LET'S RECYCLE TOGETHER — The Peppermint Puppeteers of River Vale will perform an all new recycling show, 'Don't Waste a Minute, Recycle! Part II,' at Deerfield School, Mountainside, Jan. 31 at 6 p.m. Parents, children and all area residents are invited to this special Deerfield Parent Teacher Association event, which is sponsored by the Borough of Mountainside. The show is performed on a large, multi-level stage and features a large cast of puppets, human characters, 'commercials' performed in black light, music, magic and lots of audience participation. For further information one can call Catharine Gionta at 654-8948.

Man wills $100G to students

By SUZETTE STALKER

It was the wish of the late Fred E. Rosenstiel, though he had no children of his own, that Mountainside youngsters be given an opportunity to enjoy what many people believe is one of life's greatest gifts — the gift of education.

The Mountainside resident, who died Aug. 9 at age 89, bequeathed $100,000 to the Mountainside Board of Education for the establishment of a scholarship fund, according to Superintendent of Deerfield School Leonard Baccaro.

A borough citizen for 40 years, Mr. Rosenstiel lived on Mountain View Drive with his wife, Florence, a former Roselle teacher who died about six years ago. Mr. Rosenstiel was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Westfield and was described by fellow church members as "the best."

Mr. Rosenstiel was an engineer with Texaco for many years and received the company's highest award for "Outstanding Achievement." He also was a member of the Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield.

He served on the Mountainside Rescue Squad and as a volunteer at Children's Specialized Hospital on New Providence Road in Mountainside. The church and the hospital also were also named as beneficiaries in his will.

Mr. Rosenstiel's will, dated Feb. 8, 1982, instructed that the money "be utilized by the board, with the assistance and guidance of the superintendent of schools, for scholarship assistance to deserving students residing in the Borough of Mountainside, same to be used for post secondary schooling of whatever type, including vocational training."

"It's a first for us," remarked Baccaro, adding that the Mountainside Board of Education only recently learned of Mr. Rosenstiel's legacy. "We're gathering all kinds of resources to develop the scholarship procedure, so at this point we have not developed a specific criteria. Baccaro remarked that he was "amazed and delighted" at the news of Mr. Rosenstiel's bequest. "It just goes to show you the generosity of the people of Mountainside and the importance of education."

Since Mr. Rosenstiel dictated in his will only that the money be given to a Mountainside resident, Baccaro emphasized that scholarships could be awarded to graduating seniors from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, the Vail-Deane School in Mountainside or other secondary schools.

"We've checked with Dayton to find out what scholarships are available and to find out what their criteria is, and we're also checking with other groups in town," the superintendent noted. "There's a scholarship fund in the name of former Mayor Thomas J. Ricciardi, and we're looking into that."

Baccaro reported that the board still has "more questions than answers" regarding how the scholarship money will be distributed, particularly the amounts to be awarded and whether or not scholarships will be offered on a two-year or four-year basis.

The superintendent stated that he hoped the scholarship program would be ready for the graduating classes of June 1991, adding that the Mountainside school board discussed guidelines for the program during its Jan. 8 meeting and expects to have its criteria established by April.

District BOE has update on revised computer use

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District last week heard a report by Thomas Baker, district supervisor of computer operations and instruction, regarding the latest developments in computer education at the four regional high schools.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, which enrolls Mountainside students; David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

Baker divided his presentation into two topics, instructional computing and administrative computing.

He explained that the district's Computer Science Curriculum Committee, made up of computer science teachers at the four regional high schools, regularly reviews the district's computer curriculum to determine whether or not it adequately meets the needs of district students.

The committee's tasks are to determine if the computer curriculum is up to date, if it takes maximum advantage of the district's hardware and software capabilities and if it reflects increased computer awareness among students.

"Our students are coming into the high schools with more computer awareness because of expanded computer programs in the elementary schools," Baker noted, "so we're taking a good hard look at our computer programs."

Baker reported that the Technical Education Computer Science course at Jonathan Dayton will be replaced in the 1991-92 school year by an Advanced Placement Computer Science course.

The change was implemented because of a state requirement that Technical Education Computer Science classes meet two periods per day, which frequently made it difficult for students to fit the course into their schedules.

Advanced Placement Computer Science meets only one period per day, and will be preceded by a one semester prerequisite course, Introduction to Pascal. The two courses together will cover the majority of the material which was offered in the Technical Education Computer Science course, Baker said.

The supervisor also reviewed the various types of computers which are now being utilized by the regional district.

He explained how Apple II GS microcomputers are being employed in high school writing centers and how Appleworks, an integrated software package including a spelling check, is being used as a word processor.

He added that a new course, Computer Applications, which teaches Appleworks, has proven to be highly successful. The course instructs students on how to prepare and use data bases, spread sheets and the word processor, as well as use of the "clipboard," which helps them to link the various applications.

News Bank, a CD-ROM based electronic data base, is currently available in all four school libraries, according to Baker. It is a directory of 2 million newspaper articles throughout the United States and provides access to the articles themselves on accompanying microfiche.

A directory of magazines similar to the Reader's Guide also is available.

HOLIDAY HARMONY — Students in grades 5 through 8 from the Vail-Deane School in Mountainside recently entertained parents, faculty and friends at a holiday concert. Under the direction of Linda Sweifach of Springfield, left, music teacher, the Middle School chorus sang a variety of seasonal songs, including 'Happy Winter,' 'Feliz Navidad' and 'The Animal's Lullabye.' Marie Mercier of Mountainside, French teacher, was the piano accompanist.

Mountainside mayor named league head

By SUZETTE STALKER

Mountainside Mayor Robert Vigilanti, recently elected as president of the Union County League of Municipalities, stated this week that he and fellow league members are prepared to face new challenges and to continue working toward goals established in 1990.

During league elections held Jan. 19, Vigilanti was named to succeed former Linden Mayor Paul Werkmeister as president of the league. The league, which meets monthly to discuss issues common to member municipalities, now includes all 21 Union County communities.

Other league officers elected included David P. Wright, mayor of Winfield, first vice president; Philip Kumos, former Springfield mayor and current township committeeman, second vice president; Cranford Mayor Ed Force, treasurer, and Cranford Councilwoman Carolyn Voller, secretary.

"I'm very excited about it," Vigilanti remarked Monday about his election as league president. "I think there are tremendous challenges ahead and lots of work to be done. I'm looking forward to working on projects which we started in 1990."

A major project which the league expects to undertake in 1991 is playing an active role in the development of the Union County budget.

Vigilanti reported that the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders is expected to issue each municipality a copy of the board's proposed budget, which the league will then review and discuss before making recommendations regarding "what we concur with and what we disagree with."

"I think its beneficial in that it will give the towns a better understanding of what the county does with its money," the mayor explained.

"A larger number of people being involved can also be beneficial because there is more input," Vigilanti continued. "All of us in the league have worked on municipal budgets, and we can read and understand where the budget is going."

The league also is planning to resume its battle to have the state revise its 911 emergency response proposal, to which municipal governments are opposed.

League members are protesting the state's plan to tax municipalities to maintain 911 systems on the local level while already having imposed a 6 percent sales tax on all telecommunications equipment to pay for the service.

Vigilanti confirmed that Springfield Township Committeeman Jeffrey Katz is in the process of preparing documentation for a meeting which the league hopes to arrange with state representatives within the next several weeks.

Finally, the league also is planning to renew its investigation into a prop-

ANCIENT ART — Larry Biederman of Livingston, upper left, displays examples of his origami, the Japanese art of folding paper into decorative shapes, to second graders at the Vail-Deane School in Mountainside. Biederman, a sophomore at SUNY University, Binghamton, has been doing origami since he was 7 years old and has been giving demonstrations to Vail-Deane students for many years.

Bird watch is slated

A Winter Bird Watch for disabled individuals will be held at the Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside on Saturday, Feb. 2, from 10 a.m. to noon. It is the first program to be sponsored by the Department of Parks and Recreation's Outdoor Activity Club.

Pre-registration is necessary to participate in the Winter Bird Watch, it was announced. The deadline to register is Monday, Jan. 28. In case of rain, the program will be held the following Saturday, Feb. 9.

Participants will meet in the bird watching area at the Trailside Visitor Center, where they will make their own binoculars before setting out on a hike to spot, identify and discuss birds, their nests and their winter habits.

Along with the hike, each person will build a bird feeder to take home, and time will be available for refreshments and socializing. In order to address the separate needs of mentally and physically challenged individuals, the Winter Bird Watch will be conducted in two groups.

"The Winter Bird Watch is the first of five programs to be offered through

Program to start

The Mountainside Public Library is currently accepting registration for Children's Storytimes, an 8-week program which will run from Tuesday, Feb. 5, through Tuesday, March 26. The program will be led by Gloria Brand of Springfield.

Preschoolers, ages 3 to 5, can sign up for sessions at either 10:30 a.m. or 1 p.m. Kindergartners can sign up for a 2 p.m. session. All classes will offer various activities suited to the children's age group.

One can call the library at 233-0113 or stop in to register.

Dayton student is recognized

Seventeen-year-old Rachel Haine, daughter of Jane and Richard Haine of Mountainside and a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, has been designated as her school's "Student-of-the-Month" for January.

A well-rounded student, Rachel has attained a grade-point average of 3.6 on a scale of 4.0 and is ranked third academically in this year's senior class at Jonathan Dayton. She also is involved in many co-curricular activities.

Haine serves as president of the Jonathan Dayton chapter of the National Honor Society and as the first vice president of the Dayton senior class.

In addition, she is a senior representative in the school's Key Club, a community service organization, and is the student representative to the committee preparing for Jonathan Dayton's upcoming evaluation by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

A varsity cheerleader during the fall athletic season, Haine also has found time to serve as a volunteer at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside.

The "Student-of-the-Month" said she has narrowed her choice of colleges to four: Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., the University of Pennsylvania, Washington University of St. Louis or Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y.

Regardless of the school she attends next year, however, Haine said she hopes to pursue a career in child psychology.

The "Student-of-the-Month" program is offered at the four high schools in Union County Regional High School District 1, including Jonathan Dayton, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

District BOE updated on curriculum

Baker stated that the Computer Curriculum Corp. microhost computer system has been providing district students with additional help in basic skills and/or skills which are required to pass the High School Proficiency Test.

The system monitors an individual student's progress and can also diagnose a student's strengths and weaknesses and the areas where a student may need extra help.

In his discussion on administrative computing, Baker reported that the district's HP3000 administrative computers service the high schools and board office in various areas. The bulk of the district's software is prepared by Computer Solutions Inc., Orange, while some additional software is written in house.

Baker confirmed that student recordkeeping procedures have been updated and that new standards for attendance recordkeeping mandated by the New Jersey Department of Education, have been realized.

He also discussed a new computer software package, "Right-To-Know," which currently is being installed. This provides a data base of all items which contain hazardous chemicals and prints reports to be submitted to the state. It also prints labels which are placed on hazardous items as part of the state's "Right-To-Know" law.

Finally, Baker announced that the district will now be using a new report card form called a Lasermate. This form, used successfully during the first quarter of the 1990-91 school year, allows schools to send the original copy of the report card home to parents.

Baker used a sample to demonstrate how a mailable envelope is formed by gluing a generic windowed front sheet to the printed report card, which he said improves the printing quality of those cards. He added that some parents complained that previous report card forms sometimes were difficult to read.

Viglianti reported that the league is currently in favor of the trolley concept, though it is awaiting further information from Fanwood Mayor Patricia M. Kuran. Kuran is expected to have additional information when the league meets Feb. 16 at the Union County Vocational-Technical School in Scotch Plains.

TOP MATH SCORERS — Eighth-grade students at Deerfield School in Mountainside recently participated in the Eighth Grade American Junior High School Mathematics Competition. The top scorers, pictured above, were Angela Carrelli, first place; Alexandra Gitter and Anna Lisa Lopez, who each tied for second place, and Reid Farrington and Vincent Escalona, who tied for third place.

"The goal of this club is to promote physical fitness among disabled individuals while learning new skills and activities, and to introduce particiants to clubs, organizations and facilities which commonly practice that skill or activity," he explained.

"In order to encourage commitment to the Outdoor Activity Club, individuals who participate in all five of the activities will receive achievement awards. Individuals who participate in four of the events will also be recognized," he continued.

"The remaining activities will include kite flying, a bike ride and safety clinic, and two hikes."

Regional calendar OK'd

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 last week adopted the district's school calendar for the 1991-92 academic year. This calendar applies to the four regional high schools in the district.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

Under the newly-approved calendar, the 1991-92 school year will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 3, when freshman orientation is conducted at all four schools. Classes will begin for all students on Wednesday, Sept. 4.

The 183-day academic year will conclude for students on Monday, June 22, 1992, while teachers will finish the school year the following day, Tuesday, Jan. 23, 1992. Commencement exercises will be held at all four regional high schools on Monday, June 22.

The schools of Union County Regional High School District 1 usually close for a number of days each year due to snow. If more than three snow days are required next school year, Easter vacation in April 1992 could be reduced or school could be extended in June for students and teachers.

Also, the date of commencement could conceivably be later if seniors have not completed 180 school days by that date.

Trailside 'Jamboree' set

Trailside Nature and Science Center, located on Coles Avenue and New Providence Road in Mountainside, will hold a special Trailside Explorers program titled "Jungle Jamboree" on Tuesday, Jan. 29, at 3:30 p.m.

The program will offer third to fifth graders an opportunity to learn all about tropical rainforests, which are disappearing at a rate of 50 acres per minute. Students will learn about these fragile ecosystems and discover ways they can help prevent rainforest destruction.

As a grande finale to this program, participants will create a supersundae using a variety of rainforest products.

Trailside Explorers meet on alternate Tuesdays from 3:30-4:45 p.m. Pre-registration is required. February topics include a Winter Scavenger Hunt and Basic Birding. To find out more about these programs or to receive a flyer, one can call Trailside at 789-3670.

WHERE'S THE FIRE? — Students in Lynne O'Connor's and Jo-Ann Pieper's kindergarten classes at Thelma L. Sandmeier School in Springfield recently welcomed Captain Nick Gianas, standing center, of the Union Township Fire Department. Captain Gianas, whose daughter, Jennifer, is in O'Connor's class, spoke to the children about fire safety and special precautions to take.

Exhibit announced

A photography exhibit by artist Helen M. Luecke of Westfield will be on display at Children's Specialized Hospital, located on New Providence Road in Mountainside, throughout the month of February, the hospital has announced.

Luecke is a graduate of Caldwell College and studied at the du Cret School of the Arts in Plainfield and with well-known area artists William Longcor, Betty Stoppel and Hama Hoffman.

She has shown her work in various art exhibits throughout the area. Her photographs are included in private collections throughout the country.

Luecke is the recipient of an award in the 1990 juried art show at the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts in Summit.

If an individual or group would like to view the display, they can contact the hospital's community resource coordinator, Shirley Biegler, at 233-3720, extension 379. The artist's works are for sale, with a portion of the proceeds benefiting Children's Specialized Hospital.

Baby Deserves Better

The time may come when infant nursing bottles will carry a warning on the label that used in certain circumstances they can be hazardous to baby's dental health.

Now, mothers, don't run to your cabinet and start pitching out the bottles. Let's say I somewhat overstated the case to get your attention. Because the bottle itself is quite harmless. It's when you use it that can lead to problems.

Here's the explanation. Trouble time is when baby approaches sleep. And what better way, you think, to speed baby into snoozeland than with a comforting bottle filled with warm milk or fruit juice. Right?

Wrong. You can probably do nothing more damaging to your baby's emerging teeth than to turn sleep time into feed time. The simple reason is that baby falls to sleep with nipple in mouth.

That may not seem alarming but it is. Also in the mouth, from the bottle, are the satisfying milk, formula, or juice. Unswallowed, they rapidly turn into acid, which starts to decay baby's tender new teeth.

Sugar's responsible. It's in just about anything you might put in the bottle, and baby's teeth get a steady bath of it. Teeth can decay so seriously that severe pain results and the teeth may break off or have to be pulled.

This hazard doesn't exist during baby's waking hours because then the bottle's contents are swallowed quickly and there is no damage to the teeth. During sleep, however, the liquid remains in the mouth and has time to do its worst.

The simplest precaution is to change your feeding schedule. Give baby the last feeding before bedtime. And if you use the bottle as a pacifier, fill it with water.

DELAYING HELP UNWISE

If your human nature is like most people's, you can find lots of reasons for not getting help from a doctor, even though you know deep down that you could benefit from help. Have you tried any of these reasons for putting it off?

Too busy. Why worry about something that's not serious? I don't like doctors. My father was almost 90 when he died. I come from strong stock. I don't need help. If I don't think about the complaint, it will probably go away. I'll wait until the condition gets worse, then see about it.

Putting off helpful treatment when you need it won't save you time or money. And it won't cure the pain, which usually gets worse. Take back pain, for example. If your spine is out of alignment, the pain caused by this won't go away until the spine is properly aligned again. The aches and pains, the nervous tension and irritability won't go away until you get help you need. So, why put it off any longer?

BOE nominating petitions due soon

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 is reminding residents that the deadline for filing a nominating petition to run for a seat on the Regional Board of Education is Thursday, Feb. 7.

Three seats on the nine-member Regional Board, one each from the communities of Springfield, Mountainside and Garwood, will be contested on School Election Day, April 2.

Each of the candidates elected on that day will be chosen for a full, three-year term.

To be eligible to run for the Regional Board of Education, candidates must obtain a nominating petition from the office of the board secretary at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Mountain Avenue, Springfield, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The completed nominating petition must then be returned to the board secretary's office by 4 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 7.

membership must meet the following criteria: he or she must be a United States citizen, at least 18 years of age and have the ability to read and write.

He or she must also be a resident of the municipality from which he or she is to be elected for at least one year preceding the date of the election, as well as being a registered voter in the Regional District.

Finally, those filing nominating petitions must not be directly or indirectly interested in any contract with or claim against the Regional Board of Education, and must not be disqualified as a voter pursuant to R.S. 19:4-1.

For more information, one can call 376-6300, extension 328.

YWCA seminar planned

A Myers-Briggs seminar will be held on Saturday, Jan. 26, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Summit YWCA, 79 Maple Street, Summit, which will offer participants an opportunity to evaluate their career goals and improve the quality of interactions and relationships.

The Myers-Briggs Indicator, the most widely-used measure of personality dispositions and preferences, will be administered. Testing will be followed by workshops dealing with career development and interpersonal relationships.

Testing will establish a personality "type."

The seminar will relate how the application of "type" will help individuals appreciate their unique strengths; relate career opportunities to preferred way of living; identify leadership styles and understand and appreciate spouse and family and the value of their differences and similarities.

Due to limited availability, telephone reservations are required. For additional information or reservations, one can contact Janet Korba, director of the YWCA Tribute to Women and Industry (TWIN) Program of Central New Jersey at 756-3836.

Health programs slated

Overlook Hospital, 99 Beauvoir Ave., Summit, has announced that several programs will be featured at the hospital later this month. The hospital will also be marking its 85th anniversary throughout 1991.

A two-class session beginning on Monday, Jan. 28, from 7-9 p.m. will focus upon self-esteem. The program's goal is to help participants take on challenges, resolve conflicts more easily, be more productive, reduce frustration and stress plus more.

One can call Overlook's Department of Health Education at 522-2963 for registration information.

The appropriate things to say to a family member, friend or neighbor who has a serious illness will be the topic of a seminar to be held on Tuesday, Jan. 29, from 7:30-9 p.m. Free parking is available for seminar participants. Registration is encouraged.

The program will feature Lyme O'Brien, R.N., hospice manager; Chuck Weinrich, chaplain; Rosemary Moore, social worker and Sheila Walsh, R.N., pediatric nurse clinical specialist. For additional information, one can call Overlook's Department of Health Education at 522-2963.

Two programs, "Coping with Side Effects of Psychoanalytic Medication" and "Coping with Panic and Anxiety Attacks," will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 30, from 7:30-9:30 p.m., and Thursday, Jan. 31, from 8-9:30 p.m., respectively in the hospital's Wallace Auditorium.

"Coping with Side Effects of Psychoanalytic Medication" will feature Dr. Harish Malhotra, attending psychiatrist at Overlook Hospital and lecturer in psychiatry at UMDNJ-Newark.

Malhotra, who has a private practice in Springfield, is a diplomate of the American Board of Psychiatry and a member of the American Psychiatric Association.

Featured speaker for "Coping with Panic and Anxiety Attacks" will be A. Ronald Sorvino, attending psychiatrist at Overlook and assistant clinical professor at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons. Sorvino, who is board-certified, has a private practice in New Providence.

He is the treasurer of the Tri-County Chapter of the New Jersey Psychiatric Association.

The lectures are free. For further information, one can call 522-5272.

Postmaster offers tips on preventing mishaps

"Local authorities and the general public can help the United States Postal Service deliver the mail as timely and as safely as possible this winter," Postmaster William Daniels of the Springfield Post Office remarked this week.

Daniels emphasized the need for ice and snow removal from walkways as a major aid in preventing slips and falls to letter carriers. Slips and falls result in fractured or broken bones or sprains to letter carriers and messengers.

The other main winter hazards that impede mail delivery, according to Daniels, are ice and snow on streets, roads, driveways, stairways and porches.

Local road authorities and postal customers are requested by Daniels to keep public and private approaches to residences and mailboxes clean during the winter months.

Last year, according to Daniels, thousands of letter carriers across the nation were injured because of hazardous conditions.

The cost of winter accidents is high on the list of human suffering and equally as high is the cost to taxpayers of payments for lost time resulting from these accidents.

Of equal concern to the public is the financial burden a postal customer may have to bear due to liability for a letter carrier's accident resulting from hazardous conditions on private property.

Daniels said that when these walking and driving hazards are reduced or eliminated, the safety of all members of the community, as well as letter carriers, is greatly increased.

Tax assistance available

Mountainside Chapter 4498 of the American Association of Retired Persons will offer free income tax assistance on Wednesdays beginning on Feb. 6 at the Mountainside Public Library. This service is being made available in conjunction with the Internal Revenue Service and the New Jersey Division of Taxation.

In order to receive the Homestead Tax Rebate this year, homeowners and individuals who rent must file a New Jersey Gross Income Tax Return. The tax filing is necessary whether income tax is due or not.

It is requested that taxpayers call the Mountainside Library at 233-0115 to make an appointment, and that they bring their 1989 federal and state income tax returns and any other necessary supporting information.

The chapter will meet on Thursday, Feb. 21, at the Community Presbyterian Church, Deer Path, Mountainside. Guest speaker Christopher Hondru will discuss federal and state income taxes, with a question-and-answer period to follow.

Heart group seeks members

The Essex-Union Chapter of Mended Hearts Inc., the largest support group for heart disease patients in the United States, is encouraging area residents to attend its meetings, which are held on the third Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Springfield First Aid Squad Building.

Guest speakers covering vital subjects during monthly meetings, and the meetings also give members an opportunity to socialize and enjoy "heart-healthy" refreshments.

Y courses to be held

The Summit YWCA, 79 Maple Street, Summit, will be holding two workshops designed to promote self-growth and self-esteem.

"Stuck in a Rut?" will be offered Thursday, Jan. 31, at 1 p.m. and will teach new ways to feel better about oneself, covering such areas as inner worth, attitudes, ego, destructive emotions, suppression and inner conflicts.

The director of Motivation Plus will teach practical skills for continued self-growth. A fee will be charged and registration is necessary.

"Divorce Course" is a six-week, 12-hour program designed to provide information about specific problem areas in divorce situations. Experts from matrimonial law, finance, psychotherapy, family counseling and others will participate.

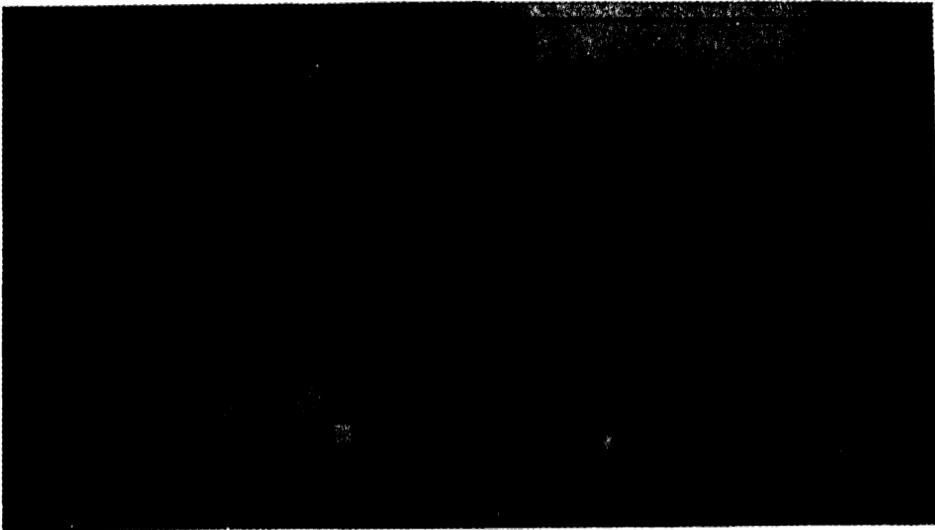

Topics to be covered include feelings of loss, anger and guilt, legal and financial issues and child custody. "Divorce Course" begins Monday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m. and runs until Monday, March 25. There is no class Feb. 18. A fee will be charged and registration is a must.

"Divorce Course" will be facilitated by Adele and Hal Smith, who are themselves "survivors" of divorce.

"Separation and divorce are emotional roller coasters that leave us confused and hurt and often unaware of the facts we need to get on with our lives," Adele Smith said. "This course will provide that information."

For more information about these and other classes at the YWCA, one can call the front desk at 273-4242, Monday through Friday, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Registration can be done over the phone with a major credit card between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon. Registration is ongoing now at the YWCA for the upcoming late winter term, which begins on Monday, Feb. 11.

HIGH ACHIEVERS — Five students from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield were recently selected as Garden State Scholars for 1991 in accordance with the New Jersey State Department of Education's Garden State Scholarship Program. These academically talented seniors are, from left, Margaret Fedder, Karen Kaminski, Jamie Schutz, Mikhail Shir and Marcie Gornstein. Through the Garden State Scholarship Program, these students are offered an annual scholarship award of up to $500 if they choose to attend a New Jersey-based college or university.

Post to meet

The monthly Bagel Breakfast Business Meeting of the Elin-Unger Post 273 Jewish War Veterans of the United States of Springfield/Millburn will be held on Sunday, Feb. 3, 9:30 a.m. at the Sarah Bailey Civic Center, 30 Church Mall, Springfield.

Jack Furman, a professional in senior health care, will present a film and discuss the necessity of this type of medical service for the infirmed. The Jewish War Veterans of the United States is the oldest active veterans organization in America, organized in 1896. Additional information can be obtained from Past Commander Murray Nathanson at 376-0837.

Kent workshops slated

The Kent Place School in Summit has announced that its 1991 Kaleidoscope program on girls' education will take place at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 29, in the Kent Place School Theater, 42 Norwood Ave. Snow date is Wednesday, Jan. 30. The program will feature workshops conducted by Kent Place administrators, trustees, faculty members, parents and students.

Topics will include "Getting Into College," "Thinking Scientifically," "Developing Global Insights through Foreign Language," "Finding Your Historical Compass," "Learning through Whole Language in the Primary School," "Celebrating Adolescence in the Middle School Years," "Making Lasting Connections" and "Tracking Your Investment in Private Education."

In speaking about the purpose of the Kaleidoscope program, Kent Place Headmistress Arlene Joy Gibson noted that "parents should be alert to gender and confidence issues that can have a dramatic impact on their daughters' education. Kaleidoscope explores what girls' education can be."

The Kaleidoscope program is open free of charge to all parents. Kent Place is New Jersey's largest nonsectarian college preparatory school for girls.

Kindergarten program noted

Summit Child Care Centers, Inc., which operates a branch in Springfield, has announced that a full-day kindergarten program will open in September at the Summit Child Care Centers' Hillview Center in New Providence.

The kindergarten will offer a daily program from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily, based on the public school calendar, and an extended care day program available between 7:30-8:30 a.m.

and 3-7 p.m. and all day on public school holidays.

Applications are currently being accepted for children who will be five years old by Sept. 30, 1991. Class size will be limited to 18 children. For more information or an enrollment packet, one can call 273-7017. The application deadline is Friday, Feb. 1. The non-profit Summit Child Care Centers, Inc. is a member of the United Way.

Women's Fellowship

Battle Hill Community Moravian Church, 777 Liberty Ave., Union, will observe Women's Fellowship this Sunday at the 10:30 a.m. service of worship.

"The women of the church are an active vital part of our community. Through their ministry, they have been able to assist our church and our community in many outreach projects," it was announced.

Healing Mass set

The Rev. Gerald P. Ruane, director of the Sacred Heart Institute of Caldwell, will celebrate a special healing Mass in Holy Spirit Roman Catholic Church, Union, Feb. 4. The Mass will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Following the Mass, there will be an opportunity for individual blessing and healing prayer "for any who desire it. Everyone is welcome to attend."

A free-will offering will be taken. Books, audio cassettes and video tapes on various topics relating to healing will be available for sale in the vestibule of the church after Mass.

Ruane, a lecturer and retreat director, also is the author of several books on healing, most recently, volume 1 of the "Greatest Healing Gifts" series, "The Eucharist," which was published in December, 1989. This year, Ruane served as co-author of "Thank You For Hearing My Call: Living The Messages of Medjugorje," with Sister Rutham Williams O.P., also of the Sacred Heart Institute.

The Sacred Heart Institute is a Christian center for preaching, teaching and healing.

Pilgrimage to Israel

Congregation Beth Shalom of Union will "demonstrate its solidarity with Israel" Feb. 13 to 25 with a pilgrimage open to the entire community. Among the special features of the trip will be 10 nights, including two Sabbaths, in Jerusalem, two nights in Tiberias and a "mixture of familiar and new sites for a seasoned visitor of Israel as well as a first-time tourist."

For further information, one can contact the synagogue office at 686-6773.

Special Y programs

Senior citizens can attend a celebration of Jewish Arbor Day, Tu B'Shevat, Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. when the YM-YWHA of Union County, Green Lane, Union, features a special musical program highlighting its choir. Under the direction of Molly Serbin, the group has performed for many centers.

The program is open to the entire community at no cost, it was announced. Participants can join the senior nutrition program at the Y later at 11:45 a.m. for lunch.

For further information on this and other events sponsored by the Y's Older department, one can contact the director, Myrna Friedman, at 289-8112.

The Men's Club of the YM-YWHA of Union County will feature its next Atlantic City trip Feb. 11. Buses will leave from the agency at 8:30 a.m. More information can be obtained by contacting Friedman.

A Shabbos dinner

The Elmore Hebrew Center, Elizabeth, will join the National Jewish Outreach program in sponsoring a Shabbos dinner Feb. 8. The theme is "Turning Friday Night Into Shabbos."

A Kabbalat Shabbat service will be held at 5 p.m., followed by the special Shabbat dinner at 6:30 p.m. Catered by the Ahavah Caterers, under the "strict supervision" of Rabbi Samuel B. Rosenberg, a traditional Friday night meal will be served, and as is customary, the celebrants will sing Shabbat songs, called "Zemiroth."

Reservations are required and must be made by Feb. 4, it was announced. To make a reservation or for directions, one can call the synagogue office at 353-1740.

Caring for elderly

"As the population of the U.S. continues to live longer, more and more adults are faced with the responsibility of caring for their aging parents and the emotional struggles that can accompany this responsibility," it was reported. "You and Your Aging Parents" will be the topic of a workshop Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the First Unitarian Society of Plainfield, 724 Park Ave.

The workshop will be led by Beverly Hays and will be co-sponsored by the Unitarian Universalist Counseling and Education Service and the Plainfield Unitarian Universalist Adult Education Committee.

For further information, one can call Hays at 539-5242.

Life after this life

Interweave Center for Wholistic Living at Calvary Episcopal Church, 31 Woodland Ave., Summit, is exploring new evidence for life after this life, using the book "Life after Life" at the Wednesday seminar which meets from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. through Feb. 13.

Beginning Feb. 20, the topic will be "Finding the Inner Child," with lecture and discussion based on ideas by John Bradshaw. On Wednesdays from 8 to 10 p.m., Robert Bly's book,

"Iron John," and the video, "A Gathering of Men," will be used at the discussion group for men through Feb. 20.

One can call for registration and a brochure at 763-8312.

Interweave Center also is offering an Acoa workshop Saturday from 2 to 4:30 p.m. It will be conducted by Charlotte Spiegelman, psychology associate and licensed marriage and family counselor. One can call for registration and a brochure at 763-8312.

A round-table talk

As part of its 40th anniversary celebration, Temple Emanu-El of Westfield will sponsor a round-table discussion, "Justice, Justice Shall We Pursue: Temple Emanu-El as a Force for Change" at services tomorrow night services at 8:15.

Seated at the round-table will be Harris Gilbert, national chairman, commission on social justice of Reform Judaism and a past member of the National Board of Common Cause; Alan Goldstein, past president of Temple Emanu-El, past-president, Jewish-Federation of Central New Jersey; Jackie Rose, past-chairman, Temple Emanu-El social action committee, activist for the homeless; Barbara Weinberg, chairman, Temple Emanu-El social action committee; Eugene Rosner, past-president of Temple Emanu-El, past chairman, Temple Emanu-El Social Action Committee; Robert Tell, chairman, Temple Emanu-El Adult Education Committee, and Jack Rockett, Nuclear Arms activist. Marc Disick and Cantor Martha Novick of Springfield will conduct services. The temple is located at 756 East Broad St., Westfield. More information can be obtained by calling 232-6770.

A grand celebration

The Elmore Hebrew Center in Elizabeth has announced that on May 5, the center will hold a grand celebration of its 54th anniversary year, "Three Times Chai." The grand honoree will be Herbert Levenberg, community leader, who has been an active member of the Elmore Hebrew Center since boyhood. "Chai" is the Hebrew word for the number "18," with the additional meaning of "To Life."

Levenberg served as president of the Elmore Hebrew Center from 1982 to 1985 and served on the center's board of trustees from 1962 to the present time. He has served the local business community as president of Atlas Electric Services and is a past-president of the Union County Electrical Contractors' Association, 1962-63. He is an active member of the YM-YWHA of Union County, Union, and served as its president from 1977 to 1979. He was given the "Man of the Year" award by the YM-YWHA in 1976 and has been on its board of trustees since 1960.

The program also will include recognition of all members who have belonged to the synagogue.

The May 5 affair will feature a buffet dinner-dance and a live band. A special directory/journal is being prepared to honor Levenberg and other members.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the center office at 353-1740.

One Nation

The United States is at war. Although this newspaper would have preferred that our government give the economic sanctions against Iraq more time to force that aggressive nation out of occupied Kuwait, now that the battle has begun we stand firmly behind President Bush and the men and women of our armed forces, and hope that the conflict is brought to a swift and decisive end.

It is an understatement to say that war is rife with dangerous and disturbing things. On the homefront, one such dangerous trend is beginning to surface. Some people, including several so-called "journalists," are equating patriotism with solidarity for the war effort. In other words, anyone who expresses a desire for the killing to stop, like those demonstrators calling for a "pause for peace," are anti-American, even traitorous.

That is a boneheaded attitude and, in essence, unAmerican. One of the truly worthy aspects of our democratic system is that people have the right to express their opinions without fear of reprisal from the state or anyone else. People do not have to agree with these opinions, but they do have to allow their expression. The framers of the Bill of Rights, in which this freedom is guaranteed, not only considered this a noble-minded attempt to allow a free flow of ideas from which many members of society could benefit, but also, as the Federalist Papers clearly show, James Madison and his associates saw a very practical reason for advocating freedom of expression.

It serves as an escape valve, permitting unconventional, even eccentric, ideas and opinions to find expression in a peaceful manner. What the Founding Fathers feared was a process evident in their 18th-century world of centralized autocracies: far-out opinions gain strength from suppression. If an idea is not openly expressed it cannot be openly refuted. It begins to glow with martyrdom, to take on an overblown importance, and to gain acceptance in an underground seething with anger, dissatisfaction and hate.

It is wiser to have people writing letters, making phone calls and marching in protest than to have them in basements making Molotov cocktails and seeking aid from foreign terrorists. Look at Northern Ireland. Constant, unreasoning suppression of Irish Catholic sentiments has created a bloody monster, the IRA, that spouts Marxist doctrine, buys weapons from Libya, and persuades frustrated Irish youths to join its ranks. In much the same way, the decades-long, unreasoning suppression of American blacks in states and cities throughout the nation gave birth to the militant Black Panthers. In the U.S., however, the free flow of ideas — including the idea of equal opportunity — has done much to defuse black militancy. In Northern Ireland, the bloody suppression, and equally bloody resistance, continue.

Let the protesters march and chant. Let them oppose the war in every non-violent way they can. Why should we fear them? They are also Americans, standing up for what they believe. And it is highly unlikely that they are going to undermine the war effort.

The majority of Americans realize that Saddam Hussein is a tinpot tyrant who has practiced naked aggression against two non-belligerent states in a six-month period. He has also murdered his own people and shown nothing but contempt for every peace initiative. He is quite possibly insane and, even though much of this war is about who controls the world oil supply, Saddam is close to possessing a nuclear device. We know he must be stopped and, in all probability, he will be. We have nothing to fear from a minority of doves saying what's on their minds. We would have more to fear for our American way of life if we muzzled them.

Some of our flag-waving would-be suppressors claim that the peace movement undermined the Vietnam War effort. Not so. That war effort, easily the most poorly managed one in American history, undermined itself, on almost a daily basis. So far, the conflict in the Persian Gulf has been, from strategic and tactical points of view, the sanest war this nation has ever waged. If our leaders now begin to blunder, domestic protests will doubtlessly increase, and with good reason. We all pray it will not come to that. But if it does, we are fortunate as Americans to have the right to complain.

It is well to keep in mind that all Americans, hawk and dove, ultimately want the same thing: Peace.

Hard necessity

We went to war with Japan 50 years ago — over oil — when we embargoed American oil from Japan's war machine.

Japan destroyed our Pacific Fleet at Pearl Harbor, erased our forces in the Philippines, destroyed the Far-East British fleet, captured Singapore, and saved its oil supplies. Then it moved toward India to menace the West's own Middle-East oil.

The just completed congressional use-of-force debate was dismaying because no nationally ranked politician, from President Bush down, explained our real vital stake in Middle East oil.

The United States must share our own oil if foreigners' supplies are cut off. If Japan is cut off, we must share ours.

We do not have enough domestic oil for our own needs, and sharing would destroy us, particularly because our political leadership is unwilling, even in wartime, to protect our now bankrupt economy from an oil-profiteering depression.

Soaring Middle-East costs, primarily for military fuel, have wiped out the deficit reduction of our painful tax increase, and the $14 billion pledged by Middle-Eastern nations is the exact added sum they gouged from us by uncontrolled price hikes. We are being made to pay the entire economic cost, and the major cost in blood.

We are faced with a terrible and necessary war. We must back our president and our troops with our prayers and everything else we have. But we must understand the price to be paid and be prepared to pay it. If we must fight, when it is over, we will be lucky to have an economy as good as Russia's is now, and our political institutions will be in shambles comparable to theirs.

The worst part will not be the war, if it is short, but the aftermath. The political firestorm of peacemaking, and our domestic collapse, will leave nothing unchanged. And, as usual, we can expect our very young and very old to suffer most.

No Ann man

I question the true intention of County Manager Ann Baran for being so magnanimous in announcing that she would not accept a raise in 1991 if the unionized employees in Union County did not accept their raise. It is as though the county employees are having a gun put to their heads and told "no raise or you will be fired or cause the layoff of other employees."

For Ann Baran to ask a $20,000 per year union employee to give up a 6 percent or $1,200 raise in 1991 after she engineered a $4,700 increase in her salary last December, bringing her salary to $99,700, is insensitive at the very least. Baran is not as politically naive as she would have one believe. She knows that it would be political suicide for any freeholder to vote to increase the salary of the county manager to over $100,000 this year or next year. No freeholder would be that foolish.

There is no doubt that the voters and taxpayers paid attention to what the freeholders and the county administration did in 1990. As a result, the voters put three less Democrats on the board. Let there be no mistake that the 1990 leadership must accept the responsibility for most of the mess that Union County is in today. Now in 1991, the taxpayers and voters will be looking to and at the actions of the "Team of Seven" — Freeholders Welsh, Green, Boright, Ertl, Kowalczyk, McLeod and their county manager, Ann Baran — to see if the voters were truly heard last November. There can be no doubt that should business continue as usual, the voters will clean house again.

It is disheartening to see that the 1990 leadership is back in full charge of Union County again in 1991. They simply played musical chairs on Jan. 1. Freeholder Chairman Green is now the Finance chairman; Freeholder Welsh went from vice chairman to chairman; Freeholder Ertl went from the Finance chairman to vice chairman and Ann Baran is back doing her duty as manager. In

State We're In

Corporate America turning green

By DAVID F. MOORE

Remember the book by Charles A. Reich called "The Greening of America"? It made quite an impact on us in 1970, helping us recognize that our way of life was beginning to interfere with our quality of life. "We have met the enemy," Pogo (i.e., the late Walt Kelly) said then, "and he is us."

Another step has been taken in our environmental evolution. Now there's a recognition that our way of life is not sustainable. Corporate America is beginning to turn green as a result. Getting out front in the new environmental parade is good business. No matter what you say about Madison Avenue, you have to admit that's where survival is an art!

It doesn't take many statistics to prove the point. If the world population continues to grow at the present rate, in another 900 years there will be over 100 people for every square yard of the earth's surface.

In the United States, per capita resource use is about 10 times the world average. Today's infant technology in recycling and pollution control is beginning to show us a door to future survival. It's growing clear that our manner of living — our housing, agriculture and industry — can't be kept up this way for much longer.

Of course, corporate America is not without its naysayers, those who ignore the mounting heaps of evidence of non-sustainability and rationalize to keep right on doing what they're doing. Maybe this is based on short-term cost-benefit analyses, or just appealing to the "live today and don't worry about tomorrow" philosophy we too easily find soothing. Thus some interests keep trying to justify dumping sludge in the ocean, or continuing air emissions that lead to acid rain and smog.

Not only is the ocean not the place to dump valuable nutrients like sewage sludge, but we're finding that decomposition or biodegradability is often a figment of our imagination. Such things like recognizable hot dogs and readable newspapers emerge from 40 and 50-year-old burial in dumps and landfills, showing that filling a hole in the ground with garbage is no answer.

The "disposable" diaper business has been the target of lots of consumer concern. The result has been industry's support of composting programs in which biodegradable materials we want to dispose of, like paper, wood and yard waste, are run through a process that accelerates decomposition, generating a nutrient-rich soil as an end product.

We know that a sewer plant, which can be described as a stream in a concrete box, uses in a confined space the same bacteria as in the natural world to accelerate decomposition.

Composting systems work the same way, creating ideal moisture and temperature conditions to speed up the work of decay. Some of those self-same naysayers claim that there's no market for compost, just as they said there's no market for recyclables.

And as with recyclables, the new compost industry will find a steady source of supply, hopefully reducing the need for petrochemical fertilizers and pesticides in the process.

There's nothing like enlightened self-interest to solve environmental short, look out, here we go again. It is like a sequel to "Jaws 1 wo," the big bite. With one, exception: This year it is dump on the county employee as a way to close a $12 million gap that the "Team of Seven" worked overtime to help create. I do not think they will be successful in fooling the public in 1991.

Within months Freeholders Green and Welsh will announce if they will run again for the Freeholder Board or opt for the state legislature as a way of getting away from their mess. Freeholder Boright will also have to announce his plans as well. Are the Democrats planning another session of musical chairs to help put former Freeholders Suliga or Maccarelli back on the board? Time will tell; however, the voters will be watching them very closely and they all have a long way to go to overcome their action of 1990 and, now, 1991. It will be up to the county manager to clean house with those who are not needed and that will include her new and bulging staff as well.

I was advised that Lawrence Caroselli, director of Finance, issued a very strong and pointed memo to the county manager last fall warning her that Union County would face severe fiscal problems if spending and/or hiring were not checked or curtailed. Were these warnings followed by her and the board? If so, what was done by the board or the county manager? Were the warnings ignored? On Jan. 7, 1991, I asked Ms. Baran for the answers and am waiting for her reply. It should prove enlightening at best.

Lastly, I feel that a full review of many of the actions taken by the board and the county manager last year will give the taxpayers a better understanding of what could have caused the mess of 1991. An indepth review of everything from the purchase of certain furniture at $2 million, various building leases and their costs to date, the refusal of the 1990 Board of Freeholders and the "Team of Seven" in 1991 to place out for public bid the insurance needs of Union County, right down to what freeholder relatives were hired. Stay tuned, this will prove better than any soap opera. At the very least, it will ensure that the voters will not be accused of sleeping in 1991.

Legislators call on FAA to alter routes.

An Assembly committee recently approved legislation sponsored by Union County Assemblyman Neil M. Cohen, which calls upon the Federal Aviation Administration to scrap a controversial and unpopular plan directing air traffic over New Jersey.

Cohen's legislation (AR-218), sponsored with Middlesex County Assemblyman George A. Spadaro, calls upon the FAA to acknowledge the negative environmental impact of the so-called "Expanded East Coast Plan", (EECP), and to return the air traffic patterns used prior to the plan's 1987 implementation.

Assemblyman Cohen noted that the EECP, proposed as a means of reducing air traffic delays at Newark International, LaGuardia and JFK airports, was activated by the FAA in January, 1987. The plan has met stiff opposition, primarily because the FAA did not conduct an environmental impact study prior to its implementation.

"With no remorse or second-thoughts, the FAA foisted a new flight plan upon New Jersey residents that has resulted in disruptive and unhealthy levels of aircraft noise," Cohen said.

"Our Resolution urges the FAA to listen to the concerns of the New Jersey citizenry, acknowledge the environmental and health hazards it has created and restore previous traffic patterns over the state," he said.

The Assemblyman added that the EECP "has needlessly subjected state residents to excessive aircraft noise. The FAA, which is solely to blame for this disruption, has an obligation to recognize the error for its ways and take steps necessary to protect the health and well-being of New Jerseyans."

"The speedy and efficient trafficking of aircraft in our region is a priority. However, when the FAA makes traffic pattern changes, it must acknowledge that the concerns of people come first," Cohen said.

The bill, approved by the Assembly Transportation Authorities, Telecommunications and Technology Committee now advances to the full Assembly for consideration.

Bill would assist the aged and disabled

Recipients of Pharmaceutical Assistance for the Aged and Disabled benefits would not pay vehicle registration surcharges for leased cars under proposed legislation recently released from the Senate Law, Public Safety and Defense Committee.

The FAIR Act, which is the Governor's insurance reform law, imposed substantial surcharges on vehicle registrations, except for vehicles owned by people eligible for PAAD.

Sponsored by Senator C. Louis Bassano, R-21, this legislation would extend the current PAAD exception to vehicles leased by those eligible for PAAD.

"There would be some loss of surcharge revenue to the state under this measure, but that amount would be negligible when compared to the service we would be providing to our aged and disabled citizens," Senator Bassano said.

The bill advances now to the full Senate for a vote.

A GOOD WEEK — And that it was for the Brearley Regional High wrestling team, which won convincingly over Roselle Catholic and North Plainfield. The Bears, who are now 4-1-1, got early boosts from 103-pounder Dom Tripodi, who is seen here on the way to an 8-1 win over Rob Bolt of North Plainfield this past weekend. Tripodi also won another bout by way of a fall, making him one of eight Brearley wrestlers to have a two-win week.

'Dawgs in run at states

By MARK YABLONSKY

At first, even as the scores reflected Dayton's new-found determination and drive, it seemed as though the school's boy's basketball team wasn't going to win a whole lot of games. But that is no longer the case.

For entering this crucial week — indeed, the week of weeks — the Bulldogs, thanks to a sudden four-game winning streak, are at 6-6. And if the 'Dawgs can somehow find a way to win two of their four games this week against some very tough competition, one of the team's biggest pre-season goals will have been reached.

And that is making the state playoffs.

Beginning with a 40-34 decision over Governor Livingston on Jan. 12 in Berkeley Heights, Dayton's four-game win streak includes a 53-44 victory over Immaculata on Jan. 15, a 59-49 triumph in Boonton two nights later, and then a 59-47 verdict at home over Ridge last Friday night.

In order to make the states, the 'Dawgs must win two of four games by next Tuesday's qualification cutoff. The opponents are as scheduled: at North Plainfield this past Tuesday, at home against Roselle Catholic tonight at 7 p.m., at Roselle vs. Abraham Clark High on Saturday, and finally, at home vs. Millburn on Jan. 28 at 4 p.m.

But for a team that won three of those four straight away from home, who knows what can happen?

"In two of those four games (G.L. and Immaculata), we came from behind to win," said Dayton's first-year coach, John Theis, "and then against Boonton and Ridge, we had to hold them off. So our kids know they can win both ways.

"One of our goals has been to make the state playoffs," Theis continued. "We're working toward it. With those four games coming up, it's going to be tough. (But) if we get two of four, that's what it is."

Against Boonton, Dayton, Theis recounted, enjoyed its "best first half of the year." Twelve of Ryan Huber's 13 points came during that time, including eight in the second quarter, when Dayton outscored the Bombers, 24-15, to take a 39-24 edge at the half.

Courtney Benjamin, Dayton's leading scorer (153 points in 12 games for a 13.0 average), had eight of his 13 points in the first half, and Andy Huber netted seven of his 12 points during the first two quarters.

Ryan Huber holds an 8.9 scoring average, and his brother, Andy, is close behind with an 8.0 per-game mark.

boys traveled to Princeton to take part in the state relays, and wound up placing 15th statewide in a 50-team field from Group 4. Union's best effort came in the 4 x 220 relay, where a squad composed of Simmons, Leschinski, Purcell and Terry Brown finished fourth in 1:36.6. That was Union's finest effort of the season in that event.

League registration set

The Union Little League will conduct registration for all returning players this Sunday, Jan. 27, from 9 a.m. to noon at Hall Stadium on Lehigh Avenue. New players are also being asked to register at this time.

Registration is open to all residents of Union born between Aug. 1, 1978 and July 31, 1983. Birth certificates must be shown for new players.

Union wins two; Ladies at 4-2

By MARK YABLONSKY

The Union High boy's winter track team improved its record to 7-0 with a concurrent win over both Linden and Hillside last Thursday, Jan. 17, in Union, while the girls went to 4-2 with a 35-29 decision over Hillside.

For the boys, Kahsime Simmons won two events in respective 53-24 and 53-5 wins over Linden and Hillside, with times of 6.6 seconds in the 55-meter dash, and 53.8 seconds in the 400 meters.

Spencer Mell won two events as well, the 1600-meter run in 5:03.6, and the 3200 meters in 11:25.3. Brian Leschinski won the 55-meter hurdles in 7.6 seconds and placed second to Simmons in the 55-meter dash at 6.7

Jim Romeo won the 800 meters (2:15.8), and taking seconds were Anthony Purcell in the 400 meters (54.9) and John Vieira in the 3200 meters (11:30.4). Ron Wilburn placed third in the 3200 meters with a personal record of 12:16.3.

For the girls, Frieda Behrens won both the 1600 meters (6:04.3) and 3200 meters (12:57.4), while Ildi Schiller won the hurdles in 11.3 seconds and took second in the 400 meters in 81.6.

Taking second in the shot put was Mary Alfredo in a personal record time of 24 feet, 10 inches, while Elizabeth Machado took second in the 800 meters in 2:59 flat. Also, Ami Patel came in second in the 3200 meters (14:49.5).

Panthers now at 13-0

By MARK YABLONSKY

Their record is now 13-0 — and counting.

In fact, things are so good for the Roselle Park High boy's basketball team, there's even the possibility — although not a strong one — that the Panthers, should they stay unbeaten for another 10 days or so, could claim a ranking as high as sixth when the seeding committee meets on Feb. 6 to work out the brackets for this year's Union County Tournament.

That potential pressure, however, seems unfair at this point. After all, it's been some 30 years since the Panthers have gotten off to this kind of start. It's definitely the best start for Park in Pat Lalley's seven years as head coach, and a shade better than the 9-2 beginning generated by the 1986-87 crew — which, by the way, earned a No. 10 UCT ranking, then lost to a tough Union squad in the first round.

Unofficially, there's a very good chance that no team in Park history, save for one 22-4 group in the early sixties, has ever had a better start than this 1990-91 Panther outfit.

Can a high seeding possibly happen?

"I'm not quite sure," replied Lalley on Monday afternoon, three days after his team had defeated Brearley Regional, 62-50, in Kenilworth to reach the 13-0 point. "We still have to play five more games before the seedings come up. If we go in at 18-0, then I think we belong in the Top 6, definitely."

And if not?
"To tell you the truth, I really don't know what would happen," Lalley answered. "Hopefully, we'll get a good seed. You can't do any better than this right now."

Realistically, it would appear as though Elizabeth, the winner of six of the last seven UCT festivals, will get the top seed, followed, quite possibly, by Linden, Scotch Plains and Hillside. After that, who knows? Certainly, this is all conjecture right now, and little more.

Incidentally, the Panthers were 11-13 a year ago and earned only the No. 16 seed in the UCT, then went on to lose, 69-65, in triple overtime to St. Patrick's in the first round.

This past week, Park won three games, first beating St. Pat's 61-59, in overtime last Tuesday, then defeating Oratory, 67-37, on Wednesday, and Brearley on Jan. 18.

In the St. Pat's game, Scott Birmingham was the man of the hour. The 6-2 senior center scored 31 points, second high on the team this year, with Scott Sexton's 32 against Middlesex on Dec. 21 standing pat. Nine of Birmingham's points came in the third quarter when Park outscored St. Pat's, 16-13, to claim a 39-38 advantage entering the final quarter of regulation play.

On sheer effort, Birmingham battled for a rebound near the basket and put up a two-pointer with five seconds to go in regulation, forcing a 51-51 draw. And after the teams traded six points apiece in the first OT session, both Sexton (layup) and Birmingham (jumper) sank baskets in the second extra three-minute stanza to offset Charles Lott's bucket for St. Pat's.

Sexton finished with 16 points. Both Sexton and Birmingham accounted for only 19 points between them in Park's 67-37 thrashing of Oratory Prep on Jan. 16, but a strong team outing, led by Steve McCauley's 13 points, made that insignificant.

In the 62-50 win at Brearley last Friday, Birmingham had 13 points and Sexton 11 as the Panthers beat the Bears for the second time this season. McCauley added 14 points to pace Brearley, and senior point guard Mike Leonardis hit double figures also, with 12.

Brearley senior John Anglim, who had been held to just four points against Park when the Panthers prevailed, 54-29, in the season-opener on Dec. 14 in Roselle Park, led all scorers this time with 25 points.

Oratory — McLaughlin 2, DePortere 10, McNeil 2, Farrell 2, Birdshall 17, DeCoster 4.

Ros. Park — Arena 4, Feith 2, Leonardis 2, Hutchinson 3, McCauley 13, Lyons 2, Kelly 18, Sexton 13, Birmingham 6, Kirby 4.

Lady Bears lose 2; nip Park

By KIM EAGAN

The Brearley Regional High girl's basketball team finally lost its unbeaten status by losing to New Providence and Manville during the past week, but the Lady Bears did return to their winning ways with a 43-42 victory last Friday night in Roselle Park. Brearley is now at 7-2.

Last Tuesday, Brearley got off to a slow start at home in the first half against New Providence, trailing by 13 points, 26-13, at the intermission. A strong surge in the third quarter saw the Lady Bears fight back to tie it at 31-all, but New Providence held Brearley to just three points in the final period to win, 40-34. Kim Eagan led all scorers with 14 points, followed by nine points more from Tricia Anglim.

Last Thursday, senior Gabika Hlinka scored a career-high 43 points in lifting Manville to a 74-42 win. The game was over by halftime, with Manville holding 20-10 and 21-10 advantages, respectively, in the first two quarters. Eagan had 23 points for Brearley, and Karen Savage had nine more.

The Lady Bears came alive at Roselle Park and ended up winning by a single point in what was a very intense game down to the final seconds of play. Both teams held leads at one time or another, but Eagan sank a foul shot with 16 seconds left to give Brearley the win. She led all scorers with 23 points.

Dawn Skebeck led Roselle Park with 12 points.

Brearley grapplers win pair

The Brearley Regional High wrestling team improved its record to 4-1-1 with two victories this past week, a 59-15 verdict over Roselle Catholic last Wednesday, and a 55-9 pounding of North Plainfield on Saturday.

In both instances, 103-pounder Dom Tripodi got the Bears off to early starts with wins: a pin over Jim Argast of Roselle Catholic, and an 8-1 win over Rob Bolt of North Plainfield. Others winning two bouts for the Bears were:

•Chris Sapienza, who won a pair of 119-pound bouts by pinning both Reggie Smith of R.C. and Dave Harlin of North Plainfield.

•Bob Cox, with two pins at 125 pounds, over Mike Ricci of R.C. and Oscar Posado of North Plainfield.

•Mike Lynch, 130 pounds, pinned Matt Nock of R.C., and won, 12-4, over Chris Beenders of North Plainfield.

•Ron Cagno, 135 pounds, who got falls over Giovanni Duran of R.C. and Jim Plitz of North Plainfield.

•Clint Kaminski, 140 pounds, who pinned Rich Morris of R.C., and beat Ivan Nguynvnu of North Plainfield, 7-0.

•Vic Verno, 160 pounds, who pinned Vic Bauer of R.C. and Marty Bounpani of North Plainfield.

•Bob Taylor Jr., 171 pounds, who pinned Joe Guarino of R.C. and beat Kevin O'Melia of North Plainfield, 3-2.

•Jose Rodriguez, 189 pounds, pinned both John Tilton of R.C. and Joe Jaidullo of North Plainfield.

Korn joins Hall

By SUSAN KRAKOWIECKI

Union resident Ray Korn was one of eight inductees to the Union County Baseball Hall of Fame at the 55th annual Hot Stove League Dinner held last Wednesday, Jan. 16 at the Town and Campus Restaurant in Union.

Korn, the athletic director and baseball coach at Elizabeth High School, was honored for his many years of support to Union County baseball as player and coach.

Korn pitched for Roselle Catholic High School and at St. Leo College in Tampa, Florida, and was an All-America in 1969. He played in the Union County League and Union County Industrial League for 12 years. He was named the Most Valuable Player of the U.C.L. five times, and twice in the U.C.I.L. Korn received the Chris Zusi Award as Union County's Male Athlete of the Year in 1975.

For the past 17 years, Korn has been coaching county ballplayers, first at Roselle Catholic High School and now at Elizabeth. His teams have won 25 championships at the state, county and conference levels.

Korn was a member of the coaching staff of the East Team at the 1989 U.S. Olympic Festival. He was also the pitching coach for the United States Junior National Team which played in the Havana, Cuba in the 1990 World Championships, a moment Korn called his "proudest moment in a baseball uniform."

"Standing there on a baseball diamond in Havana while they played the National Anthem was the proudest moment of my career in baseball," he said during his acceptance speech.

Korn was one of eight men honored for their contributions to baseball in Union County. George Kilbride and Michael Yuhase were also in attendance to receive their induction awards. John Brazinski, Steve Kunka, John Grier, Robert Henderson, Sr. and Otto Svejda were inducted posthumously.

Other area athletes were honored for their achievements. Cathi Finizio of Roselle Park received the Joseph P. Lombardi Memorial Award as the county's outstanding female athlete. Finizio played varsity tennis at Roselle Park High School and has an impressive three-year record at St. John's University, where she is currently a senior.

Union's Tony Stewart was awarded the Chris Zusi Memorial Award as the outstanding male athlete in the county. An outstanding running back at Union High School, Stewart recently completed his collegiate football career as the all-time leading rusher at the University of Iowa.

Pat Jackson of Rahway was honored with the Edward R. Cooper Award as the county's Most Valuable Scholastic Player. An outstanding pitcher at Rahway High School, Jackson was a first-team all-Group II, all-County, all-Conference and all-Metro selection, and a second-team all-State selection. Jackson is a freshman at Kean College.

The dinner's overflow crowd was treated to a speech by Major League Baseball Hall-of-Famer Enos Slaughter. Slaughter, who played for the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees during his 19-year career, spoke about his days playing the game.

"Players today make more money in a week than I made in a month," he said. "But I wouldn't trade the era I played in for all the money they make today. Because we had something more than money. We had pride in our teams, and you can't buy that kind of pride with money."

This week's question:

It's back to the world of basketball for this week's question. Who holds the record for the most free throws completed over the course of a National Basketball Association career?

Last week's answer: Gordie Howe, Bobby Hull and Phil Esposito, three of the greatest offensive players hockey has ever known, became the first players in National Hockey League history to score 100 points in one season. They cracked the century mark in the 1968-69 season.

Howe scored 44 goals and 59 assists for 103 points in 76 games for the Detroit Red Wings. He led the Wings to a 33-31-12 record and a fifth-place finish in the N.H.L.'s East Division behind the eventual Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens.

Hull totaled 107 points for the Chicago Blackhawks. He scored 58 goals and 49 assists in 74 games. Despite Hull's offense, the Hawks finished last in the East Division, with a 34-33-9 record.

Esposito exploded for 49 goals and 77 assists for a total of 126 points in 74 games for the Boston Bruins. He led the Bruins to a 42-18-16 record, good for second in the East Division behind the Canadiens. His scoring exploits also earned him the Hart Memorial Trophy as the League's Most Valuable Player, and the first of his five Art Ross Scoring Trophies.

This week, Henry Hascup of Lodi submitted a correct answer. Please have your responses in our Union offices — at 1291 Stuyvesant Ave. — by no later than noon each Monday.

Christy's cares about its customers

Tom Christy had been working for a large company as an installer of automatic garage doors when he came to the conclusion that he had a better way of doing things — for both himself and his customers.

Christy decided four years ago to set out on his own, and formed a family business called Christy's Overhead Doors Inc.

The firm specializes in installing and repairing automatic garage doors at low prices, for both large commercial firms and residential customers alike. Along with residential business, Christy's Overhead Doors has also installed and repaired doors for accounts such as Midas Muffler in East Orange, Conaco DuPont in Linden and the Newark Airport.

"We have more than 500 customers and a good number of them are residential," he said. The company is a member of the Better Business Bureau, and Christy serves on the Irvington Chamber of Commerce.

Christy's Overhead Doors offers the best in name-brand merchandise at a substantial savings. "Other door companies may charge $65 to $100 or more per hour for labor," Christy explained. "We charge $50 to $60. But for the residential customer, you don't quote them labor, you just quote them for the job."

"What makes us stand apart from the rest is our quality of workmanship," Christy said, "and the responsiveness to our customers. I'm out there every day working, handling calls, but our overall goal is not to become this big company. A lot of people who are in my shoes would probably like to put another truck or two on the road. But I would rather stay small to make sure we don't lose the high standard of quality workmanship and service that we have earned up until now."

Along with service and workmanship, Christy also promises his customers that equipment installed by his company is done in the safest manner possible. For an extra measure of safety, Christy installs switches with most overhead doors which automatically reverse the closing door if something is in its way. Additional safety cables are also installed with most jobs to prevent exposed springs from "popping" and causing injury to anyone nearby.

"No job is too small or too large for us, from installing doors of all sizes right down to replacing weatherstripping," said Christy, explaining that poor weatherstripping leads to increased heating and cooling costs. "It's part of our policy. We want people to know that we're still a relatively small company that cares about our customers."

Christy's Overhead Doors also offers a one-year warranty on parts, if Christy buys the doors, and on all installations.

Christy's Overhead Doors can be reached by calling 371-4550 Monday through Friday between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., and Saturdays between 7:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Paper Mill's 'Tenor' star keeping up with the pace

By BEA SMITH

What is a day in the life of an actor really like?

Well, if it's a Thursday and the actor is Patrick Quinn — who plays Max in "Lend Me a Tenor" at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn, and Dr. Steven Kozak on CBS-TV's soap "As the World Turns" — it's less than romantic and exciting. It's downright exhausting.

Take last Thursday, for example. Quinn, who has an apartment near Central Park in New York City, had to race over to the CBS building to begin taping "As the World Turns" at 6:45 a.m.

"It takes 12 hours to shoot a segment," explained the good-natured young actor during a recent chat. "But they had to do all my scenes first. They were taping in a hurry. They had to. After all, when we were finished taping, I had to hurry to New Jersey because I had a matinee and an evening performance. So, I did a taping in the morning, a matinee in the afternoon and another performance in the evening. Whew!"

Quinn, who starred on Broadway last season in "Lend Me a Tenor" for six months, said, "I'm very familiar with the role of Max. Max is a very good friend of mine. He gets to sing, to be funny, to be romantic. I really get to run the gamut on this one.

"On Broadway," he recalled, "we played it from December through May. We have Steven Beckler here, who was stage manager on Broadway and worked with the original Broadway stage director, Jerry Zaks, as director of the Paper Mill production.

Also, from the original show, we have Jeff Brooks, who also played the bellhop on Broadway.

"In fact," Quinn muses, "Jeff and I first worked together at the Paper Mill Playhouse 13 years ago as college roommates in 'Good News.' I played the class hero and he played the class clown. That was in the old Paper Mill building, before the fire."

The Paper Mill is like a second home to Quinn. The versatile actor appeared as the narcissistic Maximilian in "Candide," and as John Dickinson in "1776."

"I love the Paper Mill," he said. "It is one of the best-run theaters in the country. I mean it. It's extremely well run. And I say this not only as an actor but as vice president of Actors' Equity Association.

"I remember," he noted, "what it was like working in the old building. All the windows were a mess — to begin with. And before, there was no involvement with the audience. The theater was built like a bowling alley. Now we have 400 seats closer to the audience. The sound is terrific. It's a really nice theater to play. You don't always get to play in a nice theater.

The acoustics are very good . . . they really are."

Quinn admitted that when he was signed to repeat his Broadway role in the Paper Mill production, that "naturally, you have some trepidation with another cast. I did get a little scared," he said. "But it was needless. This cast is so incredible, really. I would hope that the Paper Mill people get as much out of it as we do. It's a wonderful show. And with a role like mine, I can't do it alone. That's what an ensemble group really is — with everyone working together. You've got to be working with other people. I found that they picked up in the music, and I'm very pleased that we're getting a nice response."

Is it difficult to maintain the proper timing, particularly in this play?

"Much of it has to do with the director, but much of it has to do with the audience, too. It's the audience who teaches you timing. The director used to say, 'If they're laughing, don't talk over their laughter. If they're not laughing, then you can talk.'"

Quinn, who was born in Philadelphia, was graduated from Temple University. "I've had some formal dramatic training, but I never studied music. The only musical involvement I've ever had," he noted, "is when I sang in public school glee club. I guess I get my musical talent from my mother, my father and God. I had to work in my acting classes, but music just came naturally. I've been lucky with that."

When Quinn speaks of musical roles, he is referring to his Broadway debut in 1977 in "Fiddler on the Roof," in which he played Perchik, and Zero Mostel played Tevye.

"Mostel was a great guy," Quinn said. "In fact, he was making a pretty good chunk of money back then so that they upped the ticket charge to $20 a ticket." He laughs. "You know what it costs for a ticket to a Broadway musical today? About $100. Anyway, Zero was a very funny man. He was like 'Peck's Bad Boy' sometimes. I think he really enjoyed life a great deal. And his timing was impeccable. I always admired him. I was thrilled to be chosen to do the show."

Quinn also appeared on Broadway in "A Day in Hollywood/A Night in the Ukraine" and the recent revival of "Oh! Coward." He also starred in the national tour of "Twentieth Century" with Rock Hudson and as Cornelius Hackl in "Hello Dolly!" with Carol Channing.

When he appeared with superstar Hudson in 1979, Quinn was very impressed with the actor. "Roy was one of the kindest, gentlest people I had ever worked with. He was genuinely a gentleman, and the whole cast worshipped him. It was funny because being in awe of him, I had to ask him a question and I addressed him as 'Mr. Hudson.' 'Mr. Hudson?'" CATHOLIC SCHOOLS WEEK 1991

A Kaleidoscope of People

January 27 - February 2, 1991

Union Catholic H.S. initiates an environmental club

Students at Union Catholic Regional High School in Scotch Plains have taken on a new project this year. Under the guidance of Sister Mary Raymond, an Environmental Club was formed and a school wide recycling project has been initiated. The school is currently recycling aluminum, newspaper, cardboard, glass and white and colored high grade paper.

Through the efforts of the clubs' executive board members, Jennifer Ang, Nancy McHugh, Edward McManus, Karyn Shaffer and Marianne Shaffer, the entire school has become involved in the project. Receptacles have been placed in every classroom and in the halls throughout the school to encourage the students and faculty to recycle. The contents are transferred to the main foyer on Wednesday morning when members of the Environmental Club prepare for the pick-up by the township of Scotch Plains.

Sharon Pachler, the Scotch Plains Municipal Recycling/Solid Waste Coordinator has been impressed with the efforts of the students and administration at Union Catholic. Sister Percylee Hart, Principal of Union Catholic, is a big supporter of the recycling project. The school has already saved over $5,000.00 in solid waste disposal charges since the program's inception in September. The school's dumpster pick-up has decreased from five to two times a week. This is a significant reduction in the cost of solid waste disposal, and a direct result of the school recycling project. In addition, the school and grounds have remained cleaner.

According to Sister Percylee, "The issue of recycling goes far beyond the monetary savings. It is an educational and a moral issue as well. We have taken on the responsibility of retraining people in how to think about the world around them. The students and faculty have responded beautifully to this challenge."

The long term goal of the club is to educate people to recycle 100 percent of the time. "Even with the tremendous support we have at Union Catholic the "system" breaks down about 20 percent of the time", says Sister Percylee. In addition to educating the students and faculty about recycling, the club hopes to have their high school become a role model for other high schools in their recycling endeavors. The club would also like to include plastic in its recycling efforts.

The Union Catholic Environmental Club feels that to make a "difference" each person must start with him/herself. Daily practice at school will encourage students to begin recycling at home and, hopefully, this will become a way of life for everyone. So, their challenge is: Start with yourself and begin recycling today!

St. John's holds registration

St. John The Apostle School, located on Valley Road in Clark, will hold open house and registration for students and new students during Catholic Schools Week which begins the week of Jan. 27.

On Sunday, Jan. 27, there will be open house and registration for new students from 10 a.m. to noon.

On Monday, Jan. 28, registration for Pre-K to seventh grade will be from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., with an open house from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. for kindergarten to eighth grade. Pre-K only will have open house on Jan. 29 at 1 p.m.

On Tuesday, Jan. 29, there will be open house for kindergarten to eighth grade from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. with registration from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.

On Thursday, Jan. 31, there will be registration again from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. for Pre-K to seventh grade.

Busing and/or reimbursement is available for students living outside a 2-mile limit from school. After school care program, is also available for working parents. When registering for Pre-K and kindergarten, parents will need birth certificate, immunization records and a tuition deposit. The child must turn 5 years old for kindergarten by Dec. 31. For further information call the school at 38-1360.

St. Joe's plans

Catholic School Week (Jan. 27-Feb. 2) will be celebrated at St. Joseph's School, Maplewood, starting at the 10:30 a.m. Mass on Sunday, Jan. 27, to be followed by a parish coffee.

The Annual Ziti Dinner/Talent Show will be held Wednesday, Jan. 30, at 6:30 p.m.

The students of St. Joseph's will also be participating with the other Catholic Schools of New Jersey in the "Friendship Forest" Program. In an agreement with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service and Friends of the Forest, the children will be collecting $5 for everygreen seedlings to reforest some of the burned out areas of the Greater Yellowstone Area that was destroyed by fire.

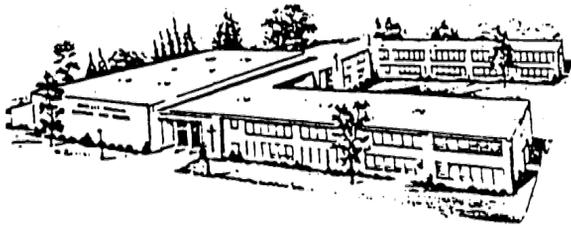

If you are interested in supporting this program, please call the school at 761-4033.

Jarvis taps into a country vein

By MILT HAMMER

Our pick of "the best" this week is the album by John Jarvis.

"I live in Nashville. I work in Nashville. On the album, I wanted to tap into the great music that's here and work with some of my Nashville musician friends, many of whom happen to be the best in the world on their instruments," Jarvis said.

On Jarvis' fourth MCA Master Series release, "Pure Contours," he has surrounded himself with some impressive musicians, but Jarvis has already proven that, as a recording artist, he can stand on his own. His last recording, "Whatever Works," was picked by Time magazine as one of the 10 best pop records of 1988, and it went on to reach No. 2 on the NAC charts. The album also featured Jarvis' vocal debut on his composition "The Flower That Shattered The Stone," a song since recorded both by Olivia Newton-John and country star Steve Wariner. And his first two albums, "So Fa So Good" and "Something Constructive," are still receiving good airplay on jazz, new age and adult contemporary stations.

Jarvis once again produces and plays all the keyboards on "Pure Contours." The album showcases his melodic talents on such songs as "Diane's Lullaby" and "The Winter of '89." There are a few surprises, too, including the country feel of "The Woods Behind St. Andrews," the rock-n-roll piano licks on "Wake Up Call" and the eccentricity of "Inspector Barlow Goes Surfing." The writing features a new composition with lyricist Joe Henry — his collaborator on "The Flower That Shattered The Stone" — as well as new collaborations with blues great Delbert McClinton, studio guitar great Richard Bennett and world-renowned classical bassist Edgar Meyer.

Some of Jarvis' musical "friends" include Emmylou Harris and McClinton on guest vocals, horn charts by sax man Jim Horn and bass guitar by E Street Band member Gary Tallant. Also appearing are violin virtuoso Mark O'Connor and dobro great Jerry Douglas who, along with Jarvis and Meyer, comprised the James Taylor band on his critically-acclaimed fall tour of 1989. But at the center is still an artist whose keyboard stylings have been described by People magazine as "the best solo pianist since Keith Jarrett."

Jarvis continues to work as a first-call studio pianist and a highly respected songwriter. In the past year, he has accompanied such country superstars as Randy Travis, Dolly Parton, Hank Williams Jr. and Buck Owens. His recent writing successes include three compositions on The Judd's "River of Time" album, as well as a cut on the "Highwayman II" release. In addition, he has performed in theaters around the country with Emmy Award-winning actor Anthony Zerbe in their two-man performance of Joe Henry's "Prelude to Lime Creek," and he continues to be a part of NARAS' "Grammy in the Schools" project, bringing his insights on the music business to high schoolers.

Playwright's festival celebrates work of court-appointed youth

A two week-end festival of new plays by court-appointed youths will take to the stage of the Playwrights Theatre of New Jersey, 33 Green Village Rd. in Madison, at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Saturday and Feb. 1, 2.

Featured the first weekend are 11 plays written by young people from the Warren Residential Group Center. Plays written by young people in the alcohol/substance abuse program at the Voorhees Residential Group Center will be staged Feb. 1 and 2.

The festivals are sponsored by Playwrights Theater in association with the New Jersey Department of Corrections/Division of Juvenile Services and are two of seven festivals held throughout the state this season, including one in Essex County.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for our community to see our highly regarded statewide educational and social outreach program in action," Joshua Friedman, director of Special Needs Projects for Playwrights Theater, said. "Seeing these plays which are motivated by events from the personal experiences of these young people, is a chance for all of us to consider the ideas and feelings of these teenagers who are dealing with difficult problems in a creative way. We've discovered that playwriting is an effective tool for learning basic skills as well as a means for self-discovery and enhancing self esteem."

Admission to performances is free, but reservations should be made by calling Playwrights Theater of New Jersey's box office at 514-1940.

Now in its fourth year, the national program pioneered by Playwrights Theater and the Department of Corrections, Division of Juvenile Services involves six-week playwriting workshops taught by professionals from Playwrights Theater in which the students learn the basics about playwriting and then write their own short, one-act plays. The plays are put together as a dramatic evening and staged by a company of professional directors and actors, many of whom may be familiar to audiences from their previous performances in television and films.

Playwrights Theater of New Jersey, a professional, not-for-profit theater is dedicated to the development of new plays and writers for the American stage.

Westfield Symphony Orchestra unveils 'crystal ball'

"The Crystal Ball," the Westfield Symphony Orchestra's major fundraising event, has been scheduled for Feb. 2 beginning at 7 p.m. in the Atrium at the Hilton at Short Hills. More than 200 symphony patrons from the central New Jersey region are expected to attend, organizers announced.

Festivities of the evening will feature a live auction with more than 30 fantasy items and a silent auction of more than 50 celebrity collectibles and specialty gifts. The Savoy Orchestra will provide music for dancing.

Maestro Brad Keimach, symphony music director, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The symphony's annual benefit is being presented by the Westfield Symphony board of directors and the Symphony Guild. Charlotte C. Foster is president of the board, Victoria S. Evans, is president of the guild. The Crystal Ball committee is composed of 25 volunteers from the Westfield area.

Proceeds from the event support the educational and performance activities of the Westfield Symphony, one of New Jersey's foremost professional orchestras.

Additional information is available by calling the symphony office at 232-9400.

Catholic services group offers help to immigrants

The Office of Migration of the Catholic Community Services (CCS) of the Newark Archdiocese will assist Salvadorans to apply for "Temporary Protected Status" under the Immigration Act of 1990.

The law provides that any national of El Salvador who has been physically present in the United States since Sept. 19, 1990 may apply for this benefit. Approval of an application will allow the person to remain in the United States until June 30, 1991 and be authorized to accept employment in the United States. The period of time will be extended in increments of six months to the date June 30, 1992 for a total of 18 months.

The following are commonly asked questions and answers that may assist in understanding more about "Temporary Protected Status" (TPS).

□ What happens at the expiration of the 18 month period?

Unless the Attorney General or new legislation extends this 18 month period, the applicant will receive notice and be given a date to appear at a deportation proceeding, at which time their case will be heard.

□ Will everyone from El Salvador benefit from this law?

No.

□ How do Salvadorans learn more about the law?

They should contact a community agency such as Catholic Community Services, or an attorney in the private sector who is knowledgeable and experienced in the field of immigration law.

□ Is this an Amnesty Law? Is it like permanent residence status?

No. TPS is temporary. The 18 month period may be extended by this depends upon the political climate in El Salvador at the end of the 18 month period. If the situation in El Salvador remains dangerous, worsens or poses a threat to the safe return of Salvadorans, the Attorney General may expand the 18 month period.

□ What is the Protected period?

Jan. 1, 1991 through June 30, 1992.

□ How do I register with the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS)?

Before deciding whether to apply for TPS, you should contact Catholic Community Services or another responsible agency to learn whether or not you are eligible. Catholic Community Services has the necessary forms needed to be completed.

□ May I bring my family to the United States also?

Unfortunately, you may not.

□ When can I apply for TPS?

You must wait until Jan. 1, 1991, but don't wait too long. Applications take time to complete and must be filled with the INS before June 30, 1991.

□ What will it cost to apply for TPS?

The immigration and Naturalization Service will require a fee of $75 for TPS, and $35 for Employment Authorization. Fees must be in the form of a money order or bank check.

□ What will it cost to have my application prepared for the INS?

That depends on who assists you.

Contact only community agencies or attorneys that have good reputation and are well acquainted with immigration laws.

Please note that all applicants will be required to present proof of El Salvadoran nationality, such as a passport, credula, or birth certificate. Evidence of continued physical presence in the United States since Sept. 19, 1990 must also be presented.

Inquiries regarding this program can be made by calling, Catholic Community Services, Office of Migration located at: 909 Elizabeth Avenue in Elizabeth at (201)352-9700.

horoscope

For week of Jan. 27-Feb. 2

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Stand firm when others try to change your mind. Make sure that you get something back for everything you give away. Your overly perky attitude at work can begin to get on others' nerves.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Think seriously about what you really want. Then set up your goals and work toward them in both your business and personal life. Those with personal debts should be looking into methods of payment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You are at a low ebb right now. Concentrate on the important chores and save others until you feel more like doing them. Then again, teaming up with others this week may bring additional responsibilities.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Give a young friend the help that he or she may need right now. You will be delighted with the results. On another front, the routine-ness of your job may get to you this week.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) You are entitled to new privileges on the work front. Let your superiors know that you would like to have them. Those of you who have children may be tempted to roar at them this week in typical leonine fashion.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) You do not have to give up your sense of style in order to save money. Be creative in finding inexpensive ways to maintain your own flair. Problems of an intimate, delicare nature may arise with your mate this week.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You may find yourself sitting on the fence, unable to make a decision. Someone may be trying to trick you. Be on your guard. Ask the right questions before acting.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have been top hard on yourself of late. Relax a little more and have a good time. Do something you might have previously thought foolish. Also, you have been neglectful of domestic duties and need to get things in order.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take control of your body, from head to toe. Take time to schedule an appointment for a health check-up. Some deep thinking will lead to some very intuitive insights regarding yourself and your actions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) You will be coming up against some problems on the work front. But you should have no trouble overcoming them. Be creative. This is your week to be a good samaritan. Don't be afraid to get involved.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Rules and regulations that usually annoy you will work to your benefit now. Take full advantage of this. You may find yourself feeling very unappreciated this week. But rewards are around the corner.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) A celebrity that you have admired will come into your life. Be self-confident and enjoy this new relationship. This will be a crucial week for you concerning a decision about the direction of your career.

State Opera sets kick-off for silver anniversary season

The New Jersey State Opera will open its 25th anniversary season with a production of Verdi's "I Lombardi," starring the legendary Italian tenor Carlo Bergonzi in the role of Oronte.

The performances will take place on Sunday at 6:30 p.m. and Feb. 2 at 6 p.m.; both performances take place in Newark's Symphony Hall and are conducted by the State's Opera's founding conductor, Alfredo Silipigni.

In addition, Bergonzi will be guest of honor and perform at a dinner concert sponsored by the New Jersey State Opera Guild on Jan. 31. The event will be held at the Grand Summit Hotel in Summit. The evening begins with hors d'oeuvres at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. Dress is black tie optional.

Starring Bergonzi and introducing soprano Antonella Banaudi and bass Valentyn Pyvovarov, this production has been specially designed for the New Jersey State Opera by Alberto Alonso. It will recreate the time of the first crusade in Italy and in Jerusalem with costumes bringing together the full pageantry of the period.

Bergonzi returns to the Newark stage after his performance as Nemorino in 1989's production of "L'Elisir d'Amore," during which he stopped the show as the audience demanded an encore of "Una Furtiva Lagrima." Bergonzi's manager described his client as "one of the greatest Italian lyric tenors of all time and nobody raises an eyebrow. Nobody."

After a career of more than 35 years, he continually adds to his opera and concert repertoire, winning praise from critics and audiences. Strongly identified with the music of Verdi all of his professional life, Bergonzi has performed "I Lombardi" the world over, but never in the Metropolitan area. The singer's discography includes almost 30 complete operas, as well as operatic and song recitals on labels such as Angel, Phillips, RCA, DG and London.

Making her debut as Giselda with the New Jersey State Opera will be the young Italian soprano, Banaudi. She performed the role of Leonora in "Il Trovatore" with Luciano Pavarotti in the 53rd Maggio Musicale Fiorentino conducted by Zubin Mehta. This production was later recorded for release by Decca. Mehta described her as someone "just starting her career and who is going to be a really great singer because she knows exactly the style, has perfect rhythm for it and not only has the spinto quality but also the coloratura."

The role of Pagano will be sung by Pyvovarov, who will be making his United States debut with the company in this production. This Russian bass is a soloist with the Kiev Opera, a finalist in the Tchaikovsky Competition of 1978 and a prizewinner in both the Glinka competition in 1977 and the Verdi Voices competition of 1979.

The young tenor, Paul Lyons, will sing the role of Arvino. Lyons has previously sung with the New Jersey State Opera in the title role of Sullivan's "Ivanhoe" in Cape May. This season will also mark his debuts at La Scala as the principal tenor in Cherubini's "Lodoiska" and at the Arena di Verona as Calaf in "Turandot."

The New Jersey State Opera will present three fellows of the Opera Music Theatre International in this production. Bass Dong-Jian Gong will sing Acciano, soprano Adrienne Dugger will sing the role of Viclinda and soprano Andrea Adkins will sing Sofia. The production will be directed by Bodo Igesz, who is no stranger to State Opera audiences, having staged many other productions in previous years. Lighting will be designed by Emmy Award-winning Robert Warren Davis, who is entering his 12th season with the company.

The Terrace Ballroom will be the scene of two social events on the evening of the opening night. Dinner will be served preceding the performance, and a reception will be held following the performance to meet the stars. Both events can be attended for a combined cost of $50 and reservations can be made at the State Opera office, 623-5757.

Tickets to the performance range from $60 to $20 and are available by calling the State Opera's box office at 623-5775. Call Mrs. Gordon at that number to reserve tickets to the Jan. 31 gala. The New Jersey State Opera is supported in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, and the Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Dinner chairwoman Florence Infante, Sol Rubenstein, Guild president Gloria Dickerson and Ethel Rubenstein prepare for the season kick-off.

Colonial celebrates 40th

Embarking on its 40th anniversary season, Colonial Symphony is continuing its concert series in Madison.

According to Yehuda Gilad, music director and conductor of the Colonial Symphony, the Feb. 8 concert will feature three guest soloists. Anthony Plog on the trumpet and Richard Foley on English horn will be the soloists for the late Aaron Copland's "Quiet City." Anne-Marie McDermott will be featured in Maurice Ravel's Concerto for Piano in C Major. The concert will conclude with Shubert's Symphony No. 9 in G Major, The Great Symphony.

On April 5, an all-orchestral program will feature "String Symphony" by New Jersey composer Richard Nanes, Symphony No. 29 in A Major, K. 186a, by Mozart and Serenade for String Orchestra in E Major, opus 22, by Dvorak.

Highlighting the final concert of the season on May 11 will be a new work, "Simple Lives," by David Sampson, which has been commissioned especially for the Colonial Symphony's 40th anniversary. Also to be presented at the final concert are the Symphonic Variations, opus 78, by Dvorak, and the Concerto in D Major for Violin and Orchestra by Niccolò Paganini, with Mark Peskanov as violin soloist.

All concerts will be held at the Madison Junior School, Main Street in Madison. Performances begin at 8:30 p.m. Key Notes, the regular pre-concert discussions, will be presented at 7:15 p.m. by musicologist, writer, critic, radio and television host and commentator Martin Bookspan.

The symphony concerts are funded in part by a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State. Further information can be obtained by calling 377-1310.

The orchestra was recently honored as a recipient of a National Endowment for the Arts grant for the 1990-91 season. The Colonial Symphony is the only resident orchestra serving northwestern New Jersey continuously since 1950.

WHERE TO DINE

A Guide to Find the Finest Dining In New Jersey

Quinn adds starring role to already busy schedule

he said. "I mean, Rock..." I answered. "Rock?" he said with a smile. "Call me Roy." Well, when he said that, I really felt accepted."

Quinn was featured off-Broadway in the original cast of "Forbidden Broadway '84," the Equity Library Theatre revival of "A Little Night Music," and he created the role of Rapunzel's Prince in "Into the Woods" at Playwrights Horizons.

"My parents never stood in my way when I chose my career," he said. "I don't think they were very happy with my decision, however. I have three older brothers and an older sister, none of whom are in show business. It's not the easiest of careers to choose. You know, as vice president of Actors Equity, I talk to students in a lot of colleges. And I tell them, 'If there's anything else you can do, do it.' For example, I went from starring in a TV series to unemployment. It's a roller coaster. Sometimes the ride is good, and sometimes it's not."

Quinn prefers the stage to television even though he has frequently appeared on TV. "When you're on Broadway, you have to keep with it and get it right. On TV, you do it, and it's over. You never get a chance to get it perfect."

Still, TV has been good to him. He appeared as Marty Bursky in "Bosom Buddies" with Tom Hanks and Peter Scolari; and had his own TV pilot series for ABC. "It was to be a spinoff of 'Three's Company.' But it didn't work out. And in 1986, John Ritter did it as 'Three's a Crowd,' and it only lasted for half a season."

He will continue to play Dr. Kozak on "As the World Turns" even though he would like to do another show.

"I've been playing the doctor for six months now. It's an interesting role. In the show, I'm a neurology specialist and I really hate to keep telling people, 'You'll never walk again.'"

"My parents are both gone now," Quinn said. "But my mother would have been proud of me. She always wanted me to become a doctor."

Restaurant Shing Hin Chinese Restaurant review

By DAVE WISE

With about four courses of advanced Chinese History under my belt — not to mention the A I received for my undergraduate thesis on Sino-American Relations — I felt eminently qualified to give a restaurant review of the Shing Hin.

I've always found Chinese culture to be intriguing and mysterious, and Chinese food is no exception. Equipped with my reporter's notebook and pen, I decided to patronize the Shing Hin to indulge my taste buds and expand my knowledge of the Great Orient.

When I entered Shing Hin, I immediately observed the Asian influence in the restaurant's decor. Hung on the walls are large paintings of people dressed in traditional Chinese robes, striking various poses. Nestled close to the walls are red-colored booths to provide couples with a touch of intimacy and romance. And in the restaurant's center, there are circular tables to lend a warm atmosphere for a group of friends or business people. The soft lighting at the Shing Hin is also conducive to a mellow afternoon or evening.

The spotless purple carpet blends well with the red cloth napkins that sit pyramid-like on the tables. As patrons eat their meals, they are vaguely aware of the relaxing, mellow music which creates a pleasurable dining experience.

I spent an adequate amount of time absorbing the ambiance, but now it was time to order. I'm watching my waistline, so I considered it prudent to not throw caution to the wind. I ordered a bowl of lobster meat and chicken soup, which also contained bamboo shoots, carrots and mushrooms. The soup was hot and light, especially flavorful with the fried noodles provided at each table.

As I enjoyed my soup, I could hear other patrons express their views about Shing Hin.

"The food is great, isn't it, honey?" said one customer. She frequently asked her husband similar questions throughout dinner.

"They gave me too much," noted another. No one would have guessed, however, by the amount of food he ate.

While I waited for the formally dressed waiter to return with my main course, I read my Chinese zodiac on the paper place mat. I'm a rat — according to the horoscope, that is. "Ambitious and sincere. You can be generous with your financial resources," it said. Well, two out of three ain't bad.

My Cantonese steak was served piping hot directly off a cooking tray, and the flavorful herbs and spices made it especially appealing. The steak was tender, just as the side order of Chinese-fried vegetables were. Served with a dish of rice, the steak — at $8.95 — was well worth ordering. All dinner entrees are served with soup and dessert.

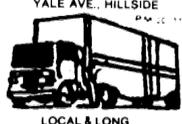

The Shing Hin specializes in food from Canton, Szechwan and Hunan, which are provinces in China. If you are a Chinese connoisseur, or know anything about the Boxer and Taiping Rebellions, these places may sound familiar to you.

The Shing Hin keeps a long menu that includes reasonably priced meals, plus chef's specialties and family dinners. Take-out orders are available too.

I thoroughly enjoyed my evening at Shing Hin. It's a delightful place to dine, while maintaining your budget. Prompt and courteous service, a cozy setting, and tasty Chinese dishes are a few reasons to visit the Shing Hin.
