Many parents are discovering that television has become more of an influence on their children than they would like it to be. A child's behavior sometimes is a result of the television shows they watch, thinking that if the violence they see on the TV is not hurting the people in the land of make-believe, it may not hurt the people in the real world.

This month's School Safety Update newsletter provides some helpful tips for parents who want to get their child away from the television and back to more meaningful education. Those tips are provided here as a reader service.

- Set an example. Don't leave the TV on all the time, even when eating or engaged in other activities. Select specific programs for information or entertainment. Don't watch adult programs when children are present.

- Do not use TV as a baby sitter. Keep interesting items handy as alternatives: Legos, jigsaw puzzles, board games, crayons, pencils, paper, books and magazines.

- Reject all other violent media. Make it a family rule that violent entertainment has no place in your home, whether videotapes, video games, radio programs, music lyrics or reading materials.

- Schedule daily activities. Teach your child to plan a daily after-school schedule in which TV fills only a small block of time — or perhaps none.

- Plan a weekly TV schedule. Sit down each week with your child and choose suitable children's and family programs from the weekly listings.

- Use TV to teach. Children interpret what they see differently than adults. They may not be able to distinguish fiction from fact, and something an adult thinks is funny may terrify a child. Watch programs with your child and explain the difference between news and entertainment, reality and make-believe, education and exploitation.

- Encourage other activities. The average American child watches TV for almost as much time as is spent in school. Reduce TV time by promoting at-home activities like exercise, hobbies, crafts, reading, playing games, tending pets, helping with household tasks, doing homework, keeping a journal and writing letters.

- Look for good TV. There are many fine programs to watch with your children including concerts, plays, sports events, nature and wildlife shows, animated films, documentaries, and movies suitable for children.

- Join forces to oppose TV violence. Cooperate with teachers and other parents in efforts to reduce TV violence. Write or call local and network television officials, government regulatory agencies, and Congressional leaders. Let them know that you are concerned about TV violence and advocate the development of quality programs for children.

Preparing for the crime victim vigil are, from left, Coordinator Elaine O'Neal of the Union County Prosecutor's Office of Victim Advocacy, Union County Prosecutor Andrew K. Ruotolo Jr., seated, First Assistant Prosecutor Michael J. Lapolla and Tanya Gaskin, a secretary at the office who lost a sister in a violent crime.

Local officials to join crime victims at candlelight vigil at county college

Law enforcement officials will join violent crime victims and their families during a solemn candlelight vigil at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at Union County College in Cranford.

The annual ceremony is expected to draw a large crowd that will hear actual testimonials from crime victims.

"This event, like many of the past candlelight vigils, promises to stir the hearts and souls of those who participate," said Union County Prosecutor Andrew K. Ruotolo, whose office is a co-sponsor with The Coalition of Crime Victims Organizations of New Jersey.

"The vigil is the lead event for a special commemorative week here and throughout the county," said the prosecutor, pointing out that Congress and the county's Board of Chosen Freeholders have designated April 23-29 as "National Crime Victims' Rights Week."

Elaine O'Neal, coordinator of the prosecutor's office Victim/Witness Assistance Unit, said the event brings together all different types of victims — whether it be child abuse, drunk driving or violent street offenses.

Staff from her unit assist hundreds of victims each year with counseling referrals, transportation, follow-up group meetings and aid with violent crimes compensation applications.

The theme of this year's observance, she said, is "Victims' Rights: Planting Seeds — Harvesting Justice." O'Neal said the event, which will begin with a complimentary brunch at 12:15 p.m., will be held inside the college's auditorium.

She added that crime victims who cannot attend and would like their name or the name of a loved one read at the vigil should contact her at (908) 527-4596.

First Assistant Prosecutor Michael J. Lapolla said that last year alone, the Office of Victim Witness Advocacy provided victims with more than 19,000 different notifications regarding status of their cases and responded to about 350 requests for victim impact statements concerning sentencing and restitution.

The unit also completed a video called "A Crime Victim's Guide to the Union County Criminal Justice System" to help those who have suffered at the hands of criminals understand how the process works and their role in helping achieve justice in each case.

Lapolla said FBI statistics from 1994 reveal a violent crime takes place in the U.S. once every 16 seconds. "This figure becomes even more startling when you realize that victims of violent crimes far outnumber the offenders," he said, pointing out that one child abuser typically molests multiple victims before being discovered, one robber can injure or kill many persons and an entire family suffers when a loved one becomes a victim of violence.

Others who will be part of the vigil include Jim O'Brien, chairman of the coalition, and Richard Kramer, who represents Voices for Victims. Recruits from the current class at the police training academy also have volunteered to help staff the event.

Musical selections will be featured courtesy of students from Elizabeth High School, who will play in a string quartet under the guidance of Music Director Roger Bangert, according to Lapolla.

Knight's visit brings with it daylight

Devin Knight has been traveling across the country, attending March of Dimes events, meeting volunteers, government officials and celebrities, to help raise awareness of the March of Dimes mission, which is to improve the health of babies by preventing birth defects and infant mortality.

Union County freeholders and Sheriff Ralph Froehlich recently met the 1995 National Ambassador for the March of Dimes, an outgoing, charming, loveable and precocious "almost 6-year-old" youngster.

"It was a pleasure to meet Devin and the March of Dimes people," said Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni, honorary chair for the Union County walk. "Every year for over 12 years, our Union County employees have joined the citizens and businesses of our county in aiding this worthwhile cause. On April 30, we will all meet at Union County College in Cranford to kick-off the 25th anniversary of the March of Dimes WalkAmerica, a walkathon that raises money to keep, or in Devin's case, make babies healthy."

Devin was born 2½ months premature, weighing only 3 pounds and fighting for his life, because his mother, Charlene, suffered from toxemia, making his early delivery necessary to save both their lives. He suffered from heart and lung problems and other complications due to low birthweight. He also developed Respiratory Distress Syndrome, which collapses lungs and makes breathing almost impossible.

The night after Devin was born, the doctors asked the Knights for permission to administer a new drug — replacement surfactant — to treat Devin's RDS. "When the doctors called, we weren't frightened," said Charlene Knight. "We were just glad that there was something available to help our son."

Thanks to March of Dimes research and research grantee Dr. T. Allen Merritt, Devin went home after 3 months in a neonatal intensive care unit. Today he is healthy, and very active.

"The March of Dimes has used a now-healthy child who was born critically ill as their National Ambassador since 1990," said Freeholder Vice Chairman Ed Force. "It's great to see the results of years of research and dedication by the March of Dimes in healthy children, but there is still the

County spending proposed for '95

By Chris Gatto
Regional Editor

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders has introduced a budget that is $1.1 million greater than the one introduced in January by County Manager Ann Baran, but the new spending plan's tax levy is actually lower.

Baran's budget had called for a 3.3 percent increase in the tax levy above last year's package, but freeholders reduced her proposal, and then accepted a $1.1 million federal grant to house people suffering from AIDS.

The $272.6 spending plan includes $27 million, or 10 percent of the total budget, in combined state and federal aid. The tax levy, or the amount to be raised through property taxes, is $152.5 million, a 2.9 percent increase above the 1994 county tax levy.

Baran's $271.5 million plan had called for a 3.3 percent increase above the 1994 tax levy. The 1994 budget called for a tax levy of $148.1 million.

The tax levy was lowered by freeholders through the Ryan White grant as well as through leaving some county jobs vacant. No layoffs are incorporated. Elizabeth Sebring, special assistant to the county manager, said Tuesday that whether a taxpayer will see an increase or decrease in local taxes is dependent upon in which community they reside. Exact figures must be computed at the local level, and are based upon assessments the county levies upon each community.

Sebring noted that the proposed budget calls for expending $14.6 million of the $19.4 million surplus the county had remaining from 1994.

The county must hold a budget hearing prior to freeholders' adoption of the package.

Democratic freeholder challenge in the works

By Chris Gatto
Regional Editor

A pair of freeholder candidates, billing themselves as the "Democratic Party of Union," have thrown their hats into the ring.

Union residents Joseph P. Cryan, son of former Essex County Sheriff John Cryan, and Joseph DeDeo entered the battle for the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

With the inclusion of those two candidates it now brings the field of contenders up to eight who are seeking the three slots up for election on Nov. 7.

Filing petitions to run on the Regular Democratic Organization line were Freeholder Daniel P. Sullivan of Elizabeth, Walter D. McNeill, Jr. of Plainfield and Westfield resident Carol J. Cohen.

Just three Republicans are seeking the three posts, each running unopposed in the June 8 primary. Those candidates are Rahway Councilman James J. Fulcomer, Roselle Mayor James F. Safryn and Nick Giuditta III of Cranford.

While Sullivan, who filled the unexpired term of Freeholder Casimir Kowalczyk in January, is seeking reelection, his Democratic counterparts on the Freeholder Board have decided not to run. The terms of Freeholders Elmer Ertl and Walter McLeod will expire Jan. 1.

The five Democratic candidates must face off in June, prior to going up against Republicans in November.

Elizabeth Councilman Bob Jaspian, who last week said he was considering running as an independent Democrat, will not enter the contest for the Democratic nomination.

Jaspian said he had the required number of signatures on his petition. See CANDIDATES, Page B2

Candidates file to run for election

but opted to concentrate on his council duties instead of running.

"There are so many problems in the City of Elizabeth," he said. "I want to put in as much time as I can representing the people of the 3rd Ward and the people of all of Elizabeth."

In the race for county sheriff, Ralph Froehlich, a Democrat, is running for election to a seventh term. He is running unopposed in the primary, as is Republican Newark Police Capt. Peter P. Nevargic. The two will square off in the general election.

In a state race effecting Union County, John Kucek, a former member of the Populist Party, surprised Democrats by filing petitions to run under that party's banner for the 22nd Legislative District. No other Democrats filed to run for an Assembly seat in that district.

Kucek last year ran for the Democratic Party's nomination in the highly Republican 11th Congressional District, but was thwarted in a write-in campaign. Democrats mounted an effort to stop Kucek from running under the party banner, with party faithful condemning Kucek for remarks he made several years ago that the number of Jews killed during the Holocaust had been inflated.

Incumbent Republicans Assemblymen Alan Augustine and Richard Bagger have filed to run for reelection in that district.

There is no surprise in the 20th Legislative where Assembly Minority Whip Neil M. Cohen and Assemblyman Joseph S. Suliga have decided to seek a second term.

In a joint statement released last week, Cohen and Suliga say they have kept their campaign promise of job creation and economic development, sponsoring the largest economic stimulus package in the country's history.

The legislators will be running on the Regular Democratic Organization line and have received the endorsement of Union County Chairwoman Charlotte DeFilippo and each municipal chairperson in the four municipalities encompassing the district.

Republicans Richard Revilla and Tom Rocco are running unopposed for the GOP's nomination.

Running for re-election in the 21st District is Assemblyman Monroe Lustbader, a Republican, whose colleague, Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden, decided not to seek reelection. Republican hopeful Cedar Grove Councilman Kevin O'Toole will be taking Ogden's place on the ballot.

In the Democrat-dominated 17th District, Assemblymen Jerry Green and Robert G. Smith will be seeking re-election, with a challenge coming from Bob Auletta of Bound Brook. Republican candidates Michael Yulnick and Mike DiNardo will be running unopposed in the primary.

Signs of hope come with Knight visit

need for continued research, and that takes money, and that's why we still have the annual Walk America. I am proud that our Union County employees give so much each year for this event."

Devin received gifts from the freeholders, including a hat and T-shirt, and Froehlich presented him with an honorary sheriff's badge.

"This is what it's all about — helping the children," said Froehlich. "One day I hope all the children are born healthy."

Freeholder Linda Stender concurred with Froehlich, noting that she has healthy children of her own, and adding that "we have to help our children. They are the future, and seeing Devin romp around the way an average 6-year-old usually does puts everything into perspective. And I also want to thank our county employees, who give their own time and money every year to walk, volunteer and donate for the March of Dimes."

The 9.3-mile walk begins at 9 a.m. at Union County College, and winds through Cranford into Garwood and back to the college, where lunch will be served and entertainment provided.

Union County averages over 1,000 walkers every year, with many, many volunteers that show up to register walkers, hand out refreshments at rest stops along the way, and during lunch, and everything else necessary to pull this event off," said Freeholder Frank Lehr. "Also, volunteers have been working since last May to get ready. They are the ones that are not visible, but deserve our thanks, especially our Union County employees, who know their volunteer jobs so well that the walk would not be possible without them."

Walkers raise money by asking friends, family and co-workers to sponsor them for the walk, and last year Union County added more than $100,000 to the North Jersey total of more than $1 million. This year, the 25th anniversary of Walk-

America, more than 1,300 walkers are expected to take part. Registration can be done by mail and bring donations the day of the walk.

For more information or to take part in the walk or volunteer, rain or shine, at one of the 13 sites throughout North Jersey, call the March of Dimes WalkAmerica Hotline at (800) BIG-WALK.

Earth Day celebration scheduled

Saturday will mark the 25th Anniversary observance of Earth Day. Union County government, in cooperation with Union County College, will be commemorating the event with a day-long celebration.

Scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., the festival will be held rain or shine at Union County College's Cranford campus on Springfield Avenue.

"The Office of Environmental Affairs, which is managing the event, began to plan for our Earth Day Festival more than 10 months ago. Brought together were people from industry, municipal and Union County government, groups which are concerned with the environment," according to Freeholder Henry W. Kurz, liaison to the Environmental Health Advisory Board. "The event will provide a full day of family fun for residents of all ages."

County Manager Ann Baran said, "We're expecting at least 30 educational and informational displays from an assortment of companies, utilities and governmental agencies. This is really going to be a fun filled, yet educational day for people of all ages."

One of the most unique exhibits will be a hot-air balloon. Food and beverages will be available from the college's food service.

Bike banned at Watchung

First it was the deer which were targeted. Now, freeholders are taking aim at bikers.

In another step toward what the county's governing body is calling "preserving the ecological integrity of the Watchung Reservation," the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders will no longer allow bicycling on the bridge and hiking trails in the 2,000-acre park.

"During 1993 and 1994, the Division of Parks and Recreation tested a series of interim guidelines which would allow the use of bicycles on certain trails within the reservation," stated Freeholder Vice Chairman Edwin Force. "Unfortunately, many individuals have disregarded these guidelines, and erosion and safety problems continue to result from bicycles straying from established areas."

The county's allegedly ever-growing deer population had been charged with heightening the decay of vegetation in the reservation, but freeholders are also pointing their fingers at bikers.

"As part of our stewardship responsibility, we are left with no choice but to rescind the interim guidelines," stated Union County Manager Ann M. Baran. The county's Public Safety Code Article IV, Section 1. (g), states that "no person shall operate a bicycle upon any sidewalk, footpath, foodbridge, or bridge path, except those that are specifically set aside for bicycle use. From this point on, no hiking and bridge trails in the Watchung Reservation will be considered set aside for this purpose," Baran noted.

"It is a shame that the actions of a few have resulted in this step," stated Force, "but we cannot continue adding to the problems of the Watchung Reservation by condoning activities that compound the issue. The county has not ruled out finding an alternate site for biking; staff will continue to explore that option."

Suburban to be site of golf tourney

A host of local companies and individuals will serve as sponsors of Union County College Foundation's third annual Golf Tournament scheduled for Monday at Suburban Golf Club in Union.

Morning and afternoon shotgun starts at 8 a.m. and 1 p.m., will open the event, which will be held to benefit the college's students and programs. The tournament was named originally in memory of the late Richard O. Luster of Watchung, a member of the college's Board of Governors and an avid golfer, who died in 1992. A special trophy will be awarded in his name.

A 28-member committee, chaired by Philip Gonzalez, president and chief executive officer of First American Bank, Elizabeth, has been planning the tournament, with The Union Center National Bank serving as overall event sponsor.

A full day's fare will include golfing, a buffet luncheon, cocktail reception, dinner and awards ceremony. A dinner-only opportunity also is available.

Meeker Sharkey Financial Group will serve as the dinner sponsor. Sponsoring the Cocktail Reception will be Schering-Plough Corp., while UPS will be this year's golf cart sponsor.

Hole-in-one Sponsors will be Cummins Motors, Inc., Crown Cadillac, Thomas Lincoln-Mercury and Martin Jewelers.

The following firms will be Corporate Foursome Sponsors: Bell Atlantic-Meridian, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., Elizabeth-town Gas, Ernst & Young, Interbake Foods, Jacobson & Co., Mortenson & Associates, Patwin Plastics, PSE&G, Schering-Plough Corp., Morgan Stanley Trust Co., and The Union Center National Bank.

Peckar & Abramson will serve as program sponsor, and The Union Center National Bank will be refreshment hole sponsor; PSE&G, photo souvenir sponsor; Yauch, Peterpaul, Clark and Vitolo, practice putting green sponsor, and Bogard Studios will provide foursome photographs.

The following firms, organizations, and individuals will be tee sponsors: Colby & McGowan, Inc., Control Associates Management Consultants, Corporate Chiefs, Inc., Frieri & Conroy, General Locksmith, Hercky Pasqua Herman, Johnson Engineering, John Meiswanger, Patwin Plastics, Union County College Alumni Association, Union County College Chapter of the American Association of University Professors, the Union County College president's cabinet, and United Counties Trust Co.

Sponsors are being sought for the buffet luncheon, as well as for tees, hazards, or greens.

Those interested in more information should call Nadine Brechner, executive director of development, at (908) 709-7505.

Tour of 'Deserted Village' set for Sunday

Did you know that Union County's largest park, the Watchung Reservation, is home to a village that dates back to the pre-Civil War era? The area encompassing the Deserted Village of Felville was settled in the early 1700s, built up into a milltown in 1845, and converted into a summer resort in the late 1800s.

On Sunday at 2 p.m., the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders will sponsor a tour of the Deserted Village, led by Daniel J. Bernier, chief of the county's Bureau of Park Operations. Bernier is coordinating the county's 10-year program to restore the village's 10 buildings and 130-acre grounds.

"Mr. Bernier has been integrally involved in our efforts to preserve the county's heritage by obtaining grant funds and coordinating building stabilization efforts," said Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni. "I understand he will be presenting an informative slide show, followed by a walking tour of the village."

"I have had many opportunities to visit the Deserted Village to view the stabilization work," noted County

Manager Ann M. Baran. "Union County truly appreciates the support of the New Jersey Historic Trust who has made funds available for this purpose. I encourage our residents to put their walking shoes on and join Mr. Bernier on this tour to see what has been accomplished."

Vo-tech health fair to offer free exams

More than 30 organizations, physicians, hospitals, police departments, emergency and service units as well as other health, fitness- and nutrition-related organizations are expected to take part in a health fair on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The event is planned for Baxel Hall on the 1776 Raritan Road campus of the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools, which is serving as sponsor.

According to Heinz Ricken, coordinator, the fair will be both unique and diversified. In addition to a wide variety of screenings and testings, there will be lectures, exhibits, displays and demonstrations including one by the K-9 Corps from the Union County Sheriff's Office. There also will be audio and video presentations.

The following is a partial listing of the test and screening areas: blood pressure; prostate problems; breast cancer; eye, ear, nose and throat; diabetes; hearing; foot problems; body fat, flexibility and glucose testing.

Also featured will be a prescription medication review booth. The side effects and interactions of some commonly prescribed medications will be examined. Health Fair attendees may bring their medications and questions to this booth. Nutrition and physical fitness experts will be on hand to provide guidance toward proper diet and exercise.

All are welcome to attend. Refreshments will be available and admission is free. The UCCTS campus is expansive so parking is unlimited.

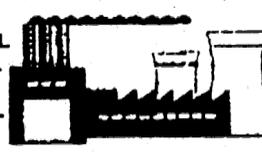

The health fair is being offered by Vo-Tech schools as a community service.

Participants include the American Cancer Society of Elizabeth, Charter Health Care Systems of New Jersey of Summit, Miracle Ear of Linden, Children's Specialized Hospital of Mountainside, Elizabeth General Hospital of Elizabeth, Rahway Hospital of Rahway, St. Elizabeth Hospital of Elizabeth, and Union Hospital of Union.

The King lives ... in Union

By Lisa Ann Batitto
Arts and Entertainment Editor

A bit of Graceland is coming to town Saturday night when a Union resident pays a musical tribute to the King.

Elvis impersonator Ronnie Lee Steele will perform two shows at the Chestnut Tavern, 649 Chestnut St., Union. This is Steele's second time on the tavern's stage this year; he previously played there Feb. 11.

Steele has been paying homage to Presley for five years. However, he said it was not always his goal to entertain people in this fashion.

"I started out doing today's country music and people said I sound like Elvis," Steele said. "I fell into it."

One of Steele's first performances as Presley was at a club called Charlie's in Secaucus and he considers this early show a success.

"It was great; people were standing on chairs. It was a wild crowd," he said.

Presley recorded 495 songs and Steele's repertoire consists of 235 of them, ensuring that repeat goers will hear a different show.

"I have 16 different shows. There are several songs you have to do but I select my show based on the crowd," he said. "The Chestnut Tavern has a mix of people — some want heavy rock and roll, and some people want ballads. You have to make everybody happy."

Impersonating a legend involves more than just a similar vocal pattern. To prepare for his stage shows, Steele's wife, Honey, fixes his make-up and hair, and he dons a custom-made suit to make him appear more Elvis-like. He said when he first started, there were 20 men in the area doing Presley shows; today, that number has dwindled to three.

"People get into it for the money, but there isn't any money in it," Steele said. "You've got to do it for the enjoyment. You are not going to get rich doing it and if people think they are going to get rich, they are wrong."

When Steele is on stage, his philosophy is to make the show as authentic as possible. To do this, he draws upon his own experiences seeing Presley perform live.

"When he came out and the lights went on him, you could see the command he had over the audience," Steele said.

"He appealed to everyone — men, women and kids of all races. There was an honesty and a cleanliness to his shows. I worked with members of his band and no one ever said he was nasty or filthy. He never did anything dirty. In the '50s, people said he was dirty because of the way he shook his hips but compared to the music today he was clean. He never did anything vulgar," he said.

Steele's shows at the Chestnut Tavern will be the only ones in the area but he does plan to return there on Aug. 26 — his birthday. While he has played all over the tri-state area in clubs and at private parties, he said playing in one's hometown can be harrowing.

"It's tough. You have to make everything perfect when you work where you live," Steele said.

Steele will be performing at 10 p.m. and midnight at Chestnut Tavern and between the two shows he will be singing 38 songs. Also performing with him will be Honey and Colleen, who will do country, oldies, the Electric Slide, the Twist and other dance music. For tickets, call the tavern at (908) 686-9875 or (908) 964-8696.

Steele is available for concerts, parties and weddings and can be reached through his agent/manager Shelly Rosenberg of Shelly Productions, (201) 796-9582.

Mystery theater turns audience into sleuths

By Chris Gatto
Regional Editor

Get ready for a close encounter of the entertaining kind.

"Deep Space Noir," a futuristic detective story that combines mystery and comedy, is the latest production of Murder To Go Theater.

The play, sometimes musical, requires heavy audience participation, meaning those who are shy or extremely self-conscious may be better off staying away. Diners play the part of Earth travelers who visit "Cafe Noir," an out-of-this-world night club.

Writer-director David Landau's story about detective Rick Archer, who must ensure order is maintained in the "neutral zone," is set in the year 2140 at Federation Outpost Asteroid 6.

Archer, played by David Flynn, is reminiscent of the character played by Harrison Ford in the "Raiders of the Lost Ark" movies. Flynn appeared in two previous productions of the Cafe Noir trilogy.

The outpost, on which Cafe Noir is housed, serves as a neutral zone where those embroiled in the ongoing war on Moon Marigold can go without fear for their life. The military of Meridia and the mining colony of Marigold, which declared independence when the authoritarian Meridian government fell, have been engaged in conflict for three years.

The play utilizes a combination of slapstick comedy and touches of the current political mood to steal a few laughs from the audience. At one point the subject of the federation failing to adopt a balanced-budget amendment drew a host of laughs from the audience.

theater review

Even in time of death (Remember, this is a murder-mystery.) viewers are kept laughing.

Prior to and in between courses, served by Cafe Noir — really Il Giardino Restaurant — staff, actors mingle with guests. But actors remain in character. While Earthlings should not be afraid to ask questions, they should not always expect to get correct answers that will help solve the puzzle: Actors are inclined to steer overly aggressive inquisitors in the wrong direction. And besides, to quote "Andor," played by Michele Begley, "Wait for the next scene."

Andor, like just about everyone, except Rick, is considered a suspect in the murder of "Ojacee" — that's right, and don't think us Cafe Noir patrons didn't have a little fun with that name and it's similarity to a famous ex-football player who is currently on trial.

"Just Plain Rick," as he is called, has been on Asteroid Six for about five years. He has been employed by the federation to ensure that murder is never on the menu at the cafe located along Intergalactic Route 66.

Archer, with his 1940s-style, wide-brim hat, is met virtually from the outset of our visit with the task of trying to discover who murdered Ojacee, a green-colored alien with tentacles and all.

Most obvious of suspects, aside from Andor, are Rocky, a Klingoff; Desmond, a sto-away discovered aboard Ojacee's ship; and Zachary Smith, a wise guy employed by none other than Don Corleone, Inc. ("Lost in Space" and "The Godfather" are a strange combination, but it works here.) Things, however, are not always as they seem.

The motives are obvious. For Andor, well she is a soldier of the Meridian government for which Ojacee was working to overthrow.

In the case of Rocky, a towering, villainous-looking creature openly expressed his outrage with Ojacee, who had acted as courier for the Klingoff. Rocky, played by Joe Prussak, had arranged for federation-organized peace talks to be averted by destroying the ship where sessions were to be held. Rocky was to receive crystals, each worth $10,000 in Earth money, for this dirty deed. Ojacee claimed to have left those crystals, though, and he hired Archer to assist him in finding the crystals.

Smith, who attempted to secure payment of a loan made by his company to Cafe Noir's proprietor, "Fork," played by Kevin G. Shinnick, quickly became a suspect in Ojacee's murder due to his "connections." The role of Smith, normally played by Bob MacKay, was performed by Don Kilecayne during the April 8 presentation.

Desmond, played by Shelly Park Mattus, logically would have committed the murder so that she could cash in on the crystals.

Just while everyone was trying to help Rick find the murderer, Ojacee's previously unknown partner was killed by a fazer. As a result, Archer was removed from the case by Commodore Kia (pronounced Ki-yah), played by Tricia Burr. Archer was shortly reinstated and solved the murder.

Kia, who after five years in command at Asteroid Six is tiring of the position, and Archer perform a dually insulting duet in the play's third act, a prologue to the display of their affection — a kiss — that comes later.

The original music and lyrics were composed by Nikki Stern, an eight-time American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers Popular Music Award winner.

Anyone who wishes to attend the production shouldn't go expecting a Broadway play, but if you go with the right frame of mind — to have fun — the experience should be enjoyable. Especially if you're a first-timer.

Shinnick, who is evidently accustomed to comedic roles, gets laughs in more ways than one. Shinnick combines the physical talent (ala Chevy Chase) and one-liners in the mode of Robin Williams in "Mork & Mindy." He'll make you feel right at home at Cafe Noir.

Prussak plays a believable "Klingoff." He works great with the audience, almost forcing them to react in some manner. Oh, by the way if you stop at Il Giardino, 41 Ridgedale Ave., Cedar Knolls, give a big "Yo!" to Rocky.

And if you want to know Whodunnit? Then make an appointment for one of the Friday or Saturday sessions by calling (201) 301-0562. There's a prize waiting for all of you self-proclaimed super sleuths.

Spring is in the air at fashion festival

A downtown festival of fashion will fill the streets of Westfield on Sunday from noon-6 p.m.

More than 120 craftspeople, designers, festival food vendors and local business people will display and sell along E. Broad, Elm and Quimby streets. The spring-fling features wearable art — jewelry, clothing and accessories — both handmade creations and retail fashions. Designed as the downtown's official welcome to spring, this free-admission, wearable art festival is sponsored by the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce, organizers of the FestiFall in September.

Designers and craftspeople from eight states are among the exhibitors in Westfield's spring-fling. Barbara Small of New York City has an array of silk scarves and other hand-dyed silk accessories. Summit jewelry designer Abra Rothberg will display and sell her original and retro-design necklaces and earrings. Clothing designer Joseph Richards from Amherst, Mass., creates casual wear and T-shirts of silk.

Westfield's Nirvana of E. Broad Street will offer its lines of clothing and jewelry. Other craftspeople will be exhibiting hats, hand-decorated vests, antique jewelry and clothing, casual cotton wear, and original jewelry designs in 14 karat gold. Madalyn Litoff of Bergenfield will present a collection of Southwestern style jewelry made of old watch parts.

A vintage fashion show is being organized by Mary Lou's Memorabilia at 17 Elm St. Starting at 1 p.m., models will wear some of the fashions of the 20th century. Outfits and accessories from the 1920s through the 1990s will be featured.

Know any "Little Angels" or "Kute Kids" in the area? A benefit for the Children's Miracle Network is being sponsored by Dave Rossi Photography. At 2 p.m., "Little Angels" — babies up to 2 years old — can register for a randomly selected drawing. "Kute Kids" — ages 2-5 — may register at 3 p.m. Both winners will receive a contemporary studio portrait sitting and enlargement courtesy of Dave Rossi Photography. The drawings will take place at Rossi's studio at 104 Quimby St. Entrants are asked to donate $1 or more to the "Children's Miracle Network of New Jersey," a non-profit agency serving the Children's Specialized Hospitals in Mountainside and Newark.

Various children's activities will take place throughout the festival including sandart, a make-your-own crafts area, pony rides, a moonwalk and a petting zoo with more than 22 animals. There will be strolling musicians, an instrumental band from South America, magicians and several martial arts demonstrations. More than 15 different food vendors will offer menus of chicken and beef barbecue, sausage and pepper roll, calzone, Oriental food, Italian desserts, penna, Dutch funnel cakes and more. Westfield restaurants Ferraro's and Theresa's on Elm Street are planning to serve their gourmet Italian menus at the spring-fling.

Entertainment will be featured throughout the downtown with a primary stage area on E. Broad Street. Musical performances include "Listen-Up" at 2 p.m., a jazz and blues band from Union; Morristown musician James Ralston will perform at 3:30 p.m.; and contemporary folk singer Catherine Moon of East Brunswick will perform at 12:30 p.m. Coordinating the music and singing a set of big band favorites is local entertainer Bob Mele.

Suburban Fitness Center of Westfield is sponsoring performances by the AVIA Aerobic Demo Team at 12:15 p.m. and 1:15 p.m., and Aikido Schools of New Jersey. Richard Stickle of ASNJ is a fifth degree black belt and has studied throughout Europe, the United States and Japan. Stickle is the founder of Aikido of Union County in Elizabeth and will present martial arts demonstrations at 1:30 p.m. and 4 p.m. at the stage area.

For more information, call the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce at (908) 233-3021 or the event's promoter, The Advertising Alliance, at (908) 996-3036. Admission is free.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Singer will perform at library

Soprano Linda Heimall, a protégé of artistic director/conductor of the New Jersey State Opera Alfredo Siliigni and the late operatic diva Maria Jeritza, will be performing today in a program entitled "An Opera Serenade," at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center, 221 Washington Ave., for National Library Week's Distinguished Service Awards Program. The concert will commence after the awards ceremony, which will start at 7 p.m.

Accompanist will be concert pianist Vincent Clarke and tenor will be Emmanuel di Villarosa. Union resident Heimall is listed in "Who's Who in Opera" and was chosen "Young Artist of the Year" by Musical America upon her debut at the New York City Opera. She is also a William Mathews Sullivan Foundation winner, National Society of Arts and Letters winner, Metropolitan Opera Auditions winner, and was newly installed into Union High School's Hall of Fame.

She came to the attention of New Jersey concertgoers when she substituted for an ailing soprano at the Newark Museum when she was in her teens. She collaborated with Siliigni, who subsequently founded the New Jersey State Opera. She appeared for six consecutive years as a soloist with the Newark Symphony at the Newark Museum under the baton of Siliigni. In this capacity she was heard by Jeritza, who, impressed by the soprano voice of the artist, invited her to sing at a luncheon at the residence of Cardinal Spellman. Afterward, the cardinal presented her with a gold diamond medallion in appreciation of her artistry. As a winner of the Maria de Varady Award, Linda Heimall was presented a New York City Opera contract. With the company of the New York State Theater, she has sung in performances of "Suor Angelica," "Gianni Schicchi" and "Der Rosenkavalier," as well as the "Magic Flute."

Heimall was the first singer to sing a concert in the newly built Garden State Arts Center, under the baton of Gillman Collier.

Jeritza suggested that the soprano continue her career in Europe, suggesting Austria as the best place to demonstrate her artistry. She coached her extensively for the role of Salome. Upon her debut at the Graz Opera in Austria in the role of Lenora in "Il Trovatore," the critics compared her to Leontine Price and Zinka Milanov, praising her Verdi timbre and her technically perfect coloratura and voice capacity that reaches all the way down to alto.

Returning to the United States in 1985 after 12 seasons in Austria, Italy and Germany, she was again invited to sing with the New Jersey State Opera in the role of "Marina" in "Boris Godunov." From here there have been many concerts, operas and musical programs from opera to church music to Broadway. She is in demand as a teacher.

Linda Heimall

Married to composer-pianist Ralph Carbone, Heimall and her husband perform as a duo in concert halls, clubs and for television. Each year, Heimall opens the Italian Tribune's Columbus Day Parade with the "Star-Spangled Banner" and Italian National Anthem.

She has formed an organization called "Opera Plus," through which she teaches voice and coaches singers in operatic repertoire and Broadway songs, stage deportment and preparation for auditions. She also has many operatic friends of all voice types who have formed a group who bring opera right into homes or organizations.

To attend the performance, call the library at (201) 450-3434 for reservations. The performance will take place in the library's Carnegie Room.

Local potters will show their wares

The Potters Guild of New Jersey will host a two-day sale and demonstration of functional and sculptural ceramics at the Trailside Museum, Watchung Reservation, Mountainside, on April 29 and 30 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Two potters of note in the area are Bob Chavern of Cranford and Judy Musicant of Mountainside. Chavern creates both sculptural and functional stoneware, and has exhibited most recently at the Montclair Museum. His sculptural work relates hieroglyphs and cuneiform surface decoration to hand built structures. Musicant produces functional stoneware in purple, cream, greens and a new royal blue glaze. She is most noted for her thrown and altered vase forms. Her work has been exhibited at the New Jersey Designer Craftmen Gallery in New Burnswick.

The guild is including collaborative works of Ka Kwong Hui and Eva

Work of Kwa Kwong Hui and Eva Bouxard Hui.

Bouxard Hui. The inspiration for their plates, covered jars and vases was the result of their trip to China to visit one of the oldest pottery sites — Jendezhen. They observed works of blue and white decoration by the craftsmen of the Jendezhen factory.

The Potters Guild is open to potters of all skill levels living in New Jersey. It was formed to share ideas, solve problems, provide workshops, help market work and educate communities on the value of handmade ceramics. Write to the Guild at Box 596, West Caldwell 07007 for details on becoming a member.

Broadway show comes to Rahway

Mystic Vision Players will present Jack Heifner's long running off-broadway comedy hit, "Vanities," on May 5 and 6 at El Bodegon Restaurant, West Main Street, Rahway. Tickets are $20, which includes a full buffet dinner and the show. Dinner is at 6:30 p.m.; show time is 8:30 p.m. Advance ticket sales only. For further information, call 925-9068.

"Vanities" is a chronology of three Texas girls, who, after being high school cheerleaders together, then college sorority sisters, unite in New York City only to discover that they lead divergent lives. This divergence causes their once meaningful and tight-knit friendship to become vacant and strained. Their efforts at being honest point out that they no longer share anything in common.

Dining Review April 20, 1995

By Douglas Miller
Staff Writer

Fuddruckers

Home of the world's greatest hamburgers.

For those who long for fast, convenient food without the question mark of quality, we present for your approval Fuddruckers, located on Route 22 in Union. Fuddruckers, which is one of the few institutions where fast food restaurant is not an oxymoron, offers freshly cooked — to order — burgers, chicken, salads and sides without the unpleasant sensation of seeing your food under hot lights or wrapped in paper.

Accompanying this reviewer was an expert in the field of both fast food and hamburgers, namely a 12-year-old named Richard. While Richard indulged in a BBQ burger with bacon, this reviewer ordered what is modestly described as a "works" burger. We shared an order of Buffalo wings, some onion rings, chili and a taco salad. Richard ordered a vanilla milkshake, which he watched them make, while I washed down my dinner with a Budweiser from the bar.

Rich said he enjoyed the chili, which had lots of beans but not too many tomatoes. Not being as big a fan of spicy food as I am, he declared the temperament of the chili to be perfect, while I dug into the taco salad. Served in a light, flaky shell with lettuce, tomatoes, grated cheddar cheese, sour cream and black olives, the taco salad offers you the opportunity to pick out anything not to your liking in advance, as it is up to you to stir the salad yourself. I was tempted to give the olives their walking papers, but was later glad I hadn't. They are rare in proportion to everything else in the salad, they do not dominate any bite full, and they added a little kick to the rest of the dish.

Yes, we did say bar. In addition to catering to families, and there were plenty in attendance last Saturday night, senior citizens, softball teams and birthday parties are all a part of Fuddruckers' clientele. In fact, the bar is tiny and tucked away in the smoking section, so there is no threat of any disturbances.

While the atmosphere of Fuddruckers is punctuated by neon lights, video games and televisions, it offers a quality of food rarely found outside of steakhouses with tablecloths, curtains and candlelight. In addition to being able to order your burger to your specifications, it also may be served on soft, fresh, sourdough buns in a basket, not in styrofoam. A complete fixin's bar is available and free refills of soda is the policy. Burgers come in two sizes, large and huge; we both opted for the large, i.e. one-third pound size, but one-half pound burgers are available for a few nickels more.

Richard said his burger, which he ordered medium rare, was larger than typical fast food. "It's not too spicy, which I like, and it tastes more like a homecooked burger than McDonald's," he said.

good, and I was surprised to find such quality.

We also both enjoyed the Buffalo wings, which were served, as nature intended, with celery sticks and bleu cheese dressing on the side.

We did indulge in the bakery after our meal, as Fuddruckers offers fresh baked cookies and pies. My oatmeal raisin cookie was soft and fresh, but Richard had devoured his chocolate chip cookie and was on to the video games in the back before we could get an opinion out of him.

The burgers, as mentioned before, are better than anything else around, so you get what you pay for. The burgers start at around $4 and depending on size and additions, can range upwards of $5.50. Also on the menu are chicken and fish dishes, steak sandwiches and a children's menu. In addition to the taco salad, a side salad and chicken salad also is offered.

Fuddruckers is located at 2319 Route 22 in Union on the center island, and is thus accessible from either direction. Fuddruckers is open Monday through Thursday from 11 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., and on Fridays and Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

The Worlds Best Pancakes

THE BROADWAY DINER

Complete Dinners From $7.95

To: Ms. Florence Lenaz, Worrall Community Newspapers

Dear Ms. Lenaz:

Having been in the business world for over 30 years, and now as one of the owners of Summit Broadway Diner, I have been involved with many advertising agencies, newspapers, television stations and magazines. I have never written a note of thanks before to any member of the media.

I must say that Worrall Community Newspapers have been a pleasure to do business with in every way. A helpful staff, phone calls always returned, all questions answered, with regard to advertising in your papers, your personal prompt attention to every detail has been refreshing and unusual in this age of impersonal technology.

The results of our continued advertising with Worrall have been astounding. As you know we are known here at the Broadway for "The Worlds Best Pancakes" and business has been great, the pancakes speak for themselves. Good word of mouth travels fast.

The big secret here in Summit was our "COMPLETE DINNERS" which acting at only $7.95 include soup, salad, entree, potatoes, vegetable, dessert, coffee and a complimentary glass of house wine. Well, Ms. Lenaz, the "$7.95 COMPLETE DINNER" is a secret no more. Thanks to your fine efforts and a vast readership that responds to advertising, there's a line at the door and business has never been better. It finally been discovered!

With sincere thanks and every good wish.

Local has lead in 'Joseph ...'

The Cranford Repertory Theater, a philanthropic organization which debuted with "Godspell" in 1994, opens its second season with Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat."

The musical production, directed by Michal Boldberg and choreographed by Cindy Smith, will run from April 27-30 at Cranford High School. Goldberg and Smith also collaborated in "Godspell" and their modernized adaptation of Stephen Schwarz's musical played to more than 2,500 on three sold-out dates last April.

"We are a theater company that strives to make a difference," Goldberg said. "We want to affect and change people with our theater, give them an experience that will transform them in some way."

In presenting "Joseph," which tells the Biblical story about the son of Jacob whose talent for interpreting dreams helped deliver Egypt from seven years of famine, the Cranford Repertory Theater saw a chance to become involved in fighting world hunger. Some of the money raised at each performance will go to UMCOR, an organization committed to eradicating hunger and poverty throughout the world.

As part of its preparation for "Joseph," the cast attended a slide show presentation by Ken Lutgen, general secretary of Global Ministries, which missions to destitute villages throughout the world. The more than 100 cast and crew members sat on the hardwood floor watching images of souls forgotten. The gasps could be heard when Lutgen and his staff spoke of the 40,000 people who perish everyday from malnutrition. "The story of Joseph is about refugees. Joseph delivers hope to the famine masses which is mirrored in the actions of UMCOR each and everyday," Lutgen said. The troupe departed rehearsal that night learning much more than their lines.

"UMCOR was strongly impressed with the strength and essence of our show," said Carolyn Thomas, executive of CRT. "They will be sending representatives to report on 'Joseph ...' as a tool in their campaign 'Sing Out for Hunger.'"

"Joseph," in production since early January, will feature a cast of more than 100, including many veterans of professional and local theater.

Frank Andrews of Roselle Park portrays Joseph. The 27-year-old tenor has acted in several plays-in-the-park and worked as both actor and director in various local theater companies.

Colleen Sexton of Westfield, and Jeff Schiff of Kenilworth share the singing narration responsibilities. Sexton, only 16, has already appeared at the Paper Mill Playhouse in "Sing-in' in the Rain" and in several other productions. Schiff recently was cast as Mendel in "Falsettos" at the Village Theater in Somerset. He also had the role of John the Baptist in the Cranford company's initial production last year.

"Joseph" is the most ambitious undertaking of the CRT to date. Along with a much larger cast, the musical requires a more sophisticated set and lighting, a more extensive wardrobe and a full orchestra.

Conductor Linda Helmke will take the musical reins on show nights. The orchestra is made up of local musicians including pianist John Brixie and drummer Tony Capobianco, both of Cranford, and "Godspell" veterans.

There's more than simply producing a high quality production involved when CRT tackles a new project. They also take their work with the charities very seriously.

"When we decided to pursue serious theater as a means of raising money for our church, we thought it only fitting that we give other organizations that do important work a chance to benefit from our efforts," said executive producer Brian Jenkins, one of CRT's founders.

Among the organizations to have benefited from CRT's work to date are Cranford Family Care, a local charity that assists needy families; Bridges, a Summit, N.J.-based organization that helps the homeless; and R.I.S.E., which helps impoverished communities rebuild their homes.

Before "Godspell" members of the cast and crew went into New York and spent a night visiting cardboard communities and other homeless living in rat-infested squalor all over the city, serving hot soup and sandwiches, distributing clothing and sharing a message of hope.

"We had a lot of people come out to help when we did 'Godspell,'" Jenkins said, "and the impact on our church and the theater community is obvious. We had more than 300 people from New York and New Jersey audition this time. The project keeps getting bigger because we have the people to support it."

Concert will aid local charity

The Orchestra of St. Peter by the Sea will perform on April 29 in Youth and Family Counseling Service's fifth annual benefit concert. Now in its eighth season under the direction of Rev. Alphonse Stephenson, its founder and music director, the 42 member professional symphonic orchestra will present an all new program in this fundraising event for the non-profit agency. The concert will take place at 8 p.m. at St. Helen's Church, located at the corner of Rahway Avenue and Lamberts Mill Road in Westfield.

Stephenson, former conductor of Broadway's longest running show "A Chorus Line," was recently profiled by ABC-TV. In the style of Leonard Bernstein with a touch of the Boston "Pops," he brings motivation to the podium with a desire to bridge the gap between the orchestra, its music and its audience. His style and showmanship consistently deliver the pleasures of fine classical music and Broadway in a fun-filled performance.

He is also known to New Jersey audiences for his Festival of the Atlantic, the free, outdoor summer concert series on the boardwalk at Point Pleasant. On April 8, he received the Algonquin Arts Award for Outstanding Service to the Arts in recognition of his contribution to the cultural life of the Jersey Shore. The maestro is also chaplain of the New Jersey Air National Guard at McGuire Air Force Base, receiving a promotion recently to the rank of captain.

The April 29 concert is an all American program for the spring, featuring works by William Schuman, George Gershwin, Richard Rodgers and other American masters.

Joining the orchestra will be mezzo-soprano Diana Daniele of New York City Opera and the Metro Lyric Opera, and Anthony Buonauoro of New York Grand Opera. "These are two very different and talented musicians," Stephenson said. "I want this concert to be an overview of 200 years of American music from the folk idiom, to the concert stage as well as the theater. My real hope is that the audience will have as good a time as I plan on having!"

Stephenson began the Orchestra of St. Peter by the Sea in 1986 with the intent to help charities in their fund raising endeavors. "Working with this orchestra is a double treat," he said. "Not only do I get the opportunity to conduct wonderful and interesting music with some of our state's finest musicians, but I'm given the privilege of working closely with many active and worthwhile charities."

"Many audiences come together because they are devotees of the particular kind of program offered by the ensemble; our audiences come together because of their altruism, generosity and willingness to be of service to others," he said.

Money raised from the annual concert supports Youth and Family Counseling Service's programs and services in the community relating to parenting skills, parent/teen communication and family issues.

Tickets to the benefit concert are $25 for general admission, $22 for seniors, and $15 for students 18 and younger. A reception will be in St. Helen's Parish Hall immediately following the performance.

Call Youth and Family Counseling Service at (908) 233-2042 for tickets or information. Tickets will be sold at the door based on availability.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20

If you want something done this week, you'll have to do it yourself. You'll find others extremely unreliable, especially when you want things done in a hurry. Don't worry, you'll be a solo success! Looking for love? Good news. It may be just around the corner.

YOUR BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

The next 12 months: There's a lot to look forward to this year, and there will be lots of celebrations. July will be an important month if you're looking for someone special. You may end up meeting the partner of your dreams at a social event. A close family member will have news that will affect your year, too. Wedding bells may be ringing. If you're a student, you'll have a clearer idea of what your strong points are. A friend could be the source of disappointment this year. Just remember, it's a waste of time to focus your energies on a one-sided relationship. Your financial situation will improve throughout the year.

Home & Garden

Greenery can help homeowners conserve energy

This spring when you landscape around your home, keep in mind that while planting trees and shrubs improves the appearance of your home, they also can be used as an energy-saving tool. Public Service Electric & Gas Company has some tips for the energy-conscious gardener.

Trees, shrubs and plants help insulate homes from the outside climate by locking out the sun's heat in the summer and keeping the heat inside during the winter. The four factors affecting home comfort are air temperature, air movement, humidity and the energy contained in heat-radiating objects. By using trees, rocks and other plants, these factors can be controlled through landscaping.

When the ideal plants are properly placed, they can reduce a home's energy costs by 10 to 30 percent. Well-placed, wind-breaking evergreening can reduce the winter heating bill by 10 percent during the winter months. One tree can absorb the same amount of British Thermal Units in a given day as five air conditioners running for 20 hours.

Before planting anything, first examine the climate and decide on the types of trees needed to plant to maximize comfort in the home.

There are four types of climates in the United States: cool, temperate, hot/arid and hot/humid. New Jersey's climate is in the temperate region and consists of contrasting seasons. When landscaping, major goals are to maximize the sun's heat in the winter, while blocking the wind and funnel breezes, and reducing the sun's rays in the summer.

In the temperate region, plant low density, low crowned trees to the south and northeast. This will help filter the sun's rays during the summer months and reduce the winter heating bill. Norway Maple, placed on the south side create shade during the summer without blocking the sun in the winter. Densely foliated trees block out 95 percent of the visible radiation and 75 percent of the full radiation with their multitude of branches and leaves. They also improve ventilation in the summer by allowing breezes to pass under their canopy.

Western exposures can overheat during the summer months and experience excessive glare in the winter. Short coniferous and deciduous trees and shrubs planted on the northern and northwestern sides can help diminish these problems.

Evergreens and shrubs planted along the home's foundation may also act to insulate the home. Growing vines up the outside southern or southwestern walls will protect the home from sun and wind.

For more information on energy efficient landscaping, contact the U.S. Department of Energy at (800) 428-2525.

All furnaces need check-ups

All heating systems should be serviced periodically by a qualified contractor to ensure top performance, according to the American Gas Association. Such maintenance will ensure safe and efficient operation.

Heating contractors should follow the manufacturer's maintenance guidelines for each unit in accordance with local building codes and regulations, A.G.A. says.

The check-up should include:

- inspection of the furnace vent system;
- removal of any leaves, nests or other obstructions from inside the chimney;
- replacement or cleaning of the air filter;
- lubrication of the blower motor;
- replacement of blower belts, if needed;
- cleaning of pilots and burner chamber;

How to replace your air conditioner as quietly as possible.

You're going to be hearing a lot about the American-Standard Allegiance® 14 air conditioner. You just won't be hearing a lot from it. The remarkably quiet operation is just one indication of how well the Allegiance® 14 is built. It's extremely efficient — up to 15 SEER. We build our Duration™ compressor for unequalled durability. Saab's 900 five-door model series has been named best in its price class by the American Automobile Association in its 1995 new car buying guide.

Saab named best buy in guide

Both the 1995 Saab 900 and Saab 9000 were named best in their respective price classes by the American Automobile Association in its 1995 new car buying guide, AAA AutoTest. The 36-million member association selected the popular Saab 900 SE five-door as best car in the $25,000 to $30,000 price category, while the distinctive Saab 9000 CDE touring sedan beat out competitors such as the Acura Legend, BMW 525i and Cadillac DeVille in the $35,000 to $40,000 range. According to AAA's evaluations, cars in the Top 10 group offer buyers the most for their money in 1995.

AAA AutoTest rates vehicles in 20 categories, covering over-the-road performance, passenger environment, workmanship and value. Both Saab models scored extremely well in the overall ratings, earning accolades for such traditional Saab attributes as ride quality, cargo space, braking integrity and workmanship. The 9000 DE scored a "perfect" 10 in both the interior and exterior workmanship categories, while the 900 SE received highest marks for its cavernous cargo capacity.

David Van Sickle, AAA's director of automotive engineering, said the top-scoring cars "exhibit exceptional engineering, styling, workmanship, comfort and convenience." More than 125 vehicles, representing popular models in all price ranges, are reviewed annually by AAA.

The Saab 9000 also scored AAA Top 10 honors in 1993, when the 9000 CS was rated best in the $25,000 to $30,000 category.

The battery should always be checked

Among the most common reasons for a car not to start is not a DEAD battery, but corroded battery connections. But the symptoms are just like a dead battery — the groan or a click-click that tells you you're in trouble.

It's a good idea, occasionally, to have the battery terminals removed and cleaned as a preventive measure. Cold weather is tough on batteries.

A battery that puts out its full power at 80 degrees F is down to less than half power when the thermometer dips to zero. And that, unfortunately, is when the engine needs the most starting power.

If your car needs a jump start, be sure to attach the booster cables correctly. Here's how: Connect corresponding terminals of the two batteries, positive to positive and ground to ground, or negative. That final ground connection on the disabled vehicle, however, should be onto the engine block or frame. This way sparks are kept at a safe distance from the explosive hydrogen gas that emits from the battery.

Save your newspaper for recycling.

The unconventional sport utility car

For those car shoppers attracted to the versatility and carrying capacity of a truck-based sport utility vehicle, SUV, Saab offers an unconventional alternative — the Saab 9000 Aero. After all, why sacrifice a measure of comfort, performance and fuel efficiency for roominess and a sporty image? The Aero has it all and more. This versatile Saab's credentials include a 225-HP intercooled 2.3-liter turbo engine, sport chassis, high performance tires and more rear legroom than virtually any conventional SUV. Also standard is a wide-opening rear hatch for access to a cavernous 56.4 cubic feet of cargo space, with the rear seat folded down. With the 9000 Aero gives up in ground clearance, it more than makes up for in acceleration, safety, comfort, agility and fuel economy. The sporty Saab challenges any truck based vehicle to match its 0-60 mph time of less than 7 seconds. There's also plenty of foul-weather driveability on tap, with front-wheel drive and optional traction control complementing Saab's road-hugging stability on slick road surfaces.

Mercury debuts its new Sable for 1996 at the NYAS

The first public showing of the 1996 Mercury Sable sedan and an "inside" look at the 1995 Mercury Mystique are among the Mercury highlights of the Lincoln-Mercury exhibit at the New York International Auto Show.

The 1996 Sable is the stunning culmination of advanced new thinking in design. Its fresh, bold lines set new standards for design innovation, from its elegant front end to its gracefully rounded rear. Its all-new interior reflects attention to comfort, safety and convenience. An all-new high-performance 3.0-liter 24-valve DOHC V-6 Duratec engine, with a 100,000-mile tune-up interval, is standard in the LS series.

Visitors can get a good look at Mystique's 2.5-liter Duratec V-6 multivalve engine, which requires a tuneup only once every 100,000 miles; the components of Mystique's advanced suspension system, and the car's built-in safety features—including elements of the occupant-protecting "Safety Cell" body structure.

The exhibit also features a "Young America" edition of the Mystique. The car has an all-white exterior, including its grille and 15-inch wheels. The interior is Atlantis Blue leather trim with white leather inserts. The car, set to go on sale this spring, symbolizes Lincoln-Mercury Division's co-sponsorship of the racing boat "Young America," which will compete against two others to see which will represent the U.S. in the 1995 American's Cup race.

Auto Show visitors desiring more information about the cars and minivans on display can get it by using one of several touch-screen computers located in the Lincoln-Mercury display. The computers deliver instant printouts on standard equipment, options, pricing and vehicle specifications.

Saturn has commitment to safety

Saturn, one of the world's most successful car companies, is regarded as a "different kind of company; a different kind of car." One of the reasons is because of its commitment to safety for its customers.

So, in 1995, all Saturn cars feature airbags on both the driver and passenger side. But, these are airbags with a difference.

Saturn devised a new electronic Sensing Diagnostic Module that determines when an airbag is really needed. A scenario: If the driver of the car swerves to avoid a deer, and the car leaves the road and hits a tree. In some cases, you'd want the airbag to inflate when you hit the deer. This time you don't. You're going to need it for the tree. The 1995 Saturn airbag knows the difference. The new SDM has been compared to an airplane's "black box" flight recorder on a more limited scale. It records how quickly the car decelerates, when deployment was commanded and whether the driver's seatbelt was fastened. It also records near-deployment.

With Saturn's new sensing system, a better job is done of deploying airbags in events that really need them instead of events that don't. The gen-

"A different kind of car company," Saturn has prided itself on its commitment to making its cars safe for its customers. Among Saturn's new offerings for 1995 is the Saturn SC2.

ral public is not aware that airbags themselves can inflict injury, so that inflation in minor accidents where risk of serious injury is low would not be desirous.

This is another step in the Saturn evolution of safety technology. The SDM system's foremost purpose is to help the car tell whether or not the airbags need to be inflated — which just may be the difference between life and death.

Driving drowsy is just as fatal as alcohol

According to the New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety, driving drowsy is as dangerous as driving drunk. And, just like drugs and alcohol, sleepiness can contribute to a collision. That's what prompted AAA's newest brochure, "Wake Up!" "Studies on the New York State Thruway showed up to half of the fatalities were caused by drivers falling asleep," said Paul Kielblock, AAA's safety manager. "Fatigue can be a killer."

The "Wake Up!" booklet includes a seven-point, true-false test for reader to help motorists discover how much they know about drowsy driving. For example, the statement, "I can tell when I'm going to go to sleep" is false.

"Most people think they can tell when they're about to fall asleep," said Kielblock. "But the test explains this is a common misperception. A driver can fall asleep without even being aware of it."

The brochure also lists the symptoms of a sleepy driver and offers suggestions for how to combat fatigue while driving. The most important sleep-fighter, of course, is to get enough sleep and to pull off the road if you're too sleepy to drive. "Continuing to drive when you can't keep your eyes open could be a fatal mistake," said Kielblock.

A section on sleep disorders will help people who may not be aware they have a problem. Disorders such as insomnia, narcolepsy and sleep apnea affect million of Americans. The brochure lists some of the symptoms and recommends sufferers see a doctor trained in sleep disorders.

"Americans need to wake up to the dangers of driving drowsy," Kielblock said. "AAA developed the brochure to educate drivers and help save lives."

For a free copy of "Wake Up!" send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: Wake Up, AAA Safety Department, 1 Hanover Road, Florham Park, 07932.

Keeping your car shined is sure to add value

Keeping your car looking nice does more than make you feel good it helps your wallet as well. A well maintained vehicle may be worth twice as much as a neglected one at trade-in time.

Dealers like a car that requires minimum repairs before being put on the market. One of the first places an appraiser will look, for example, is under the floor mats to check the condition of the carpeting. Take care of the interior fabrics. And, to prevent rust, repair minor dings and scratches as soon as possible.

At an average price of more than $18,000, today's cars represent a major expenditure for most families, an investment which deserves better care than most vehicles ever receive.

Make a special effort to protect that investment. It will pay off not only at trade-in time but during the years you're enjoying your vehicle.

For a free illustrated pamphlet on appearance maintenance, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Car Care Council, Dept. N, One Grande Lake Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452.

Your business can grow with more customers. Reach the potential customers in your newspaper with an ad by calling 1-800-564-8911.

BMW to debut new models at the NYAS

Visitors to the 1995 New York International Automobile Show will see new models at both ends of the BMW model range, plus two concept cars which will give a glimpse of the BMW's vision of the future. The new flagship of the BMW line, the V-12 powered 750iL sedan will take its place at the BMW stand, along with the new 318ti, a new entry-level 3-Series model, which will carry a manufacturer's suggested retail price of just under $20,000. In the Crystal Palace display area of the Javits Center, two BMW concept cars will make their New York debut. The E1 electric-powered vehicle and the Z13 city car will demonstrate solutions to traffic related problems which are becoming ever more apparent.

The 750iL is powered by BMW's silky-smooth, 5.4 liter, 322-horsepower V-12 engine, mated to an electronically-controlled 5-speed automatic transmission. The only such combination available in the U.S. The 750iL is fully equipped—there are no options. Included in this standard equipment is BMW's Dynamic Stability Control, a traction control system which monitors both longitudinal and lateral traction. It is the first such system available on the U.S. market. The 750iL's long list of standard features also includes Park Distance Control, a system which helps the driver backing into a parking space by using an audible tone to signal the proximity of objects behind the car. Electronic Damping Control allows the 750iL driver to choose between two settings for the suspension — comfort or sport — according to his or her driving preferences. A 440-watt, fourteen-speaker premium audio system with digital sound processing and 6-disc CD changer complements the voice-activated cellular telephone. New also are the Comfort Seats, which offer 16-way adjustment to tailor the front seats to driver and front seat passengers of all sizes and proportions.

The 318ti offers a new price point for BMW ownership, starting at under $20,000. The three-door coupe is based on the body and drivetrain of the successful BMW 3-Series automobile and offers a very comprehensive level of standard equipment as is expected in this market segment.

The E1 electric vehicle is designed to satisfy the requirements of low-or zero emission operation. It is a vehicle that could be built with either an electric engine, a combustion engine or both. It can achieve speeds of 78 miles per hour with electric power and 112 miles per hour with gasoline power. The two-door, four-seater has a maximum range of 165 miles using electric power.

The Z13 is also relatively small car, but here the mission is different. The Z13 is designed to help alleviate congestion in crowded cities; by offering a small outside package with realistic inside space. Studies have shown that the majority of drivers are alone in their cars, so the Z13 offers seating for three with the driver centrally-located and the two passengers spaces set slightly to the rear on either side of the driver.

According to BMW of North America president Victor Doolan, "BMW offers one of the most complete ranges of models in the luxury-performance sector of the market, including a wide choice of body styles, engines and equipment to satisfy almost every wish. But whether its our new 318ti starting at under $20,000 or our 850CSI at just over $100,000, each offers a driving experience that sets it apart from the competition."

Dodge, Barber form partnership for driving school, racing group

Dodge Division and the Skip Barber Group have announced the formation of a long-term partnership that will make Dodge the official car and engine supplier for all Skip Barber teaching and racing operations.

Included in the agreement are the Dodge/Skip Barber Driving School, the Skip Barber Racing School, the Skip Barber Formula Dodge Race Series and the SCCA- and FIA-sanctioned Barber Dodge Pro Series. Dodge will also be the official car and truck of the Lime Rock Park race track in Northwest Connecticut. The agreement runs through the year 2001.

Dodge will supply all vehicles for all Skip Barber operations, which include racing and driving schools at more than 20 locations across the country, as well as provide engines for the Racing School, the Formula Dodge Race Series and the Barber Dodge Pro Series.

"This is a truly momentous agreement for Dodge," said Marty Levine, Dodge general manager. "This agreement signifies how far Dodge has come as a brand. We believe we're the best choice to provide not only the breadth of vehicles and engines, but the performance image that is essential to be associated with an organization like Skip Barber."

This year is the 20th anniversary for the Skip Barber Racing School, the world's largest. The Skip Barber Group teaches racing, advanced high-performance, defensive and safe street driving techniques to nearly 5,000 drivers per year. Notable graduates include racing stars Michael, John and Jeff Andretti, Jeff Gordon and rising star Bryan Herta, as well as celebrities Tom Cruise, Paul Newman, Al Pacino, Victoria Principal and Jerry Seinfeld.

"Dodge is a natural fit for our school activities and racing operations," said Skip Barber, president and chief executive officer of the Skip Barber Group. "The range of products Dodge offers, from the front-wheel drive Stratus to the rear-wheel drive Viper to the all-wheel drive Stealth, allows instructors in the Dodge/Skip Barber Driving School to demonstrate all the different driving scenarios necessary to completely educate a student."

"For our Racing School and Formula Dodge Race Series, these sophisticated Dodge motors will not only give us more horsepower, but tremendous reliability, as well."

The Dodge/Skip Barber Driving School will utilize production Dodge passenger cars, while the Skip Barber Racing School will put students through their paces in Formula Dodge open-wheel race cars. All racing school and race series cars will be powered by stock, virtually unmodified 2.0-liter Dodge engines.

The Skip Barber Formula Dodge Race Series is comprised of four regional championships, serving recreational racers as well as the career-minded, aspiring professional.

The Barber Dodge Pro Series, formerly the Barber Saab Pro Series, is considered the first major step to Indy Car competitions. Drivers from around the world compete yearly in a 12-race championship that awards more than $600,000 in prize money. The 165 mph Barber Dodge race cars are powered by 3.5 liter Dodge V-6 engines.

The Skip Barber Group is based in Lakeville, Conn., near the Lime Rock Park race track, with other base locations in Sonoma, Calif., Sebring, Fla., and Elkhart Lake, Wis.

Buick's elegant XP2000 gives us a glimpse of tomorrow at NYAS

The 1995 New York International Automobile Show will feature Buick's new XP2000 concept car, an elegant mid-size sedan showcasing advanced technology to enhance the convenience, comfort and safety of its passengers.

A vision the cars Buick will offer as it enters the 21st Century — and its own second century of providing premium American motorcars — XP2000 is built around a revolutionary new generation of interactive electronics.

"XP2000 is more than a dream car. We see it as a realistic preview of Buick's of the future," said Buick General Manager Edward H. Mertz.

"The exterior is a new example of the kind of exciting yet practical design that helps make today's Buicks — for example the 1995 Riviera — such a success with our customers," Mertz said. "And the advanced technology inside is designed to make daily driving easier and more enjoyable."

Michael J. O'Malley, Buick's general marketing manager, said Buick believes that what will increasingly set tomorrow's cars apart will be the way they enhance the lives of their owners.

"XP2000 is a dramatic way for us to explain how Buick plans to make every trip — from a rush-hour commute to a long vacation with the kids — as enjoyable and productive as possible," he said. "It reflects how Buick sees comfort and convenience evolving over the next several years. And it reflects traditional Buick characteristics — substantial, distinctive, powerful and mature."

The heart of XP2000 is a network of advanced computers that tailors the car to the needs and desires of the individual driver and allows it to use the Intelligent Vehicle Highway Systems planned for the next century. These computers also link XP2000 to the rapidly growing "information superhighway," making it easier for the driver to work and relax while in the car.

- Among special features:
- A remote keyless fob that can position the car's seats, climate controls and even driving response to a specific driver's tastes.
  - A "Smart Card" setup in which a credit card may be inserted into the instrument panel, allowing the driver to automatically charge tolls, fuel, food and other services.
  - An advance "head-up" display, and an instrument-panel display that can be adapted for use with a personal computer.
