The Thanksgiving Fest

The special joys that make Thanksgiving Day a traditional American holiday are pure and unadorned. We gather with family and friends around the table to share and give thanks as our forefathers did and enjoy a menu inspired in Colonial days.

We delight in the appearance of Tom Turkey filled with an old-fashioned bread and celery dressing, yams, fresh baked pumpkin bread and condiments. A delectable assortment of our favorite recipes cooked in America's early kitchens, gracing our table and welcoming in the holiday season.

Here are a few recipes — simple and fast — having unique tastes to be lingered over — highlighting our Thanksgiving fest.

Some 1986 tax advantages

"There is little doubt that new tax law changes will affect almost every Union County and New Jersey taxpayer," according to Bert Tobia, district manager of H & R Block. He says, "Whether the legislation will help or hurt taxpayers remains to be seen. However, we at H & R Block believe there are some steps taxpayers can take now that will allow them to take advantage of deductions and credits they may not be able to take once the new tax laws go into effect."

Tobia says 1986 is a good year to give to charity, especially for non-itemizers. After 1986, non-itemizers will no longer be able to deduct charitable contributions on their tax returns.

"If you are planning to make any of the following moves in the near future," Tobia advises, "try to arrange them so that they occur in 1986: changing jobs, moving, contributing to an IRA or a 401K, borrowing money, selling stock, deferring income or paying for certain deductible expenses." Tobia further says,

"Job-hunting expenses are part of miscellaneous deductions and the amount of these deductions will be limited to amounts that exceed 2 percent of your adjusted gross income. Also, the new tax law will make all unemployment compensation taxable.

"Moving expenses will become an itemized deduction. If you don't itemize you will lose this deduction. If you move in 1986, you will still be able to deduct your moving expenses from your gross income.

"If you are single and are covered by an employee plan and earn more than $35,000 — $50,000 if you're married filing jointly — you will no longer be able to deduct contributions to an IRA for tax years after 1986, so now is the time to do so. You may make contributions to your 1986 IRA under current law until April 15, 1987."

The tax expert adds, "If you are planning to make a large purchase sometime in the near future, borrow the money and buy the item in 1986 or 1987 and take advantage of interest and sales tax deductions. 1986 is the last year for which you can deduct sales tax. In 1986, you will get the full deduction for interest, but in 1987 only 6.5 percent of your personal interest will be deductible. In later years, this interest deduction will be further phased out and eventually be eliminated."

Tobia says for those in higher income tax rate brackets, "it is a good idea to defer income until 1987, when tax rates will be lower. And, better yet, try to put off receiving 1987 income until 1988 when tax rates will be even lower."

He also says, "It's a good idea to take advantage of any miscellaneous deductions and medical deductions you can before the new laws go into effect. The new laws will limit the amounts you can deduct in both of these areas. It is also a good idea to take advantage of any business-related deductions as they will be severely restricted under the new tax laws."

Ask the teacher

Hints on attending school conference

By BETH GIORDANO
FRAN SULLIVAN

Q. I recently attended a parent-teacher conference night. The teacher sat at her desk while parents lined up in the hallway to privately discuss their children. I've been through this about four times and I always hear the same thing — "He's a problem." I'm afraid my son is always going to be a problem to his teachers. He's spoiled, willful and he likes playing more than school work. I always tell these teachers to be firm with him and punish him when necessary, but nothing helps. Teachers are either angry or sympathetic with me at the conference and I wind up apologizing for my son and nothing ever changes. I'd like to know what I can do to change this around and get some help for my son.

A. Here are some ideas to make the teacher conference more productive: 1) It's a good idea for the child to be present during a part of the conference. The teacher could benefit from seeing how he interacts with you and vice versa. 2) Put your thoughts on paper. State the problem, then draw up a list of what you feel are your child's personality pros and cons. 3) Discuss background and divorces, relationships with other family members, neighbors, pertinent medical history, etc. Give the teacher any information that may present a clue to present behavior. 4) Bring, in writing, the solutions you've tried and what you would like the teacher to do to help remedy the situation. This should get things started. Also, have you considered therapy? There may be a school social worker who could offer referrals. In any case, since it sounds like your son has not yet reached adolescence, it's essential to do something.

Rutgers' garden displays berries

Trees, shrubs or vines with colorful berries add interest and attract birds to the winter garden. Visitors to the Rutgers Display Garden will see several dozen species of plants which feature bright red or orange berries.

Berries on the American hollies along the entrance are nearly ripe, but winterberry hollies near the pond are now bright red. English and Chinese holly berries in the Evergreen Garden have been red for several weeks.

At the Shrub Garden entrance are large firethorns covered with bright orange fruit, while several species of cotoneasters nearby feature deep red berries. Cotoneasters thrive in hot, dry locations in a rock garden or at the top of a wall. The Cranberry, Rockspray and Willowleaf cotoneasters are especially attractive now.

Mockingbirds, robins and other birds have feasted on the viburnums' berries for weeks. Red berries on Linden, Wright and Siebold viburnums are especially showy earlier in the fall.

Near the viburnums is a large Amur honeysuckle shrub loaded with clusters of red berries that can persist until Thanksgiving, birds permitting. This native of the Amur River valley in northern Manchuria is accustomed to cold weather.

Other plants in the Shrub Garden displaying colorful berries in autumn are winged euonymus, coralberry, snowberry, and bayberry.

On an arbor near the shrubs are several vines with colorful berries. Both Oriental and American bittersweet bear orange capsules that later split open to display bright red berries inside. Male and female flowers are borne on separate bittersweet plants. Porcelain Ampelopsis, nearby in the arbor, bears clusters of berries that change from lilac to yellow to bright blue.

Plan to add one or more of these berried treasures to your garden soon.

As homes are being tightened up to save energy, more and more attention is being focused on the quality of indoor air. Because caulking and weatherstripping reduce indoor ventilation, problems from indoor pollution sources can worsen.

One such pollutant is formaldehyde. There are many sources for this chemical besides the urea-formaldehyde foam insulation that was briefly banned several years ago. Formaldehyde is also found in the adhesives used to make some plywood, particleboard and paneling. Some fabrics and carpets emit this, too, but at a much lower rate. It is also produced by the flame in gas stoves and is a component of cigarette smoke. This pollutant is one of many chemicals that can cause throat and eye irritation and nasal congestion if concentration is high enough. A few individuals with high sensitivity to it can experience allergy-type symptoms.

Specialists at Rutgers Cooperative Extension report that researchers have been looking at ways to lower the levels of formaldehyde in indoor environments. Some of these studies manufacturers have been developing products without the use of formaldehyde. While formaldehyde can cause some very aggravating problems, these are some of the relatively easy ways of dealing with it.

All summer, fresh herbs, crisp from the garden, add a zest to cooking that can't be matched, however during the winter, the supply of fresh herbs can continue with an indoor herb garden.

Besides being excellent spices, herbs make attractive and easy to care for indoor plants, says James Nichnadowicz, program associate in agriculture at the Union County Cooperative Extension Service, Westfield. Given full sun, such as a south window, they will flourish. If natural light is lacking, herbs will do well under cool white fluorescent bulbs.

Garden spots

have been sponsored by NASA, which is interested in ways to maintain the air quality in enclosed space vehicles.

It is well known that plants absorb carbon dioxide, and produce oxygen. Can they absorb other gases? Experiments at the National Space Technology Laboratories have shown that the common spider plant (Chlorophytum elatum vittatum) is able to remove formaldehyde from the atmosphere. These workers estimated that a house with moderate formaldehyde levels (from furnishings and a gas stove) would require 8 to 15 good-sized spider plants to purify the air continuously. The spider plant was more effective than a small number of other plants that were also tested.

Other measures to control formaldehyde levels include applying impervious coverings or coatings to paneling, plywood and particleboard; varnishes and vapor barrier paints are usually recommended here. Ventilation is also good for the house in general if air quality problems exist. Spot ventilation at point sources of pollution — such as gas stoves — can be especially helpful. Meanwhile,

Starting your herb garden begins with planting seeds. Most herbs can be grown indoors. Some examples and their uses are:

—BASIL—Fresh, it adds a unique taste to tomato sauces and soups. Try the variety Spicy Globe. It's small dense form is ideal for indoor use.

—DILL—Good in potato and tuna salad, soups, and mixed with cabbage and cauliflower. Try to buy seeds for a dwarf variety.

—SAGE—Adds a strong taste to meat and fish.

—CHIVES—Brings a zesty taste to soups, salads, omelets and scrambled eggs. It can also be planted outdoors in mid-April where it will grow and flower for many years.

—THYME—Seasoning for red meat, poultry, fish and vegetables. Also makes a beautiful, but temporary, houseplant.

For complete directions on starting your own indoor herb garden, write to the Union County Cooperative Extension Service at 300 North Ave. East, Westfield, 07090.

'Money' on film, album

By MILT HAMMER

Pick Of The LPs, "The Color of Money," the Original Motion Picture Soundtrack (MCA Records).

The high caliber of talent involved in the making of the movie, "The Color of Money," Paul Newman, Tom Cruise and director Martin Scorsese extends to the film's superlative original soundtrack collection which features Don Henley, Eric Clapton, Mark Knopfler, and Robert Palmer, among others. In addition, Robbie Robertson, former leader and chief songwriter for The Band, composed the film's score of which two examples, "The Main Title" and "Modern Blues," both co-produced with Gil Evans, appear here.

Robertson and Scorsese worked closely together in the director's documentary of The Band's farewell concert, "The Last Waltz." Collaborating again, Robertson has given "The Color of Money" an atmospheric and sophisticated score well-suited to the tension and moral ambiguity Scorsese and scenarist Richard Price evoke.

In "The Color of Money," blistering R&B tracks, the horn-punctuated "Let Yourself In For It" and the strutting "My Baby's In Love With Another Guy." Robertson produced blues great Willie Dixon's incendiary "Don't Tell Me Nothing."

Newman reprises the character he so successfully played in "The Hustler," Fast Eddie Felson. Twenty-five years later, Fast Eddie no longer plays pool but rather stakes and manages young up-and-comers. Cruise's Vincent Lauria is his new protege, and the film centers on their complex relationship.

The music in the film shares common blues-rock roots. Ex-Eagle Henley's "Who Owns This Place" captures an ominous mood, reinforced by a grinding whine of guitars, while Eric Clapton's gently affecting "It's the Way You Use It" showcases the master's eloquent, scampering leads. Robert Palmer checks in with two of his patented

B.B. King plays and sings with such undeniable conviction that there is simply no question that he is "Standing on the Edge of Love." Dire Straits' Mark Knopfler wrote and recorded a fluently moody instrumental, "Two Brothers and a Stranger," and also included is Warren Zevon's hit of several years ago, "Werewolves of London," with its emphatic barrelhouse piano.

The film co-stars Mary Elizabeth Manstantonio and Helen Shaver and was written by Richard Price based on the novel by Walter Tevis. It was produced by Irving Axelrad and Barbara De Fina and directed by Scorsese.

Public performances are scheduled for Dec. 6 and 7 at the Park Theater, Union City, Dec. 13 and 14 at the Count Basie Theater, Red Bank, and Dec. 20 and 21 at Montclair High School, Montclair.

Garden State Ballet's "Nutcracker" will feature Sally Rouse and Elie Lazar sharing the principal roles of Sugar Plum Fairy and Cavalier with Shannon Mitchell and Patrick Cea. They also will alternate in the principal roles of Snow Queen and Snow King. Also featured will be Marty Benn in the title role.

More than 25 young dancers will join the professional cast. They were selected from groups of students who attend the ballet company's affiliate school in Newark,

Rutherford and Morristown, and from the Academy of Dance Arts, Red Bank. They will fill the special children's roles during the first act Christmas party scene and in dance sequences during the second act, "Kingdom of Sweets."

The ballet will be staged by choreographer Peter Anastos, the company's artistic associate. The scenery and special effects, which include a realistic snowfall, were designed by Emmy Award-winner Zack Brown.

Further information can be obtained by calling 623-0591.

'Messiah' staged

The Masterwork Chorus and Orchestra of Morristown, conducted by David Randolph, will perform Handel's "Messiah" on Dec. 6 in St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, and Dec. 13 in the Paramount Center for the Arts, Peekskill, N.Y. Avery Fisher Hall concerts will take place Dec. 7, Dec. 20 and Dec. 21.

In New Jersey, the performance will be held Dec. 14 in the Calvary Episcopal Church, Summit at 6:30 p.m.

Reservations and information can be obtained by calling 543-3212.

'Messiah' due in church accompanist, at the organ.

Featured will be Karyn Forde, soprano; Elsa Hahn, soprano; Mary Beth Minson, mezzo-soprano; Joseph Lomusch, tenor; Ann Weeks, soprano, and Donald Boos, bass.

Admission is free to all, it was announced.

HOLIDAY GIFT GUIDE

COUNTY LEADER NEWSPAPERS

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1986

FOR HIM—Aramis weaves a holiday spell with fragrance gifts ready-wrapped in a rich, red basketweave design to lend added warmth and dimension to each package. For his stocking, Aramis Cologne.

Aramis offers the ultimate trip gift

Become a legend with Aramis 900 and Neiman Marcus.

Marilyn Monroe. Soup cans. And now, as a part of a Neiman Marcus Christmas catalogue exclusive, Aramis 900 has arranged for you to become Andy Warhol's latest subject.

For a mere $35,000 Aramis will fly you and a companion first class to New York where you will meet premier pop artist Andy Warhol in his studio for a private sitting. Warhol will choose the medium and the style, but he has promised to produce a full-fledged portrait in the tradition of his museum-quality pieces.

Sitting for your portrait is hard work. So you will spend the evening at the favorite haunts of the art world, with staff members of Aramis and Andy Warhol's Interview magazine as your guides. Traveling by chauffeured limousine, you will dine, dance and absorb the super-charged atmosphere of at least three downtown clubs.

What's left of the night will be spent at Morgans, New York's exclusive hotel and plush hideout for the entertainment and art world.

Your completed portrait will arrive at your home within two months. To keep the memories of this once-in-a-lifetime experience fresh, you will receive a year's subscription to Interview Magazine, each issue specially packaged with Aramis 900 fragrance and grooming products.

And next fall you will receive one more fabulous gift: your Andy Warhol portrait reproduced on personalized Christmas cards — enough to send to 900 of your most intimate friends.

Only three such gifts are available.

Brunch: easy holiday entertaining

Brunch, the meal that can be enjoyed anytime between dawn and dinner, is a growing weekend occurrence that's been around for quite some time.

Punch, the English magazine, first reported on brunch some 90 years ago. In its Aug. 1, 1986 issue, it noted that brunch was "introduced last year by Mr. Guy Beringer, in the now defunct Hunter's Weekly, and indicates a combined lunch and dinner," probably the meal enjoyed just arriving home from hunting.

Heywood Brown, the humorist, had this to say about brunch in the 1930s: "There may be some perfectly nice people who use the word 'brunch,' but I prefer not to know them."

The Dictionary of American Food and Drink calls brunch a "portmanteau word combining breakfast and lunch for a meal taken late in the morning or just around noon." Today, many restaurants now offer weekend brunch as late as 4 in the afternoon.

Whatever its history, the meal that combines foods from breakfast and lunch appears to meet a real need. Hostesses enjoy the relaxed atmosphere and have a wide assortment of foods from which to build a menu. Guests enjoy the extra time to sleep late or socialize after church.

The holiday season offers many opportunities to hold a brunch. Thanksgiving and New Year's Day parades and football games and a house filled with weekend guests are good occasions. From the breakfast side of the buffet table, offer guests a puffy cheese pancake or french toast prepared with dairy eggnog, accompanied by a selection of crisp bacon slices and breakfast sausages. From the brunch side, consider an onion tart or seafood quiche along with fresh fruit and a selection of sweet rolls.

Of course, you can always invent a new excuse to have a brunch such as the English celebration, Boxing Day on Dec. 26. Include a selection of sweet or savory pancakes served with a choice of flavored butters. Just combine orange marmalade or apricot jam or your family's favorite jam with double the amount of butter, or whip a small amount of cinnamon into a stick of butter.

Whatever the season, brunch needs no excuse for bringing family and friends together to enjoy good food.

Cookies spell history

In many kitchens, "holidays" and "cookies" are nearly synonymous, each carrying over many traditions from one generation to the next.

Cookies are generally defined as small sweet cakes, usually flat and unleavened. The first cookies, it is said, were called Simmel Cakes and were baked in England during the 16th century. Leafing through old cookbooks, one can find recipes for "small cakes," which are similar to modern cookie recipes.

European immigrants to America brought rolling pins and wooden boards which were divided into squares carved in the shapes of birds, animals and flowers. The boards were pressed into cookie dough and the finished cookies were called "springerles" or "little jumpers."

The word "koekje" or "little cake," first appeared in print in 1703 and came from the Dutch people who had settled in New York. In the British Isles the term "cookie" was popular in the 19th century. Anthony Trollope mentioned cookies several times in his novels, but today the term has dropped out of use in England in favor of "sweet biscuit."

One reason for the popularity of cookies throughout their history has been the fact that they are so easy to vary and personalize. Competition at agricultural fairs has always stimulated cooks to develop their own special cake and cookie recipes in anticipation of winning blue ribbons. "Bake sales," sponsored for one's favorite charity, have been another stimulus.

Before the development of baking powder and soda, eggs were used as the leavening agent. A Southern favorite, the sugar cookie or "tea cake" was made with fresh butter, flour, sugar and eggs. It was rolled paper thin and cut in favorite shapes to decorate the family Christmas tree.

Butter has always been an important ingredient in cookies because the flavor improves with age; an advantage when quantities of cookies are baked in advance of the holiday season. Even dried-out cookies can be freshened in a warm oven.

Today the variety of cookies from public or private stock seems endless. Whether large or small, filled or unfilled, sweet or semisweet, flat or mounded, cookies enjoy an enduring popularity that renews itself without fail every holiday season.

Men's jewelry heads gift list

It's bold, sleek and selling like hotcakes: Women love to buy it for the men in their lives and men are beginning to buy more for themselves. It's the perfect gift because it will long outlast the cologne, shirt or tennis racquet he receives. What is it? Men's jewelry.

Here are some holiday gift suggestions from Herbert R. Levine, president of the American Gem Society, an organization of fine jewelers in the United States and Canada dedicated to consumer protection and gemological proficiency of its members:

Cufflinks and tictacks: Inlaid stones and textured surfaces offer a strong, clean look. Tictacks are as simple as a diamond or gemstone stud or more unusual designs combining multiple stones like opal, jade or lapis.

Tuxedo sets: For the man with a busy social calendar, a set of gold or gemstone dress shirt studs adds a finishing touch.

Tie enhancers: For fashion flair, the tie enhancer snugly grips the tie directly under the knot. Available in karat gold or studded with diamonds and/or colored gemstones.

Rings: Rings with inlaid stones are best sellers. The quadrillion, or square, and the trillion, triangular, shaped gemstones are most popular.

Levine says favorite gemstones for men's jewelry include ruby, jade, onyx, mother-of-pearl, hematite, opal, lapis and diamond.

Latest toys top youngsters' wish lists

An outrageous fashion doll, cuddly toy animals with novelty watches, super action adventure figures, and a stable of irresistible ponies, are expected to top many kids' Christmas wish lists this year, according to Alfred Carosi Jr., vice president of marketing services for Hasbro, the nation's largest toy manufacturer.

If early sales figures are any indication, clearly "Jem," a new high-fashion doll introduced earlier this year by Hasbro, could very well be one of this year's biggest sellers, Carosi believes. Not since the introduction of Barbie 30 years ago have so many girls identified — and fallen in love with — a high-fashion doll, he notes.

Many girls are fascinated with Jem because she offers much more than Barbie, including an exciting, contemporary lifestyle and a mysterious dual identity. Offstage, she's Jerrica Benton, president of Starlight Music Company and manager of Starlight House, a home for runaway girls. With the help of "Synergy," her high-tech fairy godmother, she magically becomes Jem, the glamorous lead singer of the hit rock group, The Holograms.

Another new toy that's sure to capture the fancy of little ladies this Christmas is the Watchimals collection, a colorful, kooky menagerie of plush animals that double as easy-to-use wristwatches. Lifting a Watchimal's mouth reveals a three-function digital clock. Young misses will have a hard time choosing their favorites from 12 styles, including a purple moose, a yellow toucan, and a pink butterfly. Watchimals are popping up everywhere — on belt loops, pony-tails, and ankles, as well as on wrists — because their adjustable Velcro fasteners fit a variety of sizes. Kids will love being on time for every occasion with Watchimals as their companions.

Another toy collection that offers more than meets the eye is the ever-popular Transformers. This Christmas, Transformers will be out in full force, and parents will once again have to shop early to make sure they have plenty of Transformers to plant under their son's Christmas tree.

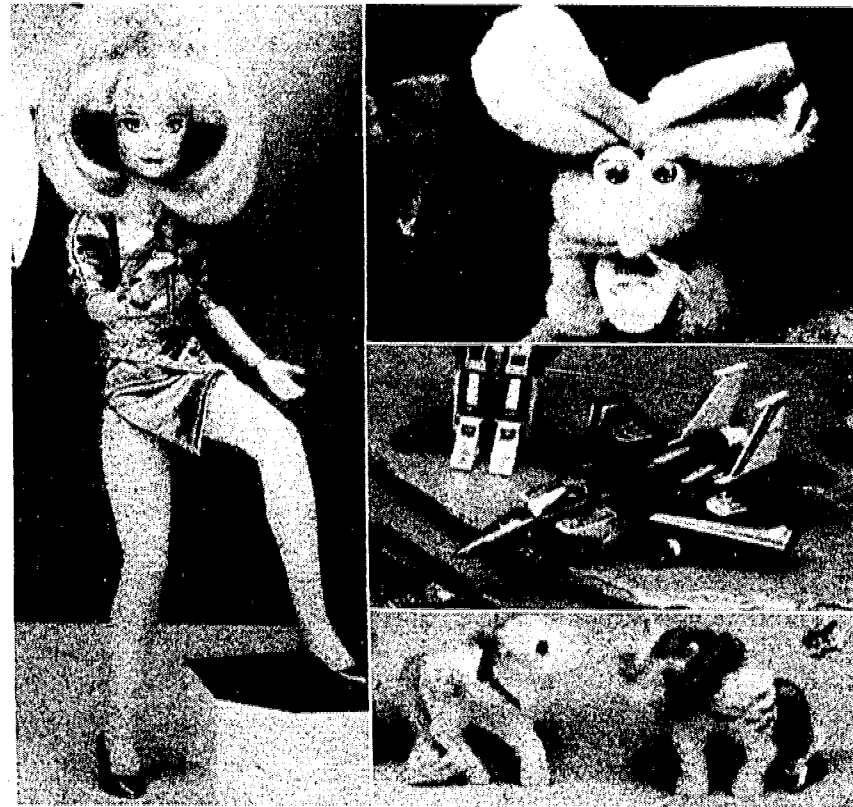

In addition to the traditional favorites, including Rodimus Prime, Kup, and Grimlock, are the new "team" Transformers, five or six individual robots that together form one giant mechanical force. Also debuting in 1986 are reinforcements for the heroic Autobots and evil Decepticons, including Trypticon, the walking dinosaur/battle station/city, and Ultra Magnus, the Autobot commander/18-wheel car carrier.

While boys are thrilled by the excitement of Transformers, girls 3 and up are enchanted by a "hidden land on the far side of the rainbow," where ponies talk, frolic and wear pretty clothes. There are five brand new ponies with accessories to choose from this year. New to the stable are Twinkle-Eyed ponies with eyes that sparkle and shine like precious jewels; So-Soft Ponies, covered from head to toe with cuddly fur; Flutter Ponies with delicate, translucent wings; Pretty 'N Pearly Baby Sea Ponies with inner tubes shaped like a turtle, crocodile, fish, or frog; and adorable Baby Ponies with Beddy-Bye Eyes that open and close, each with an assortment of nursery accessories.

FOR CHRISTMAS '86—the Hasbro lineup includes, clockwise, Jem, Watchimals, Transformers and My Little Pony.

UNICEF has gift ideas

The United Nations Children's Fund, UNICEF, has issued its 1986 holiday collection of cards, stationery and gift items.

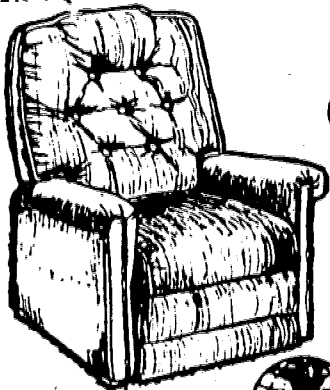

The collection features a variety of international designs contributed by artists and museums throughout the world. The designs have been reproduced with exceptional quality and include holiday greeting cards as well as all-occasion notes and stationery.

As always, UNICEF cards carry a special bonus, because the proceeds from their sales help support UNICEF-assisted programs overseas. For four decades, UNICEF has pioneered programs to improve children's health, nutrition and education in every part of the world. As it celebrates its 40th anniversary this year, UNICEF is taking part in the worldwide campaign for child survival that includes the goal of Universal Child Immunization by 1990.

By purchasing UNICEF cards, Americans can join in the effort to eliminate the childhood diseases that kill an estimated 3.5 million children a year and disable 3.5 million more.

Tells how to buy gems

Swept up in the sentiment of the season and usually pressed for time, holiday shoppers often overlook important factors when purchasing gifts of fine jewelry. To make sure your purchase is a wise one, here are some tips from the American Gem Society, a professional association of jewelers in the U.S. and Canada dedicated to consumer protection and gemological proficiency of its members:

Deal with a trained gemologist. Anyone can set up shop and sell jewelry. But not just anyone can ascertain the value of gemstones and jewelry. You wouldn't go to a doctor or lawyer who didn't have the proper credentials, so why buy fine jewelry from an unqualified merchant? Find out who the jeweler is certified by and inquire about his/her gemological training. AGS awards the titles of Registered Jeweler, Certified Gemologist and Certified Gemologist Appraiser to member jewelers who study required courses and pass extensive exams. Members are re-examined each year.

When comparison shopping, make sure to compare like items. A diamond ring for $500 at Store A may look similar to one for $1,000 at Store B, but in reality, it may be of very different quality. Ask the jeweler to discuss the quality and cut of the gemstones and workmanship of the piece. If he or she can't, find another jeweler. Above all, don't buy under pressure. Too often, "lemons" have been purchased when the salesperson put on the pressure.

For a free guide to buying fine jewelry, write: American Gem Society, 5901 West Third St., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

Consumers advised on mail orders

The Union County Division of Consumer Affairs advises mail order shoppers who want the merchandise delivered before the holidays not to procrastinate another day.

During the post-holiday months of January and February, the Union County Division of Consumer Affairs receives more letters about mail order problems than at any other time of year. Most consumers who complain are unaware of a rule that gives them certain protections when shopping by mail — the Mail Order Merchandise Rule. This Federal Trade Commission rule requires the seller to send mail order goods within 30 days or when promised, or to give you the option of getting a prompt refund.

There is also a "hotline" at 648-3295 that will tell you the number of complaints against a company within New Jersey for the last two years. This number should be called before writing your order.

If an order was paid by cash, check, or money order, the rule states that a refund must be mailed within seven business days. If the sale was by credit, the seller must mail the papers that adjust your account within one billing cycle.

Under the Mail Order Rule, if no delivery period is promised, the seller must ship the merchandise no later than 30 days after a complete order is received. The exception to this is for articles ordered from a mail order business located in New Jersey, or with a New Jersey mailing address. They then have six weeks in which to complete the order.

Getting the best gem value

□ When buying diamonds, ask the jeweler to explain and show you the "Four Cs: cut, color, clarity and carat." These are the four characteristics that determine a diamond's value. Two diamonds of equal size can have very unequal values, depending on their quality.

□ If colored stones interest you, have your jeweler discuss the stone's quality, determined by its cut, color, clarity and carat weight. Such factors as intensity of color and rarity of the stone also affect its value.

□ For karat gold jewelry, inquire about the quality of workmanship and gold in the piece. Inexpensive gold chains are often very lightweight and made of cheap materials which lack durability.

□ Ask about the store's return, service and repair policies. Be wary of merchants who offer extremely limited policies or none at all.

For a free guide to buying jewelry, write: American Gem Society, 5901 West Third St., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036

Cheese provides festive holiday party platter

Americans have a big appetite these days for cheese and Mexican-style foods. In the last 15 years, cheese consumption has nearly doubled from 12 to 23 pounds per person, while Mexican food, once thought by some to be just a fad, continues to be a favorite in the ethnic category.

Another more recent trend in American eating is a taste for hot, spicy foods. Witness the popularity of Creole and Cajun foods as well as the variety and number of peppers available at the local produce counter.

Southwest Party Spread combines all three eating trends in an appetizer well-suited for a large holiday gathering. The recipe combines Cheddar and cream cheeses, taco seasonings and mild green chilies in a cheesecake-like mixture. A topping of sour cream and salsa, that spicy tomato relish created in Mexico, is added during the final stages of baking. Once chilled, the spread is garnished with avocado slices and red peppers, and served with an endless supply of tortilla chips.

During the holidays, it's not a bad idea to keep a supply of cheese on hand for both planned and impromptu entertaining. Cream cheese is a popular base not only for cakes but for a number of holiday dips and spreads. It can be blended with Cheddar and blue-veined cheese varieties to make a cheese log or ball, then garnished with chopped nuts or fresh, chopped parsley. Or simpler yet, spread cream cheese with one's favorite chutney and serve with crackers. Mexican-style cheese spread is a trend-setting holiday appetizer that's great for a crowd.

Southwest Party Spread

Yield: one 9-inch cake

- 2 packages (8 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 2 cups dairy sour cream, divided
- 1 package (1.25 oz.) taco seasoning mix

- 3 eggs
- 1 can (4 oz.) mild chopped green chilies, drained
- 2/3 cup mild or hot salsa
- Avocado slices
- Hot red peppers
- Cilantro
- Tortilla chips

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Beat cream cheese and Cheddar cheese until light and fluffy. Stir in one cup sour cream and taco seasoning mix. Beat in eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Fold in chilies. Pour into 9-inch springform pan. Bake 35 to 40 minutes, or until center of cake is just firm. Remove from oven. Cool 10 minutes. Combine remaining sour cream and salsa. Spoon over top of cake. Return to oven and bake 5 minutes. Cool completely on wire rack. Refrigerate, covered, several hours or overnight.

To serve, place on large serving platter. Loosen sides of cake with a spatula. Carefully remove sides of pan. Garnish with avocado slices, red peppers and cilantro. Serve with tortilla chips.

Toys can harm hearing

As the gift-giving holidays arrive, America is overcome by toy advertisements; among them, toys that make noise.

In addition to adult personal stereo headphones, new arrivals on the toy market include broadcasting sound systems, microphone and amplifier sets, and headphones designed especially for children. In a recent study, some of these items were tested and found capable of sound output levels that could cause irreversible hearing damage.

When selecting a gift like this, listen to it first. If you feel that it is too loud, remember that a child has the same, if not better hearing than you. If you can't hear what's going on around you while listening to one of these items, don't give it as a gift. You may be endangering the ones you love. Look for instructions that might provide a warning about the usage of the item and be sure the child understands them.

Over 20 million children, teenagers and adults have some degree of hearing loss and noise is a leading cause. Most noise induced hearing loss is painless and progresses over a period of time. After exposure to loud noises, one might notice a buzzing or ringing sound in the ears. This is a warning sign that your ears have had too much noise and slight irreversible damage has occurred.

Your ears are the most sophisticated sound systems ever built, so protect them.

For more information and sound advice on hearing loss call the nationwide network of "Dial a Hearing Screening Test" systems. It's free.

To take a free hearing screening test over the telephone call 467-7550.

Shows scented gift idea

The Agricultural Museum of the State of New Jersey is offering a workshop on making holiday gifts from fragrant herbs on Dec. 6 at Cook College.

This is a "hands-on" workshop in which participants will have the opportunity to sample the making of potpourris, sachets sewn on calico and lace, fragrant and essential oil blends, tea blends and tea bags, and more. No participant will go away empty handed.

The workshop will be taught by herbalist Bianca Fiore, a native of Hopewell. Fiore plies the herbalist trade at Hancock Shaker Village, a restored museum community in western Massachusetts. There she oversees a large herb garden as well as the production of the herbal gifts that workshop participants will learn to make.

Spend a day enjoying the scents of lavender, rose, peppermint, and clove while learning to make gifts for the holidays. The workshop will be held from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Extension Conference Center at Cook College in New Brunswick. Workshop fees are $20 for museum members and $25 for non-members. Reservations are required.

For more information and registration details call the Agricultural Museum at 932-9090.

Perfect gift for the golf fan

The Admissions Committee for the 1987 U.S. Women's Open Championship reminds all golf fans that the price of season tickets increases on Jan. 1, 1987. The Open will be held at Plainfield Country Club the week of July 20-26.

With the holiday season approaching, now is the time to purchase tickets both for personal use and for Christmas gifts. Friends and business associates will doubly appreciate this gift — once when they open their gift certificate, and again next summer when the tickets arrive.

Season tickets, good for the entire week, include three practice rounds, four championship rounds, plus possible playoff. They are currently available in two denominations: Grounds only at $55; grounds and clubhouse at $100.

Exchangeable coupon books, which contain 10 coupons that may be exchanged at the gate for a daily ticket on any day of the event, are also available at $145 for the grounds only and at $225 with clubhouse privileges.

All tickets include parking. Clubhouse tickets are limited and may be withdrawn without prior notice.

For full information on how to obtain tickets and gift certificates call 753-1987.

The New York Botanical Garden is located in north central Bronx across from Fordham University and next to the Bronx Zoo.
