It never ceases to amaze me how people can lose all trace of common sense following a snowfall.

I refer to some people's apparently strong desire to shovel snow from their property into the middle of the street, as if common sense tells them that's the safest place to store the snow.

Saturday's snowfall was no different from any other year. To get some indication of how our departments of public works were handling the aftermath of the first storm of the year, I drove through several of the towns in the Worrall Newspapers coverage area on Saturday morning and afternoon. The DPW crews will get a great deal of praise from me, because I managed to travel local and county streets without any problems. On the other hand, many residents will be jeered because it was through their efforts that many of the plowed streets once again were covered with snow.

Shoveling snow into the streets is not restricted to young people or senior citizens, or men or women. This practice went beyond the age and gender brackets. All kinds of people were doing it.

I wonder if any of these people realize that shoveling snow into the streets is against the law. Every town and county has an ordinance that prohibits the practice. Why? Because it's dangerous! Common sense should prevail and tell the person that it's dangerous, but that's why I said some people lose all trace of common sense.

In Union, Roselle Park, Maplewood, South Orange and West Orange, some of the towns through which I drove, I saw young and old, male and female, shoveling or snow blowing from their property into the street. I only regret that I didn't jot any addresses and publish a Shame on You type column this week.

What's wrong with shoveling or blowing snow from a driveway or sidewalk onto the lawn of the property? People can prevent accidents from occurring if they instead shoveled into the street.

If a driver is driving along a street which he or she knows has been plowed, that motorist may relax and drive as if there were normal road conditions. Further ahead, a resident has shoveled snow into the street, much to the surprise of our relaxed driver, and suddenly our driver is in a tailspin because he or she hit the patch of snow — which should not have been there. Hence, an accident; hence, a lawsuit against the homeowner who violated a municipal ordinance.

Much of the shoveling into the street occurs because the resident is clearing the apron of the driveway. The street is the closest depository, and cars will mash it when it's there, so naturally, the street is the most logical place to leave it. To some people, that is.

Residents should shovel the snow from that area onto their own property. In addition, they should heed the following advice from the New Jersey Department of Transportation to avoid having DPW crews come back and plow in driveways that had just been cleared of snow.

When shoveling snow, residents should watch the direction of the DPW trucks. They should clear the portion of their street immediately adjacent to the driveway, leaving enough room for the DPW truck to drop the snow away from a self-cleared driveway.

"This clearing will provide a space where snow from a plow truck can be deposited prior to reaching the driveway and will leave the driveway clear of snow. The clearing must be created toward oncoming traffic," according to the state DOT.

Don't shovel snow into the street. It's not only dangerous, it's stupid.

I returned a happy man from Hershey, Pa., Friday evening.

Clubhouse may go down in history

By Andrew J. Stewart
Staff Writer

The clubhouse at Oak Ridge Golf Course is eligible for the state Register of Historic Places and is a historically significant site, according to a representative of the Department of Environmental Protection's Historic Preservation Office.

The house is "significant" in that it displays prime examples of architecture from three different periods and was once the home of Judge Hugh Bowne, a prominent area politician of his time, according to Robert Craig of the Historic Preservation Office. DEP reviewed the site Feb. 2.

"Based on what I've seen here I believe this property has the basic physical integrity," Craig said. "I believe it also has significance in its architecture and for Hugh Bowne as a Republican figure."

Bowne was an area judge in the mid-1800s who was also the mayor of Clark, a state assemblyman and delegate to two Republican national conventions, including one of the conventions at which Abraham Lincoln was nominated for president, said William Fidurski, chairman of the Clark Environmental Commission. Fidurski has researched the ownership of the house.

Bowne also was involved in the reconstruction of the South after the Civil War, and was executor of most wills in Union County, Fidurski said. He also may have had a hand in forming the county itself, noted Craig.

Union County was formed in 1857 from parts of Essex and Middlesex counties during a time when Southern secession and the Civil War seemed inevitable, Craig said. At the time, it was popular to name things and places

"Union" in the north because of that, and also the then-fledgling Republican Party was dedicated to preserving the Union, he said. It was at the same time that many people in New Jersey were attempting to form new counties, he added.

With his connection to the GOP and the local area, it is quite possible that Bowne was a figure in the movement to create Union County, although that needs to be researched further, Craig said.

Craig said he was impressed with the quality of architecture in the house, which has been slated for demolition by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders to make room for a new facility that better suits golfers' needs.

"Whoever built this house spent a lot of money," Craig said. "This was a fancy house in the time it was built and it could be once again."

The three-story, suspended staircase at the rear of the clubhouse is an example of this, since it is in its own separate room, he said.

"It was only the finer houses that had the stairway in a separate room or corridor," Craig said.

The house consists of the original 18th Century structure which is now the clubhouse kitchen and the closed-off rooms above it, as well as a lean to and addition that also most likely date to the 1700s. The main part of the house, which housed the pro shop and entrances dates back to the early 19th Century, and an addition to the other side, which was Bowne's library, was built during the Civil War. All of the sections are well built, but the middle section is especially impressive, Craig said.

"This is very good Federal-style work," he said. "Even the 18th Century work is better than average 18th Century work," he added.

Craig said he would be one of the people who would review an application to have the house put on the state Register of Historic Places if and when it came in. He would make a recommendation on the building to the New Jersey State Review Board for Historic Places, which would then decide whether or not to recommend listing the house, he said.

The State Historic Preservation Office then takes that recommendation, comments by the owner and the public and decides whether to list the site or not, he added.

"If he signs the nomination, his signature lists the property on the New Jersey Register of Historic Places and recommends that it be placed on the National Register of Historic Places as well," Craig said. The listing would require the owners, in this case, Union County, to get permission from the state before doing anything to the house, such as making alterations, improvements or demolishing it, he added.

The border of Union and Middlesex counties is 100 feet from the clubhouse's front door, and Craig and Fidurski were joined by Walter Stochel, Jr., a member of a Middlesex County historical group. Stochel said he was also impressed with site, which was a large farm before the golf course was built.

"This is a pretty magnificent site here," Stochel said. "It still looks like a farm with the golf course here. It's open fields instead of housing developments."

Sex offenders told to comply with law

Union County Prosecutor Andrew K. Ruotolo, Jr. is calling upon community organizations who service persons falling into traditional sex victim groups to register with local law enforcement agencies.

As part of the enforcement procedures relating to a package of laws enacted last fall, and commonly known as "Megan's Law," certain community organizations are entitled to provide notice of the release of offenders who fall into the category of moderate risk to again commit sex crimes.

"We have been coordinating with local law enforcement agencies in Union County in order to facilitate the registration process. Now it's time to ask representatives of those community organizations to come forward and register with their local police departments," Ruotolo said.

The Union County Prosecutor's Office has sent each local police chief a proposed form which can be used to record the necessary administrative information for each organization. This information will be maintained in the local prosecutor's office and will allow the prosecutor and local police chiefs to give notice to the community organizations as to the release of certain sex offenders.

Guidelines published by the attorney general have established a three-tiered system for classification of released sex offenders. Those offenders whose risk to repeat a sex crime has been determined to be low will be reported to the law enforcement community in Union County as Tier 1 offenders. These offenders will be monitored through a cooperative effort among both county and local law enforcement agencies, the prosecutor said.

Those offenders whose risk to repeat sex crimes has been determined to be moderate will be classified in Tier 2. Notice of their release will be published not only within the law enforcement community but will also be transmitted to community organizations in the community where the offender will be residing. Such organizations include community CrimeWatch groups, Big Brothers and Big Sisters, Girl and Boy scouts and parent teacher organizations. Also included are victim support groups such as battered women's organizations, sexual assault counseling services and women's advocacy groups.

The prosecutor noted that all public and private educational institutions, including licensed daycare centers and summer camps will be automatically included on the notification list. However, Ruotolo stressed that it would be wise for each of them to check with their local police chiefs to insure that the necessary information has been obtained.

"We will enforce these new laws vigorously not only because it is our obligation to do so, but because the safety of our children and other citizens demand that we provide non-traditional methods such as local organization and community notification in appropriate cases," the prosecutor added. He noted that the entire community would be notified as to the release of high risk, or Tier 3, offenders.

The prosecutor cautioned that local groups or individuals should avoid any form of vigilante activity with respect to released sex offenders.

"The attorney general has directed that any incidents involving vandalism of property, verbal or written threats of harm or physical assault against such persons, their families or employers will be thoroughly investigated and that those found to be responsible would be arrested and prosecuted," Ruotolo said.

Vo-tech open house slated for college

The Union County Vocational-Technical Schools annual open house will be held at the Raritan Road Campus from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Feb. 16.

Stewart Mills, director of admissions/recruitment and coordinator of the event, stated that all sections of UCVTS will be available so visitors can get a first-hand look at top-flight occupational and skills training.

Mills also noted that everyone, including the general public, is invited to attend. High school sophomores and their parents are particularly encouraged to be on hand to learn more about the wide variety of one and two-year programs that are available.

The open house will feature guided tours, demonstrations, displays and video presentations along with drawings for prizes. Instructors as well as trades people will be on hand to answer questions.

The upcoming open house, according to Mills, provides an opportunity for everyone to learn about the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools which, during the past 28 years, have started thousands on their way to successful careers. The open house is being held in conjunction with National Vocational Education Week.

For more information about the UCVTS contact Mills at 889-2999. Schools are located at 1776 Raritan Road in Scotch Plains.

County could be model in recycling technique

Union County Utilities Authority Chairman Blanche Banasiak has announced a plan for the "demanufacturing" of commercial solid waste products, a program which could make Union County a leader in modern recycling programs.

Banasiak said that by demonstrating the county's commitment to the management of commercial waste, "demanufacturing" can also play an important role in the county's economic development efforts by encouraging companies in this emerging field to locate in Union County.

"Demanufacturing" is the process of locating, collecting, selling and reusing valuable components of discarded products.

Banasiak said that her investigation of ways to advance the county's recycling program, together with her longstanding commitment to economic development, is what inspired the "demanufacturing" concept. Following support expressed to her at exploratory meetings with representatives of Rutgers University and Union County's Department of Policy and Planning, Banasiak said she will shortly recommend to UCUA commissioners that the authority finance a feasibility study to be conducted by a Rutgers team.

Banasiak also has met with representatives of the Union County Alliance to explain the plan and determine their interest in playing a supporting role. The alliance is a coalition of prominent business organizations and leaders of the academic, labor, and professional communities working for the economic and social progress of Union County.

"I was delighted with their enthusiastic response," said Banasiak. "The cooperation and support that has been voiced by the alliance, as well as by county officials, makes it clear to me that we have an exciting program here that can be of substantial short- and long-term benefit to our county."

Computers, electronic equipment, refrigerators and auto parts are examples of the kinds of products that might be involved in a "demanufacturing" program. Though often discarded as a result of the failure of an individual part, these products frequently contain other valuable components with substantial life expectancy that could be separated and reused.

The New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection has submitted a $500,000 grant proposal to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to study how best to remove products suitable for demanufacturing from the waste stream.

Congress takes steps toward fiscal restraint

Rep. Bob Franks said the recent passage of a balanced budget amendment in the House of Representatives "was the first step toward bringing fiscal restraint and responsibility to the nation's finances."

Franks, who voted for the balanced budget amendment, said, "This vote is more than just a fulfillment of a campaign promise, it recognizes that the federal government can and should live under the same standards of accountability as the rest of America."

"Every family must work to meet the challenge of balancing their household budget or they will face serious and sometimes ruinous consequences. A small business won't stay in operation long if its expenditures outpace its income. It's long past time for the federal government to abide by the same standard of fiscal responsibility," Franks said.

Plans on how the federal government should be restructured will begin in New Jersey on Saturday when the House Budget Committee holds one of its five field hearings in Manville, Franks noted.

Saturday's hearing will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Manville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 2290 Hall, 600 Washington Ave. Anyone interested in attending should contact the congressman's Union Township district office at (908) 686-5576.

Said the congressman: "Coming from a state that has led the revolution for smaller, more cost-effective government, I am confident that we can meet the challenge of reaching a balanced federal budget and deliver to the American people a new, improved and less-costly federal government."

The proposed constitutional amendment, which would require the federal government to balance its budget within seven years, now goes to the Senate for action.

Franks said that, as a member of the House Budget Committee, he recognizes that charting a course toward a balanced federal budget is a "formidable challenge that will require making some hard choices." At the same time, he said it sets the stage for a "long overdue" national debate over spending priorities and the role of the federal government.

SBA program holds seminar

In an effort to reach small business owners and start-up companies in urban areas, the U.S. Small Business Administration is taking its programs to the people.

On Feb. 17, SBA is hosting a Community Assistance Seminar for Union County small business owners interested in learning about SBA loan programs and business counseling services.

The seminar will be held at the Elizabethtown Gas Company, Liberty Hall Corporate Center, 1085 Morris Ave., in Union from 8:45 a.m. to noon. Joining the SBA as sponsors of the program are the Union County Economic Development Corporation, Elizabethtown Gas Company, Kean College Regional Small Business Development Center and the Service Corps of Retired Executives.

According to SBA New Jersey District Director Francisco A. Marrero, the seminar will feature representatives from the SBA, local banks, the New Jersey Small Business Development Center and the Service Corps of Retired Executives.

Small business owners and start-up companies from Union County interested in attending the seminar should call the Kean College Regional Small Business Development Center at (908) 527-2946. No fee is required to attend the seminar.

Legislators boost mall through bill

Several state legislators whose district includes the City of Elizabeth are pitching in to see that the proposed Kapkowski Road Super Mall project begins continues its move toward reality.

State Sen. Ray Lesniak and Assemblymen Joseph Suliga and Neil Cohen have proposed legislation necessary to facilitate the project.

The bill, S-1760 and A-2556, would permit the creation of a land reclamation special improvement district in the Elizabeth area, off Exit 13A of the New Jersey Turnpike behind IKEA, in order to aid the city's economic development.

The bill will be heard in the Senate Natural Resources and Economic Development Committee on Feb. 27 and has already been introduced in the Assembly, according to a joint press release.

The project scope consists of a 1.5 million-square-foot enclosed outlet mall and an overall plot of 166 acres, which sits on the site of a former landfill. The project is expected to generate about $320 million of private investment and create 5,000 plus jobs. Additionally, the mall area will include 12 anchor stores, 185 shops, 18 restaurants and parking for 6,000 cars when completed.

"We have spent a great deal of time and effort in order to see this project through to its final stage," said Lesniak. "When this mall is complete, we will have turned land that was sitting idle and worth next to nothing into a thriving business mecca which will employ 5,000 residents of this region and bring in countless dollars in ratables which will help lower local property tax rates in Elizabeth."

The mall is expected to open in late 1996 and will host numerous discount outlet stores whose primary dealing will be in the apparel area.

"We have almost 14 million people living in and around this new mall site," said Suliga. "With a natural market like that, this new mall will be one of the most successful in recent history, creating thousands of permanent jobs for the residents of our district."

Currently, the State Department of Transportation, the New Jersey Turnpike Authority and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey are in the process of evaluating the site and upgrading local roads which surround the mall.

No, it wasn't because I indulged myself in all the chocolate that is offered at the park of the same name. Actually, I could have gone down to the Foodtown or ShopRite somewhere, anywhere, in New Jersey, purchased a bag of Kisses and pretended it was "original Hershey" candy, but I didn't. Actually, Hershey was where the annual New Jersey Press Association contest was judged by the Pennsylvania Press Association.

I'm sworn to secrecy about revealing the results of the Press Association contest, but I will say that Worrall Community Newspapers came back a winner — several times over. Many of our company's 22 newspapers entered the contest, and the winners from our staff came from our Essex and Union County Editorial Departments.

I'm dying to congratulate the winners, but the results, at the moment, are "off the record..."

To those who read my column last year about my trip to West Virginia for the same reason, and recall how I nearly drove a van off a very steep mountain into death, this year's ride actually was quite pleasant. There was no ice on the road, no snow or winding, country roads. And I didn't even need the Maalox I packed just in case.

Puerari is tops in electrical business

Joseph Puerari, owner and proprietor of Puerari Electric, operates one of the area's most successful electrical contracting business out of his home in Kenilworth.

Keeping his overhead low and customer satisfaction high, he says, are the keys to his success.

"I would say the biggest difference between myself and other contractors is lower prices," says Puerari. "Our overhead and expenses are lower and that helps keep prices down."

Puerari is a licensed electrician for the state of New Jersey with over 25 years of experience. He has had his own contracting business for ten years of those years, and services Union, Essex and Middlesex counties.

His training also includes schooling at the Lyons Institute in Newark and Union County College.

When he has the time, Puerari keeps himself up to date with changes in his field by attending seminars held by the Union County Electrical Contractors Association.

During the seminars, tradesmen in the field discuss new merchandise, supply costs and values, and new and efficient methods of improving productivity of equipment and manpower.

"I offer a full array of high quality, state-of-the-art merchandise and services," says Puerari. "We contract for all types of renovations, new home construction and upgrading of services within a 50-mile radius."

Puerari Electric contracts for all types of commercial, residential and light industrial construction. Most of his clients are so satisfied with his services that they often recommend Puerari Electric to others.

Puerari Electric offers competitive prices for a variety of electrical items, including smoke detectors, track lighting, recessed lighting, and is a fully guaranteed and insured contracting company.

Puerari is serviced by at least half a dozen different electrical supply houses throughout the county, putting parts and supplies within its reach at all times.

For quality workmanship at a price you can afford, call Puerari Electric at 276-3687.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Historical, pictorial book on Union is marvelous, entertaining offering

It wasn't that long ago when cows grazed along the property of Kean College of New Jersey in Union — which was then Newark State College — at Green Lane Farm — or drank from the trough in front of the farmhouse — or disrupted traffic along Morris Avenue. That was back in 1935. And then in the 1950s, the state of New Jersey acquired the land. Eight years later, Newark State College moved to the site.

On The Shelf

By Bea Smith
Lifestyle Editor

The book was published by Alan Sutton Publishing Co. in Augusta, Maine, and it is one of a kind. For sheer entertainment, one can merely flip the pages that begin with drawings of Union, a small village surrounded by farmland, with paintings of the battle of Connecticut Farms on June 6, 1780, and of George Washington, Baron von Steuben and the Marquis de Lafayette inspecting the ruins brought about by the retreating British. Among the ruins was the Connecticut Farms Presbyterian Church.

There also are pictures of the Rev. James Caldwell, a portrait and a statue of Caldwell, who was known as "The Fighting Parson" by the Continental Army and the local militia, and as "The Rebel High Priest." There also are drawings of Caldwell in battle and of his wife, Hannah, shot by the British troops. There are photographs of the Caldwell parsonage built after the original was burned in 1780 and the interior in 1994.

In his chapter on "First Families,

First Homesteads," Johnson shows portraits of the Beach family taken about 1870, the Miller family, 1880, and the Woodruff family, 1860, all original settlers in Union. There are photos of the James Headleys, John B. Bonnell and his descendants, the Burnet family, the Ernsts and the Haines, all taken in the late 1800s.

When Johnson concentrates on The Center, with its famous "cannon" at the intersection of Elmwood Avenue and Stuyvesant Avenue — the gun is from the War of Independence and the carriage is from the Civil War — a reader, particularly, a historian, can get very excited about the stories these pictures tell. Ye Old Meeker Inn, the Model T. Ford cars, the old post office, the grocery and general stores and farmland — always farmland. In fact, in the 1900s, Union High School's football team called itself "The Farmers." And there's a 1900 picture to prove it in addition to a painting of the center made in 1900. The corner of Morris and Stuyvesant avenues are shown from World War II with the Union Theater evident in the photos. There's a picture of Stan Sommer's shop taken in 1947.

In the chapter called "Death and Taxes and Politics and Politicians," Johnson provides pictures of Friberger Park, F. Edward Biertuempfel, the Civil Defense Unit 2, and later photos of the Municipal Building. There are views of Connecticut Farms School, the only public elementary school in Union Township, and that of Town Hall in 1900.

More pictures of the school plus a graduating class of Union High School in 1886 are shown in the "Unwillingly to School" chapter.

Connecticut Farms Church in 1873, the only church in town, is seen in "The Heart of the Community" chapter. At the turn of the century, when horse and carriage were the rage, and bicycles and then automobiles filled the dirt roads, the chapter, "Get A Horse," offers some real collectors' items.

There is a conglomeration of century-old pictures in the chapter, "Changing Times." And on the last page, there is a picture taken in 1977 of the Municipal Building and the events that followed when Union Township was named "All American City."

The author said in his introduction that he hoped the "book as a whole as well as by its many individual photographs, will entertain, give an idea of what life looked like...and possibly give pause for reflection."

It certainly is reflective, entertaining and educational — a book every neighbor should not be without. It should have a special place on the bookshelves in all the local homes in Union County. It already is on mine.

An open car tours Springfield Avenue in Union about 1906. This horseless carriage was meant for daytime driving only — it has no headlights — and for fair weather motoring. These restrictions kept the horse in the lead as the preferred method of travel until the time of World War I when Henry Ford introduced the Model T.

Winter concert set in Union auditorium

The annual winter concert of the Union Municipal Band featuring the music of Germany and Austria, will be presented Feb. 13 at 7:45 p.m. in the Burnet Middle School auditorium, Caldwell Avenue, Union. Admission to the concert is free.

Band Director John Bunnell reported that this year's program "is designed around marches, waltzes and overtures of Germany and Austria. The three marches on the program, 'Watch on the Rhine,' 'Old Comrades' and 'Under the Double Eagle,' are in the traditional military style featuring counter melodies and the lower brass instruments."

Also featured will be Franz Lehar's "The Merry Widow Waltz," Richard Wagner's "Die Meistersinger," Johann Sebastian's Prelude and Fugue in G Minor, Bainbridge Crist's "Vienna 1913 and the 'Haensel and Gretel Overture.' In addition, Bunnell has selected, Strauss compositions, such as "Thousand and One Nights Waltz" by Johann Jr., "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks" by Richard, and "The Chocolate Soldier Overture" by Oscar Strauss.

Barry Furrer is assistant director. Leonard Galiley of Summit, who plays the French horn, is among the members of the band. Others are from

John Bunnell

Union, Kenilworth, Summit, Springfield, Mountainside, Linden, Roselle and Rahway.

Benefit concert set for Geriatrics

A benefit concert will be held Feb. 19 at 2 p.m. at the Union County Arts Center, Rahway. All proceeds will benefit Rahway Geriatrics Center, 1777 Lawrence St. Melin Tan will perform Bach, Beethoven, Schumann and Prokofiev. Tickets at $10 each can be purchased by contacting Marilyn Gilbert. Additional information can be obtained by calling (908) 499-7927.

'Lovestruck' event is slated in church

Fred Quinn, a member of the Garden State Storytellers League, will present an original program called "Lovestruck Memories" at 2:30 p.m. on Feb. 11 in the First Congregational Church, 1340 Burnet Ave., Union. It will be featured at a Valentine tea to be given for the benefit of the church.

Quinn, who has a master's degree in counseling from Seton Hall University, works as a counselor in a rehabilitation hospital. He said he found that one way to help his "patients transcend their pain was to encourage them to talk about themselves. One topic which they particularly enjoyed sharing was how they happened to meet their mates, fell in love and got married."

Three years ago, he began to record "some of these fascinating stories of romantic encounters which led to lasting relationships." To date he has recorded more than 600 interviews with people who were willing to share their personal histories with him. This has resulted in "an assortment of entertaining and uplifting stories, some touching, some funny, some most unusual, based on events ranging in time from the 1930s through the Second World War up to the present time. All accounts are actual," said the Rev. Nancy Forsberg, pastor of the church.

A resident of Cranford, Quinn, who also belongs to the National Story League, became interested in telling stories when he was 12 years old. Since then, when his family gets together, there is always a "lively exchange of stories about family experiences." He has shared his stories with senior citizen groups, hospitals, libraries, civic and church organizations, and has recently released audio tapes of some of his favorite stories.

Homemade refreshments will be served by members of the board of deaconesses. Tickets are $5 each and can be ordered in advance by calling the church office at (908) 688-4333. All tickets will be available at the door on the afternoon of the program.

The program is open to the community. For more information, call the church office and ask to speak to the pastor.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Leibow's art exhibit shown in Watchung

"Some art, such as Paul Leibow's," it was reported, "is not meant to merely hang on a wall. It projects from various surfaces, enveloping and transforming the room itself. Thus the enclosing chamber becomes part of the work, and the room is art."

Leibow's installation, "Elucidations (of the empty)" will transform the Lower Gallery of the Watchung Arts Center into a walk-through work of art. The controversial exhibit is being displayed through Feb. 28, with no admission charge. Gallery hours are weekdays and Saturdays, 1 to 4 p.m.

A reception for the artist, an opportunity to meet him and discuss his work, will be held Feb. 5 from 1 to 4 p.m. Refreshments will be served, and there is no admission charge. All pieces are available for purchase, it was announced.

"The art of Paul Leibow is both artwork and social commentary. A book jacket designer by day, he manipulates faces and symbols in multimedia, often in three dimensional form, to make a statement about society, politics or economics."

The current exhibit has been four years in the making, and uses currencies to describe culture. "The currency is also a metaphor for the behavior of our ruling political leaders," he explained. "Their manipulation of the media lures much of the population, thus allowing them to acquire and maintain power for their corporate parents."

Selected for the Watchung Arts Center's juried small works Metro Show in 1994, Leibow has had exhibitions in the New York-New Jersey area each year since the 1980s. Trained at New York's School of Visual Arts, he works in a studio in Mahwah.

The non-profit Watchung Arts Center showcases the work of established and emerging artists with monthly exhibits. Parking is free at municipal properties surrounding the site, it was announced.

The center's concert and theater schedule "draws hundreds of people each month, in addition to those visiting during gallery hours," it was reported. Jazz, folk, classical and contemporary music are featured in concerts drawing fans from beyond the three county area of the Arts Center. Members pay "moderate dues" and receive a monthly newsletter describing coming attractions and special discounts on selected events and classes.

'The Miracle Worker' will be staged at the East Campus Theater, Kean College of New Jersey, Union, Feb. 16 to 26. Kristen Umansky, left, portrays Annie Sullivan, Helen Keller's teacher, who demonstrates the power of touch to Kathy Wilce of Union, who portrays Helen. More information can be obtained by calling 527-2337.

A family concert is scheduled

The Philharmonic Orchestra of New Jersey will present its next family concert Feb. 12 at 2 p.m. at Far Hills Country Day School. The concert, "Meet the Philharmonic Woodwinds," will offer an opportunity for children ages 5 to 10 and their parents to meet Maestro George Marriner Maull and instruments in the woodwind family as presented by a group of five musicians. The family concert series will conclude with "Meet The Philharmonic Brass," featuring members of the brass family, March 5, at 2 p.m. at Far Hills Country Day School.

One can call the Philharmonic office at (908) 356-6165 for ticket reservations and further information.

Teenage art school courses are offered

Applications are now available for the New Jersey School of the Arts, spring program for teenagers at Montclair State University. Courses are offered in creative writing, drawing and painting, computer imaging, modern dance and studio art.

Classes will meet on Saturdays for 10 sessions beginning March 4. For more information and an application form one can contact NJSA at (201) 655-5179 or write to New Jersey School of the Arts, CN500, Trenton, N.J., 08625-0500.

"Interested students must submit a letter of recommendation," it was announced. "Writing and art students must also submit a sample of their work." There will be an audition for dance students Feb. 25.

The Creative Writing course will meet on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Students will explore writing as creative process with two professional authors. Poetry, prose and drama will be developed and critiqued. Guidelines for publishing will be provided.

Three courses are offered in the visual arts. Classes in Studio Art are scheduled for 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Fine Art Computer Imaging and Drawing and Painting are offered from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. The Studio Art class will provide instruction in drawing, painting, and sculpture. The Fine Art Computer Imaging class will take place in Montclair State's recently refurbished computer graphics lab complete with state of the art equipment and the latest software. In the Drawing and Painting class students will complete projects in charcoal and with acrylic paint on canvas.

A new program in Modern Dance is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. This class, which will be taught by a former soloist with the Nicholais and Murray Louis Dance company, is offered in cooperation with the Dance Division of Montclair State's School of Fine and Performing Arts. Students will study modern dance technique as well as improvisation and composition.

NJSA was created by an act of the State Legislature to provide advanced training in the arts for high school students throughout New Jersey. Professional artists, who are also experienced educators, teach all NJSA courses.

NJSA is based at the New Jersey State Department of Education in Trenton. NJSA programs have been sponsored by the School of Fine and Performing Arts at Montclair State University since 1985. NJSA spring programs in northern New Jersey also are available at Sparta High School, Sussex County Community College and at Warren County Community College. For more information one can contact NJSA.

New Art Group to show works by artists of Watchung Center

The Barron Arts Center has scheduled a showing of works by members of the New Art Group of Watchung Arts Center at the gallery in Woodbridge. The New Art Group is comprised of 14 working, professional fine artists covering various visual art disciplines. The New Art Group has artists "unified by purpose rather than style."

The group was formed out of the members of the Visual Arts Committee whose function is to develop opportunities and implement exhibitions at the Watchung Arts Center featuring fine artists from the Northeast. The name for the group was chosen for its history, which originated in the turn of the century Vienna as Neue-Kunstgroup by a group of artists, including Egon Schiele, who wanted to set themselves apart for their new way of looking at art and the art world. Likewise, as a result of the interaction in the Visual Arts Committee, the Committee members have created a group whose visual basis is inclusiveness.

"This group is indicative of some of the most significant changes in the 1990s art world including multicultural influences, gender identification and aesthetic diversity.

The exhibition at the Barron Arts Center highlights the individual characteristics of the varied members of the group with the members showing

Garyth Nair to be feted

Summit Chorale will honor the 25th anniversary season of its music director and conductor Garyth Nair by presenting the world premiere of a choral work by 18-year-old composer John Kaefler in a concert at the Summit Middle School, 272 Morris Ave., March 4 at 8 p.m. The ensemble also will perform other works commissioned and premiered by the chorale during Nair's leadership.

The other composers whose commissioned works will be sung are Wayne Dickrick, Carl Della Peruti, Jon Quint, David Sampson and David Stanley York.

In addition, Nair has chosen Gregorian chant, sea chanties, a work by Johannes Brahms, and choruses from Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story." A reception to meet the composers will follow the concert.

Formed in 1909, Summit Chorale is composed of 60 non-professional singers by audition. They come from about three dozen communities in northern and central New Jersey.

Nair began his musical studies at Westminster Choir College in Princeton, where he was the first student in the college's history to be named assistant conductor of the school's famed choir. He later studied with Sir Adrian Boult and received an advanced degree at New York University. He is an associate professor of music at Drew University, where he conducts the Drew orchestra and chorus.

Tickets for the concert at $12, $8 for senior citizens and students, are available from Chorale members or at the door. For more information one can call (201) 762-8486.

Funding for Summit Chorale is made possible in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State. Additional support is provided by corporate, foundation and individual donors.

work which "represents them in a uniquely personal way."

The members of the New Art Group and work to be included in the exhibition are paintings and works on paper by Vivien Abraitis, Denise DeVone, Jim Fuess, Muriel Harris, Thom Lynch, Joe Napurano, Claude Picard, Paul Pinkman and Monica Schraiber-Otero, photographs by Nancy Ori, Heinz Otto, Lisa Solon, and Robert Terlizzi and the stained glass works of E.A.S. Thompson.

"Being shown at the Barron Arts Center is a great opportunity for the New Art Group members," said Jim Fuess, Vice President Visual Arts and chairman of the Arts Committee. "It's an exciting location to show off the diverse works of these fine artists and to allow their work to be seen by people who come to see engaging works of art in all forms. Each of the artists in this show has a substantial exhibition record and a great deal of experience in their particular discipline. The audience will have an opportunity to experience work by local New Jersey artists which they might not otherwise see."

As a meeting ground for the members of the New Art Group, the Watchung Arts Center, founded in 1977, at 18 Sterling Road, on the Watchung Circle, is a non-profit, volunteer organization dedicated to the development and presentation of the visual and performing arts. It is situated in an historic, pre Civil War, circa 1860 building that has previously served as a schoolhouse and library. The Watchung Arts Center is now a theater, concert hall, art gallery, and classroom that has presented the arts to the North Central New Jersey area for more than 15 years.

For more information about the New Art Group or The Watchung Arts Center, one can call the administrative offices at (908) 753-0190.

The Barron Arts Center, the site of the exhibition, is located at 582 Rahway Ave., Woodbridge. The exhibition is sponsored by the Woodbridge Township Cultural Arts Commission whose chair person is Dr. Dolores Capraro Giffre, with support from Mayor James E. McGreevey, and also from the Woodbridge Township Arts Council.

Kings star in Rahway

The Manhattan Rhythm Kings, who appeared in the hit musical "Crazy For You" on Broadway which won three Tony Awards in 1992 will star March 4 at 8 p.m. in Rahway's 1,300-seat Union County Arts Center.

The music of the 1920s, 1930s and 1940s is the Rhythm Kings' forte, and the trio has had great appearances with the Boston Pops, New York Pops and St. Louis Symphony orchestras.

Regular prices for seats at the March 4 performance are $12.50 for orchestra and $15 for lodge. However, a special package deal is being offered senior citizens and Arts Center members, it was announced where $20 and $25 will buy seats to both the March 4 Manhattan Rhythm Kings performance and a full orchestra Benny Goodman tribute on April 2. The Arts Center box office is currently taking ticket orders at (908) 499-8226.

The Union County Arts Center is a professionally restored nationally landmarked vintage 1920s entertainment palace situated at the junction of Irving and Main streets.

All-women Quartet performs in Summit

The Colorado Quartet will perform at the Unitarian Church, Summit, Feb. 26 at 4 p.m. as part of the Afternoon Music series.

The Colorado Quartet, an all-woman, all New Jersey quartet, "has distinguished itself both here and abroad." Winner of the Banff International String Quartet Competition, the Naumburg Chamber Music Award, and a Consortium Commission Grant from the NEA, the group has been acclaimed on four continents as "one of the great quartets of all time."

The Colorado Quartet promotes contemporary American compositions as well as the usual string repertoire. The members have performed the complete Beethoven cycle. Recent appearances have included the "Quartets Plus" series at Carnegie Hall, Lincoln Center's "Great Performers" series, The Kennedy Center, the Casuals Festival, and annual performances at the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam. Their CDs are released on the Fidelio label.

On Feb. 26, they will play Haydn's Quartet in G Major, a new work by Krzywicki, and Beethoven's Quartet in C Major.

The next concert in the series will feature ensembles from the New Jersey Youth Symphony followed by Operatic Duos with Jane Bunnell and Marc Embree on April 30. Reservations are recommended, it was announced.

Tickets at the door are $15; senior citizens, $12 and children, $5. For more information one can call (908) 273-3245 or (908) 273-8499.

The series is funded in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts through a grant administered by the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs.

DINING REVIEW

You can feel at home very quickly.

Carlos O'Connor's Cafe Mexico was a cult favorite in Rahway for those seeking tasty fare from south of the border, until the tiny Irving Street eatery packed up and moved to Red Bank. Thankfully, Beana's Mexican Restaurant, which opened at 986 St. Georges Avenue in November, is a more than worthy successor as the only authentic Mexican restaurant in the city.

Beana's has a charmingly off-beat decor, with pinatas and cacti surrounding the tables and windows, lined with red chili pepper-shaped lights. It is a cozy, comfortable place to eat and has a very authentic feel. You can feel at home very quickly.

The atmosphere, enjoyable and festive as it is, takes a back seat to the quality of the food. This is top-notch Mexican food, served at prices that can agree with everyone's wallet. The service is excellent: fast and friendly.

For starters, there is black bean soup topped with cheese at $3, which from all reports, is high quality. For those who want a variety of appetizers, there is a Taste of Mexico, which includes civiche, guacamole and quesadilla and serves three to four people with a price of $11.95. At about $3 per person, it's certainly a bargain.

The grilled chorizo, a spicy sausage served with sour cream and pico de gallo, is also highly recommended as a starter, and if you're lucky, you will go to Beana's on a night when the appetizer special is the jalapeno "poppers." These stuffed and deep fried peppers are just what the doctor ordered, especially for fans of spicy food. Be sure to have plenty of liquids on hand if you order them, though. Ay Dios mio!

A seemingly endless supply of

tortilla chips and salsa assures that you will not leave Beana's hungry. In fact, it is possible to feel well-fed just from the appetizers and chips.

Not leaving room for an entree would be a sin, however, because they are high quality, as they should be. I was lucky enough to visit Beana's when the special of the night was Yucatan Shrimp, which was outstanding. I am told that the dish, which consists of several jumbo — and I do mean jumbo — shrimp in a spicy sauce served on a bed of seasoned rice with baked or refried beans, is soon to be added to the menu on a regular basis because it is one of their best sellers.

The restaurant's top seller, though, is a dish called taquitos, which is exclusive to Beana's. Taquitos are a corn tortilla with a chicken filling quick fried and topped with cheese, and once you have them, you will know why they sell like hotcakes. Incredibly, this best-selling dish was discovered by accident when the chef made a mistake trying to make something else. At $7.95, you can't go wrong.

Most of the other entrees, such as the quesadilla dinner, chili, and jumbo crispy tacos are the same price. Chicken, beef sirloin, and six-shrimp fajitas clock in at $11.95. Also available are combinations of two traditional favorites such as enchiladas, burritos, tacos, tostadas and tamales for $9.95. Single orders of any of these are $7.95.

Desserts include Haggen Daas ice cream and another accident, a deep fried flour tortilla sprinkled with powdered sugar which tastes similar to an Italian zeppoli. Soda, coffee, tea and Arizona Iced Tea are available, and those who prefer to have beer or wine can bring their own and the server will keep it on ice.

Talking Stages free series planned

From February to July, the ideas behind the plays at New Jersey's professional theaters will take center stage during 10 free symposia presented by the New Jersey Theater Group under the collective banner of The Prudential Foundation's Talking Stages.

Talking Stages is the series of informal symposia launched during the 1993-94 theater season "to explore the issues that inspire the plays on the state's professional stages. More than 4,000 audience members took that inaugural journey into the creative process at ten participating theaters. That enthusiastic participation encouraged the association of the state's professional theaters, the New Jersey Theater Group and The Prudential Foundation, based in Newark — the series' presenter and sponsor respectively — to offer a new series of 10 public events during the 1995 theater season."

Early in Black History Month this February, Crossroads Theater Co. and George Street Playhouse, both in New Brunswick, highlighted the "late, trail-blazing author, Lorraine Hansberry. In her brief but prolific life," Hansberry brought the African-American experience to the stage with "a realism not previously encountered." The neighboring theaters remember her contribution during a program called "Lorraine Hansberry: Crossing Over Her Bridge — A Joint Celebration of Her Life and Work," on Feb. 4. Hansberry and her work "touched many others including the event's speakers, actress Ruby Dee, producer Zeldia Fichandler, director Hal Scott, and biographer Dr. Margaret Wilkerson.

From noon to 1:30 p.m. at Crossroads Theater the panel discussed the author's work and life. At 1:30 the audience was invited next door to George Street for a reception with the panelists followed by a screening of the half-hour documentary, "Lorraine Hansberry: The Black Experience in the Creation of Drama." Crossroads' presentation of "To Be Young, Gifted and Black" will run through Feb. 19 at 7 Livingston.

"Black History Month is a new concept to the history of the Delany sisters, daughters of a former slave and both now over 100 years old," whose story will be examined in "Bearing Witness: Telling the Delany Sisters' Story" at the McCarter Theater, Princeton, Feb. 12 at 4:15 p.m. Playwright, director and McCarter's artistic director, Emily Mann, will lead a panel discussion on the process of adapting the Delany sisters' autobiography for the stage. The symposium will take place following a matinee performance of "Having Our Say: The Delany Sisters' First 100 Years" which will run at McCarter, 91 University Place, through Feb. 26.

In March, Talking Stages will look back at a musical tradition and real life dramas. On March 5 at 5 p.m. along with performances of the musical revue "I Love You, You're Perfect — Now Change," American Stage Co. in Teaneck will present a panel discussion on that unique art form called "The American Musical Revue ... Past and Future?" The Star-Ledger's theater reviewer, Peter Filichia will moderate the discussion at American Stage on the campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University at River Road and Route 4.

On March 12 at 3 p.m., Stageworks/Summit will present a staged reading of "Hauptmann: The Lindbergh Crime," about the kidnapping/murder which also was known as "the crime of the century." Afterwards, members of the legal profession and media will take part in a discussion on journalistic responsibility in covering "sensational" crimes. The program called "Crime, Justice and the Media," will be held at Stageworks/Summit on the campus of Kent Place School, 42 Norwood Ave.

The East Lynne Co. will present "Women Suffrage: Commemorating the 75th Anniversary of the 19th Amendment" at the Williams/Meadowlands Center, Rutherford, March 25 from 2 to 5 p.m. Authorities on the issues and people involved with America's 19th century suffrage movement will preface a performance of "An Anti-Suffrage Monologue."

Talking Stages will become a family affair in April. On April 2 at 2 p.m. singer/actor Guy Davis will talk about "American Negro Folktales and the Southern Blues Tradition" that inspired his play, "In Bed With The Blues — The Adventures Of Fishy Waters." Both the symposium and the play are presented by Centenary Stage Co. on the campus of Centenary College, Hackettstown where the latter will run March 31 to April 9. On April 29 at 5 p.m., Crossroads Theater will be host to actors, directors and authors, and Davis' parents, Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis, to "share insights into their personal and professional partnership." The event "Artists, Activities and Families," is scheduled between performances of "Two Hah Hah's And A Homeboy," written by Dee and featuring performances by all three family members at Crossroads April 18 to May 21. Playwrights Theater of New Jersey will take a different look at family relationships with "How We View Our Elders: Senior Citizens and What They Have To Offer" on May 20 at 4:30 p.m. A gerontologist, anthropologist and historian will compare the status of senior citizens in America today with other societies. This program will be presented in conjunction with the workshop production of "An Untitled Work About Old Folks" at PTNJ's home at 33 Green Village Road, Madison.

On May 23 at 7:30 p.m. the Paper Mill Playhouse's artistic director Robert Johanson will lead a discussion of "The Musical Mythology of Lerner and Loewe," the legendary musical theater partnership that created "Brigadoon" which the Paper Mill present from April 5 to May 28 in Millburn. The evening's theme will be illustrated by "Brigadoon" cast members performing songs from "My Fair Lady," "On A Clear Day You Can See Forever" and "Camelot."

The Annual Shakespeare Colloquium at the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival will mark the close of the 1995 Talking Stages series. The weekend of lectures, workshops and performances in conjunction with the five-play series of Shakespeare and other classics, "The 1995 Shakespeare Colloquium," will be held July 15 and 16 on the campus of Drew University, 36 Madison Ave., Madison.

For a free brochure that describes the entire series, one can call the Theatre Group at (201) 593-0189.

Staged reading set of Russian writer

"An Evening with Mikhail Bulgakov," a Russian playwright of the 1920s and 1930s, will be presented in a staged reading format at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 10 in Union County College's Elizabeth Campus Theater.

The event, which is the first in a series of year-long activities commemorating the 20th anniversary of the college's Institute for Intensive English, will highlight four scenes from selected plays by Bulgakov, the program will be narrated by Zoya Bromberg of Elizabeth, a Russian student, who has studied through the institute. Bromberg is working toward an associate in science degree in liberal studies at UCC.

The Institute for Intensive English offers an in-depth, eight-week cycle of English language instruction to speakers of other languages, with emphasis on reading, writing, conversation, and life skills, all aimed at preparing the student for employment and higher educational study in the United States.

Bromberg also will give background information on the former Soviet Union to explain the political climate that served as a backdrop for each play. Mark Spina, the college's theater director, will supervise the program's production.

Further information can be obtained by calling Professor Deborah Pires, 20th anniversary committee chairperson, at 965-6044 or Spina at 965-2996.

CONESTOGA WAGON RACE

An 85 Year Old Tradition!

Major Scouting activities include Klondike Derbies, Camporees, First Aid Meets, Scout Rifle Matches, Swim Meets, Pinewood Derbies, Bike Treks, 50 Miler Hikes, Teenage Winter Weekends, Sea Cruises, and Junior Leadership Training.

Once again our Scouting for Food Good Turn provided 39 tons of food for nearly 40 agencies in Union County. Much of this food not only stocked the shelves of food pantries, but allowed food bags to be distributed. Over 4,000 Scouts participated in this November project.

The BSA doesn't operate in a vacuum. There are unsung community heroes - the chartering organizations and volunteers -- who play vital roles in getting programs to youth of Union County. The Watchung Area Council has 158 organizations holding charters for 155 Cub Scout packs, 100 Boy Scout troops and 33 Explorer posts.

Tips To Help You Write Your Classified Ad

1. Identify - begin with the item for sale, service you are offering, or job title of the person you're looking to hire.
2. Describe - the more information you provide to the reader the better the responses. Put yourself in the buyer's place. What would you want to know?
3. Don't Exaggerate - list the features and the condition. Make your description attractive, but believable!
4. Include Price - research shows that people are more interested when they know the price. If the price is negotiable, say so.
5. Be Home - when you run your ad, be home, or specify the hours buyers can call. Most people won't call back.

These are tips to help you get started. For additional assistance, call us today. One of our sales representatives will be happy to help you write your ad.

1995 can be a time to boast about a happy, healthful image

With the new year here and everyone making their New Year's resolutions, many individuals find themselves looking to join a health club.

Many have already been members of two or three clubs, only to find themselves dissatisfied with the services provided and not able to reach their fitness goals. An extensive study was done recently by a team of exercise experts lead by Dr. Walter Andzel, of the Health and Fitness Institute and professor of exercise physiology at Kean College, of all health clubs in New Jersey. The following information will assist in making the right decision.

When choosing the right health club, it is important to follow these steps to insure making proper decisions. The average person that comes into a health facility has already been a member of three or four other clubs. The most common mistake people make is losing track of what their primary objectives are for achieving fitness goals:

- Choose a health club as if you are choosing a medical doctor, a trained medical professional specializing in the particular problem you have. You wouldn't choose the cheapest doctor, but rather the one that was qualified in dealing with your problem. Clubs that continually run specials, i.e. two-for-one promotions, are often more quantitative than qualitative.

- Join a club that specializes in your particular needs. I recommend that women join all-women facilities. Most co-ed facilities are acclimated more towards social settings as opposed to those designed for achieving fitness goals.

You shouldn't join a club that obligates you to commit yourself for a long period of time. Clubs may do this in one of two ways. The first way is to request that you put down a minimal amount of money and then commit you to monthly payments with a promise of a low, yearly renewal at the completion of your payments. The second method utilized is the payment of one lump sum to cover one or two years.

A good health facility will let you pay an enrollment fee and then let you pay as you go only for the time that you use it. In clubs that include you for lifetime memberships, the service tends to be minimal because even if you do not attend, you are still obligated to pay. As a result, out of 100 percent of the people that join a quantitative health club which obligates them to long-term payments, less than 40 percent are still exercising. In comparison, out of 100 percent are still actively pursuing their fitness goals.

After an evaluation of all the clubs, Andzel came up with the following conclusion: The best men's health club was located in New York. Cardio Fitness Center obtained the highest approval rating. The number one health club for women was Image 2000 Health Spa for Women in Union.

"Image 2000 was above and beyond all other women's clubs. Image 2000 took the traditional health club and brought fitness to a different level," Andzel concluded. "At Image 2000, members have access to a wide range of professional aerobic and step classes as well as on staff doctors who provide cardio-fitness evaluations, including blood pressure, cholesterol and body fat testing. Available for consultation are nutritionists, exercise physiologists, chiropractors and massage therapists. But most importantly, they provide personal trainers who guide each individual every step of the way. They also have the finest, most extensive cardio fitness room I have ever seen. They have Lifecycle 9500, lifesteps, recumbent bikes, versaclimbers, two kinds of treadmills and HCTV health-related motivational televisions while you work out are also available. They also boast three full lines of equipment, Camster, Maxicam, and free weights. Image 2000 is certainly worth a visit. I can't see how a person whether a novice or the serious exercise enthusiast could not succeed!"

Image 2000 is located directly across from the Flagship Route 22 West in the Consumer Shopping Center. For more information, call (908) 688-6675. Image 2000 also provides fitness programs for companies such as Johnson & Johnson.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

DR. DONALD ANTONELLI CHIROPRACTOR

JOINT PAIN AND MUSCLE BALANCE

If you've developed symptoms that make you think you have arthritis, it would be wise to have an examination to see if the muscles in the affected area are out of balance.

Muscles help keep a joint stable and assist it through its normal range of motion. But if the muscles on one side of the joint are weak, this puts a strain on the joint. It may also cause arthritic-like symptoms.

The doctor of chiropractic will also evaluate nerve patterns and may take an x-ray to study the joint structure involved. Perhaps some laboratory procedures will also be needed.

If the problem is in the muscles around the joint, treatment can be given to strengthen and return them to proper balance. Once this is achieved, the arthritic-like pain and discomfort may be greatly relieved or eliminated.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

'Oz' musical is offered on stage at Arts Center

The curtain will rise Feb. 26 at 3 p.m. at the Union County Arts Center, Rahway, on the latest of the children's theater presentations. The new show is "The Wizard of Oz," the American Family Theater's staging of the L. Frank Baum classic, "Broadway for Children." This is the way AFT President Adrienne Crane describes this and other shows in the touring company's repertoire.

"The kids will be delighted, and parents won't be bored," she said.

The AFT "Wizard" is a live musical featuring all the familiar Oz characters played by professional performers in "an elaborately decorated and costumed production. The dialogue and music are original," it was reported.

AFT runs as many as 14 tours per year throughout the United States with up to 30 different productions presented in 600 cities. In its 23 years of operation, the company has earned a White House Citation, the Freedom Foundation's Medal of Honor and the privilege of representing the United States in the 1990 International Children's Theater Festival in Moscow.

Tickets for the Feb. 26 matinee in Rahway are $8 for adults and $6 for children. They can be purchased in person at the 1601 Irving St. box office or reserved by phone at (908) 499-8226.

'Joy Night' is planned

Union County College's Student Government Association, Plainfield, will sponsor a "Joy Night," featuring local church choirs and the choir of the college's Union of African Students, in a gospel concert from 7 to 9 p.m. Feb. 17 in the Plainfield Campus cafeteria.

Among the performers will be Evonne Jefferson of Union, a UCC student and clerk in the college's Registration Office, who made her professional gospel singing debut last August at the Fountain Baptist Church, Summit. She has since sang in concerts throughout the northern New Jersey region. Jefferson will present original and traditional gospel pieces.

The event, which will be free of charge, will be part of the college's commemoration of Black History Month during February. Refreshments will be served.

Further information can be obtained by calling Cheryl Bailey-Williams, Plainfield Campus student activities specialist, at 412-3570.

Film, 'Sankofa' to be presented

Filmmaker Haile Gerima will present his film "Sankofa" Feb. 23 at Kean College of New Jersey, Union. The film will show from 5 to 8 p.m. in the college's Wilkins Theater.

The presentation is one of several special programs offered by Kean College in celebration of African History Month throughout this month. A lecture by the filmmaker also is included in the program.

The word "sankofa" comes from the Akan language and means "returning to your roots, recuperating what you've lost and moving forward."

Gerima, who was born in Ethiopia, said that "the film discusses the continuing problem of those persons in the African Diaspora who neglect their own history."

In a director's statement, he explained that "the film addresses 19th Century slavery which is used as a landscape to shape and compose a story that deals actually with the contemporary reality of African slave descendants."

A professor of cinematography at Howard University, Gerima said he hopes the film will stimulate discussion and debate about the present-day "slavery" Africans find themselves in.

Among the director's other films are "Bush Mama," "Ashes and Embers," and "Child of Resistance."

Ticket prices for "Sankofa" are: $5 general public; $3 Kean College faculty, staff, alumni; and $1 students.

For further information, one can contact the Office of African Studies at (908) 527-2375 or the box office at (908) 527-2337.

Premiere organ concerto slated

horoscope

February 12-18

ARIES — March 21/April 20
If you've been wanting to make a change in your life, this is the week to do so. You'll have more energy and daring than you've had for some time. Whether it's a career move, a change in residence or just a break in routine, you'll succeed at whichever you choose. Go for it!

TAURUS — April 21/May 21
Watch what you say to others this week. Sarcastic words that start out as playful ribbing may be misconstrued and end up insulting someone. The road to love may be a bit bumpy this week. Be patient. Accept last-minute invitations, even if they seem somewhat odd.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21
Your ability to see both sides of a story will help you play the role of mediator in a family dispute. Just be sure not to get too deeply involved. Although you use logic as your guide, others rely more heavily on emotions. A meeting with an old friend could open doors for you.

CANCER — June 22/July 22
Your desire to succeed may conflict with your desire to relax. A balance can be reached if you use your time effectively. Something that you see on the news is likely to hit home. An open, honest discussion with a loved one will improve future communications. Don't neglect your health.

LEO — July 23/August 23
Don't let an argument with a loved one get you down. The week will get better as it goes along. In fact, you may just find yourself in your favorite position this weekend — at the center of attention. Admit it, you like others to focus on you. Good news is on the way.

VIRGO — Aug 24/Sept 22
This is your week to shine. An opportunity to show off will present itself, and you may just find yourself in the limelight at work this week. Your skill and intellect are sure to impress. A look to the future may make you rethink your plans. You can have your cake and eat it, too.

LIBRA — Sept 23/Oct 23
Procrastination will be your worst enemy this week. Avoid distractions, and focus on the job at hand. You'll have plenty of time to do whatever you want later in the week. A new skill will come in handy. You'll have the opportunity to show off to higher-ups. Don't get caught in the middle of family squabbles.

SCORPIO — Oct 24/Nov 22
Keep a tight grip on finances or you could find yourself in a bind later in the week. Avoid conflict if possible, especially at work. Although you may feel justified in your reaction, you'll end up looking superior if you keep that sharp Scorpio tongue at bay.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 23/Dec 21
Excitement builds as you look forward to an upcoming social event. If you're in charge of planning, use your creative mind to make the festivities extra-special. An unexpected increase in income will help make ends meet. In fact, you may be able to make a long-desired purchase.

CAPRICORN — Dec 22/Jan 20
Life is good. Quiet times with loved ones are all you need to feel satisfied this week. Recent frustrations will seem trivial, and you'll feel positive about the future. You'll come closer to a long-term goal. An increase in energy will help you through an extra-busy period of work.

AQUARIUS — Jan 21/Feb 18
Take advantage of spare time, and prepare for busier times — at work and at home. Make progress on pet projects, and tackle household chores. You'll thank yourself later on. A long talk with a loved one will help you better understand his/her recent actions.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20
No other sign of the Zodiac is better at feeling self-pity than the sensitive Pisces. Don't let this destructive emotion ruin your week. Look forward, instead of back, and you'll see things in a happier, more positive light. Seek the comforts of family and friends to lift your spirits.

YOUR BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
The next 12 months:
You have a lot to look forward to this year. Good luck, good health and happy times will fill your days. There'll even be a bit of good fortune to add icing to the cake. Last year's joys revolved around the good fortune and happiness of those close to you, but this coming year will be even better. There will be a stronger focus on you and the satisfaction of your needs. Many of the good deeds you did for others will come back to you. The summer months will be ideal for travel, while the fall and winter will be good times to establish new friendships and cultivate old ones.

'Genesis' to be read as story

Story-teller-actor Max McLean will take one back to the way the familiar stories in the book of Genesis were originally presented — as tales to be told rather than as manuscripts to be read on weekends, Feb. 24 through March 19, at Playwrights Theater of New Jersey, 33 Green Village Road, Madison.

Something to sell? Telephone 1-800-564-8911.

Architecture artists work to be displayed in show

Original works by about 20 Union County College architecture students will be displayed in a show at the college's Tomasulo Gallery, MacKay Library, Cranford campus, with an opening reception to be held from 6 to 8 p.m. on Feb. 13.

The show, which will run through Feb. 28, will be sponsored by the college's Architecture Club. First- and second-year architectural design students will display their "renderings, floor plans, and elevations, particularly of community buildings" for the Elizabeth waterfront project.

Works to be exhibited will include basic design studies, pavilions, and geometric modeling, with renderings including three-dimensional color perspectives and isometric pieces, and pencil sketches. Architectural drawings will include plans, sections, and elevations of various buildings and designs, with site plans and landscape drawings.

Gallery hours will be from 1 to 4 p.m., and again from 6 to 9 p.m. on Mondays through Thursdays, and 1 to 4 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. Those interested in further information can call Professor Dori Vicente, who teaches architecture, at 709-7026 or the Tomasulo Gallery at 709-7144.

Volunteers needed for teen event

The Union County Teen Arts Festival will offer an opportunity for volunteers to get involved, and to work with artists, teachers and students March 29 and 30 at Union County College, Cranford. More information can be obtained by calling 558-2550.

Local cast set for benefit

Westfield Community Players activity director Pearl Gannett of Clark has announced plans for a St. Valentine's Day fundraising event to be held at the theater Feb. 11 at 8 p.m. The evening will include scenes and songs from Broadway shows with the central theme of "Love and Marriage." All tickets are $10 and include a light supper, coffee and dessert to be served after the show.

Director Naomi Yablonsky of Springfield has assembled a cast of WCP members for an evening of drama, comedy and song. Cast members include Hope Weinstein of Linden, Victor Cenci, Carole McGee, Christine Petersen, Bob Okell, Barbara Goldstein of Springfield, Pam Reinoso of Roselle and Margaret DeCastro.

Theatergoers are requested to call the box office at (908) 232-1221 to reserve their tickets for the 8 p.m.

What's Going On is a paid directory of events for non-profit organizations. It is pre-paid and costs just $20.00 (for 2 weeks) for Essex County or Union County and just $30.00 for both.

 A WEEKLY WORRALL NEWSPAPER REAL ESTATE FEATURE

Center Court looks to boost its image
 Center Court Tennis Club, Chatham, already recognized as the number one tennis facility in North Jersey, is now building a new, Tudor-style clubhouse to further enhance its outdoor tennis program.
 The new clubhouse, which is fully air-conditioned, will feature a large entrance and lounge area, men's locker rooms with showers and a dressing area, ladies locker rooms with private showers and dressing area, an exercise room and a playroom for children. The clubhouse will be completed for the 1995 outdoor season.
 Center Court's Managing Director Dina Kaplan Delseni explained that Center Court is "a well-established tennis club with a friendly, family-oriented atmosphere" offering members 14 Har-Tru courts, a large swimming pool with deck and lawn areas, a snack-bar, baby sitting and game arranging. "Our comprehensive tennis program offers something for every level player including clinics, round robins, lessons, club championships, parties and much more," she said.
 For more information, contact Center Court at (201) 635-1222.

Career seminars set by Weichert
 Weichert, Realtors has scheduled two seminars for those interested in learning more about career opportunities in real estate. The seminars will be today and Feb. 16 at Weichert's Union office, 1307 Stuyvesant Ave., from 7 to 9 p.m.
 "This is an excellent time to enter the real estate business," said Ron Mammano, manager of Weichert's Union office. "The market is good and low interest rates are promoting sales."
 Newly licensed and experienced real estate salespersons, as well as persons interested in obtaining a real estate license, are invited to attend. Featured topics will include: how to get started in real estate, how experienced salespeople can increase their earnings and how Weichert's training and marketing programs can open the door to success.
 For reservations, call Mammano at (908) 687-4800.

AAA tips for cold weather

The worst weather in years will leave millions of motorists stranded this winter when their vehicles fail to start, the American Automobile Association reports.

AAA is urging motorists to consider the main causes of vehicles not starting and what preventative steps they can take.

"Aside from towing, AAA's most common road service calls last year were from motorists whose vehicles would not start," said George Giek, managing director of AAA Automotive Engineering and Road Service. "Weak or dead batteries were the chief culprits, but loose or corroded battery connections and loose engine belts were other major factors."

By regularly inspecting for potential starting trouble, motorists can help prevent these problems, he said.

Most important, according to AAA, is to monitor the condition of the vehicle's battery, especially batteries more than two years old, including the terminals and cable connectors.

Although batteries can carry warranties for four years or more, a warranty is no guarantee an older battery will continue to work in severe weather," Giek said.

The most common sign of a weak battery is an unusual sound coming from the starter motor when the ignition key is turned, indicating difficulty in turning over the engine.

While starting a vehicle is more difficult when engines are cold and temperatures low, repeated trouble with starting can mean a problem under the hood.

First, check to make certain battery connections are tight and no corrosion is present on battery terminals. Next inspect the tension of all drive belts. They should flex no more than half an inch. If the battery's fluid level can be checked, make certain the fluid covers the battery plates.

If no problems are found, it is best to drive to a service station or auto parts store and have the battery tested and replaced, if necessary.

Volvo will be the first manufacturer to equip 100 percent of its 1995 cars sold in the U.S. with Daytime Running Lights, DRLs. DRLs turn on automatically when the ignition is turned on.

The new 1995 Volvo 960 retains the distinctive overall appearance people have come to expect from Volvo's larger rear wheel drive cars.

'95 Volvo's set the standard from side air bags to DRL's

Things are changing at Sweden's largest car maker and chances are you will like the changes. Since the beginning of the 90's, there has been a continuous flow of new products. While these new models were true to Volvo's reputation for safety and durability, they were also noticeably more stylish, and a great deal more fun to drive. Volvo has kept the changes flowing for 1995, offering a new 960 Series, the world's first Side Impact Air Bags, and an illuminating idea to improve daytime driving safety.

The new 960 retains the distinctive overall appearance people have come to expect from Volvo's larger rear wheel drive cars. But wait, while the strong character of the car is still there, the lines are much softer, bumpers and trim more integrated, and the front-end visibly lower and sleeker.

Intent on making the value of the 960 as impressive as its appearance and handling, Volvo is introducing the fully equipped new 960 sedan at a suggested retail price on only $29,900. The elegant wagon will be $31,200. These cars require virtually no options. Standard equipment include: deluxe leather interior with wood accents, alloy wheels, glass sunroof, and a custom audio system. Like all Volvos, the 960's also have four-wheel disc brakes with ABS, SRS with driver and passenger air bag, CFC-free climate control, and an all welded steel body with roll cage like construction. The 960 has been designed and priced to please its owners and frustrate its competitors.

Safety and the name Volvo are interchangeable in many people's minds. Volvo engineers have always worked to expand the frontiers of automotive safety and that is exactly what they have done with the introduction of the world's first Side Impact Air Bags on the 1995 Volvo 850's. Volvo is the only car company offering this added level of protection. It will be standard equipment on 850 Turbo sedans and wagons and a $500 option on other 850 models.

An article in Automotive News stated, "Volvo's Side Air Bag Sets Makers Scrambling. Volvo's patented system is truly innovative and mechanically elegant. The entire system is mounted in each of the front seats. At the outboard edge of the lower seat cushion is a trigger which fires when an impact moves the door in to touch the seat. An ignition charge runs through plastic tubes up to two gas generators in the outer edge of the seat back. When the gas generators fire they inflate the bag which bursts through a seam in the upholstery and inflates, forming a barrier between the chest and the door. All of this takes place in less than 12 milliseconds."

Because the air bag is mounted in the seat, it is always in the proper location relative to the occupant. This means the bag can be much smaller than a bag mounted in the door, which would have to be big enough to cover both tall and short operators. The bag itself has a 12 liter volume and is roughly six inches in diameter and twelve inches long.

Volvo believes the Side Impact Air Bag is a true safety breakthrough and will help to save thousands of lives in the years ahead. It is an idea you will likely see offered by virtually all car manufacturers at some future date. While not required by law, it could well become the new standard of the industry and Volvo pioneered it.

A final piece of news from Volvo for this year is also in the safety area. Volvo will be the first manufacturer to equip 100 percent of its 1995 cars sold in the U.S. with Daytime Running Lights. The Daytime Running Light System basically turns the headlights on automatically when the ignition is turned on. Volvo first used this system in Sweden in 1975. A few years later Daytime Running Lights became mandatory in Sweden. Today many countries around the world including our neighbor Canada require such a system.

The benefits of Daytime Running Lights may appear obvious at dawn, dusk, or in foul weather. But they have also been shown to enhance the visibility of oncoming cars in extremely bright environments like the desert. DRL's help oncoming traffic to be aware of you. Their ability to reduce the frequency and even the severity of accidents has been proven again and again. Volvo believes the benefits of Daytime Running Lights will be very visible in the years ahead.
