Say goodbye to ink

Cops go high tech with prints

By Joshua Zaitz
Staff Writer

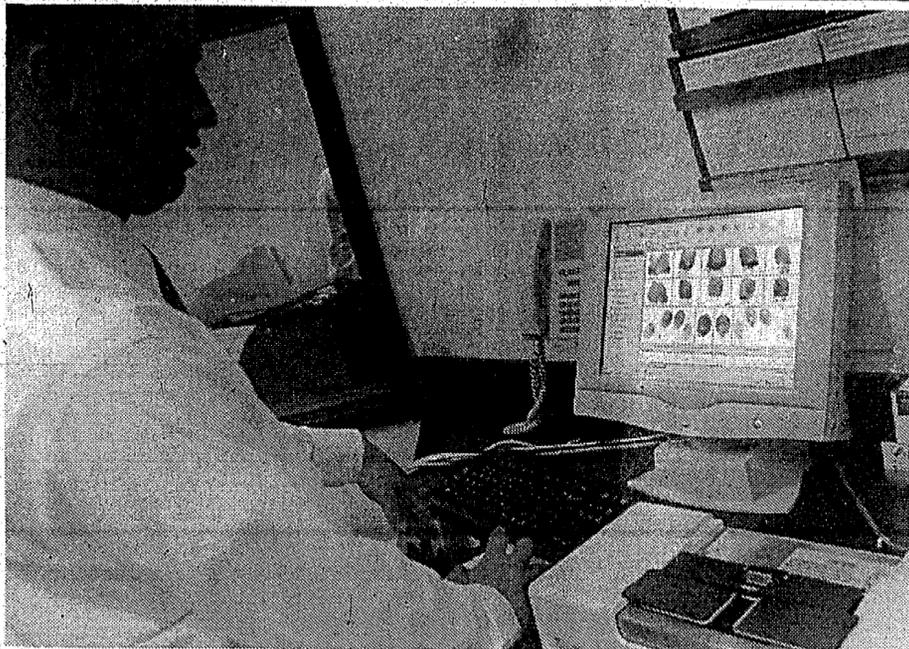

As the Mountainside Police Department continues to implement the latest technology in law enforcement, the borough recently installed an electronic fingerprint scanning system, replacing the outdated ink-blotted cards of the past.

"Instead of using any ink, or the old way with the cards that you would use, everything is now digitalized and done on the computer," said Detective Michael Jackson.

The cost of the system, as well as other police technological equipment, including laptop computers in every police vehicle, was approximately $144,128, of which $87,944 was paid by the federal government, and $56,184 was paid by police confiscation funds.

Currently, the borough is in the process of training all of its officers on how to use the new fingerprinting system.

"What we're going to be able to do, hopefully within the next 45 days, the Mountainside police are going to be

Mountainside Police Detective Michael Jackson demonstrates how their new electronic fingerprint scanning system works. The new technology can allow officers to find out about a suspect's background and other information from the simple scan of a finger print.

hooked up to the state computer," said Jackson.

Police officers call it "the name game" when someone is arrested and does not give the officer their real name, trying to avoid apprehension.

"What we'll be able to do is take their fingerprints, as you would a normal arrestee, and we'll be able to send it out to the state computer which would check that individual to see if he's ever been arrested before, if he has a prior record, and it'll be able to tell us exactly who he is," said Jackson.

With the old system, officers would fingerprint the arrestee, using ink and cards, then the borough would have to send the prints to the State Police. The State Police would have to wait to receive the prints and then double check the prints against past records and the name the arrestee gave to the borough.

"So you're talking a matter of, sometimes, four hours to find out who somebody is and this will cut it down to minutes," said Jackson. "It's going to be a great factor in fighting crime and figuring out who these people are."

Once the fingerprints are scanned into the computer, officers can print them onto as many cards as they want, and file those cards under the appropriate headings, such as sex offender or criminal. Normally when someone is arrested, officers make three separate cards of their fingerprints. Two are for state cards, and one is for an FBI card, depending on the offense committed.

The new system cuts down on time. Instead of officers having to fingerprint an arrestee three times with the ink system, now officers only have to scan their prints into the computer once. Borough officers can print out as many cards as they want using only those originally scanned prints.

"Since Chief James Debbie has taken over the department he has taken us in a great direction," said Jackson. "He's trying to get us on the forefront of all this new technology."

The machine will not only be used to fingerprint people who have been arrested.

"We'll also be using this machine for someone who is getting an application for school work," said Jackson. "School employees now need to be fingerprinted. It can be used for fire-arm identification cards, taking those fingerprints. Everything will be done on this computer."

The machine will also be used to fingerprint minors, if parents would like to have a copy of their children's fingerprints, to keep in case of an emergency.

"We do have a special field for a juvenile," said Jackson.

Officials wary of reopening railroad

By Joshua Zaitz
Staff Writer

Within the next three years, Springfield residents may be hearing the loud whistles of freight train engines in their backyards as an agreement has been reached between Union County officials and the Morristown & Erie Railway to reopen the Rahway Valley Railroad line, which runs through residential neighborhoods, major highways and county parks.

A portion of the tracks cross Route 22 in Union, then head into Springfield cutting across Meisel Avenue, leading onto Mountain Avenue and weaving its way through residential properties, and then crossing over Shunpike Road by the Summit border.

"Those two overpasses are gone," Township Administrator Richard Sheola said, referring to old overpasses, one of which crossed over Shunpike Road. "One was hit by a truck last year or the year before and the other one had been removed even before that."

Tracks located at Meisel and Mountain avenues are buried under layers of concrete. The former Springfield station, across Mountain Avenue from where the new fire headquarters is being constructed, is still in use, only now as a business.

"If you go along the line, the rails are buried for a good length between Meisel and Mountain Avenue," said Sheola.

The state spent $25 million to acquire the rail lines and an additional

For more on the Rahway Valley Railroad, see Page B1.

$7.8 million in state Transportation Trust Fund money is going to be used to clear the tracks and lay down new rails.

As to who would be responsible for restoring the conditions of the tracks, it's still up in the air, according to Sheola.

"One way to look at it is whoever buried them would be responsible for the restoration of the railroad, of the county or somebody could just say that we're going to have to do this," said Sheola. "I wouldn't even take a guess on it at this point."

The state purchased the abandoned railroads under the Bridge and Railroad Right-of-Way Preservation Act, which was adopted in 1989.

"We have never gotten any official word that there are going to be tracks reactivated through Springfield," said Mayor Steven Goldstein.

At a Township Committee meeting earlier in the month, Committeeman Gregory Clarke said the railroad line would be reactivated from Cranford up to Union.

"That's what we had heard three weeks ago," Sheola said. "But the fact that now they're talking about reactivation all the way through Summit is something that is certainly a little bit different."

Towns plan to mark 9/11 in their own way

By Joan M. Devlin
Staff Writer

The Borough of Mountainside and the Township of Springfield will be observing Sept. 11, each in its own way, with tributes and prayers for those who died in the terrorist attacks.

Mountainside
"We will definitely observe a moment of silence on the morning of Sept. 11," said Mountainside Borough Administrator and Police Chief James Debbie.

He said also that church bells will ring, from both Our Lady of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church and the Community Presbyterian Church, and they will throughout the nation on that anniversary day.

An ecumenical prayer service is planned for 7:30 p.m. Sept. 11 at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, 300 Central Ave., which is open to everyone in the community.

In his capacity as borough administrator, Debbie said that at the last Mountainside Borough Council meeting, a special resolution was passed to honor the victims of Sept. 11. "Mountainside lost one resident, Port Authority Police Inspector Tony Infante, formerly of Chatham, and his name will be mentioned in the resolution," said Debbie. Union County plans a candlelight vigil in Echo Lake Park, Sept. 11 at 8 p.m.

Springfield
Township Administrator Richard Sheola said that on Sept. 11, there will be a special church service sponsored by the Clergy Council at 6 p.m., in front of the Springfield Municipal Building. "The entire community is invited to participate in this memorial service," said Sheola.

Mayor Steven Goldstein will give a short message at the memorial service, and said, "It will be short...all of us will remember in our own way that day. Everyone is welcome."

In addition, Springfield's Fire Department, led by Fire Chief William Gras, will host its own memorial service at the firehouse, at the exact times of the terrorist attack on the World Trade Center: the first service is set for 8:48 a.m., and the second at the time the second tower came down, approximately 10:40 a.m.

The Fireman's Prayer will be said, and the solemn tribute to all the firefighters who died that day — 323 in total. The special service is also open to members of the public who wish to attend.

Committeeman hopes for winds of change

By Joshua Zaitz
Staff Writer

Four years ago Springfield Township Committeeman Sy Mullman coined the phrase "Take Pride In Springfield." He is changing the phrase to "Take Charge In Springfield."

"I've been doing some research over the last two weeks and I've discovered that we average almost $6.8 million a year paid to Union County," Mullman said. "I'm trying to figure out what we get for our money and at this point I am extremely dissatisfied."

Mullman has proposed to build 30 windmills on a portion of the 165-acre Houdaille Quarry, which is owned by the county. He believes wind generated from these windmills will help supply the township and neighboring communities with electricity.

Mullman first proposed to construct the windmills last year. He has been meeting with representatives of utility companies and public officials about the proposal.

Mullman said the township has set up meetings with officials, such as U.S. Sen. Jon Corzine, to discuss the

ARC set to open

By Joshua Zaitz
Staff Writer

On Wednesday, the ARC of Union County, an organization that helps children with disabilities, will open the doors of its new ARC Kohler School, a special education school in Mountainside for developmentally disabled children.

"We are a private, out-of-district placement, for children whose needs can't be accommodated in the current district programs," said ARC Kohler School Principal Allan Kahn. "So our goal is to give them the skills and make them ready to go back to the district program. We work very closely with the parents and the case managers for the district, who see when the kids are ready, if there's more we have to do or the district has to do to get ready for this child's needs."

The ARC Kohler School was located in Winfield Park since 1963 but will be replaced by the new school in Mountainside, located at 1137 Globe Ave.

The new school will be able to accept even more students into a modernized facility, benefiting the students there as well as the public school districts from which these students derive.

"This building greatly increases the amount of space for the children, for the equipment that they require, for the therapists to work with the children," said Kahn. "We have about four times the amount of space in this building. So each classroom is significantly larger and the amount of the therapy area — both for individual therapy and group therapy — is much larger."

The halls are wider with more maneuverability, to accommodate children in wheelchairs.

"For our access to the building, even our loading and unloading of the buses, we have a covered area where we can load and unload the children so that in inclement weather they are protected," said Kahn.

The school is big enough to accommodate 90 students. However, Frank Caragher, executive director of the ARC of Union County, said that 90 kids would be a very big school for them. "I would think that in our three-year plan we won't go much further than 73 to 74 kids," said Caragher. "We are just moving into our new home," said Kahn. "We'll move in with about 60 kids and gradually increase as the need arises."

Caragher explained that the school has 59 students who are registered for the fall but they are looking to have numbers in the mid-60s for the first year.

ARC has been incorporated in Union County, statewide and nationally, for 52 years.

"It's a segregated environment," said Caragher. "We only serve children with a disability. The parents tend to be the driving force for a school like this. They would want their son or daughter to be in something like this. It allows children with similar disabilities to grow and learn at that pace together."

Public education laws state that special education students can receive public education from the ages of 3 to 21. This school will house children ages 3 to 10.

"It's not so much the age but what we can do with them in this time," said Kahn. "Many of our children need a lot of adaptive equipment, such as wheelchairs, standers. There's a lot of therapy equipment that the therapists work with."

Each public school district does an assessment of a child to determine what the child's needs are. If it is determined that a child does have special needs, a school like the ARC

Township seeks answers

(Continued from Page 1) idea. Another major meeting is scheduled Sept. 10 with Jersey Central Power & Lighting, the state, Department of Transportation, Corzine's office, and the county.

It is necessary to obtain the county's permission to conduct tests at the quarry, to see if the wind there would supply a sufficient amount of energy. Currently, the county uses the land for a pistol range, a county maintenance garage and leaf composting operation.

"There are things that are going on that we can't get answers for," Mullman, who is seeking re-election this year, said. "We call the freholders and we get nothing but ignored."

"Sy has become aware of these issues. I guess, quicker than us and has made it an issue faster than us, but the issue he brings up about our return for our money is now taking a critical stance, especially with what's going on at Meisel Field," said Mayor Steven Goldstein.

Meisel was originally closed in August of last year, after soil and groundwater testing performed by Florham Park-based Matrix Environmental and Geotechnical Services found levels of three contaminants, including arsenic, lead and an insecticide, in excess of residential standards set by the state.

"Obviously it is within our best interests that Meisel Field be cleaned up and opened as soon as possible and we will be pursuing that," said Committeewoman Clara Harelik.

All roads lead to a bright future here

In 1993, the Women's Resource Center, The Connection for Women & Families and Overlook Hospital developed a coordinated support service for women with breast cancer. Since its inception, Pathways has provided breast cancer services for hundreds of women in Essex, Morris, Somerset, and Union counties.

Several years ago, Pathways expanded its support group offerings by providing services for women with gynecological cancers — including ovarian cancer. From the beginning, the mission of Pathways has been to offer community-based support services and resources to women with breast and gynecological cancers and to their families and friends. This mission has not changed.

Women take many paths on the road to recovery from breast and gynecological cancers and need emotional support and outreach services to make the journey. Pathways is taking a new path that will secure its position in the community for years to come. Under the guidance of the Women's Resource Center, Pathways will continue to provide weekly support groups for women with breast and gynecological cancers during the week of daytime and evening groups.

Pathways will continue to offer the same quality of services to group participants through the dedicated profes-

Reeves-Reed gets set for fall

Reeves-Reed Arboretum, 165 Hobart Ave., Summit, offers a variety of events in the fall and winter. From Sept. 9 to Nov. 2, Dwight Hisceno's photographs will be on view downstairs in Wisner House, the arboretum's headquarters. Hisceno, the photographer and the author of "New Jersey: The Natural State," has been creating images of the natural landscape for 20 years. Admission is free to the public during office hours.

On Sept. 27, the arboretum will invite wine enthusiasts to "Great Invasives: A Festive Tasting of Fine Wines." The Wine Library in Springfield will furnish a selection of wines from around the world, to be accompanied by hors d'oeuvres. The evening will also feature a silent auction, not only of fine wines, but also of gourmet meals from local restaurants, such as the Ryland Inn in Woodbridge.

"Great Grapes" will last from 7 to 10 p.m. Proceeds will benefit the arboretum's horticultural and educational programs.

Herend porcelain lovers are invited to the Herend trunk show, Nov. 7 and 8, to be at La Jolie Maison, 359 Springfield Ave., Summit. There they may meet with a representative of Herend Guild Hungarian porcelain, and take the opportunity to see and purchase special Herend collector's items not normally available. There will be a wine and cheese reception at 7 p.m. Nov. 7. A portion of the proceeds benefits Reeves-Reed Arboretum.

On Dec. 12, supporters of the arboretum can get ideas for the holidays on the arboretum's Holiday

Holy Cross has Kidz Trax program

Holy Cross Church, 639 Mountain Ave., Springfield, introduces Kidz Trax, a new after-school program for children in grades two through five. The students will see and hear clips of favorite movies and music, followed by a discussion of what God's Word says about the main point.

Afterwards, they may choose their favorite activity "trax." Choices will include sports, cooking, hand bells, Tae-Bo, first aid and dance. Kidz Trax meets on alternate Tuesday afternoons this fall at Holy Cross Church.

Holy Cross continues to offer its popular kids' kolonia program for younger children, age 4 through grade 19. Kids' Kolonia also meets Tuesday afternoons for games, small group Bible study, great music, and lots of fun in a safe Christian environment.

For registration information for either program, call 973-379-4525, Ext. 14.

Rev. P.J. Leonard and at 8 p.m., a Tea Party. Participants can learn about tea in a presentation by Peter Guggli of the Lipton Tea Co.

The Rosary Society will be happy to greet all as they start the season with worship, fun and fellowship. Feel free to bring a friend or relative.

For information, call 908-232-1162.

Calvary welcomes new coordinator

Betsy LaVela will bring her experience as director of Christian Education at Crossroads International Church in Amsterdam, Netherlands, and as director of Children's Ministries at Renaissance Church in Millburn to her new position as coordinator of Christian Education at Calvary Episcopal Church in Summit.

She will oversee all classes from pre-K through fifth grade, supervising the use of new curricula and coordinating teachers and resource aids. About 150 children at Calvary from ages 3-and-older receive an hour or more of age-appropriate religious instruction per week during the school year.

Three-year-olds through kindergartners participate in Godly Play, informal classes incorporating music and crafts centered on Bible stories. Godly Play and more structured classes for older children are all taught by volunteer church members. Nursery care is available for infants and toddlers.

Formal Sunday School programs resume on Sept. 8, from 9 to 9:50 a.m. While the children are in Sunday school, Calvary offers coffee for adults, as well as book discussions groups and forums.

Sunday church services at Calvary are at 8 and 10 a.m. During the school year, younger children who join their families at the 10 a.m. service may choose to skip the sermon and instead attend a children's chapel service downstairs in the sanctuary.

Calvary Episcopal Church is located at the corner of Woodland and DeForest avenues.

For more information, call the church at 908-277-1814, or check the web site, www.calvary-summit.org.

Healing service Sept. 8

On Sept. 8, the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield on the corner of Morris Avenue and Church Mall, will offer a service of healing and comfort at 10-15 a.m. There will be a special focus on spiritual healing dealing particularly with relationships, both individual and corporate.

Comfort will pour forth through the voice of Jane Bunnell, as she blesses all with "Agnus Dei" — Lamb of God — by Georges Bizet. Bunnell's name also appears on the roster of The Metropolitan Opera. Find peace and

Period of prayer at Fountain Baptist

The Rev. J. Michael Sanders, the pastor of Fountain Baptist Church, 116 Glenisde Ave., has called his congregation to enter into a period of prayer and fasting for the dual purpose of uniting the fellowship in its quest to acquire seven acres of land and for the healing of the community.

The church's attempt to purchase land from the Union County has set off a firestorm of protest in the town and on the Summit Common Council. Both the pastor of the church and the chairman of the trustee ministry have been targets of verbal attacks on the Internet and in the press.

"I firmly believe that God is using this fellowship to make a difference in this community, to demonstrate how to behave when under attack. Fountain is under attack; but we fight that attack with the weapon of prayer," said Chairman Phil Hill. "We will gather to pray for strength and that God's will be done in this situation."

"Fountain has been a part of this community for 104 years," Hill said. "As distressing as it may be to us in 2002, the truth is this is not the first time our desire to grow has revealed a substrata of meanness and hatred that lies just below the surface. It is an ugly and unfortunate part of our history in Summit.

"As much as we would like to believe otherwise," Hill said, "racial intolerance and bigotry are not dead. But as Jesus taught more than 2,000 years ago, we must pray for those who hate us. We must also pray for the city officials, that they will have the courage to do what is right. We must stand united against the 'isms' that would destroy our community and our land."

"Every other hour of worship is undergoing expansion," Hill said, adding that Fountain is no different. "Seven has significance for the people of God. It represents completeness and wholeness. I believe that God is using this situation to show Summit, to show His people, that it is time to change our ways."

Program helps build Jewish families

Temple Sha'arey Shalom, 78 S. Springfield Ave., Springfield, has announced a new program for expectant parents. "In the Beginning... Raising a Jewish Baby" is designed to help new parents and grandparents welcome a Jewish baby into their lives.

Through the lens of Jewish tradition, participants will explore perspectives on building a Jewish family.

The class will run for three Tuesdays beginning Oct. 22 at 7:30 p.m.

The class will cover a variety of topics including the blessings of parenthood, naming and welcoming rituals, creating a Jewish home and family, and raising proud, Jewish children. The instructor is Irene Bolton, UAHC New Jersey-West Hudson Valley Regional Educator. This program is open to any adult who will be raising a Jewish child.

The program is open to non-stemple members as well as members. No prior knowledge is necessary. Class registration opens Monday. Class size is limited. Early registration is encouraged. The cost of the class, including materials is $36 per family.

Temple Sha'arey Shalom is a Reform Jewish congregation affiliated with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. Memberships are from the communities of Camden, Elizabeth, Millburn, Springfield, Union, Westfield and other surrounding communities. The temple serves as a social, educational and religious focal center for the communities with an outreach program, active Sisterhood and Brotherhood, and a strong social action program.

To register or for more information call Congregational Educator Mindy Schreff at Temple Sha'arey Shalom at 973-379-5387. Registration materials will be mailed to you.

Farmers' Market at its peak

The Summit Farmers' Market is at its peak, with a full bounty of summer produce on the farmers' tables. Piled high are "Jersey Fresh" corn, tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, cucumbers, beans, melons and more.

The market takes place Sundays from 8:30 to 1:30 p.m. in the Park and Shop parking lot on the corner of Maple Street and DeForest Avenue. The market is open every Sunday, rain or shine, and free parking is available in the adjacent parking lots and on the street.

The 2002 market features eight vendors, including Carl Race Farm, John Specca from Corner-Copia, Anthony Vacciano representing Donaldson Farm;

Special walk honors victims

After the tragic events of Sept. 11, the Junior League of Summit formed a task force to find a way to help the families within its service area.

"We wanted to do something for those that were affected, something that would bring the community together to pay tribute and remember those that were lost," said Gary Hollowell, task force member.

After the many hours of brainstorming and sleepless nights, the Junior League Task Force decided on a Walk for Remembrance. The walk is scheduled for Sept. 15 and is a non-competitive two-mile walk in memory of those who were lost in the Sept. 11, 2001 tragedy, as well as to help the 50 children in Berkeley Heights, Chatham, New Providence and Summit, who have lost a parent as a result of Sept. 11. The funds will be disbursed by December.

The walk begins and ends at Mabie Playground in downtown Summit. Walkers are encouraged to park at the Broad Street lot in Summit. Parking is free. Walkers are also asked to pre-register to walk to avoid any long lines on the day of the walk. There is no registration fee to walk.

"It has been a roller-coaster project," said Amanda Greenblatt. "When we started the task force we thought there were only 20 children; as we continued our planning we found out it was 50 children. Then we thought we would have to do fundraising in order to pay for the brochures and posters; but we were able to get underwriting for these big ticket items."

Janet Whitman, former mayor and Junior League member, has also shown her support for the event. "I think it's a wonderful goal of helping the children in the league service area, it will be great for those children," she said. Greenblatt and Hollowell have appeared on Whitman's program on TV-36.

Summit Council President John A. Maher has been involved in the Walk for Remembrance. For information about the Walk for Remembrance, call 908-273-3439 or visit the web site at www.JLSummit.org.

The fee for the program is $160. Participation in all Girl Project programs is limited, so call the Women's Resource Center at 908-273-7253 to register as soon as possible. Scholarships are always available for all programs.

Girl Project offers fun run/walk training program

The Girl Project of the Women's Resource Center is offering a fun program for girls in grades three to five. This 3.1-mile run/walk training program combines workouts with games that teach specific life skills such as how to make healthy decisions, resolve conflict and get along in a group.

The training includes self-esteem enhancing and uplifting warm-ups and workouts that encourage emotional, social, mental, spiritual and physical development. The "Hear Me Roar" workouts will be conducted in Summit.

This 10-week program is co-sponsored with the Connection for Women & Families in Summit. The sessions will be at Washington School in Summit Mondays and Thursdays, beginning Sept. 9, from 4 to 5 p.m.

The upcoming high school football season will be one to be cherished for some time. That's because next year, with realignment set to pass in December, we'll see a brave new world regarding who plays who.

So far, for one last season, enjoy somewhat traditional rivalries. Some will still exist. Some will be a thing of the past.

This season will kick off Friday, Sept. 13, which is the beginning of Week Zero. The season could not start the weekend before because of the Jewish holiday Rosh Hashanah on Saturday, Sept. 7.

The playoff cutoff date weekend is Nov. 8-9, with the first two rounds of the playoffs to follow the next two weekends.

Thanksgiving Day games will be played on Nov. 28 and later that weekend.

Sectional finals will be played Dec. 6-8. Even Chanukah begins earlier than usual this year, set to begin at sundown the day after Thanksgiving, which is Friday, Nov. 29.

Most teams will open Week Zero, which is Sept. 13-14. The rest that don't will open the following weekend, Sept. 20-21.

There are 16 football playing schools in Union County once again, with Brearley's squad including players from Dayton as part of a co-op agreement, as was the case last year.

Most Union County schools have out-of-county non-conference foes this year, teams they haven't faced or played in some time.

As far as Watching Conference teams go, Union hosts Bridgewater-Raritan, Elizabeth hosts Hillsborough, Plainfield plays at Hunterdon Central, Westfield plays at Randolph and hosts Morristown, Cranford hosts JFK Iselin and Scotch Plains hosts Watchung Hills.

As far as Mountain Valley Conference teams go, Hillside plays at JFK Iselin, Johnson hosts the Granite School of Trenton, Rahway plays at Delaware Valley, Roselle Park hosts Montville, Brearley plays at Metuchen at Union and also plays at Morristown-Bear and New Providence hosts Caldwell and plays at Butler.

Teams that didn't make the playoffs, but finished strong were New Providence, Hillside and Roselle. New Providence won its last four games to finish 4-7-3. The Pioneers closed with a 21-14 home win over Summit.

Hillside also won its last four games and finished 6-4. The Comets closed with a 26-21 win at Brearley, snapping the Bears' four-game winning streak.

Roselle won three of its last four games and its last two to finish at 4-6. Union County finished 1-10-1 in 2001.

SPORTS

Right around the corner

The Summit High School football team, under the guidance of first-year coach George DiGrande, will open Saturday, Sept. 14 at Tatlock Field against Iron Hills Conference-Division Five Morris Hills at 1:30 p.m. The Hilltoppers were 4-6 last season and have made the North 2, Group 2 playoffs the past two seasons.

Dayton boys' soccer team seeking a little bit of luck

Bulldogs coming off successful 11-7-1 season

Looking for a little bit of luck. That's what the Dayton High School boys' soccer team will be seeking this season.

After a very successful 11-7-1 record last year, the Bulldogs were snatched as they came up just short of qualifying for the North Jersey, Section 2, Group 1 playoffs.

Needing just a tie to qualify for a spot with four games in hand before the cutoff date, Dayton had to cancel two contests due to having no fields available to play on.

"Both of the teams that we were scheduled to play lost to us earlier in the year," Dayton head coach Felix Fabiano said. "The field that we were supposed to play on (Green Acres) was underwater. With not another field available, both games were rescheduled after the deadline."

Dayton's last two opportunities came against Mountain Valley Conference-Valley Division Five New Providence. Needing just a tie in either game against the Pioneers, the Bulldogs came away empty as they dropped a tough 2-1 decision at home and then lost 4-0 on the road.

"If the makeup games were scheduled before the deadline, we definitely would've made the playoffs," Fabiano said.

Fabiano, who's been with the Bulldogs since 1986, ascended to the top spot in 1995.

"Making the states this year is definitely one of our goals," Fabiano said. "We've been very close to achieving that in the past three years."

Having lost two seniors from last year's squad, Dayton will definitely miss the services of midfielder Mo Abdelaziz, who was among the team's top scorers.

"Mo was more than a player, he was a leader on and off the field," Fabiano said. "There is no replacement for him."

The Bulldogs will be sparked by the play of the Soto brothers, Carlos and Luis. Carlos, who is one of four senior captains, will be the team's main offensive threat, while younger brother Luis, a junior, is the sweeper.

"Both players will be very important to the success of our team," Fabiano said. "They were both selected as players to watch this season by The Star-Ledger."

Carlos netted 17 goals last season, while Luis tallied for seven.

"Carlos has good dribbling ability and a great shot," Fabiano said. "I expect him to get much better."

Lowé is the first to earn lacrosse honor

Leadership, love of game unmatched

By Jeff Wolfrom
Staff Writer

In his recognition of selfless vision, leadership and love for lacrosse, as well as instilling passion in others for the betterment of the game, and as a result, the entire lacrosse community, Darren Lowé of Summit was selected the first recipient of the William H. "Dinty" Moore III Distinguished Service Award.

The New York Lacrosse Exchange will present the award to Lowé on Sept. 24 at the University Club in New York.

"It's a great honor to be the inaugural recipient of the award," Lowé said. "I'm the first honoree of something I hope they do for a long time."

The US Lacrosse Foundation is an independent nonprofit corporation that operates in support of US Lacrosse, the national governing body of men's and women's lacrosse. The principal aims and objectives of the Foundation are to encourage, foster and promote the sport of lacrosse, as played by both men and women, in the United States and, in particular, to benefit and support the programs and activities of US Lacrosse.

"We felt Darren showed leadership at the national level and has a great passion for the sport," Sally Ratcliffe, the Director of Development for US Lacrosse said. "Since he presents all the qualities we were looking for, he was a unanimous choice."

Lowé was a member of the 2002 U.S. Men's Lacrosse Team that successfully defended its five consecutive titles by winning last month's International Lacrosse Federation World Championships in Perth, Australia.

The competition that began in late June and concluded in early July saw the U.S. team defeat Canada 18-15 in the championship.

"One of my greatest honors was being named captain of the U.S. team," Lowé said. "Since I was a little older than most of the players on the team, it gave me a platform to be an extension to the coaching staff."

After the final, Lowé announced his retirement from international competition.

"I felt my time on the team was up," Lowé said. "Plus, there were two alternatives on the team that were worthy of playing."

Lowé took the lead in securing JP Morgan Chase's flagship sponsorship of Team USA. Combining that solicitation with all his others, he was, by far, the leading fund-raiser for US Lacrosse in its efforts for the national squad.

"It's amazing that Darren did all that considering the business that he's in," Ratcliffe said. "He has a great ability and spirit to want to push lacrosse to an elite level."

Lowé, who grew up in Long Island, is a Brown University graduate that garnered All-America honors three times. In his senior season of 1992, Lowé was named the NCAA and Ivy League Player of the Year.

He's excelled in the United States Club Lacrosse Association since then, earning all-club honors every year since 1993 and was the Player of the Year in 1999.

Knowing that he's a role model, Lowé has traveled around the country giving numerous clinics teaching the sport to all. His typical spring weekend over the last several years has included three days of lacrosse, most of it to teach others the game.

"I try to be an ambassador for the game," Lowé said. "I use my status to help influence kids and help make them pay attention."

Lowé feels a positive aspect of the sport is that people don't get a chance to see the bad side of your persona.

"I can walk into a stadium filled with thousands of screaming fans and be spotted right away," Lowé said. "Later, after the game, I can go into a diner and have nobody recognize me."

Lowé has spent the past four years as a volunteer coach and is a board member of the Summit Lacrosse Club. He has worked with youngsters in grades 2 through high school and has coached 15-and-under festival squad in New Jersey.

"In the summer lacrosse programs, most of the coaches are parents," Lowé said. "In the Summit program, nine of the dozen coaches aren't. It's a great staff that really knows the sport. I would challenge another staff that has the knowledge of ours."

With hopes of coaching at a higher level one day, Lowé's future plans include staying involved in the Summit Lacrosse Club and helping it grow.

"I feel like I'm a big brother to the youngsters in the program," Lowé said. "I'm compelled to help out in any way I can."

At the upcoming ceremony, Lowé will be presented with a framed jersey. Among the many supporters of Lowé in attendance will be Brett Haire, the co-chairman of the New York Lacrosse Exchange Committee and member of the US Lacrosse Foundation Board of Directors. Haire is also the president of the Summit Lacrosse Club.

"Brett is one of those special people who is a big part of the sport," Lowé said. "His contributions to the town of Summit are one of the big reasons for the success of the high school program."

With over 49 chapters around the country, US Lacrosse plans on having the award ceremony at a different city each year.

"It's a good way of getting our name out there," Ratcliffe said.

Temple Sha'arey Shalom captures third consecutive softball crown

The men's softball team from Springfield's Temple Sha'arey Shalom claimed its third straight league championship and fourth in five years when it defeated Cranford's Beth El 34-9 in the third and deciding game Aug. 17 at Sandmeier Field in Springfield.

The best-of-three Central Jersey Temple League championship series began a week earlier in Cranford, with Cranford taking Game One by a 17-15 score. Springfield bounced back to win Game Two 12-11.

In Game Three, Sha'arey wasted no time, plating 10 runs in the first inning and five in the second. Cranford scored only one run in the final three innings.

Sha'arey captured the North Division title, compiling a 10-3 regular season record, and then defeated South Orange's Ohev Shalom 16-12 in the division playoffs.

Cranford took the South Division with an 8-2 record and then beat Clark's Beth Or 23-19 in the division final, setting up the league championship series with Springfield.

Paper Mill opens season with 'Miss Saigon' premiere

Rehearsals started last week in New York City for the New Jersey premiere of the international musical sensation, "Miss Saigon," which will open the 2002-03 season at Paper Mill: The State Theater of New Jersey under Executive Producer Angelo DeRossi.

"Miss Saigon" will begin its seven-week run Sept. 4 and continue through Oct. 20 and is sponsored in part by Sovereign Bank. Tickets are $30 to $67. Paper Mill: The State Theater of New Jersey is located on Brookside Drive in Milltown. For tickets, call 973-376-4343, stop by the box office or buy online at www.papermill.org.

Written by Alan Boublil — book, lyrics and original French lyrics — and librettist-composer Claude-Michel Schönberg and English lyrics Richard Green, "Miss Saigon" is directed by Paper Mill Associate Director Mark S. Hoebbe, with choreography by Darren Lee, musical direction by Tom Helm, scenic design by Michael Anania, lighting by F. Mitchell Dana, sound by Duncan Robert Edwards and David F. Shapiro, and costumes by Ray Delle Robbins and Gail Baldoni.

"The classic love story, "Madam Butterfly" is brought up to date by the team of "Les Miserables," in one of the most stunning theatrical spectacles of the time. Raw and uncompromising, "Miss Saigon" tells of an American GI and a Vietnamese girl who fall in love, only to be separated during the fall of Saigon. Their epic struggle to find each other in the ensuing years examines the conflict between the losses we suffer in a world torn by war and the sacrifices made to bring a peace which is universal in its emotional power and features such passionate songs as "The Movie in My Mind," "Why, God, Why?" "I Still Believe," "I'd Give My Life for You," and "The American Dream."

Paper Mill's "Miss Saigon" is a co-production with American Musical Theater of San Jose and Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera.

After his regal performance in "The King and I," Kevin Gray returns to Paper Mill as The Engineer, a role he previously performed to critical acclaim in Toronto and Los Angeles and for which he received the Dora Mavor Moore and Dramalogue awards. He has captivated Broadway audiences in some of the most famous musical theater roles including Gaylord Ravenal in "Show Boat," both Raoul and The Phantom in "The Phantom of the Opera" and The King in Broadway's "The King and I."

Dina Lynne Morishita will step into the role of Kim, the innocent and heart-felt soul that is "Miss Saigon," with great ease, having understudied the roles of Kim and Ellen in the National Tour. Recently, she captivated audiences across the United States with her portrayal of Eponine in the National Tour of "Les Miserables."

In the role of Chris, the American GI who falls for Kim, Aaron Ramey comes to Paper Mill directly from the original cast of Broadway's "Thoroughly Modern Millie." Ramey has fascinated audiences across the country as The Beast in the National Tour of Disney's "Beauty and the Beast."

At certain performances, Roxanne Tago will portray the role of Kim, after having starred in the Broadway production of "Miss Saigon." Also featured in the ensemble are Cristina Ablaza, Randy Ballesteros, Bernie Blanks, Kevin M. Burrows, Paul Canan, Terrence McKinley Clowe, Francis J. Cruz, Christopher Davis, Dexter Echiverri, Richard Feng Zhu, Kelly Fong, Samantha Futterman, Megumi Haggerty, Michael Hunsaker, Joanne Javay, Spencer C. Jones, Mark Ledbetter, Kathy Nejar, Mayumi Omagari, Whitney Osentoski, Bobby Pestka, Diane Veronica Phelan, Freddy Ramirez, Summer Tiana Sablan, Adrienne Sam, Michael Vea and Lisa Yum.

Mark S. Hoebbe, director, serves as Paper Mill's associate director. A native of Freehold, he resides in Maplewood. Hoebbe recently staged the special curtain call for the record-breaking production of "Les Miserables." He has directed the Paper Mill productions of "The King and I," "Victor/Victoria," "The Will Rogers Follies," "Dreamgirls" and "Love Letters." A graduate of Northwestern University, Hoebbe is a veteran of many Broadway and National Tours. Recent directing credits include the National Tour of Stephen Sondheim's "Company" and Diabhan Carroll in "Almost Like Being in Love: An Evening With Lerner & Loewe."

'Flowering paintings' opens next week

Beginning Sept. 5, and continuing through Oct. 4, the Member's Gallery at the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts, 68 Elm St. in Summit, will showcase "Bouquet Flower Paintings" by Mary Wicklife.

There will be a reception for the artist Sept. 13 from 6 to 8 p.m.

A "natural shift from gardening to canvas" spurred the artist to return to painting after a 20-year hiatus. Acrylic pigments that worked so well for the artist in her hard-edged abstractions of the '70s proved challenging and rewarding in the soft silhouettes and translucent petals of Wicklife's "Bouquet Flower Paintings." The images are cleopuses of a single or multiple blossom — a technique first explored by modern photographers. Dark backgrounds reminiscent of the Old Dutch Masters make the bright colors "jump" out at the viewer.

A gallery committee member of NJCVA since 1978, Wicklife has co-curated 18 exhibitions, written and designed more than a dozen accompanying catalogs and exhibited her own work in solo and group exhibitions including invitational shows at Nabisco and Overlook Hospital.

Founded in 1933 by a dedicated group of local artists, NJCVA has evolved into a major regional art center. It has a full-scale art school taught by an award-winning faculty. There are two interior galleries and an outdoor exhibition space/sculpture garden. Programs include Artists With Disabilities, docent tours, lectures, demonstrations, art trips, workshops, a summer art camp and ongoing activities. The nonprofit New Jersey Center for Visual Arts is wheelchair accessible and is funded in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, a Partner Agency of the National Endowment of the Arts.

For more information and visuals about this exhibition call Bonnie Maranz at 908-273-9121.

Greeks gear up for annual festival in Union

Greek people throughout the centuries, even from the days of the famous philosophers, have enjoyed festivals. The great poet Homer enjoyed these celebrations so much that he described them in his epic poems, "The Iliad" and "The Odyssey." Centuries later the tradition continues.

The parishioners of the St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church of Union are inviting residents to enjoy the sights, sounds and, above all, the mouth-watering foods of Greece at the 25th annual Greek Festival, an event that is considered one of the largest and oldest in the state of New Jersey. The four-day affair, scheduled for Sept. 5-8, will be at an outdoor "laverna" under huge tents on the church grounds at 721 Railway Ave., Union.

The men of the church, headed by main chefs Ted Kastis and Nick Kostas, have worked hard to prepare enough food for the more than 10,000 people expected to attend the festival. The amount of food Kastis and his committee are cooking up is mind-boggling — enough to feed a Trojan army. On the menu will be found such culinary delights as the traditional Pastitsio, macaroni and fresh ground beef topped with a special cream sauce; Mousaka, a popular dish which includes layers of sliced eggplant and ground beef topped with a special cream sauce; Kola Riganiati, chicken prepared Greek-style with oregano; Ami Psito, roast leg of lamb baked perfectly, and all sorts of mouth-watering appetizers such as Trophies, filo pastry filled with lots of Greek cheeses; Domnathes, grape vine leaves filled with a combination of Greek cheese and spinach, and Dolmathes, grape vine leaves filled with rice.

Kastis emphasized that all of the main courses are made fresh. Nothing is frozen. The men prepare the food at the church a few days before the festival.

By popular demand, Gyro or pita bread will be available again this year, as well as Souvlaki, skewered, tender cubes of meat on a stick. To satisfy one's thirst, there will be a variety of beverages including soft drinks, coffee, beer and the excellent Greek wines. For those who dare to be totally Greek, we recommend Ouzo, the liqueur of the ancient gods, or a cup of rich Greek coffee.

For a sweet ending to your meal, the women of St. Demetrios have pooled their culinary talents and have prepared a magnificent array of pastries, rich and delicious enough to melt the resistance of even the strictest dieters. Featured at the Festival Pastry Shop will be Baklava, the queen of Greek pastries consisting of layered filo bursting with nuts and drenched in honey syrup; Galaktobouriko, custard-filled desserts wrapped in filo dough filled with nuts and topped with a special syrup; Loukoumades, honey puffs which must be served steamed hot and eaten on the spot, and many more delectable pastries. All pastries may be purchased to take home from the pastry shop.

Serving as a tantalizing background to all of these festivities will be the invigorating live Greek music including the Greek bouzouki, a stringed instrument which is a cross between a mandolin and a guitar. As additional entertainment, young people of the church community will perform authentic Greek dances in traditional Greek costumes. A special attraction this year will be dance performances.

ence, you may call in your orders at 908-964-7957, or you may fax them in at 908-964-6875. Admission to the lunch is free.

The festival hours are as follows: Sept. 5, 6 p.m. to midnight; Sept. 6, 6 p.m. to midnight; Sept. 7, noon to midnight, and Sept. 8, noon to 8 p.m.

Admission for adults is a $1 donation. Children accompanied by an adult will be admitted free. Free parking is available all around the church grounds.

For more information, call either 908-964-7957 or 732-381-3681.

HOROSCOPE

Sept. 2-8
ARIES (March 21-April 19): Work on improving your health with more exercise and a balanced diet. Sacrifice today for the joy of long-term course with a special goal or objective and make your dreams come true.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): Your domestic life is enriched with many cultural contributions. Surround yourself with loved ones and enjoy the comforts of home.

CANCER (June 22-July 22): You have the power to enlighten. Share an inspirational message with friends and help to lift the spirits of those who are down and out.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A money-making venture has great potential for success. Put all your knowledge and energy into turning a profit, and it is sure to pay off.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your self-confidence is at an all-time high. Do your best to keep your feet on the ground while your heart and ambition soar to new heights.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): You have a creative edge this week. Pull out all of the necessary staff or tools and get busy working on your masterpiece.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21): This is a great time to make new friends and perhaps get to know your neighbors. Reach out with suggestions for shared activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Show respect to your elders and superiors this week. You are likely to need their support or favor somewhere down the line.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Avoid being too opinionated. Lead by example and teach, don't preach, the important lessons you are destined to represent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You can benefit from the resources of a partnership. Be willing to risk something in order to gain at possibly 10 times the invested rate.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A loved one comes through for you with the advice, money or support you'll need. Show your appreciation in a special way.

If your birthday is this week, capture and use some of the creative and expansive ideas that are passing through your brain during the coming year. In matters of the heart, you are in for a pleasant surprise. Your career path is clear and you can proceed and make great strides in your ambitions. Take advantage of an opportunity to start over with something new. Avoid power plays and manipulation.

Also born this week: Christa McAniff, Alan Ladd, Damon Wayans, Jesse James, Joseph P. Kennedy, Buddy Holly and Patsy Cline.

Save your newspaper for recycling.

THE VITAL FORCE

You may not realize it but your vital force is expressed through your nervous system, extending from the brain and spine to every gland, tissue, organ, and muscle in your body.

That's why the health of your spine is so essential to the health of your entire body. Any spinal strain or shock, even an awkward move, can sometimes affect the vertebrae and discs, causing irritation to the nervous system. Irritation of the nerves can disturb the body's normal function, causing pain and many other health problems.

Treatment of spinal disorders is essential to good health. Pain-killing drugs won't do the job. They can dull the pain or hide the symptoms for a while. Pain-killers are not curative in themselves. Given a chance, the natural healing power of the body is often sufficient to return you to good health.

If you are bothered by back pain, headaches, or other symptoms related to disorders of the spine, seek the help you need from a specialist trained to treat these disorders.

In the interest of better health, from the office of DR. DONALD ANTONELLI Chiropractor, Antonelli Family Chiropractic Center, 2575 Morris Ave., Union 908-688-7973

Music Adds Sound Design to Services

Loria Music has added sound design and installation to their list of services. Partner and head of the audio division, Jim Ryan recently attended the NSM-A sound and video show in Denver Colorado. He was able to secure several new audio lines for Loria Music. "We are now able to go beyond speaker systems for local bands and do complete installations for churches, schools or any other venue." Jim can be reached at 732-388-8873. You can check out any projects in progress at our website www.loriamusic.com

Shap Hauschild is a Partner at Loria Music and head of the band instrument rental program. Shap has a few points parents should consider when shopping to rent a school band instrument.

- Try to rent from a dealer who allows you to trade up to a new or better instrument at less cost.
- Don't get involved in a rental program that requires you to pay full list price for music!
- The Dealer should have some sort of maintenance program, where for a one time nominal fee your rental instrument will be repaired during the year.
- A local dealer should be able to provide you with music books for your local program and carry a full line of accessories.

Broski named MI Manager

Chris Broski has been named MI and combo manager at Loria Music. Chris was the former department manager for a national retail chain. An accomplished drummer, bassist and guitarist, Chris is the man to see for the purchase of any new gear. Chris is available at 732-388-8873 or at loriamusic@aol.com

Professionals Collaborate To Expand Arts Programs

Union County Dance Centre and Ren Music, Inc. proudly announce the start of their 2002-2003 season of expanded dance, music, and arts programming. Owned by Joe and Patricia Kurasz, the two companies work in association with each other to offer a unique, comprehensive selection of classes that focus on individual needs and abilities. Donna Vaupel (Joe Kurasz's sister) is an educational consultant to the team. Together, this talented trio has developed opportunities for students from ages 3- adult to nurture their abilities and interests in a variety of areas.

The Union County Dance Centre, with over 30 years of professional experience, offers a full range of graded classes from prechord to specialized performances. Each year, the studio provides interested students with the opportunity to be evaluated in the competitive syllabus exam program. The year culminates in a Broadway-style show at the Union County Arts Center that enables students to participate in a full stage production that not only highlights the year in dance numbers, but incorporates original plot twists, scenery, sound and original music. This year's show "OZ 2002" was a tremendous success! This summer, the studio also offered a two-week Performing Arts Theatre Workshop where students learned the fundamentals of theatre, improvisation, dance and voice and presented a demonstration of their efforts in "Revue 2002".

Patricia Kurasz who has been a professional dancer, choreographer and vocalist since her teens directs Union County Dance Centre. She has worked as an artist in residence as part of the NJ State Council on the Arts Program and has performed hundreds of Voice-Overs and Vocals for commercials in New York, New Jersey, Los Angeles, Las Vegas and Miami. Locally, she has created several programs for productions throughout the area including those sponsored by the Union County HEART grant and Union County College.

Ren Music, Inc. offers individual instruction in voice, piano and organ, music composition and theater arts. Director, Joe Kurasz, enjoys teaching enthusiastic students of all ages while he continues to pursue his professional career as a composer/arranger. Kurasz has composed music for GUIDING LIGHT daytime drama, B SMITH WITH STYLE and THE BRAVEST. His original song, "Just A Simple Song" was voted #1 Jazz Song in Billboard Magazine's Songwriting Competition and has also received credit for his contribution to Disney's 4 CD Box Set "The Music Behind The Magic".

Donna Vaupel, who works as an educational consultant and teacher at the two studios, has a BA degree in Education with a Minor in Theatre Arts and a MA Degree in Education/Administration with a Specialization in Gifted Children.

As an important part of their approach, both Union County Dance Centre and Ren Music approach each student as an individual and design a program of instruction to meet his/her needs and interests and goals. Family packages, Leadership programs, scholarships and much more highlight the opportunities available.

Union County Dance Centre and Ren Music are now accepting registrations for their fall classes. For more information please visit their website at WWW.UCCONLINE.COM or WWW.RENMUSIC.COM or call 732-382-6815 (Ren Music) or 732-382-3933 (Union County Dance Centre).
