SECTION B

From The Editor's Notebook

By Tom Canavan
Editor in Chief

The following is an open letter to all candidates running in Tuesday's general election:

Dear candidate:

The average voter, also known as the average citizen, wants representatives in government who will keep taxes down, ensure an adequate amount of services, improve the quality of life in their neighborhoods, and always seek ratables and other forms of economic development to spur the local economy.

The average voter, also known as the average citizen, is not interested in representatives who seek political office simply to become part of power plays among political parties. Nor does the average citizen want representatives in government who think only of themselves and how high they can climb in the political arena before thinking of their constituents and their needs.

When it comes to government, the average voter does not have the time to worry about who is striking deals with whom for political paybacks, perhaps fearing that the payout will likely result in higher taxes in the future, or worse, lining their own pockets with taxpayers' hard-earned dollars.

The average citizen, to put it bluntly, would prefer that government no longer exist. Throughout the years, the average citizen has lost faith in his or her elected representatives because many of those representatives put the needs of their constituents after their own personal needs.

The average citizen wants elected officials who are responsive and who act expediently, on behalf of the residents they serve. Other than that, the average citizen has no further use for their representatives. Therefore, representatives should not be presumptuous and take advantage of their role as a town or community leader.

On Tuesday, millions of people across the country will go to the polls to vote. Many of them will cast their ballots along party lines, which is the worst way any person can vote. Many will choose a candidate based on what family or friends think of the candidate, and still others will vote because they will read campaign literature and decide who is the better or best of the lot.

To the candidates I would say, don't think you were elected solely because you have a striking personality or because a majority of the people like you. Most people probably don't know you. But they have read the literature that you sent them and they see hope — hope for less taxes, better roads, cleaner parks and economic development.

To offer these promises, and then turn on the people who elected you by becoming one of the "machine" whose campaign goals are all but forgotten is the biggest deception any elected official can give to his or her constituents.

Do you wonder why people no longer have an interest in voting? Do you wonder why people sometimes don't bother participating in perhaps the most important of their constitutional rights? To determine the answer, look in the mirror. It is the state of government that has permitted people to lose faith in their elected representatives.

On Tuesday, if you are the candidate who wins the seat for which you are running, continue to look in the mirror and see not only yourself, but the constituency you will be representing. It's those faces — and the concerns each person has for his or her own future — that matter more than the power plays, the paybacks, and the wheeling and dealing.

That's what government should be all about. Isn't it time you understood that?

County's top cop

Sheriff Ralph Froehlich congratulates Investigator Bob deMyer on his victory in four pistol competitions this year. The Linden resident topped nearly 150 competitors in the police combat matches sponsored by the National Rifle Association. Using a Smith & Wesson .357 Magnum, deMyer won the NRA's 'New Shooter Award' in New York in August. Last month, he won top honors in the sharpshooter class of the state regional championship in Vernon.

Police across the county seek curfew help tonight

The Union County Juvenile Officers Association is asking parents to help their teenagers honor local Halloween curfews.

Many municipalities are exploring the use of curfews, with Elizabeth and Plainfield enforcing a 10 p.m. curfew.

"Beyond our traditional warnings about safety for the little trick-or-treaters, we want moms and dads to help schools and law enforcement officers work their hardest to get the children home by dark, out of trouble and doing their study assignments," said Plainfield Police Sgt. Donald B. Moye, president of the juvenile officers group.

There is no reason for juveniles to be outside the home after dark beyond a legitimate school function or community event, he added.

Acting Union County Prosecutor

Edward Neafsey said increased parental supervision offers the best way to reduce delinquency and cases involving acts of malicious damage that affect home, school and industrial property values and the quality of life.

"The parents have to know who the sons and daughters are hanging with, and exactly what they are doing," Neafsey said.

"We don't have a curfew ordinance, but we tell our patrol people if they come across children 13 or under to take them home or have them picked up at headquarters," said Lt. John Kovacs, head of the juvenile unit. "The parents usually appreciate it, and sometimes they even tell us they thought the kid was tucked in bed and figure he crawled out the window."

Acting First Assistant Prosecutor Michael J. Lapolla said even though most of the county's 21 municipalities have been quiet over the last few "Mischief Night" activities, there are cases that start as pranks and wind up being prosecuted in juvenile court.

"The old commercial that asks parents: 'It's 10 o'clock. Do you know where your children are?' should be played on television every night," said Acting Executive Assistant Prosecutor Robert P. O'Leary.

"This idea of curfew, of promoting increased parent responsibility under New Jersey's code of juvenile justice, is catching on in many counties, and it's a hot topic for the members of our state juvenile officers association," he added.

The proposal being studied in Plainfield follows requirements set down in a law passed by the Legislature in 1992, permitting curfews between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Sheriff will host discussion on crime prevention

Public, private sectors to set goals with emphasis on Elizabeth, Union

By Mark Hrywna
Correspondent

"This is the first time in my 38 years in public law enforcement that I have ever seen an effort to coordinate problems in public law enforcement and the private security industry," said Union County Sheriff Ralph Froehlich regarding an upcoming roundtable discussion on law enforcement in Union County.

The Public Safety Roundtable will be held Nov. 13 at 5:30 p.m. at the Union County Police Academy in Scotch Plains.

The reason behind the meeting is not crime, but services. According to the sheriff, the priority is service.

"When you give more and better services, your crime rate will be affected," Froehlich said. "Problems exist in the private industry, public law enforcement, business community and among citizens."

"Let's sit down and get some communication. Dialogue is always good when you sit down with open minds," he also said.

According to Froehlich, the meeting, sponsored by the Union County Alliance, is just the start.

"There are plans for similar meetings in the future. The multi-million dollar project near Routes 1 and 9 in Elizabeth is a major undertaking. To coordinate public and private security will be a challenge."

The sheriff stressed the idea of crime prevention among the business

Congress candidates face off a final time

The four favor national issues

By Jay Hochberg
Regional Editor

Without addressing local issues, four candidates seeking New Jersey's 7th Congressional District seat squared off one last time before Election Day. The Courier-News sponsored the event, held in North Plainfield Monday night. Republican incumbent Bob Franks, Democrat Larry Lerner, Conservative Dorothy DeLaura and Socialist Robert Robertson fielded questions from reporters and audience members about taxes, health care and crime.

On taxation

Franks told his constituents that "ending the IRS as we know it" will continue to be a top priority if re-elected.

"The Internal Revenue Service has 11,000 employees... and 475 forms," he added. "It takes the average family 12 hours to fill them out. We need a fairer and simpler tax code."

DeLaura said she concurred, also calling for the closing of the IRS and asking why taxpayers should be punished with the tax codes.

In contrast, Lerner said he favored President Bill Clinton's approach to tax cuts. Saying taxation is a "necessary evil," the candidate advocated the White House's call for "targeted tax cuts" that include capital gains tax relief on sales of homes and tax deductions for those who buy homes.

Robertson said he'd support the repeal of all taxes on "the workers" who have been "supporting the wealthy" in America, adding that there also should be no sales taxes.

Health care

Health care also provided a forum where the candidates showed ideological differences.

The Republican and Conservative candidates said they agreed that the Kennedy-Kassebaum Bill, signed into law during the summer, has brought the country closer toward ensuring health insurance is available to more Americans. That law provides workers the option of keeping a health insurance plan obtained through their employment after leaving the job.

Lerner said he too favors the law, and also indicated he supports the universal health care system the Clinton White House proposed in 1993.

Saying the United States is the only country in the industrialized world that does not have a health care program, he added that American citizens "should not be second class citizens in the world."

Robertson was brief: "Everyone should have free health care, period. Portability is one thing, but the insurance companies have been making money hand over fist."

Crime and punishment

On crime, Lerner again sided with the White House, telling the audience he supports the plan to hire 100,000 police officers across the country.

Part of the 1993 crime fighting package passed by the Democrat-controlled Congress, that provision calls for the hiring of the cops, but does not fund their training, equipment or subsequent salaries. To date, fewer than 20,000 policemen have been hired, according to the Department of Justice — points Franks indicated was a problem with the law.

"I support the block grant approach, because crime is a local problem," he also said. "It is best approached by local police, not by some bureaucrat in Washington who can't even find North Plainfield on a map."

FoodBank turns blue for charity fundraiser

By Jacquie McCarthy
Associate Editor

When you're looking for something to do on a Saturday night, a warehouse is probably the last place you'd expect to find a good time. This Saturday, however, a warehouse was the place to be as Community FoodBank of New Jersey launched its third annual Blue Jean Ball fundraiser at Evans Terminal Road in Hillside.

This year's theme was Jambalaya Jam, and guests from all over Union County turned out in their finest denim for the affair.

Hors d'oeuvres and drinks were served on the loading dock on the unseasonably warm evening. The dock was decked with blue jeans and beads hanging from wires stretched across the ceiling, and the walls and floors were adorned with musical notes and ornaments. Cocktail hour music was provided by Art Frank and the Ambassadors of Dixieland, as clowns roamed the crowd in search of smiles, which were in abundance.

Dinner was served in the warehouse, and was a veritable extravaganza. The makeshift banquet hall was a feast for the eyes, transformed by the colorful decorations, balloons, lights and beads present everywhere. Posters from the annual "Imagine the World Without Hunger" poster contest from the Hillside and Irvington school systems lined the walls. Cajun and Creole specialties were provided by several caterers, including Sodexo USA at St. Barnabas Hospital and other locations, Sweet Streets, Welsh Farms, ARAMARK at Nabisco, and several others. Music was provided by pop/rock band Rhythm 'N Bluefish and The Jalapeno Brothers dance band.

According to FoodBank Director of Public Relations Meara Nigro, all food service organizations at the event provided their services either for free or at cost. FoodBank staff and volunteers worked late into the evenings on several days preparing the warehouse. Approximately 700 people attended the ball, losing some guests to the World Series. In addition to profit from the sale of tickets to the event, funds were raised from the sale of FoodBank T-shirts and raffle tickets, and 23 decorated denim jackets donated by local artists were auctioned to guests. All in all, the Jambalaya Jam was an unequivocal success, and a good time was had by all.

Community FoodBank of New Jersey is the state's largest provider of industry-donated food, and grocery items to charities. Nigro stressed the fact that nothing that comes to the FoodBank is wasted, from the unusable salvage from supermarkets which is sent to a pig farm, to the cardboard boxes the food is shipped in, which are broken down and returned to distributors for a fee. The FoodBank's best resource is its volunteers, consisting of individuals, school groups and organizations for the developmentally disabled who spend time at the warehouse keeping the FoodBank running.

The FoodBank's future plans include expanding a kitchen area to facilitate a teaching program staffed by culinary experts, and completing a meeting room for use by corporations.

A Thanksgiving Turkey Drive is scheduled for Nov. 18-22, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Nov. 23 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Frozen turkeys may be dropped at the FoodBank only on these dates, and additional drop-off points can be obtained by calling the FoodBank at (908) 355-3663.

Guests Anne Yesko and Fred Solomine chat as they sample the food at the Jambalaya Blue Jean Ball this Saturday in Hillside.

COUNTY NEWS

Teen Arts

The Union Center National Bank, at 2455 Morris Ave. and 2003 Morris Ave. in Union, will host the Union County Teen Arts Touring Exhibit through Nov. 29.

The exhibit consists of 26 pieces of art selected from the 513 visual artworks shown at the 1996 Union County Teen Arts Festival held in March at Union County College. The annual event is sponsored by the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Division of Parks and Recreation.

Position open

Like working with artists, teachers and students? The Union County Teen Arts Festival has a volunteer position open for volunteer recruitment coordinator. The part-time position is from November to April. Duties include community outreach, communication with interested volunteers, scheduling and volunteer management at the festival.

The Union County Teen Arts Festival, sponsored by the County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Division of Parks and Recreation, is a two day celebration of the arts held annually at Union County College in Cranford. The event, scheduled for March 26 and 27, is open to all students from public, private and parochial middle and high schools in the county.

At the festival, 3000 students participate in performances, critiquing seminars, master classes and workshops with a staff of 50 professional artists in visual arts, music, creative writing, theater and dance.

Volunteers are needed to assist artists with workshops, manage performance sites, and staff information stations.

Anyone interested may call (908) 558-2550.

Rummage sale

Temple Beth-El Sisterhood will sponsor its annual rummage sale on Monday, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. This event features used and nearly new clothing for the family, household goods and bric-a-brac.

Temple Beth-El is located at 338 Walnut Ave. in Cranford. Anyone interested in further information should call (908) 276-9231 for details.

Home repair training

The Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Union County will hold a fall training series for the volunteer-based Master Home Repair Program.

Participants receive technical training in simple home repairs and air quality. After training, volunteers are asked to donate 40 hours of community service.

Each training session consists of a lecture and hands-on experience. Classes are from 7 to 9 p.m. at 300 North Ave. East in Westfield on the following dates: Monday, Nov. 18, 25, Dec. 2, 9, and Jan. 6, 13, and 27, 1997.

The cost is $40, which includes the cost of supplies and a manual. Registration is required. For more information, call Elizabeth Levin at (908) 654-9854.

'Upscale' garage sale

The Arc of Union County will hold its 21st annual upscale garage sale in the Lincoln Municipal Complex on Academy St. in New Providence on Nov. 9.

The doors will open at 9 a.m. and close at 4 p.m. Everything from books and baby items to antiques, tools and electronic equipment will be on hand.

Donations of new and slightly used items are welcome. Items in good condition should be dropped at the Lincoln Municipal Complex on Nov. 8, between noon and 8 p.m. For further information, call (908) 464-1663 or (908) 754-7826.

Mineral show

Have you ever picked up a rock and wondered what it was? Do you have jewelry with semiprecious stones you would like identified? Do you marvel at lines in rock formations along the highway and want to know more?

For further information, contact Trailside Nature and Science Center, 452 New Providence Road, Mountaintide, NJ 07092, or call (908) 789-3670.

September's best

County officials present September's Employee of the Month Award to Cranford resident Peggy Burkat, an administrative assistant at Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Union County. Burkat was nominated by her department head for improving customer service at the Westfield office by working with the county's Customer Information Center staff. From left: Department Head Karen Ensie, Freeholder Edwin Force, Burkat and County Manager Ann Baran.

Local professional secretaries will hold dinner and meeting

The Union County Chapter Professional Secretaries International will hold a dinner meeting on Wednesday at B.G. Fields, located at 560 Springfield Ave. in Westfield. The social will start at 6 p.m. and dinner at 6:30 p.m. Anyone interested in joining the PSI is welcome to complete an application. There will be a charge of $19 for the dinner. Make checks or money orders payable to Union County Chapter, PSI. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. For admission to the meeting and not the dinner, there will be a charge of $7.

Call Pat Della Piazza at (908) 273-1212 for dinner reservations no later than Monday.

1. Never Trick-or-Treat alone. Go with a friend or in a group, and bring along an adult.
2. Never wear masks that block your view. Decorate your costume with reflective tape.

3. Never talk to strangers. Tell your parents about anyone that is bothering you.
4. Wait until you get home before eating your treats. Throw away unwrapped candy.

Don't be afraid to laugh at Kean's 'Dracula'

By Jacque McCarthy Associate Editor

The infamous bloodsucker Count Dracula needs to be careful not to bite his own tongue — since it's stuck in his cheek throughout most of the creative new version of this horror classic, playing for one more weekend at Kean College.

Professor Wiggins takes a few liberties with Bram Stoker's original shocker. The play opens in the library of Dr. Seward's sanatorium in New Orleans. Seward is greatly concerned about the health of his daughter Lucy, who, like many Southern belles of the time, is experiencing a "weakness."

David J. Gorsky and Joshua Morton as Seward and Lucy's fiance Jonathan Harker, respectively, are charmingly passionate as southern gentlemen fighting to save Lucy, sweetly played by Gretchen Nilsen.

The best part of the show, of course, is the great vampire himself, ingratiating himself into Lucy's world with a twisted sense of Southern hospitality and a stereotypical Transylvanian accent.

Special notice should be paid to Alex Beinstein as R.M. Renfield, "The Master's" first victim and sanatorium resident. He steals several scenes with his portrayal of Renfield as a cross between Brad Pitt in "Twelve Monkeys" and one of The Three Stooges.

Excellent use is made of a smoke machine, dramatic lighting, and background animal cries which do not sound at all like they were made by college students. Drac's former victims make the coolest vampires — but you'll have to see the play to find out how — and their appearances are very well-staged.

Watch out for the bat! Wiggins commented on why he thinks theater productions are important for his students. "Young people get a lot of auditorial stimulation," he said, citing MTV as one competitor for the attention of today's youth.

"We've got a great cast," he added. "They work well together, and that's not easy to do."

Performances will run Wednesday through Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m. Tickets are $6 students, $8 faculty and seniors, and $12 general public.

For further information and tickets, call the Kean College Ticket Office at (908) 527-2337.

Gilberto Ron as Count Dracula has a chilling embrace for the unfortunate Mina, played by Julie Berkowitz.

Terrified Lucy Seward, played by Gretchen Nilsen, is comforted by Dr. Van Helsing, played by Darin Carlton.

Mother-daughter art exhibition in Elizabeth

The Kathy Kornish and Florence Kornish-Kukich art exhibit at the Elizabeth Public Library, to benefit the American Heart Association, has been extended through the end of November.

This is the first joint art exhibit by the Union mother-daughter art alliance in New Jersey, and the first event of its kind for the Union County Chapter of the American Heart Association.

Kathy Kornish, a local university graduate who considers herself to be mostly self-taught, is exhibiting large, brightly-colored fantasy oil paintings with cheerful themes; and smaller paintings featuring European backgrounds, beautiful women, and animals.

Kornish has shown her artwork at Temple B'nai Abraham in Livingston, the South Orange Art Show, the Washington Square Art Exhibit, the Springfield Public Library, New Artists Presentations at Madison Square Garden, and Seton Hall University in South Orange.

Her work has been featured at several local galleries, such as the Les Malamut Gallery in Union, Celtic Imports in Westfield, Gallery des Artistes in Madison and Gallery Art Naif and Marino Galleries, Inc., both of Millburn. Her paintings are in a collection at the Westchester Country Club in Rye, NY, and in several private collections. Kornish was the official parade artist for Parade's Salute to the American Flag Parade.

Florence Kornish-Kukich, the mother of Kathy Kornish, is exhibiting drawings and photographs inspired by her travels in Europe and North America. Kornish-Kukich, who is exhibiting publicly for the first time in many years, has studied art at the renowned Arts High School in Newark, Fairleigh Dickinson University in Madison and a private art colony in New England. She has been the principal artistic mentor manager for her self-taught daughter.

Both mother and daughter artists emphasize the importance of recognizing the work of the American Heart Association, and are grateful to the Elizabeth Public Library for their cooperation in this exhibit.

The exhibit runs through the end of November at the Elizabeth Public Library, 11 South Broad St., Elizabeth. For more information, call the library at (908) 354-6060.

Art center offers classes for beginners, advanced

The following workshops are available this weekend at the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts:

• Color Mixing: The ABCs of Expertise One of NJCVA's most popular classes! Color is the essence of visual wonder and a basic of artistic technique. It is what every beginning or recreational artist needs to get off to the best start and what every beginning or recreational artist needs to perfect their craft.

This workshop will offer complete and methodical instruction in color mixing theory and practice. The course is structured for working artists in many media. It will teach a familiarity with the color wheel, hue, value, chroma and the variable that contribute to color interaction. Learn how to mix neutrals and subtle shades and the harmonious combining of color in composition. Water-based, non-toxic paints will be used.

Materials fee of $60 includes a complete set of paints for each student. Workshop fee is $112. Classes will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

• Inspiration While-You-Wait: The State of the Art of Screen Printing Achieve that elusive match of convenience and quality in the printmaking medium. Let one of the region's leading fine printmakers show you how a photocopier and Japanese screen printer can be used in transforming your drawings, photographs and collages into silk-screen prints or original greeting cards. The ability to produce works of art in volume and short order offers "instant artistic gratification" to the curious novice and opens new potentials for expression to the serious artist.

Classes will be held Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Workshop fee is $70, materials fee is $10.

Founded at the Summit Art Association in 1933, and previously known as the Summit Art Center, the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts has grown steadily through the years to become a major art school and exhibition showplace. NJCVA is located at 68 Elm St., Summit, and can be reached by telephone at (908) 273-9121.

Free design studio

The du Cret School of Art and Design again is offering non-profit organizations a full-service design studio at no charge.

The Design Group gives a select group of art students the opportunity to work in an advertising agency environment. New designs are created and camera-ready art work is provided. This service is offered, at minimal cost, to any non-profit organization in the local and surrounding communities.

The du Cret School of Art and Design, founded in 1926, is the oldest private art school in New Jersey. It is approved by the state Department of Education; is accredited by the Career College Association; is a member of the International Council of Design Schools; and is a member of the Private Career Schools of New Jersey.

DINING/ENTERTAINMENT

Film fest focuses on women, society

The New Jersey Film Festival has scheduled the following films this weekend:

Today
 • "Goupi-Mains Rouges," 1943, directed by Jacques Becker. A rare print of one of the masterpieces of French cinema of the 1940s, part crime film, part family drama, part realistic study of French country life. In French, subtitled. Co-sponsored by the Rutgers University French Department. Free admission!
 Screening location is Loree Hall #024, near the corner of George Street and Nichol Avenue, Douglass Campus, Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

Tomorrow
 • "Les Dames du Bois de Boulogne," 1945, directed by Robert Bresson. A sensual and sly tale of revenge, in which a woman abandoned by her lover plots to make him marry a prostitute. An unforgettable lead performance by the raven-haired Maria Casares of "Orpheus." In French, subtitled. Co-sponsored by the Rutgers University French Department.

Saturday
 • "The Well-Digger's Daughter," 1941, directed by Marcel Pagnol. When a beautiful young woman, played by Josette Day of "Beauty and the Beast," is seduced and abandoned with her illegitimate child, her father the well-digger, hysterically played by Raimu, is none too happy. A charming comedy about the bonds of family love. In French, subtitled. Co-sponsored by the Rutgers University French Department.

Screening location for Friday and Saturday is Scott Hall #123, near the corner of College Avenue and Hamilton Street, College Avenue Campus, Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

Sunday Double-Feature
 • "Switchblade Sisters," 1975. Quentin Tarantino presents the return of the Switchblade Sisters in Jack Hill's notorious, low-budget, girl-gang, drive-in double-feature movie. Ahead of its time 20 years ago, this exploitation film still ticks.

• "Heavy," 1996, directed by James Mangold. Liv Taylor stars as a stunning young woman, hired to waitress in a dingy diner, who changes the life of Victor, the overweight short-order cook. This Sundance Film Festival favorite is a finely-rendered and compassionate study of loneliness, desire and hope.

Screening location is the State Theater, near the corner of George Street and Livingston Avenue, 15 Livingston Ave., New Brunswick.

All film programs begin at 7 p.m. Thursday through Saturday shows cost $5 for general public, $4 for Rutgers Film Co-op/NJMAC Friends, and tickets may be purchased at 6:30 p.m. Tickets for Sunday programs cost $7 general admission, $5 for Friends, and can be purchased the week of the show from the State Theatre Box Office at (908) 246-7469, or at the theater the day of the show beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The New Jersey Film Festival Fall 1996 is funded and sponsored in part by the Rutgers Film Co-op/New Jersey Media Arts Center, which offers this state's only media arts center with programming year round, offering over 100 annual film screenings and events.

Theater contributes to a worthy cause

Continuing a tradition begun during its 1994 production of Oliver!, Paper Mill Playhouse will hold its Third Annual Food Drive to benefit the Community Foodbank of New Jersey through Dec. 15. The drive coincides with the second production of the 1996-97 season, Letter and Loewe's Gigi.

Paper Mill will provide collection sites in the theater's lobby throughout the run of the show. Patrons are encouraged to bring an item of non-perishable protein food in cans, boxes, bags and plastic containers; but no glass items, please. Cash contributions are also welcome.

According to Susan Speidel, Paper Mill's Director of Education and coordinator of the food drive, "Paper Mill's involvement started during Oliver!, following up on the show's themes of hunger and homelessness." The commitment to the drive did not end with that show, however. Since that time, the food drive has become a part of the Paper Mill season during the run of the second production. In the first two years of this endeavor, Paper Mill patrons and staff have donated more than $6,000 and more than 3,000 pounds of food to the Food Bank.

The Community FoodBank of New Jersey is the state's largest provider of donated food, with one million pounds of food distributed to 1,500 charities across the state each month last year. Located in Hillside, the Community Food Bank is a private, non-profit organization.

For more information on the Foodbank, call (908) 355-FOOD.

Take a seat at the arts center

There is a theater seat waiting for you at the Union County Arts center in Rahway. It has been utilized by generations of audiences who visited the Old Rahway Theatre since 1928 — and it needs fixing, with the help of a $250 gift!

The theater is undergoing a transformation to a beautiful and glittering performing arts center that the people of Union County and central New Jersey can be proud of and enjoy.

The theater has a new marquee, a refurbished lobby, modern restroom facilities, new sidewalks, upgraded lighting and sound systems, and, under contract, the renovation of the auditorium.

Opportunities to play a significant role in the continued renovation of the theater are available. With your tax-deductible gift, an inscription of up to 30 characters will be displayed on the back of your seat. Your inscription can honor a friend or loved one, or express your lasting concern for the future of the arts.

With your help, every seat in the theater can be "the best seat in the house!" For information on how to get involved, call the arts center at (908) 499-8226, or send your donation and inscription request to UCAC, P. O. Box 775-D, Rahway, NJ 07065.

Speedy Car Wash outshines the rest

It's located in an industrial area on Lehigh Avenue — not exactly the kind of place you might expect to find a car wash; but somehow the Speedy Car Wash has managed to do quite nicely over the past 20 years.

According to Gene Rooney, who has operated the business for the past 20 years, the customer receives the best possible service at a reasonable price.

At Speedy Car Wash, an exterior wash goes for about $2 less than the average car wash, a competitive price in a business where customers can be charged $7 simply for an exterior wash, not to mention amenities such as hot wax.

In addition, the Speedy Car Wash offers free, self-service mat washing equipment, something many other car washes dispense only for an extra charge. Speedy also offers coin-operated, self-service vacuum cleaners.

Rooney always keeps his equipment up to date, replacing washing equipment as part of an ongoing commitment to giving the best wash for the money.

At Speedy Car Wash, Rooney's employees take time to wash off excess dirt from every vehicle before it even enters the conveyor — and the workers must greet each customer courteously because it is their job to do so.

When the car wash is not operating, Rooney is still busy keeping all equipment in working order.

"We've really done a lot of maintenance on our equipment," he said. "I think that our assemblage of equipment is superior to most other car washes in the area."

Union resident shows off 'Pretty Women' at gallery

By Jacquie McCarthy
Associate Editor

Visitors to the Les Malamut Art Gallery at Union Public Library will be treated to an unusual and inspired exhibit through Nov. 7. The title of the display, "Pretty Women," does not do justice to the spontaneous beauty and creativity that flows from the hand of new artist and poet Bertha Wolff.

Wolff, a Union resident, feels she inherited her talent from her father, both a writer and a painter. A modest person, Wolff says she has never formally studied art, but remembers sketching in childhood, "almost invariably women."

Devoted to being a wife and mother, Wolff experienced a great change in her life when her husband was stricken with Parkinson's Disease.

"Ted got worse with his Parkinson's, and I said 'I've got to do something with my time.'"

And do something she did, in a big way. At home one day, feeling inspired, Wolff painted a beautiful mural she calls Artemis, in oil on a wall inside her second home in Barnegat, NJ. The artist said that she did not know the woman she had created resembled the ancient Greek goddess until her son saw a similar image on a television show.

"And I said, 'No.' And he said, 'Yes, Mom, you did Artemis.'"

Wolff began generating work at a great speed. Her next mural, on the front of her house in Barnegat, depicts Saints Andrew, Peter and Simon. She said that she completed the work in a week's time, working three hours per day.

The twenty-eight works displayed in the Les Malamut Art Gallery are only a small representation of her short but prolific artistic life, as she has painted nearly forty other works, all in the past few months. A smaller version of "Artemis" in oil is the highlight of the exhibit, surrounded by several lovelies from different countries and eras, all done in different media. "Chinese" is a colorful painting, bright orange, yellow, and green with strands of New Year confetti caressing the face of a lovely Asian woman. "Red," which Wolff identifies as a woman from Russia during the time of the czars, is a serious study in charcoal offset by slashes of red paint. "Pink" is the cute face of a girl done in charcoal with colored chalk adding drama.

The display features a cross-section of women, from dancehall girls to a Nazi refugee. For some of the works Wolff mixed not only media but different types of paints together for effect. Also, a vast range of emotions are represented in such works as "Confused" and "Frenchie."

Wolff uses no models as subjects, working from images her mind generates. "All these are visions that come to me," she said.

And she is shocked at the speed at which her star has risen. "All of a sudden. Isn't that weird?"

The 63-year-old ingenue credits Malamut Gallery Director Viola Meskin with launching her artistic career. According to Wolff, Meskin immediately saw the potential in her work and urged her to show at the library. Meskin confirmed Wolff's statement.

"We help new artists along," said Meskin. "We make suggestions. We have had a very strong influence on many new artists. We have also had very good professionals here."

Meskin stressed the fact that gallery standards are high, for both new and professional artists.

Wolff seeks to improve upon her artistic talent by adding hands and anatomy to existing and future works. Wolff commented on the pieces in her exhibit which have an Impressionistic tone, saying, "I'm going into Impressionist next."

Wolff is also an accomplished poet. Last year she wrote a poem about how she feels about the Barnegat Library. The library liked the poem so much they put it on display. Wolff later recited 5 of her poems there, and has been published in the Library of Congress collection. She is currently working on a book to be titled, "The Dog, The Horse, The Man."

But her first love seems to be art. "You see, I love my work, that's what makes it so wonderful. It's not a chore."

Wolff will exhibit next year in both the Toms River and Barnegat libraries, with the Barnegat display scheduled to coincide with Women's Month in March. Her murals can be seen on the front of her North Main Street, Barnegat home.

Public Library began as the "Wheelchair Gallery," a part of the original library built to be handicapped accessible. The gallery is open during library hours, Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.,

Tuesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The gallery presents new exhibit approximately every six weeks. The next exhibit is scheduled for Dec. 7.

Council acts to help the homeless

A group of Union County residents, under the direction of Jodi Scher of Stirling, performed Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" on September 6, 7 & 8 in Plainfield as a benefit for the Interfaith Council for the Homeless of Union County. The superb production, enjoyed by young and old, revealed how the lives of people in a small town are woven together. This community-wide effort brought together members of Plainfield's United Presbyterian Church, some volunteers, a cast of local actors, and several area business for a good cause.

Among the contributors to the event were Berkeley Print and Copy Center of Berkeley Heights; Video Video, Fine Ingredients, Inc., Transport Consultants International, Celtic Treasures, Ltd., Northside Trattoria of Westfield; Another Look Books, Park Hardware, and Park Express Dry Cleaners of Plainfield. The cast included the following local community members: Timothy McGovern, Elaine Dooman, George Foster, Geri Kennedy, Bernard Weinstein, Mitch Brenner, Gena Richards, Art Self, Steven Krakauer, Daniel Jackovino, Gretchen Sausville, Nathaniel Parker, Sam D. Hasselman, Lorraine Savoy and Lorne Epstein.

As a result of this collaboration, Ms. Scher and her group presented the Interfaith Council for the Homeless of Union County with a gift of $1,882. The Interfaith Council, now cele-

'Excellent' poets sought for contest

Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum is offering a Grand Prize of $1,000 in its new "Awards of Poetic Excellence" poetry contest. Thirty-five other cash awards are also being offered. The contest is free to enter.

Poets may enter one poem only, 20 lines or less, on any subject, any style. Contest closes November 30, 1996, but poets are encouraged to send their work as soon as possible. Poems entered in the contest also will be considered for publication in the Summer 1997 edition of Poetic Voices of America, a hardcover anthology to be published in June 1997. Anthology purchase may be required to ensure publication, but is not required to enter or win the contest. Prize winners will be notified by January 31, 1997. A winner's list is provided with a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"Poetry is more popular than ever," says Jerome P. Welch, Publisher. "Our contest offers a public forum for new poets that allows them to share their work. We welcome poetry of all styles and themes. Many of our contest winners are new poets with new ideas."

Poems should be sent to Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum, Dept. O, 609 Main Street, P. O. Box 193, Sistersville, WV 26175.

Symphony opens season

The Summit Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert of the season on Sunday, Nov. 17 at 3 p.m. at the Summit Middle School on Morris Avenue, with music by Brahms and Beethoven. The featured soloists will be Chee-Yun and Allison Eldridge performing Brahms' "Concerto in A Minor for violin and cello." Under the direction of James Sadewhite, the Orchestra will also perform Beethoven's "Prometheus Overture" and "Symphony Number Four."

Admission to the concert is free. For further information, contact Carol Bartholomew at (201) 763-3640.

Chamber music society begins new season

The Arbor Chamber Music Society will begin its sixth season on Saturday, at 8 pm at the Unitarian Church, corner of Waldron and Springfield avenues in Summit. Featured artists are clarinetist Todd Palmer and the Brentano String Quartet. The program is Schubert String Quartet in G minor, Opus Posthumous, "Chou Wen-Chung's" "Clouds for String Quartet" N.J. Premier; Brahms "Clarinet Quintet, Opus 115." Tickets are $17/$14 for seniors and $7 for students at the door, and may be reserved in advance by calling (908) 232-1116.

Todd Palmer will be making his first appearance with the Arbor Chamber Music Society. Mr. Palmer is the recipient of the Young Concert Artists International Award, the Aaron and Irene Diamond Soloist Prize and the Leonard Bernstein Fellowship at the Berkshire Music Festival in Tanglewood. He has appeared to critical acclaim at the Kennedy Center, the 92nd Street "Y," the Gardner Museum in Boston and in major cities throughout the U.S. He performs regularly with the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center and with such artists as Kathleen Battle, Dawn Upshaw and Robert Peters.

The Brentano String Quartet returns to the Arbor Chamber Music Series by popular demand. The Brentano won the 1995 Naumburg International Chamber Music Award and has quickly become the leading quartet of its generation. On Saturday the quartet will present a N.J. premier of "Clouds," composed for them by Chou Wen-Chung.

Local production will ring a 'bell' with film fans

Carnival Productions, Rahway's resident theater company, is currently in rehearsal for "Bell, Book and Candle." John van Druten's romantic comedy about a 20th century New York City witch who falls in love with a mortal. Film fans will remember the movie version starring Kim Novak, James Stewart and Jack Lemmon.

Starring in the Rahway production are Wendy Cinqanta of Rahway, and Rick Brown of Jersey City as the bewitching Gillian and the skeptical publisher Shep Henderson. Rounding out the cast are Rahway resident Mark Szabo as Gillian's mischievous warlock brother, Nicky; Mary Wilbon of Roselle as the dotty witch, Aunt Queenie; and Lee Wittenberg as the drunken author and would-be witchcraft expert Sidney Redlitch. Bill Van Sant of Rahway directs the show, and Tracey Randinelli of Whippany serves as stage manager/assistant director.

"Bell, Book and Candle" marks Carnival Productions' 1996-97 season opener. The company was recently honored at the 1996 A.C.T. Awards, receiving trophies for Best Play and Best Direction of a Play, both for the February presentation of "The Lion in Winter." The A.C.T. Awards is a statewide organization which promotes and celebrates achievements in community theater.

"Bell, Book and Candle," will be presented Friday - Sunday and Thursday - Saturday, Nov. 8 - 10 and Nov. 14 - 16. All curtains are at 8:30 p.m., with the exception of Sunday, Nov. 10, which begins at 2:30 p.m. All performances will be held at the El Bodegon Restaurant and Dinner Theatre, 169 W. Main St., Rahway. Tickets are $10 for general admission and $8 for students and senior citizens. Luncheon and dinner theater packages are available for $20 and $25, respectively.

The company also features several options for group rates and fund raising opportunities. For information and reservations, call (908) 388-0647.

"Bell, Book and Candle" is produced by special arrangement with Dramatists Play Service.

Located on the site of the old Meadowland's Sport Complex, this restaurant has worked its way into the hearts, and might I add, stomachs of the people that like warmth, charm and friendliness and a very good meal at very reasonable prices. Seafood is the specialty of the house and a special paella for two is the star. Their paella that leads all other seafood dishes with the sweetness and abundance of lobster, mussels, clams, scallops and shrimp. The huge Steaks and Veal chops are unrivaled both in portions and price. A favorite sports and entertainment hang-out, this spot offers an elaborate menu with over 100 specialties from meat to poultry to the best seafood varieties the area presents, something to please every taste. The unexpected daily specials make each visit a pleasant surprise and definitely compatible with your wallet. Amid this atmosphere of warm hospitality, is a catering facility with separate kitchen and separate descending staircase, serving Spanish style cuisine, beautifully prepared and served with distinction. You will not find a better bet in the area for wonderful wedding reception, a business celebration or an important birthday party. The owner cares, the maitre d' cares, the chef cares and the waiters care. That is the major difference.

John's Pizzeria Two

Located at 902 W. St. Georges Ave., Linden, the owners of John's Pizzeria Two specialize in Italian American cuisine.

The high quality of the veal kept the dish from being too tough or chewy, and just the right amount of cheese was melted on top. A generous side of ziti cooked al dente accompanied the entree and was topped with marinara sauce.

If the food impresses you, the prices will keep you coming back. Spaghetti in white or red clam sauce for $5.75, baked ziti for $5.00 or a lunch time chuck steak with fries and coleslaw for only $4.25 are among the best values on the menu.

Above all, John's has made a name for itself by offering top-notch pizza and take out.

This column is intended to inform our readers about dining opportunities in the area

FALL DINING

Out on the TOWN

HOROSCOPE

For The Week Of November 3-9

ARIES March 21-April 20

Continue to explore a topic you are unfamiliar with. You may discover a hidden talent. Hurry home after work. It's time to put your efforts into a project at home. You will enjoy it more than you realize!

TAURUS April 21-May 21

Finish paying your bills for the month. A new savings plan may be a good idea. Too much impulse buying will not help your current situation. Friends surprise you after dinner—kick back and enjoy their company and conversation!

GEMINI May 22-June 21

Don't get into a trivial argument with your mate early in the week.

You'll soon regret it. Try not to say something you don't really mean. Your sense of humor will come in very handy. Keep things light!

CANCER June 22-July 22

Clean out your closets and your garage. It will leave you feeling refreshed and ready for a new project. Don't be afraid to throw things away! A close friend reveals a dark secret. Don't be quick to judge.

LEO July 23-August 23

There are a few minor glitches to overcome, but for the most part you're in for a wonderful week! For example, something you really want won't be in the first place you look. Don't give up easily.

VIRGO August 24-September 22

You'll enjoy spending time at home this week, even if it's doing housework. A phone call from an old friend will give you a new perspective. It may be time to rearrange some priorities.

LIBRA September 23-October 23

Some newly acquired skills will finally be put to use this week. Now is the time to think of others first. Your mate may need your help. Be generous with kind words and compliments. Someone may need them more than you think.

SCORPIO October 24-November 22

Be very careful in who you share information with. A secret is likely to be revealed if you allow it. Stay alert and be careful! Someone may not be as sincere as they appear.

SAGITTARIUS November 23-December 21

New information you acquire this week could solve a problem. If you need to take a risk, do it early in the week. Now is a good time to discuss options with a business partner. Do it in a relaxed atmosphere, such as over dinner.

CAPRICORN December 22-January 20

Money is a prime consideration this week. If you don't act wisely, you could be in for a real fall. You may be accused of being a work-aholic. Reassure loved ones that your busy phase will be over soon.

AQUARIUS January 21-February 18

You are exceptionally creative today, so write your ideas down. Start a new project that will solve an old dilemma. One of your ideas could even bring you fame and fortune. Concentrate on environmental issues.

PISCES February 19-March 20

Get as many obligations as possible out of the way this week. That includes the paperwork you've been avoiding. If you don't take care of it soon, it will backfire on you.

The Masters of String

The Westfield Symphony Orchestra has received a grant from Cosmair to help fund its String Master Teachers Program for middle and high school students in Linden. Here, Michiko Oshima, standing, rear, violinist for the WSO's Cassatt Quartet, enjoys a relaxed moment during a recent master class with orchestra students from the Soehl Middle School. Additional funding is provided by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Paper Mill Playhouse new partnership a 'total' success

Paper Mill Playhouse, the official State Theatre of New Jersey, is pleased to announce its new partnership with TotalTel, which has helped bring the fall production of Lerner and Loewe's "Gigi" to the stage.

Little Falls-based TotalTel, the nation's eighth largest long-distance telephone company, has come on board at the Director's Circle level to help sponsor the second offering in Paper Mill's 1996-97 season. Starring Gavin MacLeod, Liliane Montevecchi, Anne Rogers, Richard White and Gloria Crampton as "Gigi," the production runs through Dec. 15.

TotalTel's leadership support demonstrates the company's belief that the arts make good business sense and play an essential role in consumer relations. "We are delighted to support Paper Mill, as we believe that theater greatly enhances the quality of life in our community," said Warren H. Feldman, CEO of TotalTel.

For more information on Gigi and other programming at Paper Mill, call (201) 376-4343. Paper Mill Playhouse is barrier-free and completely accessible to people with disabilities. This production of "Gigi" is also sponsored in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Dept. of State and the National Endowment of the Arts.

Vaccinations give patients 'a shot' at preventing flu

If last year is any indication, physicians can expect to see patients with the flu as early as this fall. According to The Journal of the American Medical Association, influenza activity occurred in moderately severe levels during October 1995 and lasted through March 1996. Flu activity peaked during late December 1995, just in time for the holidays. Last year, for the first time since the 1991-92 season, influenza viruses were associated with epidemics in several countries, including the United States.

Flu is often called a respiratory disease, but it affects the whole body. The virus causes fevers, chills, weakness, loss of appetite and an aching body. Dry cough, nausea and burning eyes may also occur. Fever mounts quickly, but usually subsides after two to three days, leaving the patient feeling exhausted. While most people with the flu recover in about a week, the elderly often suffer complications from the flu which can be fatal.

"The flu is a contagious type of virus that can cause serious illness as well as complications and even death in certain people," says Alvin Goldstein, D.O., clinical chairperson for the Department of Family Practice for Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Livingston. "Those over 65 or those who have ailments such as diabetes, kidney disease, chronic heart or lung disease or HIV should be among the first to receive the vaccine. The present vaccine is very effective."

Those who could be most helped by flu vaccines include seniors age 65 and older, health care workers, and those with chronic health conditions. However, many people in high-risk categories do not receive flu shots because of doubts about their effectiveness and fear of side effects. An article in the Archives of Internal Medicine in 1994, describes flu shots as "effective, reducing serious complications of influenza by about one-half." The American Lung Association finds the vaccine to be 75 percent effective in preventing flu. Regarding to safety issues, influenza vaccine is made from highly purified egg-grown viruses that have been rendered non-infectious.

"It is very important that the vaccine be given at such a time so that the body can produce antibodies from the vaccine," says Dr. Goldstein. "This generally takes two to three weeks, so the ideal time to receive the vaccine is early October through November. People who get the vaccine in January or in the middle of a flu season should wonder how much protection they are going to get."

Since the flu virus is passed by "droplet infection," when the organism becomes airborne after a sneeze or cough, Dr. Goldstein offers some suggestions for avoiding flu germs this season. These include avoiding crowds, washing hands frequently, and avoiding those in the throes of the flu.

If you are interested in receiving a flu shot, your family physician should be able to provide this service. Should you need a referral to a physician, call (888) SBMC-DOC for the name of a Saint Barnabas Medical Center physician to fit your needs.

Registry unites victims of rare disorder

Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Livingston, recently sponsored the first meeting of the "National Neutropenic Network Inc.," a family support group of the International Severe Chronic Neutropenia Registry.

"It was a very emotional meeting for the different families who were meeting each other for the first time," says Saint Barnabas physician Mary Ann Bonilla M.D., hematologist/oncologist with The Valerie Fund Children's Center for Cancer and Blood Disorders, who organized the event. "They asked significant, educated questions, and discussed financial issues and future areas of research."

The registry, the only one of its kind, is an organization of physicians working to improve care of people with these rare disorders by gathering information on patients. To date, the registry has studied 420 patients worldwide. Its goal is to further understand and improve care for congenital, cyclic and idiopathic neutropenia, a condition that decreases white cells and causes increased susceptibility to infection. Symptoms include high fevers and frequent, life-threatening infections.

The National Neutropenic Network, Inc. serves as a primary resource for the support and education of families whose members have these rare disorders. Families who attended this first meeting came from Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

Dr. Bonilla, who describes neutropenia as "a severe disease," provided a medical presentation to physicians and families in attendance. She gave a history of neutropenic trials dating back to 1984, discussed ongoing clinical trials and the forms of the disorders the trials have identified. The objectives of the registry — which include documenting the incidence of the disorders and monitoring the long term safety of treatments — were outlined by Dr. Bonilla.

Families then had an opportunity to meet and discuss common medical and social issues associated with these disorders.

"The overall nature of the meeting was incredibly helpful. Everyone went home with a job to do for the new northeast chapter of the Network," says Randolph resident Beth Jacobs, co-organizer of the meeting and president of The National Neutropenic Network, Inc. Mrs. Jacobs, whose 12-year-old daughter has neutropenia, praised Dr. Bonilla for "the many unpaid hours she puts into helping neutropenia patients."

For more information, call (800) 638-8768.

Safety 'tricks' make Halloween a 'treat'

Ideas from Saint Barnabas emergency physician Michael Gerardi, MD, FAAP, FACEP, can help make sure Halloween is a real treat:

Trick-or-treat where you are familiar with the neighbors, and go to lighted homes only.

Circulate in the company of others. Younger children need adult supervision. Children should travel on a route that has been discussed and should adhere to a curfew.

If your child wears a mask, make sure vision is not impaired. Face paint may be a better idea.

Wear light, brightly colored costumes and add reflective tape.

Carry a flashlight with fresh batteries.

Cross at street corners instead of zigzagging back and forth.

Avoid previously opened candy, fruit and home-made cookies.

Avoid costumes with long gowns which trip little ones.

Consider trick-or-treating at a mall, or attend a party.

Have a safe and happy Halloween!

Do You Find Health Plans
Difficult to Interpret?

Sometimes it seems like you need a degree in ancient languages to interpret the advantages of one health plan over another. But it need not be that way. Now, during Open Enrollment, there are some simple questions you can ask to find out which plan is best for you. Of course, cost is significant, and so is the quality of care you will receive. That's why two of the most important questions you can ask are:

Does my doctor participate in my health plan?

and

Are Atlantic Health System hospitals included in my health plan?

STRENGTH IN UNITY

Atlantic Health System is Morristown Memorial, Overlook in Summit and Mountainside in Montclair/Glen Ridge. This expanded expertise represents some of the best medical minds in the region—from primary care doctors to specialists. Our hospitals, long-term care, rehabilitation and satellite facilities provide almost everything you'll ever need in health care for every stage of life—from conception to senior care. No matter where you live in north central and northwestern New Jersey, the Atlantic Health System has physicians and facilities near you.

If you feel it's important to have a higher level of quality health care, and you'd prefer not to earn a degree in ancient languages, give us a call. We can "interpret" which plans include Atlantic Health System hospitals and help you select a physician if you don't have one.

A change in lifestyle can help prevent cancer

Breast cancer is every woman's nightmare, and it may strike as many as one in nine American women, according to government figures. But there are important steps women can take to control their risk of this frightening disease, even if it runs in the family. First, get to know the signs of breast cancer, how to detect them and what changes you can make in your lifestyle for lower breast cancer risk and improve your overall health. The American Institute for Cancer Research recommends taking the following steps for breast cancer prevention:

- Eat a high-fiber, low-fat diet: Strong evidence research studies suggests that diets high in fat and low in fiber may lead to higher risk for breast and other cancers. Although scientists now believe the link between breast cancer and fat is weaker than research previously showed, AJCR advises limiting fat consumption to 30 percent or less of daily calories. It's also very important to make vegetables, fruits and whole grains the major part of your diet, because fiber from vegetables, beans, fruits and whole grains — whole wheat, bran and oat cereals and breads, for example — may lower cancer risk. Newly discovered "phytoestrogens" in soy and other plant foods also may play a role in lowering hormone production and therefore risk for breast cancer. AJCR advises eating 6 to 11 servings — half a cup of pasta or rice, or one piece of bread, of grains per day, and at least three half-cup servings of vegetables and two half-cup servings of fruit. Meat portions should be limited to four ounces per meal.

- Limit alcohol to one drink per day, if any: Limiting alcohol consumption to a moderate level — about one drink per day — is recommended to reduce a woman's risk for breast cancer and other cancers. Although more research needs to be done on frequency of drinking alcohol, nutritional status, effects on hormone production, and age, studies have so far shown a positive link between alcohol and higher breast cancer risk.

- Maintain a healthy weight. Body fat produces the hormone estrogen, and higher levels of estrogen are linked to breast cancer development. That's why maintaining a healthy weight with regular exercise and a healthy diet are both recommended as key to lower breast cancer risk.

- Get regular exercise. In 1995 results from a University of California study, regular exercise was found to reduce breast cancer risk up to 60 percent in premenopausal women, with the greatest benefits from four hours per week, and to a lesser degree, from two three hours of exercise per week.

A previous study from the Harvard School of Public Health noted more than 30 percent lower breast cancer rates among women who were former college athletes than those who had not been athletic.

- Don't Forget self-exams and mammograms. Current recommendations for mammograms are: once between ages of 35 and 39; every two years between ages 40 and 49, and yearly after age 50 — studies show that radiation from mammography does not increase cancer risk. Older women are most at risk, yet are least likely to comply with mammogram recommendations. Monthly breast self-exams are perhaps even more important for detecting growths early.

For a copy of the free booklet, "Questions and Answers About Breast Lumps and Breast Cancer," send a stamped, 55 cents postage, business-sized, self-addressed envelope to the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. QC, Washington, D.C. 20069.

The American Institute for Cancer Research is the only major cancer charity focusing exclusively on the link between diet, nutrition and cancer. The Institute provides a wide range of consumer education programs that have helped millions of Americans learn to make changes for lower cancer risk. AJCR also supports innovative research in cancer prevention and treatment at universities, hospitals and research centers across the United States. The Institute has provided more than $37 million in funding for research in diet, nutrition and cancer. AJCR's Internet site address is <http://www.aicr.org>.

Showers of health

Overlook Hospital and the Maternal/Child Health Network recently sponsored a baby shower for the patients in the Overlook Hospital HealthStart Program. The baby shower featured games, cake and prizes as well as health education for the twenty-five women, including information on infant car seats, feeding, diapering and the importance of prenatal care. The Maternal/Child Health Network sponsors an outreach worker for the HealthStart Program, which is the hospital's ambulatory care program for obstetrics and gynecology. From left to right, Judy Bianca, HealthStart Administrator with baby shower attendees Lida Narajo, Shamil Boyd and Astrid Quiros.

Hats off to a drug-free Halloween

Hands Across Union, a community partnership program of the Township of Union, is sponsoring an informative event for Halloween trick-or-treaters. Today adults from civic associations throughout the township will be wearing hats that read, "Drugs May Trick, But They're No Treat." The purpose of the event is to promote substance abuse awareness and provide informational materials relevant to the adverse effects of drugs, alcohol and tobacco.

Adults wearing the highly visible hats will be stationed in key areas throughout the neighborhoods. Positioned at busy streets, hazardous walkways and under-lit areas, these adults with flashlights will provide a safer environment for children making their Halloween rounds. The participants will also be giving out candy donated by Ce De Candy Inc. as well as posters and pamphlets. The purpose is to provide valuable information while providing a safe environment for children throughout the area during this yearly tradition.

The civic associations that are participating include Green Lane, Orchard Park, Putnam Ridge, Battle Hill, Vauxhall, and Fairway. For more information about the event, call Paul Fernandez at (908) 686-6644.

YOUR EYES

By
DR. BRADLEY T. DOOLEN
Optometrist

"Soft" contact lenses were one of the greatest developments in the field of vision correction. They are so soft and pliable that they may be flexed between thumb and finger. These lenses have the capacity to absorb liquids so they remain moist and pliable when worn on the eye.

Soft lenses are more comfortable on the eye, and most wearers adapt to them quickly and easily. People engaged in strenuous sports or other activities find that soft lenses stay in place better and dust particles do not get under them as readily. These lenses have been fitted to persons of all ages...from three months to those over seventy years.

To determine what correction your eyes require and which lenses would be best for you, start with an eye examination. Phone for an appointment.

A PAIN IN THE NECK

If you have a pain in the neck, you may be astonished to find the source of the pain isn't really in your neck at all, but further down in the spinal column. That's one reason why the doctor of chiropractic will examine your entire spine to find where the problem may be. When your spinal column is moving, either in physical activity such as walking or even when you're breathing, there is a synergistic action at work. In other words, the upper part of your spine may be so slight that you're really not aware of it. But it may be putting unusual pressure on the upper part of your spine. That may be the cause of the neck pain.

Your spinal column, from top to bottom, should be properly aligned and in good working order for you to feel well. Any weakness may cause stress, discomfort, and pain, until it is returned to good working order.

Hopefully, that pain in the neck can be relieved. It's certainly worth looking into.

Ribbon Embroidery Flowers
 Today there is a new appreciation of and heightened interest in the old needle craft of ribbon embroidery. The stitches are simple and easily learned, and both silk ribbon and the new synthetic ribbons are more readily available than ever before.
 A 64 page guidebook called "The Encyclopedia of Ribbon Embroidery Flowers" shows a rather how to stitch 121 different designs, including 12 rose varieties, common and exotic plants and flowers, foliage, garden centers and boxes. Color photos and tips on supplies, techniques and finishing are also included.
 Ribbon Embroidery Flowers (No. AN405) $14.95
 Also available: Ribbon Embroidery in 1 Day (No. AN404) $8.50

The 1997 Isuzu Rodeo, above, continues to improve its position as a sporty, aggressive fun-to-drive sport-utility vehicle with a refined engine that delivers 190 ponies under the hood, better ride comfort, optional four-wheel anti-lock brakes and a shift-on-the-fly for its four-wheel-drive models. The Isuzu Trooper, below, adds standard shift-on-the-fly which enables the driver to switch from two-wheel drive to four-wheel drive with a simple shift of the transfer level. Coupled with a refined 190 horsepower single overhead cam engine, the 1997 Trooper continues to meet the demands of the Sport Utility buyer looking for performance and luxury.

NEW CHAIR — Elaine Robertazzi, co-owner of Liberty Lincoln-Mercury, Route 3, Clifton, has been named Chairman of the Board of the New Jersey Regional Chamber of Commerce. Robertazzi, vice-chairman since January, became chairman following the resignation of Dr. Stanley Chmielewski of Fairfield. A resident of Bloomfield, she has been active in the Clifton-based chamber for years and her dealership has earned an outstanding reputation as one of the most respected in the business.

AAA publishes list of top cars to own

The Geo Prizm and Oldsmobile Aurora lead an elite group of vehicles that maintained their top positions in the American Automobile Association's annual ranking of new vehicles.

The Geo Prizm appears as a top selection for the fourth consecutive year while the Oldsmobile Aurora has been selected in each of its three years on the market. Other repeat top-scorers are the Saab 9000, Chevrolet Cavalier, Mercedes-Benz S320 and Lexus GS 300.

The rankings are based on comprehensive reviews appearing in Autograph — AAA's annual new-car book. Previous editions of the guide were titled AAA AutoTest.

"The 1996 list of top passenger cars shows that the best have gotten better," said Rick Town, assistant vice president of automotive services for the AAA New Jersey Automobile Club in Florham Park. "They offer new features, continued quality and outstanding value to the consumer."

Rated best in their price class by AAA were the Chevrolet Cavalier, under $12,500; Geo Prizm KSi, $12,500-$15,000; Chrysler Concorde LX, $15,000-$20,000; Toyota Camry XLE, $20,000-$25,000; Volvo 850, $25,000-$30,000; Oldsmobile Aurora, $30,000-$35,000; Saab 9000 CSE, $35,000-$40,000; Mercedes E320, $40,000-$45,000; Lexus GS $35,000; Saab 9000 CSE, $35,000-$40,000; Mercedes E320, $40,000-$45,000; Lexus GS 300, $45,000-$50,000; and Mercedes S320, more than $50,000.

The Chrysler Concorde is among the notable newcomers to AAA's circle of top picks. The Concorde's corporate town, the Dodge Intrepid, was a top selection the previous three years.

Autograph features in-depth reviews and ratings of 168 domestic and import vehicles ranging from sport cars to minivans. Vehicles are awarded up to 10 points in each 20 categories, including workmanship, safety, passenger environment and value. The highest scoring car in this year's edition of Autograph is the Mercedes E320 with 175 points.

Autograph reviews also include specifications, option package information, prices and photographs of vehicle interiors and exteriors. Additionally, the guide contains AAA's advice on selecting a new car and tips for test driving and negotiating the best deal.

The top cars all scored well on safety equipment. All have driver and front passenger air bags and standard or optional anti-lock brakes. The Volvo 850 and Mercedes-Benz E320 offer the added protection of innovative side air bags.

"Careful research should be the first step in buying a new car," said Town. "While the preferences of individual car buyers vary, AAA publishes Autograph reviews to help consumers narrow the list of models they're considering."

AAA Autograph can be purchased at the AAA Store which is located in the New Jersey Automobile Club offices in Florham Park, Randolph, Springfield and Verona.

The cost is $12.95 plus tax ($11.00 plus tax for AAA members).
