Census office opens in boro

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Mountainside district office of the U.S. Census Bureau officially opened on Tuesday, with state and local officials calling for all area residents to participate in the national 1990 Census of Population and Housing.

A group of approximately 50 people attended an open house at the second-floor office, located at 240 Sheffield Street. The district office will be handling the census for Union and Somerset counties.

State Senator C. Louis Bassano, D-Union, and Elizabeth Community Development Director Neil De Haan, representing Elizabeth Mayor Thomas Dunn, who is recuperating from recent surgery, were among those who attended.

District Office Manager George Staimer announced that the Mountainside branch expects to hire 1,000 temporary employees, both part-time and full-time, to process and compile census questionnaires and perform follow-up work.

The questionnaires are scheduled to be mailed out on March 23, according to Staimer, who added that recipients should fill them out and mail them back by April 1. The census is taken every 10 years, primarily to determine Congressional apportionment.

Staimer emphasized that all information gathered through the census remains confidential.

Beginning on March 20 or 21, census officials throughout the United States will also be attempting to count the homeless, the number of which has been estimated between 250,000 and 3 million nationwide.

Fabian Sanchez, regional census manager for the Philadelphia region, which includes New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware, stated during the open house that data gathered through the upcoming census will affect governmental action over the next decade.

"The information obtained through the census will be used by the federal, state and local government for the next 10 years," Sanchez explained.

"We want to give each person a chance to be counted. We want to make the 1990 census a community event because every community will be affected by the census."

Senator Bassano, who wished the census officials well in their efforts, reported that the 1990 census information will be used to reapportion the House of Representatives and state legislative districts.

The Mountainside office is one of 16 in New Jersey which will be participating in the national census. Applicants for census office positions should be United States citizens, at least 18 years old, have access to a car or adequate public transportation, be able to read maps or small print, and understand conversational speech.

For further information on the census or employment qualifications, area residents can call the Mountainside office at 789-2990.

WELCOME TO DAYTON — Eighth-grade student Amy Wilhelm, left, a student at Deerfield School in Mountainside, gets a firsthand look at high school life during a special orientation program which was held last Friday at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield. Each eighth-grader was paired for the day with a Dayton freshman. Amy's 'mentor' was ninth-grader Danielle Steckler, right.

Deerfield pupils get 'look ahead'

By SUZETTE STALKER

Eighth-grade students from Deerfield School in Mountainside got a sneak preview of high school life last week during a day-long orientation program held at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

The program, now in its second year, gives elementary school youngsters from Mountainside and Springfield a unique chance to experience a typical high school day exactly the way regular Dayton students experience it — by being there.

A group of approximately 40 Deerfield students gathered in the high school cafeteria on Friday at 8:45 a.m., where they were welcomed by Dayton Principal Anne Romano. The majority of students who graduate from Deerfield attend Jonathan Dayton.

It was one of Romano's final opportunities to address Dayton's students of tomorrow, as the principal will be winding up her 46-year career at the high school next month. Romano will officially retire next September.

English teacher Mary Ellen Verschuren, who serves as senior class and cheerleader advisor at the high school, then discussed the many extra-curricular activities which are available to all Dayton students, such as athletics, clubs, vocal music, drama and band.

Verschuren particularly emphasized that freshmen are not only eligible, but strongly encouraged, to participate in all Dayton activities. She added that freshmen frequently have major roles in band, vocal music and dramatic productions at the high school.

Each Dayton freshman was paired with two Deerfield eighth-graders, through a pre-arranged plan matching students who graduated from Deerfield last year with pupils still attending the school, to start them off with something in common.

"We try to create a situation where the eighth-graders, in order to make them feel more comfortable, were paired with freshmen who were from their school, who they may have seen last year and may even know," explained Dayton spokesman Tom Long following Friday's program.

The eighth-graders accompanied

Hospital revises garage proposal

By SUZETTE STALKER

Attorneys for Children's Specialized Hospital and a local residents' group were expected to meet today to discuss a revised parking garage proposal, which could resolve an on-going controversy between the two sides.

CSH is seeking a variance to construct the three-tier garage at its New Providence Road headquarters to accommodate its many staff members and volunteers. The garage would replace two existing lots in the hospital's front yard, and provide 145 additional parking spaces for the hospital.

Concerned residents, calling themselves Children For A Residential Mountainside, have been protesting the plan since last August, saying the garage will pose serious health and safety hazards to the community.

They also fear the structure will sink property values in the immediate vicinity and disrupt the area's quality of life in general.

Hospital officials, who first came before the Board of Adjustment last October, had been scheduled to resume their arguments in favor of the garage on Feb. 5. They postponed their presentation, however, in order to prepare their second application.

They are now expected to appear before the board at its April 9 meeting.

The hospital's original application called for the oxygen tank, used in various medical treatments, to be located adjacent to the hospital's westernmost driveway. A new plan for the oxygen tank was submitted by the hospital to the borough Engineering Department on Monday.

Attorney William Peek, who represents the hospital, said Friday that CSH now hopes to locate the oxygen tank near the ambulance entranceway on the Knightsbridge Road side of the property. The change, he said, would give the hospital more leeway in considering alternate locations for the garage.

Hospital President Richard Ahfeld said that CSH's decision to change the tank's location was prompted last month by attorney Roger W. Thomas, who represents Citizens For A Residential Mountainside.

During the Board of Adjustment's last meeting on Jan. 8, Thomas proposed that placing the tank near the driveway prevented hospital officials from considering alternative sites for the parking garage, other than facing New Providence Road.

The hospital president conceded that alternative locations for the garage might be explored during today's meeting.

Ahfeld stated that he did not know whether the board would hear further testimony in April from real estate appraiser Robert Heffernan or traffic expert Robert Nash, both of whom testified on behalf of CSH at earlier meetings, or whether any other experts would be present.

Board of Adjustment Secretary Valerie Saunders confirmed on Tuesday that Zoning Officer Michael Duffy and Engineering Department officials would be reviewing the hospital's new proposal, after which an application will be prepared and residents within a 200-foot radius of the site will be notified.

"It's possible," Ahfeld remarked, "although we still indicate the site which we have presented in our application is the most feasible."

Peek commented that "we're hoping to reconcile things with the neighbors and make them as happy as possible and provide as much parking space for the hospital as possible. We're just trying to reach an amicable solution."

Regional budget draws protest

By DAVE WISE

The tentative 1990-91 school budget recently adopted by the Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 has aroused the concerns of many area residents.

The district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, which serves both Springfield and Mountainside, and David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth.

Many area residents are particularly concerned over the board's plan to reduce the number of district staff positions, in order to achieve a zero percent increase in the school budget this year.

During the board's meeting earlier this month, members listened as parents and students protested the board's proposal to cut "up to 35 staff positions" within the four high schools in the regional district.

According to Media Coordinator Thomas Long, though, it has not been determined which staff members, or what subjects or schools, will be affected by the 1990-91 budget cuts.

"It's kind of hard to tell because of the scheduling," said Long.

The postponement of Governor Jim Florio's budget address, which specifies the amount of funds New Jersey school districts will receive, has delayed the approval of a new budget.

BOE prez honored

Linda Schneider, president of the Mountainside Board of Education, was selected to be a leader of local school board members in the functions and the education issues facing New Jersey's public schools during a recent Advanced Boardmanship course, sponsored by the New Jersey School Boards Association.

Approximately 120 board of education members attended the conference, which was held Feb. 2-4 at the National Conference Center in East Windsor.

"The responsibilities of school board membership have grown enormously over the years," explained Jeremiah F. Regan, NJSBA president.

"Today's school board member must be able to make the decisions and set priorities to enable our schools and teachers to educate our children effectively. To do this, board members must have knowledge of labor relations, policy making and state and federal legislation. They must also be able to work with and understand the roles of their school administrators."

"NJSBA's Advanced Boardmanship Conference enables board members to master these skills and responsibilities," he continued.

NJSBA has conducted the conference for many years. The program consistently receives high grades from participants who recommend it to their colleagues, according to Regan, a member of the Oceanport Board of Education in Monmouth County for more than 20 years.

Speakers at the 1990 Advanced Boardmanship conference included Marian Leibowitz, president of Marian Leibowitz Associates of Lawrenceville, and Dr. Steven Adamowski, superintendent of the School District of the Chatham. They addressed the topics "Collaborative Strategies: Partnerships to Increase Learning" and "What a Superintendent Looks for in a Board of Education," respectively.

Other programs were led by experienced school board members, such as Schneider. Groups examined labor relations, conflict resolution, school law and the public's perception of school board members.

A statewide, non-profit organization, the New Jersey School Boards Association is a federation of more than 600 local boards of education. It advocates the interests of New Jersey's public school students and school districts and provides inservice training and technical assistance to the state's 4,900 school board members.

Library offers musical discs

The staff of the Mountainside Public Library has announced that seven new compact disc musical recordings are now available to library patrons for borrowing.

The selections include "Show Boat," "West Side Story," "Victory at Sea," Verdi and Puccini sung by Dame Kiri Te Kanawa; Benjamin Britten's "War Requiem;" and "South Pacific," with Mary Martin and Ezio Panza.

There are also discs of Alfred Drake and Patricia Morison in "Kiss Me, Kate;" "Kismet;" and musical highlights from Wagner's "The Ring."

For further information on these and other new offerings, interested persons may call the Kenilworth Library at 233-0114, Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. until 9 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sundays, 2 to 5 p.m.

Hospital names new members to board

Four new members have been named to the board of trustees of Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside.

Robert Ciasulli, Charles J. Mattes, Rabbi George Nudell and Arvind P. Shah, M.D., joined the board at its January meeting.

Ciasulli, a resident of West Caldwell, is chief executive of Ciasulli Motors in Little Falls. Active in the Special Olympics, Ciasulli was recently honored with the West Caldwell Man of the Year Award for his anti-drug activities.

He and his wife, Adele, also active in their community, have two children.

Mattes, of Westfield, is a CPA with the accounting firm of Brunquell and Mattes in Clark. Mattes also serves on the hospital foundation board of trustees. He is active with the Westfield Symphony.

He and his wife, Mary Jane, have a daughter.

Rabbi Nudell of Temple Israel of Scotch Plains/Fanwood is a resident of Scotch Plains. Rabbi Nudell serves as second vice president of the Union County Board of Rabbis and is active in the Spina Bifida Association of Metropolitan New Jersey.

He and his wife have three children.

Dr. Shah is the newly-elected president of the hospital's medical staff. A pediatrician with a practice in Westfield, Dr. Shah has been a member of the medical staff since 1977, preceded by his being chief pediatric resident at Overlook Hospital in Summit.

Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital with 60 acute rehab beds and 25 long term beds. In addition, the hospital provides extensive outpatient and community services in its outpatient center in nearby Fanwood.

In 1991, Children's Specialized will celebrate 100 years of caring for children and adolescents.

School budget protested

"Because of the lateness of his address, it's why we have the delay of the budget and elections," said Long. "No one is sure about how much state aid we'll be receiving. It's a state-wide problem."

The approval of the 1990-91 budget is now expected in early April after Governor Florio gives his budget address this month.

Board members emphasize, however, that reductions will be made in areas where there is insufficient student enrollment, and that educational opportunities for students would not be affected by the cuts.

"Unfortunately, some very fine teachers may lose their jobs due to declining enrollment," said Long. "Enrollment decline has been going on for a long time."

Unlike some school districts, however, the board is not considering a plan to offer early retirement incentives to teachers to avert possible layoffs, according to Long.

The board has been under pressure to "cost cut" and enhance the quality of education, said Long.

"Our board is facing a tough position," noted Long. "We are attempting to keep costs down while maintaining the quality of education."

Long said the budget cuts would not negatively affect the Advanced Placement (AP) courses offered in the regional school district. District 1 currently offers 10 AP courses in chemistry, English, Spanish, French, U.S. history, calculus, physics, Italian, computer science and German.

"We have maintained a breadth of AP courses unmatched by a school of our size," Long remarked.

If an AP course is cut from the budget, Long said students will still have the opportunity to take the course.

"If we didn't have sufficient enrollment in one school," said Long, "we will transfer them to another school free of charge."

Residents will still have a chance to express their views on the 1990-91 budget at the hearing on April 3 before the budget is adopted.

"Residents will be able to voice their opinions and the budget still will not have been finalized," added Long.

Club to have demonstration

The Mountainside Foothill Club will hold its monthly meeting at the Towers Steak House on Thursday, March 1, at noon. Following lunch, there will be a program presented by the Springfield Florist on floral arrangements.

One can call Mabel Connor, club president, at 233-5045, for further information.

their freshmen guides to most of the ninth-graders' classes, where the younger pupils were able to witness high school academics firsthand. The Deerfield students also joined their hosts for lunch in the cafeteria and a taste of the Dayton social scene.

After making their classroom rounds, the eighth-graders convened in the Dayton Instructional Media Center, where they each received a packet of detailed information about the school and the activities and programs offered at Dayton.

On Feb. 7 and 8, the Dayton freshmen conducted the program for eighth-grade students from Gaudineer School in Springfield, according to Long.

Long stated that school officials believe the Dayton orientation program benefits both the eighth-graders, who are preparing for a major transition in their lives, and the freshmen themselves, many of whom are still adjusting to their new status as high school students.

"For many eighth-graders, there's a certain fear and anxiety about going to high school," Long explained. "It's a big step, a big jump. We feel this program not only helps to acclimate the eighth-graders, but also helps to allay their fears and anxieties about making that big transition."

Long added that the program gives freshmen "a chance to take responsibility on their own. It helps build leadership, and makes them feel important. It teaches them to say 'this is our school and this is what we do.'"

honor roll

Deerfield School in Mountainside recently announced the names of those students who made the honor roll list for the second marking period.

HIGH HONOR ROLL

Brandee Aylward, Angela Carrelli, Barbara Fowler, Kathleen Gutrich and Jana Greene.

Brian Juba, Nirali Patel, John Schnakenberg, Maria Shinas and Amy Wilhelm.

HONOR ROLL

Lee Beasley, Alyson Becker, Manlio Carrelli, Nicole Coddington, Matthew Collins and Thomas Engert. Veronica Escalona, Robert Gardella, Candice Giordano, Alexandra Gitter, Erin Greasham and Mary Grillo. Laura Hollister, Scott Juba, Shannon Keller, Michelle King, Jamie Kuperman and Katharine Lewis.

Sarah Leyer, Anna Lisa Lopez, Jennifer Lucyk, Richard Lukenda, Samantha Mason and Nicholas Mennuti.

Heidi Pascuti, Nicole Rivieccio, Thomas Ryk, Jessica Schneider, Adam Segall and Eric Serio.

Mark Sieffert, Jackie Spagnolo, Beth Stotling, Miguel Teixeira, Sonia Wagner, Pam Weag, Seth Weinglass and Tony Wladyka.

High honor roll requires 4 A's in major subjects and a minimum of A-B in minor subjects.

Honor roll requires at least 5 B's in major subjects and a minimum of B in minor subjects.

Garage proposal revised

"We've had an opportunity to review the new proposal regarding the oxygen tank" Thomas confirmed on Tuesday. "They've changed it to a location I really have no problem with, and that I don't think my clients will have a problem with."

"The residents' group is not seeking to be obstructionists," he continued. "They recognize that the hospital has certain problems, but they also have concerns which they feel should be addressed. I would like to think that we've gotten these points across."

A renowned pediatric rehabilitation facility, Children's Specialized Hospital houses 60 rehab beds and 25 long-term care beds at its Mountainside facility. It also operates an outpatient facility in Fanwood.

A key concern expressed by Citizens For A Residential Mountainside has been that CSH has repeatedly come before the Board of Adjustment with various other applications during the past decade.

Residents have been concerned that the hospital will continue to expand its facilities in Mountainside even further after the proposed garage is built, though hospital officials maintain there presently no plans to develop any other expansion projects.

Filing deadline extended

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 has announced that, due to the impending change in the date of the annual school election to April 24, the deadline for filing a nominating petition to run for a seat on the board has been delayed until Thursday, March 1.

This revision in the school election timetable has been implemented in response to directives recently issued by the offices of Governor James Florio and Commissioner of Education Saul Cooperman.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

Three seats on the nine-member regional board, one each from the communities of Kenilworth, Clark, and Berkeley Heights, will be contested on School Election Day, Tuesday, April 24. Each of the candidates elected on that day will be chosen for a full, three-year term.

The Regional Board of Education seats to be contested this year are currently held by Frederick Soos of Kenilworth, Howard Heller of Berkeley Heights and Melvin Altman of Clark. Heller has already decided not to seek re-election to a three-year term.

To be eligible to run for the Regional Board of Education, interested individuals must obtain a nominating petition in the office of the board secretary at Jonathan Dayton on Mountain Avenue in Springfield, on any school day between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The completed nominating petition must then be returned to the board secretary's office by 4 p.m. on Thursday, March 1.

Any candidate filing a nominating petition for Regional Board of Education membership must be a citizen of the United States, at least 18 years of age, a registered voter in the regional district, and a resident of the municipality from which he/she is to be elected for at least one year preceding the date of the election.

For more information, one can call 376-6300, extension 328.

Budget hearing is postponed

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District No. 1 has announced that the date of its regular monthly meeting and public hearing on the proposed tentative 1990/91 school budget has been changed from Tuesday, March 6, to Tuesday, April 3.

The public hearing on the tentative regional district budget will be conducted in the Instructional Media Center of Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School on Westfield Avenue in Clark, at 8 p.m.

The change of date for the regional district's public hearing has been implemented in response to directives recently issued by the offices of Governor James Florio and Commissioner of Education Saul Cooperman.

With the date of the annual school election scheduled to be delayed until Tuesday, April 24, it has become necessary to change the date on which the proposed regional district school budget can be reviewed and discussed.

All residents of the regional district communities of Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Clark, Garwood and Berkeley Heights are invited to attend the Board of Education's regular monthly meeting and public hearing on April 3.

Questions, concerns and comments pertaining to the tentative proposed regional district school budget for 1990/91 may be aired at that time.

The Union County Regional Board of Education has proposed a tentative school budget of $33.5 million for next school year. This figure represents an increase of zero dollars over the current regional district operating budget.

For more information, one can call 376-6300, extension 328.

Postmaster urges residents to help prevent winter mishaps

"Local authorities and the general public can help the United States Postal Service deliver the mail as timely and as safely as possible this winter" says Postmaster William G. Daniels of the Springfield Post Office. Daniels emphasized the need for ice and snow removal from walkways as a major aid in preventing slips and falls to letter carriers. Slips and falls result in fractured or broken bones, or sprains to letter carriers. The other main winter hazards that impede mail delivery, according to Daniels, are ice and snow on streets, roads, driveways, stairways and porches. Local road authorities and postal customers are requested by Postmaster Daniels to keep public and private approaches to residences and mailboxes clean during the winter months. Last year, according to Daniels, thousands of letter carriers across the nation were injured because of hazardous conditions on customers' property.

The cost of winter accidents is high on the list of human suffering. Of equal concern to the public is the financial burden a postal customer may have to bear due to liability for a letter carrier's accident resulting from hazardous conditions on private property. Daniels said that when walking and driving hazards are reduced or eliminated, the safety of all members of the community, as well as letter carriers, are greatly reduced.

Vets to hold bagel breakfast

The Elin-Unger Post No. 273, Jewish War Veterans (JWV) of Millburn/Springfield will hold its monthly bagel breakfast and business meeting on Sunday, March 4, at 9:30 a.m. at the Sarah Bailey Center, 30 Church Mall, Springfield. Guest speaker for the morning's program will be Rabbi Samuel P. Bogomilsky of Mount Sinai Congregation on the subject "Integration of the Soviet Emigres into The American Society." He will also introduce several former high ranking officers of the Red Army. During the morning's proceedings, those recently entering the veterans' organization will be formally inducted as members. For additional information, one can contact Past Commander Murray Nathanson at 376-0837 or Past Commander Joe Todres at 379-9188.

Alcohol and drug film series to be featured at hospital

Parents, adolescents, educators or anyone involved in substance abuse treatment or recovery can learn more about addiction at a new Fair Oaks Hospital film series at The Outpatient Recovery Center in Paramus. The films, to be shown from 10 a.m. to noon on each date, will discuss the effects of heredity, genetic factors of drug abuse, myths about cocaine, how children are affected by alcoholism in the family, teenage substance abuse and other subjects. Beginning on March 3, this free educational series will feature a different film on substance abuse every Saturday morning starting at 10 a.m., followed by a question and answer session with trained clinicians. "These powerful documentaries heighten awareness of one of today's most serious problems, affecting all levels of our society," says James A. Cocores, M.D., medical director of The Outpatient Recovery Centers. "Education and prevention are our strongest weapons against addiction." The first film, entitled "Chalk Talk," is scheduled for March 3. It features Father Martin, a renowned national speaker on chemical dependency, explaining the disease concept of chemical dependency in the family. "If You Loved Me," slated for March 10, chronicles the almost classic deterioration of a family because of alcoholism — the arguing, fears, frustration and denial. The documentary "Alcohol and Cocaine," on March 17, explains the hereditary and genetic factors relating to chemical dependency. The symptoms and progression of the disease of alcoholism is explained in the film "Disease Concept of Alcoholism II," scheduled for March 24. The dramatic film "Soft Is The Heart Of A Child," on March 31, deals with the sensitive subject of how children are affected by alcoholism in the family. "The 12 Steps With Father Martin," on April 7, describes the fundamentals behind the 12 steps of Alcoholics Anonymous. "The Mirror Of A Child," on April 14, is a profile of a young woman whose adult life is shaped and driven by events from her childhood, and a family unable to deal with the impact of a father's alcoholism. "In Family Matters," slated for April 21, five families share their personal struggles with addiction in this dramatic, inspiring and sometimes surprising documentary about learning to live with alcoholism, drug abuse, and eating disorders. Father Martin identifies the predispositions leading to relapse and how to avoid the pitfalls in the final film of the series, "Relapse," scheduled for April 28. There is no charge for the film series, and coffee and bagels will be served. The Outpatient Recovery Center is located at the Bergen Medical Center Building, 1 West Ridgewood Avenue in Paramus. For more information or to register, one can call 670-7788.

Child care facility seeks corporate subscribers

Ciba-Geigy Pharmaceuticals of Summit has provided the start-up funds and become the first corporate subscriber for Sniffles, a get-well program for mildly ill and convalescing children, located on Mountain Avenue in Springfield. The facility is operated by Summit Child Care Centers, Inc., a non-profit organization. Mild childhood illnesses are a significant cause of employee absenteeism. According to one estimate, employers lose nearly $3 billion annually due to child care-related absences, a large proportion of which are due to the child's illness. "By recognizing the need for child care for sick children and working closely with the Summit Child Care Centers, we have provided an important work and family service to our employees," commented Douglas Watson, President of Ciba-Geigy Pharmaceuticals. In surveys of working parents, care for sick children is most often cited as a major problem. Children with common childhood diseases, mild viral illness and children convalescing from illness are usually excluded from child care centers and elementary schools. According to Dr. Michael Quatrelia, Ciba-Geigy's Executive Director of Employee Health Services, "sick child care is one of the most stressful child care problems that working parents face. Sniffles is a safe and health-promoting program for children and a secure, stress-free solution for parents." At the Sniffles ribbon-cutting ceremony on Jan. 25, U.S. Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., saluted the foresight of the Summit Child Care Centers for opening Sniffles, and applauded Ciba-Geigy for making Sniffles available to its employees. Few facilities have offered care for mildly ill children due to its inherently high cost. Sniffles, however, will be the first get-well program in New Jersey to have corporate subscribers. In addition to Ciba-Geigy, several other New Jersey corporations are in the process of contracting with the Summit Child Care Centers in order to ensure the availability and affordability of the program to their employees. "The uniqueness of Sniffles is corporate subscribership, which guarantees a low-cost and unlimited access to the program for a company's employees. Because of the low cost, employees are more likely to use the program for a company's employees. Because of the low cost, employees are more likely to use the program which in turn reduces employee absenteeism and increases productivity," commented Dr. Anita Weinberg, managing director of the centers' Corporate Care Consulting Service. Fees are $45 per day to a community family, $25 per day for Summit Child Care families, and for corporate subscriber employees the cost can be as low as $10 per day. The daily rate includes meals and snacks. Licensed for 25 children, Sniffles is open year-round, Monday to Friday from 7:30 to 5 p.m. A registered nurse is present throughout the day, as well as other professional child care givers. Summit-Warren Pediatric Associates is available for medical consultation if a child's own pediatrician cannot be reached. Corporations wishing to subscribe or to obtain further information may contact Dr. Weinberg at 273-7017.

Nursing program announced

Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside is offering a summer program for junior level nursing students in Mountainside, Springfield and Kenilworth, along with other area communities. The Nurse Extern Program is a hands-on experience for nursing students interested in learning the field of pediatric rehabilitation. The program is approved by the New Jersey Board of Nursing and adheres to strict board guidelines. Each extern works under the supervision of a registered nurse who has pediatric rehabilitation experience. At Children's Specialized, the externs also have the opportunity to participate in hospital educational offerings. For 1990, the 10-week program is scheduled to begin June 6 and will run through Aug. 10. Interested candidates may call the hospital's Human Resources Department or Deirdre Jackson, clinical nurse specialist, at 233-3720. The application deadline is Wednesday, April 11. Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital with 60 acute rehab beds and 25 long term care beds. Additionally, the hospital provides extensive outpatient and community services at its outpatient center in Fanwood. In 1991, Children's Specialized will celebrate 100 years of caring for children and adolescents. FAX sign-up is offered Union County College's Department of Continuing Education is offering those with access to facsimile machines the opportunity to register for non-credit courses without having to wait in line and sign up at inconvenient times. The college's FAX machine, whose number is 709-0527, is on 24 hours per day. Registrants may simply send a photocopy of the sign-up form. Payment may be done through Visa or Mastercard. Sign-up forms are available in the back of the college's Continuing Education brochures, which have been mailed to homes in Union County and are available at each of the college's four campuses, located in Cranford, Elizabeth, Plainfield and Scotch Plains. Those interested in further information should call 709-7601.

Scouts enjoy 'fun' day

On Sunday, Feb. 4, the Springfield Girl Scouts held their Winter Fun Day at Gaudineer School in Springfield. Thirty Springfield Girl Scouts participated in the event, and raised funds for camping at Camp Hoover in March. The Girl Scouts that competed had acquired pledge signatures for various activities, such as bean bag toss, sit-ups, jumping rope, ball bouncing and foul shots, which they had to complete in a time frame. Hot Dogs and cotton candy were a big success, as well as a bake sale.

GLASNOST COMES TO OVERLOOK — Kessia, a 20-month-old brown Russian bear who was in New York City to promote the Moscow Circus, was the center of attention recently when she was brought to Overlook Hospital in Summit to entertain patients at the Valerie Center, a treatment facility for children suffering from cancer and blood disorders. The 85-pound bear, who wore a large lavender lace bow, performed handstands on a tightrope, on the palms of her trainer's hands, and head. She even nuzzled her trainers as she went through her act to the delight of her audience.

BENEFIT LEADERS — Karen Whalen of Tree Top Drive in Springfield, left, and Cathy Brown of Hillside are the co-chairs of the third annual gala benefit event to be sponsored by the Parent Association of the Vail-Deane School in Mountainside. The benefit will be held March 3 at the Grand Summit Hotel in Summit.

Vail-Deane benefit noted

The Parents' Association of the Vail-Deane School in Mountainside will hold its third annual benefit on Saturday, March 3, at the Grand Summit Hotel on Springfield Avenue in Summit.

Vail-Deane enrolls students from Springfield and Mountainside, among other area communities. Karen Whalen of Springfield and Cathy Brown of Hillside are co-chairing the event.

"This is our major fundraising event of the year," said Whalen last week. "Our theme is 'An Enchanted Evening', which it really will be! The Summit Hotel has a beautiful room for us; there will be a cocktail hour and a lovely sit-down dinner."

During the cocktail hour, guests will have time to socialize with other friends, parents and faculty of Vail-Deane, as well as participate in the benefit.

According to Whalen and Brown, proceeds from the benefit will enhance special academic projects at Vail-Deane, and help to defray the ever-rising equipment costs that they and all schools must face these days.

Demonstration slated

The Kenilworth Art Association will resume its meetings starting March 5. The association will meet at the Kenilworth Public Library, ground floor level, at North 22nd Street and Boulevard at 8 p.m.

Margie Mencher will do charcoal portraits of several people who attend the meeting. All are welcome to come to this free group demonstration.

Mencher did lettering for an engraving house while attending the National Academy of Design at night. She later studied at the Students Art League in New York City. Later, she free-lanced as a fashion artist for Bloomingdale's, Abraham & Strauss, Arnold Constable's and Hahne Co.

Mencher has exhibited her work at many art shows, including the Kenilworth Outdoor Art Show, winning many awards. She recently won first prize at the state Senior Citizens Art Show and also received first prize at the NJCVA members show.

Mencher works in oils, graphics, and charcoal, doing portraits, landscapes and seascapes. Her work can be viewed in the Joseph Dawley Gallery, Gallery 9, D. Christian James Gallery and many others.

For further information about the meeting, interested persons may call 241-0221.

BILLING

Billing Cycle

Monthly cable bills are received by subscribers between the 19th through the 1st of any given month. For billing inquiries, refer to the phone numbers listed above.

HERE ARE SOME POINTERS TO REMEMBER BEFORE YOU CALL:

NEW SUBSCRIBER

Your first statement for cable service may reflect as much as 2½ months of service. The amount which appears as a "partial month" is actually all the charges for service that have been received since installation to the end of the current month. In addition the monthly rate is billed one month in advance and is shown separately on your statement. Please pay the full amount promptly to ensure the accuracy of future statements.

MISSING PAYMENTS

If you have a touchtone phone, call 675-6569, with your account number handy, to get this information automatically. If you have mailed a payment and it does not appear on your statement, do not be concerned as it is probably due to processing or postal delays. If the payment in question does not appear on your next statement please notify us IMMEDIATELY.

PARTIAL MONTH/CHANGES IN SERVICE

If you have recently added or removed services, a "partial month" charge or credit will appear on your statement. This charge or credit reflects the difference between your previous monthly rate and the new monthly rate from the date of the change in service to the end of the current month. Your new monthly rate is billed one month in advance and is shown separately on your statement.

INSTALLATION CHARGE/PAYMENT

Any "installation charge" which appears on your statement is a one time charge for new installations, reconnections or changes in service. If money was collected by a technician when services were installed, a "payment" will also appear on your statement for the same amount as the "installation charge".

BILLING DISPUTES

If you disagree with any charges on your statement, please refer to the information above. If the information is not helpful in explaining the discrepancy, and you need further clarification for any portion of your statement, write to us. Please include a description of what you believe to be the error, including any discrepancy in the amounts billed. YOU MUST ALSO INCLUDE YOUR NAME, ADDRESS AND ACCOUNT NUMBER ON ALL CORRESPONDENCE.

Address your correspondence to:

Suburban Cablevision, P.O. Box 1159, Billing Dept., East Orange, N.J. 07019

We must hear from you within 60 days of receipt of the statement on which the discrepancy appeared. We recommend that all inquiries or disputes be submitted to us in writing.

Two offer all to enhancing cultural arts

By BEA SMITH

Janet Haggerty, who has long encouraged the promotion of cultural arts in Union Township, and Joanne Liebhauser, actress, playwright and teacher, who gives her all toward the progress of the performing arts in town, have had their dreams come true. They pressed their respective issues with such strength and conviction that, ultimately, a Cultural Arts Council of Union Inc. was recently formed.

And even beyond that, they managed to get enough interest and assistance to promote the production of a musical comedy, "Bye Bye Birdie," which will be staged March 23 and 24 at Union High School.

Last week, when Haggerty and Liebhauser came to this office for a chat, they were exhausted. They had just come from a rather hectic rehearsal of "Bye Bye Birdie," and they were ready to say "Bye Bye" to the remainder of the day.

"Everything is going great," according to Liebhauser, an exceptionally attractive young woman, who is secretary-treasurer of the Cultural Arts Council as well as the Union High School theater director and a playwright.

"It's the beginning of what I've always wanted for Union as a cultural township," sighs Haggerty, chairman of the council. According to Haggerty, the council was formed "to enhance the cultural climate of the town through the experience of musical theater and exposure to the arts. And what better place to start than the high school." Tracy Murray of "Mr. Murray" fame, in Union schools, and music teacher in the school system, is Liebhauser's assistant.

They will work together to direct the production with Louis Quagliato as musical conductor. Haggerty has arranged for an art show of student work headed by Camille Leonow, art teacher at Kawamech Junior High School. And Paul Timou, Union artist, will do the scenery.

Actually, it was Liebhauser whose ideas sparked the whole thing. "We just really felt that we needed more parent-community involvement in the arts. And it seems like there should be more community involvement in the performance of the fine arts," she says.

"The Board of Education and Dr. James Caulfield, superintendent of schools, were very enthusiastic about the idea," exclaims Haggerty. "They pulled together and started a steering committee for all sorts of brainstorming. Everybody got involved, and the rest is history."

Caulfield, spearhead of the council, said recently, "The Cultural Arts Committee is yet another reflection of the community's dedication to its youth. The fine, performing and practical arts are critical elements in the total education program in Union. This committee through its efforts in promoting community participation will enrich the lives of the performers and the audience.

"We have such wonderful facilities in the high school for this production," he declared. "We have a 1,200 seat auditorium with a Broadway-size stage plus all the talent we have in the schools and the community. It promises to be an excellent show with a large cast and many behind-the-scenes workers and surprise actors."

Other members of the steering committee are Julius Benevento, Jeanette Cantalupo, Sam Fortunato, Rhoda Fried, Edward Kliszus, Robert Petracco, Marge Rodrigues, James Schaefer and Arlene Schor.

"Our first meeting," says Haggerty, "was held last January. Everything was solidified in October."

"We explored ideas on how to explain arts and art shows and get the students interested in art shows and displays," says Liebhauser. "They all give such good performances in the high school. This time we decided to promote it and get people excited over the whole idea."

Haggerty adds, "Our first project as a Cultural Arts Council event will be to promote this musical and student art show at the high school. We knocked around several choices based on what musical talent was available...and what would appeal to all ages. And we came across the idea for 'Bye Bye Birdie.' We thought it would be very popular with adults and kids. It has wonderful orchestration, dancing, singing...really, it has a lot of flair. And Ed Kliszus, head of the music department, agreed with us."

"This is our kickoff project," says Liebhauser. "It's the first time we've actively involved so many people. They all pulled together to put the show together. It's amazing that there is so much talent and creativity available to us."

Liebhauser laughs. "Janet, who is known to many as 'the Balloon Lady,' came to the first meeting with balloons in hand and got everyone inspired at the meeting." Haggerty creates balloons in marvelous shapes both for community projects and in her business where she specializes in party decorating, balloon centerpieces and elegant, custom-designed gift baskets.

"Balloons," agrees Haggerty, "really lift people's spirits. People in a good mood are going to be receptive to what's going on."

Liebhauser credits Kawamech's art teacher with the idea of having banners. "Camille had a good idea for the occasion. She suggested making a banner to represent each school. They'll be hung on the night of the play. There will be a banner for every public school in Union, and each will be hanging from the high school building."

Haggerty chuckles. "I'm excited all over again!"

"There will be an art show in the lobby of the high school," says Liebhauser. "The students in the honor society are going to hang the show and get experience in hanging art shows. They will represent eight to 10 people from each school. Camille is coordinating it and is in charge of it under Arlene Schor, head of the art department of Union Township schools and principal of Hamilton School."

PLANNING MUSICAL — Janet Haggerty, left, chairman of recently formed Cultural Arts Council of Union Inc., peruses play script of 'Bye Bye Birdie' with Joanne Liebhauser, actress, playwright, teacher, at Union High School, where show is in rehearsal. It will be staged March 23 and 24 at the Boys and Girls Club of Union.

Haggerty says, "It's the most exciting event that will take place in the Township of Union this year. And by the way," she continues, "we're involving the Rotary Club in Union. It seems its dinner will be happening on the same night, Friday, March 23. So, those who want to go to their spaghetti dinner first at the Boys and Girls Club on Jeanette Avenue at 5 p.m. and then go to the show can do so. The show starts at 8 o'clock, so there will be plenty of time. Gail Norman is in charge of the Rotary dinner. We can really make a night of it."

Liebhauser explains that "tickets can be purchased from many sources. We've got the cooperation of Union Center National Bank, all branches, Janet Wheeler and the Union Public Library, Barbara Gladysiewicz...why people are calling the school already for tickets."

"Julius Benevento designed the cultural arts logo," says Haggerty, "and Mike Cohan printed it. Lucia Enroconi, a senior at the high school, is stage manager."

Liebhauser heaves a great sigh. "Until it's finished," she says, "we all live, breathe, sleep, dream the production. I have three art classes and my students are all involved. They're doing posters, special scenes. We start work at 3 p.m. and end about 6:30 or later. And we're spending time looking for props, pulling together costumes..."

"Janet is on the phone to me every day. She's full of good ideas. And Joe Walsh, guidance counselor, will play the part of the mayor. We would like members of the adult community to play the crowd scenes."

"And the part of Conrad, who is a takeoff on Elvis Presley, will be played by Shaun Murray, a senior. He's really good. He's cultivated his sideburns. And recently, we've heard the kids singing in the halls, 'We love you, Conrad.' The cast features Rachel Smargiassi, Spencer Rowe and Andrea Caskey. And we're really happy to have Tracy Murray. He's just so enthusiastic, so electric! He's so excited himself that he finds himself up on the stage dancing with the cast.

"And as far as Janet is concerned," muses Liebhauser, "she heads all the meetings and comes up with brilliant ideas...with finesse and charm...she inspires us all. You know, it was her idea for the art show."

"Yes," smiles Haggerty, "just like the Paper Mill. Maybe better."

"We have had so many volunteers to raise funds for the play. Others paint wood, make costumes, provide makeup and wigs. It's a very expensive endeavor, and we need more volunteers," Haggerty says. "Joanne and all the others work so very hard. Joanne is totally dedicated."

"It is wearing," admits Liebhauser. "We have a minimum of six weeks of intense preparation...six weeks of rehearsals. The French teacher and the math teacher both love dancing. They really look good up on the stage. They're our choreographers."

"And Dr. Caulfield," says Haggerty, "is wholly supportive, and involved and caring and encouraging. The members on the Board of Education are all very involved...especially Marge Rodrigues and Rhoda Fried. Sam Fortunato, principal of the high school, is always accommodating. He has a way of cutting red tape and finding the right person to do what is needed. We have Louis Quagliato conducting the orchestra. And Jeanette Cantalupo helping to keep track of the finances, and great support from Jim Schaefer, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce."

Liebhauser says that "after two or three rehearsals, we can already see improvements. This experience is so important to the kids...to find themselves a different kind of experience. It helps them to mature. It makes them more appreciative of the arts in life. It enriches their environment. It teaches the kids to work with each other. We're planting the seeds and they're making a difference."

What happens after March 24? Haggerty looks over at Liebhauser. "A vacation!"

"No," grins Liebhauser, "after this, we plan to have a play next year, and an accompanying art show. We have a possible idea for little kids...maybe to have a play in the children's library."

Haggerty smiles. "Actually, we're looking for new ideas to promote the arts, music, dancing and theater."

"Who knows," replies Liebhauser. "After this, we may be overwhelmed by the public."

Absorbing book venerates a star

on the shelf

By BEA SMITH

Eleanor Parker, an actress who could never give a bad performance in the 50 or more movies and the numerous television appearances she made, is venerated in the only definitive book ever written about her.

According to film historian Doug McClelland in his bio-bibliography and filmography "Eleanor Parker: Woman of a Thousand Faces," an intricate, absorbing and loving book, he says, "Eleanor Parker is too good for her own good." He declares that she's a rare and invaluable actress and human being, who is beautiful, talented and versatile. Throughout her long career she has played such a variety of roles — no two alike — and has been nominated three times for Oscars.

This exceptional book is filled with complete information and reviews and personal accounts of what happened on the set of each of Parker's movies. Also offered is additional information on her plays, television productions, and magazine and newspaper articles about her.

The book was published by Scarecrow Press Inc. of Metuchen and London, England. Its extensive documentation and analysis of her life's work must have taken thousands of hours of backbreaking research. But it appears it was a labor of love for McClelland, who obviously has enormous interest in the star and is completely devoted to her.

The book also boasts lovely photographs of an extremely photogenic woman in many aspects of her roles. It is dedicated to the eldest of Parker's four children, Paul Day Clemens, "who proves that the fruit doesn't fall very far from the tree."

The idea for "Eleanor Parker..." McClelland's ninth book, came about back in 1971, when the author, a former newspaper entertainment editor, and this reviewer, a former associate, took a ride one hot summer afternoon to Nyack, N.Y., to see a matinee performance of Parker in "Forty Carats." After greeting the pair backstage in her dressing room, she said determinedly, "You're both writers. Why don't you write something for me?"

And McClelland says in his introduction, "Here it is, Miss Parker."

And, indeed, here it is. It has a foreword by William Ludwig, a former lawyer, who became a screenwriter for MGM and wrote numerous films throughout his 20-year career including, in collaboration, what many consider Parker's best film of all, "Interspersed Melody," for which Ludwig and Sonya Levien received an Oscar.

McClelland points out in his introduction that despite "her strong, aristocratic countenance with its classically imposing profile," columnists, co-stars and even friends found the actress unrecognizable. It may have been due to the variety of roles she played, each of which was so very different from the others. She worked with the top echelon of actors and directors, "And yet," says McClelland, the "superstardom...and instant audience recognizability she deserved remained elusive."

In addition to her biography, which the author writes with spice and vigor, throwing in some marvelous anecdotes, McClelland includes her professional credits, her films, television series, television specials, stage appearances and radio shows. He even lists the length of the films.

Who, among movie buffs, and

those who like to watch the old Warner Bros. movies on television, can forget the lovely young Eleanor Parker in "The Very Thought of You" — or the horrible Cockney tramp in "Of Human Bondage?" How about this reviewer's favorite, the innocent teenager who became a hardened convict in "Caged," for which she won the "world's best actress" award at the Venice Film Festival, and the first of three best actress Academy Award nominations?

McClelland sifts through Parker's movies with a fine-tooth comb. He lists her pictures for Warner Bros. from "Soldiers in White" in 1942 to her 24th movie in 1950, "Three Secrets," about which he says, "They don't make movies like that anymore..." He discusses her free-lancing days when she made movies for Columbia, 20th Century-Fox and Paramount, such as "Valentino" and "Detective Story." In 1952, she began making movies for MGM, and she started with one of the author's favorites, "Scaramouche," and this reviewer's favorite, "Above and Beyond" with Robert Taylor. Another favorite was "The Naked Jungle" with Charlton Heston. In between, Parker made important movies for United Artists. Back at MGM, she starred as the frightening "Lizzie," the triple-split-personality character, a better film, McClelland says, than "The Three Faces of Eve." In 1960, she made another memorable film, "Home From the Hill," her final movie for MGM.

In 1965, Parker was featured in one of the biggest money-makers of all time, "The Sound of Music," in which she played the baroness. Her 50th and final movie was made in 1979 and was called "Sunburn."

McClelland goes on to write about the star's unrealized television and stage projects. He leaves no stone unturned in his ebullient account of the life of Eleanor Parker and her cinematic endeavors and achievements.

He also opens up a whole new insight into the world of the independent, elusive, very private person that is Eleanor Parker. Movie buffs will gobble the book up in one sitting; film libraries will display it prominently on their shelves. The general public will love it, because, well, who hasn't loved Eleanor Parker at some time in his life?

And this reviewer, in response to Eleanor Parker's 1971 request: "Why don't you write something for me?" — can reiterate McClelland's words — "Here it is, Miss Parker."

Clubs plan auction, talk, entertainment

The GFWC Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms contributed 100 coffee cans decorated with cookies and candies to veterans at a veteran's hospital and puzzle books and paper back books as a "Love Gift" for St. Valentine's Day.

Choir combinations

The combined choirs of the Calvary Baptist Church of Vauxhall and the Connecticut Farms Presbyterian Church, Union, will celebrate the beginning of the Lenten season together on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 28. Linda Byrd of the Union Board of Education will lead the choirs in the musical cultural exchange at 8 p.m. in Connecticut Farms Church. Lynwood Lawson will serve as organist and Carie Leslie Jr. will play the piano, with the Rev. R. Sidney Pinch officiating. On March 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the Calvary Baptist Church on Valley St., Union, both choirs again will sing for Calvary's Friday Lenten service. The Rev. Richard Pollard will preach the message. Connecticut Farms organist, Gene Rickard, will accompany the combined choirs' anthem "Lift Every Voice and Sing." All are welcome, it was announced.

Lent to be observed

Grace Lutheran Church, 2222 Vauxhall Road, Union, will observe the season of Lent beginning with Ash Wednesday Feb. 28. Preceding the worship service, there will be a light supper with serving from 6 to 7 p.m. A free will offering will help cover expenses, it was announced.

Following the supper, the congregation will gather at 7:30 for a Communion worship service. The focus of the church's Midweek Lenten worship services this year will be the "Signs of the Cross." Among the various signs of the cross to be focused upon are the signs of "Understanding," "Strength," "Presence," "Love," "Service" and "Decision." The weekly Wednesday services at either 10:30 in the morning or at 7:30 in the evening "are of a more informal nature, with the evening services followed by a coffee fellowship."

The members have invited the members of the community to worship with them as they "follow Christ's walk to Calvary and the open tomb, growing in your walk with the Lord on the Wednesdays during this Lenten season."

Communion service

Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 301 Tucker Ave., Union, will observe the season of Lent beginning with a 7:30 p.m. communion worship service on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 28.

A series of five Thursday evening services will be held beginning March 8 at 7:30 p.m., focusing on the theme, "Thus It Is Written" highlighting the "Garden of Gethsemane" and "The Crucifixion." By means of "first-person" sermons, delivered by the Rev. Dr. Milan A. Ontko, pastor of Holy Trinity, the Lenten services will "allow listeners to hear the Gospel writers Mark, Luke and John explain why they wrote about these events the way they did and what their particular messages mean for everyone's faith and life."

A Christian nursery

Holy Cross Christian Nursery School in Springfield is taking applications for the 1990-1991 school year, it was announced.

The school offers sessions on Monday through Friday mornings from 9 to 11:30 for 3- and 4-year olds and Pre-K sessions on Monday through Thursday, afternoons from 12:15 to 2:45 for children entering Kindergarten in September 1991.

The school is located at 639 Mountain Ave. Information and applications can be obtained by calling the school at 379-7160 during school hours.

A Naming service

Temple Sha'arey Shalom of Springfield was the first synagogue in the area to observe a special program that is now held in many other temples — the 4th grade Naming ceremony, it was announced.

"It is a time when children in that grade learn about the significance of their Hebrew names and then proudly proclaim this aspect of their Jewish identity at an Erev Shabbat service. The 4th grade Naming service will be held March 2 at 8 p.m.

OPINION

Second chance

Mountainsiders are a pretty docile lot, but occasionally they get excited about things — like the cost of their children's educations.

According to state figures, per-pupil costs here are above the state average on the elementary-school level, and way above average on the high-school level.

Yet when it comes to taking direct action concerning these costs, Mountainside residents haven't exactly broken down doors. As of last week, only three people had filed to run for the two local Board of Education seats being contested this year.

Fortunately for Mountainside, obstacles to forming a state budget recently forced Trenton to delay the state's school board elections by three weeks. Similarly, the filing deadline for candidates has been postponed, from Feb. 8 to March 1.

This represents a second chance for those who have wanted a voice in the operation of the schools to do something about it. We hope some residents will seize the opportunity.

Think About It

That white stuff 'snow fun at all

By JOHN TARTAGLINO

The phone just rang. I picked it up and it was my friend, Brian. He lives out in western Jersey at a place we like to call "Walton's Mountain."

"I just thought you'd be interested, it was snowing here a few minutes ago... and it was headed your way."

"Don't tell me these things! I hate snow."

He chuckled evilly.

"Heh-heh-heh. I know."

OK, I admit it. I'm a snow-Grinch.

Mention snow, and some folks conjure up visions of sipping brandy by a warm fire as flakes fall gently onto the landscape.

Mention it to me, and all I can think of is standing knee-deep in cold stuff, waiting for the Triple-A to come and jump-start my car.

So I'm not an outdoorsman. Does that mean I can't be a good person? When did frostbite become the symbol of virtue?

My wife and I have the same argument every year.

"How can you hate snow?" Joanne will say. "It's so pretty."

"I don't care if it's pretty. I hate it. I hate to drive in it. I hate to shovel it. I hate when it blows in my face and makes my ears hurt. I just plain hate it."

"You just have no little kid in you," she accuses.

I have plenty of little kid in me. It's just that my little kid lives in Florida.

What I don't understand is just when snow reached parity with Mom and apple pie. People are absolutely horrified if I say I don't like it. They give me that look of disdain normally reserved for Congressmen and other lower forms of life.

They also turn into self-appointed ambassadors of slush, determined to help me overcome my failing.

"You should ski," they tell me. "If you went skiing, you'd love the snow."

They don't understand. I don't want to love it. I enjoy not liking it. I've never been able to convince myself that numb toes are fun, and I see no reason to try.

Why is it so damn important to everybody that I learn to love snow? Why can't people just let me wallow in my hatred, and leave it at that?

What do they expect me to do? Here's my car sliding sideways down a hill, toward the concrete divider, and I'm supposed to pause and say to myself:

"Gosh. Isn't all this white pretty? Should I survive the crash, I think I'll build a snowman."

Or maybe:

"Well, so maybe the guy next door did have a heart attack from shoveling his walk, but at least he got a chance to hear the snow crunch beneath his boots before he keeled over."

"You're looking at it all wrong," they say. "Think about all the wonderful winter sports."

They want winter sports? I'll give them winter sports:

Let's try Olympic windshield cleaning. The object is to scrape ice off the windshield, while simultaneously getting as much as possible down the sleeve of your coat.

Not exciting enough, you say? How about international trash-bag hauling. Here you drag an ice-encrusted garbage bag down a driveway while melted snow pours over the top of your boots. Extra points are awarded for such things as tearing the bag wide open on a dead branch and falling face-first into a two-foot puddle of slush.

If you're into more cerebral games, why not try "Divining for Babysitters, Sudden-Death Rules." This is when the school declares a snow day at 7:59 a.m., and you have to be at work at 8:15 a.m.

Thank God I have one ally against snow. My dear Dad is the one person who makes me look like Grizzly Adams. I just talk about the weather; my father really swears at it. He's my idol.

My son, on the other hand... "I wish you'd stop complaining about the snow," my wife complains. "Your son likes it, and your complaining gets him upset."

Well, why shouldn't the kid like it? Enough of it and he stays home from school. He doesn't shovel it. He doesn't drive in it. Even if he slips on it, he doesn't fall far. Besides, his nose runs all the time anyway, whether it's freezing out or not. What does he care?

To all my "friends" who keep trying to help me mend my evil ways, I offer a deal:

Shovel my walk, take out my garbage, and start my car. Then, bundle me up warm and cozy and drive me to a distant ski resort. Once there, carry me inside and set me up with brandy, a roaring fire and assorted snow bunnies.

Then, leave. At that point, I might consider changing my mind. Until then: "Frosty the Snowman is a fink."

Birthday photos concern PTA council

The board of managers of the Union County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations has directed me to voice our concern about the new section you have incorporated in your newspaper.

We are referring to the section that enables parents to submit their children's pictures to the Mountainside Echo regarding their birthdays. The concern is that too much information is being given out, such as the names of relatives, addresses, etc., and that it may influence abductions or advancements.

We have been preaching safety to the children and warning them not to give out their name or address to strangers. In your section, all the information is being given out to the general public. Since our primary concern is for the welfare and safety of the children in our care, we felt it was appropriate that we inform you of our concern.

Washington Report

Congress faces many challenges

By MATTHEW RINALDO

Congress will have a full agenda in 1990, starting with President Bush's proposed spending plans to reduce military outlays and to bring down the deficit.

Just how the expected first-year "peace dividend," estimated at $10 billion, will be applied will be largely determined by the Democratic majority in the House and Senate.

Among the priorities are:

- Budget reduction. With a $2.7 trillion national debt, cutting spending is essential. In a few years, the U.S. taxpayers will be paying more on interest on the national debt, which reached $170 billion last year, than they will spend on defense. Applying the "peace dividend" to reducing the deficit is inescapable. The budget deficit for fiscal 1989 was $152 billion.

- Elimination of waste. The General Accounting Office claims that as much as $150 billion in taxpayer money is likely to be wasted because of antiquated accounting systems, lackadaisical management and unfulfilled commitments to tighten the purse strings. The multi-billion-dollar scandals involving the savings-and-loan industry and the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) demonstrate the extraordinary misuse of taxpayers' money. The heat will be on Congress to reform these programs and to eradicate wasteful spending.

- Taxes. President Bush has given no hint of repudiating his no-new-taxes pledge. The White House is likely to ask Congress to enact a family savings plan that would exempt as much as $5,000 for a couple if it is held in a savings account for at least 10 years. The need to spur increased savings by moderate income families is seen as crucial to future economic growth.

- Drugs. With the crime rate still too high, and more murders and violence than ever before in our history, the anti-drug program initiated last year by Congress must be fully funded. U.S. defense forces must intervene more frequently to interdict the drug network. Legislation I am introducing will make it harder to launder billions of dollars in drug profits. Furthermore, the U.S. military is reviewing the status of 18 military bases in the Northeast to open them up to hold more prisoners.

- Clean air. As a sponsor of acid rain legislation, I am working actively for the strongest possible bill. This will be the single biggest step forward in reducing air pollution since enactment of the Clean Air Act in 1970.

- Health care. A bill that I offered in the last session of Congress for federal standards and guarantees for private insurance for low-cost home health and nursing home care is expected to gain momentum this year. Congress will also examine serious problems in health care and the fact that 35 million Americans have no health insurance.

- Trade. With the U.S. trade deficit expected to rise to $115 billion in 1990, the strain in U.S.-Japanese trade relations will worsen; Japan's share of the trade deficit has increased from one-third to one-half in only a few years. With a slowdown of the U.S. economy, pressure will increase for Japan to let down its barriers to U.S. goods and services. The same will hold true for South Korea and Taiwan.

- Social Security. It is solidly in the black. But one fundamental change is needed. I am sponsoring legislation to allow persons 65 and older to work without losing any of their Social Security benefits. With a labor shortage, their skills and experience are needed in the work force. The Social Security Trust Fund should be taken off the federal budget, so that its surplus funds are not counted against the deficit.

Your Social Security

Certain benefits subject to taxes

By JOHN H. McCUTCHEON

If you're a Social Security beneficiary, you should receive a Social Security Benefit Statement, Form SSA-1099, in the mail sometime this month. The form shows the amount of Social Security benefits you received or repaid in 1989.

You should use the form to help you figure whether any of your Social Security benefits are subject to federal income tax.

Most Social Security beneficiaries do not have to pay any federal income tax on their Social Security benefits.

If your Social Security check is your largest source of income, you probably won't owe any tax on your benefits. But if you have substantial income in addition to your Social Security benefits, up to half of your annuity Social Security benefits may be subject to federal income tax.

Your Social Security benefits may be taxable if your taxable income, plus your non-taxable interest, plus half of your Social Security benefits, exceed a base amount. The base amounts are $25,000 if you are a single; $2,000 if you are married and file a joint return; or $0 if you are married, live with your spouse at any time during the year, and file separate returns.

Included with your benefit statement will be an Internal Revenue Service Notice 703. This notice includes a worksheet you can use to get an idea if any of your benefits may be taxable. If you are married, and you and your spouse will file a joint return, be-sure to combine your incomes and your Social Security benefits when you fill out the worksheets.

Social Security taxes will be taking a 7.65 percent bite out of employees' paychecks in 1990, up from the 1989 rate of 7.51 percent. Also, employees will pay a 7.65 percent for their employers in 1990.

The maximum amount of earnings subject to Social Security taxes will be $51,300 this year, an increase from 1989's $48,000 earnings cap.

Self-employed people pay both the employer and the employee shares of the tax for a 15.3 percent bill. However, a change in the federal tax laws for 1990 allows the self-employed to claim a business deduction on one-half of the self-employment taxes paid.

Most of the taxes Social Security will receive this year will be used to pay for current benefits. The remainder will be invested in Treasury bills at prevailing interest rates to fund future Social Security benefits. About one percent will go for administrative expenses.

Questions about the Social Security worksheets or the self-employment tax deduction may be directed to the toll-free Internal Revenue Service phone number, 1-800-424-1040. Social Security questions can also be answered by calling 1-800-234-5772.

The Elizabeth Social Security office is located at 24-52 Rahway Ave.

Social Services Department keeps lobbying for new quarters

By SHARON CATES
Employees of the Union County Department of Social Services have been frustrated once again in their efforts at getting the county Board of Freeholders to find a better facility to house the department.

For approximately a year and a half, the employees have been seeking to move out of an old, deteriorating building which one freeholder has compared to a "war zone."

Last month, employees of the department were informed that a decision regarding a move to another building was almost complete. County Manager Joseph A. Martin said, during the Jan. 25 freeholders' meeting, that two alternative sites had been visited by freeholders, and also that he believed the situation would come to a close within two weeks.

But, subsequently, little progress was made. Although Martin submitted a report to the freeholders, board members stated that the report did not make any recommendations regarding where the department should be moved or regarding cost factors.

In addition, although the report had been dated Feb. 2, Freeholder Joseph Suliga complained that the board members received the report only hours before the Feb. 8 meeting and thus had been given insufficient time to review it.

Martin, however, stated that the report did, in fact, offer a recommendation.

"To me," Martin said, "the report was very clear. Anyone who thought it did not offer a recommendation must have read the report too quickly."

The Department of Social Services has been located in its present facility at 80 Broad St., Elizabeth, for approximately 10 years.

The building has unbearable work conditions, according to Joan Hartsfield, president of Communications Workers of America Local 1080, the union representing the Social Services Department.

"Another ceiling fell down two weeks ago," Hartsfield stated. "As conditions worsen, people are increasingly at risk."

During past meetings, Hartsfield urged members of the freeholder board to tour the facility so that they could see the condition of the building first-hand.

Freeholder Walter McLeod recently visited the grounds and later stated that the building was a "war zone."

"There is no reason why people should have to work under those conditions," McLeod said. "The board is doing everything it legally can. It will be moved upon as soon as possible."

Freeholder Chairman Gerald Green, however, said that the board could not make a decision regarding a possible move during the Feb. 8 meeting. Green explained that the freeholders had just received Martin's report and that it was the first chance the board, as a whole, would be able to discuss it.

Hartsfield questioned Martin's report and criticized what she saw as apathy by the board.

"We have been promised a lot of things over the past year and a half, and each time we hear that the matter is still being looked at," Hartsfield said.

Green insisted that the problem is being worked on. "We are going to do whatever we can to resolve this issue as fast as we possibly can," Green said.

Unfortunately, according to Freeholder Vice Chairman James Connolly Welsh, Martin's report fell short of the board's expectations.

"There is no recommendation in this report," Welsh stated to Hartsfield. "However, I think you can pretty much rest assured that it will be resolved as quick as humanly possible."

Martin, who recently returned from vacation and was absent from the Feb. 8 meeting, said he was concerned with how the issue had been addressed.

"I was extremely disappointed that the freeholders had discussed an issue that is presently under negotiation in the public forum," Martin stated. "This process has been going on for a very long time and I, too, would like to get results as soon as possible."

Teen Caravan info session set

GED examination preparatory course set

Union County College this semester will offer a preparatory course for those intending to take the General Education Development (GED) examination to receive a high school diploma.

It will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Mondays, Feb. 26 through April 30, at the college's Plainfield Center. The course will be offered by the college's Department of Continuing Education.

Those interested in further information may call 709-7601.

Author to discuss development of college

In recognition of National Community College Month, historian Donald Raichle of Springfield will be guest speaker at a special meeting of the Union County College Alumni Association on Tuesday, Feb. 27, at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will be held in Dining Room No. 2 in the Nomahegan Building on the Cranford campus.

Raichle is the author of "New Jersey's Union College," which he will discuss, tracing the development of the college from its beginnings.

Guide for car fatality probes unveiled

By SHARON CATES

A guide specifying procedures Union County law enforcement officials should use at the scenes of fatal accidents was unveiled at a press conference in Elizabeth last Thursday.

The policy booklet was compiled by Fanwood Police Chief Anthony Parenti, a recognized expert in automobile fatality investigations, according to Robert O'Leary, public information officer for the county Prosecutor's Office.

"This is a complete, comprehensive guide that outlines what should be done at the scene of a fatal accident," O'Leary said. "The policy standardizes how a police officer should collect and preserve evidence which may be needed by the Prosecutor's Office at a later date."

"This is the first standardized countywide policy," O'Leary added. "It should help prevent evidence from being lost or from not being preserved properly."

Parenti, president of the New Jersey Police Chiefs Association and the New Jersey Traffic Officers Association, had approached officials at the state level to see if they would complete a manual, O'Leary said. The state officials told Parenti that they were unable to undertake the project, however, and Parenti then approached the Prosecutor's Office with the idea, according to O'Leary.

O'Leary said that Parenti cited the increasing number of accident fatalities as justification for the manual. "The number is large enough and the problem is severe enough for Parenti to be concerned," O'Leary said.

Rahway Police Lieut. Dennis O'Day, a recognized accident reconstruction expert; Clark Police Officer Timothy E. George, president of the Union County Traffic Officers Association; and Assistant Prosecutor David J. Hancock, supervisor of the Prosecutor's Office's unit which handles death-by-auto prosecutions, helped Parenti compile the manual.

O'Leary noted that the manual has been distributed to the chiefs of police in every municipality in the county.

FORBIDDEN FORTUNE

$30,000.00 PER MONTH EVERY MONTH!

I challenge you to join me in a totally "UNIQUE" Money-Making venture that could change your life forever, and show you how to begin earning $30,000.00 per month, every month. I GUARANTEE IT! (See The $25.00 Challenge) I have laid out this plan in great detail in a step by step manual that even a child could follow. I know a 67 year old woman in Florida who purchased my manual and last month she made over $32,000.00. You could be next! Last month I made $33,253.75 just by working 12 hours per week. This month I expect to earn over $35,000.00 and take a 3 week vacation in Hawaii. This program has never been offered before and I will not offer it again. You cannot afford to pass up this opportunity. This revolutionary money-making method is in demand everywhere, yet few people even know it exists. ## Dayton wrestlers lose title to Chiefs, 36-25

By MARK YABLONSKY

Unfortunately, the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 championship that the Dayton High wrestling team had been seeking wasn't to be. Even though the 'Dawgs managed to defeat Rahway, 31-26, in the sectional semifinal last Wednesday, it was tough luck in Caldwell the following night, where the Chiefs emerged with a 36-25 win.

The Bulldogs, seeded third in the section, finished the dual-meet season at 12-2 in what was statistically their second-best year ever, next to last year's 13-2 mark — in which the 'Dawgs did not make the sectional playoff field. Prior to that, the best season in Iacono's 16-year tenure had been the 11-2 season of 1978-79, at which time no state sectional wrestling playoff system was in place.

Still, as head coach Rick Iacono pointed out, beating Rahway, last year's sectional champion, is no small feat. Here's what happened.

Right off the bat, 103-pounder Dante Puorro got the 'Dawgs off to a quick 6-0 advantage by pinning Scott Rayack in 1:40, a win that was to be the first of five straight for the 'Dawgs. Following Chris Moreno's 16-4 win over Scott Goodstein at 130 pounds, Dayton held what seemed to be a comfortable 22-0 lead. In between, Jason Yee, Kevin Delaney and Peter Carpenter won their matches, with Delaney taking the 119-pound bout by way of a 15-0 technical fall over Adam Wicks.

Rahway, however, rebounded to win six of the next seven matches to emerge with a 26-25 advantage with just one match to go — the heavy-weight bout between Scott Adderty and Daryl Fun-bell. And Adderty, with the spotlight and accompanying pressure clearly on him, pinned his opponent in 3:35 to send Dayton into

"We beat the defending section champ from last year, and we wrestled well on Wednesday night. We just fell short."

Rick Iacono

the final the following evening with Caldwell.

Credit must also go to Mike Masi, whose 9-2 win over Steve Reyes at 145 pounds represented the only Dayton points during Rahway's 26-3 spurt that nearly stole the match. Had Masi not won, Adderty's dramatic pin would have meant nothing.

Caldwell, the top seed, later lost to Delaware Valley in the Group 2 tournament on Saturday, before defeating Garfield in the consolation round. But the Chiefs won the sectional crown by winning four straight bouts in the crucial middle matches to break a 16-12 Dayton advantage, seizing a 33-16 lead just three matches from the end.

Yee gave Dayton its first lead of the evening by pinning Chris Hricko at the 5:52 mark of the 112-pound match, thus erasing Caldwell's 3-0 advantage that came about when Puorro lost, 7-4, to Blake Maffei. Kevin Delaney was pinned by Nick Fiore, and at 125 pounds, Carpenter suffered a heartbreaking 7-5 loss to Bob Fiore when the latter pulled off a two-point reverse just 13 seconds from the final buzzer.

But when Chris Moreno pinned Troy Cshoettlin at 1:02 of the 130-pound bout, it was a 12-12 tie. John Maxemchuk, who had been pinned the night before by Rick Riveria of Rahway, rebounded for a convincing 9-1 decision over Caldwell's Pete Dixon to give the 'Dawgs their short-lived four-point lead. Following that, Dayton didn't get any more points until Mike Montanari decisively beat Bob Kadrijevic, 7-5, in the 171-pound bout.

Unfortunately, Kadrijevic was the one who clinched the win for Caldwell, since Dayton could only have won by coming up with three pins — and the necessary 18 points with them. Following a defeat at 189 pounds, Scott Adderty pinned Paul Acquaro in 2:58 to forge the final 36-25 score.

Moreno, by the way, currently owns the team's best record at 22-1, having lost only to Glen Kurz of Westfield, 7-4, in the 130-pound title match at last week's Union County Tournament. And Adderty is now 18-2-1 with seven pins, his only two defeats coming at the hands of Millburn's Brian Steiner and Chris Ingrassia of Watchung Hills. The tie was by a 6-6 score against Ed Schon of Ridge.

Both Moreno and Adderty, among others, must certainly rate as favorites to do well enough in the District 10 tournament this weekend in Millburn to move on to Region 3 competition, beginning on Wednesday in Union. The top three wrestlers in each weight class will qualify for the regionals.

Unfortunately, senior Dan Murphy will not get that chance. The hard-working 152-pounder sustained a somewhat freakish knee injury just before his bout in the Caldwell match, and that will render him unable to wrestle any more this season. His absence also hurt Dayton's chances of defeating the Chiefs.

"We beat the defending section champ from last year," Iacono said, "and we wrestled well on Wednesday night. We just fell short."

Williams scores 49, as Bears take a split

By MARK YABLONSKY

Having already exceeded the 1,000-point plateau, Sterling Williams just keeps on rolling. In two more games this past week, the 6-1 senior swingman netted 49 points, as the Brearley Regional boy's basketball team settled for a 1-1 split.

With his team at 15-9 overall, Williams got 18 points during Brearley's 60-32 defeat to Linden in a first-round Union County Tournament game last Wednesday night in Clark, and then he netted 31 more to help the Bears defeat Arthur L. Johnson, 59-51, two nights later in Kenilworth.

Those latest feats now give Williams a total of 419 points for the year in all 24 of Brearley's games, good for a team-leading scoring average of 17.5. As of now, Williams, who has 1,083 points, is 122 behind the school's all-time leading scorer, Joan Harris, who left the Brearley girl's basketball program with a total of 1,205 points.

Linden, which faced Roselle in last night's UCT semifinal round, ended up winning by a commanding 28-point margin, but the game did not get out of hand until the second half. After a back-and-forth opening quarter, Williams hit the last shot of the period to give the Bears a 13-12 lead heading into the second stanza.

Once Sheldon Champagne snapped a 19-19 tie with a layup roughly halfway into the second period, though, the Tigers never trailed again. In the third quarter, Tariq Saunders netted six of Linden's 11 points as the Tigers grabbed a 42-27 lead heading into the last quarter.

Wally Dixon, an exciting, talented sophomore, led Linden with 17 points, while Champagne added 12. Williams netted only three points in the second half, and the Bears could score just seven overall, with John Anglim and Keith LeBlonde each scoring two points.

Against Johnson, Williams tallied 12 of his 31 points in the opening quarter when the Bears jumped in front by an 18-4 margin. Williams scored the first four points of the game, and ended up with six field goals in the period. Eleven of his points came in the second half, including nine in the fourth quarter.

The Bears, who qualified for the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 playoffs as the No. 8 seed, will face ninth-seeded Roselle Park at home this Monday in the second game of a doubleheader, beginning at about 8 p.m. In the opener at 6:30, the girl's squad, also seeded eighth in sectional play, will face ninth-seeded Mountain Lakes for the right to advance to meet top-seeded New Providence this Wednesday, Feb. 28, in New Providence.

Should the boy's team emerge victorious against Park, Essex County Vocational Tech. of Newark, the section's No. 1 seed, will be waiting, also on Feb. 28.

Call in your high school sports scores each Monday to 686-7700.

Bowlers busy

Beryl Roman's Dayton bowlers, currently in fourth place in the Mountain Valley Conference with a 31-25 record and a net total of 16,826 pins, will be quite busy this coming week.

This Saturday at 3:15 p.m., the Bulldogs will take part in the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 Tournament at Bell & Clair Lanes in Montclair. Then on Monday, Dayton will compete in the county tournament, slated to begin at 3:15 p.m. at Echo Bowling Lanes in Mountainside.

Senior Mike De Christoforo owns a team-leading average of 172, with 217 being his highest score. Junior Lori Gluck has an average of 143, and sophomore Joe Maresca averages a 136.

BU offers Maksimow a scholarship

By MARK YABLONSKY
When a guy goes 6-foot-4, 245 pounds, and is considered to be of blue chip quality on the football field, you would assume that he'll end up attending a big-time Division 1 football program with an intent of looking toward a pro career upon graduation. But in the case of Union's Andre Maksimow, you have a blue-chipper not only on the field, but off of it, too. Maksimow, twice an All-County Leader Football selection, also owns a grade-point average of close to 3.9 — which at this point, ranks him 15th in his senior class. And all of that ability should pay big dividends for Boston University, the school Maksimow will be attending for the next few years, upon graduation from Union High this spring.

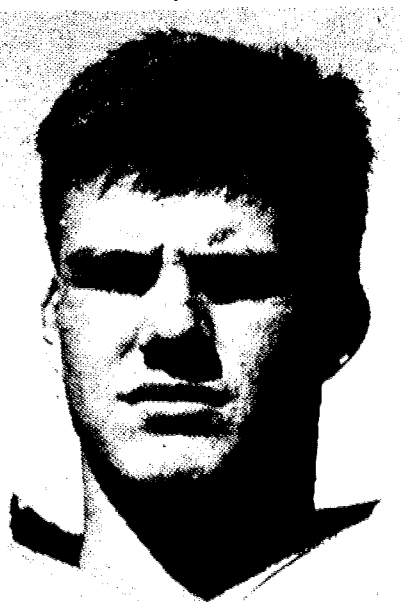

The standout two-way lineman, who will concentrate strictly on offense for BU — most likely at offensive guard — officially signed his letter of intent last Wednesday, Feb. 14, with the Massachusetts school. He will receive a full football scholarship.

Maksimow cited the academic opportunities at BU, head coach Dan Allen, and the city of Boston itself — considered as one of the best "college towns" in America — as his main reasons for picking the school. Other possibilities included West Point, and the Universities of Delaware and Connecticut.

While remaining along the Eastern Seaboard seems to have been among his selection criteria, Maksimow said it "wasn't too much of a factor, but I ended up going that way." "I do think this," explained Union athletic director and head football coach Lou Rettino. "I think all the schools he had it down to were all academically-sound schools, and that was his prime consideration. He's not one of those guys who was looking to make football a lifelong career. He's one of the ones that are also very academically blessed, and he knows what he wants."

"And I'm just happy for him so long as he's happy," Rettino added. Maksimow, who will concentrate on the discus and shot put this spring for the Union High boy's track team, says he will concentrate on "primarily business" as a major at BU, "with maybe something in law, too."

Local matmen set for start of districts

By MARK YABLONSKY
Now that the state sectionals and group finals are over, high school wrestling will move into its most challenging phase of the winter season when district competition gets underway at 32 different sites statewide tomorrow night.

Within the County Leader coverage area, Dayton Regional of Springfield, Roselle Park and Union will join schools such as Millburn, Columbia of South Orange/Maplewood, Seton Hall Prep, Hillside, East Side of Newark and Vailsburg at the District 10 tournament at 7 p.m. in Millburn. Brearley, Linden and Roselle Catholic will travel to Cranford for the District 11 tournament. Everything will conclude the following day.

Each district is arranged "geographically, not by group size," explained Ernest Finizio of Roselle Park, who chairs the state wrestling committee.

Individually, the top three wrestlers in each weight class from each district will advance into regional competition, which is slated to begin at eight different sites, starting this coming Wednesday, Feb. 28, and concluding three days later on March 3. From there, the top three qualifiers in each weight class will move on to the overall state championships in Princeton. Both Districts 10 and 11 will send their qualifiers into Region 3 competition, set to take place at Union High School.

Because of an NCAA squash tournament, this year's state championships will begin one week late, on Wed., March 14, before concluding with the finals on March 17.

IN POSITION — Brearley's John Anglim eyes the basket as he launches a shot during last Friday's game with Arthur L. Johnson of Clark. Anglim had six points as the Bears won, 59-51, to improve their record to 15-9. Brearley will play host to Roselle Park this Monday night at 8 p.m. in the opening round of state sectional post-season play.

Card show set

St. Thomas the Apostle Holy Name Society will sponsor a Baseball Card and Sports Collectibles Show this Saturday, Feb. 24, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at St. Thomas Parish Hall on St. Georges Avenue in Rahway. Further information is available by calling 381-3615 or 753-3936.

Spring run on schedule

The 12th annual Millburn Spring Run will once again kick off the spring running season on Sunday, March 18. The event will begin at 9:30 a.m. with the children's mile and half-mile races at Crest Drive in South Mountain Reservation.

These races will be followed by a two-mile run at 10 a.m., and ten-kilometer (6.2 miles) run at 10:30. Age group awards will be given in the children's races and the ten-kilometer run.

Further information is available by calling Dean Shonts of the Sneaker Factory in Millburn at 376-0231.

Supers sought

The Springfield Recreation Department is seeking supervisors for its youth girl's softball league this spring. Those who are interested in applying must be at least 20 years of age with baseball or softball experience.

Supervisors will be responsible for organizing coaches, rosters, schedules and umpires. Further information is available by calling recreation director Brian McNany at 912-2226.

Oak Ridge Boys real disc-delight

By MILT HAMMER

Coming across the desk this week is a real disc-delight by The Oak Ridge Boys — "American Dreams," their 19th MCA LP album.

Duane Allen, Richard Sterban, Joe Bonsall and Steve Sanders are stretching out once more. They apply their Grammy-winning sound of four distinctly individual voices blending into an equally distinct harmony sound to any musical style that a good song demands. At the same time, they have recorded an album that they feel speaks strongly as one voice not only for themselves but for the great majority of American people, with an undercurrent theme of wholesome American family values. "We are more optimistic about this album than any we've done in a long time," Richard said. "I think one of the reasons for that is because of the material. We're getting down to the kind of material that expresses how we feel about things in life."

"I always hate to say this is the best album we've ever done," Joe said, "but I feel in my gut that it really is. I feel like we sang really well, the material was chosen with a lot of care, we're doing great songs, we're still having fun, and we're saying something, too."

The lyrical messages on "American Dream," with one tongue-in-cheek exception, all center around the idea of the album title. The inspiration for the album comes partly from one of the songs, "An American Family," and partly from the Oaks' relationship with President George Bush.

Although they sang the national anthem at Bush's nomination and were guests at his inauguration, the album, and the liner notes referring to Bush's inspiration are, according to Sterban, an endorsement of Bush's friendship rather than his political party. That friendship goes back to 1983, when the Oaks first sang at the Congressional picnic at the White House. "I think that's when we realized we all had a friend in George Bush," Richard recalled. "He could not attend that night. He had to fly to China, but he came to our sound check in the afternoon. He came up onstage and started requesting songs, and we realized that he knew most of our repertoire. That's when it dawned on us that he was a fan of ours. He gave us vice presidential T-shirts. It's funny. Since then we did a talk show where David Brinkley also was a guest. Brinkley prides himself on knowing everything about the president and vice president, socially as well as politically and every other way. He had to admit after our interview that he thought he knew everything about Washington, but he did not know there was such a thing as a vice presidential T-shirt."

disc 'n' data

The friendship was enhanced at Bush's inauguration in January of 1989. As Joe explained, "There's no doubt about the fact that we were moved very much, sitting at the inauguration of George Bush and listening to the president of the United States, a friend of ours, talking about the 1990s approaching and hopefully a new focus on the American family and good ideals and good principles. We had the song 'American Family' for six or seven years. I guess we felt after coming home from Washington that we should have several songs on the album that hit middle America with a good message, and 'American Family' is what we based it on. It was time to do that song. People are ready to hear that now."

The song was still in the Oaks' songbag because of their constant search for good songs. Before every album, they rent a Nashville hotel suite for several days and invite publishers to pitch them material. In addition, Duane is on the lookout for songs year-round. "I have been highly focused on the material of our albums," he said. "I honestly feel like I've done a better job with each album as we go along. I get into each album more than the previous one."

"For this album, before I found a whole lot of new songs I went through the catalog of those songs that we had liked for our previous albums but didn't cut for some reason or another, and I made up a tape of 12 songs. Right toward the end of that tape I put 'An American Family' on. I think the next week I had another tape of 13 songs, so I actually fixed the other guys up with 25 songs, a combination of old and new songs. The first reactions were, 'Hey, man, I'm glad you put 'American Family' back on this tape.' Richard in particular really loved that song. It became the criteria song to which all the others had to compare."

Argones in concert

Maileen Argones of Union will be among 170 singers to combine their voices March 4 as The Pingry School's Men's Glee Club, Boys' Chorus and Women's Glee Club jointly present a performance of the "Requiem" by Maurice Durufle.

Argones, the daughter of Dr. Manuel and Dr. Linnie Argones, will be among several Union County residents to perform in the concert.

The concert, which also will include separate performances by each group of other choral works, will be performed in the sanctuary of the Central Presbyterian Church, Maple and Broad streets, Summit, beginning at 4 p.m.

In their presentation of Durufle's orchestral version of the "Requiem," the singers will be accompanied by strings, harp, brass and organ. The concert is open to the public and is free of charge.

Further information regarding the concert can be obtained by calling The Pingry School music department at 647-5555, Ext. 314.

'Drums of Passion' due

Babatunde Olatunji, who for more than 30 years has been the virtuoso of West African "Drums of Passion" in America, will appear Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Wilkins Theater at Kean College of New Jersey, Union. Admission is free of charge.

It is a return engagement at Kean College. He appeared there in the early 1960s. A Nigerian, Olatunji is accompanied by musicians and dancers.

His 1959 "Drums of Passion" Columbia recording sold more than 5 million copies. Recent releases on

Rykodisc are "Drums of Passion: The Beat," and "Drums of Passion: The Invocation."

He has written musical compositions including the scores for the play and movie, "Raisin in the Sun." He also assisted with the score for Spike Lee's "She's Gotta Have It," a movie. He is co-author of a book on African musical instruments.

He founded the Olatunji Center of African Culture in Harlem 30 years ago and presided recently in Washington, D.C., at the opening of a center there.

ENTERTAINMENT

WILLIAM CHAISON DANCE THEATER — A multi-ethnic modern dance company will perform tomorrow and Saturday at Wilkins Theater, Kean College of New Jersey, Union. Above are seven members of the 12-member group.

Chaison dance unit to perform at Kean

The William Chaison Dance Theater, a multi-ethnic modern dance company, will perform tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Wilkins Theater, Kean College of New Jersey, Union. The 12-member company will perform works choreographed by Patricia Carter, Ronald Wright, Lazette Rayford, and William Chaison, company founder.

Carter, artistic director and principal dancer, choreographed "First Circle" to the music of Syro Gyra and Pat Metheny. This piece, performed by the entire company, is "dedicated to William Chaison, who founded the company in 1988, a year before his death."

Featuring Carter, Wright, Stacey Sofman, and Dawud Jackson, "First Circle" brings together four dancers who began their studies under Chaison, went on to professional careers, and now have returned to his company. Carter said, "The piece reflects the transitions we have made since Bill was here to how we are now that his spirit is here."

"In the Pursuit of Love," choreographed by Wright, the principal dancer, to the music of Nancy Wilson, features Carter, Cindy Nicholson, and Rayford. It portrays three women's search for love and the bond that develops between them.

"Dream," choreographed by Chaison, is a tribute work reflecting the struggle of Martin Luther King Jr. and the civil rights movement. Ronald Wright dances the part of King.

"Moldau," which premiered in 1988, is a ballet farce choreographed by Chaison to the music of Schmetzoff's "Meeting at the Moldau."

The solo work, "Dual Roles," choreographed by Wright to the music of Tim, is a personal exploration of decision-making in search of an identity. Additional modern pieces include Rayford, "The Change of Season," and Carter's "Social Distance" about the plight of the homeless.

Tickets are available for purchase at Wilkins Theater box office.

'Nine' auditions scheduled today

The New Jersey Public Theater, NJPT, will hold open auditions for the musical "Nine," tonight at 7:30 at 1052-A Plainfield Ave., Berkeley Heights, on the grounds of John E. Runnells Hospital, where the auditions will be held.

"Nine," with book by Arthur Kopit, music and lyrics by Maury Yeston, and adaptation from the Italian by Mario Fratti, is based on Fellini's "8½," which won the 1982 Tony Award for Best Musical. It will be directed by Donald Sheffrin.

Show dates are in April and May.

For further information one can call the theater at 322-3808.

Benefit concert set by Union Symphony

The Union Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Edward A. Klisuz, will present its winter benefit concert March 2 at 8 p.m. in Union High School, North Third Street.

The orchestra will perform the Dvorak "Carnival Overture," Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," with Elizabeth Insalaco, piano soloist, and selections from "The Desert Song" by Rombertg, with Madeline Pauli, soprano soloist. Performing the Poulenc "Gloria" with the orchestra will be members of the three premiere choral groups, the New Jersey Scola Cantorum and the William Center Choral, both directed by Louis Hooker, and the Garden State Choral, directed by Tracy Murray.

Dr. James M. Caulfield, superintendent of the Union schools, will be honored at the concert "for his many years of support of the fine and performing arts" in Union Township with an award presented by Robert J. Pauli, orchestra president.

The concert also will feature Union Township music teachers including piano soloist, Elizabeth Insalaco; trumpeters, Jack Trago and Ron Rago; flutist and alto saxophonist, Louis Quagliato; violinist, Dr. Gerard Matte; tuba player, Gerald Yoselevich; violinist, Terri Kiselberger, and vocalists, Tracy Murray, Yvonne Rago, Nanci Schoenberger, Donna Bilella and Kazmera Schenk.

Admission is free, it was announced, and "donations will be gratefully accepted."

It also was announced that tickets are required and can be obtained without charge at the door or from the United Jersey Bank, Union; Union Center National Bank, National Westminster Bank, Stan Sommer's, City Federal Savings and Loan, Stuyvesant Avenue, Union; the Union Township Library, Friberger Park, and Altenburgh Piano House, Elizabeth.

For more information one can call 688-6887 or 851-6583.

Bronze Stars youngster pageant

Contestants are being accepted for the 1990 Little Bronze Stars Pageant, it was announced. The competition, which is being held in conjunction with Black History Month, is open to children between the ages of 6 months and 5 years old, who are of African descent or heritage. Those selected to be in the final competition will compete in their respective age categories and will be judged in the areas of charm and personality.

Prizes for winners in each age group will include a $500 savings bond and a modeling contract. There will be prizes for runners-up, and all contestants will be awarded trophies and certificates of participation.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 289-5072. The competition is sponsored by the Northern Tarheels.

horoscope

For week of Feb. 25-March 3

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Important decisions made this week will be in your favor, particularly concerning matters of travel or education. Your overly perky attitude at work may grate on others' nerves.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A long-overdue bill will really haunt you this week, so be sure to take care of it to appease creditors. Those who owe personal debts should also look into methods of payment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Teaming up with others this week will bring you additional responsibilities. However, you will handle these quite well and all will go smoothly.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) The routineness of your job may get to you this week, so look for ways in which you can utilize your creativity. Someone close to you may require your understanding.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Those of you who have children may be tempted to roar at them this week in typical leonine fashion. However, try to use some psychology when dealing with them. Romance is favored this weekend.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Problems of an intimate, delicate nature may arise with your mate this week, so take time to straighten this out. Both of you be sure to listen to what the other is saying.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Once again, you will find yourself sitting on the fence, unable to make a decision. As a result, others may have to take hold of the reins for you. Don't let this annoy you. You need it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It's time to look around your house and restock those empty shelves. You've been somewhat neglectful of domestic duties and need to get things in order. Unexpected company just could descend upon you this weekend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Some deep thinking will lead to some very intuitive insights regarding yourself and your actions, as well as those around you. As a result, your dealings with others will be more harmonious.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) This is your week to be a good samaritan. You may look into community projects, or perhaps will be asked for help by someone close to you. Don't be afraid to get involved.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) You may find yourself feeling very unappreciated this week as it seems others have not been noticing your hard work. Don't let this get to you. Rewards are around the corner.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) This will be a crucial week for you concerning a decision about the direction of your career. By all means, do seek out the advice of others who can help you.

Organ highlights concert

The Cathedral Symphony Orchestra will feature p.m. the newly restored Schantz organ in the setting of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, Newark, Sunday at 3 p.m.

With more than 8,700 pipes, the organ "is capable of producing an astonishing range of sound, making it one of the best organs in the country."

The organ will be highlighted as a concert instrument with the "Symphonie Concertante" of Joseph Jongen, a virtuoso work for organ and orchestra. This work will feature the Cathedral Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Music Director Keith Clark with organ soloist Frederick Hohman.

Also on the program will be Berlioz's "Te Deum" for orchestra, organ, children's choir, and double choir of more than 100 voices, with David Fedor at the organ. Rounding out the program will be the world premiere of a commissioned work for organ solo by Robert Hebble performed by David Messineo.

The series of concerts is made possible in part by grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities and the New Jersey State Council for the Arts/Department of State.

REAL ESTATE

Do it yourself? Not in selling your real estate

Re/Max Properties, which has 40 offices throughout New Jersey, including local agencies in Avenel and Woodbridge, furnishes the following advice:

FSBO. Sounds like a new bull terrier from Wales. But, of course, it's not. FSBO translates into For Sale By Owner, the real estate vernacular for the non-professional marketing of his or her own home. Just like having a non-plumber installing a bathroom. Only worse.

Full-time real estate sales professionals cringe at the mention of FSBO, being fully aware of the pitfalls and catastrophes awaiting the novice seller. And it is equally hazardous to the potential buyer.

First, from the seller's perspective: he must be available seven days a week to show the property. That is, day and evening.

Second, he is opening his home to complete strangers whose motives may be suspect. Besides possibly being of questionable intentions, the "buyer" may not be financially qualified.

Even with a qualified buyer, more than a motivated seller is needed to bring a transaction to settlement. Buyers also need extensive hand-holding through contracts, inspections, etc., which the typical seller is not prepared to provide.

From where the buyer is standing, a FSBO can mean unnecessary heartache. Buyers, even those real estate-educated, can purchase a home priced too high for the actual market. Only an objective professional can pinpoint the fair market value of a property.

So if there are so many negatives, why do FSBOs still exist?

Commissions. A seller may erroneously believe he can save the 6 or so percent by handling his own transaction, and the buyer may feel he can offer less. Neither takes into account the lost work time, family disturbance and general inconvenience.

It is a problem all around.

Sunday Morning HOME SHOW
Sundays 11:30a.m.

DON'T LET YOUR DREAM HOUSE SLIP THROUGH YOUR FINGERS, GET YOUR HANDS ON THE MORTGAGE LOAN FIRST!

Sounds backwards to some, but at Schlott, we find you the mortgage loan first, then we find you the home of your dreams. That way you know how much house you can afford before you start househunting.

We do it through The Home Mortgage Network, a computerized loan organization system that has access to almost 3,000 mortgage plans.

Our Home Mortgage Network lets you know the mortgage amount and monthly payments you can afford in advance, then provides you with a Power Purchaser Card. As valuable as your most important credit card, the Power Purchaser Card lets you homesearch with the assurance that you have the money to make your dream house a reality.

The best part of all this is that you can find the mortgage and the home - in that order - in one Schlott office. So call today. We'll not only help you find the home of your dreams, we'll help you keep it in your grasp.

SISBARRO CONSTRUCTION CO., Union, prides itself on quality workmanship at competitive prices. The family-owned and operated company is currently in its third generation, and specializes in vinyl and aluminum siding and replacement windows.

Pride in quality workmanship puts Sisbarro above the rest

Sisbarro Construction Company of Union Township is one of the area's most competitive and unique industries in its field.

As a second-generation, family-owned and run business, Sisbarro has been established for nearly 40 years, dealing primarily in vinyl and aluminum siding, replacement windows and new roofs.

With years of experience in the industry, the owners of Sisbarro have become increasingly proud of its quality workmanship and friendly service.

"We treat our customers with professional yet friendly service," says Henry "Butch" Sisbarro, owner of the company. "We want our customers to feel like one of the family."

"We don't have to sell our products and services with pushy salesmen. I, personally, give the homeowner estimates and do all the work myself."

Through close contact with each and every customer, Sisbarro is able to give the homeowner a fair and reasonable price, guaranteeing quality material and workmanship. This approach, says the owner, has led to many referrals.

The company prides itself on quality materials. Sisbarro says new siding looks fresh, clean and beautiful. It never blisters, peels, swells or rots and it is maintenance-free.

"Besides adding beauty to your home, siding provides new insulation and increases the value of your home by thousands of dollars," he says.

Replacement windows also add new insulation, he says, as drafts from old, worn-out windows are eliminated with new and beautiful vinyl windows which are easy to open and clean.

At the present time, Sisbarro Construction is offering a free microwave or portable color television with every complete job. Sisbarro is also offering 100 percent financing and they are fully insured.

Another fine feature Sisbarro offers is repair work.

"Sometimes a homeowner needs repair to his house on siding that has become loose or has blown off; a little job to the company, but a big headache to a homeowner," he said. "We will repair at minimal cost and guarantee satisfaction."

Anyone who would like Sisbarro to visit their home for a free, no-obligation estimate on the cost of siding their home, replacement windows, a new roof or repairs can call the office at 686-9218.

Interested customers should ask for Anne Sisbarro, who will gladly arrange a convenient time for a consultation.

For all siding and window improvements, call Sisbarro Construction. They will make your home beautiful.

Video has nuptial tips

The traditional wedding is back, once again making the occasion a lavish production.

The only wedding video ever endorsed by the Association of Bridal Consultants, "Steps Down the Aisle," with accompanying complimentary Bridal Booklet, will help you plan the wedding of your dreams.

Designed to eliminate pre-wedding chaos by taking the viewer step-by-step through wedding planning, the video and booklet focus on weddings at all levels of formality that can take place at any time throughout the year.

Join hostess Debby Boone as she visits with bridal consultants, floral arrangers, jewelers and entertainers to learn the easiest and most enjoyable ways to plan a wedding.

Special features of the complementary bridal booklet are that it works along with the tape in all areas of the wedding planning, including a step-by-step checklist. On the back cover, a video directory gives the viewer easy reference to review sections on the tape.

To ensure the perfect wedding, order "Steps Down the Aisle" at the special introductory price of $39.95 (plus shipping and handling).

Contact Redwood Productions Inc., P.O. Box 113, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10101. Or call 1-800-872-3472, operator 22 or 1-201-833-4368 for all inquiries.

Wedding rings change with times

Without a doubt, the '80s changed the way we wed. And those trends are continuing into the '90s.

Weddings have become a personal statement about each couple, expressing their individuality.

Planning a perfect wedding begins with the engagement. Even the engagement ring has become a reflection of one's personal style.

No longer a simple solitaire, the traditional engagement ring is breaking all the rules and becoming as diverse as a Chinese menu.

Diamond engagement rings are still the popular choice of the majority of couples at the time of their engagement, but many are selecting other alternatives.

Prince Charles presented Lady Diana Spencer with a magnificent blue sapphire surrounded by diamonds. His younger brother, Prince Andrew, did likewise and gave Sarah Ferguson a ruby.

Few people know that up until the 19th century, the diamond engagement ring was almost non-existent. Other gems or three-part rings called a "gimmel" ring were given. One was worn by the future bride, the other by her fiancée, and the third by a witness. All three rings were reunited at the wedding ceremony to comprise the bride's ring.

However, in 1477, the Archduke Maximilian of Austria placed a diamond, set in gold, onto the third finger of his fiancée's left hand to mark their engagement, and it was the beginning of a tradition.

Jewelry designer Tina Segal for H. Steppenjay in New Hyde Park, N.Y., believes shopping for an engagement ring should be one of the most exciting purchases a couple will ever make. Therefore, the couple should do their homework before making their purchase.

Segal states, "Diamonds can be confusing. It is vital to understand what constitutes a quality diamond, in order to get the best value for your money.

"Learn and understand the four C's of diamonds — carat, color, clarity and cut. Have a budget in mind — two months' salary is the recommended guideline — and always shop at a reputable jeweler."

For H. Steppenjay, Segal has created a spectacular selection of engagement rings in 18-karat gold or platinum, ranging from the traditional to ultramodern.

Most settings, including a collection of flexible rings, are custom-made to engage any size or shape center stone and side stones, whether they be diamonds, rubies, sapphires or emeralds. A full line of coordinated wedding bands is also available.

Selecting a ring a woman will wear everyday for the rest of her life is not a simple decision to make. Choose wisely and make it a purchase to cherish for a lifetime... together.

Brides, grooms are more mature than predecessors

When it comes to her wedding, the contemporary bride often mixes traditional and modern concepts that influence not only the ceremony and her gown, but also the wider arena of marriage and her relationships.

Brides today are older than they once were, but that does not rule out a large, traditional ceremony and a long white gown. However, it is also chic to be married in a tailored suit.

The key to a successful wedding is deciding on one with which the bride and groom are comfortable. The new trend in weddings for the '90s must reflect the personality of the couple getting married.

The most important factor in '90s weddings is the freedom of expression to create your own unique ceremony and a reception that reflects your ideas.

Because today's bride is older, she often has an education and career experience behind her. Her tastes are more sophisticated and so are her expectations of her relationship with her spouse.

Not only does she value her marriage, but also the career that she has worked to obtain. Chances are she will strive to create a balance between the time she spends with her husband and the time she allocates for her job. Time management is important to most young couples making the transition between single and married life.

Matrimony has experienced a resurgence in recent years, but it incorporates a new breed of togetherness. Women today enjoy more career freedom than their mothers, but also have rediscovered traditional ideas. Today's bride is likely to advocate equality, dual careers, and sharing the tasks of parenthood but have more traditional values as well.

With education and career freedom comes the fact that the bride of today has done traveling outside her hometown. She may have gone away for college and then relocated to a city with career opportunities. This means it is less likely that the bride of the '90s will marry her high school sweetheart.

Therefore, chances are that the bride and groom are from different parts of the country. This leads to innovative ideas to get the friends and relatives from both sides to mix and mingle at different weekend events such as barbecues, picnics and cocktail parties.

Bridal show March 3 at restaurant

Doug Wyckoff, owner of Throckmorton's Bar and Grill, 932 South Ave. West, Westfield, has announced plans to sponsor a free bridal show at the restaurant on Saturday, March 3, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

All brides-to-be are invited to attend the first-time event at the new American grill.

Guests will be treated to champagne, hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, a wedding cake and petite pastries, all compliments of Throckmorton's.

Nearly 50 businesses will be available to guide the prospective bride through all her wedding arrangements, from bridal gown selection and preservation through the honeymoon dream of a lifetime.

Whether your interests lie in chocolate candy favors or exquisite calligraphy on engraved invitations, answers will be found at Throckmorton's 1990 bridal show.

There will also be door prizes, favors and drawings.

Each prospective bride is invited, along with one guest, to attend at no charge. There will be a minimal charge for any additional guests of $5 per person.

Net proceeds of the event will benefit the Alzheimer's Disease Fund of New Jersey, Inc.

Reservations must be made in advance by calling Lori Mussell, Throckmorton's banquet manager, at 654-9700.

Formal wear makes it more romantic

"Think black tie and listen — there is the music and the pop of champagne corks. A provocative fragrance of perfume fills the air. Recall a summer romance and hear the whispers of lovers. Wonderful things do happen when you think and go black tie," says Harvey Weinstein, president of Lord West/Pierre Cardin Formalwear.

The Lord West Collection and the latest designs by Pierre Cardin feature formal interpretations destined to be worn at elegant weddings, prom celebrations, posh resorts and sophisticated social and business func-

Check car before honeymoon

Before starting off on that long-awaited honeymoon, be sure that your car's engine is ready to handle the trip. Overheating of the engine can stop you short.

A common reason for overheating, says the Car Care Council, is a clogged radiator. Under normal conditions, the cooling system should be drained and the dirty coolant replaced every year or two as a preventive measure. This is the time to flush out the system with a good chemical cleaner.

According to the Car Care Council, overheating is often caused by low coolant level. Routine maintenance should include pressure testing to locate leaks and seepage.

Other causes of overheating include incorrect ignition timing, a slipping fan belt or other malfunctions in the fan mechanism, a faulty thermostat, a collapsed hose or a worn pressure cap.

If the engine is running hot, however, even a heavy-duty cleaner may not remove the accumulation of scale and rust in the radiator and engine block. That's when a professional job may be required. An experienced technician can usually determine whether or not the radiator core is plugged up without removing it from the car.

If it is necessary, the technician may recommend special procedures to remove the blockage. In more severe cases of clogging or deterioration, replacement of the core may be necessary.

Short of such measures, a reverse flushing process, either by a professional or by a do-it-yourselfer using a simple reverse flushing kit, may correct the overheating trouble.

When replacing antifreeze/coolant, be sure to use the type of product specified for your particular car and dilute it in the correct proportion (50-50 is the correct mixture for most cars.) Check the vehicle owner's manual and the information provided on the container.

And, have a safe trip.

tions through summer '89.

The senior prom is where young Americans openly express their fashion awareness, often for the first time. The bright white tailcoat and matching trousers designed by Pierre Cardin in a shantung weave, worn with an eight-pleat red cummerbund and diamond shaped tie, is destined to be a standout.

By contrast, the unique black "Ce Soir," designed by Pierre

Cardin for the young international market features a stand-up collar rolling softly to a notch lapel.

Everyone's favorite — a wing collar shirt by Pierre Cardin is worn with both formals.

A cummerbund or vest and tie are often selected to color coordinate with a date's prom dress.

Fair warning — this sometimes telegraphs that a twosome are more than just good friends.

The fashion formal for summer weddings is white with a subtle stripe. Find this in the Lord West Crown Collection to wear with matching or black trousers. Wing-collar shirts with diagonal stripings on the bosom are a fresh note, especially when worn with cummerbunds pleated on the diagonal.

For morning or early afternoon weddings, the textured grey cutaway coat and double breasted vest worn with striped trousers is a key selection from the Pierre Cardin Collection.

The designer specifies the correct accessories — a diamond-patterned ascot and a wing collar shirt.

When black is the choice for the groom and his men, select the new shantung-weave tuxedo with satin peak lapels by Pierre Cardin. The wing-collar shirt with wave-patterned bosom, diamond-shaped bow tie and eight-pleat cummerbund are optional choices from the designer's accessory collection.

Videos keep memories alive

It used to be that the only way to look back on that special day of "I do's" was through memories and photographs.

And while these are still precious, there's nothing quite as special as reliving your wedding day by watching it on video.

In recent years, "Wedding Day" videos have become as popular as the traditional photo album. And, to help capture the day in a form that's enjoyable and entertaining for years to come, the videotape experts at Fuji Photo Film USA Inc. recommend the following:

- Choose a reliable videotape from a familiar brand name. Off-brand tapes may not be officially licensed for quality and could harm your equipment. And be sure to choose the highest grade tape available to ensure crisp, clear images — even in low light — with professional-level picture clarity.

- Most videotapes are offered in a variety of lengths. Be sure to purchase T-120 videotapes — the most popular length. And, while each T-120 videotape provides up to six hours of recording time, you'll want to record in the Standard Play mode (SP) — two hours per tape — for optimum clarity and picture quality.

Now, all you need is someone to shoot your wedding video for you. Ask your wedding photographer, or perhaps your local video store owner can recommend a good videographer. Even a special friend experienced in the operation of a camcorder or video camera can do the job.

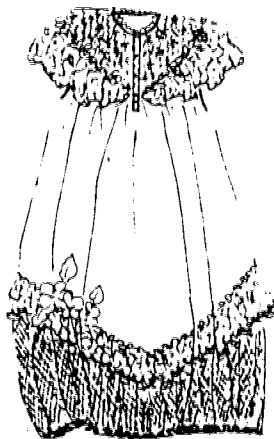

But whether inviting five or 500 people to the wedding, you'll want to capture every minute on video. It's a delightful gift your children and grandchildren can treasure for years to come.

BRIDAL BEAUTY — This satin sheath gown with Alencon lace embellishments features Victorian sleeves, an open neckline and dropped basque bodice. It's from the After Six Bridal Collection.

Let a pro plan wedding

When we need to do something right, we call on a professional. We may enjoy crunching numbers, but we have an accountant check the taxes to make sure they're correct.

So, too, with weddings. When it comes to planning a wedding, many Americans now turn to a professional — the bridal consultant — to help make it turn out right. With tight budgets and more expensive weddings, it also is a sound financial move.

Families are changing, too, and the traditional wedding planners — the bride and her mother — often are working and have little spare time for the details involved in planning a proper wedding.

Both bride and bridegroom are older and often are well-established in careers. They have little planning time, and a more defined outlook on life and the way they want their wedding to be.

They also, in many cases, are more accustomed to dealing with professionals in various fields — people who can help them accomplish their tasks properly.

Enter the bridal consultant, who can save money, time and effort. As a professional, the consultant knows what needs to be done and how to do it best — within the budget.

Many bridal consultants charge 10 to 15 percent of the cost of the wedding. Flat fees and hourly or daily rates also are acceptable.

The key is that this is not an added expense, but a way to save money. The consultant, even after her fee, probably will be able to coordinate a better wedding — because of her contacts — than if the bride had spent the full amount herself on the wedding.

We're a nation of "do-it-yourselfers," but we realize it sometimes pays to let a professional make sure it works.

Skin care benefits brides, everyone

Beauty today knows no age barriers. But women at different stages of life do need to take specific steps to ensure the best possible care for skin, especially as we move into the colder months.

For teenage skin, a foundation that's oil and water based is recommended, as teen skin tends to produce more oils—this combination means makeup is lighter while providing superior coverage, and can help cover the acne so common to younger skin. A good foundation to try: Covermark Foundation Makeup, which works with Covermark Finishing Powder for a perfect finish that blocks out the dirt and bacteria that can lead to acne.

Many people think mature skin begins at age 35—but it's simply not true. In our mid-twenties, skin is already changing, and we have to replenish the oils our skin no longer produces so rapidly. Women this age should use Lydia O'Leary Toner with Resorsinal, a gentle toner with a Vitamin A derivative that rejuvenates skin cells quickly, for a smoother complexion.

Senior women, remember one word: Moisturize! Around-the-clock moisturizing with a rich product is very important, as are moisture-rich products such as Covermark, that minimize crow's feet, age spots, worry lines and broken capillaries,

Whether you're a teenager, a young adult, or a senior citizen, you're concerned about the best possible skin care—and you deserve the confidence of lovely, radiant skin at any age. It's never too late—or too early—to give your complexion tender loving care!

Engagement ring remains durable tradition

Since the turn of the century, the solitaire diamond ring has been the American engagement symbol.

Even today, as many traditions are toppling, the diamond ring tradition is stronger than ever. Where did it begin and how did it evolve?

Jewelers of America, Inc., the national organization dedicated to consumer information and education about fine jewelry, offers the following historical notes about the engagement ring:

The ancient Romans were the first civilization to use finger rings as a sign of betrothal and marriage. Solitaire rings were popular as were bands of "opus interrabile" — the Romans' technique of open-work chiseled from sheet gold (much like contemporary "filigree" designs) — and rings similar to today's popular "eternity" ring with stones set all around a simple band.

However, it was not until 1477, when the Archduke Maximilian of Austria gave a diamond ring to Princess Mary of Burgundy, that the tradition of the diamond engagement ring began.

The reason a woman wears it on the third finger of her left hand is traced back to the early Egyptians, who believed that the vena amoris (vein of love) ran directly from the heart to the top of third finger, left hand.

The Greeks believed the fire in a diamond reflected the constant flame of love. The name "diamond" comes from the Greek word "adamas" meaning "unconquerable." Is it any wonder that the diamond has come to symbolize the eternity of love?

This year, brides and grooms will spend over $1 billion on engagement and wedding rings. And because the diamond engagement ring is usually the first piece of diamond jewelry a woman owns, it is important to solicit the assistance of an expert — your local jeweler — to counsel you about the qualities that should be considered when purchasing such a gift.

Diamond cuts as well as ring styles have changed throughout the years since Maximilian made his presentation.

Before the invention of the diamond saw in 1910, diamonds were polished to give them their shine. When the saw was used to break up the crystal, experts created optically efficient diamonds that held more brilliancy and dispersion than ever before possible.

Today, lasers enable diamonds to be cut not only as rounds, marquises, pears, ovals and rectangular shapes, but also to be fashioned into such unique designs as horse heads, stars, and initials.

Styling changes have been subtle and gradual. In colonial days, it was a diamond hoop called the "keeper ring," because it was worn over the wedding band, acting as its "keeper."

The next style was the cluster ring, designed like an old-fashioned bouquet with a rose (of rose-cut diamonds) in the center.

The Victorian rings were more ornate, sometimes using black enamel with gold in the diamond settings.

Then came the princess ring, with three to five diamonds in a row across the finger. This was popular for many years until the turn of the century and the introduction of the solitaire setting.

Whether you select a round or one of the "fancy" cuts, such as marquise or pear shapes, you should have your jeweler explain the importance of the "four C's" which determine the quality of the gem: carat, color, clarity and cut:

- Carat: Refers to the weight, and therefore the size, of the gem. One carat is divided into 100 points, so that a diamond of 150 points weighs 1.5 carats.

- Color: Totally colorless diamonds are very rare and represent the highest color grade. The various gradations, from exceptional white to yellowish, are barely perceptible to the untrained eye.

- Clarity: Refers to the degree to which a diamond is free of interior blemishes or inclusions.

- Cut: The art of cutting a diamond is so refined that a precise mathematical formula was developed. It called for most stones to be cut with 58 facets, each placed at a precise angle to one another.

Shape of diamonds you like tells a lot about you

If you like ROUND SHAPE best, husband, children and home life are terribly important. You're content, dependable, and relate to others. You eagerly anticipate all the comforts and joys of marriage and motherhood. Even if you work, a career is not your uppermost concern.

The security of home and family

(suggested by the round portion) are also very meaningful to someone who selects the PEAR SHAPE. But you're eager to meet new people and embark on new experiences (indicated by the tapered end). You're ambitious, want to keep up with your peers and urge your mate to do likewise.

Does the OVAL SHAPE diamond appeal to you? Chances are you love to innovate and are fully in your element when you're being creative. You're organized, but not inflexible, and have a unique sense of your own style.

Someone who prefers the MARQUISE SHAPE is outgoing, impulsive, sometimes temperamental, sexy and known to be "a charmer".

Jewelry a universal symbol of a couple's love

From the earliest of times through today, people have been fascinated by gems and jewelry.

In earlier days, wars were fought over gemstones, and legends were invented about them.

Today, we still search for them, study them, and collect them. And, according to Jewelers of America, the national association of 12,000 retail jewelers across the United States, although lifestyles, goals, and values have changed, the symbol of love attached to a gemstone has never changed. Today's couples still express their sentiments with jewelry... the universal symbol of love.

When did it all begin? Before written history. Yet, some of the traditions and folklore that existed before man could read or write have endured through the centuries. In fact, even today, gemstones are often selected on the basis of long ago conceived folklore.

What month were you born? When is your wedding or anniversary? How long have you been married? There are legendary colors and gemstones for every month and for every year of marriage.

There's added enjoyment by knowing some of the folklore behind your precious choice. A few examples:

- The green emerald signifies growing love. In addition, it was said to strengthen the memory and to help its owner become an eloquent speaker. It was also thought to give the power to predict the future and to make people more intelligent and honest.

- The amethyst symbolized protection, peace, tranquility, piety, spiritual wisdom, humility, sincerity and contentment. It was also said to protect a person against intoxication, to improve the complexion and to prevent baldness. A dream of amethyst meant the dreamer was safe from harm.

- The aquamarine, in its shades of blue, comes from the Greek word for seawater and is therefore the gemstone of sailors, possessing the calming effects of the sea, and aids those who travel by water. It was also thought to establish happy marriages. Should harmony flee, it would help reconcile the partners' differences.

- The red ruby signified peace and health. Never make faces at a ruby or ignore one, because it will grow dull if slighted or not worn or seen.

- Marriage partners used to put great faith in a sapphire, which signified fidelity, because of its luster dimmed, one knew that his or her spouse had been unfaithful.

- The topaz was said to improve dimness of vision, and the peridot was used as a remedy for sinus problems.

- The ever-popular diamond has a long history of folklore and tradition. It was considered a bearer of victory and an emblem of fearlessness and invincibility; it was said to drive away ghosts if worn on the left arm.

Surfaces highlight a bride's new kitchen

Once the new bride settles into her home, she'll want a kitchen that suits her wants and needs perfectly. Having the right materials in the kitchen's design goes a long way toward that end.

In step with the progressive artistic technique of mixing materials, Du Pont Corian solid-surface products offer design capabilities using tiles, wood and metal products. The combination of Corian and these materials gives designers a "creative license," allowing them to invent the most original designs.

Design professionals are finding that in addition to offering durability, easy maintenance and long-lasting beauty, these surfaces can be fabricated to create such features as tile checker-board edgings, oak wood inlays, or brass detailing.

"The design options are endless," says Dave Blonda, manager of the Du Pont Training and Development Center. "We welcome this marriage of materials, because it lets designers exercise creativity with confidence."

"Our fabricators use the highest-quality surface product, Corian, in conjunction with materials such as high-end ceramics, wood and metal products."

Special fabrication techniques are often the result of developments in the field by fabricators. Testing is done by the Training and Development Center in Kennett Square, Pa. The center houses a training facility and an applications development factory.

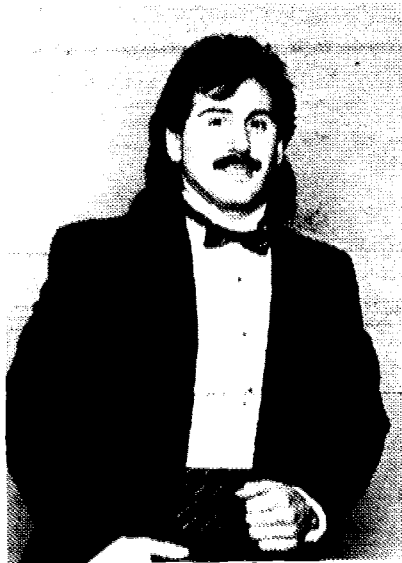

Backed by a fabricator network of specially-trained craftsmen, Corian can be made to satisfy custom specification of any designer.

"Nearly every week fabricators and dealers come to the Corian Training and Development Center to learn about performance properties and fabrication techniques from their peers and from Du Pont instructors," added Blonda.

"The Kennett Square facility is where new ideas in fabrication are evaluated," he added. "Each concept is thoroughly tested for real-world viability before we develop technical literature for fabricators that will enable them to offer these new applications to their customers."

New-product-fabrication techniques, from edge treatments to thermoforming, color inlays and joint construction, are fine-tuned at the center. A coved back-splash of Corian with ceramic tile inlays is a typical example.

In addition to providing wide fabrication opportunities, Du Pont backs Corian with a unique 10-year warranty that covers both materials and labor.

DANTE TRADITION — Dante Tuxedos, 241 West St. Georges Ave., Linden, predicts that the 'New Traditionalism' in formal wear will continue well into the '90s. The majority of grooms, Dante says, prefer classic attire with variations, such as this traditional tuxedo accented by a tie and cummerbund with dramatic diagonal stripes.

Dante Tuxedos' Linden store offering home fitting service

Several years ago, Dante Tuxedos, 241 West St. Georges Ave., Linden, introduced a home fitting, delivery and pick-up program to provide superior customer convenience.

Dante's free In-Home Service features the same extensive selection of sophisticated formal wear from Pierre Cardin, Henry Grethel, Christian Dior, After Six, Lord West and Raffinati found in the 30 Dante showrooms throughout New York and New Jersey.

Dante's In-Home Service allows customers to be fitted in the privacy of their own homes. A professional representative will arrive with a complete selection of formal wear, accessories, shirts and shoes for the groom to consider and try on.

Once the groom makes his selection, his attendants will be measured in matching or complimentary formal wear. The Dante representative is qualified to make recommendations and to assist in color coordination. If any wedding party members cannot make the appointment, they can be measured and fitted at one of Dante's many convenient showrooms.

After the Dante representative has all the necessary measurements and information, he will return to Dante headquarters. There, the wedding party's formal wear will be accurately altered, specially dry-cleaned, neatly pressed and carefully inspected by Dante's quality assurance team. This attention to detail ensures the groom and his attendants will look their absolute best.

Formal wear will be delivered to the customer's home at least two days before the wedding. A Dante representative will be on hand to check for proper fit and to coordinate any last-minute alterations. The first business day after the wedding, a Dante rep will pick up the suits and accessories.

Dante's In-Home Service helps make overall wedding planning less complicated. And Dante's In-Home Service is not only convenient — it's free! What's more, it delivers the same advantages found at any of Dante's locations:

- A tremendous selection of styles;
- A free tuxedo for grooms with five or more attendants;
- For a limited time, up to 40 percent off all styles;
- A unique lowest price guarantee.

Brides should never forget their hair

At a time when more and more brides have full-time careers, it's easy for a woman to overlook a simple detail like her hair.

With lunchtime and after-work hours spent rushing from dress fittings to showers to meetings with caterers and florists, it almost takes a superwoman to do it all.

"There are so many details involved in planning a wedding that even the most organized bride might overlook her hair, particularly if she's trying to keep her career on track while planning the event of a lifetime," says Xenon, international creative director for the Helene Curtis Professional Division.

According to Xenon, it's easy to have a wedding hairstyle that is as radiant as your smile and as flattering as your dress — if you can count on the skills of a professional hairstylist.

"Today's working woman, more often than not, counts on a professional hairstylist to give her a look that is polished and professional," he says. "It only makes sense to leave the worry over your wedding hairstyle to the person who keeps you looking great every other day of the year."

Xenon offers these suggestions to help you look your beautiful best on the big day:

- Consult with your stylist soon after you've set the date. You will want to discuss hairstyle options, including whether or not you want to grow your hair out.

- Your stylist may be at the church, or wherever you plan to dress for the wedding, to style your hair. Ask well in advance, so that he or she can arrange his or her schedule. And see about having your stylist do your bridesmaids' hair as well. There may be a fee, but the finished results will be well worth it.

- Consider a perm, three to four weeks in advance, to give your hair the body and support it needs to look its best throughout all of the wedding festivities.

Today's new perm formulations leave hair in top condition, so there's no need to worry about frizz or too-tight curl, and nothing makes hair even easier to style than a good professional perm.

- Begin using a moisturizing hair care line, such as Attractions Collagenic Moisturizing System, which is available through professional salons. A moisturizing hair care system, like Attractions, will help strengthen and revitalize the hair. The added shine you'll have will really show in your wedding pictures.

- If your stylist will not be assisting you on the day of the wedding, take time to rehearse your bridal style with your stylist the week before so you'll know exactly how to do it on the day of the wedding.

Practicing your bridal style will give you added confidence. After all, you shouldn't have a care in the world on such a special day — especially not how your hair's going to look.

Gear showers to bride's personality

Warm weather is just around the corner and with it comes the showers of spring. Bridal showers, that is.

These festive parties are always special; food and decorations are prepared with care, and good friends and relatives look forward to an afternoon of traditional gift giving.

Everyone waits curiously to see what is inside all the pastel paper and bows. For most guests, this is also a time of great anxiety as they wonder if they've chosen the right gift.

Naturally, every one of the bride's friends and relatives wants to give a shower gift that will be remembered long after the thank-you notes have been sent out.

Following are a few tips from Jacqueline Greenwood, bridal program manager at Black & Decker, on how to select a shower gift that will be used and treasured for years to come:

- First and foremost, check the bridal registry at local stores. Listed here are gifts that the bride has indicated she wants and needs; one can't go wrong giving a gift from this list.

When giving a gift from the registry, make sure to purchase it at the store where the registry is, so that it will be crossed off and no one will duplicate the gift.

- If getting a gift from the registry seems too impersonal and routine, go ahead and get creative. At a bridal shower it is fine to give a gift just to the bride and not to the couple. Good friends of the bride should think of special times/hobbies shared together and work from that — something from the past that she can take with her into the future.

Roommates in college? Get a college memento—perhaps a framed photograph or painting of the campus.

Was morning coffee at work always something the two of you shared? A thermal carafe coffeemaker makes an excellent gift. A thermal carafe can keep coffee hot for up to eight hours!

Think of things that are in every household — things that someone just starting out might not have but will need. A spice rack filled with a variety of spices for the bride-to-be who likes to cook. Or choose an iron — a necessity in any home.

Kitchen appliances are always something a new bride can use. There are so many appliances on the market today, selecting one for a gift is almost as fun as receiving it!

When buying appliances, think small. They shouldn't clutter up the new bride's small kitchen. The appliances should be easy to store or compact enough to fit on the counter.

Another space-saving idea is to give appliances that mount on the wall or under the kitchen cabinets. This way they are easily accessible and present no storage problem.

To make any appliance a more personal gift, create a theme basket for the bride. Using the appliance as the main gift, fill a basket with things that complement its function and the bride's personality.

Does she love picnicking? Give her a cordless blender in a basket with wine glasses, colorful cloth napkins and a drink recipe book. Is the bride a movie buff? Try a corn popper along with a jar of colored popcorn and a membership to the local video rental store in her new neighborhood.

These personal baskets will show the bride that some careful thought went into her gift.

- Some showers will have a gift theme — something for every room in the house, a honeymoon shower or a lingerie party.

Although the theme party gifts tend to be humorous and the atmosphere more relaxed, don't forget that the bride's relatives and neighbors, young and old, will be present. Be creative.

Most of all, look for a gift that will be useful and appreciated. Many brides end up with gifts that sit unopened in the closet for years.

That is not to say the gift must be so practical that it is no fun to give. With a combination of creativity and common sense, the gift you select will be a special one.

ELEGANCE — This satin gown with beaded Venise lace features a Sabrina neckline and hand-beaded leg-of-mutton sleeves accenting this After Six Bridal Collection dress. The groom wears the grey Vanguard tuxedo from the After Six Couture Collection. It features a tone-on-tone weave complimented by peak lapels matching a satin-pleated cummerbund and bow tie.

Gifts of silver convey special message

The byword for weddings today is traditional, as wedding-goers around the country are attending more formal, elegant gatherings.

From the ceremony and wedding finery to the flowers and gifts for the bride, groom and wedding party, everything follows the current trend to lavish, individualized weddings.

And a key ingredient in any traditional wedding is the bridal party — those old and new friends, family and loved ones that help make a most important day perfect.

Say special thanks to the bridesmaids and ushers with a lasting gift that shows heartfelt appreciation and will always be treasured. Select something personal for each individual.

In fact, according to Bride's magazine, personalized gifts are the most popular presents for attendants today. "A personalized gift shows that you have put a great deal of thought into the selection of a gift," says Jo-Ann

Bloomberg, an associate editor of Bride's. "It should have special meaning based on experiences shared."

One of the longtime favorites for any special wedding party is a lasting gift of silver. "The ideal momento for the wedding attendants is something that is permanent and lasting, with intrinsic value, such as sterling silver," says Gerald J. Monaghan, president of the Association of Bridal Consultants.

"Silver jewelry or jewelry-related gifts are always remembered by the recipient long after the wedding day."

And, according to the Silver Information Center, there is an ever-widening assortment of affordably priced shining silver gifts from which to choose. Many of them can even be engraved or personalized with initials and wedding dates.

Traditionally, each bridesmaid receives an identical gift, as do the ushers, and honor attendants are usually acknowledged with something a little more special. But, tradition can be broken and each attendant given a personal gift chosen especially for him or her.

If you're looking for a truly memorable gift, consider these sentimental ideas.

• For Him: Give a man in the forefront of fashion silver cuff links for his French cuff shirts, a handsome sterling belt buckle, a money clip or key ring. For the man who likes to be pampered, a sleek silver razor is a good gift suggestion.

• For Her: Romance is in the air, so gift bridesmaids with elegant silver makeup brushes, compacts or perfume flacons to grace a vanity or tuck into a purse: silver barrettes to wear on the wedding day; a dainty pin or a bookmark tucked into a pocket datebook to help remember those special pre-wedding dates.

So, remember, take time to choose a meaningful, lasting gift of sterling silver — it carries a very special message.

ORNATE — Her form-fitting gown from the After Six Bridal Collection features a hand-beaded Alencon lace bodice with bow detail on long sleeves.

SOPHISTICATED — Her matte satin, hand-beaded Alencon lace gown with pouff sleeves, bow detail and fitted bodice is from the After Six Bridal Collection.

TRADITIONAL — Christian Dior's black Diamond tuxedo with matching satin lapel vest features an all-over diamond jacquard pattern. Accessories include a white double-wing collar shirt and black duo-tone bow tie.

ENCHANTING — The bride's shantung-weave gown from the After Six Bridal Collection has an off-the-shoulder portrait neckline, long fitted sleeves and a pleated circular skirt with a 'waterfall' effect on the semi-cathedral train. The groom's tux is the Parisian by Christian Dior. It features tone-on-tone striping and here it's worn with a matching vest and bow tie.

Don't get stuck with non-stick pans

When it comes to buying non-stick frying pans, one good rule to follow is don't get stuck.

This is a lot easier if you're able to choose a nonstick surface that's been certified rather than an unknown or mystery nonstick. A good example of a certification program consumers like is that of Du Pont, the nation's leading manufacturer of nonstick products. These three categories are:

- Teflon 2—Good. A certification for budget minded shoppers who still desire quality.
- Silverstone—Better. A premium quality nonstick surface that has become America's favorite.

- SilverStone Supra—Best. This certification tells consumers it's a superior product, made with the latest technology and will last twice as long as SilverStone.
