While I was watching the Philadelphia Flyers end all hopes of the New York Rangers repeating as Stanley Cup champs, I couldn't help but think how Ranger goalie Mike Richter didn't show for a charity event here several months back.

Richter, who did not make the Kure-A-Kid campaign's fundraising event in Union on that snowy/rainy night because he was called in to negotiations aimed at ending a lockout of players by National Hockey League owners, at times during the best-of-seven series with the Rangers didn't look like he showed up for the games either.

In the first two games, the Rangers jumped off to 2-0 starts, but could not hold off the surging Flyers. Then, in game 3, at "The Garden," Richter was awful. He let a couple slapshots get by, leading to a Flyers 4-0 advantage, a lead which proved insurmountable to a befuddled Rangers' squad. Richter didn't even play in game 4, which the Flyers won, culminating a sweep of the series.

A Flyers' fan myself, I can't say I was disappointed to see the Rangers fall. It had been 54 years since the Rangers won a cup prior to last year's victory, and I wouldn't have minded had it been another 54. I can empathize with Rangers fans somewhat because the Flyers haven't won a cup in 20 years, and, in fact, haven't been in the playoffs in eight.

It may not be the Flyers' year, but with the "Legion of Doom" — Eric Lindros, Mikael Renberg and John LeClair — they most certainly will be a contender for years to come. On the other hand, looking at the "legion," maybe it will be the Year of the Flyers.

While on the subject of hockey, Freeholder Henry Kurz voiced his support for the New Jersey Devils moving to Union County. Of course, he was speaking in jest.

"I want business in Union County. If they want to move to Union County I'm all for it," remarked Kurz in commenting on a resolution sponsored by Freeholder Linda Stender. To that, Freeholder Vice Chairman Ed Force said, "We can't afford it."

The resolution states that freeholders support the efforts of Governor Whitman and her husband, John, who has volunteered to mediate a dispute between the Devils and the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority, in attempting to keep the team in the Garden State.

The Devils, who reportedly are considering a move to Nashville, are just another example of a sports team trying "to hold up" the state — or city — in which they compete. Devils' owner John McMullen, said Kurz, "wants to hold up the State of New Jersey and I don't want that to happen." If it's not going to cost the state to keep the team, Kurz said he would then be "all for it."

Initially Kurz said he would vote in favor of the resolution only because such a measure is like "motherhood" or "apple pie," but

Fire, police officers gain awards

The 200 Club of Union County recently held one of the largest-ever Valor Award Luncheons at L'Affaire Restaurant. Honored during the event were police and firefighters from Union County that performed acts of valor above and beyond the call of duty.

More than 430 people attended the event held annually by the 200 Club, an organization dedicated to honoring the achievements of uniformed police, firefighters and state troopers.

The guest speaker for the May 11 luncheon was Alvina Drennan, whose husband, Captain John Drennan, Jr. of the New York City Fire Department died from injuries sustained while fighting a fire while on duty. Her speech moved many people in the audience as she described a typical start to what she thought at the time to be a typical day. But Drennan didn't dwell on the hurt and pain of losing a spouse. She pointed out that the tragedy occurred due to the carelessness of society when it comes to fire safety. Drennan compared Japan and Germany's rate of fire per capita and the United States has more fires per person than any other country.

"Many countries consider it a crime to be the cause of a fire, but here in the United States we call it

"an accident," Drennan said. She believed that if fire safety and prevention were more important, many lives could be saved each year.

Receiving Valor Awards during the event were Elizabeth Firefighter Francis Fischler for rescuing an elderly female invalid from the third story of a burning house; Detective Kevin G. Foley of the Union County Prosecutor's Office and State Trooper Fred Womack III while serving together on the Essex-Union Auto Theft Task Force for apprehending an armed suspect without loss of life and at risk for their own personal safety; Elizabeth police Officer Martin W. Starr, Jr. for apprehending an armed suspect that attempted to shoot the officer in the stomach while wrestling over a loaded weapon; and Linden police officers Jacqueline Sharkey and Douglas Stadnyk for professional and brave actions during a life and death situation involving an armed man who had been recently released from the Marlboro Psychiatric Hospital. All of the recipients received the Union County 200 Club's Medal of Valor, an engraved plaque and pin and a U.S. Savings Bond.

Also awarded during the event were the 200 Club's academic scholarships. This year's recipients were Kenilworth resident Robert Brede, who is attending Trenton State College; Erika L. Braun of Carteret, Richard Stockton College; Holly L. Fewkes, of Clark, University of Richmond; Barbara Fowler of Mountainside, Allegheny College; Maureen Garrett of Stirling, Trenton State College; Michael W. Keleher of Kenilworth, Trenton State College; Heather Kolesa of Rahway, Trenton State College; Joseph R. McClintock of Scotch Plains, Trenton State College; Eugene L. Perrotta III of Garwood, Washington & Lee University; Kathleen M. Tyra of Clark, Richard Stockton College, and Pamela J. White of Rahway, Quinnipiac College. Currently the 200 Club is supporting 21 students at the cost of $54,000 annually to attend the college of their choice.

The 200 Club of Union County is a non-profit organization founded in 1968, that recognizes the achievements of uniformed police, firefighters and state troopers. The organization consists of people from the business and private sector in Union County, who care about the welfare of more than 3,000 men and women who daily put their lives at risk for the public's protection.

OK given to insure academy's attendees

By Chris Gatto
Regional Editor

The money may not yet be there, but the Union County Fire Chiefs' Association is being encouraged to seek out an insurer so that the county's fire academy can reopen for training without further delay.

The academy, which had been closed earlier this month by its dean, has been operating without insurance coverage for its instructors. The realization came as quite a shock to the chiefs' group, which operates the Linden-based facility, because it had been assured in previous years that insurance was provided by the county.

Freeholders, however, during their May 25 meeting offered a less than reassuring commitment to reimburse the chiefs once they are able to obtain insurance.

Since the academy is operated by the chiefs, who run the facility on a contractual basis, county counsel revealed that insurance coverage is not provided by the county. It has been estimated that insurance coverage could be supplied for an annual premium of $7,000.

Contractors are normally required to indemnify workers, according to Deputy County Manager Harold Gibson.

The county's police academy, whose trainees and instructors are covered by the county's insurance, differs from the fire academy, because the county requires that police officers undergo certain training. The county does not require training for firefighters; that training, rather, is required by municipalities.

Although freeholders last week agreed to rehire the chiefs to operate the facility for the annual sum of $60,000, Republicans knocked down a proposed amendment by Democratic Freeholder Linda Stender that would have provided the organization with the money up front.

Stender's proposal, which gained the backing of the three Democrats in

Help needed to keep bugs under control

The Union County Bureau of Mosquito Control is asking the residents for their help in keeping the population of those pesky, irritating insects under control.

"The primary goal of the bureau is to control the breeding of mosquitoes and to educate the residents of the county as to how they can do their part in helping to control the problem. Mosquitoes can't be entirely eliminated, but they can be controlled to an acceptable level so they do not become an intolerable nuisance or even a health hazard," said Freeholder Daniel Sullivan, liaison to the Mosquito Control Advisory Board said.

"Places where water can collect and become stagnant give mosquitoes an excellent place to breed, such as abandoned swimming pools, discarded tires, unused and uncovered trash cans, pails, fish ponds, bird baths and low areas in yards," said Sullivan.

Residents can help by eliminating all standing water, emptying buckets and cans, cleaning clogged roof gutters, covering trash cans, changing water in bird baths and fountains weekly, circulating swimming pools when not in use, and by stocking ornamental pools with fish.

The Bureau of Mosquito Control, Division of Public Works, Department of Operational Services, works on mosquito control all year. In the winter they clean, regrade and update about 250 existing drains in the county, not including ponds, lakes, etc., which have the potential to stagnate and become heavy breeding grounds. The ever-present mosquito begins to emerge in late March/early April, with the onslaught of spring rains and rising temperatures. That is when the bureau's inspections and treatment begin in earnest.

Residents can call the bureau if they believe there is a mosquito problem anywhere in their vicinity. Calls late in the afternoon will be answered within a 24-hour period, and all calls are kept in confidence. Callers may contact Russell Byrd at (908) 654-9834 or 654-9835.

Three new trustees named at Kean; student added

By Chris Gatto
Regional Editor

Three new members and an alternate student representative have been named to the Kean College of New Jersey Board of Trustees, it was announced.

Dr. Peter Britton, Kenneth L. Estabrook and Lowell Harwood will be joined by Cheryl Pelak, a Kean College junior, on the Board of Trustees. Britton, director of community environmental development for Johnson & Johnson Corporate, Worldwide Environmental Affairs, replaces former trustee Malcolm McKinnon.

Estabrook replaced Max J. Kalm and Harwood replaced Marion Epstein whose terms expired last year. Britton, a Scotch Plains resident, has served in a number of positions of increasing responsibility for Johnson & Johnson since joining the organization in 1961. They have ranged from project director and manager of polymer research to director of exploratory research and research director.

A former president of the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Board of Education and member of the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Human Rights Council, Britton also has served in a variety of positions with the New Jersey School Boards Association. Currently, he is president of the Kidney Fund of New Jersey, chairman of the Education Fund for Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity and member of the New Jersey Council of Environmental Quality.

A baccalaureate graduate from Rutgers University, Britton received his master of science degree in physical chemistry from Seton Hall University and a doctorate in physical chemistry from Stevens Institute of Technology.

Estabrook, a Summit resident, is of counsel to Lindabury, McCormick and Estabrook, P.C., a 32-lawyer firm formed in 1954, located in Westfield.

Estabrook is chairman of the Union County Alliance, the broad-based coalition designed to provide a long-range vision for Union County's economic renewal and to present a united voice in support of worthy initiatives in the county. He is a trustee and past chairman of Kessler Rehabilitation Corporation, a vice president and chairman of the long-range planning committee of Frost Valley YMCA, a trustee of the New Jersey Committee, Regional Plan Association and trustee of Kean College Foundation.

Estabrook is admitted to practice in the U.S. Supreme Court, U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and the U.S. District Court of New Jersey. He is a member of the bars of New Jersey and New York and of the American, New Jersey and Union County bar associations and a past chairman of the Union County Ethics Committee.

Harwood is chairman of the board and chief executive officer and principle shareholder of Square Industries, Inc., a multi-million dollar company headquartered in Jersey City. A Short Hills resident, he is a baccalaureate graduate of Kent State University, Ohio.

He has served as president of the J.C. Jaycees and as chairman of the Red Cross Drive in Jersey City. His background also includes serving on the Board of Trustees for Christ Hospital in Jersey City, as president of the Manhattan Parking Association, as well as the Board of Directors of the National Parking Association.

Epstein, an outgoing board of trustee member at Kean College, recently was honored for her service to the college.

In a resolution by the Board of Trustees, Epstein was cited for her "wealth of technical knowledge and professional experience" and her "service to the college."

Echo Lake to close for repairs

Echo Lake Park, Westfield/Mountainside, will be closed to vehicular traffic on Sunday due to the construction of a new playground facility.

Saturn Corporation of Union has donated a new playground to the county, valued at about $35,000, according to Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni. "One of the most exciting aspects of this project is the fact that Saturn employees will be volunteering their time to install the equipment," she said.

"Because of the nature of the project, and in the interest of safety, Echo Lake's Park Drive will have to be closed. Motorists are advised to plan an alternate route that day," added County Manager Ann M. Baran. "Although the park itself will technically be open, there will be restricted parking and access. Patrons may want to consider using other county parks in the area such as Nomahegan in Cranford, the Watchung Reservation, or Unami in Garwood."

For more information, contact the Union County Division of Parks and Recreation at (908) 527-4900.

Rescue squads gain through program

In its second year, The Prudential has accepted four Union County volunteer rescue squads into The 1995 Prudential Helping Hearts Program. This matching-grants initiative will assist these squads in acquiring a portable cardiac defibrillation unit.

The squads will now begin their community fund drives to meet The Prudential challenge of raising half the money needed to purchase these life-saving machines, which cost about $5,000 each. Through the Helping Hearts Program, Prudential will match their funds, up to $2,500.

"As National Emergency Medical Services Week winds down, it is fitting to recognize the efforts of so many rescue squad volunteers throughout the state and to assist them in their pursuit to save lives," said Clayton Boulware, vice president of The Prudential Community Initiatives Division. "We know that a combination of quick response and defibrillation can, and is, increasing the survival rate of cardiac arrest victims. The Prudential is proud to continue helping New Jersey volunteer rescue squad members purchase these invaluable, life-saving machines."

Union County squads accepted include the following: Clark Volunteer Emergency Squad, Fanwood Rescue Squad, Inc., Kean College Emergency Medical Service and Roselle Park First Aid Squad.

Launched in 1994, The Prudential Helping Hearts Program enabled 94 squads to purchase their first defibrillators last year. The Prudential stated that, according to hospital sources, at least six lives were saved by squads from Avon, Maywood, Middletown, Pequannock, Union and Woodbridge.

During 1994, The Prudential Helping Hearts Program made grants totaling $235,000 to 94 eligible New Jersey volunteer rescue squads to cover half the cost of a semi-automatic external defibrillator unit. This year, Prudential will grant the remainder of its program budget in matching funds of up to $2,500 per squad.

Each year, about 400,000 Americans fall victim to sudden cardiac failure, and most die before they reach a hospital. In New Jersey, the survival rate among these patients is estimated at 4 percent to 6 percent. The state's Department of Health wants to increase this rate to roughly 42 percent. The Prudential Helping Hearts Program is enabling many of New Jersey's volunteer squads to take on this important challenge.

"I applaud Prudential's initiative to facilitate the further development of the state's emergency response network," said Len Fishman, New Jersey commissioner of health. "By helping squads across the state purchase SAED units, The Prudential Helping Hearts Program enhances their efforts to increase the survival rate among cardiac arrest victims."

The Prudential, headquartered in Newark, donates millions of dollars and thousands of employee volunteer hours to support non-profit programs throughout the state and across the country.

County won't commit to insurance funding

(Continued from Page B1) attendance during the session, was shot down by GOP freeholders. She had proposed fronting the chiefs $7,000 that could be used for insurance purposes. Remaining funds would be returned to the county.

Freeholders Henry Kurz and Vice Chairman Edwin Force adamantly opposed the measure, with Force suggesting the chiefs obtain the insurance with the $60,000 with which the county was supplying them. Since freeholders anticipate the matter will be resolved within a two-week period, Force said the chiefs would not be in jeopardy of spending all of the money prior to a decision being made by the county as to where the premium funds will come.

Once the county has particulars worked out, said Force, the chiefs could be reimbursed.

Kurz, who noted that he "really" agreed with Force, said he thought Stender's amendment would create confusion. He suggested that the chiefs would consider the funding as one sum of $67,000, and not realize the $7,000 had been specifically earmarked for insurance. Also, Kurz said he believes insurance can be obtained for a lesser fee.

Freeholder Elmer Ertl, who supported Stender's amendment, said her suggestion would have been clearer than providing the chiefs the $60,000 without providing a commitment to reimburse them.

Kurz, when pressed, did say the county would pay for the insurance. "I don't know how we'll do it, but we'll do it," he said.

Freeholders Daniel Sullivan and Frank Lehr were not present during the meeting.

Freeholders stressed that the insurance funding commitment would only be for one year.

County Director of Finance Lawrence Caroselli told freeholders he would have "do some research" before feeling comfortable enough to say if the additional funds are available in the county budget.

Ertl said he would prefer the funds come from an insurance account as opposed to reducing money allocated for the Office of Emergency Management.

Di Giovanni asked that freeholders hold off on passage of any resolution providing funds for insurance until Caroselli has given his OK.

Stender blasted freeholders, suggesting they were delaying the matter. This is not a "brand new issue," said Stender, who added that she would "stand by my resolution."

Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni said she would direct the county's insurance review board to review the matter "expeditiously." She directed County Manager Ann Baran to inform the insurance board that freeholders need an answer by today.

Kurz added that the county manager can contact freeholders once the insurance board has reviewed the matter, and "we can move forward."

Freeholders are awaiting word from the county's 21 municipalities regarding a request that trainees and instructors sent to the academy be insured by individual municipalities. Only two municipalities, Linden and Hillside, thus far had agreed to insure those individuals sent by them to the academy, said Stender.

cere affection and respect for the college and its mission." She has served as a board member since 1980 until her term expired last year.

Epstein, a Princeton resident, is a former vice president for the Educational Testing Service. A member of the State Board of Education for 11 years, she has devoted most of her life to various boards of education.

Kalm, an outgoing board of trustee member at Kean College of New Jersey, was recently honored for his service to the college. He is a Westfield resident.

In a resolution by the Board of Trustees, Kalm was cited for his "wealth of technical knowledge and professional experience" and his "unending hours of service and support." Since 1989, Kalm has served as a board member until his term expired last year.

Pelak, who is majoring in medical record administration, was recently named an alternate student trustee to the college's Board of Trustees.

A Kinnelon resident, she is an active member of Lambda Chi Rho Local Sorority, a Greek Cooperative Council representative, and part-time student worker in the president's office.

he was adamant in his feelings. Kurz inevitably abstained. All other freeholders present voted in favor of the resolution, with Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni signing on as a co-sponsor.

A Devils' fan who agrees with Kurz' sentiments, Ray Lehmann mentioned something to me the other day about a column I had penned two weeks ago.

In light of his quandy about my feelings regarding a group mentioned in that column, I felt it necessary that the matter be clarified. Lehmann, a former managing editor at Worrall Newspapers, questioned whether a group known as the Constitutionists is an organization with which I have concerns.

In that column, I wrote of the Oklahoma City bombing and how authorities had been looking for a connection accused bomber

Timothy McVeigh may have had with militias. My column was not meant to imply that this group is dangerous. However, it should be noted that I do not believe all of their ideas would be best for the country either.

Let's go back to the freeholders for a second. What's with all of this "reso" baloney. This ridiculous term apparently was contagious last week.

County Manager Ann Baran first mentioned it and freeholders didn't seem to have a problem with it.

It's not that difficult to say the word resolution, so please use it. The abbreviation "reso" can only be attributed to vocal laziness. If freeholders are trying to conserve their voices, perhaps they can eliminate the political rhetoric which seems to crop up on at least one issue during each of the board's meetings.

SUMMER FASHION AT B.Z.

Fashion is constantly evolving... transformation of one's mind set from that "let yourself go attitude" to a new sleek, curvy, feminine form. The days of the serious, boxy, powersuit of the '80s is taking shape and becoming what designers refer to as "sexy silhouettes." Thus the re-emergence of the "Glamour Girl."

In order to achieve this "Roslyn Russell" allure, B.Z. Fashions, in Linden, can assist you in the proper way to wear the "equipment," ultimately making you look 10 pounds thinner. Our "Wonderbras" and knits develop one's upstairs department, while the "waist thinner" reduces the midsection and "hip slimmers" take two inches off one's thighs! Although this may seem like a sacrifice, the reward comes in the amount of heads that turn. Pencil thin is the mark illustrated in the new fitted suits. To update the '40s look, proportion become significant. The term "waist management" takes on new dimension, created by narrow patent leather belts in colors such as pink, white, red, navy and of course black. Tackling the defining new proper proportion such as bolero jackets worn over fitted tunics paired over short skirts or long cardigans over snug crop tops with short snappy skirts and skinny pants.

Although walking on high heels for some may be awkward, please practice because as your posture becomes straighter and your legs become more shapely, you will be able to carry the new dress looks off with great success!

The summer dress is wispy and done in animal and floral prints. The little black sleeveless dress with flair bottom or straight are the way to go for summer. Your attitude will be transformed by your new feminine feeling — enjoy the summer, we have waited long enough for it to come.

Maplewood Nursery in bloom

"It's more than just a nursery," says Wayne Maudsley, owner and proprietor of Maplewood Nurseries, Inc. in Springfield. "In addition to flowers, trees and shrubs, we also sell an entire array of lawn and garden care products, topsoil and mulches, and paving stones."

Maudsley, who is the third generation of nursery operators in his family, says business is as good as ever this season, and more and more people are coming to Maplewood Nursery, located at 160 Springfield Ave., for a variety of items to make their homes and yards look fresh.

Maplewood Nursery also carries at least nine different styles of paving stones from which to choose, and all are easy to install and reasonably priced.

"They don't need mortar so the homeowner can do the installation easily," says Maudsley. "They are already cut to fit together like puzzle pieces, and once they're down, they stay put."

During this spring planting season, Maplewood Nurseries, Inc. will be increasing its hours to include Thursday and Friday evenings until 7 p.m. On Saturday and Sunday, doors will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Homeowners may think a little gravel along the driveway or a few bushes under the bay window may be just what the old house needs.

But before you pick up a rake or shovel, it may be a good idea to stop at the Maplewood Nurseries, Inc. and pick up a few hints from Wayne Maudsley, or call 376-7698.

Writing no mystery to area author

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

When writing his third mystery novel, "Deal Breaker," which came out two weeks ago in book stores, Harlan Coben decided to work full time on his books. Prior to that, he had written two mystery books, "Play Dead" and "Miracle Cure," while working for eight years in his grandfather's business, Club ABC Tours, on Morris Avenue in Union.

"My grandfather had that business for more than 20 years," Coben said, during a visit to this office. "And my mother, Corky, worked there. At that time, my father, Carl, had worked there, but then he worked in Hillside for over 17 years as an attorney for a company called Soreisco."

Now, the 33-year-old, tall and handsome writer said, "I'm writing full time, which I started in 1992." He grinned. "I'm writing and I'm watching my 13-month old daughter, Charlotte, who is just the prettiest girl in the world, taking care of her and writing, and believe me, this is more than full time."

"Oh," he said, "I'm not complaining. My wife, Anne, is a pediatrician at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital in New York. And she takes excellent care of our daughter."

Coben explained that with his third novel, "Deal Breaker," that he has started a series mystery thriller. "I call it a Myron Bolitar mystery, because Myron Bolitar is a sports agent who solves murder mysteries. He's new, and he's really a very interesting character. Myron's already starring in my fourth novel and my fifth."

Because Coben is such a sports enthusiast, his novels have a background in sports. "They are not sports novels, however," Coben explained. "My first one, 'Play Dead,' which was published in 1970, is a suspense thriller. My second one, 'Medical Cure,' is more of a medical thriller.

"And this novel, 'Deal Breaker,' launches a new mystery series of featuring Myron Bolitar, a wisecracking sports agent who has to solve grizzly murders. It really isn't a sports novel. It's about the world of sports, the money, the glamour, the greed, all of which can lead to so many possibilities. That's what I find so interesting. Also, it takes place in various sites in New Jersey, in Livingston, where Myron lives, at the Meadowlands, on the Garden State Parkway, the New Jersey Turnpike. It will really appeal to New Jersey audiences. There are very few novels that take place in New Jersey."

Coben has been invited to join Barnes and Noble in Springfield "to discuss and sign my new book, 'Deal Breaker,'" on June 9 at 8 p.m. It will certainly make a nice Father's Day gift, and because it's in paperback, it will only cost $4.99. In most of the mystery novels, the hero has many girlfriends. But Myron is just the opposite. He is too attached to his former girlfriend, Jessica. Actually, she controls the relationship. He's in control of everything else — that is — until it comes to Jessica.

"Deal Breaker" is a bit different from the rest of the mystery novels because I've been able to incorporate a little humanity in it. One, it has a sense of humor; two, the characters are more real. And they have to stay with me for further books. I'll be retaining Myron, Jessica, and Myron's menacing sidekick, Win."

In fact, Coben added, "I'm going to have a few new surprises in the second Myron Bolitar novel, 'Drop Shot,' which is about a murder at the tennis U.S. Open Tournament. It's about a female tennis player who gets killed at the U.S. Open, and Myron has to solve the mystery. The book will be out in March 1996. "Dell Publishing is publishing my novels. The series will be in paperback for at least the first two or three in the series, and really, at $4.99 a book, all the readers can go and get a copy without worrying about the high price of books."

Coben said that "my books are published in seven different languages including English, Hungarian, Czechoslovakian, Swedish, Norwegian, Korean and French." He laughed. "I've looked at some of them in their foreign languages, and I can't even recognize which book is which. Some fun."

Coben admitted that he is an ardent reader, particularly of mystery novels. "I read so many mystery novels," he said. "I've always liked Robert B. Parker, Lawrence Sanders, Joan Hess and of course, Mary Higgins Clark."

At Barnes and Noble on June 9, Coben will "discuss and sign my new book, answer any questions about how to write books in general. I will explain how I try to think of a twist first. That's the most important thing. The other is sitting around and thinking of a new angle. I daydream a lot, you see. It usually takes me nine months to complete. I equate it like a baby: I give birth to it and then my publisher gets it. I never get to raise it," he mused.

Harlan Coben

Born in Newark, Coben lived in Livingston "from the age of one or two. I lived there for 26 years. I graduated from Livingston High School in 1980, and Amherst College in 1984."

Coben has been a guest speaker at the Livingston Library. And on June 11, he will be speaking at Barnes and Noble in Livingston. "I'm going to be in the big one in New York, Barnes and Noble on Broadway and 82nd Street. I'm kind of proud of that," he said.

"The book would make a good television series," Coben admitted. "I've had a number of options, but so far, nothing has been done. But after all," he declared, "the book just hit the stands last week. So, it's still early."

Book kicks off promising series

Mystery author, Harlan Coben, whose last two novels, "Play Dead" and "Miracle Cure," were instant successes, can be assured that his third novel, "Deal Breaker," a real mind-twister, will have equal success. In fact, "Deal Breaker" has much more to offer. It is the beginning of a mystery series about Myron Bolitar, a sports agent, who solves murder mysteries.

And like television's sleuth, Jessica Fletcher, it can go on indefinitely.

As in all of his books, Coben has sports backgrounds, which make his novels unique. In this one, which was published by Dell Publishing last week, the story concerns Bolitar, a basketball-player-turned agent, who has no trouble negotiating contracts until one of his clients is accused of murder. The client, a clean-cut, completely innocent-looking young man, named Christian Steele, is a quarterback for a famous football team, the Titans. And when Steele's girlfriend, Kathy Culver, suddenly disappears, he is accused of doing away with her.

Myron comes to the rescue with his team, composed of Esperanza, a beautiful, tough secretary, once a lady wrestler, and Windsof Horne Lockwood III, a former star quarterback, with perfect physical qualities, and a frightening reputation for a quiet violence and slightly askin brainwork. And to complicate matters, the missing girl's father, a retired detective, is found murdered. And to further complicate matters, Kathy Culver's sister, Jessica, an exceptionally beautiful woman, whose smoldering affair with Myron never cooled down even after their separation, suddenly pops up.

On the Shelf

By Bea Smith

The characters in the book are realistically created, and they make for great entertainment. It seems everyone is suspect, and, just as in both Coben's books, there is a surprise ending. Coben's characters come to life through the written word, and it takes a real writing talent to be able to accomplish this feat.

Even the secondary characters, menacing, forceful, anxious, timid, offer an extremely interesting insight into Coben himself. There are Otto Burke, head of the Titans team; his henchman assistant, Larry Hanson; Bergen County Police Lieutenant Paul Duncan, an old friend of the Culver family; Jessica's mother, Carol Culver; Harrison Gordon, dean of students at Reston University; and Aaron, a dangerous former boxer, who has it in for Myron.

More complications. Now, it is reported that Kathy Culver may be alive. Someone heard her voice, saw her picture in a racy magazine, maybe even saw her.

So, is she dead or isn't she? And what about her murdered father? The winding road to unravel the mysteries of "Deal Breaker" is so complex that it takes the keenest of minds to put the puzzle together. And even after the puzzle seems to be finished, the last piece still seems to be missing.

Area rockers stage benefit in Rahway

For the eighth year, area rockers will unite for a benefit concert at the Scoreboard, 1467 Main St., Rahway, on Saturday.

The "Rockin' For A Miracle '95" benefit is an event to raise money for the Children's Miracle Network Television which airs Saturday and Sunday. A donation of $5 will be asked at the door but is not required and advance tickets will be available at the Scoreboard. There will be a fund raiser and all money collected will be donated to the television to benefit the health services provided at New Jersey's children's hospitals.

Two of the state's rock acts are featured in the lineup. For the fourth year, Bad Attitude will appear and T'pink, a new version of Tokyo Pink, whose members have performed in this effort for many years, will kick off the evening with some acoustic performances at 8 p.m. At 10 p.m., the featured bands will perform and surprise guest performances may be expected.

Barbara Dawson, owner of the Scoreboard, has donated her facility and personnel for the event. This bar and grill has ample parking in well-lit lots. Doors are open all day for lunch and dinner, the first performance begins at 8 p.m. Only 21 and over with ID will be admitted. All money generated — including a portion of liquor and food sales — are donated, absolutely no operating expenses are deducted, which for the most part comes out of the personal finances of those who assist in the production. If there are any further questions about the benefit, call: (908) 826-3764. Questions about the television can be answered at television headquarters at (908) 889-0900 and ask for Lisa Ann Wilner.

Actors tapped for Shakespeare colloquium

The New Jersey Shakespeare Festival has announced that 1995 Tony Award nominees Eileen Atkins and Cherry Jones will be featured panelists at the festival's Talking Stages symposium, "Contemporary Actors/Classic Plays," a panel of classical actors discussing the challenges and benefits of performing the classics in the 1990s; other participants will be announced shortly. The discussion will be in conjunction with the festival's annual Shakespeare colloquium which takes place the weekend of July 15 and 16. The Talking Stages symposium takes place on July 16 from 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. at the Drew University Hall of Sciences; the event is free and open to the public.

Atkins has received her Tony nomination for her performance in Jean Cocteau's "Indiscretions (Les Parents Terribles)," currently running on Broadway at the Barrymore Theater. Earlier this season, she won the Lucille Lortel Award for her performance as Virginia Woolf in "Vita and Virginia" opposite Vanessa Redgrave. As a member of both the Royal Shakespeare Company and the National Theater of Great Britain, Atkins has been seen in numerous productions including: "Twelfth Night," "Love's Labour's Lost," "Cymbeline," "The Winter's Tale" — 1988 Olivier Award, "Heartbreak House," "St. Joan," "As You Like It," "The Cocktail Hour," "The Night of the Iguana," and the world premieres of Harold Pinter's "Mountain Language" and Peter Barnes' "Passion Play." Her last New York appearance was as Virginia Woolf in her one-woman show "A Room of One's Own" for which she received a Drama Desk Award and a special citation from the N.Y. Drama Critics Circle. She was the co-creator, with Jean Marsh, of "Upstairs/Downstairs" and "The House of Elliott" and her film credits include: "Wolf," "Equus," "Let Him Have It," "The Dresser" and "The Lost Languages of Cranes."

Jones is a nominee for her work in "The Heiress," the Ruth and Augustus Goetz' adaptation of Henry James' "Washington Square," presented by Lincoln Center at Broadway's Cort Theater. She was a founding member of the American Repertory Theater in Cambridge, Mass.,

where she appeared in "AS YOU LIKE IT," "THE WISSET," "Life is a Dream," "Major Barbara," "Twelfth Night," "The Three Sisters," "Tartuffe," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," the world premiere of Christopher Durang's "Baby with the Bathwater" and "King Lear," among others. Her New York credits include the American premiere of Timberlake Wertenbaker's "Our Country's Good," for which she received her first Tony nomination, "The Importance of Being Earnest," Caryl Churchill's "Light Shining in Buckinghamshire," "I Am a Camera" and for Classic Stage Company, Paula Bogel's "Desdemona: A Play About a Handkerchief" and Ann-Marie MacDonald's "Goodnight Desdemona. Good Morning Juliet." Her regional theater credits include: "The Good Person of Setzuan" and "Night of the Iguana" — Chicago's Goodman Theater, for which she won the Jeff Award, "The Cherry Orchard, Moon For the Misbegotten" and "Cloud Nine."

Talking Stages is a symposium series made possible by a grant from the Prudential Foundation and administered by the New Jersey Theater Group.

The topic of the festival's 13th annual colloquium is "Assay The Power You Have: A Look at Issues of Power in Shakespeare's Plays," specifically "Julius Caesar," which is featured on the Main Stage, and "MacBeth," which will be seen on the Other Stage. The colloquium is a gathering of more than 300 scholars, theater professionals and Shakespeare enthusiasts who attend a weekend-long series of performances, lectures and discussions. This year's speakers include Coppelia Kahn of Brown University, Irene G. Dash of Hunter College, CUNY, and Richard M. Goldman of the State University of New York at Albany. The keynote speaker will be Kate Buckley, associate artistic director of Shakespeare Repertory in Chicago. For tickets and information about the colloquium, or to make reservations for "Talking Stages: Contemporary Actors, Classic Plays," call Diana Quimet at (201) 408-3278.

Union artist on display

Union artist Kathy Kornish's oil paintings are on display at Marino Galleries, Inc., 327 Millburn Ave., Millburn. Featured are large fantasy paintings, and smaller paintings of wildlife and European scenery. The gallery is open every day, including Sunday, from 10 to 6 p.m. Admission is free. Marino Gallery owner Natalie D'Alessio can be contacted at 201-379-3194. Also featured in the gallery are Rembrandt etchings.

Kornish is a self-taught artist whose travels in Europe and Canada and extensive studies of both local wildlife and human interaction have provided the basis for her broad range of subject matter.

Kornish has exhibited at Temple B'nai Abraham in Livingston, the South Orange Art Show, Union's Festival on the Green, the Washington Square Art Exhibit, and New Artists Presentations at Madison Square Garden.

Her work has also been featured at the Les Malamut Gallery, Union; Celtic Imports, Westfield; Gallery des Artistes, Madison; and Gallery Art Naif, Millburn. She was the official parade artist for Union's Salute to the American Flag Parade. Her paintings are in a collection at the Westchester Country Club, Rye, N.Y., and in several private collections.

Her specialties are large paintings of fantasy settings with people, smaller portrayals of wildlife, especially ducks; local historic settings; and scenic interpretations of countries such as Italy, France, Ireland and Scotland.

"Beauty and the Beasts."

Artist will exhibit locally

Raphaela Pivetta's artwork has had some interesting exposure. She had four major shows last year in Manhattan, Long Island and Westchester. Earlier, a piece was selected for exhibition as outdoor sculpture at the Manhattan Psychiatric Center on Ward's Island. Now the Brooklyn artist is venturing across the Hudson for a solo show in Watchung.

"Work on Paper" is the title of Pivetta's month-long show at the Watchung Arts Center. Despite its title, the exhibit contains mostly three-dimensional constructions, both large and small. The show runs from Sunday through June 30, with gallery hours Monday through Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m.

The public can meet the artist and discuss her work at a reception on June 10, from 6 to 9 p.m. Refreshments are served and there is no admission charge.

"In my recent work," said the artist, "I explore certain qualities which are ephemeral and often contradictory: transparency, lightness, solidity, stillness and absence." The "works on paper" may be integrated into hand-made boxes. Larger pieces are abstractions, incorporating cheesecloth dipped in wax.

Pivetta has received grants to study art both in Canada and the United States. Her work has been the subject of comment on radio, television and print media as far afield as Japan.

The Watchung Arts Center's Lower Gallery is ideal for a solo show, with good lighting and considerable wall space. Exhibits in both galleries are changed monthly, exposing visitors to this suburban oasis to a considerable variety of cutting-edge artwork over the course of the year.

Many of the visitors — and the artists as well — choose to become members of the non-profit arts center, receiving a monthly newsletter and other benefits for modest annual dues. Artist members are also exposed to additional exhibit opportunities both within the center and at remote sites. Additional information may be requested by calling (908) 753-0190, leaving a message if necessary.

La Galicia Review June 1, 1995

By Ray Lehmann
Correspondent

La Galicia

Next best thing to grandmother's cooking.

I guess I should admit, right off the bat, that I'm a little bit biased. In my mind, the standard for Iberian food was set long ago by Carminda Rosa of Boticas, Portugal — my grandmother — and any restaurant is sure to fall short of that mark.

But since my grandmother isn't in the restaurant business, your next best bet would be to sample the unique regional cuisine of La Galicia in Linden. With large portions and very reasonable prices, La Galicia proves to be more than a bargain and a wholly enjoyable dining experience.

Set on the far side of routes 1 and 9 at 1114 South Wood Ave. and with a rather unassuming exterior, La Galicia is one of those places you'd have to hear about to discover. But once inside, what is most striking is the intimacy of the dining area and the simple elegance of the table settings. It is the perfect atmosphere for a romantic dinner for two.

The food is representative of the region suggested by the title — the City of Galicia, Spain. Galicia — the "c" is pronounced like a "th" — is further inland and less dependent on seafood than Madrid, the model for most Spanish restaurants in this country. The result is that, while retaining those seafood-based dishes that are universal favorites, La Galicia offers a variety of entrees to suit diners who refuse to eat any animal that doesn't breathe the same air they do.

Of particular interest to connoisseurs are the two house specials: Pollo Galicia and Ternera Galicia. Pollo Galicia, for $12.95, is chicken dipped in egg batter, sauteed in olive oil, fresh spinach, mushrooms, asparagus and tomaatoes and simmered in a light brandy and chicken-stock sauce. With Ternera Galicia, for $13.95, veal medallions are prepared the same way.

For $10.95, the more adventurous diner can try the Higado encobolado al jerez, which translates into the much less colorful "sauteed calf's liver." But it is a treat nonetheless, topped with onions blanched in a sherry wine.

The choices for seafood lovers are no less plentiful. For $18, one can sample Lapaella with shrimp, lobster, scallops, mussels, clams, calamari, and pieces of chicken and chorizo — a type of blood sausage — all over saffron rice. The Mariscada la Galicia, priced at $17, is a type of stew that features lobster, shrimp, clams, mussels, scallops, and calamari, which is added to a base composed of a secret combination of brandy, sherry, white wine and tomato sauce.

To complete each meal, La Galicia provides a mixed green salad, homemade baked bread, a choice of vegetable and either rice or potatoes, thus making the prices that much more reasonable. Those bargains, combined with the friendly service and atmospheric setting, make La Galicia an attractive option for any potential diner.

Dinner hours are 4:30 to 10:30 p.m. daily, and 4:30 to 11 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. La Galicia asks for appropriate attire. Reservations are suggested, but not required. La Galicia may be reached by calling (908) 862-9406.

This column is intended to inform our readers about dining opportunities in the area.

Teen poets featured

The Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs will host the first Teen Arts Poetry Reading at Barnes and Noble, 240 Route 22 West in Springfield on June 14 at 7:30 p.m.

The event will feature oral interpretations of poetry written and presented by Union County students. Selections are from the Union County Teen Arts Festival in March at Union County College in Cranford.

Linda Lee Kelly, member of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and liaison to the Cultural and Heritage Advisory Board said, "We are pleased to celebrate the creative spirit and talent demonstrated by Union County students. The poetry reading gives young writers the opportunity to use presentation skills. Through participation in events like Teen Arts, students gain valuable skills that enable them to contribute to the community they will grow and work in."

The students selected for the poetry reading are:

- ♦ Clark — Victoria Heller, Mother Seton RHS.
- ♦ Elizabeth — Apeer Oudeh, Benedictine Academy.
- ♦ Roselle — Vernetta Durham, Abraham Clark HS; Tiffany McGriff, Abraham Clark HS; Christine Ricardo, Roselle Catholic HS; Lauren Ziemski, Roselle Catholic HS.
- ♦ Summit — Alex Hardy, Summit MS; Elena McIntosh, Summit MS; Charlie Santuise, Summit MS; Kristen Murphy, Oak Knoll School; Jessica Radwill, Oak Knoll School; Nancy Trasande, Oak Knoll School.

NEA awards grant to area orchestra

The National Endowment for the Arts has awarded an operating grant of $5,000 to the Westfield Symphony. In a letter to symphony President M. Lockers Vincenzoni, NEA chairwoman Jane Alexander explained that grant funds are to be used "to support preparation and performance of American music, presentation of American guest artists, and educational programs."

The NEA awards grants to orchestras through its music program, based on a process of peer review of applications from across the country. The primary criterion is artistic excellence, as evidenced by recordings of the orchestra in performance. A detailed written application outlining the organization's structure, programming, and budget plans is also required.

The symphony's executive director, Edgar Cyrus, said, "The award of this grant confirms the achievements of our music director, board, volunteers and staff in building a first-rate orchestra. We are honored to have been selected once again for support by the NEA."

The Westfield Symphony is a fully professional orchestra, founded in 1983, performing a five-concert subscription series at sites in Westfield and Rahway. The New Jersey State Council on the Arts has named the Westfield Symphony a Distinguished Arts Organization three times, most recently for the just concluded 1994-95 Season of Favorites. Subscription information for the 1995-96 Season of Firsts is available by calling the symphony office at (908) 232-9400.

Musicians will perform at center

Listen Up!, a group of four jazz and blues musicians, will be featured at a lawn concert at the Barron Arts Center in Woodbridge on Friday, beginning at 8 p.m. Listen Up's main objective is to create a good time by dishing out some of the most sizzling sounds to hit the local music scene in a long time.

Four musicians make up the group. John Schuster on guitar and vocals is a player with an original jazz-finger picking style. He has more than 20 years of professional playing experience with club bands such as Elysian Fields to San Francisco jazz clubs like the Bridgeway Cafe. Schuster, a student of jazz great Davis Ramsey, presents a personal, mature jazz and blues style.

Kevin Wozniak, on electric bass, has more than 10 years of pro and semi-pro playing experience. Starting with the big band Caravan in 1980 and the Bob Skula Trio and the Special Edition Band, he has been a fixture in New Jersey clubs and area musical theater.

On drums and vocals is Bill Sincox with a career spanning 20 years. Working with Schuster, his early career highlights include Elysian Fields and Amerika. After Amerika disbanded, he formed Sun in 1975 which became a fixture in North Jersey clubs for more than five years. After working with jazz violinist Bob Mastro, Sincox rejoined Schuster in Listen Up!

Willie Fannelli is on tenor and alto sax with more than 20 years of playing experience. He spent most of the last decade playing Latin jazz in various bands in the metropolitan New York and New Jersey areas, the highlight of his career being a stint with Tito Puente's band. An player in a number of various styles, he adds just the right touch to round out the band.

The concert at the Barron Arts Center will be on the lawn, weather permitting. In case of inclement weather, the concert will be inside and seating will be on a first come, first seated basis.

The concert is the final performance in the "Let the Good Times Roll" concert series funded in part by the Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission through a grant provided by the New Jersey Council on the Arts/Department of State. The concert series is sponsored by the Woodbridge Township Cultural Arts Commission chaired by Dolores Capraro Gioffre, with support from Mayor James E. McGreevey and the Woodbridge Township Arts Council.

Admission to the concert will be $5 for adults and $2 for children 12 and under. Seniors and Friends of the Arts members can receive a $1 discount. The Barron Arts Center is located at 582 Rahway Ave. in Woodbridge Proper.

Disabled accessible portable restroom facilities will be available at the outdoor concert.

Call (908) 634-0413 or write to the center at 582 Rahway Ave., Woodbridge 07095, for information on accessibility to the inside of the building.

Food, art merge for fund raiser

June 13, beginning at 6 p.m., performing arts professionals will be joined by food arts professionals as Paper Mill Playhouse presents its third International Auction & Food Festival.

Millburn, Michael's Backstreet Cafe of Springfield, Auberge Swiss of Berkeley Heights, Panevino of Livingston, Milano Ristorante of Summit and Exquisite Entertaining of Millburn will lend their support to this bi-annual Paper Mill Playhouse fund raising event.

June 4-10

ARIES — March 21/April 20
In the market for new property? If so, you may hear some good news this week. Romance is looking good for single Aries. New love may be just around the corner. A friend may confide in you towards the end of the week. Be sure to keep confidential words to yourself.

TAURUS — April 21/May 21
Don't take a bad mood out on a loved one. If you're feeling particularly stressed, you may be better off keeping to yourself for a while. A former associate may come to you for some professional advice. Probe your own depths through meditation and spiritual exercises.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21
Don't ignore new opportunities, no matter how small or insignificant they may seem. There could be a diamond in the rough waiting for you. A call from an old friend will make you realize something new about yourself. An important letter that you've been waiting for will finally arrive.

CANCER — June 22/July 22
An unexpected phone call from an old friend will set the stage for the week's events. You may find yourself socializing much more than usual. Communication in the workplace will be easier than before, especially if there has been a recent change. Test results look good.

LEO — July 23/August 23
Although flirting may give a boost to your ego, it may not be too helpful for your reputation — especially in the workplace. Watch what you say — and how you speak — to others. This is especially important on Wednesday and Thursday. Use the weekend to catch up on chores.

VIRGO — Aug 24/Sept 22
Based on your actions this week, a relationship with an acquaintance may develop into more. There's money to be made through an unusual method or source. Stay alert and listen — really listen — to what people tell you. A long-lost item will be recovered in an unlikely place.

LIBRA — Sept 23/Oct 23
Work hard and get chores out of the way at the beginning of the week so you'll have extra time later on for more pleasurable activities. Ignore gossip, especially if it's from a not-so-reliable source. Stick to the facts when judging other people this week. An interesting, once-in-a-lifetime opportunity will come your way.

SCORPIO — Oct 24/Nov 22
Something you thought you couldn't afford becomes obtainable through an unlikely source. But you may find out that the wanting is better than the having. A new understanding in a romantic relationship changes the way you view your partner. Work problems may arise midweek.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 23/Dec 21
Got a case of the blues? All you probably need is a break from routine. Let your spontaneous side take over and do something out of the ordinary. You'll feel as good as new in no time. Seek the advice of a professional if you have important financial concerns.

CAPRICORN — Dec 22/Jan 20
Someone you've always thought of as unfriendly opens up to you. You'll finally start to understand — and like — this person. Control jealousy in a love relationship, especially if you're involved with a Gemini or Aquarius. A family member may need your help.

AQUARIUS — Jan 21/Feb 18
Subtlety is your key to success this week. Stay cool and you'll get what you want. A very distant relative may try to contact you with an interesting opportunity. Consider the options before making any commitments. Be firm when disciplining young children.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20
Trust your own judgement when it comes to making important decisions this week. An unfair work situation needs to be addressed. It's important to speak up sooner rather than later. Domestic responsibilities may be the source of aggravation. Take one day at a time.

YOUR BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

The next 12 months:
Realize your strengths and weaknesses before you bite off more than you can chew the first few months of this year. Although you can wear many hats, there's just so much you can do. Pay close attention to your health during the fall and early winter. Your tendency to overdo may finally get the better of you. If you don't slow the pace, you could suffer a serious case of burnout. Romance will have its ups and downs throughout the year, especially if you're involved with a Scorpio. You may have to make some compromises if you want love to last. Plan vacations well in advance.

Organic abstractions exhibit focus

"Organic abstraction is," said curator Paul Pinkman, "as its name implies, derived from or suggestive of organisms — growing, living things filled with vitality. What is also intriguing is how some of its best proponents are women."

Organic abstraction is the visual experience of four women who have contributed their artwork for this show. The exhibit will hang at the Watchung Arts Center from Saturday through June 30. Gallery hours are 1 to 4 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays, with no admission charge.

Serena Bocchino, Rochelle Rubin, Virginia Schmidt and Lei Shanhag will be present at the reception on June 10, from 6 to 9 p.m. The public is invited to attend, view the work and discuss the paintings with the artists themselves.

Bocchino uses music as her inspiration, expressing auditory phenomena visually. The Hoboken artist was a recipient of a New Jersey State Council on the Arts fellowship, following her extensive studies both in the U.S. and England, and a research sabbatical in Russia. Her work hangs at the Prudential and in the Paterson Art Museum, plus collections as far afield as Chicago, Minneapolis and Montreal.

Rubin's group, entitled "Dialogs," are drawings and paintings that explore the way people communicate in relationships. "The paintings create the sensation of eavesdropping," she said, "enabling us to witness private moments — secrets, betrayals, quarrels and other conflicts — that inspire us to take a closer look at the dialogues in our own lives." Rubin has been selected for as many as six exhibits annually throughout the region, and has pieces in several corporate collections.

Schmidt's work has been shown largely in New Orleans, with earlier visits to San Francisco and later exposure in Florida. The work is in demand, with as many as eight shows in a year. Her outlook reflects her theatrical background, creating a show for viewers to become absorbed in. Schmidt received a fellowship to the Vermont Studio Center, and has lectured at the college level.

Scotch Plains artist Shanhag participated in two Watchung shows last year, and is represented in several local collections. "Through my work," she said, "I am attempting to project the fact that there is a universe, moving in its own rhythm in numerous dimensions." Her search for beauty and truth causes her to brood with simple yet ambiguous forms: circles, lines, dots, etc.

Organic abstraction is one of a continuing series of art exhibitions featured in Watchung's two galleries each month. The arts center also offers classes and workshops in the arts. The building does double duty as the home of several concert and theatrical series, exposing hundreds of visitors each month to the work on its walls.

Many visitors choose to become members of the non-profit Watchung Arts Center, receiving a monthly newsletter and discounts for certain events. Information and driving instructions are available by calling (908) 753-0190.

Indy 500: 60 years of auto thrills and progress

(NAPS) In 1911, two years after it was built, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway hosted its first race. The winner, Ray Harroun, earned $25,000 in prize money averaging the then incredible speed of 74.6 miles per hour for 500 miles. In 1994, Al Unser, Jr. won the 78th running with a speed of 160.8 mph. Earnings were a lot higher, too. Unser's purse was $7.8 million.

For more than 80 years, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's 500-mile race has reigned as the world's premier auto race. A less well known, but equally important fact, is that the Indy 500 race has given automakers a testing course and proving ground for innovations that have improved the average driver's performance, comfort, and safety. Indy has served as a test site for high compression engines, four-wheel brakes, tires, lubricants, spark plugs and high-tech adhesives and sealants.

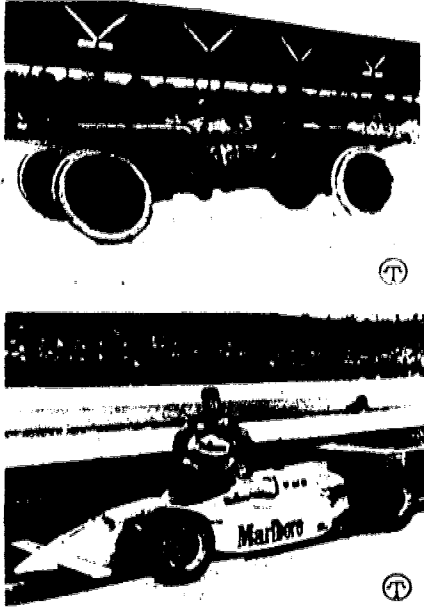

Today's Indianapolis Motor Speedway is a far cry from the 1909 version, with its tar and crushed stone surface. The remains of the original "Brickyard" were paved in 1961, repaved in 1977 and again in 1989.

Even with smoother paving, later model high-speed vehicles suffered from the race's constant pounding and vibrations. In the early 1960s, mechanics often expressed amazement at the amount of debris left behind on the track. Scattered everywhere were nuts, bolts, and fasteners of all types that had been shaken off the vehicles.

But one Indy mechanic, remembering an interesting product he had seen in his local hardware store, had a bright idea. The products, called threadlockers, were made by a company aptly named Loctite.

He tried them on an Indy car, locking nuts and bolts together. They worked as he had hoped they would. It didn't take long for word of his success to circulate among the other mechanics looking for a solution to this problem. These unique new products performed the task of holding together Indy 500 race cars so well that the United States Auto Club recognized their importance. By 1971, USAC certified that every car in the race was assembled with the aid of Loctite threadlocking adhesives.

Threadlockers are anaerobic chemicals, meaning that as long as they are exposed to air, they remain liquid. Without air—as when a bolt coated with Loctite threadlocker is tightened—the compound becomes a tough bonding solid. Even with the threadlocker's tremendous holding power, should the bolt need loosening, ordinary tools will do the job.

Since teaming up with Indy 500 mechanics, Loctite has expanded its participation in the race. In 1995, when a mechanic calls for a new gasket, it may be a Loctite silicone. Loctite's formed-in-place gaskets conform to any shape—and are quick and easy to apply.

Loctite insiders watch the Indy 500 with a special pride in the contribution of their products. They remember the year that racer Dick Simon cracked an oil tank during his qualifying laps. He used a thin coating of Loctite sealant to stop the leak, and clocked 210 mph during the next lap. Or they may recall the time Scott Brayton was having problems with his silicone, which was, as mechanics say, "baking out" and causing oil fires. He switched to Loctite's Ultra Blue silicone, solved his problem and qualified.

Anecdotes aside, for millions of everyday drivers, the Indy 500 has been a laboratory for automotive advances and refinements. Loctite represents a classic example of the importance of the Indy 500. Loctite threadlockers, sealants, and gasketing materials are unseen but important contributors to the quality, comfort, and dependability of most modern cars.

Finding a reliable car is just a report away

A car you can't count on — or one that's always in the shop — is more of a burden than a pleasure to own. Reliability is a key factor that Consumer Reports considers when evaluating both new and used cars.

In its April auto issue, Consumer Reports presents unique data collected from its subscribers. This year, information was gathered on 580,000 vehicles. Some highlights include:

• Among American nameplates, the reliability record of General Motors' Saturn stands out: it's been about par with high-end European cars — better than most models, not as good as the best Japanese makes.

• Ford has the best overall reliability record among domestic makers.

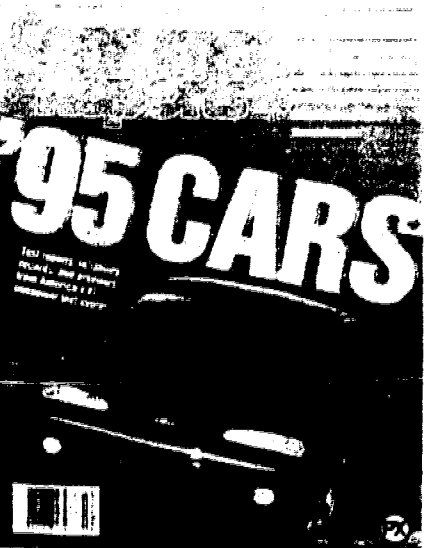

• Cars with Japanese nameplates — especially Acura, Honda, Infiniti, Lexus, Subaru and Toyota — have generally been much more reliable than cars from other automakers. That's true of all those automakers' models, whether made in Japan or the United States.

• Not all Japanese cars are equal. Some models from Nissan, Mazda and Mitsubishi have been only average or even worse than average in reliability.

Reliability may be even more important when buying a used car. In this April's auto issue, Consumer Reports includes a list of "Reliable Used Cars," including 1987 through 1993 models, in prices that start from "$2,000 to $4,000" and go to "$30,000 and up." Also included is a list of the 10 most and 10 least reliable used cars.

The issue says that you'll find the best value from a used car. A one- or two-year-old car has most of its useful life ahead of it — and you'll pay far less for it than you would have for the same car when brand-new. Also, if you can spend only $10,000 or less, you have a much wider choice of models and sizes in the used-car market than the new-car market.

Considering Consumer Reports' performance tests on cars when new, along with reliability data on past models, the following late-model cars, listed alphabetically, are the 10 best used sedans for $10,000 or less: 1991 Acura Integra; 1992 Geo Prizm; 1990 Honda Accord; 1992 Honda Civic; 1991 Mitsubishi Galant; 1990 Nissan Maxima (automatic only); 1993 Saturn SL, SW; 1991 Toyota Camry; 1992 Toyota Corolla; and 1990 Volvo 240. Many older versions of these cars also have been reliable.

The April auto issue also covers new-car ratings, profiles of 1995 models, how to bargain for a new car, leasing versus financing and driving home a used-car bargain. In addition to reliability data, ratings are based on results of performance tests, during which each car tested is driven several thousand miles at Consumer Reports' own test track and on public roads over a period of three to six months. Consumer Reports buys all its test cars from dealers, just as any consumer would.

The April auto issue is available wherever magazines are sold until May 11. Individual reports on vehicle tests are published in the magazine throughout the year. Call 1-800-234-1645 for subscription information.
