The originals

Arians celebrate a half a century the ball, to make the score roll high,

"So raise a cheer for the Arians, the team that don't say die.

"All hail the Arians, her praise we sing while in the fray,

"Hail her with hearty cheers, growing stronger every day,

"Rah, Rah, Rah,

"All hail the Arians, the team that goes right out to play

"In rain or sun,

"We all play for fun,

"So sing her praise today."

Okay, it's not "Hail to the Redskins." But for the Linden Arians, it was their fight song. And how many women's softball teams ever had, or currently have, one?

This fight song was developed during the early years of the team, which is this year celebrating its 50th anniversary, making it one of the area's oldest women's fast-pitch softball franchises. In fact, the Arians bill themselves as "The World's Oldest Women's Fast-Pitch Softball Team."

Women's softball wasn't as big 50 years ago as it is now. Players had to be asked to try out and play, and the Arians were formed more by word of mouth, according to one of the team's original players, Lil Horn.

"We just had enough players to field a scrub team and we had to teach them the game," she recalled. "There wasn't too much competition, as there is now."

And going to key games wasn't easy, either. They qualified for the national championships, but raising the $200 necessary for the trip to Chicago during the Depression proved to be impossible.

The real hub of the Arians for these many years is Margaret "Toots" Nusse, the team's founder and a recent inductee into the National Softball Hall of Fame's "Hall of Honor" in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Nusse organized the meetings, the practices and helped in the fund-raising events, such as dances and card parties. The rest came out of the players' pockets.

They were a powerhouse in the early days, winning the Union County league seven straight seasons. They also won four state titles in a row and in 1938 were asked to compete in an

DR. MICHAEL COREY
Chiropractic Physician

Did you know that to become a chiropractor takes six to eight years of specialized training? This includes a college education and comprehensive holistic approach to health through chiropractic, which includes 4932 total hours of class and laboratory study.

I have lived in this area all my life, I grew up and went to school in Springfield. In 1979, I received a Bachelor of Physical Anthropology degree from Upsala College, East Orange. Upon graduating from Life Chiropractic College in 1982, I interned at the Life Clinic in Marietta, Georgia. While in school I attended many seminars on chronic and nervous disorders, spinal diagnosis techniques, as well as nutritional counseling and exercise rehabilitation.

Feel free to set up an appointment for a consultation to see if your particular health problems can be helped through traditional chiropractic means.

County schools set open house

Union County Vocational-Technical Schools, 1776 Raritan Road, Scotch Plains, will hold an open house next Thursday from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

All 26 regular and special needs vocational programs will be open to the public.

Scheduled are demonstrations of the tools, materials and techniques used in such trades as major appliance repair, vending machine mechanics and horticulture. As in previous years, the evening will be highlighted by a sale of student baked goods and cooked foods from 5 to 8 p.m.

Union County Vocational-Technical Schools provide low cost education in the skilled trades to both high schools and post high school students.

Further information is available by calling 889-2000, ext. 399.

From the pulpit

By REV. ROBERT PAUL

Carbon dioxide instead of oxygen was administered to a patient in a New York hospital. Authorities say death resulted almost immediately.

A trained anesthetist was administering a controlled mixture of oxygen and anesthetic gas when the tank of oxygen became exhausted. A new tank, labeled "oxygen," was substituted.

Following the autopsy, the "oxygen" tank was found to contain carbon dioxide. The tank had been mislabeled before it reached the hospital.

No doubt the manufacturer was sincere, the hospital authorities were sincere, the anesthetist was sincere, the surgeon was sincere and certainly the patient was sincere.

But sincerity is not enough. Certainty must be coupled with sincerity. The Bible says, "There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death." Prov. 14:12.

Too many people are saying, "As long as I am sincere, I'll come out all right in the end." But they are sincerely mistaken. Too many things are mislabeled: "life," "peace," "security," and "satisfaction."

But one can be sure of his eternal destiny. The Lord Jesus Christ said, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life, no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." St. John 14:6.

Arians reach half century mark

 exhibition series at the old Madison Square Garden.

Nusse also organized women's leagues throughout the state, both in fast and slow pitch, formed a women's umpires association and organized tournaments.

The present-day Arians would like the city of Linden to recognize her by renaming Memorial Field on South Stiles Street "the Margaret (Toots) Nusse Softball Field" in her honor. To them, it would be the best way to show appreciation for all she has done for women's softball in the area. To do this, they have been circulating petitions around the area, gathering as many signatures as possible.

When Nusse retired in 1979, there was fear that the Arians would break up. But thanks to the financial help from the Linden Recreation Department, which has been a co-sponsor of the team, the Arians have reached this milestone year.

Support has come not only from the Rec Department shown its support, but also from Linden Mayor George Hudak.

The 1984 squad will have a new and youthful look. It will be guided by manager Linda Lensch, who is in her fifth year with the Arians and her second year as manager. She will be assisted by Coach Ruben Cordero Jr., who has starred on four championship teams in North Jersey. He is a graduate of Newark's Vailsburg High.

Among the top players on this year's team are Kathy Starling, a former Linden High School standout in basketball and softball who has also led the Kean College women's basketball team to the national Division III quarterfinals the past two years; Lisa Manhardt, who is one of the top players at Rahway High; Shelly Moore, who played last year with the national champion Montclair 81's, and Lisa Rever, who is the top pitcher on the Union High softball team that is a probable state championship contender this spring.

Also ready to help are Mary Jo Flannery, Barbara Black, Annie Freda, Michelle Zaleski, Gina Biel, Lisa Dembeck, Lois Carpenter, Debbie Renaldi and Barbara Ruh. The latter five are all returning veterans from last year.

The Arians will be playing a formidable schedule this season, starting June 5 against the Haledon Ree-Gals. Linden also will be facing the Montclair 81's, Bergen County Blue Jays, Budweiser Belles and the Staten Island Saints, all of whom are the top women's softball teams in the Northeast.

The team will hold its 50th anniversary dinner, attended by many former and as well as present team members, on May 19 at Dasti's Restaurant in Linden. Planning to attend are former Montclair State women's basketball star Carol Blazejowski, who played in the outfield during the '70's; Pat Willis, who is the softball coach at Rutgers; Dr. Chris Haycock, who was one of the team's top players in those early years, and Shirley Blazier, who played second base for 14 years with the team and is a New Jersey Hall of Famer.

'Joseph' is amazing, uproarious on Paper Mill Playhouse stage

By BEA SMITH

It takes a special kind of talent to uplift a serious chapter out of the Old Testament and adapt it to an uproarious musical comedy in a mixture of Biblical and modern settings. And that special kind of talent is credited to Tim Rice and Andrew Lloyd Webber (creators of "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Evita" and "Cats"). The musical comedy is "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" and following its huge success on Broadway, is delighting and amazing enthusiastic audiences at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn.

Tony Tanner, who originally served as director and choreographer for "Joseph" on Broadway, reapplies his talents to the Paper Mill production, along with the original lighting designer Barry Arnold and the original set designer Karl Eigsti. And the results are positively sensational!

The story of Joseph, the youngest of 11 brothers, who is the favorite of his father, Jacob, and who is given an amazing multi-colored coat, tells of his outraged, jealous brothers. As a result of their father's generosity, the brothers sell him into slavery to a wealthy Egyptian, and the innocent Joseph is eventually brought to the Pharaoh to interpret his dreams. When Joseph's prophecy saves Egypt from financial disaster, Joseph becomes the Pharaoh's chief economic advisor. And in the end, his impoverished brothers come to him for assistance. They are forgiven and rewarded by their beloved brother, Joseph.

What Rice and Webber have done to this simple story is truly amazing. And what the Paper Mill is offering on its theatrical stage is a bundle of talent bearing splendid voices and unusually good music and comedy. Starting with Davis Gaines, who plays the title role of Joseph, an innocent, likeable young lad, with a booming voice, the show also boasts of Liz Larsen, as the narrator, Larsen, an exceptionally-talented young actress, is seen in every scene, and works harder than anyone on stage.

The others in the cast, including Tom Carder as the Elvis Presley-type Pharaoh; Gordon Stanley as Jacob, who wears a Biblical-type headress and cape, and a pair of overalls (the ancient and the modern); Wayne Bryan, David Dollase, Willy Falk, Timmy Fauvell, John Ganzer, James Gedge, Stephen Hope and Lorena Palacios, are marvelous.

The Egyptian settings are impressive, especially with the realistic pyramids in the background. And the score is lively and resounding, particularly "Joseph All the Time," "Jacob and Sons/Joseph's Coat," "Joseph's Dreams," "Poor, Poor Joseph" and "One More Angel in Heaven." The other songs, which may not be as popular, are equally enjoyable.

If you want to see a fun show with loads of music and laughter, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" is the choice production. And the Paper Mill Playhouse has it!

Suddenly, the word for New Jersey isn't "suburb."
It's "superb!"

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra

It's a superb orchestra acclaimed by The New York Times, The Daily News, Newhouse Newspapers, The Star Ledger, and more:

"dazzling...the enormous orchestra tossed it off in an authentically bravura manner."

"The orchestra—large even by New York standards—played superbly throughout"

"orchestral glitter, expansive warmth and clarity of detail."

"The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra is an artistic institution that must be taken seriously."

It's a superb list of great artists—De Los Angeles, Millstein, Davidovich, Firkusny, Fried, and Talvela—and conductors—Schermerhorn, Lanchbery, Shostakovich, Manahan, and Henry Lewis.

It's a superb concert hall near you.

And it's a superb experience you owe yourself now. Because the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra is very close to home. And it can take you out of this world.

Flower bulbs are bright idea for the garden

Flowers, such as crocuses and glory-of-the-snow, herald spring's arrival and, in the summer, brightly colored dahlias, gladiolus and lillies add much to the season's beauty. Indeed, landscapes would be incomplete without flower grown from bulbs.

Bulb flower beds can be a beautiful and simple addition to any yard or garden. Bulb gardening is easily compared with other gardening tasks, and most bulbs share common cultural techniques.

However, planting a bulb flower bed does require foresight and proper planning. It's important to learn to recognize healthy bulbs, to select and prepare the soil, and how to plant and maintain bulbs throughout their growing cycle.

When planning your personal bulb landscape, aesthetic considerations become important. Gardens are more dynamic if you concentrate on planting a few kinds of bulbs rather than many.

Other ways to add visual excitement to your garden include planting bulbs in clumps rather than as isolated plants or in single rows and planting borders of low growing bulbs around flower beds or vegetable gardens. If you want to create the look of a formal estate, choose tulips, irises, hyacinths, anemones or ranunculuses, which are spectacular when planted in large blocks of a single variety of grouped by color to create patterned designs.

By creating lush areas of colors, you can either break up a lawn's green expanse or highlight it with a border of bulbs to add a distinctive finishing touch.

Success begins with good-quality bulbs. Always buy from a reliable source, whether you are shopping at local outlets or ordering from catalogues. Usually it is more economical to buy fewer bulbs of high quality from a good source than to search for bargains.

Normally, larger bulbs mean more or larger flowers. Bulbs should be firm and free from deep blemishes, cuts or soft spots. They should feel heavy for their size, not light or dried up like a seed. Small nicks and loose skins or tunics do not affect development; in fact, loose tunics help you spot harmful diseases.

Site selection is another major factor for a successful bulb garden. Read the instructions that come with the bulbs you have chosen and then find a spot in the garden to meet those specifications.

The best soil for bulbs is loose and porous with good drainage. Prepare the soil before planting bulbs so that the tender roots can easily move through the growing medium and water will drain through.

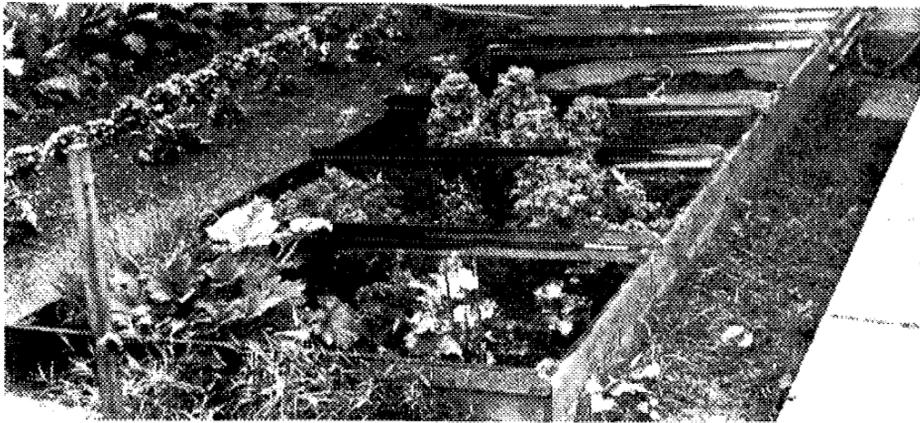

Heavy clay soils or extremely sandy soils can be improved by the addition of compost, humus, ground bard, sawdust, or peat moss.

You should consult a planting table for the proper planting times for various bulb types. As a rule, plant bulbs as soon as possible after receiving them to prevent their drying out.

Bulbs are usually planted at a depth equal to three times their diameter at the widest point. Again, it is advisable to consult a bulb chart for specific planting information.

Winter or spring rain usually provide all the moisture needed until the bulbs sprout. If you live in a dry climate, you may need to provide additional water if the soil dries out.

Once your bulbs begin to flower, care must still be taken with the flower beds. Weeds are an eyesore to any successful flower bed. Weed control in your bulb beds should begin in the spring, or when the bulbs begin to germinate.

FOOLING MOTHER NATURE—Though Mother Nature dictates how long the outdoor growing season lasts, man often comes up with ways of counteracting her influence. One of these is the coldframe, which is an effective way of producing more vegetables by extending the growing season.

Spring is time to plan for shrubs and hedges

Hedges and shrubs provide privacy, define the boundaries of your property and add color to your land.

Planting hedges and shrubs is one of the easiest methods of beautifying your property and requires little maintenance after the initial plants are installed.

One of the more difficult aspects of

These flowers are 'survivors'

If there's one group of survivors in the world of gardens, it's the perennials. They are the most versatile of all plants and can grow in every type of soil — wet or dry, fertile or infertile — in any type of lighting from full sun to shade.

And, as their name suggests, perennials are long-lived as well as adaptable. Some peonies, for example, have outlived their owners.

Many gardeners have taken advantage of that longevity to help them create living works of art. The French impressionist painter Claude Monet spent more than 30 years developing the garden that he immortalized on canvas. "I perhaps owe having become a painter to flowers," he said two years before his death in 1926.

landscaping is choosing the plantings that are both aesthetically pleasing and that will thrive in your area.

Consult the experts at your local garden center for advice and tell them about the available sunlight on your property and purpose of the planting.

When your selection is made, acquire a few tools for the project such as a shovel, trowel, crowbar, spade and garden hose or pail of water.

Most garden experts suggest using transition soil—or dirt that simulates the soil of the container. This eases the transition of the plant to your native soil, and reduces the possibility of your hedges and shrubs going into shock.

Dig a hole twice as wide and one inch shallower than the rootbase.

Hedges and shrubs have a tendency to sink deeper into the ground, so if the hole is too deep, the plant may get root and crown rot.

If you have a problem with soil drainage, add organic matter, such as compost, particularly effective with earth that contains too much sand or clay.

You should now mix and add the transition soil. Remove dirt, or backfill soil, from the hole, place in a separate pile and add an organic matter to the pile.

Gardeners most often use manure, compost, fish meal and blood meal, which can be expensive but last a long time. The ratio of organic material to backfill should be roughly 25 percent organic to 75 percent native dirt.

If planting at a time when you wish leaf growth to commence, add fertilizer to the hole.

Most manufacturers recommend one or two tablespoons for shrubs in a one-gallon container, ¼ cup if the plant is in a five-gallon pot. Stir it around in the hole so the roots do not come in direct contact with the nutrient.

When removing the plant from the original container, pull gently if the pot is plastic, taking care not to break the rootball.

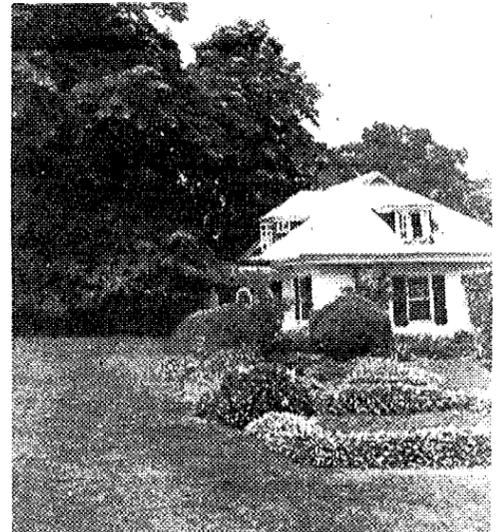

If in a metal container, have the nursery cut the tin if planting the same day; if not, cut with tin snips yourself. Do not attempt to pull a shrub from metal containers.

You are now ready to plant the shrub. First check the rootball to make sure none of the roots are tangled or matted. Shorten the roots so they are level with the floor of the hole.

If you are satisfied that the roots are radiating out from the rootball, insert the plant in the hole and fill the surrounding space with backfill soil.

During the first few weeks of your plant's life, proper irrigation is crucial to survival.

Most experts suggest building a shallow basin of dirt around the shrub so water will drain evenly around the plant. Leave the basin in place for about six weeks.

TOUCH OF BEAUTY—Shrubs and hedges are one way of beautifying the lawn...and, once the initial planting is done, they require little maintenance.

Be conscious of color when planting flowers

Nearly everyone beautifies their property by planting trees and flowers. From the homeowner who raises a few daffodils each year to herald the approach of spring to those who consider gardening a major hobby, using plants for decorative purposes has been with us since the Egyptians started the practice as early as 1500 B.C.

Designing a beautiful garden with color is more than a random, hit-or-miss process. Advance planning is necessary to determine whether you want a formal or informal landscape, subdued or brilliant colors, or a harmonious color scheme.

Since colors will have the greatest impact on the appearance of your garden, it is worthwhile to learn a few basic principals employed by artists and professional garden designers.

To start, purchase a simple color wheel from an artist supply store to study the interrelationships among basic hues; notice that some colors complement each other while others clash. It will also help you determine whether you choose warm or cool colors, a factor that will have major impact on your landscaped environment.

Warm colors appear to advance and cool colors tend to recede. If you use both, you can create the effect of a larger yard by planting the cool-colored flowers at the rear of the garden.

Remember that brilliant reds, yellow and oranges create a dramatic effect and tend to catch the eye first; more subdued hues are better for close-up viewing.

Home gardeners who decide not to mix warm and cool colors find brilliantly colored plants and flowers will make the yard look smaller, while subdued colors will give the appearance of more space.

There are four basic color schemes used to create a harmonious effect: monochromatic, analogous, complementary and polychromatic colors. If you want a monochromatic effect, which is very popular with many home gardeners, select a pure color such as red with various tints and shades.

The beautiful azalea is a favorite of many, especially when displayed in variations of red ranging from pink to deep red.

Analogous colors are any three colors found in sequence on the color wheel, such as green, yellow-green and blue-green. A more delicate combination might be white, silver and pale lavender. Selecting this color scheme has the advantage of giving you a wider variety of plants to choose from.

Complementary colors — those opposite one another on the color wheel — can create the most dramatic effect. Yellow daffodils and purple hyacinth or blue asters alongside orange azalea will catch the eye with their powerful combinations. If attempting this color scheme, try to keep the colors as pure as possible to avoid a disharmonious effect.

A polychromatic scheme uses combinations of any color on the wheel. Random planting is another way of creating a dramatic effect in landscaping: a brilliant array of yellow and red tulips next to an arrangement of orange marigolds and white petunias will give a spectacle of nature's glorious colors.

Ductwork is critical in energy efficiency

Whether you're building or buying a new home or upgrading your existing home, the quality of the ductwork is critical to how energy efficient your home will be.

If your house uses central air conditioning or a forced air heating system, the Thermal Insulation Manufacturers Association advises you to look for fiber glass ductwork. Unlike uninsulated metal ducts, fiber glass duct systems are self-insulating, noiseless and condensation free.

PLANNING NEEDED—Planning is an important ingredient in the success of any garden. Gardening books can serve as a guide for the season ahead.

Windows need upkeep too

Many homeowners call a professional window washer, especially for external cleaning, but the job can be simplified by proper maintenance.

Acquire a few simple tools, such as a squeegee (a tool with a rubber blade used to remove solvents or water from the glass), a cloth and an ammonia-based window cleaner.

The method is simple: spray the window cleaner over the surface of the glass (or wipe with a wet sponge) and wipe clean with the squeegee blade.

Hard-to-reach external surfaces can be made accessible by using special long-handled squeegees, some of which have a sponge attached to the opposite end of the handle.

Remember to use proper safety precautions, however, when attempting to do the exterior job.

Washing the glass is only one element of proper window maintenance. Inspect your windows periodically for cracks, since they make the glass vulnerable to breaks. Cracked glass should be replaced immediately. To mend small fractures use glass repair glue, available in hardware stores.

Proper maintenance of frames and sliding surfaces is also important for long-term functioning of the window. Use a chisel or knife to scrape and clean the window channels inside the frame, clearing them of accumulated dirt or paint.

Years of changeable weather can create gaps or cracks in the frame or between the frame and wall, permitting cold air to enter. These can be easily filled with commercial caulking compounds.

Cold air drafts can be caused by too much space between the window and the frame. These can be eliminated by installing weather stripping; insulated material in long, thin strips which can be tacked onto the window frame in problem areas.

Metal window frames are subject to another problem: rust. Rust should be stopped before it spreads and destroys the frame.

Rust can be removed with a wire brush, sandpaper or a commercial solvent designed for that purpose; e.g. a rust remover. Once the rust is gone, the frame should be painted with a paint designed for metal protection.

Preparation key to good paint job

The first step toward a perfect paint job is careful paint preparation. If you are planning a painting job using paint you have just purchased, the only preparation you need is careful stirring. But if you are using paint that you have had on hand for a while, you may need to thin, strain and drain the paint.

There is a real trick to stirring paint. Professional painters use a "boxing" technique to be sure colors match when they are using a number of cans of paint.

Here is the way it works. First step is to pour most of the thin top paint into a separate container. Then stir the thick paint until it is smooth and the color is uniform. Then, slowly pour the "thin" paint back into the can, stirring it into the heavy paint. Pour paint back and forth between can and container until the color and consistency are uniform.

It is often better to stir latex paint rather than have your dealer put it into the mechanical shaker. Shaking can create fine air bubbles which can show up as craters on your walls.

Every painter knows the problem created by dribbles of paint that have settled in the groove around the top of the can. This paint residue then prevents an airtight seal. Solution? Just pound a few nail holes in the bottom of the groove.

Empty water barrels stop mosquitoes cold

While many products on supermarket shelves are labeled "instant," the concept also applies to nature.

In fact, if you looked closely at a batch of mosquito eggs, a label might read "just add water," for instant trouble.

Mosquito eggs begin hatching in just a few minutes when immersed in water — even if they have withstood long periods of drying.

A mosquito egg can go from nymph to big, hungry adult in just 10 to 14 days at 80 degrees.

It is the adult female mosquito with which we are all "too" familiar. While feeding on human and animal blood, the female pierces the skin and injects saliva, causing the subsequent itching and irritation.

Mosquitoes can really spoil summer outdoors and indoors. Although in some cases the insect can transmit diseases such as malaria, for the most part mosquitoes are simply a nuisance.

The best thing you can do to reduce the weatherstripping

A window without proper weatherstripping can be costly in terms of energy. Windows and gliding patio doors with factory-applied vinyl weatherstripping are one way of providing snugger closures and added comfort.

number of mosquitoes breeding this season is to be sure there is no standing water around the yard.

The mosquito is not selective in its breeding sites and will lay eggs in water filled gutters, tin cans, bottles, old tires, jars, empty flower pots, and other objects that water collects in.

In addition to eliminating the standing water in your yard, encourage your neighbors to do the same.

If you discover major new potential breeding sites, bring them to the attention of local agricultural officials or mosquito control commissions.

Once mosquitoes are a problem, the use of an insecticide will help reduce their numbers.

There are over 2,000 species of mosquitoes in the world and more than 60 common to the U.S. Most states have problems with at least 10 mosquito species.

Some freshwater mosquito species take a year to complete a generation, whereas saltwater marsh mosquitoes can have a new brood every two weeks.

All species of mosquitos, however, lay eggs constantly throughout their life cycle, so it's a good idea to continue checking for standing water and periodically spray with pesticide until the fall.

Tools important ingredient in home repairs

Every year about this time preparations get underway to repair what time and weather have damaged.

For the more experienced do-it-yourselfer, development of project plans or designs and creating a list of materials needed for the work are the normal first steps.

Next comes estimating the cost, based on that list of materials. Finally, a timetable for doing the job is established.

For the less experienced, however, there's an important intermediary step: creating the list of tools needed for a project. Failure to do this can cost the do-it-yourselfer many hours of wasted time.

Experts suggest taking time during the planning stage of any project to "walk through" the work area with a pencil and paper.

Review in your mind all the steps involved in the project, writing down each step along the way, with the materials and tools needed for that portion of the job.

Let your imagination run free, the experts suggest, anticipating the worst situations that could develop, so you'll be sure to have the tools you need when and if there's a unpleasant surprise.

Remember, there's often a need for more tools than a simple description of the project contains.

For instance, there's more to a basic painting project than the can or cans of paint, the brush or roller or spray.

If the surface needs any work, a wall scraper or putty knife will be necessary. Any holes found must be spackled or filled, which requires a putty knife, a sanding block, sandpaper and, on interior projects, a tack cloth to pick up sanding dust.

Painting window frames or interior woodwork also involves trim guards to keep paint off adjoining surfaces such as window glass and walls. Keep a razor scraper at hand to clean off whatever paint does get on windows.

If the painting involves use of a ladder, don't forget the paint can hook to hold the can securely against a ladder leg. And how many drop cloths are necessary to protect areas against splatters and drips?

Whether the project involves outdoor masonry, concrete work, or interior remodeling or repair, home improvement consultants say that taking the time to "stroll" through the job to make a tools list will help the project go more smoothly with fewer frustrations and less wasted time.

THE RIGHT TOOLS—Inexperienced do-it-yourselfers sometimes forget the importance of having the right tools on hand before starting home repair and maintenance jobs. It's an omission that can be costly in terms of time and frustration. One example: safety glasses or goggles might well be a standard part of your painting equipment.

Container gardening is popular

Modern lifestyles often don't lend themselves to traditional gardens. When both husbands and wives work, there's less free time to care for plants. Smaller living spaces, particularly in urban areas, prohibit garden plots. And the frequent moves of modern life tend to discourage putting down roots, even for plants.

So it's easy to understand why container gardening has become increasingly popular in our mobile society. All a container gardener needs is adequate light and access for watering and fertilizing the plants.

Apartment dwellers in urban canyons can enjoy fall foliage, homegrown vegetables or cheerful flowers. The only limitation to highrise container gardening, is weight. A newly watered container, especially a big one holding a small tree, may be too heavy for a balcony or for moving men to handle.

Track record vital for contractor

There is one major step that homeowners should take before starting remodeling: investigate the contractor before hiring him.

That advice comes from David Moore, chief operating officer of Garden State Brickface & Stucco, Roselle, who noted that there are stories every year of "shoddy workmanship and sometimes even devious ploys which cost homeowners money and many hours of anguish."

To avoid problems, Moore recommended the following steps:

"Determine what you want done. Think out the project beforehand so that you have a very good idea of what you need and do not need."

"Get references. Ask neighbors and friends if they have had work done, and by whom. Were they pleased? Did the contractor work within the budget?"

"Check on the contractor. After you have had a contractor look at your project and give an estimate, call the Better Business Bureau. They can tell you what complaints have been filed. Remember, though, a complaint does not necessarily mean that the contractor isn't top-notch. The problem may have been minor, or merely a misunderstanding. The consumer should be on the lookout for contractors with a litany of complaints against them. That could spell trouble.

"Talk with the contractor. How long have they been in business? Do they have a headquarters or place of operation where they can be reached after the work is completed? Will they provide references? Do they carry workmen's compensation? (You could be sued if a workman is injured on your property.)

"Review the written contract. Get it in writing; ask about warranties; and be sure the contract includes lists of material and final costs."

ENERGY SAVER—Blanketing the basement ceiling with sheet or roll insulation is one way for homeowners to conserve energy — and save money — next winter. A staple gun helps get the job done right. The proper thickness of insulation is important.
