Franks named to lead GOP state committee

By SUZETTE STALKER
Assemblyman Robert Franks, R-22, was elected Tuesday as the Republican State Committee's new chairman, expressing anticipation of seeing control of the state Legislature returned to the GOP by 1991.

Franks, 38, whose district includes Mountainside, was elected to his sixth legislative term last November. He previously served as Republican State Committee chairman for 18 months in 1988 and 1989. During that time, Republican Governor Thomas Kean was in office and the GOP controlled the Assembly.

The assemblyman, in his bid for re-election, challenged incumbent Committee Chairwoman Kathleen Donovan, who was appointed to the post by Rep. Jim Courter, R-12th District, last June following Courter's victory in the Republican gubernatorial primary.

Donovan, who had been named to replace Franks following his first committee chairmanship, was the first woman in New Jersey history ever chosen to head a major political party. She is also the Bergen County Clerk and served one term in the state Assembly, from 1985-1987. Donovan recently withdrew her bid for re-election and announced her support for Franks.

Franks has rebuffed allegations that GOP leaders sought to oust Donovan because of Democratic Governor Jim Florio's landslide victory over Courter last November. He instead attributed mistakes by Courter and his aides as the primary reasons for the candidate's defeat.

"I thought that the charges were grossly unfair," Franks commented. "because ultimately, Jim Courter and his campaign strategy team were responsible for his losing the election in November. She was not part of that team nor was she the candidate, and was in no way responsible."

Franks, who previously earned $85,000 annually as committee chairman, will not receive a salary this time around. The chairman said that he personally recommended that the committee not compensate him because the organization's funds have become depleted through the Democrats' control of state government.

The election of a new committee chairperson mandated a change in the GOP state committee by-laws, since the chairmanship has traditionally been a four-year term. After opting to hold the new elections, Republican officials discussed, but did not formally approve, switching to a two-year term.

Franks explained that the Republican State Committee now favors its officials holding two-year, rather than four-year, terms.

The spotlights, which will be used in Deerfield's upcoming production of 'The Music Man,' were purchased by the MMA with proceeds from its recent 30th anniversary variety show and other fundraisers. The goal of the MMA is to enhance musical and language arts education in the Mountainside school district.

Hospital meeting sparks 'constructive' dialogue

By SUZETTE STALKER
A meeting held last week between Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside and a residents group, regarding a proposal to relocate an oxygen tank on the hospital property, was described as having been very productive.

CSH is seeking to construct a three-tier garage at its New Providence Road headquarters to accommodate its many volunteers and staff. The hospital's current site plan calls for the oxygen tank to be located adjacent to the westernmost driveway.

Area residents had for months been protesting the entire garage proposal, saying that building the structure in the front yard would create health and safety hazards and generally disrupt the quality of life in Mountainside.

Attorney William Peek, representing CSH, and Roger Thomas, representing a local group called Citizens For A Residential Mountainside, have discussed locating the tank instead at the ambulance entranceway on the eastern end of the property.

On Feb. 22, both attorneys toured the alternative site, along with several residents and Hospital President Richard Ahlfeld. Architect Donald S. Chapman, who designed the garage site plan, also attended the meeting.

Current plans call for the garage to replace two existing front lots. The structure is designed to provide CSH with an additional 145 spaces, bringing the total number to 321.

Hospital officials maintain that moving the planned location of the oxygen tank will allow CSH to explore alternative sites for the garage that are more satisfactory to area residents, while still providing sufficient parking for the facility.

"We had a very pleasant meeting," Peek remarked on Monday. "I thought it was very constructive. We listened to them and they listened to us and we exchanged some ideas. We also talked about alternatives."

Thomas was unavailable for comment on last week's meeting, but stated recently that he did not anticipate any problems with the proposed new location for the tank.

The hospital has already submitted an application to the Mountainside Board of Adjustment for the parking garage, and is expected to present a second application to the board on April 9 to switch the location of the oxygen tank.

Several professionals, including a real estate appraiser and a traffic expert, have already testified on behalf of the hospital at previous board meetings. Peek reported that Ahlfeld, Chapman, and a project engineer would possibly address the board in April concerning the oxygen tank proposal.

Deerfield teacher chosen for state recognition

By SUZETTE STALKER
Deerfield School Kindergarten teacher Ann Lynch, who has been helping local youngsters off to a good academic start for the past decade, has been named to the 1990 Governor's Teacher Recognition Program.

The program annually recognizes outstanding teachers in each New Jersey school district. The winners are selected by a special school panel based on recommendations from colleagues, students, parents and other members of the community.

A native of Chalfont, Pa., Lynch earned her bachelor of arts degree in English Literature and Spanish from Susquehanna University in Selinsgrove, Pa. in 1965. A year later, she received her master's degree in education from Lehigh University, Pa.

Lynch spent five years teaching second and third grade in Pennsylvania, after which she journeyed to Hawaii. The teacher, who described her stint in the islands as a "marvelous" experience, first taught special education students and later opened her own school.

"I made my own job up and started my own school," Lynch explained enthusiastically. "It was Kindergarten and pre-school. I was the director and I also taught for two years."

Afterwards, Lynch was appointed as head teacher for an inner-city education program in Honolulu. The model program, which targeted lower-income families, assisted both parents and children in enhancing their skills through education.

"The kids were taught and cared for in this program," remarked Lynch, who remained with it for two years. "They needed love and attention, as all children do, but especially so because they had come from a disadvantaged environment."

In the early 1970's, Lynch returned to New Jersey, but discovered that teaching positions were not readily available. She landed a job as a Kindergarten Resource Room teacher in Asbury Park, however, teaching basic skills to young children for 2½ years before coming to the Mountainside school district.

Lynch has taught in Mountainside for 16 years, first as a second-grade teacher at the Beechwood School, now known as the Vail-Deane School, and later at Deerfield.

"I just love Kindergarten," Lynch said. "The spontaneity of the children and their eagerness is very exhilarating. It's just wonderful to come in every day. The Kindergarten child is full of curiosity and excitement about life and the world in general."

Lynch shares her Scotch Plains residence with her husband, Owen, and her seven adored cats. She enjoys many hobbies, including reading, particularly books on American history; ice-skating, bicycle riding, and collecting antique quilts, Victorian valentines and hand-made folk dolls. The teacher commented that she often brings her quilts to school to show her students a sample of American culture from another era. She added that she likes to learn as much about each quilt she buys, such as who made it and when, and from where the various fabrics came from.

Lynch also performs volunteer work for the American Cancer Society, including visiting patients in the area. In addition, she will soon be donating some of her time to the "Cuddles" program at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside. (Continued on Page 2)

DISTRICT OFFICE OPENS — Office Manager George Stalmer, right, who heads the U.S. Census Bureau district office on Sheffield Street in Mountainside, discusses the upcoming 1990 Census of Population and Housing during an open house at the office last week. BOE deadline

The deadline for filing nominating petitions for seats on the Mountainside Board of Education is 4 p.m. this afternoon.

Delays in the formulation of the state budget has forced a postponement of the local school board elections in New Jersey from April 3 to April 24. Similarly, the nominating petition filing deadline was pushed back from Feb. 8 until today.

The petitions are to be filed with the secretaries of the local school boards.

Wheelchair athletes prepare to compete

The seventh annual Junior Invitational Wheelchair Athletic Meet, sponsored by Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside, will be held on Saturday, April 28, at Roselle Park High School.

Some of the best junior athletes in the tri-state area, including national champions, are expected to compete.

The invitational will feature track events ranging from 40 meters to 1,500 meters. Field competitions include shot put, javelin, discus and club throw.

"This invitational meet provides opportunities for children and adolescents with disabilities to enrich their lives and benefit from the motivating influence of sports," commented Andy Chasanoff, meet director.

"Wheelchair athletes take their events very seriously and work hard on improving their performances," he continued.

"We're proud to be sponsoring the invitational for all the area athletes," noted Chasanoff, who serves as the hospital's director of recreation therapy. He added that this year's meet, however, will have an extra special feature.

"In recognition of the many wheelchair athletes that have 'graduated' from the Junior Division," Chasanoff explained, "we will offer a special 'collegiate' division."

Athletes between 19 and 22 years of age will be eligible for the Collegiate Division, Chasanoff noted, adding that all events in this division will be "open events."

Area residents are invited to attend the meet to cheer on the athletes. The meet begins at 9:30 a.m. at the school on West Webster Avenue in Roselle Park. There is no fee to attend.

For more information, including registration data, one can call Chasanoff or Donna Provenzano at the hospital's Recreation Therapy Department, at 233-3720.

Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital with 60 acute rehab beds and 25 long term care beds. In addition, the hospital provides extensive outpatient and community services at its outpatient center in Fanwood.

In 1991, Children's Specialized will celebrate 100 years of caring for children and adolescents.

Bill to benefit disabled

A bill recently introduced by State Sen. Donald T. DiFrancesco, R-22, in the state Legislature would require that criminal background checks be made of prospective employees of group homes for the developmentally disabled and mentally ill.

DiFrancesco's district includes Mountainside.

"Residents of group homes are members of very special populations.

They are limited in their ability to deal with dangerous situations in the outside world. We need to make extra sure that the people who care for these people are beyond all reproach," DiFrancesco said.

The background checks would be conducted by the Division of State Police.

The legislation also appropriates $95,000 for the program.

Fish and chips dinner planned

A fish and chips dinner will be held on March 9 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Mountainside Elks Lodge 1585, located at 1193 Highway 22 East in Mountainside.

Take out orders will be available.

Cake and coffee and tea will be served.

Tickets can be purchased at the door. For more information, one can call Joe Kiefer at 486-0634, Steve Grohol at 276-5679 or John Corona at 233-3028.

Franks to lead GOP

(Continued from Page 1) pel committee leaders to be accountable to the organization over a shorter period of time, and noted that, under this policy, officers "are not insulated from either removal or renewal for four years."

He added that members have also decided that it is more "appropriate" to elect state committee chairmen after a gubernatorial general election rather than a primary. This policy, he said, gives the committee more time to consider its leadership options.

Franks has announced that he will recommend appointing Donovan as a vice chairwoman of the state committee, even though this will require another change in the organization's by-laws, since Donovan is not a member of the committee. He added that approval for this could take between 30 and 60 days.

Donovan will serve as a Republican representative on the Legislative Apportionment Commission, which will begin meeting next fall to outline new legislative districts based on the upcoming 1990 Census of Housing and Population.

Several Republican legislative representatives and other party leaders supported Frank's campaign for reelection as committee chairman, including Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden, R-22, former Speaker of the Assembly Chuck Hardwick and former Attorney General Cary Edwards.

The new chairman reported that he now hopes to see two main objectives realized for his party: aggressive recruitment of Republican candidates to run for public office, and beefing up GOP fund-raising efforts. He added that an enormous amount of money is required to reach voters through the various media.

"I'm looking forward to an exciting year of heading up the state Republican party once again," the new committee chairperson remarked enthusiastically. "I hope that by 1991 at least one house in the Legislature, and possibly both houses, will be under Republican control."

Deerfield teacher cited

Lynch remarked that she is "very flattered and honored" to have been chosen for the governor's program. She added that she is also looking forward to attending a Convocation on Excellence in Teaching with Mountainside Superintendent of Schools Leonard Bacarro at Princeton University in May.

Deerfield School will also receive

$1,000 grant in Lynch's name, to be used for whatever education program Lynch feels will best benefit Deerfield. Lynch said that she has not yet decided how she would like the funds to be used.

Ogden heads committee

State Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden, R-22, whose district includes Mountainside, recently took office as chair of the Arts, Tourism and Cultural Resources Committee of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL).

The Arts, Tourism and Cultural Resources Committee is one of 11 standing committees of NCSL's Assembly On the Legislature (AOL), which serves as a forum for the exchange of ideas and information among state legislatures.

The AOL meets three times each year to address critical issues facing the states—twice in state capitals and once in conjunction with NCSL's annual meeting.

NCSL represents the legislators and staffs of the nation's 50 states, its commonwealths and territories.

BUNIONS and BONE ENLARGEMENTS
By Dr. Michael Eglow

A large percentage of our population may develop a bunion. Both men, women and children can develop bunions, although it appears that bunions are more commonly seen on women's feet. A bunion is a swelling or enlargement of the large toe joint on the inner side of the foot. As bunion deformities progress, they do become quite symptomatic and bothersome producing swelling, redness and pain.

There are many ways to treat bunions. Your Podiatrist can select from a wide range of sophisticated surgical and non-surgical techniques which are available thanks to advanced research and scientific study of the various foot deformities. Many surgical procedures can be performed in an out-patient hospital setting. The doctor will recommend what is best suited to your needs and your particular situation.

Remember both you and the doctor are a team working toward a common goal, comfortable feet, so that you can remain active and fit in today's fast-paced lifestyle.

Recyclable pick-up schedule announced

The Union County Utilities Authority (UCUA) has released the schedule for curbside pickups of recyclables during March for the 11 municipalities participating in the Union County Regional Recycling Program.

Newspaper, glass and aluminum will be collected every other week according to the following schedule:

Mountainside — Mondays, March 12 and 26.
Springfield — Fridays, March 2, 16 and 30.

UCUA officials remind residents to set out their recyclables by 7:30 a.m. the day they are scheduled for collection. Residents should prepare their materials according to the following guidelines:

Newspapers must be clean and tied in bundles that are no more than eight inches thick. The bundles may not include paper bags, magazines, telephone books or junk mail.

Glass bottles and jars must be well rinsed with all caps and lids removed. Labels, styrofoam, metal rings and plastic do not have to be removed. Do not break glass. Glass must be placed at the curb in sturdy, reusable containers. Only bottles and jars will be collected — no window glass, dishes, Pyrex, mirrors or crystal.

Aluminum beverage containers must be well rinsed and placed in a sturdy reusable container. Tin cans, paint cans and spray cans cannot be collected. Note: A magnet will not stick to the side or bottom of a recyclable all-aluminum can.

Glass and aluminum recyclables must be set out in separate containers. Materials placed in plastic or paper bags will not be collected.

For missed pickups, one can call 753-7276.

Nursing program noted

Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside is offering a summer program for junior level nursing students in Mountainside, Springfield and Kenilworth, along with other area communities.

The Nurse Extern Program is a hands-on experience for nursing students interested in learning the field of pediatric rehabilitation.

The program is approved by the New Jersey Board of Nursing and adheres to strict board guidelines. Each extern works under the supervision of a registered nurse who has pediatric rehabilitation experience.

At Children's Specialized, the externs also have the opportunity to participate in hospital educational offerings.

For 1990, the 10-week program is scheduled to begin June 6 and run through August 10.

Interested candidates may call the hospital's Human Resources Department or Deirdre Jackson, clinical nurse specialist, at 233-3720. The application deadline is Wednesday, April 11.

Regional BOE to hear comments on budget

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 will meet on Tuesday, March 6, at 8 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of Governor Livingston Regional High School on Watchung Boulevard in Berkeley Heights.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston.

Jonathan Dayton enrolls students from both Springfield and Mountainside.

Parents, students, voters and teachers will have an opportunity during the meeting to comment on the proposed 1990-91 school budget.

The Union County Regional Federation of Teachers has stated that it supports the $33.5 million school budget, which has been designed to balance education needs with cost containment necessities, according to school district officials.

The Federation of Teachers has announced that it also encourages restoration of the 2.6 percent budget increase originally proposed by Dr. Donald Merachnik, superintendent of schools for the regional high school district.

The next opportunity voters will have to review and comment on the budget will be at the April 3 public meeting at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark. The school board is expected to adopt its budget on that date.

On April 24, voters in Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Clark, Garwood and Berkeley Heights will vote on the budget in the school board elections.

'Safe' party planned

The senior class of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, in conjunction with the school's Parent-Teacher-Student Organization (P.T.S.O.), is currently making plans to conduct "Project Graduation," a drug-free, alcohol-free celebration for graduates to be held on June 18.

"Project Graduation" is an all-night party for Jonathan Dayton graduates which will start after the school's commencement exercises on June 18. This event, which will be held at the Westfield YMCA, will provide a drug-free and alcohol-free environment for the Jonathan Dayton Class of 1990 to gather one last time as a group.

"Project Graduation" programs such as this have been conducted at other area high schools in the past with great success. An evening full of activities is now being planned by the Jonathan Dayton senior class and the P.T.S.O. in order to ensure the success of this event as well.

"In the past, parties at which alcohol and drugs were available have ruined graduation nights at many high schools," explained Dwight Dachnowicz, senior class president at Jonathan Dayton. "The Class of 1990 and the P.T.S.O. are now joining together to take an active role in fighting this problem. We believe that the solution is 'Project Graduation.'"

Dwight and his fellow senior class officers have already presented their "Project Graduation" proposal to the Springfield Township Committee and the Mountainside Borough Council, and both governing bodies have endorsed the program.

The Jonathan Dayton Senior Class and P.T.S.O. will be seeking the support of local businesses and community groups in order to make "Project Graduation" a safe and successful celebration. For more information, one can call the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School at 376-6300.

Volunteers are sought

The Center for Hope Hospice, 219 East Fourth Ave., Roselle, has a need for daytime volunteers in the Union County area.

The hospice is a program providing support for people with a terminal illness who choose to remain at home during the final phase of their disease.

Hospice uses a team approach, bringing together physicians, nurses, social workers, clergy and trained volunteers to help patients and their families meet the demands of daily care.

Special duties for the volunteer include assisting with a variety of tasks in the home, easing the burden of the primary caregiver by running errands or providing a respite from patient care or household chores. The volunteer may also act as a liaison between the patient and family and members of the hospice team.

As the program expands, more volunteers are needed to bring critical support to these patients. A hospice volunteer training program will begin on Monday, Feb. 26, at 175 Glenside Ave., Scotch Plains. This training program provides a background of information to assist in the understanding of the dying patient and his or her family. It is also intended to direct one's attention to one's own feelings and attitudes towards death and loss.

For further information and registration, interested persons can call Cathy Ochs at 241-1132.

YWCA classes for adults and kids to be offered

An acting class for children and teens, Latin American cooking for adults, skin care for women and teens, a stress management workshop and a risk taking class are all planned for early March at the Summit YWCA, located at 79 Maple Street in Summit.

"Lights, Camera, Action!" an acting workshop for children, will be taught by New York talent manager and Summit native Jennifer Carlone on Saturdays.

Two sections — Group I for ages 7 to 10, from 10-11 a.m.; Group II for ages 11 to 14, from 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m., will be offered, geared specifically for the child's level.

The six classes, beginning March 3 and ending April 7, will teach basic acting techniques, improve speech and diction, develop poise and self-confidence and explore improvisational skills. Class size is limited; it is recommended that interested people sign their child up in advance.

Latin American Cooking, taught by Chatham resident and Argentina native Susana de Lopez Pardo, will improve participants' skills in the kitchen, add to their recipe file, and teach them how to prepare a variety of foods.

Lopez will prepare everything from soup to nuts, representing the varied cuisines of Central and South America.

Class will meet on two Monday evenings, March 5 and 12, at 7:30 p.m.; preregistration is required.

Beverly Slack and Sondra Spavn of Reflections Salon will teach a one-night beauty class called "A Better You!" Held on Monday, March 5, from 7:30-9:30 p.m., Beverly and Sondra will pamper participants with a skin analysis, a facial, a manicure and a pedicure, to help one look and feel better.

Open to women and teens, the class will feature European beauty techniques using all-natural organic preparations. Class size is limited and pre-registration is a must.

Stress Management/Relaxation training will also be offered. Dr. Harish K. Malhorta, psychiatrist and neurologist, will explain how too much stress can manifest itself in bodily changes and psychosomatic illnesses such as hypertension, nervousness, insomnia and more.

Dr. Malhorta will also give some pointers on how to overcome stress in one's daily lives in this three-part course which meets Tuesday evenings, March 6, 13 and 20, from 7:30-8:30. One can call the YW at 273-4242, to reserve a place.

Professional Counselor Beth Maguire, ACSW, will lead a two-part workshop on Risk Taking, Mondays, March 5 and 12, from 7:30-9 p.m.

For those who are "afraid to take that important first step," Maguire will teach participants how to effectively take risks and effect change in their lives and develop confidence in themselves, to help them try again. Advance registration is recommended.

Registrations may be made by telephone with a major credit card between the hours of 9 a.m. - noon; or one may register in person at the YWCA desk between the hours of 8:30 a.m. - 8:30 p.m. For additional information, one can call the YWCA at 273-4242. Scholarships are also available for all classes and all requests will be kept confidential.

This educational activity was arranged by the Jonathan Dayton Guidance Department.

The Union County Utilities Authority (UCUA) has released the schedule for curbside pickups of recyclables during March for the 11 municipalities participating in the Union County Regional Recycling Program.

Newspaper, glass and aluminum will be collected every other week according to the following schedule:

Mountainside — Mondays, March 12 and 26.

Springfield — Fridays, March 2, 16 and 30.

UCUA officials remind residents to set out their recyclables by 7:30 a.m. the day they are scheduled for collection. Residents should prepare their materials according to the following guidelines:

Newspapers must be clean and tied in bundles that are no more than eight inches thick. The bundles may not include paper bags, magazines, telephone books or junk mail.

Glass bottles and jars must be well rinsed with all caps and lids removed. Labels, styrofoam, metal rings and plastic do not have to be removed. Do not break glass. Glass must be placed at the curb in sturdy, reusable containers. Only bottles and jars will be collected — no window glass, dishes, Pyrex, mirrors or crystal.

Aluminum beverage containers must be well rinsed and placed in a sturdy reusable container. Tin cans, paint cans and spray cans cannot be collected. Note: A magnet will not stick to the side or bottom of a recyclable all-aluminum can.

Glass and aluminum recyclables must be set out in separate containers. Materials placed in plastic or paper bags will not be collected.

For missed pickups, one can call 753-7276.

YWCA classes for adults and kids to be offered

An acting class for children and teens, Latin American cooking for adults, skin care for women and teens, a stress management workshop and a risk taking class are all planned for early March at the Summit YWCA, located at 79 Maple Street in Summit.

"Lights, Camera, Action!," an acting workshop for children, will be taught by New York talent manager and Summit native Jennifer Carlone on Saturdays.

Two sections — Group I for ages 7 to 10, from 10-11 a.m.; Group II for ages 11 to 14, from 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m., will be offered, geared specifically for the child's level.

The six classes, beginning March 3 and ending April 7, will teach basic acting techniques, improve speech and diction, develop poise and self-confidence and explore improvisational skills. Class size is limited; it is recommended that interested people sign their child up in advance.

Latin American Cooking, taught by Chatham resident and Argentina native Susana de Lopez Pardo, will improve participants' skills in the kitchen, add to their recipe file, and teach them how to prepare a variety of foods.

Lopez will prepare everything from soup to nuts, representing the varied cuisines of Central and South America.

Class will meet on two Monday evenings, March 5 and 12, at 7:30 p.m.; preregistration is required.

Beverly Slack and Sondra Spawn of Reflections Salon will teach a one-night beauty class called "A Better You!" Held on Monday, March 5, from 7:30-9:30 p.m., Beverly and Sondra will pamper participants with a skin analysis, a facial, a manicure and a pedicure, to help one look and feel better.

Open to women and teens, the class will feature European beauty techniques using all-natural organic preparations. Class size is limited and pre-registration is a must.

Stress Management/Relaxation training will also be offered. Dr. Harish K. Malhorta, psychiatrist and neurologist, will explain how too much stress can manifest itself in bodily changes and psychosomatic illnesses such as hypertension, nervousness, insomnia and more.

Dr. Malhorta will also give some pointers on how to overcome stress in one's daily lives in this three-part course which meets Tuesday evenings, March 6, 13 and 20, from 7:30-8:30. One can call the YW at 273-4242, to reserve a place.

Professional Counselor Beth Maguire, ACSW, will lead a two-part workshop on Risk Taking, Mondays, March 5 and 12, from 7:30-9 p.m.

For those who are "afraid to take that important first step," Maguire will teach participants how to effectively take risks and effect change in their lives and develop confidence in themselves, to help them try again. Advance registration is recommended.

Registrations may be made by telephone with a major credit card between the hours of 9 a.m. - noon; or one may register in person at the YWCA desk between the hours of 8:30 a.m. - 8:30 p.m. For additional information, one can call the YWCA at 273-4242. Scholarships are also available for all classes and all requests will be kept confidential.

Kean averts strike

By SHARON CATES

Negotiations over a teachers' contract that would affect nine state colleges, including Kean College of New Jersey in Union, continued and classes remained in session Tuesday, hours after a promised strike deadline had passed.

However, sources said that contract differences have not been resolved.

Although Robert Siteman, professor of philosophy and religion at Kean and that school's liaison to the Council of New Jersey State College Locals, was not available for comment, an unidentified source at his office said that both sides had agreed to continue negotiations. He said that the strike has, at least temporarily, been canceled.

"They decided to continue negotiations," the source explained. "It is not that we are not going to go on strike, it's just that we are not going to go on strike right now."

According to Michael Meyers, special assistant to the Chancellor of Higher Education, the strike deadline has been moved to Tuesday, March 6.

Meyers also noted that negotiations are scheduled to continue tomorrow. He speculated that the negotiations may continue through the weekend to avoid a strike.

Contract negotiations, which are reportedly centered around a controversy over salary increases over the next three years, surfaced this past summer when the teachers' former contract expired on July 1.

If a teachers' strike ultimately does occur, then Kean, Edison State College, Glassboro State College, Jersey City State College, Montclair State College, Ramapo College, Stockton State College, Trenton State College and William Paterson College would be affected.

Maternity course offered

Overlook Hospital in Summit offers a free maternity orientation program each month.

Expectant parents meet in the hospital auditorium, where a registered nurse from the maternity unit shows a slide of the maternity area, a film of labor and delivery, and answers questions. Family-centered maternity care, plus other services offered by Overlook, will be explained.

Overlook's Parentcraft Program can satisfy all participants' childbirth and parenting educational needs. The hospital offers a comprehensive series of classes which are taught by qualified health educators.

Classes include Childbirth Preparation and Lamaze Review, which include a tour of the maternity unit. Other classes available are Cesarean Birth, Breastfeeding and Infant Care.

Another class offered by Overlook helps before and after the baby arrives. This newly updated, two-night Infant Care class meets to discuss adjustments to parenthood, baby care demonstrations, feedings, diapering and many other practical matters of infant care.

After the baby's birth, the Mothers' Exchange program gives mothers and babies an opportunity to get together and learn infant cardiopulmonary resuscitation, nutrition, growth and development, and share ideas on many other topics.

For information on starting dates, fees and registration, one can call Overlook's Department of Health Education at 522-2963.

Discipline discussed

James Caldwell School in Springfield will host a program on effective discipline, sponsored by the Springfield Education Association, on Tuesday, March 6, at 8 p.m.

All parents are invited to attend. Refreshments will be provided.

Office volunteers sought

Volunteers who would like to work and socialize in the pleasant surroundings of a historic house and who can assist with office duties are needed at the Reeves-Reed Arboretum in Summit.

Office hours from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday are suitable for those with school-age children and for retired persons, senior citizens and those with daytime hours free.

Currently, a group of volunteers assists with bulk mailings, meeting on a weekday morning over coffee or tea while collating, folding, stapling and labeling printed materials for public distribution.

Other volunteers select their own time within office hours to assist the professional staff with making copies, typing, computer data entry, collating, affixing labels, record-keeping and more.

Most volunteers come or stay for lunch with each other and the staff. Luncheon walks through the gardens are often a bonus whenever mild weather permits.

To volunteer, one can call 273-8787 or stop at the Arboretum, located at 165 Hobart Ave., in Summit.

Springfielder in play

Stephanie Koempel of Springfield plays Mae in the Mother Seton Regional High School production of "Annie, Get Your Gun," a musical comedy based on the exploits of sharpshooter Annie Oakley, tonight, tomorrow and Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium on Valley Road near Garden State Parkway Exit 135 in Clark.

A new career opens up for a video man

By BEA SMITH

At what point in life does one decide which way one's career is going and one's ultimate goal in life? Think about it!

That's what John Tartaglino of Highland Park, formerly of Roselle, had to consider about a year ago. Tartaglino is a member of a crew that does commercial video taping, and almost by accident, submitted a column to a newspaper in his hometown. The column was published, and he was on his way to becoming a professional writer. Six months ago, he sent a column to this newspaper called "Think About It," an original, witty, sometimes satirical view of domestic life, and it was promptly published on the Editorial Page.

Since then, he has written occasional columns for this newspaper — pieces with such incisive wit and humor and such universal appeal that he won first prize in feature column writing from the New Jersey Press Association this year.

"I was flabbergasted when I heard about it," Tartaglino says during a telephone interview. "To say the least, I was pleasantly surprised. You know, I'd be down there to talk with you in person," he muses, "cuing into one of his favorite themes, 'but I have to watch the kids until my wife comes home from work.'"

That's the kind of thing he writes about. In the background one can hear 2-year-old Jeanette making the noises of the "Terrible Twos" and an occasional crash or two. And daddy saying, "Mommy will be home in half an hour. Gad! She's running around exploring things."

"I have two children," says Tartaglino. "But it always seems like 10. My son, John, at the moment is watching television in the next room," he sighs with what sounds like relief. "My wife, Joanne, works as a receptionist for Brandon/Sys-Temp in Edison. And my kids are wonderful. Really, I wouldn't trade them for the world. They can make you crazy, sometimes, but that's part of the fun."

Tartaglino, who has a fantastic sense of humor, can poke fun at politics, kids, domestic problems, snow — which he hates with a passion — the four seasons, baseball and the world in general. And it all sounds so amusing and hits so close to home.

He writes dialogue with a talent usually found in writers who have written professionally for many years.

"It isn't as if I haven't been around writers in the kind of work I do for a living," he says. "Actually, I do television work, mainly corporate work on training and introduction of new products. I do crew work. I help to tape shows, keep track of scripts. I free-lance for corporations and independent production houses. I've done demo scripts and tapes for people. They're all related. I work two days for one company, two days for another company and one day for a third company."

Tartaglino, who was born in Greenwich Village, New York City, lived there until he was 6 years old. He then lived in Jersey City for three years. "I moved to Roselle when I was 10 years old and that was 25 years ago. My parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tartaglino, still live in Roselle. My father works for Huffman-Koos in Rahway as a carpet salesman. He has a great sense of humor. I'm always bouncing my ideas for columns off him," laughs Tartaglino. "And I have two sisters, Ginny and Suzie, who lived in Linden until recently. I was graduated from St. Joseph the Carpenter School in Roselle and Roselle Catholic High School. What I remember most about Roselle was meeting my friends at the Roselle Manor, a diner there that now has a new name. And for the longest time, I had intended to be an actor. It was always in the back of my mind. When I went to Seton Hall University, I took a lot of acting courses, and I did a lot of acting. There and at the Celebration Playhouse, which is now the New Jersey Public Theater in Cranford. But I drifted off into other things."

Tartaglino received a degree in communications from Seton Hall. "But once I was graduated, I basically knocked around for a while."

He met his wife, the former Joanne Selesky of New Brunswick, during a summer show at Seton Hall. "She was a student there," he says, "and was in a summer theater program. A lot of non-students went to see the shows there. And that's how I met her."

"We were married in St. Peter's Church in New Brunswick in 1980, and lived in Elizabeth just over the Roselle line. We lived there for about five years, then moved to Highland Park where we have been living for the past four years."

"When I was married I had been working for Prudential in Newark. I was in group credit insurance. After that, I started getting into the video side of entertainment, which I have been doing for about seven or eight years now."

One day about a year ago, Tartaglino recalls, "I received a Highland Park newspaper by mistake. It was sent to the wrong address," he laughs. "Mine. Well, I had always fiddled around with writing amusing things. Basically, it was for my own enjoyment. And I've written some radio scripts for nothing. So, I sent a few articles that I had been playing with to that newspaper. And they published them."

"Then about six months ago, I decided to offer similar material to your newspapers. And my material was accepted. I work with a computer. Sometimes the columns come out almost full blown. I don't have to work too hard. But sometimes, I have to reset the computer and start all over again. I get my ideas from driving around and studying people and situations...from the things that happen with my wife and my kids. My ideas come from the darndest things and situations."

"My parents get a kick out of my columns. They get the Roselle Spectator and they read my columns. I use them as a sounding board. My father is my strictest critic. Sometimes, he laughs. Sometimes he gives me dead air. I feel it's better to find out from him than from somebody else. That's the difficult thing about writing. You really do do it in a vacuum," he says. "It's very much like working without feedback. So, what I also do is chase my wife around the kitchen reading the column to her to get her reactions," he laughs. "In fact, I'm always chasing her around the house saying 'Take a look at this,' and thrust my column at her. Usually, she smiles very nicely and answers my questions. That is, when she's not busy doing important housework...or taking care of the kids."

Tartaglino explains that it's important "to get semi-serious about a lot of things. And I've taken a lot of things seriously. You say what you have to say and you move on to the next subject. Where else can you basically sound off on things?" he exclaims. "I try to take things out of life and write about them. And most of what I write about I know I'm not alone and that people hopefully will agree with me."

"Take that article I did about snow. It all really happened. A friend of mine called me about the snow, and I found my juices flowing." Tartaglino says that "I would like to continue doing this. I would love to get into syndication...to see where it goes...maybe make a career of it."

"I enjoy doing it so much. One of the nice things about it," he says, "is that as long as there's silliness, I'll never run out of material!"

Mrs. New Jersey pageant is due

Lillian Lehman, state director for the 1990 Mrs. New Jersey America Pageant, has announced that today will be the last day prospective contestants will have to enter the 1990 pageant.

The winner will represent the state of New Jersey in the 1990 Mrs. America Pageant on a nationally televised special which will be viewed by millions. Prizes will include a mink coat, 1990 automobile, and a television and personal appearance contract to be awarded the winner.

The Mrs. New Jersey America Pageant system is designed "to recognize America's married women. As a pageant devoted to our 56 million American wives, it not only serves as a showcase for married women, but also focuses national attention on the versatility of the contemporary American wife."

Entry into the Mrs. New Jersey America Pageant "is the first step for married women to achieve their goals and take advantage of state and national prizes."

Married women interested in becoming part of the event "must be 18 years of age, married for a period of at least six months, a resident of the state of New Jersey, and a U.S. citizen. Prospective contestants must send a current snapshot, write a brief biography, and tell why they decided to enter the pageant. Include a stamped, self-addressed envelope to receive an official pageant application."

The 1990 pageant will be held at the Radisson Newark Airport Hotel, March 25 at 7:30 p.m. Channel 9's Richard Bey is host.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the Mrs. New Jersey America Pageant state director, Lillian Lehman, Rd. 3, Box 6, Throckmorton Street, Freehold, 07728. One can call 536-9023.

International contest

Applications are being accepted for the annual Mrs. New Jersey International Pageant to be presented May 20 at the Seasons-Great Gorge Resort in McAfee. The event is the official preliminary to the Mrs. U.S. International Pageant.

The Mrs. New Jersey International Pageant showcases the "achievements of married women whose lives reflect traditional family values. It emphasizes the value of marital commitment and the importance of the family unit in our society. Unlike other pageants, Mrs. New Jersey International places significant emphasis on the interview, which contributes 50 percent to the selection process. Additionally, the pageant has set itself apart from other pageants by eliminating the swimsuit competition."

Mrs. New Jersey International also "stresses the need for women and their families to become actively involved in building a stronger community. This emphasis is reinforced by the commitment to donate a percentage of the ticket proceeds to benefit the New Jersey Special Olympics."

Mrs. New Jersey International will be selected based upon poise, personality, and a demonstrated commitment to marriage. Contestants will be featured in interview, evening gown and sportswear events.

Applicants must be at least 24 years of age, married, a United States citizen, and a resident of the state of New Jersey. Women interested in obtaining more information and an application for participating in the pageant can call 827-0510.

Pre-Teen Queen pageant

The New Jersey National Pre-Teen Committee is seeking girls between the ages of 9 and 13 to represent their cities in the 1990 New Jersey National Pre-Teen Pageant, it was announced. "The committee is interested in recruiting intelligent girls who possess excellent communication skills and are poised and pleasant."

Applications also are being circulated for the Miss National Petite Pageant, which is open to girls ages 5 through 8.

Contestants are judged on "personal interview, talent, poise and personality." The winner of the New Jersey Pageant will receive a savings bond, tiara, sash and trophy, and a round trip flight to the National Pageant to compete with other state winners for the title of Miss National Pre-Teen of 1990.

Crowning of the winners at the 1990 Pageants will be held Aug. 16-17 at the Ramada Renaissance Hotel in East Brunswick.

For information on the Miss New Jersey National Pre-Teen or Petite Pageants, one can write to New Jersey National Pre-Teen Pageants, P.O. Box 1642, Rahway, 07065, or call 925-1155.

'Steel Magnolias' tenders an emotional slice of life

By BEA SMITH

It takes a certain kind of talent to be able to turn a tragic story into a humane, often funny play with emotional undertones. And that talent belongs to Robert Harling, who based his first play, "Steel Magnolias," on his family's experience. In fact, most of what takes place on the Paper Mill Playhouse stage in Millburn actually did happen to his mother, his sister, and the women in a beauty shop, who gathered there for companionship, support and gossip. Getting one's hair done seemed to be incidental.

The play, which is set in a small Southern town, Chinquapin, La., was turned into a movie by Ray Stark and recently released with such top stars as Dolly Parton, Shirley MacLaine, Sally Field, Olympia Dukakis, Daryl Hannah and Julia Roberts.

The six women in the Paper Mill play, who are primarily stage actresses, are equally qualified to give star performances and they all give fine characterizations.

"Steel Magnolias" has only one setting, a sparkling beauty shop which has been created as only expert scenic designer Michael Anania can envision. The shop contains two shop chairs alongside mirrors rimmed with lights, a sink for washing hair, dryers, a comfortable couch, which seems to be more for socializing than waiting for one's turn, and a kitchenette where fresh coffee is brewing. And within this setting there are six women, all involved in their own problems and each other's difficulties. They're all caring and loving and emotional and funny, and appear to mean more to each other as a family than their own families.

There is Pamela Lewis, who plays Truvy, the beautician, who is an absolute joy to behold in her gaudy, tight-fitting clothes, her fancy 6-inch heels, and henna-dyed red hair. Her comedy is played to the hilt with funny cracks about men...and women. Despite her obsession with the latest gossip, she has a natural ability to assist those in need.

Then there's Barbara Andres, who as M'Lynn is warm, lovable, with a touch of sophistication. She appears to have the simple answer to everything — except the reason for her daughter's diabetic condition. She is such a fine actress that whenever she walks on stage, everything seems to stop and wait for her to speak...or move...or sit. Very few actresses can hold an audience in the palm of their hand as Andrea can.

Barbara Gulan is exceptionally good as Shelby, M'Lynn's daughter, who, when the play begins, is about to be married and discusses the possible danger of having children because of her illness. She has the responsibility of the entire drama of the play, and she handles it with the skill of a seasoned actress.

Veanne Cox provides a good portion of the comedic tones in her role as a recently married, fumbling, clumsy soul, whose husband has left her penniless and who manages to get a job at Truvy's. She eventually turns to religion and tries to convert the entire group.

Billie Lou Watt plays Clairee, a very proper middle-aged woman who gives advice to all, and who eventually purchases a local radio station which changes her whole personality. She is endearing and manages to capture the audience's attention whenever the gem-like bits of advice flow from her lips.

Mary Fogarty plays Quiser, a tough old bird, who is devoted to an elderly, mixed breed dog, and who cares more about the dog than about herself. Fogarty provides much of the physical comedy.

With the marvelous direction of Jane Dentinger, who pretty much gives free rein to the six wonderful actresses, "Steel Magnolias" is a top-rate play. It will appeal to audiences who prefer their drama with a touch of comedy to ease the emotional overtones. It is, after all, a slice of life...and, in some way, everyone can identify with the wonderful group Harling has created.

Donate an organ

Today, through the miracles of modern medicine, patients who receive heart, liver and kidney transplants have survival rates of up to 90 percent.

Unfortunately, there aren't enough compatible organs to transplant.

In 1988 alone, the last year for which figures are available, 32 percent of the patients waiting for new hearts and 25 percent of those waiting for new livers died.

There are currently more than 19,000 people across the nation, and about 500 in New Jersey, waiting for organs.

A new law known as the Required Request/Assured Option now requires hospitals to offer families of potential donors the option of organ donation. However, in most cases this option is introduced to families in extreme duress, as the most suitable potential donors are usually those who died suddenly after trauma to the head, a brain aneurysm or a stroke.

Residents of Mountainside who have not already done so can ease this burden on their survivors and perhaps save another person's life by registering now as an organ donor with the New Jersey Organ and Tissue Sharing Network. The network's phone number is 1-800-541-0075.

Remember, an organ donation can keep a small part of the donor living, and can give hope for a long life to someone who once had none.

Money Management

Consider family, plan your estate

Death can strike any time — and if it strikes before you've written a will, the state may very well take control of your assets and decide the fate of your family.

If you want to control what happens to your family, your home and your assets after your death, the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs) advises you to stop procrastinating and write a will.

For instance, a will enables you to name a guardian for your children.

When making this decision, ask yourself who would be able and willing to raise your children with values similar to yours if both you and your spouse died in an accident.

The next critical decision you need to make is who should serve as the executor of your estate.

Executors have to inventory all your assets, collect all money owed you, liquidate assets, notify insurance companies and collect the proceeds, pay outstanding debts, arrange for your immediate family's living expenses, prepare and file all tax returns, and distribute your estate.

If your executor has no financial expertise, you may want to select a second party, perhaps your CPA, to serve as co-executor with a family member.

Next, take an inventory of your assets and decide exactly how you want them distributed. Try to think in percentages rather than dollar amounts.

Consider, too, the implications of each provision of your will as well as the circumstances and resources of each beneficiary.

For example, do you want to divide your assets equally between your two daughters if one of them has five children and the other none?

Another question you need to ask is: How old and self-sufficient are your children?

If they are succeeding financially, you may want to leave a greater portion of your estate to your spouse.

Besides ensuring that your estate is distributed according to your wishes, a will can also reduce the financial burden placed on your heirs.

For example, the administrator of your will is frequently required to post a performance bond to protect your estate from fraud, embezzlement or negligence.

Bond-fee premiums cost about $5 per $1,000 of the estate's gross value and are payable annually until probate is completed — which ranges from a few months to several years. The bond is meant to protect your estate, but may be unnecessary if the executor is a trusted friend or family member.

If you wish, your will can waive this bond requirement in certain jurisdictions.

Tax claims on an estate can also be substantial. Since state laws vary, ask a CPA to review your state's laws on estate and inheritance taxes.

Under the federal estate tax law, you do have a degree of protection.

If the gross estate, plus the value of certain lifetime taxable gifts, is under $600,000, filing a federal estate tax return is not required.

However, if estate assets plus the value of certain lifetime taxable gifts exceed $600,000 after deducting administrator's and executor's fees, funeral expenses and outstanding debts, the federal estate tax rate kicks in at 18 percent, and can go as high as 55 percent for estates of more than $5 million.

There is one major exception to this rule. Under the unlimited marital deduction, you can leave your entire estate to your spouse without incurring federal gift or estate tax — regardless of your estate's worth.

But when the surviving spouse dies, tax will be charged against your combined estates, thus placing a potentially tremendous tax load on the second estate.

For more information on estate planning, you can obtain a brochure from the New Jersey Society of CPAs by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the society's Estate Planning program, 425 Eagle Rock Ave., Roseland 07068.

Advanced Placement courses will stay

The letter written by Paula Rozan which appeared in the Mountainside Echo on Feb. 15 deserves a reply.

Her concern over the availability of Advanced Placement (AP) courses at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, which enrolls Mountainside students, and the three other Union County regional high schools need not be a concern.

The Union County Regional High School District 1 Board of Education has always supported the offering of AP courses in our schools, and it will continue to do so next year and in the following years. AP courses are important for academically talented students.

Our students receive a quality education and we are proud of that fact. Each year our graduates gain acceptance to the finest colleges and universities in the country.

Our students have had the opportunity to enroll in AP courses and they will continue to have that opportunity in the future. In fact, with an AP curriculum which includes courses in English, United States history, physics, calculus, chemistry, Spanish, computer science, French and Italian, students at Dayton as well as the other regional high schools have many of these college-level courses to select for their programs. We compare very well with other high schools of comparable size in the number of AP courses we offer.

Furthermore, I would like to comment about a "hidden agenda," which Rozan claims has been planned by the regional Board of Education.

The regional board does not have a "hidden agenda." On the contrary, the board has been firm in its commitment to continue to operate four quality high schools for the students and residents of its six communities, despite our continuing decline in enrollment.

The regional Board of Education is very serious about maintaining quality educational programs and at the same time instituting cost-containment. However, in order to follow this path, the board will have to make some very difficult decisions concerning the 1990-91 school budget.

Some of these decisions may be unpopular. But to ensure that we will have a strong academic school district which is also cost-efficient, the members of the Board of Education will meet these tough issues head-on. We will highlight academic development and still endeavor to contain our costs.

All residents of the regional district are cordially invited to offer comments and input regarding our planning and budgeting. Comments, concerns and questions regarding the tentative proposed school budget for 1990-91 may be offered at a public hearing on Tuesday, April 3, at 8 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School on Westfield Avenue in Clark.

Punish students who smoke in school

I've recently read that a lot of high schools, including many in our area, have started programs to help students quit smoking. This is in response to the new anti-smoking regulations for public places.

It seems to me that if we hadn't started allowing students to smoke in school in the first place, we wouldn't be having this problem with how to get them to stop.

I guess you can call me old-fashioned, as it's been a lot of years since I was in high school, but in my day we had a very effective plan to stop students from smoking in school.

When you got caught the first time, you got a week of detention and had to write, "I will not smoke cigarettes in school" 500 times.

A second offense got you a suspension from school, which in those days meant that a parent had to come in and meet with the principal. It also meant another writing assignment — this time, 500 times on the blackboard after school.

And if that wasn't enough to teach us a lesson, a third offense meant a longer suspension, and 1,000 times on the chalkboard after school. As I recall, it usually took about two to three weeks of 1½-hour-a-day detention to finish the 1,000 times.

Needless to say, this was a punishment to be avoided.

In my day, the solution was simple. If you smoked in school, you got punished. If you didn't want to get punished, you didn't smoke in school.

As with most of the problems in our schools today, a little discipline can go a long way to cure high school smoking. If you really want to get serious about stopping smoking, then get serious about discipline.

Support the regional schools' budget

I urge every parent and eligible voter in the communities of Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield to attend the Union County Regional High School District 1 Board of Education meeting on Tuesday, March 6, at 8 p.m. at Governor Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights.

At this meeting, attendees will have their first opportunity to ask questions and show support for the 1990-91 school year budget of $33.57 million, which represents a zero-dollar increase over last year's spending.

Those who cannot attend this regular school board meeting should plan to be at the formal budget hearing at Arthur L. Johnson High School in Clark on April 3 at 8 p.m., at which the 1990-91 budget will again be presented for public comment and review prior to the April 24 school board elections.

In the best interests of our children and the communities in which they reside, we urge those interested in maintaining the highest quality education, programs and services to attend these meetings and review this budget.

We also encourage parents and others to recommend restoration of the modest 2.6 percent budget increase originally proposed by the superintendent which would balance education needs with cost-containment necessities.

Please attend both the March 6 and April 3 meetings.

Doctors should help cancer victim

When little Tishna Rollo, the 8-year-old Glen Ridge girl who is fighting cancer, needed a bone-marrow transplant to save her life, all I heard was how greedy and heartless Blue Cross-Blue Shield was for refusing to pay for the operation.

No one said anything about the heartless doctors who would not do a thing until they had a guarantee of payment.

We hear about foreign children being flown in from other countries for medical procedures not available to them in their native countries, and about doctors donating their services for these unfortunate children. It's a pity little Tishna is an American.

Conference supports faculty union

The executive board of the New Jersey Conference of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) hereby expresses its solidarity with the New Jersey state college faculty represented by the American Federation of Teachers (AFT).

The issues that prompted members of the AFT union to work without a contract for eight months and to threaten a strike on Monday at nine state colleges, including Kean College of New Jersey in Union, are issues of concern to all faculty in higher education.

The AAUP board appeals to the public and leaders of New Jersey to respond promptly to the needs of the state colleges so that their many services will no longer be interrupted.

'College for Kids' offering three groups of seminars at UCC

Elementary school-age children may gain practical knowledge on topics ranging from dinosaurs to computers through three groups of seminars, "Sensational Workshops," to be offered by Union County College's Department of Continuing Education.

The workshops, which are part of the "College for Kids" program, include one titled, "Chemical Magic, Magical Microscope, Rocks and Minerals, Computers Workshops," to be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays, March 3 through March 17, at the college's Cranford campus.

The course, for children ages six through 12, will enable youngsters to make copper and silver, as well as chemical candy, in a laboratory. They will learn to make batteries from oranges and lemons, produce their own copper-coated nickels from electricity, and make "Incredible Hulk" glue out of milk. Other activities include shrinking quarters and dimes, making a crystal garden, individual versions of the "Sugar Monster" and invisible inks from secret recipes.

Still more workshop activities include seeing and hearing the "Big Bang Cannon," working with gigantic magnets, seeing a flying ball of fire, making hydrogen and oxygen, preparing and examining slides under a microscope, working with a TRS-80 micro-computer, and learning to write programs in Basic computer language.

Youngsters will be grouped into beginning, intermediate, and advanced levels. All participants should bring their own lunches for each session.

A second grouping, "The Rocketry-Electronics-Out-Into-Space Workshop," is designed for children ages 7 through 13. Participants will build and launch their own model rockets, understand solar system and black holes, and build either an automatic siren, burglar alarm, robot blinker, or stop-action timing tester.

Again, the youngsters will be divided into beginner, intermediate, and advanced groups; children should bring their own lunch to each session.

The course will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays, March 31 and April 7, on the Cranford campus.

A third course, "The Dinosaurs-Flying Reptiles-Prehistoric Animals Workshop: A Trip Into the Past" is intended for youngsters ages 5 through 7. The children will use stencils to make posters, learn the names of dinosaurs, and use rubber stamps to make a dinosaur lotto game they can play with friends.

Other activities include learning about the clues fossils give about creatures that lived millions of years ago, making fossil prints using casting plaster, and using toothpicks to form a dinosaur skeleton.

Still other workshop activities include creating a diorama showing dinosaurs in their natural environment, making a apatasaurus booklet, helping to solve a paleontologist's problem, watching scientists and/or videos, playing with dinosaur replicas, and helping to build a six-foot-tall tyrannosaurus Rex or six-foot-long apatasaurus.

Children are asked to bring their own lunches for each session.

This third course will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays, April 21 through May 5, on the Cranford campus.

A program highlighting self-defense techniques for women will be presented by Jay Avellino, a black-belt karate expert, from 12:15 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 6, in the Cranford campus' gymnasium.

"How to Talk Back to Your Doctor" will be presented by Dr. Stephen Parker of Roselle Park, UCC's consulting physician, from 12:15 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 7, in the Union County Room of the Cranford campus' MacKay Library.

Andrea Green of Springfield, chairperson of the college's Department of English/Fine Arts/Modern Languages, will speak on the topic, "Six Humble Truths About Loving," from 12:15 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 8, also in Union County Room.

The final program of the week, "Mothers and Daughters," will feature Dr. Lois Steinberg, a Millburn psychologist, from 12:15 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Friday, March 9, also in the Union County Room.

Smokers offered chance to quit

"Freedom from Smoking," a seven-week, nationally-tested, non-credit course, will be offered by Union County College's Department of Continuing Education from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesdays, March 6 through April 24, on the college's Cranford campus.

The course will utilize behavior modification techniques to help smokers quit by the third session. The remaining four sessions will emphasize maintenance and reinforcement of the non-smoking behavior.

Manager named

By SHARON CATES
Deputy Union County Manager Ann Baran was appointed acting county manager at last Thursday's county Board of Freeholders meeting. Baran was asked to fill the position in an acting capacity until the freeholders can appoint a permanent manager to succeed former County Manager Joseph A. Martin, who resigned last month. This is the second time Baran has been called on to fill the vacant county manager position. She served as acting county manager two years ago after Donald Anderson resigned the position. In 1988, Baran was appointed acting county manager, at full county manager salary. This time, however, the freeholders decided to uphold a county policy that restricts the board from paying acting county managers and acting department heads full salary until they have completed 30 days on the job. So Baran's salary was set at $80,496, as opposed to the full county manager's salary of $95,000, for her first 30 days as acting county manager. "Last time, when she was paid a full salary from the first day, that was wrong," Freeholder Chairman Gerald Green explained. "The 30 days will give us the opportunity to review our funds." Meanwhile, an ad hoc committee, headed by Freeholder Vice Chairman James Connelly Welsh, is reviewing the methods to hire a county manager that past freeholder boards have used. "I don't sense any great urgency in this situation. This time the county, thank God, is better prepared," Welsh said. "This is the first time we have had a deputy county manager in place," he said. "We have the luxury of time. We don't have to rush, because we have an experienced person at the helm."

Students are asked to write on the subject of what to teach about the Holocaust and why, according to Jola Hoffman of Mountainside, who chairs the Holocaust Observance Committee's essay committee. SECTION B

UNDER GUARD — Garrett Cermele of Roselle Park, 50, looks pass to a breaking teammate as Keith LeBlonde of Brearley keeps the pressure on during Monday's North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 playoff game between the two rivals in Kenilworth. The Bears won, 58-44, to advance to last night's game with Essex County Vo-Tech.

Farmers take district; 23 qualify for regions

By MARK YABLONSKY

Union, by way of a 16-point turnaround in the championship round, defeated Millburn, 110.5 to 102.5, to win a second straight District 10 wrestling title this past weekend in Millburn. Meanwhile, a total of 23 wrestlers within the County Leader coverage area, including six from Union, battled their way into Region 3 competition by placing high enough in Districts 10 and 11 to qualify.

Union, which won last year's District 10 tournament by five-and-a-half points over Columbia, fought back from an eight-point deficit entering the final round to win this time by that many points over Millburn, which sent nine on to Region 3 activity.

Finishing behind Union and Millburn was third-place Dayton, which earned 83.5 points while sending six qualifiers into regional competition. The rest of the eight-team field included Roselle Park (73.5), Seton Hall Prep (69.5), Irvington (58), Columbia (56.5) and West Side of Newark (11).

And in District 11, sixth-place Brearley placed four wrestlers, including 152-pound champion Vic Verno, to Region 3; and eighth-place Linden added two more, Joe Sokolowski and heavyweight Brandon Robinson.

Sokolowski, after missing the Union County Tournament because of a broken finger, came back to place second in 189-pound competition by beating Ken Marsh of Westfield, 10-5, in the semifinals. Sokolowski then lost by disqualification in the final to Dave Peterson of Johnson, when the former was penalized for stalling. Robinson, despite an 8-7 defeat to eventual heavyweight champion Darrel Fur-bell of Rahway, still came in third to qualify for regional activity.

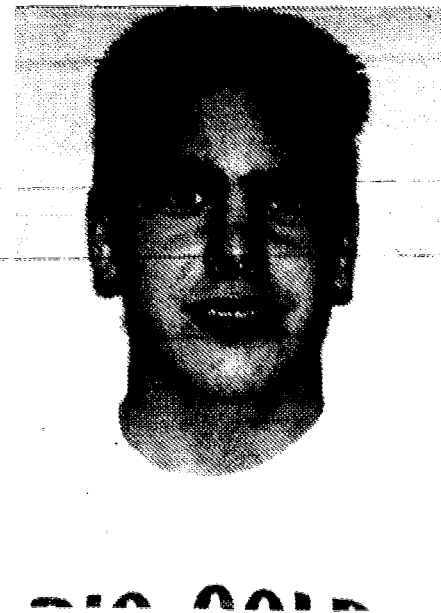

From here on in, all wrestling will be on an individual basis only.

The top three wrestlers in each weight class gained entry to the Region 3 tournament, scheduled to begin last night in Union among second and third-place qualifiers only. The respective champions from each weight class will be worked into the schedule beginning tomorrow night, with the championship round to culminate the action on Saturday. Likewise, the top three in each class will advance into the state tournament, which will begin on March 14 in Princeton before concluding three days later.

"It was a very nice win," said Union coach Al Lilley, whose son Dan emerged as the 125-pound champion in District 10 for the second year in a row, having also won at 112 pounds as a freshman in 1988. "It was a come-from-behind victory, which was very nice. It's a good feeling."

"I really think we wrestled well as a team in the tournament," added Roselle Park coach Sam Appello, whose team won the district crown two years ago. "A couple of breaks here and there, and we could have had a higher finish."

Of the 17 CLN qualifiers from District 10, seven were champions, including five from Union: Earl Finney at 119 pounds, Lilley at 125, Mike Francesca at 140, Rob Vieira at 160 and 171-pounder Bob Kuldaneck. Chris Moreno of Dayton Regional won the 130-pound title as the No. 1 seed by pinning Millburn's Shane Remolina at 4:49, and then decisioning Scott Hibbard, 8-7, in the final. Hibbard was Union's other Region 3 qualifier, and Remolina also advanced in third place.

Lilley, who was the top seed, won his third straight title by pinning Peter Carpenter of Dayton in 2:50. Carpenter had made it to the title bout with a pin over Millburn's Frank DeGoia at 4:28. Both will take part in regional competition.

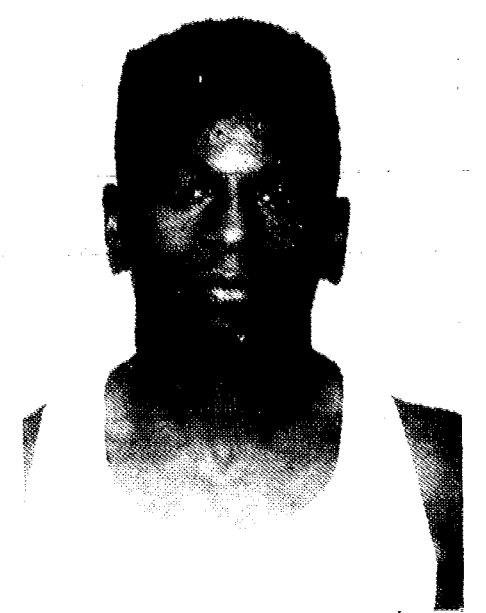

Vieira won his title by default, when Mike Rubas of Seton Hall Prep was unable to wrestle in the title match because of an injury he sustained in the semifinal round with Eugene Belle of Roselle Park. Belle, who was disqualified because of a slam, settled for third place and will be in Region 3 competition. Earlier, Vieira was awarded an automatic win over a Millburn wrestler who was disqualified from any further post-season activity because of biting, which is deemed a flagrant disqualification.

The other District 10 champion from the CLN area was 145-pounder John Ranieri, who won his title by decisioning Dayton's Mike Masi, 7-5, in the final.

Brearley got a respectable 73 points despite placing far behind first-place Westfield (173), and sent Verno, 130-pounder Clint Kaminski, 145-pounder Bob Taylor and heavyweight Scott Dubeau into Region 3 competition. Verno won his title by beating Mike Ondovik of Rahway, 12-7, in overtime, while Kaminski was the runner-up at 130 pounds to Westfield's Glen Kurz, that weight class's Union County Tournament champion as well. Taylor placed third, while Dubeau settled for second after dropping a 15-6 decision to Fur-bell in the title bout.

Earlier, Dubeau had pinned Pat Hart of Roselle Catholic and Erik Klezer of Westfield.

Verno, it should be noted, had lost twice before to Ondovik this year, including a 12-11 heartbreaker in the

EARL FINNEY

UCT consolations. He turned the tables this time by forcing overtime with a two-point takedown in the closing seconds of regulation, before taking control with another takedown near the end of the first one-minute OT session.

"We're very pleased," Brearley coach Ron Ferrara said. "We had six place winners (overall), which I think is a real good showing. And in general, the kids really wrestled well."

The top three wrestlers from each District 10 weight class are as follows:

103 pounds: 1) Terrence Paul, Irvington. 2) Dante Puorro, Dayton. 3) Greg Marsh, Millburn.

112 pounds: 1) Mark Lombardi, Millburn. 2) Bob McCafferty, Roselle Park. 3) Jason Yee, Dayton.

119 pounds: 1) Earl Finney, Union. 2) John Petrosky, Roselle Park. 3) Mike Weinbach, Millburn.

125 pounds: 1) Dan Lilley, Union. 2) Peter Carpenter, Dayton. 3) Frank DeGoia, Millburn.

130 pounds: 1) Chris Moreno, Dayton. 2) Scott Hibbard, Union. 3) Shane Remolina, Millburn.

135 pounds: 1) Paolo Custodio, Columbia. 2) Kamal Brown, Irvington. 3) Dante Caprio, Seton Hall Prep.

140 pounds: 1) Mike Francesca, Union. 2) Greg Jarmolowich, Seton Hall Prep. 3) Andrew DeFillippis, Columbia.

145 pounds: 1) John Ranieri, Roselle Park. 2) Mike Masi, Dayton. 3) Jim Rosa, Seton Hall Prep.

152 pounds: 1) Sean Knorr, Seton Hall Prep. 2) Frank Miceli, Millburn. 3) Jeff Pettway, West Side.

160 pounds: 1) Rob Vieira, Union. 2) Mike Rubas, Seton Hall Prep. 3) Eugene Belle, Roselle Park.

171 pounds: 1) Rob Kuldaneck, Union. 2) Mike Kotlarz, Millburn. 3) Ron Jones, Roselle Park.

189 pounds: 1) Bill Coon, Columbia. 2) Murray Avent, Irvington. 3) Tom Reilly, Millburn.

Heavyweight: 1) Bryan Steiner, Millburn. 2) Scott Adderty, Dayton. 3) Bernard Clark, Irvington.

Eagan reaches 1,000 points

By MARK YABLONSKY

There are some girl's basketball players in New Jersey who have scored more points than Brearley Regional's Kim Eagan, including one particular sophomore in Middlesex County who recently broke her school's scoring mark with more than 1,600 career points. Eagan, a sharp-shooting junior guard and a two-time All-County Leader selection, isn't quite in that category yet.

But she's definitely among the elite in girl's high school basketball, at least as far as local play is concerned. Thanks to her 25-point performance in a 40-26 victory over Arthur L. Johnson Regional on Feb. 15, Eagan became one of only a handful of players, male and female, to reach the 1,000-point plateau at Brearley.

The most recent to have done so is Sterling Williams, a 6-foot-1 senior swingman on the Brearley boy's team. But Eagan, who averages roughly 21 points per game, is definitely on track to break the Kenilworth-based school's all-time scoring record, currently held by Joan Harris who left Brearley with 1,205 points.

If all goes well, Eagan should overtake Harris early next season. In the meantime, she continues to score — and score plenty.

Needing just 26 points to reach the 1,000-point mark following a 63-35 Union County Tournament defeat to Westfield on Feb. 13, Eagan wasted little time, first scoring 19 points in a 51-34 defeat to New Providence on Feb. 13, and then adding the 25 against Johnson.

Officially, the record points came on a layup late in the first half. Eagan, after being held to just two points in a tight first period — in which both teams scored just a combined total of 11 points — recorded six in the second. With Brearley, now 11-9, working on a press with a little over a minute remaining in the period, she swiped the ball and went in for a layup — and points 1,000 and 1,001.

"And then we started to win," added Brearley skipper Marge Egan, who coached three 1,000-point players at Mother Seton Regional High in

KIM EAGAN

Clark. "Up until then, the team was tight. There was a lot of tension up until then, but after that, she just broke out and scored 25 points."

Twelve of the points came in the final quarter, when the Lady Bears outscored Johnson, 16-9, to put it away.

Wrestlers finish in first

The Union Wrestling Club finished first at the Central Jersey Tournament, held recently at Union High School. Union topped second-place Middlesex, 119-72.

Winning titles for Union's A Team were Anthony Leavy (53 pounds), Eric Swick (73), David Bubnowski (78), Shemar Rice (90), Nick Ferroni (95), and Pharoah Moore (Hwt).

Joey Bertolotti, Marc Perro, Greg Francesca and Michael Mata all placed second, while Ryan Samuels and Pat Collins took third. Danny Golin (45) was fourth.

The B squad got first-place efforts from Kevin O'Grady, Jason Perrotta, Kris Pilone, Ray Fain, Terell Hudson, Michael Bellina and Anthony Russell. Coming in second was Sean Davis, and in third place was Mike Reilly. Kyle Russell, Bob Leamy, Danny Autenrieth and Mike Signorella all took fourth.

Other Union wrestlers included Brian Paoletta, Danny Cleary, Tony Manderichio, Mike Autenrieth, David Sangster, John Fabiano and Joey Collins.

'Say Yes' program works to strike out sports stress

By MARK YABLONSKY

As one writer recently put it, "For the most part, organized children's sports are run by dedicated parents and coaches, but far too often things get out of hand." That's a big reason why the National Youth Sports Coaches Association (NYSCA) is sponsoring a relatively new program that is geared toward reducing sports stress for pre-high school youth between the ages of 5-14.

The program, entitled "Say Yes to Better Sports for Kids Program," is meant to ensure that children partaking in sports receive more of the fun side of athletic competition, and not as much stress — stress that is believed to be responsible for a dropout rate of nearly 70 percent among young athletes at or before the age of 13.

Begun as a symposium in Washington, D.C. less than three years ago, the "Say Yes to Better Sports for Kids Program" has since grown nationwide to the point where well-established organizations such as the national PTA and the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) support it. And a growing number of sports celebrities, including Chicago White Sox manager and Mountainside resident Jeff Torborg, have endorsed it.

The DEA is involved because it feels that if less pressures are exerted on youth, than the chances of turning to drugs and alcohol will be reduced.

"It's to try to educate the parents and the coaches that this is for kids," explained Dr. Richard Bakker, a professor of physical education at nearby Kean College who is the NYSCA's statewide executive director. "Not to emphasize the win-at-all-costs philosophy, but to create the learning process."

The non-profit program works with parents, coaches, youth league administrators, recreation directors and youth in order to try to "create a truly positive environment for all sports participants." Under the auspices of the NYSCA, the "Say Yes" program operates on local levels — usually with recreation departments — in cooperation with the PTA, DEA and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Office for Substance Abuse Prevention (OSAP).

Already, several communities in Union County run "Say Yes" programs, including Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Summit and Linden.

Further information is available by calling Bakker at 527-2547.

Brearley teams capture wins

After trailing by a 21-17 margin at halftime, the David Brearley Regional boy's basketball team rallied for 41 second-half points to defeat Roselle Park, 58-44, in a first-round, North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 playoff game on Monday night in Kenilworth. And earlier, a 27-point effort from Kim Eagan propelled the Brearley girl's team to a 53-35 win over Mountain Lakes in the sectional opener.

Brearley, the eighth seed, was scheduled to face top-seeded Essex County Vo-Tech. In boy's sectional quarterfinal-round last night, and the Lady Bears, also the eighth seed, were scheduled to visit New Providence, the top seed in North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2., yesterday.

In the boy's game, Park, which finished with an 11-13 record, rode 10 of Scott Birmingham's game-high 18 points to its four-point advantage throughout the first half. But five points from Matt Dolly sparked a 17-11 advantage for Brearley in the third that enabled the Bears to claim a slight 34-32 lead heading into the final period of play.

Once there, the Bears, who had four players score in double figures, put it away with a 24-12 rush. Nine of those points went to forward John Anglim, with eight of them coming off the floor. The Bears also were able to capitalize on Park's foul troubles by converting eight of 12 free throw opportunities in the last quarter.

In the period, Sterling Williams, who had 12 points, had three foul shots, as did Steve Gaeta, who managed seven points for the winning team.

It was Brearley's third win over Park this season; the Bears defeated the Panthers in the season-opener on Dec. 15 in Kenilworth, and then beat Park again on Jan. 19 in Roselle Park.

Eagan, a junior guard who now owns a career total of 1,045 points, took control by scoring 10 points in the second period, during which time the Lady Bears outscored Mountain Lakes by an 18-6 count to grab a 26-17 halftime lead. Eagan also netted all three of Brearley's three-point baskets, two coming in the first quarter when Brearley was outscored, 11-8.

Freshman center Trish Anglim netted 10 of her 14 points in the second half, while adding 10 rebounds for the entire game.

Kelly record 'is the best'

Forbes magazine has selected Kelly Services, Inc., the nation's largest temporary help company, as the best business services and supplies company for the 1990s in the magazine's 42nd annual Report on American Industry.

Kelly's local headquarters is in Union.

In making the selection, Forbes' editors cited Kelly's record sales growth in the 1980s, its commitment to training employees and its development of the Encore (TM) program to assist mature employees in reentering the workforce.

"During the 1980s, we earned recognition and praise as one of the Best Managed Companies by Business Month and as Michigan's Company of the Year by the Detroit Free Press," said Terence E. Adderley, president and chief executive officer, Kelly Services. "As we head into the 1990s, this Forbes selection is a tribute to our employees' business acumen, hard work, dedication, customer service and employee relations which are unequalled in our industry and in American business."

According to Forbes, companies were ranked against their competitors, industry by industry, in the areas of profitability, growth, sales and net income. The 20 companies honored were featured in the magazine's Jan. 8 issue.
