Senior Olympics: Tribute to vigor

BY BILL GOODMAN

While many Americans are looking forward to WATCHING the Summer Olympics from Los Angeles in August, many residents from Union County and northern New Jersey are looking forward to PARTICIPATING in the Senior Olympics later this spring.

More than 30 events ranging from dashes and the discus to horseshoes and handball will be featured in Senior Olympics '84—a Memorial Day weekend celebration of senior citizens' vim and vitality.

The second annual games will begin with a torch lighting ceremony on Saturday evening, May 26, at 8:30 p.m. at the YM-YWHA of Metropolitan New Jersey in West Orange. The events, slated for Sunday, May 27 and Monday, May 28, will take place at Newark Academy in Livingston and Essex Racquet and Health Club in West Orange.

Hundreds of gold, silver and bronze medals, as well as ribbons, will be awarded to winners. Participants in last year's inaugural games displayed a high level of enthusiasm and camaraderie in addition to athletic ability and fitness.

Arlene Francis and Joe Michaels, co-hosts of "The Prime of Your Life", Channel 4's Saturday evening talk show, will be on hand to serve as Grand Marshals.

Senior Olympics '84, sponsored by the YM-YWHA of Metropolitan New Jersey and United Jersey Bank, in cooperation with Bevill, Bresler & Schulman Inc. is open to all men and women age 55 and up. Although there is a $5 registration fee, financial aid is available where necessary.

Track and field events include sprints, middle and long distance runs as well as a one-mile walk, a five-kilometer bicycle race and the mini-triathlon. Among the swimming events are the 50-meter butterfly and backstroke and the 100-meter breaststroke and freestyle. Singles and doubles handball, tennis and racquetball, as well as an archery competition, are also featured. Many events will be broken down into age and ability categories.

Alan Weill and Martha Cohen, co-chairpersons of Senior Olympics, characterize the event as a showcase for the physical fitness and health of senior citizens.

"Superior athletic ability is not necessary to share in the excitement of Senior Olympics," said Weill. "Fitness at an individual's own level and a desire to test oneself are all that are needed."

Mrs. Cohen agreed. "Senior citizens have proven themselves to be capable leaders in every area of our society—politically, culturally, academically and in business," she said. "This event gives them an opportunity to test their physical prowess as well and to show that fitness is ongoing process."

The games also highlight the dedication of nearly 300 volunteers throughout the area who lend their assistance and support in presenting Senior Olympics. Persons interested in volunteering are urged to contact the Senior Olympics office at 736-3200.

Among the notables on the Honorary Advisory Committee are Governor Thomas H. Kean, Senators Bill Bradley and Frank Lautenberg, Congressman Joseph G. Minish, State Senators Richard J. Codey and Donald DeFrancesco, Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden, and Essex County Executive Peter Shapiro.

Former Wimbledon Champion Althea Gibson is also serving on the Honorary Advisory Committee. The games have been endorsed by the New Jersey Governor's Council on Physical Fitness with Ronald Freeman, executive director of the Council, also serving on the Honorary Advisory Committee. Freeman was a gold and bronze medal winning sprinter at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City.

For those participants who need some conditioning to prepare for the games, a series of exercise classes for seniors will be offered again this year at the YM-YWHA at 760 Northfield Avenue in West Orange. The one-hour sessions will be held May 1, 8, 16 and 23 from noon to 1 p.m., and are open to men and women participating in the games as well as non-participants. For registration information, as well as being a volunteer, call the Y's Senior Olympics office at 736-3200.

A booklet describing a physical conditioning exercise program designed specifically for senior citizens and Senior Olympics participants is also available through the Y. Participants are urged to check with their doctors before beginning any physical fitness program.

As if the basic athletic contests weren't enough, Senior Olympics has added this year the ultimate test of strength, stamina and spirit: the mini-triathlon.

Modeled after the Hawaiian Iron Man competition, the challenging mini-triathlon includes a nine-length swim, a three-mile bicycle race and a one-and-a-half mile run.

The mini-triathlon is one of the eight new competitions introduced this year, bringing the total number of events to 32.

Several new events have been added to this year's games in response to requests from last year's participants for more strenuous activities. "The seniors themselves requested more challenging events and our Committee agreed," said Ben Schaffer, co-chairman of the Senior Olympics Events Committee and Special Events Coordinator for the Essex County Department of Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs. "Seniors today are in much better shape than we perceive them to be," Schaffer explained.

Included in the new events are a five-kilometer (3.1 mile) run, a five-kilometer bicycle race, a 200-meter freestyle swim as well as a 200-meter breaststroke, an endurance swim where participants will try to beat the clock by tallying the most laps in 15 minutes, a discus throw and an archery competition.

Events such as horseshoes, a softball throw, table tennis and a one-mile walk, which proved to be the highlight of last year's games, are also included for participants who possess athletic skills in less strenuous activities.

Despite a drizzling rain, more than 100 seniors completed last year's walk, with hundreds of spectators lining the course to cheer on their favorites. Many walkers brought their own private fan clubs of husbands, wives, sons, daughters, grandchildren and neighbors.

Among the other events slated this year are racquetball, handball, tennis, 50, 100 and 200-meter swims, sprints, and softball and softball throws. Gold, silver and bronze medals, as well as ribbons, will be awarded to the winners of each competition, with many of the events broken down into age and ability categories, thereby increasing the total number of winners.

Said Schaffer, "Those of us who have been associated with seniors who keep themselves in good physical shape can't help but notice that they have a more positive outlook on life."

9th annual boat show next week

For those Union County residents who are getting itchy for warm weather and outdoor sports, there will be a major boat show only a half-hour's drive away next week.

The 9th annual Barnegat Bay/Mooring Boat Show starts a 5-day run, Wednesday at The Mooring in Point Pleasant. Formerly King's Grant Inn, The Mooring was the site of the 1983 show as well as previous shows.

"Track record," explained Al Davidson, co-chairman of the boat show committee, "keeps us coming back to the scene of our former successes. The Mooring has proved that it pulls the crowds. And '84 shapes up as the biggest and best show in Mooring history."

Over 300 boats—power and sail—will be on display, many of them in the water. 100 dealers will be represented. A full complement of marine equipment rounds out the show. Accessories include hardware, electronics, canvas products, scuba diving equipment, paint and nautical gifts. Experts in financing, insurance and maintenance will be on hand to advise prospective buyers. For the second year, the New Jersey State Marine Police will sponsor a special exhibit.

Shore real estate also receives attention. Anyone with an eye out for waterfront property or a condominium with a boat slip will find ready help from local real estate representatives.

Reigning as Queen of the Show is the impressive 55-foot Hatteras high-performance convertible. Three new-to-the-show manufacturers will be unveiling some "firsts," including a surprising 44-footer.

Facilities at The Mooring have been upgraded for the benefit of exhibitors and visitors. A deep-water docking area and full electrical service are available for more than 250 boats. 20,000 square feet of display area have been allocated for land exhibitors. Tent space totals over 11,000 square feet. The large parking area is near to all exhibits and restaurants.

JoAnna Paul, show coordinator, is enthusiastic about the show's prospects. "This 1984 Boat Show promises to be a standout. We've got new exhibitors. We're showing more sailboats than ever before and an extended line of power craft. People know that here is the last springtime show they'll have a chance to see in the area, and it's all free, from admission to parking. Just being around these boats can be fun for the whole family."

The five-day show opens Wednesday, and runs through Sunday, April 8. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

April is proclaimed cancer control month

Governor Thomas H. Kean has proclaimed April as Cancer Control Month in New Jersey during a public ceremony in which he urged the state's residents to actively support the American Cancer Society's efforts to turn downward New Jersey's rising incidence of cancer.

The Governor stated that an estimated 32,500 residents of New Jersey will contract cancer in 1984 and an additional 16,800 will die of the disease this year. "Many of these, he added, could be saved by greater awareness of early detection and effective treatment by the means now available."

During the April Crusade, volunteers of the New Jersey Division of the ACS will carry out a statewide educational effort to acquaint the public with the early warning signs of cancer, as well as preventive measures that can be taken to reduce needless cancer deaths.

During the State House ceremony, Governor Kean was presented with a bouquet of daffodils by Jennifer Dalsey, the Cancer Crusade's Miss Daffodil. Daffodils, the Society's symbol of hope in combatting cancer, are being distributed this year as part of the New Jersey Division's fund-raising effort.

Jennifer, who is 17 and a high school senior, last spring suffered the loss of part of one leg due to bone cancer. This winter she resumed horseback riding and started taking skiing lessons.

Also attending the proclamation ceremony were Joseph F. Buckley the 1984 N.J. Crusade Chairman, and Deborah Kukens, Residential Crusade Chairman.

Buckley stated that this year's Crusade goal in New Jersey, in which the principal focus will be on the residential drive, is to raise $4,500,000.

"The Cancer Crusade enables us to personally acquaint our fellow New Jerseyans with the varied programs and services of the ACS, as well as to provide them with life-saving information about cancer," Buckley said. "This year, trained volunteers will distribute information on the state's two most common forms of cancer—lung and colorectal."

The ACS estimates there will be 5,200 new cases of colorectal and 5,000 new cases of lung cancer in New Jersey this year. If these predictions prove correct, colorectal will become the leading form of cancer in the state.

In an effort to reverse this trend, Residential Chairman Lukens said ACS volunteers will distribute a Quick Test on Cancer Risks for Lung and Colorectal Cancers. An expanded test on risks for other forms of cancer also will be made available.

"The effectiveness of the Cancer Crusade, both locally and nationally," according to Lukens, "is reflected in the improved survival rate of cancer patients. "Whereas, only one cancer patient in five reached a survival span of five years or better 40 years ago, today the survival rate is better than one out of three. Current developments in research and treatment, combined with greater public awareness, hold out the very real hope of one out of two surviving by the year 2000."

From the pulpit

BY THE REV. ROBERT PAUL

"God Himself could not sink the ship," boasted a deckhand aboard the Titanic in 1912. The men who built the ship, the civilized world, the credulous public: all believed and boasted that the ship was unsinkable.

But God was not mocked. It is said that when the captain gave the order to abandon ship, many passengers simply could not believe that the Titanic could possibly sink and refused to board the lifeboats. The crew was almost criminally complacent. So it was that 1502 men, women and children plunged into the depths.

Five icebergs warnings were telegraphed to the Titanic. When the sixth message, "Look out for icebergs," came in, the Titanic's operator wired back: "Shut up, I'm busy." Exactly 25 minutes later the great ship sank. "Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall." Proverbs 16:18. "A man's pride shall bring him low."

If pride is keeping you from salvation by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, then acknowledge that you are a sinner, (Romans 3:23) and need to be born again. St. John 3:5.

MOCK CONVENTION—Kean College held its mock Democratic convention last week, simulating the national convention later this summer in San Francisco. The students chose Senator Gary Hart of Colorado for the 'nomination'.

Hart triumphs in mock voting

Senator Gary Hart of Colorado won the March Mock Democratic Convention held at Kean College's Wilkins Theatre for three nights last week.

Hart was in a dead heat with John Glenn of Ohio, who was drafted by a coalition of delegations from several states. The coalition waged a bitter floor fight for a delegate roll call following Hart's victory on the second ballot and then walked out.

Hart achieved the requisite 503 votes out of 1003 when Illinois, with 57 votes, moved 21 from Glenn to give Hart the requested majority. Party solidarity was restored when the convention overwhelmingly nominated in a roll call of the states John Glenn for vice president.

Maurice Ferre, the mayor Miami, Fla., received 153 vice presidential votes, which were conceded by his supporters to Glenn. Jackson polled 109 and Mondale took 41 for the vice presidential slot.

Walter Mondale also fared poorly on both presidential ballots with 172 the first time around and 110 the second time.

Disc 'n' Data

By MILT HAMMER

Pick Of the LPs, "Heartland," by Real Life (Curb/MCA Records).

Real Life is not just another band emanating from Melbourne, Australia, nor is it luck that their debut single, "Send Me An Angel," achieved the pinnacle of their homeland's charts shortly after release.

Real Life is undoubtedly among the hardest working, most talented musicians/songwriters to join the elite of Australian recording artists in many years. On their recent Down Under tour, they worked 110 shows in 132 days, and during that time, the foursome continued to write exceptional material for inclusion to their performances and future recordings.

The successful line-up consists of: David Sterry, guitar/vocals; Richard Zatorski, keyboards, electric violon and backing vocals; Allan Johnson, bass guitar, synthesizer and backing vocals; Danny Simcic, drums and electric percussion.

David Sterry has been strumming guitars since he was ten years old. During his teens, David's musical adeptness was developed further by the study of classical guitar. Uncertain about his vocation, he served his apprenticeship as a pasteup artist in the printing trade, but at the same time his interest in music was ever-increasing. He played with various bands, taught guitar part-time and, with the growing realization that what he really wanted was to make music his life, he applied himself further, concentrating on writing lyrics. David met Richard in 1980 when he replied to Richard's advertisement for co-writers. Since then their combined talents have resulted in the writing of all the work performed by the band, with David handling the lyrics and Richard the music.

Although Richard Zatorski has seriously considered other demanding careers, his main interest has always been music. He had his first violin at four years of age and studied classical music throughout his school years. He attended the Victorian College of Arts, toured Australia and Asia performing in orchestral concerts and worked part-time teaching the violin. Richard's first tertiary pursuit of a career was in medicine. But finding this unsuitable he went on to successfully complete studies in a film and television course. Throughout his senior education, Richard worked with bands, playing various musical instruments. However, it wasn't until 1979 that he further expanded on his already diversified musical abilities by writing music. A few years later, Richard is already well recognized in his homeland for his enthusiasm, hard work and all-embracing talents as both a musician and songwriter.

Allan Johnson is the only member of the band to be born outside Melbourne. He moved from Adelaide five years ago and played with various heavy rock bands around Melbourne. Allan joined up with David and Richard in 1980. "I listened to Richard's music and liked it instantly, especially its broad appeal," he says. Johnson began doubling on synthesizer a couple of years later and, since then, his changes between bass and mini-keyboards have become one of the unique features of Real Life's music.

Danny Dimcic started his career playing in cabaret bands at the age of 13. In his later teens, he played with rock 'n' roll bands around the trendy Melbourne suburb of Carlton. In 1982, he heard about the position with Real Life and was one of the 64 drummers who auditioned. He admits to being uncertain about accepting the position at first, as he had several other offers. However, after playing a couple of gigs with Real Life, he knew he had made the right decision. As a lot of real Life's music involves working with sequencers, Danny often uses click tracks through earphones on stage, another of the unusual features of the Real Life style. In addition to this, Danny's tasteful use of electronic percussion further compliments his rhythmic contribution to the band.

Real Life made an indelible mark on the Australian music scene this year with "Send Me An Angel" and more recently in New Zealand where it went to Number One.

Now with the release of their much awaited debut album, "Heartland," produced by Steve Hillage, they are ready to make their mark on the world.

Guide to Good Dining

An Advertising Section of The Suburban Publishing Corp. Newspapers

El Bodegon, a charming, rustic looking restaurant located at 169 W. Main St. in Rahway, offers Spanish cuisine for your eating pleasure.

Spanish food prepared authentically!

By TEDDI RUSSO

"A Rustic Meeting Place"...El Bodegon. Located at 169 W. Main Street in Rahway, El Bodegon is a Spanish restaurant par excellence. "Rustic is indeed the appropriate adjective for this charming eating place, inside as well as outside. The walls are rough honed wood with beamed ceilings and wall partitions and beautiful crystal and brass wall fixtures giving a soft yellow glow to the interior. The tables are covered in crisp white cloths and napkins. There are two dining rooms seating 57 diners in one and 110 in other. Downstairs a room accommodating 70-80 people is available for banquets, weddings and meetings.

Manny, the owner, and manager is a personable, erudite gentleman who patiently answered all my questions. He explained that he has been at this location for 3 1/2 years and in the restaurant business all his working life. His waiters are well-trained in the art of gracious service and coupled with the strains of soft latin music, all contributes to the atmosphere of El Bodegon being one of quiet satisfaction and comfort.

We began our meal with a tossed salad topped with a house dressing that was hot and spicy. Too bad the sliced Italian bread was not as hot as I would have liked. So many restaurants today miss this one small point which would add so much to an excellent meal, warm bread. My dinner companion had an appetizer of Shrimp Ajillo, seven shrimp served in a sweet pungent sauce that was outstanding. I had their Galician soup, named for Manny's hometown in Spain. It was a flavorful concoction of cabbage, beans and pork that was uniquely delicious.

We chose our entrees at Manny's suggestion. With my preference toward seafood, he recommended the Mariscada with green sauce and an excellent choice it was. Served in an iron pot it was a combination of shrimp, scallops, clams and mussels cooked in a garlic and basil sauce that was incomparable. The fact that the shrimp were tender enough to be cut with a fork attests to the excellence of the cook! It was served over saffron rice and for such a large portion at $9.95, a bargain as well. My friend had Chicken Villaroy, which consisted of two large, boned chicken breasts dipped in a white-sauce and sauteed to perfection. It was soft, tender and delicious, and just melted in your mouth. Of course I had to sample it! It too was served with saffron rice and carrots, and moderately priced at $8.75. We sampled a side dish of Spanish fried potatoes which were tender in the center and crisp along the edges...scrumptious. For dessert I had something called Natilla, which turned out to be a soft vanilla custard topped with creme-de cacao. Delictable! I capped this off with a perfectly prepared cup of espresso, served with lemon, of course. My friend was adventurous enough to choose their Spanish coffee. It was served in a tall glass, crowned with whipped cream. It contained kahlua and brandy, as well as the coffee. My friend reported it was surprisingly hot once you got past the cream. He thought it was outrageously delicious and well worth the cost, $3.25.

El Bodegon offers an extensive menu with seafood the predominant ingredient. Of the ten appetizers all but two are either shrimp, clams or mussels. The large selection of entrees includes 22 seafood dishes ranging from $19.95 for crab meat in green or white sauce to shrimp prepared the same way for only $9.95. There are 7 fish, 6 each of chicken and veal, 3 pork and 4 beef entrees to pick from, running in price from $7.50 for broiled filet of sole to $15.95 for filet mignon a la morta. An unusual touch is the inclusion of 5 types of omelets, including Spanish, shrimp or crab meat. We shared a bottle of wine to complement this stupendous meal. It was an imported Vino Tontonia, tangy yet dry enough to satisfy.

El Bodegon is open from 11 A.M. to 11 P.M. Tuesday through Saturday and from 1 to 10 P.M. on Sundays. They are closed Mondays. For a special treat you must try their fabulous buffet served every Tuesday from 5 P.M. to 9 P.M. for only $9.95. There is free parking on the premises and all major credit cards are accepted.

Adelines win first place

The Hickory Tree Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., of Madison, which competed with 17 other choruses from the Metropolitan area in Philadelphia, recently, became the 1984 regional chorus champion. More than 1,000 members participated.

Janey Peterson directed the blue-ribbon performance, and under her guidance, the chorus has moved from fifth place to first place, winning the title in each of its last two appearances in regional competition.

Among the members are Cathy Bucholtz of Roselle Park, Norma Engelhardt and Jan McQuaid, both of Springfield, and Eleanor Bartsch and Dolores Wachter, both of Union.

The Hickory Tree chorus will perform in "A Touch of Spring," April 13 and 14 in the Madison Junior High School, Main Street. Ticket information can be obtained by calling 273-5296. Information on the group can be obtained by calling 540-0289.

DISPLAY POSTER—State Assemblyman Chuck Hardwick, a supporter of the arts, helps display Choral Art Society poster publicizing a free concert scheduled Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Dwyer auditorium, Elizabeth High School. The concert will be funded by the New Jersey Council on the Arts. Looking on are, left to right, Susan K. Hull, choral art business manager; Beatrix Milliman, president, and Evelyn Bleeke, musical director.
