The educated consumer

I have really only had three in my life — pharmacists that is. Every poll I read places clergy and pharmacist at the top of the list in terms of trusted or admired people. That being the case, your local dispenser of medicine is fighting a tough battle for survival against managed care companies and large chains.

Over 36 years Marc Cutinello dispensed hundreds of thousands of prescriptions from his three RITA pharmacies in Roselle Park, Linden and Roselle. While selling out his interest over a year ago, he still articulates the squeeze placed on neighborhood stores. "We can't bargain collectively with the suppliers. There is still bid pricing and it is not based on volume."

Left Out

By Frank Capece

The points made by Cutinello and a number of other local pharmacists basically are three. Managed care companies strictly limit the profit that the pharmacists can make on each transaction in the name of savings. Secondly, there is pressure from large chains who buy in volume, and recently a push by the insurance industry using major financial enhancements to get customers to use mail-order prescriptions.

Why anyone with any disposable income would give up the service and trust of the local pharmacist is beyond me. But in the new world of managed care, it scares me that the local pharmacist is under an economic blitz. If they're not around we the so-called educated consumers lose more.

From a demographic perspective, this should be a boom time in the pharmacy world. The post-World War II baby boomers have just started to increase prescription use.

Mike and Rita Levy owned and managed Plaza Pharmacy in Cranford for 15 years. In an interesting switch, fellow pharmacist Rita Janet first hired out of school by the Levys, purchased the business keeping the Levys on as employees. Janet, like the Levys, knows the customers on a first-name basis, what our needs are, and what medicine we use. It is a comfort zone worth the cost.

Despite the push, Janet speaks optimistically about the future. She acknowledges the paper work, the pressure on margins and the perception, "sometimes I'm doing everything but pharmacy."

Mike Levy talks about the bureaucracy when a doctor prescribes a specific medicine but the specific managed care company doesn't subscribe to that medicine. The pharmacist then becomes a

Classes begin without teachers' contracts

By Mark Hrywna and Philip Sean Curran

Teachers' unions in eight Union County school districts are without contracts as classes are set to begin Wednesday throughout most of the county.

Hillside, Rahway, Roselle, Union Township, Garwood, Winfield, Union County Vocational-Technical Schools and the Union Educational Services Commission are still negotiating.

"It's always a concern if it's not signed, sealed and delivered before the start of school," said County Superintendent Frances Lobnan. However, she said, there's no reason to worry as it is not uncommon for classes to begin without settlements.

The teachers' union and board at the Union County Vocational-Technical School, which includes the Union County Magnet School, have been in negotiations since the early spring, according to Superintendent Thomas Bistocchi, meeting "about half a dozen times." He described the talks as amicable and was confident an agreement would be reached by the fall.

The Union Educational Services Commission serves students who are sent out of district for special needs.

Four districts that already have settled new contracts this year did so relatively early. Summit settled in February while June brought new deals in Elizabeth, Plainfield and Westfield. Three of the four agreed to three-year contracts while Elizabeth settled on a one-year accord.

Of the contracts settled this year, Summit teachers will receive the highest percentage increase in 1999-2000 at 4.7 percent and 4 percent in 2000-2001 before a 3.8 percent hike in 2001-2002. The three-year contract provides an average 4.16 percent increase.

In 1999-2000, teachers will receive a 3.95 percent increase in Elizabeth. Plainfield teachers are set to get a 3.9 percent increase this year before 3.95 percent hikes next year and the year after. Teachers in Westfield will receive a 3.8 percent salary increase in each of the three years of their contract.

Average salary increases for settlements reached since July 1, 1998 for the 1999-2000 school year are 3.88 percent, according to the New Jersey School Boards Association.

Statewide, nearly 65 percent, or 130 out of 209 school districts, have not settled, according to the NJSBA. At this time last year, 71 percent, or 155 out of 217 districts in negotiations, had not reached agreement.

Last year, Linden and Scotch Plains-Fanwood settled new three-year contracts. Teachers' contracts in Cranford, Clark, Elizabeth, Kenilworth and Berkeley Heights are set to expire at the end of the 1999-2000 school year.

"Students and parents should not be alarmed if their school district has not yet reached agreement with the teachers union. Teachers, in fact never 'work without a contract,'" said Edwin Lee, NJSBA acting executive director. "Until a new agreement is reached, the employees remain covered by the former contract with all of its benefits and protections."

Typically, the months of September and October produce a large number of contract settlements, according to the NJSBA.

Overall, 47 percent of the most recent teacher contracts include some mechanism for managing health expenses, such as requiring or increasing existing co-payments on prescriptions, increasing the number of hours a part-time employee must work to receive benefits and increasing employee deductibles. During the past five years, according to the NJSBA, 80 percent of school districts have reported such cost containment measures.

More than a third of the districts that have settled contracts have increased the work day or increased teacher-student contact time. In 36 percent of the teacher contracts, longer days, longer years or changes in schedules allow teachers to spend more time with students.

Renovations at golf courses heading into home stretch

By Mark Hrywna Regional Editor

As several years of improvements to county golf courses wrap up, ambitious recommendations are included for the courses as part of the Open Space and Recreation Master Plan.

"It's time to take a breath and reap the fruits of our labor," said Charles Sigmund, director of the Division of Parks and Recreation.

The most heavily-utilized public golf courses in New Jersey, Sigmund estimated Galloping Hill in Union plays host to 70,000 to 80,000 rounds of golf a year while Oak Ridge in Clark and Ash Brook in Scotch Plains each endure 60,000 rounds per year.

The 10-year, $46-million master plan includes approximately $7.85 million in recommendations throughout the three county golf courses. Galloping Hill $3,150,000

Galloping Hills Golf Course, 271 acres located in Union and Kenilworth, features 27 holes of golf in addition to a pitch and putt course and serves as a site for winter sports, such as cross-country skiing.

The county is in the final stages of a four-year, $5-million renovation project at Galloping Hill. The county rehabilitated nine of Galloping Hill's 27 holes at a time. By the end of the fall, Sigmund said, the renovations should be complete and the entire course ready for play by late spring.

Galloping Hill was the last county course without a completely automated irrigation system from tee to green until the recent renovations.

Year 1: $13,000

Year 1 improvements total $13,000 with annual tree maintenance for $8,000 and $5,000 slated for new signage with landscaping.

Year 2: $2,350,000

Year 2 of the master plan contains the lion's share of Galloping Hill improvements, primarily new construction totalling more than $2.3 million. Leading off Year 2 recommendations is a $1-million upgrade of the clubhouse to include the addition of a restaurant and outdoor decks. With the significant renovations to the Galloping Hill course, the county's consultant on the master plan turned attention to the more than 60-year-old clubhouse.

A new office building and service yard is slated for $500,000 with a new garage building at $350,000 and a new storage shed at $250,000 are planned in addition to $50,000 for new exterior storage.

Year 4: $237,000

New parking for 100,000 and lighting for the entrance road at $60,000 are among the recommendations in Year 4. An upgrade of the restroom building and other physical improvements to buildings are estimated at about $40,000 along with $30,000 for landscaping and $5,000 for flower beds.

Equality celebrated

Female officials from around the state met in Elizabeth recently to acknowledge the progress women have made since the 19th Amendment passed in 1920.

"August 26 marks the anniversary of the Amendment to the Constitution, enfranchising women throughout the United States," said Union County Freeholder Linda Stender. "But it has come to symbolize our need to continue to fight for equality especially in issues such as equal pay for equal work."

"Recent reports show that the gender gap still exists in terms of economic buying power," Freeholder Mary Ruotolo said. "For every dollar earned by a man, females only make 74 cents."

Ruotolo, who serves as liaison to the Commission on the Status of Women in Union County, said that the county declared August to be Women's Equality Month and in particular, Aug. 26 as Women's Equality Day in honor of when the 19th Amendment was ratified.

"We take time in August on this date to highlight both the progress women have made but to also point out what is left to be done," said Freeholder Deborah Scanlon.

Freeholders Stender, Scanlon and Ruotolo made their statements while presenting a resolution declaring August as "Women's Equality Month" in Union County and Aug. 26 as "Women's Equality Day."

Elizabeth Cox, program development specialist for the State Department of Community Affairs, said, "It's been over 150 years since the Women's Rights Convention and women have made clear progress in addition to the right to vote. Women are being elected to public office at all levels of government."

Plans in store for county courses

Year 9: $350,000
 Year 9 concentrates on the pitch & putt course with $100,000 to upgrade lighting and $250,000 for the creation of a miniature golf course.
Ash Brook Reservation, $300,000
 The $300,000 recommended for Ash Brook will be split evenly between repairs and new facilities. The 616-acre Ash Brook Reservation is located in Scotch Plains and Clark and includes Ash Brook Golf Course and a 300-acre wetland area.

 Last week, for the first time in 18 months, Ash Brook opened to the public with all 18 holes ready for play. The county renovated the back nine greens, completing a $1-million project which rebuilt all 18 greens and the practice green. In order to have some holes available to the public, nine greens were rebuilt at a time.
 From what he has heard, Sigmund said golfers are "tremendously pleased with the quality of the greens."

 Renovations at Ash Brook are now complete for the most part. Sigmund said there may be some in-house work done as far as installing fairway bunkers to make the course more challenging. Other than that, he said, there is not much else to be done to the course.
 New Jersey Goller magazine recently ranked Ash Brook the fifth most difficult public golf course in the state, according to Sigmund, while Gallop Hill was ranked in the top 30.
Year 3: $295,000
 A new clubhouse ladies restroom for $100,000 will include four toilet stalls, including one to meet ADA requirements will be added as well as showers and a separate locker room. Clubhouse repairs are estimated at $75,000. The master plan recommended "reconfiguring into a better accommodate the needs of the club." The cooking, bar and snack bar areas will be redesigned in addition to various infrastructure repairs to the roof, exterior doors and other areas. The older locker room will be removed from the pro shop. Flooring in the locker room, conference room and bathrooms will be replaced or repaired.

The 16th tee to the 17th green requires a new cart path and the bridge at the 5th tee will be replaced for $15,000.

Oak Ridge Golf Course $4,400,500
 The Oak Ridge course has not experienced the extensive renovations the other two county courses have undergone the past several years. Some minor improvements, such as rehabilitating cart paths and fairways.
 The Open Space and Recreation Master Plan, however, recommends a good deal of rehabilitation including a new $3-million clubhouse in Year 3 and $1.2 million in repairs to the Robinson Homestead clubhouse during Year 6.
Year 1: $27,000
 The Chapman Cottage will be removed at a cost of $15,000 for safety reasons. The only other recommendations in Year 1 are $7,000 for annual tree maintenance and $5,000 for new entrance signage and landscaping.
Year 9: $173,500
 Improvements to the course will include repairing the 16th and 17th tees, the 15th green, cart paths and a split rail fence totalling approximately $20,000.

Club starts drive for new members

To attract new club members, the Boys and Girls Clubs of Union County-Union Club will launch a recruitment campaign to attract new members. By Dec. 31, hopes to reach 300 new young people.

Within the next two weeks, the Boys & Girls Club will announce a series of recruitment activities and the events which will be offered to prospective youth members age 6 to 18 who reside in the Township of Union and surrounding communities.

The boys and girls clubs of Union County-Union Club has been serving the community for over 45 years by providing youth development programs to over 2,000 children annually. "Our success depends upon club importance to our primary customers — the boys and girls of Union County. The Boys & Girls Club belongs to the children. Kids attend our clubs because they want to be there, not because they have to be there. We are dedicated to developing their self-esteem, character and life skills," said Russell Triolo, chief executive officer.

Over the years, it has been the unique blend of public and private support that has enabled the Boys & Girls Clubs of Union County to develop and institute innovative approaches to aid youth. William Liebiedz, director of program development and services said, "We are moving forward to help children build their future with the aid of programs in the areas of Internet and computer technology, education, conflict resolution, and employability. These programs are the building blocks for our club members' future, to strengthen self-esteem, develop skills and form values."

Triolo continued, "Additionally, an increasing number of children spend many hours at home with no adult care or supervision. Young people need to know that someone cares about them and that there are concerned and capable adults to whom they can turn. Boys & Girls Clubs offer that — and more."

Believing in children for 44 years, the Boys and Girls Clubs of Union County has been a positive force in the lives of Union County's youth.

"The club provides a safe and positive environment, The Boys and Girls Club has been the difference between success and failure for thousands of youngsters since its founding," Triolo said. Building men and women — one kid at a time — is the focus of the Boys & Girls Clubs of Union County."

"The caution light is flashing for the youth of today, as the increasing and alarming statistics of youth violence, teen pregnancies, alcohol and drug use are a sure indication that the solutions provided by the Boys & Girls Clubs of Union County are needed in Elizabeth, Union and throughout the county."

For more information about club programs, call (908) 687-2697 in Union or (908) 351-3344 in Elizabeth or visit the club's website at <http://www.nccnarrat.com/UCYOUT/H/>.

Savings not worth loss of comfort

 mediator, as to medicine.
 But discussions with groups of pharmacists focused me on just how powerful the managed care operation has become. One estimate placed the number of prescriptions coming through the system at 90 percent.

Helena Goncalves, a pharmacist in Elizabeth, summed it up as "survival of the fittest." She said, the larger chains can buy "higher volumes and get the benefit."

The irony is that the pharmacists enjoy their profession and want to stay. Goncalves proudly speaks of the large number of women who have gone into the profession as a field "to balance career and family."

 Janet notes that beyond the economic problems, most small pharmacists are located in the local business district, and face the same pressure for customers in the downtown.

"I'm always leery of the executive who says he saves me money by growth and efficiency. In the case of the local pharmacist, the cost of these savings by loss of the local pharmacy is too high to pay for any educated consumer."

Traveling teen art stops in Plainfield

The 1999 Teen Arts Touring Exhibit will be on display through Sept. 16 at the United National Bank, 202 Park Ave. in Plainfield. Sponsored by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, the exhibit consists of 31 pieces of art, selected from the 513 works of visual art shown at the 1999 Union County Teen Arts Festival in March at Union County College.

The annual festival is sponsored by the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Department of Economic Development.

"The enthusiasm of the public for the Teen Arts Exhibit grows each year," said Freeholder Mary P. Rucotolone, liaison to the Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board. "That sends a positive message to our young artists and encourages them to pursue their interest in the arts."

"I'm delighted that these talented students will have their creations on display in Plainfield," said Freeholder

Lewis Mingo Jr., a Plainfield resident. "It's refreshing to have this array of artwork available for downtown shoppers to appreciate."

The tour will travel to sites throughout Union County through March 2000.

The Teen Arts Program is coordinated by the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Department of Economic Development, hosted by Union County College, and sponsored by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Sponsors and supporting agencies of the 1999 Teen Arts Program are Union County Division of Parks and Recreation; Union County Prosecutor's Office; New Jersey State Council on the Arts; Department of State; Elizabeth, Cranford and Roselle boards of education; Friends of Teen Arts through a grant from the New Jersey State Department of Education; Paper Mill Playhouse; Westfield

Back to school means eye exams

As summer ends and kids head back to the classroom, the Contact Lens Council encourages parents to have their children screened for vision problems as part of September's back-to-school routine. A visit to a pediatrician or an eye-care specialist can rule out common misdiagnoses of learning disorders in school-age children and better prepare a child for his education.

"Children can be easily mislabeled as 'poor learners' when, in actuality, they may simply have a vision problem," says Dr. Stuart R. Dankner, a prominent pediatric ophthalmologist in Baltimore. Dankner works extensively with children and cites two conditions most frequently overlooked without proper vision screening:

amblyopia and focusing problems. "Both conditions can affect how well a child learns," he cautions.

"Amblyopia, commonly referred to as 'lazy eye,' is entirely preventable if diagnosed early enough," says Dankner. Amblyopia is generally caused by one of three things that can make vision weaker in one eye: an eye muscle problem or misalignment called strabismus; occlusion or disuse; or a focusing problem in one eye that causes the other to grow "lazy."

While amblyopia occurs when vision is weaker in one eye, focusing problems involve trouble with both eyes, and fall into three categories: myopia or nearsightedness, hyperopia or farsightedness, and astigmatism, a curvature of the cornea that can cause vision distortion. Eye specialists can correct each of these focusing problems.

The AAO has compiled a list of risk factors for parents of school-age children. These include misalignment, or "lazy eye"; squinting or recurrent headaches that cannot be explained medically; a family history of amblyopia or strabismus; a misalignment that causes amblyopia; or premature birth. If a child exhibits any of these symptoms or falls into any of these categories, the AAO recommends that he or she see an eye specialist.

For more information on contact lenses, contact the Contact Lens Council at 1-800-884-4CLC or on the Internet at www.iglobal.com/CLC.

HOROSCOPE

For Sept. 6 to Sept. 12

ARIES (March 21-April 19): This week is marked by ups and downs, with your mood swinging from hot to cold. Stay focused on a specific goal and don't let yourself be bothered by distractions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Plan to do more traveling and keep your bags packed for quick getaways. Ideas of scarcity go out the window when a game or contest promises huge winnings. Get in to win it!

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): A major obstacle can be overcome with discipline and determination. Dig in! Your thoughts are centered around friends. Make a special effort to spend more quality time with them.

CANCER (June 22-July 22): Get involved and contribute the best you can to an intellectual project or discussion. Relationships take center stage. Learn and grow through a variety of people.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Turn your attention to health issues. Nip a successful problem in the bud and don't allow it to get out of hand. Plenty of rest and relaxation is just what the doctor ordered.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Don't ask someone for his or her opinion unless you're prepared to hear the truth. A detailed project at work demands long hours. Try not to take it home with you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): Confusion and deception are in the air, so be aware. Get to work on minor home improvements. It's the loving and special touches that make the difference.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21): Seek out a friend in order to make a special apology. Update your methods of communicating. Whether it's a new dictionary or computer, if you need it, buy it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Expect good news or commendations surrounding your career. Take a conservative approach to finances. The money you save now saves you even more later in the year.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your luck is improving. Get ready to expand and grow in several areas of your life. Trust is the foundation of a strong relationship. Don't let a loved one down.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): It's darkest just before dawn. Stay looking for the light to come over the horizon this week in your life. Despite the intensity of your problems, find time to laugh.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): The time is right for reaching out. Use the new moon this week to initiate a partnership. Make those important calls that you have been putting off for far too long.

If your birthday is this week, it pays to take a very mature and organized approach to the affairs of your life during the coming year. Clear the decks of old and outworn projects or ideas and make room for new surprises and unlimited possibilities.

Healthy Living

Goup will address childhood asthma

The Pediatric Specialty Center will sponsor a family asthma support group titled "Asthma and Food Allergies Support Group." The asthma support group will meet Sept. 15 from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. in the Joslin Classroom of the Saint Barnabas Ambulatory Care Center, 200 South Orange Ave., Livingston, across from the Livingston Mall.

Guest speaker Susan Weinstein R.N., director of Women's Health Education, will discuss stress and relaxation.

The Pediatric Specialty Center is located in the Saint Barnabas Ambulatory Care Center where parents can take advantage of such complimentary amenities as a parking garage, valet parking service, a supervised Child Care Center and a concierge staff that assists in any way.

Member Appreciation Day at The Gran Centurion Pool

The Gran Centurion Pool recently celebrated another successful year with a Member Appreciation Day, featuring giant subs, buffet selections, beverages, DJ music, games, contests, and prizes. The day was enjoyed by all who attended.

The Gran Centurion Pool continues to offer a relaxed family atmosphere, snack bar, beverage bar, shaded picnic area with electric outlets, enclosed grill area, ample off-street parking, well-trained life guards and management staff and very clean pool conditions. The Pool is open to the public, with most of our members returning year after year.

With an enclosed baby pool, five swim lessons, a competitive swim team, late night swims, special nights, and holiday entertainment, The Gran Centurion Pool offers something for all members of the family.

Concord Singers kick off season with Vivaldi work

Rehearsals will begin Sept. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, 387 Springfield Ave., Summit, as the Concord Singers kick off its fall season.

Women of all ages and musical backgrounds are invited to join.

On May 23, The Concord Singers presented its second annual Choral Arts Award to a qualifying student who achieved excellence in the musical and vocal arena. They send out a special welcome to high school and college students to join them this focus.

Concord Singers will focus primarily on the preparation of Vivaldi's "Olori" in collaboration with The Newark Boys Chorus School Apprentices Chorus, and under the direction of Michael Sanfilippo, on this piece. As a non-auditioning chorus, they are committed to working together to develop and nurture the talents of individuals and the group. The Holiday Concert will take place Dec. 18.

For more information on membership, call Janet Murphy at (908) 276-1494.

Vo-tech school still has space in fall session

There is still room for more students in the myriad of full and part-time, day and evening courses being offered by the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools, as they begin their operational year.

The fall semester will get underway with the opening of the day session on Sept. 8. The Division of Continuing Education's evening classes start Sept. 13. Patrick Mauro, director of curriculum and instruction, points out that the Day Session provides skills-training in a wide variety of occupations. The Auto Technology Program, with its ASE, Automotive Service Excellence, certification, has been highly receive as has the Building Trades Cluster. The Culinary Arts and Baking Programs have won numerous honors and garnered praise from many quarters throughout the years.

Other popular programs are air conditioning, heating and refrigeration technology, drafting and design, machine technology, electro-mechanical technology and electrical technology. Twilight Culinary Arts is for adults who seek professional training in the area of food service.

One of the new programs coming this fall is telecommunications technology. This offering will help prepare students for a high-tech career installing, trouble-shooting and diagnosing telecommunications equipment. Most daytime classes are for adult tuition participants as well as high school students who wish to attend the vocational-technical schools on a shared-time basis.

According to John Crowley, director of Adult Education, a variety of new offerings has been added to the adult evening sessions: They are an adult cosmetology course meeting from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m., expanded auto technology classes that include state certificate programs in emissions technicians education program, New Jersey inspector training, and the New Jersey specific information course.

Various New Jersey State licensing preparation courses are also available. Among them are Barbering for the N.J. Cosmetology/Hairstyling License; Cosmetology; Manufacturing/Nail Technology; Black Seal Boilers; Waste Water Technology plus others.

The Adult Evening School also offers instruction classes in Microsoft Word and Excel as well as Windows 95-98. A computer repair course is offered for those individuals who desire in-depth instruction on the how and why a computer does what it does and how to make simple repairs and upgrades.

Day session registration is daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Baxell Hall at the UCVT's Scotch Plains Campus, 1776 Raritan Road. Mail registrations also will be accepted. For full details call the day session Office at (908) 889-2999.

Registration for adult evening school, also in Baxell Hall, will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Monday through Thursday and Aug. 30 and 31 from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and again from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Sept. 7, 8 and 9.

Registration can also be done via fax or by mail. The UCVT's Adult Education Bulletin contains full details. To be placed on the mailing list or to gain more information, call the Adult Education Office at (908) 889-2914 or 2922.

Elizabeth Arts Council sets meeting, launches hotline

The next meeting of the Elizabeth Arts Council will be conducted Sept. 14 at 7 p.m. in the offices of the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 633 Pearl St. in Elizabeth.

The Elizabeth Arts Council supports and promotes the work of Elizabeth's artistic community and cultural institutions.

The Elizabeth Arts Council, with the support of Elizabeth Mayor J.

Christian Bollwage and the City of Elizabeth, created the Elizabeth Arts Line.

The phone number of the Elizabeth Arts Line is (908) 820-4122. Callers receive up-to-date announcements of cultural events in and around the City of Elizabeth.

For more information about the Elizabeth Arts Council, call (908) 289-3584 or leave a message on the Arts Line.

Technology helps center help kids

Fast Forward, a computer program using state-of-the-art technology, was just featured in the July edition of Time magazine and by CBS and NBC news.

Suburban Speech Center in Short Hills has had more than 300 children, from ages 4-17, go through the training for one hour, 40 minutes a day for approximately six weeks. The children at the center showed improvements of one and a half to three years of speech processing and language ability in this short-time period. Children who have benefited include those with language difficulties, reading problems and auditory processing disorders.

Suburban Speech Center was just awarded the 1999 President's Award for Excellence.

For more information regarding services provided at Suburban Speech Center, call Nancy Polow at 921-1400.

Women's speaker will address resume writing and services

In the Community Education Workshop series offered by Women for Women of Union County, Carolee Marano, president of The Write Staff resume and writing services, will speak on conventions and techniques for preparing a successful employment resume in the Community Room of the Westfield Municipal Building, 425 E. Broad St., Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

 "An outstanding resume," says Marano, "will open the door to more interviews, create a favorable and competitive first impression, and help organize and prepare you for the interviewing process."
 Marano, previously an assistant vice president in international banking, has been preparing resumes for seven years. She has produced resumes for positions in numerous fields, at all levels. She has also lectured previously for Women for Women, and for the Westfield "Y" on this topic.

 In this workshop, Marano will provide the basics for resume format and content, enhanced with helpful visual aids. Information packets, including a summary of the lecture, sample resume formats, "power verb" lists, and interviewing tips, will be distributed to each attendee. Women and men are all welcome to attend.

Bobby McFerrin will open NJPAC's 1999-2000 season

Grammy-winning vocalist Bobby McFerrin, whose distinctive voice has been called "one of the most remarkable instruments in the world," opens the New Jersey Performing Arts Center's 1999-2000 season with a rare solo a cappella concert Sept. 26 at 8 p.m. in Prudential Hall.
Tickets are $10 to $45, and may be purchased by telephone at (800) GO-NJPAC or at the NJPAC box office at 1 Center St. in downtown Newark. This NJPAC event is presented as part of the "ATAT Premier Artist Series."
Born to two classical singers, McFerrin worked as a pianist and arranger before turning his attention to vocal music during the late 1970s. After a period in New Orleans with a band called Astral Projection, he moved to San Francisco where he met Bill Cobbs, who arranged for McFerrin to debut at the Hollywood Bowl as part of the 1980 Playboy Jazz Festival. After touring with his own band and collaborating with such jazz artists as Herbie Hancock and Wynton Marsalis, McFerrin took a major step in 1983 when he began unaccompanied concerting. This led to a solo tour of Germany, where the live album "The Voice" was recorded. This album showcased McFerrin's pioneering a cappella excursions. Since then, McFerrin has continued to present solo concerts in some of the world's most prestigious venues, and has received raves from critics around the world. "There is something almost supernatural about the range and technique of jazz vocalist Bobby McFerrin," said one "Newsweek" critic. "He is one of the world's most virtuosic and entertaining performing artists."
Through the 1980s, McFerrin expanded his circle of collaborators and his award-winning discography, including "Another Night in Tunisia," which won two Grammys, and "Spontaneous Inventions" with Herbie Hancock, Jon Hamm, Wayne Shorter and Robin Williams. He achieved unparalleled commercial success as a one-man vocal ensemble with his multi-tracked, multi-instrument 1988 album "Simple Pleasures," which included the worldwide, chart-topping single and video "Don't Worry, Be Happy."
McFerrin's on-going activities include symphonic conducting, to which he has devoted considerable time each season. In 1995, McFerrin released his first classical album, "Paper Music," which was recorded with the Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra for Sony Classical and remains on the "Billboard" chart of classical bestsellers. In 1996, "Bang Zoom," his collaboration with members of The Yellow Jacket, featured a number of McFerrin's jazz compositions and vocalizations. Later that year, Sony Classical released "The Mozart Sessions," his second collaboration with Corea. "Circlesong," his most recent release, refocused McFerrin's energies on spontaneously improvised vocal music. With members of Voicestra, he recorded the album and performed the entire concert tour without the benefit of any prepared material.

Classic musical at Paper Mill aims to 'coax the blues right out of the horn'

Paper Mill Playhouse will open its 1999-2000 millennium season with "Mame," the musical comedy classic with music and lyrics by Jerry Herman, and book by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee. The show, which star Christine Ebersole and is directed by Robert Johnson and choreographed by Michael Lightfeild, begins performances Wednesday and runs through Oct. 24.
Based on the novel "Auntie Mame" by Patrick Dennis and the play by Lawrence and Lee, "Mame" follows the adult adventures of a madcap flapper who unexpectedly inherits the guardianship of her 10-year-old nephew. Since the debut in 1965, "Mame" has become one of the most unforgettable and cherished fictional heroines of the 20th century, and rarely has a week gone by without the play or musical being performed somewhere in the world.
"I honestly think that 'Mame' is a forgotten treasure — it's a star vehicle, so it requires a very special leading lady — and Christine's ready to fit," says Artistic Director Johnson.
The production will also feature Tony Award-winner Kelly Bishop as Vera Charles, Sandy Rosenber as Agnes Gooch, Patti Sc. Inconni as Patrick Dennis at age 10, Dan Schilt as Beauregard Jackson, Pickens Burns, Tony Romero as 10-year-old Mame as Gloria Upson, and Ken Barnett as Patrick Dennis at age 10 to 29.
Scenic design for "Mame" is by Michael Anania, costume design by David Martin and lighting design by R. Mitchell Dana.
"Mame" originally opened at Broadway's Winter Garden Theater in 1965, starring Angela Lansbury, who won the first of her four Tony Awards as Best Actress in a Musical; Beatrice Arthur, who also won a Tony Award; Jane Connell, Frankie Michaels, Jerry Lanning; Willard Waterman, and Seb Shimono. Geste Saks directed with Orma White choreography. The production ran 1,508 performances.

Jerry Herman's score includes such gems as "We Need a Little Christmas," "Bosom Buddies," "If He Walked into My Life," "My Best Girl," and, of course, the rousing title tune.
The Paper Mill production will also feature Hayes Bergman, Stanley Bojarski, Susan Cella, Peter Comician, Jennifer Howard, Peter Huck, Eric K. Kaufman, Matt Lashey, Sara Lepore, Marc Mackay Lutz, Melissa Rae Mahon, Marianne Martin, William McCauley, Regina O'Malley, Judy Reynard, Marian Steiner, Laurie Sondheimy, Erin Swanson, and David Titus.
Composer Herman is a staple of the American musical theater. His first burst onto the Broadway scene was with "Milk and Honey" in 1961, followed by "Hello, Dolly!" in 1964, which was a record-breaking 10 Tony Awards including Best Musical. "Mame" won three 1966 Tony Awards. In 1968 with "Dear World," he was one of the few composers/lyricists to have three musicals running on Broadway simultaneously. Herman continued his Broadway career with "Mack & Mabel" in 1974 and "The Grand Tour" in 1979. He also contributed songs to "A Day in Hollywood/A Night in the Stars," "A Cage Aux Folles" won the 1984 Tony for Best Musical, "Harry's Girls," a round of the life's work has played to acclaim on Broadway and around the country. An award-winning revival of "Mack & Mabel" recently played in England. In the spring of 1999, Jerry received a special Theatre World Award for Lifetime Achievement, in addition to making his Broadway debut in "An Evening with Jerry Herman." He is currently writing a new musical, "Miss Spectacular," that will have a 2001 premiere in Las Vegas.

For more than 50 years, the work of scriptwriters Lawrence and Lee included "Look Ma, I'm Dancin'," "Inherit the Wind," "Auntie Mame," "The Gang's All Here," "Only in America," "A Call on Kuprin," "Diamond Droid" in "Mame," "Dear World," "The Incomparable Max," "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail," and "First Monday in October."
Ebersole has previously appeared at Paper Mill in "Paper Moon" and "Shenandoah." Her Broadway credits include "Getting Away With Murder," "The Zigfield Follies of 1936," "Lady in the Dark," and "Allegro" at City Center Encores; "Oklahoma!," "Camelot," "On the 20th Century," "Harrison in Han," "I Love My Wife," and "Angel Street." Her television credits include "Ink," "One Life to Live," for which she received a Daytime Emmy nomination; "Saturday Night Live," and "Gypsy," in which she played stripper Teesla Tura to Beate Midler's Mama Rose.
Bishop makes her Paper Mill debut as Mame's "bosom buddy" Vera Charles. Bishop won a 1976 Best Featured Actress in a Musical Tony Award for her performance as Sheila in "A Chorus Line." Bishop recently appeared in the George Szelei Playhouse production of "Innocent Carol." Paper Mill audiences might remember that before she changed her name from "Carol," she appeared in the 1976 production of "The Merry Widow."

FREE OIL CHANGE

For over 80 years our family philosophy has been to offer customers the best value for their money. It's with this commitment in mind, we offer free oil changes for as long as you own your Brunner vehicle. Times have changed - but it's nice to know there is still a car dealer that is focused on you - the customer - and not just on the bottom line.
