants order, prudence, safety. This unresolved conflict is present at every presidential press conference, every White House briefing by the press secretary, every face-off between journalists and officials.

Deakin-White House correspondent for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch for 25 years, informs and entertains with accounts of White House-Reporter confrontations. He tells us that some people choose journalism for a variety of reasons: out of curiosity, the desire to perform a public service, to instigate reform to achieve fame or power.

He describes the relationships between presidents and the press (Eisenhower to Reagan), he reviews press conferences (FDR to the present). The personalities of the principals emerge clearly as Deakin reports on colorful, intimate chapters cover specific relationships between certain presidents and their press secretaries, and the structuring of press conferences.

AN AMERICAN TRAGEDY

"Death of an American," by David Fleisher and David M. Freedman.

On March 29, 1973 John Singer-a farmer, T.V. repairman, also a Mormon fundamentalist— withdrew his three eldest children from the local public school. In opposition to the Utah State law, Singer had objected to a sentence in the history book describing Martin Luther King, Jr. as a patriot. This statement was contrary to Singer's religious belief. He planned to educate his children at home in accordance with the Scriptures in which he implicitly believed. Cut off from the church because they found it's Modern Manisfesto of 1890 unacceptable (they supported polygamy), the Singers had been excommunicated and were already in disfavor. The problem for the authorities was a knotty one, for Singer was essentially a good man.

Dayton teacher cooks up storm

SPRINGFIELD—From cooking for his fraternity brothers to earn room and board while in college to creating gourmet dishes now just for fun, Ed Jacinski has learned to appreciate the many aspects of culinary art. And because he arrives home from work sooner than wife Mary Lou, the family benefits from his expertise.

"I do almost all the cooking at home now," says the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School social studies teacher. "My wife even complains sometimes that I don't make simpler meals.'

Jacinski, who also coaches girls tennis, takes his cooking hobby seriously. He attends the Geneva Culinary Society's annual display of the finest restaurant creations in North Jersey. And he's also sampled the spaghetti sauce in Northern and Southern Italy. Partial to Oriental, French and Italian cuisines, Ed "can't wait" to grow fresh sweet basil for his pesto sauce

His favorite dish? Lobster Cantonese. But for home economics students of Dayton's Eleanor Billig, Ed demonstrated an egg roll recipe, which is reprinted below.

1. Set a 12-inch wok or 10-inch skillet over high heat for 30 seconds. Pour in 1 Tablespoon of the oil, swirl it about in the pan and heat for another 30 seconds, turning the heat down to moderate if the oil begins to smoke. Add the pork and stir-fry for 2 minutes, or until it loses its reddish color. Then add the wine, soy sauce, sugar, shrimp and mushrooms, and stir-fry for another minute, or until the shrimp turn pink. Transfer the entire contents of the pan

2. Pour the remaining 2 tablespoons of oil into the same wok or skillet, swirl it about and heat for 30 seconds, turning the heat down to moderate if the oil begins to smoke. Add the celery and stir-fry for 5 minutes, then add the bean sprouts and mix throughly together

Return the pork and shrimp mixture to the pan, and stir until all the ingredients are well combined. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until the liquid starts to boil.

3. There should be about 2 or 3 tablespoons of liquid remaining in the pan. If there is more, spoon it out and discard it. Give the cornstarch mixture a quick stir to recombine it, and add it, stirring until the cooking liquids have thickened slightly and coated the mixture with a light glaze. Transfer the entire contents of the pan to a bowl and cool to room temperature before using.

4. To assemble: For each egg roll, shape about 14 cup of the filling with your hands into a cylinder about 4 inches long and an inch in diameter and place it diagonally across the center of a wrapper. Lift the lower triangular flap over the filling and tuck the point under it, leaving the upper point of the wrapper exposed. Bring each of the two small end flaps, one at a time, up to the top of the enclosed filling and press the points firmly down. Brush the upper and exposed triangle of dough with lightly beaten egg and then roll the wrapper into a neat package. The beaten egg will seal the edges and keep the wrapper intact.

5. To cook: Set a 12-inch wok or heavy deep-fryer over high heat, add 3 cups of oil and heat it until a haze forms above it or it reaches a temperature of 375 degrees. Place 5 or 6 egg rolls in the hot oil and fry them for 3 to 4 minutes, or until they have become golden brown and are crisp. Transfer the egg rolls to a double thickness of paper towels and let the oil drain off while you fry another batch of 5 or 6.

Note: Serve the rolls as soon as possible, arranged attractively on a large heated platter. If necessary, the egg rolls can be kept warm for an hour or so in a preheated 250 degree oven, or they can be reheated for about 10 minutes in a 450 degree oven.

Regional grads praise system

SPRINGFIELD-Eighty-nine percent of questionnaires returned by the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 graduates indicated "excellent" or "good" preparation in written composition in comparison with that of their college peers, reported Robert Whelan, district Coordinator of English. The same poll indicated 84 percent "excellent" or "good" preparation in literary appreciation.

Conducted through the English, guidance and athletic department of the Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights; Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Clark; David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth; and Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, 174 questionnaires were returned over a two-month period from graduates now attending such colleges as Harvard, Brown, Duke and Rutgers.

"When one considers the deplorable state of student writing nationwide and the great difficulty in teaching this particular skill, the results (of the questionnaires) are outstanding," said Whela in a recent report to the regional Board of Education. "This is easily the most important report I've prepared in my eleven years as Coordinator of English in the regional district."

Third Age receives a contract for Runnells

Although he has "reservations" about hiring the designated firm to temporarily run John E. Runnells Hospital in Berkeley Heights, Union County Manager Arthur G. Grisi said he will nevertheless sign the contract as approved by the Board of Freeholders recently.

Grisi said he will sign the contract with Third Age Inc., a subsidiary of Medicon Inc. of Devon, Pa., but said that the pact would be on a "month-tomonth" basis for a period of no longer than six months. The agreement, which calls for a maximum or $12,500 per month, would also be subject to a cancellation clause, he said, permitting it to be severed "for failure to perform"

The Board of Freeholders voted March 15 to hire the firm to run the hospital while a special freeholder committee investigates the hospital's compliance with federal regulatory and accreditation guidelines. The ad hoc committee was formed after two top hospital administrators resigned and another went on an indefinite sick leave Grisi said that Third Age had according to its terms.

"on organizational matters..." and in

"formulating long-range plans and needs assessments - presumably not in managing hospitals...particularly specialized public hospitals" such as Runnells. He said that he was

"reserving judgement as to whether previous experience as a consultant (Third Age) will meet the needs of this county. In addition to Third Age, the freeholders have hired Memorial General Hospital, Union, as a consultant for a review of Runnells Hospital for $13,100.

'Yes' on the budget

In order to maintain a continuing commitment to a high quality of education, we recommend that residents vote for the 1984-85 school budget on Tuesday.

The budget increase is reasonable and necessary. Children are our most important resource, and it is essential that they be provided with the best teachers and facilities available so as to maximize their potential.

Mountainside's children must receive a level of education at least on a par with surrounding communities because they will eventually be competing with their peers in college and in the job market.

We also commend incumbent Patricia Knodell and Linda Schneider for demonstrating their active interest in the community's education system by running for election to the Board of Education. However, it would be beneficial to see more residents take a similar interest in the future. Having just two candidates for the two vacant seats obviously prevents a choice and stills most chances for debate and discussion.

We also feel the Regional High School Board of Education's budget should pass. It is a slight increase which is fully merited. As with the local election, the number of candidates matches the number of seats.

Letter to the editor

Queston of quality

The quality of the educational system in a town benefits not only the students involved, but the entire community. Here in Mountainside we have an excellent educational system which has helped to draw families with school-age children to our community.

students' academic achievements are well-documented in high national standings in all areas of learning. Their achievements are due to the dedicated, hard-working staff and administration and to the programs being offered.

Today, everywhere we turn, we are faced with increasing costs. While this is true for education also, the Mountainside Board of Education is asking for a very small increase over last year's budget to continue the excellent education our children receive.

Our children are tomorrow's world leaders, doctors, lawyers, etc. The future lies in their minds and hands Support the excellence in education that Mountainside students deserve: VOTE Tuesday and vote for the budget. SANDI ARTHUR

Listening 'constructively' can be a valuable service

By GEORGE F. WILSON, M.D. This column is from The Carrier Foundation, a psychiatric facility. Inquiries should be addressed to The Carrier Foundation, Belle Mead, N.J.

Your child comes to you and tells you she has gotten a failing grade or has been turned down by a school club.

Your husband comes to you and tells you he has been passed over for a promotion or that his boss has been "chewing him out" and making life miserable for him.

Your sister comes to you and tells you about the problems she is having with her husband

How do you react when this happens? What do you say and do when someone important comes to you with something that is troubling him or her — a disappointment, a hurt, a rejection, a loss, a failure?

If you are like most other people, you probably try to reassure the person that it wasn't really his/her fault that it happened, and that he should not be blaming himself. Then you try to soothe his hurt feelings by saying that it isn't really so important after all, there are many things in life that are so much more important than that which happened to him. Or you tell him that his "little tragedy" is nothing compared to the "really big tragedies" other people have to endure like having an incurable cancer, or losing a leg in an automobile accident or not having enough money to feed one's children.

Another approach that is very oftenused, combined with the one I have just described, is telling the individual what he should or should not have done, and then advising him as to what he should do now to overcome the problem. Some even go so far as to take on the problem as their own and proceed, on the spot, to work out a step-by-step plan on what this person should do, offering to jump in and "have a session" with the school counselor, or the employer or the brother-in-law.

Then there are even those who think it is their duty to scold the person and tell him, or her, "it was your own fault," pointing out that "if only you hand't done this" or "hadn't said that" and "if you had behaved like a responsible grown-up person and done what you should have been doing then this would never have happened." This frequently is just an opening for a recitation of all that person's supposed shortcomings, faults, weaknesses and inadequacies.

This last approach is the worst of all, since the last thing a person who is hurting needs to be criticized and scolded and made to feel even worse. But the other two approaches minimizing the problem, or working out a solution — are not very good either. They may not be harmful, but neither are they helpful.

When people come to you with a hurt or disappointment, they are, in most cases, not seeking advice or a solution to their problem. What they want most is a sympathetic and understanding listener, one to whom they can pour out their hurt and suffering, who will accept their complaint or woe as being legitimate. Certainly they will welcome an occasional comment of concern and sympathy, such as: "I can certainly understand how that would make you feel awful," or "I don't think that was a very nice thing for him to do," or "it must take a great deal to put up with that sort of thing." This lets them know you hear and care and understand. But, in truth, they are not looking for someone else to solve or work out their problem. They want to be able to work it out for themselves and they will feel more confident about doing this if they know someone important understands and cares

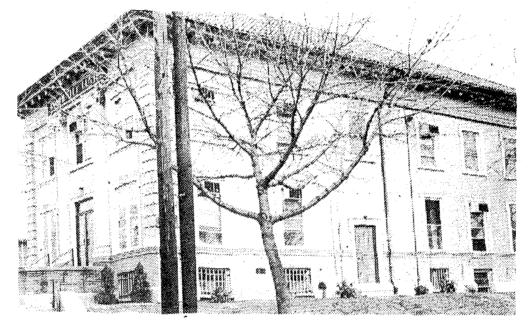

Some people call this "constructive listening." It is something you do almost instinctively once you learn that this is what is needed. People who have done this kind of listening intuitively or who have learned how to do it from watching others have found that after they have listened for about 15 or 20 minutes, interjecting an occasional comment of understanding, the speaker's tension will diminish, and he or she will be less dejected and more optimistic, even coming up with an idea about how he plans to proceed from here on in. The listener will have performed a very valuable service just by listening "constructively." This has relieved the speaker of an oppressive emotional burden and has freed him to do his own constructive thinking.

The reader may be interested to know that this method is used extensively (though not exclusively) is psychotherapy, and for the very purpose we have identified - to let the person who feels hurt, rejected, helpless or lonely know that someone is interested, knows, understands and cares. This, often, is enough to generate in that person the initiative and creativity to start working out his own problem.

True or False?

Scene around the towns

We hope readers won't run up against a brick wall when they try to identify this week's Scene, at right, provided by courtesy of David Allison of Linden. It can be found in Roselle. If you recognize it, let us know by 9 a.m. Monday. Write to Scene, in care of this newpspaper, P.O. Box 3109, 1291 Stuyvesant Ave., Union 07083. Please type or print signature.

Last week's challenge was the Linden Community Center - a Scene which James Domosiewicz of Linden was quick to recognize. The view is from the Wood Avenue side, he noted.

Another early entry came from Joseph V. Insogna Jr. of Joseph E. Soehl Middle School, who wrote, "Photographed on an angle, at the juncture of Wood Place and South Wood Avenue, this week's Scene is Linden's Community Center. It's the building from which the Linden Recreation Department operates, and it's located directly across the street from the Russell Wheeler Park, home of the Linden pool. It's always a pleasure to see part of lovely downtown Linden pictured as a 'Scene around the towns.' Could this be my 11th correct answer?"

Another correct answer came from Girl Scout Troop 194 of Cranford, whose members had good reason for recognizing the photo. The girls wrote: "The Scene around town this week is the Community Center at 605 S. Wood Avenue. It is also the Recreation Department. We are five Girl Scouts who performed a show at Delaire

Nursing Home in Linden. After we finished the show, on the way home, we passed the building and one of the girls recognized it as the scene this week. The girls who recognized the scene were Dawn Mager, Regina Sobon, Amy Bell, Jennifer Niemsyk, Lisa Petracco. We are all from Troop 194 in Cranford.'

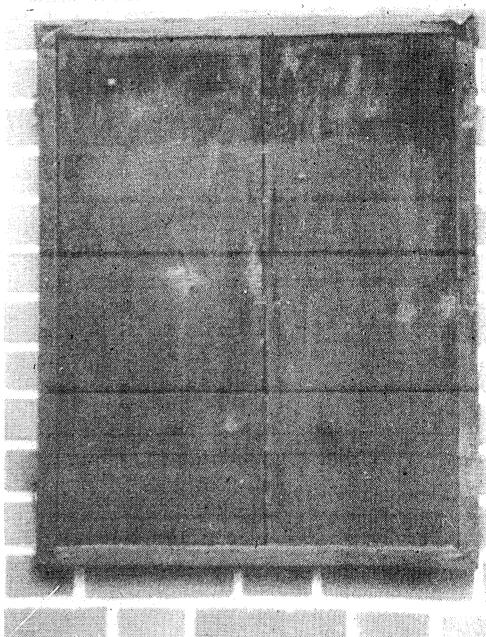

George Furman of Linden pointed out that the building is the Old City Hall. That point also was made by several other Lindenites - Michael Korab, Mrs. M. Brimner, Tom Suliga, Hilda Porter and John Vrabely

Too late for last week: The Drive-In Theater on Route 22 in Union, subject of the March 14 Scene, rang a bell with quite a few readers whose answers arrived too late for last week's paper. Among them was nine-year-old Brian

E. Ruelke of Springfield. Another Springfield resident, Barbara Joy Goldstein, also spotted the familiar view. "I recognized the bare speaker stands immediately," she wrote. "This place does look so forgotten and barren. I hope that this year the theater will show some up-todate movies that will bring back its business to the height it was many years ago. Drive-in theaters are a dying breed that should be revived.' Mildred E. Kendig of Kenilworth sent her response in on stationery decorated with a shamrock in honor of St. Patrick's Day. "Sure and the wee gremlins visited me and told me this week's Scene is none other than the Drive-In Theater of Union off Route

Everyone shares the blame for deficit

By CONGRESSMAN JAMES COURTER (R-12th District)

A 1985 budget deficit approaching $200 billion is the most urgent economic problem we have, since inflation, unemployment, and economic growth have all improved. The deficit is already a hot political issue, and will become more prominent as the November elections approach. Interest on the national debt alone will cost $116 billion in fiscal 1985.

So, there is now a consensus (at least as far as political rhetoric goes) that the substantial economic gains of the last few years will be lost if no action is taken to slow these burgeoning deficits. The debate is now focusing on how this red ink came about, and what approach we should take to reduce it.

One widespread myth is federal deficits are a new phenomenon that came about when taxes were "slashed" and defense spending "soared" under the present administration. In other words, these are Reagan's deficits. But the record over the last several decades shows this argument doesn't hold

First of all, the across-the-board tax reduction that was phased in over-three years hasn't really lowered taxes for most people. The tax cuts have merely slowed acceleration of taxes — the tax burden for fiscal 1985 will be $146 billion higher that it was during 1981, President Reagan's first year in office. This 24 percent hike in the nation's tax bill is, to say the least, inconsistent with the ever-popular notion of a Reagan tax cut which gutted the federal government's ability to collect revenue, and caused the large federal deficits. The problem is that during the same 1981-1985 period, annual federal spending will have risen by $268 billion - a 41 percent jump which even eclipses the rate of economic growth for those years. So much for the idea that President Reagan has bled the federal government dry.

Can we cut the deficit with additional tax increases? In theory, yes. But, in practice, Congress has always used additional revenues to increase spending, not to reduce deficits. The 1981-1985 experience is typical of this tendency for spending to outpace higher revenues. Another example is the 1982 tax increase, which President Reagan accepted on the condition that Congress cut $3 in spending for every dollar of additional tax revenue. You paid higher taxes; the president is still watching for the spending cuts.

What about defense spending? Is it true that social spending has been slashed to fund the defense budget? Despite all the media hype to the contrary, social welfare spending will be greater this year than last year. Food stamps, for example, have risen along with the rest of the budget, from $9.2 billion in 1980 to $12 billion in 1983. Defense spending has increased, but its share of the budget has been reduced (from 4.5 percent in 1962 to 29 percent in 1984), and it is still 33 percent less than the social spending in the federal budget. Still, Secretary Weinberger's proposal for a $272 billion budget in 1985 will be cut by Congress, and there will be efforts to make reforms which can reduce waste and make our defense spending more effective.

A major culprit in our deficit dilemma is the growth of federal entitlement programs, which have increased from $23 billion in 1965 to $338 billion in 1984. That's an increase of more than 1,300 percent! The point is that today's deficits are the culmination of the government's longstanding practice of pulling money out

The greatest culprit, however, is the lack of political leadership. The deficit is a financial matter, and it has economic effects, but it is, in essence, a politcal problem. It stems from the inability of Congress to act in an organized, disciplined manner, and from the president's reluctance to exercise the kind of leadership he showed during his first year in office. when he had the public so agitated over spending that Congress was in the palm of his hand. Progress was made that year because the broad middle-class majority of the American people who benefit from so many federal programs were willing to see those programs cut for the sake of the common good.

Businesses want their subsidies, mayors want their grants, retirees want taxpayer contributions to their pension programs, and students want federal grants and loans to pay for their education. Until we all see our own federal benefits as part of the deficit problem, our national indebtedness will rise each day with the morning sun. As Pogo said, "We have met the enemy. and he is us."

If Congress is really serious about deficits, it will take steps to limit the size and scope of the federal government, including gaining some control over "uncontrollable" entitlement programs. It is a simple solution, But it's one which big spenders have chosen

PTA newsletter

An article in the James Caldwell PTA Newsletter of January, 1984, written by our legislation chairperson, Elaine Auer, has become a political football for those who choose to use it in effect to promote their bias feelings.

The article was not written in a political fashion, but merely to bring the facts to our PTA members. Below is a copy of our article. If anyone wishes to challenge the validity of these facts we will be happy to address them.

"The National PTA and the State PTA are constantly working on and looking at new legislation regarding the safety, education and welfare of all children. With Congress and the State Legislature posing thousands of bills each year, any of which could dramatically touch the lives of the young and their teachers, professional and parental, the PTA 'watchdog' becomes all the more important. Keep abreast of legislation proposals affecting all our children and write your representatives according to your feelings on the bills.

"Our local Board of Education is still embroiled in the lawsuit brought against the board by the CARE political group and board members Adler, Dahmen, Applebaum and Faigenbaum. This lawsuit is costing the taxpayers a great deal of money. The contention is regarding the Walton building. The Walton building has been sold, but the above board members would like to see this building retained and maintainted by the Board of Education although there is at this point in time no need or use for the building. Hopefully the judge will make his ruling soon and the board can get back to the business of education rather than contending with "Fingerprinting of the children will take place February 29 at 9:30 at the Caldwell building by the Union County sheriff's office. This fingerprinting is being held as a service to parents in assisting the, police in locating a "missing" child. With alarming numbers of children being kidnapped each year, this becomes an invaluable police tool for locating these children. Hopefully no one in our area will ever have to use the fingerprints for this purpose but at least they will be available if needed.

"Best wishes for a healthy, happy, productive New Year.

Congratulations

My congratulations to B.J. Leddy and his letter of the 22nd, announcing his decision to help unify Springfield with a vote for Care. No finer or more intelligent gesture has been made by any Springfield resident who, even though his children attend Caldwell, takes the and emotional and neighbor didn't talk Care candidates at their word, "that to neighbor, they moved in and took they will not seek or attempt to close Caldwell". The Leddy letter warms my heart for it expresses the same desire that I have made known for months and months, and that is to lift the layer of social stress that the Metaphoric Majority Cause has imposed on the lifestyle of Springfield residents. I warned in my last letter of demogoguery and of the gearing up of the propoganda machine of Cause. They have not let me down. The pretense of frugality in the compiling of the budget by Cause — after months of paying outrageous lawyer fees — the unrelenting attempts to humiliate the school superintendent and blame him for decertification and escape the political humiliation and shame Springfield has never known before. A supporter of Cause, a Mr. Kraveis, puts the onus of $200,000 legal cost on Care, never thinking through his own argument. Lawyers' fees are a negotiable item commensurate with the ability of clients to pay them. Care legal costs to start these suits were a mere pittance. Why should the Cause majority defend them with $200,000 lawyers? Couldn't they have found more reasonable legal advice?

My point is the quality of the Cause arguments grows more pathetic each week, and Mr. Leddy has dealt Cause a terrible blow. It remains now only for the apathetic non-voters to sound the death knell, Cause will silently slip out of our lives, with all the factionalism, favoritism that they bought upon us. Springfield needs a clear educational doctrine, with rigid purposes - give our children the best education so that someday they can make a living in a highly competitive world and, second, attract good substantial newcomers to our town interested in a good peaceful life without the atmosphere Cause has put us in over the past months. Ask yourself this question: What substantial young family would move into a town where the state did not certify the school system? The thought of the long-term consequences of decertification endangers equity in every property in the town. Think about that last statement I have written as you go to the polls, if nothing else think about the emotional desparation of the remark that Superintendent Baruchin's actions lie between administrative error and deceit.

I have lived in Springfield for 20 years, and I can truthfully say I never sensed the dormant hostility that erupted over the past two years. I believe it was incited by a shifting a political power base from a large neighboring city. On election day we as citizens must turn back this threat for they do not in my opinion stand for brotherhood, or cooperation. They have deceived us with a metaphoric issue, they have caused us to lose our cool. Once the residents got out of control over the board. It is also rumored that one committeeman supports their efforts in return for the promise of political support later on in a township election. Think about it, and if it frightens you enough, vote for Care candidates on election day.

MARTY NOVICH Meisel Avenue

Costly opposition

Do you know that we have a school building that has been empty for two years? Do you realize that a contract has been signed for over $1,000,000 for the sale of the Walton School? The proceeds of this sale will pay for the much needed capital improvements for the remaining three schools. All that remains is the closing date and our Board of Education will have the funds to keep our functioning buildings in good shape.

Unfortunately, there are board members and CARE candidates fighting this issue. Their opposition has cost the taxpayers over $100,000 in legal court costs and fees because they want to support an empty building. If anyone troubles to check the enrollment figures, they will see that if we were lucky enough to get one hundred new students from new houses or transfers we would still be far below the number of students that can be comfortably held in our schools.

Remember, with declining enrollment, our incoming kindergarten is less than one half the number of students that are leaving our present eighth grade. Check the enrollment figures for the last two years. New houses have been built in two sections on the South side of town, but the numbers in Sandmeier School do not reflect any great change as a result.

Just one side

Rabbi Joshua Goldstein, who invited one member of his congregation to speak on just one side of a highly controversial Board of Education issue, protests too much regarding that decision.

He admits that "I have yet to meet a qualified speaker who is neutral in this controversy." Yet, he chose just one side and, cleverly, but not cleverly enough, said that he would have "tried" to accommodate a member of his congregation on the opposing side if asked. As it happens, and as Rabbi Goldstein must know, there is no member of the board, or candidate for election, on the opposing side (C.A.U.S.E.) who is a member of his congregation.

So, the members of Temple Sha'arey Shalom heard just one point of view because, as the rabbi said, "No one has the credentials to tell me what is an appropriate or inappropriate subject to address from the pulpit.'

Some would not agree with Rabbi Goldstein. There are those, we believe, who have the credentials and know that having just one biased person address the congregation in a highly controversial situation is totally inappropriate. We hope that members of the congregation accepted the address for the charade that it was. And we sincerely hope that Rabbi Goldstein will exercise better judgement in the future. SANDY WILLS

Best candidates

I urge the voters of Springfield to elect Dr. Richard Lucinani, Lee Eisen and Kenneth Faigenbaum to the Springfield Board of Education on April 3, 1984. In my opinion, they are the best candidates for the position.

Each will bring to the board experience in the business and professional world and a strong commitment to community service, which are excellent credentials for competent and qualified board members.

Each will bring to the board a desire to represent the entire community and the best interests of all of our children. Each has domonstrated that he is a person of integrity and credibility and is able to think for himself. Each has pledged to bring unity to the board and the community by returning the business of the board to the matter of quality, cost-effective education.

All of these gentlemen must be elected in order to begin the process of reclaiming for Springfield what once was Springfield's: educational excellence and a board which is committed to this goal. Your vote for Dr. Richard Luciani, Lee Eisen and Kenneth Faigenbaum on April 3 is essential in order to make this possible.

SPRINGFIELD-George Gomes,

Springfield Board of Education

president, feels several facts were not included in last week's Springfield

Leader story on the Board meeting that led to the adoption of the 1984-85 budget.

Gomes states, "There is no capital outlay appropriation and therefore, no taxation for it. By virtue of the public's approval of the proposal to place the proceeds ($346,000) of the Raymond

Chisholm School sale directly into capital outlay, we will provide funds for badly needed school repairs." The net effect is a reduction of about 9.75 points.

This means further tax reductions to homeowners. It is important that

Springfield taxpayers understand this vital point. For the average Springfield home assessed at $51,000., there will be a $47. decrease, for a $76,000. home

Dental Dialogue

KITCHEN SINK HINDERS SPEECH

Q. Why does my dentist always ask questions when I have everything but the kitchen sink in my mouth, and expects me to answer?

A. He doesn't really expect an answer, at least not a lengthy one. Most dentists like to communicate with their patients during the course of treatment. Explanations of procedures and sometimes the instruments being used can help ease a patient's anxiety. By asking questions, the dentist keeps things on a more personal level. If all else fails, try old fashioned sign language, you'll find your dentist is an expert interpreter.

This column is presented in io the interest of better dental health. From the office of ROBERT A. WORTZEL, D.M.D. 213 Summit Road

REGIONAL CANDIDATES—Running for the three vacant Union County Regional High School District No. 1 Board of Education seats are: left to right, Joseph R. Vaughn, Stephen Marcinak, and Frederick J. Soos. Vaughn is the incumbent president of the Board from Berkeley Heights, and is an ABC newscaster in New York. Marcinak, a former president and a member of the Board for 12 years, is running for his fourth term. He is a home and school counselor in Clark. Soos, making his first bid for the Board, is a resident of Kenilworth and is a construction superintendent for a Linden-based company.

Eisen said, "It is essential that we develop new educational programs and upgrade existing programs. Input from Administrators, Teaching Staff and residents is important to me. We must bring the Springfield School System back up to the level it once enjoyed when it served as an example to other towns.'

Faigenbaum added, "The quality of our school system is most important. It reflects on everyone who lives in or owns property in Springfield. We must use our funds wisely and not waste tax dollars. I want a cost-efficient school system which also meets the needs of our community.'

Eisen concluded, "We must have a new majority on the Springfield Board of Education to allow independent ideas to be heard.'

CAUSE hits at CARE 'spending'

SPRINGFIELD—Charging that Kenneth Faigenbaum and other Board of Education members backed by C.A.R.E. are mindless of the Springfield taxpayers, Board president George Gomes, a member of C.A.U.S.E., urged the election of Elaine Auer, Edward Franko and Elizabeth Simpson-Fritzen Tuesday.

According to C.A.U.S.E, this year's budget, also to appear on the ballot, reflects cost of $4.4 million, $3.9 million of that money to be realized by tax revenues.

According to C.A.US.E., "Faigenbaum and other C.A.R.E endorsed board members sought to increase this cost, with Faigenbaum stating at the last board meeting that the C.A.U.S.E. backed proposal—which will show a tax decrease-'flies in the face of the present administration.'

In this is the case, there is something drastically wrong, according to Auer, Franko and Simpson-Fritzen.

According to the C.A.U.S.E. candidates, The New Jersey School Board's publication, "Cost of Education Index," reported that Springfield's per pupil cost of $4,830 far exceeded the New Jersey average, the Union County average and even the highest of all per pupil cost districts in affluent Bergen County.

"This budget reflects this Board's concern for all of Springfield's taxpayers," said Gomes, "parents of our children, one-parent heads of households and everyone enjoying middle-life with young men and women

Polling site change

SPRINGFIELD—The Union County Regional High School District No. 1 residents of Springfield living in voting districts 11-13 should note a change of polling place for the April 3 school budget election.

Gomes was applauded by the three C.A.U.S.E. candidates, Auer, Franko and Simpson-Fritzen in his efforts to reduce costs while providing quality education that next year will include an expanded "gifted and talented" program and provide for two additional fourth grade teachers.

"Our schools are spending more per pupil than others in the county and state, even in affluent Bergen County," said Auer, adding that Springfield is providing "a private school education atmosphere in its public schools."

According to C.A.U.S.E, Faigenbaum and the other C.A.R.E. backed Board members voted (unsuccessfully) to spend an additional $174,000. That is the same group that initiated legal action against the Board.

According to C.A.U.S.E., ensuing claims and cross-claims by C.A.R.E., all of which must be answered by the Board, will cost the taxpayers additional monies now projected to be close to $200,000.

At the Board meeting, Gomes described the C.A.R.E. legal actions as "a personal shattering experience."

Simpson-Fritzen noted that all taxpayers of Springfield would realize "a personal shattering experience" if the "free-wheeling spenders" were to gain a majority vote on the Board.

"All that has saved the taxpayers to

Marcello Reyna's 34 paces club to crown

Marcello Reyna poured in 34 points as Yale defeated Cornell, 60-54, to win the Ivy League championship in the Springfield Recreation Department Basketball league.

Adam Miller also played a key role for the winners, scoring 18 points and directing the attack. Claudio Reyna added four points and Pat Corbett two.

Dan Francis sparked Cornell with 26 points. Matt Lynch chipped in with 16 points, while Tom Burger added 10 and Lenny Saia two.

Utah tripped Oklahoma, 19-13, for the State League crown. James Morrison led all scorers with seven points, while Charles Maltzman added five. Jamie Schutz, Chris Marino, Brendol Tusaklin each had two points, and David Wickham one.

Jemel Powell led the Sooners with six points. Lauren Meixner added five points, and Sue Saia added two points.

The Rockets drubbed the Pistons, 19-5, for the Small Fry championship. Noah Scheinmann led all scorers with seven points, while John Schiano and Ryan Huber each had four. DeJohn Cataldo and Patrick Reddington tallied two points apiece.

Jason Mullman led the Pistons with three points, while Neal Lynch added a

Women join UCC golfers

A season full of surprises awaits Union County College golf coach Bill Dunscombe as he prepares for the opening of the Owls' spring campaign. Dunscombe, who also heads the College's Biology Department, received his first surprise of the year when he was greeted by two female members of the student body, who have elected to try out for the squad.

"I think that it is very nice that we will have both women and men on the same team," Coach Dunscombe said. "I think it will help make the season a more interesting experience for everyone and I am looking forward to an enjoyable year.'

Raftery, Mosley to be inducted into Seton Hall's Athletic Fame

It is only fitting that Bill Raftery and Glenn Mosley be inducted together into the Seton Hall University Athletic Hall

Raftery took Mosley as an unheralded, skinny kid from Irvington Tech and made him into an NBA first round draft choice, while Mosley put Seton Hall basketball back on the map. The duo will be among 11 inductees to be honored on Saturday night, April 7 at the Hall of Fame Banquet in the Student Center, beginning at 7 o'clock. Also being inducted is Robin Cunningham, the first woman; pitchers Larry Falcon and Charlie Puleo, track star Al Daley; basketball standout John Ligos; fencer Greg Boutsikaris and tennis ace Paul Choi. Sportswriter Paul Horwitz of the Newark Evening News and Msgr. William Field will be honorary inductees because of outstanding service to the university. Raftery, now a government banking officer with the First National State Bank and a color commentator for college and pro games on TV, has fond memories of his former star. "Glenn will always hold a special place in my memories...when you consider from whence he came to what he accomplished. He just enjoyed playing the game and never really liked all the attention he received. No one really ever heard of him in high school and he became the No. 1 pick of the 76ers and was an All-American. "Nicky Galis was another overachiever, but he and Glenn seemed typical of the Seton Hall kid. They all had that inate hunger to excel beyond their ability and I think that's what kept us in so many games against some

Dick Anderson names aides

Rutgers head football coach Dick Anderson has announced the appointment of Robert S. Slowik and Kevin J. Carty to serve as assistant football coaches on the Scarlet Knights

The appointment of Slowik (defensive backs) and Carty (receivers) completes Anderson's staff of nine full-time assistant coaches.

Slowik, a 1977 graduate of the University of Delaware with a bachelor's degree in physical education, was defensive secondary coach at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1983.

Prior to his stint at Drake, Slowik served as a part-time assistant coach at the University of Florida under the direction of Charlie Pell. He coached the cornerbacks in 1981 and 1982 and worked with the safeties in 1980. Slowik also was a volunteer assistant coach with the Gators in 1979 and worked with the scout team secondary.

Slowik, a graduate assistant coach at Delaware from 1977-1979, was a twoyear starter at cornerback for the Blue Hens (1975-76) and participated in the 1976 NCAA playoffs.

Slowik attended Baldwin High School in Pittsburgh and by the time he graduated in 1972, had won varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball.

Carty, a 1971 graduate of Trenton State College with a bachelor's degree in health and physical education, most recently served as the Director of Athletics, Chairman of the Physical Education Department and head football coach at Don Bosco Preparatory High School in Ramsey.

great teams. They all wanted to prove they were better than what most people gave them credit for.

Raftery also singled out Danny Callandrillo, John Ramsey, Peter LaCorte and Greg Tynes as the Key players in his 11 years as head coach, during which the Pirates posted a 154-141 record.

"It's the kids I miss the most, the kids and the momentary high after a big win," Raftery said. "I don't miss the losses and the recruiting. But they were fun years, filled with a lot of hope. Years which enabled us to gain a lot of respect and get into the Big East Conference.'

Mosley, after a few brief NBA stops with Philly and San Antonio, has been successful in Europe. He played in France last year and made the All-Star team, while leading his team to French European Cup and French Federation Cup Championships.

Mosley has also played two years in Italy and is still undecided where he will play this season.

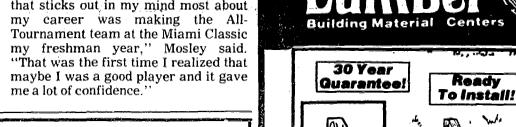

tery and Seton Hall for giving me a chance," Mosley said. "They were the only Division I team that even talked to me. And I had four great years there, years I'll never forget. It's an honor to go into the Hall of Fame, considering Mosley ranks eighth on the all-time scoring list with 1,441 points and also had over 1,000 rebounds, including 473 in 1976-77, when he led the nation in that department.

Vail-Deane students 'dress up'

MOUNTAINSIDE—In order to further her students interest in reading and literature, Peggy Slatkin, the second grade teacher at The Vail Deane School in Mountainside, has combined dramatic techniques with book reporting activities.

This year second graders at Vail-Deane dressed up as a character in a book of their own choosing. While in costume each student had to give a summary of the book selected and an opinion of the character the child portrayed. The children were then asked to tell their classmates why they would recommend the book they reported upon.

Cheese distribution

MOUNTAINSIDE-Government surplus cheese will be distributed in Mountainside at the Rescue Squad Wednesday, 2-4 p.m.

The following residents are eligible: recipients of general assistance and aid to families with dependent children (AFDC), supplemental security income (SSI), Disability on Social Security, Pharmaceutical Assistance to the Aged (PAA) and those with provable limited income of $11,510 per year for two

Both factual and fictional books were selected. Saranyan Muthusamy appeared as Christopher Columbus, wearing clothing similar to that worn by Columbus. Margot Weil donned a white sheet and spoke about "Glaciers." Among the fictional books, Jaime Ryder of Hazlet was the White Witch from "The Lion, The Witch, and The Wardrobe," and Kenneth Andes was a swash buckling pirate from

"One-Eyed Jake," "The second graders have been responsive to this program," says Peggy Slatkin, their teacher. "Recently we each chose a fictional book in which the bear was the main character. There were few duplications in what the children selected. We then had a party and brought in our favorite teddy bears. There has been a lot of enthusiasm about our book report program from both parents and students." she comments.

Vail-Deane is an independent school in Mountainside, New Jersey. It has students in grade K-12 and emphasizes individual attention for each student.

Lions donate 1G to Eye Institute

MOUNTAINSIDE-The Mountainside Lions Club recently donated $1,000 to the Eye Institute of New Jersey. Harry Largey, president of the Club, presented the donation to Marshall S. Klein, director of the Institute, at the Club's regular monthly meeting at L'Affaire Restaurant.

The meeting was also attended by. three representatives from the headquarters of Lions District 16-E: Kenneth G. Egbert, district governor; Norman F. Bendel, deputy district governor; and William L. Wagner, zone chairman.

This is the second such donation from the Club to the Institute. The first donation of $1,000, which was presented in June 1983, was used by the Institute to buy a Laser Lens for the treatment of glaucoma. This second donation of $1,000 will be used by the Institute to buy other badly needed equipment. Both were funded with the net proceeds from Grand Raffles sponsored by the

The Eye Institute of New Jersey, located in Newark, is consideredone of the best equipped and most effective opthalmological diagnostic and treatment centers in the U.S. Its doors are open to all who need its services.

At its recent meeting, the Club also announced plans to hold another Grand Raffle to raise another $1,000 for charitable purposes. One hundred tickets will be sold for $20 each, yielding gross proceeds of $2,000. One half of the proceeds will be donated to various charities, the other $1,000 will be divided into 10 prizes of $100 each to be awarded by chance at 10 separate drawings to be held at the Club's June 12 meeting at L'Affaire.

Each winning ticket will be returned to the drawing container before the next winning ticket is pulled that night.
