Zoning Board denies two-family housing application

By Suzette Stalker
Managing Editor

The Mountainside Zoning Board of Adjustment on Monday rejected a variance application submitted by Mountainside resident Jose Pires, who had petitioned the board for permission to subdivide a 100-by-200-foot lot on Woodland Avenue in order to build two two-family homes on the property.

Pires had first come before the Zoning Board in January, explaining that he wanted to build the two-family residences at 548 Woodland Ave. for his elderly parents and in-laws and possibly for his grown children to use in the future. He and his family reside on Cherry Hill Road.

The applicant had sought a variance because the Woodland Avenue property is located within an R-2 zone, or one designated for single-family residences. Pires was seeking to subdivide the original property into two 50-by-100-foot lots, with neither building to exceed 30 feet in height.

Frank Renda, a licensed professional engineer and planner, testified that two-family homes would be "beneficial" to Mountainside because it would provide affordable housing for seniors, young families and others in the borough, which is currently 97 percent developed.

Renda added that he believed it would not disrupt the character of the community. He also cited a report by the Mountainside 2000 Committee, prepared in December 1987, which addressed the subject of future housing needs in the municipality.

Zoning Board Chairman Donald Hancock, however, stated that this portion of the committee's report dealt with land which is currently underdeveloped. The property which Pires had planned to subdivide is occupied by a single-family residence which would have to be razed before new homes could be built there.

Hancock cited letters from 47

Woodland Avenue residents opposed to Pires' proposal. The Woodland Avenue objectors claimed the application would set a precedent for additional two-family housing throughout the community and would increase density and traffic flow in the vicinity.

Charles Shomo, who has lived on Woodland Avenue for more than 62 years, confirmed during the meeting that no two-family homes had been built on the street since 1928. These homes were exempted under a "grandfather clause" when Mountainside zoning laws were established years later.

Shomo's wife, Joan, cited traffic statistics compiled by the Mountainside Police Department between 1988 and 1990, which indicated that the number of vehicles traveling along Woodland Avenue had increased by 15 percent during that time period. She said that two-family homes would only aggravate the situation.

"We are a feeder road from every surrounding town," echoed Linda Esemplare, another Woodland Avenue resident. "We are concerned about this and we ask you to deny this (application) and keep us for all practical purposes in an R-2 zone."

Rodney Harris, who also lives on Woodland, recalled that three acci-idents have occurred in front of the residence next door to the one owned by Pires. Harris pointed out that a curve in the road diminishes motorists' visibility there and stated that additional traffic from two-family homes would only "add to the danger which already exists."

Hancock and board members Robert Beattie, Albert D'Amada, Frederick Picut, Dean Paskow and Daniel Falcone all voted against the application. William Biunno was absent and Patricia Connolly abstained from voting because she is a relative of a Woodland Avenue resident.

Nominees compete for 2 school seats

Linda Esemplare

Raymond Fisher

Three candidates will be vying for two available seats on the Mountainside Board of Education when New Jersey school elections are held April 30. The candidates include incumbents Linda Esemplare and Raymond Fisher and newcomer Frank Geiger. The deadline for filing nominating petitions was March 7.

A Woodland Avenue resident, Esemplare has been a board representative since 1978 and is currently running for her fifth term. She has been a Mountainside resident for 37 years and has had six children educated through the Mountainside school system.

Esemplare is the board's liaison to the Mountainside Borough Council for 1990-91. The candidate also serves as chairman of the board's Education Committee and a member of its Policy Committee.

She is also a member of the board's Special Education Task Force, established last year on the recommendation of Deerfield School Superintendent Leonard Bacarro to study special education programs in the Mountainside school district.

"I believe in children and I believe they should all be educated," remarked Esemplare on Tuesday while discussing her reasons for running for re-election. "I believe that we are accountable educationally as well as physically and I believe they should come out knowing a lot.

"I believe every child has a right to be exposed to all the different kinds of materials and ideas out there," Esemplare continued. "I don't want to see them become so dependent on machines that they can't think or act without them."

Fisher, who moved with his family to Mountainside from Rahway six years ago, is seeking his second term on the board. He and his wife, Judith, reside on Saddlebrook Road and have two children enrolled in Deerfield School.

He has compared his position as a trial attorney to his role on the Mountainside Board of Education in that just as he defends his clients to the best of his ability, he also strives to provide the best possible education to children in the school district.

Geiger could not be reached for an interview.

Adult education funds discussed

By Suzette Stalker
Managing Editor

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 contemplated the future of the district's adult education programs last week while awaiting word from the New Jersey Department of Education regarding how much state aid the district will be receiving for the 1991-92 school year.

The department had postponed releasing aid figures to New Jersey school districts while a special committee appointed by Gov. James Florio studied the proposed impact of the Quality Education Act of 1990, which would reduce state aid to school districts by 25 percent annually between 1992-95.

Three types of adult education programs are currently offered by the Regional District, including the Adult School Program, which is held at all four Regional District high schools; the Adult Learning Center, located on the David Brearley Regional High School campus in Kenilworth and the Adult High School, also conducted on the Brearley campus.

The Regional Adult School Program offers a wide range of courses including vocational, leisure, recreation, arts and crafts and informative subjects. Student tuition covers teachers' salaries and operating expenses.

The Adult Learning Center, funded by the state under Categorical Aid for specific programs, specializes in courses such as English for the Foreign Born, English as a Second Language and Adult Basic Education, designed to aid students who require these skills for survival or to gain employment.

The school also offers courses necessary for students to obtain their General Equivalency diploma.

Finally, the Adult High School is for anyone, from teen-agers to senior citizens, who wish to receive their high school diploma. The state-funded program, held in both the David Brearley and Adult Learning Center buildings, is regarded as being somewhat of a fifth regional high school.

Charles Serson, Regional District Supervisor of Adult and Vocational Education, explained that the Adult High School would be affected by the QEA since it receives state funds the way the four regular high schools do.

The Adult High School is expected to receive $240,000 in state funds this year. That figure is expected to drop annually by 25 percent, or $60,000, to $180,000 for 1992-93; $120,000 for 1993-94 and $60,000 for 1994-1995.

Serson presented several proposals to the board regarding how to deal with the cost of continuing to operate the Regional District's Adult Education programs and with pending reductions in state financial aid.

The first was that starting with the fall 1991 semester, the Regional Adult School operate only at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and that it be eliminated at David Brearley and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

The change would eliminate two assistant director positions and other costs, according to Serson. He revealed that Dayton and Johnson

Candidates seek 3 regional seats

By Suzette Stalker
Managing Editor

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 has announced the names of those candidates who will be running for three vacant seats on the board. The Regional District includes Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Clark, Garwood and Berkeley Heights.

The deadline for filing petitions was March 14. School board elections are scheduled to be held on April 30, at which time a vote on the Regional District school budget will also be taken.

Board President Natalie Waldt of Springfield, who was first elected to the school board in 1967, will be running for her ninth term on the board. She is being challenged by newcomer Charles Jordan Levy of Norwood Road.

Waldt, a graduate of City College in New York City, has been a member of the New Jersey School Boards Association. She was educated through the Springfield school system and Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

Prior to serving on the Regional Board of Education, Waldt served as president of the Jonathan Dayton PTA and of the parent-teacher associations for several other schools in Union County. She is also a former president of the Union County School Boards Association, on which she served for eight years.

A resident of Springfield for eight years, Levy was graduated from Rutgers University in New Brunswick, where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in economics. He later became a certified public accountant and is currently the owner of Industrial Paper, Piscataway.

"My belief is that what's happening on the state level, with the QEA and all, will cause some dramatic changes to happen over the next few years on every level of government and the school boards will be no exception. They may even have more difficulty," Levy said.

"I think whoever is involved in this, whether they are elected officials or residents, will have to make some difficult and challenging decisions," the candidate continued.

"I have a varied business background. I believe the decisions which will be made will be business decisions," he added. "My background in business and as an accountant would be very helpful."

Levy and his wife, Pearl, have a 1 1/4-year-old daughter, Eliana. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey and a member of the National Young Leadership Cabinet of the United Jewish Appeal, a group whose members have excelled locally in charitable work.

Charles Levy

Newcomer Carmine Venes, Orchard Road, Mountainside, will be running unopposed for the board seat currently held by Board Vice President David M. Hart. Hart, who will be completing his fourth term this spring, has opted not to run for re-election.

Venes, who has lived in Mountainside for 13 years, has been a guidance counselor at Rahway High School for the past 24 years, having previously been an elementary school teacher at Harding School in Kenilworth for five years.

The Kean College graduate is also his school district's representative to the Legislative Action Team, an arm of the New Jersey Education Association comprised of New Jersey school district representatives who periodically meet throughout the year with state legislators concerning education issues.

Venes explained that he decided to run for the board because "I had a few concerns and I was interested in the Regional Board. I knew they had a quality education program. I'm interested in education and I'm involved with a lot of issues on the state level."

The candidate and his wife, Carol, have four daughters, Chris Ann, a senior at Rutgers University School of Business; Lauren, a junior at Kean College; Karen, a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield; and Cathleen, a sophomore at Jonathan Dayton.

In Garwood, incumbent Joan Toth will be running unchallenged for the board seat she has held since February 1990. Toth will be seeking her first full term on the board.

PEACE BADGES — Fourth-grade students Alex Polce and Michelle Weag assist their teacher, Angela Lubash, in making peace badges for students and faculty members at Deerfield School in Mountainside. The class did their project with the help of Deerfield guidance counselor Michelle Pitts and the student council. Art teacher Steve Gimson designed the peace badge.

Antique appraisal on tap

The Friends of the Mountainside Public Library has announced that it will hold an antiques appraisal to benefit the library on April 13 from 10 a.m. to noon. The library is located on Constitution Plaza in Mountainside.

Attendees will have a unique opportunity to have objects appraised by Vena Sharer of The Attic in Westfield for a nominal fee. For further information about the appraisal and fees, one can call the Mountainside Library at 233-0115. Sharer will provide verbal appraisals on such items as antique lamps, jewelry, clocks, silver, small tables, vases, crystal and other collectibles.

All proceeds generated from the appraisal will be used to fund programs at the Mountainside Library.

The library sponsors a variety of programs throughout the year for both adults and children, including music and reading programs. It also offers a wide range of books, periodicals, audio-visual materials and a children's section, among other features.

GUEST SPEAKER — Sen. Donald DiFrancesco, R-Essex/Union, second from right, recently spoke at the monthly meeting of the Mountainside Active Retirees regarding taxes and the Quality Education Act. The Quality Education Act is expected to reduce state funds to school districts over the next several years and could result in higher municipal taxes. Joining DiFrancesco are, from left, Frank Hiljer, president of the Mountainside Active Retirees; Doris Riccardi, vice president and program chairman; and Elfrieda Dawson, recording secretary.

Education is discussed

Second, Serson proposed that the Adult School begin charging a small registration fee to students to help make the school more financially successful.

Third, he recommended that a private school be selected for the district's Driver Education program and approved by May so that the course can be added to the Adult School brochure in time for the fall 1991 semester.

The board recently voted to eliminate behind-the-wheel instruction for students at the four regional high schools, though classroom instruction will continue to be offered. The Adult School Driver Education course will be available to both regular high school students and those attending Adult School.

Fourth, Serson recommended that the Adult High School be phased out beginning July 1 because the expected decrease in state funds will not permit the program to be operated as before.

The school would serve those students who are currently enrolled but not accept any new students who could not complete their program by June 30, 1992. Students who did not complete their program by that date would be referred to other adult schools, Serson said.

Serson acknowledged that the Adult Learning Center would continue to offer English for the Foreign Born, Adult Basic Education and GED Preparation.

The board also discussed prospects for continuation of the Regional District's Summer Cultural Arts Programs, which in 1990 included a vocal music workshop at Jonathan Dayton; a music theater at David Brearley; a fine arts workshop at Arthur L. Johnson; and a crafts workshop at Governor Livingston.

It was proposed by the board that these programs, which up to now have been funded through the Regional District budget and made available free of charge to participants, in the future be included in the Adult School Program.

Man 'plays' Wall Street for big win

Springfield resident Joseph Prince recently turned $500,000 into $7,790,793 one month into the first quarter of the Financial News Network/USA Today National Investment Challenge. Although it's only play money, the contest simulates the real world of investment.

Prince was ranked first in the Options Division among 8,000 other "investors" nationwide, all competing for over $100,000 in cash and prizes.

The FNN/USA Today National Investment Challenge is produced and managed by Wall Street Games, Inc., a Wellesley, Mass., company organized along the lines of a stock brokerage firm.

The challenge allows individual investors to test their market savvy within a realistic environment without risking real money.

Players are given a fictional $500,000 money market account but maintain purchasing power of $1 million, as they can borrow an additional $500,000 on margin. Margin trading, although risky, allows for substantial gains if the player makes the right moves.

OFFICERS NAMED — The 1991 officers for the Springfield Volunteer First Aid Squad were recently sworn in at a squad banquet. They are, from left, Al Keyworth, supply sergeant; Gloria Simpson, first lieutenant; Jocoy Roth, second lieutenant; Elizabeth Fritzen, captain; Linda Maas, House Committee; Joan Bowen, trustee; Shelley Gornstein, corresponding secretary; Martin Gornstein, vice president; Dan Kalem, president; Murry Hurwitz, recording secretary; and Ed Street, treasurer.

BLOOD DRIVE ANNOUNCED — The Springfield Community Blood Bank will be holding a blood drive on March 20 from 1:30-6:30 p.m. at Temple Sha'arey Shalom, 78 South Springfield Ave., Springfield. Here, Temple Blood Drive Chairman Dorothy Danziger, R.N., appeals to local residents to donate blood so that there will be enough for those who need it. There is currently a need for all blood types, especially A Negative, B Negative and O Negative.

THE PROTECTION YOUR DECK NEEDS!
NEW OR OLD

The misconception that pressure-treated wood does not require any additional protection has caused many problems. Homeowners have built beautiful decks only to watch the wood crack, split and warp as it weathers.

What many home owners with decks are discovering - often too late - is that pressure treatment protects lumber from rot and insects but it needs help periodically to battle the elements effectively.

Seek a partnership

The Union County Utilities Authority, in its search for someone to lead the agency following the resignation of Joseph Hartnett, tapped its resources and named a Hillside man to the post.

Angelo Bonanno, who serves as the director of the Hillside Department of Health, begins his tenure as chairman of the Utilities Authority in its most critical time — when debate over an incinerator in Union County, and across the state, is hotter than the temperatures of the burner itself. The incinerator is close to becoming reality in Union County.

As he embarks on his new post, Bonanno must realize that regionalization among counties regarding incinerators should be one of his top priorities.

Incineration is certainly an alternative to solving the solid-waste problem, and we encourage him to go beyond the county lines and seek a partnership with other agencies. The more counties involved in the incinerator project will mean less of a cost that each taxpayer will have to shoulder for the operation of the facility.

Think poison prevention

If 1-800-962-1253 is not on your list of important telephone numbers, add it as soon as you finish reading this. Directly in front of the number write New Jersey Poison Information and Education System. It may save a life.

Poison Prevention Week, March 17-23, is dedicated to highlighting the importance of poison prevention — every day.

Residents of Mountainside should not become apathetic to the problem.

While there's been a steady decline nationally in poison-related statistics since 1972, NJPIES still responds to more than 200 calls daily. That's 73,000 calls a year in our state alone. Do we have your attention now, good residents of Mountainside?

Families call poison control centers when their children ingest a cough medicine or the chemical used to fertilize the lawn or garden. They call when a teen-ager spills a substance from his or her chemistry set on their skin.

What's even more scary is that 60 percent of the annual calls in New Jersey concern children under 5 years old. That means parents are simply not practicing poison prevention daily.

Forty percent of adolescents and adults require special assistance from poison information specialists for solutions to such problems as misusing cleaning agents or mistakenly taking a second dose of medication.

We'd like to offer some simple poison prevention tips:

Know the names of all medicines; keep all medicines locked up; when children are visiting homes of friends of grandparents, warn those people not to keep poisonous things within reach of children; read labels on medication and chemical containers; request safety caps on prescriptions purchased from drug stores; supervise children; poison-proof your home, shed, garage and workplace.

Don't become a statistic. Practice poison prevention 365 days a year.

Women's deeds enhance our lives

National Women's History Month will be celebrated in schools and communities in the area during the month of March. The concept evolved 10 years ago with the National Women's History Project, first organized to celebrate "Women's History Week." In 1987, Congress approved a resolution extending the celebration to the entire month of March.

The NWHF is a non-profit educational organization located in Windsor, Calif., which serves as a clearinghouse for organizations seeking information and programming ideas in respect to women in American history.

Women's History Month is designated to honor women of every race, class and ethnic background who have made historic contributions to the growth and strength of our nation in countless recorded and unrecorded ways.

This year's theme, "Courageous Voices Echoing In Our Lives," recalls the deeds of previous generations of women. It also symbolizes the lives of women who have sustained and passed on their families' unique cultural heritage.

During March, we urge everyone to reflect on women's achievements throughout the years. Without the contributions of women such as Rosa Parks, Emily Dickinson, Susan B. Anthony, Betsy Ross and Eleanor Roosevelt, our body of knowledge would be smaller and our culture less rich.

In celebrating, don't forget casualties of war

"The war is now behind us. We can be proud of what we have accomplished, but never let us forget those who gave their lives."

Those were the dramatic, highly-appropriate words of George Bush's historic television address to the nation regarding the long-awaited cease fire in the Persian Gulf. It was by far his greatest moment as president.

Along with millions of Americans, I felt proud, patriotic and emotional. Earlier in the day, New Jersey native Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf detailed our brilliant military strategy that devastated and confused Saddam Hussein's grossly overrated Iraqi army. Feb. 27 is a day none of us will ever forget.

But while we celebrate the success of Operation Desert Storm and the apparent downfall of Saddam Hussein, we should consider some sobering items, casualties of this war if you will. Don't get me wrong, I'm thrilled at the surprising speed and apparent ease of our military efforts with a minimum of U.S. casualties. But I've got this terrible fear that our memories are short and convenient.

Therefore, let us never forget the most obvious and devastating casualties of this war, those who have been killed — 101 Americans, an unknown number of coalition soldiers, Kuwaitis, and tens of thousands of Iraqi soldiers and innocent civilians.

Let those of us, especially in New Jersey, never forget the death of Robert Talley, an 18-year-old recent high school graduate from Newark, two months out of boot camp, who was killed by "friendly fire." Robert was a good kid with a bright future. His dream was to become a doctor. He joined the Army to be all that he could be. Ironically, his funeral was held on the same day coalition forces captured Kuwait City. I fear the significance of the loss may have been missed by some consumed with celebration. If Robert Talley's name in death is forgotten a few months or years from now, that will be a sin. Let us heed the president's words and not let that happen.

Screening New Jersey

Let us also never forget Jeffrey Zaun, the 28-year-old New Jersey prisoner of war whose battered face gave us the first shocking indication that this high-tech war involved more than just smart bombs. At the time, we all grieved for the Zaun family, but in the past few weeks, with a constant barrage of new information, Jeffrey and his plight seem to have been forgotten by some. Consistent with President Bush's demand that all POWs be released, we cannot truly celebrate this victory until Jeffrey Zaun and his courageous colleagues are returned home to their families.

Let us also not forget the 44 missing Americans and 213 who were wounded.

While we welcome our soldiers back from the Persian Gulf with appreciation and open arms, let us not forget that there is another group of veterans from a previous war who we also owe a debt of gratitude. It is our responsibility as a country in our celebration with the men and women of Operation Desert Storm also to acknowledge the contribution made by our Vietnam veterans. For if we only welcome home and celebrate those who fight "popular wars" and shun those who fight "unpopular" ones, we miss the point.

Let us also consider some less obvious casualties that center around our definition of "patriotism" during war-time. Flags and yellow ribbons are a great way to show one's patriotism and support for the war effort. But in our desire to display our love of country, we must also examine our lack of tolerance for those with differing views.

Consider the case of Marco Lokar, an Italian citizen who until recently played basketball for Seton Hall University. Well-intentioned but short-sighted, the university asked Lokar and his teammates to wear the American flag to show their support for our troops. Lokar was the only player to refuse, citing his religious and moral opposition to war.

A few days later during a game, some "patriotic" Americans began booing every time he touched the ball. Some "patriots" yelled for him to go back to Italy. Then some crazies called Lokar and his pregnant wife and threatened them because he refused to wear the American flag.

Understandably, the Lokars returned to Italy to avoid any physical harm. Lost on some is the fact that much of the reason we go to war is to fight for Marco Lokar's right to free speech, including his right to play basketball without an American flag, even in the most patriotic of times.

One newspaper called the reaction to the young Italian "some advertisement for American values."

Similarly, Princeton basketball coach Pete Carril has been called by some a "dirty, pinko commie" for questioning the value of his players wearing the American flag on their uniforms. That was his crime, questioning the policy. "What good is it if you put a yellow ribbon on your porch or a flag on your lawn and you cheat on your taxes," he said. The coach has a point. Too many of us are consumed by patriotic symbols while losing sight of our Constitution, particularly the Bill of Rights, which makes us truly superior to the savage and callous dictatorship of Saddam Hussein's Iraq.

And what about the economic casualties of this war? Billions of tax dollars were used to finance Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm, diverting precious resources from our ongoing domestic battles to educate kids, stop drugs, clean our environment and house the homeless. Therefore, soon after we celebrate this victory, let us not forget the need to address these pressing issues at home, in which "victory" may be less decisive and clear cut. God bless America.

Steve Aduabato Jr. is a political analyst for WWOR-TV, a former state legislator and an instructor of public administration and mass media at Rutgers University.

Look beyond words for message

To the Editor:

I don't know who authored the following, but in any event: "Many love to warm themselves with the torch of freedom but hesitate to pass it on to others for the future."

Perhaps there is something in that message as to why we were in the Gulf conflict.

Joseph C. Chieppa

Suggests way to save school

To the Editor:

I have just learned that the Vail-Deane School of Mountainside is encountering financial difficulties, and there are only seven students in the senior year. Our high school students cost the township some $18,000 or so per year, but if they were to transfer to Vail-Deane, the price would drop to $8,750, which would incur a very sizable savings. The transportation costs should also drop. It just might save the school, and our taxes would drop dramatically.

I have recently retired, and am looking for ways that will allow me to remain in Mountainside. If I cannot reduce costs, we will be forced to move to a retirement-oriented locale, but we would not be able to see our grandchildren, and that would break our hearts.

More time on reorganization plan

To the Editor:

Editor's note: The following letter is a statement by Freeholder Gerald Green, chairman of the board's finance and reorganization committee, made last week to the entire board.

Based on meetings held with the county manager, finance committee members and the courts, constitutional officers and majority of county department heads, I would like to notify the members of the board that I am at this time asking the Board of Chosen Freeholders to postpone action on the ordinance for reorganization and restructuring of county government. I ask this so the board can respond to all the various questions that have been raised to date including the technical amendments raised by county counsel.

When this ordinance was introduced, it was with the full knowledge it would be a complex and comprehensive process and procedure. Recognizing the seriousness of this, I am now proposing we look at this issue in steps.

We will not be taking a vote on this at the public hearing March 7. We will allow the public input at this meeting and each of the following meetings before a final vote is taken.

This will allow us all to receive maximum input from the public so that the true documentation will reflect public input. No vote will be taken until all steps have been taken and integrated carefully into one document.

The reason the committee has taken this position now is that based upon the finance meetings we have had, we have identified added revenues and other costs and we are no longer showing a shortfall of $12 million, but rather $6.6 million. This prior action allows us the luxury of additional time without requiring more layoffs.

The board originally proposed 12 percent cuts in all areas, but after working diligently, has been able to close the deficit and remain consistent in our goal of streamlining government and cutting costs.

Because of the enormous complexity of this issue, we are still studying this over the next several months and will continue our goal and commitment of planning and streamlining government and saving tax dollars.

We will continue studying and receiving input from all segments of government and accepting public input as well. Additionally, we firmly expect a final vote to be taken on this ordinance no later than mid-May.

Kevin McKinney, sales manager for New Jersey Citizens United Reciprocal Exchange, spoke to approximately 75 senior citizens in Union about how to save money on auto insurance.

Union County seniors get lesson in how to save on car insurance

More than 75 members of the Senior Citizens Council of Union County packed the F. Edwards Bieruemphel Center in Union to find out how to save up to 20 percent on their auto insurance.

At the request of the Council, seniors were provided materials and given a presentation by the New Jersey Citizens United Reciprocal Exchange.

N.J. CURE is the consumer-owned, not-for-profit auto insurance program which has been cited as a possible cure for many of the state's auto insurance problems. Established by two former New Jersey insurance commissioners, James J. Sheeran and Richard C. McDonough, the new program offers coverage to responsible drivers at rates averaging 20 percent lower than average market rates.

In just six months, more than 8,000 New Jersey drivers have filed applications for auto insurance coverage with N.J. CURE, far exceeding original expectations for the program. The group has already received more than 500 applications from Union County drivers, with approximately 200 residents already insured through N.J. CURE.

"Remember when someone's barn burned down and everyone showed up to rebuild it? Well, that is what N.J. CURE is all about," said sales manager Kevin McKinney in his presentation before the seniors. "We are here to all band together and help each other by insuring each other — N.J. CURE is what insurance was meant to be."

According to McKinney, N.J. CURE is a unique, self-help mechanism for consumers, known as a reciprocal insurance exchange, which is licensed and regulated under a special chapter of the state's insurance laws. Within the program, members insure each other through the exchange of reciprocal insurance contracts.

N.J. CURE is the first reciprocal organized in the state to provide automobile insurance to New Jersey drivers, subject only to their meeting the group's responsible driver underwriting standards.

"We anticipated a large response, but this has exceeded expectations," McKinney said. "In fact, we now receive more than 225 requests each day for N.J. CURE applications."

"Already we have received nearly 8,000 completed applications, representing more than 10,000 automobiles, with a large number coming from Union County, McKinney added. "This is quite significant since we only began issuing policies in late June."

McKinney noted that the group was formed as a consumer response to the escalating costs of auto insurance in New Jersey. In fact, 85 percent of the group's membership were formerly covered under the Joint Underwriting Association.

Union County, communities targeted for cleanup funds

The County of Union will receive more than $32,000 in grant funding under the state's Clean Communities program, and municipalities within the county are expected to receive more than $600,000 under the same program.

Gov. Jim Florio and Environmental Protection Commissioner Scott A. Weiner announced that more than $11 million earmarked for litter patrol and neighborhood cleanup activities is on the way to municipalities and communities throughout the state. The funds are available through the Clean Communities — a program that has achieved results in assisting New Jersey's cities and towns tackle their litter problems.

Union County is one of 19 counties benefiting from the program and expects to receive $32,734.

Kenilworth will receive $11,342, while Roselle Park will receive $17,079. Springfield will receive $21,361 and Mountainside will receive $11,511. Fourteen other municipalities in Union County are targeted for funds that total $638,451.

"When we see robins returning to our yards and neighborhoods, we know it's time to think about spring cleaning. Well, this year we're returning more than $11 million to our municipalities for their spring cleaning activities," Florio said.

"Unfortunately, litter is still found just about everywhere. It's along our roads and highways, under trees and bushes in our parks and recreation areas, and it's even found floating in our streams and at ocean beaches. This year however, when neighborhoods get together and shoulder their rakes and shovels to spruce up their community, they'll have a few extra dollars to clean one more street, an additional acre of parkland or to teach our youngsters to 'give a hoot and not pollute,'" he said.

Weiner said that 19 counties and 426 municipalities will receive grants ranging from $4,000 to $40,000. The funds are collected through a tax on 15 categories of litter-producing products — items such as alcoholic beverage containers, soft drink containers, cigarettes and carry-out food.

Weiner noted that when the Clean Communities program got under way in 1985, the Legislature proclaimed that an uncluttered landscape is among the most priceless heritages that New Jersey can bequeath to posterity.

"That thought has never been more true. The money available through the program is used by local citizen groups and community organizations to initiate community cleanup days and anti-litter activities."

The Clean Communities Act allocates 80 percent of the collected funds to municipalities for litter reduction programs and 10 percent to the counties. Additionally, 5 percent is spent by the state for litter patrol efforts at state parks, forests and other state-owned properties and the remaining 5 percent goes to the DEP for public information, education and administrative costs.

To receive grants, municipalities and counties must appoint a Clean Communities coordinator; certify the adoption of a model program by ordinance, resolution or regional plan; and propose a cleanup program.

Each municipality receiving grant funds must host at least one public cleanup day using local volunteer groups or organizations.

Hardwick bill targets state mandate/state pay

An Assembly subcommittee recently approved legislation inspired by Assemblyman Chuck Hardwick that would require the state to pay for programs it mandates for local governments.

"State mandates place a great strain on property taxes," said Hardwick, R-Union. "We can ease that pressure by requiring the state to put up the money whenever it creates new costly programs for local governments."

The Assembly Appropriations Subcommittee on Governmental Operations, Public Investments and Finance recently approved two state mandate/state pay measures inspired by Hardwick.

In fact, the state's Legislative Index refers readers to a Hardwick constitutional amendment, ACR-74, in the space provided for a description of the measure that was recently approved, ACR-138.

"State mandate/state pay is long overdue," Hardwick said. "It is a major component of real property tax reform."

Hardwick noted that municipalities have long maintained that nearly 80 percent of municipal budgets are enacted to meet state mandates.

An identical Hardwick measure was overwhelmingly approved by the Republican-controlled Assembly in 1988, but died when the Senate Democratic leadership refused to post it for a vote. The public voiced its support for the concept when it approved a series of non-binding county ballot questions two years ago.

Freeholder urges participation in aircraft noise hearings

Union County Freeholder Walter E. Boright, liaison to the Air Traffic Noise Advisory Board, has urged all county residents to attend the upcoming Federal Aviation Administration Environmental Impact Statement hearings on the effects of changes in aircraft flight patterns over New Jersey, caused by implementation of the Expanded East Coast Plan.

"The EECF allows aircraft to fly over densely populated areas, such as Union County. This was done without an environmental impact study, which is required by the federal government," Boright said.

"I strongly urge any individual, concerned group or organization to present written statements or proof regarding the EECF environmental issues at the hearings. We all know the two major issues are noise pollution and air quality. Aircraft should be rerouted away from our county and other densely populated areas of the state.

"We also have to be concerned about the increased possibility of air disasters, since air traffic has more than doubled in recent years. Our residents need adequate sleep and quiet time to live a healthy, normal life. The noise these aircraft make is critically interrupting these basic rights — not privileges — but rights. And who knows what detrimental effects we suffer from the air pollution."

The hearings, which are being held to gather input on the factors to be considered in the EIS, will take place at the Coachman Inn, 10 Jackson Drive, Cranford, on March 26, from 7 to 11 p.m.; March 27, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., and 6 to 10 p.m.

The Union County Air Traffic Noise Advisory Board was formulated in September 1989, as a result of Boright's efforts to address the concerns of residents regarding aircraft noise pollution. It is comprised of one regular and one alternate member from each of the county's 21 municipalities.

"The board coordinates efforts to gather pertinent information, work with local officials and lobby elected and appointed officials to reduce air traffic noise and related aircraft problems across the county," Boright said.

"They advise our Board of Chosen Freeholders of what is transpiring regarding any and all issues on the aircraft problem.

"The citizens of Union County deserve better. When it becomes difficult to watch a television show, listen to a radio, sit outside on a sunny day, or when your house shakes so much you think an earthquake is happening just because an airplane is flying overhead, I say enough is enough. Come to the hearings and be heard!"

'90-91 All-County Boys' Basketball Team

About our '91 choices

By Mark Yablonsky
and Susan Krakowicki
Sports Editors

For the fourth straight year, Worrall Community Newspapers is presenting its All-County Boys' Basketball Team, consisting of players from the towns within our coverage area: Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Hillside, Linden, Union, Clark and Rahway.

This year, our First Team will consist of 10 players. And since our coverage area has expanded within the last year, we are offering a 10-member Second Team, as well as numerous Honorable Mention selections.

Our choices are based on statistics, importance of a player to her team, personal observation, and also on comments and observations from each of the coaches with whom we spoke.

Also, our choices were not made by position, largely because some of our selections either play more than one position, or play under varying kinds of offenses.

COURTNEY BENJAMIN

Right from the start, Daryl Purnell established himself as the big gun up front for Hillside by scoring 32 points in an 80-55 win over Bloomfield Tech. on Dec. 18, and then 31 more in another win over Ridge two nights later.

But while Purnell was the team's leading scorer, his presence in the paint for Hillside was no less important defensively, either.

Averaging 23 points and 12 rebounds a game, Purnell proved to be the type of player that Hillside needed in winning a second-straight North Jersey, Group 2 title, as well as a first-ever Mountain Valley Conference, Mountain Division crown.

"I would say he gave his all all season," commented Hillside's acting director of athletics, Al Lordi. "He was in there all the time. He was a consistent scorer, and he played great defense in critical games."

Without question, Dayton's 12-12 record this past winter will stand as one of the proudest .500 seasons the Springfield-based school has ever had. And one of the biggest reasons for that can be traced to the play of Courtney Benjamin.

Benjamin, a hard-working, no-nonsense, junior front-line player, led the team in scoring with some 13 points a game, while also topping the Bulldogs in rebounding, averaging close to 10 caroms per game.

But those are only stats. The drive and discipline that Benjamin displayed in 1990-91 was very similar to what new coach John Theis conveyed to his team. And it did not go unnoticed.

"Certainly, he's one of the most serious players that I've ever coached," Theis explained. "He just has a real good work ethic."

WAYNE ARRINGTON

When Hillside coach Morris Griffin referred to Dwayne Arrington as "one of the premier point guards in the county" early in the season, he wasn't over-exaggerating.

Often the catalyst behind Hillside's offensive attacks, Arrington was basically Mr. Everything in the Comet backcourt. The good-natured junior guard not only averaged 14 points a game, he also dished out an average of eight assists per game, while making off with three steals per contest.

Two of those steals, by the way, led to layups from Arrington that brought Hillside a 55-52 win over Mendham in the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 title game last Tuesday.

"He's one of the best ball handlers and play-makers we've ever had," Lordi said. "He's a natural ball handler and a good shot. He's very aggressive in opening up the lanes."

As Wallyy Dixon went, so went the Linden Tigers. And judging by the Tigers 22-5 record, Dixon must have gone pretty well.

"Wallyy was by far our leading scorer and rebounder," head coach Wilbur Aikins said of his 6'3" junior. "He was our steady scoring force all season long. When he did well, we did well."

Dixon averaged 20 points and eight rebounds per game for Linden. He went on a scoring tear in the Union County Tournament in February, averaging 29 points per game over the course of the tournament.

"Wallyy has the potential to be a truly outstanding player next season," Aikins said. "He's got a lot of God-given talent. As he matures and develops that talent, he will be something to see."

WALIYY DIXON

DARYL PURNELL

AKIL TAYLOR

According to Coach Aikins, the best defensive player on his very talented Linden team was a 5'8" sophomore, Akil Taylor.

"Akil was a stabilizing force in the backcourt," Aikins said of his point guard. He stepped right in and became our force on defense."

Although he didn't score as much as some of his teammates, Taylor made up for it with his ball-handling skills. He averaged six assists per game from his point guard position. But what impressed Aikins most was Taylor's maturity.

"Akil is only a sophomore, but he's remarkably poised," the coach said. "Ordinarily he would have played with the junior varsity team this season. But he stepped right in to the varsity squad and did a great job."

MIKE FULLMAN

Despite a lingering shoulder injury he suffered during the football season, Mike Fullman still managed to average 18.5 points per game from his point guard position on the Abraham Clark High School boys' basketball team. He also averaged 5.6 assists and four steals per game for the Rams.

"Mike played very well for us all season," Roselle head coach Stan Kokie said. "He would have played even better if he wasn't bothered by that shoulder injury. He is an excellent outside shooter, and he has great quickness, which was a big asset to us this year."

Just a junior, Fullman was one of the leaders on a team that put together an impressive 15-8 season. "Mike is a player his teammates looked up to," Kokie said. "He displayed great leadership for a junior."

SCOTT SEXTON

Rare was the occasion when Scott Sexton failed to score in double digits, and, it might be reasoned, that's why the 22-4 Panthers so rarely lost ballgames this winter.

Sexton, a quiet-mannered junior shooting guard, gave Park one of the most vital weapons needed for success in basketball with his outside shooting. And that shooting not only brought Sexton a 17.5 scoring average, it also enabled other key players like Scott Bermingham to work more effectively in the paint.

Sexton, who began the season with a 23-point effort in Park's 54-29 victory over Brearley on Dec. 14, netted 450 points, while adding on an average of six rebounds a game.

"He's a dedicated player, and a very smart player," said Park skipper Pat Lalley. "He gets the most out of his ability."

When you struggle through 5-18 seasons like Union did, it's easy to overlook players like Chris Dunbar. But not at all fair.

For while the height-plagued Farmers had their troubles, Dunbar did his utmost to earn his team some respect in the paint by bulling his way inside and working for rebound after rebound.

That work brought the 6-foot-2, 180-pound senior forward an average of 14 points and 10 rebounds a game. In one particular instance, Farmer coach Bill Hazelton recalls, Dunbar grabbed five rebounds and finally drew a foul in a 58-50 double-overtime defeat to Plainfield on Dec. 14.

"He was the best offensive rebounder for size that I've really ever seen," Hazelton explained. "For his size, he was uncanny."

CHRIS DUNBAR

Another leader on this year's Roselle Rams team was Eric Magazine. A 6'2" senior guard, Magazine averaged 17 points and six rebounds per game.

"Eric was one of our leading scorers and rebounders this season," Kokie said. "He's a very strong rebounder and his strength enabled us to score off offensive rebounds."

Magazine was a productive shooter from the outside and did a good job of holding the ball on Roselle fast breaks.

According to Kokie, Magazine has invited interest from Rutgers University in Newark, Montclair State College, Kean College, Hampton College and Lincoln College.

Kean men and women take titles

The Kean College men's and women's basketball teams did something that no other New Jersey Athletic Conference school has been able to accomplish since the conference was formed in 1980. Both teams won the tournament championship and the automatic bid into the NCAA Division III Tournament.

The men (22-5) rolled over Ramapo College, 99-83, in the NJAC Finals on February 22 in Union and the women (24-2) followed suit the next night with a 68-60 overtime victory over William Paterson.

The title was the men's first since 1978 and assured the 14th-ranked Cougars of the top seed in the Atlantic Regional of the NCAA tournament.

The 11th-ranked women have won the title every year since the NJAC was formed for women's play in 1982. This year's title was their ninth straight. They are the third-seeded team in the Atlantic Region.

In the men's championship game, it was superstar senior guard Herman Alston who led the cougars to victory. He connected on 12 of 15 shots for a game-high 32 points. Alston now has 2,403 career points, placing him 12th on the all-time Division III scoring list and fourth on the all-time New Jersey scoring list.

Senior forward Domnelly McCants added 22 points and 10 rebounds while junior guard rich Lustig broke out of a shooting slump by connecting on three of six three-point shots, and finishing with 15 points. Fred Drains added 12 points and eight rebounds and Tommy Williams finished with 10 points.

The men advanced to the championship by defeating Stockton State, 75-74, in the semifinals on February 20. McCants and Drains led the attack by combining for 35 points and 23 rebounds.

The women's games were just as exciting as the men's. Senior guard Kelley Anne Whelan scored six of her team-high 15 points in overtime to lead Kean to the win.

The Pioneers had a shot to win the game in regulation, but the last-second shot was no good and the teams advanced to overtime.

Dawn Dickten scored 13 points while Rebecca Greer added 11 points and seven rebounds and junior Alice Regan had 10 points and 10 rebounds.

The women defeated Trenton State, 58-55, on February 21 in the semifinal round behind 16 points and eight rebounds from center Veronica Rice.

WHO'S ON FIRST?

This week's question: Not only do we try to make our trivia questions challenging and entertaining, but we try to make them timely as well. So here's one tied to recent events over at the Meadowlands Arena. As we're sure you know, the New Jersey Devils recently made a head coaching change. So what we'd like to know is, who was the team's first head coach? (We're talking about the franchise in New Jersey, of course. No need to research the team's history when they were known as the Colorado Rockies.)

Last week's answer: In what was undoubtedly one of the biggest deals in hockey history, "The Trade," as some called it, in which Phil Esposito and Carol Vadnais became Rangers on Nov. 7, 1975, also involved Brad Park, Jean Ratelle and Joe Zanussi. Those three players went from the Rangers to the Boston Bruins to complete the stunner of a trade.

What was particularly ironic was that Esposito and Park, who had once been considered untouchable by their former clubs, had both made controversial remarks against their new teams earlier in their careers. Remember Park's book, "Play the Man," a late 1971 release that contained several harsh comments and anecdotes about Bruin players, including Esposito? And Esposito, it should be remembered, was never at a loss for words when it came time to talking about the Rangers, either — and Park in particular.

As it turned out, however, the trade was highly beneficial to both teams; Park and Ratelle contributed mightily to the Bruins' success in the late 1970s, while Esposito and Vadnais, after some initial trouble adjusting, helped lead the Rangers to the Stanley Cup finals in 1979.

Esposito, of course, later became first a television broadcaster for the Rangers, and then the Broadway Blueshirts' general manager for three seasons, before being fired in May 1989.

This week, Henry Hascup of Lodi submitted a correct answer. Please have your responses in our Union offices — at 1291 Stuyvesant Ave. — by no later than noon each Monday.

Spanish comedy opens

"La Nonna," or "The Grammy," a stage comedy performed in Spanish by the Repertorio Espanol, will be presented at 2 p.m. on Sunday in the Wilkins Theater at Kean College in Union.

Directed by Braulio Villar with sets and costumes by Robert Weber Federico, "La Nonna" features a cast of seven seasoned members of Repertorio Espanol's acclaimed dramatic ensemble.

The Obie Award-winning theatre company, the only Spanish language repertory theater in the United States, was founded in 1968 by Gilberto Zaldivar and Rene Buch. In addition to regular national touring activities, Repertorio Espanol has appeared in 11 Central and South American countries.

Hadassah sets art sale

The 33rd annual art show and sale organized by the Westfield Chapter of Hadassah will open Saturday at Temple Emanu-El, 756 East Broad Street in Westfield, with a champagne reception and preview for the show's patrons. This five-day show has become one of the highlights of the New Jersey art scene and many patrons return yearly to add to their art collections.

More than 1,000 works of art in oils, watercolors, graphics, charcoals and sculpture by world-renowned artists, as well as those now gaining prominence, will be in the show. Included in the collection will be framed works, unframed portfolio pieces and sculptures from approximately 75 individual artists and 20 New Jersey and New York galleries.

This year the art show has commissioned a limited edition silk screen by Willy Heeks, which will be presented to sponsors at the opening gala. This young artist has garnered many impressive honors, including the prestigious Louis Comfort Tiffany Award, the Painting Award of the American Academy & Institute of Arts and Letters and the Artist Fellowship of the National Endowment of the Arts.

The art show and sale serves as the primary means of fulfilling Westfield chapter's commitment to Hadassah's programs. Funds raised have enabled medical researchers and physicians to achieve many breakthroughs in all areas of health care. Hadassah is considered today, as it has been since its founding in 1912, Israel's medical pacesetter in healing, teaching and research.

The Hadassah Art Show and Sale will be open to the public on Sunday from 1 to 10 p.m.; Monday and Tuesday from 12 to 9 p.m.; and Wednesday from 12 to 6 p.m. Admission for adults is $3 and for senior citizens is $1.50; students are admitted free. "Le Petit Cafe" will be open weekdays for lunch between the hours of 12 and 2 p.m. and for home-baked cake and coffee every day. For additional information, call 233-6531.

Actress takes first steps on ladder to fame

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

Jennifer Leigh Edwards of Union, a budding actress who resembles Farrah Fawcett and Dyan Cannon, said, "I'm my own person." And she grinned her version of the famous Fawcett/Cannon grin during a recent visit.

"People have compared my looks to one or the other of those actresses, but I'm not at all like either of them," Edwards said. Although she's on her way to becoming a better-known actress, Edwards knows she has a way to go to reach stardom.

"I've just been signed for a film to be made in the metropolitan area," she said. "Paul Winfield is going to be in it. It's called 'Family Feuds.' I had an audition recently and Regina Brown, the producer, who wrote the script, called me back this week. It's a drama/comedy, and it's going to be my first film," Edwards exclaimed. "I'm very excited about it. Oh, yes."

"Actually," she said, "the man who is helping Regina Brown, her assistant, is Floyd Lee. I met him last year. He builds sets for ABC-TV including 'One Life to Live.' He manages some people, rap singers and dancers, and he suggested me for the part. It's going to be filmed in Manhattan, Brooklyn and New Jersey."

Edwards, who was born in Elizabeth, lived in Union until moving to New York City recently. She was graduated from Union High School in 1986. "Back then," she recalled, "I had acting ambitions, but I never did anything about them. I attended Kean College in Union for two years, where I majored in political science," she grinned. "But I did take an acting class there."

"Suddenly, I had this burning desire to act. So, I left college and studied with Herbert Berghoff in New York. Then I did a bunch of showcases in New York... taking scenes from plays... I did Ophelia in 'Hamlet' with a group of actors at New York University for a Shakespeare class. I also did a music video for Public Enemy, a rap group."

Jennifer Edwards

Edwards also did a showcase for "Lovers and Other Strangers," and has appeared in New York productions of "Cheaters" and "The Shewing Up of Blanco Posnet and Easter," both directed by Berghoff.

It was when Edwards appeared in the off-Broadway production of "Sandra and the Janitor," opposite Dan Grinko of "Cadillac Man" and "Awakenings," which ran through January, that she felt she was finally getting up that ladder. "Sandra and the Janitor" was included in the best short plays of 1971 published by the Chilton Book Co.

"Before that, I went to Vancouver in Canada, where they do a lot of filming. I have an agent there. I was only there four months, but I did a lot of auditioning for a feature film, 'McGyver.' It was good experience. Now, in New York, I'll be more at ease."

On Feb. 26, Edwards played an extra in the ABC-TV daytime soap opera, "One Life to Live." She said it was fun, good pay and was good experience to see the sets and the right camera angles.

"I just finished studying scene/audition classes with Michael Shurtliff. He's a very famous casting director for films and Broadway musicals.

I also started a camera class with Joy Todd, a casting director, on Feb. 27."

Edwards, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Edwards of Union, said, "My dad went to every performance of 'Sandra,' and he taped it too. My whole family is very supportive, especially my brother." Her brother, Steven, was on the Union Township Planning Board and works for Cushman & Wakefield, a commercial real estate firm. She also has a sister, Lisa Scheiner, of Union; She and her husband Bill have two children, Max and Sam. "I have a little brother, Michael, who is in the fourth grade in Livingston School," she said. Her grandmother, Janice Fink, also lives in Union.

The young actress said she loves film and the theater, and right now, "I want to pursue film more. But I always will fall back on theater because I love the theater and that's where I started."

"I have total confidence in myself," Edwards said. "You know, you can do anything you want to do. Now, that's positive thinking," she said, grinning her Fawcett/Cannon grin. "And someday, I would like to do 'Saint Joan.' Would'n't everyone?"

Unmatched service at Singer Sewing

Anthony Gazzo, owner of the Singer Elizabeth Sewing Machine Outlet, located at 1164 E. Jersey St., Elizabeth, is a man who knows his business.

In business for 20 years, the last five as owner of his own shop, Gazzo is an expert in all phases of his operation, from sales to service to delivery.

"I started out as a mechanic in 1969," says Gazzo, who worked his way up to salesman, then sales manager and finally purchased his own shop when it became available. "This is the only job I've ever had in my life. I've been doing it since I was 19."

At the Singer Elizabeth Sewing Machine Outlet, an Elizabeth landmark since 1926, that means the customer gets the ultimate in personalized service. And since Gazzo owns the shop, it also means some of the lowest prices anywhere on new and used Singer sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, furniture, dress forms and notions.

"Prices are 30 to 60 percent off list," says Gazzo, who worked for Singer on Long Island before moving to New Jersey in 1987, where he worked for several stores before moving to Elizabeth. "I was the store manager at this location when they sold me the building."

Prices on used machines start at $49. All machines are fully guaranteed. Gazzo is also in the market of industrial sales and service.

"In the service end of it, we do same-day, in-home service on any kind of machine, any make or model," says Gazzo. "Here, they're not just buying the sewing machine. They're also buying the service. The customer is going to be taken care of. I think that's important."

Gazzo is assisted by Charlie Garcia, who has nearly 40 years of experience in sewing machine sales and service.

Although he performs repairs on all types of machines, Gazzo sells only Singer merchandise — for a very important reason.

"I'm one of the only Singer dealers that just carries Singer sewing machines," he explained. "I could sell just about any brand, but I like Singer. I can count on getting the parts. You can't fix something if you can't get the parts."

Gazzo, however, does not sell his products and close the door on the customer.

"Any machine they get, they get instructions on how to use it," he says. "And they can come in for instruction as many times as they want."

Home delivery and financing of merchandise are both available at the Singer Elizabeth Sewing Machine Outlet and customers can charge their purchases to Visa, MasterCard or Discover. Telephone orders are accepted. The Singer Elizabeth Sewing Machine Outlet is open Monday through Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Thursday until 6:30 p.m.

Cable airs 'Vintage Views'

"Vintage Views," Union County's cable television program for seniors, will continue during March its series of seven monthly programs aimed at providing useful information to persons caring for seniors in the home.

"In this fifth segment the program turns to a consideration of the feelings of the patient, the person being cared for," according to Elmer Ertl, Union County Freeholder vice chairman and liaison to the Advisory Council on Aging. "The program discussion will range from the shock of diagnosis through the real possibility of rising above limitations and resuming control of one's life. An important part of the discussion deals with the need to accept the advantages of modern medical technology, which is often unknown to older patients."

Host Lou Coviello of the Division of Aging, Department of Human Services, which produces the show, is joined by Kathleen Ford, R.N., patient education consultant.

"Vintage Views" schedule: Elizabeth TKR Cable, Ch. 12, Monday at 6:30 p.m. and Wednesday at 6 p.m.;

Plainfield Storer Cable, Ch. 20, Monday at 6 p.m.; Summit area, Suburban Cable, Ch. 36, Tuesday at 1 p.m. and Friday at 6 p.m., and other Suburban Cable locations, Ch. 32, Thursday at 7:05 p.m.

WHERE TO DINE

A Guide to Find the Finest Dining In New Jersey

By Debbie Jordan

An extraordinary experience in variety is the best way to describe my recent visit to Finnagel's restaurant, 254 N. Broad St. in Elizabeth. The unusual array of menu items is perfectly complemented by the diversity of Finnagel's extensive beer and wine selections.

My lunch companion and I began with a pair of Canadian beers from a list of more than 60 bottled and draft choices, many of which we had not seen before.

Although the restaurant specializes in steak and seafood, the menu includes many other specialties. Deciding what to order was difficult. Lunch items range from omelets to quiche, honey-dipped chicken and a wide assortment of sandwiches, all competitively priced.

We chose two unfamiliar appetizers, which were as tasty as they were unique. The Pizza Skins combined the classic taste of potato skins with a zesty twist of marinara sauce and mozzarella cheese; and I can't say enough about the Nacho Pockets, which had a taste all their own. Neatniks will appreciate how easy they are to handle and the spicy flavor is out of this world.

We received excellent and friendly service from Teicia Joffe, who was very knowledgeable about the menu items. Her timing was just right — our steaming entrees were served seconds after our appetizers were cleared.

My lunch companion ordered Prime Rib and savored every tender bite. Even the french fries were noticeably delicious with their crispy outside and hot middles. Being a seafood lover, I chose one of the day's specials, Sherried Red Snapper, prepared to perfection by Chef Tito Herrera. It was absolutely delectable, and I strongly recommend it to anyone who enjoys the succulent flavor of fresh snapper.

My companion topped off his meal with a selection from the restaurant's wide dessert list. For people who don't have room for dessert — a more-than-likely possibility after diving into Finnagel's generous portions — a choice of after-dinner drinks and coffees is offered.

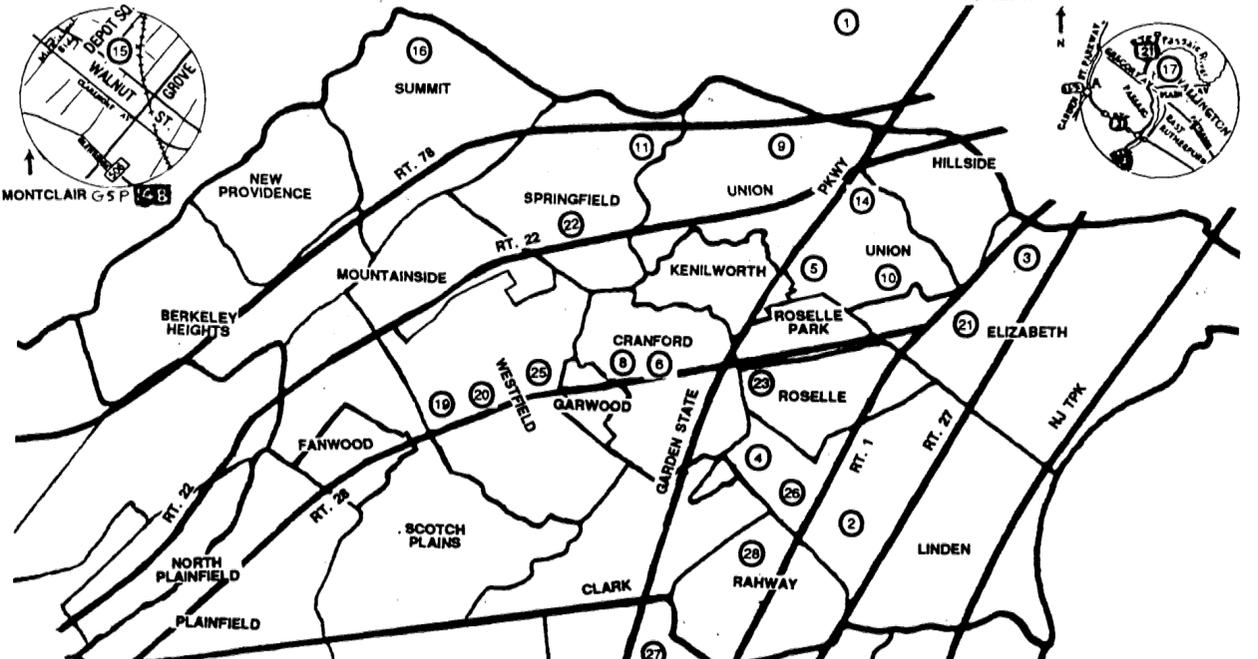

Finnagel's extensive dinner menu features many of the same items available on the lunch menu. The casual dining room atmosphere welcomes patrons into a relaxed setting in which to leisurely enjoy an exquisite meal. Couples might enjoy sitting in front of the fireplace in Finnagel's cocktail lounge. Those who prefer a more lively setting can listen to their favorite modern or classic rock music in the tavern, which is open until 3 a.m. Thursday through Saturday. A late-night menu is available, and the game room is well-furnished.

Bob Finne and Gary Nagel have owned the restaurant since 1981, and provide patrons with a number of offers too good to pass up. Monday through Wednesday, Mexican combinations are available for $7.95. Monday through Friday from 11:30 to 2:30, Phillee Cheese Steaks are $3.95. Thursday and Friday's shrimp festival includes barbecue, cajun, scampi, kabobs or alfredo variations for $7.95. All-you-can-eat Prime Rib is available every Sunday for $10.95, and Monday through Friday happy hours include 50 cents off drink prices and a complimentary buffet.

Manager Don Tallman said St. Patrick's Day is expected to be a hit with live bagpipe music, green beer and many Irish dishes prepared by the head chef, Pedro Herra. The Irish holiday will be celebrated at Finnagel's Friday through Sunday.

Open seven days a week. Lunch Monday through Saturday 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Dinner Monday through Friday 5 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Sunday dinner 1 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Located at 254 N. Broad St., Elizabeth; 289-5250.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Your unemotional cool must be thawed. Light-hearted sharing will win over your friends. The past will serve as a prologue for this week. Learn your lessons from perceived mistakes.

Reading the Map!

your list you are no closer to locating a home than when you began.

Wouldn't it be great to pick up the phone, make one call, and be able to see all homes that match your list of features? You can do that by calling a REALTOR®. Thanks to computerization, homes listed for sale become part of a databank which contains the features, prices, and size of all homes listed - by location.

When you ask a REALTOR® to help find the right home for you, that individual can search the entire inventory of homes available for sale throughout the area. Usually, a wide selection of homes is identified, giving you the freedom of choice you desire. Most importantly, you need only visit the homes which fit your requirements, eliminating endless hours and days of fruitless searching. Ready to buy, make that one call today!

IF YOU'RE PLANNING TO SELL YOUR HOME SOON AND WOULD LIKE INFORMATION ON ITS CURRENT VALUE, GIVE ME A CALL AT 686-1340 evs. THERE IS NO COST OR OBLIGATION.
